

Young Skyjacker With $502,000 Sought In North-Central Indiana

PERU, Ind. (AP) — A young hijacker who had to be shown how to use his parachute was sought Saturday in north-central Indiana after he parachuted or fell from a jetliner before dawn with $502,000 in ransom money.

FBI officers from at least two states joined Indiana State Police, sheriff's and city officers in a search on the ground, in the air and with boats for the air pirate. However, there was some speculation that he might have not have bailed out safely from the American Airlines Boeing 727.

The hijacker had switched planes in St. Louis after a latemodel automobile mysteriously crashed through a fence at the airport and collided with the first hijacked plane as it prepared to take off under orders of the gunman. The driver of the car was hospitalized and authorities were investigating.

When the second plane took off from St. Louis, the hijacker and six hostages—three male flight crew members, two stewardesses and a male passenger—were aboard. The other passengers had been let off at St. Louis and the hijacker had received two parachutes and the money in a burlap sack.

After the hijacker plunged from the plane in the Peru area and the plane flew to Chicago, there was one unconfirmed report that pieces of clothing were found near the exit ramp of the jet. This triggered speculation the hijacker might have been sucked from the plane by air currents and fallen to his death.

One law enforcement radio report early Saturday said, "We may be looking for a dead man."

In addition, the hijacker apparently was a novice at parachuting. In St. Louis he had trouble with explanations on use of the parachutes and an airlines engineer was sent aboard to instruct him, spokesmen for the airline said.

Complicating the search was the possibility the hijacker dropped into the 31-mile-long Mississineewa Reservoir, part of the flood control system of the storied Wabash River.

Object of the search was a man described as about 30, 5 feet 10 or 11 inches tall, 170 pounds, a large round nose and pock marks and open sores on his face.

The hijacker reportedly was armed with a .45-caliber submachinegun of the lightweight, wire-frame type commonly called a "grease gun" and a hand grenade, state police and the FBI said.

He also had a shovel, provided along with the ransom money and parachutes.

State police asked themselves here whether he wanted the shovel to bury the parachute, hide the ransom, or dig a narrow foxhole to cover himself with foliage. There were no answers.

where he apparently boarded, and ordered its return.

The plane was nearing Tulsa before the hijacker produced the submachine gun and made his demand. Airline spokesmen said he apparently had concealed the weapon in what appeared to be a trombone case he carried on the plane.

When the plane set down for the second time at Lambert Field—St. Louis International Airport—for refueling, most passengers were let off and it was aloft again with 14 male passengers at 6:20 p.m. EDT. The gunman first ordered the plane's pilot to fly to Fort Worth, Tex., then ordered a return to St. Louis.

While waiting to collect the ransom money there, the hijacker released 13 passengers and 2 stewardesses, and demanded the parachutes.

After the hijacker obtained the money and was shown how to use the parachutes, the plane turned to taxi for takeoff. Just then a late model car crashed through a fence at the airport, sped onto the runway and smashed into the plane's rear belly section.

The driver of the car, David J. Hanley, later underwent surgery at a hospital and was reported in serious condition with possible fractures and head injuries.

The gunman then changed planes, carrying with him a replacement crew, plus the one male passenger remaining from the 94 on the plane when he first boarded the coast-to-coast flight.

An FBI spokesman said agents had planned to shoot the hijacker while the transfer was being made to the second aircraft but couldn't because of the stewardesses walking in front and behind him. "He was crouched very low and there was no way."

The second plane took off and as it neared Peru, Ind., the hijacker bailed out. Investigators in Chicago examined the rear passenger exit reportedly used by the hijacker.

Violence Threatens IRA Truce Proposal

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A surge of violence threatened Saturday to sabotage a cease-fire proposed by the Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing and accepted by the British.

Militants from the Provisional wing claimed they laid the remote-control land mines that killed three British soldiers near Dungiven Friday night.

The Provisional leaders called a truce for midnight Monday but the mining indicated some IRA guerrillas may be defying orders to halt the fighting.

The British army called the mining a "patently planned murder attack." Besides killing the three soldiers, the blast seriously wounded five other persons, including one civilian.

Seventeen-year-old Patrick McCullough was shot to death from a speeding car as he stood on a street corner in the Catholic Antrim Road district of Belfast. Neighbors claimed it was the work of Protestant extremists. His 15-year-old fiancée was wounded in the neck.

The killings raised to 382 the number of persons slain during three years of fighting in the province.

The McCullough shooting raised fears of an IRA reprisal which might prompt a Protestant backlash.

The commander of the Provisionals had insisted it was a "matter of honor" to observe the truce and that anyone who disobeyed would be punished and perhaps shot. Seamus Twomey, the commander, also promised a lessening of guerrilla activities before the cease-fire but there was an upsurge of shootings in the 24-hour period after his announcement.

Pearl Buck, 80, Optimistic About Future

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pearl S. Buck, Nobel laureate, begins her 80th year Monday with optimism about her future as both a writer and foundation guiding force.

The author, who heads several organizations concerned with the welfare of children of mixed Asian-American parentage, refuses to lay aside the pad on which she writes her manuscripts.

Determined to continue a career which spanned 64 books, she comments in a voice which belies her age:

"I'm always full of plans."

One recently completed project is a collection of stories entitled "Once Upon a Christmas." Shortly, another book culled from her Chinese background will appear in print, but she declined to elaborate, saying an announcement is forthcoming.

Among her accomplishments are a Pulitzer Prize in 1931 and a Nobel Prize for Literature in 1938, both for her masterpiece, "The Good Earth," a story detailing the rise to power of a Chinese peasant.

She is the only woman ever to win the Nobel literature award.

Miss Buck spent her first 17 years in China with her missionary parents. She then came to this country but returned to China as a Presbyterian missionary in 1914 and remained there until 1935.

Besides her writings, she takes immense pride and joy in two of her major vocations, the Pearl S. Buck Foundation and Welcome House.

The foundation will begin in August a new division which will arrange international adoptions for "Amerasians"—children born to American soldiers and foreign women.

"We now have offices in six countries and we're proceeding further with in-country adoptions," she explained.

Tornado Spares Pampa

Thunderstorms hit sections of the Panhandle again Friday night and Saturday morning, producing a twister spotted about three miles south of Pampa.

Tornado warnings for Gray, Wheeler and Hemphill Counties were issued for a period Saturday morning while most people in the area slept.

The National Weather Service lifted the warnings before dawn. They also cancelled a severe thunderstorm warning for Gray County, issued after the tornado warning was withdrawn.

No damages or other funnels were reported.

Showers that hit Pampa left 45 inch of rain, bringing the year's total to 7.74 inches with 2.06 inches falling in June to date.

Summer weather hovered over the city Saturday, with temperatures in the low 90s and partly cloudy skies. Scattered thundershowers were still in the forecast for last night.

Pleasant weather prevailed across most of the state Saturday with only a few showers noted in the Red River Valley during the morning and near Paris. Skies were mostly clear in most sections.

Temperatures were expected to remain warm today with a few widely scattered showers in the Panhandle area and northwest portions of North Central Texas.

Hams Join Field Day Operations

About 20 local ham radio operators took to the fields yesterday to participate in the annual Field Day operations, sponsored nationally by the American Radio Relay League.

With three radio stations set up on the Billy J. Davis Ranch three miles southeast of Lefors, the hams are in the process of trying to contact other amateur radio operators throughout the world.

The group began operations at 1 p.m. Saturday and will continue until 1 p.m. today.

About 12,000 operators in the United States and Canada are expected to compete in the Field Day exercises. Groups of from one to 18 complete radio stations are competing against groups of comparable size to see who can contact the highest number of stations.

Calvin Barbaree, director of the local group, said he expects the Pampa group to establish about 1000 contacts before they end operations this afternoon.

The members are working in shifts for the 24 consecutive hours of the annual exercise. Operating without commercial power, the local group is using gasoline-driven electrical generators, with each station using about 200 watts of input power.

The information of logged contacts will be sent to the American Radio Relay League, Barbaree said. The results of the contest will be sent out within six months.

The tests are conducted to simulate conditions that result when various disasters would cut off regular electrical power. The exercises help the groups to be prepared to meet the needs in case of an actual disaster.

The local group is combining the exercise with a campout and picnic, with tents and cots set up and picnic food and drinks provided.

Operators from Nova Scotia to Hawaii and from the Yukon to Puerto Rico are involved in the contest. Although the Field Day participants are from Canada and the United States, they are trying to contact stations in other parts of the world also.

Field Day has been conducted annually since 1933, except during World War II.

The Pampa Amateur Station operates under the call letters WTSV.

Wheeling, Dealing May Vanish From 1972 Democratic Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wheeler-dealer power brokers who have traded blocs of delegates in backrooms for favors rendered or expected and picked most Democratic presidential nominees are likely to be punchless strangers at this year's convention.

The combination of party reform moves and the surprising political expertise of George S. McGovern are going to make this convention unlike any ever seen before. And when it's over, the old style politics could be buried for good.

All this means that the public watching on home television screens needs to learn a whole new set of rules and expectations if it is going to understand any of what it sees.

In the first place, the old power brokers are more broke than powerful these days. A lot of them couldn't even win seats to the convention. And those who will be there, will have only fractured remnants of their former followings.

There will be new faces in unprecedented number when the convention opens in Miami Beach on July 10. Almost 90 per cent of the delegates will be attending their first national political convention.

The 10 to 15 per cent repeater rate compares to a normal figure of at least 35 per cent.

This is due in part to the reform rules which have opened the selection process and made it easier for rank-and-file Democrats to become convention delegates.

But it is equally attributable to the work of McGovern and others, like Rep. Shirley Chisholm, who has seen to it that their supporters were out in force every time even small party groups met to conduct party business.

There was no chance for a handful of party regulars and professionals to fix things their own way; they were outgunned at almost every turn.

The new rules also brought other statistical changes by requiring certain balances. Of the delegates certified to the national committee so far about one-third are women, compared to only 13 per cent four years ago. About 20 per cent will be under age 30, against 4 per cent in 1968. Some 15 per cent so far are black, about three times the 1968 number.

In the old days, delegates in large part went as units in delegations handpicked by the top party leaders in their state.

Texas had the "unit rule" which allowed the delegation leader to take a captive group bound to vote however he did. But this year, the Texas delegation is split four ways with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and McGovern—neither the favorite of the traditional party movers—sharing most of the votes.

Convention Campsites Perplexing Miami City

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Protest organizations hoping to bring thousands of nondelegates here during the political conventions refused Saturday to accept two campsites outside Miami Beach. They called a discuss emergency meeting to set a strategy.

The move came in the wake of Miami Beach City Council's refusal Friday to provide live-in campsites and an offer by Miami and Dade County to allocate camp grounds on Watson Island and Haulover Beach, several miles from Convention Hall.

"None of the groups will accept Watson Island or Haulover Beach," said Jeff Nightbyrd, spokesman for the Youth International party. "We will continue to press for a realistic campsite."

Nightbyrd said the meeting had been called of representatives of the Yippies, Zippies, and the Black Panthers, who are black, about three times the 1968 number.

President Moved By Ruin, Misery

By ARTHUR EVERETT
Associated Press Writer

Debris-laden rivers crested at their highest peaks in years Saturday and new sectors of eight eastern states were menaced by the downstream surge of their angry, coffee-colored waters.

Behind, a toll of death and destruction mounted in more than 100 flooded communities, many now threatened by pestilence.

On a flight into the stricken area for a first hand look, President Nixon was moved by the vast panorama of ruin and misery to exclaim: "It's a devastated area."

The death toll stood at 98. But as waters receded in upstream areas, more bodies were being discovered. Helicopters still were picking survivors from roofs and tree tops.

The sun peeked out between the lowering clouds for the first time in days, but week-long rains still fell intermittently on some flooded sections. They began with the advent of Tropical Storm Agnes.

New crises continued to arise. State police relaying sketchy telephone information said smoking was prohibited in downtown Lock Haven, Pa., and electricity cut off after two 10,000-gallon gasoline tanks were ruptured and their contents spread atop flood waters. Explosions were feared.

Damage estimates stood well above $1 billion, in one of the most extensive floods in the nation's history.

In Virginia, officials said it might take two months just to clear away debris so rebuilding could begin. At least 200,000 acres of farm land was destroyed in that state.

Hardest hit of all was Pennsylvania, where 250,000 persons were driven from their homes in what the state government called "undoubtedly the worst disaster in the history of the state."

Drinking water was rationed to many.

Meanwhile, typhoid serum was flown into flooded areas threatened by epidemics.

Fires flared but there was no way to fight them since fire equipment was floodbound.

Ham operators, Red Cross mobile radio units and radio station transmitters were the only link for many communities to the outside world, with telephone service knocked out over a wide patchwork pattern.

The ebbing of fetid upstream floodwaters bared a crazy quilt pattern of destruction. Debris lay everywhere, with homes afloat or in collapse, cars upended, mobile house trailers twisted and smashed lumber strewn about.

More ominous was the possibility that the receding rivers might expose an even greater loss of life. In the Corning, N.Y., area rescue workers found eight previously unreported bodies, and pressed on in search of more.

"This is the worst I've seen," said Pennsylvania's Gov. Milton J. Shapp, on a helicopter flight over his stricken state.

For some, the passing of the river crests brought blessed relief. Pittsburgh escaped largely unscathed by the might of the flooding Ohio River. A sandbag dike between Washington's Lincoln Memorial and Washington Monument stood as a symbol of a successful fight against the historic Potomac's floodwaters.

But downstream along the Ohio, the Susquehanna and other rivers that lace the green and fertile East there were portents of new trouble, as residents evacuated their homes in advance of the crests.

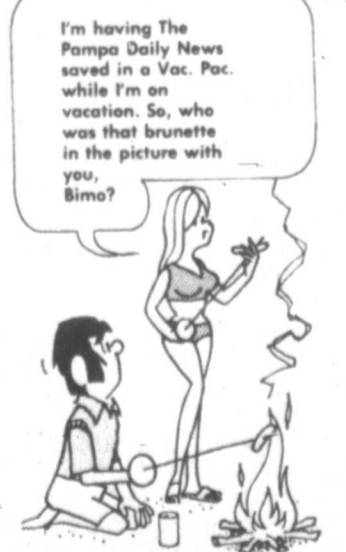

Residents of New Cumberland, W.Va., spent the night evacuating their homes as the Ohio rose to 43.2 feet.

Also in the path of the Ohio's cresting waters lay the city of Wheeling, W.Va. Residents of a densely populated island in midstream moved their belongings to upper floors, forewarned of a possible 47-to-48-foot flood crest, highest in eight years.

President Nixon flew from Camp David, Md., for a helicopter survey of flood areas in Maryland and Pennsylvania—two of five states he had designated as disaster areas, insuring them massive federal aid. The others were New York, Virginia and Florida.

The chief executive's helicopter landed at a high school football field in Harrisburg, Pa., a capital isolated. More than 7,000 of its 68,000 inhabitants have been driven from their homes and flood waters of the Susquehanna advanced in downtown areas at the rate of a city block every two hours. Water had risen to the second floor of Gov. Shapp's evacuated mansion.

"We think we have troubles," Nixon told one group of refugees. "We see people like you and we realize we don't have any troubles at all."

Demo Committee Approves Sweeping Reform Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweeping reform proposal designed to give the Democratic party a broad national base and solid financing was approved by the Rules Committee Saturday for presentation to the national convention.

The plan, rewritten in the committee by supporters of Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota to reduce the influence of existing party organizations, faces stiff opposition in Miami Beach from party regulars.

An alternate proposal, calling for further study and no action on any reform for at least two years, will be put before the convention in the form of a minority report from the Rules Committee. It has the backing of many state party leaders.

The Rules Committee, completing preparations for the July 10 convention and laying plans for the 1976 convention, took these other actions:

—Nominated a black woman, Yvonne Braithwaite of Los Angeles, to be vice chairman of the Miami Beach convention. Larry O'Brien, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will be chairman.

—Voted to eliminate winner-take-all presidential primaries by adopting a resolution that would divide a state's or district's delegates among the presidential candidates in proportion to their vote.

Money Missing From Residence

The Ralph Busse family, 1923 Holly, returned from a ball game Friday night to find $25 in small bills and coins missing from the children's bedroom.

According to the official police report, entry was gained through a door leading from the garage which was open. It was suspected to be the work of a child who might have known about the money, according to the police account.

The incident is under investigation.

C-C Events Still Needs More Funds

The "three-in-one" fund to finance Pampa's July 4th Independence Day Program, U.S. Highway 60, and Panhandle Playground Association was still in need of contributions Saturday.

The traditional July Fourth celebration which includes a free fireworks display will be at Recreation Park on the evening of July 4. The program will feature western games and contests, including Pony Express and Chuck-Wagon races, directed by Andy Smith and Richard Guggisberg. This portion of the program will start at 7:30 p.m.

The Kwahadi Indian Dancers of Amarillo will follow the western games with a demonstration of colorful Indian dances. Thirty-five members will compose the dance group.

The formal "Honor America" Independence Day Program, with Chamber president Roy Sparkman presiding, will begin at 9 p.m. with presentation of the colors by the Gray County 4-H Riding Club.

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan will give the Independence Day address, followed by a big fireworks program produced by the Burnett Fireworks Co. of Enid, Okla., and fired by the Pampa fire department.

Nearly 90 local business firms and individuals already have made contributions to the special fund to make possible the programs, but additional contributions are needed to raise the 3-fund quota of $1,400. Contributions should be mailed to the Chamber of Commerce, Box 1942, Pampa, Texas 79065.

Criminal Justice Grant Made

AUSTIN — Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, Amarillo, was one of 26 regional and metropolitan area planning councils awarded criminal justice planning grants for fiscal 1973 by Gov. Preston Smith this past week. Amount was $29,300.

The awards, totaling $793,718, will come from the Criminal Justice Council, which oversees statewide law enforcement planning and administers funds from the U.S. Department of Justice for crime control projects in Texas.

The Panhandle grant will be used in implementing action projects outlined in previous plans and in updating the comprehensive five-year criminal justice plan for the 25 counties of the Panhandle State Planning Region.

Present efforts to upgrade law enforcement in the region include peace officer training, upgrading technical equipment for law enforcement agencies, improving communications and providing aids to courts and prosecutors.

Canadian Plans Fourth Of July Celebration

CANADIAN—The annual Fourth of July celebration begins here July 2 which is the first of three days of rodeo performances but the main event will be the parade at 11 a.m. July 4.

Deadline for float entries in the parade will be June 30.

There will be prizes in seven categories: commercial, church and civic club, antique cars, comedy and novelty, riding clubs and horse or mule-drawn wagons. First prize will be $15 and second, $10.

For the youngsters, there will be a turtle race and a greased pig race.

Barbecue will be served at noon and a watermelon feast in the evening.

