11 Killed, Many Left Homeless As Agnes Hits 5 East States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flash floods fueled by torrential rains of northward-bound tropical storm Agnes struck wide areas of Virginia, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and New York on Wednesday, leaving thousands homeless and as many as 11 persons dead or missing.

N.J. Gunman Identified And Undergoing Surgery

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Police say they are baffled as they search for a motive for the shooting rampage by a gunman who entered an office building armed with two sawed-off rifles and methodically pumped bullets into any man he encountered. Six men died, six were wounded.

Officials identified the gunman as Edwin C. Grace, 33, a uniformed off-duty guard for a security agency. He was hospitalized with what police said were self-inflicted gunshot wounds in the neck and head. Doctors said he had a good chance of pulling through.

A witness said the gunman kept reloading the .22-caliber rifles and that nearly 100 bullets were fired as he ordered women to get out of his way.

A worker in an employment office in the building, Heritage House, James Ashen, 24, of Blackwood, said:

"This guy walked in. He was a complete stranger. I never saw him before and he shot my boss in the head and he hit the floor. He shot the guy sitting in front of me a couple of times in the back.

"The other three of us grabbed chairs and crowded into the corner of a small room.

Supreme Court Against Segregated Jury Selection

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Convictions of white defendants are invalid if Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury, the Supreme Court ruled 6 to 3 today.

Over the years the court has struck down guilty judgments returned against black defendants by juries from which blacks were pointedly excluded. Today's ruling was the first ever involving a white defendant.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, in the main opinion, said "when a grand or petit jury has been selected on an impermissible basis, the existence of a constitutional violation does not depend on the circumstances of the person making the claim."

The jury case came from Georgia where Dean Rene Peters, was convicted of burglary in Muscogee County and sentenced to 10 years in prison. Long after the 1966 trial he asked federal courts to set aside the judgment because the juries were drawn from racially segregated tax rolls and no Negroes served at his trial.

Marshall said if Peters can prove the systematic exclusion of blacks his conviction must fall.

Most state courts have come to an opposite view: That a defendant can upset his con-persons were believed dead in that state, and that three other unconfirmed deaths had been reported.

The victims included two adults and two children who drowned when their car was swept up by floodwaters from the James River in Buchanan County, authorities said. Another man drowned after a small earth dam burst near Manassa, and the sixth victim drowned in Nelson County, authorities said.

In southwestern New York, where two persons were known dead and at least 2,500 were forced to evacuate their homes. State Police Sgt. Elton B. Ingalls described the scene as "absolute, complete destruction."

Flood warnings were posted throughout New York State as the sluggish storm system, downgraded from a hurricane but still packing a punch, inched northward on its way to the Atlantic Ocean.

Throughout the Atlantic seaboard, the picture was the same—entire towns inundated by water, families forced to leave their homes and hundreds of motorists left stranded in their cars on highways.

begging him not to shoot us, but he kept firing and he kept saying, 'Don't move, don't move.' He was a maniac."

Three of the wounded men were in critical condition and a seventh man was injured seriously when he leaped through a window attempting to avoid the gunman. Victims interviewed by police said they did not know Grace and had not seen him previously.

The gunfire erupted about 3 p.m., and police said the gunman terrorized the building for several minutes. About 40 policemen surrounded it after being alerted by a wounded man who escaped.

Public Safety Director Wallace Lapeters said the officers fired tear gas canisters into the building and that several policemen entered, but that no shots were exchanged with the gunman.

Several women who encountered the gunman told police he ordered them to get out of the way. Six women scrambled to safety from the GMA Co. office, and another seven who confronted the gunman as they were in a basement also were unharmed.

Carried from the building on a stretcher was Grace, a Pinkerton guard from the Trenton, N.J., office of the detective agency.

Justices William O. Douglas and Potter Stewart backed Marshall's position that the "due process" provisions of the Constitution bar conviction of any defendant by a jury from which a particular race was systematically excluded.

Israelis Follow Up Raids Against Lebanese Village

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel followed up its attack on villages and guerrilla camps in southeast Lebanon Wednesday with artillery attacks on two border villages today, Lebanese in the area reported.

There was no confirmation from Israel, and the Lebanese barred Western newsmen from the area. There were also unconfirmed reports that Israeli tanks had crossed the border again today in the Mt. Hermon area that was attacked Wednesday.

Israeli patrols were active along Israel's side of the border today.

Two of the twisters struck in Amarillo and one ripped the top floor off the Rodeway Inn in the southwest part of the city, injuring a woman slightly.

Another tornado laid waste the airport at Dumas, 37 miles north of Amarillo, while straight winds which by police account gusted up to 90 miles per hour did considerable damage in the town itself. A woman also was injured in Dumas.

While there was considerable destruction, no deaths were reported.

Four hospitals in Amarillo and one in Dumas received 23 persons injured in the storms,

Washington (AP) — A $5.3-billion-a-year program of federal aid to states and cities appears poised for easy passage in the House.

The opposition broke Wednesday when it was unable to force the bill open for amendments. The vote was 223 to 185 and the margin for passage later today is expected to be greater.

One of the opposition leaders, Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., said the procedural vote "pretty well decided the question."

"I'm not going to kid myself that anything I say is going to change the situation," Byrnes told the House later.

Although it is uncertain when the Senate will take up the measure, Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., of the Finance Committee said he will try to begin hearings before the July 10 Democratic convention.

Lang predicted the bill will easily win Senate approval, though probably with some changes.

It would distribute initially $1.8 billion a year to the states, $3.5 billion to cities and other local governments. The state share would be increased over the five-year life of the program.

Tax effort, especially state income tax, would be the key element in dividing the states' share. The local governments would get their apportionments under a more complicated formula taking into account population, urban concentration and poverty.

The bill would provide also, on an optional basis, for joint collection of state and federal income taxes.

They also were offered another chance to enlist in the regular forces for two years, instead of the usual three or more, and gain a wider choice of assignments than draftees.

Today's announcements reflect Selective Service moves to implement two new policies, one permitting men to opt for the Guard or Reserves after getting their draft notices, and the other permitting the shorter enlistment period.

The new rule says a man may not join a unit or enlist for less than three years within 10 days of his induction date. That would have left out most of those ordered to report early next month, but today Acting Draft Director Byron V. Peppone eased the rule.

Peppone authorized draft boards to grant a 15-day delay for men with reporting dates between July 1 and July 15 if they are actively being processed for Reserve or Guard appointment or two-year enlistment.

As of June 13, the committees had held 85 meetings. Price attended 36 meetings and was absent at 49, Teague said.

Teague, of Bryan, is in line to become chairman of the full committee next year if Democrats retain control of the House. George P. Miller of California, the present chairman, was defeated in a primary contest.

Price is the author of a bill establishing rules to expell any member of congress who misses more than 70 per cent of the House roll calls. The bill does not mention House committee meetings.

Chairman of one of the space subcommittees, Teague said the committee system is the heart of Congress. He feels most of the work of a congressman is carried on within the committees.

JUDGE GETS SWCD WORK PLAN—Gray County Judge Don Cain goes over his copy of the program of work of the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District with directors of the district at their regular meeting Wednesday. From the left, Milton Carpenter, Curtis Schaffer, chairman; Judge Cain and Sam Bowers. Present but out of the picture were Robert Sailor and Tony Smitherman.

Judge Don Cain Briefed On County Water Plan

By RAY BAXTER

Members of the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District board of directors met with County Judge Don Cain Wednesday to apprise him of their plan of work.

As a legal subdivision of state government the district is under the aegis of the county judge and commissioners court. Even though the county may not be responsible financially for the program, the authority of the court sometimes is necessary to qualify for other help in the work of the district.

The governing board of directors of the district is comprised of five duly elected landowners. Currently the board is made up of Curtis Schaffer, chairman; Sam Bowers; Milton Carpenter;

Robert Sailor and Tony Smitherman.

The plan of work has been set forth in a 20-page bound book replete with pictures, maps and graphs of the county. The directors passed on the final form of the program in December, 1971.

Perhaps the most important and ambitious undertaking of the district is the three-pronged watershed project.

This is the development of the McClellan Creek, Red Deer Creek and Sweetwater Creek watersheds.

The Red Deer Creek project should be completed this year. The other two are being held up by the state of Oklahoma. The Texas agency involved has already assigned a priority to the Sweetwater Creek watershed which begins in Gray County, runs into Wheeler County then into Oklahoma. Work cannot begin until the state of Oklahoma assigns a priority and a simultaneous effort is begun.

In considering the total program of work encompassed in the plans of the district, Judge Cain was told that cooperation of land owners in Gray County was almost 100 per cent despite the fact that there is no coercion at any point to get them into the district.

