EVER STRIVING FOR TOP OF TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Capital gains' plunder

Gradually more and more people are beginning to understand the horrible impact of the government's practice of inflating (i.e. increasing) the money supply. As this created out of thin air purchasing media is introduced into the economy, prices of goods and services are boosted upward. This, in turn, creates a demand for wage increases to compensate for the higher prices.

Since 1940... Wormser continued... the dollar has lost about three-quarters of its true value... its purchasing power $150,000 today is worth no more than was $50,000 in 1940. In other words, what you received for selling your home was not one cent more in true value than what you paid for it. Therefore, when the government extracts $28.750 from you in a tax on what it falsely holds as gain, it has confiscated almost 20 per cent of your capital represented by your home.

To add to the horror story, Wormser went on to explain the capital gains' plunder can go as high as one-third of the capital represented by your home under a gimmick dreamed up by Congress called the minimum tax on preference income. This, the author pointed out, "was one of the nastiest sleepers in the 1976 act."

Is this practice constitutional? he asks. "Can our government confiscate wealth under the pretext of taxing income?"

Suppose you had bought your home in 1940 for $50,000 and sell it in 1977 for $150,000. Under our Internal Revenue Code you would be held to have made a gain and profit of $100,000.

Since it is doing it, we must presume that it can. Until that is the people have had enough and demand that the plunder be brought to an end.

Violence is in the home

Not all the violence in American homes takes place on the television screen. Indeed, the fictional violence that concerns so many people pales into insignificance compared with the actual violence committed by parents against their children by husbands and wives against each other and by children against children.

But the greatest incidence of violence occurs between brothers and sisters. During the survey year, 52 percent of the children in the families interviewed were reported to have punched, bitten, kicked or beaten up a sibling. Surprisingly, well-educated families seem to be just as violence prone as less educated ones, and sadly, since the information in the survey was given voluntarily, the true extent of violence within the American family is probably even higher than this disturbing report indicates.

Artery Hardening. Every artery throughout the body is subject to hardening, but the most often and most seriously affected vessels are the largest arteries, such as the aorta, the coronary arteries, and the arteries that feed the brain and kidneys. Arteries may harden in one part of the body more rapidly than in other areas, according to the National Institutes of Health.

Mood on campus changing a lot

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN
The atmosphere on the majority of American college and university campuses is vastly different from what it was in the late 1960s and early seventies. In that period, New Left students and professors sought to turn educational centers into bases of political action aimed at the radicalization of America. Not all educational institutions, however, are free of militants. Princeton University, a famous Ivy League institution, continues to experience problems. A student-faculty group at Princeton that calls itself the "J.P. Stevens Boycott-Institution Support Group" has been harassing Princeton trustee R. Manning Brown Jr. because he is a director of the J.P. Stevens Co., which the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union has been trying to organize.

In the name of prejudice

By MADSEN PIRIE

While a great deal of attention has been devoted to discrimination on account of race, color, sex, or minority status, there has been little serious examination given to victimization of people because of their names. Our whole society has been insidiously structured to the permanent disadvantage of those whose names occupy the lower portion of the alphabet.

It should be recognized, however, that universities have a difficult time maintaining their traditional role as centers of learning. They are under heavy pressure to give way to new labor union power drives. University Professors For Academic Order have repeatedly warned of organized labor's drive to dominate higher education.

Obviously, a society so concerned about the effects of prejudice cannot allow half of its citizens to suffer the injurious consequences of a permanent discrimination. It is gratifying, therefore, to read that a leading New York based foundation has granted five billion dollars to the OTOZ organization to combat alphabeticism. OTOZ, representing all those with surnames from O to Z, is attempting to pass a constitutional amendment outlawing the use of alphabetical order.

Getting to Know You
Some $28.3 billion was spent on advertising in 1975, up more than $1.5 billion from 1974. Newspapers continued to get the largest share of advertising dollars ($8.4 billion), followed by television ($5.3 billion). The Conference Board observes. Magazines, however, slipped last year; they received $39 million less than in 1974.

I asked the President of OTOZ, William Yaxton, why his group did not resort to the simple expedient of changing their names. Yaxton explained that this would be tantamount to admitting that high alphabet names were superior, and that his group was attempting to inculcate 'lower alphabet pride' into people who had always been used to taking second place.

It's Possible! Believe!

