Military Aid To Latins Talked

Nixon, Rockefeller Confer On Proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon invited Nelson A. Rockefeller to the White House today to discuss the New York governor's proposals for changing U.S. policy in Latin America. One suggestion would increase aid to offset reported growing communist subversion.

Before meeting with Rockefeller, the President was to undergo what White House officials described as a routine physical check at Bethesda Naval Hospital in suburban Maryland. It was the first examination since Jan. 2 for Nixon, who returned to Washington Sunday night after a restful weekend in Key Biscayne, Fla.

Rockefeller's recommendations, numbering about 80 in all, were based on conclusions he reached last spring during visits to 20 Latin American countries. The trips, which led to violent demonstrations in several nations, were made at the President's request and the proposals were submitted to him recently in a 137-page report, which was to be released today.

The report warned armed Marxist subversion posed a serious threat in the Western Hemisphere and said the concern voiced by government officials was justified. It also defended the efforts of some Latin military regimes to help the oppressed, although it described their methods as somewhat authoritarian.

"At the moment, there is only one Castro among the 26 nations of the hemisphere," the report said. "There can well be more in the future."

The Rockefeller report called for technical changes to reduce the visible U.S. military presence in Latin America but suggested providing arms, along with ships and aircraft, to nations requesting them. It also proposed raising grants for local security, totaling about $21 million during the current fiscal year.

"Rising frustrations throughout the Western Hemisphere over poverty and political instability have led increasing numbers of people to pick the United States as a scapegoat and to seek out Marxist solutions to their socioeconomic problems," the report said.

Growing nationalism with

Marxist overtones will result in increasing anti-Americanism in the years ahead, the report predicted, and probably result in Latin military factions assuming a larger role in government, ousting civilian regimes in some instances.

White House officials said the document formed the basis of much of the Latin American policy the President outlined in his Oct. 31 address to the Inter-American Press Association. However, the report went further than Nixon's policy statement in some areas.

The President made no mention of increased military assistance or the creation of a cabinet-level hemisphere secretary, another recommendation of the Rockefeller team.

The President, who conferred with top-level foreign policy advisers during his flight back to Washington, will continue the discussions today at an afternoon session of his National Security Council.

Astros Test Reflexes For Moon Launch

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Apollo 12 astronauts, pronounced fit and "eager to fly," scheduled more moonship flying practice today to hone their reflexes for Friday's launch to the moon.

Charles "Pete" Conrad, Richard F. Gordon and Alan L. Bean planned to spend most of the day in spacecraft trainers, practicing lunar landing emergency procedures. They are preparing for every conceivable eventuality.

"I never worry about the things that everybody else has worried about," Conrad said. "I only worry about the things that none of us has thought about."

"I'm sure that something will come up in the flight. They always do and that's part of the business."

But the veteran mission commander said in a recent interview: "I think the risks are minimal."

The three astronauts passed their final major physical examination Sunday. Dr. Charles A. Berry, the chief astronaut physician, said, "They are in excellent spirits and eager to fly."

"They are properly rested and in good health, with no evidence, by laboratory or clinical examination, of any infectious disease which might interfere with the launch."

Youth Uses Girl As Hostage To Attempt Hijack

CINCINNATI (UPI)—A 14-year-old boy, using a teenage girl as a hostage, boarded a Delta jetliner at Greater Cincinnati Airport today and demanded the plane be flown out of the country. The boy was arrested before the aircraft took off on a flight to Chicago.

Police identified the would-be skyjacker as David L. Boothe, 14, of Norwood, a Cincinnati suburb. Delta officials said he held a knife to the throat of Gloria Jean House, 18, of Milford, another Cincinnati suburb.

Delta officials said the hijack attempt was foiled when airport officials and police persuaded the youth to surrender.

Boothe said in an official statement that he approached the girl at a gate and, at knifepoint, forced her on Flight 670 which was enroute from Lexington, Ky., to Chicago.

George East, resident manager for Delta, was told of the situation and approached the youth.

Moon Trip To Cost Americans $350 Million

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The 10 day expedition of Apollo 12 will cost American taxpayers $350 million.

The biggest expense is getting Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon and Alan L. Bean to the moon. That's the job of a giant Saturn 5 rocket, which costs $185 million.

The Apollo 12 command ship Yankee Clipper cost $55 million and the lunar module Intrepid that will land Conrad and Bean on the moon's Ocean of Storms cost $40 million.

The vast network of supporting forces on earth—the launch operation at Cape Kennedy, the Mission Control Center at Houston and the worldwide tracking and recovery forces—cost $70 million.

Post Office To Be Closed Tuesday

Post Office will be closed tomorrow in observance of Veterans Day. Mail will be put up in boxes and dispatch service will continue, but no city or rural delivery will be made.

Pampa banks and most retail firms will remain open, according to officials.

Garrison Gets Third Term In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—District Attorney Jim Garrison is alive and well in New Orleans. And with him lives his investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The Democratic voters of New Orleans, in nominating Garrison for a third term Saturday, stamped approval to his investigations into the murder of the President. Garrison campaigned on continuing the probe. His three opponents said they would drop it.

Garrison said cases were still open as a result of his three-year-old investigation, including a charge Clay L. Shaw, cleared by a jury in 56 minutes on charges of conspiring to kill Kennedy, lied under oath when he denied he knew Lee Harvey Oswald, Kennedy's assassin.

F. Irvin Dymond, Shaw's chief counsel, said Sunday his client was awaiting a hearing before Criminal Court Judge Malcolm V. O'Hara on a motion to throw out the latest charge by Garrison.

Dymond declined comment on the result of the primary. Garrison has portrayed himself as the giant killer, the man who took on the federal government single-handedly in investigating Kennedy's death.

Garrison still must face Republican Phil Trice in the general election in April, but is expected to win early.

Rural Carriers Turn In U.S. Car Keys

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

Oct. 31 was an important day to youngsters in the community because it was Halloween.

But to a couple of other Pampans, the date had a deeper significance.

On Oct. 31, Clarence Coffin, 522 Red Deer and Elmer Byars, 2227 Chestnut, turned in the keys to their U.S. Rural Mail cars to signal the end of their careers as mail carriers for the U.S. government.

For Coffin, it was a career that began 43 years and four months ago, in 1926 in Pampa's post office and was interrupted only by 3½ years as an aviation radar technician in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Byars started his civil service career as postmaster in Wheeler County on Aug. 14, 1930. He served there until an appointment as rural carrier on May 1, 1937.

This week there has been new faces along the rural route in Southwest, south, and southeast part of Gray County served by Coffin, as well as in the north, northeast and west part of the county served by Byars.

And, perhaps, a commentary on the times, their former routes have been taken over by woman carriers.

In reminiscing about their routes, Coffin said his route was mostly populated by oilfield people and that at one time he had 255 boxes on his route.

When some of his route was incorporated into the city, his boxes dwindled to about 100.

Byars said his route remained about the same through the years. "I had about 135 to 150 boxes along my route."

There will be parts of their careers they will miss, but not the part related to driving in Panhandle snow storms being stuck in mud holes and shoveling snow to make tracks for their cars so the mail could go through.

There was one time, Coffin recalled of helping a farmer's hired hand kill a coyote, who was attacking sheep.

And it was nothing for the mail carriers to turn into grocery deliverymen or take a prescription of medicine to a patron, who was too ill to come into town after it.

Viet Cong Commandos Break Into Highlands Helicopter Support

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong commandos this morning broke into the Central Highlands base providing U.S. helicopter support for the South Vietnamese drive against the guerrillas' Cambodian border offensive.

With rocket-propelled grenades, the attackers destroyed three trucks at one end of the field at Ban Me Thuot, while scoring direct hits on six huts and a bunker in a mortar barrage at the other end.

UPI correspondent Nat Gibson reported eight Americans wounded in the attack before dawn at the base, 157 miles northeast of Saigon. The guerrillas escaped without a loss.

Ban Me Thuot's airfield is the supplier of U.S. helicopters and spotter planes for the counter-drive against the 7,000-man North Vietnamese offensive now under way along the border 110 to 130 miles above Saigon.

The base also is headquarters for the South Vietnamese Army's 23rd Division, going it alone without U.S. ground troops against the buildup of Communist troops.

One of the threatened Green Beret camps in the border region, at Duc Lap, weathered a 40-round mortar attack Sunday without casualties.

"We think they are trying to get their coordinates straight" for artillery bombardments, a Green Beret officer said. "This thing hasn't developed yet." He said a ground attack should come late this week.

Trying to forestall such a thrust, the U.S. Command this morning sent three waves of B52 bombers on raids along the Cambodian border, one of them hitting three miles southwest of the Bu Prang Special Forces camp, the sister outpost of Duc Lap.

Rumors Denied Queen May Abdicate Throne

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Duke of Edinburgh today denied rumors that Queen Elizabeth is considering abdication soon so that Prince Charles may take the throne as a young man.

But Prince Philip, in a television interview taped here last week (NEC "Today" show), conceded that the abdication question may be brought up again in the future—when "anything can happen."

"Oh, it has its attractions," said the prince. "But it has not been thought over seriously. The idea that he (Charles) would only be making a contribution as the sovereign is not true."

Asked to state England's greatest challenges in the years ahead, the prince singled out social welfare and pollution. He warned other countries that the world is headed for "wreck" unless the latter problem is solved.

He was not asked what was being done to clean up Great Britain's air and waterways, but expressed dismay for his people unless a solution is found.

U.S. Seeks Aid In Getting Prisoners' Names

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States will seek U.N. support Tuesday in its efforts to get North Vietnam to release the names of American prisoners of war.

A spokesman for the U.S. delegation said Sunday the issue would be brought before the U.N. Committee on Human Rights in hopes that it eventually will go before the 126-member General Assembly for debate.

This would mark the first attempt at obtaining such information through efforts at the United Nations. North Vietnam is not a member of the world organization.

The spokesman said the United States would argue that North Vietnam violates international law by refusing to disclose the men's names and refusing to allow the Red Cross access to them.

Hanoi has said that the American prisoners are war criminals and therefore are not entitled to the rights under international law and the Geneva Convention on war prisoners.

Congress Looking Favorably On Resuming Russian Exports

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Almost without notice, Congress is close to reversing America's 20-year-old cold war policy aimed at discouraging exports to the Soviet Union and its allies.

The Nixon administration opposed the change but will find it difficult to ignore the mandate of a bill intended to permit the sale of goods to the Communists if the same items are available from other nations. Enactment of the measure is expected soon.

Under the old law, the government has been able to ban the sale of even such nonstrategic items as brassieres and wigs. If the bill passes it would have to publicly justify such a ban.

Congressional liberals won their point by arguing the old policy was neutral in its impact on the Communists, harmful to U.S. businesses and to the U.S. balance of payments and helpful only to America's allies who are also its competitors for trade.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., chief architect of the new policy, compared present U.S. restrictions on trade "to the ancient Chinese method of avenging oneself against one's enemy by committing suicide on his doorstep."

Both houses of Congress have adopted bills easing the old Export Control Act of 1949. But the Senate's version was far more liberal than the House's and, at least in its intent, reversed the cold war policy of clamping down on such trade.

In a conference committee Thursday the House was represented by liberal trade proponents and the Mondale viewpoint prevailed. With acceptance or rejection the only possibility when the compromise comes up in each chamber, the committee's measure is expected to become law this month.

JOE BREWER, Pampa policeman: "Sure. The more knowledge you gain the better officer you are."

GEORGE HOOTEN, Shamrock deputy sheriff: "Most certainly. We need all the training we can get."

DOYLE RAMSEY, Wheeler deputy sheriff: "You bet. It's impossible to get too much training."

DANIEL ARCHULETA, Clarendon policeman: "I sure was. It was most helpful. We are going to have one of these schools in Clarendon."

JIM CLOYD, Canadian sheriff: "Yes. The FBI's knowledge certainly helps us in many areas."

Mildew Growth On Tile Creates Big Problem

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — In my shower, mildew grows in the mortar between the four-inch square ceramic tiles. Bleach will kill mildew but it is quite a chore to scrub all the cracks, to say nothing of the resulting fumes. My shower's glass door interferes with the bathroom door so it cannot be left open for the shower to dry out. Does anyone know of an easy and practical way to repress mildew growth?

—MARY ANN

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. H.R.P. can remove lipstick from her painted walls and woodwork by rubbing the spots with toothpaste, then washing with hot, soapy water. This also removes crayon and pencil marks.

—JEAN

DEAR POLLY — After I turn off a front burner on my electric stove, I set the teakettle full of water on it because the burner stays hot so long. This may keep some member of the family from accidentally putting a hand on a hot burner.

—MRS. G.F.

DEAR POLLY — My husband is so handy around the house that I must share at least one of his innovations with the other readers. Many of us have at least one set of those old crosslegged base TV tables sitting in the garage or basement. My husband sets these crossed TV table legs over his tomato plants and ties a plant to the frame as it grows too heavy support itself. If there are signs of an approaching rain or hailstorm, he quickly gets the table top and attaches it to the base to protect a young plant from the downpour. Saves many a plant and looks neat too.

—I.S.R. DEAR POLLY — For many years I have used my older pillowcases as protective covers for bed pillow ticking. I first cover the pillow with the older case, turn the pillow and then slip it into a good case, which is changed often. The inner slip needs laundering about once a month. The pillow ticking is always covered at the open end so the pillow is more attractive looking.

School Bells Ring For Toddler Age

Preschool youngsters, who often feel left behind when school-age children return to the classroom, can learn while playing at home with the new school bell chime. The chime inside the bell develops sensitivity to tones and sound in toddlers, and letters trimming the edge of the bell provide a familiarity with the alphabet. Play-tested and recommended for youngsters from 9 months to 2½ years.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About three months ago I met a very pretty Christian girl. She's 29 years old and still unmarried. I am 33 and divorced my wife 3 years ago when she ran out on me for another guy.

Well, I informed this lovely Christian girl of my past, explaining to her that I had accepted Jesus Christ as my personal Savior three years ago, but prior to that time I could have said with the Apostle Paul that I was the "Chief Sinner."

I asked her to marry me and she said she would think it over. The next day she handed me a piece of paper that looked like an application for a job with the FBI. She requested that I fill it out right then and there with a carbon copy, too! There were questions like, "Where have you been employed the past 10 years? Have you ever been fired? If so, state reasons. Where did you obtain your divorce? Have you ever had any communicable diseases? Do you have a police record? Do you owe any money?"

I felt like telling her to take her piece of paper and get lost.

but instead I filled it out and signed it because I really cared for her. Now I feel like a fool. What is your opinion of this girl?

CARY

DEAR CARY: One thing for certain, she is not stupid. Perhaps she was frightened by your confession of having been the "Chief Sinner" and wanted to know precisely what that involved.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23 years old and will be married very soon. I have had dentures for nearly four years and not even my closest friends suspect. My problem: Should I tell my fiancée before we are married? Or should I wait until after? Or do you think it would be all right if I just didn't offer this information at all? I am absolutely positive that he doesn't know.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: This is a decision which you must make for yourself. But since it's highly likely that he will learn the truth, eventually, he'll probably think you're more

By MRS. PAUL MITCHELL Cadette Troop One, led by Mrs. W. J. Felter, held a farewell party for Jackie White who moved to Midland. A small Court of Awards was held during which ceremony Mrs. Felter presented Jackie with six Cadette badges she had earned and her years star.

Girls who planned the party and brought gifts for the honoree were Jill Chittenden, Carol Cole, Carla Combs, Cynthia Gill, Pat Greenwood, Sonya Keen, Sherri Laycock, Cynthia Mackey, Donna Mitchell, Gail Stout and Cheryl Williamson.