The Gray County SWCD has a working agreement with the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This has been invaluable in the survey of soils, conservation planning and in the watershed projects.

Underlying all other reasons for being of the district is the growing value of land and water resources in the county. The districts hopes, by its plan of work, to conserve and develop them.

According to the directors of the local district, the objection was raised alleging a loss of water to Oklahoma's Lake Altus. It was stated at Wednesday's meeting that the corps of engineers had gone on record as saying this was not the case since Lake Altus had silted in and the dam would have to be raised before it would have the capacity for enough water to carry out the original hopes of an irrigation project.

State police reported one of their patrol cars was blown off a highway near Dumas, and high water for a time blocked U.S. 287 in that vicinity.

At one juncture, funnel cloud sightings caused the National Weather Service to issue tornado warnings for 26 counties. In the course of the night it also posted tornado watches for 41 counties, plus numerous severe thunderstorm warnings.

By early today, a cool front contributing to the turbulence lay stalled along a line linking Lufkin, Waco and Midland, with a band of thunderstorms extending east and west to the north of the frontal system.

The worst storms developed in moist, unstable air at the end of a day which saw temperatures top 100 degrees in places for a second straight day.

Ag Goods May Face Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council today begins considering the Price Commission's call for "firm and immediate action" to halt rising food prices by broadening President Nixon's controls on agricultural products.

After a day-long meeting Wednesday, the commission decided to make its recommendation to the council, which oversees the controls Nixon imposed last November.

A commission spokesman stopped short of telling newsmen the exact recommendation, but said the commission members "feel the problem exists because of the lack of control of raw agricultural products."

Raw agricultural products, which by government definition includes both live animals and vegetables, have been exempt from controls since the start of the program last Aug. 15. The administration has been reluctant to try to control such a volatile market.

The spokesman listed removal of the exemption as one of the main options. He also said the commission "is not currently recommending a freeze" on food prices, another principal option.

While the Cost of Living Council, headed by Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, is not bound by the commission's thinking, the price agency's recommendation will weigh heavily on any decision.

The spokesman said the commission definitely hopes for quick action by the council on its recommendation. "There was general agreement that firm and immediate action was necessary," he said of the lengthy commission session behind closed doors.

The commission also discussed allowing only a limited pass-through of costs at the wholesale level, using government persuasion to try to talk down the rise in prices, and increasing meat exports, the spokesman said.

The council's staff and other government economists have been working separately on a program to try to stem the tide of rising food costs, particularly meat.

Although record meat prices have been recorded at the wholesale level, they have yet to be fully reflected at the retail level. But Nixon administration economists said the public should expect retail food prices to go up soon.

That the rise in food prices has not been fully reflected at the retail level was evident by the release Wednesday of the May Consumer Price Index.

City Gets .03 Inch Of Rain From Storm

While tornadoes and violent thunderstorms hit parts of the Panhandle last night, Pampa received only .03 inch of rain from a storm which spread over the city about 9 p.m. last night.

Clouds rolled over the city with lightning and thunder and wind, but only intermittent rain fell before the storm passed over. No damages were reported in Pampa.

The moisture from last night's storm pushed the total moisture for the year over the seven-inch mark.

The total reached seven inches from a rain that struck Pampa on Sunday and left .54 inch moisture total. The total is now 7.03 inches for the year, with 1.35 inches falling in June to date.

O'Brien Attacked For Speech

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Presidential Communications Director Herbert Klein has accused Democratic Party Chairman Lawrence O'Brien of "McCarthyism" for his statements regarding the burglary-bugging of the Democratic National Headquarters.

Klein told the Dallas Morning News that "when the full explanation is out, I feel that O'Brien will owe an apology to John Mitchell."

Klein made his comments after hearing that O'Brien had sued the Republican Committee for the Re-election of the President of which Mitchell, former attorney general, is chairman. O'Brien charged that a "clear line to the White House" is developing from the arrest Saturday of five men who broke into Democratic headquarters.

"I am confident that a full investigation will show there was no Republican implication," Klein stated.

Program For Retarded Child To Be Inaugurated In Amarillo

By JANE KADINGO
A "respite bed program" is a new service of the Amarillo State Center for Human Development, it was announced by Phil Bright, educational director, at a meeting on mental retardation Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church. It is expected the service will be inaugurated by mid-July, he said.

The respite bed program will make available 10 beds at the center for 24-hour care of the mentally retarded for 24 hours up to 30 days, he explained. This will allow parents who have no one with whom to leave their child a chance to take a vacation, to allow for extensive psychological-diagnostic testing of the child; to relieve the stress in the family of the care of a mentally retarded child; and to provide care in case the mother needs surgery.

One requirement is the child must be ambulatory. A fee must be assessed on a sliding scale, based upon the parents' ability to pay, Bright explained. While at the center, the child will fully participate in classes and weekend care and activities will be provided.

Larry Dalton, Center psychologist, explained the trend today in programs for the mentally retarded is to keep the person in the home and in the community, to train him to be a productive member of society.

Bright showed slides on the Center programs for each level, starting with day care for the "little ones," moving on to infant-readiness classes which teach language development, self-help, and an awareness of the worth of the individual.

Early childhood development classes, aimed at preparing the mentally retarded to enter special education classes in the public schools include art work, music, and meeting home-living conditions.

Intermediate classes, for those unable to go into special education classes, include training in finger manipulation, eye-hand coordination, color coordination, good grooming and meeting every-day living conditions.

Post-school courses work toward developing the mentally retarded person who is past school age to a point where he may do "shelter work" or enter competitive employment. The curriculum includes leisure-time skills, independent-living skills, gardening, arts and crafts, pre-vocational skills and personal hygiene.

The program for adults includes shelter workshop conditions in which they fill contracts for various firms, such as making Christmas-tree balls or packaging candy.

The aim of this program is to provide contract work for all post-school students, including the satellite schools, Bright told the group.

Women in this program are sent to a sheltered-living home in Louisiana, where they are trained for such jobs as motel maids, returning home to work in their own communities.

Man Fined For Shooting Inside City

William Earl Chisum, 28, was fined $105 in municipal court Wednesday for discharging a firearm inside the city limits.

Chisum was arraigned on the charge after he and two other men were picked up following a shooting incident in the 500 Block of S. Cuyler Tuesday night.

The shooting was witnessed by one police officer near the vacant lot where the men were standing beside a pickup truck. When other police units joined in converging on the scene, two of the men were arrested and a .22 caliber rifle and a spent cartridge were confiscated as evidence.

According to one of the men caught fleeing down an alley, the others were shooting at a bar across the street where they had been involved in an affray earlier, according to the official report. The man was later released.

John Henry Brookshire, 33, was arrested at the shooting scene with Chisum for intoxication.

Sen. McGovern Will Have Total Of 1,407 Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — George McGovern, who just months ago was considered only an interesting sideshow in the 1972 presidential sweepstakes, will set up the Democratic nomination within nine days, says his chief delegate counter.

By the end of this week McGovern will have 1,407 delegates either legally or verbally committed to vote for him, according to Rick Stearns, the 27-year-old one-time theology student who keeps McGovern's charts on where the votes are. And by July 1 another 102 delegates will have swung over to McGovern to provide him on the first ballot with the 1,509 delegate votes needed for the nomination, Stearns said Wednesday.

"I've always described myself as cautiously optimistic," Stearns added. "Now I've dropped the 'cautious' part. I'm absolutely confident we'll get it on the first ballot."

Stearns, who directs the delegate search in states without primary elections, has achieved a reputation for accuracy, predictions of the numbers and sources of the senator's delegates.

His projections for McGovern's final sprint to the nomination came one day after the candidate's strong showing in the New York primary.

Fire Run Is Stubble Burning

About 8:40 p.m. Wednesday, Pampa firemen sped into the face of lowering skies to a point 12 miles north of the city where wheat stubble was burning.

According to a spokesman for the fire department, burning stubble is not unusual at this time of year but they are often called to make runs where there is no danger—no loss of control.

This happens when someone decides to burn off some acreage without notifying the fire department of such plans. Others see the fire and turn in the alarm often resulting in a needless fire run.

When the department is notified that acreage is to be burned, they will make no response to any call other than from the person doing the burning. That person will call only if the fire is out of hand while a casual witness, not knowing the fire is intentional, will turn in an alarm.

Residence Ransacked

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lindsay, 312 W. Tuke, asked Pampa police to investigate a break-in at their home.

The couple have been staying at Canadian. Upon their return, they found their residence had been entered and ransacked.

According to the investigative report, the thief or thieves broke a living room window above an air conditioner and gained entry.