Tommy Lasorda, manager of the L.A. Dodgers, visited with me recently and told of an experience he had while managing a baseball team in the minor leagues.
After losing their seventh straight game the defeated and exhausted team headed for the humid locker room. When Tommy entered, everyone of his players was sitting, dejected, with their heads in their hands.
"Hey," Tommy yelled. "Get those heads up! Just because we lose seven straight games, doesn't mean we're not a great team. Don't you know the greatest team in the history of baseball - the 1927 Yankees - lost nine straight?"

Suddenly heads went up and expressions changed! The team started to win and by the end of the season, they were the champions!
I asked Tom, "Did the Yankees really lose nine straight?" "How should I know?" he answered with a chuckle. "I was only a year old then!"
What you believe determines the decisions you make and the way you live. Believe in yourself and you'll be a winner!

Campaign laws evaded

By Martha Angle and Robert Walters
WASHINGTON - (NEA) - The House and Senate, increasingly sensitive about the public's low regard for their ethical and moral standards, have spent a great deal of time and energy during the initial months of this year's session trying to clean up their act.
But at the same time the two houses of Congress have been fashioning tough new codes of ethics for themselves, a handful of the most ingenious and inventive legislators have been searching for loopholes in the law, cutting corners on ethics and generally ignoring the spirit of reform.
One of these doing business at the same old stand is Rep. Richard T. Schulze, R-Pa., who has found a way to legally evade the 70-year-old statutory prohibition on corporate contributions to campaigns for federal office.
Schulze recently wrote the Federal Election Commission (FEC) to explain that he had arranged to accept a $1,900 "public service" gift of 250 "Congressman's Medal of Merit (or Valor)" from the Franklin Mint, a corporation in his district.

The congressman planned to present the free medals to his constituents as part of "a program of recognizing outstanding graduating seniors of high schools within my district, and individuals who perform outstanding acts beneficial to their fellow man."
It's not unreasonable to assume that behind that overblown rhetoric is Schulze's instinct for political survival in the next election. But the FEC, confronted with his disclaimer that the scheme "will not be related to any campaign activity," had no choice but to consent to the plan.

However, Commission Chairman Vernon W. Thomson, in an emotional speech, warned his colleagues: "This is the opening wedge of a very, very dangerous practice... an extremely dangerous opportunity for corporate contributions for political activities."
After Schulze's staff learned that we were planning to write about his previously unpublished program, his press secretary informed us that the congressman had "not fully implemented the plan," had belatedly "reconsidered" the idea and decided to buy the medals himself.

The Kemper Insurance Companies, another corporation prohibited by law from contributing to congressional campaigns, has found an equally creative way to skirt the statute: It wants to donate $1,000 to help finance publication of a book written by "an incumbent congressman."
Again, the FEC approved the plan because it technically did not involve a campaign contribution. When we called David E. Brown, a Kemper lawyer, seeking more information, the conversation went like this:
Q. Can you tell us the name of the congressman?
A. No.
Q. Why not?
A. Why should I?
Q. Because you shouldn't have anything to hide.
A. If I wanted to include his name (in the request to the FEC) I would have.

There are countless other variations. Rep. Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y., wants to use $5,000 of unspent campaign funds to finance "the writing of a book and screenplay about my life."
Reps. Gene Taylor, R-Mo., and Norman F. Lent, R-N.Y., have campaign committees which purchased cars with political funds and now maintain the vehicles in their districts - thereby giving the congressman the benefit of a free auto whenever they go home.

Finally, the FEC votes this week on a controversial plan concocted by Rep. George V. Hansen, R-Idaho. He wants approval to solicit contribution by mail, then use the proceeds to pay for such personal expenses as medical bills, business losses and children's college tuition.

If the FEC approves Hansen's plan, the most brazen offered to date, every member of Congress could establish a personal charity fund. It's no wonder the voters have come to view congressional morality as lower than the proverbial snake's belly.

Non-complaining work horse

Carter works 70 hours

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is a "work horse" who spends more than 70 hours a week on the job without complaining of fatigue, but "we can see it sometimes in his eyes," says a presidential aide.

According to a staff study of the President's first month-and-a-half in office, he has been working 75 to 80 hours a week, compared with a scheduled 55 hours.

Appointments Secretary Tim Kraft, who directed the study as a guide for Carter and his schedulers, said in an interview.

"We can see on paper that he's sometimes overdoing it. We can see it sometimes in his eyes, in signs of fatigue."

