

Major Flood Warnings Issued For 3 States; Agnes Claims 47 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tropical Storm Agnes and a new storm developing inland dumped more rain on the soaked communities of central Pennsylvania and southwestern New York today, while the Ohio River at Pittsburgh surpassed flood stage. The death toll in the storm's wake climbed to 47 by late morning, with a score or more missing and feared dead. Major evacuations were under way in parts of western Pennsylvania and New York State. The National Weather Service in Pittsburgh reported the water level at The Point—the juncture of the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers where the Ohio begins—was 25.9 feet. Flood level is 25 feet. The Point is in downtown Pittsburgh.

"As of now, we're saying the river could go as much as 10 feet over the flood stage," the spokesman said, noting that radar had tracked new rain moving toward the area from Ohio. "Before this thing is over, we are going to be in for a major flooding on the Ohio, Allegheny and Monongahela rivers," predicted William Long, a weather service hydrologist. Meanwhile Agnes—demoted several days ago from hurricane status—continued her pout, packing a ravaging clout. In Elmira in western New York State, where up to half the city's 40,000 residents had been evacuated, the Chemung River left its banks. At Corning, where the Chemung also flooded, water poured over 23-foot high dikes and cascaded into the downtown area. Virtually all the 17,000 residents had been evacuated. The Allegheny broke from its banks in Olean and Salamanca, N.Y. National Guard units in both New York and Pennsylvania were assisting the evacuation of thousands from flood-threatened and rain-ravaged communities. Flood warnings were issued for all of western Pennsylvania as the new rains moved into the area from the west. State police said the death count in the state at midmorning stood at 22, up from 12. Eight persons were listed as missing. "We have a major disaster developing," a spokesman for the National Weather Service in Pittsburgh had said before the Ohio surpassed the flood stage. Transportation and utilities were crippled from Virginia to near Albany, N.Y., in Agnes' wake. Several communities were forced to boil drinking water to assure purity. As the James River flooded over its banks in Richmond, Va., Gov. Linwood Holton declared a state of emergency in Virginia. He said he would ask President Nixon to declare the state a disaster area. On the Allegheny above Pittsburgh, at least two docks were ripped from their moorings by the rampaging waters, sending a score of boats pinwheeling wildly downstream. To the south in Richmond, Va., officials girded for a feared cresting of the James River at the 35-foot level this afternoon—26.5 feet above the flood stage. City and state offices and financial and federal agencies in downtown Richmond were closed for the day. Agnes also stirred up Lake Erie, lashing the shoreline of Ohio with waves up to 12 feet high and creating a flood hazard with heavy rains in some areas. There was no immediate word on when the sprawling, swirling Ohio might crest. The drenching rain, now in its fourth day, was also causing widespread mudslides in western Pennsylvania. Slides were occurring "faster than we can possibly keep up with them," said a spokesman for the state transportation department. Massive evacuations were under way in Harrisburg, Wilkes-Barre and Clearfield County. Rivers were overflowing in Philadelphia.

VEE Cases Reported In Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has sounded a seasonal alert for equine encephalomyelitis, sleeping sickness of horses. The department urged owners throughout the country to vaccinate their horses, ponies, mules and burros for the three types of encephalomyelitis present in the United States. It said Mexico already has reported three outbreaks of the deadly Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) this year. The outbreaks show a northward progression with the latest located in the state of Durango, about 650 miles from the Texas border. The department said effective vaccines are available to immunize horses against the three horse sleeping sicknesses found in this country: VEE plus Eastern and Western equine encephalomyelitis (EEE and WEE). "All three diseases are transmitted to horses by mosquitoes. A serious VEE outbreak occurred in this country in 1971, and another outbreak is feared this year."

20 Quakes On Moon Detected

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Seismometers left on the moon by Apollo astronauts have detected 20 different source locations of moonquakes and all are from deeper beneath the surface than any quake on earth, a scientist said here Thursday.

Dr. Gary Latham of the Lamont-Doherty observatory of Columbia University said the source of the energy for the quakes are all about 600 miles beneath the moon's surface in a zone that he says may "be something special." Latham said some type of energy in the zone is causing small, but periodic quakes which are being detected by the seismometers at the Apollo landing sites. The quake sites are being pinpointed, he said, but it's still unknown exactly what causes them. Latham said the moon could be molten at depth, or it could be cooling and contracting. The small quakes occur monthly whenever the moon passes through the point in its orbit nearest the earth. This indicates, he said, that tidal stresses have some triggering effect. Latham said the seismometers have also picked up a hint of a lunar core. This is indicated by reflected seismic signals, he said. "There may be a deep reflector in the moon," he said, but it's too early to determine if this is a core. "We can't make a good case for that now," he said. "We have just a hint."

Latham made his remarks at a news conference. Another scientist at the conference, Dr. Farouk el Baz of Bellcomm Inc., announced that he has discovered a new mountain range and a basin on the moon. By studying special lunar photographs taken by Apollo 16 astronauts, el Baz said he has found the formations on the lunar far side. The American Mountains make up one side of an impact ring within the Arabin Basin, which he said was formed more than four billion years ago by a meteorite impact.

President Signs Into Law $21 Billion Education Bill

SPACE SHUTTLE—Development of a space shuttle transportation system is a nation-wide project which will involve Texas companies and workers. The Orbiter will take scientists, satellites and laboratories into earth orbit on a routine basis, according to Stephen H. Nelson, director of material at the space division of North American Rockwell, a California company under consideration by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration as a contractor for the project.

Busing Provisions Criticized By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today signed the $21.3-billion education bill but criticized its antibusing provisions as a congressional "retreat from an urgent call for responsibility." He said the busing provisions are "inadequate, misleading and entirely unsatisfactory." Referring to his own proposals for a one-year moratorium on any new court-ordered busing, the President said Congress "has not given us the answer we requested; it has given us rhetoric. It has not provided a solution to the problem of court-ordered busing; it has provided a clever political evasion." The education bill contains wide-ranging provisions to aid education from elementary to graduate school which the administration calls a landmark measure. Also tacked onto it was a provision that would halt for 18 months any school desegregation ordered by the federal courts until all appeals had been exhausted. Nixon declared that the moratorium the bill offers is "temporary; the relief it provides is illusory." The 92nd Congress, he charged, has apparently decided to "dump the matter into the lap of the 93rd. Not in the course of this administration has there been a more manifest congressional retreat from an urgent call for responsibility." Nixon had told a news conference Thursday the antibusing provision "totally fails" to deal properly with the subject. If he vetoed the bill, Nixon said, he doubted he could get the education provisions back on his desk in the form he wants and then get separately a straight-out moratorium on new school-busing orders, which he favors. Summoning reporters to his Oval Office for an impromptu news conference—his first in three months—Nixon limited questions to domestic policy. However, he promised to hold another meeting next week and to take questions on any topic. The President urged approval of the strategic arms limitation agreement, now being debated in Congress, followed by a favorable vote on the offensive weapons-development programs proposed by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and the administration. Nixon said Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev made it absolutely clear that his country will continue developing and improving weapons under the offensive-arms agreement. Unless the United States does the same, the President said, there would be no chance the Soviets would negotiate Phase 2 of the arms limitations. In addition, he said, without U.S. development programs, the Soviet Union would "be substantially ahead of the United States over-all" by the latter part of the 1970s. On other topics, Nixon said: "He will abide by the Supreme Court ruling requiring court orders for wiretapping in domestic-security cases. He will not seek additional authority from Congress in such cases." "The Pentagon made an appropriate decision" in declining to court-martial Air Force Gen. John V. Lavelle, who made unauthorized bombing raids into North Vietnam. Lavelle was relieved of duty, demoted and retired. "Federal troops are being supplied for the Miami conventions and will be used if requested. But he foresees no violent demonstrations such as occurred at the Democratic convention in Chicago four years ago." "The White House has had no involvement whatever" in the break-in at the Democratic National Committee offices in Washington. One of the five men charged in the break-in was, until after the incident, security chief for Nixon's re-election campaign. "His campaign officials were following the law in declining to make public the source of some $10 million in contributions made prior to the April 7 effective date of a new disclosure law. "If the Congress wanted this law to apply to contributions before the date in April, it could have made it apply," Nixon said.

