McGovern Still Thinks He Can Be Nominated

WASHINGTON (AP) — George McGovern said today the Democratic Credentials Committee's action slicing his California delegate strength may actually work in favor of his getting the party's presidential nomination.

"In the sense that it's so flagrant and such an obvious inside deal to subvert the will of the people...I think it may rebound in our favor," the South Dakota senator said.

McGovern, who was angry Thursday about the committee's decision to strip him of more than half of the 271 California delegates, appeared calm while being interviewed on the CBS Morning News. "I've had a short night's rest," he said.

'Today' Is Longest Day In Your Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today will be the longest day in your life.

Every other day since man began recording time has had 86,400 seconds. At 8 p.m. EDT, midnight Greenwich Mean Time, today the world's timekeepers will add an extra second.

The purpose is to correct a discrepancy in time-keeping due to tiny changes in the earth's rotation.

The changes were discovered in 1958 with the development of atomic clocks so accurate it would take 50,000 years for one of them to gain or lose a second.

Conventional clocks measure time based on the assumption that the earth takes exactly 24 hours to rotate on its axis. Atomic clocks record time by registering vibrations of atoms making up a molecule of a special gas.

These clocks have noted a tiny slowing in the earth's rotation. To compensate, the world's master clocks since 1958 have been subject to fairly frequent, very minor corrections of a thousandth of a second here and there.

But astronomers of the U.S. Naval Observatory, the nation's official timekeeper, say the necessity for such frequent changes poses potential dangers.

But he tempered the assertion later when he told a news conference in Atlantic City, N.J., that his initial outburst "doesn't reflect what I want to say about this matter."

"I don't want to make any threats," he said, and added that, "if the Democratic nominee is nominated according to the rules...in a way I think is fair, I'll support him."

Humphrey, calling the decision "only fair," said his own chances "have markedly improved" and criticized McGovern's reaction. "Anyone who would bolt or rush off in a huff has, may I say, very little regard for the convention and its procedures," he said.

The challenge, filed by supporters of Humphrey and other candidates who ran behind McGovern in the June 6 primary, contended that the winner-take-all California law violated the spirit of party reforms.

Solons, Officials Hear Report On IBM Setup

By TEX DEWESE

Two of Pampa's city commissioners and several other city officials heard a sales pitch from IBM yesterday afternoon aimed at getting the city to switch to an in-house data processing system.

Data Processing now is handled under private contract by Tri-State Data Processing Co., a Pampa firm.

William Rose, an IBM representative from Amarillo, made the presentation along with the claim the city could operate its own system with greater efficiency at less cost.

Attending the meeting in City Hall were City Commissioners R.D. Wilkerson, George B. Cree Jr., City Secretary S.M. Chittenden, Public Works Director R.B. Cooke, Personnel Director Milton Saltzman, Tax Collector Aubrey L. Jones, Acting City Engineer Forrest Cloyd and City Manager Mack Wofford.

Mayor Milo Carlson and commissioners Leo Braswell and Arthur Rohde were unable to attend yesterday's session.

Wofford said today the city is only studying the possibility of a change. He said $600 has been set up in the fiscal 1972-73 city budget to train three city employees in operation of the IBM system.

This, he said, would entail a week's training by IBM in Amarillo probably next October or November.

At the conclusion of this training, the city would again

Rotary Club Here Installs Officers

Paul Payne was installed as president of the Pampa Rotary Club at its annual installation banquet last night at Coronado Inn.

Other officers installed for the 1972-73 year include Milo Carlson, vice president; Otis Nace, secretary-treasurer, and Don Nelson, assistant secretary.

New directors are John R. Reeves, Chuck Zlomke; Bob Curry, Rex McAnnelly, George McCarroll and Otis Nace.

The officers and directors were installed by Don Lane, Pampa lawyer.

Carlson served as master of ceremonies for the installation banquet. Don Cain gave the welcome to Rotary Ann and introduced the guests. Bill Gray delivered the attendance recognition.

Invocation was delivered by Bill McElroy. The Banknotes, a singing group from Booker, presented a program of musical selections. Dinner music was provided by Boydine Reader.

Carlson, immediate past president, gave the president's gavel to Payne.

Other retiring officers for the 1971-72 year include Bill Ledbetter, vice president; Nace, secretary-treasurer, and Payne, assistant secretary.

Retiring directors were Sam Hulsey, James Malone, Reeves and Zlomke.

Social Security Benefits Given 20% Hike By Senate

Increase Termed Largest In History

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate adopted today a 20 per cent across-the-board increase in Social Security benefits—the biggest such boost in history.

The vote was 82 to 4.

The Senate action came in the face of a warning by President Nixon that such an increase would either strain the economy or push taxes up for millions of workers.

The increase was added as a rider to a bill extending for four months the present $450-billion national debt ceiling.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, also would raise payroll taxes in 1973 and further in 1974 to pay for the boost.

In addition, it would put into effect for the first time automatic cost-of-living adjustments in Social Security.

The Church amendment would provide $8.5 billion in annual additional benefits for the 27.8 million recipients, the largest increase since the system was first set up in 1935.

The effective date for the 20 per cent would be Sept. 1 so that it first would be reflected in checks received Oct. 3, a month before the presidential national elections.

The debt limit legislation was expected to clear the Senate by mid-day and go back to the House.

There Republican leaders were threatening to block any action on the 20 per cent today although they said they might be willing to take 10 per cent.

The adoption of the Church amendment represented a Senate decision to lift the general Social Security increase out of the big Social Security-Welfare bill which passed the House last year and which has been pending more than 12 months in the Senate Finance Committee.

Church said it appeared the bitter controversy over welfare reform in the bill might never be settled so that it was necessary for Congress to go ahead on the across-the-board Social Security hike.

The House in passing the big bill, voted for a 5 per cent Social Security increase.

But since that time Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, has said he favors 20 per cent and that this can be soundly financed. Mills helped draft the Church amendment.

Nixon told a news conference Thursday night "there should be an increase in Social Security," but went on to suggest that 20 per cent would be too much.

He said that if the 20-per cent hike is financed by higher payroll taxes, as provided by the Church amendment, "it will completely wipe out the tax reduction that was given to middle-income and low-middle-income wage earners in 1969."

"If, on the other hand," he continued, "the Congress passes the 20-per cent increase in Social Security and does not finance it adequately, it will seriously jeopardize the integrity of the Social Security trust fund, and it could be highly inflationary which, of course, will hurt most the Social Security people, the retired people."

Nixon did not discuss whether he would veto a 20-per cent increase if Congress approves it, but it would be extremely difficult for him to do so.

The measure is in the form of an amendment to the bill extending the national-debt limit, legislation the administration needs within a few days if it is to continue paying its bills.

Church's proposal would raise payroll taxes to finance the increase. The maximum levy would go up from $468 each for the worker and employer to $594 apiece in 1973.

If Church's amendment is adopted, Republicans said, it will be in trouble when the debt bill is returned to the House.

CHANGING HANDS—Milo Carlson, center, retiring president of the Pampa Rotary Club, presents the president's gavel to Paul Payne, left, who was installed as the new president last night at the annual installation banquet. Watching the presentation is Otis Nace, who was installed as secretary-treasurer. Carlson was installed as the new vice president.

Most Residents Against Ruling Abolishing Capital Punishment

By LARRY HOLLIS

Pampa residents seem to have strong opinions on yesterday's ruling by the Supreme Court that the death penalty is unconstitutional.

In telephone interviews this morning with various city and county officials and citizens, most felt capital punishment had served as a deterrent to crime in the past.

Although all did not feel qualified to dispute the Court's decision, most of them disagreed with the ruling and felt it would have an adverse effect on the crime rate and law enforcement.

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan said, "I feel capital punishment is a deterrent to crime. It does and has in the past created a fear for the offenders in capital crimes."

The sheriff feels the Supreme Court was in error on their decision. He said the "cruel and unusual punishment" referred to in the Eighth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution dealt with different punishments than are meted out today.

He added the Court's ruling would cause a "great change" in deterrents to crime, although it may not have any effect on enforcing the laws themselves.

Although he didn't feel qualified to argue with the Supreme Court's decision, Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner felt the decision would definitely have some effect on law enforcement.

He said he was not sure if it would have any great effect locally, but it would in the larger cities. He added that if the decision stands, there will be a need for other stiffer penalties and changes in the parole systems to act as deterrents.

Of the death penalty itself, Chief Conner said, "I think it's a good deterrent, especially for the major types of crimes."

Mack Wofford, city manager, said, "I have mixed emotions about it. The death penalty is probably a deterrent, but I might have a different opinion as a juror voting to take a man's life than I would if someone just asked me off-hand how I felt about it."

"I feel this is something that was probably inevitable," Mrs. Scott Nisbett, president of the Top O' Texas Republican Women's Club, said about the Court's ruling.

"I personally feel we need capital punishment in view of our high crime rate," she added. "I can't feel this ruling will have any effect on deterring crime."

Mrs. Jake Osborne, Democratic state committeewoman from Pampa and an official delegate to the national Democratic convention, said, "I can't agree with the Supreme Court on the ruling."

"If they had a provision for life imprisonment where murderers could not be released after serving part of their sentence, it would be different," she added.

Rev. J.W. Rosenberg, minister of the First United Methodist Church, said he did not feel familiar enough with all the facts and laws involved to question the decision.

"I don't know. I'm of mixed opinion," he said. "I don't think I could impose the death penalty."

Rev. Rosenberg noted the present tendency today is to avoid legislating morality. He said at present the laws tend to legislate some cases of morality and yet not others.

He added that if that line of thinking, to avoid legislating morality, is carried out all the way, someday murder, rape, burglary and so on could possibly be legalized.

"We haven't used any common sense lately, anyway," he said.

Rev. Cliff A. McDougal, pastor of the Pampa Baptist Temple, said he could not agree with the court's decision because it conflicts with the teachings of God.

Cain said he did not know if the decision would have any effect on law enforcement or increased crime rates.

"That remains to be seen," he said.

He said the decision would have a bad effect on the rate of crime and would create some law enforcement problems.

John Warner, county attorney, said he himself did not favor the death penalty, but "I don't know what they (the Supreme Court) based their decision upon."