But, says Kraft, "You know, he's a work horse. He never complains about work. If he has a complaint, it's about his ability to be efficient and effective and to get through the 'in box.' He never says 'I'm tired' or 'I need a break.'"

But Kraft conceded that Carter did complain once that he had too many scheduled appointments in a single day.

As a result of the study of Carter's activities from Jan. 24 to March 6, additional "contingency time" now is being built into the President's schedule.

Aides also believe Carter is likely to devote more time to domestic affairs in the weeks ahead, and that he will set up more meetings with key members of Congress.

In the six weeks covered by the study, foreign affairs took more of the President's working time than any other category.

Carter is scheduled to work 10 hours a day, Monday through Friday, and five hours on Saturday. The study documented an average 71-hour week that did not include work done in the White House living quarters, where Carter has an office, or during weekend visits to Plains, Ga., and Camp David, Md.

When he first took office, Carter planned to have only two regular daily appointments — with foreign policy adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski and Press Secretary Jody Powell. In addition, he planned regular, although not daily, sessions with Vice President Walter Mondale and weekly meetings with the Cabinet and Democratic congressional leaders.

As a result of experience, White House lobbyist Frank Moore has since been given a daily appointment and budget chief Bert Lance and economic adviser Charles Schultz now see Carter at fixed hours two or three times a week.

Husband-wife team have careers in flight

Careers in aeronautics will get full coverage during the 16th Career Clinic for Pampa High School students Wednesday. Karen Warner Kleiboecker and Ronald Kleiboecker of Richmond, Mo., will be career consultants in both clinic sessions. Mrs. Kleiboecker attended Pampa schools through her junior year and was graduated from Churchill High School in Chesapeake, Va., in 1964. She was graduated from Texas Tech University and joined TWA in 1968 as a flight attendant. She spent three years working international flights and is currently on domestic runs. Kleiboecker, a graduate of Monnett (Mo.) High School and the University of Missouri, was a Marine fighter pilot in Vietnam. He joined TWA in 1966 and is currently a co-pilot on 727 aircraft. The Kleiboekers will be among more than 80 career consultants. The Career Clinic is co-sponsored by the Altrusa Club of Pampa, Junior Service League of Pampa, Inc., and the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Senate faces ethics; House on reorganization

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's request for authority to reorganize the federal government is up for a House vote this week, while the Senate moves toward a final decision on enactment of a new code of ethics.

The House of Representatives is expected to pass the President's reorganization proposal on Tuesday. The measure would allow the President to reorganize government agencies unless his action was vetoed by Congress.

But that presidential authority would stop at the Cabinet level, where Carter plans to combine the government's energy agencies into a new Cabinet department.

That plan requires separate legislation and a House subcommittee planned today to begin hearings into the proposal.

The Senate, which has spent most of the past 10 working days debating and voting on various aspects of its proposed code of ethics, scheduled a final vote for Friday. The next major item of business for the Senate is to be Carter's economic stimulus bill, but it was unclear whether it will come to the floor before or after the ethics code vote.

The House also is preparing to vote on Carter's requests for a one-year extension of authority to create public service jobs.

The jobs bill would extend for a year Carter's authority to create up to 750,000 public service jobs, for which a $6-billion appropriation already has been passed, with $3.8 billion marked for use in fiscal 1978.

Approval also was anticipated for the continuation of the House assassinations committee, which intends to investigate anew the murders of President John F. Kennedy and civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

A host of amendments were rejected last week, and similar action was expected on most of some 28 remaining before the code, given top priority by Senate leaders, comes to a vote.

After the ethics issue is resolved, Senate debate was scheduled to open immediately on the Senate Finance Committee version of President Carter's tax cut proposal. The measure already has passed the House.

Brezhnev says stay out

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev opened talks today on a new nuclear arms control pact, with Brezhnev reportedly warning the United States to stay out of Soviet internal affairs.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said Brezhnev opened the talks with an "appropriate appraisal" of U.S. foreign policy with emphasis on "those moments in the U.S. policy which do not square with the principles of equality, noninterference in the internal affairs of each other."

If these principles are not followed, the Soviet leader said "constructive development of relations between the two countries is impossible." Tass reported.

American officials declined comment on the substance of the talks.