Missing are two double sheets and a light blue colored Sunbeam hair curler.

Gray County Chapter Okays 1973 March Of Dimes Budget

The Gray County Chapter of the National Foundation (March of Dimes) approved a new budget during a meeting Tuesday at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The budget was set at $3600 for the next year, according to Al Bassett, chairman.

The new budget was set during a meeting of the executive committee. In a meeting immediately following the executive session, the board of directors of the association adopted the proposed budget.

Most of the money would go for research in birth defects and patient care, Bassett said.

The association raised $5500 in a drive held last January.

Bassett succeeded Cameron Marsh as chairman of the local chapter. Other officers are Larry Cross, vice chairman; Paula Adams, secretary; and Inga Pratt, treasurer.

Dr. Elder To Address Meet On Alcohol Abuse

Dr. J. Foster Elder, Pampa physician and surgeon, will be the principal guest speaker at a public meeting at 4 p.m. Sunday in the auditorium at 511 W. Montagu St. in Pampa, where problems of alcohol abuse will be aired.

Dr. Elder will voice concern of the medical profession and will tell of ways being used to cope with the problem.

Other speakers will include a member of Alcoholics Anonymous who will tell how he has managed to cope with his affliction. He will point out how just one drink—the first one—can cause an alcoholic's untimely death.

A member of Al-Anon will explain how she has managed to live with a loved one who is an alcoholic.

Sunday's meeting will be the third in a monthly series which started in April. First guest speaker was County Judge Don Cain who expressed the concern of the judiciary over the mounting problem of alcohol abuse. He estimated that Gray County has 1,500 alcoholics or persons who badly abuse the use of alcohol.

Last month's speaker was Judge Grainger Melihany of the 31st Judicial District Court, who said the abuse of alcohol figured in a large majority of testimony he heard in domestic cases in his court.

The general public is invited. There will be no admission fee. The sponsoring organization, Pampa's Action Groups of Alcoholics Anonymous and Al-Anon are entirely self-supporting.

Kansas Youth Is Runaway

A 15-year old boy was picked up by Pampa police Wednesday trying to catch a ride in the 800 block of W. Foster.

He was taken to the police department where he was identified as being from Mission, Kans. A check with that city turned up the information that he was a runaway and his parents requested local police hold him until they arrived to pick him up.

Mrs. Nona S. Payne receives surprise birthday cake at National Cowboy Hall of Fame during awards banquet for Cowboy Artists of America.

Mrs. Nona S. Payne Honored At Okla. Cowboy Hall Banquet

Mrs. Nona S. Payne of Pampa had a real surprise when she attended the recent awards banquet for the Cowboy Artists of America at the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City.

There were gold medal awards and speeches, then silver medal awards and more speeches. Now for a special recognition, the master of ceremonies announced, it's Mrs. Payne's birthday!

And so it happened that as the two-tiered cake was brought out, the group of award winners, members of the Hall, Western art collectors, and guests sang Happy Birthday over 600 strong.

It was surprise enough to take her breath away, but she recovered in time to say a happy word and blow out the two candles on the cake. Each candle represented a year of service on the Board of Trustees for Mrs. Payne. This Spring, she was elected honorary director, the first to receive such recognition.

Mrs. Payne's husband the late Dave D. Payne, a widely known Roberts County rancher, was elected to the Hall of Fame of Great Westerners in 1971 for his outstanding values as a pioneer.

The glittering array of guests had come from all over the United States. There were guests from New York, California, Texas, Alaska and other states.

Several Texans were honored. Texas artists who were awarded silver medals for their entries in the Cowboy Artists competition were Melvin Warren of Clifton, for his pastel, "Old Man of Talpa," and James Boren, also of Clifton, for his watercolor, "Cowboy Caucus."

A special Wrangler award was presented to C.T. McLaughlin, Snyder, Texas, recognizing his contribution to Western art through the Diamond M Museum and Foundation.

Trustees' silver medal awards were accepted by Mrs. J. Lee Johnson for the Amon Carter Museum, Fort Worth, and by Richard Seamon, Managing Editor, for the Austin "American Statesman."

Pampa Agency Offers Suggestions On Safer July 4th Holiday Driving

Fireworks, picnics and long trips will mark the upcoming July Fourth weekend. The Pampa Association of Insurance Agents warns, however, that roads will be more crowded than ever as many companies are granting employees a four-day weekend.

"Families will be tempted to take longer car trips this weekend than they would normally," said Joe Fischer, president of the Pampa Insurance Agents Association. "We hope that people won't try to cram more into the extra day than they can handle."

Noting that over last year's three-day July Fourth weekend 635 lives were lost on the nation's highways, the local independent insurance agents offer these suggestions for a more pleasant and safer holiday:

—A well planned trip will be more enjoyable for all. Limit the distance to be covered to a reasonable estimate of the time available.

—Roads will be crowded, so be patient. Consider taking the scenic route rather than the major highways. These will be less crowded and may well prove to be the quickest route.

—If major, congested highways cannot be avoided, keep your timetable flexible. Remember, it will take twice as long to get to your destination at 30 m.p.h. than at the planned 60 m.p.h.

—Make sure all drivers bring their licenses, and let everyone take a turn behind the wheel. That way no one gets worn out and all have a chance to enjoy the ride.

—Plan for regular breaks on a long trip. Many people put a two hour limit to any stretch of a trip and then stop for a 15 minute break.

—Make sure that all safety equipment is in top condition. Have a mechanic give the car a safety check that includes wheel alignment and balance, brakes, tires, lights and horn.

—Have everyone buckle-up before leaving the driveway. Children may object but some five-and-dime-store games can take their minds off the restraints.

—If you stop for meals along the way, keep them light. There is usually little need for large meals when sitting in a car. Also, leave drinking to the end of the trip or at your overnight stop. A small amount of alcohol impairs a driver's reaction and increases the chances for an accident.

—When you get to your destination, use moderation in everything. Don't overdo anything; exercise, fun, sun, food, or drink. You have to drive home, so don't wear yourself out.

The return trip calls for extra caution. If you feel tired, rest a while and start later, behind the major traffic. Keep alert to conditions around you.

The Pampa Association of Insurance Agents says that a safe July Fourth and every day depends on the best safety device of them all, a thinking driver.

Odessa Presidential Museum Exhibiting 25,000 New Items

ODESSA — In an election year already filled with campaign and convention color, excitement, and rhetoric visitors to Odessa's Presidential Museum this Summer and Fall will enjoy an added dimension of political nostalgia.

Opening June 17 and run through the November election, a special museum exhibit, "Presidential Conventions and Campaigns," will bring to life again the issues and personalities of presidential elections past through the media of campaign souvenirs and political memorabilia.

Over 25,000 campaign and election items from The Presidential Museum's permanent collection and on loan from 50 well-known collectors from 20 states will be featured in the special exhibit.

In colorful displays candidates both famous and forgotten smile down from faded campaign posters, a unique collection of charcoal sketches depict the "also-rans" in each election, and a gallery of pen-and-ink pictures commemorate the 15 women who sought the Presidency.

Issues and men in various elections are recalled in the simplicity of button slogans, political cartoons, and election gimmicks.

The dignity of early bronze campaign medals depicting 1840 candidate William Henry Harrison or 1864 hopeful John C. Fremont, with solemn bromides like "Free Soil and Free Speech," contrast sharply with the multi-color pictures and snappy slogans of more recent campaigns.

Valuable historical materials such as a recording of one of President McKinley's speeches, as well as less serious campaign items like a "Teddy Bear" pitcher, a Truman pipe, and a can of "Goldwater—The Right Drink for the Conservative Taste," vintage 1964, are also included in the unique "Conventions and Campaigns" exhibit.

Also to be on view for the first time June 17 will be a special "Presidential Cartoons" display which will feature hundreds of humorous and satirical drawings from the museum's collection and on loan from famous contemporary cartoonists.

In addition to these special exhibits, Odessa's Presidential Museum features a number of permanent displays including a world-renowned Presidential Wood Mosaics collection, hand-carved presidential caricatures, facsimiles of the Presidents homes, and the only vice-presidential portrait gallery outside the nation's capital.

With more than 12,000 artifacts, art works, and items of memorabilia, the Presidential Museum is recognized as the best presidential collection in the Southwest and is toured by more than 20,000 visitors each year.

Area Hospital Open House Set Sunday

CANADIAN (Sp1) — There will be a public open house Sunday from 2 until 5 p.m. at the just-completed $85,000 medical annex to the Hemphill County Hospital here.