Junior Troop 87, led by Mrs. N. G. Kadango and assisted by Mrs. J. C. Daniels, completed the Troop Camper Badge at a campout recently at Camp Mel Davis. The girls learned to pitch tents, made animal track casts as part of the Backyard Fun Badge, and gave several Scouts Own Ceremonies, a requirement for Sign of the Arrow.

Assisting with the campout were Mmes. W. A. Skoog, Harold Comer, Ted Cahall and Sue Holder. Mrs. Dan Michael and Mrs. Comer are teaching cooking for the Cook Badge.

During troop meetings the girls are working on their Cooking Badge. They recently assisted with the Investiture of their sister troop, Brownie Troop 8, by escorting each Brownie to her leader to make her "promise". Putting into practice what they learned from their cooking lessons, the girls made and decorated cupcakes for the Investiture.

Members of Troop 87 are Lynne Cahall, Carrie Comer, Brenda Crocker, Jona Daniels, Cecilia DeWitt, Kelle Dunn, Julie Jackson, Jan Johnson, Anne Kadango, Terry Lawrence, Susan Michael, Shelly Shearer, Martha Skoog, Kathy Trumpfuller and Connie Holder.

Brownie Troop 29 led by Mrs. John Bird, is working on a craft project. Mrs. Doris Johnson is instructing the girls.

Brownie Troop 19, a divided troop, led by Mrs. Robert Cannon and assisted by Mrs. B. D. Kessel, held an Investiture Ceremony recently for Cheryl Kessel. Mrs. John Sharp conducted the ceremony at a regular meeting. The troop toured a lumber company recently, observing the many materials available for creative projects.

Girls participating were Kymberlee Watson, Kathy Hayes, Darla Hansen, Terri Edwards, Kari Korngay, Camille Norton, Denise Scott, Jennifer Laycock, Beth Cannon, Cheryl Kessel and Petyon Baldrige.

Cadette Troop 22, led by Mrs. C. J. Welch with assistant Mrs. J. C. Morris, spent Friday night and Saturday at Camp Mel Davis. They had a Halloween party and worked on their Star Badge by locating in the night sky the Big Dipper and the North Star. They also reviewed first aid procedures so they could complete work for their Junior Aide Card.

Attendance of the girls at the last Fine Arts Performance applied on their Social Dancer Badge. Participating were Debra Terry, Pamela Welch, Marcelle McPherson, Kathleen Fitzgerald, Carolyn Poe, Terry Morris, Susan Welch, Kathy

Bucks, Broncos Clinch Titles, Eye Playoffs

With conference championships under their belts, Clarendon and White Deer entered regular season play Friday but both probably will be thinking about the following week.

The pair will play in bi-district action Nov. 21 in White Deer, where Clarendon won a 19-0, verdict earlier this season.

White Deer stopped Canadian, 36-6, Friday night for a 4-0 District 1-A record and has only Sanford-Fritch (1-2-1) left to play, in White Deer this week.

Sunray is 3-1 in the conference but even if White Deer should be upset by the Eagles they would still represent the district by virtue of its earlier victory over Sunray.

Sunray hosts Canadian and Gruver plays at Stratford in the other 1-A games.

Clarendon downed Wheeler, 42-22, and now stands, 9-0 for the season and 4-0 in District 2-A. The Broncos play at McLean but even a Tiger victory wouldn't hurt, since second place Wheeler lost to the Broncos.

Vikings 'Kapp' Cleveland In Rout

By United Press International

The Minnesota Vikings can only hope that Joe Kapp never earns how you're supposed to play the quarterback position in the National Football League these days.

Kapp, the unorthodox scrambler who played Canadian ball before joining the Vikings three years ago, dusted off an old relic from football's past—the jump pass—as the Vikings crushed the Cleveland Browns, 51-3, for their seventh straight victory.

Kapp threw three touchdown passes to Gene Washington and the first two were tossed of 16 and 10 yards when the 6-foot-3 quarterback leaped in the air before floating the ball into the end zone, where Washington made excellent catches.

The victory moved the Central Division Vikings two games in front of the Green Bay Packers, who were beaten by the Baltimore Colts, 14-6. The Packers and the Vikings meet in Milwaukee next Sunday.

Only Unbeaten Team
The Los Angeles Rams remained the only unbeaten team in pro football and stretched their record to 8-0 by edging San Francisco, 41-30. The Rams are three games ahead of Baltimore in the Coastal Division.

The Dallas Cowboys moved two games in front of Washington (Dallas is at Washington this Sunday) in the Capitol Division by beating New Orleans, 33-17, while Washington was held to a 28-28 tie by Philadelphia.

St. Louis moved within two games of Cleveland in the Century Division by blitzing New York, 42-17.

In other games, Detroit topped Atlanta, 27-21, and Chicago won its first game by dropping Pittsburgh, 38-7. Johnny Unitas passed for two TDs to give Baltimore the victory over Green Bay. The Baltimore defense finally showed some of its form of last year and both Tom Maxwell and off-maligned Bubba Smith blocked field goal attempts.

Three TD Passes
Roman Gabriel tossed three TD passes in the Ram victory over San Francisco. John Brodie, coming back after a three-week rest with a bad arm, also tossed three for the losers. Philadelphia, trailing 28-14 with 10 minutes left, rallied to the Washington. Norm Snead bucked over from the one with 55 seconds left after the officials called a pass interference penalty on the one-yard line on Mike Bass. Bass and Hawkins had jumped for a Snead pass on a fourth-and-25 play on the Washington 42.

Calvin Hill romped 30 yards for one TD and set up another with a 55-yard run as Dallas beat New Orleans and Johnny Roland scored three TDs in the first half to give St. Louis the victory over New York.

Detroit scored the first three times it had the ball—including a 96-yard kickoff return by Bobby Williams—to beat Atlanta and Gale Sayers rushed for 109 yards as Chicago blasted the Steelers.

well for both sides, McVea has been a valuable reserve at running back behind Mike Garrett and has averaged better than six yards a carry, while Muhlmann is among the top five scorers in the league. Both Cincinnati and Kansas City were especially happy over the trade today. Muhlmann booted an 18-yard field goal with only 22 seconds left to give Cincinnati a 31-31 tie with Houston Sunday, and McVea tossed a 50-yard scoring pass and scored another touchdown on a two-yard run to pace Kansas City to a 27-3 rout of San Diego.

In other American Football League action, Oakland wal-

oped Denver, 41-10, New York beat Buffalo, 16-6, and Miami edged Boston, 17-16.

Quarterback Daryle Lamoni paced the Oakland victory with three touchdown passes to Fred Biletnikoff. Lamoni now has 25 touchdown passes this season and the Raiders boast a 7-1-1 record.

The Jets got three field goals from Jim Turner and benefitted from two penalties to score a club record sixth straight victory. An illegal motion penalty on O. J. Simpson nullified one Buffalo touchdown and a pass interference penalty against the Bills' Booker Edgerson set up the Jets' lone touchdown.

Coupled with his third round 65, it meant that Crampton played the last 36 holes at a sizzling 12-under-par clip. After the first two days, he was at 141, two strokes under par, and in a 12-way logjam for 13th place.

But once he got going, there was no stopping him.

It was a disappointing finish for Nicklaus, who needed the first-place pot to top the million-dollar mark and take a place beside Arnold Palmer.

After burning up the course Thursday with a record-shattering nine-under-par 63, Nicklaus faded to a 71 on Friday and ended the final two rounds with a 74 and 70 to finish at 278, four strokes behind Crampton.

The $14,300 second place check raised his seven-year earnings as a professional golfer to $993,274.

The surprise performance of the tournament came from rookie John Schroeder, a recent PGA school graduate who plays out of La Jolla, Calif.

He finished at eight-under-par 280, completing play with a 66, lowest of the final round. The finish was good enough for a share of third place with Chi Rodriguez and $7,350.

Tom Wiskopf, who started the final round in third place, played even par golf Sunday and finished at 281 with Jack McGowan, who carded a two-

Ablene Cooper and Houston Kashmere, the two top-rated teams in Texas big city high school football, can make it a little tough, however, for the third and fourth ranked clubs—Amarillo Palo Duro and Wichita Falls.

Cooper, a state finalist two years ago, and Kashmere, the powerhouse of the Gulf Coast, wrapped up playoff berths last weekend with one sided victories.

Palo Duro and Wichita Falls, however, must still clinch their district crowns this week and the job will not be all that easy. Palo Duro's foe will be old rival Amarillo High, winner of one of the zones in District 4-AAA. Wichita Falls Rider in another old rivalry.

If Palo Duro and Wichita Falls do make the playoffs, it will be something that defending state champion Austin Reagan will not be doing.

Reagan, champion of Class AAAA past 2 years, was knocked out of the District 27 race last week by Austin High, which in turn can win the district title with a victory this weekend over Austin Crockett.

Cooper won the powerful West Texas District 3 last weekend with a 35-0 decision over Midland, thus protecting its No. 1 ranking in the state. Kash-mere bombed Houston Reagan to sew up District 17 honors.

Arlington was the only member of Class AAAA, still 10 to lose other than Reagan. The Colts fell to Grand Prairie 18-9, and thus surrendered the district title to Grand Prairie.

Other district winners in AAA last week include Dallas Samuel, Port Arthur, Baytown Lee, San Antonio Sam Houston, San Antonio Lee and San Antonio Edgewood.

Titles were won the week before by Dallas Wilson, Cleburne and Spring Branch Spring Woods.

Houston Elmore, the top-ranked team in Class AAA, still must down Aldine Carver this weekend to win its zone of District 10, but Lubbock Estacado, second ranked in Class AAA, captured its zone title last weekend with a 69-12 decision over San Angelo.

Buckeyes Find Substitute For Injured Quarterback

By United Press International

Will the real Ohio State quarterback please stand up. Purdue would like to know exactly what it's up against next Saturday.

Purdue, and its own quarterback, Heisman Trophy candidate Mike Phipps, travels to Columbus, Ohio to do battle with the mighty Buckeyes and ready to defend against either Kern Kern or Ron Macejowski.

Kern, the No. 1 signal caller, was forced to sit out last Saturday's game against Wisconsin because of an injury and the Buckeyes missed him to the extent that they "only" beat the Badgers, 62-7, behind the efforts of Macejowski.

The victory was the 21st straight for Ohio State and its 16th in a row in Big Ten play. Conference rules prohibit the Buckeyes from going to the Rose Bowl since they went last year, but Ohio State will determine this year's Big Ten representative at Pasadena, Calif., on Jan. 1 since their remaining two games are against ninth-ranked Purdue and Michigan.

The Boiler-makers and Wolverines are tied for second place in the Big Ten with 4-1 records. Purdue, which ends its regular season against Indiana, kept its Rose Bowl hopes alive by thrashing Michigan State, 41-13, as Phipps passed for 292 yards and moved into sixth place among the all-time major college offensive leaders, surpassing the marks set by former Heisman Trophy winners Steve Spurrier of Florida and Gary Beban of UCLA. Michigan, which faces Iowa this week before closing out against Ohio State, kept pace with Purdue by belting Illinois, 57-0, as Garvie Crow scored four touchdowns.

Ohio State and Purdue weren't the only impressive winners among the top ranked teams Saturday. No. 2 Texas, hardly affected by a 24-hour virus which struck 27 players on Friday, walloped hapless Baylor, 56-14, for its 16th straight win, a school record, and sixth-ranked Arkansas kept pace with the Longhorns for Southwest Conference honors by trimming Rice, 30-6. Texas and Arkansas each have two games remaining before their nationally televised showdown on Dec. 6.

Third-ranked Tennessee took a week off from Southeastern

Conference play and ran into unexpected difficulties before downing South Carolina, 29-14; fifth-ranked Southern California slipped past Washington State, 28-7; eighth-ranked Missouri remained in the running for the Big Eight title by walloping Oklahoma, 44-10; and 10th-ranked Notre Dame crushed Pittsburgh, 49-7.

Fourth-ranked Penn State and seventh-ranked UCLA were idle.

In other top games, Louisiana State held off Alabama, 20-15; Stanford beat Washington, 21-7; Houston whipped Tulsa, 47-14; Georgia tied Florida, 13-13; Mississippi topped Chattanooga, 21-0; Utah downed Wyoming, 34-10; Auburn walloped Mississippi State, 52-13; Nebraska beat Iowa State, 17-3; and Army tied Oregon, 17-17.

Jets, Chiefs Keep Winning

By United Press International

That trade the Cincinnati Bengals, and the Kansas City Chiefs made last summer is looking better all the time—for both teams.

Before the season opened the Bengals sent running back Warren McVea to the Chiefs for place-kicker Horst Muhlmann and a future draft choice in a trade which was looked upon as a better deal for the Chiefs.

But the deal has worked out

City were especially happy over the trade today. Muhlmann booted an 18-yard field goal with only 22 seconds left to give Cincinnati a 31-31 tie with Houston Sunday, and McVea tossed a 50-yard scoring pass and scored another touchdown on a two-yard run to pace Kansas City to a 27-3 rout of San Diego.

In other American Football League action, Oakland wal-

oped Denver, 41-10, New York beat Buffalo, 16-6, and Miami edged Boston, 17-16.

Quarterback Daryle Lamoni paced the Oakland victory with three touchdown passes to Fred Biletnikoff. Lamoni now has 25 touchdown passes this season and the Raiders boast a 7-1-1 record.

The Jets got three field goals from Jim Turner and benefitted from two penalties to score a club record sixth straight victory. An illegal motion penalty on O. J. Simpson nullified one Buffalo touchdown and a pass interference penalty against the Bills' Booker Edgerson set up the Jets' lone touchdown.

Coupled with his third round 65, it meant that Crampton played the last 36 holes at a sizzling 12-under-par clip. After the first two days, he was at 141, two strokes under par, and in a 12-way logjam for 13th place.

It was a disappointing finish for Nicklaus, who needed the first-place pot to top the million-dollar mark and take a place beside Arnold Palmer.

After burning up the course Thursday with a record-shattering nine-under-par 63, Nicklaus faded to a 71 on Friday and ended the final two rounds with a 74 and 70 to finish at 278, four strokes behind Crampton.

The $14,300 second place check raised his seven-year earnings as a professional golfer to $993,274.

The surprise performance of the tournament came from rookie John Schroeder, a recent PGA school graduate who plays out of La Jolla, Calif.

He finished at eight-under-par 280, completing play with a 66, lowest of the final round. The finish was good enough for a share of third place with Chi Rodriguez and $7,350.

Crampton Nips Nicklaus For Hawaiian Open

HONOLULU (UPI) — For Bruce Crampton, it ended four years of frustration. For Jack Nicklaus, it was a disappointing finish in his quest to become golf's second million-dollar winner.

Crampton, an Australian who plays out of the Grand Bahama Islands, came out of the pack in the $125,000 Hawaiian International Open to pick up his first tournament victory since 1965 when he won the 500 festival at Indianapolis.

The win here, worth $25,000, came on a final-round score of (67) 33-34, five under par, Sunday at sun-bathed Waialae Country Club course, a 7,020-yard layout which lies hard against the Pacific Ocean.

Coupled with his third round 65, it meant that Crampton played the last 36 holes at a sizzling 12-under-par clip. After the first two days, he was at 141, two strokes under par, and in a 12-way logjam for 13th place.