The Soviet leader's remarks were apparently aimed at President Carter's public support of Soviet dissidents. Kremlin officials have repeatedly warned that the dissident issue could sabotage the arms control talks.

Before the meeting got under way in private, both sides posed for photographers and exchanged the routine pleasantries.

"I am happy to welcome you here," Brezhnev told Vance and congratulated him on his 60th birthday, which he celebrated in Moscow Sunday.

"I bring you the warmest regards from President Carter," Vance responded.

"I send him my heartfelt good wishes," Brezhnev replied.

Vance was accompanied by Paul Warnke, the Carter administration's chief arms negotiator; Deputy Undersecretary of State Philip Habib; William Highland of the National Security Council; and Malcolm Toon, the U.S. ambassador to Moscow.

Brezhnev was flanked by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet ambassador to the United States, Anatoly Dobrynin, Georgy Korniyenko, a deputy foreign minister and disarmament expert, and Oleg Sokolov of the foreign ministry's American department.

Vance told a news conference Sunday that the problems that have blocked conclusion of the second Strategic Arms Limitation Agreement "are something of the past."

"What I'm looking forward to now is the future. What I'm looking for is a SALT-2 agreement," he said. "It is possible to have a comprehensive agreement by October. It will mean that everybody will have to work very hard."

SALT-1, the first five-year treaty limiting the two superpowers' nuclear arsenals, expires in October. If it is not extended or replaced, there will be no restraint on the nuclear arms race.

Vance planned to propose a comprehensive treaty that would make substantial reductions in each nation's missiles and bombers that can deliver nuclear warheads. Informed sources speculate that the Carter administration wants to limit each country to about 1,800 strategic missiles and bombers or 600 less than President Ford and Brezhnev agreed on at their Vladivostok meeting in November, 1974.

The United States now is estimated to have about 2,320 strategic missiles and bombers and the Soviets some 2,660.

Efforts to write a new treaty since the Vladivostok meeting broke down because the two governments could not agree on whether to classify the new American Cruise missile system and the Soviet Backfire bomber as long-range strategic weapons.

If the Russians won't accept the comprehensive approach, Vance wants an interim accord to freeze missile and bomber levels at about the 1974 level while work continues on a comprehensive program, including the cruise and Backfire.

Accuses Bell of overcharging

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bell System was accused by a spokesman for its competitors today of overcharging home and business telephone users by $2.25 billion a year to make up huge losses in an attempt to eliminate competition.

The charge was made in testimony prepared for the Senate Communications subcommittee by Edwin Stuevack, general counsel of the North American Telephone Association, whose nearly 400 member firms sell telephones, computerized switchboards and other phone equipment.

The subcommittee, with several new members, is holding a series of far-ranging hearings looking at all aspects of telecommunications.

Stuevack said "The result of Bell's pricing some terminal equipment below even the cost of raw materials has been an overcharge to residential and other customers that may average more than $20 for every main telephone subscriber in the nation."

He said his estimate of Bell losses from underpricing was drawn from records at the Federal Communications Commission and state regulatory bodies, most notably New York's Public Service Commission.

The New York commission found Bell's charges for terminal equipment were far below costs. Stuevack said "The commission found Bell underpricing terminal equipment by $225 million a year. Other commissions have found similar evidence and the FCC says the pattern may well be national" at a cost of $2.25 billion annually.

He noted that New York has ordered Bell to raise its rates for terminal equipment in that state and said some other states are moving in the same direction.

Russians aren't coming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometime within the next year, some Americans may be startled to see Russian tanks rolling across U.S. countryside.

The tanks will be accompanied by soldiers wearing Russian-style uniforms, carrying Soviet AK47 assault rifles and riding in Russian armored personnel carriers.

No matter what it looks like, it won't really be a Russian invasion. It will be part of a training exercise involving the U.S. and the Soviet Army.

The "Russians" will be part of one of the U.S. Army's special new units, organized to provide more realistic training for fighting what the military likes to call "the potential adversary" — the Soviet army.

While the soldiers will be mock Russians, their equipment will be the real thing, relics of the 1973 Mideast war between Israel and Soviet-supplied Syrian and Egyptian armies.

The Israeli government has given the United States some of the T62 tanks, personnel carriers, artillery, and thousands of smaller arms captured by Israeli forces in the Sinai and Golan Heights battles more than three years ago.