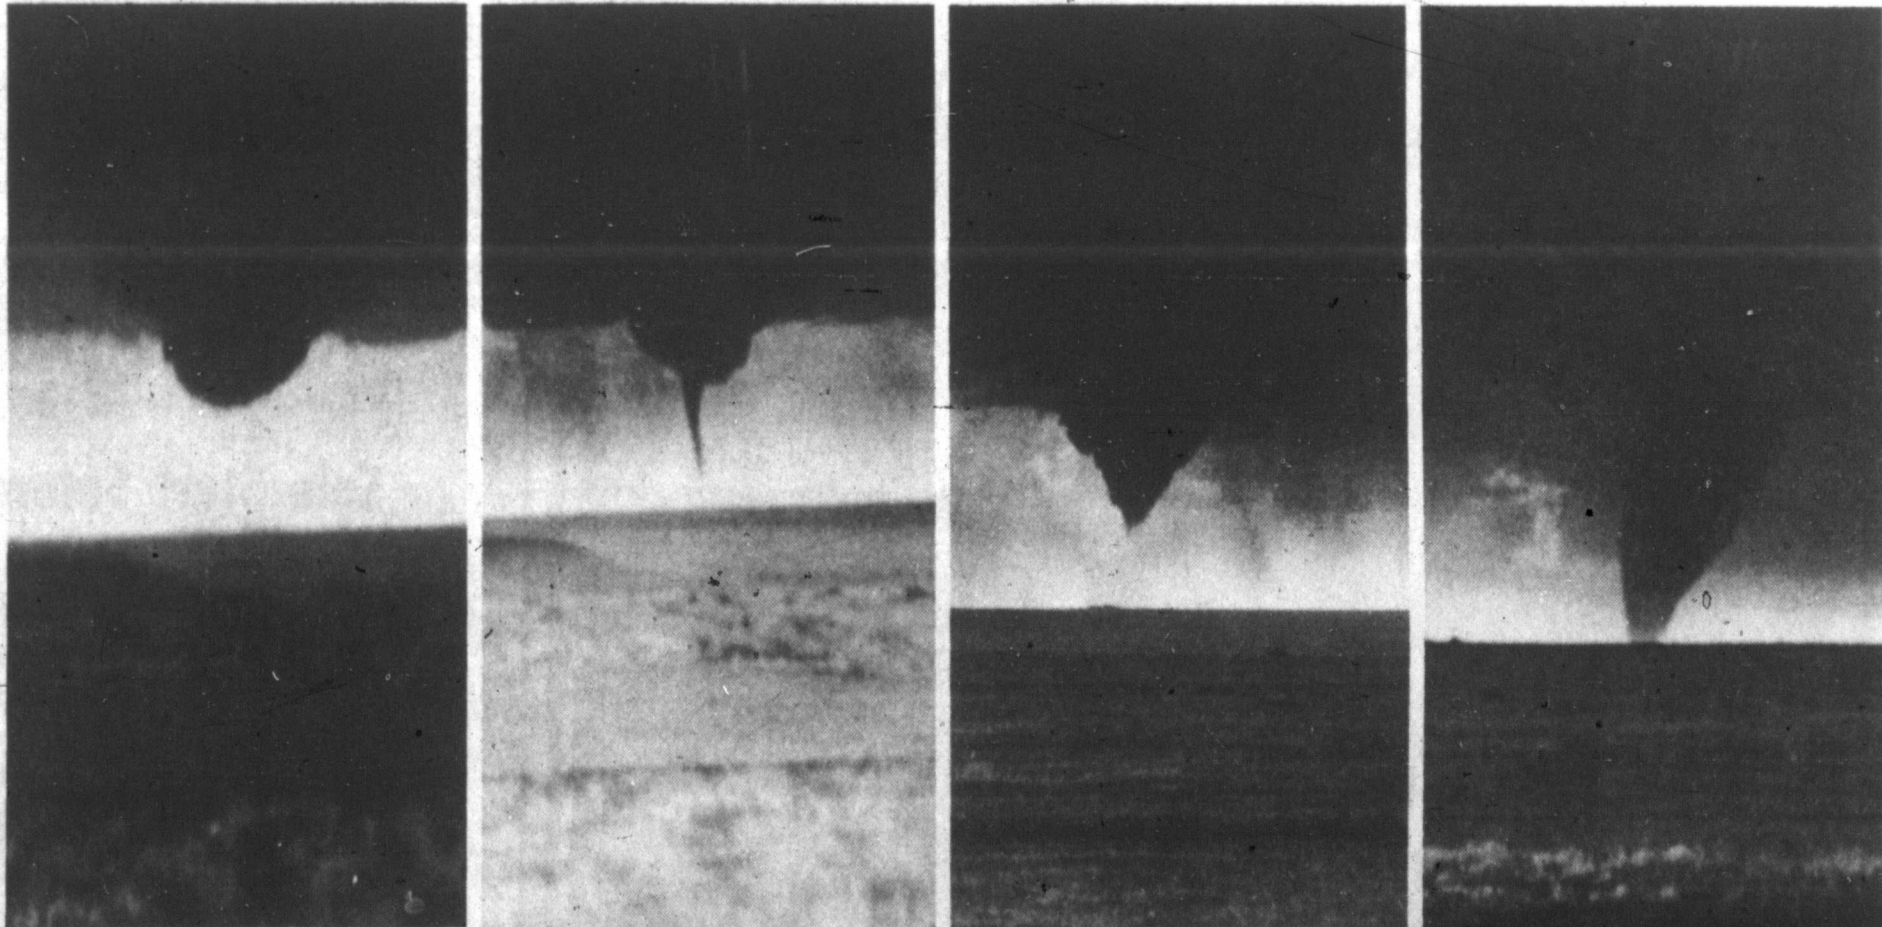

He said yesterday's ruling goes against all the former precedents of the Court in past decisions in which they had upheld the death penalty for capital crimes.

Noting the ruling would not have any direct effect upon cases he would handle, Warner said it would take away some of the options of the prosecutors. Previously the prosecutors had been able to "bargain" for sentencing a defendant to life imprisonment instead of death.

Warner said juries may tend to give longer jail sentences now that the death penalty is not acceptable. These sentences could probably hold up better on appeals than in previous cases where judges tended to lessen sentences involving the death penalty.

Don Cain, county judge, said, "I do not agree with the decision. I think there are some cases in which the death penalty should be imposed only by juries, whom he believed would give the cases careful consideration."

Mrs. Kermit Lawson, secretary of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, said, "I feel with the present rise in the crime rate, there is a need of some very strong deterrent. I agreed with President Nixon in his press conference last night that certain crimes might warrant such a sentence."

One of the most fearsome meteorological phenomena in man's experience, the tornado usually strikes with little warning and frequently devastating results. This photo sequence taken near Gruver, Tex., shows the swift development of a typical twister from a low-hanging cloud... formation of a tail... then a funnel... and, finally, a full-blown classic tornado sweeping across the prairie. Tornadoes can occur at any time of year and in all areas, although much of Texas and Oklahoma are in the heart of the twister belt. (Photos by Larry Nance, Guyton, Okla., Daily Herald)

Most Stores Here To Close On July 4th

Business is expected to be conducted as usual in Pampa Monday, July 3, but most businesses with the exception of food stores and some service establishments will be closed Tuesday, the July 4 holiday.

City, county, state and federal offices will shut down Tuesday and will be open Monday.

There will be no residential mail deliveries Tuesday. Post office windows will be closed on the holiday, but will be open for box patrons.

Pampa's principal observance of Independence Day will be the giant fireworks display and patriotic program set to begin at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in Recreation Park.

Thousands of spectators from Pampa and surrounding towns are expected to attend the annual event sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Police Hunt Marriage Poll Taker

Pampa police are searching for a young man taking a "marriage survey."

The man called at a number of homes on Gray, Ward, West and Cook streets asking the person who answered the door if they were married, telling them he was making a survey.

Descriptions varied with every report placing his age from 17 to 45 and clothing in a variety of colors. According to the official report, a car picked the man up at two different points but no one could give even the color of the vehicle.

Police interest centered around the concern expressed by those contacted that they were being "cased" for something other than a survey.

Anyone so contacted should attempt to obtain an accurate description and get an identification of any vehicle used, then call police immediately.

Suspect Sought In Shoplifting

Acting on a lead furnished by the license number of a suspected shoplifter, Pampa police have been unable to make contact with anyone at the registrant's address.

According to the official report, the assistant manager of a local store told officers he followed a woman suspected of placing merchandise in her purse from the store. She refused to open her purse and drove away.

He gave police the tag number and a description of the vehicle. Police report no one at home or that they refuse to answer.

Children's Play Set For Today In Panhandle

The seventh annual children's play of the Panhandle Community Theatre will be presented at 8 p.m. today in the Panhandle High School Auditorium.

"Little Moon," a children's play by Patricia Malango, features a Chinese stage manager and her two "invisible" property men as they preside over the story of a little servant girl who cleverly saves her five sisters and parents from starvation.

The play is directed by Marjorie Ewing and Thelma Holman, with L.A. Sparks as technical advisor. Members of The Spansians Troop 1698 of Panhandle High School are assisting in the production.

Proceeds from the play and an adult melodrama to be presented later in the year will be used for scholarships for local high school students to attend summer speech workshops.

Admission to tonight's play is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Tryouts for the melodrama will be held in about two weeks, with production slated for the end of July.

Peoples Issues Statement On Club Board Decision

Ken Peoples, 518 Red Deer, who filed a charge of assault and battery against K.A. (Buddy) Lamberson in municipal court Wednesday issued a statement to The News today in which he charged he was suspended by the Optimist Club board from participation in the club's athletic activities without the board hearing his side of the story.

The club's board suspended both Lamberson and Peoples following meetings Monday and Tuesday nights as the result of an incident following a Farm League baseball game at Optimist Park in which Lamberson allegedly struck Peoples.

Peoples' statement follows: "With regard to the statement appearing in the June 29, edition of the Pampa News concerning the suspension of Buddy Lamberson and myself by the members (of the Optimist Club) following an investigation of the incident, I wish to state the following:

"I have never appeared nor have I been asked to appear before the membership or the Board of Directors of the Optimist Club to present my side of the story of the incident which occurred at the Optimist Park on June 21, 1972.

"I have been advised that part of the Board of Directors met on Monday night and Tuesday night of this week to 'consider the incident.' Lamberson was allowed to present his side of the story; I was in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo on Monday night and the Optimist Board refused to allow one of the eyewitnesses to the entire incident to represent me at the Monday night meeting and present my side of the story, nor was my wife allowed to enter the board room to present my side of the story. She was not even allowed to enter the board room as an observer merely to listen to what was said. In other words, the Optimist Club Board of Directors did not investigate the incident. They merely heard one side of the story and then passed judgment on both sides."

Key Club To Sell Home Flag Kits

Using the motto, "Fly a flag on the Fourth," members of the Pampa Key Club will be selling home flag kits tomorrow in the Jobby of Furr's Cafeteria.

The kits, which include a United States flag, pole and holder, will sell for $8.10 each. The club members will also be taking orders for business rentals—they will provide a flag and put it up and take it down on all holidays.

The members decided to sell the kits after a survey taken on Flag Day, June 14, showed less than 10 per cent of the homes in Pampa were flying the American flag, according to David McDaniel, club advisor.

Pampa Girl Outstanding Dallas Model

Miss Linda Ladd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ladd of Pampa, was chosen as one of the five outstanding models in Dallas following a fashion show and banquet June 26 at the Dallas Memorial Auditorium.

Miss Ladd is among 20 girls who model for five Dallas department stores. The event was held to honor the outstanding young model who represents each department store.

Following the fashion show, which included everything from hot pants to evening wear, awards were announced at the banquet.

In addition to working as a fashion model, Miss Ladd also models for a local Dallas photographer.

Trial Put Off For Accused Man

The trial of a man accused of the attempted rape of a Borger woman was delayed yesterday in Stinnett due to a technical waiver.

Elbert E. Williams, arrested on May 20, decided not to waive a 10-day period entitled for preparation of his case after the court appointed a new attorney for him.

His first appointed attorney, H.M. Hood, asked to be relieved of the case late Tuesday. Max Boyer, 84th District Court Judge, appointed attorney Roy Gurley to defend Williams.

