Merchant protests widening of Hobart

By SHIRLEY ANDERSON
Pampa News Staff

At least one Hobart Street merchant is concerned about a proposed widening of the street by the State Highway Department.

David McDaniel of Hi-Land Fashions told city commissioners today that he fears a widening of Hobart to six lanes with a turn median in the center — as proposed by the highway department — would completely wipe out any possibility of on-street parking near retail stores, particularly in the 1300 block.

The merchant said he agrees some type of traffic control on Hobart has been needed for years, but urged the council to do the work correctly. "You could destroy the value of some of the buildings out there," he said. "It's a two-lane speedway now — without control it would just be a bigger freeway."

McDaniel's comments came during a 9:30 a.m. meeting of the city council.

Hobart Street is also State Highway 70. The petition would improve and widen the street from Highway 152 north to the corporate limits of the city.

In presenting the request, Mayor R. D. Wilkerson said, "I believe it's time to begin talking about the improvements. The project on Highway 273 took 11 years."

He told commissioners the state already owns 20 feet of right-of-way along the street. Proposed changes in addition to expansion to six lanes with left turn center median areas would include additional signal lights.

Commissioners expressed concern about taking action that might hurt local businesses. Everett Tarbox said, "I can see two sides. I'd want to be sure we're not doing a lot of people harm."

Wilkerson said the Hobart Street resolution is "just a prod, not a final thing," adding there would be public hearings so Pampans can voice opinions.

After a comment from Commissioner Joe

Cooper, "I think we'd better get something started so it won't take 11 years," the motion to begin proceedings on the project carried unanimously.

As City Manager Mack Wofford predicted Monday, commissioners turned thumbs down on a request for additional funding from the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. Wofford told commissioners the request for extra payments by Amarillo, Pampa, Borger, Tahoka and O'Donnell would be to issue refunds to Lubbock and several other South Plains cities who feel their shares of operations and maintenance costs of the Lake Meredith water project is too great.

Amarillo, Pampa and Borger have litigation pending which contests the extra charges and refunds. All cities last year refused to pay the added amounts — in Pampa's case, $6,043.96 — and Pampa at least has now refused payment again.

Wofford stressed the extra billing was for operations and maintenance fees, for which Pampa already pays more than $3,000 monthly. In addition, the city will be billed $155,000 at the end of the year for dam and reservoir charges, Wofford said.

The council accepted bids for a 578-acre parcel of land south of the city now used as farmland by W.C. Epperson. While interest in leasing the property for use as a dragstrip was mentioned to commissioners recently, all bids received apparently were for farm-use operations. Bids ranged from $5,372 annually to Epperson's apparent high bid of $6,227.10 annually for the three-year lease.

The mayor said the lease would be awarded at a May 24 council meeting after all bids are reviewed.

Bids were also allowed for water line construction in the North Crest addition. Wofford said the city desires 10-inch pipe rather than 6-inch to allow for fire protection and other needs. The city is to pay the cost differential between the two sizes. Apparent high bidder was Novak Construction Co. with a base bid of $11,821 and alternate of $3,408.

The mayor said awarding of the contract would be made at the next council meeting to allow commissioners time to review bids.

June 14 was set as the date for a public hearing to consider changing a tract of land north of Coronado Shopping Center from agricultural to commercial. Ken Shearer, owner of the 7.834-acre plot, indicated to city officials he intends to construct a shopping center there.

Another zoning change request involves a tract west of Wells Street, where the owner stated an intention to build townhouses. The zoning change would be from agricultural to multi-family.

A resident of Texas Street asked commissioners to consider opening his street through to Hobart. He mentioned the great number of motorists who start down the street, then back out or use alleys when they discover it's a dead-end area.

The mayor indicated the petition would be included on the agenda of the May 24 council meeting.

In presenting preliminary copies of a new subdivision ordinance to commissioners for their examination, Wofford said the rule is intended to set standards for near-city building, clearly defined but not overly stringent.

He also told the council they would be asked to update the city's electrical and building codes, which were adopted in 1958. "I suspect we're driving a 1958 automobile in 1975," he remarked.

The mayor called on Wofford to update the codes for presentation to the council for discussion at a later meeting.

Commissioners also approved several routine financial and administrative matters. The full council was present with the exception of Commissioner Lyndon "Butch" Shepherd.

$478 million tag on teacher bill

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The House swiftly passed a state reorganization bill today, advanced two teacher retirement bills and then took up a $265 million teacher pay raise measure.

The teacher pay raise bill provides classroom teachers raises that range from a mere $24 a year for beginners to nearly $1,500 for teachers who have been in the top pay grade for three years.

It took the House only about eight minutes to vote tentative approval to the teacher retirement bills.

One costing $104 million, provides higher benefits for teachers who already have retired. The greatest increases would go to those who taught the longest and have been retired the longest.

Teachers who retired last year after 30 years of service would receive a $22.50 monthly increase while those who retired in 1965 after 40 years of service would receive a $37.75 rise in benefits.

"It's not much of an increase. It does not bring them to parity with teachers who retire today. It does not even come close to parity. It is a direct gift from the taxpayers to retired teachers through the Teacher Retirement System," said sponsoring Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville.

The other bill raises benefits for teachers who retire in the future by 14.3 percent. The increase would be financed by raising both state and teacher contributions to the retirement system.

Active teachers would pay 6.65 percent and the state seven percent of teacher and school employee salaries each month into the retirement system instead of the present six percent apiece.

Cost of the additional state contributions would be $109 million over the next two years.

Both retirement bills need a final vote before they can be sent to the Senate.

The state reorganization bill creates a modified cabinet system of government that gathers most of the 200-plus agencies under 16 umbrella departments.

The bill passed, 106-33 and now goes to the Senate. Each department's secretary of executive director would report directly to the governor and serve at his pleasure. A secretary's powers would be somewhat limited, but he would have full authority to review the budgets of agencies in his department and would submit their money requests to the Legislative Budget Board.

"We're simply trying to put some order to non-order and some design into no design," said Rep. Fred Orr, D-DeSoto, the sponsor.

Rep. Pete Patterson, D-Paris, added an amendment requiring the secretaries or executive directors to have had some experience or knowledge of the field they would supervise.

But even after that, he told the House they should kill the bill because "it really is creating another level of government. I think they (the secretaries) will be appointees who are political appointees, and I don't really think this is good," he said.

How much money will be left for teachers and several proposed new state programs will depend on the efforts of a 10-member House-Senate conference committee working on a compromise general appropriation bill.

The committee was set up Monday after the House rejected the Senate's $15.6 billion substitute for the $15.4 billion two-year state budget bill approved by representatives last week.

In contrast to the eight days the House spent on the bill, senators shot it through in 51 minutes, accepting with little questioning the measure written by the Senate Finance Committee.

Senators left $56.7 million on the table, while the House bill leaves $1.1 billion in unspent revenue that would be available for teachers, school finance improvements and other items.

House members authorized state employee pay raises of only 3.4 percent a year, compared with the Senate's 6.8 percent next year and 5.1 percent in fiscal 1979 — a $115 million difference.

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, was upbraided for trying to amend the bill to switch $81 million earmarked for prison construction to welfare payments for dependent children.

"We don't write appropriation bills on the floor of the Senate," lectured Sen. A. M. Aikin, D-Paris, dean of the Senate and chairman of the finance committee.

Truan's amendment was shouted down.

Senators also passed and sent to the House a bill changing the name of the Texas Railroad Commission to something that conforms more closely to what it really is, Texas Energy and Transportation Commission.

The commission regulates not only railroads but also trucks, buses, oil and gas production, gas utilities and liquefied petroleum gas such as butane and propane.

Final house action was possible late in the day on several Senate bills that were given tentative approval Monday.

One would allow persons 18 and older to ride motorcycles without helmets.

Another would limit commercial fishermen to 200 pounds of redfish a day, despite protests from some coastal legislators that this would put the boats out of business.