Our Capsule Policy

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Topless, Bottomless Taxes

While state, city and county and school officials are pushing more and more for some of that "free" federal tax money, a view of the taxing situation indicates there's little reason to justify the demands for more money.

It is true that most of the cities, counties and school districts want more money. But most of the demands are for functions that formerly were considered private, and which can be done better by voluntary means. Such things as urban renewal, restoration of decaying downtown areas, and rapid transit are functions properly in the field of private endeavor and are no business of city, county, state or federal governments. But these are functions which the mayors, supervisors and governors want to finance from what they seem to believe is a bottomless reservoir. Meantime they continue to boost local and state taxes, making it more and more difficult for citizens to take care of their own needs and wants.

This was called to mind by a report from Commerce Clearing House, which compiles statistics and information for both private and government use. CCH disclosed that state and local tax collections set a new record during the last fiscal year — July 1, 1968, to June 30, 1969.

Total collections from all sources climbed to $77.8 billion — up $9 billion or 13 per cent over the preceding fiscal year. Of this total, $42 billion were in state taxes, up 15.15 per cent, while local levies yielded $35.8 billion, an increase of 10.2 per cent.

Every type of tax produced more revenue than the year before: Corporate income taxes were up 28.7 per cent to $3.2 billion; individual income taxes were up 19.3 per cent to $8.9 billion; motor vehicle and operators' licenses brought in 8.3 per cent more, or $2.3 billion, and motor fuel sales taxes scored a 9 per cent gain, providing $4.7 billion.

Sales taxes, the chief tax source of state governments, soared to $14.2 billion, a leap of 19.4 per cent. Property tax collections, most of which go to local governments, totaled $32 million, a 9.6 per cent rise.

The 13 per cent average for all state and local taxes is well ahead of any increase that could be attributed to inflation alone and well ahead of the gain in average personal income.

In some instances, the demand for handouts, from Washington stems from the fact that people are resisting the increases in taxing and spending by their local and state officials. Increasingly, they are voting down bonds to finance buildings to house their local government functions.

But they also are restive at inflation, which is largely because of deficit spending and financing by the national government. And of course, the Washington handouts are contributing to this, excess spending, which is financed largely by printing press "money."

Dissatisfaction has brought demands for tax reform on the national state and local level. Thus far, the tax-reform proposals continue to be merely shifts, which merely take money out of one pocket and place it in another, less handling charges.

We continue to insist that the only real tax reform must come from reducing expenditures by the politicians. Thus far there has been little demonstration that the politicians and bureaucrats are willing to take this necessary step.

People And Race Problems

So much fear and fiction about race is current in America that the facts we are slowly and painfully learning about ourselves cannot be reported too much.

The latest Gallup poll on the subject of law and order found that of all-white adults interviewed in a nationwide survey, 35 per cent say they are fearful of using the streets at night. But for Negroes, the figure is 40 per cent.

A 314-page evaluation of all published desegregation research to date, prepared for the Phi Delta Kappa Commission on Education, Human Rights and Responsibilities, concluded that integration increases the learning of Negro children and does not change the learning rate of white children.

It also found that Negro aspirations are positively affected by desegregation while virtually none of the negative predictions of desegregation opponents, such as disorder in the schools, are borne out by studies.

On a higher level of education, however, junior college officials in Florida have discovered that equal opportunity for Negro high school graduates is not spurring their entry into predominantly white colleges. According to Southern Education Report, Negro enrollment decreased in 15 Florida junior colleges this year, stayed the same in two and increased in only eight.

Major reasons cited are the Negro student's fear that he isn't sufficiently prepared to compete in the white campus culture, and colleges' failure to supply programs geared to Negro needs and to recruit Negro students aggressively enough.

In the integrated, middle-class LeeSeville neighborhood of Cleveland, Ohio, Negro residents, conscious of property and community values, have risen in opposition to a proposed low-cost housing development in their area for Negroes from the inner city.

One lady, interviewed on television, said she was against harding out to poor people the things that she and her neighbors had worked hard to gain.

Maybe what we have in America is not so much a race problem as a people problem — that under their different skins and behind their various labels, people are pretty much just people.

Live In D.C.? Deduct $3,000

In addition to their own $42,500 annual pay, Members of Congress are provided staff salary allowances. Senators from $199,280 to $338,400 a year, depending on the population of their state, a tax foundation study reveals.

House members each receive varying salary allowances, averaging about $87,000 per member. Allowances for stationary, long distance telephone and telegraph, etc., also are provided.

Federal tax laws allow deductions of up to $3,000 per year for Members of Congress for living expenses in Washington. In addition to pay increases proposed early in 1969, there was also a recommendation that his expense deduction be increased to $5,500.

In an analysis of developments in federal expenditure control in the fiscal 1970 budget, the point was brought out by the Council of State Chambers of Commerce that Congress has so far this year increased federal spending rather than limiting it, as was the intentional plan.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper function of government, which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Why are the Freedom Newspapers always talking about a free market economy, private property and capitalism as a way to a better world for mankind? That seems pretty materialistic. Wouldn't it be better to stress peace and love and spiritual qualities?

ANSWER: Freedom Newspapers believes that only in a condition of freedom can man enjoy any real and lasting peace and that the development of freedom better promotes the ability of man to love his neighbor and develop his spiritual qualities.

But man can't be free and at the same time regulated and controlled in the use of his property and his ability to interact with other people, which is all that the free market is. Regulation and freedom are contradictions.

Man is a material, physical being. He requires material to even exist. His property therefore is an extension of his life. His thoughts and ideas as well as his time and sweat have gone into the creation of that property. And property is a necessary pre-requisite for the continuation of his life.

Man's very life is his property; he requires property in order to exist; freedom is the only condition in which man can have his life secure and be able to develop his spiritual qualities; and capitalism is the only means by which freedom can endure.

Therefore, because Freedom Newspapers believes in freedom and freedom can't exist without capitalism, and man can't exist without property, Freedom Newspapers tries to promote a better understanding of property, the free market, capitalism and freedom so that man can have a better world where he can have peace and love and spirituality.

For a deeper understanding of the interrelationship of these ideas, we recommend the reader to the courses of Andrew J. Galambos of the Free Enterprise Institute; and reading of such materials as the Freeman magazine, published by the Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington on Hudson, N.Y., and Frederic Bastiat's "The Law," which is available from the Foundation for Economic Education for $1.

It was an important decision. The Blouse & Skirt had tried to buy this carved Peach-pit at an auction thru her agent. But he wasn't able to go high enough as his allowance was just one dollar. Somebody had bid a dollar and a half.

I called up a lawyer and said to him, "Whoever bought that Peach-pit for a dollar and a half will sell it. You buy it."

So he got the Peach-pit, which is the size of a 69.42 carat diamond. Of course, he had to pay more than a dollar and a half, but I will not let him disclose the figure; just that the original buyer made a profit.

Peach-pits are a girl's best friend and I was determined this one time that the Blouse & Skirt would have it if she wanted it. Every Peach deserves a Pit. There was a stipulation though — the Peach-pit had to be on display at the auction-pit for a week.

"We have had about 5000 people streaming thru here to see the Pit since it went on display," exulted the auctioneer, "we should have asked for a month's time to display it. Some people will miss it. It's a pity..."

Now that I know so many people are interested in seeing the Peach-pit I must inform the Blouse & Skirt, when I give it to her, to lock it away in a vault someplace so nobody will be bothering her to look at it all the time. Besides, if she was to wear it she would need to carry her arm around in a sling.

But just owning a Peach-pit is enough. I think the B&S will enjoy it for the rest of her life.

Is Family Becoming Passe?

By MARGUERITE HARPER

Has the family passed its role of usefulness? To threaten the destruction of the family is not new. Those who believe in the all-importance of the collective have worked toward this end for many years, especially in Russia and Sweden.

The Russians thought socialism would bring an end to the family — send it to the "Museum of Antiquities." Their goal was for housekeeping to become a social industry and the care and education of the children a public affair.

In Sweden there were those who argued that the nation had made the need for the "single" family unnecessary. "The country was just one big happy family." They tried to set up collectivistic agencies as substitutes for the tasks formerly performed by the family.

In spite of these efforts for collectivism, I believe they have not been able to undermine the family as a unit in either Russia or Sweden.

How are we doing? In the United States we too have had people working, especially since the turn of the century, to stress the importance of the collective rather than accepting the individual as the important unit of society. This notion has made tremendous strides.

At present we have a rebellion — perhaps even a revolution — on our hands, especially among our young people. They are fed up with society as it is, with the establishment and with what it is doing to our country and with what it is doing to their lives.

Along with this they are questioning most of our traditions. Many youth are inclined to discard morality, the family, religion and much of education.

Rubella Virus Vaccine Is Limited in Supply

German measles, or rubella, is not just another childhood disease. In children, it is usually mild, although such complications as middle ear infections, pneumonia and brain fever have been known to occur. But when this disease is acquired in the first three months of pregnancy, the mother faces a 90 per cent risk of miscarriage or of bearing a child with congenital heart disease, cataract, deafness, or brain damage.

In the epidemic of 1964-65, over 45,000 such tragedies occurred in this country. These handicapped children are now reaching school age and are straining our inadequate facilities for special education. For this reason, every effort must be made to prevent the disease. This can now be accomplished with the new live, attenuated, rubella virus vaccine.

Since major epidemics of German measles occur in cycles of four or five years, another epidemic can be expected in 1969 or 1970 unless prompt steps are taken to prevent it. The fact that the present supply of the vaccine is limited makes it necessary to recommend its use only in children between the ages of 5 and 8, because this is the most susceptible age group. After the first of the year, when the supply increases, the vaccine should be given to all children not yet vaccinated who are between 2 and 10.

It should not be given to women of child-bearing age because, if they are pregnant or should become pregnant within six months, this live virus could injure the developing fetus.

Q—Occasionally, when I eat something sour or salty, I get a sudden swelling in my jaw just in front of my ear. It lasts a day or two. What causes this and how can it be prevented?

A—This sounds like an inflammation of the parotid salivary gland. Aside from mumps, this may be caused by taking certain drugs, cirrhosis of the liver and some forms of malnutrition. Unless your doctor can find and eliminate the cause, the only prevention would be to avoid sour and salty foods.

Q—White could cause my legs to be cold, even in hot weather?

A—When the sensation of cold is limited to one area, it suggests an impairment of the circulation or an organic disease of the nervous system. In either case, you should have a thorough checkup.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Branstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Branstadt can't answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Will Okinawa Pact Puncture Pacific Defense?

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Some Pentagon planners, in and out of uniform, are privately apprehensive about the visit to Washington later this month of Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato. The cause of their concern is Okinawa, the big island in the Ryukyus which was taken by U.S. forces in 1945 at a cost of 12,500 American lives. They are afraid that Sato will depart, after talks here with President Nixon, taking an Okinawa commitment which will impede collective security operations in the Far East.

For the most part, these officials are reconciled to the idea that control of Okinawa will be permitted to revert to Japan. In the rough and tumble of Japanese politics, Sato has staked his political life on such a reversion, possibly by 1972.

Vital, in the minds of these defense-oriented officials, however, are the terms under which Okinawa, now the site of more than 100 U.S. military facilities, will be returned to Japanese control. These terms are still unsettled pending the Nixon-Sato meeting.

In talks to date, the Japanese have asked that U.S. bases on Okinawa be subject to the same restrictions which were applied by a 1960 mutual security treaty to U.S. bases on the Japanese mainland. Those restrictions require prior consultation with Japan on the equipping and use of the U.S. installations.

Many military men think that would give Japan a veto over use of the facilities on Okinawa. They think such a veto would seriously hamper U.S. forces in efforts aimed at maintaining the security of Japan, for which the United States is now responsible by treaty.

PENTAGON MEMO — Broad circulation has been given here to a five-page memorandum, officially unattributed as to source, but known to have been prepared in the Pentagon. It describes Okinawa as "the central link and key element in the U.S. Western Pacific defense perimeter."

The memo asserts that "most" Okinawans today consider themselves Japanese. It calls reversion of the island to Japan "inevitable." It cautions that "agitation" for Okinawa's return could cause a political crisis in Japan.

"The negotiations leading to reversion must be conducted in an atmosphere removed from threats of the fall of the Sato Government and Japanese leftist-inspired agitations and demonstrations so as to permit a statesmanlike compromise on an issue which at the moment appears to be irreconcilable," the memo says.

It explains that "all opposition parties in Japan and Okinawa have taken the position that the sanctioning of the free use of the bases — including their nuclear potential — would, after reversion, be too high a price to pay for the return of the islands."

In that connection, the memo notes that Japan's World War II experience has left a deep pacifism and an antipathy to all things military — particularly nuclear weapons. It says no Japanese government could ignore these sentiments.

IRREPLACEABLE — As against these political considerations in Japan, the Pentagon memo asserts that "Okinawa's strategic geographic location makes it virtually impossible to replace."

"None of its functions — nearby staging base, logistics and administrative base, vital communications and surveillance link and visible indication of our power to deter — can be duplicated by relocation to other installations in the Pacific."

"No other routing of communications in the Pacific will give us the reliability now achieved by the Okinawan linkage, nor can the interlocking radar coverage provided by our facilities on Okinawa be duplicated at fall-back locations."

"The critical reaction time, area of coverage, relative security, and present vulnerability to foreign political control can neither be matched nor duplicated by relocation to any other base or combination of bases in the Pacific," the memo declares.

It notes that the United States made multibillion dollar investments in the Okinawa facilities on the basis that their use would be unrestricted. It states that U.S. spokesmen, including President Johnson in 1967, have always said that reversion must be conditioned on the availability of "effective" U.S. bases.

It concludes that "The extent to which the United States could fulfill its military commitments to Japan, Taiwan, Korea, the countries of the Southeast Asia Treaty, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, plus the protocol states of Laos and Vietnam, after having been denied the use of bases on Okinawa is highly debatable, particularly if we must attempt to do so from a fall-back position."

SDS Violence Boomerangs

"My God, what have I done!" A thousand tragedies acted out, in fact and in fact, have been climaxed by that anguished cry from a suddenly repentant culprit.

The drunkest drunk is turned stone sober by the sound of a gunshot or the sight of blood. Similarly, our whole arm-waving, breast-beating, slogan-shouting nation is stunned into a shocked silence when a statesman falls to an assassin's bullet.

"Kill the empire!" we shout. Yet, when one is felled by a thrown bottle and carried from the field, we weep with shame. Last month an angry mob invaded Chicago. In advance they had proclaimed their intention to "tear up pig city."

These SDS revolutionaries were allowed to use three area churches for mobilization headquarters, so innocently trusting were the "sympathetic clergymen."

Each of the first days of the ugliness, the headlines were of "numbers" involved and "numbers" arrested and "numbers" injured.

Then Saturday, Oct. 11, demonstrators charged a line of police in Chicago's Loop.

On the scene at the time was Richard J. Elrod. As assistant corporation counsel, he has actively sought to negotiate and resolve legitimate public grievances.

By both sides he was known as "firm but fair." Three times in 18 months he has been injured in the line of his home-front duty. But on this occasion, as the demonstrators charged, one of them, swinging a length of pipe, hit Mr. Elrod in the face.

As he fell to the pavement he was kicked in the neck and back.

Police on the scene promptly subdued and arrested Brian D. Flanagan, 22, Columbia University student from New York City and Southampton, N.Y.

Within minutes the first report from the hospital sobbed the city. Richard Elrod, 35, had a broken neck, was paralyzed from the neck down — he still is.

The charge against young Brian Flanagan was changed from aggravated battery, felonious mob action and resisting arrest — to "attempted murder."

