Two Koreas Agree On Unification Plan

SEOUL (AP) — South and North Korea announced to their surprised citizens today they have agreed in high-level secret meetings to set up machinery to work for unification of the long-divided peninsula.

Simultaneous announcements in Seoul, the South Korean capital, and Pyongyang, capital of Communist North Korea, said a new accord provides for a telephone hotline between the two cities to prevent accidental war and for a joint political committee to open exchanges in many fields and to promote unification of North and South through peaceful means without outside interference.

The two governments also agreed to refrain from armed provocations and from slandering or defaming each other and to avoid accidental military incidents.

Texas Holiday Traffic Deaths Now Reach 44

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas' toll of deaths from violent causes since the start of the long holiday weekend kept creeping higher today.

By this morning the tragic count stood at 70 fatalities, including 44 in traffic, 14 shootings and 10 drownings.

The tabulation by The Associated Press started at 6 p.m. Friday and will continue until the holiday period ends at midnight Tuesday.

These were among the latest victims:

Bodies of brothers Elmer Pruitt, 62, and Delma Pruitt 60, of Hobbs, N.M., both cut down by shotgun blasts, were found Monday at the farm home of the elder man near Mineral Wells. Sheriff Bill Harris said officers were looking for a youth, 17, believed to have fled in the car of Delma Pruitt.

Jimmy Chavez, 18, of Seguin drowned about 3:30 a.m. today while swimming under the Guadalupe River bridge over FM 466 south of Seguin.

Eugene Selman, 29, of Arlington, Tex., died about three hours after his motorcycle hit a guard rail in Fort Worth's downtown traffic mixmaster.

John Gonzales, 19, Rt. 1, Luling, was killed shortly after midnight Monday when his car ran off a country road eight miles west of Luling.

Crop-dusting pilot Keith Rowe, 32, of Crosby, Tex., died in an ambulance taking him to a Dallas hospital Monday night of injuries suffered late in the day when his airplane crashed near Caldwell.

Airman Roger L. Jackson, 19, stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base, was killed Monday night in a collision of his motorcycle and a car in Wichita Falls. His wife Donna, also 19, was injured seriously.

State Lawmakers Reach Agreement On Budget Bill

Special Meet Will End After Approval Of Plan

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Senate and House negotiators put the final polish today on a compromise $4.1 billion state budget for the next year.

The 10-man conference committee reached agreement on all money items shortly before midnight but put off a final vote until its two days and nights of steady work was rechecked.

"The bill for all practical purposes is finished," said Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who with Speaker Rayford Price, sat in on a closing compromise session that reached the shouting and fingershaking stage several times.

Barnes said hopefully the bill would be on members' desks sometime Wednesday, indicating debate could begin Friday or Saturday.

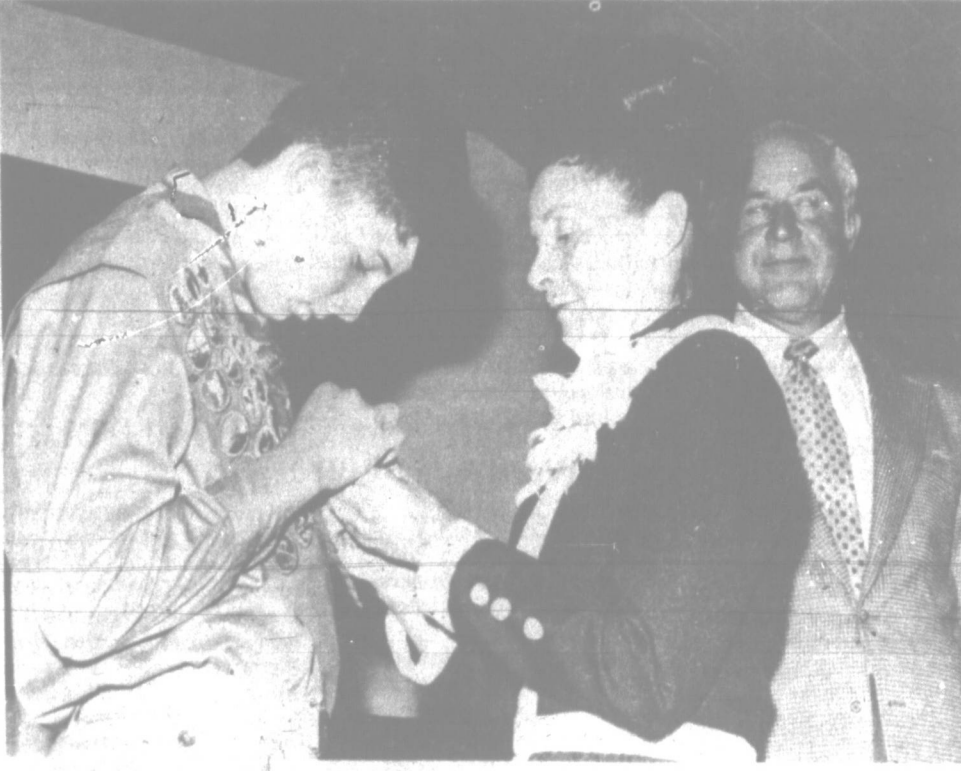

Final approval of the compromise by both houses apparently will end the special session that began June 14, unless Gov. Preston Smith decides at the last minute to submit other proposed legislation.

The final differences between the Senate and House versions were made quickly after the 10 negotiators decided on a pay raise for state college teachers and employees. They agreed earlier to a 6.8 per cent raise for state employees.

The original House bill had a 3.4 per cent salary increase for both non-faculty and faculty salaries in state colleges but the Senate held out for a 6.8 per cent increase for non-faculty employees, saying they had not received a raise in four years. The House negotiators recessed and talked among themselves, then agreed to a 6.8 per cent raise for non-faculty and $2 million, or about 1.5 per cent, for faculty.

Then, in quick order, the conferees agreed to:

- Adopting the Senate plan to continue state meat inspections at a cost of $4.3 million for the next year. The House allowed no funds for state inspections, leaving the job to federal inspectors.
- Agreed to a House plan to block construction of a 11-story Texas Highway Department headquarters building in downtown Austin by directing the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to buy the land for $1.5 million and turn it into a park. The building was authorized by the 1971 Legislature but protests later arose that it would dwarf the adjoining governor's mansion and spoil the view of the Capitol.
- Appropriated $298,000 to start a Drug Dependent Youth project at the Vernon State School, a compromise from the $1.03 million authorized in the House bill.
- In other last-minute moves, the conference committee allowed Texas Tech Medical School $400,000 to begin operations, a cut from the $800,000 asked by Gov. Preston Smith. The committee also approved a special provision that none of the money can be used to plan or build a Tech school of veterinary medicine, as proposed by some.
- The negotiators scratched, then restored, a controversial anti-busing provision that originated in the House bill. The rider says no state tax money can be used to bus school children for racial balance unless re-

World Invited To Visit U.S. On 200th Birthday

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon issued a broadcast invitation to the world today to visit the United States on its 200th birthday in 1976.

"Let America be known throughout the world as the 'land of the open door,'" Nixon said in a live holiday radio broadcast from the Western White House.

He spoke from a prepared text.

Nixon expressed hope that "millions upon millions of visitors" would help celebrate the U.S. bicentennial.

Nixon said he would send formal invitations to foreign governments "extending a welcome to the people of those nations to visit the United States, as laws and circumstances permit, during the bicentennial era—and especially during the year 1976."

U.S. Chess Grandmaster In Iceland

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Ending his holdout which threatened to wreck the world chess championship series, American grandmaster Bobby Fischer arrived in Iceland today about 10 hours before he was scheduled to meet Soviet titleholder Boris Spassky for their first game.

The 29-year-old American challenger flew from New York after accepting London banker James D. Slater's offer to match the $125,000 purse put up by the Icelandic Chess Federation. Now the winner of the 24-game match will get $156,250 and the loser $93,750.

The match, which could last two months, had been scheduled to start Sunday afternoon, but Fischer stayed in New York, demanding a 30 per cent cut of the gate receipts.

7th HONORS FOR FAMILY Pampa Youth Receives Top Boy Scout Award

By LARRY HOLLIS

A Pampa family set a new record for scouting last night when James Timothy Neslage, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neslage, 2005 Charles, became the seventh son in the family to receive the Eagle Scout Award, the highest rank given to a Boy Scout.

With his award, the Neslage family ties a record for the Boy Scouts. But the four daughters in the family have all earned the equivalent rank in the Girl Scouts, making the family truly one of the first families in scouting.

Tim and all the other members of the family were honored during the Troop 14 Honor Court ceremonies at 7 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church, with congratulations given by various officials from the Boy Scouts, the city and representatives of the state and national governments.

A student at Robert E. Lee Junior High School, Tim is also a member of the Order of the Arrow. His project for the Eagle Scout Award was on safety, showing his interest in his community.

AMARILLO—U.S. Rep. Graham Purcell declared Monday that recent harassment of small businessmen by federal safety inspectors represents "a disturbing new dimension in the trend towards penalties on independence and free enterprise."

"There is no doubt that the small businessman today finds himself confronted with a bewildering set of obstacles when dealing with his government," the Northwest Texas Democrat told the Northeast Amarillo Rotary Club.

"Harassment experienced during the first year of the Occupational Safety and Health Act Program continued large increases in the minimum wage, and the prolonged credit squeeze from the Small Business Administration all point in this direction," Purcell said.