Thank you, choir, thank you, Pampa

In one of their last performances of the year, the Pampa High School concert choir will provide entertainment at a dinner tonight sponsored by the Choir Booster Club. It will honor all high school choir members at 7 p.m. in the Heritage Room of M.K. Brown Auditorium. Tickets are $3.50 and may be purchased at the door. Nancy and Doug Coffee, president of the club, thanks Pampans for supporting the choir and expresses appreciation to the singers and their directors for a job well done. Above, the choir, directed by John Woicikowski, rehearses in the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City before their recent performance there.

'Europe needs muscle'--Carter

LONDON (AP) — President Carter told the NATO allies today, Western Europe needs more military muscle because Communist forces are much stronger than they need to be to defend the Soviet bloc.

Making his debut as the leader of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Carter told a special summit meeting of the alliance the United States is ready "to make a major effort" to improve NATO's strength, and he urged the other 14 members to join in.

Carter called for a committee of NATO defense ministers to study the military status of all alliance members and report at another summit meeting in Washington next May.

"The threat facing the alliance has grown steadily in recent years," Carter said. "The Soviet Union has achieved essential, strategic nuclear theater nuclear forces have been strengthened. The Warsaw Pact's conventional forces in Europe emphasize an offensive posture."

These forces are much stronger than needed for any defense purpose. Since 1965, new ground and air weapons have been introduced in most major categories self-propelled artillery, mobile tactical missiles, mobile air-defense guns, armored personnel carriers, tactical aircraft and tanks. The Pact's buildup continues undiminished.

The president indicated achievement of such goals as recognition of human rights, mutual troop reductions in Central Europe and nuclear arms agreements depends "on a credible defense and deterrent."

He urged the allies to do more to "improve cooperation in development, production and procurement" of weapons, saying they "should not be weakened militarily by waste and overlapping" nor "by disputes over where to buy defense equipment."

He promised U.S. cooperation in promoting "a genuinely two-way trans-Atlantic trade in defense equipment."

"I have instructed the secretary of defense to seek increased opportunities to buy European defense equipment where this would mean efficient use of allied resources," he said. "I will work with the Congress of the United States to this end."

Several NATO members, including the West Germans, have complained over the years that the United States has been unwilling to purchase their weapons and that its calls for standardization of equipment mean everyone should buy American.

Carter said relations between the West and the Communist bloc "must be guided both by a humane vision and by a sense of history."

National horse count would cost $3 million

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would spend more than $3 million in tax money for a national horse census now has the endorsement of 15 congressmen and probably will be the subject of public hearings this summer.

Rep. John Breckinridge, D-Ky., says 14 other House members have joined him in sponsoring his horse-counting bill. Among the endorsers is the chairman of the subcommittee that has jurisdiction over the question, Rep. E. de la Garza, D-Tex.

Breckinridge's legislative aide, John Chwat, said in an interview Monday that hundreds of horse owners are writing their congressmen to support the bill. He said public hearings will be held on the measure, probably this summer.

Chwat also said he had been told the Senate might vote on a similar measure when the farm bill comes up for consideration, possibly by the end of this month.

In remarks printed in The Congressional Record, Breckinridge says horse equipment makers, horse owners and racing track interests "cry out for accurate horse data."

"The time has come to move forward and pass the horse census bill of 1977," he said.

Breckinridge originally proposed spending $3 million next year and $800,000 each year thereafter on the proposed census, and Chwat said the Agriculture Department has estimated that the cost could go as high as $10 million.

Breckinridge now has modified the bill to spread out the costs, spending $1.25 million during each of the next three years. His bill would authorize this amount. Congress also would have to pass a separate appropriation bill before any money could be spent.

Breckinridge said the Interior Department already has spent $3.6 million "researching wild horses and burros" and will spend another $2 million this year. However, Robert Springer of the department's division of range said this is not so.

Springer said his department has spent no more than $100,000 on research about wild horses and burros. He said the department is budgeted to spend $1.85 million this year on research, management and roundup of "excess" wild animals from government-owned lands, all under the Wild Horse and Burro Act passed by Congress in 1971.

Chwat said some people consider the horse census bill a gag, but to horse owners "it's a very important bill, and they represent millions of people." He said a census is too large a task for the horse industry to undertake on its own.

House critical of Social security plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's plan for shoring up the financially troubled Social Security system was criticized by House opponents today as a gimmick and "a brazen show of fiscal legerdemain."

Rep. Joe Waggoner, D-La., No. 2 Democrat on the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security, said using income tax revenues to help finance the pension fund would "make Social Security a welfare matter and this looks dangerous to me."

Rep. Bill Archer of Texas, ranking Republican on the panel, told Joseph A. Califano Jr., secretary of health, education and welfare that his presentation of the Carter plan to the subcommittee should have been labeled "President Carter's magic show."

The Treasury is in worse shape than the Social Security fund, Archer said. He asserted that pumping $14 billion in income taxes into Social Security over the next five years would require cutting other programs or increasing the federal deficit.

Archer accused Carter of "fiscal legerdemain" in the Social Security plan.

And Archer said the President's plan to use income taxes for Social Security in times of high unemployment was comparable to the "gimmick" of basing federal spending on the revenues that might be expected in times of low unemployment.

On Monday, the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Al Ullman of Oregon, said he saw no need to make the far-reaching changes Carter wants in order to solve short-term Social Security financing problems.

Russell B. Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, called Carter's proposals a step in the right direction. He added that while the Senate is likely to "vote to do much of what the President is recommending ... We may find ways to improve on his recommendations."

The proposals were spelled out by Vice President Walter F. Mondale and Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. Califano arranged to provide details today to a ways and means subcommittee.

Some lawmakers apparently see the Carter plan, including unprecedented use of income taxes to feed the pension fund, as the least painful way to save Social Security from bankruptcy.

In a message to Congress, Carter said $83 billion in new revenue is needed for Social Security by 1982. Otherwise the fund that finances benefits for disabled persons will be exhausted in 1979.

State hits at Montessori

Orange County (Calif.) Register
As many people know, Montessori schools — named for the Italian educational theorist, Maria Montessori — enjoy a reputation unexampled anywhere in the public tax-supported schools. Bright Montessori students, because they are allowed wide berth in pursuing studies that sustain their interest, are often leaps and bounds ahead of youngsters tugged and pushed through the compulsory classrooms.

School we do not know. We do know that the government has cited the school with health and safety code violations, which may or may not have some basis in fact.

By CLARK R. MOLLENHOFF
WASHINGTON, D.C. — The illustrious members of the Smithsonian Institution's Board of Regents, including Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, are embarking upon a course that could be a cover-up of financial irregularities and conflicts of interest for Smithsonian Secretary S. Dillon Ripley.

Byrd (Dem., W. Va.) and Senator Ted Stevens (Rep., Alaska) in the Senate. Yates, chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee that passes on the Smithsonian's annual budget of more than $100 million, has declined an invitation to serve on the Smithsonian's Board of Regents on grounds that it would constitute a conflict of interest since he also has the oversight function over the Smithsonian budget.

More of same ahead for P.O.

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
WASHINGTON, May 3 — You can get a clear idea of what a total loss that report of the special Commission on Postal Service is from the fact that it is not even being used as a starting point for new legislation.

(1) Bailar will be axed. The Carter administration is bent on getting rid of him. So are the two House leaders, chiefly responsible for postal legislation — Reps. James Hanley, D-N.Y., chairman of the postal operations subcommittee, and Charles Wilson, D-Calif., head of the postal personnel and modernization subcommittee.

Six months in the making and a million dollars in taxpayers' money, the study is a complete washout in providing realistic and resourceful answers for the many complex problems and encumbrances afflicting the Postal Service.

Typical blast is the comment of Rep. Edward Derwinski, Ill., ranking Republican on the Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Common sense wins one

By Don Oakley
The Carter administration is firmly committed to cutting the government red tape that frustrates businesses and complicates all our lives, says Bert Lance, director of the White House Office of Management and Budget.

The canners submitted data showing that the regulation would cost $104 million a year and add about a cent more to each can or jar of food. Instead, they suggested a voluntary program, costing only $10 million, in which the solid weight of raw food was weighed before it was put in the can.