The new training approach was devised, the Army said, because the old system of using simulated "aggressor forces" with American uniforms and arms "didn't provide the realism essential to prepare commanders, noncommissioned officers and soldiers for the next war."

As part of the new "opposing force concept," the individual U.S. soldier will be taught in classrooms and demonstrations about his Soviet counterpart — his characteristics, his probable tactics, how he would use his weapons.

This program "gives the soldier a working knowledge of our adversary's vulnerabilities, and trains soldiers and leaders to exploit those weaknesses, to beat them even when outnumbered and outgunned," the Army said.

The concept has been tested in pilot form at Ft. Hood, Tex., and will be spread throughout the Army by late 1978.

AGAPELAND IS COMING

It Works... Stop Hair Loss, Then Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in the family," it is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days — at their risk — if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail. Adv.

Court denies Jurek review

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A condemned Texas murderer who claims that having his electrocution televised would violate his right to die with dignity, was denied Supreme Court review of his case today.

Justice William J. Brennan and Thurgood Marshall, who feel that capital punishment is unconstitutional, said they would have accepted the case for review and vacated the death sentence.

Jurek had been scheduled for execution last January, but Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. ordered Texas officials to keep the death-row inmate alive pending his appeal. The justices said today that the stay of execution will remain in effect until April 4.

Jurek's attorneys raised six points in his appeal. —That a federal judge's decision to allow Jurek's death to be filmed for television violates the convict's right "to die with a modicum of dignity and the public's right not to have the event thrust before their eyes."

—That prospective jurors at his trial were unconstitutionally excluded for stating general reservations about imposing the death sentence.

—That Jurek was denied a fair trial because of the "inept performance of his two court-appointed lawyers." One of his defenders had been practicing law for only two weeks and the other has since been suspended from practice for professional misconduct.

—That his sentencing was tainted because the trial court let a prosecutor refer during the sentencing portion of his trial to crimes for which Jurek was never convicted.

—The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals did not properly review the imposition of the death penalty in Jurek's case.

Jurek's case was reviewed by the nation's highest court last July as a test case on the constitutionality of Texas' death penalty. The justices upheld the capital punishment law in Texas, Florida and Georgia on July 2.

Court to hear Nixon argument

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to hear former President Richard M. Nixon's arguments against release of 30 White House tape recordings played during the Watergate cover-up trial of his top advisers.

Nixon's appeal asked the court to overturn a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington that the tapes "are no longer confidential" and that copies may be released to the public.

The tapes, transcripts of which were highly publicized during the Watergate trial of John Mitchell, H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, Robert Mardian and Kenneth Parkinson, are of conversations within the White House Oval Office.

If released, the tapes would let the public hear for the first time the voices of Nixon and the Watergate figures discussing the scandal — the tones and inflections of voice used by each man.

Filing suit last year to have the tapes released were Warner Communications, National Broadcasting Co., American Broadcasting Co., CBS, the Public Broadcasting Service and the Radio-Television News Directors Association.

Warner indicated the desire to reproduce the tapes as phonograph records and cassettes.

Attorneys for Nixon argued that such reproductions would be "played at cocktail parties and in satiric productions, and be exploited in any other fashion."

Nixon's attorneys also argued that release of the tapes could prove harmful to Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman, who are appealing their Watergate convictions.

On Jan. 11, attorneys for the networks and other companies seeking the tapes submitted a proposal to U.S. Dist. Judge John J. Sirica, who envisions the National Archives selling one-hour tape cassettes for $3.75 to $5.75, depending on tape speed. Included in that price would be a complete transcript, packaging and mailing.

Court closes doors to name judge

An executive session of Gray County Commissioners Court has been set to begin at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the county courtroom, second floor of the courthouse.

The apparent purpose of the meeting will be to name a county judge to succeed Don Cain who is scheduled to be sworn in Friday to the office of district judge, filling the bench in newly created 223rd District Court.

Cain was appointed to the post by the governor.

Some auto people think much of the new affluence is due to an increased number of working women contributing to family income. They make it possible for a young working couple to afford a car they couldn't consider buying if only one of them were working.

"We're definitely getting a younger set of people who obviously are making more money than their counterparts 10 or 20 years ago," said Al Zaleski, assistant manager of Seymour Cadillac in Detroit. "We also are finding more women coming in," added Zaleski.

According to surveys conducted by independent research firms, luxury cars are being bought by increasingly younger drivers.

