Rep. Price Discusses Legislation On Occupational Safety And Health

AMARILLO—Speaking before a luncheon meeting of the Panhandle Chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers at the Villa Inn here Friday, Congressman Bob Price of Pampa discussed recent legislation and efforts being made in the field of occupational safety and health.

“There can be no question of the pressing need for occupational safety when one realizes that in recent years more than 14,500 workers have been killed annually and another 2½ million have been disabled on the job.” Price said. “The economic costs of these tragic accidents has meant a loss of $1.5 billion in wages and a setback of over $8 billion to the nation’s gross national product.”

The Texas lawmaker discussed the various ramifications of the recently enacted Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, which he labeled an “unprecedented” milestone in promoting job safety and security. “In summary, the Act seeks to assure safe and healthful working conditions for workers by authorizing enforcement of the standards developed under the Act, by assisting and encouraging the States in their efforts to establish and maintain safe working conditions, and by providing for research, information, education, and training in the field of occupational safety and health,” Price commented.

“The congressman emphasized the complexity of the new safety law and particularly that its enforcement has created some problem logistics. Because of the law’s broad-reaching provisions, large corporations have been faced with compliance requirements similar to those for small neighborhood businesses. Likewise, the law does not distinguish adequately between different types of businesses or particular extenuating circumstance.”

To remedy certain hardships and inequities created by the Law, Congressman Price pointed out that he has recently introduced legislation to modify the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970. The Price bill would require the Secretary of Labor to assist employers in numerous ways to familiarize them with the requirements of the law and to aid them in meeting compliance requirements. It would also exempt from the law businesses with fewer than 25 employees per establishment.

UF Gets Two New Officers

The president and chairman of the board for the Pampa United Fund, Inc., both submitted resignations at a recent board of directors meeting.

Ira Loftin, president, and H.P. Donohue, chairman of the board, both resigned. They are planning to move from Pampa.

The board of directors accepted the resignations and selected E.L. Green, Jr., as president and Frank Culberson as chairman of the board for 1972.

The budget committee for the coming fund drive was selected, with George H. Newberry as chairman. Allocations for the drive will be recommended to the board later.

Columbia College Honors Pampa Girl

Linda Sue Stowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Stowers, 2015 Charles, has been named to the Dean’s honor list for the 1971-72 spring semester at Columbia College, a coed liberal arts college in Columbia, Mo.

Students on the Dean’s honor list must earn a “B” or better grade point average while carrying 14 or more academic credit hours.

A freshman at Columbia College, Miss Stowers is a member of Operation People, campus service club; secretary-treasurer of Campus Ambassadors, official campus hostesses; Beta Beta Beta music honorary, and the St. Cecilia Society.

She was also named to the Dean’s honor list for the fall semester. Miss Stowers is a graduate of Pampa High School.

Guardsman Of Month Selected

Selected by Pampa’s National Guard Unit to be the “Guardsman of the Month” is Danny M. Degner 931 E. Browning, a member of the Pampa Texas Army National Guard unit since January 11, 1965.

Staff Sergeant Degner is a squad leader for the 3rd Rifle Platoon, Company “B” 2nd Battalion, 142nd Infantry. He went on active duty December 28, 1965, for six months at Fort Polk, La. and Fort Jackson, S.C.

During his duty with the Pampa unit, he served during the Lubbock tornado and in Pampa during the Feb. 71 snowstorm.

He has been employed by Celanese Corporation of Pampa since April 1966.

His family includes his wife, Donna; one daughter, Deidra, 5 years old; one son, Derrick, 3 years old. His mother, Pearl M. Degner, lives at 818 E. Browning, Pampa.

He has received an “expert” rating with the M-1 rifle, M-14 Rifle, M-16A1 and Browning Automatic Rifle. He is the recipient of The Texas Faithful Service Medal and Armed Forces Reserve Medal.

Realtors See 1972 As Period Of Stabilization

Beginning today realtors across the nation are observing Realtor Week for 1972. Veri Hagaman, president of the Pampa Board of Realtors, announced.

“We are equally proud of the professionalism.”

“We know of the problems which exist,” he added, “but rather than complaining or tearing down a system without a responsible new method, we are trying to improve where changes are required.”

realtors’ Code of Ethics, realtors pledge fair treatment and complete knowledge to both the buyer and seller. Hagaman noted.

“We are proud that realtors have been in the lead in helping more than two-thirds of the families in America own their own homes,” he continued.

“We have read and listened to a variety of vocal people, many with questionable motives, condemning the way of life which has given us the most prosperous, the most envied, the most powerful nation in history...It’s time to sell America first in every philosophical and social discussion.”

“We foresee a banner year for anyone buying, selling, or investing in real property,” he said.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards has 1600 constituent boards. Realtors who are members of the association are expected to subscribe to a strict code of ethics, Hagaman said.

The realtor has access to broad educational facilities at local, state and national levels to increase his knowledge and maintain current information about the many increasingly complex factors involved in real estate transactions. Hagaman said.

At WTSU Wins Fellowship 135 Seniors

Gary Blanscet, a government major at West Texas State University, has been awarded a Southern Regional Training Program fellowship in public administration. Dr. Coleman B. Ranson, Jr., SRTP educational director, announced.

The fellowship is valued at $5000.00, including a stipend of $3,700.00 plus tuition and fees. Blanscet, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Blanscet, 2108 N. Zimmers, is among seven who have been chosen for training in public administration at the universities of Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The purpose of the SRTP is to train carefully selected recent graduates in public administration. Upon completion of the program, a certificate in public administration is issued by the participating universities to the fellows.

Blanscet will spend the summer in an internship in a state or federal agency located in Alabama, Kentucky or Tennessee. Following the internship, he will begin an academic program which will provide for one semester of work at the University of Alabama and one semester at either the University of Kentucky or the University of Tennessee.

During his college career, Blanscet was a member of Alpha Chi National Honor Society and the Mary E. Hudspeth Honor Society. He was also student body president, member of the Young Republicans and Chief Justice in the student court.

In 1971, New York state school buses were involved in 906 accidents resulting in eight deaths and 406 injuries.

135 Seniors

PERRYTON—Graduation ceremonies for High School seniors will be Tuesday evening, May 23 at Ranger stadium, weather permitting. Approximately 135 students are to graduate.

Baccalaureate will be in the high school auditorium today. Virginia Stark and Mary Lou Dendy will make their co-valedictorian address at the graduation ceremonies. Jack Allen, school board president, will present diplomas.

The Rev. Bob Daniel, pastor, First Christian Church, will bring the message at the baccalaureate service.

The annual awards assembly was conducted Friday at 1:05 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Outstanding students in all classes were honored and letter blankets presented to the 10 honor graduates: Curtis Jones, Diane Laudick, Lou Anne Wright, Karen Foster, Jeri Jenkins, Tom Slaughter, Don Dyer and Debbie Ray.

Trophies for the Best All-Around seniors, Virginia Stark and Keith Parker were presented.

Ninth grade commencement will be held at 8 p.m. at the Junior High School auditorium Monday. Valedictorian is Marvin Knox, Jr. with an average of 95.04. Salutatorian Susan McCort has an average of 94.13.

Winner of this contest will then be entered in the state contest in Waco June 13 at the Grand Lodge convention.

Farmers Want Open Weather To Finish Spring Planting

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)— Texas weather assumed a nearer to normal role during the week although some thunderstorms brought rain and hail to a few areas. Farmers in most areas are now looking for open weather to finish spring planting and other field activities.

Much of the state, even the far west and northwest, now has generally good soil moisture, said Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, at midweek. The moisture should boost crops and range and pasture conditions.

The pace of small grain harvesting and hay making will pick up when fields dry. Spring planting is expected to get into full swing in western areas as soon as field conditions allow.