Hearst gets probation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Patricia Hearst has won five years probation on charges stemming from a 1974 shootout at Mel's Sporting Goods Store.

She has estimated damage to his store at $6,000.

During the sentencing hearing, Deputy Dist. Atty. Sam Mayerson said, "It would be wrong to satisfy those who say there is special treatment for the rich by punishing this defendant disproportionately."

Defense attorney Al Johnson, who became the 23-year-old Miss Hearst's close confidant, declared, "The consideration of her wealth and the name of her family worked against her every step of the way."

The judge, choosing leniency for Miss Hearst, who pleaded no contest to assault and robbery charges in the May 16, 1974, shooting spree, said, "I don't think there is a heart in America that isn't full of compassion for her parents."

Randolph and Catherine Hearst listened from a front row of the packed courtroom. The slender Miss Hearst was silent and expressionless throughout the proceedings. "The only thing I heard that she said was, 'Thank you,'" reported Johnson.

The probation report also revealed that Miss Hearst is con-

The report noted that she was anticipating testifying against her former fugitive comrades, William and Emily Harris, when they stand trial for her Feb. 4, 1974, kidnapping.

Leonard Weinglass, the Harrises' attorney, said "I am upset that there's been such obviously different treatment of the Harrises and Patricia Hearst. ... I don't wish anyone into jail. I think the courts should follow humanitarian procedures."

The judge's decision did not end Miss Hearst's legal involvements. She currently is free on $1 million bail pending appeal of her bank robbery conviction in San Francisco.

Moms attacks school showing of 'Lottery'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Several mothers have asked a Senate education subcommittee to vote for a bill that would allow parents to sue schools that show certain films the mothers find objectionable.

The committee watched two such films Monday. The senators saw "The Lottery" and a second film explaining it.

In "The Lottery," citizens of a small American town gathered for an annual June 27 lottery at which the heads of families drew slips of paper from a box. One slip had a black circle on it, and the members of that family had to draw again to see who in the family would be stoned to death by the community.

An old man in the crowd said, "Lottery in June, corn heavy soon." When told some other communities had stopped holding annual lotteries, he blamed it on young people and said emphatically, "There's always been a lottery."

The loser, a mother, was stoned by her own children as well as by the other citizens.

In the second film, a man suggested several meanings of the film. One explanation involved the sacrifice to a god or gods by an agricultural community in return for good crops. At another point, the narrator asked, "If a vengeful god demands such a sacrifice, should we continue (to worship that god)?"

Glass, Jefferson head McLean seniors

McLEAN — Homer Jefferson, superintendent of McLean High School, recently announced the top ten scholastic students of the 1977 graduating class.

Valedictorian is Maridale Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Glass. Salutatorian is David Jefferson, son of Supt. and Mrs. Homer Jefferson.

Others in the top ten, in order of grade standings, include Peggy Van Huss, Judith Bentley, Rose Dwyer, Cynthia Morris, Cherrie Billingsley, Teresa Mounce, Cindy Sherrod and Leila Skipper.

Miss Glass is active in band and FHA, and is a member of the FHA State Choir. The reigning Miss McLean, she plans to attend West Texas State University in the fall as a music major.

Jefferson, a four-year member of the football team, was this year's student council president. A member of FFA, he was named a Lone Star Farmer last year. He plans to study chemistry at Texas A&M.

Ian Smith may resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new British-U.S. plan to make Rhodesia an independent black-ruled state by Sept. 24, 1978, foresees the resignation of Prime Minister Ian Smith and his government by next summer.

Sources here say the resignation of the Smith government would clear the way for immediate cancellation of the United Nations embargo against Rhodesia as well as for a cease-fire between white-led Rhodesian forces and black guerrillas.

The sources say the plan, which is to be unveiled this week, will call for the resignation of Smith and his Rhodesia Front government about three months before Rhodesia actually comes under black control as an independent state.

"Smith's white regime would hand over all powers to a provisional regime that would hold the ring during the brief final phase," one senior diplomat reported.

The U.S.-British accord was reached in London last Friday by British Foreign Secretary Dr. David Owen and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance. Sources say they resolved to dispense with the convening of a Rhodesian constitution-writing conference of the kind that collapsed in Geneva last year.

Owen and Vance intend, instead, to set up what amounts to a joint "British-American presence" either in Lusaka, Zambia, or in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania.

The British element is to be headed by a senior Foreign Office diplomat, John Graham, a specialist in African affairs. The chief U.S. envoy probably has been chosen by Vance, but senior State Department officials here say they do not know who he will be.

The British are the major architects of the plan, which in all stages was closely checked with Washington. The British, lacking power themselves to assert any kind of authority, consider they have made a major gain in winning the backing of the United States for a peace plan that needs the clout of a major power to make it work.

Sources gave this rundown of the apparently unique diplomatic procedure the British and Americans will use in seeking support from all of the factions in conflict over Rhodesia: —From their Lusaka or Dar es Salaam base, the British and Americans will consult with each of the rival black nationalist factions who intend calling the new state Zimbabwe instead of Rhodesia, which was named after the 19th century British entrepreneur Cecil Rhodes.

—Leaders of those black factions will be invited to confer with the British and-or Americans, but if they fail to show high-level British and U.S. officials will trek through the bush country, by air or overland, to seek them out for talks.

Davis trial moved to Amarillo

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis says the probability of his capital murder trial being moved to Amarillo is all right with him.

"I don't care where I go," Davis said Monday after State Dist. Court Judge Tom Cave indicated the trial will be scheduled June 6 in State Dist. Judge George Dowlen's court.

Cave withheld a final ruling on the venue change until he has reviewed exhibits submitted at a hearing Monday.

"It is quite likely the court is going to grant the motion (for change of venue)," Cave said. He said trials on Dowlen's docket would have to be rearranged before he could take the case.

Cave in effect will be approving his own motion for a change of venue, a move brought on by the April 13 mistrial of Davis in Fort Worth. Cave halted that session in its eighth week because of jury misconduct.

The 43-year-old Davis is accused of the capital murder of his 12-year-old stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, last August at the Davis mansion in Fort Worth. She died in a shooting spree that also left former TCU basketball player Stan Farr dead and two others wounded, including Davis' estranged wife, Priscilla.

Davis has been indicted in the other shootings.

Prosecutors presented evidence to support the change of venue, and defense attorneys filed a motion Monday morning saying they agreed the case should be relocated.

Davis' attorneys had previously said Davis preferred to be tried in his hometown of Fort Worth.

Cave said Amarillo has a favorable population makeup and location, has been exposed to little publicity about the case and has "open-mindedness and good people."

He said other cities were disqualified for geographic or population reasons. He said Austin had been highly regarded, but it was determined that a backlog in criminal cases there made courtrooms unavailable for the Davis trial.

Dowlen, Cave said, "can try this case better in Amarillo than I can in Amarillo."

Cave also postponed Monday a contempt hearing scheduled Tuesday for defense attorneys Richard Haynes and Phil Burleson. They were to have shown why they could not be sent to three days in jail and fined $500 each, as Cave had ordered.

Cave could end up taking a controversial case off Dowlen's docket. It involves indictments against Potter County Atty. Kerry Knorr on two counts of aggravated perjury, one count of bribery and five counts of felony theft.

Skellytown man posts drug, weapon bonds

A 17-year-old Skellytown man has been released on bond on charges of possession of marijuana and unlawfully carrying a prohibited weapon.

Ricky Dale Sturgill was stopped for speeding by Department of Public Safety Trooper Wayne Williams at 10:30 p.m. Saturday at FM 2477 and Texas 70.

Williams said he had clocked the car at 91 m.p.h. in a 55 m.p.h. zone.

The trooper said he smelled what he believed to be marijuana in the car and he obtained Sturgill's permission to search the car.

Williams found a substance believed to be marijuana and the prohibited weapon, an 11-inch knife with an 8¼-inch blade, in the search.

He arrested Sturgill and charged him with possession of marijuana and unlawfully carrying a prohibited weapon.

Sturgill was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Venora Cole who set bond at $1,500 on the marijuana charge and $1,000 on the weapons charge. Williams said Sturgill pleaded guilty to speeding.