IADCE Executive Believes 1972 Oil Drilling Will Surpass 1971 By Substantial Margin

HOUSTON (AP) — The 1972 outlook for domestic oil and gas drilling activity remains encouraging.

Warren L. Baker, executive vice president of the International Association of Drilling Contractors, says it now seems certain 1972 operations will surpass 1971 by a substantial margin.

"As long as there are more rigs working than in the preceding year, the outlook will represent an improvement over the steady and sometimes drastic decrease which has characterized U.S. drilling since 1965," Baker says.

The first five months of 1972 had an average of 1,050 rotary drilling rigs in operation. This is 163 rigs or 18 per cent above the comparable year earlier period.

Early June reports also offer encouragement. Activity sometimes drops a bit during June months but the first three weekly reports for the month indicated an upward trend for active rigs, the average climbing from 1,022 to 1,042, to 1,062.

Baker says the weekly average this year has been under 1,000 in only two weeks, with a 988 average reported April 14 and a 994 average on May 15.

"This was a marked improvement over 1971, when there were five weeks with less than 950 rigs, 11 weeks with less than 900 rigs working, and four weeks with less than 850 rigs," he said.

"The lowest point in 1971 was 814 rigs active on March 13, while the smallest number in 1972 was the 988 on April 4. There is a good chance that this figure will hold as the lowest level of 1972."

Baker says every month so far this year and four of the last five months of 1971 topped the averages for the previous year.

"Thus, nine of the last 20 months have had greater rig activity than a year ago," he said. "The lone exception was December, which fell short by only one rig."

The trends are particularly encouraging in that the long decline referred to by Baker saw only 28,835 domestic well completions in 1971 compared with a record 58,160 in 1956.

The 1972 trends have resulted in not only greater rig activity but more well completions and more footage being drilled.

"During the first four months of this year, 9,222 new wells were drilled, an increase of nearly nine per cent over the 8,480 drilled the same months last year and almost on a parity with 1970 volumes," Baker reports.

C-C Members To Get Prizes At Luncheon

Reports on Chamber of Commerce projects during the summer months and awarding of prizes to winning teams in the recent membership drive will highlight Monday's chamber luncheon in Coronado Inn.

Roy Sparkman, chamber president, said the Monday meeting will be the last monthly luncheon until September.

New members are especially urged to attend the luncheon tomorrow, Sparkman said.

LOVING MEMORIES
Your gentle face and patient smile with sadness we recall. Your loving smile, your gentle face and died beloved by all. The voice is mute and stilled the heart.

That loved as well and true. Ah, bitter was the trail to part. From one so good as you. You are not forgotten loved on. With a cherry smile and a wave of hand. He has wandered into an unknown land. And left us dreaming how very fair it needs must be, since he lingers there.

To think of him faring on as dear. In the love of there as the love of Thee. Think of him still as the same and say. He is not dead, he is just away.

Kidnap Suspect Gives Self Up To Authorities

ENNIS, Tex. (AP) — A man sought in connection with the kidnaping of a teen-age girl surrendered Saturday afternoon to authorities.

The man, identified as Carl Hughes, 31, hid at the home of a relative after fleeing from a patrol car.

Police said the patrol car chased Hughes' car shortly after a teen-age girl was forced into a car occupied by another man earlier Saturday.

Hughes' car stopped and he fled after the girl was released, officers said.

The girl and the other man were not identified.

He was located later in the home of a relative and surrendered to police after a minister went into the house and convinced him to give up.

He was charged with kidnaping before Justice of the Peace L.J. Emmert.

Police said Hughes also has federal robbery charges pending against him and had spent some time in a California prison.

Marijuana Suspect Arrested

An unidentified suspect was lodged in jail following his arrest at 8:25 p.m. Friday on suspicion of marijuana possession.

Officer Bryan Stafford checked a vehicle speeding on North Starkweather and stopped it at Starkweather and Garland streets. The driver could not produce a valid Texas drivers license, according to the official report of the incident, and was placed under arrest.

During the routine "pat-down" a bulge in a boot of the suspect was checked for a small weapon. Instead, a medicine vial was produced containing the suspected marijuana.

The man was then taken to jail.

Car Occupants Sought By Police

A search is on for the occupants of a late model green sedan following their failure to pay for $4.97 worth of gasoline at a local service station.

Employees of Richards Mobil Service, 1200 N. Hobart notified police immediately after the incident at 8:15 p.m., Friday.

The owner of the firm named a suspect, according to the official report, telling police the man asked to buy a tail pipe from the salvage vehicle. He was loaned a jack to remove the pipe and removed the wheel in the process.

Shortly after the customer paid for the part and left, the wheel and tire were missed.

Police are checking out the incident.

Social Security Facing First Major Changes Since 1935

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security bill now being prepared for Senate debate will make the most important changes in retirement levels since the system first was set up in 1935.

Congressional supporters say enactment of the legislation will mean for the first time that Social Security will pay monthly benefits which will assure a good life for the elderly.

The payments could go as high as $2,000 a month in 21st-century dollars for a young person just now starting to work who reaches 65 about 43 years from now.

In the early years of the system after it was signed into law by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, payments were so small officials described them merely as a base of support for the aged.

But Social Security levels have been moving upward steadily in recent years, climaxed by a burst of activity since 1970.

In January, 1970, a 15 per cent hike took effect and, a year later, an additional 10 per cent was granted.

The bill to come before the Senate in mid-July is certain to contain at least another 10 per cent, which the Finance Committee has approved. But it seems more likely to be 20 per cent since 64 of the 100 senators have endorsed the higher figure.

In another provision there would be an adjustment in benefits and taxes every time the price index rises 3 per cent.

Taking into account all these factors the Social Security Administration was asked to calculate what benefits would be in 2015 for a young person starting to work now at age 22 and retiring at 65 after paying maximum Social Security taxes each year of his life.

It was assumed that prices would advance 2 1/2 per cent each year and wage levels by 5 per cent.

An individual who worked through his life under the $10,200 wage base—the amount of annual earnings on which taxes would be paid—would get $1,990 a month or $2,985 for a couple under the proposed 10 per cent increase.

For an individual who worked through his life under a $12,000 base, the amount needed to finance the 20 per cent across-the-board increase, the answer was, that his benefits would be $2,360 a month, or $3,540 for a couple.

These startling figures compare with present average payments of $133 for individuals, $223 for couples.

The maximum payment which an individual can receive who retires this year is $216. A young person who started work this year and retired in 2015 would get $295 under present law.

Inflation obviously would take a toll of the sharply higher future payments the bill would provide.

However, the Social Security Administration figured that, even in constant 1972 dollars, the monthly check for a person who worked a lifetime under the $12,000 base and with the 20 per cent increase would be worth $735. This compares with the $2,360 he would receive in 2015 dollars.

The taxes to finance these payments also would go up but not in the same proportion.

The maximum levy this year each for a worker and employer is 4.8 per cent, if a 5.2 per cent rate is applied against a $9,000 base.

Next year, under the Senate Committee bill, the maximum tax would be 5.81. By the year 2011, it would be up to 7.54 as the bill's provisions stand now but this does not take into account automatic adjustments which would be made to finance the cost-of-living raises.

With a $12,000 base, if that is adopted on the Senate floor, the tax would be $684 next year using the same 5.7 per cent rate for 1973 adopted by the Finance Committee.

Social Security Administration experts said that, assuming a $12,000 wage base finally is included in the bill for 1973, the wage base could reach $85,200 in 2015.

Such a wage base, with the 7.4 per cent tax rate starting in 2011 under the Senate bill, would mean annual taxes of $6,304 each for the employe and employer in 2015.

Only a few persons would pay such taxes because few would have such earnings.

Social Security and Finance Committee officials said they could not give a figure for total taxes over working lifetime of a worker starting employment in 1973.

They said the cost-of-living adjustment introduces too many variables and that one, population growth, is hard to predict.

Highland General Has LVN School

By JUDITH KITTO
Highland General Hospital has three teams of nurses who work together in order to give the best possible care to its patients. The most skilled on the nursing staff is the Registered Nurse, who has from two to four years training and serves in a supervisory capacity throughout the hospital.

The Nurse Aide goes through a 40-hour training period in order to assist the Registered Nurse and the Licensed Vocational Nurse with their duties.

The Licensed Vocational Nurse has 12 months training in the particular nursing skills needed for patient care. Highland General Hospital has its own Licensed Vocational Nursing School. Started seven years ago, the school has one graduating class each year. Under the direction of instructor Mrs. Jackie Hartgrove, R.N. there are presently 13 students enrolled in the L.V.N. program.

The students have classes in anatomy, mental health, first aid, personal vocational adjustments, vocational skills, geriatrics, obstetrics, newborn care, nutrition, pharmacology, pediatrics, microbiology, and medical and surgical nursing.

Classes begin in early fall for the L.V.N. student. After 17 weeks of intensive study, known as the pre-clinical period, students receive their caps. Then they work on the floors and attend class one day a week. Supervised by the R.N.'s, students get actual experience for the next 8 months until their graduation exercises in September.

After graduation, they must make application for State Board Examinations which are given in Austin. If the student passes the examination, she is then a Licensed Vocational Nurse.

The L.V.N. School takes applications for classes in March and April of each year. The applications are processed and selected by a school board composed of two doctors, the hospital administrator, director of nursing service, and the class instructor. Approximate cost of the 12-month training program is $350.00 which includes books, uniforms, etc.

The fall class of 1972 has reached its quota but those interested in attending the L.V.N. School should call the hospital in order to make application for next year's class.

Twirling Lessons
Baton twirling lessons began at the Center June 5 and are presently continuing. If you are a young person interested in twirling, you may still come by and join the classes.

Classes begin for beginners at 1:30 p.m. and then at 2:15 p.m. for the more advanced persons. Rhonda Dennis, noted high school twirler, is conducting the classes which meet on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays. The only requirement is that you must have a balanced baton and be a member of the Center.

Calico Capers Square Dance
The Center has an adult dance activity that meets each week. This is the Calico Capers square dance held on Saturday nights. They meet from 8-11 p.m. and dance to an out-of-town caller.

The Capers are always open for membership and invite all interested persons to come out on Saturday night so they can meet you and give you full details about their club. Ocie Stewart is the current club president. The Capers teach dance lessons twice a year and if you are interested in knowing how to square dance, they will be happy to furnish instructions.

Dolphin Swim Team
Boys and girls who are interested in competitive swimming should pay attention to this club. The Youth Center is the home of the Dolphins. This is a swim club for boys and girls who know how to swim and like to race. Swimmers from 6-18 are invited to participate. The club is AAU sanctioned and they attend several weekend meets during the summer months.

Swimmers are needed in all age groups to complete relay teams so that we can have relay representation at all meets. All interested swimmers are urged to contact coach Nell Carter, 665-8771 or come out for practice. The only requirement is that you be a member of the Center. Workout time is 6-7:00 p.m. on Monday thru Friday.

Summer Hours
The Center is open 8-12, 1-5 and 7-10 Monday thru Friday during the summer and 1-5 on Saturday. The pool is open 14:30 p.m. and 7-9:30 p.m. during open hours. Swim lessons are taught during the morning from 8-12:00 noon.

Memberships
There are several ways that a person may participate at the Center but the most economical one is the membership plan. By purchasing an individual or family membership you can use all of the facilities here including free swim lessons. However, we do have a daily fee for those who do not want to become members. This is $0.35 for children, $0.50 for students and $0.75 for adults.

The individual membership plan is sold to persons 8 years of age or older and costs only $5. for six months or $8. per year. The family membership which includes all members of the immediate family costs only $12 for six months or $20. a year. You may use all of the facilities on these two plans except the health facility. This is carried on a different plan.

The health club membership is called our unlimited plan. It includes all of the above facilities plus the new exercise room, all the machines, sauna, handball and racquetball courts. This is a well-equipped health facility and we have achieved a good weight program either losing or gaining.

The health facility membership costs an individual $65 for six months or $118. each year. A husband-wife combination type plan costs $90 for six months and $170 a year. We have a monthly budget plan for a six-month membership. This costs an individual $15.50 the first month and $10.50 the other 5 months. The husband-wife combination costs $23.87 the first month and $13.87 the other 5 months.

Teen Dances
The Center is presently continuing the teen dances during the summer months on Friday nights. Most dances are from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. There are some attractions that will run from 7-12:00. All dances are well chaperoned and we do not allow the teenagers to come and go. Once they are in the building, they must stay.

On June 23, July 7, and July 21 the KIXZ Caravan of Stars will provide the music. Bands on this caravan are Christopher, No. One, Black Water Draw, Friends and E.M. Cecils Band. On June 30 the big attraction of the season will be here. Mini Festival '72. Six groups including the Pipers, Resurrection, Celebration, Johnny Shell, Lonnie Turner and Poppa Jerry Belly Band.

Five years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin ended what were described as "useful talks" in Glassboro, N.J.
One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court agreed to hold a hearing on government attempts to restrain the New York Times and Washington Post from publishing secret Pentagon papers.
Today's birthdays: Lord Louis Mountbatten of Britain is 72. New Jersey Gov. William T. Cahill is 60.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL

We have had to turn to our friends in the community to help us subscribe our quota of $815. for the victims of the disaster in Rapid City, South Dakota. Thanks to all of you have sent contributions to be used in this Disaster and we believe that this time next week, our goal will be reached. Thanks to our local Radio Stations, and our Pampa Daily News for the good news stories they have given our Red Cross. Please send your contributions to the Red Cross for this disaster. We need your help!

There will be three first-aid classes beginning soon for those who need to take their Standard first aid or their multi-media first aid. Aubrey Pennington and Jim Kenemer will begin a standard first-aid class June 26 and will continue 28-30 with the last two classes in July. These classes will be held in the Red Cross office of the City Hall (remember to come into the City Hall by the Police Department door). The second class will be a multi-media first aid class and will be taught by James Dalrymple at 7 a.m. July 8 and will continue through the day. Anyone who is interested should contact the Red Cross office so that we may have enough instructors for the group. The third class will be a standard and advanced first-aid class taught by Ray Fisher at the North Fire Station beginning at 7 p.m. July 10, 12, 14, 17 and 19. Please let us know if you are planning to take this class.

Instructors for our first session for our "Learn to Swim Program" are: Mrs. James Bailey, who is teaching Intermediate and Swimmers classes; Mrs. Ralph Esson teaching Advanced Beginners classes and James Tucker who will help with the Beginner classes. Mrs. Martha Hilton is working with the Beginners, also. Thanks to all of you for helping the aides.

Douglas H. Johnson, multi-media first-aid instructor from Oklahoma City has held three classes with the following completing the course in the first class: Junior D. Ellis, Paul W. Mathews, Thomas Veale, Rufus D. Holmes, James R. Pryor, Thomas Goldsmith, John E. Beckworth, Fred Glick, and Paul Andrews. All of these men work for Skelly Oil Co. E&P Division.

The second class taught by Mr. Johnson for the Skelly Oil Co. E&P Division were: Robert Yost, Jerry Green, Johnny Achord, Lloyd Burnett, Charles McGahen, Donald Hadley, Robert Cherry, Ira Meyers, and Jesse Broome.

The third class taught by Mr. Johnson for the men in the E&P Sub-District office for Skelly Oil Co. were: Claxton Butler, Clifton Cummings, Edward Smith, Louis Rushing, Vestal Bailey, Jacob Hupp, Marvin Yell, Billy Parker, and Richard Harrell, Jr.

Mrs. Mary Nell Phillips, WSI, has completed several classes at the Pampa Youth Center Pool with the following completing their Beginner class: Byron Smith, Cincy King, Randy Adcock, Jana Buzzard, Clifford Anderson and Cherie Anderson.

Local Youth Films Plane Crash In NY

A Pampa youth took pictures of an airplane crash at the Transpo 72 exhibition in Washington, D.C. on June 4 while he was waiting to fly home.

Lynn Hart, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hart, 1323 Mary Ellen, was watching the Air Force Thunderbird when one of the planes crashed, killing the pilot.

Lynn took about 7 or 8 feet of 8-mm film of the crash and its after-effects. He had about 50 feet of the entire show.

The accident occurred on the last day of the show. The exhibition was held at Dulles Airport near Washington.

Lynn had been in Washington with "Up With People," a traveling musical group. His parents had come for the graduation. They were all watching Transpo 72 while waiting the plane home.

The Thunderbird accident was the third to mar the exhibition. Earlier in the show a racing pilot was killed in a crash and one man, being towed by a plane while he rode a giant kite, fell to the earth when the tow-line broke.

A representative of the local Air Force recruiting office saw Lynn's film and contacted Air Force officials in Fort Worth about it. To date, Lynn has not heard from the Air Force about the film.

Modern Equipment Oil Show Feature

ODESSA—Oil industry equipment of the latest design and valued in the millions of dollars will be exhibited this fall for more than 350,000 visitors at the Permian Basin Oil Show, October 18-21.

Deep within the show grounds, however, is a small corner of the past, where modern equipment of a bygone age will be shown. The "boomtown" area is only a short walk from the main exhibit area, but is a walk into the past.

The antique equipment used by those pioneer oil hunters is a mecca for amateur historians and oilmen who qualify as oldtimers. The many pieces of equipment were collected from all over West Texas and neighboring New Mexico by men who wanted to preserve the color and history of their industry.

The wooden derrick towering over the site is in its turn overshadowed by almost all of today's equipment being exhibited nearby. Despite this, the Boomtown area has a magic all its own. The huge wooden derrick, massive iron and wood walking beam, hundreds of pieces of equipment appearing to be made by hand are waiting for the thousands of people who will marvel at it.

More than 50 years ago, West Texas was a sparsely populated country that depended on the whims of nature and the cattle industry for most of its income. Roads were little more than cow trails cut haphazardly across the arid sand hills. Then oil was discovered!

The country has never been the same.

Men whose names were to become legendary in the oil industry started coming to dusty West Texas. Legends abound about those early days and the men who hunted for oil.

One of the world's most famous oil pools was found because a truck broke down in the middle of a pasture and the wildcatter had just enough money to drill the well if he started that day. Instead of trying to move the rig to the location a few miles away, the wildcatter told his crew to start drilling—right where the truck broke down. The field found by that driller almost half a century ago is still producing a limited amount of oil today.

Years later, that same wildcatter got around to drilling on the location he had planned to test originally. It was bone dry.

Use of adhesive stamps was adopted in England in 1839 and begun in 1840.

Our Men In Military

GREGORY M. WHITE
FT. SILL, OKLA. (AHTNC)—Army Private Gregory M. White, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. White, 2014 Charles, Pampa, Tex., recently completed an eight-week Pershing Missile Crewman Course at the U.S. Army Field Artillery Training Center, Ft. Sill, Okla.

During the course, he was trained in the maintenance and firing of the Pershing, a surface-to-surface, forward area troop support missile. He also learned the transportation skills required for reliable weapons deployment and the ability to assemble and arm the weapon for maximum tactical effect.