Williams has remained in jail since his arrest in lieu of $15,000 bond.

County Commissioners Set Agenda For Meet

The first-of-the-month meeting of the Gray County Commissioners Court Saturday will be routine except for one item on the agenda.

Members of the panel will make final consideration of three resolutions regarding the trailer brake law, delinquent taxes and the jury law.

The Texas Association of Counties has requested action on these items, hoping to get them considered in the special session of the legislature.

Gray County Judge Don Cain noted that all of these have been discussed by the commissioners before. He said the most far-reaching on one so far as the people affected would be a proposal to move the delinquent taxes deadline from July to February. He stated that he opposed this move personally as an undue burden on taxpayers.

He was of the opinion that any action on the three items was a mere formality because it appeared unlikely they would get any consideration by the legislature.

Routine payment of bills will occupy the commissioners chiefly since this is the purpose for which meeting the first of each month is called. The mid-monthly meeting is the regular session.

The court will convene at 9 a.m. Saturday in the county court room.

Catholic Priest Airs Views On 'Sex Myths'

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — One of the biggest modern myths about sex has men all over the country wearing themselves out trying to satisfy women, says a Roman Catholic priest and author.

"The new myth has it that every human being, like a radar screen turning eagerly toward the object that stimulates it, must be sexually revved at every moment," says the Rev. Eugene C. Kennedy.

Father Kennedy, a Maryknoll priest, is the author of "The New Sexuality: Myths, Hang-ups and Fables." He is a teacher and counselor at Loyola University in Chicago.

"The big misconception today is that if you are sexually successful, you are successful," he said in an interview.

Father Kennedy said most people do not understand what role sex should play for them.

"Sex still is not integrated in most American lives ...," he said. "The task of life is relating to people, and sexuality is but a part of that task."

He added that despite all the books and studies, no one is helping men and women with their problems. "If man was not assisted by religion in understanding sexuality, he is less assisted by science," he said.

Father Kennedy says there is sufficient scientific knowledge to begin to identify and solve problems of sexuality but this knowledge has been misused by promoters of the new myths.

The various "sensual" books, he says, "are full of titillation but they are nothing more than how-to-catch-a-man books."

"True sexuality is a profound aspect of personality, a source of our identity, an understanding of ourselves ... It flourishes when two people love each other and keep working at developing their relationship with one another despite the pile-up of life's problems," he added.

Father Kennedy says the sex myths prompt individuals to use intercourse as a cure for nonsexual problems, to prove their identities, to end loneliness, to hold others in their power.

"Sex is the one place where humans are most vulnerable and can be most easily manipulated," he says.

Pampa Couple Attends OUCTA Meet In Dallas

Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Roberts of Pampa are attending the 85th annual session of the Order of United Commercial Travelers of America this week at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Dallas.

Approximately 1400 officers, delegates, wives and guests are registered from the United States and Canada.

The UCT a fraternal benefit society founded at Columbus, Ohio, on Jan. 16, 1888, has adopted "Aid to Retarded Children" as its number one civic project.

Through this program, it has presented scholarships to more than 2300 teachers of retarded children during the past 10 years.

In their own communities, members have contributed more than a million dollars in man-hours and cash developing programs for retarded children.

They have funded sheltered workshops and purchased materials and equipment to be used in the promotion of educating and training the children to be useful and, often, self-supporting citizens.

With a total membership of over 254,000, UCT has 691 local councils in 47 states, the District of Columbia and all the provinces of Canada.

The Roberts' granddaughter, Becky, is accompanying them at the convention.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, JULY 1
YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: If you will open unto the spirit, this year comes as a symbolic pilgrimage toward a simpler, easier life style. Others join so that you are never alone along the way. Mundane matters still need your attention. Today's natives inally remember everything of emotional significance, tell new tales of such memories.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: It is better to run a tight circle near home base, than to scatter energy over wide areas. There's an unusual lesson to learn.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Conditions are right to follow already set plans, fluent friendly cooperation, but not for extravagant or speculative new plans.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Your own limitations come to attention, pose no problem where you have been sensible. It's a great day for settling accounts.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Good humor is the only valid approach to today's adventure in living. Secrets pop all around, particularly where you don't want them.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Finances may receive a boost from unexpected people. Extend yourself to tend the needs of older people while the chance is at hand.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: The week-end doesn't have a dull moment. Avoid speculative, overly-complicated plans. Social doings work better in small groups.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: For some countries, today is an official holiday. You may as well make it your own, leaving business aside, wherever you are.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Sensible listening will get you some excellent advice, but you'll have to adapt it to your circumstances. It wouldn't work as given.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Get out and away from the people you care about; give them a break from your habits while you pursue fresh contacts.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Make this a strictly economical week-end—you will find better uses for the budget shortly than your usual buying. Take inventory.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: For once your normal habit of doing what others find unexpected turns out more inconvenient for you than for anybody else.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: There seems no way to evade conflict between various claims on your time and attention. Start early and stick to your plans.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: The week-end doesn't have a dull moment. Avoid speculative, overly-complicated plans. Social doings work better in small groups.

Gen. Weyand Named To Head U.S. Forces In Viet

SAIGON (AP) — The new commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, was pegged as a rising star in the Army long before he was first sent to Vietnam six years ago.

He proved his battle prowess as a battalion commander in the Korean war. And he demonstrated a talent for diplomacy from 1962 to 1964 in one of the most delicate Pentagon assignments—representing the Army on Capitol Hill as chief of legislative liaison.

Even then Weyand's colleagues were picking him as a future chief of staff, a fine performance for a ROTC graduate who never went to West Point. On Wednesday President Nixon gave him a big push toward the Army pinnacle when the White House announced that the 56-year-old native of Arbutle, Calif., would succeed Gen. Creighton D. Abrams in the top American military post in Saigon.

Weyand has fought the Vietnamese Communists on the battlefield and sparred with them across the Paris conference table. He recently told friends that the Viet Cong "are as tough in suits and ties as they are in black pajamas."

The Viet Cong might say the same thing about the 6-foot 5-inch blond officer who steered the 25th Infantry Division into South Vietnam in 1966 and three years later turned up in Paris as the cool, articulate military adviser to the American delegation at the peace talks.

"When I left the 25th in 1967, I was sure the war was won," he told a reporter a few months after his promotion to commander of Field Forces 2. "But then I realized there was a war we hadn't even begun to fight—the war with the Viet Cong amongst the people."

In his new post, Weyand can be expected to work much more closely with top Vietnamese officers than any of his predecessors. As Abrams' deputy since September, 1970, he has concentrated on Vietnamization at the highest level, cutting through red tape by establishing close personal ties with Vietnamese generals who for years were suspicious of the Americans.

Pampa Girl's Enrollment Accepted

Sue Lind Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David D. Tucker, 2422 Christine, has been accepted for enrollment at Maryville College, Maryville, Tenn., for the 1972 Fall term.

Miss Tucker is a 1972 graduate of Wasatch Academy of Utah, where she was a member of the Drama Club, the C.A.A., the Ski Club, the yearbook and newspaper staffs and the Madrigals.

Maryville College, established in 1819 and related to the United Presbyterian Church, is a four-year liberal arts college located 15 miles south of Knoxville.

Traditionally an innovative small college, Maryville offers a progressive curriculum incorporating an interim term and an individualized major.

Maryville has an annual enrollment of about 800 students from most of the 50 states and several foreign countries.

When Pressure Builds

To the best of our knowledge, no one commented on the relationship between the collapse of a dam in South Dakota and the action of gold on European markets.

The story of the dam is fairly familiar by now. The earthen structure in Rapid City gave way before unbelievably heavy rainfall, sweeping away homes, cars and more than 200 lives. In the same approximate period, gold buyers in Europe ran the price to an all-time high, in the vicinity of $67 an ounce. When the peak was reached, a number of gold owners thought the price was unduly high so they rushed in and sold, hoping to take a profit. When they did, the price plunged to around the $60 level, and would have gone lower except that other persons supposed the price was too low so, hoping to turn a profit, these people bought. The result was that the gold price vibrated back and forth within a range of $60 to $67.

What's the connection between gold and dam?

Only this, both actions are natural phenomena.

In the case of the dam, the government took steps to hold water, reclaim land, and provide recreation. The program worked, too. The lake created by the Rapid City dam was a genuine source of pleasure to thousands of boatmen, campers and fishermen. It was a tourist attraction, drawing money to Rapid City businessmen and creating jobs for Rapid City residents. Because seasonal runoff was controlled, people felt safe to build their homes on sites below the dam. As the rains came, the dam performed well. No one in the government had figured on such a heavy rain. The water built up. It flowed over the top of the dam. It began to take part of the structure with it. The dam burst. A four-foot wall moved down on the houses below like a liquid bulldozer.

Now in the case of European gold, the price went unbelievably high. Some people thought it was too high, so they sold. Others thought it then went too low, so they bought. Thus the natural action of the marketplace provided its own correction.

In both cases, natural law was in control. In Rapid City, natural law said, "Interfere with my free flow, build a dam that does not have an adequate spillway, and you store up water for beneficial use. But you also store up a kinetic energy that eventually will bring you disaster." On the European gold market, natural law was saying, "Some people desire gold more than others. When they buy, the price will rise. The increased price will diminish the profitability of holding gold, then some will sell. When this happens, the price will drop. At that time some will buy." Of course European governments might have envisioned an economic crisis, and rushed, in with a program to dam the price of gold. But they did not, so there was no disaster, only an upward movement followed by a downward correction.

In both instances men were involved. In one situation, they forcefully restrained natural energy and achieved catastrophe. In the other situation, they let natural human energy flow and the consequences were so slight that the story didn't even make Page One.

It Is Not Free

According to late figures from The Tax Foundation, a nationally known research organization, taxes—federal, state and local—now take more than $33 out of every $100 we earn. The tax charge against earnings includes not only obvious things like income taxes, social security and sales taxes, but also hundreds of hidden taxes. The old cliché about supporting government by "soaking the rich" is seldom heard anymore, and for a very good reason. If government confiscated all taxable income over $10,000, it would provide enough additional money to run the government for less than two months.

When new taxes are levied against businesses, they are, of necessity, passed along to customers. When government performs a service for the citizens it can be paid for in two ways: higher taxes or inflation. The point to remember is that it is not free.

Question Box

QUESTION: I have just finished reading Gary Allen's book called "None Dare Call it Conspiracy." This book deals mainly with the Council of Foreign Relations and its ramifications in the United States. The CFR, I consider, is the actual tool of the international conspirators who are seeking to control the entire free world.

Now, with the evidence related in Mr. Allen's book, is it not possible to bring this conspiracy before the Federal Grand Jury and ask for an indictment, for conspiracy, under Title 18, Sec. 51, of the U.S. Code? Shouldn't these conspirators be disclosed and brought before the bar of justice like any other malefactor, and be put away for the protection of our country?

—A.J.B.
ANSWER: We do not think much can be done in the way of a trial through the established political machinery. If the alleged conspirators are guilty, as Mr. Allen alleges, and if they are as clever as he makes them out to be, they undoubtedly had the presence of mind to take over the judiciary before they proceeded to other points in their program.