A 15-year-old juvenile in the car with Sturgill was released to the parents without being charged.

A 26-year-old Pampan was also charged with possession of marijuana. Williams said.

The trooper said he stopped Alfred Lee Willis Jr., of 701 Octavius, for speeding two miles west of Pampa on U.S. 60 Saturday.

Williams said he smelled what he believed to be marijuana and a search of the car revealed a lid of suspected marijuana on the front floorboard.

Willis pleaded guilty to speeding and was arraigned for possession of marijuana before Mrs. Cole who set bond at $500.

Two women in the car with Willis were released. Williams said.

Names in the news

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A nurse who rents a house here from Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says he has gone to court to have her evicted and force her to pay $800 in back rent.

Judy Yung said Monday that a lawyer representing Proxmire filed suit in Small Claims Court. She had said previously that she was unable to pay her rent because of costly heating bills at the home last winter.

The tenant said Proxmire is threatening to have her wages garnished even though she is still trying to pay off her heating bills.

"I guess I'll just have to quit if he does that," she said.

The senator was unavailable for comment.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to turn the former home of Eleanor Roosevelt at Val Kill in Hyde Park, N.Y., into a national historic site.

The secretary of the Interior would be authorized to buy the land and create a public site where the politically active wife of President Franklin D. Roosevelt could be commemorated by statues, lectures, and other activities.

The bill, adopted Monday by a 337 to 43 vote, authorizes $75,000 to buy the land and $420,000 to develop it. The House stipulated that a maximum of $50,000 of the development money could be used to build a memorial to Mrs. Roosevelt on the site.

The bill needs Senate approval before going to President Carter for his signature.

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — John Cardinal Dearden is reported in fair but improving condition at Southfield's Providence Hospital following a heart attack two weeks ago.

Cardinal Dearden, 68, struck on April 27, was transferred Saturday from the cardiac care unit to a private room.

A spokesman said Monday that doctors were "cautiously optimistic" about the cardinal's condition and said he would require an extended convalescence.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Susan Ford, daughter of the former president, plans to withdraw from the University of Kansas School of Journalism, the school's dean says.

Dean Del Brinkman said Miss Ford told him she was leaving because she had missed several classes and thought it was too much work to make up. The dean said Monday that she gave no reason for missing classes.

Miss Ford enrolled in January to seek a major in photojournalism and also planned to work part time at the Topeka Capital Journal.

Rich Clarkson, chief photographer of the Capital Journal, said Miss Ford was still on the newspaper's payroll but had not worked regularly because of "school and other commitments."

Miss Ford was not available for comment.

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) — Princess Marie-Astrid of Luxembourg, linked romantically with Prince Charles, is studying English literature here.

The Bell School of Languages said the 2½ week course costs $56, and that the princess "is a very hard worker and her English is fair to medium."

She boards with a family in this ancient university city.

Maria-Astrid, 23, called "Asty" by Prince Charles, attended the school three years ago for a similar course.

Kindle heads Red Cross

Fred Kindel was named new chairman of the Gray County Chapter, American Red Cross, during the organization's annual meeting today.

Kindel served previously as a member of the board of directors. He was introduced to Red Cross volunteers and guests at a 7 a.m. breakfast meeting at First United Methodist Church by outgoing chapter chairman Wayne Wilson.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan, guest speaker, recounted incidents of local disasters through the years.

Speaking of the 1975 tornado at Lefors, the sheriff said, "In my lifetime I have never seen a coordinated effort like it. I saw folks working day and night. Skeet Wagner and his Red Cross volunteers gave of their time, their effort; they gave everything they had to carry out the Red Cross disaster program."

He stressed the importance of county weather observers. "We have to have them — and the ones we have do observe: they do watch."

He concluded by advising residents to be on guard for sudden weather changes. "Tornadoes are something we've got to look about, to watch, to be ready."

Jordan was guest speaker for a 7 a.m. breakfast meeting at First United Methodist Church. Highlights of the affair were reports from Red Cross Youth president Angela Day and chairman of Hospital Volunteers Mrs. Lora Dunn; special awards; and announcement of incoming officers and chairmen.

Policeman charged in murder

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Police Chief B.G. "Pappy" Bond announced at an unusual 1 a.m. news conference today that a Houston police officer has been charged with murder in connection with the beating and drowning death of a laborer last Friday.

Bond said Terry Denson, 27, a five-year veteran of the Houston police department, has numerous commendations in his personnel file.

Slain last Friday was Joseph Campos Torres, 23, a laborer and black belt karate expert who was found floating in Buffalo Bayou in downtown Houston Sunday.

Bond did not elaborate on circumstances that resulted in the death of Torres although he acknowledged that Denson and five other officers were on duty at the time of the death.

The police chief said the other five officers have not been charged with any crime but have been relieved of duty. They are Carless Elliot, 20, Louis Kinney, 27, Joseph Janish, 22, Stephen Orlando, 21, and Glenn Brinkmeyer, 25.

Denson was released from Houston city jail after posting $10,000 bond before dawn.

Bond repeatedly told newsmen he had been advised by the district attorney's office and by the city legal department not to reveal details of the case.

At one point, Bond said "I twice have repeated my statement and if you want me to do so I'll restate it again."

On Monday morning, Bond announced he had organized an internal affairs unit for the police department for investigation of such charges as police brutality as well as internal problems.

The Torres death was the new unit's first investigation.

The charge against Denson said the policeman intentionally killed Torres by "pushing the

Jail terms probated

Ricky Dale Sturgill, 17, of Skellytown entered pleas of guilty Monday to two charges in county court.

He was fined $300 and sentenced to 30 days in jail, probated to six months, for unlawfully carrying an illegal knife.

For possession of marijuana under two ounces, Judge Don Hinton set punishment at $200 fine and 30 days in jail probated to 180 days.

William Fletcher Jr., 24, of deceased, who had been severely beaten, and injured, off a dock into Buffalo Bayou."

Denson joined the department in 1972 and has received six letters of commendation from citizens for his police work. He and the five officers relieved of duty worked the downtown patrol area.

Ralph Torres, 45, an uncle of the dead man, said his nephew left his job at a glass contracting firm at noon Thursday and did not return but was seen late Thursday afternoon carrying a beer and his military jacket. The uncle said Torres had been discharged from the Army about six months ago.

Abilene, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was fined $200 and sentenced to 30 days in jail, probated to six months.

Kathleen S. Harris, 25, pleaded guilty to theft over $5 and under $20. A resident of Perryton at the time the incident occurred, Ms. Harris now lives in Farnsworth.

She was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail, probated to 180 days.

Court costs in each case were $53 and probation fees are $10 per month.

Oklahoma okays death by drugs

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Oklahoma Legislature Monday became the second in the nation to pass a bill setting up a system of executing condemned criminals through lethal drug injections.

The House gave final approval to the measure by a 75-15 margin and sent it to Gov. David Boren.

The Texas Legislature passed a similar bill last week, but it has yet to be signed into law.

Gov. Boren has indicated he will sign the Oklahoma bill.

Rob Pyron, Boren's news secretary, said the governor will study the measure, adding: "I don't see any reason why he would not sign it."

"The House voted 68-22 in favor of adopting a conference compromise bill before voting for final passage."

Rep. John Monks, D-Muskogee, argued against adopting the conference version, which deleted his amendment that would require that electrocutions continue until the U.S. Supreme Court rules on the constitutionality of the lethal drug injections.

Monks said he had no objections to executing condemned criminals "in the most humane way" but feared further delay in carrying out death verdicts.

"People of this state are sick and tired of the stalls that have been going on in regards to capital punishment," he said.

He said murderers "should be destroyed as soon as possible after their conviction."

But Rep. Bill Wiseman, R-Tulsa, author of the bill, argued that retaining electrocutions would virtually guarantee the state's death penalty law would some day be overturned by the high court.

He said electrocutions were "probably the most vulnerable" form of executions. "It's just loitering on the brink of cruel and unusual."