He warned recent Congressional action to prevent the Labor Department from using funds for inspection of businesses with 25 or fewer employees "is only a stop-gap measure; unless further action is taken, we will unfortunately be right back where we started this time next year."

Red No. 2 Use May Be Restricted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration Monday proposed restricting the use of Red No. 2, the most widely-used coloring for foods, ingested drugs and cosmetics, because of evidence the product can interfere with animal reproduction.

Red No. 2 has been used in many products in the United States since the turn of the century without any reported hazard to human health, the agency said. It added that the product has been tested more extensively than any other food color.

Cool Front Linger

A cool front continued its way through the Panhandle this morning, keeping temperatures below 70 and leaving overcast skies and drizzle over Pampa.

Intermittent showers added another .02 inch to Pampa's total, with a probability of 50 per cent chance for more rain today and tonight.

Yesterday's high was only 69, compared to 92 Sunday, with a low this morning of 56.

It was cloudy, damp and sometimes stormy over much of Texas this Fourth of July weekend, according to the Associated Press report.

Unruly thunderstorms broke out anew as the latest cool front crept deeper into the state. A tornado funnel whipped down to earth at a spot south of Abilene, but it spun away without any damage.

Hard rains fell briefly during the night over much of North Central and Northeast Texas, with fog and drizzle spreading over the Texas Panhandle this morning.

Skies were at least partly cloudy elsewhere in the central and north sections of the state, while it was mostly fair through the coastal plains and toward the northwest into far West Texas.

Viets Make Progress In Attack

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers drove to the southwestern edge of Quang Tri City today in a lightning assault against North Vietnamese troops manning defensive strongpoints, military sources said.

Several hundred troops with U.S. advisers made the attack, killing at least 20 North Vietnamese and recapturing 12 artillery pieces lost in earlier fighting. At nightfall, the South Vietnamese were reported occupying positions about half a mile from the center of the provincial capital which the North Vietnamese captured May 1.

Government spokesmen in Saigon claimed the recapture of two district headquarters: Mai Linh, 1.2 miles southeast of Quang Tri, and Hai Lang, six miles southeast of the capital. It was the first recapture of any of the 14 district towns lost to the North Vietnamese in their three-month-old offensive.

The marines on the eastern flank of the Saigon drive to recapture Quang Tri were reported within four miles of the city, and marine officers said their men could be in Quang Tri tomorrow if ordered to go.

City To Review Budget Requests

A review of budget requests by City Hall department heads for fiscal 1972-73 will begin Wednesday, according to City Manager Mack Wofford.

Wofford said the requests will be studied through Friday for possible cuts.

"We have to figure out just what we can do and where the money is coming from," Wofford said.

The city manager added that department requests will be reviewed with the aim in mind to keep city operating costs at a figure where it will not be necessary to increase the current $1.72 city tax rate.

Nation's Largest Lutheran Denomination Declares Ministry Open To Ex-Convicts

DALLAS (AP) — The nation's largest Lutheran denomination says it stands ready to admit ex-convicts to its corps of clergymen. After all, the church observes, Jesus himself was considered a "political-religious criminal."

So were "countless witnesses to him," adds the Lutheran Church in America.

In a 2,600-word policy statement adopted Monday night, the church urged an end to the confinement of most lawbreakers in prison, saying such treatment only increases their alienation from society, further undermining it.

"For society to seek increased security and order by means of a larger and more efficient prison system is for it to sow the seeds of its own destruction," said the denomination's governing convention.

As part of its own efforts in changing the system, the 3.2 million-member church declared itself "open to the employment of ex-offenders," adding:

"Such persons should be encouraged to apply for both non-professional and professional positions, including the ordained ministry."

Church colleges and seminaries also were asked to explore setting up educational programs for offenders while they still are serving sentences,

"possibly leading to careers within the church."

Termining present handling of criminals "counter-productive," the church urged a shift to "rehabilitation, not punishment," with emphasis on "treatment in the community" for life in it, not imprisonment removed from it.

Confinement should be limited to offenders "judged dangerous or violent," the church said, adding:

"Whether confined or not, offenders should remain in touch with their home community where the mutual adjustment of community and offender must take place."

The document says the public has yet to wake up to the fact that most prisoners return to the community and as a result of their imprisonment come back more bitter and hostile than before.

"The popular assumption that confinement is normally the most appropriate penalty for criminal behavior has proven itself fallacious. Jails and prisons have too often become schools of alienation and violence."

"Those persons who survive them constitute a growing pool of disaffected men and women," the church said, thus increasing the spread of lawlessness in America.

The church said Christians especially should resist the tendency "to diabolize" offenders—to consider them "devils" alien to the community—since Jesus, himself was so classified.

This brought an objection from Mrs. Paul S. Anderson of Melrose, Mass., who insisted Jesus was not convicted as a criminal. But the section was retained after the Rev. Dr. Krister Stendahl, dean of Harvard University's Divinity School, said Scripture made clear that both Jerusalem and Roman authorities found Jesus a criminal, endangering society.

"Christians will also be reminded that champions of a larger measure of social justice have often been defined as enemies of society," the church statement said.

The statement was drawn up with help of a panel of experts headed by lawyer-criminologist Myrl E. Alexander of Carbondale, Ill., and presented by the head of the church's social relations board, the Rev. Charles V. Gergstrom of Worcester, Mass.

Its adoption came after U.S. District Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., of Philadelphia, urged the church to speak out on the "massive failures in our entire criminal justice system."

"Too often men of good will, of the Christian church, have remained silent and failed to act," he said. They "cop out, pray out and bow out from meeting the challenges of the nation," he added.

Representatives of the denomination also took the first steps toward a drastic reorganization of the church's structure by reducing its present 15 national agencies to four, more centrally coordinated.

Mineral Wells Youth Sought After Pair Slain

MINERAL WELLS, Tex. (AP) — Two brothers were found killed by shotgun blasts Monday afternoon on a farm southwest of here.

Palo Pinto County Sheriff Bill Harris said Elmer Pruitt, 62, clad only in his undershorts, was found in the bedroom of his farm house.

The body of his brother, Delma Pruitt, 60, of Hobbs, N.M., was found in the backyard about 20 yards from the house.

Harris said law enforcement officials are searching for a 17-year-old Mineral Wells youth and a missing car which had belonged to Delma Pruitt.

An autopsy was performed by a private pathologist Monday night in Fort Worth.

The elder Pruitt was shot at close range in the right eye and at long range in the left side of the chest and abdomen, officials said.

Delma Pruitt, who apparently dragged himself outside to the place where he was found, was shot at close range in the back.

All of the injuries were said to have been inflicted by shotgun blasts. The head and back wounds were described as "contact wounds," meaning the muzzle of the gun was on the bodies when it was fired.

Sheriff's officers removed two shotguns from the house. A .22-caliber rifle was reported missing.

The bodies were discovered by their nephew, Doyle Pruitt of Mineral Wells.

He said he had encountered a 17-year-old youth at the house.

Doyle Pruitt said he walked into the house, got a drink of water and asked the youth if the Pruitt brothers were "still sleeping."

"He said yes. That's all he said," Pruitt related.

U.S. No 1 Defense Contractor Still Facing Bankruptcy Threat

(Editors' Note: A year ago the nation faced the possibility that its biggest defense contractor could go into bankruptcy. Then Lockheed Aircraft Corp. received federal help. The following report by Donald M. Rothberg of The AP Special Assignment Team looks at Lockheed today.)

By DONALD ROTHBERG Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — A healthy flow of Pentagon business, a huge federal loan guarantee and a helping hand from Britain so far have failed to lift Lockheed Aircraft Corp. above financial storm clouds that threatened it with bankruptcy.

The nation's No. 1 defense contractor, heavily in debt, has pegged its future to its big commercial jet, the Tristar L1011. But the airline business is in a slump and orders for the $18 million plane are below expectations.

A year ago, Lockheed was reeling from $484 million in losses on four government projects and from the bankruptcy of Rolls Royce Ltd., British builder of the engines for the Tristar.

Lockheed owed a consortium of 24 banks $400 million. Its net worth, according to a Pentagon study, was $240 million. The banks wouldn't lend any more money.

Lockheed Chairman Daniel J. Haughton appealed for government help, declaring that without it the Tristar program would be scuttled.

"If that happens, I know of absolutely no way to keep Lockheed out of bankruptcy," he said.

The Nixon administration backed Haughton's appeal and after a long and bitter fight, Congress voted to pledge government credit for up to $250 million in new bank loans.

So Lockheed kept alive.

The British government provided the money to enable Rolls Royce to stay in business and offered airlines separate financing for 90 per cent of the cost of the engines with which Rolls still is having problems.

Where is Lockheed today?

It used $100 million of the loan guarantee to obtain extra financing and now owes the banks a total of $500 million. It delivered the first three-engine Tristars this spring to Eastern and Trans World Airlines. But since obtaining the loan backing during the airline slump, it has sold only two more of the 272-passenger planes.

The Tristar's main competition is the McDonnell-Douglas DC10, an American built three engine jumbo, and a twin-engine European Airbus. Available earlier, the DC10 so far has outsold the Tristar 170 to 104.