More than all the burning, smashing, looting, fighting — the blow that felled Richard Elrod stunned the city, dispersed the mob and mobilized resentment of the "sickies" who have been trying to take over our cities.

Senators, a former Supreme Court justice, others — heretofore noted for their understanding of and tolerance for society's dissidents — suddenly openly denounced "vandalism," "hoeliganism," "barbarians."

Newsmen who had spilled crocodile tears over last year's convention rioters turned about-face, praised police, urged more firmness in law enforcement.

A minister who'd helped house the troublemakers in his church publicly apologized for his own naivete.

Leading roles will be portrayed by Randy Cantrell as Tony; Jan Elder, Maria, Jeree Flints, Anita, Mark Watkins, Bernardo; Wyatt Earp, Action; John Duggan, Chino, and Ricky Harris, Riff.

John McPherson, Nibbles; Steve Cory, Juano, and Tommy Bevel, Indio.

Three hundred and seventy tickets have been printed for each performance and are being sold by choir members. Tickets for the Nov. 15 matinee are $1 in advance or $1.50 at the door. All evening performances will be reserved seats only and tickets are $2. "Some tickets will be available at the copop," said Mr. Davis.

Bush To Test Candidacy In Amarillo

Congressman George Bush, probable candidate for the U.S. Senate in 1970, will be in Amarillo Nov. 22 to speak at a Republican party fund-raising dinner, it was announced Saturday by Deputy State GOP Chairman Jim Campbell of Pampa.

Indicative of Bush's probable entry into the race as senator from Texas was this statement by Campbell:

"The dinner in Amarillo will give Panhandle residents who would like to see Ralph Yarborough retired next year an opportunity to show George Bush he is the man to do it."

Campbell said proceeds from the $25-a-plate dinner will be used to aid Republican candidates for office next year.

Bush, who is currently serving his second term as a Houston representative in Congress, was narrowly defeated by Yarborough in 1964. He was elected to Congress in 1966, and was one of a small number of first-term congressmen in history to be named to the powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

Panhandle congressman Bob Price, who has been strongly urging his colleague to enter the Senate race, will introduce Bush at the dinner, Campbell stated.

The fund-raising affair will be held in the Commercial Exhibits Bldg. at the Tri-State Fairgrounds in Amarillo.

Campbell added that tickets may be purchased from any

He assumes the risk of the country producer, processor or handler who buys or sells futures to offset a potential loss on the cash market due to an adverse price movement.

A rancher, for example, can use the futures market to "hedge" his operations against the price movements. He takes an opposite position in the futures market from the one he holds in the cash market.

If a cattleman sells "short," fearing a decline in the cattle prices, the speculator takes the opposite side assuming the prices won't decline.

Unity Week Backs Nixon's War Plan

Mayor Milo Carlson today invoked a Veterans Day proclamation declaring the current week National Unity Week in Pampa.

The proclamation was issued in support of President Nixon's policy on the Vietnam war.

Local veterans' organizations are joining in the mayor's request for Pampans to observe the week along lines of a national move to give the President's so-called "silent majority" a voice and hoping to prove that this majority of Americans are behind him.

Rep. Bob Price, Panhandle representative in Congress, issued a statement today in which he declared:

"Never have we asked so much of our servicemen as we are asking today. Never have they been quicker to grasp the fundamental nature of the threat to our freedom that is posed by the Communists in Vietnam.

"Let us remember that freedom is costly for its defenders. Let us rededicate ourselves to its cause."

Congressman Price spoke at an American Legion breakfast in Amarillo today.

Mayor Carlson's proclamation stated in part:

"Pampa VFW Post 1657 has declared its unanimous support in the national policy established by the President and is observing today not only as Veterans Day in commemoration and honor of veterans of all wars, but also in special affirmation of its loyal support of the national policy.

"There is a growing multitude of local, state and national organizations rallying behind the movement for national unity.

"Therefore, I proclaim this a National Unity Week in Pampa to unite in support of this national policy established by the President of the United States of America."

Veterans officials also urged Pampa residents to observe the remainder of the week by flying the American flag day and night (providing a light is played on the banner at night), and to display flags on automobiles.

Motorists are asked to leave headlights on while driving and to leave porch lights on all through the night.

The national movement has been spurred on by the scheduled antiwar demonstrations slated later this week.

Wheeler Doctor Gave Astronaut Bean First Physical Years Ago

By ALETHA DAVIS
News Staff Writer

WHEELER — A team of five physicians, a part of a vast medical complex coordinated to keep the nation's astronauts under close observation, announced Monday that Alan L. Bean, Commander, United States Navy, is in top physical condition and will take part in the Mission Friday which will put man on the moon for the second time in history.

The late Dr. H. E. Nicholson Sr. gave out the first medical bulletin on Comm. Bean in Wheeler, Texas where he was born on March 15, 1932.

Wheeler, is situated in the shelter of surrounding low hills in the eastern Panhandle. Near enough to the Oklahoma line to have a tinge of the red clay of the "Indian Territory in the soil surrounding the town, Wheeler is a farm community.

If a farm community can be typed, it is typical. A town steeped with tradition is reflected in the quaint comfortable atmosphere all around the square. The Wheeler County Court House sits like a squat red guardian beneath tall shade trees in the center of the square. Within its walls are the county government and service offices. It is the hub of the community surrounded by wide streets that form its place of honor.

On the southeast corner of the square sits the Wheeler Public Library and Museum, in its own right a landmark.

For 13 years Miss Marie Fulks has been the librarian and curator of the museum. She probably knows more people personally than any other person in Wheeler County since sooner or later they all come into the library for one reason or another. But Miss Fulks does not remember Alan L. Bean, Commander, United States Navy.

The late Mrs. Vera Galmon remembered though and brought to the attention of Wheeler "That astronaut boy was born up in the old hospital and he had two teeth when he arrived."

This was in 1963 when NASA appointed Commander Bean to the Space Program. Mrs. Galmon promptly wrote a letter to Bean to verify the fact that he was, "That Bean boy that was born with two teeth." She was the nurse assisting the late Dr. H. E. Nicholson Sr. who attended the birth of Comm. Bean.

Mrs. Galmon remembered, but Wheeler does not pay particular interest to news of the astronaut who came into the world in the old Wheeler Hospital. The sign is barely legible on the old brick building that hugs Highway 152 near the north-south artery that intersects the town. They now have a new hospital.

Someone remembered when

ALAN L. BEAN ... born in Wheeler

NASA announced the appointment that they all jokingly placed bets that Alan would be the first on the moon. He wasn't, and they don't really think of it much more in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold H. Bean were from Michigan. They were in Wheeler early in 1932 because Mr. Bean had been assigned by the Bureau of Chemicals and Soils, in cooperation with Texas Agricultural Extension Station, to do a survey of Wheeler County Soil. His findings are now filed away in the Public Library, probably the only physical mark left by the family in the small community.

Young Alan Bean lived "in the second house past the city building as you go out south toward Shamrock." It is a modest white bungalow trimmed with green and is now the home of Edna Wright. She works in a local variety store. (See BEAN, Page 2)

New Cars Fail To Pass Gov't Safety Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Robert S. Brenner, acting director of the National Highway Safety Bureau, released the results Monday of the federal compliance test program on 1968 cars and said:

"I don't think anyone is very happy with that kind of failure record."

Spot checks showed more than one out of every 10 cars examined failed to pass government-sponsored safety checks.

These same cars had been cleared by the manufacturers as meeting all government safety standards.

The checks were made by private contractors hired by the bureau to find out whether the auto industry was living up to federal safety standards fixed under a 1966 law.

If the spot checks are accurate, about one million 1968 cars on the highways stamped by the industry with having met safety standards are unable to pass the government's tests.

The figures were released by the bureau under prodding from members of Congress and consumer-oriented organizations.

Telephone Warnings Keep Down Injuries

NEW YORK (UPI) — The business giants were heavily damaged by almost simultaneous explosions early today in what appeared to be a carefully conceived protest against the Vietnam War and large corporations.

The explosion set to go off about 1 a.m. blew out walls, windows and elevator shafts at the RCA building in Rockefeller Center, at international headquarters of the Chase Manhattan Bank in the Wall Street area, and at the new gleaming General Motors Corp., headquarters on Fifth Avenue. Only one person was reported injured.

Telephone warnings before the blasts were credited with keeping down the casualty toll.

United Press International today received an unsigned special delivery letter in which the writer claimed responsibility for the three bombings. The neatly typed letter, mailed Monday afternoon in Manhattan, said "during this week of antiwar protest, we set off explosions on the offices of Chase Manhattan, Standard Oil and General Motors."

The executive offices of the Standard Oil Corp., are located in the RCA building.

The letter attacked the Vietnam War and large U.S. corporations and specifically named "the rarely seen men like David Rockefeller of Chase Manhattan, James Roche and Michael Haider of Standard Oil who run the systems behind the scenes."

David Rockefeller is president and chairman of the board of Chase Manhattan. James M. Roche is chairman of General Motors and Michael L. Haider is chairman of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

In addition the Rockefeller family has some holdings in Standard Oil and they own the sprawling Rockefeller Center complex of office buildings.

The letter was mailed at the Grand Central station of the post office about 12 hours before the explosions and stated that custodians of the three buildings would be telephoned "30 to 60 minutes in advance to insure that the buildings would be clear of people." In each instance such a call was made.

The letter also noted that the bombs were set off "during this week of antiwar protest."

The letter was turned over to the FBI which began an immediate investigation of the three explosions.

Deputy Fire Chief Anthony Costa said he believed the same type of explosive was used in at least two of the blasts—at GM and RCA.

Police Capt. William Maugh said at the RCA explosion site "we could smell the cordite when we went up." Cordite is a rope like explosive material.

The RCA building blast occurred on the 20th floor near a bank of elevators in the 70-story skyscraper.

"It was one hell of a big noise and it scared me to death," said maintenance man William Lynch.

At least half a dozen patrons in the plush Rainbow Room on the 65th floor of the building had to walk down because the elevator was knocked out of service.

At GM, the blast ripped through a service elevator on the 19th floor. The one injury was sustained by the elevator operator when his car plunged from the 17th to the 11th floor before it stopped.

At the Chase Manhattan building, the explosion on the 16th floor tore out several plate glass windows and caused other "extensive damage," police said.

Texans Pay Homage To War Veterans

Texans planned today to show their support for President Nixon, national unity and the 1,250,000 veterans in the state.

Veterans Day activities will be celebrated with breakfasts and barbecues, flag raising rallies and torchlight parades, speeches and silent prayer for the more than 31,000 Texans killed in battle this century.

In Pampa, veterans organizations here conducted 11 a.m. services in both the Fairview and Memory Gardens Cemeteries.

Gold Star Mothers were special guests at a service in Memory Gardens where a Parade of 125 American flags waved in the breeze. Rev. T.O. Uphaw, pastor of Central Baptist Church gave the address.

Casket flags marked the graves of war dead in both cemeteries.

Texans gave special attention to the memories of Vietnam dead.

"Veterans Day is a day on which it is fitting and proper that the names of those who died should be read at public ceremonies—read with homage and gratitude, not as bearded, unshaven dissenters read them with scorn and hatred on the steps of the U. S. capitol," said Rep. Eligio "Kika" de la Garza, D-Tex.

Two San Antonio parents said their sons' names should not be included in a list of Bexar County war dead to be read at an antiwar rally Saturday.

"My son did what his country asked. He fought and he died with honor," said Air Force M. Sgt. Macario Castillo, whose son, Marine Cpl. George Castillo, was killed in Vietnam Jan. 24, 1968.

"I will not have these dragging his good name through their mud," Castillo said. "When I think about that bunch using my son's good name, I get so mad I can't think and talk straight."

Mrs. Martha Michel, whose only son, Army Capt. William L. Michel, a combat infantry officer who was killed on the fifth day of his second volunteer Vietnam tour, also said her son's name should not be used by antiwar groups.

"I gave everything I had for my country," she said. "My son gave his life. I gave my son. And I will not have those Comm-

Astros Slow Training Pace For Moon Trip

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Apollo 12's astronauts today began slowing their training pace for launch Friday on a moon mission Charles "Pete" Conrad calls "the opener of the next generation."

Conrad and Richard F. Gordon planned to go flying at nearby Patrick Air Force Base while Alan L. Bean remained at the moonport to work on emergency procedures for the lunar landing craft Intrepid. All three had the afternoon off.

Conrad scheduled a helicopter flight to get the feel of the descent to the moon. Gordon planned to take up a T38 jet trainer to relax and get used to the unusual motions that sometimes occur in spaceflight.

At the launch pad, the countdown was proceeding flawlessly toward at 11:22 a.m. EST blastoff Friday.

Space agency spokesmen said Bean's wife, Sue, and their two children planned to fly to the Cape today to be on hand for the final preflight activities and the launch. Mrs. Jane Conrad and their four boys are due Wednesday. The Gordon family will remain home in Houston.

The astronauts' schedule for the rest of the week calls primarily for reviewing of flight plans.

The three Navy commanders spent much of Monday drilling in spaceflight trainers. Conrad and Bean, the lunar module pilots, boned up on emergency landing operations and Gordon worked out in a trainer that duplicates the controls of the command craft Yankee Clipper.

The 10-day mission is the first Apollo spaceflight that has scientific exploration as a primary objective. Conrad and Bean will spend 32 hours on the lunar surface and both their 3 1/2

Officers Concentrate Hunt For Young Murder Suspects

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (UPI) — Three hundred peace officers, searching for two teen-agers charged with murdering a Texas highway patrolman, concentrated their hunt today in the Red Oak community, just north of Waxahachie.

Residents of Red Oak reported seeing two Mexican American men going down an alley. An all-day search Monday of a wooded area near Waxahachie produced no signs of the teen-agers, though the searchers used two helicopters.

The wanted teen-agers are Amadeo "Sonny" Guerra Jr., 16, and Felipe Orta, 18, both of San Antonio.

Murder Charges Filed

They and Ernest Guzman, 16, were charged Monday with murdering Highway Patrolman Travis Raburn Locker. Locker died about two hours after he was shot along busy Interstate 35E Sunday night.

Guzman is in critical condition at Parkland Hospital in Dallas. He was shot before the wounding of Locker.

Locker, father of three children, apparently was set upon shortly after he stopped the car. Before the youths got him, he

Daley May Testify In Chicago Trail Of Seven Demonstrators

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mayor Richard J. Daley, prime target of criticism of police handling of demonstrations during the 1968 Democratic National Convention, may be summoned by the defense in the trial of seven men charged with inciting the bloody demonstrations.

Corporation counsel Marvin Aspen said Monday that Daley, Police Supt. James Conlisk and James J. McDonough, director of streets and sanitation, are willing to comply with defense subpoenas served late last week.

The subpoenas called for Daley and the other officials to appear in court Monday. Since the prosecution was still presenting its case, defense attorney Leonard Weinglass agreed that the date of the subpoenas be delayed.

Weinglass revealed for the first time, however, the defense may begin its presentation within a few days.

Aspen said the subpoenas ask that Daley produce all documents he sent or received regarding the convention. He

White Sheeted Men Beat Texas Tech Student

LUBBOCK (UPI) — A Texas Tech student described by police as a top ranking member of the Reserve Officers Training Corps was beaten Monday night by six men who wore white sheets over their heads.

Ira D. Walker told police he was abducted on the campus taken to Mackenzi Park and beaten. He was not seriously hurt, police said.