Wiseman said that in the past defense attorneys "have gotten murderers off the hook by intimidating juries" with their descriptions of the effects of

Woman shoots self after Amarillo robbery

AMARILLO — A Flagstaff, Ariz., woman committed suicide Monday morning as law enforcement officers prepared to arrest her in connection with an armed robbery of an Amarillo convenience store.

Sue Hopkins Meyer, 31, shot herself in the head as armed police and a sheriff's deputy approached her car on Interstate-40 in west Amarillo around 10 a.m.

A woman matching Mrs. Meyer's description robbed a 7-11 Food Store of an undetermined amount of cash shortly before 10 a.m. The robber was armed with a .357 magnum pistol.

When officers spotted Mrs. Meyer on I-40 she was traveling west. They pursued her and, with the help of a Potter County deputy, stopped her between Avondale and Western.

Police reported the woman did not fire at them. Officers said her purse was filled with money and she was holding the pistol when they reached the car.

Mrs. Meyer was pronounced dead by Potter County Justice of the Peace Roy E. Byrd who ordered an autopsy.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Schooler - Gordon Funeral Directors.

Advice

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a Vietnamese refugee living in Cleveland, Ohio, for two years. From my window I see a man about 75 come to see this lady friend often. I heard from the neighbors that this friendship is over 20 years old.

My girlfriend lives in another apartment, and visiting her I saw the same old guy visiting an older woman, every day of the month.

I heard that this woman, now in her 80s, was in show business many years ago and has been married five times. I know we have a lot to learn in our new country about customs, habits, etc., but how can parents complain if their children's morals are bad if the senior citizens act this way?

I feel very sorry to see my neighbor fooled by this old wolf. In our country, we respect old people, and they are very respectable. I cannot understand the behavior of your senior citizens. I think this is rather unusual. Please reply.
FROM VIETNAM

DEAR FROM: It is not possible to know all the facts merely by what you see from your window or hear from your friends. Besides, in this country people of all ages are entitled to privacy. I don't know what religious beliefs you hold, but The New Testament says: "Judge not, that ye be not judged." Think about it.

DEAR ABBY: Up until the last few years we were a very close and happy family. My brother married a nice Jewish girl (we are Catholic).

There were married by a judge, which hurt my mom quite a bit because she wanted my brother to be married by a priest.

Now my mother found out that my brother is wearing a Star of David on a chain around his neck, and it is just about killing her because before he was married, he always wore a crucifix around his neck.

I see no reason why he can't wear both, do you? It would keep my poor mother from eating her heart out. I would like your opinion.
NEWSDAY READERS

DEAR READERS: As far as I am concerned there is no reason why your brother can't wear symbols of both the Jewish and Catholic faith. Many do. Tell your brother how your mother feels, and from then on, it's his decision.

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote to ask if she should send a gift to a mother who had given birth to a child born with Down's Syndrome. Thank you for saying yes.

I know your advice was sound because I gave birth to such a child. Friends called. They stopped by. They even gave me a surprise shower when my baby was a month old. Here is the message on one card that meant so much to me:

God gave this child to you to guide,
To love, to walk thru life beside.
A little child so full of charms,
To fill a pair of loving arms.
God picked you out because he knew
How safe His child would be with you.
God bless friends like that.

RICKY'S MOM

Ask Dr. Lamb
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I hope you can help me, because the way I feel now, it's not worth living. Some years ago I had headaches and crying spells. It was called a depression. I took pills for that and was all right until recently.

I moved into a new home and fixed everything the way I wanted it but now I cry all the time and I don't feel at home. What causes a depression? Please tell me what I can do about it. I am 64 years old.

DEAR READER: You are far ahead of most people with similar disorders. You know what you have and have some understanding of it. Depression is a common disorder and it occurs with varying degrees of severity.

You should get some help. Go see your doctor and let him guide you. People with a depression are often unable to really help themselves. Someone outside often needs to take the initiative. Medicines, some of which you have had before, are very helpful in such a situation and you may profit with some professional counseling to help you cope with the underlying factors that may cause you to have a depression.

What causes a depression? Authorities have different theories about it. If I were to single out one factor it would be the individual's own dependent nature. All of us have some degree of dependency, and need support from family, friends or church.

The person prone to depression tends to be more dependent and is less able to tolerate the stresses of life. He may need a greater amount of assurance. When the assurance from his job situation or family disappears, depression may follow. This may be precipitated by loss of an important family member that filled part of the dependency needs.

Depression is often associated with anger directed toward one's self. The guilt reaction and sense of lack of worth may be made worse by sympathetic understanding. That is why the "friend in need" neighborly act may not be helpful at all in such a complicated situation. It takes a professional to determine whether stern realism or sympathetic understanding is really needed in any given case.

A change in environment, including moving into a new house or a change in job situations may precipitate a depression in a person who has the dynamics to have one. I am not too surprised that you identify this event with your depression.

Don't be secretive about your problem. Ask your family to help you and let them know you need some professional help to recover as soon as possible. The sooner you get competent help the quicker you will be back to your normal self. Some individuals may feel ill and think they have some serious disease of the body when in fact they have a depression. The aches and pains of digestive complaints may all be manifestations of depression. A physician has to be alert to this possibility to provide proper treatment.

DEAR POLLY: Do you, or any of the readers, have a method for removing applique glue-ons from a bathtub? — MRS. L.R.F.

DEAR MRS. L.R.F.: Work the edges loose until you can get a firm grip on a corner and then pull off. Add water if it is hard to pull. Adhesive and leftover bits can be removed with linseed oil or lacquer thinner. If you do not like to work with either of these because of the fire hazard, use a good household cleanser. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY: My Pet Peeve is with those people who turn their radios down but not off. It is so easy to forget it is on and it uses energy. So why not turn it definitely on or off.

I keep a shoe box with a lid on it to hold all the guarantees, instructions, etc. that come with various household items we buy. They are always handy and easily found for reference.

I had a short piece of rubber backed carpet with a short pile and cut it in six-inch squares that are nice to set bottles on that might drip on my dresser. They would make nice coasters, too. — MARTHA.

Plants in the Home...

Geraniums indoors and out

The geranium offers a variety of shapes and sizes for indoor/outdoor planting.

The other day, a student studying plants with me asked if I had a favorite. On the spur of the moment I said no, but I could probably get along with 12 different kinds. Now that I've had more time to think about it, I've decided I could live with only one, provided it were the geranium.

Of course, when I say I could live with only one plant, I have in mind as many varieties of one kind of plant as possible, which is where the geranium's stock goes up. Not only are there hundreds of different hybrids of the common bedding geranium, but there are miniatures of it that grow only a few inches tall, fancyleaves with colorfully variegated foliage and varieties with flower petals speckled as a bird's egg. In addition, there are ivy- and scented-leaf types and a whole group called odd and rare, one of which has thorny stems.

All of these forms of the geranium belong to the Geranium Family, but they are actually members of the genus Pelargonium (tell - are - GOH - nee - um), most species of which grow wild in South Africa. The true geraniums that are native to much of North America can survive severe cold; the pelargoniums will die at around 28F. So far as I am concerned, it is perfectly all right to call a geranium a geranium even if it is a pelargonium; just remember not to let pelargoniums freeze.

Whether you want to grow geraniums indoors or outdoors, sunlight is the key to healthy, compact growth and lots of flowers. Indoors, they need all the direct sun you can give them; outdoors, geraniums will succeed in partly sunny areas, especially the ivyleaf varieties.

Geraniums will also grow well in a fluorescent-light garden. I have been particularly successful with the miniatures and small-leaved scented such as lemon, apple and variegated

He patents nectarines

EDITOR'S NOTE: He's called the Luther Burbank of today. His business is improving on what nature has given us. If it weren't for his efforts on the West Coast, people on the East Coast probably wouldn't be eating nectarines. He's a plant breeder who has developed scores of hybrids. At 84, Fred Anderson plans to patent a half-dozen a year for as long as nature will let him.

By JOE WING
For The Associated Press
MERCED, Calif. (AP) — Fred Anderson loves trees and things that grow. Indeed, he has spent much of his 84 years tinkering with nature, evolving new varieties from the slow-working genetics that begin in the spring.