The only remedy that we know of is to promote the fullest disclosure of the details of the accusation in a deservingly creditable way. Writer Gary Allen has made an attempt at that. So have other writers. The information in the Allen book—namely, that the Russian revolution was financed out of New York by well-known American banking houses—is not startling new. It was brought to light many years ago, but the impact of those overt events that took place in decades past has only recently come to be understood.

While the Allen Book is good for starters, we believe a further disclosure step is required. That would be a documentary volume that would reconstruct those climactic episodes in the context in which they took place. There would also be a searching and publication of negative evidence so that the whole matter could be viewed in perspective. Such publication done fairly would not in itself set the country free of those who allegedly misled it, but it would serve as a factual foundation for more popularized versions.

Insofar as freedom is concerned, there can be no substitute for truth and the knowing of the truth. For Holy Writ gives the formula for liberty in almost those very words: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall set you free."

Crossroads Report

I see where the crime situation is getting more serious all over the country, and our maxi-minds are trying to figure out what to do about it. My calculational neighbor says the answer is to establish a federal bureau for criminal improvement. Says government spent billions to save the family farmer, which eliminated same, and more billions on urban renewal, which ghosted vast areas in the cities. He figures that a federal program to help criminals would soon exterminate the species.

I see where a Commission studying about marijuana reports the stuff is harmless when used moderately, but does not favor removing the penalties for selling it. The thinking, if any, of the Commission appears to be that free-market marijuana could lead some people to use more of it than they need. So far, no government commission is studying peanuts which, taken in excess may cause obesity and shorten life. There is no telling how many folks have got fat and died early because the peoplekeepers have neglected to pass a law against peanut peddlers.

Wiretap Decision—Freedom's Sentry

By RALPH NOVAK

You most likely have not been sleeping noticeably easier since the Supreme Court banned wiretapping of political radicals without a court order.

Most of us use the telephone to tell our wives we'll be home late for dinner, to see what time the movie starts at the local theater or to gossip with Aunt Josephine. If the FBI has nothing better to do than listen, it's O.K. with us. So we tend to see wiretapping as something that bothers only people who have guilty consciences.

In fact, wiretapping has taken on a symbolic importance far greater than its real impact. Wiretapping is something a repressive government does to stifle criticism on the one hand. It is something a government has a right to do to prevent insidious revolutionaries from perverting American freedom on the other.

Since no subversive who is intelligent and sophisticated enough to represent any danger to this country would also be stupid enough to transmit any significant information over the phone in the first place, wiretapping has in reality become a way of harassing serious radicals and fessing out embarrassing information about people the government is otherwise displeased with.

These, obviously, are potentially dangerous distortions of the government's legitimate right to protect itself. And the symbolic aspect of the situation is not a trivial consideration. Thus the court's decision came as a pleasant surprise to those who fear that the court is showing an alarming tendency to restrict individual freedoms. Justice Lewis F. Powell, one of President Nixon's four appointees to the court and a vigorous supporter of wiretapping before his appointment, was the biggest surprise of all, not only joining the 8-0 majority but writing the decision as well.

"The price of lawful public dissent must not be a dread of subjection to an unchecked surveillance power," he wrote. "Nor must—the fear of unauthorized official eavesdropping deter vigorous citizen dissent and discussion of government action in private conversation. For private dissent, no less than open public discourse, is essential to our free society."

This was a refreshing sign that the "Nixon" Supreme Court was not in fact hell-bent on helping to set up a totalitarian regime, as some of its more severe critics have hinted it was.

The wiretapping decision does not prove once and for all that there is no repressive element in our government, of course.

In some respects it was a result of the struggle of the judicial and executive forces in the balance of power, the court forcefully telling the President and his attorney general that the judicial branch will have a voice in matters affecting the limitation of Bill of Rights freedoms.

And the decision did, after all, give the government the right to tap phones of domestic radicals if it could persuade the courts that those radicals represent a threat to national security. (The decision also did not touch on the wiretapping of those who are considered to be agents of a foreign power, which gives the government considerable leeway.)

It does, however, prove wrong those who argue that we are pursuing a mad rush toward the figurative 1984. You may not be concerned now. But people seldom are aware of the lost freedoms until it is too late to do anything about them.

The Bible—Holy Book

This Book contains the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners, and the happiness of believers. Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true, and its decisions immutable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe, and practice it to be holy. It contains light to direct you, food to support you, and comfort to cheer you. It is the traveler's map, the pilgrim's staff, the pilot's compass, the soldier's sword, and the Christian's charter. Christ is its subject, our good its design, and the glory of God its end. It should fill the memory, rule the heart and guide the feet. Read it slowly, frequently and prayerfully. It is given to you in life, will be open in the judgment, and be remembered forever. It involves the highest responsibility, rewards the greatest labor, and condemns all who trifle with its holy precepts. It tells of grace and mercy for the believer and justice and wrath for those who do not believe.

RAY CROMLEY

Collision Course? Connally-Kissinger Confrontation?

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—If John Connally should become secretary of State in the next Nixon administration, expect major changes at State and the White House.

In the short time he was at Treasury, Connally established himself as a major rival of Dr. Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's security and foreign affairs adviser. The two men bumped, politely and gentlemanly to be sure. But they bumped firmly all the same.

The issue was the position of the dollar, foreign exchange rates and the monetary exchange system that might replace gold—resulting from the Nixon August, 1971, bombshell announcement on the dollar. Connally, as secretary of the Treasury, believed this dollar policy was his province, under the President: Kissinger believed that it was his to a considerable degree, since it involved foreign policy.

Both Kissinger and Connally are able, forceful, determined men. Both command a heavy degree of loyalty from their staffs. Both come out swinging. The result was inevitable. The men backing Connally for secretary of state see a department expanded to far wider interests and powers than that agency has commanded in the past two decades.

For one, foreign economic policy would be a major function of State. What is now done at the Treasury, these men say, should be transferred.

The Department of State has, of course, long been interested in foreign economic policy. It has a bureau of economic affairs, headed by an assistant secretary. Though sometimes led by very able men, that bureau has been historically heavily restricted in what it was given to do. Other government agencies—Treasury, Commerce, the Agency for International Development (under the State Department but not always working completely in harness) and a plethora of other bodies seem to have gone their separate ways. Since the advent of Robert S. McNamara as head of the World Bank, the American input to the bank's policies has not always jibed completely with other government actions.

As a result of all this, more often than not the United States has had no strong, well-thought-out, coordinated foreign economic policy framework or objective. At least none that were clear to all American agencies in the field and to foreign governments with which we have strong economic ties.

Some men would go further and say the United States has had no foreign economic policy.

What makes the situation serious is the continuing economic crisis here and in many countries abroad which demonstrates how closely U.S. and world prosperity are tied with national and international economic policies.

Promulgating an economic posture and negotiating it abroad can become the most significant area of American foreign policy with regard to our friends and allies around the world.

State was strengthened in this field when ex-Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy was made economic ambassador at large.

But if the President is to go farther in centering economic effort at State in a postelection reorganization and if a strong man such as Connally is given the post, then that department and its secretary will become indeed a major power in the next administration, probably second to no one except the President himself. What then would happen to Dr. Kissinger?

H. L. Hunt Writes

THE GOVERNORS MEET

Stories emanating from Houston where the National Governors Conference was held told of an unprecedented tightness of security arrangements. Secret Service agents, state and local officers were present as the governors convened and news reporters said credentials of persons trying to enter the restricted area were thoroughly screened. This massing of security details is necessary these days and times when violence on the men who hold office is commonplace and demonstrations that are staged for disruptive purposes are sure to occur.

Anarchy is a sign of our time. It seems the revolutionary element is increasing. In the 1960s they were burning our large cities. The arson and looting have subsided but the disruption of our official life and machinery of government go on. Candidates for the office of President, no matter how obscure their chances, are given at least token protection, and rightfully so.

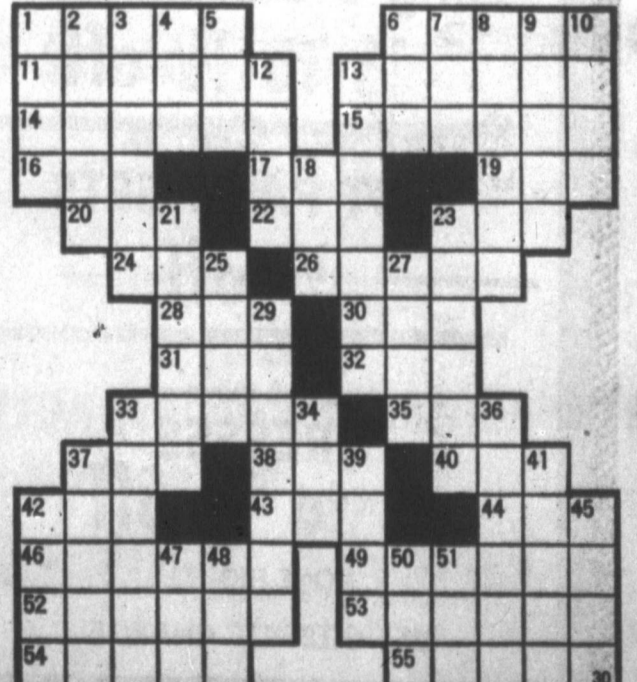

Security measures are costly to the citizens and they are not always effective, as witness the shooting of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama. Swift and sure punishment of the guilty is one measure, that could be taken to eliminate this stain on our national life. The best corrective measure, of course, would be for all men and women to rejoice in our great system of government and respect the holders of public office. There is the right way and the wrong way to correct grievances. If an office-holder is a crook or fails to live up to his oath of responsibility, he can be removed by legal means. Violence is never the right answer.

Credit is what you don't get for paying your bills on time, if you slip just once.

Caldwell-Buchanan Vows Said During Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Susan Claudette Caldwell became the bride of James Alan Buchanan at 8 p.m., Friday, June 16, in the First United Methodist Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Caldwell, 1020 N. Somerville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Buchanan, 1318 Hamilton.

THE CEREMONY
Rev. Alvin G. Adams, ordained minister and friend of the bridegroom's family, officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Mary Adams, sister of the bridegroom, played traditional wedding music. Mrs. Sandra Hadley sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Setting for the ceremony included an altar arrangement of white chrysanthemums and gladioli and an open Bible flanked by four five-branched candelabra, and palms.

Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

During the processional, the bride presented a red rose to her mother. Following the pledging of the nuptial vows, she presented a red rose to the bridegroom's mother.

THE BRIDE
The bride was given in marriage by her father, with the "her mother and I" avowal.

She wore a floor-length gown of bridal satin. The bodice was designed with front and back panels of imported layered lace and a Peter Pan collar. The long, full sheer sleeves of miramist were banded at the wrists with the same double-bow trim that edged the entire gown. Her full detachable chapel-length train of miramist, edged with double-bow trim, was attached to the back bodice.

Her two-tiered, elbow-length veil of silk illusion fell from a small satin caplet, edged with double-bow trim. She carried a bouquet of white roses, centered with a white orchid, over a white Bible. She wore a diamond necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. The bridal gown was made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Helen Caldwell.

The bride carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Connie Biddy of Amarillo was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Joni Caldwell and Miss Robyn Caldwell, both sisters of the bride, and Miss Debbie Ricketts of Amarillo.