Pvt. White entered the Army last January and completed basic training at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Pvt. White, whose wife, Martha, was with him in Oklahoma, is a 1971 graduate of Pampa High School.

RICHARD C. TACKETT
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (F H T N C)—Marine Pvt. Richard C. Tackett, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.H. Lawrence of White Deer, Tex., graduated from basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego.

Mexico Trip Ends Lion Year

Mexico City June 28, where he will be joined by approximately 100 other Lions and their families from the Texas Panhandle District 2T-1.

Sackett announced earlier that the Hereford High School band had been selected as the official Texas band for the International Convention. The Hereford band is under the direction of Ben Gollehon. The city of Hereford raised $22,000 to send the 150 piece band to the International convention.

A review of the 1971-72 year of the activities of the Lions Clubs of District 2T-1 reveal that the Lions of District 2T-1 under the direction of Governor Sackett have done many things, carried many projects that have benefited the youth and adults of the Texas Panhandle as well as the youth of a number of foreign countries.

Increased activity has also brought about an increase of 10 per cent in the membership of the Lions Clubs of the district. One new Lions Club was also chartered at Nazareth. Plans have been completed to organize a number of new clubs during the coming year. At the present time every town or community with a population of 300 or more has a Lions Club.

Every Lions Club in District 2T-1 is dedicated to making the city or community in which it is located a better place to live. Lions believe in the youth of the area and in an effort to communicate with them have organized teenage "Leo Clubs" that have become as dedicated to improving the community as the adult clubs. Efforts are under way to organize Leo Clubs in every high school in the District.

MUSEUM GRANT
BROOKLYN (AP) — The Brooklyn Museum is the recipient of a $10,000 grant from the van Ameringen Foundation Inc. to assist its summer educational program.

The summer projects include the creation of a Dogon community by 20 to 30 black children who will build a granary and make Dogon masks and clothing, a still-photography workshop and a black arts seminar.

District 2T-1 Lions International sponsors the Youth Exchange Program between our area and foreign countries. At present approximately 20 boys and girls from the Texas Panhandle are on their way to a number of European countries for a six-week visit in the homes of Lions Club families in those countries. At the same time the same number of foreign teenagers are on their way to the homes of Lions Club families in District 2T-1.

Another project of the Lions of District 2T-1 is the Sight Conservation Program. A truck-load of eyeglasses has been collected during the 1971-72 Lion year and are now en route to Mexico City to join truck-loads of eyeglasses from every district throughout Lions International. These eyeglasses will be distributed by Lions International to the nearly blind in Mexico and Ethiopia during the coming months.

Lions of District 2T-1 sponsor the High Plains eye bank located in Amarillo at Northwest Texas Hospital. Thousands of Lions as well as interested people of the Texas Panhandle have signed eye donor cards willing their eyes to the eye bank program. Cornea transplants are restoring sight to an ever-increasing number of blind or partially blind each year.

The Care Program is another that benefits the youth of foreign countries. During the past year the Lions of District 2T-1 raised enough money to build a school for the children of Guatemala in Central America. This excellent program will be continued by the Lions. To Lions it is not a matter of whether Floyd Sackett, Pampa, ends his year as district governor of District 2T-1, Lions International in Mexico City July 1.

The new district governor, Raymond White, Hereford, takes the oath of office from the president of Lions International.

Governor Sackett, Mrs. Sackett and their son, Ed, left earlier this week on a vacation trip that will take them to they or the United States will receive recognition from any foreign country or from the people of any foreign country. The Lions see a need for this type of program and simply get the job done.

Girlstown USA with campuses at Borger, Whiteface and Austin, are the constant beneficiaries of the Lions of District 2T-1. Local Lions Clubs such as the Pampa clubs in addition to district support, give additional assistance through periodic contribution of dressed and packaged beef. Every girl at the Borger and Whiteface Girlstown campuses received a new coat and pair of shoes at Christmas last year. More than $7,000.00 was raised during 1971 for this purpose. Local Lions encourage non-members to join in the program. The same project will again be carried out for Christmas of 1972.

For example of what one area Lions Club does for its community, area, state and nation the Hereford Lions Club put $16,856.00 into projects that included: the Shrine Clinic, Camp Wig Wam for youth, Meals-on-Wheels, Day Care Center, Opportunity Plan, Boy Scouts, Boys Baseball, Boxing Club, Satellite School, Boys Ranch, Girlstown USA, Youth Scholarships, Young Farmers, American Field Service for Youth Exchange, Care, Inc., Pakistani Relief, Leo Club, United Fund, Eye Bank

FLOYD SACKETT

Program, Eye Glasses, Crippled Children and others.

One of the most important programs offered in Texas is the Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville. It is sponsored by all of the Lions of Texas including District 2T-1. A large number of crippled children from this area attends the camp each summer.

During 1971-72 the Lions of District 2T-1 and the other Texas Districts began a new program to aid youthful diabetics. The first cost-free diabetic clinic in the state was sponsored in District 2T-1 last year. Over 30 young diabetics from the tri-state area attended the two-day clinic in Amarillo under the direction of the finest diabetic physicians in the State.

One of the most important recognitions made by Lions of this area—and in other communities as well—goes Optimists, Kiwanis and Rotarians for similar and important work to improve the American way of life.

FOR CLEANER WATERS
NEW YORK (AP) — Contamination of recreational waters will be less with the use of new dock-mounted boat sanitary stations.

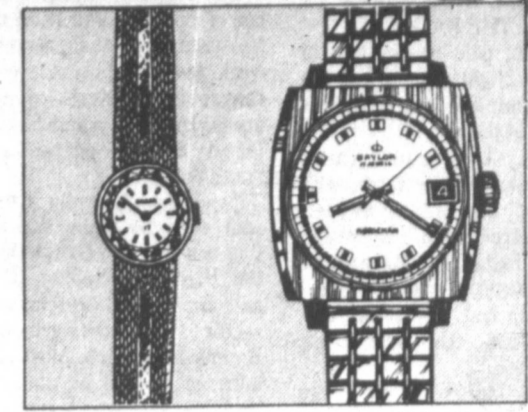

Almost all states have laws preventing the overboard dumping of sanitary wastes. This means the wastes must be collected and stored on board, until transfer to a disposal facility on shore.

To use the units newly designed by the consulting engineering firm of Pope, Evans and Robbins for the National Park Service, the pleasure boater need only dock at the station and connect a hose to a gunwale fitting on his boat. Waste is then transferred from the boat holding tank to the station holding tank by a station pump.

Then, contents of the station holding tank are either pumped to a sewage system or, in remote areas, otherwise transported to one.

The face of the Indian on the Buffalo Nickel was designed by James E. Fraser by using three Indians as models — Iron Tail, a Sioux warrior; Two Moons, a Cheyenne chief, and John Big Tree, an Onondago chief.

RECORD BOOK WORKSHOP
A county record book workshop was held Wednesday, June 14 in the Agricultural Annex. The purpose of the meeting was to receive instructions and work on complete 4-H record books which are due in our office no later than 5 p.m. July 24 in order to be eligible for 1972 County Awards. Records will be somewhat different than in the past so contact our office if you need help. Instructions for records will be mailed to each 4-H member in the near future. Those attending the workshop on June 14 were Kelly Dougal, Elaine Webb, Sarah Stallings, Jana Buzzard, Regina Atwood, Doris Carleton, Beth Smitherman, Mrs. Dora Dougal, Mrs. Eva Webb, Mrs. Marie Eastham, and Mr. and Mrs. Smitherman.

STATE 4-H ROUNDUP
The Assistant home demonstration agent and three Gray County 4-H Club girls recently returned from State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University, College Station. Gray County did a fine job in state competition and we want to congratulate these girls on their accomplishments! Joy Hollenshead, 16, of Lefors won 3rd place in the state clothing educational activity contest. Stephanie Eastham, 16, of Pampa won a blue ribbon and placed 6th in the State 4-H Food Show. Elaine Webb, 14, of Lefors participated in the home educational activity. We are very proud of these girls' and their participation.

FASHION SEMINAR
Gray, Hemphill, Wheeler, and Collingsworth Counties Extension Service sponsored a 4-H Fashion Seminar Friday, June 16 at 2 p.m. in the Agricultural Annex in Pampa. The theme of the seminar was "Today's Girl—Fashion, Face, and Figure." Mr. Ros Bell, Fashion Coordinator for Colbert's in Amarillo discussed and showed fashion trends for fall. Mrs. Louise Box, owner of Pampa College of Hairdressing presented the program on grooming and Miss Terry Jo Reynolds, a 4-H member from Canyon and a part-time model gave modeling instruction and helped the girls with their modeling. Attending the seminar were 4-H members, leaders, and parents from Gray, Wheeler, Hemphill, Collingsworth and Potter Counties.

Rain Boosts Crops

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Summer came in style this week as temperatures soared past the 100-degree mark in a number of locations. Rain showers continued to fall in a few areas although a number of counties still need rain. Moisture from the preceding week gave a big boost to crops, ranges and pastures in many areas; however, rains have delayed harvest operations in South Texas.

Crops are generally growing well over the state, and planting is moving to completion on the High and Rolling Plains, said Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Most of the acreage still to be planted is dryland. The small grain harvest continued active except where delayed by rains. Small grain yields are generally good on the High Plains.

Peanut planting is still active in East and Central Texas. Hay making continues across Texas with second and third cuttings in progress. Rain is needed in some eastern counties to boost additional cuttings. Hay is plentiful and of good quality in many counties.

The peach harvest is gaining momentum as it moves northward over the state, noted Hutchison. Most of the crop is of good quality with good yields. The pecan crop is also progressing well in most areas. Ranges and pastures got a big boost from recent rains. Cattle marketings are heavy in some sections where grazing is still short.

Western Pleasure: Janet Smith 1st, Sue Smith 2nd, Patsy Kelley 3rd, Kim Morrow 4th, Virginia Herrington 5th, Molly Jines 6th.

Reigning: Sue Smith 1st, Lisa Hale 2nd, Joe Richardson 3rd, Mike Benson 4th, Janet Smith 5th, Kim Morrow 6th.

The Extension Service director pointed out that insects are beginning to build up on grain sorghum and cotton in central and southern areas. And screw-worms are plaguing livestock across the state with the month of June a certainty to set the all-time record for the number of cases for that month since 1962, the first year of the Screwworm Eradication Program. Cases were confirmed in 15 new counties during the week ending June 17.

District agricultural agents report the following conditions in their respective areas of the state.

PANHANDLE: Although a few areas still need moisture, recent rains have boosted crop and range conditions. Some rains were accompanied by damaging hail in a few counties. Harvesting of hay and wheat was also delayed. Grain sorghum and corn are making good progress with planting of dryland grain sorghum underway. Some corn leaf aphids and greenbugs are infesting grain sorghum. Marketing of livestock is increasing as wheat grazing is about over.

SOUTH PLAINS: Cotton is making good progress except in a few areas where hail destroyed stands, noted Billy C. Gunter, Lubbock. Some replanting is underway. Dryland cotton is also being planted in the southern part of the area. Planting of grain sorghum is complete and the crop is growing rapidly. Vegetable crops are making good progress, and pastures and ranges look good due to recent rains.

ROLLING PLAINS: Rains from the preceding week gave a big boost to the moisture situation over the area. Cotton planting is about complete with most of the crop up and making good growth. Insect damage is still minor. Planting of grain sorghum ranges from 50 to 100 percent complete. Early plantings are heading. Peanut planting is complete.

NORTH CENTRAL: All crops are still in need of rain although scattered showers have brought some relief. Planting of cotton and grain sorghum is virtually complete as in the small grain harvest. Peanut planting continues. Pecans are making good growth but there is some casebearer damage.

Support End Serious

COLLEGE STATION — There will have to be many more mouths to feed before farm production can go unchecked by government income support programs.

Dr. Clive R. Harston, a specialist in agricultural policy in the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Texas A&M University, said he can see no way that farm production can be turned loose without "serious consequences" in the immediate future.

"Ever since the Agricultural Adjustment Act in the New Deal days of the 1930's, farmers have been receiving some kind of income support payment from the government to keep them from over-producing and flooding the market with surplus crops and livestock."

Harston added that for almost an identical length of time, these programs have been sharply criticized for, as many have put it, "paying farmers not to produce."

"Some are contending today that by releasing production restrictions, the inevitable drop in food prices would bring about a necessary adjustment—painful, but necessary. But such an occurrence would also mean the elimination of the inefficient, and ultimately the survival of only the large-scale commercial enterprises."

"Of course," he continued, "only those who predict their ability to survive such an adjustment advocate the complete removal of price supports and supply control."

But even if such a step were taken, Harston said, the end result would make the need for farm production controls not less, but greater. Currently, there are 60 million acres—a fifth of the nation's total cropland—being diverted from production by various government income support programs. If these lands were put back into use, Harston estimated that total production might be increased by at least 10 to 12 percent.

"And the resulting impact would not fall evenly over all farm produce, but would greatly affect only a few vital crops," he said. For example, while an end to support programs would do little to alter the price of beef, fruit, or vegetables it would drastically reduce the price of wheat, corn and cotton.

A case in point is the current low in corn prices due to an oversupply of corn from the 1971 crop.

Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Nearly all of Texas Below Normal Rainfall During February, March, April... Texas Farm Prices Show Gain... Sheep On Feed Up 61 Per Cent... Red Meat Production Down 7 Per Cent...

Only the southern tip of Texas had rainfall above normal during February, March and April, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes. Rains in the Lower Valley were 123 per cent of normal. The Dalhart area had only 15 per cent of normal for the three months.

During May, the Trans-Pecos area had the lowest rainfall total with 1.24 inches. The upper coastal areas had the largest rainfall in May with slightly more than nine inches.

Crops generally throughout the state were making good growth. Wheat harvest is speeding up; oat harvest more than two-thirds complete. Grain sorghum harvest will soon be in full swing.

FARM PRICES are up 15 per cent from a year ago. Farm parity at 73 per cent, however, still means that agriculture is more than one-fourth below the rest of the economy.

All poultry and eggs were down from a month ago with the exception of chickens and broilers which were unchanged. All poultry and eggs were the same or down compared to a year ago. Wool and mohair were above last month and a year ago.

WHEAT HARVEST
Most of the dryland wheat has been harvested. Yields were much better than expected. Wheeler Grain reports yields ran between 15 and 20 bushels per acre. Some late grazed wheat yielded only 10 bushels. Keep in mind this is harvested acres. Many farmers turned in on their wheat the grazed it out when dry weather persisted.

Panhandle Water

BY FELIX W. RYALS
The make-up of the 1973 Texas legislature could have far reaching effects on the efforts to find solutions for the water problems facing Texas. Many of the senators and representatives are being replaced by new faces. Many of the new legislators are not familiar with the detailed effort of the water authorities during past twenty years. The hold over legislators are going to have to work very hard to get the message across to the new ones that our water problems are genuine.

RESEARCH IN MICHIGAN
Water researchers at Western Michigan University have demonstrated that 97 per cent of the water used in paper manufacturing can be successfully recycled. During the past year, the research team of Western Michigan made a detailed survey of 35 paper mills. The survey revealed that most of the 35 mills have improved their water recycling factor to 70 per cent of the original water used. A few of the mills included in the survey had been able to recycle more than 80 per cent.

WATER AS SOCIAL PLANNER
The news comes to us from the State of Colorado that water may be used as a tool for social planning. The Colorado Environmental Commission has prepared and sent to that state's General Assembly recommendations of a number of legislative moves which, if enacted, would make water management the key control for future social planning in Colorado.

The Water Conservation Districts on the High Plains of West Texas have made great progress during the past five years in convincing irrigation farmers and other users of water to make a wiser use of this precious commodity. Each irrigation season finds more irrigation farmers installing tail-water recovery systems. Two young Carson County irrigation farmers are among the latest group to put in tail-water recovery systems and connect them to their underground systems.

Larry Stovall and Jerry Hawkins of Panhandle are the proud owners of very fine tail-water systems. Stovall's tail-water system is located west of Panhandle and joins U.S. Highway 60. The two young farmers received expert advice and assistance from the Soil and Water Conservation District staff.

Three-dollar gold pieces, coined until 1889, were introduced in 1854 to facilitate postal transactions when the letter rate was made 3 cents.

Scouting Around

I'LL TAKE YOU THERE--With the warm sun beaming down on the Camp M.K. Brown area, a group of Scouts, accompanied by one of the assistant instructors, head down to the lake for swimming activities.

The days of summer are here, the favorite season of the year for most boys. And particularly for the Scouts who get to attend camp.

Area Boy Scouts have the opportunity to visit Camp M.K. Brown, located east of Mobeetie, for a week during the summer sessions.

Camping out in tents during their stay from Sunday to Saturday, the boys get a chance to practice skills they have learned during the year or to develop new ones.

