Nixon and Soviet leaders reached agreement today on the critical summit issue of limiting strategic nuclear arms.

The creation of such a com mission had been suggested before the summit talks by some U.S. trade officials because difficult negotiations on settlement of Soviet World War II lendlease debts stood in the way of any broader trade agreements such as multimillion-dollar grain purchases from the United States by Russia, plus U.S. credits.

Treasurer Candidate Campaigns At Pampa

By RAY BAXTER They're gunning for Jesse James again!

The "posse" is comprised of Texas Republicans and their 'trigger man' is Rep. Maurice Angly, ranking GOP member of the Texas House.

Angly, in an appearance at Pampa yesterday, placed his campaign for the state treasurer's post now held by James on the basis of fiscal performance rather than party politics.

"In all truthfulness there is nothing per se about the office of state treasurer that lends itself to partisan politics. As the next treasurer of the state of Texas I would simply be bringing honesty and good financial management under the banner of the Republican party, Angly said in his opening gambit

He led his listeners through documented accounts of the involvement of state depository funds with the Sharpstown Bank summing up the account by pointing out that loss of interest amounted to more than $1-million which the taxpavers of Texas had to make up to run the affairs of state.

"As your state treasurer, I intend to put an end to such 'political preference' deposits of state funds." Angly assured his

Umbrellas vied with mortar boards as the order of the evening when a thunderstorm dumped .38 of an inch of rain on Pampa beginning just before graduation exercises here last

While no severe storm warnings were out, wires and three limbs were blown down about the city by gusting winds that accompanied the rain. No severe damage had been reported locally this morning.

A 16-year-old long-needle pine tree measuring some 18 inches at the base was uprooted by the wind on the north side of the Jack Hood residence at 2336

Duncan. The rain started about 7 p.m., slackened then began anew around 10:30 when winds reached their highest velocity. The unofficial rate was 30 miles

The thunderstorm system was general over the Panhandle-Plains with the western third of the Panhandle under a severe storm warning until 9 last night.

Amarillo and Lubbock suffered the strongest winds-40 miles per hour-while Perryton received the most moisture-one inch of rainfall. A tornado funnel was sighted a few mile northwest of Perryton but n damage has been discovered.

The official forecast calls for more thunderstorms giving Pampa a 30 per cent chance this aftermon, 50 per cent tonight and 30 per cent for Saturday.

Southerly winds will prevail at 15-25 miles per hour growing gusty in the vicinity of thunderstorm activity.

The high this afternoon should reach the mid-eighties falling to the mid-fifties tonight. Yesterday's high was 86 with a low of 57 last night.

The governor said he thought all his appointees would "do real fine" when they come up for Senate confirmation. These include Texas Vending Commission Chairman Raymond B. Williams, dominant figure in the Texas jukebox industry, and controversial Secretary of State Bob Bullock.

In Smith's letter to Texas congressmen, he said the "socalled 'anti-busing' amend-

Over 7.6 Million Autos Recalled In Six Months

DETROIT (AP) - More automobiles have been recalled in the last six months than ever before in a similar period. And if it seems like millions to vou-that's right.

More than 7.6 million cars have been recalled since last December. The vast majority of the recalls, however, were for defects newly surfacing in cars built anywhere from 3 to 10 years ago.

Not all of those recalled had defects. For instance: General Motors recalled 32,649 Buicks, Oldsmobiles and Pontiacs to find 1,250 which had received faulty wheels.

Why so many goof-ups, after all these years of experience and the millions upon millions of dollars continually pouring into research, engineering and quality control in the nation's major manufacturing industry? Mostly it boils down to defects in design or engineering that stay hidden on the drawing boards, in the laboratories or on the test tracks. But a perfectly designed and engineered car could be forced into recall by a single component installed upside down along the assembly line by a workman new on the job. All automakers strive to "en gineer out" the possibility of worker-mistakes, but they haven't always been successful In the Buick-Oldsmobile

Pontiac recall it turned out that one welding machine in a supplier's plant malfunctioned for two days without any outward appearance of trouble. Wheels and rims were insecurely ioined

Testing disclosed the goofup and a checkback pinpointed the cause and time, but 32,649 cars had been equipped with wheels from this supplier in those two days. All were recalled and located before there had been an accident or injury charged to them. Almost half as many automobiles have been recalled for inspection and correction of suspected defects as have been sold in the United States since the National Highway Safety Act became law in 1966.

The figures roughly are 55.2 million sold and 25 million recalled, according to Automotive

But many of those recalled were built prior to 1966-including more than a million 1965 Chevrolets involved in a current campaign.

Ford and General Motors have recall campaigns under way in which their fix-it bills are expected to run to $30 million plus each.

Why do multiple mistakes continue? One industry expert put it this way:

"Humans design and engineer the cars from scratch, then other humans build, maintain and operate the machines

Coldest In Town

Ballentine

that turn out a car's 15,000 parts and put them together. Others test the product and still other humans buy and drive it.

"Most assembly lines, for maximum economy and efficiency, are geared to turn out a car every minute. GM has 22 in the States and two in Canada. Cadillac's is set for 51 cars an hour and Vega is trying for 100.