As a result, his patented hybrids dominate the $30 million American nectarine industry and produce fruit all over the world. He also has developed genetically dwarfed peach trees and is hard at work on new varieties of pecans and apricots.

He pauses by one of his dwarf peach trees and lays his gnarled fingers on a blossoming bough. He smiles at his portly assistant, a 23-year-old granddaughter.

"To emasculate a blossom, Robin," he tells her, "you cut it with your fingernail, like this, then strip away the petals and the pollen-bearing stamens without damaging the pistil."

He was demonstrating the first step in a hybridization process that might culminate six years later in still another tree variety to add to the 113 he already has patented.

Robin tried her hand and found the procedure not all that easy. Next day she started practicing the craft under the direction of one of the dozen skilled men and women whose work is vital to Anderson's 40-acre experimental farm near here.

"She catches on quickly," says Anderson. He is most pleased by the aptitude she has shown for selecting promising seedlings and scions. That is the very heart of plant breeding.

Called by one expert the "Luther Burbank of today," Anderson is full of projects and gives no thought to retirement. When he made one concession to age last year and quit driving, Robin gave up a job in Colorado and became his driver and disciple. If things work out well, she might be the one to carry on his "art, science or business," as Burbank himself describes it.

Anderson downgrades his talents. "I'm wrong as often as I'm right," he says. "The nurserymen are the ones who really make the selections. They come around and say 'I can sell them the tree.' Even when I tell them the tree's faults, they are likely to want it anyway. So I patent it and sell them the rights. They do the grafting and growing themselves."

"Only 25 per cent of my trees have made money for me and the nurserymen." Nevertheless, he collected a record $250,000 in royalties last year. A large portion of the gross is plowed back into his experiment station.

The third child among six born to rugged pioneers on a family farm near Eureka, Calif., about 200 miles north of Santa Rosa, where Burbank achieved fame, Anderson knew hardship but had time to pore over newspapers and magazines at home. His idol was Burbank, then bursting into fame. In recent years, on trips back to his home, he has stopped frequently at Burbank's grave.

Anderson attended a teacher's college, taught for several years, studied horticulture at the University of California in Berkeley, served during World War I and became foreman of a big nursery at Fresno, Calif. When the nursery went broke in the depression, he took his $300 veteran's bonus and started growing nectarines on some of the land he still owns.

He did not grow fruit for himself until he was about 40 years old, nor take out his first fruit patent until he was 42, nor really get going on patents until he was 50.

Anderson took to fruit breeding when he discovered early on that none of the nectarines then available would stand up during shipment to East Coast markets.

How well he has succeeded is shown by the fact that his patented trees have produced as much as 90 per cent of the American crop.

What next? Self-fertile almonds, for one thing. At present, orchardists must plant more than one variety of almond and depend on bees to fertilize the blossoms.

Another project is to produce a sweet kernel apricot, like some grown in Kashmir that have kernels that may be eaten like nuts. Anderson has patented one under the name of Sweetheart. But to make it really successful, he says, he must make the flesh of the fruit more attractive and easier to ship.

He is trying to come up with a strain of pecan that will produce as many pounds of edible kernels per acre as do almonds and walnuts in the central valley of California.

And then there is always the challenge of improving fruit and nut varieties now considered satisfactory and of developing strains that come into bearing at given times.

There's no danger Anderson will run out of ways of improving on nature's largesse.

Mini-gardens grow in windows, on patios

For those without outdoor space, a "mini-garden" can be put on your windowsill, patio, balcony, rooftop, or almost anywhere the sun shines.

Mini-gardening, or growing vegetables in containers, offers an advantage to the backyard plot. These little gardens can be moved to the sun, placed out in the rain without being flooded, and are almost resistant to soil insects, weeds and diseases, explains a Texas A&M University System horticulturist, Sam Cotner.

Vegetables that produce well in containers, flower beds and other limited spaces include tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, squash, herbs, leaf lettuce and green onions.

For any container garden, good drainage is essential, emphasizes Cotner. To insure better water filtering, a lightweight "synthetic soil" obtained at the local nursery is sufficient.

Joey home for Mom's day

SEATTLE (AP) — Joey Pellegrini, dragged for blocks beneath a car a month ago, came home from the hospital for a joyful Mother's Day with his parents.

They planned to picnic at Harborview Medical Center, but were surprised when doctors said the 8-year-old child could be released for a surprise homecoming.

"This is the most glorious, beautiful day of our lives," said the happy mother, one of numerous family and friends who surrounded Joey Saturday when he got home.

"Look at this, just look — and it's joy," said the 34-year-old Mrs. Pellegrini.

Joey pronounced himself "just fine" though he must undergo further surgery.

On April 12, Joey was struck by a car and dragged screaming under it for five blocks. Police said the 72-year-old driver was unaware he had hit the child despite the boy's screams.

The man stopped the car when he noticed Joey's friends yelling and screaming and running behind his car. But he drove off again, stopping at his home. He was charged with negligent driving.

Joey was in critical condition with severe pavement burns on his face and chest.

"I don't remember anything... My dad said I was screaming, but I don't know," said Joey, still wondering how it all happened.

"We have no bitterness — we feel no hate," said his father, a King County police sergeant. "Let's say I'm really happy. It's been a really good day."

When the word came Joey was headed home, a party of family and neighbors was hastily put together.

Joey faces more surgery. He has to wear a mask to cover damage done by the accident.

His mother said Joey jokes about his condition:

"He said he couldn't wait to play soccer so he could tear the mask off and they'd think he was so ugly they'd let him score a goal."

"I said: 'Joey, God never made an ugly person.'"

Unemployment down

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Unemployment declined in Texas during March to 5.1 per cent of the labor force, the Texas Employment Commission reported today. March's jobless rate compared with 5.5 per cent in February and 6.1 per cent in March 1976.

The number of jobless Texans was 286,800, the lowest since August 1965.

While all major segments of manufacturing and nonmanu-facturing experienced upturns from last month, nonmanufacturing groups had the most significant increases," the TEC said.

All 23 major labor markets for which monthly data is gathered had unemployment rates that were either the same as or less than they had in February.

Twelve had rates below six per cent while 11 had rates of six per cent or higher.

Lakers' attitude 'fantastic' going into third semi-final

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Jerry West says his Los Angeles Lakers have "a fantastic attitude" going into tonight's National Basketball Association semifinal game against Portland, despite being down 2-0 in the best-of-seven series.

"We've played hard all year, and that won't change," said West after a Monday practice. "We've just got to shoot better and handle the ball better, and I'm hopeful we can come back."

The Trail Blazers returned home Sunday night after a 99-97 victory in the second game to a tumultuous greeting at the airport by more than 1,000 fans.

The talk was of a four-game sweep, but Portland Coach Jack Ramsay was having none of it.

"It's important for us to remember we won't win here just because we're in Portland," said Ramsay. "We're just looking to win that third game."

Ramsay ran the Blazers through a practice session Monday to work on some problems he spotted in the Sunday contest.

"It was a good practice," he said. "We just used it to loosen up between games and work on ways of defending Kareem (Abdul-Jabbar)."

Ramsay called Sunday's victory "a great win" and the reception the Blazers received at the airport magnificent. But he said he felt the team played much worse Sunday than it had in Portland's 121-100 rout Friday night.

"They worked hard to shut us off. We just have to work harder to get open," he said.

PAMPA NEWS Tuesday, May 10, 1977 9

Big Gregg calls Jackson 'enough'

BEREA, Ohio (AP) — "Great" Texan Forrest Gregg sized up "big" Texan Robert Jackson Monday and said, "He's big enough."

Gregg, coach of the Cleveland Browns, got a first-hand look at Jackson, the man the Browns took as their first round choice in last Tuesday's college player draft, when the youngster visited the Browns' training facility at Baldwin-Wallace College.

The rookie linebacker is almost dwarfed by Gregg, the former All-Pro offensive lineman, but he's definitely not small at 6-foot-1 and 228 pounds.

"He's as big as most of the linebackers in the league," said Gregg, who played his college ball at SMU. "From all we hear and have seen, he can jam up a running attack. And that's the first thing a middle linebacker has to do."