Lockheed says it will start making money once it sells between 255-265 Tristars. A classified Pentagon study puts the figure at 370, an estimate Lockheed steadfastly denies. Plane-buying decisions vitally important to the Tristar's future are due, probably this fall, from British European Airways and Japan's All Nippon Airways.

But Lockheed has not lost any interest in the defense business.

The company is competing for contracts on several defense projects including a design competition for a transport plane that could operate from short runways.

Texas Ranger Denies Role In Munitions Smuggling

EAGLE PASS, Tex. (AP) — A prominent rancher-banker charged here in connection with an alleged scheme to ship munitions to Cuba in a government overthrow says the allegations are "ridiculous."

Richmond Harper, one of nine men charged in the alleged plot, is a rancher and a director of the Frontier State Bank. He was charged Saturday night with conspiring to ship the arms and explosives to Mexico from where, the government claims, they were to be forwarded to Cuba as tools in a plot to upset the Fidel Castro administration.

"I really don't know anything about all this except what I read in the newspapers," Harper said Monday night. He is free under a $25,000 personal recognizance bond.

Rep. Graham Purcell Plans 23-County Tour

Congressman Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls announced today he will use the time Congress is out of session for the Democratic Convention to make an extensive 23-county tour of his District. Purcell will tour from now through July 16. He will speak at the Pampa Lions Club luncheon Thursday.

The veteran Democrat, who heads the Subcommittee on Livestock and Grains, noted that "several extremely important issues—matters that are especially important to West Texans—are still pending before Congress."

One issue cited by Purcell is the sweeping new rural development program which he introduced and has vigorously supported for a period of many months. Purcell said he hopes the legislation will be approved soon after Congress reconvenes. The bill, now pending before the House Rules Committee, "will at long last give us the framework we have so long needed to rebuild our small communities—through industrial development, through establishment of more adequate facilities and services, and through major new forms of assistance to agricultural producers, especially young farmers," Purcell said.

The 13-day tour calls for a fast-paced and numerous meetings over much of the District, one of the nation's largest geographically.

The Congressman's schedule will require extensive travel by plane and helicopter.

The tour will include talks before the Amarillo Rotary Club, the Wichita Falls Rotary Club, the Pampa Lions Club, and the Dalhart Rotary Club. In addition, Purcell plans to present his views on major wheat research and promotion legislation now pending before his Subcommittee at a luncheon of the Texas Wheat Producers Association in Dumas.

180,000 People Have Visited Seven Seas

ARLINGTON, Tex.—Over 180,000 people, representing 41 states and five foreign countries, have now visited Seven Seas, the city-owned sea-life park in Arlington. Officials of the park released the number upon completion of 50 operating days.

Hollis Pollard, general manager of the $10 million facility, said, "We are very proud of this high count, especially since we lost nearly 10 days due to weather."

Pollard pointed out that Seven Seas is rapidly becoming the state's most popular new tourist attraction. He predicted Seven Seas would soon become the show park of the Southwest.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, July 4, the 188th day of 1972. This is Independence Day. There are 180 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776 the American Declaration of Independence was adopted by the Continental Congress in Philadelphia.

On this date: In 1802, the U.S. Military Academy opened at West Point, N.Y.

In 1826, the second and third American presidents, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, died.

In 1831, death came to another American president, James Monroe.

In 1946, the Philippines became independent after 47 years of American rule.

In 1959, a 49th star was added to the American flag following statehood for Alaska.

In 1960, the 50th star was added to the flag after Hawaii's admission to the Union.

Ten years ago, France and West Germany agreed to seek a meeting of European heads of government to revive negotiations for a European political confederation.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.

Herman asks about some interesting sex differences between males and females. Note that abdominal temperature tends to sterilize the male sex glands but doesn't hurt the ovaries. And be on guard against the kinked intestine in hernias!

CASE U-526: Herman S., aged 35, is due at the hospital.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "you explain medical problems simply, so please relieve my mind before I go to the operating room."

"I developed a rupture on my left side 20 years ago when I was lifting a sack of cement.

"The hernia finally got as big as an egg, so I started wearing a truss.

"But that was inconvenient, so when I recently got a rupture on the other side, I went to a physician.

"He said I better have surgery to repair both sides.

"But what is a rupture, anyway, and why do men get them so much oftener than women?"

Sex Differences

During the early months of pregnancy, both boy babies and girls have their gonads (testicles and ovaries) up inside the trunk of the body and against the back wall thereof.

But the girl's ovaries remain there even after her birth.

Before a boy is born, however, his testicles usually move downward to the forward wall of the abdomen.

And a small hole forms on each side, to let the testicles then descend into the scrotum, where they remain after birth.

But those two openings (holes) in the abdominal wall remain permanent weak spots, so if the boy lifts a heavy object, he may force a loop of intestine to bulge outward.

Such a situation is called a rupture (hernia).

It may be on one side only, or can be a double hernia.

But hernias can also occur in an old surgical scar on the abdominal wall of women, as well as men.

If the bulging is not very much, you may be able to hold the intestines in place by a girdle or truss or even by pushing them back via your fingers.

But the chief danger in a large hernia is what can occur after a loop of bowel may bulge through the hole.

If it then "kinks" (like a garden hose which you may bend back on itself till you stop the flow of water), then this kinking may stop its blood supply, much like a tourniquet.

That former protruding loop of intestine then may die and if it is finally pulled back inside the abdomen, it may split and spill its contents, thus causing peritonitis, much like the rupture of an acutely inflamed appendix.

A truss is simply a pad, held tightly over the bulge of the abdominal wall, to prevent a loop of intestine from being pushed outside the abdomen.

"Cryptorchism" sometimes occurs in male children and refers to the fact one or both of the testicles may remain in the abdomen.

Surgery is often indicated to bring the affected gonad outside, for cancer seems more likely in such an undescended testicle.

Ford's Body Shop Offers Best Work

For the best body work in town—and in the immediate area—the business to visit is Ford's Body Shop at 111 N. Frost.

Coyle Ford, owner and manager of Ford's Body Shop, has several expert body repairmen, including himself, ready to fix your crumpled fenders and caved-in doors.

Ford's probably does the most auto body work in the Pampa area.

Robert McCain, shop manager, said Ford's appreciates the business given them by people from White Deer, Miami, Lefors, Mobeetie and other area towns.

The people come to Ford's because they know the most modern equipment is used in restoring the once beautiful features of a damaged car.

And with the best equipment and trained, experienced repairmen, you can be assured that the best job will be done.

Satisfaction is guaranteed to suit the taste of the customer.

With as many cars on the road as there is today, it is nice to know that if your car is involved in an accident, there is a place where repairs can be made as cheaply and as beautifully as at Ford's Body Shop.

There is always an attendant on duty to help you with your problem if an accident should occur.

Ford invites you to come by the shop anytime to look over the fine facilities and check some of the work done at Ford's Body Shop.

THERE IT IS—Conveniently located right across the street from City Hall, Ford's Body Shop is ready to provide experienced body work for damaged cars. Whether it's a crumpled fender or a caved-in door or whatever, Coyle Ford and his crew of repairmen can fix it up with maximum quality work at a minimum cost.

Gibson's Discount Pharmacy Has High Quality, Low Prices

Gibson's Discount Pharmacy, with a full staff of registered pharmacists, is ready to continue offering its fine service to the entire Pampa area.

Dean Copeland, head pharmacist, reports that all of the personnel in the pharmacy work together to give the customer fast and efficient service, yet maintaining low prices.

Helping Copeland, who became a registered pharmacist in 1957, are David Burns, who has been with Gibson's for over a year, and Dick Wilson, who joined Gibson's staff this year.

Filling prescriptions promptly for the customers, all three work together to keep prices down while providing the finest in medicines to fit any prescription need.

The medicines are obtained from reputable pharmacy companies at less cost and without the high overhead faced by many smaller pharmacies.

Gibson's Discount Pharmacy carries approximately 15,000 medicines to more than meet the needs of most illnesses.

To provide fast service for the customer, four clerks are also on hand to take orders. This helps to eliminate the time a pharmacist would have to spend on paper work, enabling him to spend more time in filling the prescriptions.

Copeland asks customers to check Gibson's Discount Pharmacy and compare for quality and service, but at low prices.

At least one pharmacist is ready 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to aid the customer to obtain medicines needed to combat sickness.

Vitamins, which many doctors believe could cut down many illnesses if taken regularly to supplement the regular diets, are also a special feature at Gibson's.

An outstanding supply of vitamins are kept in stock at Gibson's—again at those low prices.

And with sunburn time here, many suntan and other skin lotions are kept on hand to help keep the skin healthy.

Customers who suffer from allergies can find a complete line of medicines to help control most allergies. For people with over-sensitive skin, a full line of Allercream Cosmetics is on hand.

AND HAVE FUN, TOO Consultant Suggests Relaxation For Work

NEW YORK (AP)—If you could take a break from your office work to swim, tend a garden, or just reflect, you'd probably also do more work, a motivational research expert says.

Ernest Dichter, president of the Motivational Research Institute of Croton-on-Hudson, N.Y., says, "Once people realize they can have fun at their job, they'll be better producers."

Dichter, who serves as consultant to corporations, blames part of what he says is the alienation of office workers toward their jobs on the design of the offices themselves. "We used to build offices and then try to fit people into them," he says.