The new building, adjacent to the hospital at Hillside and Locust, has been designed to serve as a clinic building for two doctors. Built by Hemphill County in cooperation with the Board of Managers of Hemphill County Hospital, it contains two complete and separate suites of offices, each with reception room, laboratory and x-ray rooms, examining rooms and doctor's offices. The offices are available for lease to doctors who want to join the medical staff of Hemphill County Hospital.

The clinic offices each has separate reception rooms and facilities, connected only by a hallway across the back of the building. There is a driveway and ambulance entrances across the rear of the structure.

Hosts at the open house Sunday will be members of the Hemphill County Commissioners Court, County Judge B.F. Conyers and Commissioners Lamond Beaty, George Henderson, Edward Detrich, and Bryan Eckles; and the Board of Managers of Hemphill County Hospital, Don Schaeff, chairman, and Duane Jenkins, L.F. Etheridge, Pecos Anderson, George Tubb, and Maxine Baker.

Court Of Criminal Appeals Upholds 250-Year Sentences For Three Convicts

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals overruled legal technicalities today in upholding 250-year sentences given three men by Dallas juries for murder.

The court upheld the conviction of Charles Edward Grayson in the Feb. 5, 1970 pistol slaying of Harold C. McBride, a liquor store proprietor who was shot during a robbery.

Also affirmed was the joint conviction of Charlie Carlos Lopez and Gregory Jimenez Jr., who were accused of shooting Guadalupe Flores Garcia, a Mexican national, during a June 20, 1970 stickup.

Grayson's lawyers objected because the trial judge allowed a grocery store clerk to testify that Grayson was with two other men who robbed her store four weeks after McBride was killed.

Usually, the court does not permit testimony concerning offenses other than the one for which a defendant is on trial.

But it said such testimony is permissible if it shows the defendant's state of mind during the period of the crime. The testimony can be admitted also "where such extraneous offenses have been executed according to a system or method and it is shown that the accused committed other such offenses and, in so doing, followed the same plan or method." Witnesses said that in both robberies, one man went in first, bought something, and left, returning moments later with two others to commit the holdup.

In the Lopez and Jimenez case, defense lawyers claimed on appeal that an illegal search was performed when officers seized Lopez' car keys, opened his automobile door and retrieved the murder weapon from the glove compartment.

"It is not necessary to determine the legality of the search, because no objection was made when the pistol was offered into evidence," the court said.

THEY EAT TOO MUCH — BONN, Germany (AP) — One of every four West Germans believes he is eating improperly, according to a survey by the Bonn Health Ministry.

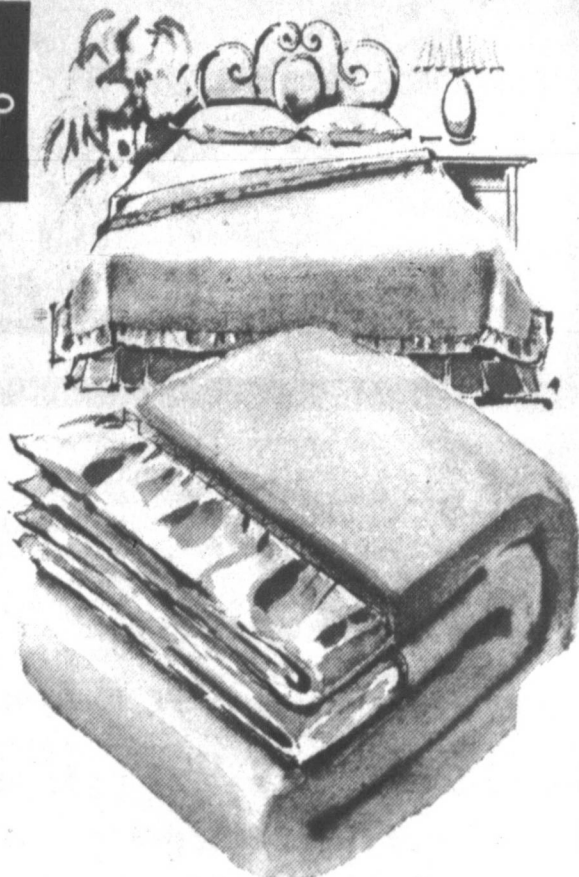

Twenty-four per cent of those queried thought they were not getting full nutritional benefit from their meals because they were eating too much, too quickly and at the wrong times.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE, PH. D., M. D.

Lorna is a superb teacher. For she wants to entice her students about the courses she offers them. Since most students grumble about writing English themes, notice how you can add zest to this type of course!

CASE U-516: Lorna B., aged 26, is a new English teacher. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I teach composition to Senior High Schoolers.

"And I want to encourage them to write more effective letters, as well as stories.

"But I have read your 'Worry Clinic' ever since I was in the 8th grade, so I know your stress on motivating people by use of psychology.

"Since many of my pupils come from homes where they lacked an encyclopedia, a dictionary and I find that they shun English composition.

"How can I add more zest and enthusiasm to my courses?"

CONTESTS MOTIVATE

Competition adds zest, so urge your students to write letters to the editor of their newspaper.

Pick out various vital topics and then let the pupils compose short, snappy letters, preferably not over 200 words in length.

This will help direct their attention to reading the daily newspaper.

For they will be eager to see whose letters might be deemed worthy of being printed.

Use the psychological rules in the booklet mentioned below, for they will improve your writing within 30 minutes!

Also, employ current commercial contests as subjects for class themes.

While teaching my "Psychology of Advertising" courses at Northwestern University, I often assigned current commercial contests.

They usually required a 25-word or 50-word letter in which you were to tell why you liked a certain soap or toothpaste, cereal, shampoo, etc.

After my students submitted their letters as class assignments, we'd discuss them in class and offer various criticisms.

Then some of the students would type them afresh and send them to the firm that sponsored the contest.

A number of my students thus won small cash prizes, ranging from $1 up to $50.

Others were awarded merchandise, such as a case of oranges or tuna fish, an electric iron, toasters, etc.

Some enterprising English teachers have linked up with local dental societies, American Legion, or men's service clubs, such as Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary, etc.

For such clubs will often donate prizes of $25, $15 and maybe 5 prizes of $5 each, for the best essays on why this is a Republic vs. a Democracy.

Or why Capitalism far surpasses Communism.

Or a 300-word essay explaining any one of the "10 Common Fallacies in Logic," as outlined in that booklet offered earlier this week.

Indeed, a few teachers have even offered a small prize out of their own pocket for the prize winning "Letter to a Sweetheart" or to "Grieving Parents who have lost a Child," etc.

That "League of the Golden Pen," also makes an ideal weekly project, for it requires only that you write a few paragraphs (one page at most) to anybody not on your regular mailing list but who merits a note of sympathy, praise or condolence.

Let the students report later on the results, for sometimes very surprising stories develop that even pluck your heart strings!

So send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a long, stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Lorna used it and changed the outlook of her entire class! (Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bldg., Mellott, Indiana 47958, enclosing a long, stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover mailing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets).

ANNUAL ANTLERS
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — All winter long, bucks in the deer herd have looked just like all the rest of the deer.

Paul M. Kelsey, New York regional conservation educator, says that the mechanics of deer antler growth have fascinated people for centuries. Antlers of the deer family are replaced annually, distinctly different from the horns of antelope, buffalo or domestic cattle, which simply add additional external growth each season.

Scientists think that increased sunlight is picked up by the deer's eye and passed to the pituitary gland located at the base of the brain. This gland then stimulates the start of antler growth. By mid-May, growth has started.

After the breeding season, the buck's antlers are shed for the winter.

BATTIN' AROUND Infancy To Old Age

By C.R. BATTEN

It was almost 20 years ago that this observer was first introduced to some of the stifling work rules under which the railroad operates.

It was my first tree planting season "working on the railroad." We had purchased something over 200,000 tree seedlings, and it was my job to see that they were planted during a three-week period. The trees had been loaded in a refrigerator car, which was parked on a siding near the planting operation. The car was so lousy in an inconvenient place, so I innocently asked our tractor operator to push the car down the track a few feet.

He refused. On questioning, I learned that if he had moved the car, an entire switch crew could have turned in time slips and collected one day's pay. Spotting the car was its job, under union contract rules.

The railroad ran a fast passenger train between Chicago, Illinois, and Minneapolis, Minnesota. During that six-hour trip, three train crews were used—each of them receiving one day's pay.

A major switch yard was closed in order to speed freight train schedules and improve operating efficiency. Yet a switch crew continued to report at the yard every day, and received a full day's pay for doing nothing.

These are just a few of the instances of "featherbedding" with which I am personally familiar.

Clarence B. Carson describes how these and other restrictions came about in his THROTTLING THE RAILROADS. (Available from The Foundation for Economic Education, Inc., Irvington-on-Hudson, New York 10633; 143 pages, $4.00 cloth cover, $2.00 paperback.) Dr. Carson is an educator, author and lecturer, specializing in American social and intellectual history.