Walker said he did not know whether his attackers were students or not. He said he had been receiving threatening telephone calls the last several days and that on Monday he got a note warning him to stop his ROTC activities on the campus before the antiwar moratorium "or else."

Nightsticks And Mace Force U. Of T. Protesters From Cafe

AUSTIN (UPI) — Eighty state police armed with nightsticks and mace forced more than 200 protesters out of a University of Texas at Austin cafeteria Monday, then clashed with a larger crowd outside.

At least five men between 17 and 26 years old were arrested and two coeds were injured when 2,000 persons, shouting "pigs off campus, pigs off campus," tried to keep police trucks from leaving. Glass doors were broken and dishes and overturned tables littered the cafeteria floor.

The confrontation began shortly after noon when 60 persons forced their way into the cafeteria in defiance of a ban on all nonstudents.

The Student Union Board voted Friday to close the "Chuckwagon" to nonstudents for two weeks after young people at the cafeteria heckled police who came inside to apprehend an 11-year-old runaway girl.

Some youths climbed on tables to voice their opposition to the new policy and the crowd grew to more than 200 persons.

Department of Public Safety officers and campus police gave the protesters 30 minutes to clear the building, then moved in and began shoving demonstrators out the doors. The officers finally used mace to get protesters outside.

Crowd Around Trucks

Once outside the building, demonstrators crowded around university trucks which had hauled the DPS officers to the building, and several attempted to slash the tires.

The injured coeds were treated and released at the student health center. One was struck by a rock intended for a police truck as she walked across the street from the fracas. The other got mace in her eye.

Four of the arrested youth were charged with disorderly conduct and aggravated assault on a police officer. Another was charged with destruction of private property.

Members of the Gray County Farmers Union met recently to organize a program to observe National Farmers Union Week beginning today.

Robert Rapstine is president of the Gray County group.

Jay Naman, Waco, president announced that the state organization will take part in a sixstate Flying Membership Campaign.

A plane load of Nebraska and Kansas farmers are scheduled to arrive in Amarillo on the Union Corvair plane today to participate in an areawide membership effort.

"Flying Organizers" will be hosted in the homes of farm families in Hartley, Oldham, Deaf Smith, Potter, Randall, Carson, Armstrong, Swisher, Roberts and Gray Counties. They will be involved in a two-day membership campaign that will be climaxed by a victory barbecue at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Junior Livestock Barn in Canyon.

National Farmers Union is coordinating the program which will involve most states from the Canadian border to Texas.

A contingent of the group arriving in Amarillo will go to New Mexico to do membership work. Membership activities will be in progress in most of the Midwestern States and in several states of the northeast, according to Rapstine.

Mr. and Mrs. Rapstine and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harply of Pampa will serve as host families.

Curriculum Coordinators In Dallas

Three Pampa schools' curriculum coordinators are attending the state meeting of American Society of Curriculum Development in Dallas Monday and Tuesday.

Pampa delegates are Mrs. Marjorie Gaut, director of educational services; Don Nelson, secondary schools' coordinator, and Jerry Cronister, elementary schools' coordinator.

Part of their agenda for their two-day convention included discussions of textbook evaluation, head start programs, scope and requirements of educational materials, methods of enlarging curriculum to meet individual student needs and progress in programs for vocational technical education, according to Supt. Dr. James F. Malone.

Car Fire

Pampa Fire Department extinguished a blaze under the hood of a car parked in the 100 block of South Cuyler after receiving a 6:05 p.m. call yesterday. The vehicle, owned by Tanner Williams, White Deer, sustained heavy damage under the hood.

Hijacking Plane Looked Simple To Ohio Youth

OINCINNATI (UPI)—When an airliner was hijacked two weeks ago from California to Rome, David Booth followed its flight with keen interest. It looked so easy, he thought.

Monday he went to Greater Cincinnati Airport, telephoned his mother, then grabbed an 18-year-old girl at knife-point and boarded a Delta Airlines DC9. David is 14.

"The boy said he couldn't make a decision on where he wanted to go but later he said he wanted to go to Sweden," said George East, the airline's local manager.

East told Booth the twin-engine jet was not equipped to cross the Atlantic, so the youth next said he wanted to go to Mexico.

He finally was talked out of the attempted hijacking before the plane ever got off the ground.

David's mother said the youngest left home about an hour earlier than usual Monday, apparently on his way to school. She thought nothing of it until he phoned from the airport.

"I asked what he was doing—trying to run away?" she said. "He said he was. He had a run-in with his father recently. That may be why he was a little angry."

Mrs. Booth told authorities David, believed the youngest person ever to attempt to hijack a commercial airliner, had watched reports of Raifaele Minichello's transatlantic odyssey Oct. 31 on television and read about it in newspapers.

Youth Dies In Protest Of Getting Haircut

HOUSTON (UPI)—Neighbors found 11-year-old Michael Pecorino dead in his front yard Monday.

A note the boy left for his father, Harris County assistant District Attorney Vic Pecorino, said: "Maybe in heaven I won't have to get a haircut and I can have a minibike."

The boy was shot in the chest with a .22 caliber rifle. The rifle was nearby and an umbrella was by his side.

"I've seen it before," said a police investigator. "He was just too small to pull the trigger on the rifle and had to use the umbrella."

A friend, who wished to remain unidentified, said Michael was a pretty good football player and was a member of a community football team in a league similar to the baseball little league.

"I've watched him play," the man said. "He seemed just like any other average boy."

The note to the boy's father indicated he was unhappy because he had been told to get a haircut. The boy's family had no comment.

Gray County Spelling Bee Director Named For 1970

B.R. Nichols, County Supt., Pampa, is the 1970 Spelling Bee Director for Gray County.

Sometime before April 1, the Gray County Bee will be held and the champion will go to Amarillo on April 25, 1970, for the annual regional Bee.

The regional winner will win an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D. C., the first week in June.

Last year Nancy Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Palmer, was the Gray County Champion and placed ninth in the Regional Bee. The champion was a seventh grader in the R.E. Lee Jr. High School.

The 1970 Golden Spread Bee will be co-sponsored by West Texas State University and the Amarillo Globe-News. L.J. (Jack) Edmondson, West Texas State University Director of Public Services, will be Bee Director for the Golden Spread.

Again there will be a secondary contest — unique only in the Golden Spread Bee — open to contestants from the 6th and lower grades. These Juniors will be guests of the Amarillo Globe-News at the Regional Bee on April 25, but will not spell unless they represent the senior division, also.

Veronica Sturgill was the County Junior Champion for 1969. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. R.F. Sturgill. She was a sixth grader in the Horace Mann School.

Israeli Pilots Claim Targets On Egyptian Planes Over Canal

By United Press International Israeli and Egyptian warplanes battled at 20,000 feet over the Suez Canal today and the Israeli pilots came away reporting they had shot down three Egyptian MIG21s.

The Israeli military Command said all its planes returned safely from the 8:30 a.m. dogfight—the first aerial battle between the two nations since Oct. 16 when the Israelis reported three MIG "kills."

It followed Tuesday's cross-canal air raids by both sides as the tempo of Middle East fighting again increased.

Israeli spokesmen said it brought to 58 the number of Egyptian warplanes shot down since the Middle East war of 1967. Only one of the Egyptian pilots managed to bail out today, they said.

The aerial battle came as Arab defense ministers and foreign ministers disbanded their Arab Defense Council meeting in Cairo, having approved a summit meeting of Arab kings and presidents next month to discuss further preparation for war against the Israelis.

In a closing communique expected to provide the groundwork for discussion at the Dec. 20-22 summit in Rabat, Morocco, the Arab Defense Council said: "A political solution has failed and has run into an impasse due to Israeli's obstinacy and the military support it gets from the United States and other imperialist powers."

"We should enforce our earlier decisions that our path is the path of mobilization, commerce and preparation toward serious and organized action in which each of us would shoulder complete and specific responsibility."

The communique condemned as "aggressive" the U.S. policy of allowing American citizens to serve in the Israeli armed forces without losing their U.S. citizenship.

This, said the Arab ministers, "places America in a position of challenge and open confrontation against the ambitions and aspirations of Arab nations. The council therefore condemns this aggressive attitude"

Regional Bee will go to Washington as the district champion. The Washington trip includes several sightseeing trips and entertainment, the annual Bee banquet and presentation of awards. The Golden Spread winner will also receive a traveling plaque to be placed in his or her school.

Other outstanding prizes will be available. They include a portable television, a 24-volume set of Encyclopaedia Britannica, a copy of the Lincoln Library, Britannica World Atlas, and cash prizes.

Each County Champion receives an engraved plaque and gold pin. Each County Junior Champion is given a trophy and a silver pin during intermission at the Regional Bee.

In the school contest, each winner receives a pen, inscribed "School Champion." "I Entered" and "School Champion" ribbons will be awarded each participant in both junior and senior divisions.

This will be the 43rd year for the National Spelling Bee, sponsored by newspapers throughout the 50 states, and the 22nd Bee, sponsored by the Amarillo Globe-News.

"Words of the Champions" may be ordered from Jim W. Walker, Spelling Bee Editor, Amarillo Globe-News, P.O. Box 2091, Amarillo, Texas 79105. Price: 20 cents each.

The state legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars urged all Texans to join special observances today and all week "as an expression of support for our armed forces, the President and national unity."

A 10:30 a.m. memorial service on the state capitol steps in Austin was scheduled to honor the Texas war dead. Speakers included the Rev. Ed Haffner of Brownwood, state chaplain for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Rep. J. J. "Jake" Pickle, D-Tex.

The traditional Veterans Day parade, usually held in the morning in Austin, was put off until 6 p.m. so more could participate.

The Houston school board, at the request of the city's Junior Chamber of Commerce, suggested all schools observe moments of silent prayer or other observances honoring Texas war dead and living veterans.

Ceremonies of patriotism and prayer will be held in hundreds of cemeteries across the state. Other veterans events planned in Texas include:

—Two hundred and fifty VFW members from Edinburg, McAllen, Rio Grande City, La Joya, Roma, Weslaco and Elsa, Tex., will march in a torchlight parade at McAllen tonight.

—In Lubbock, former Attorney General Waggoner Carr will speak at an 8 a.m. American Legion breakfast. At 7:30 p.m., a VFW barbecue at Texas Tech also is scheduled.

—Downtown Houston veterans rally scheduled for noon, with a band playing National Anthem and a period of silence for all U.S. war dead. Officially proclaimed "back our boys day" in the city.

—Northeast Austin Exchange Club will present a "freedom shrine," a mounted exhibit of historical documents for permanent display at Reagan High School.

—Henry Hill, Texas department commander of the American Legion, speaks at a Weslaco breakfast, a Harlingen luncheon and a night rally at Mercedes, Tex.

—Austin Post Office will be closed Tuesday. Only perishable and special delivery mail will be delivered. City, county and state offices also will be closed.

Nixon Bans Sale Of Dangerous Toys

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon signed a bill Monday empowering the government to ban sales of dangerous toys.

The law authorizes the secretary of health, education and welfare to ban any toy with electrical, mechanical or thermal hazards. The manufacturer, however, may appeal the ruling in court.

Nixon also signed a bill increasing the maximum daily room and food expense accounts for most government employees from $16 to $25 daily.

For other employees, those who can deduct actual expense the maximum was raised from $30 to $40.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—For Kasey the alligator, the call of marshmallows and garlic bread apparently is stronger than the call of the wild.

The three-foot mascot of the Kennedy Space Center (KSC) roamed off mysteriously for several weeks from his home in the pond between the space center's cafeteria and headquarters building. There were fears Kasey had been kidnapped by poachers and sold as a handbag.

But cafeteria lunchers found Kasey back in residence, and hungry as ever, Monday and concluded he had only gone off to court a lady 'gator.

Make-Believe Adventure For Pampa Young People

The Pampa Fine Arts Association believing there is in children a thirst for the wonderful and a greater need for laughter, beauty and emotion that should be filled, will sponsor a series of three dramatic plays here, according to Mrs. Elbert Walker, Theater Arts Chairman.

Rip Van Winkle will be presented Dec. 3; Pocahontas on Feb. 18; and Little Lame Prince on Apr. 22.

All productions will be in Robert E. Lee Junior High School, Mrs. Walker said.

Two performances of each play is scheduled; one at 3 p.m. for the younger students and another at 4:30 p.m. for the older students.

A season ticket to adventure is $1.50 for all three plays.

Single admissions, if purchased at the door, is seventy-five cents.

"Produced by the famous National Children's Theatre of New York and Dallas, and performed by professional adult actors, they are designed especially for the often overlooked age group of preschool children up through the sixth grade. The plays are all staged with dedication to detail. Beautiful scenery, costumes and fast moving stage action give joy and excitement as the professional young adult actors whisk them off into the land of make-believe," Mrs. Walker said.

RIP VAN WINKLE: An old Chinese adage says that one picture is worth a thousand words. A LIVING picture such as is presented on stage must be worth TEN THOUSAND words. The amazing changes wrought in Rip Van Winkle by his long sleep were never so vividly portrayed as they are in the current production. The startling transformation of RIP from a vivacious young man to a veritable "Father Time" before your eyes is nothing short of magic. This American classic will always be remembered by all who see it.

POCAHONTAS: The story of Pocahontas, an Indian Princess, who at the age of twelve saved the life of Captain John Smith from execution by the Virginia Indians, is a thrilling episode in Early American History. Pocahontas, daughter of the great Chief Powhatan, defied her father and became friends with the early settlers who lived in Jamestown. She was educated and attended church with the young English girls, learning the ways of the white settlers. John Rolfe fell in love with her and after their wedding took her to England and presented her to the King and Queen. This American version of a Cinderella story will thrill all who see it so beautifully told on the stage.

Symphony Guild Sets Date For YP Concert

Pampa grade school students will be among 7000 grade school students expected to attend the annual Young People's Concert sponsored by the Amarillo Symphony Guild.

The Amarillo Symphony Orchestra will perform in concert for children Dec. 13 at 3 p.m. in the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum. Children from 6 to 12 years of age and their chaperones are invited to the concert.

Dr. Thomas Hohstadt will conduct the orchestra in a musical tour of masterpieces old and new. The symphony will play melodies originating from American theater, themes from contemporary movies, and arrangements from well known classics. A conductor will be chosen from the young audience to lead the orchestra in a familiar song.

Selection from the concert will include excerpts from the "West Side Story", "The Colonel Bogey March", the "Theme from Romeo and Juliet", and the "Overture from Hansel and Gretel".

Guest artist for the concert will be November winner of the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra's Student Soloists Auditions.

Tickets for the non-profit concert may be obtained through teachers in the public school system.

Admission prices for the performance are 75 cents.

LITTLE LAME PRINCE: One of the most delightful fairy tales ever written is about the little lame Prince who was banished from his kingdom to a solitary tower on a barren plain by his wicked uncle. With only a servant to attend his needs, Prince Dolan led a lonely life with only books and a few toys. One day, however, his Fairy Godmother appeared, bringing a miraculous traveling cape. On this cape, he flew the world over, gaining much knowledge which enabled him to become the greatest King in Nomanland. Children always feel a kinship with the young Prince as they see the story come to life on the stage in a beautiful setting of Fairyland.

Parents are invited to attend with children (ticket price the same). Each play lasts approximately one hour and fifteen minutes, with no intermission. No food or drinks allowed in the auditorium.

Highway Dept. Gives Bid For County Roadwork

The Texas Highway Department received bids for two combined projects in Gray and Roberts Counties. Gilvin-Terrill, Inc., Amarillo, was awarded the $499,000 contract.