President May Lift Meat-Import Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he is considering lifting meat-import quotas temporarily to slow the rise in food prices, while keeping open the option of tougher controls on food. Nixon told newsmen Thursday that he has directed a study of the impact of lifting the quotas, a move designed to expand the U.S. supply of meat. He conceded it may take a while for such a move to work. "It will not affect the problem immediately, but at least it would affect it over the next few months," Nixon said. As the President spoke, his Cost of Living Council, overseer of wage-price controls, met at the White House to consider whether price controls should be expanded to try to combat the sharp rise in food prices. The council will issue a recommendation by the Price Commission that the current exemption of raw agricultural products from controls be ended, or that "firm and immediate" action be taken to try to bring the food-price situation under control. But Donald Rumsfeld, council director, remarked to reporters that he regards the Price Commission's action as a "modest little missive." The spokesman said the commission's recommendation had been under study for some time. Besides removing the exemption on raw agricultural products, the government has considered a temporary freeze on farm products, limiting the costs that wholesalers and retailers can pass through when they sell food, and tougher enforcement.

Sea Tower's Absenteeism Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., drew heavy verbal fire Thursday from the Democrat who hopes to unseat him in the November general election, Barefoot Sanders. Accusing Tower of a miserable record of absenteeism and of opposing progressive legislation, Sanders told newsmen: "I think Texans are moderate to moderate-conservative. I think Tower is out of step with that. His record is not at all progressive." Asked if he was trying to picture Tower as another far-right conservative like Barry Goldwater, Sanders replied, "I don't have to paint him as a Goldwater—he's already there. His votes on issues are right along the line with Goldwater. But the fact also is he hasn't been there and hasn't been paying any attention to Texas on the issues."

Local Home Burglarized

The Gray County Sheriff's Department is investigating the burglary of the home of Bob McCoy, 210 W. Harvester sometime Thursday night. McCoy reported the theft of clothing containing his billfold with some $200, and cards in it. According to the investigative report of Deputy D.L. Day, McCoy placed his clothing on a rack in his bedroom upon retiring for the night. The house was locked with exception of two windows used for ventilation. According to the report, the burglary bore strong indications of having been committed by someone familiar with the layout of the house and the habits of McCoy. The investigation will continue.

Price Denies Charges On Attendance Record

By LARRY HOLLIS
Rep. Bob Price denied today that he has a poor attendance record at Congressional committee and subcommittee meetings. Rep. Olin E. Teague, a Democrat House member from Bryan, Tex., charged Wednesday that Price, a Republican, had only a 58 per cent attendance record for meetings of the House Science and Astronautics Committee and two of its subcommittees. Teague made his charges against Price after Price sent out a newsletter dated June 13 listing the attendance record of all Texas representatives for roll call votes. According to the newsletter, Teague had the lowest attendance record, with 67.8 per cent. Price has introduced a bill which would require members of Congress "to be recorded on at least 70 per cent of all roll call votes during a session of Congress or lose their jobs." In a telephone interview this forenoon, Price said his bill would make allowances for absence due to official business or illness. Price said "in all fairness" Teague had been in the hospital, which might account for his low attendance record. The Pampa congressman said Teague's charges against him were made in the nature of "a personal vendetta" but that all attendance records are printed in the Congressional Quarterly. Price said his release of the attendance figures were not directed against any one individual. He also denied he had a poor attendance record for the committee meetings. Price noted that he is a member of two full committees and five subcommittees. In addition to the Science committee, Price is a member of the Agriculture Committee. Price said he believes that the area he represents is more agriculturally oriented so he spends more time with the Agriculture Committee and its subcommittees. At present, Price said, many committee meetings are scheduled at the convenience of the chairman. As a result, many meetings often are scheduled at the same time, the Congressman said. During such a situation, Price said he usually chooses to attend the Agriculture Committee meetings but that he makes the Science Committee meetings as often as he can. "I'll compare my attendance record with any of the Texas delegation," Price said. Teague made no reference to Price's attendance at the Agriculture Committee meetings. Price said he did not understand why Teague got so upset, but "my race is not against Tiger Teague." Price said he had heard that others would try to claim he was absent when he introduced his bill on attendance. He said he introduced the bill during a regular session, then he had to leave to catch a plane to make a speaking engagement in his Congressional district. A roll call was taken after he left, and showed that Price was absent. But he stressed that he was there when he introduced the bill. Price also noted that he expects similar charges to be brought against him, including a claim that he owns a big yacht. "I do have a boat," Price said. "It's not a yacht, but what's the matter with having a boat?" Price said the criticism being directed against him has nothing to do with the issues that affect the people. "They have nothing else to talk about," he said.

Predictions For Democratic Convention

By BERNICE BEDE, OSOL

When the curtain goes up on the 1972 Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach on July 9, it will open one of the most interesting political dramas in recent history.

Abrupt change and confusion were the keystones of the primaries that led up to the convention with the experts often guessing wrong. Perhaps, astrology can provide an indication to what's ahead in the 1972 Democratic extravaganza. One thing is certain, new heights will be attained in the flood of words, pictures, analysis and commentary on this convention.

Astrologically, the high concentration of planets in changeable signs show independent factions, each with its own ax to grind, striving to make their presence felt.

Uranus in Libra indicates that the Rules Committee of the convention will play a powerful role in the proceedings. It will, on one hand, placate the young and liberal elements. On the other hand, labor and the more conservative factions will be disenchanted by regulations they feel are discriminatory.

The various divisions within the party will become evident. Most visible and prominent will be the power brokers, who will manipulate the liberal and ultra-liberal elements to suit their own purposes. Idealistic young people, for instance, may come to the convention optimistically feeling that they are going to be the dominant force. In the final analysis, this will not be the case.

Open hostility will develop between the labor-conservative elements as opposed to the young people and ultra-liberals. This is the first presidential nominating convention in which the 18-21-year olds will have a voice. What they might say with that loud voice will tend to frighten the more conservative, entrenched delegates of the party.

The United States was born on July 4, under the sign of Cancer. It is interesting to note that the convention begins with the Sun and Moon both in Cancer. Since the convention occurs during the time of the New Moon, a new image of the Democratic party may emerge.

What kind of week will it be?

Here's an astrological explanation:

Sunday, July 9, the opening day is not favorable for political deliberations. Jupiter in Capricorn will be in hostile aspect to the Moon in Cancer, causing losses through poor judgment or miscalculations. Candidates and delegates will have extravagant dispositions, causing them to make bad deals.

Monday, with the Moon still in Cancer at odds with Uranus in Libra, will be a day when name-calling and other rebellious actions are prevalent in the morning. By afternoon, calmer conditions prevail, smoothing out the work of the convention delegates. In late afternoon, Mercury's aspect favors youthful leaders, making them more articulate and convincing.

Tuesday, the third day of the convention, the Moon in Leo will be at a 120-degree angle to Neptune in Sagittarius. This will be the day of the secret deals and behind-the-scenes activities. The influence of women will increase. (Shirley Chisholm and Women's Libbers, please take note.) The deals made today will have a pronounced influence on what happens tomorrow.

There are many good influences for Wednesday. In the morning, the Moon will remain in Leo, favorably aspecting Uranus in Libra, causing sudden and unexpected changes which could create some new alliances. In the afternoon, with the Moon attaining a favorable angle to Saturn, programs and proposals of conservative elements will have the most impact. Friction will follow. By late afternoon, liberal coalitions will emerge as a counterbalance.

On Thursday, the Moon in Virgo will form a 120-degree angle to Jupiter in Capricorn, giving greater power to the old-guard elements.

If the balloting should continue until Friday, the convention may be in trouble. The Moon is well into Virgo, a conservative sign, and has an unfavorable aspect to Saturn, in the sign of youth. This causes conflicts and severe disappointments. It is not a favorable time to launch anything new — like a candidate for president.

The convention ends on Saturday with bad aspects in the early morning indicating disappointed groups. By afternoon the Moon will be in harmony with the Sun. These conservative aspects could mean the moderate forces gain the greater advantage.

An interesting side issue of the convention will be the plight of the news media. The media, represented by Gemini, will be opposed by Pluto and Neptune, indicating that both the conservative and liberal elements will be displeased with coverage. Partisans of both camps will call "bias." Some of these claims will not be without merit.

How will it all come out? Birth has given each of the candidates strong horoscopes. The astrological influences merely impel, they do not compel. Each man is free to make his choices. It's how the candidates choose that creates his destiny.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey: He is a Gemini, born May 27, 1919. Saturn is in his Sun Sign and this will make it difficult for him to capture the imagination of young people. He will, however, have the support of labor and the old-guard party leaders. This being a year of unusual coalitions and alliances, Humphrey may have to seek the support of George Wallace to aid his quest for the nomination. If he can make a deal with the Wallace supporters, it could help his chances. There is also an indication he may make a surprise announcement of his choice of running mate, which would enhance his position.