All wore identical gowns of aqua miramist over aqua peau de soie, styled with empire waistlines and butterfly sleeves. Their headpieces were aqua miramist bows over small circles of aqua illusion. They carried nosegays of white feathered carnations.

Candlelighters were Miss Stephanie Kuncie and Miss Peggy Caldwell, both cousins of the bride. They were attired in floor-length gowns of a lighter shade of aqua miramist and peau de soie, fashioned with A-line skirts and puffed sleeves. They wore aqua miramist bows in their hair and small wristlets of feathered carnations.

Holly Hadley, flower girl, wore a floor-length gown, styled like that of the bridal attendants, of a darker shade of aqua dotted Swiss. She wore an aqua ribbon in her hair and carried a basket of red rose petals.

Daran Adams, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer. Tom Buchanan of Hereford served as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Franklin, David Bentley and Chris Butler, all of White Deer.

MOTHERS
The mother of the bride wore a street-length dress of rose crepe, with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a street-length dress of lime green knit lace with white accessories. Both wore corsages of white gladioli.

RECEPTION
For the reception in the church parlor, the table was covered with a white cloth edged with wide lace. The centerpiece was the bride's bouquet backed by a large aqua candle on a crystal pedestal. The four-tiered cake, decorated with sugar bells and aqua roses, was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom standing beneath a garland of white roses.

Miss Stephanie Kuncie presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Peggy Caldwell served the cake. Guests were registered by Miss Cindy Presnell. Others in the house party were Mrs. Boots Burris and Mrs. Helen Caldwell, all aunts of the bride.

For the wedding trip to Dallas, the bride wore a sleeveless pink knit dress with white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will live in Pampa.

AFFILIATIONS
The bride, a 1972 graduate of Pampa High School, is employed by Furr's Family Center. The bridegroom was graduated from PHS in 1971 and is employed by K and R Plumbing.

PRE-NUP TIAL EVENTS
Pre-nuptial events include a shower in the home of Mrs. Robert Smith, hosted by Mrs. Doris Smith, Hazel Butler, Ethel Bentley, Charlotte Butler, Sara Wheelley, Mae Lou Franklin, Harriet Rosenberg, Barbara James, Evelyn Adams, Hazel Franklin, Paula Collier and Sandra Cotten.

A shower was given in Spearman during a reunion of the Buchanan family.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS.
Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Quay Burris of Bartlesville, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Caldwell of Pawhuska, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Pendleton, Floyd MacSpadden, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Key, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jett, all of Phillips; Mrs. Arlene Hooker and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Biddy, Mrs. E. T. Ricketts and Kathy, Mrs. Fred Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vaught, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wallin of Gruver; Mr. and Mrs. Don Adams of Florissant, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Buchanan of Stinnett; Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Helen Fisher, Monroe Buchanan, all of Spearman; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Buchanan and family of Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. Carson Dibble of Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. Ed Estes of Borger; and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Buchanan of Dumas.

Special guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adkisson and her great-grandmother, Mrs. John Poston, all of Phillips.

Art Exhibit For Blind

By C. G. McDANIEL
Associated Press Writer

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — The "Look but don't touch" warning issued in most museums doesn't hold at the University of Illinois, where a special art exhibit designed for touching has been set up for the blind.

The exhibition in the university's Krannert Museum is aimed at acquainting blind students and other visually handicapped persons with art forms and how they change.

It includes six sculptures of various materials from the 19th and 20th centuries, set up in a separate room of the museum.

The visually handicapped as well as sighted persons may visit and feel the sculptures. Labels on each piece describe the work in print and in Braille.

The exhibition is the work primarily of Mrs. Muriel Christison, acting director of the museum, and Ronald Textley, supervisor of services for the blind and deaf at the university.

There are 35 students at the university who are termed "severely visually impaired," and about 200 visually handicapped persons in the area.

Textley said those who have seen the show like it because it gives them an opportunity to become informed about art and art forms.

The most traditional piece in the show is a white marble bust of a young woman done by Launt Thompson in 1861. It reflects the taste of marble portraiture in the Victorian era.

A smooth wooden head carved from Brazilian wood by Margarita Worth in 1952 is a simplified construction emphasizing the geometry. A reclining mother and child done in 1956 by Charles Umlauf, is made of terra cotta and is rough-textured.

Another piece is made of slate, and another is a non-representational piece cast in bronze and rough-textured.

A brazed copper and steel piece done by Theodore J. Roszak in 1950 is an abstraction with a rough, irregular surface.

Her love for boy friend prejudiced by parents

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl and I don't think I've ever seen a problem like mine in your column.

I am dating a guy who is a member of a minority group, and to make a long story short, my father would make Archie Bunker look like Abbie Hoffman!

This guy is no bum. He's a college freshman who is working hard for his education, and someday he will amount to something. He's the kind of guy my folks want me to go with, except for the fact that he belongs to this minority group which my parents despise.

I hate to lie and sneak around to see him, because I am really proud of him, but my folks are so bigoted and prejudiced it's unbelievable.

Altho he likes me a lot, he has never let our relationship get out of hand, if you know what I mean. His folks like me and I like them, but there is no way I can get my folks to agree to letting me go with him. Can you help me?

PARENT PROBLEMS

DEAR PROBLEMS: At age 16, your relationships are your parents' concern, and advice from a third party, unless sought by both sides, is out of order. I think your parents are unfair to judge a person without meeting him, but unfortunately until you are old enough to do as you wish, you will have to play by their rules. Time will solve your problem.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument? How should I introduce my father's second wife? I introduced her as "my father's wife." My roommate contends that this is poor taste and I should have introduced the woman as "my mother." Since I was raised by my mother who is still very much alive and well, I think it would be a slight to her. Please advise me.

WHOSE DAUGHTER (?)

DEAR DAUGHTER: Your roommate flunked this one. You will always be your mother's daughter regardless of who your father's wife is.

Under the circumstances you introduced the woman properly. If your father's wife had reared you, and you addressed her as "Mother," then she should be properly introduced as "my mother."

DEAR ABBY: That lady who says her husband can't hear without his glasses can relax. He's not crazy. Many near-sighted people who have worn glasses for a long time depend upon lip-reading and facial expressions in order to "hear," and without their glasses they can't see the speaker clearly enough to catch what he's saying. It happens to me all the time.

MRS. MYOPIA

DEAR ABBY: I'll bet I know why that man can't "hear" when he takes his glasses off. His hearing aid is in the frames!

Society Belle Patented Wiper

By LYNN REEVES
Birmingham News Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Before the windshield wiper there were disgruntled motorists and obstructed views. A society belle from Birmingham envisioned a brighter day.

It was in the winter of 1902 that Mary Anderson went to New York and was distressed at the plight of the street car driver. Back in those days a motorist went out on a rainy day with an onion, a plug of tobacco or a piece of carrot.

Theoretically, the things were rubbed briskly over the windshield, leaving an oily film which prevented water from collecting. But the theory left a bit to be desired.

When she returned to Birmingham she made a drawing of a gadget she thought would do the job. A local company made a working model — a simple, manually-operated arm to remove snow, rain and sleet from the glass of the modern electric motor car.

It was patented under her name in 1903, but did not catch on until years later.

Miss Anderson forgot about the invention.

Miss Anderson died in 1953 at the age of 87, no doubt-amused, that her invention was found two-fold on millions of vehicles.

Heat canned pears and fill each cavity with cranberry sauce; good served with turkey or a roast meat.

Church Gifts Lag

Fail To Match Inflated Costs

NEW YORK (AP) — Belittling has become standard operating procedure for American churches.

Their income simply isn't keeping up with costs. That point is underlined statistically in the current issue of "Giving, U.S.A.," published by the American Association of Fund-Raising Councils.

"People just aren't increasing their religious giving enough to offset inflation factors," says editor Harlan F. Lang, in analyzing the trend.

He notes that in the past three years, giving to religion has risen 13.5 per cent, but inflation has totalled 16 per cent, resulting in an actual drop in church purchasing power.

As a consequence, denominational budgets have been cut back, staffs reduced in some cases, various programs curtailed, and missionary replacements held up.

Altogether, contributions to religious causes in 1971 totalled $8.6 billion, a larger sum than before, but it represented a declining percentage of overall American philanthropy—40.7 per cent of it.

The year before, in 1970, it was 42.6 per cent and in 1969 it was 45.2 per cent. In other words, the religious share of charitable giving fell nearly 5 per cent in two years.

Much of it, Lang said, is being shifted to "civic, cultural and health organizations."

Other figures also point up the religious financial sag, including the shrinking proportion of people's total disposable income that is going to religious causes.

In 1968, the percentage was 1.27 per cent, but it has since dropped steadily to 1.15 per cent in 1971.

Harlan also notes that in the last three years the over-all spending for religious and welfare purposes has risen only 24 points, while spending for recreation was up 35 points, housing up 36 points and medical care, up 57 points.

Total church membership in the country now totals 131,045,953 which is 63.2 per cent of the total population. But church attendance has been slipping for the last decade and now stands at 40 per cent of the membership on an average Sunday.

Moreover, in that same period, people increased their overall charitable giving 9 per cent, meaning that religion is getting a smaller share of it.

Dallas Rally Set

"A New Heaven and a New Earth" is the theme of the Christian Science Regional Youth Meeting to be held in Dallas on Southern Methodist University campus July 1 and 2.

More than 2,000 young persons between the ages of 16 and 25 from a six-state area including Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and parts of Kansas and Missouri are expected to participate in the two-day meeting.

Organized by students and young working people in the Dallas area, the meeting is open to Christian Science youth who have attended Christian Science Sunday School, Christian Science services and college organization or informal group meetings.

Co-sponsored by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., the session is one of 17 regional youth meetings throughout the world through September.

Purpose of the meeting is to

Men's Breakfast

The men of First Baptist Church will have their monthly breakfast at 6:30 a.m. Thursday. The Rev. M.B. Smith will be the speaker. Men of all faiths are welcomed at this breakfast.

Baptist Set Lubbock Meet

LUBBOCK—Young people from hundreds of churches in West Texas will attend the Youth Evangelism Conference in the Fair Park Coliseum here July 6-7.

Some of America's foremost Christian youth speakers are on the program, including Rick Carreno, former member of Hell's Angels motorcycle gang. The meeting, one of five throughout the state during June and July, is sponsored by the Evangelism Division of the 1.9-million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Sessions will begin at 7 p.m. July 6 and 9:15 a.m. and 1:45 p.m. the following day.

Theme for the evangelistic rally is "Meet Jesus."

Cynthia Clawson, TV-recording star, will be the feature singer. Youth singing groups "The Singers" from Sherwood Baptist Church, Odessa, "Young Americans" from Calvary Baptist Church, Lubbock, "Lost and Found"

Patriotic Theme Set

A patriotic program and a reception for a new staff member will be a part of the order of service at Central Baptist Church Sunday, according to the Rev. Bryan Halliburton, pastor.

Marking the holiday weekend, the United States flag will be presented at the morning worship service while the choir sings "This Is My Country." The congregation will pledge allegiance to the flag and the choir will sing a patriotic medley prior to the morning message.

A goal of 523 persons in attendance at Sunday School has been set for the holiday service.

The new youth director, Wesley Black, will be introduced to the church Sunday. The process will begin with a breakfast fellowship with young people to plan a new youth program. Following the evening service, there will be a reception and ice cream fellowship for the Blacks.