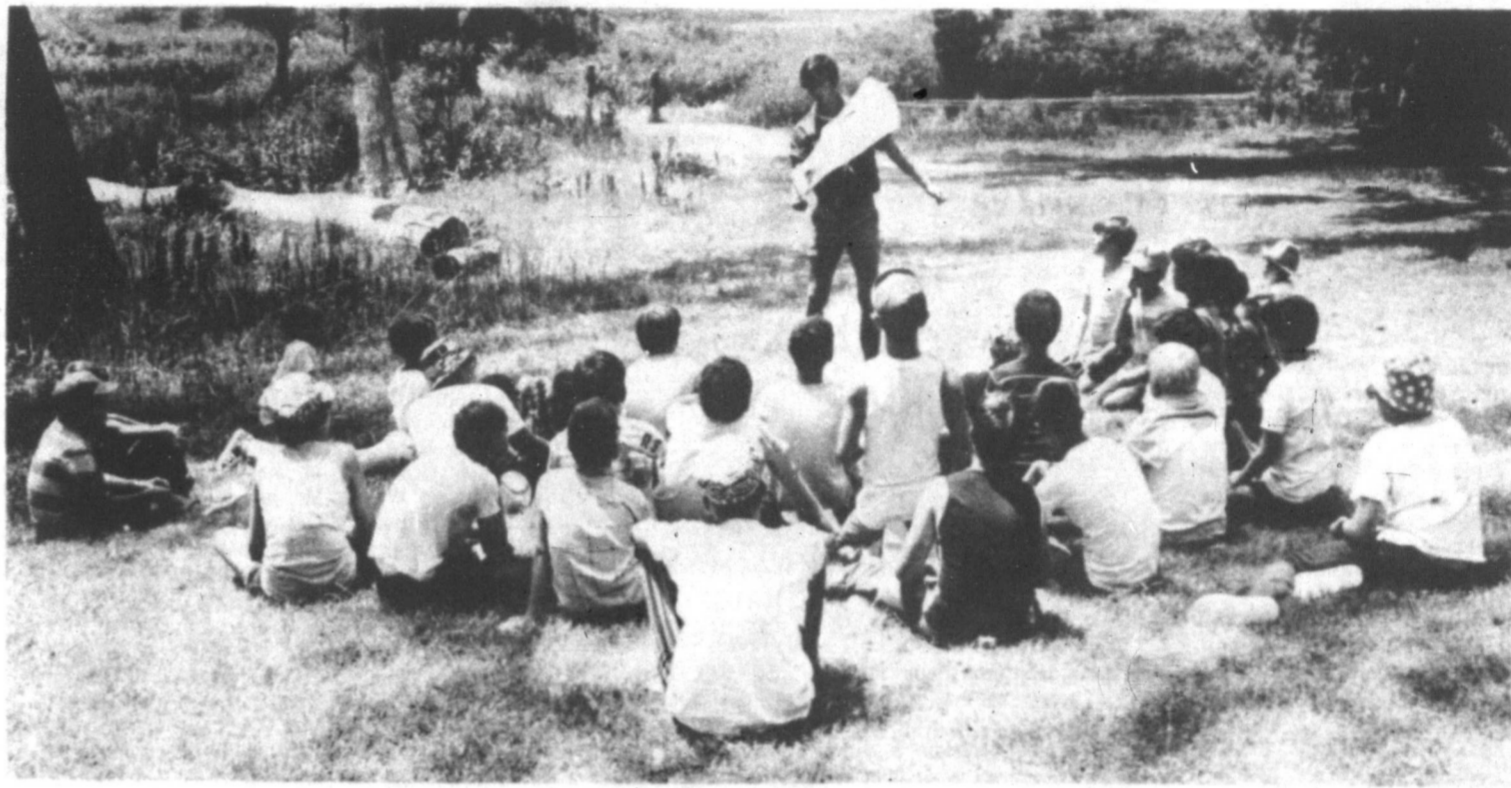

Among the activities available at the camp are hiking, swimming, fishing and boating. Classes are conducted in aquatics, archery, rifle use, signal communications, use of the ax, and use of ropes and knots.

But there are times for just relaxation--sleeping, carving, writing letters, taking a quiet walk or just talking with friends.

The last session at Camp M.K. Brown begins today--until next summer.

EYE ON THE TARGET--Conner Hicks, program director of field sports, of Pampa, instructs a group in the use of the .22 rifle at the camp's rifle range.

WAVING THE FLAG--Jerry Gilliland, 17, of Borger, directs a class in semaphore, a system of visual signaling with flags.

NOW PULL BACK--Sonny Sanders, 18, of Pampa, teaches Barry Smith, 9, of Pampa, the techniques of archery.

IN THE SHADE--Scott Hudson, 11, of Sallisaw, Okla., relaxes under a tree while braiding with gimp during a break in activities.

KEEPING IT COOL--With a small lake available on the camp grounds, the boys have the opportunity to improve their swimming skills. While one boy jumps into the water, the others cling to a log.

THE LAST ONE THERE--Heading down the trail, a group of Scouts run to get ready for the next activity in the day's schedule.

Double-Ring Ceremony Unites Linda Jarrard, Jack W. Hall

Miss Linda Kay Jarrard became the bride of Jack W. Hall at 6 p.m. Saturday, June 24, in the First Baptist Church of Pampa.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jarrard, 2124 N. Christy, Pampa and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Grady Hall of Bovina.

THE CEREMONY

Rev. J.R. Manning of the First Baptist Church of Kermit officiated at the double-ring service. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, played traditional wedding music. Miss Cheryl Richardson sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The couple was married before an altar setting of brass candelabra with citron-yellow tapers, accented with salal foliage, complemented by matching pedestal bouquets of white gladioli and large yellow chrysanthemums.

Clusters of salal foliage decorated the choir rail. Family pews were marked with white pompons, salal foliage and yellow ribbon.

THE BRIDE

The bride was given in marriage by her father, with the "her mother and I" avowal. She wore a formal gown of silk organza over bridal taffeta, designed with an empire waistline and a Victorian neckline, highlighted with a ruffle of English net. The fitted bodice was styled with a Chantilly lace overlay forming a plastron in front and back. Seed pearls and crystal beads were embroidered on the bodice and long full sleeves that ended at the wrists in deep lace cuffs, edged with ruffles.

Her A-line skirt, accented at the hemline with scalloped lace, swept to a full fullness that ended in a back chapel train. Her chapel-length veil of illusion, embroidered with lace appliques, fell from a Camelot coil of lace, embroidered with seed pearls and crystal beads. She carried a cascade bouquet of white daisy pompons, yellow sweetheart roses, and white pixie carnations.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Linda Browder was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Laura Childers of Slaton and Miss Patti Suttle of Del City, Oklahoma, cousin of the bride.

All wore identical gowns of candlelight organza, styled with bodices of Irish lace, shallow necklines and puffed sleeves. Their softly-gathered skirts were accented by two lace pockets. A self-fabric ruffle outlined the pockets and encircled the sleeves and neckline.

Their headpieces were silk flower clusters with matching shoulder-length veils. They carried Colonial nosegays of yellow carnations and daisies, accented with green leaves and yellow streamers.

Angie Browder, flower girl, wore a dress similar to those of the bridesmaids, with a yellow encircling the empire waistline. Her headpiece was a band of yellow carnation, and she carried a white basket with yellow streamers.

Jeff Suttle of Del City,

MRS. JACK W. HALL
...nee Linda Kay Jarrard

Oklahoma, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer. He carried the rings on a white satin pillow with yellow ribbon streamers.

Candlelighters were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jarrard, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. Mrs. Jarrard wore the same ensemble as the bridesmaids.

Serving as best man was Grady Steve Sherrill of Bovina, and groomsmen were Roy Mayhew of Gruver, cousin of the bridegroom, and Gerry Hallman of Lubbock. Ushers were Grady James of Ponca City, Oklahoma, and Greg Suttle of Del City Oklahoma, both cousins of the bride.

Honorary guests of the bride, members of Alpha Delta Pi sorority at West Texas State University, wore floor-length azure-blue gowns.

MOTHERS

The bride's mother was attired in a floor-length sleeveless gown of crystal-pleated chiffon designed with a V-neckline and a lemon-yellow satin ribbon encircling the waistline. She wore a matching bolero jacket of Chantilly lace, designed with long sheet sleeves tapering to scallops at the wrists. Her corsage was of cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length gown of blue peau de soie, styled with a back bow and streamers. Her corsage was of cymbidium orchids.

River, N.M., the bride wore a sleeveless dress with a blue bodice and white pleated skirt and white accessories. Her corsage was of the yellow roses from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home at 2101 First Avenue, No. 11, Canyon.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride, a 1970 graduate of Pampa High School, is attending West Texas State University, Canyon, where she is majoring in physical therapy.

The bridegroom, a 1970 graduate of Bovina High School, is attending WTSU, also, majoring in accounting. He is employed by Robert's Welding in Canyon.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS

Pre-nuptial events included a kitchen shower in Canyon hosted by Linda Browder, Mrs. Cassie Ivey, Kristie Berry, Bettie Boydston, Mrs. Charles Browder, and Mrs. George Mitten.

A miscellaneous shower at the First Baptist Church, Pampa, was hosted by Mmes. Bill Chafin, Blake Laramore, Doyle Beckham, William Moore, Rue Hestand, Lonnie Richardson, B.M. McMullan and Harry Allen.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Suttle and Kenneth of Ardmore, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Leamon Suttle, Jeff, Greg and Patti, Mr. and Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jarrard, all of Del City, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Wilson and Grady James, all of Ponca City, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Suttle and Paul of Lawton, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Baker of Norman, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jones, Mrs. Mildred Woodward, Mrs. Jessie Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Ivey, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Grady Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whitten and Bret, Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Sherrill, Steve, Terry, Patty and Wendy, all of Bovina.

Also Mr. and Mrs. D.A. Hall, Kenny and Jimmy, S-Sgt. and Mrs. Leonard Burnett, all of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Riddsdale, Cheryl and Greg, of Cedar Crest, N.M.; Rev. and Mrs. J.R. ## Hedgecoke-Hood Nuptials Are Solemnized Saturday

Miss Sandra Diane Hedgecoke and Daniel Arthur Hood were united in marriage at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 24, in the First Christian Church of Pampa.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Erickson, 933 Barnard, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Hood, 2336 Duncan.

The Ceremony

Rev. M. B. Smith of Pampa, pastor of the Alanreed Baptist Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Jerry Whitten, organist, played "Processional Hymn with Fanfare," for the processional, and "Psalm 19," by Benedetto Marcello, as the recessional.

Miss Sharon Bruce sang "Thanks Be To God" and "Wedding Prayer."

The church was decorated with two pair of seven-branched candelabra, entwined with salal foliage, flanked by two large arrangements of yellow gladioli and white mums. Family pews were marked with yellow satin bows.

During the processional, the bride presented a yellow rose to her mother; and following the pledging of the nuptial vows, she presented a yellow rose to the bridegroom's mother.

The Bride

The bride was given in marriage by her father, with the "her mother and I" avowal. She was attired in a gown of white silk organza over bridal satin, styled with an empire waistline, scooped neckline and A-line skirt. The long full sleeves and bodice of silk organza were embroidered with a lily-of-the-valley motif, and the sleeves and waistline were accented with satin ribbon and seed pearls.

Her three-tiered full-length veil of silk illusion, edged in lace, extended into a chapel train. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and Stephanotis over a white Bible.

For something old and borrowed, she wore a strand of pearls belonging to her great-grandmother, and she wore a blue garter. In her shoe, she placed three pennies, one for her birthday, one for the bridegroom's birthday and one for their wedding year.

Attendants

Miss Debbie Adkins was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of gold Panama crepe, styled with an empire waistline and puffed sleeves of matching chiffon. The gown was trimmed with white lace through which matching chiffon was woven. Bridesmaids were Miss

MRS. DANIEL ARTHUR HOOD
...nee Sandra Diane Hedgecoke

Kathy Gallman and Miss Susan Stumpf, with Randie Hedgecoke, sister of the bride, and Deann Benton of Denton, cousin of the bridegroom, as junior bridesmaids. All wore identical gowns of yellow Panama crepe, styled like that of the maid of honor.

All the bridal attendants wore headpieces of white split carnations, and carried nosegays of white split carnations accented with yellow streamers.

Michelle Wallace, flower girl, wore a floor-length white dress highlighted with floor-length yellow ribbon streamers. She carried a white wicker basket, decorated with yellow ribbon.

Darwynn Nail, ringbearer, carried the rings on a satin bridegroom's great-grandparents. The centerpiece was a tall, five-branched silver candelabra, with a floral arrangement of yellow and white pompons.

The three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with yellow roses and sweet peas, was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Miss Sandra Sims and Miss Karen Carey presided at the punch bowl and coffee service, and Miss Nancy Dingus served the cake. Guests were registered by Miss Debra Reimer.

For the wedding trip to Amarillo, the bride wore a red and white pant suit, with white accessories. Her corsage was of white gladioli.

The couple will be at home at 1100 Mary Ellen until August 15, when they will move to 406-B Old College Road, College Station.

Affiliations

To Be Married

Mr. and Mrs. W.D. McKendree, 612 Lefors, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Lea, to David W. Geyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver D. Geyer, 1033 Terry Road. Vows will be exchanged Aug. 11, in the First United Methodist Church, Pampa. The bride-elect, a 1970 graduate of Pampa High School; attended West Texas State University, Canyon. She is employed at Citizen's Bank and Trust Company. She is a member of Phi Epsilon Beta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The prospective bridegroom, a 1969 graduate of Pampa High School, is a senior student at WTSU, majoring in industrial education. He is employed at a Sav-A-Stop in Amarillo.

Toilet Training Takes Patience

Many mothers expect toilet training to be completed by the time their child is two years old. James A. Stehbens, Ph.D. and David L. Silber, MD, University of Iowa, have found that this expectation is often unrealistically high, and that coercive toilet training can result in behavior problems. They recommend a parent-physician discussion on the subject before the child is a year old.

Betrothal Announced

Mrs. Margarette Cox of Amarillo announces the engagement of her daughter, Judith Ann, to Richard Earl McClendon of Clarendon, son of Mr. and Mrs. M.E. McClendon, 805 E. Albert, Pampa. Vows will be solemnized July 29, in the First Pentecostal Holiness Church, Amarillo. The bride-elect attended Southwestern Junior College, Oklahoma City, Okla., and is employed by the American Quarter Horse Association in Amarillo. The prospective bridegroom, a student at Clarendon College, is employed by Greenbelt Water Authorities, Clarendon.

Mrs. Charles Martin of Dallas, matron of honor, wore a floor-length gown of yellow dotted Swiss, with yellow velvet ribbon and a bow to accent the bodice. She carried a basket of white daisies.

John Jenkins, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Charles Martin of Dallas and Steve Leftwich of Lubbock.

The couple is on a wedding trip to Mexico. After July 1, they will reside in Levelland.

AFFILIATIONS
The bride was graduated from Plainview High School. She received her bachelor's degree in elementary education and her master's degree in music from Texas Tech University, Lubbock, where she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority and Tau Beta Sigma, band honorary.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Pampa High School, received his bachelor's degree in agriculture economics and his master's degree in animal nutrition at Texas Tech, where he was a representative to the Aggie Council, vice president of the Ag-Eco Club and where he received "all-college" recognition in 1966. He is assistant professor of agriculture at South Plains College, Levelland.

He is a consultant for Prudential Division of Nasco, Inc.

Doctor Speaks About Baldness

There is no relationship between hair loss and virility. Dr. Edward Krull told a group of science writers attending a symposium in Chicago sponsored by the National Program for Dermatology.

Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, also said that nutrition is not a factor in balding, unless the victim is severely malnourished. Commenting on hair transplants, Dr. Krull advised that they are not successful for all patients.

A TRIBUTE... TO OUR POLICEMEN!

By BILL DOWNS

The uniformed man who walks his beat, ever ready to combat lurking danger, is an officer of the city, working for you. All through the stillness of the night...when homes are dark and stealth is on the prowl...your watchful Policeman is going his rounds. Smiling, rosy-cheeked, a mountain of security clad in blue, he shepherds the little children across the street. He is their laughing pal, on occasion...and who of us would have it any other way! So let's be considerate and really warmhearted toward our fine officers. The Policeman, please remember, is one of our most dependable citizens!

South let West hold the first spade as a matter of good practice. He had to lose a spade trick some time or other and might as well lose it right away.

He won the second spade lead in dummy and then asked himself the question, "How can I make this hand?"

He could count eight tricks in aces and kings. The best chance for his ninth was the jack of clubs and at first glance a club finesse seemed indicated.

A second look told him that if West held the club queen he would still be sure of three club tricks by playing the king, then the ace and finally leading toward the jack and that this play would guard against the chance that East held just queen and one club.

South played the king and ace and sure enough the queen dropped.

South was sure of his contract and now decided to try for more. He led out the ace and king of diamonds and continued the suit after ev-everyone followed. His contract was still safe. East took his jack of diamonds and without a moment's hesitation proceeded to cash the queen.

West wasn't at all happy about this turn of events. He discarded a heart on the fourth diamond but when South, who had discarded hearts from both hands on the last diamond, proceeded to cash a second heart, West was squeezed out of either a club or a spade and South had picked up an overtrick.

Willis-Collins Vows Stated

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Willis, 1324 Hamilton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Teresa, to Van Collins, son of Mrs. Andrea Collins, 818 Brunow.

The wedding is scheduled for Aug. 12, in the Mary Ellen-Harvester Church of Christ.

The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Pampa High School. The bridegroom is a 1972 graduate of Verden High School, Verden, Okla.

FULL SLEEVES COMING
NEW YORK (AP) — Full sleeves in garments will be in evidence next fall and next spring, predicts the Traphagen School of Fashion.

Very tailored clothes for day and dinner dresses with emphasis on the bosom also were forecast by students taking part in the school's 49th annual fashion show.

Dear Abby

Next time, serve him a baked potato

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a widower with a 13-year-old son. Last night I served roast turkey with mashed potatoes and gravy. There were just the three of us. David (that's not his name) started to put his fingers in the mashed potatoes, making "road maps, and rivers and valleys."

I told him it wasn't good manners to put his fingers in his food or play with it. He didn't talk back to me, but he looked at his father for support, and his father said, "It's okay to eat however you want at home, as long as you remember your manners when you eat out or have company over."

David brightened up and continued to make road maps, etc. in the mashed potatoes with his fingers.

You can see, Abby, my husband is the boss and what he says goes.

I told him I was going to write to you and ask how you felt about this and he said, "Go ahead. I'll bet she says I'm right."

Well, what do you say? ANONYMOUS, PLEASE

DEAR ANON: Your husband loses. First, David is much too old to be playing with his mashed potatoes, but more important he should not be allowed to play the "divide and conquer" game, which appears to be what's happening at your house. You and your husband had better get on the same team—fast.

DEAR ABBY: This is my first job and I am ready to climb the walls. I am in a one-girl office with 18 men including my boss. Everything I do or wear causes comments from the men. If I wear a colorful print, someone says, "Where's the party?" If I wear black, they say, "Where's the funeral?" If I wear a short skirt, I hear, "Wow, look at those gams!" If I wear pants, someone says, "Hi, Sam!"

The money is good and I have to work, but I get so nervous from all the remarks around here, I'm a wreck. Can you help me? SENSITIVE

DEAR SENSITIVE: Learn to tune 'em out, or develop a thicker skin. Chances are, they're just being friendly.

DEAR ABBY: I have an explanation for your male reader who said women knit in company to give them something to think about while they're talking.

I learned to knit to give myself something to think about while my husband was talking, which he did incessantly. MEG FROM MINONK

DEAR MEG: Touche. You're great with the needle!

DEAR ABBY: I read your "Confidential to Feeling Guilty," who apparently found a lost pet and didn't advertise to find its owner. You said if a person finds a lost pet and doesn't make every effort to locate its owner, it's as bad as stealing it, or words to that effect.

Well, I disagree. I love animals, and whenever I'd find a lost pet, I used to advertise for its owner, but no more! Pet owners who let their pets roam around might enjoy having a pet, but they don't really love them.

Why should I spend my good money advertising to find an owner when nine out of ten times the pet is left to roam and gets lost again? JENNIE IN COLUMBUS

DEAR JENNIE: If you love animals, you know the heartbreak felt by one who has lost a pet. To some, it's almost as traumatic as losing a child. Even the most loved and cared for pets sometimes get "lost."

CONFIDENTIAL TO LINDA OF MASS.: Your mother was right. If you have someone else's husband, you have someone else's troubles.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A. CALIF. 90009 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Kadingo Lingo

By Jane Kadingo

WHATEVER HAPPENED to beauty shop "girl-talk"? We may be asking that question soon. As I dashed into the beauty shop a Saturday-or-so ago for a quick comb-out, I came to an abrupt halt. Despite all my efforts, my jaw dropped slightly.