In his book, Carson traced the history of the railroad industry from its subsidized infancy to its subsidized old age.

"Government throttled the railroads in three ways mainly," wrote Carson. "In the first place, restrictive regulation took away crucial managerial authority from the railroads and vested it in the Interstate Commerce Commission. This was supplemented, in turn, by various legislative inhibitions of general application. In the second place, government subsidized and otherwise privileged competitive means of transport. In the third place, government fostered the organization of railway unions and aided them in various ways in circumscribing and hamstringing the use of rail facilities."

"A state of organized irresponsibility was established," according to Carson. "The power to make managerial decisions of wide and determining scope was vested in the Interstate Commerce Commission. The responsibility for operation of the railroads remained with private management. But that management was denied the authority to make on its own all sorts of decisions by which entrepreneurs ordinarily operate businesses efficiently and successfully."

His book is a clear and easy-to-read indictment of government intervention in the railroad transportation industry. In unmistakable language, he declares "THE PRESENT TRANSPORTATION MESS IS A RESULT OF GOVERNMENT INTERVENTION" (emphasis his).

THROTTLING THE RAILROADS is recommended reading for every member of Congress, every railroad executive, and every railroad shipper or would-be passenger who has said that Congress should "do something" about the railroads.

For Carson makes it eminently clear what Congress should do.

TV And Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Any television series with a long title such as "The Jerry Reed Show" immediately gives the veteran viewer misgivings. Jerry Reed, who's he? CBS must have been nervous to tag the show with his hit record.

The network, replacing the canceled "Glen Campbell Show" with a summer variety hour, seems to have found a reasonably exact facsimile of Glen Campbell. Reed sounds Nashville, looks Jack Armstrong-American and talks humbly. At the same time he seems to be an attractive country singer who has been bushwhacked by a roving band of Hollywood variety show writers. He seems to have been too polite or ambitious to say he'd rather go along with his own thing.

It was not a bad show Tuesday night, the premiere of the series, but it did seem to be phony, very Hollywood and carefully designed to hold a little something for everybody. As often happens to formula-based often, it may have irked more than it enchanted.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

FRIDAY, JUNE 23
YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY:
The start of a complex cycle of challenge, experiment, selection, productivity, of which the trial and error phase is the most exciting. Emotional balance is put to test, and you make it to a more mature level. Today's natives tend toward generally optimistic philosophy, and an inclination to dwell on the past.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Minor adjustments are favored. Adding something to your reserves is possible. Pay little attention to interpretations placed on the news.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: When those you want to reach are open and sensitive to what is said, you have to cope with your own tendency to over or understate your case.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Improve your habits to protect your health and safety. Brighten up your wardrobe with something new and in style. Celebrate.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Spread your efforts and time over a number of minor projects instead of trying to put it all into a single special activity.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Use your skills to help your favorite charity, once you've seen to your own interests. You'll find good company when you do.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Share your dreams and schemes with friends. You can do much on creative ventures or even some speculative enterprise.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: All of today's effort adds up, provided you make it consistent. Quit at a normal time, change pace and scene completely.

Classic Look

Hairdos for the summer take on the classic look, just like the clothes. The shag is er, simpler lines. Head-hugging styles, such as page-boy of the '40s, will be the most popular styles around.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Be willing to broaden your contacts to include unfamiliar people. Solve a minor problem quickly, so it doesn't grow.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Choice: spill the beans, enjoy the sensation and excitement you cause, or keep quiet and collect benefits from your knowledge.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Recover loans, and give back what you have borrowed. Wind up your work-week neatly. When you get back to it, conditions will be different.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Resume your search for leadership with some added consideration. It will be a while before others realize the extent of your moves.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: In the swing from morning quiet to evening fun, there's much to learn and recall. Old friends are to be remembered, favors returned.

The gown was designed with an empire waistline, accented with white daisy trim and embroidered with seed pearls. The long full sleeves ended in wide cuffs, accented by pearl buttons. The gown was made by the bride's mother.

Her veil of bridal illusion fell from a crown of daisies and pearls, and she carried a bouquet of daisies and small yellow roses.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Sandra Brewer presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Diana Folsom served the cake. Guests were registered by Mrs. Ken Dona.

For the wedding trip to Odessa, the bride wore a blue and white ensemble with a white pleated skirt, accented with a red belt. Her corsage was of flowers from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will live in Odessa for the summer before moving to Amarillo.

AFFILIATIONS

Betty Canary

I have the innate mechanical ability of a beached whale and my husband has just a shade more.

Therefore, we began making plans for a back yard patio with the idea of later turning it and ourselves over to the tender mercy of a contractor. With dewy naivete we handed the contractor the drawings we had made during winter evenings before the fireplace.

What we had in mind was a simple brick floor, a short wall with built-in grille and maybe, just maybe, four posts and a roof.

The first contractor gave a cursory glance at the back yard and began talking about bringing in a dredge—after the apple and the maple had been moved, of course.

The second revised our plans until they resembled Buckingham Palace—with swimming pool and interior tennis courts.

The third agreed generally to follow our drawings but at a price slightly higher than we had anticipated. What I mean is, if we wanted to have the patio with rubies, we would have told him.

It seemed as if our patio was doomed. Then the children persuaded us that they were capable of building a patio. And why not? After all, the 16-year-old has had a course in printing, the youngest boy knows how to nail posters to walls and the girls are adept at prying can lids with a kitchen knife.

After extracting promises that no major operation would be undertaken without our knowledge and consent, we gave our blessings.

The patio may never be completed but there are the added benefits.

"At least we know where they are!" he shouts over the din of the hi-fi that has been moved to the site.

"They are learning responsibility!" I exclaim, after spending three hours explaining exactly why they can't build the brick wall across the back door.

"It's the cooperative spirit that counts," we say, clutching each other desperately as they raise a post through our bedroom window.

"It all rather reminds me of the English lake country," we tell friends, as the water now draining into our kitchen laps gently at our feet.

Dolman Look

Dolman sleeves are the big look in sweaters, jackets, blouses and dresses.

The war's over! Parents DO raise and rear kids

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I enjoy your stuff. When I attended Tulane University, I told my professor that I was raised in Shreveport, La.

He said, "You RAISE hogs and REAR children." You mentioned that you were raised in a small town. Tell me, Abby, were you RAISED or REARED?

Love with kisses,
HENRY

DEAR HENRY: In "The Careful Writer," Theodore M. Bernstein [whom many consider the Supreme Court of American journalism] put it this way: "At one time, a war raged [and some skirmishes are still going on] against the use of "RAISE" to describe what parents do to children. The battle cry was, 'You raise pigs, but you rear children.' However, in this country at least, the war is over; we RAISE both pigs and children, and some parents will testify that you can't always tell the difference." Right on, Mr. B.!

DEAR ABBY: We recently had a death in our family and a local politician who was running for office called up and asked if he could be a pallbearer. He took the members of the family by such surprise they said yes. We had already selected the pallbearers but we were so upset at the time we weren't thinking.

This politician was the first to sign the guest register, and he went around shaking hands and slapping everyone on the back like it was a campaign rally. He sure got in the public eye at that funeral which is the only reason he wanted to be a pallbearer. He hardly even knew the deceased or any of the family.

When it was all over we realized how we had been used. What should this politician have been told when he called up and offered to be a pallbearer?

USED

DEAR USED: "Thank you, but the pallbearers have already been selected." [P. S. I'm curious. How did he come out in the election?]

DEAR ABBY: My parents are planning to send my ten-year-old brother to Europe this summer to visit his grandfather, whom the boy has never seen. Mother says it will be a "good experience" for him. But I'm not so sure.

I think to send a rather immature ten-year-old boy thousands of miles from home, alone, to a strange country to be with a strange man who speaks another language [which my brother has never heard] will hurt him psychologically. I am 23 and I know it would bother me. My brother isn't too keen on it.

This really troubles me, Abby. After all, how can a 90-year-old man take proper care of a young boy thru sign language? [Grandfather speaks no English.]

Am I foolish to worry?

DESPERATE SISTER

DEAR DESPERATE: If your 90-year-old grandfather speaks no English, and lives alone, I can understand why the lad isn't "too keen" on it. If there are others in the family [or in the community] with whom he will be associating, it might be a good experience for him. Don't become "desperate" unless all the facts are in.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WONDERING": FBI my eye! It's unwise for a girl to keep company with a man who is so mysterious. Tell the fellow that even FBI agents have friends, families, neighbors, co-workers, and clergymen—someone who can vouch for their characters. [P. S. The FBI office in your city can tell you if he is employed by them. And if he's an "undercover man," he shouldn't have told you that he was.]