Sen. George McGovern: He is a Cancer, born July 19, 1922. McGovern's horoscope reveals that his is a power to be reckoned with. Pluto in Virgo is at the highest point in his chart, favorably affecting his Sun and Moon. In order to take maximum advantage of these aspects, he will have to make concessions to labor and conservative elements. If he goes too far down this road, he risks eroding his basic support, which is drawn mainly from young people and liberals in the party. Powerful elements will pressure him to make these concessions. The longer the balloting goes, the more likely he is to accede to these demands, which could lead to the disenchantment of his present supporters.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 23, the 175th day of 1972. There are 191 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1683, William Penn signed a friendship treaty with Indians in the Pennsylvania region. The agreement was faithfully kept by both sides for more than 60 years.

On this date: In 1722, England's queen ordered French people in Nova Scotia to take an oath of allegiance to her government within one year or leave.

In 1836, there was a surplus in the U.S. Treasury, and the $28 million was divided among 26 states.

In 1931, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty took off from New York to fly around the world.

In 1938, Congress created the Civil Aeronautics Authority to regulate air traffic.

In 1967, President Lyndon B. Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin held a summit meeting at Glassboro, N.J.

Ten years ago: Flight engineers went on strike against Eastern Air Lines and Pan American World Airways.

Five years ago: The U.S. Senate censured Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., for allegedly using campaign funds for his personal benefit.

One year ago: President Nixon said he would make disputed Vietnam war studies available to congressional committees after their secrets had been made public by the New York Times and other newspapers.

Today's birthdays: Secretary of State William P. Rogers is 59 years old. Former baseball star Don Drysdale is 36.

Thought for today: Better to wear out than to rust out. Richard Cumberland, English philosopher, 1631-1718.

Niagara's Flow: By agreement between the United States and Canada in 1950, the minimum water flow over Niagara Falls in the tourist season is 100,000 cubic feet per second and 50,000 cubic feet at other times with all water in excess of this diverted to generate power for equal use by the two countries, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

not form effective coalitions, his horoscope shows he is strong enough that week to win the nomination as the compromise candidate.

Gov. George Wallace: He is a Virgo, born Aug. 25, 1919. Wallace goes to the convention with remarkably strong aspects, both good and bad. All the powerful influences in his astrological chart are emphasized during convention week. This means that his presence and ideas will carry enormous weight. His aspects accentuate his independence. Candidates need his support. In order to gain his approval, they will have to make important concessions. One of these concessions could be a Wallace man for vice president.

Sen. Edward Kennedy: He is a Pisces, born Feb. 22, 1932. His influence on the party increases as the week progresses, peaking toward the closing days of the convention. Will he be drafted? Only as a last resort. Pisceans are very sensitive to moods and trends. With many unfavorable aspects affecting his Sun and Moon, this is not his most promising time. I believe he will not seek the nomination. His instincts are more likely to direct him to wait for a propitious cycle.

Humphrey, McGovern, Muskie, Wallace and Kennedy: Who will be the man to face Richard Nixon in November? Astrologically, the most likely to be nominated is Sen. George McGovern.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today barred the splintering of school districts into smaller ones when the result is to perpetuate racial segregation.

The 5 to 4 ruling, in a case from rural Virginia, gives federal judges broad supervisory powers over the drawing of school district boundaries.

Although Justice Potter Stewart's majority opinion did not deal directly with cases other than the two before the court he gave broad hints that strong actions by judges to break down school segregation elsewhere could be upheld.

In other actions today, the court:

—Held that convictions of white defendants are invalid if Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury.

—Ruled that a murder defendant's jailhouse confession to a policeman posing as a prisoner was "harmless error" and not enough to overturn his conviction.

Particularly, Stewart emphasized in the school district decision that the test of whether school boundaries are legally drawn was "the effect" upon

Jodie Vickery, David White Exchange Vows In Lefors

Miss Jodie Kay Vickery became the bride of David Ray White at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, June 8, in the First Baptist Church of Lefors.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Vickery, 2112 Chestnut, Pampa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.B. White of Lefors.

THE CEREMONY
David Dennis, Church of Christ minister, officiated for the double-ring service.

Miss Dietta Hills, organist, played "More," and Mrs. Betty Hannon sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The ceremony was performed before a setting of seven-branched candelabra entwined with salal foliage. Flanking the wedding party were white pedestal urns filled with arrangements of white gladioli. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de sole and re-embroidered Alencon lace, designed with a Victorian neckline, empire waistline, long Gibson-Girl sleeves and a semi-A-line skirt. The neckline, bodice and skirt were enhanced with inserts of Alencon lace, with the lace at the neckline embroidered with seed pearls.

Her mantilla veil of imported illusion, edged with Alencon lace, fell from a Bow-coif. She carried a cascade bouquet of feathered white carnations and baby's breath.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Larry Howe of Shattuck, Okla., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a floor-length, mint-green dress styled with Victorian sleeves and collar and an empire waistline. She carried a bouquet of mint-green carnations and salal foliage.

Steve Timmons of Lefors served as best man. Ushers were Jimmie Dowd of Lefors; Shane White of Pampa and Mickey White of Abilene, both cousins of the bridegroom.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church's Fellowship Hall, the serving table was centered with a fall arrangement of white snapdragons and green carnations.

The three-tiered cake, decorated in green and white, was topped with miniature wedding bells.

Mrs. Bill Lynch of Lefors, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Cheryl Lynch of Canyon, cousin of the bride, served the cake. Guests were registered by Mrs. Dennis Lambert, sister of the bridegroom. Others in the houseparty were Mmes. Bob Lynch, Jerry Fulton, C.W. James, Jack Thacker and Karen Reeves.

For the wedding trip to Lake City, Colo., the bride wore a green and white suit. Her corsage was of the carnations from her bridal bouquet.

The couple is at home at 600 N. Sumner, Pampa.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride was graduated from Pampa High School. The bridegroom, a graduate of Lefors High School, is employed by Dr. Pepper Bottling Company.

Pre-nuptial events included two showers in Pampa and one in Lefors.

By BETTY CANARY

Most young mothers have dispensed with old wives' tales and prefer to go directly to the experts for advice on children and their responses.

Unfortunately, when they try reading some of this advice, they find they need an interpreter. The following translations might help:

"At four weeks, the average baby does not follow a rigid schedule in his spontaneous activities and cravings."

(If you're not changing diapers, you're warming a bottle for him, so forget about a full night's sleep.)

"At about 16 weeks, the infant moves more deeply into his environment."

(This kid has taken over the house!)

"At around 40 weeks the tongue is used effectively in the management of morsels and in ejection."

(He spits food at you.)

"At a year he expresses satiety by gesture."

(He throws his cereal bowl.)

"At 18 months, his social insights are not much more brilliant than his perception of eliminative functions."

(He doesn't like anybody and you're still changing diapers.)

"At two years he greatly enjoys gross motor activities..."

(He hits everybody.)

"At three years, he is interested in the finer manipulation of play materials."

(He sticks modeling clay into the toaster.)

"He is, at five years, more conscious than his hitherto of cultural and other differences in the two sexes."

King Elvis Still Reigns

NEW YORK (AP)—Elvis Presley, the first king—and still king—of rock 'n' roll, gave the first New York City concert of his 16-year career Friday night to an audience of hard-core Presley fans who came to scream, listen and move to the music.

Presley came on in a gold-studded white suit with a deep V front, in which he wore a gold scarf, a white cape lined in gold, a wide gold belt and white boots. The audience didn't care that he was 37 or that he dyed his prematurely gray hair jet black. He has sold more recordings, over 400 million, than any other person or group in history, and he could do no wrong.

Every time he made one hand into a fist and jerked his arm like a cheerleader, there was screaming; every time he turned to the people sitting behind the stage, those fans screamed. The stage was set up at one end of the bowl-shaped 21,000-seat Madison Square Garden. Flash bulbs popped constantly.

Presley went quickly from one song to another, cutting off the applause for the last one by starting another. He sang some of his own hits—51 of his single records have sold more than a million copies—and a lot of songs that were hits for other people.

Most of the audience appeared to be in their teens and 20s, the same age as any rock concert audience.

Presley began with the first song he ever recorded commercially, "That's All Right, Mama." Then he sang "Proud Mary," a hit for Creedence Clearwater; "3 Dog Night's "Never Been to Spain"; Dusty Springfield's "You Don't Have To Say You Love Me"; "You've Lost that Lovin' Feelin'," a hit by the Righteous Brothers.