Livestock conditions continue to improve as pasture and range grasses respond from the recent moisture. Screwworms continue to plague livestock across the state and have reached into Oklahoma. New counties in West Texas with infestations include Scurry and Mitchell. Cases in Texas since the first of the year totaled 2,362 on Tuesday (May 16). More than half of these have occurred during the first half of May.

District agriculture agents report the following conditions in their respective areas:

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
PH. D., M.D.

Rev. Tetslaff asked me to occupy his pulpit in South Bend. While there, he revealed the ingenious method which he employs to help raise the money to meet the annual budget. It should work equally well with other churches, so study it with care.

CASE T-584: Herbert Tetslaff is the talented pastor of St. Peter's United Church of Christ at South Bend, Indiana.

When he heard that I was to address the Michiana Academy of Dentists all day on Monday, he invited me to occupy his pulpit on Sunday.

Pastor Tetslaff is an ideal type of clergyman. For he didn't go right from high school to college and thence into the seminary.

Instead, he went out into the business world and won his spurs as a successful salesman; then trainer of salesmen.

In fact, he also occupied an executive post in the office of a Wisconsin company.

With these years of practical experience behind him, he then decided to enter the seminary and become a pulpit minister.

This "internship" in our rugged "free enterprise" system is ideal preparation for any man who wishes to handle a parish.

Otherwise, such pulpites may degenerate into mere sociology spouters and anti-establishment critics, who even espouse street marching that often ends in riots, window-smashing and looting.

"Dr. Crane," Pastor Tetslaff added, "I have introduced a new plan for meeting our church budget every year.

"Since we stress tithing and thus the giving of a certain percentage of earnings to the Lord, I ask my parishioners to estimate how much they think they can contribute to our budget for the coming year.

"Some may give 3 per cent; others, 5 per cent and a few may contribute 10 per cent or even more.

"So I ask them to write the amount on a small card and then seal the card in an envelope.

"On the outside of the envelope, they write their own name.

"Then I place these envelopes, still sealed, in a golden box on the altar, where the box remains for the entire year, unopened.

"At the end of the year, I then return all the envelopes to the owners and ask them to see if their actual giving to our church is what they originally promised.

"Thus, nobody knows what anybody else has pledged nor do we ask any member to reveal his actual yearly earnings.

"But from the pulpit I also request all our members to write a duplicate estimate on small cards and place them in the collection baskets, unsigned."

"Although these cards are anonymous they do reveal how many folks are planning to contribute 3 per cent vs. 7 per cent or 10 per cent, etc.

"And our treasurer then averages all these anonymous card estimates to find out approximately what our entire membership will give to the church.

"Last year, for example, our parishioners pledged an average of 5.6 per cent of their income to our local church.

"This year, we hope to reach 6 per cent.

"And we can roughly estimate the total combined earnings of our parishioners by comparing last year's total income with the 5.6 per cent figure.

"Assuming that wages and salaries remain the same, we can thus predict quite closely what our total contributions will amount to this year."

"Since several clergymen have asked me about Rev. Tetslaff's ingenious method, I am releasing it nationwide today.

POLAROID GUARANTEES EVERY PICTURE YOU TAKE WITH THIS CAMERA.

If you don't like it, you can take another one free.
If you buy one of Polaroid's Focused Flash cameras, every picture you take this year will be guaranteed. It's true. Polaroid guarantees you'll be delighted with all the pictures you take - or you'll get free film to take them over again.
Here's how it works: You'll receive a booklet of coupons when you purchase your camera. Each one entitles you to replace your Colorpack Land film if you judge the pictures you take to be unsatisfactory.
Polaroid can offer this unusual guarantee - because the Focused Flash cameras are the finest and most automatic cameras they make. Focused Flash keeps your flash shots from coming out too light or too dark. An electric eye and electronic shutter automatically control your other shots. Indoors or out, there's never an exposure calculation to be concerned with.

There are four models to choose from, packed with features, and they all take guaranteed pictures.

Agriculturally Speaking

By-FOSTER WHALEY
WHEAT FIELD DAY
Thursday, 1:30 to 4 p.m., a field day is to be held at the Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland, Texas.

The afternoon will be devoted to a tour and inside session on several topics related to wheat. This year, much emphasis is being given to the grazing value of wheat. You will get to view wheat improvement plots, male-sterile wheat-rye crosses, wheat irrigation study plots, tansy mustard control plots, and rainfall conserving control practices.

We are glad to see the Bushland Experiment Station placing more emphasis on grazing value of wheat.

The price of wheat for human food stands at less than fifty percent of parity. Beef cattle is around eighty-five to ninety percent of parity. Many farmers still give little thought to the value of wheat for grazing. We hope there will be a good turnout of Gray and Roberts County farmers to this field day.

If you will call me, we will co-ordinate the transportation.

SCREW WORM THREAT
Farmers and ranchers should watch closely for sign of screw worms. For the first time in several years, the screw worm fly has broken out of its barrier in South Texas due to a mild and wet winter. Cases have already been confirmed in Oklahoma. Early detection would help stamp out the threat, should a case develop in Gray County.

TAX EXEMPTION FORMS
We have a small supply of sales tax exemption forms available should you need one. As mentioned earlier, on March 13, the State Comptroller published a new ruling that gave an exemption of tax on money items that earlier had been taxed. Most any item purchased that is to be used exclusively in the production of food now enjoys an exemption.

If the farmer will sign the form, this will excuse him from the tax.

STATE FARM BUREAU MEETING
J.D. Skaggs was one of seven farmers that was called to Waco recently by the State Farm Bureau to assist in drafting policies with reference to the Powers of the Texas Water Quality Control Board.

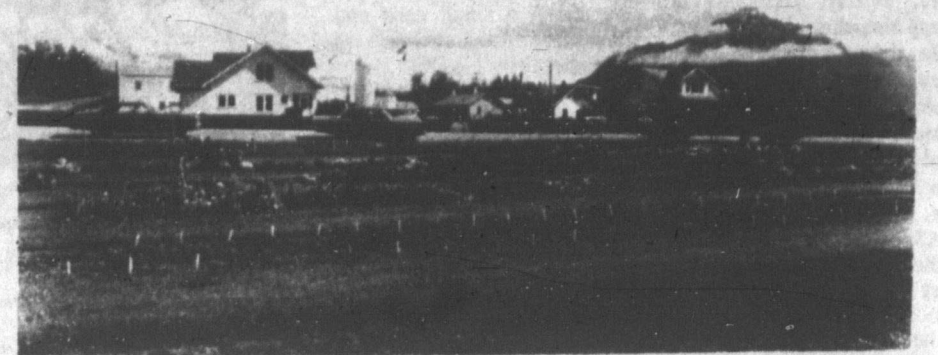

J.D. plans to call a representative group of farmers together in order to draft a recommendation to the State Farm Bureau.

Some very strict and expensive regulations are now being proposed by the Texas Water Quality Control Board. The Board has tremendous power to write and enforce regulations. These powers are very broad. They have had no serious objections from Farm Bureau to date. However, the State President appeared before the Board some two months ago and made a fine presentation in a hearing at Austin. As a result, the proposed regulations were postponed and modified. Another hearing is to be held shortly.

The purpose of J.D.'s mission was to develop grass roots information from farmers and cattlemen.

MILK IS KING—It accounts for 49 per cent of Alaska's farm production sales. Dairyman Wayne Bouwens, above, says a man truly must want to be a farmer to farm in the state. High cost of farm inputs because of shipping costs and remoteness of some farms has made farmers selective in their expansion programs and equipment purchases. The University of Alaska tests new methods in the Matanuska Valley. Above right, the research station; right, hay crop harvest and far right, experimental corn plot.

Panhandle Water

By-FELIX W. RYALS
Water is going to become increasingly more important to the people who live on the High Plains of West Texas and have invested in the future of this area.

Water is the one catalytic factor that allows us to put all the others together and come up with one of the most productive economies in the nation.