"So, with 15,000 parts per car, every hour's operation on a single average line represents the assembly of 900,000 partsand it takes action by the better part of almost 1,400 moving parts to get a car rolling.' William D. Innes, a Ford executive vice president was asked recently why there seemed to be more recalls than 10 years ago

Farm Operating Loan Funds Released By Administration

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa has been advised by Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz that the administration has released $37-million in farm operating loan funds, making available the full $350-million appropriated for fiscal year

The $350-million funding puts the farm operating loan program at an all-time high level. The Farm Ownership loan program, with $350-million also available, and the emergency loan program, at $140-million, also are funded at record levels. The new loan funds, which will be abailable through 1,750 county offices of USDA'S Farm Home administration, may be used to buy seed, feed, fertilizer, livestock, tractor fuel and other equipment and facilities needed to run a successful farming operation. FHA supplies this credit to farmers who are unable to obtain conventional credit from regular sources at reasonable rates, Price said.

Youth disagrees with Abby on drug use

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have to take issue with your advice to parents who wanted to know if they had the right to snoop into their children's belongings to discover if they were using drugs. You said this was a case in which invasion of privacy was justified, and parents had the right to use "whatever means possible" to find out what their children were doing. Abby, now I'm convinced that you are not qualified to give advice on drugs; in fact, your column is beginning to show the characteristics of Gestapo police.

I am a college student who uses drugs, and as a citizen of this country, I have as much right to privacy as the next person. It is my life and my body, and I will do what I like

Wise up, Abby. Talk to some users. Find out where it's really at, and stop encouraging kids to fink on each other. Someday the soft drugs will be legal and then a lot of us will breathe easier, just as people did after prohibition. SICK OF HASSLES

DEAR SICK: So it's "soft drugs" you want to legalize? Who's to decide which drugs are "soft" and which are "hard"? You? If you then disagree on which drugs should be legal, will you still assert your "right of privacy" to use

The legalization of some drugs as "controlled substances" may be on the way, and should be. But until it arrives, I'll continue to counsel obedience of the law as it stands, along with reasonable surveillance of the young in

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I [married for 12 years] have two children, and we finally managed to take a vacation alone [no kids] for the first time since our marriage.

We arranged to have a nice young married couple move into our home in our absence to look after our children.

When my parents saw us off at the airport, my mother asked, "Did you make a will in case something happens to you?" I really was shook up, Abby. Of course we didn't

I realize it is a possibility, but the point I am trying to get across is that nothing happened to us, but that remark of my mother's was on my mind the whole time, and it spoiled my vacation.

I ask you, wasn't that a lousy thing for her to have done? STILL BURNING

DEAR STILL: Her timing was "lousy." But her suggestion was a good one.

DEAR ABBY: My son works long hours daily and when gift-giving time comes along, he asks me if I will please shop for a gift to give his wife

I do not mind shopping, altho-it is not easy for me, but no matter what I select, my son's wife always takes it back and exchanges it for something else. [I know her size, but it seems I can never choose a color or style she likes well

Since I have yet to select a gift that she has kept, I feel I am wasting my time to buy gifts for her. I once told my son that perhaps he ought to just give her the money and let her buy what she wants, but he said she did not like to receive money as a gift because it was so crass, and lacking in warmth and sentiment. Have you any suggestions? TIRED OF SHOPPING

DEAR SHOPPING: If it's "warmth" and sentiment the lady likes, tell your son to send her a warm, sentimental card. And if money is too crass, how about a gift certificate?

DEAR ABBY: For pity's sake, please tell "Hard of Hearing" to stop cupping her ear with her hand and asking people to please speak up. Tell her to study lipreading instead!

I learned lipreading out of a book recommended by the Volta Bureau of Washington, D. C., after suffering a complete loss of hearing. I haven't heard a thing for 13 years, yet people who have known me a long time find it difficult to believe.

Last year I flew to Alaska and back unaccompanied. Of course, I always inform the airlines personnel of my handicap and they graciously look after me. OHIOAN

South's vulnerable fourspade bid would not meet with the approval of anyone who doesn't like to take any chances but it certainly meets with ours. South has nine top tricks. He has an excellent chance to pick up a tenth if his partner can produce any cards at all or if the defense slips.

The defense starts with three rounds of diamonds. South trumps the third lead and if he wants to put the maximum pressure on the defense he will lead his three of hearts immediately.

If East lets dummy hold just one heart trick it will be all over. South will run out the rest of the tricks for his contract.

What sort of East player will grab that first heart? The sort of player who always takes his aces at the first opportunity will come out very well here.

Peeve is with those people who refuse to pay their newspaper delivery boys on time. These boys must pay their bills early in the month but this is often impossible as so many trips have to be made before all the bills can be collected. The same people pay other bills on time so why not the paper bill? I have worked in homes where I have paid it myself rather than ask the boy to come back. Where I now work the family's son has a paper route and has been back to some houses as many as 20 times trying to collect. He has even had people cancel their thought he had his nerve to ask for the money on time. Please, people, have a heart and pay the paper boy on time.-ALICE became the bride of Tim Sparks of Memphis at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 13, in the Assembly of God Church, Memphis.