Then he went into "Early Elvis," which he sang even better than before, but with less pelvis action this time: "All Shook Up," "Heartbreak Hotel," "Don't Be cruel," "Love Me Tender," "Blue Suede Shoes," and the one he called "my message song for tonight," "Hound Dog."

Then he returned to more recent songs.

He threw two or three scarves into the audience, causing an eruption of screams each time, and a couple of handkerchiefs with which he had mopped his face, causing more screams. A girl jumped from the loge onto the corner of the stage beside the 20-piece orchestra backing Presley and was quickly escorted out.

Presley went on a 14-city, 14-day tour last fall with all concerts sold out. He now is starting another tour, with four concerts in Madison Square Garden, the first three sold out. The fourth, on Sunday, will probably be sold out by then.

Beach Excitement

Use your imagination when you're choosing your beach cover-ups. Gone are the days when beach wear looked like oversized robes. Now your cover-up can generate as much excitement as your bathing suit. Brief halter shifts, long bareback dresses, or tiny tops with matching briefs will cover you up in style.

Dear Abby

Mother sulks on her day

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and have an 8-month-old girl. My husband's mother lives 90 miles from here and my husband is the only son she has left. (She lost a 19-year-old son in Viet Nam three years ago.) She has one daughter, 17, who is dying of leukemia. Abby, this woman is so brave and wonderful. With all her trouble she never complains. Well, my husband and I decided to drive up to be with his mother on Mother's Day, but first we stopped off at my mother's so I could give her a Mother's Day present. We found her sulking like a child, and you should have heard her carry on. She said she was hurt that I chose to spend Mother's Day with my mother in law instead of with my own mother. Abby, my mother has three other children (all healthy and living nearby) and she had been invited to spend Mother's Day with them, but she stayed home instead, and told them all that I gave her a migraine headache! Now she's barely speaking to me. She says she could have forgiven me if it had been any day besides Mother's Day. Was I wrong?

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: No! Under the circumstances I think you did the right thing, and unless your mother isn't playing with a full deck, she knows it.

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 years old and have a 5-month-old baby, which makes me a mother, right? Well, as a mother I think I should be honored on Mother's Day, don't you? My mother doesn't seem to think so. She wants all her children to honor her, regardless.

Since this is my first Mother's Day as a mother, my husband planned to take me out for dinner. He bought me an orchid and everything. My neighbor said she'd watch my baby if I brought him over. Then my mother called and blubbered into the phone, "You mean you aren't spending Mother's Day with ME?"

When I told her of our plans, she said, "You have the rest of your life to spend Mother's Day with your husband. Who knows how many years you'll have me?" (Mother is 58 and in good health.) So I went to my mother's and had a miserable time. Never again! Should I have gone?

REGRETS

DEAR REGRETS: You should have done what you wanted to do. But once having made the decision, you should have put a smile on your face and tried to have a good time.

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law is a widow, but she is only 50 and she still likes a good time. Well, she told me that on Mother's Day she would keep my 5-month-old baby so my husband and I could go to my mother's who was making a big dinner, and having a houseful, and if I took my baby with me I wouldn't be able to help her.

Well, I later found out that at the last minute some man called my mother in law to go dancing, so she put my baby in a basket and took him to the dance! Imagine, Abby, a 5-month-old baby in a dirty, smoky hall with all that noise and a bunch of strange people breathing all kinds of germs into the air.

You don't have to answer this. I just wanted to get it off my chest.

FEELS BETTER

DEAR ABBY: For Mother's Day I received a lovely card signed, "Todd, Jennifer and Lauri," who are my grandchildren, ages 5, 3, and 14 months old. Their mother (my daughter) didn't remember me, however, and I was very hurt.

Please don't misunderstand, Abby, I love my grandchildren very much, but they are NOT my children, and even tho I am a proud grandmother, I am no less a mother.

I realize that my daughter bought the card which read, "To Granny on Mother's Day" and she signed her children's names, but it wasn't the same as receiving a sentimental Mother's Day remembrance from my daughter. I would like your opinion.

SENTIMENTAL

DEAR SENTIMENTAL: Your daughter probably feels that the best gift she's ever given you are your grandchildren. And she is reminding you of it. I'd say you were "remembered," but you'd have preferred a sentimental remembrance from your daughter, which is understandable.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Athlete's Foot Not Contagious

Contrary to popular opinion, athlete's foot is not acquired from contact with an infected person or object. Therefore chlorine foot baths at swimming pools, disposable slippers, boiling of socks, and treatment of shoes are not helpful in preventing the skin eruption, an article in "Pharmacy Times" advises.

"Athlete's foot" is actually caused by "ringworm" fungi which thrive in skin areas where excessive moisture is present.

To reduce opportunity for the fungi to grow, the American Medical Association's Committee on Cutaneous Health and Cosmetics recommends that susceptible areas not be allowed to remain moist. A booklet made available by the Committee states that heavy socks and rubber or synthetic shoe soles can increase sweating of feet and induce infection.

An ounce of begonia seeds may sell for as much as $3,500.

Opening lead—♥K

By Oswald & James Jacoby

In Utopia finesses always work. In real life there is no point trying one when you have little or nothing to gain.

West opens the king of hearts. His suit was continued. South ruffed the third lead and played a couple of rounds of trumps. Then he lost the diamond finesse.

East returned a diamond and South proceeded to play out all but one of his trumps.

West discarded several diamonds and South deduced West was short in clubs.

Therefore South cashed dummy's king of clubs and finessed for the queen against East. West's queen became the setting trick.

South was unlucky. He had lost two finesses and he had taken the right percentage play in clubs, but South wasn't half as unlucky as his partner, who watched South throw away a sure game.

If West had opened a diamond South would have had to take the diamond finesse but the way the defense went South should make his contract by the simple expedient of no finesses at all.

He should draw trumps; ruff dummy's last heart and play ace and queen of diamonds. It wouldn't matter which opponent took the trick. If he led a club he would be taking the club finesse for South. If he led anything else it would allow South to ruff in one hand and discard a losing club.

Instead of bidding four spades, your partner has bid three clubs. What do you do now?

Grass Pollens Cause Sniffles

Hay fever is usually thought of as primarily a Fall problem. However, late spring and early summer grass pollens are responsible for the next largest number of hay fever attacks.

Immunizing injections taken in time can often prevent hay fever attacks. Escaping the "season" by vacationing in a pollen-free area is also worth considering. But, for those who cannot get away, and suffer the annoying symptoms which frequently affect nose and eyes, an antihistamine decongestant medication is often recommended. Physicians advise that all medications should be taken as directed, and should not be overused.

Little Sweater That Grew Highlights Fall Collection

NEW YORK (AP) — That modest sweater has moved into a top status slot for fall.

Jay Kobrin for Maisonette calls his fall collection "the little sweater that grew." It starts with a narrow waist-length pull-over and ends with a gold metallic dolman sleeve dress.

"We're living a real life in a real world, and we want to be that comfortable," Kobrin says.

His line is one of the best for the money on the market this fall, priced around $70 to $140. Some of the dresses look as if they belong in a more expensive, understated chic price range. The clothes are a well-disciplined selection of slim sweater dresses, with a layered sweater look. They are belted and matched with cardigans.

The best of the day colors are Kobrin's soft beiges and greys. He shows the jumper look in beige with white turtle neck. Or grey and white argyle patterns, at $95. The slacks outfits include sweater sets and have a distinctive casual simplicity.

For evening, Kobrin likes sophisticated black metallic lounging pajamas or black sweater dress with shimmering cardigan. He does a simple gold dolman dress in the new short cocktail length, at $105. At David Crystal, that com-

The McGovern Image

The emergence of George McGovern from obscurity is an excellent challenge for non-involved observers to analyze further the workings of the political machinery of America.

We plan a series of commentaries on this subject in the coming days because we believe developments this election season offer a good opportunity for more people to be directed away from reliance upon the politicians.

It apparently has become such an interesting diversion that we are not likely to convince many to withdraw from participation. But it will be worthwhile if more are aware that the problems they consider important will not be solved by the holder of political office, regardless of his name or his party.

So, when we attempt to analyze the McGovern emergency we do so to point out the flexible "principles" which direct political activity. And we hope the young people who are so excited about their new franchise, will enter into the spirit of the game with no illusions.

So, let's look at George McGovern.

Is he a serious contender against Nixon?

Is he merely a sacrificial lamb, someone who will give the appearance of being a serious contender but who has been written off as expendable?

Remember Adlai Stevenson? People who pull the political strings are devious creatures. Sometimes the man they "throw to the wolves" against a sure winner is someone they want to dispose of. Sometimes he is a trial balloon, put up to test the public opinion for the next election.