Staring back at me was a young man in the "waiting chair" and another in the cosmetologist's chair having his shoulder-length locks styled. I think the young men were as surprised as I. I don't believe they expected any of us girls to appear that late on a Saturday afternoon.

That invasion-of-privacy feeling I get when I take my son to the barber shop came over me. I hid behind a magazine while I waited. It didn't seem quite "kosher" to eavesdrop on an all-male conversation (the cosmetologist is a male.)

I emerged from my magazine when the man stood up, hand-mirror poised, to view his hair style, back and front.

"How do you like it?" asked the cosmetologist.

"But I want it to get long," wailed the young man.

"I only cut off what I had to for the proper styling," the cosmetologist explained.

Rather faintly, I asked: "How long do you want it?"

"Down to here," answered the young man, running his finger along his back waistline.

Now we had a topic on which to converse!

"It has taken us six years to get my daughter Anne's hair nearly to her waist," I explained. "But my daughter Nickita's hair grows so fast she may make it in two or three years."

"It takes that long?" he moaned.

I tried to comfort him: "Maybe yours is the fast-growing kind."

THIS WAS MY FIRST encounter with the "male-in-the-beauty-shop" but I have been told this is another trend of the times.

As of January 1972, by law, cosmetologists may do anything to the male head of hair that the male will accept, as long as the cosmetologist does it the way he (or she) has been taught to do it.

My male cosmetologist friend says, in other Texas towns, he has given color rinses to men, and he even "frosted" one.

His funniest experience came when he was styling a young prospective bridegroom's hair for his wedding, which necessitated putting him under the dryer—next to a middle-aged lady patron who was deeply engrossed in a magazine. She casually glanced at the young man, did a double-take, shifted to the far side of her chair and pulled down and tucked in her skirt.

My male cosmetologist friend explained the male infiltration of the beauty parlor creates a new problem...dealing with irate fathers, who don't like the way their sons' hair has been styled. He says he'd much rather deal with an irate mother!

WHAT CHANGES will the male incursion make on beauty parlor gossip?...the jokes? (Come on, girls, let's admit it!)...the strictly-female discussions no male would understand?

Help! Soon there will be no all-female domain left!...except possibly, the maternity ward, which, so far, the male has shown no inclination to invade.

There is one small glimmer of hope. Seeing the "signs-of-the-time," barber shops are employing barbers trained in the styling of long hair!

THE PUZZLER still rates an answer. Last week's column on male emancipation left no room for the puzzler, which was: A man married a widow. They each already had children. Ten years later, there was a battle engaging the present family of 12 children. The mother called to the father, "Come at once! Your children and my children are fighting our children." They each now had nine children of their own. How many were born during the past ten years?

The answer: six. When they married, each had three children. Together, they had six, making a total of 12, with each having nine of their own.

Another puzzler will be presented next week.

LAST WEEK'S column caused a great deal of comment, which has led to the idea of running, from time to time, comments from various people on certain issues. As soon as I can complete my research, I plan to run comments, spanning three or four generations, on the controversial issue of boys with long hair.

JOHN, THIS WEEK, commented: I don't think I'll ever get married, because, then, you have children and they're too much trouble. I think I'll just be regular."

Nickita, in response to her father's comment that he is getting old: "You're not old, Daddy." "I'm not young," said her father. She thought for a few minutes, and then said: "You're medium!"

HEY TEENAGERS! I hope a lot of you are going on the ESA Million Dollar Bike Ride today. It should be a lot of fun, as well as helping a lot of children, maybe, someday, your own.

The ride is a benefit for St. Jude Research Hospital, founded by Danny Thomas, to find cures for fatal and crippling childhood diseases. There is no charge for treatment at the hospital—its services are free.

Kathryn McIntire, John Topper Marry In Candlelight Ceremony

Vows were exchanged at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 16, in the First Christian Church of Pampa by Miss Kathryn Suzanne McIntire and John Mark Topper.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. McIntire, 1719 Evergreen. Parents of the bridegroom and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Topper of Clarendon.

THE CEREMONY
Jack Pape, minister of the Harvester-Mary Ellen Church of Christ, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Church decorations included an altar arrangement of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and Marguerite daisies, flanked by spiral candelabra, small tree candelabra and large urns of flowers.

The bridal aisle was marked with tall candelabra draped in smilax.

Mrs. John Gill, organist, played "Oh, Promise Me," "I Love Thee," and selections from Bach and Handel. Terry Scoggins sang "Color My World," "We've Only Just Begun," and "The Lord's Prayer."

THE BRIDE
The bride was given in marriage by her father, with the "her mother and I" avowal. She wore a gown of silk organza and Venice lace. The lace bodice was styled with an empire waistline, a Victorian neckline of scalloped lace and leg-of-mutton sleeves of lace and organza, ending at the wrists in cuffs edged with matching lace. The A-line floor-length skirt, accented with floral appliques, was edged with lace at the hemline. Her full chapel train, accented with lace appliques, was attached to the back bodice.

Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion fell from a lace headpiece, embroidered with seed pearls. She wore a diamond necklace, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, roses and trailing ivy.

The bride carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue. She wore, also, a good luck sixpence in her shoe, borrowed from her grandmother, Mrs. Alta Daughtry of Quanah.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Kathy Smith of Perryton was matron of honor. Brides-matron was Mrs. Christi Oxley of Pampa and bridesmaid was Miss Nanette McIntire of Spearman, cousin of the bride.

All wore identical, floor-length gowns of red and white checked gingham, styled with a jumper bodice and full skirts accented at the hemline with deep flounces. Soft bows and streamers marked the raised back waistlines. Their mini-blouses were of dotted Swiss, styled with shallow necklines and puffed sleeves accented with red-checked bias folds.

They wore matching gingham Doir bows in their hair and carried white baskets filled with Marguerite daisies and greenery.

MRS. JOHN MARK TOPPER
...nee Kathryn Suzanne McIntire

Cindy Topper of Clarendon, sister of the bridegroom, and Mary McIntire of Spearman, cousin of the bride, were flower girls, wearing dresses identical to those of the bridal attendants.

Paul McIntire, brother of the bride, was ringbearer. Serving as best man was Chris Smith of Perryton, and Gary MacDryden of Sunray and Pat Slevin of Clarendon were groomsmen. Wiley McIntire, brother of the bride, was an usher.

MOTHERS
The mother of the bride wore a floor-length gown of a floral print over yellow voile, and a green cymbidium orchid in her hair.

The bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length, mint-green gown, fashioned with a lace bodice and lace stand-up collar. She wore, also, a green cymbidium orchid.

RECEPTION
For the reception at the Pampa Country Club, the bride's table was covered with a floor-length white cloth, centered with an arrangement of white flowers in a silver and crystal epergne. The bridegroom's table was covered with a red and white checked cloth.

The four-tiered cake, on a Roselyn frame, was decorated with sugar bells and red roses, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom standing beneath a garland of white roses.

Mrs. Ben McIntire of Spearman, aunt of the bride, served the cake, and Mrs. Mac Christner of Wheeler, another aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Guests were registered by Mrs. William Snapp of Elk City, Okla.

For the wedding trip to Sante Fe, N.M., the bride wore a red, white and blue ensemble with matching accessories. Her corsage was of flowers from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home at 1112 Terry Road, Pampa.

AFFILIATIONS
The bride, a 1971 graduate of Pampa High School, attended Clarendon Junior College.

The bridegroom is a 1969 graduate of Clarendon High School and a 1972 graduate of Clarendon Junior College. He is employed in Pampa.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS
Pre-nuptial events included a shower in the home of Mrs. Albert Walker of Pampa, hosted by Peggy Martin, Jewell Walker, Mary Hughes, Pat Smith, Retha Jordan, Ervin Mitchell, Carol Snapp, Mildred Pierce, Mrs. P.B. Kratzer and Mrs. Aubrey Ruff.

A shower was given in Clarendon in the home of Mrs. Opal John, who was assisted by Mrs. Beth Johnston, Alice Davis, Jerri Ann Lewis, Opal James, Edith Hill and Wanda Nichols.

A sherry party was hosted by Mrs. Delmar Watkins; Ted Alexander, Robert Lyle, and Don Morrison. Mrs. Betty Gunter honored the bride with a rice-bag party in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Royse.

The bridesmaids' luncheon was held in the home of Mrs. Royse, who was assisted by Mrs. Albert Reynolds and Mrs. Robert Jacobs.

Parents of the bridegroom were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at Dyer's Barbecue.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS
Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wornble of Fritch; Mrs. Olen Maxwell of Phillips; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Topper of Borger; Mrs. H.L. Daughtry of Quanah; Mr. and Mrs. Burke Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Lasley, all of Dalhart; Mrs. Lynn Boomer and Scott of Claude; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Smith of Perryton; Mrs. Willine Pate of Dallas; Mrs. Hugh W. Ford and Mrs. Ricky Woolard, both of Amarillo; Mrs. Mc Christner, Greg and Jeff, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Finsterwald, all of Wheeler.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. William Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright, Mr. and Mrs. George Arrington, Mr. and Mrs. Arden Ranson, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Burton, Mr. and Mrs. E.S.F. Brainard, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Newell, all of Canadian; Mr. and Mrs. E.B. McIntire, Ford, Edward, Mary and Nanette, Mr. and Mrs. E.H. Brainard II, Sally, Berkle, Amy, Sena and Swazy, all of Spearman.

And Dr. Gary Moore, Mrs. Florence Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Robert Campbell, all of Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson Jr., Mrs. Duane Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. P.C. Messer and Katrina, Mrs. Johnny Davis and Lana, Mrs. Raymond Burch, all of Clarendon; Mrs. Larry Brown and Mrs. Lee Hood, both of Skellytown; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Avant and Mrs. Jack Winslett and Sandy, all of Shamrock.

Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Leaton D. Hawkins, 1100 N. Russell, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean Ann, to James R. Randle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Farrell O. Randle of Amarillo. The wedding will take place Aug. 26, at the First Christian Church, Pampa. The bride-elect graduated from Pampa High School in 1971 and attended West Texas State University. The prospective bridegroom, a 1970 graduate of Amarillo High School, attended West Texas State University and is now employed by the Federal Aviation Administration in Amarillo.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tietz of Fort Stockton, former Skellytown residents, announce the engagement of their daughter, Teresa Ann, to Billy Jack Everett, son of Mr. and Mrs. B.W. Everett of Fort Stockton. Both are 1972 graduates of Fort Stockton High School. A late Fall wedding is planned. Miss Tietz is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lick of Skellytown.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SUNDAY, JUNE 25

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Ambition and expediency take turns dominating and directing your material and social affairs this coming year. Emotional experience flows strongly, building sound relationships. Today's natives are sociable but petulant, generally very sharp of hearing.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Your restless mood shouldn't disturb your home life. Get an early start, make your regular Sunday rounds placidly, with time out for rest.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Your tact and deep feeling make the difference as you encounter temperament. The real issues probably aren't put into words.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: You are in the middle this Sunday, so you may as well try being peacemaker. Hasty handling of heavy equipment is unwise.

Cancer [June 21-July 21]: If you can get past your own sensitivity, you may be literally or figuratively a life-saver for somebody in a worse situation. You are actually further ahead than you feel. Relax.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Cater to your personal needs and limitations today. Avoid fatigue. Your friends are willing to show you strange ways of wasting money.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Emotional stress now is to be channeled into some creative expression. Speculative enterprises are doubtful, should be minimized.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Moderation in sports and recreation is suggested. Temptations to overspend also are to be resisted. It's likely that you can balance these trends.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Being considerate and firm is more than a game for you, but you'll have to do it now. Then the rest of the day goes quietly.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Sunday quiet is welcome, although mainly on the surface. Be easy on yourself when it comes to exertion, strenuous games.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Despite the nature of the day and the closure of most financial establishments, private maneuvers produce exceptional progress for you.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: There is nothing like taking full advantage of solitude to look things up, collect information you need for career and business.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Do your share of the amenities expected by your community. Spend time making the rounds, see that young people's affections get back to where they belong.

MONDAY, JUNE 26

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Conflicting influences checker your whole year, yielding many opportunities. Personal relations are vivid, with probably several memorable moments of drama defying explanation: If you have a technical specialty, status comes to you; if not, much can be done about it. Today's natives often heard small objects.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Go ahead with agreed plans despite belated misgivings or reservations. Others change their minds and let down on promises.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Coping with interruptions is an art—you can distinguish yourself simply by being calm as you do what you think is best.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Show your maturity and judgment in how you meet obstruction this complex day. There may be little sign of the appreciation you value.

Cancer [June 21-July 21]: Reflect on where you are, what you'd most like to have happen, and act accordingly. Playing favorites is the last thing to try.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: It's a do-it-yourself day if you want anything done. Trying to settle differences hastily may be even more trouble; find an out.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Make an arrangement that gives you time for the responsibility of what you're trying to do. Get a start made on some long-standing dilemma.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Personal interests and work obligations may clash. Setting out early gives you more chance to cater to both with good results.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: New contacts are sensitive, subject to improvement only by explicit understanding. Your work includes details which need discreet handling.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Your hunch is as good as anybody else's. Almost any course you take puts you in a direction away from others' beliefs acceptable risks.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Realize that others lack your intense concern and may not have things thought out as you do. Fellow workers have passing moods.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Resistance comes naturally, is no excuse for failure to keep promises. Safety precautions pay off without getting any notice.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: The day mellows steadily from a rough start to gentle reconciliation in later hours. Be considerate of others and their dignity.

Rep. Price Asks For Revision Of OSHA Oil, Gas Regulations

Congressman Bob Price testified before a Congressional committee this week that the regulations of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration that apply to the oil and gas industry need substantial revision.

Speaking in behalf of several thousand small business men in the oil and gas industry, Price testified before the Subcommittee on Environmental Problems Affecting Small Business of the House Select Committee on Small Business. The subcommittee is holding three days of hearings this week on small business, and the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970.

Main objection of the small business men in the oil and gas industry is that some of the most costly changes required by the regulations have little if anything to do with employee safety, which was the purpose of the act.

Price pointed out five specific examples that would be very expensive to carry out but which would not make conditions any safer for employees.

All five examples involve regulations covering either storage tanks or welding standards, and all five appear to be directed at the protection of property rather than employee safety.

Price stated that the standards which were designed to protect employees from injury were written for manufacturing concerns with concentrations of workers and in many cases are not reasonably applicable to work situations in the oil producing industry.

Furthermore, Price stated, the regulations adopted by OSHA ignore standards of long standing in the oil producing industry which have resulted in a history of safe operations.

Worry Clinic

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Notice Rev. Joel's dilemma: With 20 attractive girls to pick from, he still didn't dare show romantic interest in any of them. And this same problem confronts many talented men! Pass that "SMF Questionnaire" along!

CASE U-518: Rev. Joel, aged 37, is a very successful pastor. "But, Dr. Crane," he telephoned me, "I lost my wife 6 months ago."

"She was a wonderful woman and I attribute at least 50 per cent of my success in the pulpit to her charm and popularity with parishioners."

"We have 3 children, ranging in age from 5 to 12, who miss her terribly."

"Oh, I have a fine housekeeper to look after the youngsters, but she is 60 years of age and thus not close enough to them in interests to replace their mother."

"Now, Dr. Crane, I am calling you to see if the Scientific Marriage Foundation could introduce me to a prospective wife, between 30 and 35, who would be willing to take over a ready-made family."

"In my parish, I have probably 20 charming women in this age bracket who are either single or young widows."

"But if I show special attention to one of them, I'll alienate the other 19."

"So I must treat them all alike or produce friction."

"Could you please find somebody outside my parish who might make me a congenial mate?"

"If she were even half as wonderful as my first wife, I'd consider myself most fortunate!"

SMF AIDS CUPID
It was rather easy to solve Rev. Joel's problem, for the Computer dropped out the names of 3 women in the age bracket he mentioned, who matched him on all 10 basic personality traits.

Since men usually restrict us to a radius of only 200 miles, we picked a beautiful music teacher, aged 31, who belonged to the same church denomination.

She had a popular personality and taught a teen-age Sunday School Class.

Besides, she was an active leader in Girl Scouts, too.

So they were introduced by mail.

After several exchanges of letters, during which they learned enough about each other to have many fields for conversation, they met in person.

Since they were both attractive and harmonized on the 10 basic traits needed to prevent serious post-marital debates, they soon fell in love.

Within 6 months they were married.

Rev. Joel's children soon took to her as if she were their original mother.

She also became a great aid in the church affairs, too, for she played the piano and coached a teen-age chorus.

DAVID TRIPPLEHORN
...gets promotion

Ex-Pampan Now Bank Executive

John M. Gray, chairman of the board of National Bank of Commerce, Dallas' fourth largest bank, has announced the promotion of David R. Tripplehorn, formerly of Pampa, to full vice president of the Correspondent Bank Division.

Tripplehorn acts as a correspondent loan officer covering the southwestern part of the United States.

Tripplehorn did his graduate and under graduate work at Southern Methodist University. He is also a graduate of the Graduate School of Finance and Credit at Harvard Business School and a graduate of the American Institute of Banking.

He is currently attending the Southwestern Graduate School of Banking at SMU and the Assembly for Bank Directors at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Tripplehorn has been with National Bank of Commerce since April, 1968. He previously was employed with another Dallas bank.

Answers To Employment Questions

P. B. of Staunton, Va., says: As a restaurant waiter, I'm allowed one free meal a day at work. The restaurant owner says he gives us the meal because it entitles him to pay less than the minimum wage. Is this the law?

Dear P. B.: Yes. Under the federal minimum wage law, an employer can deduct from the minimum rate the "reasonable cost or fair value" of meals, lodging or any other facilities he furnishes primarily for the benefit of his employees. But he cannot deduct the cost of facilities furnished primarily for his own benefit, such as any uniforms he requires employees to wear.

B. K. of Cincinnati, Ohio, writes: My son has just finished high school and is having a hard time finding a job. Does the new employment program I've heard about hire young people? If so, where should he go to check on this?

Dear B. K.: Yes, young people are hired under the Public Employment Program. The states and the 600 large cities and counties that received nearly $1 billion in Emergency Employment Act funds from the Labor Department this year had to agree that, in filling the public-service jobs, they would recruit from among "significant segments" of the unemployed and under-employed population. In addition to veterans and people whose income is below the poverty level, one of the groups singled out to be hired is young people, 18 to 22, who are just entering the labor force. So far, the Public Employment Program has hired about 20,000 of these young people. I suggest your son check with the nearest office of your state employment service.

East Beats West 42-20 In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The East's Ron Carl of Michigan State blocked a punt in the opening four minutes of the game to trigger a three-touchdown avalanche in the first half that buried the favored West at 14-0 Saturday night in the 12th annual Coaches All-America football game.