Sue Melton, Tim Sparks Are United In Marriage

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Melton of Memphis and the bridegroom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Virgil Sparks of Garland

THE CEREMONY Rev. Virgil Sparks, father of the bridegroom, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Miss Claudia Corley, pianist, played the theme from "Romeo and Juliet." Sport Waddell sang "We've Only Just Begun."

Instead of the bridal march, the bridegroom sang "Let It Be Me." as the bride came down the aisle.

The couple was married before an archway, decorated with orchid and white pompons. Other decorations included candelabra and basket arrangements of orchid and white gladioli and carnations.

THE BRIDE Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta. The bodice was styled with an empire waistline. three-quarter-length flounce sleeves, trimmed with Alencon lace, and a Victorian neckline trimmed with lace.

Alencon lace formed a panel down the front of the floor-length, A-line skirt. The chapel train of illusion, edged with lace, fell from a satin bow at the back waist line

Her shoulder-length veil of Alencon lace fell from a white satin hat, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white elegance carnations and miniature ivy, tied with white employment has risen 12 per cent during the same period. The total civilian payroll is up from $57 billion five years ago to $94 billion this year. This is an increase of 66 per cent, while the private payroll expanded only 47 per cent It is estimated that by 1980 one in four employed persons will be working for government. That is to say that for every three workers, a fourth will be occupied in making rules for the other three, or in attempting to lorce them

Soviet Debt Still Unpaid

During World War II the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt showered almost $11 billion in lend-lease on the Soviet Union. This was supposed to be repaid, either by return of the original article or by "repayment in kind or property." There was, however, a hooker in the agreement. specifying that repayment could also be through "any direct or indirect benefit which the President deems satisfactory.

Thirty-one years after the armaments, aircraft, and supplies started flowing to the Soviet Union, a Russian delegation is in Washington to continue the haggling over repayment. There have been no negotiations in 12 years. The talks broke down with the United States asking less than 712 cents on the dollar and the Russians countering with an offer of 2.7 cents. That is where things stand

The Russians are back now because they want "most favored nation" treatment on their exports to the United States. They have to pay, for example, a 30 per cent tariff on Soviet caviar against 15 per cent on Iranian caviar. The Nixon administration says no deal is possible until the lend-lease account is settled. Mr. Roosevelt in 1941 ingenuously likened lend-lease to lending one's garden hose to a neighbor whose house was on fire. You would either get the same hose back or a nice, new replacement, and then you would be "in pretty good shape." We haven't got back

Question Box

QUESTION: Is there a great difference between political democracy and the free. competitive market democracy? If so, which is the one that gives every person an opportunity to develop his talents to his fullest extent?

ANSWER: Yes, there is a great difference between political democracy and democracy of the market.

Thomas Carlyle said. "Democracy is, by the nature of it, a self-canceling business: and gives in the long run a net result of zero." He also said, Democracy means despair of finding any heroes to govern you and contented putting up with the want of them. W.H. Seward in "Eulogy on John Quincy Adams," says "Democracies are prone to war and war consumes them.' That seems to verify the statement made by John Quincy Adams that political democracies always destroy themselves from within. T.B. Macaulay wrote: 'Institutions purely democratic must sooner or later destroy liberty or civilization or both.' No pure democracy ever lasted long with one-man, one-vote.

The democracy of the market is an entirely different thing. Democracy of the market is not based on coercion as political democracy is, but is based upon individuals voluntarily making willing exchanges of goods and services where both parties make a profit, materially and spiritually. Walt Whitman expressed it in these words: "I speak the password primeval-I give the sign of democracy; My God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms. When a man buys a can of peas, he does not force anybody else to buy the same brand of peas instead of beets, nor can he force another man to pay for the peas if that man does not want

But when a political democracy makes a choice, even those who don't want the chosen items or services must pay for them. Even in the United States, at one time, some states forced everyone to pay for churches. They no longer do that, but they still make everyone pay for schools-even those who have no children in the schools and those who believe that government schools cannot educate but only indoctrinate, and that they cannot set an example of living by the commandment "Thou Shalt Not Steal." It is difficult for one who is supported by taxation where people are forced to pay his salary, to set a good example of freedom and voluntary exchanges A political democracy always leads to monopoly and results in coercion while democracy of the market uses no coercion. In a market democracy a man is free to make his own decisions so long as he respects the equal rights of every other person to do the same thing. It is the ability, in a market democracy, of the individual to make his own decisions respecting his own life and property, that enables him to grow and develop. He may make wrong decisions, but from the poor results of his wrong decisions he will guickly learn to make better ones, and in this way he will develop his talents to the fullest.

It is democracy of the market that this country really aimed to have, not a political democracy.