They also show women as the principal users of 30 per cent of the new cars sold last year, and 21 per cent of the luxury cars. In 1969, they were principal users of only 18 per cent of all new cars sold, and 15 per cent of luxury cars.

Median family income of a luxury car buyer was about $36,000 last year, up from $25,000 in 1969. Median income for all buyers in 1976 was $18,500, compared with $12,000 seven years earlier.

Another factor, some executives say, is that buyers believe the end is near for the big, so-called full-size car.

Luxury car market keeps on growing

DETROIT (AP) — Cars and gasoline get more expensive, but the market for expensive luxury cars keeps growing and growing.

Total car sales this year are up only 10 per cent over 1976. But combined sales of Cadillacs, Lincolns and Germany's Mercedes-Benz — the industry's biggest-selling luxury cars — are already 20 per cent ahead of last year, when a record 470,000 were sold.

Auto executives predict luxury sales will hit 550,000 this year. That means 5 per cent of new car buyers — one in every 20 — will have paid $10,000 and up for a new Caddy, Lincoln or Mercedes.

In 1970, just 250,000 luxury car sales were sold — about 3 per cent of the market, and then a Cadillac sold for as low as $6,000.

"America is getting more affluent," says one auto analyst. "Incomes have gone up faster than the cost of many luxury items."

Surgeon says unfit pilots fly

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Medically unfit Air Force pilots are permitted to fly because of politics and influence by high-ranking officers, a former military flight surgeon has charged.

Dr. Thomas Ramage, who served for two years at Webb Air Force Base near Big Spring, Tex., said, "There is preferential different for different types of people."

A spokesman for the Air Force denied that it has any unfit pilots flying.

Ramage said he and two other flight surgeons at the base agreed that Gonzalez should be grounded. However, he charged, pressure from the Chilean government led to a new set of medical tests for Gonzalez by another group of doctors at Brooks Air Force Base near San Antonio, Tex.

Those doctors, Ramage said, concluded that Gonzalez suffered only from "tension headaches."

Ramage said he and the other two Webb doctors protested to Lt. Col. Robert Chapman, then head of medicine in the Air Training Command.

The collision of two 747 jumbo jets that killed 534 to 572 persons on Tenerife in the Canary Islands on Sunday was the worst air tragedy in history.

Previously the highest death toll occurred March 3, 1974, when a Turkish DC-10 jet crashed in Ermenoville, France, near Paris, killing 346 persons.

The previous worst collision of two aircraft occurred Sept. 10, 1976, near Zagreb, Yugoslavia. All 176 persons aboard a British Airways Trident and a chartered Yugoslav airliner were killed.

Sunday's collision was the second major air disaster at Santa Cruz de Tenerife. On Dec. 3, 1972, a chartered Spanish airliner exploded and burst into flames on takeoff from Los Rodeos airport, killing 155 persons.

Other major air collisions: —An All-Nippon Boeing 727 and a Japanese Air Force F-4E collided over Muriko, Japan, on July 30, 1971, killing 162 persons.

Residents in Western states braced for snowstorms and those in the Midwest for flooding as cold air moved south overnight to trigger precipitation across much of the nation.

Winter storm warnings were issued for parts of Wyoming, Utah, Montana, Arizona, New Mexico, South Dakota and the Nebraska Panhandle. Heavy snow was expected through tonight in the Colorado mountains. Thunderstorms and heavy showers resulted in flash flood warnings and watches for southeast Missouri and parts of Texas, Arkansas, Illinois and Indiana. Flash flood watches also were posted for Mississippi and Tennessee.

STEER CLEAR OF BALDING TIRES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bald tires, besides being much more likely to slip on wet roads, are 44 times more likely to go flat than new tires, says the Tire Retread Information Bureau (TRIB). Ninety percent of tire trouble occurs when tires have 1-16 (or less) inches of tread remaining. For safe driving, it is essential to keep close tabs on balding tires, TRIB advises. One way is to check the wear indicators built into all tires made after 1980, says TRIB. These will appear horizontally across the tire's face when its tread gets below 1-16 inch. Another method is to insert a Lincoln's head penny upside down into several of the tread grooves. If the top of Lincoln's head shows in any of them, the tire should be replaced.

Letter revives doubt in Lindbergh murder

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — In a letter to his mother, convicted Lindbergh baby killer Bruno Richard Hauptmann ridiculed evidence used against him and said his defense attorney cooperated with the prosecution and was often drunk.