We expect McGovern may be the latter. Unlike Stevenson who had to run against Eisenhower twice, McGovern would not face an incumbent in 1976's presidential lottery. And since McGovern will not be 50 until July 12, his age is ideal for a second running, four years hence.

The question is whether losing a race will tarnish the candidate.

Perhaps Richard Nixon dispelled those fears through his political comeback. Except for Nixon, no presidential loser has come back to win the presidency since Grover Cleveland. But Cleveland was unique since he first won the office in 1884 lost it in 1888 and regained it in 1892.

So if McGovern is indeed the democratic candidate in November, he will have fantastic exposure, make an excellent showing and will no doubt be kept before the public for four years and be ready when Mr. Nixon vacates the White House.

Meantime, if his past record is a barometer, he will further be tuned up by his image makers to represent the new kind of America which seems to have sufficiently drifted away from individualism, private enterprise to accept the kind of socialized one-world administration.

Not bad for a man whose political career was launched with a vote margin of but 597 votes only 10 years ago. McGovern's flexibility will be discussed later.

To Destroy Is Easier

A karate club undertook to demolish a house in Bradford, England. The house was erected over a period of many days by men using hammers, saws, crowbars, trowels, and the like. The karate specialists on the other hand employed no implement except flesh and bone, and they made much shorter work of the house than the builders did.

Here we have definite proof that it is a lot easier to tear down than it is to build up. The house, by analogy, may represent the social structure; the builders are the thousands of productive citizens of past and present who labor diligently to make a better material and spiritual environment for themselves and others. The karate experts—though nobly intended in the English demonstration—serve to teach us that a few destroyers are able to undo a great deal of hard work. Thus the revolutionaries gain great fame for effectiveness when in actual fact they merely dodge the higher challenge—improvement and progress through constructive action.

It is one of the remarkable anomalies of our times that people who cherish their designation as "liberals" should be in the forefront of those pressing for compulsory unionism. — Philadelphia Inquirer

Japanese Want Man Who Knows

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Senior Japanese officials have privately told American friends they fervently wish the United States would be represented in Tokyo by a man very close personally to President Nixon, with a strong working knowledge of both U.S. and Japanese politics.

That man would be able to understand and mesh the conflicting internal political pressures of both countries and be able to speak with authority for Nixon and with complete knowledge of his objectives.

They beg us not to send any more proper ambassador types, however talented.

They blame the lack of Japanese understanding of American domestic politics and the limited American understanding of Japan's internal situation for the frictions which have developed in the past year.

These men see an urgent need for a closer association with the United States in the years ahead—not a lessening of the ties built in the years since World War II. But they want it to be a different sort of cooperation, one less formal, perhaps, and more personal with less bureaucratic nicety and more human give and take.

Since the Japanese group involved includes both the present and likely future leaders of Japan, they speak with some authority.

As one longtime Japanese friend writes from Tokyo (a man with close relationships with the top men in the Tokyo government), Americans and Japanese have got to be "more frank and candid" about ways and means for breaking down whatever impassable arise.

There has been, he says, too much of government officials "talking to one another across a square table, limiting themselves to more or less officially-sanctioned points of argument."

His letter is typical. Other letters, too, complain of the formalized government-to-government talks where feelings are carefully controlled and hidden in the background.

The Japanese are a very human people, deeply concerned with human intentions, personal feelings and the individual problems of men and women and their families and communities.

Our compassion to Japan immediately after World War II has bound the United States to Japan more closely than most people understand. The Japanese value our friendship more than our formal alliance.

For some reason, the U.S. government, over several administrations, has not understood this. And this has been our failure.

Getting down to specifics, what some Japanese would like is for Americans and Japanese (or the American and Japanese governments) to work closely together in developing political, investment, trade and aid relationships with other countries in the Far East and the greater Pacific Basin.

There is some inclination, along this line within the higher circles of the Nixon administration also, but little action. The Japanese are concerned that with the passing of time and little done, the opportunities for such cooperation will slide and the two countries will drift apart.

Certain Japanese would like especially for the United States and Japan to work together in developing relationships with China and the Soviet Union. They believe that a coordinated (cooperative) U.S.-Japanese approach would avoid some of the political pitfalls almost certain to develop when Japan and the United States work individually with these closed, highly controlled, somewhat suspicious societies, whose political aims differ so greatly from our own.

Clearing House

Editor: I have never been one of the "Silent Americans," and once again I find it necessary to speak out against ignorance and misinformation. (RE: June 13th Clearing House letter on the Canadian River Endurance Ride). I know for a fact that Mrs. B's letter was quite amusing to knowledgeable horsemen, but I realize that not everyone who read the letter has a working knowledge of horses and the use of them.

In the first place, Mrs. B was mistaken about the event that occurred if she had read more about it or written for information, she would have found that it was the Canadian River Endurance Ride, not Race.

We all know what a race is. An endurance ride is much more complex in purpose, but again, if Mrs. B had requested information about the ride, she would have found that the principal purpose of the ride is to encourage better horsemanship and the care of using horses. If this sounds a little abstract, a perfect example would be Mrs. B. who if entered in such a ride would RUN her horse for 45 miles. It is such ignorance that establishes our purpose. Race horses run at speeds from 45 to 55 mph; the winning Arabian in the Canadian River Endurance Ride, rest stops included, made an average of just under 9 mph for the 45-mile course.

To further break this down in gaits for Mrs. B, a good endurance prospect should have a 7 mph walk and a 12 mph trot. It is indeed unfortunate that Mrs. B didn't care enough to drive 47 miles and see all the "running" of horses for 45 miles, the "cruelty to the poor animals," and all the "habitual criminals" who participated in the ride. In fact, she didn't bother to spend an 8-cent stamp to request more information about the ride.

Mrs. B also mentioned that she would like to inspect animals now that were in the ride. I invite her to do so and to bring a veterinarian along since it is quite obvious that she would not know a windpuff from a saddle gall. It might be wise if she did not come too early in the morning, as I spray for flies then, and would hate to be condemned for slaughtering the poor, innocent creatures. Is Mrs. B aware that the winning rider rode the complete course bareback to avoid saddle galls on his tender-skinned gelding? As to the aspersions cast upon the character of the entrants in the ride, I can only ignore and ridicule. What kind of person passes judgment on people she has never met, condemns them on the basis of non-existent cruelty on a subject on which she is uninformed.

Mrs. B brought up the fact that two animals were excused from the ride by the ride veterinarians; one with a stone bruise, and the other with a high pulse rate. She is guilty therein of withholding facts and being unfair in failing to mention that the high pulse rate was caused by a run-away, a fact she must have been aware of since she knew the reasons for pulling the animals. She completely dismissed the nine veterinary checks and didn't mention the checkpoints and pulse checks (which did not allow animals with a pulse rate of more than 70 to continue). A great deal of work was put forth by a great many people to insure proper care of the animals. I resent it being so summarily dismissed. Without good officials, no ride could be a success.

The ride was much enjoyed by all participants. We were well pleased with the fact that 9 out of the top ten horses were Arabian or Half-Arabians. Eleven Arabians and Half-Arabians were entered, and one was pulled because of the stone bruise. We feel that we have established the Arabian as the toughest by far! The ride often took on the air of an Easter Egg Hunt as the riders searched for the small red flags in the fields of Indian Blankets. Better markers are definitely planned for the next ride.

I regret that Mrs. B found it necessary to condemn our activity on the basis of misinformation. It is fortunate that Mrs. B was not present in Pioneer Days. She might have halted all the wagon trains, put an end to the Pony Express, and Heaven only knows what she would have done to the U.S. Cavalry. Alas then, for America and the Great American Dream!

I hope this has helped clear up any misinformation on our ride. Mrs. B will have to get busy if she plans to prevent another one from being held. There are approximately 80 recognized endurance and competitive trail rides in the U.S. today. (They're big in Australia also.)

Kathryn Paul (Mrs. Wayne Paul) Ride Secretary Canadian River Endurance Ride P.S. Henry Shaw said, "It is better to know nothing than to know what ain't so!"

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The cowcatcher was devised by Isaac Dripps of the Camden and Amboy railroad line in New Jersey after several cows were killed by new steam locomotives in 1833. The World Almanac notes. His original design failed to protect cows, but led to the development of a V-shaped cowcatcher which proved useful in coping with a variety of track obstructions.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

McGovern Key Man Is Jimmy, Age 12

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEW YORK (NEA)—His name is Jimmy Bailinson and he's just 12 years old. He happens to be working right now in Sen. George McGovern's New York state headquarters, but that's incidental. He'd be interesting wherever he was.