The founders of this nation called it a Republic, Isabel Patterson says, "republic" means, as the roots of the word signify: re, regarding & public, things of a public nature. This implies also that there are things that are not of a public nature, that the state must not have anything to do with. Now, however, political democracy is setting wages, hours, travel limitations, progressive income tax, etc. It interferes with the development of men of talent and the accumulation of tools without which men cannot produce more and thus earn more. Democracy of the market leaves a man free to trade with anybody in the world, but through the power of political democracy labor unions limit the division of labor and greatly reduce production. This is a direct inhibition of the individual's ability to develop his talents.

Yes, democracy of the market is one that enables each and every individual to develop his talents to his fullest capacity.

RAY CROMLEY Political Climate Spurs Assassins

By RAY CROMLEY WASHINGTON (NEA)-Violence, headed by Dr. Milton

Research studies show clearly Eisenhower in the Johnson the dreadful shooting of George administration), in one foreign Wallace falls into a vicious but assassination example, says predictable pattern which bears .. in the climate of vilification, lesson for all of us whatever once the political actor was 'morally' branded, eliminated First-With two exceptions. and destroyed, psychological all those men who have restraints and controls of a assassinated or attempted to potential assassin were assassinate presidents or weakened or even removed, and presidential candidates have in his view assassination was > iustified In this way the vilification campaigns seem to trigger mentally deranged men into action-even though the vilifiers themselves might be appalled by the use of violence.

Third-The National Commission found the political philosophy of a president or presidential candidate appears to bear little relevance to an attack. It noted that McKinley and Garfield were moderate conservatives, while Kennedy and Truman were liberals. Franklin Roosevelt "was attacked at a time when his political philosophy was not yet identifiable. Fourth-Assassination attempts seem to correlate directly with the general level of civil strife. Grafs have been charted which show every assassination attempt against a president or presidential candidate has occurred at or near a peak of civil strife in this country. Turmoil in general seems to trigger presidential assassination tendences in mentally-unbalanced individuals.

The National Commission said that "attacks upon the legitimacy of democratic government and the loyalty of key government officials often characterizes a preassassination stage in a country's history. The extreme Right some elements of the New Left...help to create an environment of violence in which the assassination of political figures by mentally unstable persons becomes more

Even if the rhetoric of revolution and vilification of governmental authority is never translated into deed (by those using this language), the constant exceriation of America's instituions and leaders may destroy their legitimacy in the eyes of other segments of society

Fifth—As for the future, rapid change in a society is another characteristic which correlates with high levels of assassination. Indications are the United States may undergo even more rapid socio-economic change in the next few years than in the recent past.

The National Commission in 1969 said "present trends warn of an escalating risk of assassination, not only for presidents, but for other office holders at every level of government, as well as leaders of civil rights and political-interest groups."

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb, M.D. Epilepsy Isn't

C. D. WIRES GT

A Rare Disease Dear Dr. Lamb-I am an epileptic and never miss taking my medicine. I occasionally feel uneasy but since I am aware of the symptoms in my case that precede a seizure I immediately hope for it to pass, stop what I am doing and pray. One doctor told me epilepsy was inherited and another said it was not. What do you think? No one in my family has it. Do you think it is fair that in some states they ask if you have epilepsy when you get a driver's license? They don't ask about other diseases. I am sorry I cannot sign my name. You see I am not being honest either because my family doesn't know about me. Dear Reader — You got a difference of opinion from two doctors because the answer is not yes or no. In the first place, if by epilepsy one means convulsions. there are several different types. Rare instances are caused by brain injury and brain tumors. Brain damage caused by injuries can be corrected in some instances. The more common form of epilepsy with no apparent cause has been labeled as genetic, meaning it has some relationship to heredity. That does not mean a person who has elipesy will have children who have this problem. Many individuals with this problem do not have a family history of epilepsy. Only about three to five per of the relatives of patients with this type of epilepsy also have it.

If two individuals who both have epilepsy marry, the likelihood that their children having epilepsy is significantly increased. If an individual with epilepsy wanted to be reasonably certain not have children with this problem, he should seek genetic counseling to determine insofar as possible if there is any increased likelihood of having children with epilepsy

Regarding driver's licenses, all states will permit certain epileptics to obtain a driver's license. This has not always been true. Some states require, "in the interest of road safety a doctor's certificate to indicate a period of freedom from convulsive episodes. An individual who has been free of episodes and is well controlled with his medicine is not likely to have any difficulty in obtaining a license in most states. By the way, a state which has a good control program in this area usually has insurance policies that are much cheaper for epileptics than those who do not.

The individual with epilep sy well controlled by medicines is certainly a much safer driver than the large number of individuals who have had one too many cock-

Move to Limit Tenure on Federal Bench to 8 years

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON-Federal judges are arbitrarily and dictatorially misusing and abusing their authority, and in the interest of national stability and progress it is urgently imperative that the records and conduct of these jurists be subjected to regular periodic scrutiny and view by Congress. For that purpose, Sen. Harry Byrd. Ind.-Va., is vigorously pressing a Constitutional amendment to limit the terms of Federal judges to eight years with automatic reappointment subject to reconfirmation by the Senate Should a judge be rejected, he would be retired with full pay-thus guaranteeing the financial independence of the Federal judiciary. 'Life tenure, devoid of restraint and accountability." Byrd told the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments, "is not consistent with the movement of this country toward a greater voice for the people in the operations of their government. It is time we abolished this.