Emissaries To Sing Here

The Emissaries, a group of four Christian musicians, will be appearing at the First Assembly of God Church, corner of Brown and Cuyler Sts., at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, with the public invited.

The musicians have many years of experience in the fields of secular and sacred music, according to Rev. Jimmy Phillips, pastor.

For 17 years they were the official heralds for the famous Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, Calif. They have served as staff musicians for several large West Coast recording companies.

For five years the men were instrumental artists for the Los Angeles "Youth for Christ." The Emissaries have traveled extensively from coast to coast and from Mexico to Alaska as missionaries for Christ, Rev. Phillips said.

In recent years the group has concentrated its efforts in the field of sacred music, providing accompaniment for sacred music recording artists and backgrounds for religious films.

The Emissaries ministered for several summers to the peoples of Brazil, Columbia and Ecuador. They have played in churches, public halls, bull rings, transportation terminals, jails, jungle villages and street corners.

Traveling under the auspices of Men for Missions, the men have always found an enthusiastic and responsive acceptance in each country, Rev. Phillips said.

Annual Picnic Planned

The congregation of the First Assembly of God Church will have the annual Fourth of July picnic from 10:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. on that date.

This will be a "dinner on the grounds" picnic with each person or family bringing their own food. It will be spread together for one giant serving for the meal.

BIBLES FOR RUSSIA

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — If anyone is planning a trip to the Soviet Union, an agency here called "Russian Bible" will send him free — on request — a Russian translation of the Bible to take with him, and give to someone there.

The agency made that offer in noting that the Soviet Council of Religious Affairs has stated that each tourist is allowed to bring one Bible into the country, where there is a shortage of Bibles.

PROTESTANTS ON AIR MADRID, Spain (AP) — The "Herald of Truth," a broadcasting arm of the Churches of Christ, has started a regular radio program in Spain, the first Protestant program aired here since 1969.

GOSPEL FOR GYPSIES

NEW YORK (AP) — Four thousand of the 6,000 gypsies living in Finland are able to speak the old gypsy language and for them the Finnish Bible Society is publishing the Gospel of John in their dialect.

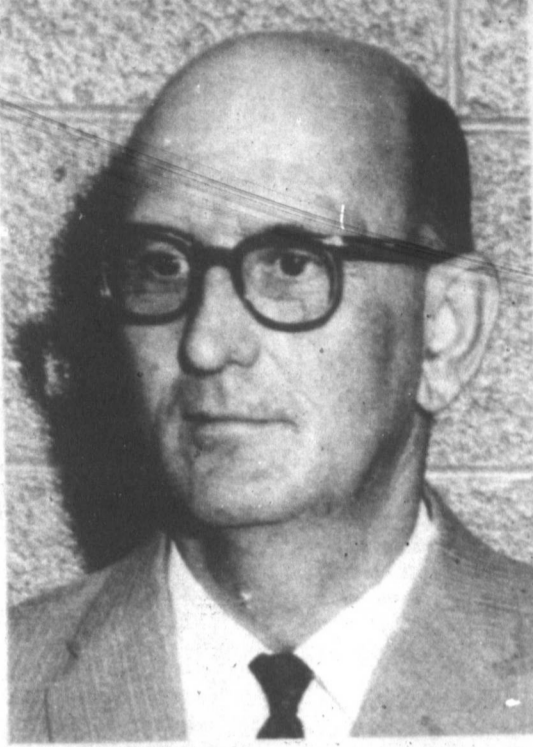

The translation, made from the Finnish Bible, is the work of Viljo Koivisto, a gypsy evangelist and magazine editor.

Summer Program

The joint summer youth activities of the First Presbyterian and First Christian churches will continue each week. Work with the young people is under the direction of the Rev. Dennis Povey.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

First Freewill Baptist Church

REV. L.C. LYNCH
Pastor
Freewill Baptist Church

WORLDLINESS
I John 2:15-16: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world." It is truly great to live in God's beautiful world, that He made for man, and be able to enjoy the wonderful modern inventions and freedom we have in America, to go where we desire without restrictions. But, if we keep that freedom, we need to present our bodies to the glory of God, that we may grow in grace and be able to help others.

The Bible says "Remember the sabbath day to keep it holy." I know there are so many things that one wants to do that it sometimes becomes easy to stay away from church. And once we start seeking worldly pleasure, it becomes more difficult to find time to go to church. This life is short, and we do not know when we will leave this world and go into an endless eternity. Remember, friend, that soul within you will live forever! Man may destroy the body, but the soul belongs to God.

Matthew 16:26 "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" Our young generation of today needs Mothers and Fathers to teach them about the great things, joyment, and satisfaction one can have serving the Lord. The youth of our land are looking at the lives church people live. Then, if we, as Christians, will prove to them that worshipping God comes first in our lives, then they will be able to have faith in God, the church, and parents.

Parents, take your children to Sunday School and Church this Sunday. If you are not saved, surrender your lives to the Lord—then see and feel the closer and better companionship in the family.

Romans 12:2 "And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God."

Col. 3:2 "Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth."

In closing, I want to extend my sincere thanks to the business establishments and the Pampa Daily News for the weekly messages and for listing all of the churches. May the Lord bless all of you.

Shirley Englehorn Leads U.S. Women's Open Golf

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — "I've had more rest than anyone else a whole year," joked Shirley Englehorn after taking the first round lead in the Women's U.S. Open Golf Championship.

But Shirley, the only one of 150 players to par the rugged Winged Foot Golf Club East Course Thursday, has also had more physical problems than most anyone.

In 1960 she had to overcome a serious spinal injury. Five years later she suffered a badly damaged ankle in an automobile accident. Just a year ago she had to withdraw from the Ladies' PGA Championship, a title she was defending, because of the ankle. She underwent surgery last July and again in March to fuse the bone.

Doctors told her she'd never play pro golf again. But spunky Shirley proved them wrong. She came back, walked over the 4,226-yard layout and putted her way to a 72 and a onestroke margin over Pam Barnett and Betsy Cullen.

"Walking is the best thing for it," Shirley said, pointing to her puffy left leg. "Last week was the first week I walked 18 holes. I played five rounds. So I thought I'd come out here and give it a go."

She took the front nine in one over par but came home with a one-under 35, the day's best performance on the final nine.

Joanne Carner, whose long drives powered her to the 1971 title at the Kahwa Club Course in Erie, Pa., struggled in with a 79 on the layout drenched by Hurricane Agnes and dampened by light occasional showers Thursday.

She wasn't alone. Fifteen others carded 79s, including all-time money winner Kathy Whitworth, who like Mrs. Carner, couldn't sink a single birdie. Also in the group were Laura Baugh, the 17-year-old U.S. Women's Amateur titlist, and three of her victorious Curtis Cup teammates.

Among 13 at 78 were Sandra Palmer, two-time champion Louise Suggs and Jane Blalock. Miss Blalock, embroiled in a legal battle with the LPA over

Junior Olympics

Tomorrow is the deadline for entering the Junior Olympics track meet which will be conducted in Borger July 8.

Boys and girls, aged 9 to 17 may still enter the meet by contacting Ed Rowntree at 669-2343. The Pampa Jaycees will pay the entry fee for any young person wanting to enter.

The first time Billy Martin saw the friendly left field wall at Boston's Fenway Park he dented it with a run-scoring double as a brash young rookie with the New York Yankees in 1950.

The last time he saw it was Thursday night as manager of the Detroit Tigers and his arbor hadn't cooled one bit.

"Anything can happen in this ballpark and usually does," Martin said after the Tigers, blanked for eight innings by rookie Lynn McGlothen, exploded for eight runs in the ninth—the last four on Bill Freehan's grand slam homer, into the screen atop that ever-present wall—and beat the Red Sox 8-4.

That increased Detroit's lead in baseball's American League East to two games over Baltimore, which lost to the Yankees 4-3, and sent the Tigers home to begin a big four-game series with the Orioles in a happy frame of mind.

Elsewhere, Chicago and Oakland split a doubleheader, the White Sox winning the opener 4-0 and the A's taking the nightcap 3-1. Kansas City took two from Minnesota 5-3 and 12-4. Milwaukee shaded Cleveland 3-1 and California drubbed Texas 12-4.

National League scores: Pittsburgh 9, Montreal 0; Philadelphia 9, New York Mets, 4; St. Louis 4, Chicago Cubs 2; San Francisco 3, Cincinnati 2; Houston 8, Los Angeles 6; San Diego 8, Atlanta 6.

Freehan started Detroit's big inning by reaching first base on an error by Boston second baseman Doug Griffin. With one out, Al Kaline walked and singles by Jim Northrup and Paul Jata each drove in a run and drove McGlothen out.

The Yankees ended the eight-game winning streak of Baltimore's Jim Palmer and beat him for the first time since Sept. 26, 1969. They chased him with three runs in the second inning on Ron Blomberg's homer and RBI singles by Jerry Kenney and winning pitcher Mel Stottlemyre and scored what proved to be the winning run off Dave Leonhard in the third on Bobby Murcer's triple and Roy White's single. Bobby Grich homered for Baltimore.

Sparky Lyle relieved Stottlemyre after six innings and blanked the Orioles on one hit the rest of the way for his 15th save, tops in the majors.

National League
For the Los Angeles Dodger fans in the audience today.

there is some good news and there is some bad news.

First, the good news. The Dodgers are cutting their fielding errors. They made five boobos three games ago but reduced that total to three on Thursday.

Now, the bad news. They're still losing ball games in the field.

Ninth inning errors by Bobby Valentine and Steve Garvey delivered a gift run that tied Thursday's game for Houston and then Bob Watson rifled a single for two more runs and an 8-6 victory for the Astros, who moved to within one-half game of first place Cincinnati in the National League's West Division.

In other NL action Thursday, San Francisco edged Cincinnati 9-2, Philadelphia ripped New York 9-4, Pittsburgh shut out Montreal 9-0, St. Louis topped Chicago 4-2 and San Diego outslugged Atlanta 8-6.

The Dodgers wiped out an early 5-1 Houston lead, tying the score on Jim Lefebvre's three-run pinch homer in the sixth inning. Then, Los Angeles took the lead on Garvey's homer in the bottom of the eighth.

That's when the Astros played a dirty trick on the Dodgers. They started hitting the ball to Garvey instead of pitching it to him.

Next, Jim Wynn bounced another grounder to Garvey and this time, the third baseman threw the ball away himself, allowing Miller to score the tying run. Cedeno stopped at third and Wynn wound up at second.

That was all the help the Astros needed. Watson followed with his two-run single, giving Houston the victory.

Bookies Giving 100-1 Against American Teens

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — British bookies were offering odds of 100-1 today against a couple of American teen-agers carrying off both singles crowns in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Such friendly odds—you bet one dollar to win a hundred—were certain to attract plenty of cash support for Jim Connors and Chris Evert.

Connors, the 19-year-old left-hander from Belleville, Ill., has reached the final 16 of the men's division. Miss Evert, 17-year-old star from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has reached the last 32 in the women's singles.

"The odds seem rather big to me," Connors said. "I would have thought we have a better chance than the bookmakers seem to think."