The research executive predicts the office building of the future will be much like a home or apartment. "I don't see anything wrong with a boss dictating to his secretary on a balcony or having a place on the roof or on the grounds where an employee can plant radishes in his free time," he says.

Dichter proposes that office building designs include a "thinking tower," a sort of "womb" into which frazzled executives can retreat. The tower, which would be separate from the main office space, might have a couch, bar, television set, or dictation equipment, but no telephone or clock, he says.

"In most offices today there's no place where an executive can withdraw," Dichter says.

The permanently sealed windows of modern buildings need be no deterrent to installing flower boxes outside offices, says Dichter, who proposed that employees water the boxes from inside by a tube that would go through the window.

He feels the ideal location for an office building is a campus setting in the country or suburbs, where both trees and parking space is in abundance. "There's no reason for people to work in city offices," Dichter says.

For those who must remain in urban skyscrapers, life could be made more pleasant if swimming pools and gardens were put on office building roofs, he says.

Even a big building can be designed in a way that preserves its human scale, says Dichter. "You can divide the building into three sections and paint them in different colors."

At least some of Dichter's visions will be transformed into reality in an office park development in Levittown, L.I., N.Y., in which he was involved as a consultant. The 28-acre complex, now under construction, will include a swimming pool, a roof garden, and offices with terraces.

Flood Victims Urged To Sue

NEW YORK (AP)—Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner Herbert S. Denenberg suggests that flood victims in scores of communities in the East might consider suing their insurance agents and brokers for negligence.

"If agents want to assume the privileges and status of being professionals they must take the responsibility too," he said in an interview.

"As a lawyer," he said, "I think there is ample precedent to accuse them of negligence if they failed to tell their clients that flood insurance was available."

Such suits would be restricted to residents of communities in which flood insurance was available under a federal subsidy plan. While most communities are eligible, not all sought qualification under the program.

Action would be filed by individuals or by groups acting in a class action, in much the same way that professional negligence cases are being brought in increasing numbers against lawyers and doctors, he said.

Should such a concept find wide acceptance the consequences for agents, insurance companies and municipalities would be extraordinary, but it wouldn't be the first time Denenberg has provoked and upset the industry.

A Certified Life Underwriter and former professor, Denenberg earlier issued "A Shopper's Guide to Life Insurance," challenged the fees charged by hospitals and paid by Blue Cross and denied Blue Shield a rate increase.

Guyler, may not be able to restore youth, but a styled haircut and scalp massage can help one look and feel younger.

Bob Clements, who has been a barber since 1946, has had training at Amarillo, Tyler and Dallas.

"I went to some of these styling shows and saw what some of these barbers were doing that I couldn't do and I said to myself, that's for me," Clements said.

Clements has satisfied customers from Miami, Canadian, McLean, Wheeler, Pampa and other points around the Panhandle.

With a practicing knowledge of hair-less retardation, Clements massages the hair and scalp for 20 minutes to increase the circulation and to relax the scalp.

"If this procedure is not followed, the hair stands straight up, making a good styling or cutting job nearly impossible," Clements claimed.

Clements doesn't claim to be able to restore hair that has been lost, but he does feel he can help a person to retain the hair he has.

To help him maintain a better shop and to provide better service to meet the needs of his customers, Clements handles a line of Roffler's products. He recently received an award for being the best Roffler salesman in the Lubbock-Amarillo-Pampa area.

The wife of a former customer of Clements once wrote him to request more of the Roffler products.

"His hair is a lot thicker that it has ever been since we've been married," she wrote. "It's really been growing a lot lately."

To enable his customers to keep up with the fashions and to offer expanded service, Clements now offers the Ruff L Look, a new hair style perfected by Roffler for the young man with long hair.

"The natural look" is Clements' specialty, but he does regular barbering as well as styling.

So if you're looking for a Fountain of Youth, drop by Clements Barber Shop or call 665-1231 for an appointment.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q I owed $50 this year when I filed my Federal income tax return. Should I increase the amount of tax withheld from my pay?

A No. Because of recent changes in the tax law, the withholding tables make the amount of tax withheld for 1972 more closely match your tax liability for the year. In fact, many taxpayers should reduce their withholding and increase their take-home pay by filing a new Form W-4, Employees' Withholding Exemption Certificate, with their employer, claiming all the exemptions to which they are entitled.

Q It has been two months since I filed my return. When am I going to get my refund?

A If it has been at least

10 weeks since you sent in your return and you have received no word about it, then write the Internal Revenue Service Center where you sent your return. The Service Center will need to know approximately when your return was mailed, your Social Security number, the exact name and address shown on your return and your present address if different.

Q Is there some way I can get a credit for gasoline I use in my boat?

A Yes. You can claim a credit against your income tax liability for a portion of the Federal tax on gasoline and lubricating oil you use for nonhighway purposes (in a boat, lawn mower, power saw, generator, etc.). The credit is two cents a gallon for the gasoline used and six cents a gallon for the lubricating oil. You claim the credit by filing Form 4136 with your Form 1040 for the year. For more information, see Publication 378, "Federal Fuel Tax Credit or Refund for Non-highway and Transit Users," available free from your local Internal Revenue Service office.

Q Can I deduct as a charitable contribution tuition paid to send my child to a parochial school?

A No. Tuition or amounts in place of tuition are payments for services rendered and are not deductible as contributions, even though paid to parochial schools.

Q I received an automatic two-month extension of time to file my return. Will I be charged interest on any taxes I owe?

A Yes. Interest at an annual rate of six percent will be charged on unpaid tax from the original due date of the return.

Memorandum Adds Fuel To Tax Reform

WASHINGTON (AP)—A secret Treasury Department memorandum suggesting two bold steps to simplify federal income tax laws has added new fuel to the heated tax-reform debate.

The memorandum, written a year ago by the Treasury's top tax official, Undersecretary Edwin S. Cohen, says that eliminating all personal deductions and taxing capital gains and ordinary income at the same rate are the best ways to simplify the laws.

"The undesirability of attempting a major degree of simplification may well be judged in relation to those two categories," Cohen wrote in the memorandum, which was sent to the White House for study.

The Nixon administration has publicly said that it may send Congress a proposal that would simplify the federal tax code. Cohen's memorandum, although a year old, is the first public indication of some of the ideas being discussed.

The memorandum was released Thursday by the Tax

Reform Research Group, established by Ralph Nader. The Treasury conceded the memo was authentic but added that it was one of thousands of such drafts.

Francis Scott Key, author of the U.S. national anthem, was a lawyer by profession.

Planning Important When Remodeling

C O L L E G E
STATION—Sooner or later most American families reach a point where their housing no longer seems adequate or desirable for their needs.

When that situation arises, the family must decide between moving to a new house, building a new home, remodeling the present home or getting along with the house they already have," said Pat Bradshaw, housing and home furnishings specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

Miss Bradshaw explained that the high price level of new homes encourages many families to bypass their hopes of building or buying in favor of remodeling or expanding their present homes.

"There are some considerations which should be settled before plans for remodeling or expanding are implemented," the specialist said. "Is the house really in need of remodeling? Or are there benefits from changing or improving the use of existing space?"

Stressing the importance of planning, Miss Bradshaw urged families to consider both present and future needs.

"It makes little sense to add space that will be unused in a year or two the money it costs to build a recreation room for 15 to 17 year-olds today might be better invested in a savings account for the impending college years," she advised.

To those who remodel or expand, Miss Bradshaw suggested a careful comparison of the costs of building anew and remodeling. She also suggested checking local building ordinances for construction standards and zoning restrictions. Remember to have the remodelers draw up some rough preliminary plans.

Consult a contractor to find out if the house is structurally sound and if the proposed changes make sound construction sense. Find out the cost of the proposed changes and if they're permitted under local ordinances. Then redraw the plans if the changes make it necessary.

Put the specifications into writing before the work is started. Prepare a rough estimate of materials and labor, plus four or five copies of the blueprints.

"All that remains is to submit the plans and specifications for competitive bids, obtain all necessary permits and hire a contractor," Miss Bradshaw concluded.

While looking through my collection of old sayings, the nearest I could find describing my husband and myself was "Birds of a feather flock together."

I couldn't find anything about pack rats or people who save everything they've ever owned.

The reason I happened to be looking through my collection of old sayings was that it happened to be in a box he wanted to throw away the last time we were playing Getting Organized.

It was right on top of a pair of pink gloves my mother wore to a dance in Indianapolis the night Herbert Hoover was elected president.

Getting Organized is a game we play constantly. We change the rules occasionally. This time we'd agreed to match each other in throwing away useless items.

"You don't need this!" I said, tossing a mossy-looking raincoat into the throwaway corner.

"I wore that when I left home to go to California!" he cried.

"Well, what about this?" I asked, gingerly picking up a crumbling straw hat.

"I wore that the first time I went deep-sea fishing" he mourned.

"This?" I asked.

"I carried that rock back when I climbed Pike's Peak!" "You couldn't let this go, I suppose."

"A napkin with Ginny Simms' autograph?" he asked, incredulously. "You can't mean it!"

I held up a matchbook cover. "From my first date."

I pointed to a box of seashells. "My family always went to Wildwood," he explained.

The old watch box? "It was a high school graduation present."

The bent key? "Fit the trunk lid of my first car."

The medicine bottle filled with dirt? "That's hallowed ground! Got it when Purdue went to the Rose Bowl!"