There is widespread disaffection with the existing system under which Federal judges are exercising the dictatorial powers. There is no need to provide any official in a democracy with the prerogatives of a medieval baron in order to safeguard his independence of judgment.

A principal impelling objective behind Byrd's proposal is to curb the sweeping power of Federal judges to order extensive school busing solely to "achieve a racial balance.

Byrd's Constitutional amendment would strike directly at this authority.

Citing the little-known significant fact that only three of the 50 states (Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island) still have life tenure for the judiciary, Sen. Byrd stressed that this far-reaching development was the result of decades of experience.

"I know of no documented assertion," he informed the subcommittee, "that the independence or integrity of the judiciary has been compromised in any of the 47 states as a result of fixed tenure. The blunt fact is, when we stop to think about it, why should any official in a democracy have lifetime tenure? In today's world, only kings, queens, emperors, sultans-and United States Federal judges-hold office for life. That doesn't make sense.

Long-Advocated Reform Sen. Byrd pointed out that his proposal is neither new nor radical

As evidence, he cited the demand in 1920 by Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, Sr., R.-Wis. one of the leading progressives of this century." Constitutional and statutory changes "to end the lifetime tenure of Federal judges. This is not liberal-vs.-conservative issue, declared Byrd. For well over a century, after the creation of this nation, there was an unwritten canon of judicial restraint expressed by the most eminent justices on the Supreme Court. But in this century, particularly since the 1950s, first the Supreme Court and later the lower Federal courts have cast aside much of the doctrine of restraint. Federal courts have gone well beyond the sphere of interpreting the law and into the domain of making the law.

electioneering fund.

During the President's Moscow visit he is proposing to suspend again the 1963 requirement by President Kennedy that 50 per cent of grain and flour shipments to Communist countries must be carried by American flag ships-thus considerably increasing the cost. Last year, after President Nixon set that order aside. Russia bought $140 million in corn, barley and oats.

The basis for another huge commodity sale to the U.S.S.R. was laid by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz in a trip to Moscow in April. He conterred with agriculture minister Valdimire Matskevich, who expressed interest in purchasing more farm products if we are treated right.

Matskevich and other Kremlin officials talked particularly about establishing most-favored trade relations with the U.S. so as to increase exports to this country. They asserted Russia wants particularly to expand its trade in furs, oil and gas, diamonds tobacco, chrome ore and rare metals Last year U.S. exports to the Soviet totalled $177.2 million as against imports from that country of $56.8 million. In 1970 the contrasting figures were 103 million and $58 million.

Secretary Butz also reported to President Nixon that Russian officials stressed the desire of obtaining credits to increase purchases in this country. No specific figures were mentioned, but it was indicated the Soviet Union was prepared to negotiate arrangements totalling upwards of $500 million.

Significantly, following a conference with the President before he flew to Moscow. Commerce Secretary Peter Peterson stated he anticipated that during the President's visit there would be considerable discussion of liberalizing trade and credit arrangements.

"I confidently expect," said Peterson, "that a year from now we will be doing substantially more business with the Soviet. I would say both countires are desirous of doing a lot more trade with each

The Christian Science board of directors issued the statement in behalf of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Massachusetts, and it was read at services in the 3,200 member churches of the denomination throughout the "No one can outline for another how to pray, nor do we in our prayers attempt to outline specific solutions for human conditions." the message stated. "But let this not prevent us from joining in the deepest confidence that prayer does avail. "It is our conviction that prayer is deeply needed and of vital importance at this time. We believe that all of us must now be counted upon to do our full share in bringing to bear the immense power for good that is native to prayer.

A front page editorial in The Christian Science Monitor, the denominations's international daily newspaper, also has urged prayer be used in approaching the Vietnam problem.

"The seed of peace can take root only in the prayerful thought of men," the editorial stated.

"It is in a willingness to see that peace is above and yet available to the participants, supported in a divine plan and impulsion for harmony among men, that efforts toward peace can begin," the Monitor added.

"Peace has always been elusive. But by men's raising their vision above the evidence of battle to the spiritual norm of harmony and peace.

"To do so is to fix thought on the issues that divide, and to deflect attention from the goal of harmonious world relations. It is also to fail to see that what is good in American history-the high regard for freedom and self-governance which it shares with various other lands-survives as the thread guiding its role in the progress of nations."

Representatives of the 3.1million-member denomination registered their all-out opposition to the war, calling it wantonly destructive and based on deception and abuse of presidential powers.

By a vote of 401 to 235, they approved the 2,000-word document calling for "immediate cessation" of all American air, naval and ground action, and "speedy withdrawal" of military forces from the entire area, subject only to a pledge of release of U.S. prisoners.

The church recommended a sequence of actions to try to get the war stopped, including:

Gibson's fast ball was in good form and he struck out 10 Pirates, getting Richie Hebner three times although the Pittsburgh third baseman homered in the sixth. By then, Gibson had a 3-1 lead with Ted Sizemore belting his first home run of the season and Lou Brock scoring twice-in the first on Matty Alou's single and in the third on a double play grounder.