"He certainly has the speed to handle the pass assignments," the coach added. Jackson, who made everyone's All-American team last year as the defensive stalwart for Texas A&M, runs the football standard, 40-yard dash in 4.65 seconds.

Browns owner Art Modell, in explaining why Cleveland took Jackson when it was well stocked with linebackers and thin at several other positions, said the Houston, Tex., native was "the best athlete available at the time and the highest rated player the Browns have ever picked."

Jackson will be thrown into a contest for the starting middle linebacker spot with veteran Bob Babich and third-year man Dick "Bam Bam" Ambrose.

"I'm just really happy, totally happy," the soft-spoken youngster said. "I started thinking about pro football a couple of years ago. Now it's really happening."

"I'll just go out and do the job the best I can," he added. "I'm just happy to be with the team and I'll do all I can to play. I'll do anything they ask me to."

Old Connors vibrations return for championship

DALLAS (AP) — Jimmy Connors is getting the same vibrations he felt before he played in his first Wimbledon and U.S. Open.

The flamboyant Connors is the top-seed in the World Championship of Tennis finals beginning tonight yet drew tough and talented Adriano Panatta of Italy in the very first match of the tournament for the $100,000 first prize.

"I feel excited coming into this tournament," said Connors. "I've always wanted to play in it but I just couldn't commit myself to six months of the WCT's grinding schedule until this year."

"I feel I have an advantage because I don't know what to expect so I have to go by my first impression... which is a good one. I could be hot and high. That's how I won at Wimbledon and Forest Hills."

Connors said "I've seen the Dallas finals before and always been favorably impressed. I rate the tournament alongside Wimbledon and Forest Hills (The U.S. Open)."

He added: "I discussed playing WCT with my mom, who is the only influence on my game, and she said I should do it because it's the only thing I haven't won. I'm glad I did."

Houston to try again

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Amid talk of sweeping the National Basketball Association semifinal series, All-Star forward George McGinnis of the Philadelphia 76ers is sounding a note of caution.

"They're an explosive club and they're able to score a bunch of points. Sure, they're capable of beating us if we don't play well and they get hot," McGinnis said of the Houston Rockets, the team the 76ers thrashed in two straight games here.

"They could beat the hell out of us. But I doubt if they could ever beat us consistently," McGinnis, whose 21 points and eight rebounds led Philadelphia to a 108-97 victory Sunday.

The best-of-seven series for the Eastern Conference title and a berth in the NBA finals switches to Houston on Wednesday. Philadelphia's biggest problem in taking a 2-0 lead is keeping the pressure on.

For example, the talent-laden 76ers rolled to a 12-point half-time lead before the Rockets clawed back to tie in a dazzling third-period burst. Then the 76ers went to work again to run up a bigger lead.

"There's a confidence factor there," said the 6-foot-8, 230-pound McGinnis. "Maybe at times we do get a little lackadaisical. But the important thing is the bottom line."

At this point, the bottom line favors Philadelphia.

"I don't think they have to play a flawless game to win, but we would have to have a bad game," said guard Henry Bibby.

Bibby, who guarded Jo Jo White in the Boston series, was burned for 32 points by 5-foot-9 Calvin Murphy on Sunday.

"He's a good player, no question about that. But the percentage of many of those shots going in can't be too high," Bibby said. "He can have his 32 any night he wants."

Though Murphy and Rudy Tomjanovich combined for 54 points, Houston had a problem with consistency. Big Moses Malone, the seven-foot rebounding ace, dropped from a 32-point production in the first game to seven in the second while hauling down 18 rebounds.

"I thought that the people who played him did an outstanding job," McGinnis said, lauding Caldwell Jones and Darryl Dawkins.

"We tried to deny him the ball and force him a foot or two outside where he likes to play. He was never a big factor," McGinnis added.

Midland takes El Paso

By The Associated Press
Bill Huisman gave himself a retirement present Monday, stroking a bases-loaded single in the eighth to give Midland an upset 5-3 victory over El Paso in the Texas League.

In other loop contests, Shreveport dumped Arkansas 6-2 and Jackson nudged Tulsa 7-5. San Antonio was rained out at Amarillo and those clubs will play two tonight.

Huisman retires today to take a coaching position in Iowa. His clutch hit gave Darrell Turner his third victory in four outings. Steve Davis homered for Midland in the sixth.

Shreveport pounced on losing pitcher Andy Lipogle for four runs in the first inning on five hits, including doubles by Luke Wrenn and Felix Rodriguez. Wrenn also homered in the second inning. Rodriguez and Doe Boydland each had three hits for the winners.

Jackson's Keith Bodie rapped a three-run homer in the sixth and drove in another run with a double to pace his team's victory. It was Jackson's fourth straight over Tulsa.

Industrial ball registration set

Deadline to register for the Pampa Industrial Softball League will be Friday, May 20. The fee will be $75 plus $30 for the pre-season inter-league tournament set for June 3-5. League play will begin June 6. A coaches meeting is set for 7 p.m. May 23 at Harold Barrett Ford.

Entry fees may be mailed to P.O. Box 277 or given to Danny Strawn at Vaughn Oil Company, 400 E. Tyng.

Gas more precious than coal, Krueger tells reps

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — U. S. Rep. Bob Krueger told Texas legislators Monday it would make sense for the state to increase severance taxes on natural gas since other states are boosting coal taxes.

"Gas is more precious than coal. If we are going to have to sell it at a reduced price to subsidize other parts of the country, the citizens of this state are entitled to some kind of trade-off," Krueger said. His comment was in response to a question by Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, who said roughly 30 percent of the price of western coal being bought for Texas power plants consisted of severance taxes.

"At some point, a state that has provided so much energy for other states and will be paying such taxes (to other states) might want to look at a substantial severance tax of their own," Krueger said. The legislature, however, is operating under a "no-new-taxes" edict from Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Texas imposes a gas production tax of 7.5 percent of market value, but legislation in the early 1960s to add a tax on gas leaving the state by pipeline was held unconstitutional by the state's courts.

Advocates of such taxes contended they could have been written in a constitutional manner but for amendments added at the behest of gas pipeline companies.

The New Braunfels congressman spoke to the House Energy Resources Committee and other interested legislators about the impact of President Carter's energy program on the state.

Krueger is a member of the House subcommittee that will get the first crack at the President's plan, which would continue regulation of natural gas prices and set a $1.75 per 1,000 cubic feet ceiling on Texas intrastate gas. The current price for newly produced gas is about $2.

"What is the worst thing that could happen?" committee chairman Joe Hanna, D-Breckenridge, asked.

Krueger said it would be for Congress to give the President authority to allocate gas from the Texas intrastate market to other states in time of shortage.

"If the President has that power, Texas stands to lose tens of thousands, and in a severe winter, hundreds of thousands of jobs," he said. Asked why Texans, who have suffered for three years from soaring natural gas and electric prices, shouldn't applaud Carter's proposed rollback of gas prices to $1.75 per mcf, Krueger said:

"Rolling back prices in Texas would be rolling jobs out of the state to other states."

More than half the industries in the nation "run on natural gas, he said, and Texas' supply generally has been ample because the intrastate price has far exceeded that allowed by the Federal Power Commission in the interstate market.

Krueger said he was disappointed that President Carter had not recommended deregulation of natural gas.

But he said, "I still think we have a good chance of getting deregulation through" the House Energy and Power Subcommittee on which he serves.

Police seek aid in slaying

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Police have asked for help in locating the 25-year-old man wanted for questioning in the "torso slaying" of car salesman Jack B. Cooney III last December.

An artist's drawing of William Craig Riley, a long-haired man who wears thick glasses, was released Monday.

Dist. Atty. Ronnie Earle told reporters Riley usually carries a pistol in each of his plain-toed "Wellington-style" boots.

Riley sometimes wears a beard and mustache, and the last known picture of him, taken before Easter, shows a short beard. He frequently wears a red bandanna as a scarf or a headband to keep his dark hair out of his eyes, Earle said.

Riley stands about 5-foot, 10-inches and weighs 140 to 160 pounds, he said.