I wrapped the bottle carefully in my mother's pink gloves, tucked it inside the evening bag I carried to my senior prom.

No matter how we play the game, we always win.

A Lovelier You

A Lovely writes: My skin has become loose and droopy under the chin. It just doesn't fit my face any more. I didn't think this would happen until I was too old to care. I'm in my early forties and care terribly. I need help.

The Answer: A woman never gets "too old to care." And that's why she should always take very special care of herself. Take that stitch in time!

In the throat and chin areas, crepey conditions are hastened by careless posture and haphazard skin care. If the head were always drawn out of the neck and shoulders—into an erect, slender column—the jaw and throat muscles would resist the laxity that age threatens.

As for the skin below the jawline, it requires as much pampering as the face. Yet the neck is a victim of neglect. Honestly now, how often do you apply a care product to your face and stop short at the chin?

Whenever you use a cleanser, emollient or moisturizer—once daily is minimal—it should be smoothed upward and outward from the base of the throat to the hairline. In addition, the 40th birthday signals the need for specialized throat oils, creams or sticks. These are formulated to firm and tone the unique texture of the throat complexion.

It is never too late to take care.

Banish Crepey Throat and Chin To firm and uplift sagging facial muscles and flesh, use my four-way method. It works wonders through corrective exercise, posture, skin care and makeup. Procedures are detailed in the Leaflet, BANISH CREPEY THROAT & CHIN. The exhibit will include doodles made by President John F. Kennedy during the Cuban missile crisis, a handwritten message addressed "For Former Naval Person" from President Franklin D. Roosevelt to Winston Churchill, a statement signed by President Harry Truman telling of the formation of the state of Israel, a handwritten page of President Herbert Hoover's memoirs, a portrait of Sid W. Honesty best policy in applying for jobs

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I wish I could have answered "DISCOURAGED" who couldn't get a job because nobody wanted to hire a person who had no experience.

I'd have told him that sometimes we have to lie to get what we want.

When I was 17, I was bright, capable and eager to work. I could accurately type 80 words per minute. But I couldn't get a job because I was inexperienced. I pounded the pavement without success for three weeks, then I gave the employers what they wanted, a whopping lie about my "previous positions." I was hired immediately.

I was very upset about lying, but if I hadn't lied I never would have landed a job.

I know you don't encourage lying, but honesty doesn't always pay off in a dishonest world. NO REGRETS

DEAR NO: Sorry, I don't buy your philosophy. Most employers check out applicants, and had yours done so, you'd have wound up with egg on your face, which could have hatched into plenty of trouble.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for saying if a teen-ager is old enough to work, he's old enough to ask for his own job.

I once operated a placement service, and you wouldn't believe the number of pushy mothers who did all the talking, punched and nudged their embarrassed children who weren't allowed to open their mouths during the job interview.

Also papa and mama should not get into the act at all. They shouldn't call the employment agencies to find out if junior got the job, and if not, why not.

The best teen-aged employes are the ones whose parents are never heard from. MARIETTA, GA.

DEAR MARIETTA: Thanks for a timely reminder to well-meaning parents.

DEAR ABBY: When I was fresh out of high school, I also couldn't get a job because they wanted only experienced people, so I finally told one employer, "If I were experienced, how much would this job pay?"

He told me. Then I said, "Let me work for nothing for one week. If you decide to keep me, pay me for the week. If you don't want to keep me, you owe me nothing."

It worked. AMBITIOUS

DEAR ABBY: I couldn't afford to go to college, so I applied for a selling job with a large company I had always admired.

The personnel manager said, "Sorry, we're hiring only men who have had some sales experience."

I looked him straight in the eye and replied, "How can you expect a man [I was all of 16] to have experience if no one will hire him?"

The manager said, "You're right. I'll give you a chance, but you have to start at the bottom as a trainee." I did.

That was 16 years ago and I'm still with the company. Last year they had a sales contest and first prize was a trip to Hawaii for the winner and his wife. Guess who won! Yours truly. STILL SELLING

DEAR ABBY: Re lack of experience—no chance of being hired: An excellent source of experience is volunteer work. Hospitals, churches, and any number of charitable organizations need volunteers. No money, of course, but they pay off in self-esteem, a sense of accomplishment, and experience.

Even if the paying job requires skills other than the volunteer job, one can still get a recommendation for cooperation, diligence, punctuality and ambition, which most employers consider equally as important as skills.

Your Horoscope

By Jean Dixon

WEDNESDAY, JULY 5

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: you have many different goals to achieve at once, much to do and little time in which to get results. You cannot afford a wasted moment. Family and social activity range to one extreme then another. Today's natives are energetic, taking a definite stand on nearly any issue and holding steady to defend it.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Getting back into the swing of normal routine turns out difficult. Avoid immediate action on rash decisions, especially buying luxuries on short notice.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Pause for remembrance: half-forgotten advice comes back and helps current doubts. Family agreement appears difficult to obtain.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Presenting your views quietly works better than bickering—if this isn't possible leave discussion for later.

Cancer [June 21-July 21]: You can put together a tidy package of settled fact and projected progress, and persuade others of its merits. A steady pace.

Leo [July 22-Aug. 22]: Taking on too much leads to disagreements with people you depend on. Mechanical equipment requires precise handling.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Taking imagination to sketch in pictures for associates, rather than try to push them into teamwork before they're used to the idea.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Shading a financial situation to shelter a friend is not quite the thing to do. Your own budgets need revision first.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Taking things personally comes all too easy, and it works both ways. Older people should be considered this evening.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Do your work thoroughly, first things first. Drive a good bargain, expecting no short cuts nor any special breaks.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Strong feelings tempt you into injudicious temper if you let them. Impatient moves in business tend to become inadvertently speculative.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Take stock of what you are, what you can be. Do something to improve matters. Find out how infrequently seen friends are.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Strive for personal serenity, knowing that the sound and snarl of today's bickering pass sooner if you don't get entangled in exchanges.

Smith Is Inspired, Connors Meets Nastase

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Stan Smith, favorite to win the men's crown in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships, confessed to feeling "kind of inspired" today as he shaped up for a vital match against a star from the Soviet Union.

The 25-year-old U.S. Army corporal faced Russia's Alexander Metreveli for a place in the semifinals of the 86th All-England Tournament.

Teenager Jim Connors was the only other American left with a chance for the most coveted title in world tennis. And his opponent was also a man from behind the Iron Curtain, second-seeded Ili Nastase of Romania.

Smith, who lost to Australia's John Newcombe in the Wimbledon final last year, said he regretted that Newcombe and other stars of World Championship Tennis were barred from the 1972 championships.

"I know a lot of the best men are not here this time," Smith said. "But I got to the final last year when they were. And I still rate being Wimbledon champion the greatest honor a player can have."

Smith's progress to the last eight was not without its moments of anxiety. He dropped a set against both Sandy Mayer of Woodmere, N.Y., and Ian Fletcher of Australia.

Summing up his feelings about what could happen over the next four days, the U.S. No. 1 from Pasadena, Calif., said, "Winning Forest Hills last year was my greatest achievement in tennis. But if I now win Wimbledon, that will top it."

Connors, the unseeded 19-year-old from Belleville, Ill., has a difficult task against Nastase. The Romanian is favored by many veteran tennis watchers to take the title to a Communist country for the first time.

The other quarter-final matches pit Onny Parun of New Zealand against Jan Kodes, the fifth-seeded Czech, and Australia's powerful Colin Dibley against Manuel Orantes of Spain, the third seed.

In the women's division 17-year-old Chris Evert was through to a long-awaited semifinal against defending champion Evonne Goolagong of Australia.

In the other women's semifinal to be played Wednesday, Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., the No. 2 seed, takes on her old friend and rival, Rosie Casals of San Francisco.

First National Beats Cree 3-2, Wins Crown

First National Bank scored its third run in the top of the seventh inning last night to overcome Cree 3-2 and capture the 1972 city Babe Ruth crown.

Bank's Mike Adair was first ruled out at home plate after Cree catcher Ron Willett threw to third when Adair attempted to steal. The ball got by third baseman David Smith and Adair came home.

Shortstop Randy Holmes retrieved the ball and threw it to Willett who tagged Adair out.

Then the ruckus started. The third base umpire ruled that after Smith missed the throw from the catcher he interfered with the runner while going after the ball.

The plate umpire then ruled that the run scored which caused Cree manager Leon Holmes to come out of the dugout.

The plate umpire called on the rules committee to make a ruling and they upheld the third base umpire's ruling—the run scored.

Winning pitcher Mickey Lowe, who relieved starter Gary Balch on the mound in the third inning, proceeded to strike-out Cree's first hitter in the bottom of the seventh.

The next batter got on by dint of a throwing error on the part of Lowe, but then put out short to second on a fielder's choice.

Cree's fourth batter of the inning struck-out to end the threat and give Bank the championship.

Cree got one run in the first and one in the third and maintained the 2-0 margin until the sixth when First National made two runs on three hits to tie the game.

Then came the inning that brought happiness to Bank and half of the fans in the stands, and disappointment to Cree and the other half.

For First National, Lowe and Tyler Drinnen got two-base hits while Steve Robinson and Clyde Patrick hit singles.

Cree's Rick Leverich, who was the losing pitcher, led his team with two hits; a triple and a double.

Willett, Mike Knutson, Mark Baird, Frank Stowers and Randy Holmes singled for Cree.