Carl's big play was followed with a fumble recovery by Elmer Allen of Mississippi and an interception by Ray Easterling of Richmond which led to two more East touchdowns and the dazed West, coached by Chuck Fairbanks of Oklahoma, never recovered.

The 240-pound Carl rumbled through the West line to block a punt by Marv Bateman of Utah with 10:52 left in the first quarter of the nationally televised game in the sweltering 106-degree heat. The ball bounded to the West one-yard line where Bo Davies of South Carolina fell on it. Billy Taylor of Michigan scored on the next play—his first of two touchdowns from a yard away.

Less than three minutes later Allen fell on a misguided pitch-out from quarterback Jack Mildren of Oklahoma. Quarterback Paul Miller of North Carolina nailed teammate Lewis Jolley with a 15-yard touchdown pass.

The West struck back on a six-yard touchdown pass from Mildren to Bernard Jackson of Washington State but the mistake bug bit again. This time Jerry Tagge of Nebraska was intercepted by Easterling. The Bear Bryant-coached East then rolled 80 yards with Johnny Musso scoring from a yard out.

A 25-yard touchdown gallop by Curt Watson of Tennessee and Taylor's second one-yard touchdown plunge put the game out of reach in the second half before 42,314 fans in Jones Stadium.

Mildren also completed a 21-yard touchdown pass to Skip Thomas of Southern California and Tom Mozsek of Houston sped five yards for the final West touchdown.

The East victory evened the series at six games each.

Both Fairbanks and Bryant made numerous substitutions because of the heat and Mildren found himself playing split end after Southern Methodist's Gary Hammond was sidelined with a pulled hamstring muscle.

The game was held up briefly in the second half when a mesquite-fogging truck outside the stadium sent white cloud drifting over the playing field.

Miller, one of the few players in the game who wasn't drafted by a National Football League team, sparked with his play calling. He completed the scoring with 28 seconds left when he hit John McMakin of Clemson with a 15-yard touchdown pass.

The 62 points broke by one point the record for the total number of points in the game.

Taylor was named the most valuable player in a vote of the writers.

Taylor rushed for 92 yards in 17 carries.

Industrial League Scores

Pioneer Natural Gas beat Harvester Barbeque 9-2 in the only softball game Tuesday night. Delbert Daniels got the win and Doug Cunningham took the loss.

Dale Everson had three hits in four trips, one triple, to lead PNG's hitters. Rick Harris had a grand slam homer run and Kelly Everson also hit a homer for PNG. Gene Brown got a triple.

Allen Jenkins and Kenny Cloud were BBQ's leading hitters.

St. Vincent's stoned Stokes' Deep Rock 16-3 in Thursday night play. Mike Velasquez was the winning pitcher and Jackie Graham the loser.

Mike Fortin and Doug Kidwell went three for five to lead St. Vincent's. Jerry Simpson was three for four and Valasquez two for three.

Fortin hit two home runs and Jerry Smith hit one.

St. Vincent's got eight runs in the sixth inning. Fortin played a good defensive game at shortstop.

Cliff Westbrook got two hits in two trips and Tommy Downs went two for four to lead Stokes.

Downs (left field) and Nelson Medley (center field) played a good defensive game.

Barbeque blasted Skellytown 20-16, also Thursday night. Mike Archibald got the win and Roy McClendon sustained the loss.

Kenny Cloud got seven hits in seven trips to lead BBQ. David and Junior Jenkins each went six for seven. Wade Archibald hit two homers, one a grand slam, and Bob Cloud added another. BBQ scored 17 runs in the last two innings.

Delastons went four for six and Ebenkamp and Lester each went two for five to lead Skellytown in hitting.

Crall slapped Oilfield Pipeline 12-3 in the other Thursday night game. Larry Daniels was the winning pitcher. Danny Kitchens got the loss.

Jerry Garrison got three hits in four trips and Dave Siddens went two for five to lead Crall. Garrison and Siddens each got home runs.

UT at El Paso Signs Pampa High's Hogan

Jeff Hogan, 1972 Pampa High graduate, signed a scholarship agreement Friday to play baseball for the University of Texas at El Paso.

Hogan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hogan, 2007 Williston, was a three-year letterman for the Harvester baseball team. He was named the outstanding player on the squad in both his junior and senior years.

In addition, he was named to the first team all-district squad his junior year and to the second team this past season.

Besides baseball, Hogan played football for three years, lettering on the varsity junior and senior years. He was the center on the 1971 district championship team. He also played basketball his sophomore year.

Hogan was a two-year member of the National Honor Society and was named Young Texan of the Month for May by the Optimist Club. He plans to major in engineering at UTEP.

Tee-Off Tid-Bits

By HART WARREN

By Hart Warren

Not only was business slow this week but our water system put a screaming halt to all forms of man-made precipitation.

Our usual traffic of 130 players a day dwindled to a minimum of 60 one day.

It was probably just as well though, for play was interrupted by welders and other men digging up our newly sprigged fairways to repair several major leaks in our outdated water lines.

If good old Mother Nature hadn't given us three showers this week our course might be in less than playable condition. And remember, it's not nice to fool Mother Nature.

Eddie Duenkel, David Parker and Coyle Winborn journeyed to Greenbelt to test their skills on that track in Clarendon's two day open tourney.

Friday, Martin Reeves, our touring pro, fired a four under 67 to take low-pro honors. With the aid of B. F. Dorman, B. B. Gibson and Dana Gibson, Martin took first place in the pro-am division of the tourney with a 56. Four others were tied at 58.

John Farquhar of Amarillo had the low round for all contestants with a 65.

Yours truly placed first at the Childress CC with a "71" which makes for a shorter ride home.

A reminder to all members—sign up for the member-guest to be played July 14, 15 and 16.

To improve your putting keep your eyes over the ball at address. Good luck, Martin, see you in the rough.

Crenshaw And Kite Tie For NCAA Indiv. Title

CAPE CORAL, Fla. (AP) — Ben Crenshaw slammed in a 25-foot par putt on the final hole Saturday to tie the Texas teammate Tom Kite for the NCAA Golf Championship as the Longhorns romped to their second straight team title.

CAPE CORAL, Fla. (AP) — Here are the leading finishers in the NCAA Golf Championships Saturday at the Cape Coral Country Club:

Texas	71-68-70-73-279
Tom Kite	61-68-70-73-279
Howard Twiss	69-73-74-75-281

"What have you done to me?" Kite asked his neighborhood pal from Austin after the pressure putt. "You've got to be the world's greatest putter in the clutch."

Kite shot a brilliant four-under-par 68 at Cape Coral Country Club to catch defending individual champion Crenshaw, who wobbled to an even-par 72 and an identical nine-under-par 279 total.

"Sure, we'd like to have a playoff," said Kite, a 22-year-old senior. "Tying is like kissing your sister." Crenshaw, a sophomore, quickly added:

"No, it's like kissing your brother."

National Collegiate Athletic Association golf rules permit no playoffs. When first place winds up in a deadlock, the parties involved are officially labeled co-champions.

It was the first championship tie in the NCAA event's 75-year history.

Texas posted a four-man score of 1,146 for 72 holes and whipped 12-time NCAA king Houston by 13 strokes. Florida took third place at 1,167, Oklahoma State fourth at 1,174 and Arizona State fifth with 1,176.

Summer Fun Demands Use Of Proper Caution

SWIMMING AND BOATING TIPS

Summertime means fun in the sun and the water. It can also be a time of tragedy if you don't exercise the proper caution. Drowning is the fourth leading cause of accidental death. Don't be a summer statistic.

It's a good idea to divide home pools by depth lines. Swimmers who suddenly find themselves in over their heads may be in more than just deep water.

July and August are peak months for outdoor activities and fun, but they are also peak months for drowning danger. Nearly one third of all drownings occur during these two months. Have fun swimming and boating this summer—but be careful too.

The American "boating boom" has resulted in many crowded lakes and waterways. Be certain to put your boat in only approved areas and always follow the rules of safe boating.

A truly considerate host knows how and when to serve snacks to guests at a backyard swimming pool. Never serve any food or drink in glass. Always be sure your guests allow a proper interval between eating and going in the water.

Water skiing is a popular summer sport requiring timing, balance, coordination and a great deal of common sense. Ski in waterways which are not crowded with swimmers or other boats. Use the proper equipment and don't attempt stunts or tricks beyond your ability.

The life you could save could well be that of a loved one if you take the time to learn life-saving techniques. Many drowning victims would still be alive today if someone nearby had known the correct life-saving procedures.

Sail boats are often at the mercy of the elements and larger boats. If you sail, be wary of weather conditions and try to put into lakes or rivers which are not used by large motor boats.

Your buddy is your best friend, especially when you need assistance in the water. For swimming safety, never solo. Think in terms of twos.

More than half the drowning victims in pools are youngsters under the age of ten. Children should be closely supervised when in or around the water. A few seconds of neglect could lead to a lifetime of regret.

The family boat, like the family car, should be regarded with proper respect. Boats, like cars, have a great danger potential and youngsters, especially, should be taught how to act when on board to avoid any mishaps on the water.

No matter how good a swimmer you are, safety should always be foremost in your mind. Strength alone might not be enough to save you if you "show off" or take one too many chances in the water.

Life preservers and other life saving devices are relatively inexpensive items for home pool owners and boat owners. They might be the best buy ever if used to save a life.

Men appear to suffer worst from a bad case of over-confidence while swimming. Statistics show that nearly 85 per cent of all drowning victims are male.

Swim where your children swim. New and unfamiliar spots might provide a challenge, but could prove dangerous as well.

Jamieson Shoots 67 Forges 8 Stroke Lead

NORTHBROOK, Ill. (AP) — Jimmy Jamieson, a moon-faced nonwinner on the pro tour, forged a four-under-par 67 and established a whopping eight-stroke lead Saturday in the third round of the $150,000 Western Open Golf Tournament.

The chunky Jamieson, playing the unusual role of gallery favorite, posted a 54-hole total of 202—11 under par on the 6,716-yard Sunset Ridge Country Club course.

Veteran Tommy Aaron, who matched Jamieson's 67 as the best round on the cool and cloudy day, was a distant second at 210 with one round left in the chase for the first prize of $30,000.

Jamieson, who carries 215 pounds on a 5-foot-10 frame, had a three-stroke lead starting play and ended the day with the biggest 34-hole margin on the tour this year.

Doug Sanders slipped to a three-over-par 74 and headed a group of five tied for third at 211.

Also at that figure were J. C. Snead, Steve Oppermann, Bob Lunn and Bobby Nichols. Nichols had a 69, Lunn 68.

A four-year regular on the tour who has yet to win and lost his exempt status last season when he failed to make the top 60 money winners.

He holed a nine-foot putt on the third hole, wedged up to about eight inches on the fourth and stretched out the lead with a 25-foot birdie putt on the ninth.

That put him out in 32, three under par, as he continued to dominate the front nine. In three rounds, he's 11 under par on those nine holes.

Most of the rest of the field—with the exception of Aaron—backed off in the growing pressure and Jamieson pulled away. He made a deuce from three feet on the 11th, bogeyed the 15th from a bunker, missed birdie from five feet on the next hole but made it from 20 on the 17th.

Connors, Chris Evert Win Singles

LONDON (AP) — American teenagers Jim Connors and Chris Evert played outstanding tennis Saturday and won the singles title in the London Grass Courts Championships at Queen's Club.

Connors, 19-year-old left-hander from Belleville, Ill., whipped Britain's John Paish, 6-2, 6-3 for the men's first prize of 1,300 dollars.

Cool little Chris, the 17-year-old from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., beat Karen Krantzacke of Australia 6-4, 6-0 for the women's title.

The triumph of the two youngsters came just two days before the start of Wimbledon and provided a bright hope for the future of American tennis.

This was the first time since 1947 that the two titles here had gone to Americans.

Connors is unseeded at Wimbledon which starts Monday. Miss Evert, seeded No. 4.

The baby-faced Connors dropped only eight points on his service in his match against Paish. Three were in the first set and five in the second.

The Englishman, also a left-hander, was unable to master Connors' service.

Paish, conqueror of Wimbledon favorite Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., in an earlier round, double faulted twice in each of the three service games he lost.

Connors, aggressive as a tiger, seized on his opponent's errors each time and drove home his advantage. He hit a dazzling forehand return to break Paish at 2-0 and another brilliant cross court forehand to clinch the first set at 6-2.

Paish lapses in the second set came in the fourth game.

Sometimes we just want to test each other. We just pick each other up and run together. It helps both of us."

During a crowd pleasing display Petty hit 167.4 m.p.h. and Allison was clocked at 164 m.p.h.

Seven more cars qualified Saturday to complete a 44-car field for the Sunday race. The average speed for the field was 156.558 m.p.h.

Qualifying Saturday were Tiny Lund, 72 Chevrolet, 157.895 m.p.h.; Dean Dalton, 71 Mercury, 165.002; Duke May, 1972 Ford, 152.245; John Sears, 1970 Plymouth, 152.588; Henry Gray, 1972 Thunderbird, 147.647; Johnny Anderson, 1972 Monte Carlo, 145.974; and Ronnie Chumley, 1972 Chevelle, 136.402.

Practice session Saturday, running neck and neck with each other for several laps.

We do that quite often," said Allison, who has been either first or second in 10 of the NASCAR races this season.

Petty Gets Pole For Lone Star 500

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Richard Petty established himself as the man to beat by winning the pole position in Sunday's Lone Star 500 NASCAR race, but Bobby Allison, who also will be on the front row thinks there is another man to beat—the weatherman.

"It is going to be tough on the drivers and crews and the fans too," Allison said Saturday after a practice run at Texas World Speedway, where temperatures jumped to the 90s.

Petty, the current leader on the Winston Cup Grand National Circuit, and Allison, ranked third going into Sunday's race, will occupy the two front row positions with qualifying times of 169.412 miles per hour for Petty and 167.826 m.p.h. for Allison, driving his 1971 Monte Carlo.

Bobby Isaac had the third fastest qualifying time at 165.005 m.p.h. and will be joined on the second row by Lee Roy Yarbrough at 162.316 m.p.h.

Isaac will drive a 1971 Dodge and Yarbrough will drive a 1971 Ford.

Petty has won four NASCAR events this year and finished second three times, all in his 1972 Plymouth. Petty, however, will be driving a 1972 Dodge here.

Petty agreed that heat will play a factor in Sunday's race.

"We ran a little better than we figured (during qualifying rounds), but if you run as fast as you can in this heat, you don't know how the car, the tires or the drivers are going to hold up."

Petty and Allison have been duelling each other for the first 15 races of the Winston Cup circuit and they could not resist a chance to duel some more in a

Twins 4, Royals 1

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Minnesota's Jim Kaat earned his ninth victory of the season Saturday, besting the Kansas City Royals 4-1.

Kaat, who improved his record to 9-2, limited the Royals to eight hits.

Minnesota chased left-hander Jim Rooker, 3-5, with three runs in the third inning. A walk to Rick Renick started the rally. Bobby Darwin's double moved Renick to third and Eric Soderholm's single made it a 2-0 lead for the Twins.

Kaat doubled over Amos Otis' head in center, scoring the third run.

Finley Won't Block McLain

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley said Saturday he would not stand between pitcher Denney McLain and "a shot with any other major league team if he could get one."

Finley, in Memphis to look over the home of his newly purchased American Basketball Association franchise, the Memphis Pros, said he had talked with McLain by telephone, and McLain said he was returning to the A's farm team at Birmingham.

McLain has recently mentioned the possibility of returning to the A's. Finley said it was true that the A's did have a 10th spot on their pitching squad open now, but it was for a reliever.

He said he and McLain agreed that it was better for McLain to continue as a starter on the farm club than come on as a reliever at the major league level.

Cowboys Sign Cooq Newhouse

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League announced Saturday the signing of Robert Newhouse of Houston, the Pokes' No. 2 draft choice.

"Gator" Newhouse rushed for 2,961 yards in his three-year college career and averaged 6.4 yards per carry. The 5-10, 202-pounder scored 19 touchdowns for Houston.

"Based on pure running ability," said Cowboys Scout Red Hickey, "Newhouse was probably the best back in the draft. When it came to a choice between him and Bill Thomas in the first round, we went with the big back (Thomas, of Boston College, is 6-2, 225), but we were mighty happy when Newhouse was still there in the second round."

Asked about his size, Newhouse replied, "I'm not going to grow an inch, but maybe I can play a little bigger than I am."

Tennis Finals Set Today

Pampa's Jim Hughes and Bud Satterwhite of Amarillo meet this afternoon at 1:00 in the finals of the singles competition of the Men's Over-35 Tennis Tournament.

The tournament, sponsored by the Pampa Tennis Club, is being conducted at the Pampa High School tennis courts.

Hughes and Jack Wells meet Gordon Novak of Amarillo and Jim Aldridge in one doubles semi-final match.

Jim Carter and Dub Rushing, both of Lubbock, meet Bud Buzzard and Jack Little, each from Amarillo, in the other semi-final match.

The finals in the doubles are due to be played at 4:30.

IN FINALS—Bud Satterwhite of Amarillo, (pictured above) will meet Pampa's Jim Hughes this afternoon in the finals of the Pampa Tennis Club's Men's Over-35 Tennis Tournament. The matches are being played at the Pampa High School tennis courts. Semi-final and final matches will also be played in doubles competition. See related article above. (Staff Photo by John Ebling)

The American (TV) Invasion

(Last of Two Parts.)

By RALPH NOVAK

MUNICH, West Germany (N.E.A.)—German television executive Robert Lembke was smiling right at ABC-TV Sports president Roone Arledge when he said it, but he still said it:

"ABC thinks the Olympics are an American thing the rest of the world is allowed to participate in."

Lembke is the director of the German Olympic Center of Radio and Television (DOZ), which was formed by Germany's two main television organizations to broadcast the Olympic games from Munich this August. DOZ will have more than 100 color cameras covering the games and supplying the only picture for every television-using country in the world except one, the United States.

ABC will have 16 of its own cameras supplementing the Germans' coverage so that U.S. audiences can be sure that if any Olympian so much as twitches without the event being recorded for posterity, that Olympian won't be an American.

"Actually, I think it's perfectly all right for Americans to want special coverage," Lembke says, even when Arledge is out of earshot. "I know that if Germany won that many medals, the people would go crazy. You underplay it, if anything."

The Olympics may have been underplayed in the past, but ABC has pounced on the Games like a dog clamping its teeth on the only bone in town.

The network has scheduled 66½ hours of coverage, much of it in prime evening time, from a preview on Aug. 25, the day before the Games open, through a roundup on Sept. 10, the day they close.