The limits of each project are as follows: 1) on highway 70 from 0.1 mile south of Pampa to 4.6 south of Pampa in Gray County; and 2) on State Highway 70 in Roberts County, from Chicken Creek to the Canadian River.

The construction engineering for the Texas Highway Department will be under the supervision of T.R. Kelley, resident engineer of Pampa.

Officials of the Texas State Highway Department and Gilvin-Terrill, Inc., stated that construction began Monday and the combined projects should be completed by next summer.

Kelley stated that traffic would be routed through the construction areas. Motorists passing through are requested to use extreme caution and to watch for barricades and signs which will be prominently displayed.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—You've probably heard this joke, but don't stop me: A drunk staggers up to the piano player in a saloon and says, "Do you know when the next bus leaves for Hartford?" And the Piano player replies, "No, but if you hum a few bars I'll try to play it for you."

Okay. Here's a variation: First man—"Do you know Mary Brown's telephone number?"

Second man—"No, but if you hum a few bars I'll try to dial it for you."

This bit of levity is brought to you through the courtesy of the touch tone dialing system that the telephone company has been promoting for the last couple of years or so.

Buttons Emit Tones

The dial consists of push-buttons, each of which emits a tone when pressed. People who have a touch tone phone installed usually amuse themselves for a couple of days by picking out little tunes on the buttons. But the full potential of touch tone dialing has never been realized. Except by me.

I realized its full potential the other day when I discovered that when you dial the phone number of one of Washington's largest department stores, you play a touch tone solo of Stephen Foster's beloved melody, "Old Folks at Home."

Now, Harkness back a few years to the time when the telephone company began converting to "all-digit dialing" by abandoning the use of exchange names.

In doing this, the company created a lot of ill will among its customers, many of whom resented having their exchange names replaced by numbers.

Can Make Amends

Some of us have never forgiven the company for this high-handed act of corporate despotism. But with the advent of "touch tone" dials, the company has a perfect opportunity to make amends.

What I'm proposing is that the company abandon the system of telephone numbers and assign each of us a song instead.

In other words, it removes the letters and figures from the dial and replaces them with the 12 notes of the chromatic scale. And instead of printing the telephone directory in its present form, the company gives you a book of sheet music.

Suppose, for example, that you wanted to call President Nixon. Rather than dial the White House number (456-1414), you would simply pick up the phone and play "Hail to The Chief."

Or if you were phoning Vice President Agnew, you would dial "Second Hand Rose."

Milk Prices May Be On Increase

AUSTIN (UPI)—George Clark, executive vice president of the Dairy Products Institute of Texas, said Monday he expected a boost in milk prices throughout the state in the near future.

"The profit margin of the milk distributor has dwindled almost to the vanishing point," he said.

Clark said the price boost would probably affect all types of fluid milk including homogenized milk, low fat milk, chocolate milk and cream.

"It is an established fact in the financial community," said Clark, "that dairies in recent years have been one of the lowest profit industries in the nation."

"Between the forces of inflation, spiraling operating costs, including labor costs, and the added prices paid to farmers, milk distributors throughout Texas have no other choice but to increase prices if they intend to stay in business."

News In Brief

BAD WEATHER HITS

LONDON (UPI)—Heavy winds, rain and snow swept across Britain Sunday, halting some air service and flooding farmlands. Two persons were missing and presumed drowned in a boating accident off the Isle of Wight.

Snow fell in Scotland and some parts of Northern England. Heavy rains in Southern England flooded several hundred acres of farmlands and homes on the south seacoast. Winds were up to 70 miles per hour in some places.

TO REVEAL REPORTS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government planned to make public 91 of 1,400 reports today on whether car and auto equipment manufacturers are complying with federal safety standards. Safety critic Ralph Nader said Sunday the reports would not tell the whole story.

Eighty-one of today's reports involve the Mohawk and General Tire companies. Nader said in a letter to Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe that he was disturbed the results would emerge "piece-meal and with less than full disclosure."

SALT TALKS BEGIN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir S. Semenov, 67, will head the Soviet delegation to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) with the United States, it has been learned.

The SALT negotiations begin in Helsinki next Monday. The U.S. delegation will be composed of Gerard C. Smith, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; Philip J. Farley, deputy director of the agency; former Navy Secretary Paul Nitze; former Air Force Secretary Harold Brown; former U.S. ambassador to Russia Lewellyn E. Thompson; and Maj. Gen. Royal B. Allison.

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democratic party managers now must hope that the "time for a change" campaign appeal, working against them in New Jersey and Virginia last week, will work for them in the 1970 gubernatorial races.

Governors may have fallen behind U.S. senators as potential candidates for the presidency, but they still can give the leadership needed for building and maintaining state party organizations.

Democratic state organizations have been disintegrating in many of the states for years. A common target to blame for this trend is former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who started his political career in Texas when the South was still a one-party region with organizations built around individuals rather than the Democratic party.

The Democrats saw their list of governors shrink to 18 last week when they lost New Jersey and Virginia to the GOP. The loss of the New Jersey governorship after 16 years left them with only Texas among the 10 most populous states with a Democratic governor.

More so than the president or members of Congress, governors must learn to live in a political war zone. They have to deal with tax increases, highways, state aid for schools and other issues which are of almost daily concern to the voters.

While they are not aglow with optimism about their chances for regaining control of the Congress in the 1970 elections, the Republicans appear most worried about defending their governorships.

Of 35 governors to be elected next year, the GOP now holds 24 and the Democrats only 11.

If the voters feel it's time for a change, the Republicans will be hurt more than the Democrats.

WASHINGTON SWALLOWS SESAME

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and U.S. Education Commissioner James E. Allen have praised Sesame Street, a preschool experimental educational TV series.

The series, a daily hour-long show that uses a TV commercial approach, will premiere Monday. Muskie and Allen appeared at a pre-broadcast celebration in Washington's Junior Villa.

TAAL READY TO BLAST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Geological Survey says the eruptive activity of Taal Volcano in the Philippines "has become more intense." The survey said Friday the eruption would be of lava, rather than the steam and ash of the September, 1965, eruption. The current eruption began Oct. 30.

Your birthday Wednesday: The coming year is one of expansion, greater collaboration, advances in skills and the knack of presenting them. The better method is through constant experimentation, continuing only those methods which work promptly and dependably. Having once decided upon a goal, Wednesday's natives are nearly all persistent.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Wednesday's liveliness provokes many slips of the tongue, provides glimpses into matters ordinarily difficult to see. Double check your facts and figures since there will be little chance of revision later. Conferences with loved ones are strongly advised for the evening.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The day may seem to be one long procession of petty adjustments, each leading to another of the same sort. Plod patiently through it, so as not to have the same difficulty again soon.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Find out exactly what is needed for older people. Decide where you can help them, but stick with your own estimates and plans. Avoid bickering.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Teamwork advances. You may have to weather a group error and its correction which, if taken in good spirit, can strengthen the group's faith in each other. Pursue sentimental interests in the later hours.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Let well enough alone in business arrangements and financial commitments. Concentrate on learning more of the ins and outs of your family and its changing needs. Emotional ties deepen now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Find non-verbal expressions of your feelings — Wednesday words are not very satisfying and may be taken in a sense you do not intend. You hear good news of the progress of relatives, good friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): The later in the day, the more likely you are to have things go your way. Take a conservative approach but a broad viewpoint; make a general sweep for clearing the air among friends, family, and associates.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Advance your plans; include time and a budget for hobbies and entertainment. Go over your wardrobe, and think about replacements and additions to make soon.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The temptation is to move too fast and too soon. Moderation brings more rewarding results. Spending for your health may be the finest investment you can make now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The greatest hindrance to your plans Wednesday is your own impatience, which arises from your urge to get on with things. Use much self-restraint in business and even more in emotional relations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): The less discussion you invite, the more you can get done. Go directly to the core of the matters at hand; leave the follow-up details for later. Institutions prove to be sources of help and information.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Prepare to make adjustments when you find your business ventures conflict with those of friends. You may also have to give thought to protecting the interests of relatives.

Healthy Complexions Need Frequent Soap Treatments

If you hope to impress that classmate sitting next to you in algebra this fall, try putting your best face forward this semester.

For boys as well as for girls, faces are generally the first thing that people notice — and are also the most sensitive skin area.

Although fellows don't have make-up problems to tangle with, they still should wash their faces thoroughly at least twice a day, more often if possible.

For a healthy complexion that inspires confidence in your appearance, wash your face before bed and after physical exercise.

To make a clean start every morning too, always scrub well with a deodorant soap before shaving. You'll wash perspiration and oil off your skin and make it easier to remove the whiskers as well.

You can use your hands, a washcloth, a complexion brush, or sponge to suds your face. Just be sure that whatever you use is clean.

Begin by massaging warm soapsuds gently into your skin with your fingertips in upward circular motions. Start at the collarbone and work to the front and back of the neck. Next massage the cheekbones and jaw line, and then around lips, cheeks, and sides of face.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Capitol Crosses Fingers

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A policeman stationed in front of the White House during the Vietnam Moratorium march in October grinned broadly and returned the peace sign to marchers as they passed. When it was all over, many marchers approached the police to thank them for co-operating with the demonstrators.

Leaders of the massive demonstration scheduled to converge on the capital Nov. 14 and 15 hope things will be just as peaceful. Police say for the record they do not expect trouble.

Mobilization leaders have issued statements intended to discourage anyone who has visions of violent confrontations from coming to Washington.

Still, observers still see signs of some concern. Initial Justice Department refusal of permission to march down Pennsylvania Avenue, and Mobilization insistence on doing so, raised the possibility of a confrontation at a Chicago and the Democratic convention.

Police force leave scheduled during the two days has been canceled, a move that was not thought necessary during the October demonstration.

"Whenever there is a large crowd in Washington, as at an inauguration, we are normally asked by the police department to help handle the crowd," Guard Col. C.C. Eryant said. "But no one has asked for our help yet."

Bryant said there are two ideas about the wisdom of announcing plans for crowd control in advance. Some people think if you let people know officials are prepared to handle any trouble the announcement will act as a deterrent. Others think it will make people angry and bring on a confrontation.

"There has been a great attempt to play down anything that would indicate that steps are being taken to control any disorder, and this delays our planning," he said. "But, at this time, we have not been officially asked to do anything."

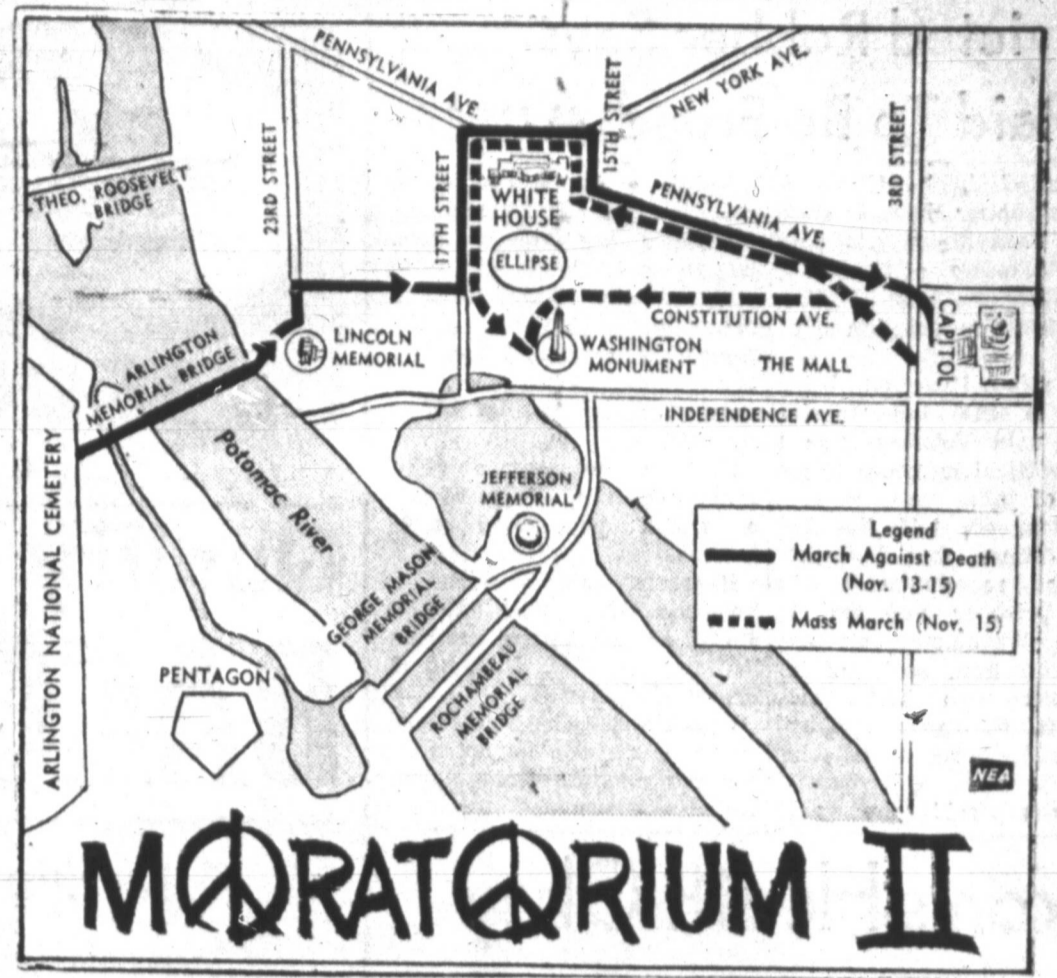

Mobilization leaders hope their own marshals will be able to control the large crowds expected here. Two thousand will be on hand to guide marchers Nov. 15. Eight hundred, in four shifts, will work the March Against Death, which launches the Washington demonstrations Thursday, Nov.

13, at midnight and continues until 40,000 persons have marched single file past the White House. These marchers will drop cards with the names of American soldiers killed in Vietnam or Vietnamese villages destroyed by the fighting, in a coffin, which the Mobilization will try to deliver to President Nixon.

More than 2,000 additional marshals will be members of state contingents, march with them and be present at all the activities before and after the marches.

The marshals will be supervised by Mobilization leaders Fred Halstead and Brad Little, operating from a church on Capitol Hill. Halstead said the Mobilization Committee is co-operating with police and federal officials. They are obtaining permits for all marches and assemblies and have invited federal officials to attend marshals' meetings.

The promised appearance of the defendants in the Chicago conspiracy trial concerns some observers.

THE ANTIWAR MARCH is scheduled to begin at midnight Thursday and continue until 40,000 marchers have gone from Arlington National Cemetery to deposit names of American war dead in a coffin. Despite denial of a permit, Moratorium leaders insist on a Pennsylvania Avenue route.

Popular Cafe Re-Opened After Affray

AUSTIN (UPI) — The University of Texas' Chuckwagon Restaurant was reopened today after being closed down over the weekend following a disturbance when a customer refused to show police his identification.

The popular eating place in the Student Union building was the scene of a serious confrontation last week when police entered to pick up an 11-year-old runaway girl.

More than 100 students and nonstudents in the area surrounded the two plainclothes officers and they had to summon help.

Following that incident, the Student Union board and the university administration jointly decided to limit use of the Chuckwagon to students, faculty and their dependents.

Saturday two university police men arrested Paul Spencer, a nonstudent who refused to show identification papers. The officers said Spencer resisted arrest, and they had to subdue him.

After that incident, the Chuckwagon management said the place would be closed "indefinitely." But Sunday night it was decided to reopen it at 7 a.m. today.

A spokesman said there had been no disturbances today, although some students "grumbled a bit" about having to show student identification cards.