This coming week will see a new crop of graduating high school students who have never known any way of life except that of an irrigated economy. Let us hope that our public schools have been able to teach them the worth of water. Most of the parents of these graduating seniors can remember when dryland farming was a way of life and what life was like during the long drought of the fifties.

The May 11 issue of the Texas Water Report gave a review of the recent election primaries in Texas. We are passing on to our readers a portion of this summary.

Saturday's Democratic primary eliminated from the Governor's race two candidates who had given strong support to the Texas Water Plan, and left in a runoff one who has spoken generally for it, and one who has opposed it.

Dolph Briscoe, Uvalde rancher-banker, and Representative Frances Farenthold, Corpus Christi attorney, make up the all-South Texas runoff ticket. She has been critical of the plan.

The same sort of lineup occurs in the Democratic runoff for lieutenant governor between Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville and Bill Hobby, Houston editor. Connally has been favorable to the Texas Water Plan. Hobby, whose newspaper opposed the three and one-half billion dollar Texas Water Plan bonds, explained his position on the Plan as a candidate for the democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor at a Capitol press conference.

Developing a long-range plan to meet the agricultural needs of the High Plains area is essential not only to the prosperity of the High Plains area but the whole state. In the last generation there has grown up an agricultural empire there that's one of the really most amazing developments in the United States. It's one of the few areas of agricultural production in the United States that competes successfully with foreign countries, that's an exporter of foodstuffs to foreign countries.

The plan that was proposed a number of years ago simply did not do the job that it was supposed to do. That plan assumed, the delivery of water from the Mississippi River to the eastern boundary of Texas, and, of course, the people in Louisiana and the upstream states on the Mississippi of course had expressed rather violent opposition to that plan, and said it would never happen. But what we need is a plan that embodies all the different forms of water management that are available, better management of existing surface resources.

increased exploration for underground sources, better range management, and transportation of water where and when it is needed. There obviously has to be a plan worked out with the cooperation of, instead of the opposition to, Texas' neighboring states.

"The Bureau of Reclamation has put out a publication outlining the new rules for the small reclamation projects act. Copies are available at the Bureau of Reclamation offices in Amarillo and Austin. New laws raise the maximum size of a project from ten to fifteen million dollars, and the ceiling on loans or grants from six and a half million to ten million dollars. They also remove the requirement that irrigation be the primary purpose, permitting multi-purpose projects to be financed in this fashion."

'Promised Land' Promises Work!

PALMER, Alaska—Wayne Bouwens was just a youngster in 1935 when he and six brothers and sisters stepped down from the steamship which had carried the family northward to Seward, Alaska. The family was one of the largest among the 300 colonists who were headed for a new life in the wilderness of the northern territory.

Few of them knew what to expect in the days ahead, but Wayne Bouwens distinctly remembers an incident when his father went to a general store in Seward to buy a box of crackers.

"We were all floored when my dad had to plunk down 50 cents for some crackers that would have cost about 15 cents back in Wisconsin," Bouwens recalls.

The first experience with Alaska's inflated cost of living helped condition Bouwens to what he, and other Alaskan farmers, face today. Farmers in what Alaskans call "The Lower 48" have to shake their heads in amazement at the farm input costs way up north.

Example of this is the cost of alfalfa cubes shipped in from Washington state. The price runs as high as $120. Locally produced grass hay—when available—brings about $75. These prices are important, because dairy farming is king in Alaskan agriculture, accounting for about 49 per cent of agricultural sales.

Bouwens, who was named Alaska's number one dairy farmer in 1970, takes these input costs in stride, because he receives $11 to $12 per hundred weight for his milk.

His farm is one of the 28 Grade A dairies in the state, and covers 150 acres in the Matanuska Valley, near Palmer, where the family settled in a tent city in 1935. He has a 35-head Holstein herd which produces an average of 13,600 pounds of milk per cow each year.

The Matanuska Valley is ideal for dairy farming and belies the stereotype most Americans have of Alaska as the land of Eskimos and igloos. The climate in the valley is moderated because of its proximity to the coast and winters usually aren't much more severe than those of Minnesota or Wisconsin. But, they are longer, with frost-free days averaging only 90-110 days per year.

Added to this are the advantages of few insect problems, the ability to produce forages successfully and topped off by a strong demand for the dairy products. Even with the local dairy farms increasing their production, some milk must still be shipped in, and in restaurants a glass of milk brings as much as 60 cents.

Meeting the demand for milk and watching costs of production have brought about changes in the operation of the state's dairy farms. Bouwens doesn't plan any great expansion in the future, feeling his present herd size keeps him busy and produces "a good living" for him and his family.

But, he does plan to change from free stall housing to a parlor "someday."

But, other dairymen are expanding as evidenced by the Cottonwood Dairy west of Palmer. Operated by Tony Vickaryous and his son Jim the farm now has 900 acres with a 75 head herd. Like Bouwens, the elder Vickaryous is one of the "25-or-so" original settlers still farming in Alaska.

The farm now boasts a free stall barn, which will accommodate 150 cows, and a new gas-tight silo. The modern layout includes a liquid manure handling system and a fully automatic forage feeding system from the silo. The Vickaryous' have their eye on an eventual herd size of 150 cows.

An important part of what has happened to Alaskan dairy farming, and what will happen in the future, is the University of Alaska's research farm in the Matanuska Valley. The center is constantly alive with work in research into crop varieties, animal health, production methods and projects common to similar stations in the lower 48 states.

But, the vegetables in the display area seem to get the most attention from visitors who are astounded at the size of vegetables which flourish in the cool, moist summer months and long hours of sunshine.

Experimental fields of wheat, beardless barley, Canadian dwarf corn and new winter hardy grasses stretch out from the buildings of the experimental station and are carefully tended by the staff and university students.

But, even with modern methods and the helping hand of an active agriculture department, there are still serious problems for the approximately 300 farmers who operate in the state.

THE ORGANIC HOME GARDENER'S NOTEBOOK

Nature's Way Nourishes the Soil

By Sheila & Allan Swenson
With advance planning, you can put nature to work naturally in productive organic gardening this year.

Organic gardening is the basic application of natural elements to nourish the soil. As you recycle organic matter, from grass clippings to leaves, from manures to seaweeds, your soil can come alive. Even poor soils can be greatly improved in structure, tilth and ability to grow better crops.

Soil organic matter is the key to more productive gardens. The soil is actually alive. Millions of bacteria, fungi, plant roots, beneficial insects exist in every acre. They all play a part in decomposing organic matter into humus. When you free your living soil the raw ingredients it needs, you rebuild the top soil. This replenishing of nutrients naturally puts grow power where your plants need it.

Most ingredients for feeding the soil are readily available and often free. Leaves, lawn clippings, weeds, sawdust, straw, wood chips, parings and leaves of vegetables can all be composted.

As you increase organic matter, earthworms and soil bacteria improve the soil even more. Plant roots thus can obtain water, nutrients and air in the soil more easily.

Clay and hardpan soil often found in new housing developments can be readily improved with organic matter. It breaks up the clumps, improves soil structure. Sandy soils also can be made more productive with organic matter and water holding capacity is enhanced.

A new book, "The Practical Book of Organic Gardening," reviews all phases of this fascinating topic. The best things in life often are free, it points out. When you garden organically you will be able to recycle those important free materials to their starting point, the soil. As you do, and feed your soil, it will feed your plants better. They in turn will reward you generously with tasty, nutritious vegetables for the body or fragrant, beautiful flowers for the soul. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Tornadoes? Anytime! But May Holds Record

COLLEGE STATION—Spring in Texas brings warm breezes, greening fields and trees and—too often—tornadoes.

In an average year 96 tornadoes hit Texas.

They occur most often in the northeastern portion of the Low Rolling Plains and in the northern half of North Central Texas.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in Austin reported that tornadoes occur at any month and during all hours of the day. However, they occur most often during late spring and early summer.