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Annapolis Gets Lady Teacher

SEATTLE (AP) — A 31-year-old Navy Lieutenant from the University of Washington is scheduled to be the first woman instructor at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. But Lt. Cmdr. Georgia Clark holds little hope for women seeking admission to the academy as students.

"If they decide to put women on ships, or if they decide to train men only for shore duty," she said, "then they could start admitting women to Annapolis."

She is specializing in foreign affairs at the university's graduate school of public affairs to complete work on her master's degree.

"I'm excited about it," she said. "It will be a very outstanding student body. It will be a real challenge facing a roomful of bright men like that."

She said she believes she got the nod from the Navy because of her extensive foreign travels and her academic background, which includes studies of international affairs at American University in Washington D.C. and courses at the Navy's Defense Intelligence School.

Natural Look

Even if you like the natural look, some sort of foundation should be used. A clean scrubbed face won't stay that way very long if the pores are left unprotected. If you shun all make-ups, including a light foundation, a thin coat of moisturizer will still protect the skin.

Peanut parfait and ice cream pie make nutritious desserts.

Desserts For Peanut Nuts

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

The goober pea, or peanut, is one of the higher sources of protein. Peanuts make good snacks for children and for adults who are not stringently watching the calories. Those who like peanuts and ice cream will be ecstatic over a Peanut Butter Honey Parfait or a Peanut Butter Fudge Ice Cream Pie.

PEANUT BUTTER HONEY PARFAIT

1 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup honey
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1 quart vanilla ice cream
Peanuts

Combine peanut butter, honey and ginger. Alternate layers of peanut butter mixture and ice cream in parfait glasses. Chill thoroughly. Sprinkle top with peanuts and serve. Makes 6 servings.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE ICE CREAM PIE

1 1/2 quarts vanilla ice cream
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
1 cup (1/2 pint) heavy cream
1/2 cup peanut butter
4 squares semi-sweet chocolate (4 oz.)

Spoon ice cream into baked and cooled pie shell. Freeze to keep hard. Combine remaining ingredients and cook over low heat while stirring until sauce is thick and smooth. Cool. When ready to serve spoon sauce over ice cream pie. Let stand at room temperature for 15 to 30 minutes before cutting into wedges. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

DANISH MEAT BALLS — They're called Fricadeller and youngsters in Denmark, like the one shown here, enjoy eating them hot or cold.

The Art of Cooking Danish Meat Balls

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

Danish Meat Balls, called Fricadeller, is the most popular of all meat dishes in Denmark. And American cooks, too, find that it's worth knowing how to make this main course.

Of all the recipes for Fricadeller, the one that appears in "The Art of Danish Cooking" by Nika Standen Hazelton (Doubleday) suits us best. Mrs. Hazelton's book has authentic recipes because while she was gathering material for it, she learned to speak and read Danish and lived in private homes in Denmark as well as in Danish inns and hotels.

Mrs. Hazelton says this about Fricadeller: "There are as many ways of making frikadeller as there are cooks in Denmark. Fricadeller are eaten hot or cold. They should be light, and one of the secrets of lightness is to use soda water in the mixture. They can be made entirely of one kind of meat if desired."

Gradually beat in club soda, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating constantly to aerate mixture. Beat in egg, salt and pepper. Beat mixture until puffy.

In a large skillet heat the butter. Drop heaping tablespoons of the meat mixture in patty shape, into the hot butter. Fry slowly until browned on all sides.

Serve hot with boiled or sugar-browned potatoes and red cabbage or pickled beets.

You can clarify butter by melting it in a saucepan. Skim off the foam on top and strain the rest through several layers of cheesecloth. Store the clarified butter in the refrigerator and use as needed.

NLRB Continues With Pro Football Hearings

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A National Labor Relations Board hearing into charges that the National Football League refuses to bargain with players on fines and artificial turf safety entered its third day today with owners presenting their arguments.

Theodore Kheel, NFL attorney, testified for 90 minutes Wednesday explaining certain areas of the league's contract with the National Football League Players Association.

Kheel was to continue his testimony today and be cross-examined by NLRB attorneys.

The NLRB issued a complaint against NFL owners for refusing to bargain on the questions, and ordered them to return $20,000 in fines levied against players who left the bench to join on-field fights during the 1971 season. The owners asked for a hearing on the matter.

Mervin Welles, trial examiner, is not expected to make a decision in the case for at least a month after testimony is completed today or Friday.

The NFLPA completed its testimony late Wednesday with Alan Page, the Minnesota Vikings defensive tackle who was the NFL's most valuable player in 1971, testifying that the players were unaware of the rule that prohibits them from leaving the bench.

Edward R. Garvey, executive director of the NFLPA, earlier testified that NFL owners have told him repeatedly that the players have no rights to negotiate under their current contract.

He said that several owners claim the existence of a so-called "zipper" clause stating the contract represents the complete and final agreement on all bargainable subjects for duration of the contract.

But Garvey said this clause was modified to say that "any change in current practices affecting employment conditions of the players shall be negotiated in good faith."

Parks Beats Pampa Rebels

Dennis Parks hurled a no-hitter last night to lift the Borger Legion team to a 4-0 victory over the Pampa Rebels. The win gave Borger the lead in North Zone competition with a 3-0 record.

Larry Knutson took the loss for Pampa, which now has a 3-1 mark. Knutson gave up only two hits before Mike Edgar came on in the fourth in relief.

Edgar also gave up only two hits before the game was called in the sixth because of rain.

Pampa's next game is next Wednesday against Perryton at Optimist Park at 7:30 p.m.

Murphy, Crampton Head West'n Open Contenders

NORTHBROOK, Ill. (AP) — He hasn't won this season, finished tied for 63rd last week but, paradoxically, may be one of the top contenders in the $150,000 Western Open Golf Tournament.

That's Bob Murphy, who beat only six players—one of them an amateur—in last week's

United States Open Championship in the wind and cold at Pebble Beach, Calif.

"I just can't fight that cold," Murphy said. "I never have been able to play in the cold. Last week my back tightened up on me and that was it."

He opened with a 79, improved to make the cut, then fell back with closing rounds of 83 and 75.

"But, really, I'm playing real good night now," Murphy said before teeing off today, in the first round of the 72-hole chase on the 6,716-yard, par 71 Sunset Ridge Country Club course.

for awhile," Murphy said, chewing on his inevitable cigar. "Then I got it sorted out again."

Murphy, whose three career victories all have come on courses much like this one, was one of the favorites for the $30,000 first prize along with Australian Bruce Crampton, the defending title holder.

Some other top candidates included $100,000 winners Tom Weiskopf and George Archer, and veterans Billy Casper, Doug Sanders and Chi-Chi Rodriguez.

Booth Leads U.S. Qualifying

HUNSTANTON, England (AP) — America's Curtis Cup team, headed by Jane Booth of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., moved into the match play portion of the British Women's Amateur Golf Championships today.

Miss Booth completed the two-round qualifying Wednesday, with a seven-over-par 82 for a 36-hole total of 157 on the windswept 6,070-yard, par 38-37-75 Hunstanton Links.

Her total score was only two shots behind leading qualifier Belle Robertson of Scotland.

"We have wind in the states, but here it tries to blow you over," said Beth Barry of Mobile, Ala., who qualified with an 82-78-160.

"It was cold outside," said Lancy Smith of New York City, another stroke back at 161 after rounds of 81-80. "We just couldn't wait to get back in the clubhouse."

"Last week it was just my back. With some hot weather here—and I hope it changes and gets hot—I should be okay."

The 29-year-old Murphy, who went to the University of Florida on a baseball scholarship before shifting to golf at a relatively late age, hasn't won since 1970, but has played some of the best golf of his career this season.

He lost in a playoff and has been ninth or better 10 times this season—including three in a row before the National Open. He's won $78,157.

Tennis Club Hosts Tourney

The Pampa Tennis Club has scheduled a Men's Over-35 Tennis Tournament this Saturday and Sunday.

The tournament will be played on the new tennis courts at Pampa High School.

Entries are expected from Amarillo, Lubbock, Wichita Falls and other Texas towns, as well as from Pampa.

The public is invited to attend the tourney.

Baseball Roundup

National League

The way the San Francisco Giants are going this season, it was bound to happen. They've finally brought Manager Charlie Fox to his knees.

Defending National League West champions, the Giants have spent most of the 1972 baseball season buried at the bottom of their division. Tempters grow short in the kind of campaign the Giants are living through and last weekend Manager Fox and pitcher Ron Bryant exchanged angry words over what the left-hander thought was a quick hook.