Writers Second-Guess Nixon's All-Star Team

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's sports editors and columnists have started second-guessing President Nixon on his All-Star baseball teams.

The President selected teams for both the National and American Leagues Sunday in an exclusive story for The Associated Press. He picked teams in each league for the periods from 1925-1945 and from 1945-1970.

Red Smith, sports columnist for the New York Times, said the President "posing as an objective authority disqualifies himself when he picked Harmon Killebrew as a first baseman because Senator Herman Walker of Idaho introduced them when Killebrew was a teen-ager, select Nellie Fox over better second basemen because he knew Fox personally as a coach in Washington and put Bobo Newsom on his pitching staff for similar personal reasons."

Smith continued: "Nobody who saw Hack Wilson play the outfield could pick the fat man over Joe Medwick, not even the year Hack batted in 190 runs. Perhaps Mr. Nixon never heard of Jimmy Wilson, whose wondrous skills as a catcher he ignores in favor of lumbering, lovable old Ernie Lombardi. And as for relegating Frank Frisch to a utility role—well, words fail."

"Mr. Nixon got everybody onto his All-Time team except Pat Skrabble and Jimmy Piersall, who's a self-confessed Democrat," wrote Tim Horgan, columnist for the Boston Herald Traveler and Record American. "The President named 80 players to the nine positions which, in this period of galloping inflation, is still preposterous. Then he split these into two eras, pre-and-post World War II, which is known around the dugout as bridging the generation gap."

"Since this is an election year, every candidate for every office in America is now entitled to equal time," Horgan continued. "So from now on until November we can forget about Vietnam, the Middle East, China, Russia, school busing, the price of a roast of beef and all the other frivolous issues of the day. From now until November, all-star baseball teams will flow like promises from every rostrum in the land."

Harold Kease, of the Boston Globe, commented, "The selections of the nation's chief executives were generally quite acceptable, but nobody can name all-stars who will be unanimous choices in a society as free as our fellowship of baseball. The President is no exception. And to call Ty Cobb, Rogers Hornsby and Ted Williams the three greatest hitters of all time is, for some oldtimers, a mistake because they think Babe Ruth and Joe Jackson better than any of them."

John Steadman, sports editor of the Baltimore News American, commented that "it's the prerogative of Richard Nixon to name his all-star baseball team. He's the nation's No. 1 Fan. Granted."

"But why did he have to get so political? Nixon selected 80 players and four managers. He's obviously not going to get caught in the switches and feel the backlash of resentment from those who think he pulled a colossal blunder by leaving their favorite player off the squad... There are many types of criticism you can make of the Nixon All-Stars, mostly because he generalized so much and never dealt with the specifics of nine positions."

Merrill Lockhard, sports editor of the Concord, N.H. Monitor, said "We cannot put much stock in President Nixon's nominations for an all-time team, any more than we would if John Doe next door had made the selections."

"It is impossible and a waste of time to compare players of one era with another in any sports. Comparing Lou Gehrig of 1923-1929, though he certainly has to be ranked among the greats, to the current-day first basemen is like comparing boxing's Joe Louis to Muhammad Ali. They cannot compete against each other or under the same conditions. As time changes, so does the game or sport."

"It seems there might have been more important questions asked of the President at the June 22 news conference, although we are happy to see he is a fan of that national pastime—baseball."

Ralph Martin, executive sports editor of the Albany, N.Y. Knickerbocker News-Union Star, said "we're not going to fault Richard Nixon for endeavor. After all, every man needs his recreation."

Baseball Roundup

American League

Who's in first?
Well, the Orioles are in Baltimore and the Tigers are in Detroit.

Monday night they were both in Detroit, and that was too bad for the Tigers, who suffered an embarrassing 15-3 drubbing before 50,835 spectators and a national television audience. The two rivals are in a dead tie for first place in baseball's American League East.

Elsewhere, Oakland blanked California 5-0, Boston trounced Minnesota 8-2 and Texas edged Kansas City 2-1. Chicago, New York, Cleveland and Milwaukee were not scheduled.

Blanked for five innings by Tom Timmerman and trailing 2-0, the Orioles erupted for six runs in the sixth inning, seven in the eighth and two in the ninth. It was the most devastating setback for the Tigers since Cleveland beat them 15-2 with 21 hits—the same number accumulated by the Orioles—on July 17, 1966.

And, believe it or not, Weaver refused to rub it in, even though the Orioles took three of the four weekend games.

"We won, that's all," he said. "We be tied for first tonight, and if we both win tomorrow we'll still be tied."

Johnny Oates, Bobby Grich and Boog Powell all homered for Baltimore and Grich, Powell and Brooks Robinson each drove in three runs. Jim Palmer went the route for his 11th victory, scattering nine hits, including home runs by Jim Northrup and Gates Brown.

Det. Manager Billy Martin trotted out six pitchers and the Orioles scored on five of them.

"It was," he said, "just one of those days."

Oakland's Catfish Hunter, who pitched a perfect game in 1968, retired the first 15 California batters before John Stephenson, who made the final out in Philadelphia's Jim Bunning's perfect against the New York Mets in 1964, singled. The Angels' only other hit was Andy Kosco's seventh-inning triple.

Boston's scheduled starter, Sonny Siebert, showed up at the park with tendonitis in his pitching arm so the Red Sox switched to Luis Tiant and he held the Twins to eight hits, including a Bobby Darwin homer.

For the Sox, Carlton Fisk homered in the fifth and doubled another run across in the seventh and Tiant followed with a two-run single.

National League

"The game," a baseball philosopher once decided, "isn't over till the last man is out."

Don't the Pittsburgh Pirates know it?

The Pirates rode Willie Stargell's ninth inning homer to a 3-2 victory over Chicago Monday night, opening their lead in baseball's National League East Division to 1 1/2 games over the idle New York Mets, who were rained out of a doubleheader at Montreal.

In other National League games Monday, streaking St. Louis tripped Cincinnati 4-2, but the Reds maintained their halfgame lead in the West when Atlanta outslugged pursuing Houston 13-9. Philadelphia knocked off San Francisco 4-2 in the only other game.

Burt Hooton was leading 2-1 and working on a three-hitter when Vic Davalillo opened the Pittsburgh ninth with a bunt single. Hooton got Roberto Clemente, whose ninth inning homer had turned a game around for the Pirates Saturday. But Stargell slugged his 15th of the year to give Pittsburgh another victory.

"It was just another typical Pirate finish," said Stargell.

It was the eighth victory in 10 meetings for the Pirates against Chicago and left the Cubs 6 1/2 games back of Pittsburgh.

Long after Stargell's homer ended it, Hooton sat in the Cub dressing room, staring blankly into space.

"He hit a good pitch, a good pitch," Hooton muttered.

St. Louis ran its winning streak to seven games by knocking off Cincinnati as Rick Wise hurled a seven-hitter and slugged a two-run homer.

The victory was the 14th in the last 15 starts for the Cardinals, now virtually tied with Chicago for third place in the East division.

Philadelphia enjoyed a strange victory over San Francisco, bunting all five of its hits for four runs before a batter was retired. Steve Carlton rode the early cushion to his 10th victory, allowing just six hits, two of them solo homers by Dave Kingman.

David Graham Wins Sudden-Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — David Graham stood on the tee at the Tanglewood Country Club and suddenly realized he hadn't gotten his wife Maurreen, a birthday present. So he won the $30,000 first prize in the $150,000 Cleveland Open Golf Championship as a present for her.

The 26-year-old Australian from Sydney talked about it Monday after he sank an eight-foot putt for a birdie on the second hole of a sudden death playoff to beat Bruce Devlin, his close friend and fellow Aussie. They had tied at 278 for the regulation 72 holes.

When Does Danger Arise?

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — On the super-speedways, a good part of the show is super speed. The question in the minds of drivers, car owners and speedway officials alike is: when does it get so fast it's dangerous?

In today's Firecracker 400, the Dodges of Bobby Isaac, Buddy Baker and Richard Petty and the Mercury of David Pearson can turn laps about 180 miles per hour.

Isaac led qualifiers at 186.277 m.p.h.

General agreement is that's not too fast for the aerodynamics of the 1971 and 1972 cars they drive.

But two years ago, the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) called a halt when Cale Yarborough qualified a Mercury at 194.015 m.p.h. on this 2.5-mile speedway with 31-degree bank. Top speed went to 200 on the newer Talladega, Ala. track.

Cars couldn't hold a groove on the high banks. They went slipping and weaving through traffic.

The carburetor plate was born, cutting the flow of fuel and consequently reducing horsepower to about 600.

With the big speed leap this year to a qualifying record of 195.940 by Bobby Unser and race record of 162.962 by Mark Donohue at the Indianapolis 500, Daytona and Talladega were no longer fastest.

Fischer Flies

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer accepted a London banker's offer to double the prize pot for the world chess championship match to $250,000 and flew to Iceland today for his meeting with Soviet titleholder Boris Spassky.

Fischer arrived in the Icelandic capital from New York about five hours before the deadline set by the International Chess Federation. If he had failed to show up by noon, he would have forfeited his chance at the title, first-prize money of $156,250 and $75,000 from the television and movie rights.

The first match, postponed from Sunday, is scheduled to start at 5 p.m. or 1 p.m. EDT.