In a 20-year period, 1950-70, three-fifths of all Texas tornadoes occurred in May. More tornadoes hit in Texas than any other state, partly because of its size. However, Texas ranks ninth in the number of tornadoes per square mile, with Oklahoma and Kansas topping the list.

The Environmental Data Service reports that 1,907 tornadoes struck Texas from 1950-70.

The greatest tornado outbreak came in September, 1967, when Hurricane Beulah spawned 115. The worst outbreak of spring tornadoes was in 1957 when 69 were reported. The costliest tornado in Texas occurred May 11, 1970 when Lubbock suffered 26 deaths, 500 injuries and $135 million in damage.

What can you do when a tornado approaches? Immediate action can save lives, says Wayne Keese, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. A tornado watch is given when the storms are likely to develop in a given area. Stay tuned to newscasts and advisories even if the sky is clear. A tornado warning means tornadoes have been sighted. Seek shelter in a storm cellar or reinforced building. Stay away from windows. Curl up so that your head and eyes are protected.

When tornadoes are likely, leave mobile homes. They are particularly vulnerable.

"If you're in a car, get out and lie in a depression," says the Texas A&M University engineer. "If there are no low spots or depressions, turn the car at a right angle and proceed away from the tornado as quickly as possible."

Farm animals are vulnerable to tornadoes whether in a barn or on open range. However, if they are scattered, the chances are much greater that only a few animals will be lost.

SHORT
Texas farmers expect to plant 125,000 acres to soybeans while the national total will reach about 45 million acres, some two million more than in 1971.

Even with a large crop this year, soybean supplies are expected to remain tight over the next year and a half. Thus, prices should continue on a strong note.

Miss Karen Haiduk And Ronald Anderson Marry

Vows were exchanged at 8 p.m. Friday, May 12, in St. Vincent dePaul Catholic Church, Pampa, by Karen Jane Haiduk and Ronald Everett Anderson, both of Lubbock.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Haiduk of White Deer, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Veda Anderson of Canyon.

THE CEREMONY
 Rev. Francis Hynes, T.M. officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Evangeline Kotara, organist, played Chopin's "Etude in E." Mrs. Betty Garcia sang "Somewhere My Love," "The Wedding Song," and "No Other Love."

Church decorations included candelabra in greenery. Pews were marked with orchid bows.

THE BRIDE
 Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of illusion and lace over bridal taffeta. The bodice, highlighted with lace appliques embroidered with seed pearls, was styled with a portrait neckline, long sleeves, also accented with lace appliques, and an empire waistline. Her two-tiered full-length veil of bridal illusion that extended into a chape train, fell from an organza picture hat designed with a crown of flowers and seed pearls. She carried three orchid-colored and pink orchids.

ATTENDANTS
 Miss Beth Galleghy was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Kristy Haiduk and Miss Becky Allen. All wore floor-length gowns of orchid dotted Swiss, styled with empire waistlines and trimmed in white lace. Each carried one long-stemmed orchid carnation.

 Brent Anderson, brother of the bridegroom, and Jot Haiduk, brother of the bride, were candlelighters.

Gary Mark Vance of Lubbock served as best man, and groomsmen were Stephen Thomas of Lubbock and Harry Riggins of Dallas. Ushers were Brad Allen, cousin of the bride, and David Meeks of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cunningham of Pampa announce the engagement of their daughter, Angela, to Robert T. Petruzzo Jr. of Kansas City, Mo., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Petruzzo Sr. of Stone Harbor, N.J. The couple plans to marry June 22, in the home of the bride-elect's grandparents at Marshfield, Mo.

RECEPTION
 For the reception in Parish Hall, the serving table was covered with a white lace cloth, edged with pink and orchid ribbon. The centerpiece was the bride's bouquet, encircled by the bouquets of the bridal attendants.

The four-tiered wedding cake, decorated in pink and lilac, was topped with satin bells trimmed with lace.

Miss Katrina Haiduk, sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Nina Wheeley served the cake. Guests were registered by Miss Kala Haiduk and Miss Connie Haiduk, sisters of the bride. Others in the houseparty included Miss Marsha Vance.

For the wedding trip to Corpus Christi, the bride wore an orchid dress with white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

AFFILIATIONS
 The bride attended White Deer High School and was graduated from Pampa High School and Pampa College of Hair Dressing. She is employed by the Health Spa in Lubbock.

The bridegroom, a graduate of White Deer High School, is a senior student at Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

New York University has an enrollment of 42,363 students.

Linda Wynn, Steve Haynes Marry In Follett Saturday

Miss Linda Wynn and Steve Haynes were united in marriage at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 20, in the Follett United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wynn of Follett. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Walden Haynes, 1005 Fisher, Pampa.

THE CEREMONY
 Rev. Charles Uzzle of the Baptist church officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Ed Wiley was pianist and Mrs. Vernor Bell was the organist. Mrs. Gary Kunka sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "One Hand, One Heart."

Church decorations included candle trees and spring flowers.

THE BRIDE
 The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of angelmist peau de soie and Alencon lace over bridal taffeta. The bodice was styled with a Victorian neckline, empire waistline and long camelot sleeves. The A-line skirt was fashioned with a detachable watteau train of peau de soie accented with lace appliques. The bodice, sleeves and skirt were accented with Alencon lace appliques, embroidered with sequins and seed pearls.

Her shoulder-length veil of imported illusion fell from a coil of lace and seed pearls.

ATTENDANTS
 Miss Kathleen McCaskill of Andrews was maid of honor. She was attired in a blue gown, styled with an empire waistline, and floor-length A-line skirt, and a white picture hat.

Bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Haynes of Pampa, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Sheree Stevens of Loveland, Colo., cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Daryl Wynn of Booker, sister-in-law of the bride. All wore gowns identical to the maid of honor, with Miss Haynes' gown being pink, Miss Stevens', green, and Mrs. Wynn's, yellow.

All carried a pink rose in a brandy snifter.

Lori Smalley of Darrouzett and Clay Wynn of Follett, brother of the bride, were candlelighters. Miss Smalley wore a lavender gown styled like those of the bridal attendants.

Gary Haynes of Pampa, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Gary Brummett of Canyon, Claude Combs of Pampa and Daryl Wynn of Booker, brother of the bride.

Serving as ushers were Eddie

MRS. STEVE HAYNES
 ...Linda Wynn

Sam Jones of Earth and Bruce Dollar of Farewell.

RECEPTION
 For the reception in the church's Fellowship Hall, the serving table was decorated with arrangements of Spring flowers and tapers. The three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with spring flowers, was topped with a cupid.

Miss Patty Harris of Follett presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Mary Beth Krienke, also of Follett, served the cake. Guests were registered by Miss Altah Hale of Tahoka.

The couple honeymooned at Red River, N.M. They will return to West Texas State University, Canyon, in the Fall.

AFFILIATIONS
 The bride, a 1970 graduate of Follett High School, is a junior student at West Texas State University, Canyon, where she is a member of Chi Omega, social sorority, and is a Lambda Chi Alpha Crescent.

Kadingo Lingo By Jane Kadingo

MUCH DISCUSSION AND differences of opinion have occurred over last week's brain teaser. "If a chicken and a half lays an egg and a half in a day and a half, how many eggs do seven chickens lay in six days?" That is the question!

I have always thought mathematics was an exact science—that there could be only one answer! However, those who have worked the problem, that I know about, are divided into two camps. One camp's interpretation is that the way the problem is stated, it can only mean one thing—that one chicken lays one egg in one day. Hence, seven times six is 42!

Another camp divides 1 1/2 into 6, coming up with 4, with seven times four making 28. Would those who favor this answer, please write me a short treatise on why they divide by 1 1/2? The 42 answer seems logical to me, and I haven't had time to debate the issue with 28 camp. To be fair, I should give equal time to them, and their reasoning.

One man told me he gave the problem to two engineers. One came up with 42 and one came up with 28!

There can be only one answer, believes my husband. If mathematics is not an exact science, how did we make it to the moon and back again, he asks?