If you closed your eyes and simply listened to him talk as he operates at a desk, you'd be sure you were hearing a 30-year-old at work.

Jimmy, described by McGovern managers as "our 12-year-old," handles telephones, deals out local transportation information (how to get to the Bronx on a subway to do volunteer work), ferrets out airline schedule details for upstate staff travelers, operates as a kind of general office handymen.

I sat and watched him function for perhaps half an hour, and I haven't heard anyone in years—either in government, politics, business or whatever—speak with more clarity and precision and economy of words than this kid.

His efficiency and resourcefulness are fabled around the office. One day the McGovern people suddenly decided they'd better have a big American flag hanging from their Fifth Avenue quarters alongside their giant blue McGovern flag. In 15 minutes of telephoning, Jimmy had one on the way from some Manhattan supply house.

He manages his many chores with enormous confidence, yet I could detect nothing overbearing or cocksure in his manner. He is polite and always to the point.

How did it all start?

Well, Jimmy Bailinson, whose father is an editor at the New York Times, read a news piece about McGovern and decided he wanted to help him. He called up on that very evening early in March. The next day, after school, he came down and went to work stuffing envelopes—typical volunteer labor. But one day not long afterward, he found himself sort of taking charge.

Says Jimmy: "It just turned out I could organize people... So pretty soon they were bringing in new volunteers and asking me: 'Could you teach these people what you're doing?'"

Jimmy's present fascination is with politics, of course. That is a serious loss to business and any other field of endeavor you can think of he says.

"In school, I did a report—I consider it a very complete report—on the 1968 campaign."

I wouldn't think of doubting its completeness.

In fact, Jimmy is giving me some fantasies.

I'd like to get about a dozen key people from the telephone company—any telephone company—and have them just sit in a circle around young Mr. Bailinson's desk and watch.

I'd like to have most of the nation's highway engineers in the Jimmy orbit for a day or two, with him looking over street and road layouts and making suggestions about where to put signs to guide drivers' decisions.

Youth-Led Revival Commences

Larry Gilmore, Paducah, Ky. and Bruce Hysmith, Duncan, Okla., are the evangelistic team for a revival led by the youth of First Baptist Church beginning tonight.

Gilmore will preach while Hysmith conducts the musical portion of the series.

Young people of the church will meet tonight and Saturday night at 6:15 in Fellowship Hall for a "Blitz" session. During the preaching service Saturday evening a group from the church Hysmith serves at Duncan will provide special music.

There will be a final fellowship at Pampa Youth Center Sunday evening after church.

All revival services will be televised on cable TV channel 13. The Sunday morning worship service will be broadcast on station KPDM at 11.

Disciples Assembly Sees Justice Drama

FORT WORTH — Approximately 300 women of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Texas were involved here today in the death of a 14-year-old boy on an Arkansas prison farm.

The Nathan Smith Jr. case provides the framework for an audience-participation drama that will open the Disciples' annual Assembly of Women at Texas Christian University and nearby University Christian Church.

Issues raised in the "confrontation-participation drama" will be dealt with through Sunday noon under the assembly's "Faith, Law, Justice" theme.

The play was written especially for the assembly by Ralph Stone, campus minister at University Christian Church, and will be presented by the Hypocrites, a drama group in the congregation.

Calvary Church Plans Outing

Members of the Calvary Baptist Church are planning to take to the park Sunday afternoon for an outing.

After the morning services, members of the church have been invited to gather in Central Park for a picnic beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Each family or person will provide their own lunch. Drinks, plates and silverware will be furnished.

Anyone wishing to join in the picnic are invited to come to the park and the services.

Fellowship and recreation will follow the meal.

An "old-fashioned" Sunday evening service will be at the park at 4 p.m. in place of the regular evening service at the church.

Spanish School

George Warren, minister of education at First Baptist Church, has announced plans for Spanish Vacation Bible School next week.

The school will be conducted 9-11 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Miss Mary Lou Douglas will be in charge of the school.

EVANGELISM CONGRESS VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) —

A group of evangelical leaders from five continents, including Billy Graham, announced here that an International Congress on World Evangelization will be held in Europe in the late summer or early fall of 1974, with up to 5,000 delegates from throughout the world.

They said its aim will be to call the church to "finish the task of proclaiming the Gospel to the world in our generation." A similar congress was held in Berlin in 1966.

NAG HUBBY FOR OWN GOOD

LONDON (AP) — Wives with overweight, middle-aged husbands must nag them to keep fit.

Women are failing to control their husbands' diets, says a report by the British government-financed Health Education Council. Worse still, they are apathetic when it comes to making sure they have enough exercise.

Said Lady Birk, Council chairman: "I honestly believe that unless a woman wants to be an early widow she must do a bit of nagging to keep her husband fit. But she must also encourage him — persuading him to eat the right foods and take enough exercise."

CHURCH NEWS

PAMPA, TEXAS 66th YEAR Friday, June 23, 1972

Former Missionary Heads Presbyterians

Surgeon, missionary, churchman, editor, pitcher, husband, father.

And now moderator. That's Dr. L. Nelson Bell, who on June 18, was elected to occupy the highest elective office in the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.

Above all these roles he is a Christian who emphasizes fellowship among believers and fidelity to Scripture.

In accepting the new distinction, Dr. Bell, the executive editor of Christianity Today, pledged to work for more harmony in his dissent-torn denomination.

"I say to you, my brothers and sisters in Christ, when this time comes next year, God willing, we're going to be closer together," he said.

Dr. Bell was elected moderator of the 112th annual general assembly on the second ballot. The assembly met at the Montreat, North Carolina, Presbyterian conference grounds, where he has his home.

Dr. Bell has belonged to the Southern Presbyterian denomination, which now has nearly 1,000,000 members, since he was a youngster living in Waynesboro, Virginia.

He and his wife, a childhood sweetheart from Waynesboro, served for 25 years as missionaries to China under the Southern Presbyterian Board of World Missions. He operated a hospital at Tsingkiangpu.

When World War II came on, the Bells settled in the Asheville, N.C., area, and he took up a private practice in surgery.

The Bells, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1966, have three daughters and a son. One daughter is married to a Presbyterian missionary in Korea, another to a space scientist, and the other to evangelist Billy Graham. Their son is minister of a Southern Presbyterian church.

Dr. Bell, 77, has taught a Bible class every Sunday morning since the settling in Montreat. In recent years it has been aired over a local radio station.

He continues to be active even though he suffered several heart attacks during the fifties and sixties.

In his later years, he has become quite a prolific writer and has won a number of awards.

In 1956 he and his evangelist son-in-law were instrumental in founding "Christianity Today," now a highly regarded and widely quoted magazine.

Dr. Bell was elected moderator in a runoff with Dr. Joseph A. Norton, a radiologist from Little Rock, Ark. The vote was 221 to 212.

Eliminated on the first ballot were Dr. David Stitt, former president of Austin Theological Seminary now serving as a pastor in Houston, and Dr. William W. McDougald, a professor of journalism at the University of Ga.

DAVID POLING, D.D.

The Religious Newsmakers

By REV. DAVID POLING

This last year had a nice collection of events and happenings in the world of religion. Some public, some international, some seen on television and others experienced in the arts and theater. Here are some worth noting and remembering:

In an era of declining church membership and lower Sunday attendance, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen filled St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York in the Sundays during Lent — without posters, radio spots or bumper stickers. Good preaching attracts great crowds and the majority were young people listening to a white-haired bishop.

Ecumenical Citation of the Year: To David Ben-Gurion for his comment to this reporter at his home in Israel, "I like Paul's letters to the Corinthians. In fact, I Cor. 13:1-13 ought to be in the Hebrew Bible. I asked the rabbis about this, but they said no."

The most controversial event of the year (causing billboards to rage in Washington state) was the grant to Angela Davis by a United Presbyterian Church agency and challenged by its General Assembly.

The most surprising turn-around of 1972 (concerning Angela Davis) may be for blacks 1.) to discover that she is getting a fair trial; and to whites 2.) that a jury finds her innocent.

The faux pas grand award goes to the New York Council of Churches and its taking back the Family of Man citation intended for Bob Hope. The uninviting of Mr. Hope (at the insistence of antiwar critics) cost that council thousands of dollars in pledges and respect.

The most memorable picture of the entire year was taken during December of William Wesley Peters with his wife, Svetlana Stalina, and their infant daughter attending a service at a Greek Orthodox Church in Minnesota (and designed a decade ago by architect Peters.)