If Connors reaches the quarter-finals he is likely to come up against Romania's Ilie Nastase, the No. 2 seed. Nastase, playing better on grass than he ever has done before, is a tough proposition for anyone in a tournament weakened by the absence of the big stars of World Championship Tennis.

But even if the unseeded Connors got past Nastase he could find himself in a semifinal against the man he fears most of all—Colin Dibley of Australia.

It was Dibley, a power server with shoulders like an ox, who eliminated Connors' teacher, Pancho Gonzales, in the second round this year.

"I watched part of the match," Connors said. "Dibley was hitting rockets."

Miss Evert, seeded fourth in her first Wimbledon, could have an easier path to tread. But even if everything goes well in her next two matches she faces the prospect of meeting Australia's Evonne Goolagong, the defending champion, in the semifinals.

Connors forged his way into the last 16 by downing Italy's No. 1, Adriano Panatta, 6-3, 6-6, 6-4, 8-6. He was joined there by two other Americans—top-seeded Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., and Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif.

Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., and Erik Van Dillen of San Mateo, Calif.—both U.S. Davis Cup stars—have excellent chances of winning their third-round matches and joining their three fellow countrymen in the last 16.

Thirteen American girls have come through to the last 32 in the women's singles. Apart from Miss Evert, they include second favorite Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., a former champion, Mrs. Nancy Gunter of San Angelo, Tex., seeded third, and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, the sixth seed.

Jacqueline Thompson Stars In Women's AAU

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — "Her heart is her strength," an admiring teammate said of Jacqueline Thompson.

America's newest teen-age track sensation, Miss Thompson almost single-handedly led the San Diego Mickey's Missiles to the national AAU girls title Thursday.

The 5-foot-7, 135-pound high school senior piled up 25 points, just nine points fewer than the entire runnerup LaJolla, Calif., team, the defending girls champion.

She swept to rain-splattered triumphs in the 100-yard dash in 10.6 seconds and 220 in 24.1 and

Denny McLain Says 'I'm Back In Groove'

ATLANTA (AP) — "Armwise, weightwise, controlwise and mindwise, I'm back in the groove," says Denny McLain. And today McLain also is back in the Major Leagues. "I am happy as hell. It's super," said McLain Thursday when informed that the Oakland A's of the American League, which sent the pitcher to the minors five weeks ago, had traded him to the Atlanta Braves of the National League. "I hear they (Atlanta) need pitchers," he said from Birmingham. "And if that's what they need, I'll do it for them. All I want is a fair shot at the big league again."

The deal also sent Orlando Cepeda, a $95,000 a year first baseman for the Braves, to Oakland for an undisclosed amount of cash and the right to purchase McLain. McLain, a 31-game winner in 1968 for the Detroit Tigers, had early season problems at Oakland and, with a 1-2 record and a 6.05 earned run average, was sent to Birmingham of the Southern League. He had a 3-3 mark with a 6.32 ERA there.

McLain reports to the Atlanta squad tonight at Houston where the Braves are playing the Astros. Cepeda, who has played 14 seasons in the National League with San Francisco, St. Louis

Dolphins Enter Jr. Olympics

Ten Pampa Dolphins will be traveling to Canyon Saturday to compete in the West Texas AAU Junior Olympics Long Course Meet. This event, sponsored by the Amarillo Aquatic Club and the Quaker Oats Company, is the competition for West Texas District awards.

Winners at the district are eligible to compete in the Region IX Junior Olympic competition to be held in July. Region IX winners are eligible to compete in national Junior Olympic competition in Spokane, Wash. later this summer.

The Junior Olympic competition is patterned after Olympic competition with some past Junior Olympic National Champions having gone on to be outstanding Olympic performers. The Dolphin Swim Team has been training daily at the Youth Center in preparation for this meet. Coach Nell Carter expects some fine performances in the competition.

Those attending the meet for the Dolphins include Clay Douglas, John Carter, Tim Anderson, Sandra Anderson, Kristen Douglas, Kathy Max, J. Gay Carter, Tamara Glascock and Teresa Glascock. 360-POUND JET NEW YORK (AP) — If rookie Gary Kipmiller makes the New York Jets football team this summer he will be carrying a lot of weight. The 6-foot-4 athlete from Nebraska weighs 360 pounds.

and Atlanta, said he was happy to be going to Oakland. "It's a challenge and you can't look back." The 34-year-old Puerto Rico native, who won the National League's MVP award in 1967, walked out on the Braves two weeks ago and was suspended for two days. Upset because he wasn't playing, Cepeda asked to be traded or released. Cepeda, a 298 lifetime hitter with the pros, has a 298 batting record this year with four home runs and nine runs batted in.

McLain, who owns a 128-86 major league lifetime pitching record, has had his problems since the glory days of 1968-69 when he won two Cy Young Awards. He was also the league's Most Valuable Player in 1968.

The 28-year-old right-hander filed for bankruptcy and then was suspended for one-half a season in 1970 by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for allegedly carrying a gun. With a 3-5 record in Detroit in 1970, he was traded to Washington, where he posted a 10-22 chart last year.

In March, he was traded to Oakland, and last month he was shipped to the minors. After being bombed for 16 runs in his first two Southern League starts, he settled down to win three games.

11 Sophomores Set For Saturday's Race

Saturday's featured "New Mexico Horse Breeder's Association Purse," seven furlong allowance event for sophomores, has attracted eleven well-bred speedsters at La Mesa Park.

Seven of the entries remain eligible for the $60,000 est. "Land of Enchantment" Derby July 23 and will be "prepping" for the trials set for July 15.

Blaze Face Girl, Kholeen's Beau, Go Doc Go, Sir Cedar, Never Swoon, Revlynne, Bernie's Gal, Impress, Enchanted Lad, Henlew, and Skeetero, in post order, make up the good field. Coupled in the wagering will be Never Swoon and Revlynne. Both are owned by Deerfield Stables, Middleburg, Va., and trained by Jack Phillips.

Jockey Mike Hidingier will be aboard Revlynne, who was a sharp second June 25 to Mighty Challenge at six furlongs. The Reverse filly has a record of six wins for over $27,000. This will be her first try around two turns. Reinsman Louie Cacioppo,

Mitchell Favorite In Cleveland Open

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bobby Mitchell, the invisible man of the touring golf pros, feels slightly more visible this year in the $150,000 Cleveland Open at soggy Tanglewood Country Club. He's the defending champion and a favorite with the fans. Still, his fellow pros won't let him forget the fame he acquired earlier this year after he knocked off Jack Nicklaus to take the Tournament of Champions at La Costa, Calif. He had beaten Nicklaus, but remained the golfer no one knows. After the first round of the Cleveland Open was washed out by torrential rain Thursday, Mike Higgins of Houston called across the practice green: "It doesn't matter, Bobby. You're the invisible man."

Mitchell grinned and sank a curling eight-footer. He looked at the putter admiringly. "Nicklaus knows him," consoled Leonard Thompson of Myrtle Beach, S.C., a freshman on the tour and owner of the putter Mitchell was using. Mitchell looked off over the wooded hills of Tanglewood where the valleys and greens held just a little less water than a flood. "This course can't stand much more water," he said. "I got in five holes before they called it." Mitchell had gotten in his five holes by 9:54 a.m. CDT when the rain struck. Play was suspended and the opening round of the 72-hole tourney postponed until today. An hour later he sun broke out and began baking out some of the moisture. After some argument the officials decided to play 18-hole rounds today, Saturday, Sunday and Monday over the par 35-36-71 course. First place money is $30,000.

At 77 Jack Dempsey Is Still 'The Champ'

NEW YORK (AP) — The once jet-black hair has turned gray, his panther-like walk has lost some of its quickness and it has been 53 years since he won the heavyweight championship, but Jack Dempsey is still instantly recognized wherever he goes.

Admirers of all ages gather at the Broadway restaurant which bears his name, hoping for a glimpse of the Manassa Mauler whose two-fisted bob and weave style captivated the sporting world during the Roaring Twenties. Some peer through the windows, craning their necks for a look. Others sit at the bar nursing a drink and cast quick glances at the hulking figure occupying a table near the entrance.

Grasping menus and napkins for him to sign, fans work up the courage to ask for an autograph. Dempsey, a warm, sincere man, is only too willing to shake a hand and say hello.

He celebrated his 77th birthday last week and the restaurant is now the biggest part of his life. He spent most of the fortune he earned with his slashing fists, but he still has the memories and an army of fans.

His popularity transcends any generation gap as young and old share a common admiration for the former champion who gave boxing its first million-dollar gate and whose exciting style reflected an era of wild abandon. He still is "The Champ" to people of all backgrounds. Relaxing in his restaurant, Dempsey talked about himself and boxing. "Would I do it again?" he asked in response to a question. "Sure. I loved it. Boxing was very good to me."

"I'm sorry to see how things have changed, though. The small clubs have died out and there aren't that many fighters who keep active. A fighter has to have a place to start and a place to finish. Since the small clubs have disappeared it's hard for a boy to get back-ground and experience."

How does the current crop of heavyweights compare to those of 50 years ago? "Joe Frazier is a good fighter. He can punch and take it but he ought to fight more. Clay (Muhammad Ali) is a good boxer but he's not a fighter. The game today is losing out to basketball, football and baseball. That's where the money is. If the small clubs got going again things probably would improve."

Dempsey's early years in boxing were hard. He rode Col-

Schaefer 500 Cancelled By Auto Club Officials

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (AP) — The Schaefer 500, third richest race in motor sports, has been canceled at least for the time being.

Officials of the sanctioning U.S. Auto Club took the action Thursday when they showed up at Pocono International Raceway and found the track locked and guarded by policemen.

There is a chance it may be scheduled for a later date. William J. Smyth, executive director of USAC, said a meeting of the group's executive committee will be called soon, probably Saturday, to discuss a possible renegotiation of Pocono's racing schedule.

USAC has a five-year agreement with the raceway to sanction all of its major events, including a 500-mile race for stock cars scheduled for July 30.

Sunday's race was to have paid just over $400,000 in prize and accessory money. Only the $1 million Indianapolis 500 and the $750,000 California 500 at Ontario are richer.

Plagued by rain on seven of the 10 days set aside for practice and qualifying, and pressured by Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp not to hold the event in the middle of the state's flood disaster area, Pocono officials had announced Wednesday that the Schaefer would not be run as scheduled.

Dr. Joseph Mattioli, the track's board chairman and chief executive officer, said he asked USAC officials as early as last Monday for a new date. Smyth refused, saying his racing crew was prepared to run the race.

Additionally, Smyth said, the sanctioning agreement given USAC sole prerogative to run the race, or cancel or postpone it, as conditions dictate.

Mattioli revealed that Gov. Shapp had written him Monday suggesting that consideration be given to postponing the race. He said Gov. Shapp cited a possible overtaxing of the areas already damaged utilities and roads by an influx of possibly 100,000 people for the race.

Smyth said a decision will be made at the USAC executive committee meeting about what to do with the $275,000 base prize money already turned over to the sanctioning group.

The official earlier had indicated that the prize money would be forfeited outright.

Ceausescu Invited To Houston Rodeo

VIENNA (AP) — Romanian President Nicolas Ceausescu has been invited to a Texas rodeo and livestock exhibition in Houston during February and March 1973.