The coverage will cost ABC around $22 million—including $13.5 million paid to the International Olympic Committee for broadcasting rights—and ABC sports network vice-president Chuck Howard says the best he hopes for financially is to break even, despite a $48,000 per minute price tag for sponsors.

But Howard admits that ABC is not altruistic enough to go to all this trouble just to make sure American audiences don't miss seeing Jim Ryun take off his sweat pants.

"There are two main reasons we're involved," Howard says. "One is the prestige of having the Olympic Games on our network. The other is the impetus we hope this will give us for the new television season that starts right after the Games end. With the other networks carrying reruns at the end of the summer, we should be able to grab most of the audience and we hope a lot of that will carry over even after the Olympics."

Whatever ABC's motives, the network's role in the proceedings has raised some problems.

The anti-American tendencies Lembke alluded to more or less jokingly are one of them. As far back as the Berlin Olympics in 1936, many Europeans were "thoroughly weary and disgusted" with American domination of the Games, according to a New York Times dispatch from Berlin.

The Germans won the unofficial team point championship in 1936, partly because they flooded all events with German contestants and padded their point total with medals awarded for architecture and city planning. But there are still a lot of Europeans (not to mention Asians, Africans, Latin Americans and Australians) who are not broken-hearted when an American loses, Olympic ideals notwithstanding. There is bound to be more resentment this year because the United States has been allotted by far the largest quota of tickets to the games, 118,246, and still wanted more. And the neo-imperialist aura of ABC's privileged presence among 4,000 journalists at the Games is not likely to help the situation.

International Olympic Committee president Avery Brundage, who has dedicated his life to chaperoning the amateur standing of everybody in the world, has said he is afraid the big television money might pervert the Olympic spirit. And when TV Guide writer Al Stump asked him if a network that had paid millions to cover Games might not be tempted to want some kind of control over them (something akin to the "television timeouts" in basketball and football), Brundage said: "Doesn't that usually happen when television moves into sports?"

There is no evidence that Brundage's fears have been realized yet (not those particular fears, anyway) but a potentially troublesome precedent has been set.

Think, for the sake of argument, what might happen at the 1976 Games in Montreal if the Soviet Union outbid all the American networks for the supplemental coverage rights.

Ernie Ladd Likes Pro Wrestling Money

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ernie Ladd, who boasts he was the highest paid lineman in pro football history, has no regrets since quitting the game at his peak.

As a wrestler, the 32-year-old athlete has doubled his salary.

"In what other sport," Ladd said, "can you pick up a $14 pair of boots, 59-cent socks—spend maybe a total of $50—and convert it into $100,000 a year if you are sharp and train?"

Ladd even shortchanged himself on the pay, since he claims to have made $115,000 on the mat last year.

But the money is only part of the good life, Ladd said during a stop in Baltimore to compete against Pedro Morales, the heavyweight champion of the World Wide Wrestling Federation.

"Now, I'm my own boss," he said. "I take off three months a year. I'm a more complete man. I come and go when I please."

"In football, if a coach called me at 4 a.m., I had to jump. Now, I can say the hell with it if I don't want to do something."

The 6-foot-9, 297-pound Ladd doesn't like to be told what he can and cannot do. He claims that's why he quit the Kansas City Chiefs in 1968.

"I wanted to see the Olympic Games in Mexico City, and Coach Hank Stram wouldn't let me go," Ladd recalls. "He said if he let one player go, he'd have to let them all go. So I quit."

Ladd, a 15th round draft choice of San Diego in 1961, played out his option with the Chargers and signed with the Houston Oilers in 1966.

"I was making $57,000," Ladd said. "Houston signed me for more money than Joe Namath was making. They still owe me a few hundred thousand, and have to pay me until 1989."

The former defensive tackle joined the wrestling circuit in 1964 and "practically starved while I took my lumps for three years and had my nose rubbed on the mat."

"But even when my payoffs were bad," Ladd said, "I raised hell in the ring and I kept improving."

Ladd, who said he rejected a suggestion from former boxing great Archie Moore to become a fighter, claims he is in the right sport.

"When a boxer makes a name for himself," Ladd said, "the rats come out of nowhere and claim his money. Wrestlers don't get $1 million purses, but a lot of them make over $40,000 a year and don't get drained."

"How many boxers wind up as shoeshine boys or parking lot attendants? You won't find ex-wrestlers doing that."

Gonzales Awaits Officials' Decision

LONDON (AP) — Pancho Gonzales, sternly put in his place by a woman referee, waited today to see if tennis officials would take any disciplinary action against him before Wimbledon.

The old maestro was disqualified from the London Grass Court Championships Friday after a bitter argument over line calls at Queen's Club.

Wimbledon starts Monday, and the British Lawn Tennis Association is currently waging a strong campaign to clean up court manners.

Last week Rosie Casals of San Francisco was admonished by the tournament committee of the West of England Championships after she had argued over line calls.

This week the BLTA wrote to tournament organizers saying that stricter measures would be taken against players who argue over umpires' decisions. And right on top of it came the stormy scene involving Gonzales.

Nobody however, expected the veteran star from Las Vegas, Nev., to be suspended. With the 32 stars of World Championship Tennis absent from the lineup, Gonzales will be one of the biggest attractions at Wimbledon.

The Queen's Club tournament, traditionally the last warmup before Wimbledon, could end with both the men's and women's titles going to Americans.

Every Thursday is Ladies Day at Delaware Park race-track near Wilmington, Del. Admission is 20 cents. The meeting runs until Aug. 13.

Slaughter And Walker Join Oldtimers Squad

Enos (Country) Slaughter and Harry (The Hat) Walker, who teamed with captain Terry Moore to be one of the best outfielders in baseball, will be at the Oldtimers game with the 1946 St. Louis Cardinals against the 1947 Houston Buffs this Fourth of July in the Astrodome.

Joe (Ducky) Medwick, who had played with many of these '46 Cards on other great St. Louis teams, also has been invited for the reunion. Medwick wasn't a member of either the '46 Cards or the '47 Buffs but was a favorite of earlier times.

The "Champions All" theme is carried out with the '46 World Champion Cards playing the '47 Dixie Series champion Buffs at 6 p.m. with the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates facing the Astros at 7:30 p.m.

Slaughter, known affectionately as "Country" was "Mr. Hustle." He was one of the '46 Series heroes, climaxing a great season and series by scoring the series-winning run in the eighth inning of the seventh game against the Boston Red Sox by sprinting all the way from first on a blow to left center by Harry Walker. A surprised Red Sox shortstop Johnny Pesky hesitated on relaying the ball to the home plate as Slaughter never slowed down in his race to score.

Slaughter was in the majors for 18 years with a career batting mark of .302. He led the league in 1946 with 130 runs batted in, and played in eight all star games. He's now baseball coach at Duke University, and owns a farm in Roxboro, N.C.

Harry (The Hat) Walker, now manager of the Astros, had a lifetime batting average of .296 and led the league in batting in 1947 with .363. He played in two all star games and three world series and got the game-winning hit that scored Slaughter.

Medwick, a Hall of Famer, was one of the great Houston Buff favorites before going to the majors. He is the last National Leaguer to win the Triple Crown, batting .374, hitting 31 home runs and leading in 154 runs in 1937 when he was named the league's Most Valuable Player. Medwick had a 17-season batting average of .324.

Texas 4th In Seafood Value

AUSTIN — Texas ranked fourth in 1971 in the value of seafood landed for commercial purposes.

The Lone Star State followed California, Alaska and Louisiana in the value of its fishery products.

Muhammad Ali Admits Quarry May Be Strongest Of The Two

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Muhammad Ali admits Jerry Quarry might be stronger than he and hit harder.

"But I'm skillful and creative and artistic and I'll beat him," the former world heavyweight boxing champion declares of his Tuesday night 12-round bout against the Southern California Irishman.

"I've boxed against stronger men and beat them," Ali adds. "I hit hard enough to hurt and I've boxed so regular and I'm hitting so fast that I'll win."

"Thinking and speed wins heavyweight fights, not just strength."

Quarry had declared earlier he was the physically stronger of the two and would put pressure on Ali in this rematch of their 1970 bout in Atlanta when the Irishman was cut in the third round and the fight stopped.

Ali stands to earn $500,000 for the Quarry fight at the Las Vegas Convention Center yet he looks ahead to an even bigger payday, another multi-million dollar meeting with Joe Frazier, the heavyweight king who beat him last year.

"He's got to fight me to clear the slate," the ex-champ said after Friday's workout.

Ali ranks as the No. 1 heavyweight contender and Quarry No. 2. On the same card, Jerry's brother Mike challenges champion Bob Foster for the light-heavyweight title.

The Gossamer Glory Of All Championship Seasons

NEW YORK—(NEA)—On stage, in the hit off-Broadway play, "That Championship Season," the old basketball coach has just put a record on his phonograph, still spinning his web around the four members of his championship team. The ex-players at this 20-year reunion in the coach's house, would be enticed to relive their gossamer glory, despite their paunchy, gloomy lives now. "You were once rare and beautiful things, boys," the coach says. "Don't ever grow old on me."

Then the record comes on: hoarse, hysterical crowd; frenetic announcer: "Ten seconds to go, one point down, the ball is passed in. The title is riding on this final play. . . And they score! They score!"

In the dark audience, Dave Golden sat and grew goose-pimples cold. It brought back real-life memories for him.

The play is based on a fictional Pennsylvania high school state championship basketball team of 1952. Golden was the star of the nonfiction - Pekin High School team which won the Illinois state basketball championship eight years ago, in 1964.

Golden was curious about the play. He wondered if he might catch a glimpse of himself - past, present or future-somewhere in it. "I don't think I did," said Golden. "But the play scared me anyway. I've still got 12 years to go."

Unlike the now middle-aged men in the play, who stayed their dreary lives in their small home town, Golden left Pekin. A high school All-American, Golden received a basketball scholarship to Duke University. He became co-captain of the team his senior year. He is married now and lives and works in New York City.

"My folks would like me to come back home," said Golden, "but I know I can't. Visits are all right. Pekin's a nice town. But I couldn't live there again. I don't think I'd ever be allowed to

Gable Confident He'll Get Berth

ANOKA, Minn. (AP)—Dan Gable says he feels "very confident" he can win a berth at 149½ pounds on the U.S. Olympic Wrestling Team.

Gable, at Waterloo, Iowa, defeated Larry Owings of the University of Washington 7-1 Friday night for his fourth straight victory in the Olympic trials.

Iowa State's 400-pound heavyweight Big Chris Taylor also continued to overwhelm opponents, pinning Larry Lathrop of Manteca, Calif., at 2:38.

Serhio Gonzalez of UCLA won his fourth straight bout, at 105½, with an 8-2 decision over Mike Perusky of Waukegan, Ill.

At 114½, John Morley of the New York Athletic Club won by default when David Brusky of Rosemount, Ill., suffered a shoulder injury in the second period of their match.

In the 125½ pound class, Rick Sanders of Portland, Ore., grabbed a third straight pin, defeating Mark Sanderson of Pleasant Grove, Utah, at 4:48.

grow up, to grow past my senior year in high school.

"We won the state championship in my junior year. We lost in the quarterfinals in my senior year. You walk down the street, or you go into any bar in town, and the talk is still—'Dave, you remember that game when . . .'" and "We should have won the championship in '65, too."

Golden, still trim, is 24 years old but appears older. He is round-shouldered like many fine athletes, and seems a bit stooped, and shorter than his full 6-1. His hair is thinning. He also seems articulate beyond his years and his eyes behind glasses are mature and thoughtful.

He has had time to think, these last eight years since the championship. He was a swift, precocious success in small-town American terms, since the local high-school basketball team is often the highest and most important form of serious entertainment there. Golden and his teammates prepared for their future, like concert pianist prodigies, as long ago as the fifth grade when organized drills were instituted.

"Basketball was my whole life in my younger days, starting at age 10," said Golden. "Now I realize that it is just a part of life. And what you do on the court is often separate—despite what

Schaefer Qualifying Shut Down By Rains

MOUNTPOCONO, Pa. (AP)—Heavy rains and serious flooding conditions in the area have washed out this weekend's qualifying runs for the $400,000 Schaefer 500-mile auto race at Pocono International Raceway.

Race officials announced Friday that the 33 fastest cars for the July 2 championship event will be selected in time trials next Thursday and Friday.

The 2.5-mile raceway, unique because it features two long straights and one short one and only three corners, was closed today. Officials were to decide job on a garbage truck, played some semi-pro ball, then decided to return to Duke to complete work for his degree.

He then came to New York, where he thought opportunities would be greatest. He spent one year as a physical education instructor at the Grand Central YMCA. No future there, he thought. He looked around. Nothing much came to him. Finally, he caught on in the sales training program of the Hartford Insurance Co. And he wonders if he will ever reach the heights he attained as a 17-year-old school boy. "I'd hate to think that that was the crowning point of my life," he said. "I'd like to get really good at insurance, if I stay in insurance."

About the old glory days of high school, Golden says he still has memories. He will visit his old coach whenever he returns home. But he has lost contact with most of his former teammates. And his trophies, and his scrapbook?

"There was one moment in the play," said Golden, "when one of the former players said, 'I don't believe in trophies any more, coach.' Well, I don't either. I still have my trophies. And they're nice. But they're in a trunk. And I never open the trunk anymore."

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

SOMEBODY CARES COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Tackle John LeHeup and all other University of South Carolina athletes will spend nine weeks this summer demonstrating to underprivileged youngsters in the Columbia area that "somebody cares about them."

The program will be sponsored by the Presbyterian churches in Columbia and the city recreation department. LeHeup is from Tampa, Fla., where he worked in such a program the past two summers.

Golden said that the title team gave him an inflated and distorted view of himself, and of the world. "I thought that things would always come easy for me, as easy as success in basketball did," he says. "I went to college and let my academics slide. And I didn't prepare well for the future. I was always the basketball player."

After Duke, Golden tried out for the Indiana Pacers. He was cut. And he was rocked. He knew his basketball career was over. What now? He went back home that summer of 1969, got a Saturday whether any activity would be allowed today.

Rains associated with tropical storm Agnes had shut the track down five of the six scheduled practice days.

The race, No. 2 event in USAC's "triple crown" series that includes Indianapolis and Ontario, Calif., drew 45 driver-car entries. However, only 29 drivers had been able to get on the track.

Sports

Enroll Kids In Safety Program

AUSTIN—What's your son or daughter doing this summer? Camping, fishing or loafing will take up a good deal of time for Texas youngsters. But have you given any thought to enrolling the kids in the Parks and Wildlife Hunter Safety Program?

The program is open to youths who have passed their 12th birthday and the charge is minimal.

Since January, 1,200 volunteer instructors have been certified by this department. Approximately 30 instructors are responsible for certifying the majority of the more than 300 students trained under the program.

The department estimates that 1,000 students will be certified this summer and from 30,000 to 50,000 by the end of 1972.

August and September should be the peak months before the fall hunting season.

The objectives of the program are to reduce hunting casualties and perpetuate and expand a quality recreational opportunity for youngsters.

It's too early to gauge the success of the hunter safety program but statistics for last year indicate a need for such instruction. Of the 122 people involved in hunting accidents last year, 25 per cent were 16 years or younger.

For information contact local Game Management Offices of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department or write to Hunter Safety Coordinator, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin.

Teaff Places Emphasis On Remaining Realistic

WACO, Tex. (AP)—You can say one thing about Grant Teaff — he isn't going to get carried off in a dream world.

"We're trying to build a sound offense and a sound defense and not depend on the new coach and a rah-rah attitude," Teaff says. "We know we've got tough sledding ahead. We have to be realistic. The biggest problem we have is that we're trying to build a winning tradition and winning attitude."

The former Angelo State coach, who replaced Bill Beall, recently completed his first football spring training camp at Baylor where Southwest Conference victories have been rare in the last several seasons.

"We developed a sense of pride in the spring workouts and you've got to have pride before you have total effort," Teaff says. "And you've got to have a total effort to develop a winning program. We've made a good first step, but we've got a long way to go."

Teaff has seen some good things which give him optimism for the autumn.

"I believe we're going to have quality and depth at running back," Teaff says. "We're going to have some ability and depth at quarterback. And we're going to have a good first-team defense."

Sophomore quarterbacks to be Neal Jeffrey of Overland strong of Houston looked good in the final Bear spring game.

"I think Jeffrey could be an unusual sophomore and you can't count Armstrong out of it, either," Teaff says. "At tailback Godfrey White gives us quality and speed. Marcus Rogers and Billy Wilson have been two of our most pleasant surprises at running back."

Defensively, Teaff says the Bears could "be real good."

He cites defensive ends Roger Goree and Mike Black, tackles Coy Zunker, Richard Mason, and soph' Joe Johnson as winners.

"If Millard Neely (All-American noseguard from Tyler JC) comes in here and plays like we think he can, we'll move someone to the offensive line to add strength there," Teaff says.

Overall depth is one of Teaff's biggest problems—that and an experienced offensive line.

"We have less size and experience than any other conference school," Teaff says. "The people we have in the interior offensive line made vast improvements but there is still a long way to go."

Teaff says Cary Dorman has been a pleasant surprise at center, but he still lacks quickness. Harold Rodgers has ability at guard, but he's handicapped by his size. In his case, you're sending a boy of about 265 against defensive linemen who are 265 pounders."

Teaff adds "We hope, of course, that the junior college people who are coming in this fall can help us. But, looking at it realistically, our offensive line is likely to be only average."

West Texas Turkey Crop Looking Good

SAN ANGELO—It takes rain to grow turkeys in West Texas' Permian Basin.

The resident fowls have slaked their thirst and are working overtime to make up for last season's poor hatch, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife biologist George Litton of Sweetwater.

Officials are optimistic about this year because, like most other wildlife in the Permian Basin, the turkey flocks thrive in direct proportion to the amount of rain and vegetation.

Observers driving census lines in the area report large numbers of nesting hens and some birds that have already hatched their young.

Consider 'Consequences'

In nature there neither rewards nor punishments," said 19th century agnostic Robert G. Ingersoll. "There are consequences."

Unfortunately, in human life as well, there are not always rewards or punishments—what men call justice. Nevertheless, our deeds most definitely have consequences.

On Sept. 15, 1963, four small black girls were killed in the bombing of a church in Montgomery, Ala. On April 7, 1970, a white judge was killed during a breakfast attempt by three black men on trial in a Marin County, Calif., courtroom.

The second event was not, of course, a consequence of the first. The one crime did not cause, explain or justify the other.

But there is a connecting link between them, a woman named Angela Davis, who was charged with complicity in the abduction of the judge and was eventually completely exonerated by a jury.

The link lies in the fact that Miss Davis, who was 19 years old and living in Montgomery at the time of the bombing, later cited this insane atrocity as one of the things that profoundly influenced her life, that helped her turn against the kind of America she saw around her, and made her adopt a career as an activist and "radical."