"I feel the same as I always do." said the 36-year-old righthander. When I win, I love it when I lose, I'm mad. My control was a little better, but I've been throwing the same way the last four or five games.

Pattin fell behind the Orioles 1-0 in the second inning when Don Baylor cracked his fifth home run. But the Red Sox tied it quickly in the third on Tommy Harper's double and Luis Aparicio's single off Pat Dobson. Aparicio then came around with the winning run on a stolen base, flying ball and Ellie Hendricks' passed ball.

'It's tough every time you go out there," sighed Pattin. "You just have to cope with it, concentrate, relax and throw the way you know how ... I've been down before and it's no fun, I'll

"The National Basketball Association Players' Association has decided that if anyone is suspended or fined, all the players will quit," said burly Bob Lanier of the Detroit Pistons.

"That's proably true," said Dave DeBusschere of the New York Knicks, "but I don't know that for a complete fact. But that would be the logical thing to say. If they suspend one of us. they might as well suspend all

They made their comments Thursday night, after the NBA All-Stars, playing under the threat of fines or suspensions from Commissioner Walter J. Kennedy, had overcome a 19point deficit and edged the American Basketball Association's best players 106-104 at the Nassau Coliseum. Kennedy had strongly warned the NBA players that they would be subject to fines, the minimum of which would be the amount they received for playing in the game. For beating the ABA for the second year in a row, the NBA players earned a total of $33,000, or $3,-000 per player.

The ABA All-Stars, whose owners and Commissioner Jack Dolph had endorsed the game, split a total of $17,000.

"I wasn't really bothered by the threat, but apparently some players were." said Lanier. voted the game's Most Valuable Player after sparking the NBA's comeback with 15 points and seven rebounds.

Ringers Run At 12 Tracks

WASHINGTON (AP) - For ty-one races at 12 horse tracks in nine states had "ringers," witnesses have told a House committee investigating the influence of organized crime in professional sports.

Paul Berube, an investigator for the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau of New York. told the committee the races occurred at Hazel Park in Detroit: Rockingham, New Hampshire: Suffolk Downs near Boston; Narragansett in Providence, R.i.; Garden State and Atlantic City in New Jersey; Liberty Bell in Philadelphia; Delaware Park; Florida Downs and three tacks in Maryland-Bowie, Laurel and Pimlico.

A "ringer." in race track parlance, is a horse running under another name. Berube, who said most of the cases were "active and pending investigations," refused to divulge much information on alleged fixed races.

However, he did say a horse owned by Paul Bast, identified as "an alleged insurance agent in Florida." ran at Narragansett Park on March 16, 1972.

Archery Champ Shaw Decries Bad Coverage NEW YORK - (NEA) - such as golf, skiing and tenris manufacturers are belevel and learning to handle

Hugh J. Shaw, 36, recently won the 1972 Bear American Indoor Archery Champion-ship in Detroit, Mich., making him the top professional archer in the country.

This was exciting news to his wife and to his friends Wellman, Iowa. But it hardly caused a ripple anywhere else. Archery is ar unsung sport and Shaw an unsung champion.

"We just haven't had the television coverage or the mass media publicity of other sports," says Shaw, a member of the Ben Pearson Tournament Archery Advisory Staff. "Most people consider archery child's play, rather than an exciting sport demanding great physical skill. People would rather watch golfers chase a little white ball.'

Golf pros earn more than archery pros too. A top golfer who wins a few major tournaments can earn upwards of $100,000 in a year. An archery pro who managed to win all four of the major tournaments would rake in $4,000, barely enough to cover expenses.

Yet Shaw, along with some 250 other archery pros, annually takes to the road to compete in tournaments around the country. Why?

"Archery's one of the greatest individual sports going," says Shaw. "You going," says Shaw. "You have to stand out there on the line shoulder to shoulder with a hundred other archers and keep putting arrow after arrow in the center of the target. If you're a leader, people start gathering around. It really puts on the pressure.

America's top professional archer is a quiet, unpretentious industrial arts teacher who comes from a rural farming community in central Iowa, population 1,000.

Shaw practices daily on a range in his backyard. His workout may include anywhere from 1½ to 4 hours of "ends," or arrows shot five at a time into a threeinch diameter target placed 20 yards away.

"It depends on how I'm shooting," says Shaw. 'When I'm not doing well, I may practice three to four hours at a time for several days in a row.

Shaw originally took up archery eight years ago on

'I was doing some trap shooting at our local gun club and saw my neighbor, Stan Warner, in the field next door practicing with his bow and arrow," he said. "I walked over and heckled him a bit about playing at a kid's sport. I'd never seen an adult shooting a bow and arrow before.'