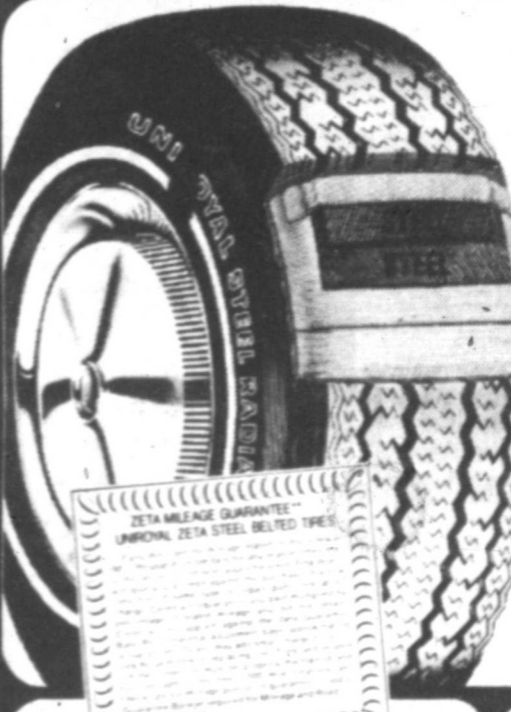

The news agency Agerpres said the invitation was extended by Petty Gets-Homer

In last week's game between Ideal and Grant Supply, won by Ideal, 16-7, Ideal's Larry Petty hit a grand slam home run.

The homer was only the second hit out of the Babe Ruth park this year. Bill Lantz got the win for Ideal.

HERE'S HOW THE 14-DAY TRIAL WORKS!

We could tell you about our tires until we're blue in the face but only you can actually feel the difference in the way your car handles and rides with our steel-belted radials. One thing we would like to tell you is that in addition to the superior performance characteristics of a radial tire, our tires also offer substantially greater protection against disabling cuts and punctures than fabric-belted tires, because the belts under the tread are made of steel wire. We believe our steel-belted radials are the most extraordinary tires that you can drive off. And the only way you'll ever believe us is to actually drive around on them yourself.

Drive into a participating Uniroyal Zeta dealer. He'll take your old tires off and mount 4 steel-belted radials on your car. You then pay the dealer. He'll put your name on your old tires and keep them in storage for you. And if you can't feel an enormous difference in their over-all performance after driving around on them for 14 days, bring them back and the dealer will remount and balance your old tires at no charge and give you your money back. You see, we want our tires to do the talking. SEE FOR YOURSELF!

People In The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Martha Mitchell is reported back in town even though her husband is still heading the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

John N. Mitchell, who went to Rye, N.Y., last weekend to pick up his wife, was back at work Thursday and a committee spokesman said he understood Mrs. Mitchell had returned to their Watergate East apartment.

The Watergate desk clerk would not confirm the Mitchells had returned.

Mrs. Mitchell told reporters last weekend she was leaving her husband, the former attorney general, until he left the campaign committee. She went from California to the Westchester Country Club in Rye and Mitchell went to see her Monday.

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Secretary of State William P.

Rogers and his wife were preparing to leave their hotel and anti-American demonstrators were gathered around when someone threw a smoke bomb into the hotel.

Thick orange smoke swirled through the lobby Thursday but no one was injured.

Secretary and Mrs. Rogers drove off from the Parmelia Hotel a few minutes later. He is on a tour of Asian and European nations and flew here from a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting in Canberra.

MOSCOW (AP) — Fidel Castro has visited the Soviet space training center accompanied by Communist party boss Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The government news agency Tass said that during their visit Thursday to Star City near Moscow, Castro and Brezhnev placed flowers at the monument of Yuri Gagarin, the first man in space.

They also visited labs, academic facilities and spacecraft simulators. The Cuban prime minister is in Moscow for talks at the Kremlin.

TOKYO (AP) — The Democratic and Republican leaders of the U.S. House, Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, have left Peking on their tour of China, the New China News Agency reported.

The government agency said they were en route at the airport Thursday by Chou Peiyuan, vice president of the People's Institute of Foreign Affairs; Hu Yu-Chieh, a member of the National People's Congress Standing Committee, and other Chinese officials.

Boggs and Ford are accompanied by their wives and several American officials.

Actor Turns Into Top Tour Guide

By DICK KLEINER

MADRID—(NEA)—Most Americans, travel-nutty as we are, look with great envy on actors who get to go everywhere these days. But their traveling isn't as great as you might think. The problem is that actors get stuck in one place for a long time.

Lou Gossett has been in Madrid for a couple of months already on "Travels With My Aunt," the Graham Greene best-seller George Cukor is making into a major movie. This is one of those movies where he isn't in every scene. He has had a lot of free time.

That's good and bad. He has explored and knows all the restaurants and he led the way to a remote farmhouse with great food. In Spain because they have the siesta custom in the afternoon, you don't eat dinner until about 10 at night.

"For awhile," Gossett said, "I explored all the tourist traps. I got very bored with the whole scene. Then I met a bunch of flamenco dancers and learned about tapa-hopping."

Tapas are little hors d'oeuvres, served free with a cheap glass of wine in the little Madrid cafes. For a few pesetas per glass, the in-the-know Spaniards get a cheap dinner—they go from cafe to cafe, eating tapas and drinking wine. Lou Gossett has become a tapa-hopping expert.

Lou says he has been roaming the city, practicing his Spanish. He doesn't take a cab except as a last resort. And he says crime in Madrid is virtually nonexistent—"a woman can walk the streets at any hour unmolested," he says.

(An American girl in Madrid added a postscript to that: "In the Madrid subway, she said, it can be rough on a girl—they don't hurt you, but they like to touch you.")

One night while roaming he found an English-style pub where the big thing was the dart board. He became an addict. And he met a black artist there, an ex-GI named John Stewart who had settled in Madrid. They started talking, learned both came from families which had originally been in Athens, Ga., and eventually discovered they were cousins.

Another American in the "Travel With My Aunt" company is Cindy Williams. This is her big break. She had been one of the eight participants in the TV series, The Funny Side, but was lost in the crowd.

She heard about the part of Tootie in "Travel" and went after it. It was a long and discouraging quest. She read for the part dozens of times but began to lose hope that she'd ever get it.

"Then I went to see a clairvoyant," she says, "and she told me, 'You are going to travel.' Just to be safe, the next day I got my birth certificate out of the vault. And, sure enough, I got a call from Madrid to report at once."

They told her to bring her own blue jeans with her because blue jeans were unavailable in Madrid.

Cindy says Cukor, one of Hollywood's veteran directors, has been hard on her.

"But I'm learning a lot," she says. "And, really, I consider myself the luckiest girl in the world."

Gossett thinks he's pretty lucky, too. He has a great part and the picture should be a big one. He had signed when Katharine Hepburn was supposed to play the lead but she quit and was replaced by Maggie Smith. Gossett doesn't feel the change hurt.

"It was like trading one block of gold for another one," he says.

First Female in Space

First woman to travel in space was Valentina Vladimirova Tereshkova of Russia. She orbited the earth 48 times in a 70-hour and 50-minute space flight that lasted from June 16 to June 19, 1963.

In railroad parlance, gandy dancers are section men who work on the road-bed.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

Hank is a victim of what we call "phantom pain." It affects many veterans who have lost an arm or leg in the war. But I once had a millionaire banker whose phantom pain was a convenient method of keeping his younger wife away from possible rivals.

CASE U-523: Hank V., aged 28, is a Vietnam war veteran. "Dr. Crane," his wife complained, "Hank often complains of severe pain in his right foot."

"It even wakens him from a sound sleep in the middle of the night."

"But that leg was amputated in Vietnam!"

"So how could it be hurting him now, several years later?"

"For Hank doesn't have any right foot any more!"

"Yet he may cry out with pain and reach down with his hands to try to massage that injured spot!"

PHANTOM PAIN

Hank's problem is common among amputees.

For the nerve centers in Hank's brain, that formerly received pain sensations from his right foot, are still intact.

So any stray nervous impulse from an adjacent area of the brain may activate that incoming center that used to receive impulses from the severed foot.

This situation is similar to what occurs in our ordinary dreams.

For we may dream of people or situations that we haven't seen for maybe 10 to 20 years.

Yet in our dream, everything seems clear and we may be talking with friends who have been dead for years.

What happens is merely a first cousin to Hank's phantom foot pain.

The brain cells in the cerebral cortex (gray covering of the brain) that contained those earlier impressions, are now stimulated by a stray nerve impulse.

So we vividly experience those former sensations and for the moment may believe they are real and up-to-date.

Memory is like a modern electronic computer. When we see or feel or taste or touch or hear, the corresponding nerve centers in our brain are affected.

At a later date, if a stray nerve impulse activates those brain cells that received the original impressions from our eyes or ears or Hank's missing right foot, then the early sensation is reinstated.

Actually, the apparent pain that Hank suffers, is not in the foot, long ago buried way over in Vietnam.

No, the pain is in his own mind, due to a stimulation of the incoming nerve center for that missing right foot.

But sometimes a patient can cultivate a supposed stump pain to browbeat his family.

Thus, I was begged by the head of our medical department at Wesley Hospital to hypnotize a prominent Chicago banker.

"Dr. Crane," my medical colleague pleaded, "can't you do us a favor for a few nights and put this millionaire to sleep?"

"For he cries out in apparent agony, rubs the stump of his right thigh, but even our morphine shots will not quiet him."

"Surgeons have cut all the nerves, too, so he surely can't be having any real stump pain."

"As a last resort, can't you please use hypnosis on him for he is driving us medics almost crazy."

So I hypnotized him for a few nights, but found that he was married to a charming woman, half his age, who liked to attend parties occasionally.

He had a good artificial leg and could walk easily thereon.

But he was jealous! So he subconsciously developed this terrific stump pain to keep her at home and away from social affairs where younger men might outbid him for her affection!

Most People Rely On Their Newspaper For News And Ads

HOUSTON (Sp1)—Most people, and especially those with higher incomes and a better education, get more news from newspapers than from any other source, and they tend to believe what they read in the newspaper more than what they see and hear in the other media.

These are the findings of a survey just released by the Texas Daily Newspaper Association and conducted by the Opinion Research Corporation among a national probability sample of 2,032 men and women age 18 and over. The purpose of the survey was to find out where most people get news in which they have an interest, news that is complicated, and how the public trusts advertising in the various media.

The first question asked was, "suppose there is some news you are very much interested in. Where would you be most likely to find out all there is about it?"

Among all the responses newspapers were named 50 per cent and television 46 per cent of the time as "most likely." But as the income and educational levels of the respondents rose, the scores for newspapers climbed while those for television fell. The score for newspapers had risen to 54 per cent among those respondents with some college education while in the same group television scored only 33 per cent.

And among those persons earning more than $10,000 annually, newspapers scored 55 per cent while television has only 40 per cent.

The second question was, "When you are ready to buy something, where are you most likely to find the kind of advertising that gives you the facts you want to know?" 34 per cent of all respondents named newspapers as the most likely source of the information they wanted. Less than one out of ten named television, and only 2 per cent named radio.

Another question in the survey was, "Where are you personally most likely to find advertising that can be trusted?" 25 per cent named newspapers while only 11 named television and 3 per cent named radio. And in response to the question, "And where are you least likely to find advertising that can be trusted?" television led all the other media with 30 per cent.