The nonevent of the year, which attracted much press and worldwide attendance, must be the Catholic Bishops meeting in Rome in September. Of all the issues debated, topics discussed and papers presented, the grand total accomplished seems to be the endorsement of more celibacy and less marriage.

In politics, you cannot legislate loyalty. In religion, you cannot regulate piety. Both groups attempt this goal, and in the end, fail. Loyalty comes from affection and respect. Piety from belief and trust. This is a long explanation for the failure of the Prayer Amendment to become law by the action of Congress. Good people were on both sides and thoughtful people would not be pleased by either outcome.

In the arts, a Mass was presented for the opening of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. Hailed by some as the greatest work of Leonard Bernstein, it disappointed others who doubted the mixture of rock and religion, scripture and secular. Ditto for "Jesus Christ Superstar."

A statement that the Rev. Metz Rollins made recently has a ring of truth hard to contradict: "In the future, churches will make grants only to those Negroes that they know and trust."

And the obvious, but not often mentioned, religious fact of the year: the continued rise of Billy Graham's leadership in almost every area of the Christian church. His anticipated crusades in Spain, Rome and the Middle East will attract crowds that will surprise even his most devoted followers in the States.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Hobart Baptist Church

RONALD G. MOONEY
Pastor
HOBART BAPTIST CHURCH

The political picture is heightening with activity every day. There are some tremendously vital issues at stake. Think of the difficult moral and spiritual problems to be seen in every part of the globe! A father, wanting to amuse his son, clipped out a picture of a world map from the newspaper. Cutting it into irregular pieces, he mixed them all up and told the boy to see how quickly he could reassemble the hodgepodge puzzle. It wasn't too long after that the lad was back with jigsaw map all complete, held together by scotch tape. His dad couldn't understand how he could ever get it done so rapidly. He found out when he saw what was on the other side. It was a photograph of a man. The boy explained, "All I did was to put him back together, dad, and the world came out all right!"

We may criticize our government, business operations, and other aspects of life. But keep in mind that none of these things can be righted until man himself is first in a proper relationship with God. This can come only through personal faith in the saving grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. It's not reformation that man needs, but rather regeneration that man needs. This regeneration comes only through the Saviour's power. We can be good morally, and be called the best man anyone ever knew; however, this does not change our heart nor does it secure our future. Only when man realizes he can not run his life and sees that the past and the future are hopeless without Jesus Christ, can he turn to Christ and realize that Jesus changes the man. "Therefore, if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature. Old things are passed away; behold all things are become new." (II Cor. 5:17)

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE, PH. D., M. D.
 Myrtle Walgreen was a true scientist and thus a devoted newspaper reader. Note the surprise gift that she had her son Charles mail to me following her death. Smart people become their own professor and use the newspaper as a practical textbook!

CASE U-517: Myrtle Walgreen passed away last summer at the age of 92. Charles Walgreen, Jr., Chairman of the Board of the Walgreen, Co., asked me to participate in the private funeral at Dixon, Illinois.

For his mother, who had been a faithful member of my Bible Class at the Chicago Temple, was a favorite of Mrs. Crane and me.

But several months later, we received a large cardboard box from Charles.

When Mrs. Crane opened it, we found 5 big scrapbooks, containing the past 5 years of these "Worry Clinic" newspaper cases, clipped from the Dixon TELEGRAPH.

Mrs. Walgreen had told me in previous years that she was maintaining a complete scrapbook.

And she assured me she was going to give it to me at her death.

So her son dutifully fulfilled her wish.

And I was surprised to find that she had clipped this column clear up to her final illness.

Thousands of women (and men, too) also maintain such scrapbooks. Why?

Because I bring university psychology down to terra firma and offer you tested recipes by which to win friends, prevent divorce, etc.

"Dr. Crane," thousands of young adults have protested, "I graduated from college with a major in psychology.

Bobby Lee Hunter and the Olympic Spirit

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Grumblingly, Willi Daume, president of the Olympic Organizing Committee, and Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, are interpreting the standards and ideals by which men must live.

These two men bravely carry a heavy burden, as their gilt-edged, self-righteous, inflated and flatulent positions indicate.

They are in charge of the 1972 Olympics in Munich and are virtually on their hands and knees in squalid-eyed hunt for the least bit of taint.

Lo and behold, they found one. His name is Bobby Lee Hunter. Herr Daume and Mr. Brundage don't want him in their Olympics.

Bobby Lee is training for a spot on the U.S. Olympic boxing team. His problem, as far as the pair of gloomy, betitled, self-deified gentlemen are concerned, is that Bobby Lee is a convict. While this satisfies his amateur requirements (obviously he is receiving no money under the bars), it does not satisfy the domicile requirements as interpreted by Herr Daume and Mr. Brundage.

"An Olympic athlete should be an example to youth," pronounced Daume. Mr. Brundage added that "each participant must have adhered to the Olympic spirit."

Now, it is true that few people would want their kiddies to grow up lionizing a 22-year-old black man who is serving his sixth year of an 18-year sentence for manslaughter.

But it is also true that our jails are ideally supposed to be places for rehabilitation for making a man "see the light."

"It's like a onetime sinner who gets religion," said Jesse Owens, former Olympic star. "Do you hold his past against him now that he is doing the Lord's work?"

If there is such a thing as rehabilitation, then Bobby Lee Hunter is a bright example of it, according to Arthur Lentz, head of the United States Olympic Committee. But Lentz is at the mercy of Brundage's decree.

"Maybe the idea of a man overcoming a mistake—and we all make mistakes—is something that youth should look up to," said Lentz.

In any event, Bobby Lee Hunter appears the ideal prisoner. He has been so clean that the warden of the Manning Correctional Institution in South Carolina has allowed Bobby to train daily at a nearby school—with a guard accompanying him—to travel with the guard, to the Pan-Am Games in Cali, Colombia (where he won a bronze medal), to travel with a U.S. team to Moscow, and also to fight in AAU tournaments (he is the current flyweight champ).

The youth of Colombia, Russia and even the United States have been, at last report, hardly sullied by Hunter's noxious presence.

"What's hard to define," said Arthur Lentz, "is just what an example for our youth is."

Should it be the drug users who are so prevalent among Olympians? For example, 1968 decathlon winner Bill Tomney said, "I didn't take drugs during the Mexico

BOBBY LEE HUNTER is escorted to the ring by a Pan-American Games official at Cali, Colombia, last July.

City Olympics to get ahead of my competition, but to stay even with it."

Should it be the so-called amateurs who take money from certain advertisers and benefactors? "Hardly one of us," said Susan Chaffee, former Olympic medal-winning skier, "is a true amateur. We couldn't eat if we were."

Or should youth look up to someone like Mr. Brundage, who in 1936, at the time of the Olympic Games in Berlin, was sage enough to observe that "no nation since ancient Greece has captured the true Olympic spirit as has Germany." He said it above the boom of goose-stepping jackboots.

Or should youth look up with star-gazed eyes to Herr Daume, a German with a starkly shorn military.

Herr Daume, it would seem, should be painfully aware of rehabilitation. After all, his country is still literally paying its war debt in financial reparations to European countries and to Israel. Also, thousands of individuals all over the world still receive monthly checks from the German government for the "tyranny suffered at the hands of the Nazis."

If the Olympics can go back to Germany, then Bobby Lee Hunter can go to the Olympics.

Western Open Lead To Sikes And Jamieson

NORTHBROOK, Ill. (AP)—R.H. Sikes, exploiting a pair of ancient clubs donated by old Dutch Harrison, and Jim Jamieson, still a tour non-winner led the free-for-all $150,000 Western Open Golf Tournament into the second round today.

Sikes, whose last triumph was in the 1966 Cleveland Open, and Jamieson, at the peak of a modest five-season pro career, conquered a chilling north wind gusting up to 30 miles per hour for three-under-par 68s at the Sunset Ridge Country Club Thursday.

Defending champion Bruce Crampton, five strokes off the pace with 73 in the comparatively starless chase for the $30,000 top prize, conceded that "the fellows who shot under 70 did a super job."

Sikes, breaking out of doldrums that won him "only a couple of thousand dollars" this year, came up with 35-33 round with the best putting of a pro career that started after his back-to-back triumphs in the National Public Links meets of 1961 and 1962.

"I visited Dutch Harrison at St. Louis last week and he helped me tremendously, especially with my driving," said Sikes. "He gave me one of his putters and a driver, both about 25 years old, and this is what happened."

25 years old, and this is what happened."