Fischer was able to sleep only a few minutes at a time during the flight of 4 hours 40 minutes, the stewardess on the plane said.

Rangers 2, Royals 1

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Winners of seven of their last 10 games but having a heck of a time reaching the 500 level, the Kansas City Royals welcomed the Detroit Tigers to Municipal Stadium today.

Monday night was a study of missed opportunity for the Royals, who bowed to the Texas Rangers 2-1 and split a four-game visit with them.

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1975 U.S. Open golf championship will be played on the No. 3 course of the Medinah Country Club in Medinah, Ill.

The Open was last played there in 1949 when Cary Middlecoff won with a two-over par 286 score.

Braves 13, Astros 9

HOUSTON (AP)—Aaron socked a three-run homer against the Houston Astros in the seventh inning that capped a five-run Atlanta inning and gave the Braves a 13-9 victory. But there was more significance to it.

It kept the Astros out of first place in the National League West after Cincinnati dropped a 4-2 decision to St. Louis.

"Yesterday Is Gone" Says New Brave Denny McLain

HOUSTON (AP) — In 1968 Denny McLain pitched as if there was no tomorrow. Tomorrow is here now and McLain would like to pitch like yesterday.

The former 31-game winner and two-time Cy Young Award winner gets that chance tonight when he takes the mound for the Braves in Atlanta against the Chicago Cubs in his first major league appearance after a five-week stint in the minor leagues.

"Yesterday is gone," said McLain, who was the Cy Young winner in 1968-69 and the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1969. "If you could live in yesterday that would be great but yesterday is over and I intend to live with today."

McLain will be wearing his third different uniform of the 1972 season with the Braves.

"I'm looking forward to it, there's no doubt about that," said McLain, who was traded last Thursday by the Oakland Athletics in a deal that sent Orlando Cepeda to the A's. "I'm anxious to get the first one over with."

"I'm ready but you can still only give 100 per cent and that's what I'll give them."

McLain was the darling of baseball in 1968 when he won 31 games for Detroit. He came back with another big year in 1969 but his world fell apart in 1970 when he was suspended for half the season by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for allegedly carrying a gun. He also filed for bankruptcy.

He was traded to Washington and posted a 10-22 record in 1971. The Texas Rangers Senators sent McLain to Oakland during spring training and the A's shocked McLain down to its Class AA Southern League team at Birmingham to get in shape.

McLain spent five weeks in the minors and was bombed in his first two outings but worked himself back into shape and was 3-3 when the trade came last week.

McLain is convinced he is still a major league pitcher.

"If I didn't feel like that I wouldn't be here," he said.

McLain has said before of his roller coaster career. "I'm not looking back."

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

A Day To Remember

Today is the Fourth of July—Independence Day—Honor America Day.

Pampa is joining in the nationwide observance with its traditional patriotic program and giant fireworks display out at Recreation Park.

The holiday always offers a taste of recreation, a bit of fun popping off fireworks, maybe a thought or two about that old-fashioned virtue patriotism and innovative ways to honor America.

So let's honor America. This is a day Old Glory should be flying from every home as a symbol of love for country.

Because it seems so appropriate on this Independence Day, we are reprinting this article from the Texas American Legion News:

"Hello! Remember Me?"

"Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Star Spangled Banner, but whatever they call me, I am your Flag, the Flag of the United States of America. Something has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you...because it is about you and me."

"I remember some time ago people lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade and naturally I was leading every parade, proudly waving in the breeze, when your daddy saw me coming, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder so that the hand was directly over his heart...remember?"

"And you, I remember you."

The Cost Of the Fourth

Have you ever wondered what happened to those men who signed the Declaration of Independence? Five signers were captured by the British as traitors, and tortured before they died. Twelve had their homes ransacked and burned. Two lost their sons in the Revolutionary Army, another had two sons captured. Nine of the 56 fought and died from wounds or the hardships of the Revolutionary War.

What kind of men were they? Twenty-four were lawyers and jurists. Eleven were merchants, nine were farmers and large plantation owners; men of means, well educated. But they signed the Declaration of Independence knowing full well that the penalty would be death if they were captured. They signed and they pledged their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor.

Walter Braxton of Virginia, a wealthy planter and trader, saw his ships swept from the seas by the British navy. He sold his home and properties to pay his debts, and died in 1783.

Thomas McKean was so hounded by the British that he was forced to move his family almost constantly. He served in the Congress without pay, and his family was kept in hiding. His possessions were taken from him, and poverty was his reward. Vandals or soldiers looted the properties of Ellery, Clymer, Hall, Walton, Gwinnett, Heyward, Rutledge.

Message to the Tax Man

The wife of Michigan Senator Philip A. Hart refuses to pay $6,200 in federal income tax. That's her form of protest against the war in Vietnam.

What do you think would happen to this country if everybody refused to pay for things they did not want?

This much is certain, the government would no longer have the money to do the things that citizens do not want the government to do. But the other side of the question is whether the government would have much means to do the things that people do want the government to do. Obviously, the answer is "yes," to the extent that people are willing to pay.

We don't know whether Mrs. Hart has thought through where her example would lead, but if applied rigorously to all aspects of national policy and not the Vietnam war only it appears to

Minnesota Dems Damn Platform

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA)—The Democratic party's "Minnesota story" is just about the wildest chapter in 1972 politics—and it is still unfolding. In perhaps somewhat exaggerated terms, it represents vividly the peril the party and its candidates face this year.

Only days ago there was a party assemblage in a Minnesota state senatorial district wherein the television cameras captured repeated glimpses of young folk wearing T-shirts emblazoned on the front with a picture of a marijuana plant and on the back with the phrase "pro-pot."

It was a follow-up on the now celebrated June 10 state convention of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party, at which avowed homosexuals paraded about in lavender T-shirts and their "sympathizers," mostly blacks and pro-George McGovern delegates, wore lavender armbands.

That same convention, of course, adopted three stunning state platform planks—immediate legalization of marijuana, total amnesty for all draft evaders, marriage among homosexuals. It said nothing about the economy and a whole host of major social issues.

The consequences of that event have been devastating. The platform has been publicly repudiated by able, liberal Gov. Wendell Anderson, top state labor leaders, innumerable party regulars at all levels.

Yet the damage to the party's prospects in November. If not beyond, is considered to be enormous. Seasoned professionals are today upgrading previous high hopes of picking off a Republican-held congressional seat. McGovern, the party's presumed presidential nominee and a neighbor from South Dakota, is believed to be in grave danger of losing Minnesota in the fall, though it has been in the Democratic column since President Eisenhower's last Republican sweep in 1956.

Minnesota sources tell me that the June 10 platform is the continuing talk of the state. Party people going door to door are instantly asked whether they are for or against it. If they say "for," the door may be slammed on them. Sometimes they are asked:

"Are you for those perverts?"

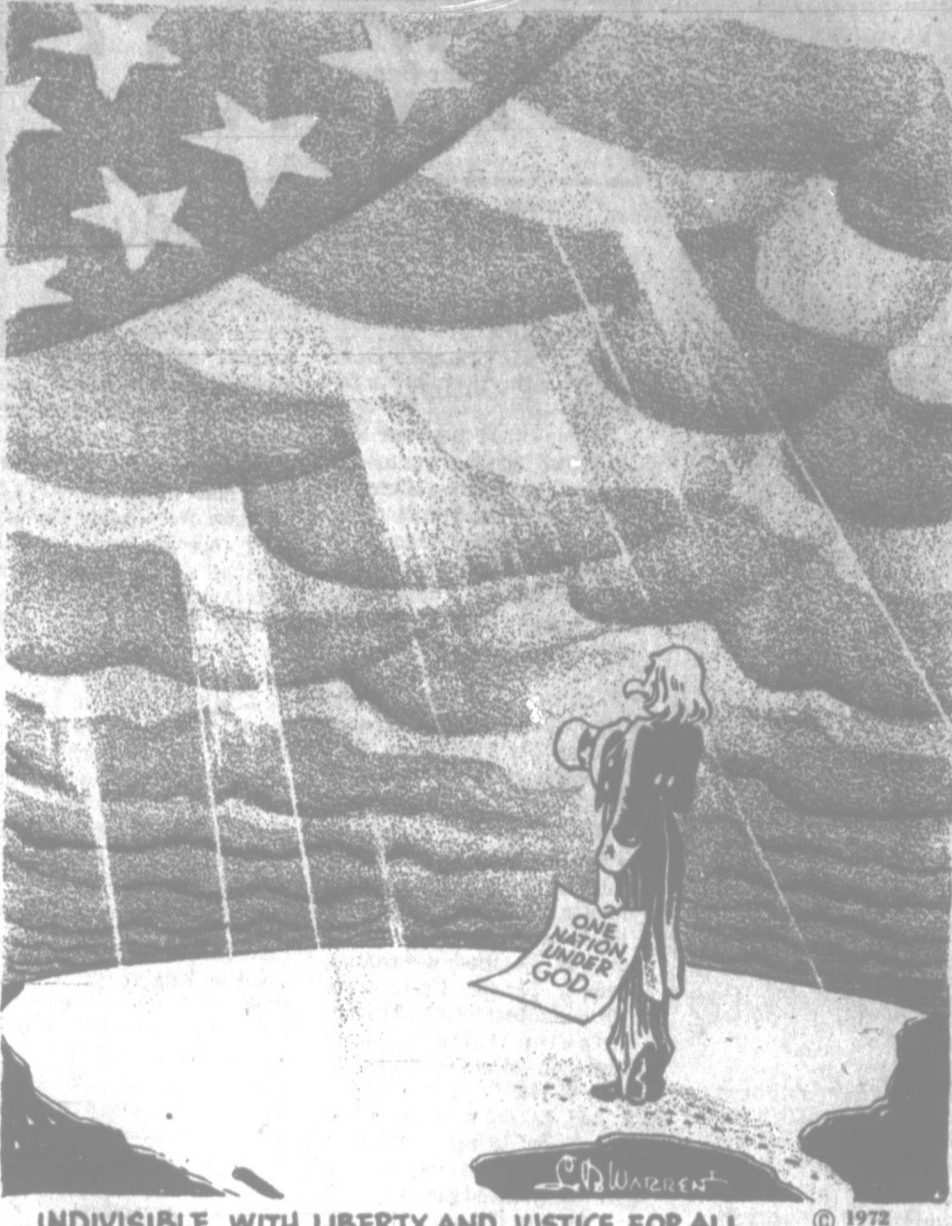

Officials of the United Automobile Workers Union, not exactly a hidebound outfit, report that in major factories the workers are enraged at the platform. A gathering of Democratic lawyers in Minneapolis found many saying they were going to vote for President Nixon in its June 10 handiwork.