I do believe Susanne Walsh, a seventh-grader at Robert E. Lee Junior High and a member of my former Girl Scout troop, has the most practical answer of them all. Here is what Susanne wrote in a letter to me this week:

I DO BELIEVE our son, John, aged 8, is on his way to becoming another Einstein. Our oldest daughter, Anne, aged 12, has taken on a summer responsibility.

"What will happen if Anne goes to camp for several weeks?" asked her father.

"I'll do it," answered Nickita, aged 10.

"I don't think you are old enough," I said.

"I'll help Nickita," offered John.

"I KNOW you're not old enough," I stated.

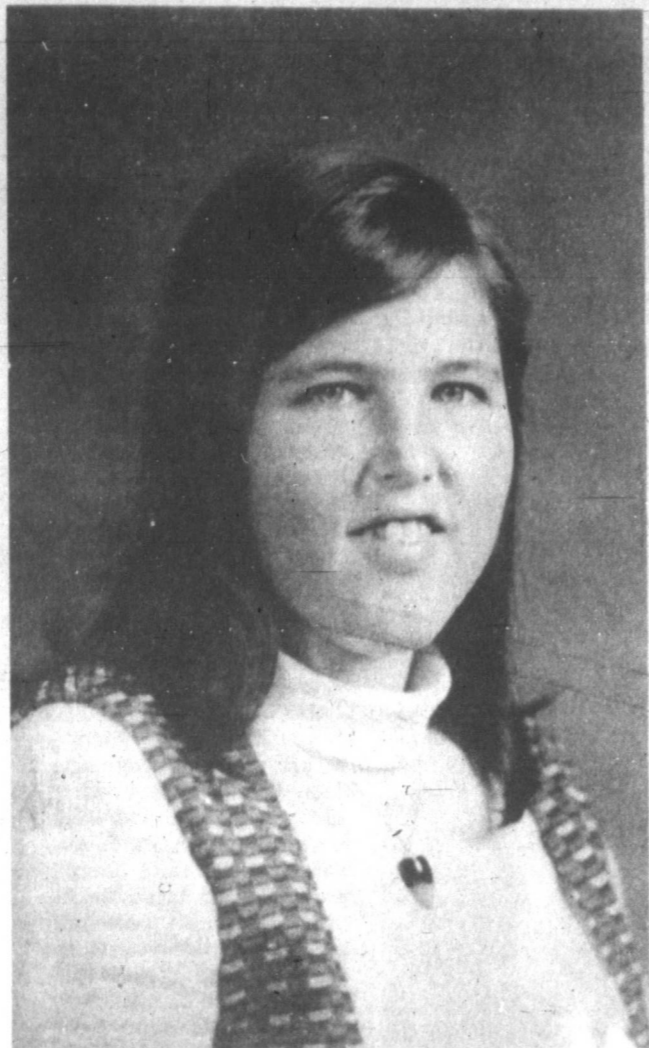

"Well!" said John. "Together we're 18!"

John is also too precocious for his age. It was most embarrassing, when, last Sunday, in the hotel lobby, filled with people, he demanded loudly that I get down a copy of a certain magazine (with a center fold) from the top shelf of the rack. I, naturally, refused.

Later in the day, we got into a family discussion of art. Dr. Kadingo and I tried to explain to the girls that nude paintings by great artists were not indecent, but only the artist's sincere attempt to portray the beauty of the bodies God gave us. John was listening.

"How come you wouldn't let me look at that magazine, then," asked John indignantly.

The $250,000 Westchester Classic is the richest of the pro golf tournaments.

Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Sierman of Lefors announce the engagement of their daughter, Theresa Lee, to James Bracklin Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bradley of Newton, Kans. The wedding is planned for June 17, in the First Methodist Church at Lefors. The bride-elect is a student at Lefors High School. The prospective bridegroom, a 1971 graduate of Lefors High School, is employed by Phillips Industries at Newton, Kans.

Rogers Jr., Pampa Lumber Company team, with Mrs. Lee Frasier as team mother; Vicki Youngblood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.S. Youngblood, Pampa Lions Club team, with Mrs. LeRoy Morris as team mother.

Pampa's baseball queen contest is part to determine who will be the all-star queen. The title is given to the queen whose team raises the most money, all of which goes to the Optimist baseball program. The winner will receive a $50 savings bond, and the runner up, a $25 savings bond during crowning ceremonies in July.

The team mothers are in charge of the fund-raising activities of the team.

Pampa's all-star queen will go with her team as far as they go in district, bi-district, regional, state and national competition, and will compete with other girls for additional honors. In the past, Pampa has had three girls reign as state queens.

Special emphasis will be placed this year on selling memberships in the Pampa Optimist Booster Club. Rummage sales and bake sales will be held. Each queen's picture will be displayed in various businesses beside jars, with each penny being counted as one vote.

The contest will end June 30. Invocation for the tea will be given by Mrs. Lee Frasier, and Miss Heidi Allen will be guest soloist.

Highlight of the tea will be a style show, to be narrated by Pam Howard and Jane Price. Background music will be furnished by Mrs. Gene Allen. Models will be Gayle McKinley, Judy Lankford, Nancy Burnham, Janel Bevel, Leslie Evans, Ann Williams and Janie Sexton, all former Babe Ruth Queens. Representing the junior age group will be Jacklyn Becker, Penny Summers, Heidi Allen and Mona Parsley.

Male models, representing the Babe Ruth League, will be Terry Garner, Chuck Quarles, Rick Leverich, Mike Adair, David Ferrel, Sammy Hipp, Greg Beck, and Scotty Putnam.

Representing The Little League will be Marty Cris Garner and Bat Boys Garland Allen and Ricky Garner.

Peggy Ragsdale Wed To Gerald Neel Davis

Miss Peggy Lee Ragsdale of Amarillo, and Gerald Neel Davis of Canyon, were united in Marriage at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 13, in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Pampa.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ragsdale, 1709 Coffee, Pampa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merwin N. Davis, 506 W. 11th, Canyon.

The Ceremony
The Rev. Richard H. Saxer and The Rev. Sam Byron Hulsey officiated for the double-ring ceremony before a candle lit altar. Arrangements of white gladioli, snapdragons and mums in urns, flanked by spiral candelabra with white tapers, completed the decorations.

Mrs. Jack Skelly, organist, played Handel's "Largo" for the processional and "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell for the recessional. Special selections during the service were "Beloved It Is Morn," which was played at the wedding of the bride's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ragsdale in April, 1915; and "O Perfect Love" by Barnby.

The Bride
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Priscilla gown of peau de soie, English net and candelight Alencon lace. The bodice of the gown was of English net, appliqued with Alencon lace, with a yoke effect and Victorian neckline. The long sleeves were of English net finished in peau de soie and closed with shoe buttons and loops.

The A-line skirt of peau de soie was accented with a wide applique of Alencon lace in a border effect on the skirt's frontpane. The cut-in chapel train gathered into a fullness at the back, fell from the Empire waistline. The entire train was appliqued in Alencon lace motifs.

The bride's mantilla veil of illusion designed and made by Mrs. Jim Develin of Amarillo, was trimmed with matching candelight Alencon lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath, entwined with ivy over the Prayer Book carried by her mother at her wedding in 1945.

The bride wore a 1948 six pence in her shoe from London, England, a remembrance from her Godfather, the late Mr. M.K. Brown.

Attendants
Mrs. William Ragsdale of Fort Campbell, Ky., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Linda Sue Grabbe of Roswell, N.M., and Mrs. Doug Watson of Tulsa were bridesmaids. Miss Kelli Colleen Chisholm of Dallas was flower girl.

All of the attendants were dressed in identical floor-length empire-styled gowns of pink cotton, embroidered with white lace insets. They wore white nylon straw picture hats, trimmed with pink ribbon and carried nosegays of pink and white variegated carnations with pink streamers.