Warner, who later won the National Field Archery Championship for Ben Pearson in 1967, handed Shaw

"'You try it,' he told me," Shaw said. "I did, and I couldn't even hit the target consistently. In fact, I found it pretty tough to pull back the string on Stan's bow. It had a 42-pound draw level and learning to handle the pressure of the big tournaments. Many of the top shooters are in their 40s. George Clauss, a pró from Saginaw, Mich., is in his 60s and he can still win tournaments.

Archery's popularity may change in the future, according to Shaw.

'Archery's inclusion in the '72 Olympic Games will expose thousands of people to archery who have never seen the sport before," he said. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

AUSTIN - Accidents, by Parks and Wildlife Department is to take the simple precaution of wearing a life preserver around water, especially if you can't swim.

The life preserver is more than just a good idea if you are aboard a boat-it's the law. Every boat, including canoes, rafts, sailboats and kayaks, must have one Coast Guard approved lifesaving device for everyone on board. In motorboats 26 feet long and under children 12 years old and younger must wear a vest-type life preserver when the boat is drunk driving. A Municipal Court jury returned its unanimous verdict Wednesday after brief deliberations in the trial stemming from the actor's arrest last Aug.

Lancaster said after the verdict: "It proved my faith in the jury system.

MONTREAL (AP) - U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim says a lack of interest in the United Nations by the superpowers is a passing phenomenon

"The United Nations was conceived as a forum for their cooperation and has helped them effectively in a number of very critical situations over the years." he told a United Nations Association of Canada meeting Wednesday night. "I'm sure it will do so again in times of crisis

He said a "new breed of nonpolitical problems on a global scale demand that the U.N. be used more effectively than ever

REHOVOT, Israel (AP) - Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan says that in the absence of a Middle East peace settlement his nation may have to retain occupied Arab territory until 1980 or 1985.

But Dayan told members of the Weizman Institute of Science Wednesday he does not foresee renewed fighting in the Middle East until early 1973. He explained that Egypt would need the Soviet Union's approval to open war again "and the Soviets won't do anything before the U.S. presidential elec-

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) -Character actor Michael A. De Anda has been booked for investigation of possessing heroin for sale, authorities say

De Anda was arrested Wednesday after narcotic agents found 5.6 pounds of uncut heroin in the actor's home, a spokesman for the California Bureau of Narcotic Enforcement said.

NEW YORK (AP) - Money isn't everything, but don't try selling that routine to the various financial institutions who are now shooting it our in every corner of America.

They're not getting along; in fact, they're popping off at each other, and it's all about money.

The scenario for "The Shootout at Money Gulch" has a cast of thousands and involves many billions of dollars. Every state in the Union is involved and so is the federal government.

Included in the cast are 14,-000 commercial banks, 6,000 savings and loan associations. 490 mutual savings banks and, to some extent, more than 20. 000 credit unions. One item of contention is $473 billion in sav-And the plot: The thrift institutions, that is, the savings and loan associations and the mutual savings banks, are strictly restrained in the types of services they offer. The commercial, or full service banks, have wide privileges. The others want to share in them.

Specifically, the S&Ls and mutual banks-and even, it is sometimes suggested, the credit unions-want the right to offer checking accounts and even to develop into full service family finance centers.

The full service banks don't want that kind of competition. They prefer to see the S&Ls and mutuals restrict themselves to accepting savings and then investing those savings mainly in home mortgage loans.

The full service banks argue that there is little need for any dilution of their rights so long as the public is served and, they claim, it is served.

While the showdown is occurring throughout the country on the state level, the most significant aspect of the competition right now is the Hunt Commission Report, headed by Reed Hunt, a retired corporate executive.

In the spring of 1970 President Nixon appointed a special Commission on Financial Structure and Regulation and charged it with "reviewing and studying the structure, operation and regulation of the pri-

The 121-page report presented just before last Christmas included 89 recommendations among them: new powers for the thrift institutions, a phaseout of interest-rate ceilings, a uniform tax formula for all in-

vate financial institutions accounts. Moreover, it recommended that S&Ls and mutuals be allowed to make secured and unsecured consumer loans in amounts not to aggregate in excess of 10 per cent of total as-stitutions that offer checking

The next major move on the national level is expected to come sometime later this year when the President is expected to send to Congress his own recommendations, based partly on the Hunt report

Whether the President follows the commission recommendations is still in doubt, however. The battle is far from settled; the shooting continues.

Illegal VEE Vaccine Discovered

(AP)-II-legal vaccine for Venequelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) has been discovered in three West Texas feed stores, the Texas Veterinary Medical Association said today.

Only accredited veterinarians may use the horse disease vaccine, the association said.

"We are in a very critical period in Texas at this time with the recent rains breeding mosquitoes and other sectors that spread VEE," an association spokesman said. 'It would be regrettable indeed if our horse and human population were exposed to VEE because the vaccine fell into inexperienced hands and animals failed to become properly immunized," the spokesman said. The vaccine must be administered while fresh after being reconstituted, kept cold and used in an aseptic manner with fresh sterile equipment for each horse, he said.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is expected to remove the illegal vaccine from the unidentified West Texas stores, he

Senate Unit Okays Shultz's Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Finance Committee approved without opposition today President Nixon's nomination of George P. Shultz to succeed John B. Connally as secretary of the Treasury

The vote came after Shultz told the panel strong efforts must be made to control federal spending before any higher taxes are considered. "I don't see any evidence that people think we in government are doing such a great job so that taxes should be raised to provide us with more revenues." he told the committee at a hearing to consider his nomination.