"If Bryant brings in a shut-out," said Fox before sending the lefty out to face the Chicago Cubs Wednesday. "I'll go out on my hands and knees to him."

With the manager's foot positioned neatly in front of his mouth, Bryant naturally blanked the Cubs 2-0 on a two-hitter. Fox came out to congratulate him and did a neat salaam, just as he had promised.

In other National League games Wednesday night, Cincinnati regained first place in the West, knocking off Montreal while the New York Mets were topping Houston 5-4. The Mets crept within five percentage points of first place Pittsburgh in the East race as the Pirates bowed to Los Angeles 5-3 in 10 innings. Philadelphia outslugged Atlanta 9-7 and St. Louis routed San Diego 14-3.

American League

Gaylord Perry didn't have much Wednesday night probably because he gave it to Bill Rigney the night before.

When the Cleveland Indians arrived in Minnesota on Tuesday, Twins' Manager Rigney found a tub of sticky ointment on his desk, courtesy of Perry. Rigney had accused the veteran right-hander of doctoring the baseball when Perry beat the Twins and Bert Blyleven 7-1 two weeks ago.

So Perry rubbed it in again by beating the Twins—and Blyleven—4-2 Wednesday night.

Eisewhere in the American League, Detroit took over undisputed possession of first place in the East Division by downing Oakland while California topped Baltimore 6-3. The Chicago White Sox trounced Milwaukee 9-3 and Boston outslugged Texas 10-9 in 11 innings. Kansas City and New York were rained out.

Perry, who has been accused of putting everything from saliva to greasy kid stuff on the baseball, didn't have his best stuff but still joined Chicago's Wilbur Wood and Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the major league's only 11-game winners.

Shortstop Frank Duffy made two fine catches of line drives and third baseman Graig Nettles bailed Perry out of a sticky situation in the ninth. With one run already in, two on and two out, Nettles knocked down a smash by Harmon Killebrew and turned it into a game-ending forceout.

Tom Kite Has NCAA Lead After First Round

CAPE CORAL, Fla. (AP) — Tom Kite, a rare short Texan, strutted to the head of the class as the NCAA Golf Championship began, and Howard Twitty, a most unconventional fellow from Arizona State, was closest in pursuit.

Kite, recently graduated from the University of Texas, shot a dazzling seven-under-par 65 Wednesday at the Cape Coral Country Club.

Twitty is 22 years old. He's 6-foot-5 and 225 pounds. And the recent graduate from Arizona State is more interested in "earning as much as the top 15 men in insurance."

Twitty manages to play golf like Nicklaus once in a while. Like on the 508-yard first hole in Wednesday's opening round of the NCAA championships.

Twitty smashed a drive, cutting the dogleg hole short, and found himself a scant 160 yards from the green.

58—Hitting From a Divot

At least once in every round you probably will find yourself hitting from someone else's divot mark in the fairway.

You don't want to swing the same as you would from a good lie.

Take one more club than normal and hit a punch shot, keeping your hands low and ahead of the club face.

Play the shot as though you were hitting from under the branches of a tree.

Sixth Annual Last For Spitz

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — The sixth annual Santa Clara International Swimming Meet will probably be the last for Mark Spitz, the Sullivan Award winner who first gained worldwide prominence as a member of the host Santa Clara Swim Club.

Spitz, who has won 13 events in the first five years of the meet, intends to enter dental school at Indiana University after making his second trip to the Olympics this summer.

That will end a competitive swimming career that has included several world record performances.

The Santa Clara meet begins Friday, with preliminaries in the morning and finals afterwards each day through Sunday.

Germany Then and Germany Now

(First of Two Parts.)
By RALPH NOVAK

MUNICH, West Germany (NEA)—May these Olympic Games prove a genuine feast of peace and may they contribute to promote the happiness of nations, serve the welfare of all and thereby build a bridge upon which all nations may meet.

Those are a ghost's words that float down the immaculate streets of this city as it prepares to host the 20th modern Olympic Games this August. They were spoken by Joseph Goebbels, the shrewd propagandist for Adolf Hitler's Nazi regime, in 1936, when the games were held in Berlin.

And they create a troubling counterpoint now to the plaintive comments of the president of the German Olympic Organizing Committee, Willi Daume. "We know only too well what crimes have been committed in the German name and how many people in East and West have personally suffered. From this experience we drew the conclusion that these Olympic Games should be what they are supposed to be: the great meeting of the youth of the world, of the new hopefully enlightened generation and thus a small contribution to world peace."

Daume is only too aware of the melancholy burden of ugly memories the Munich Games will carry because he was a participant in the 1936 Berlin Games—on the German basketball team that was beaten 130-8 by the Americans in an exhibition.

Hitler, using the Games to try to convince the world that three years of his rule had brought the millennium to Germany, underplayed nothing. He built a 100,000-seat main stadium plus four other arenas that seated from 10,000 to 20,000. He ordered Berlin's streets and buildings scrubbed clean. He had eggs—a scarce quantity—saved in cold storage for months before the games so visitors would not notice any shortage. And he even temporarily suspended the Nazis' anti-Jewish relentless campaign.

A Nazi newspaper told the Germans how they should act during the Games: "We must be more charming than the Parisians, more easy-going than the Viennese, more vivacious than the Romans, more cosmopolitan than London and more practical than New York."

The Nazis' propaganda campaign was successful, despite Hitler's snub of Jesse Owens and the other black American track stars ("the black auxiliaries," the German press called them), who were the Games' outstanding performers.

Even the president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, Avery Brundage, said shortly after the Games that "no nation since ancient Greece has captured the true Olympic spirit as has Germany."

It has been 36 years since the Berlin Games and 27 years since the end of World War II but that is not a long time in the life of a historical fact.

Americans who come here still laugh uneasily at the joke, "We WILL have a good time," and call Luftwaffe Airlines "the Luftwaffe." They praise the Germans' postwar recovery but they also slip quietly away, overcome by a guilty kind of curiosity, to visit the site of the Dachau concentration camp. And they find the Germans often living up to their brilliant-but-arrogant stereotype.

Phil Levens, field operations general manager for ABC television, has mixed emotions about the Germans after spending a sizable part of the last year here preparing for ABC's coverage of the Games.

"Technically, they really know what they're doing," Levens says. "But sometimes they're a little hard to get along with. They want things done their way. Period."

There is also characteristically blunt symbolism in the fact that the Germans have plowed under nine million tons of rubble left by Allied bombing to make a hill that dominates the Olympic park.

For they are methodically and, yes, with typical German efficiency, trying to bury their warrior image.

Brunhilde Dietrich, director of the corps of 1,500 multilingual Olympic guides, sums up the attitude: "We're trying to show to the world that we're not the old Nazis any more, that we just want to live in peace. You can't say, 'I don't like the Germans because they drink too much.' That's ridiculous. And you can't say, 'I don't like Germans because of the war.' That is the kind of thinking we want to put an end to."

Willi Daume

For starters the Germans have taken a 740-acre tract that used to be an airfield and created a centralized, everything-in-its-place Olympic city. It is stuffily modernist, filled with architecture that is creative though regimented (who knows whether the same adjective would suggest itself in a place with another kind of history).

The Olympics will end up costing Germany about $650 million and the park is highlighted by a main stadium with a surrealistic cable and acrylic glass roof but the Germans have insisted ever since they were awarded the 1972 Games that moderation be the keyword of the project, at least in theory.

The main stadium will hold "only" 80,000 people and the secondary arenas are all small enough to serve practical uses for the Germans when the Games end.

Daume's insistence on national modesty—as a reflection of what he calls the "new and different Germany, undistorted and unre-ouched"—is a little intense. But the Germans can be forgiven if they protest too much, since even the ancient Greeks who originated the Olympics in 776 B.C., used the games as vehicles to impress friends and enemies.

And when all else fails, we can compare the Olympic village built to house the athletes in Berlin with the 1972 Munich village.

In 1936 the builder of the village, Capt. Wolfgang Furstner, committed suicide shortly after the Games ended because he had been thrown out of the army when it was discovered he had Jewish blood. The village itself was later turned into a training school for infantry officers.

This year the village was designed by a private architectural firm. And after the Games end it will be turned into a public housing development.

East Is The Underdog Says Alabama's Musso

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—The sun-baked thoughts of the coaches and players preparing for the 1972 football season curtain raiser Saturday night, the Coaches All-America Game.

Johnny Musso, Alabama, running back: "There's no question that we (The East) have to be considered the underdog. They've got great material."

"But in a game like this, you can't tell. Everybody is good or they wouldn't be here. It's usually a close game and I think it will be this time."