Charles Booth of Canyon served as best man. Groomsman were Sp-4 William Ragsdale of Fort Campbell, Ky., brother of the bride, and Galen Davis of Amarillo, brother of the bridegroom. Dan Thomas Chisholm of Dallas served as ring bearer. Sidney Payne served as crucifer and acolyte for the service.

Mothers
The bride's mother wore a street-length gown of blue chiffon over crepe, with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a pastel green gown with bone accessories. Both wore corsages of white gladioli.

The reception was held in the Parish Hall immediately following the service. The bride's table was covered with a floor-length white satin cloth, centered with the bride's and bridesmaids' bouquets. Silver candelabra with pink tapers flanked the centerpiece.

The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated in the bride's colors of pink and white and topped with white wedding bells.

Mrs. Ken Nutt of Clovis, N.M., served the cake. Mrs. Gary Judd of Canyon, cousin of the bride, presided at the punch bowl.

Guests were registered by Miss Judy Fugate of Pampa. Others in the house party were Mmes. Marjorie Followell, Paul Hinton, Robert Fugate, Horace Watkins, Leland McCloskey, and Fred Thompson.

For traveling, the bride wore a brown knit dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of the white roses from her bridal bouquet.

After a short honeymoon to Oklahoma City, Okla. the couple will be at home at 1303-2 West 13th Street, Amarillo.

Pre-Nuptial Events
A wedding shower was given in the home of Mrs. Ann Heskew, hosted by Mmes. Paul Hinton, Fred Thompson, Leland McCloskey, J.E. Gibson, Jr., Horace Watkins, Marjorie Followell, and Lucille Foster.

A miscellaneous shower was given in the home of Mrs. Harry Widick of Canyon, with Mmes. Howard Morris, John McNeill, Jerry Renner, Max Bosley, Robert Whitney, Richard Tung, O.C. Free, and Stewart Hamblen as hostesses.

A lingerie shower was given in the home of Mrs. Ronnie Watts of Amarillo, with Miss Brenda Cheyne as co-hostess.

A bridesmaid's luncheon was hosted by Mrs. Robert A. Fugate and Miss Judy Fugate in the Terrace Room of the Coronado Inn, Pampa, the day of the wedding.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Merwin N. Davis of Canyon, parents of the bridegroom, was held in the crown and shield room at the Coronado Inn.

Out-Of-Town Guests

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Ragsdale of Fort Campbell, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Doug Watson and Miss Juana Whigham, all of Tulsa; Miss Linda Grabbe of Roswell, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Chisholm, Dan Thomas Chisholm, Kelli Colleen Chisholm, Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Nelson, Miss Lisa Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Bennet, all of Dallas; Charles Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Merwin N. Davis, Mrs. Gary Judd, Mr. and Mrs. Warwick and Sandy, Mr. and Mrs. H.H. Widick, Mrs. Garry Beauchamp, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tung, all of Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Gal Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Myers, Miss Brenda Cheyne, Dan Talley and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Watts, all of Amarillo.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. G.R. Davis of San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. N.O. Palmer, Mrs. Norris C. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Terry James and children, and Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Phillips, all of Guyman, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ragsdale, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ragsdale, Jr., and Jim Ragsdale, all of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morris, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morris, Jr., Mitch Morris, Chere Morris and Mark Morris, all of Rapid City, S.D.; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Nutt of Clovis, N.M.; Mrs. Pete Gaddie, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Langford, Jana and Randy, all of Wellington, Kans.; Mrs. Doyle E. Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. Norris G. Palmer, all of Mulvane, Kans.

And Mr. and Mrs. Norm Davis, Brenda and Steven, of Oceanside, Calif.; Miss Alice Lamb of Dumas, Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Gunter of Claude, Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Hinton of Skellytown; Patrick J. Ragsdale of San Antonio; and Mr. and Mrs. Norris G. Palmer and children of Niceville, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Primm of Moore, Okla., announce the engagement of their daughter, Lou Ann, to Butch Wilkerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wilkerson of Moore, formerly of Pampa, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Holley, 2132 N. Christy, Pampa. The wedding is scheduled for June 16, in the First Baptist Church of Moore. The bride-elect is a student at Moore High School. The prospective bridegroom, a graduate of Moore High School, is vice president of West Texas Electric.

Dear Abby

Shower sympathy on 'stormaphobics'

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: As a television "weatherman," I occasionally receive mail from viewers. Today I received a letter from a woman who has been terrified of thunderstorms since she was a small child. Worse yet, she says her husband makes fun of her for her childish fears.

Abby, I have a feeling that there are many people who suffer from not only such fears, but lack of understanding on the part of their families.

Will you please appeal to your readers to be more sympathetic to those who are terrified of storms? Urge them to comfort, reassure and calm the frightened ones, instead of saying, "Dummy, there's nothing to be afraid of!"

Those who fear storms react like frightened children, regardless of their ages. Also, if they are calmed and reassured they will not be on the phone, calling us when we are busiest.

BILL IN TORNADO ALLEY

DEAR BILL: You're all heart. But your plea for compassion to "stormaphobics" [a word of my own creation] is worth passing on.

DEAR ABBY: I am really disturbed about my husband's attitude. Recently we had some work done on our car. When my husband got the car back from the garage he found a pocketknife on the floor.

I told him to call the garage and return the knife. He said he had no intention of returning it because he liked the knife. I told him that since he knew the knife belonged to one of the mechanics at the garage, if he didn't return it it was just like stealing. He said garage mechanics were always stealing stuff out of cars, and he was just getting even.

I tried to reason with him, but it did no good. What is your opinion, Abby? Isn't it as bad as stealing to find something and keep it, when you could easily return it to the owner?

MARRIED TO A THIEF

DEAR MARRIED: Yes. Your husband is going off the deep end in an attempt to justify his dishonesty.

DEAR ABBY: A written note of thanks, after a verbal thank you has been given is not, in my view, a "gracious gesture" as you recently stated. It is a superfluous redundancy and I HATE getting them. There are, of course, occasions when a written thank you is mandatory, but must we make a fetish of it?

We all enjoy receiving personal letters, but when I get an interesting looking, handwritten envelope containing only a sterile one or two line thank you after I've already been verbally thanked, I am disappointed and annoyed by the person who sent it. I refuse to do that to my friends—let them criticize me and keep the gift for which they need two thank yous.

When I recently gave a lady a recipe, she thanked me graciously. The following day I received a written thank you note from her. I told her I would never give her another recipe unless she promised not to send a written thank you note!

NO THANK YOU

DEAR NO: Thank you for another classic example for the "You-Can't-Win" department.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor [I'll call her "Mrs. G."] told me this, and it's too good to keep.

She said she invited her married children and their spouses to her home for a family dinner on Mother's Day. There were 14 in all, and Mrs. G. prepared all the things her children liked to eat. She did everything herself, which was quite a chore.

After dinner, the guests started to play cards and Mrs. G. went into the kitchen to do the dishes. About an hour later, one of the daughters came into the kitchen and saw her mother working over the pots and pans. The daughter put her arm around her and said, "Mother, I hate to see you standing doing dishes on Mother's Day."

So the mother smiled and started to remove her apron, when the daughter continued, "Wait until after midnight!"

Angela Stewart, Monty Lewis United In Marriage In Abilene

Miss Angela Stewart and Monty Lewis, both of Abilene, were united in marriage at 4 p.m. Saturday, May 20, in the South Side Baptist Church, Abilene.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Stewart of Abilene, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. LaVera Lewis, 526 N. Dwight, Pampa, and the late Wesley Lewis.

Ceremony

The couple was married before an archway entwined with greenery and yellow flowers and flanked by spiral candelabra. Flanking the candelabra were a set of "straights" covered with a combed and centered with a white bow. To complete the church decorations, a small palm bush was placed on each side of the straights.