Hollywood In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — President Nixon's "great silent majority" may be correlated with, of all things, the television Nielsen Ratings.

In all likelihood they are men and women who stay at home most evenings—especially Sunday and Monday nights—and watch television. What they watch might be indicative of the temper of that silent majority.

The two highest-rated shows of the past month are old, comfortable safe, father-figure, family-oriented Westerns reflecting rugged independence, patriotism and love of God and country.

At the top of the heap was "Gunsmoke" with a 26.4 rating, and in the No. 2 spot right behind it was "Bonanza" with a 26.3.

Astonishingly, "Gunsmoke" has been around 15 years, and

ANDRETTI TO DRIVE

MODENA, Italy (UPI) — The Ferrari Company said Monday that Mario Andretti, 1969 Indianapolis 500 winner, will drive the firm's Ferrari 512 next year in the Daytona Beach 24-hour endurance race and the 12-hour Sebring Classic.

Attorney Raises Ire Of Italians

ROME (UPI) — The American lawyer representing Raffaele Minichiello today defended himself against Italian criticism of his role in the hijack case.

"I'm here at a request of Raffaele's family," Marvin Mitchelson of Beverly Hills, Calif., told a news conference. "They want me to help their son and assist them in helping their son."

"I'm also here now at the request of Raffaele," Mitchelson added. "I met with him for two hours on Saturday. He has indicated his desire for me to help him and assist in his defense."

Mitchelson, whose clients include Groucho Marx and other Hollywood personalities, has attracted ill-will in the four days since he arrived here with Minichiello's mother and sister.

Discoverer Of Planet Pluto Dies In Home

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UPI) — Dr. Vesto Melvin Slipher, an astronomer who supervised a search which led to the discovery of the planet Pluto, died Saturday at a nursing home here. He was 93.

It was in 1930 that Dr. Slipher, then head of Lowell Observatory here, headed a team that discovered Pluto, a trans-Neptunian planet that was the only one discovered in the 20th century.

Extensive investigation by Dr. Slipher resulted in the determination of the rotation periods of the planet.

He also was credited with the discovery of the permanent aurora-like radiations of the night sky, their nocturnal intensity changes and the existence of interstellar material such as sodium and calcium scattered through space.

Funeral services will be held at the Federated Community Church here Wednesday. Burial will be in the family plot in Citizens Cemetery.

Survivors include a son, David Clark Slipher, of Honolulu, a daughter, Marcia Nicholson of Flagstaff, and seven grandchildren.

Our brewmaster's private-recipe beer has just gone public.

Convicted Robber Says He Paid To Be Freed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A convicted robber in the state prison at Vacaville says he paid Voloshen a fee of $25,000 in cash through a friend. At Voloshen's suggestion, according to the Times, Hagenson said, he also made a $5,000 campaign contribution to McCormack's nephew, Edward J. McCormack, when he was running for governor of Massachusetts.

He said he sent a $4,100 money order to Voloshen and a friend paid $900 more in cash.

Hagenson said a friend of Voloshen was paid another $10,000 as a campaign contribution to then Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California.

Brown and young McCormack say their records do not show any contributions from Hagenson.

Nixon's Heath Okay After Routine Check

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon underwent a complete medical examination today—his first since taking office—and his doctor reported he was "in excellent physical condition."

It was just a routine physical with routine results," he told reporters as he left Bethesda Naval Hospital in suburban Maryland.

White House physician Walter R. Tkach said he and the President to be in excellent physical condition during his two-hour examination.

White House spokesmen emphasized that the examination was strictly routine and that Nixon had not been suffering from any ailment. They said he was given "all the tests normally given to individuals undergoing a routine physical examination."

"Mr. President, are you in good shape?" a newsman asked Nixon started to board a helicopter for the flight back to the White House.

"Oh, yes," Nixon grinned. "They didn't do any damage."

One reason for Nixon's healthy condition, aides said, was his practice of jogging in place 300 or 400 steps in his bedroom every morning. They also said he bowls two or three times a week in the basement alley constructed during the Truman administration in the Executive Office Building, next door to the White House.

Nixon's predecessors got most of their exercise in the White House swimming pool, but Nixon had it covered up and the space used to provide more working room for White House reporters.

The President spent an hour and 54 minutes at the hospital, arriving by helicopter at 8:05 a.m. and leaving at 9:59 a.m. He rode in a limousine from the helicopter to the hospital entrance, but stopped to shake hands with several persons, most of them in Navy uniforms.

When the examination was over, Nixon chatted briefly with several hospital employees before boarding the helicopter to return to the White House.

It was the first time since Nixon took office last January that he had undergone a complete physical checkup. Dr. Tkach said it would probably be a year before he had another one.

Daley Willing To Testify For Defense In Chicago Trial

CHICAGO (UPI)—A city attorney said today Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley is willing to testify as a defense witness in the riot conspiracy trial of the "Chicago Seven."

However, corporation counsel Marvin Aspen asked the U.S. district court to quash subpoenas calling for testimony from Chicago police superintendent James Conlisk and James J. McDonough, director of streets and sanitation.

Subpoenas served late last week called for Daley, Conlisk and McDonough to appear in court today with records pertaining to the 1968 Democratic National Convention and disturbances during the convention week.

The seven defendants in the trial are accused of conspiring to incite riots during the convention. Daley has been a prime target of those who claim that Chicago police used brutal tactics against the convention week demonstrators.

Aspen said Daley was "willing to comply" with the subpoena. But he asked for more time to gather some 5,000 documents the subpoena ordered the mayor's office to bring to court.

A policewoman who followed one of the defendants in the trial was to be cross-examined by defense attorneys today.

British Sailors To Lose Free Rum

LONDON (UPI)—Sailors of the British Royal Navy will lose their traditional free rum ration because not enough of them are taking advantage of the offer, the Ministry of Defense said Sunday.

At the same time, the ministry said senior sailors will be able to buy a "double" of duty-free whiskey for about six U.S. cents.

About 70,000 senior sailors now draw their daily "tot" of rum, equivalent to a ninth of a U.S. pint and worth the equivalent of $1.20 ashore.

The ministry said it is ending the ration because fewer men are taking the allotted rum and the surplus takes up valuable storage space on the ships.

Topless Dancer Says Constitutional Rights Were Violated By Court

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court refused today to review a complaint by an Oregon woman that her constitutional rights were violated when she was fined $200 for dancing topless in a Portland bar.

The court's refusal to intervene left standing an Oregon Supreme Court ruling that reversed a lower court decision in favor of the topless dancer.

The case involves Carol Derrington, an entertainer, who was fined $200 by Portland Municipal Judge Philip T. Abraham under a 1965 city ordinance making it unlawful for a woman to bare her breasts in any place serving food or alcohol.

Miss Derrington, who appeared as a dancer, contended that the city ordinance violated her constitutional right of expression as an entertainer. Even if the ordinance might prohibit topless waitresses, her lawyer argued, it should not have been applied to a dancer.

In urging the Supreme Court to reverse the state court, Miss Derrington's lawyer said the First Amendment guaranteeing the right of free speech should apply to dancing just as to any other form of expression. That right, he said, should not be suppressed by a judicial order banning bare breasts.

"Otherwise, we should put a blouse on Venus de Milo, cover up much of the sculpture that adorns our museums and parks, and ban the paintings of Rubens and many other masters," he said.

Foreign News Commentary

Now what? Diplomats in London see a real danger of a new war in the Middle East after President Gamal Abdel Nasser's "blood and fire" speech. It plunged peace prospects to a new low and some diplomats do not rule out an Israeli preventive strike of major proportions. Israeli tactics, it is believed, will concentrate on smashing major war buildups rather than an extension of the occupation area.

The Czechs in Prague will be looking this year for a particular Christmas tree. Czech Communists banned the traditional giant Christmas tree in Old Town Square in 1948 because it smacked of "bourgeois Christianity." It appeared last year for the first time in 21 years—after the Soviet invasion but before the liberal regime finally was crushed. If it fails to reappear this year, it will be the signal to Czechs that the bad old days really are back.

On the other hand: Should the shoe be on the other foot, and Nasser carry out his threat of a "liberation" war against Israel, neutral sources in Paris believe France may reconsider her pro-Arab policies. These sources say France, one of the nations that did most to allow Jews to build their national state in Palestine, might, in the event of a massive attack on Israel, lift her two-year embargo on the $65 million shipment of 50 Mirage —5 jets.

Nuclear deterrent: Drastic budget cuts have forced the French military establishment to cut back the buildup of a French military establishment to cut back the buildup of a French nuclear deterrent. Informed military sources say the government has pigeonholed plans for the construction of a fourth nuclear submarine, cut the number of silos under construction in the Avignon, southeastern France, and limited the number of tests at the Pacific testing grounds in Polynesia next spring.

Veterans Urge Americans To Show Loyalty

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas' two major veterans organizations today urged all citizens of the state to join special observances this week "as an expression of support for our armed forces, the President and national unity."

The state Legion office urged all citizens to display the United States flag at full staff Tuesday when the nation observes Veterans Day, formerly called Armistice Day to signify the end of World War I.

"In addition to flying the flag, if citizens are out in automobiles, they are urged to keep headlights on and citizens who do not have flags should burn their porch lights," said Legion Commander Henry H. Hill.

The state Veterans of Foreign Wars groups observing this as "Operation Speak Out" week. State Commander Elmer F. Chappell of Refugio said the plan is designed to encourage the "silent majority" to show their support of the government on the Vietnam issue.

Chappell called on all community organizations over Texas to join with the VFW because "it is time the silent majority let their will be known publicly."

A student organization at the University of Texas in Austin, Young Americans for Freedom, is sponsoring a lecture on "Vietnam: The Positive Alternative" tonight at the union main ballroom on the campus.

The speaker will be Dr. Anthony Bouscaren, a professor of political science at Lemoyne College in Syracuse, N.Y. He is the author of numerous books on world affairs and served in the Pacific theater during World War II as a Marine pilot, earning two distinguished flying crosses.

TBE Approves Next Year's Textbooks

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Board of Education today approved 96 textbooks for use in public schools next year over protests of five citizens who said three of the biology books censor anti-evolution evidence.

The protesters contended the teaching of evolution as a definite fact has degraded the morals of youth. They called for rejection of three biology texts they said were biased in favor of evolution.

But a University of Texas biology professor charged the protesters unduly influenced selection of books and ungrudgingly of two books favored by the anti-evolutionists.

The protesters were objecting to three biology books on a list of 96 new books the State Board of Education was to vote on for the 1970 public school year.

Richard H. Le Tourneau of Longview, one of the five who appeared against books they said taught evolution as a fact, said "the theories presented in these books are antiquated, obsolete and opinionated and have no part in a textbook adopted for use in the schools in the state of Texas."

"I don't think any of us in Texas want our children to have this kind of indoctrination."

Dr. John J. Grebe, former director of basic and nuclear research for Dow Chemical Co., said the teaching of evolution as the only alternative has given youth the idea there is no law above man.

"There has never been a time when I have been more concerned about the future of this country because the youth know that evolution is a fact because their teachers tell them it is," he said.

Grebe offered a $1,000 reward to "the first person who will give one clear example to show that evolution has occurred."

Sinden Finally Talking About Bobby Orr

By DICK DEW
BOSTON (UPI)—Boston Bruins Coach Harry Sinden used to helplessly shrug his shoulders when anybody asked him about Bobby Orr. But Sinden recently has developed a whole string of special answers to questions about his stellar defenseman.

Where he used to say, "Orr is Orr" to questions about Bobby, Sinden now asks, "Have you got three hours" when anybody asks him to describe the most exciting youngster in recent National Hockey League history.

It would take about half that time just to list the accomplishments of the 21-year-old Orr during his three seasons as a professional hockey player.

Wins Trophies
Orr was rookie of the year in his first season and was named winner of the Norris Trophy as the NHL's top single defenseman in his next two seasons. Hockey buffs figured that was it, Orr couldn't go any higher in the trophy parade. But Bobby may top them.

No defenseman has ever won hockey's Art Ross Trophy as the league's leading scorer. In fact, no defenseman has ever game against the Oakland Seals, Orr had two goals and 17 assists for 19 points.

Question Raised
One of the questions raised most often about Orr is how come the Bruins keep him and his fantastic scoring potential back on the blue line of defense rather than up front in natural scoring position.

The Bruin answer is simple enough: They figure he can be on the ice more as a defenseman than as a member of a frequently changed front line. Besides, they haven't got anybody who could keep up with him, anyway.

"Why not make a special league for Orr and Hull and Howe and the other super stars?" a visiting broadcaster asked recently at Boston Garden.

"Why pick on all those old GAFFERS?" was the instant reply.

Why, indeed?

Groom Shoots For Ninth In Row Friday

Groom will try to take a giant step towards its second straight District 5-B football title Friday night and the Tigers, who have won all eight games thus far this season, will have to do it on the road.

Groom, tied with Booker at 2-0, in the conference race, journeys to Follett, a surprise victim last week to Texline. Folletts 4-4 for the season but has failed to win in two conference outings.

The Tigers will take their scoring machine made up of quarterback Danny Blackwell, the area's leading scorer, plus Mark and Johnny Britten, who have tallied most of the Tigers points in their last three games. There'll be Dal Howerton, the Tigers leading ground gainer, who has picked up nearly 100 yards a game so far this season.

Blackwell has 74 points for the season to lead Wheeler's Roy Don Chick by four points.

White Deer, winners now of District 1-A, will put its six-game winning streak on the line Friday at home against an improved Sanford-Fritch football team.

The Bucks have posted an 8-2 record and with its 4-0 conference mark has the title all wrapped up.

Canadian, bitten last week by White Deer, will try to get back on the winning track by playing Sunray, who has lost only to the Bucks and stands, 8-1, for the season. Canadian is 2-6-1 for the season.

Wheeler saw its three game win streak snapped last week and also saw its hopes for the District 2-A title vanish in a 42-22 loss to unbeaten Clarendon.

The Mustangs will be out to end the season on a happy note, however, when they end the season at home against Claude, who has now won two in a row after seven straight losses.

The Mustangs are, 6-3, for the season and 3-1 in 2-A play while Claude is 2-7 and 2-2.

McLean also ends its season and the Tigers will be shooting for third place in the conference by playing host to Clarendon. McLean is 2-2 in the league and has a 3-5-1 season reading.

Texas, Arkansas Best Teams Still In SWC

United Press International
Coach Bo Hagan of Rice says Texas will beat Arkansas Dec. 6 on national television. Coach Bill Beall of Baylor would rather not pick a favorite.

Those are two men who should know. The Owls and the Bears have played and lost to both No. 2 Texas and No. 6 Arkansas.

Baylor lost 56-14 to Texas last Saturday and 21-7 to Arkansas earlier this year. Rice lost 31-0 to Texas and 30-6 to Arkansas. Both top rated teams are 7-0 now and figure to be 9-0 when they meet in the season finale.

"On the day we played them, Texas was a better team than Arkansas," Hagan said.

"Texas has the best (offensive) line and will be able to run against Arkansas," he said. "They (Texas) just take the ball and go 80 yards with it, or

70. I don't think Arkansas will be able to stop them.

"Texas also has a good pass rush with four men. They proved that against SMU. They should be able to get to (Arkansas) quarterback Bill Montgomery."

"But Texas runs and Arkansas throws, so it is really like comparing steak and roast beef," Hagan said.

Beall said both clubs have "real fine speed, ample depth to go through a season and a lot of quality football players."