The letter was never delivered or otherwise made public. It was hidden for 40 years in the personal papers of Col. Mark Kimberling, warden at Trenton State Prison in the mid-1930s.

It presents no new evidence but may serve to revive doubts about Hauptmann's guilt which have circulated since he died in the electric chair on April 2, 1936.

Hauptmann spent 14 months on death row at the prison and was executed there for the murder of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., infant son of Col. Charles Lindbergh, the national hero who made the first trans-Atlantic flight in 1927.

Hauptmann gave the letter written in German, to Kimberling, and asked him to send it to his mother Pauline in Kamenz, Germany, near Dresden, and give a translation to then-Gov. Harold Hoffman.

There is no record whether Hoffman saw the letter. But according to an attached note, Kimberling decided not to mail it because it "might receive some press comment over in Germany, which might result in some unfavorable reaction, or, at least in placing us in an embarrassing position for having released it from state prison."

Copies of the letter were obtained by The Associated Press and The New York Daily News.

Hauptmann said he "was condemned without having the slightest idea of the crime. Also, I have never in my life seen the unfortunate child and if anyone should ask me where the Lindbergh house is, I could not give him any information, even with the best of intentions."

He especially disliked his former chief attorney, Edward Reilly, a renowned New York criminal lawyer brought into the case by the Hearst newspapers without consulting Hauptmann.

"How my chief counsel at the trial acted or how he could act so, I cannot comprehend. According to my opinion, I believe that I am 100 per cent certain when I say that he worked together with the prosecutor. I had an opportunity to explain my case to him only five minutes. He simply did not come to me, or if he came for three to five minutes, he was often drunk. How could I talk with him?" Hauptmann complained.

Hauptmann tried to prove in the letter that some of the evidence must have been fabricated by police.

AGRICULTURE IN ARGENTINA — ARGENTINA BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina has valued its agriculture production at an estimated $7 billion a year. However, experts calculate losses at $2.8 billion or 40 per cent of that figure a year, for a net agriculture value of $4.2 billion a year.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Veteran character comedian Fritz Feld plays his 425th screen role in Gene Wilder's "The World's Greatest Lover."

Feld, often cast as an apologetic head waiter, first appeared in movies in 1918, making his debut in Europe in "The World's Illusion."

see which among them will be called to the stage to be handed a slim gold statuette named Oscar.

The ceremony at the Music Center, for those who in the judgment of their peers contributed the most to the motion picture screen, will be telecast nationally tonight by ABC.

One question was whether the late Peter Finch will be honored for his performance in "Network," the first such posthumous award in the Academy's 49 years.

The "best actor" statuette could also go to Sylvester Stallone, writer and star of the story of a Philadelphia boxer.

At curtain time, Stallone and "Rocky" seemed to be the favorites for the big prizes.

Regardless, it didn't appear that the acting Oscar would be spurned as it was in recent years by George C. Scott and Marlon Brando.

All of the living nominees were to be present except the ailing Laurence Olivier. Even publicity-shy Robert DeNiro, nominated as best actor for "Taxi Driver," agreed to attend.

Producer William Friedkin ("The Exorcist") has promised to keep the show moving. The only production number scheduled features Ann-Margret performing a new song, "Magic Circle," at the beginning and end.

Red Skelton was picked to introduce a brief film celebrating 50 years of sound movies, and film clips outlining the career of Pandro S. Berman, winner of the Irving Thalberg award.

Although not nominated for best-actress honors, Barbra

Streisand is appearing to perform "Evergreen, Love Theme from 'A Star Is Born.'" Other musical performers of nominated songs are Ben Vereen, Tom Jones, Eddie Albert and Lea Vivante.

ABC is telecasting the ceremonies beginning at 10 p.m. EST. Running time of 2½ hours could be extended by lengthy acceptance speeches.

Nominated for best picture were "All The President's Men," "Bound for Glory," "Network," "Rocky" and "Taxi Driver."

Besides Stallone, DeNiro and

Finch, best-actor nominees are William Holden in "Network," and Giancarlo Giannini in "Seven Beauties."

The candidates for best actress: Marie-Christine Barrault, "Cousin Cousine;" Faye Dunaway, "Network;" Talia Shire, "Rocky;" Sissy Spacek, "Carrie;" and Liv Ullmann, "Face to Face."