The lavender-shirted "gay political caucus" is now after Governor Anderson's skin for his repudiation of the platform. Word is that the call for his defeat in 1974 is being echoed by some pro-McGovern youth.

The destructive impulse does not end there. Earl Craig, the black who beat Anderson's choice for national committee man, celebrated his victory by declaring that Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien has done more for the O'Brien issues in his long career than Craig could do in 150 years.

But McGovern's peril is real. The grass roots canvassing that meant so much to his nomination fight could founder on the rock of hostility raised up by that June 10 convention. Says a liberal regular:

"It's one thing for this party to be torn over Vietnam as in 1968. But to go down in flames over homosexual marriage is lunacy."

Paul Harvey News Back To The Windmill As Source For Power?

By PAUL HARVEY
Back to the windmill! Why not?

We're running out of gas for producing more electricity; costs soar and pollution becomes suffocating.

Ecologists say our waterways have been dammed to the limit. Why not back to the windmill?

A house science committee, searching for future energy requirements and prospects, has heard from H. Guyford Stever, director of the National Science Foundation. After contemplating the Gulf Stream, harnessing the geysers, converting solar energy, all possibilities for the 21st century, Director Stever cited the windmill as a power source which is applicable right now.

Russia, confronted by a similar crisis, has raced ahead in the development of "magnetohydrodynamics"—the science of generating electricity by direct heat conversion.

Russia has three such plants in commercial operation and another on the drawing board, said to be 60 per cent more efficient than a conventional power plant and utterly nonpolluting. A 60 per cent improvement in efficiency is sufficient for the needs of Russia's foreseeable future, not for ours.

Within our lifetimes, yours and mine, the national demands for power will multiply 8 to 16 times. Power losses over

Gallbladder Stones Cause Difficulties

Dear Dr. Lamb—My wife spent several days in the hospital having multiple X rays. They said they couldn't find her gallbladder, that it was clogged up with stones. I thought that the X ray would show bones, stones or solid materials. What is your opinion of this? Please advise if there is any medicine for gallstones.

Dear Reader—It is fairly common for a "nonfunctioning gallbladder" not to show on X rays. The way a gallbladder X ray is done is to have the person take some pills which have a dye in them which will show up on the X ray. This dye material is absorbed by the bloodstream and filtered out by the liver, eventually being carried by the bile and stored in the gallbladder. Now if the gallbladder is diseased too badly, the bile will flow out into the intestines and there won't be any storage of bile in the gallbladder. When this occurs since no dye reaches the gallbladder it can't be seen on the X ray.

If the reason the gallbladder is not functioning is because it has stones in it, sometimes these stones can be seen, but it depends on what kind of stones they are. If they are stones that contain minerals in them like that found in bones, then they will be seen on the X ray. Some stones, however, are made of cholesterol and contain no minerals. These do not cause any shadows by X ray. These stones look like clear spots or holes in the gallbladder filled with the dye that is opaque to X rays. But if the gallbladder doesn't fill and it has translucent stones in it, it will not show up on the X ray.

There are really no good medicines that will dissolve stones in the gallbladder. There are some recent studies on this problem that suggest that some stones may be dissolved but this needs further study before general use. Most medicines given for relief of symptoms. If there are a number of stones in the gallbladder, surgery is usually indicated.

No Word Yet on Skyjack Ransom Held by Algeria
By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The Communist rulers of Algeria have yet to make good their month-old promise to return the $500,000 they confiscated from a Black Panther skyjacker.

If and when the ransom money, and how much, is returned is questionable.

State Department officials say they "still expect" Algeria to live up to its word. They admit they have no idea when that may be. It is obvious their confidence is based more on optimistic hope than substance.

The U.S. and Communist Algeria do not have diplomatic relations. Switzerland represents this country in dealings with the latter.

While the regime of President Boumediene is taking its time returning the Black Panther-exacted half-million dollars, big U.S. corporations are engaged in negotiating for the purchase of state-owned oil and gas. This is in addition to existing long-term contracts totaling around $1 billion.

The U.S. is also seeking the extradition of the skyjacker and his white accomplice, as well as the ransom money.

Privately, State Department authorities acknowledge that is unlikely.

Chief reason for their doubt is that Communist Algeria is not a signatory of the 1970 Hague Convention requiring the extradition or punishment of air pirates.

Also, the Boumediene government has been consistently friendly to Black Panthers, giving them state-supported asylum on the ground they are "political refugees." A number of Black Panthers are holed up there—most of them fugitives from criminal charges in the U.S.

Most prominent of these escapes is Eldridge Cleaver, onetime Panther journal editor, information who jumped bail and fled to Algeria—from where he has been waging a torrid feud of rhetoric with Huey Newton, high-living Panther supreme commander.

Some months ago, Cleaver announced the launching of a rival extremist organization—the "Revolutionary Peoples Communications Network (RPCN)." It is avowedly Communist and violently revolutionary. Thundered Cleaver, "Our action must be like a skunk tossed inside a white shelter, where grim, bright-eyed Weathermen move around in the dark. Our guns are turned on white America. Let us fire at will."

That is particularly true of Cleaver and Delaney—who especially have reason to be bitter.

Their opponents were not only McGovern-instigated, but he openly boosted them.

Rep. Rooney's rival was former Rep. Allard Lowenstein, head of the New Left Americans for Democratic Action that, largely under Lowenstein's manipulation, endorsed McGovern as against Sen. Humphrey, an ADA founder. When McGovern stumped in Rooney's district, Lowenstein was prominently by his side.

Also, the McGovern organization in the district went all-out for fellow leftist Lowenstein.

Significantly, however, this was one of the districts where McGovern ran poorly among Jewish voters, while Rooney scored heavily. This backing was a major factor in Rooney's defeat of Lowenstein—who like McGovern has a congressional record of supporting amendments for aid to Israel and then turning around and voting against the bill as a whole.

That's a long-time tactic of McGovern and other doves.

Subsequently, they moved to the large, well-furnished villa provided by the Boumediene regime for Cleaver and the other Panthers and their women.

The June 3 skyjacking is the second-longest on record—7,200 miles and lasting 20 hours. The perpetrators were William Holder, 22, who was attired in an Army uniform and claimed he was a helicopter pilot, and Katherine Kerkow, 20, white.

LONDON (AP)—Hordes of pharaoh's ants—tiny, sweet-toothed—are menacing Britain's households.

A fund is urgently needed to eliminate the invaders, who have penetrated beds, sterile packs, baby units and operating theaters, a public health inspector said.

Susan H. Beatson, of the Ministry of Agriculture's infestation control unit, wrote in the weekly medical journal Lancet: "Pharaoh's ants infestations can no longer be regarded as only a slight inconvenience."

"The feeding habits of these ants lend themselves to the carrying of pathogenic agents and the ability to carry such agents has been demonstrated."

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—James Golden, regional program manager for taxpayers services in the Internal Revenue Service, says the agency already is receiving "conscience money," that is sent in by anonymous taxpayers who believe they cheated on their income tax returns.

Golden said that five $100 bills fell out of one envelope received with no return address. It also contained an unsigned letter which read:

"I cheated on my income tax return and I can't sleep at night. P.S. If I still can't sleep, I'll send you $500 more."

DALLAS (AP)—The airport which developers say will be the largest in the world also will be the first to use taxiway intersection signs developed with an advanced fibre optics technique.

Yough Aircraft Services Co., a division of LTV Aerospace Corp., has received a $200,000 order for 300 such signs. Final delivery will be in the spring of 1973, months before the airports' July 1973 opening.

"The signs use the fibre optics technique of bending light," explain officials at LTV, where the signs were developed.

"In each sign, a bundle of clear plastic fibres originates from a single light source. The fibres end in an exterior outline of letters, numbers or on the face of the sign," the officials say.

Built to especially withstand strong wind pressures from jumbo jet exhausts, the signs are six feet long and 3 1/2 feet high. Pilots report the new signs have "much greater clarity and readability, both night and day."