Sikes played the entire first nine without a par, carding four birdies, three bogeys and a double bogey. But, starting with the seventh hole, he tapped in two 20-foot putts and one of 15 for birdies. Then, he started his final nine with birdie puts of 15-feet and one foot, and on the 13th hole, sank a birdie 40-footer.

Jamieson, who captured headlines earlier this year with a surprise challenge in the Masters before finishing fifth, coaxed a 31-37 against the chilling gale.

Petty Wins Pole For Lone Star 500

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Richard Petty was won the pole for Sunday's Lone Star 500 at Texas World Speedway.

The 34-year-old Handleman, N.C. native established a one-lap clocking of 169.412 miles per hour Thursday to win the pole in the 16th race in the Winston Cup series.

Petty is the reigning champion of TWS by virtue of his victory in last December's Texas 500 but ranks no better than fifth on the current Winston Cup standings despite having won more than $658,000 since 1959.

Petty drove a '72 Dodge in Thursday's qualifying. He has driven it in three previous races this year without entering the winner's circle. He has four victories but they have all been in his blue Plymouth.

Just as Petty drew the No. 1 slot, three of the other six drivers on the track filled the first two rows for Sunday's race.

Jabbar Has Child
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Star center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Milwaukee Bucks has become a father, the National Basketball Association club announced Thursday.

The Bucks said his wife, Habiba, had given birth to a daughter, also named Habiba, May 15. It is the couple's first child.

The American Bowling Congress tournament was first held in 1901.

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

60—Another Helpful Rule

If your swing or stance is affected by a hole, path or mound made by a burrowing animal, snake or bird, you are entitled to drop your ball without penalty on ground that avoids that condition.

This is another rule that can save your strokes.

I've even seen cases where a player's ball is up against a tree, unplayable, and the player in taking his stance is bothered by a gopher hole. He's entitled to a drop away from the tree.

An hour studying the rules may well be more worthwhile.

Jockey Walter Blum began 1972 with 3,679 victories.

Fairbanks Predicts A Snapped Wishbone

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—The Wishbone-T will be snapped more often by the defense than ever before this fall, predicts Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks.

The defenses are catching up," Fairbanks says of the triple option offense which has terrorized college football defenders for the last three years.

Fairbanks, coach of the West squad in Saturday night's 12th annual Coach All-America game, said, "Coaches are becoming more knowledgeable and players have had more opportunity to work against the Wishbone. Play recognition is so important."

Fairbanks believes there will be more passing in college football this season as defenses stack up against the ground-oriented attack.

"I believe there will be more involvement in the passing game," Fairbanks says. "There's more potential in passing from the formation than what meets the eye. At Oklahoma, we're going to have to change some of our blocking schemes because the defenses are catching up."

He says, "Play recognition is difficult when defending the Wishbone. We've found that other teams do better against us

Crenshaw And Kite Give Texas Big Lead

CAPE CORAL, Fla. (AP)—Texas sophomore Ben Crenshaw is probably the most explosive collegiate golfer since Jack Nicklaus came out of Ohio State in 1961.

But, he's not ready to challenge the Golden Bear.

"Every time I tee it up with Nicklaus and the other great pros," says the 20-year-old from Austin. "I realize I'm not quite in their league just yet."

Ben, however, does pretty well in his own league. Crenshaw eagled two of the first three holes Thursday and shot a six-under-par 66 in the NCAA Golf Championships as his Texas team rolled to a 14-stroke lead after 36 holes of the major college event.

Crenshaw won last year's

NCAA individual title with a record 273 and answers a firm "Yep" when asked if it's possible to capture four straight championships.

"I've got plenty of incentive to beat back-to-back, even I have to beat my old buddy," said Crenshaw, slapping Longhorn teammate Tom Kite on the knee.

Kite commanded the NCAA tournament through the first half, shooting rounds of 65-68 for an 11-under-par 133 total on the wind-blown Cape Coral Country Club course. Crenshaw stood at 137.

The main goal for both Ben and me is to help Texas win a second straight team title," said Kite, a 22-year-old senior from Austin. "That seems well in hand so I'll just have a little battle with Crenshaw. We fight hard toward ourselves, but it's a friendly rivalry."

Crenshaw's power surfaced early Thursday on the 6,865-yard layout. He socked a 300-yard drive on the par-5 first hole and hit a 4-iron within four feet of the cup. Ben dropped the putt for an eagle.

On the downwind 348-yard third hole, Crenshaw cracked a mighty drive that rolled onto the green and he sank a 30-footer for another eagle.

Texas' powerhouse team stood at 15-under-par 561 to lead 12-time NCAA champion Houston by 14 shots. Florida, in third place, was another six behind.

Wake Forest was a pre-tournament favorite but the Deacons barely made the halfway team out of 602 and were 41 strokes behind Texas. Jim Simons of Wake Forest, the top amateur in the last two U.S. Opens, was well back in the pack at 73-72-145.

Baseball Roundup

By the Associated Press
The Houston Astros don't need reminders about the last time they faced the Cincinnati Reds.

It was late May in Houston, and the Reds stormed to four straight wins by the unkind margins of 8-3, 9-5, 12-4, and 10-3.

Thursday night the Astros returned the favor.

They struck for six runs in the third inning, three on a home run by Doug Rader, and rolled to a 9-5 victory over the Reds.

The win moved Houston back into first place in the National League West, one-half game ahead of Cincinnati.

In the only other major league game played Thursday,

Chicago trimmed Milwaukee 5-2 to climb within 3½ games of first place Oakland in the American League West Division.

"That other series (in Houston) is history now," professed Houston manager Harry Walker. "The last time we just happened to catch them when they were hot as a firecracker."

Which is exactly what the Astros were Thursday night.

Houston scored two runs in the first, but the Reds went ahead with a single run in the bottom half and a pair in the second inning.

Houston exploded in the third, however, turning three singles, a walk, an error and Rader's 11th homer into six runs with none out.

Cesar Cedeno, Houston's 21-year-old center fielder from the Dominican Republic, went four-for-four and scored three runs, and drew praise from Walker as "the most exciting young ball player I've ever seen."

George Culver, 20, took the win for Houston, going 5-2-3 innings after relieving starter Dave Roberts in the second. Wayne Simpson, 4-2, took the loss.

Stan Bahnsen earned his 10th victory of the season for the White Sox with late help from Cy Acosta. Reserve catcher Tom Egan, batting only .175, drove home two of the Sox runs with a pair of singles. Johnny Briggs homered for the Brewers.

The victory left the White Sox with an 11-18 record on the road compared to 24-4 at home. The difference doesn't disturb Manager Chuck Tanner.

NORTHBROOK, Ill. (AP)—Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:
Lee Trevino is planning on sponsoring a women's pro tournament in the El Paso area next fall.

"I'm involved in this development project, you see," Trevino said. "We're building a golf course. And we want to open it up with a tournament."

"What I want to do is get a good women's tournament. You know, $30,000 or $35,000 or something like that. It would cost too much to put on a men's tournament but we could swing one for the ladies without too much trouble."
"I'm going to try to set it up so they get the first class treatment—a good rate on hotel rooms, transportation, all that sort of thing.

"I don't know what it's going to be called, whether my name will be on it or not, but we're going to do it."

Jack Nicklaus' victory in the U.S. open was a boon to the airlines business. At least two dozen sports writers—who hadn't planned to go previously—started scurrying for reservations to Edinburgh, Scotland when Nicklaus made the British Open the third leg on his hopes of a professional Grand Slam this season.

You've seen the television commercial where Lee Trevino walks under a multi-colored light and perches on the edge of a pool table while he makes his spiel.

The commercial was taped in his home.

"I got the pool table in just so friends could enjoy it when they come by," he said.

"I don't play much myself. Most of the time my son uses it. He uses it as a place to put up his electric train set."

A total of 991 delegates, officers and directors attended the 1972 ABC bowling championships in Long Beach, Calif.

Little Hopes

For Comeback

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Golfer Gene Littler, still recovering from cancer surgery on the lymph glands under his left arm, says he is determined to take up the clubs again and isn't ruling out a return to the pro circuit.

"There's no question in my mind that I'm going to try," the winner of the 1961 U.S. Open said in an interview. But he doesn't anticipate making the effort to play again for at least a month and possibly two or three.

"No one can say how well I'll play," Littler said. "The doctors won't stick their necks out and say I'll play as good as ever."

"But the way I feel now—real well, although my arm isn't as strong as it was and doesn't have the mobility it did—but the way I feel and have been progressing, I think it will be nearly as good as new."