The Lighter Side

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Some would do it with a thank-you note, but Marty VanNostran has expressed his gratitude to his employer by tattooing an advertisement for the business across his back.

VanNostran, 27, explained, "This is a kind of an advertisement because I owe an awful lot to Ron (Sherrill)," who owns R & R Cycle and Salvage here.

"He's teaching me the business and I've learned a lot from him. I want to see the shop do well," VanNostran said.

It took four hours and $175 — paid by Sherrill — to have a set of Harley-Davidson motorcycle wings and the names of the shop and city tattooed on VanNostran, a salesman at R & R Cycle for the last six months and a motorcycle buff for most of his life.

The tattoo joins six others, including his first, a colorful snake wrapped around a skull with a dagger through it.

GREENVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Pass out the favors and stand back. The Joneses are having a birthday party today.

Four of the 11 Jones kids, Tommy, Danny, David and Maureen, were born on March 28 — in 1961, 1962, 1966 and 1972.

If we'd insured against this happening, we'd be rich today," said Mary Jones.

The odds against four such coincidental births are six million to one, according to an estimate by Carnegie-Mellon University statisticians.

Mrs. Jones, who spent three hours last week baking birthday cakes and another three cleaning up the kitchen, insists it was all an accident that four children were born on March 28th.

But her husband, Thomas, a radiologist at Greenville Hospital, says the U.S. Army may have had something to do with it.

He was sent to Korea six weeks after their marriage, and she was pregnant when he left. Fifteen months later, he came home on leave, and she was pregnant again when his leave ended.

DALLAS (AP) — In the age of Dial-A-Prayer and Dial-A-Joke, we now have Dial-A-Movie — and not just any old movie.

An ad in a Dallas newspaper says you can order an X-rated film and projectionist to come to your home and provide the entertainment.

For $30, the male or female projectionist will just show the film for you. For $40 she or he will do the deed topless. And for $50, you get a completely naked projectionist.

The closest we could come to it is the ordinance preventing the showing of a pornographic movie within 1,000 feet of a church, school or residence," Channell said.

Woody Herman is stable after crash

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. (AP) — Band leader Woody Herman was in stable condition with injuries received in an auto accident Sunday while he was on his way to a concert at Kansas State University.

Herman, 63, suffered a broken right leg, facial lacerations and other injuries when his car collided headon with another vehicle about 2 p.m. on Kansas 18 inside the Ft. Riley Military Reservation.

The band leader was taken to Erwin Army Hospital, then transferred to St. Mary Hospital in Manhattan, where he was placed in intensive care.

The driver of the other car, Barbara Racek, 57, Junction City, was treated for cuts and bruises at the military hospital. Herman's 18-member band played the concert as scheduled.

Oklahomans evacuate

By The Associated Press
Fed by heavy rains in southeastern Oklahoma, rivers and streams in the eastern section of the state reached record and near record levels Sunday, and some continued to rise today.

Five rivers and streams surged past flood levels Sunday, after more than eight inches of rain fell in the hardest-hit areas of the southeast. Rainfall amounts of five inches or more were common across a large section of the southeast.

In Durant, 20 to 30 persons were evacuated from their homes as a precautionary measure Sunday morning.

The Blue River near Durant hit an all-time record level of 33.58 feet Sunday night — 12.58 feet above its flood stage. It was expected to begin falling today, after reaching a crest of 33.6 feet.

As the waters of the Glover River rose past the flood stage Sunday night, a spokesman for the McCurtain County sheriff's office said he expected evacuation of livestock along the banks of the river.

Scattered rains continued over portions of eastern and central Oklahoma this morning, including the hard-hit southeast.

Rain was forecast to end over the state today.

The rains Sunday night and early today were not as heavy as those Saturday and early Sunday.

Flash flood warnings were issued for areas of the southeast during portions of Sunday and Sunday night.

Because of high water, the Highway Patrol said U.S. 270 six miles west of McAlester was closed Sunday night. Oklahoma 31 between Haywood and McAlester and Oklahoma 63 from Pittsburg to Hartsborne were also closed because of flooding.

Rainfall amounts over the state varied greatly Saturday and Sunday, with the drought-stricken northwest portion of the state reporting only traces of rain.

"We're really in a hand-to-mouth situation right now," because of the lack of rain, said Elmore Bathurst, president of the Oklahoma Wheat Growers Association.