Before we have anything to say about the possibility of higher taxes, we must do everything we can to bring out lays under control.

Shultz now Nixon's top budget officer and former secretary of Labor, emphasized repeat edly that the upturn in the nation's economy brought with it a need to start curtailing federal spending.

CRSA Officers Protest Fences Across River

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Two officers of the Canadian River Sportsmen's Association complained to the attorney general's office Thursday that landowners are putting fences across the river.

Bob Carp, board chairman, and Charles Sam, treasurer, both of Borger, met with First Asst. Atty. Gen. Nola White.

"They were trying to find out why we were 'dragging our feet' against filing suit on the landowners," White said. White said no suit had been filed because the General Land Office had never certified such a case to the attorney general. 'We don't ever do it (file suit) unless it is certified to us by a state agency along with the necessary proof and investigation," White said. Carp and Sam then went to Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong's office and left their telephone numbers when they learned Armstrong was in Dal-

The attorney general held recently that the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department lacked authority to regulate hunting and safety in state-owned riverbeds. White said the land commissioner has authority over the beds.

Mrs. Farenthold To Stump In Area

Q-Since many people are concerned about young sters using heroin, and al most all heroin users start on marijuana, is there something that can be done to prevent this vicious cycle from continuing? A-A number of assumptions are made in the question which share an equal position: There are minimal facts about anything, let alone heroin use by youngsters. Incidental feelings and infrequent commenting is not equal to concern. Concern presumes a commitment to caring, doing and extending oneself. Secondly, there is nothing in one drug that makes someone go onto another drug. Marijuana use is as likely a cause of heroin use as a wedding is the cause of a satisfying marriage. If A precedes B it doesn't cause it, and indeed may be unrelated to it. Lastly, one doesn't interrupt vicious cycles by playing simple and expedient games which pass for laws, or treatment and education efforts. If someone wants to get high, and we don't want him to use drugs, let's all figure out how to get high on life.

Q-Couldn't the federal government make drug users work in a hospital's emergency room or in a psychiatric hospital so that they can see first-hand the results of drug use?

A-If people were rational and always learned what was made evident to them and cared about themselves this would surely be worth trying. But people just don't function this way. We have the ability to distort reality or just block it out. With all of the public health education on TV and elsewhere about the dangers of smoking we have more smokers than ever before. At the same time that an experimenter with drugs says "I won't get hooked," parents are saying "not my child," and many communities still behave as if drug use is in the neighboring community, and not theirs. Maybe this has to do with our society not having taught us to respect life and come to understand how precious and short lived it really is.

But that doesn't mean that going to an emergency room might not be useful. If caught on with the public and predict for a given person using a particular drug what the outcome will be. A major concern facing all of us is whether with the increased number of both drugs and people can we put our energies into adapting to people rather than drugs.

Q-What can the average citizen do about getting our government to buy up the world's supply of dangerous drugs before they are smuggled in and destroy us all?

A-I guess we can pressure our political leaders. But this may be a useless exercise. Even if we bought up all of Turkey's supply of opium there are other nations such as Laos and Thailand that could supply the American market with heroin.

When it comes to the economic laws of supply and demand, man's appetites don't follow in a predictable way. People will continue to increased prices for drugs, if the drugs have some meaning for them. Lastly, if we got rid of all the heroin and marijuana in the U.S.A. we would still have a great pill problem. We manufacture our own to excess and have developed for both the domestic and foreign markets the notion of progress through chemistry. Instead of buying up drugs, or even manufacturing less of them we will have to develop ways of life that have meaning for more people which are not related to drug

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Today is Friday, May 26, the 47th day of 1972. There are 219 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1868, an atempt to impeach President Andrew Johnson was defeated in the Senate by one vote.

On this date: In 1790, Tennessee was organized as a territory.

In 1805, Napoleon Bonaparte was crowned king of Italy. In 1864, the Montana Territo-

y was organized. In 1942, during World War II, Jerman forces began their drives for Stalingrad and the Caucasus

Also in 1942, Ragio Tokyo boasted of war victories and said: "The Japanese people can look forward to a triumphal march into London and a victory march into New York."

In 1954, the funeral ship of the Egyptian pharaoh, Cheops, was discovered in Egypt.

Ten years ago: European extremists in Algiers bombed and burned out 18 elementary school buildings. Five years ago: The Pentagon conceded that a U.S. Navy plane may have crossed into Communist China by mistake during a bombing mission in North Vietnam. One year ago: A farm labor contractor, Juan Corona, was arrested after bodies of a number of men were found buried in orchards at Yuba City, Calif.

Today's birthdays: Actor John Wayne is 64. Chairman Laurance S. Rockefeller of the Citizen's Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality is 62. Thought for today: To go slowly and to live a long time are brothers-a Dutch proverb.