Ralph McGill, Tulsa defensive back: "I don't mind it a bit. I like heat. Some guys play better in cool weather but I was raised where it was hot—got used to playing in hot weather—so I just do better."

"Seems like my body is looser in the heat."

Tom Mabry, Arkansas offensive tackle: "If the oxygen and the Gatorade hold out, I'll make it Saturday night."

Jerry Tagge, Nebraska, quarterback: "I'm optimistic about Nebraska next year. They have some good young guys coming up along with a lot of experienced players. You can teach a team fundamentals, but you can't teach a team experience."

Chuck Fairbanks, Oklahoma, coach of the West team:

"There are so many variables in the success of a season. So many things can happen. I've got some great players (at OU) right now."

"I've got three great backs. Greg Pruitt, Joe Wylie and Leon Crosswhite. These are super backs. We'll have a super running team if those guys play. If they get hurt and don't play, we can get common in a hurry."

Bear Bryant, Alabama, coach of the East team: "We lost a lot of personnel (at Alabama), people you can't replace but we should have a good team every year. We have a program like we are supposed to have and that's what we are hired for. I'd be greatly disappointed if we don't have a great team next season."

Jack Mildren, Oklahoma quarterback: "I think they'll run the Wishbone some in the pros but not too much. Somebody will try it, they're bound to. Somebody who is down in the dumps—it might be Buffalo or New Orleans—with Archie Manning—will take a run at it. That's my guess."

Gary Hammond, SMU running back, quarterback and split end: "It's been exciting at SMU. It really has. There were a lot of heartaches, though. When you're not winning it's terrible. It really is."

Roosevelt Manning, Northeastern, Okla., State defensive tackle: "The guys in the Big Eight and Big Ten are a lot larger but I don't think they are any quicker than the guys we played against. We played some pretty good teams and we had four guys drafted by the pros this year."

The Coaches All-America football game Saturday night may be Jack Mildren's swan song at quarterback—but not if the Oklahoma redhead can help it.

Mildren, the fitting pin in the Sooner's explosive wishbone offense, was drafted by the Baltimore Colts as a defensive back.

But he and Nebraska's Jerry Tagge will guide the West against the East in the nationally televised contest, (Editor's note: the game is blocked out in the Pampa area) a summer time interlude for the profound collegians.

Pausing one evening to reflect on his future, Mildren, 6 feet and 196 pounds, discussed the Colts' apparent feeling that he would be more valuable defensively than as a quarterback.

He suggested that perhaps he has not been given sufficient

Roberto Clemente Hits Overly Critical Press

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Roberto Clemente, closing in fast on baseball's exclusive 3,000-hit club, claims the news media are overly critical of Latin American players.

"Some of the ball players may be afraid to talk, but I am not," the Pittsburgh Pirate rightfielder and native of Puerto Rico declared recently.

"A few years ago the writers used to say that I was a good hitter, but not that good," he said. "And it is just like that with all the Latin players. The writers always come up with that 'but.'"

Clemente, a 318 lifetime hitter, added that his image as one of baseball's leading hypochondriacs—an image he flatly refutes—can be traced to disagreements with writers.

"I don't keep my mouth shut when they said things that were not right," he said, "so they wrote sarcastic things about me thinking I was hurt all the time and not wanting to play."

The truth, according to Clemente, is that he never has asked to be scratched from a lineup.

"If the manager wants me to play, I play, no matter whether I am hurt or not," he said. "Once I was playing with a bad bruise on my leg, and I heard a television announcer talking about how I babied myself too much."

Clemente, who this week became Pittsburgh's all-time runs batted in leader with 1,275, needs 53 more hits to become the first Latin and the 11th player ever to reach 3,000.

"I don't have to worry about what the writers say about me any more because the fans have seen me play and they know the truth," Clemente said. "The writers cannot fool the fans."

He added, however, that he was concerned for the many young Latinos in the major leagues, like Rennie Stennett and Manny Sanguillen of the Pirates.

"When a young player from the United States makes a mistake, the writers say it is inexperience," he said. "But when a young Latin player makes a mistake, they make it seem like he is dumb, foolish."

Silas Goes To Celtics

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Paul Silas, the rugged forward who helped turn the Phoenix Suns from big losers into consistent winners, has been traded to the Boston Celtics.

Suns-general manager Jerry Colangelo said Tuesday the Suns were forced to trade Silas to Boston in exchange to National Basketball Association rights to Charlie Scott, the American Basketball Association's leading scorer last season.

General manager Red Auerbach of the Celtics said he would accept only Silas in exchange for the rights.

59—How the Rules Can Help

Most golfers believe the rules are there to hurt them. The truth is that if you know the rules they can save you strokes.

Let me give you an example that deals with lateral water hazards (running parallel to the line of play).

If you hit into a lateral water hazard, you can drop a ball on either side of the hazard, even if it's a mile wide. Most people assume you have to drop on the side you went in from.

I have been in situations where the grass was much better on the other side, or I had a clearer shot to the green. So I moyed over.

You still must drop within two club-lengths of the hazard and no closer to the hole, of course.

Clearing House

Editor: There is a sort of terrible poetic justice in the shooting of Governor Wallace. It was an act as senseless, brutal, anti-social as the killing of several million little yellow peasants in Vietnam—something he repeatedly said should be intensified.

Every morning for years our first radio news was a report on how many people our government had succeeded in killing over there.

We have been told this blood bath was to avoid a blood bath if we should stop. And we have been told it was to keep the Vietnamese from mounting their war canoes and invading California.

"Oh, Oh! He's Back!"

Paul Harvey News What Is Not Happening In Cambodia Significant

In the spillover war in Vietnam's neighbor nations, the significant news from Cambodia is what could be happening there, but isn't.

Penh's lifelines, that government ordered the people of the capital city to start digging trenches, erecting bunkers; to prepare for invasion.

When the Indochina war spread to Cambodia two years ago, "experts" predicted that the capital city, Phnom Penh, would fall to the Communists within weeks.

And no matter how many American planes we leave in Indochina's skies, they are indecisive and almost ineffective against infiltration.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am 53 years old, a black woman of light-brown complexion. For quite a few years now, my skin has been turning very dark-brown.

Then, in subsequent wars, we came to rely more on technology, on ships and planes and sophisticated weaponry.

Inside Washington

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Frank Mankiewicz, Sen. McGovern's national campaign coordinator and most intimate and influential adviser, is his choice for Democratic national chairman.

That's the closely guarded word in innermost McGovern circles. Publicly, the South Dakota leftist has given no hint of his choice for this key party job.

As a consequence, McGovern is being extremely reticent in indicating his preference. Recently, he flatly refused any comment on a backstage report that National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien had been told he would be asked to stay on.

O'Brien, who has been serving as national chairman since 1969 without compensation, has maintained strict neutrality throughout the volatile nomination scramble.

Kingmaker Mankiewicz's installation as national chairman would be squarely in line with the key role he has played in McGovern's extraordinary two-year drive for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

From the very start, Mankiewicz, 48, has been the radical South Dakotan's most intimate, trusted and influential mastermind and lieutenant.

Born in New York City and a graduate of UCLA, he has had a varied career ranging from lawyer to Peace Corps official, to press agent for Sen. Robert Kennedy and head of his short-lived Presidential blitz.

From 1959, whatever Mankiewicz was doing, his principle interest was working for and promoting the Kennedys.

died-in-the-wool Kennedyite, are a continuation of that devoted dedication.

Knowledgeable sources credit Mankiewicz as strongly favoring Sen. Ted Kennedy as McGovern's running mate.

Mankiewicz is said to maintain that this is a "foolproof spot" for Kennedy; that regardless of whether McGovern wins or loses, the Massachusetts Senator is certain to emerge the winner.

And presumably, of course, Frank Mankiewicz would be right there as kingmaker for another Kennedy.

Anti-McGovern One prominent New York Democrat is making no secret he is vehemently against Sen. McGovern.

Former Gov. Averell Harriman, intimate adviser to and top official under Presidents Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy and Johnson, is so hostile to the South Dakota leftist that he is telling friends he may either "sit out the election" or bolt completely.

Harriman strongly favors Sen. Muskie; he views the collapse of his frontrunning campaign as a "disaster to the party and the country."

O'Brien, who has been serving as national chairman since 1969 without compensation, has maintained strict neutrality throughout the volatile nomination scramble.

Communists will make peace pacts with anybody; Red China with the USA, Red Russia with the USA, even as the Soviets and the Nazis made a peace pact that led to the start of War II.

The U.S. government sponsored the emergency building of nearly 6,000 merchant marine vessels needed to support Allied efforts during World War II.