Riley has been charged in the slaying of Fred James Cunningham Jr., a Sul Ross State University student whose body was found 12 miles west of Del Rio on March 27.

Cooney's body, minus head, hands and legs, was found Dec. 2 on a sandbar in the Brazos River near Hearne.

Cooney left the car dealership where he worked on Nov. 30 with another man in a 1977

Volkswagen van.

California police recovered the van outside Indio, where it had been abandoned after a high-speed chase. It had been repainted several times. Riley is charged with two armed robberies in Indio.

Riley also is wanted for questioning in several other crimes committed between Texas, California and the Pacific Northwest, Earle said.

"None of the victims had any reason to believe they were in jeopardy," Earle said.

"He claims to be a paramedic with license to practice in Arizona, Utah and California. He has been an ambulance driver, a funeral home attendant, a nurses' aide, a fruitpicker and he may have worked on a shrimp boat.

Names in the news

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Herbert von Karajan, who resigned in 1963 as artistic director of the Vienna State Opera vowing never to return, is back as visiting conductor of the government-subsidized company.

A capacity crowd of more than 1,400 applauded the silver-haired conductor's return Sunday for a 2 1/2 week series of performances.

Von Karajan, 69, left the Vienna company after stage personnel threatened to strike if he hired an Italian prompter. Earlier, he had complained that his creativity was being stifled.

Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky and Education Minister Fred Sinowatz worked to persuade Von Karajan to return, but Fritz Hermann, departing cultural adviser to Sinowatz, jeopardized their efforts by publishing an anti-Von Karajan poem several weeks ago.

Sinowatz issued an apology when the conductor made it known he was considering canceling his return.

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Unprecedented growth in power, income and material goods are no longer appropriate goals for Americans, says Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps.

"If we cease to accept the notion that we are doing well only if we are making more and more money, we will be able to do many things which we denied ourselves in the past," Mrs. Kreps told 2,000 graduates Sunday at Duke University's commencement ceremonies.

"Once we repeal the instruction that to afford to think about anyone else because there is no profit in it... we can find that we have a much wider range of options," she said.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Fashion model Beverly Johnson, 25, the first black woman to appear on the cover of Vogue magazine, married music publisher Danny Sims in a hometown ceremony.

Miss Johnson flew in from New York and Sims from Los Angeles on Sunday for the ceremony, which went off on schedule despite a last-minute problem.

The couple had forgotten about New York's mandatory 48-hour waiting period between license-issue and wedding, but Judge Samuel Green of City Court, a family friend, helped arrange a waiver of the rules.

"It was an honor for Beverly to want to come back to Buffalo to get married," Green said.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI, speaking in Spanish from the main altar of St. Peter's Basilica, appealed for the release of kidnaped Foreign Minister Mauricio Borjonovo of El Salvador.

The 79-year-old pontiff also denounced "a feeling of collective insecurity" created by abductions, and expressed concern about drug abuse, the armament race and legalized abortion.

The pope said Sunday that he wanted to mention "a feeling of collective insecurity created by frequent kidnappings which (in Italy alone) have been 28 so far this year and 10 of them are still unsolved."

Borjonovo was kidnaped by leftist guerrillas April 19 in notes to newspapers, the kidnapers demanded the government set free 37 political prisoners and fly them to neighboring Latin American countries. The government has refused to negotiate.

Computerized class reviews Doomsday

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — The people shout for "more food," "more heat." World leaders watch as nuclear waste destroys the environment and supplies of fossil fuels run out.

A pessimist's vision of the future? The plot of a new disaster movie? No, it's all part of a computerized course at the Air Force Academy to teach students what could happen if energy and other resources aren't used wisely.

In the course, students play world leaders deciding uses of energy and other resources and then feeding the decisions into a computer.

The computer, which has information about fuel supplies, energy use, population increases and other factors, then tells the students what effects their decisions would have over periods of hundreds of years.

During a recent class, five students chosen to "rule" the world decided to maintain current standards of living. The computer told them their actions would exhaust world supplies of fossil fuels such as coal and oil in 145 years, while piling up huge amounts of atomic wastes.

Their classmates pretended to be the world's population, shouting "more food," "more heat" and "more cars," while red lights indicating shortages began to appear on a computer terminal.

"It is a psychological thing," said Capt. Bill Noll, the chemistry instructor who helped develop the computer program for the class.

"Being good politicians and world rulers, they want to keep the people from screaming. So the last thing they cut is the standard of living."

A second group of five cadets tried to maintain food production by cutting back on other areas but had little better luck. After 145 years, Noll said, "All we are doing is eating; everything else is gone."

A third group of students began an accelerated program to develop alternative energy resources and made cuts in automobile use, air conditioning, heating and other areas. The standard of living dropped considerably but food levels remained adequate and the environment stayed healthy.

Then, the computer told the students, as new sources of energy came into use the standard of living began to rise again. At 550 years, where Noll stopped the computer clock, the world's fossil fuel supplies had run out but new energy sources were able to take their place.

"We are doing very little to develop new energy sources," Noll said, and conservation is still not very popular. "Somehow we have got to turn this lifestyle around."

A tub bath generally requires less water than a shower. The amount of water used for each can be compared by plugging the tub during a shower and measuring the top levels for each.

The Hawaiian Islands were made known to the Western world by British explorer Captain James Cook, who named them the Sandwich Islands after the Earl of Sandwich.

High school opens summer school classes

Enrollment applications for summer classes at Pampa High School are now being accepted according to Paul Payne, high school principal.

Prospective students are asked to fill in a form giving their name, current grade and courses they are interested in.

Payne said courses being offered are English I, English II, English III, American history, world history, economics, sociology, government, algebra I, algebra II, geometry, fundamentals of math, typing, health, physical education, tennis, general business, summer homemaking, business math and driver education.

The principal said tuition will be $30 per each quarter course with the exception of drivers education and summer homemaking. Tuition for drivers education will be $50 and Payne said no tuition will be charged for the homemaking course.

Payne added that a minimum of 12 students are needed for each class.

"Students may enroll in a maximum of three one-quarter credit courses including driver education," he said, "and students may not register for a third quarter of a full-year course unless credit has been received for the first two quarters of the course."

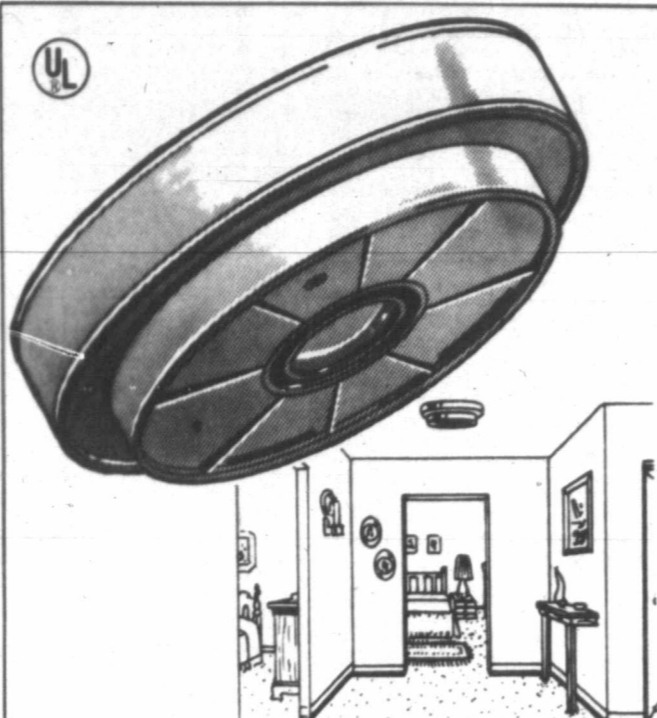

Registration will be June 1 and classes will start June 2. Payne said the classes will meet six days a week until final exams on July 9.

Academic classes will meet from 7 a.m. until 8:30 a.m., 8:35-10:05 a.m. and 10:15 a.m. until 11:45 a.m. Two classes of drivers education are planned. They will meet from 8-10 a.m. and 10-12:10 p.m.