Mrs. Milford Prichard of Abilene, organist, played the "Bridal Chorus" by Wagner for the processional and "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn for the recessional. Don Scargall of Abilene sang "Bless This House" by Brahe and "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

Rev. H.O. Wynne led the prayer of dedication, and Rev. Larry Lancaster officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

After the ceremony, the couple lit the unity candle, located in the center of the front pew.

The Bride

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over bridal taffeta. The bodice, highlighted with pearls and sequins, was designed with a high collar and long lace sleeves that ended with a ruffle at the wrists. The four-length skirt was fashioned with a bustle in the back and extended into a chapel train.

Her elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pompons and baby's breath, tied with yellow ribbon, over a white Bible.

Attendants

Miss Starla Ruth Stewart, sister of the bride, Miss Linda Teague of Abilene and Mrs. John Cobb of Texarkana were bridesmaids.

All wore identical gowns of light green dotted Swiss, designed with empire waistlines, green chiffon sashes, scoop necklines and long chiffon sleeves,uffed at the wrist, and accented with self-covered buttons.

Each of the bridal attendants carried a small cascade bouquet of yellow pompons and baby's breath, tied with white ribbon.

Miss Jill Lewis of Pampa, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Miss Julie Jones of Keller, another niece of the bridegroom, and George Stewart of Abilene, brother of the bride, were ringbearers.

The flower girl who dropped yellow rose petals down the aisle, carried a miniature cascade bouquet of yellow pompons. Miss Jones carried one ring on a white satin, heart-shaped pillow, edged with lace and accented with small yellow pompons. Master Stewart carried the other ring on a white satin, heart-shaped pillow, edged with lace, and accented with English ivy. Both girls wore street-length dresses of yellow dotted Swiss, trimmed with white lace, over white lace leotards.

Candlelighters were David Jones of Keller, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; John Stewart of Abilene, brother of the bride; Jay Lewis of Pampa and Jeffery Jones of Keller, both nephews of the bridegroom.

Groomsmen were Gene Lewis of Pampa, brother of the bridegroom; Randy Enterline, formerly of Pampa, and Paul Hall of Santa Barbara, Calif. Groomsmen and candlelighters served as ushers, also.

Mothers

The mother of the bride wore a pink dress with white accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore a deep aqua dress, with beige accessories.

Reception

For the reception in the educational building, the bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a three-branched candelabra encircled by the bridesmaid's bouquets.

The wedding cake, trimmed with yellow roses, was designed with four-inch pillars separating the top and middle layers.

Mrs. Marvin Lewis of Abilene, aunt of the bridegroom, presided at the silver punch bowl, and the cake was served by Mrs. Billie Wheat. Others in the houseparty were Miss Cheryl Foster, Miss Becky Lake, Mrs. Gene Lewis and Mrs. David Jones. Guests were registered by Miss Karen Knight.

For the wedding trip to South Texas, the bride wore a pink dress accented with white lace. Her corsage was of white pompons.

The couple will be at home at 2510 Caldwell, Abilene, after May 25.

Affiliations

The bride, a 1969 graduate of Abilene High School, will graduate from Hardin-Simmons University in August with a degree in Spanish and English. She is a member of Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honor society, and is employed in the language laboratory at H-SU.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Pampa High School and Hardin-Simmons University, is

"Ecotage," New Word, New Evil

'Ecotage' is a combination of 'ecology' and 'sabotage'. As defined by former Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall and Jeff Stansbury, co-authors of a new conservation-oriented syndicated column...

'Ecotage' today. The environmentalists, remarked Maj. Gen. F.B. Koisch of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers a few months ago. 'must get used to the fact that these days they are winning...

Three cheers for the forces of ecological morality! The only trouble is, with the change of a few words here and there, the same self-righteous, self-serving manifesto could be unaltered by every crackpot who ever came down the pike.

Nixon Has Muscle For Bargaining

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
PORTLAND, Ore. (NEA)—What President Nixon is doing currently about the Vietnam war underscores again his supreme interest in the foreign affairs field, and his conviction that his greatest skills lie there.

The President is consumed world power relationships—and most particularly those with China and the Soviet Union. That's why, obviously, he opened talks with Peking, and that's why he has been willing to widen the power bargaining with Moscow on nuclear weapons, Berlin, East-West ties, and other matters.

Now that April showers have brought on May's flow-ers—whom do we blame for the weeds?
The heaviest thing a person can carry is a grudge.

WE'VE GOT TO BLOCKADE NIXON! WHAT IF THE WAR ENDS BEFORE NOVEMBER?

is carried on a different plan. The health club membership is called our unlimited plan. It includes all of the above facilities plus the new exercise room, all the machines, sauna, handball and racquetball courts. This is a well equipped health facility.

The health facility membership costs an individual $65.00 for six months or $118.00 each year. A husband-wife combination type plan costs $90.00 for six months and $170.00 a year. We do have a monthly budget plan for the six month memberships. Call us for full details at 665-4301.

SUMMER SWIM LESSONS
Although the summer swim-lesson registration date has come and gone, we are still taking enrollments in our classes. Some classes are full but there are some vacancies and parents may call and find out the full schedule still available.

As you will notice, we have changed our program somewhat in that we are only teaching one class per hour so that there will be no disturbances. Also we have scheduled polywogs on a 30 minutes basis and limited each class to 15 students. We believe these changes are for the good and will improve our program. We are always looking to better our program and if you have any suggestions, please let us know.

The full summer schedule is listed below and enrollment is open to non-members as well as members. Some people have thought that you needed to be a member of the Center to enroll. You may pay a $4.00 registration fee and enroll if you are not a member.

BATTIN' AROUND

How To End Inflation?

THE CURE BY C. R. BATTEN

Professor Suggests America Learn To Live With Inflation. blared the headline in the daily newspaper. Another: "House OKs $2 Minimum Wage."

Shortly after reading those headlines, I opened a book to the place I had marked the night before, and read the heading: "GOVERNMENT DEPRESSION POLICY, Laissez-Faire."

"If government wishes to see a depression ended as quickly as possible," I read, "and the economy returned to normal prosperity, what course should it adopt? The first and clearest injunction is: don't interfere with the market's adjustment process."

The book is Murray N. Rothbard's "America's Great Depression" (2nd Ed., Nash Pub. Corp., 9255 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90069).

Rothbard describes the Austrian theory of the general business cycle, the causes of depressions, and how depressions are cured. His views run counter to the currently popular Keynesian economics. For, as Rothbard explains, the Austrian theory is "the economic analysis of the necessary consequences of intervention in the free market by bank credit expansion."

The author traces the credit expansion policies of the 1920's and shows how they led directly to the Great Depression of 1929-1933. He describes how President Herbert Hoover tried to overcome the depression, and how his efforts only prolonged the agony.

In earlier depressions, the government maintained a strict hands-off policy. "Laissez-faire was, roughly, the traditional policy in American depressions before 1929..." Rothbard explains. "In the 1920-1921 depression, wage rates were permitted to fall, and government expenditures and taxes were reduced. And this depression was over in one year — in what Dr. Benjamin M. Anderson has called 'our last natural recovery to full employment'."

The author maintains that a recession or depression is a necessary readjustment of the economy to eliminate distortions and mistaken investments brought about by government intervention.

"The more the government intervenes to delay the market's adjustment, the longer and more grueling the depression will be, and the more difficult will be the road to complete recovery." If government wants to hobble the recovery process, says Rothbard, it should prevent liquidation, by lending money to shaky businesses; continue inflation; keep wage rates up; keep prices up; stimulate consumption, and discourage saving (by taxation, food stamp plans, and relief payments); and subsidize unemployment compensation (by unemployment compensation, etc.).

Rothbard explains why each of these actions prolong the recession. "Yet," he says,

"they are the honored favorites of government policy..."

The only positive action government can take that will help to end a recession, he insists, is to cut its budget drastically—both in taxes and expenditures, in order to encourage more saving and investments relative to consumption.

The second edition of Rothbard's book is especially timely now, with the government's propaganda efforts to convince the public that it is trying to do something about inflation, controlling prices and wages, and reforming taxation.