She was widely quoted after her acquittal as saying that her opinion of American justice hadn't changed. The only fair trial for her, she said, would have been no trial at all.

Yet the person or persons responsible for the deaths of four little girls in Montgomery have never been brought to trial. It would be obscene to say that in this case, no trial was a fair trial.

There was neither reward nor punishment after what happened in Montgomery, but more consequences have flowed from that crime than human wisdom can tell—and from every other act of hate ever committed by white against black.

That intelligent, talented blacks like Angela Davis have lost all faith in the ultimate justice of American society is only one of those consequences.

Dates By Sex Machine

They've finally gone and done it—replaced sex with a machine.

No cause for alarm, though, at least not yet. The only sex life affected is that of California date palms, which produce all of the commercial dates grown in the United States.

Because male and female palms are widely separated, no natural pollination occurs. Up to now, all pollinating has had to be done by hand.

The problem is that growers are having trouble finding men able and willing to climb the towering 50-to-60-foot trees.

Thus the interest in a mechanical pollinator invented by two engineers, Roger Perkins of the University of California, and Gallen Brown of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"The outlook for mechanized pollinating looks good," says Perkins. "In three years of testing we have achieved up to 100 per cent pollination by machines, and yields have been as good as those from hand-pollinated trees."

Mechanized pollinating may reduce human labor needs by 50 per cent, he adds.

In date palm sex, as in other kinds, where there's a will there's always a way.

And I Quote

Have you noticed the disparity of "Help Wanted" and "Situation Wanted" ads?—My heart bleeds for these "unemployed" thousands—The help wanted ads fill several pages in each issue of the daily papers—and the situation wanted ads, a sparse three inches. I lived through the most famous "depression" in the history of our country, and even then, anyone who wanted a job could get it. I'm desperately afraid that the trend, these days, is "something for nothing"—and other words, "Let George Do It!" and you, my working friend, and I are GEORGE.

—Metairie (La.)
Jefferson Parish Times

Soviet Pact: Look What Is Left Out

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—What was omitted from the U. S.-Soviet arms agreement may be more significant than what was agreed on.

The omissions give strong clues as to what line Moscow will push in the continuing arms race.

The agreements are likely to nudge the Soviet Union toward even more vigorous meddling in Latin America, South and Southeast Asia and the Mediterranean in an attempt to find added bases for the Russian submarine and surface fleets.

Bases were not controlled by the agreement and it became apparent in the discussions that Russian strategists are convinced the American worldwide system of bases gives Washington undue advantage in sea-based missile and surface warfare.

The Russians intervention worldwide undoubtedly will be aimed both at gaining bases for their own fleets and in inducing countries allied with the United States to deny their harbors to American nuclear submarines and their land to American nuclear-carrying planes.

The agreements are expected also to push the Russians toward even greater work on cruise missiles, low-flying guided missiles which can evade most radar defenses. These can be fired from surface ships and submarines. The Soviet Union already has made considerable progress on very short range cruise missiles such as the Styx.

Cruise missiles known to this reporter as being developed by any country will have a potential range of a few miles to a hundred or so. The prospect however, is that within a decade a 1,000-mile version might become practical.

With presently known defense techniques, such missiles would make Washington almost defenseless, even with the 100-missile ABM system now proposed. For, as noted above, the cruise missiles would fly in too low for radar to give sufficient warning.

The cruise missile is not limited by the agreements. Unless adapted to air use by bombers which could hide like submarines, it would give the Russians a major advantage in attacking mainland targets. For, with its limited range, the projected 1,000-mile cruise missile fired from a submarine could be highly effective against the U. S. east and west coast.

But by contrast, only a small percentage of the Russian people and Russian industry are sufficiently close to stretches of sea wide enough to provide sufficient hiding places for the missile-firing submarines.

The major weakness of the agreements probably is that, other than for the limited ABM systems allowed near each capital, they make no provision for the protection of either country's command, control and communications systems—the means by which a head of government keeps in contact and control.

Protection of command, control and communications is essential not only to enable a country to feel assured it can successfully protect itself in a war, but equally essential in bringing a war to a quick end if the outbreak is accidental.

But to end the war, once started, both need to be able to control their forces.

This omission contrasts sharply with what this reporter regards as the most significant item actually written into the agreements—guaranteed protection for the spy satellites of both nations. If this part of the bargain is adhered to, it should lessen greatly the chances for both accidental and deliberate war.

The more thoroughly we know what the Soviet Union is doing, and the more certain they are that we know exactly what they are doing, the less likelihood of Soviet accidents or chance-taking.

Why this same protection was not provided for command, control and communications is not at all clear.

Children Get Too Much Of Everything Too Soon

By PAUL HARVEY
Melbourne, Australia: The sex criminal is 13.

New York City: Police commissioner says most arrested for serious crimes are age 15.

Milan, Italy: The armed robbery gang leader is 14.

Where have all the children gone; the wide-eyed, innocent, eager, happy young?

Today's city-bred youngsters appear to have been born old. So frequently, faces are lined with cynicism at 13. Dr. E. James Anthony, St. Louis psychoanalyst, says part of this prematurity results from boredom; they've had too much of everything too soon.

University of Chicago law professor, Franklin Zimring, says young blacks are responsible for most of Chicago's increase in robbery-related killings; too much of everything can be their problem—unless it's too much narcotics.

In Australia, so many sex criminals are too young to be tried as criminals that they are resorting to injections of estrogen, a female hormone, to reduce the unbridled appetite of these children.

Also, early sex experience leaves less to anticipate. One

H.L. Hunt Writes

Government officials play word games so that the people are not fully aware of how serious the economic crisis in this country is. One phrase currently in use is "full employment budget."

This is not meant to blame all misdemeanor on parents; some youngsters are the victims of TV, or prosperity of "the times."

But the areas of our nation where I still see great expectation in the eyes of school-age audiences are the more rural regions where old-fashioned virtues survive intact; where parents are an example worth following because they are following an example worth following.

Under "full employment budgeting," the federal government spends as if it had the revenues produced by an economy with unemployment cut to four percent. In reality, of course, the revenues are much less, and the budget is sadly out of balance.

Congressman Mahon explained that such "sugar-coated deficits" helped lower our guard in fiscal year 1972 to the point that we are now running an estimated $8 billion deficit even in terms of the full employment budget. The real-world deficit is almost $40 billion.

The Texas Congressman pointed to the only real solution to our fiscal problems: "Except in time of war or deep emergency, why not restrict public spending to the revenues in hand or in sight? Pay for it or put it off until we are willing or able to do so."

If such policy were to be seriously considered, there would be anguished cries from free-spending politicians and special interest groups. But surely the majority of our citizens, sick and tired of inflation, would understand that the only way to restore a sound economy and stop runaway prices is for the government to return once again to a balanced budget.

Your Health

By Lawrence E. Lamb
Eat Eggshells for Calcium?

Dear Dr. Lamb—On a television show they demonstrated how eggshells could be pulverized in liquid drinks in a blender. I haven't tried it yet, but wondered about the possibility of cholesterol in the eggshells. I am glad to hear about the calcium. I hadn't thought of that and I could use more as I seem to have difficulty in getting enough milk into me. We use nonfat milk and occasionally buttermilk and have tried to cut down our cholesterol intake in other ways.

Dear Reader—No, there is no cholesterol in the eggshells and if you like the particular drinks described I can't see any harm in using them to provide a source of calcium. Also, there is no cholesterol in egg white and it is an excellent source of protein for cooking. I strongly support the use of egg whites in the diet as a good, cheap source of protein. It is only the egg yolk that people are concerned about in terms of either cholesterol or fat content. If you want to cut down on the cholesterol intake you can use a lot of recipes that call for a whole egg by modifying them and using two egg whites rather than one whole egg.

I thoroughly approve of your using nonfat milk powder for cooking and other nonfat milk products. Although it is true that milk has some cholesterol it is not a high cholesterol food. The big concern about whole milk is the relatively large amount of saturated fat it contains. Saturated fat seems to stimulate the body to produce cholesterol in the body itself which in turn leads to the formation of fatty deposits in the arteries. You should be just as concerned about saturated fats from other sources besides milk.

I was quite shocked recently to hear one of our self-appointed grand poobahs of nutrition explaining on a national TV show that skim milk was harmful because you need the milk fat to absorb vitamin A from the digestive tract. That theory is World War I vintage. Anyone who knows anything about nutrition knows that there are so many other sources of fat in the diet besides milk that it is almost impossible to have a fat free diet that would prevent absorption of Vitamin A.

I am particularly pleased, however, at the great strides that large segments of the dairy industry have made in providing useful low fat or nonfat milk products such as the excellent nonfat dry milk powders that are available, the uncreamed cottage cheese or low fat cottage cheeses and the low fat milk or some of the fortified skim milk products.

Does all the talk about cholesterol disturb you? If so, you'll want to read Dr. Lamb's booklet in which he answers your questions about this subject. Send 50 cents to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, N.Y., N.Y. 10019. Ask for "Cholesterol" booklet.

Rearview Mirror

BY TEX DEWEESE
Editor of The News

FIRST THING today we are calling the school teachers to attention. This morning's classroom lesson is taken from the June issue of Texas Outlook, official publication of the Texas State Teachers Association.

If you haven't already studied your homework for June, turn to Page 22 and read the article that begins there, titled "Getting Education Out of the Firing Line." Its author is John McKenzie, principal of Reagan High School in Austin.

We have had several telephone calls and a personal contact or two about some statements in the article by Mr. McKenzie.

It is probably unfair to Mr. McKenzie to quote a sample paragraph without publishing the entire piece, but it will explain why there were some raised eyebrows, a mental shock or two and a bit of apprehensive astonishment displayed by some who read it.

For example—and again you are reminded this is not exactly "cricket"—take the following lifted paragraphs:

"I FORESEE a school truly geared to the child. Children will run the school, children will teach the school, and children will comprise the school. There will be no grade divisions, no retainees, no failures. Each child will study what he wants to study, when he wants to study, if he wants to study, and in his own manner. Age will be no restriction to course selection. And every student that a student wishes to study will be offered."

And here's the statement that will upset your recliner and sprawl you on the floor:

"If a six-year-old wants to study physics, he may do so. If an 18-year-old wants to study finger painting, he may do so. If a 14-year-old wants to study lockpicking or pornography he may do it—just so long as the subject is relevant to him. Relevance is the key word to educational success, and today's schools are hopelessly irrelevant to the student's true needs."

"What right does an adult, far out of touch with the true world of today, have to tell a child what he should study. Who knows better than a child what is truly relevant to him?"

AS UNCLE Ben used to say, how do you like THEM apples? Apparently there are some folks, including teachers, who don't like them even a little bit.

To any teacher who now rushes to find the June issue of Texas Outlook and learn what we're writing about—and to those who have read it only once—we insist that you stay after school, go to the blackboard and write 100 times "I can't believe I missed the WHOLE thing!"

Meanwhile, we dropped Principal McKenzie a note about reaction to his article in some circles. If he answers, his comments (and ours) will be continued in a future column in collaboration with Schoolhouse Kitty.

A NOSTALGIC trip through 45 years of Lionism in Pampa was thoroughly enjoyed by those attending the Lions Club 45th anniversary banquet last Tuesday night in the Pampa Country Club.

The tour guide through those 45 years was banquet speaker Frank Culberston who said later he omitted many of the high spots because of the late hour.

But what he did dwell on was well worth the time and one suspects his audience really wouldn't have objected to staying a little longer. It was that interesting. But, like all smart speakers and entertainers, Culberston cut it short and left them wishing for more.

He began where all good stories should begin—at the beginning. That was the founding of the Pampa Lions Club on April 22, 1927, shortly after the Pampa boom became a daily and the oil boom was really booming. The late H. Otto Studer was elected first president of the 20-member club and a charter was granted May 3 of that year.

Culberston gave his listeners anecdotes about early members. That first year was the year Lindbergh soloed the Atlantic. The club weathered the stock market crash of 1929 and stayed on its course of community service.

CULBERSTON, Lions president in 1938-39, said the club held its first meeting in the Baptist church, moved to the Methodist Church, then to the old Schneider Hotel (now the abandoned Pampa Hotel) and back to the Methodist church basement where the weekly luncheons have been held ever since.

He told the story of the Lions Club Minstrels, started by the late John Sturgeon, brother of Aaron Sturgeon, a member of today's Pampa Lions Club.

He recalled the year when the Lions sponsored the first Soap Box Derby ever held in the Panhandle in conjunction with The Pampa News.

The second year the Derby was run on a hill north of town, it was won by Mark Bratton, son of W.A. Bratton, a former Pampa mayor and Lions Club president in 1930-31. Young Bratton went on to the International Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio, where he put Pampa on the map by winning the top award for the best designed car. Today Mark Bratton resides in Corpus Christi where he is a designer of boats.

Culberston had a perfect ending for his spot on the Tuesday night program. He called the names of 17 deceased past presidents. A member of the Lions Club placed a white rose in a vase at the speaker's table. An 18th rose was placed in memory of all deceased members. The impressive memorial service concluded with the banquet audience standing in silent tribute.

SOTTO VOCE: That strange odor that's been hanging over Pampa's East Side doesn't necessarily come from just one spot, says the City Hall Cat who currently is doing practically all of his night-time roaming west of Cuyler and north of Foster. Incidentally, Hobart Street Hannah has joined the Rearview Mirror staff to see if she can stir up more tidbits with an in-depth interest for the distaff side of the house. And Hannah is quite a gal.

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicagoans now can have the fun of eating on a plush railroad diner without going anywhere. The Rock Island Lines has installed a diner and club car from the old Golden State Limited on Track 1 of La Salle Street Station and opened them as a restaurant serving luncheon and dinner. In conjunction with the Southern Pacific, the Rock Island operated the Golden State Limited between Chicago and Los Angeles until declining patronage forced its discontinuance.

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — A Leeds University researcher says some food firms have developed poor quality products especially for institutions. He said one manufacturer admitted selling a certain kind of soup to hospitals that he would not dare offer to hotels or retail customers.

HALIFAX (AP)—Archers bagged only four deer in the Chignecto game sanctuary in northern Nova Scotia in 1971. Largest specimen dropped during the two-week season was a 190-pound 15 point buck. The sanctuary is the only area in the province where bow-and-arrow hunters are permitted to hunt deer during a special season.

POLLUTION SOLUTIONS

ELECTRICITY-IT DOES SO MUCH GOOD

The ELECTRIC Company

FOR SO MANY PEOPLE

Providing enough power to take the smoke out of smoke stacks ... to operate new urban mass transit systems ... to recycle junk metal for new uses ... whatever ways engineers, scientists or technologists think up to reduce or eliminate the many varieties of pollution, chances are Reddy will be their right-hand man. Electricity is the cleanest, most versatile form of energy that can get the big jobs of environmental clean-up accomplished. It'll take a lot of brain and power, but that's a natural part of Reddy's job — serving tomorrow's needs today.

ESCAPE from confinement and relax in this shady 100x125 foot yard this summer on which you will find a 1200 square feet well built 3 bedroom fully carpeted home with the WELCOME MAT out to greet you. The drapes and curtains and TV antenna all stay in this $12,000 buy. Garage-workshop, breezeway carport, storage building in yard are bonus features. MLS 935.

4-BEDROOMS CLOSE IN ONLY $3,750

IT'S ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE! But this family have their minds set on joining a daughter in East Texas and are willing to give some lucky family a real buy here in their 1 1/2 story excellent condition home with beautifully paneled entrance hall, living and dining rooms. 4-N.

HIGHLAND AND-JARVIS SONE

Here is a 3 bedroom fairly new, fully carpeted home with cook-top and oven, attached garage, fenced yard that will be difficult to match in Pampa for $1,500 equity. It's ready to occupy. You may take over the low rate of interest loan balance by assumption, payable $194 month. MLS 929.

EAST SIDE $4,000

2 bedroom and den with attached garage on terms to match your budget. Needs outside painting. Owner has it clear and will carry loan for buyer with good credit record. MLS 890.

LARGE BRICK NORTHEAST

Owners moving out of state. Appraised by FHA. For a quick sale, they may sell for less than appraisal as is for large equity, rather than paint outside trim and minor interiors dressing up required for new financing. It's a 7 year old gem. MLS 860.

Survey Shows Visibility Problems Account For 70 Per Cent Of Auto-Motorcycle Accidents

Motorcycles - like little children - should be seen and not heard.

While the problems of rattling pipes and noisy mufflers might strike some as considerable, it is the visibility problems that pose the greatest danger.

A motorcycle study conducted by an insurance company, along with data from the company's claims files, clearly show that in 70 per cent of accidents involving automobiles and motorcycles, the autoist simply did not see the cyclist in time to prevent the accident.

The insurance company vice president and manager of the loss prevention department, explains why drivers have such difficulty seeing motorcycles.

"To get a clear understanding, hold a pencil at arm's length," he says. "That pencil will now completely obscure a motorcycle approaching at a distance of 120 feet. A motorcycle traveling 30 miles per hour will take 2.7 seconds to cover 120 feet."

The most common type of automobile-motorcycle accident occurs when the two vehicles are travelling in opposite directions on the same road. The autoist turns left at an intersection or into a shopping center, moving across the lane of the cyclist. The driver of the car does not see the cyclist in time to react and one more tragic highway statistic results. One way the cyclist can help himself with the visibility problem is to use his headlight during the day as well as night.

A study by the Wisconsin Division of Motor Vehicles showed that 65 per cent of the cyclists felt that use of their headlight made them more visible in city traffic and 85 per cent felt the headlights helped in rural traffic. About 92 per cent of the autoists involved said motorcycle headlights helped the visibility problem in city traffic and 94 per cent said it was a definite aid in rural traffic.

Several states have already enacted legislation requiring headlight usage by motorcycles during daylight hours and many others are likely to follow suit.

Motorcycling has caught on in the United States, both as a means of inexpensive transportation and as a form of recreation and sport. While auto registrations have increased about 35 per cent in the last decade, motorcycle registrations have soared by more than 250 per cent.

Today motorcycles represent slightly more than two per cent of all motor vehicles registered. They account for only one per cent of all traffic accidents. Yet, due largely to the lack of protection for riders, they represent close to three per cent of all highway fatalities.

Motorcycle accidents number among the worst in terms of severity. Solving the automobile-motorcycle safety problem has to be a two-way street. It requires an equal degree of safety awareness and decision driving on the part of the autoist as well as the cyclist.

For his own sake, the automobile driver must respect a motorcycle as he would any other motor vehicle. He must allow proper following distance and not attempt to pass the cyclist on a single lane road where passing is not allowed. The car driver should be especially careful about making any turns across the oncoming lane of traffic.

There are a good number of precautions a cyclist can take for his own protection. He can make himself more visible at all times by using his headlight. He can wear fluorescent protective gear during the day and reflectorized clothing and accessories for night driving.