The advocates of ever higher minimum wage laws refuse to recognize that every employer can lay off those workers that cannot earn the new minimum wage. They refuse to recognize what is becoming more and more apparent—that unemployment increases every time the minimum wage is raised.

The professor of international business who suggests that we should learn to live with inflation has abandoned all attempts to get at the causes of inflation, and is simply proposing methods by which he believes its impact can be lessened. His remedies can only lead to stronger governmental regulation.

Rothbard makes it perfectly clear that all interventions in the market place are doomed to failure.

Your Horoscope

SUNDAY, MAY 21

Your birthday today: Opens a generally favorable year of vaguely defined opportunity for advancement. The most important goal is translation of indiscriminate activity into coherent and effective drive. Life tends to simplify itself. Today's natives are ambitious, often writers, sometimes jacks-of-several-trades.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Get out and make the rounds early, do your share in community life as you go. You can meet much pleasure and cooperation.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Where you had worked out elaborate plans, much goes more directly to the point. Use every opportunity to get effective contacts with serious students.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Forget getting postmortems of past squabbles. Bring your loved ones, friends and neighbors together for celebration. The spark of romance may gleam.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Reach beyond regular affiliations for a larger set of resources. Commercial affairs should be laid aside. Business contacts can follow later.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Friendship leads naturally to sharing of experiences. Be willing to extend hospitality, views of your expectations for future growth.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Make your amenities wher-ever expected, peace where differences can be healed. Thanksgiving is a mood for any day, not just for one holiday a year.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: In the calm of a routine Sunday your intuition will set into place some final piece of a long-standing puzzle.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Put aside weekday concerns and enjoy a real break. Visiting, particularly going out to those who are not free to travel brings satisfaction.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: The path to symbolical inaccessible heights is now open if you really try. Home figures strongly in your thinking.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Get some extra rest, a complete switch from yesterday. Unfinished correspondence needs your attention if it is ever to be of value.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Specific plans can be presented, and if you have nothing precisely worked out, let things take their natural course. Everything is likely all right.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Do what your community expects of you. From the many-faceted discussions you get fresh insights to think about. Listening well pays off.

MONDAY, MAY 22

Your birthday today: Begins the year of poignant experience. You learn to rely on your own resources. Personal relationships develop. Today's natives tend to be a bit more aggressive than is convenient, often taking on more than they can properly handle. Talent with speaking, writing comes naturally.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Since nobody seems ready to compromise, see what you can do alone. Let promotions, pleas for help pass for the moment.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Your friends are all impatient today. Financial improvement is feasible on confidential dealings. Courtesy in any travel is essential.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Difference of opinion over money, particularly shared funds or family resources are sidestepped only by great care and candor on your part.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: It may seem that opposition to your plans is more important than the activity being planned. Divert energy to constructive results.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Resistance comes from unexpected direction. There's no advantage in confronting those who disagree. Re-examine your program.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Cooperation now is priceless, may be among those who normally are beyond reach. Make the most of it while it lasts.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Those emotionally linked with you may see your activities as competitive, may hinder career progress a little. Try to get an even balance.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Any unusual action will cause comment, even doing

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Sunday, May 21, the 142nd day of 1972. There are 224 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1956, the first hydrogen bomb was exploded by the United States over Bikini Atoll in the Pacific.

On this date: In 1542, the Spanish explorer, Hernando de Soto, died while searching for gold and treasure along the Mississippi River.

BRIEFS

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston City Council voted Tuesday on a preliminary engineering study for a $10 million canal system to bring water from Lake Livingston to Lake Houston.

Councilman Larry McKaskle argued in vain that the city should wait for a study now underway on silt accumulations in Lake Houston that might make the lake useless for water storage.

The canal system would connect Luce Bayou with the Trinity River along Capers Ridge followed by improvements along the bayou to Lake Houston. City officials say Houston now draws about 145 million gallons daily from Lake Houston. Construction on the system is at least two years away, they said.

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Health Department has approved city plans for operation of a solid waste disposal site and a milling plant for solid waste. Galveston Mayor M.L. Ross said Tuesday.

The city has had problems with the health department over their present landfill site.

Highland General Pharmacy Plays Major Role In Hospital Service

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the sixth in a series of weekly articles, prepared by the public relations department of Highland General Hospital, to acquaint the public with hospital officials, employees, department procedures and the many services offered to the people of Gray County.

The Pharmacy plays a key role in the service of Highland General Hospital. Recent advances in antibiotic drugs and chemotherapy make the hospital pharmacy more and more important. Here a trained pharmacist and all the drugs are constantly on hand to serve the doctors and patients.

In July of 1970, due to the initiation of the Medicare Program, Highland General Hospital hired a Registered Pharmacist, Mr. John Carson. This was done in order to meet the requirements for participation in Medicare. Mr. Carson is also the pharmacist for the McLean General Hospital. It is the responsibility of the Pharmacist to procure and dispense proper medications, as prescribed by the doctors to the patients while utilizing all modern technology dealing with new forms of drugs.

One of the newest technological advances in hospital medication is that of the unit dose which is being utilized at Highland General Hospital at the present. The advantages of the individualized packaged dose is the elimination of medication error, establishing a far greater technicians Jo Ann Greer who has been an employee for four years and Katherine Miller who has been with Highland General for six years.

Oil Company To Use EXXON As Trademark

HOUSTON—Humble Oil & Refining Co. will use EXXON as its primary trademark and in its company name, Board Chairman M.A. Wright announced today.

An eight-month market test of EXXON "has been a complete success," Wright stated. "As a result the company has made a decision to adopt EXXON as its primary trademark to replace three principal brands now in use."

"We believe that the company name should be similar to the trademark. Therefore, our plan is that, commencing January 1, 1973, Humble will be known as EXXON Company."

Wright also announced selection of a design for the trademark: a rectangle with red EXXON lettering against a white background over a blue accent bar.

The word EXXON was chosen because it is quickly recognized, easily remembered and ranks high in consumer acceptance, Wright said.

"We have planned a transition from our existing brand names to EXXON," Wright stated. "Beginning in July, we will change the names of our three grades of gasoline to EXXON, EXXON Plus and EXXON Extra. Permanent EXXON identification signs will start going up in November at more than 25,000 service stations."

New Books In Library

GHOSTS AROUND THE HOUSE—Susy Smith; serves up a gaggle of ghosts to delight all phantom fanciers and chill even the most hardened cynic.

THE NIXON RECESSION CAPER—Ralph Maloney; a moving picture of people in whom many will recognize their own images—and for whom one can care.

IF YOU WANT TO SEE YOUR WIFE AGAIN—John Craig; three jaded exiles from a defunct TV show, the handsome, wealthy owner of a chain of department stores, and his beautiful blond wife star in this story of a kidnapping.

MUTANT 59—Kit Pedler and Gerry Davis; certain hair-raising doubts about our present bio-ecological attitudes are forever planted in our minds.

M-A-S-H GOES TO MAINE—Richard Hooker; another riotous book, for the fans of the original M-A-S-H.

GRAND PRIX YEAR—Ted Simon; The dramatic inside account of a year in the life of the men and machines that make Grand Prix happen.

FOOL'S APPLE—Sara Cardiff; the haunted, witch-ridden New England is the setting for this tense and beautiful story.

THE JOURNEY OF AUGUST KEELY—John Ehle; the story, deeply told, holds those rare qualities of classic simplicity, fierce humor, and an enrichment which fulfills and challenges us all.

THE DETECTIVE WORE SILK DRAWERS—Peter Lovelace; an intensely exciting story of murder in late Victorian England.

THE GHOST LANE—Edwin P. Hoyt; SS chief Martin Bormann and Gestapo head Heinrich Mueller faced swift annihilation as the Third Reich collapsed about them and the Allies steadily pushed forward.

This is the story of their cleverly devised yet treacherous escape route.