"You have those three things and you're set for business. From the standpoint of personnel, they're both ample," he said.

"I'm not going to be drawn into picking a probable winner," Beall said. "I've got to play them both again next year . . . and the next. But if Texas and Arkansas played 10 games against each other, it probably would even out."

Hagan gave his Owls the day off Monday for their hard fought, but losing, effort against Arkansas.

The Owls will have a hard workout today in preparation for their game Saturday with Texas A&M, Hagan said.

At Lubbock, Texas Tech Coach J. T. King said his Raiders have not given up for the year even though they are out of contention for the Southwest Conference crown.

"We still have a couple of football games to be played this year, and if we get the same type of play out of our men during them that we got Saturday I'll take my chances at winning them both," King said.

TCU downed Tech 35-26 in Fort Worth Saturday.

Tailenders Get Sweet Revenge In NBA Action

By United Press International
The National Basketball Association went on the road Monday night and fans in Auburn, Ala., and Salt Lake City certainly got their money's worth.

Lou Hudson and Bill Bridges shared the hero's role for the Atlanta Hawks who edged the Chicago Bulls, 133-132, at Auburn, while Don Kojis provided the thrills at Salt Lake City when his field goal with only two seconds left to play gave San Diego a 100-99 victory over San Francisco.

Hudson tied a club record and set an NBA one game high this season when he pumped in 57 points, but it took a layup by Bridges with just two seconds remaining to give the Hawks their seventh straight victory and open up their Western Division lead to three games over runnerup San Francisco.

Hudson hit on 25 of 34 field goal attempts and seven of eight free throws to tie the club record set by Bob Pettit in 1961 when the team operated out of St. Louis.

Bob Love tallied 32 points to pace the Bulls while Chet Walker added 26 and Walt Wesley had 24.

Kojis' jump shot from the corner just before the final buzzer enabled the Rockets to post only their second win of the season in 11 games and climaxed a hectic fourth quarter in which the lead changed hands nine times. Elvin Hayes, whose recent feud with Kojis is felt to be mainly responsible for San Diego's poor showing thus far, led the Rockets with 23 points while Kojis hit for 20.

Nate Thurmond paced the Warriors with 30 points and Jeff Mullins added 25.

Plainview One Of Best In District

"I think we are over the hump as far as our efforts giving a winning effort is concerned and we'll be out there fighting Friday night," said Pampa football coach Swede Lee.

Lee was reviewing Pampa's, 25-7, victory over Borger in a showing that still has Harvester fans buzzing. Lee was also trying to decide on a Harvester of the Week.

"I don't see how we can pick one. There were just too many great individual efforts. It was simply a good team victory," Lee said.

"I want to congratulate all our players but especially our seniors who are primarily responsible for the victory," Lee stated.

But Lee was trying to forget Friday night's game and concentrate on this Friday's encounter with Plainview, a team that pumpeed Pampa, 26-6, earlier in the season.

"They undoubtedly have one of the best teams in the district. They ran real well on us and have great speed," Lee said.

Figures back up Lee's statement since the Bulldogs trailed only unbeaten Palo Duro in total points scored so far this season. The Dons have scored a total of 331 points and Plainview 213.

You Don't Say . . .
By RON CROSS

The Bulldogs have a 6-2-1 record, both losses coming in south zone play where they finished, 2-2.

Plainview has lost only to Palo Duro, 30-14, and Coronado, 17-10, and finished in a 16-16 tie with Vernon.

The Bulldogs have beaten Pampa three straight times, the last Harvester win coming in 1966, 34-20 and Pampa and the Dogs stand, 22-13 in their series.

This also will be the last regular season meeting between the two teams since the revamping of District 4-A.A.A.A.

The Harvesters have one player on the doubtful list for Friday's game, fullback Ray Tindall, who performed so well against Borger Friday night.

Tindall, who ran for 59 yards against Borger, suffered a hip pointer and the painful injury may sideline him.

Randy Cantrell, who is okay after twisting an ankle, will replace Tindall if need be.

Pampa's Scotty King, who also sustained an ankle injury is okay and will join Dale Ammons and John Jenkins in the Pampa backfield.

Lee said Pampa would have to have another outstanding defensive effort, even better than Friday night's, to stay with Plainview.

"They are awfully fast and we've got to figure out some way to contain that speed," Lee said.

The Bulldogs had three backs gain over 70 yards each rushing against Pampa. Halfback Albert Hill churned for 96 while fullback David Wooley picked up 85 and Halfback Larry McCutcheon had 75.

The Harvesters, who did not have Scotty King available for duty in the last encounter, were paced in rushing by quarterback-turned-halfback, John Jenkins, who had 47 yards and junior Monroe Woods who contributed 38 yards.

Mizzou Quarterback Earns UPI Honors

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Oklahoma's defensive alignment left one player, monsterman Jim Files, with a clear shot at Missouri quarterback Terry McMillan last week.

"We didn't have anyone to block him," said coach Dan Devine Monday. "But Terry never flinched and he knew Files was barreling in there. He knew he would be blind-sided before or just after he threw the ball.

"It takes courage to know a guy is coming. I'm not sure I'd have stood in there. I think I'd have dumped the ball and gotten the hell out of there."

McMillan, a 6-1, 182-pound senior from Coral Gables, Fla., took his medicine pretty well. So well, in fact, that he completed 17 of 37 passes for 312 yards and three touchdowns as the eighth-ranked Tigers flogged Oklahoma, 44-10.

McMillan was named the Big

Eight's Back of the Week Monday.

The Missouri quarterback was especially adept on third-down plays. Missouri launched a 56-yard touchdown drive in the second quarter with the score tied at 10-10.

McMillan faced third at 10 at the Mizzou 44 and passed 19 yards to John Henley. On third and nine at the Oklahoma 35, he completed a 10-yard pass to Mel Gray. And on third and seven at the Oklahoma 22, he called a draw play to Joe Moore, who went all the way for the touchdown.

McMillan's big day gave him 1,351 passing yards for the season, breaking the school record of 1,195 yards set by Paul Christman in 1940.

Of his performance, McMillan said, "I guess it was okay. We won, didn't we?"

He praised his offensive line. "I had all the time in the world. We have great receivers and no one dropped a pass that I can think of. People tend to give the glory to the quarterback and not enough to the offensive line."

Other conference nominees were Jerry Fiat, Iowa State defensive back; Mack Herron, Kansas State wingback; John Riggins, Kansas tailback; Jerry Tagge, Nebraska quarterback; Bob Cutbirth, Oklahoma State quarterback, and Jim Cooch, Colorado defensive back.

Bowl Bids Look Bad For Kansas State And Oklahoma

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The mention of "bowl game" brings a sour taste to the mouth of Kansas State coach Vince Gibson right now.

Two weeks ago his Wildcats were flying high with a 5-1 record. Then they lost a fast and furious 41-38 thriller to Missouri. And last Saturday they were upset by lightly regarded Oklahoma State, 28-19.

"Saturday hurt real bad," Gibson said Monday, "because it hurt our bowl chances. And I wanted us to go to a bowl. We were hurt there, but it didn't hurt because our kids gave great effort."

Kansas State, a school which has been playing football since 1896, has never been to a bowl game. Two weeks ago, the Wildcats' chances seemed bright. They are still good, but they now are forced into the position of having to beat Nebraska and Colorado in their last two games.

"Saturday made me sick," Gibson said, "because I had my heart set on going to a bowl. But we've got to forget about it and get ready for Nebraska."

A Kansas State victory over Nebraska would put the bowl officials in a precarious position. They can announce the selection of their teams next Monday.

Because of the competition, almost all bowls do make their selections on the earliest possible date. But a bowl selecting Kansas State would be on pins and needles awaiting the outcome of the Wildcats' contest with Colorado at Boulder Nov. 22.

Kansas State, despite two straight losses, still is in contention for a berth in the Gator, Astro-Bluebonnet or Liberty bowls. None would look favorably on a team with a 6-4 record, although they might be forced to take K-State if the Wildcats defeat Nebraska and Nebraska would put the bowl officials in a precarious position.

Season Ends Thursday For Junior Highs

There will be plenty of football available for Pampans in the city Thursday and Friday and even an out of town trip is in store for grid fans.

The Pampa Shockers shoot for a season-ending, 7-3, record Thursday when they journey to Amarillo to play Palo Duro. The Shockers, 6-3 so far, end the season against the Dons and have a two game winning streak going.

"Pampa junior high teams end their season, against each other. The two eighth grades play at 4 p.m. and the two ninth grades at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, both on Harvester Field.

The Shocker game is scheduled for 4 p.m.

Cowboys Hill Takes Great Pride In Blocking Ability

NEW YORK (UPI)—Carmen Cozza's favorite conversation pieces, other than his current Yale football team, are rookie Calvin Hill of the Dallas Cowboys and coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State.

Cozza coached Hill at Yale. Earlier, he played for Hayes when Woody, now headmaster of the nation's No. 1 college team, was coaching at Miami, O. His admiration for each is boundless.

Tell us some Woody Hayes stories, Carm was implored at a session in New York this week.

"I'd be here all day," he protested.

Then tell us some Calvin Hill stories.

"I'd be here all day tomorrow, too."

Even a coach who had to rush off to Yale to get his team ready for Princeton Saturday was not about to get off the hook so easily so Cozza was struck for brief extra duty.

On Woody Hayes:
"He is a great leader of young men. He'll do anything to help a boy who brings him any sort of problem. But he also wants quality in a player and you'd better give it to him."

"Woody is devoted to football. I don't think he ever has forgiven me for skipping spring practice every year to pitch for the baseball team."

How does Hayes keep his team rolling without a letdown in a 21-game winning streak and a No. 1 rating dating clear back to last season?

"Work. When I was playing for him at Miami, I was a lot more concerned about what happened on the practice field from Monday through Friday than I was about the game on Saturday. The game was a breather compared to what we got during the week."

On Calvin Hill of the Cowboys, the NFL's leading rusher and perhaps the most successful rookie performer in pro football this season:

"I'm not surprised that he's doing well. I'm only surprised that he went to the top of the league so quickly. For three years I had been telling everyone about him while he was at Yale. Now they believe me."

"Hill has fantastic prospects. He can do so many things besides run and catch the ball. He can throw a ball as far as any quarterback in the league. And he loves to block. He takes great pride in contact." Calvin sent Cozza an autographed photo, showing him in a Dallas uniform.

"He looks real mean in the picture," says Carm. "It didn't matter. I recognized him, anyway."

Cozza insists his 1968 Yale team, led by Hill and quarterback Brian Dowling, could have scored on any team in the nation.

Ohio State, Texas, 1-2

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ohio State and Texas, crushing opponents with unbelievable ease, continue to run 1-2 among the nation's major colleges.

Ohio State, which crushed Wisconsin, 62-7, Saturday for its seventh victory without a loss and 21st in a row, received 31 first place votes and 346 points from the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches.

Texas, also 7-0, walloped Baylor, 58-14 Saturday despite the weakened condition of more than 25 players stricken with flu.

Tennessee and Penn State held on to third and fourth while Arkansas moved up to fifth. Southern California slipped to sixth, followed by UCLA, Missouri, Purdue and Louisiana State.

Students Go Legal To Gain Their Ends

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The headlines go to student moralities, demonstrations and marches and to judge-baiting in Chicago.

But some quiet new shifts in tactics now being instituted by student groups across the United States promise to be considerably more significant in changing the nation's universities, and, if successful there in bringing student influence to bear on national and international problems.

Students are turning to the law to get college rules, regulations and administrative procedures changed. They're employing highly paid attorneys from some of the nation's largest and most prestigious firms.

In a number of test cases, students are taking college authorities to court on student rights. Attorneys say the young people are winning a majority of these cases.

The college administrators, these students and their attorneys assert, over the years have grown so used to exercising power they have grown slack in their methods and make their decisions without due regard to common legal practices. Attorneys claim college officials are thus like sitting ducks when brought to court.

Legal procedures these students are following now must not be confused with the circus-like stage show now going on in Chicago in which Black Panther chief Bobby Seale, ties David Dellinger and six others are on trial for their activities in Chicago during the Democratic national convention last year. The student cases this column refers to are straight legal cases fought according to established procedures.

Students are using attorneys—usually skilled attorneys—to negotiate with college officials in long sessions reminiscent of labor union-management bargaining. These meetings are aimed at securing concessions on student rights.

Students on a growing number of university campuses thus are using the most effective techniques of the more successful labor unions—bargaining, getting experts to do research and to tell them what their rights are, using the courts.

The next step may well be that student associations or other student groups, like labor unions, may well ask for certification as bargaining agents for the undergraduate and graduate men and women on campus.

Lobbying groups composed of paid professionals—legal or publicity experts—may be sent to state legislatures and to Congress to quietly work on the lawmakers in the traditional manner.

These steps could be highly effective. The students and student groups involved in this new trend seem to have ample funds. They have a large constituency that has shown an ability to get involved emotionally.

In maneuvering thus far, students have been fighting principally for a loosening of college regulations on how and where they shall live, on how they may be expelled, who shall deal with them and under what rules when accused of campus violation and for a larger student voice in college policy.

In the background there is a strong movement against grades, against required class attendance, against the considerable number of required courses for graduation, against the way courses are taught and for the addition of some new courses.

But with the growing student discussion of the Vietnam war, defense expenditures, race, the slums and the state and national politics there is nothing to stop the students from following the lead of the nation's labor unions in using their influence on these major problems.

PUBLIC QUESTION:

Shall We Keep Borrowing?

By OSCAR W. COOLEY
Assoc. Prof. of Economics
Ohio Northern Univ.

The question, shall money be borrowed to build more public school buildings and facilities, will soon be decided by the voters of many communities.

Those who advocate such borrowing are prone to cry, "Vote for the children! Vote for education!"—as though a vote against such borrowing would prove that the voter hates children and is opposed to education. This is nonsense.

The economic facts of life are: 1. The total resources of this planet are limited. 2. The resources of each individual and therefore the annual income per individual are limited.

3. We cannot have everything we may want. Each must apportion his income, choosing how each dollar is to be spent. When one spends a dollar on schools, he cannot also give that dollar to his church, or pay it out for groceries, or buy shoes for the baby, or spend it for any other object, worthy or unworthy.

Thus, when a new bond issue for schools is proposed, everyone has to figure how much it will cost him over the years. What uses for those dollars would he have if he did not spend them for schools? Of all the uses competing for those dollars, which will give him most satisfaction?

If a person estimates the new borrowing for schools will cost him $50 a year in additional taxes, and if he concludes that, all things considered, he can better spend that money for other purposes, there is no cause to allege that he is against the children and a devotee of ignorance. The other purposes for which he plans the expenditure will, in his view, promise more benefit to him and perhaps to his and other children than the proposed school expansion.

It is all too glibly assumed that every family can easily conjure up an extra $50 or so for a good cause, and that if they vote not to do so it is because they, in their contrariness, are opposed to progress.

Among the ballots, there may be other tax levies, just as deserving as that for schools. Sewers, street paving, new fire engines may be calling for more money. But there is a limit to what the citizen can allocate to public purposes, and he may feel that his limit was passed a ways back.

Some wonder, "Why must they, every election, ask for more money? By economizing, they could get along on the same money."

Others point out that most taxing districts are collecting more tax revenue each year because the property in the district is increasing, the income likewise, and that constant rates, multiplied by an ever growing base, yield a larger and larger product. Hence, an increase in the millage should not be necessary.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Fatty Changes in Liver Cause No Impairment

Q—I am a housewife, 53. On a routine physical checkup the doctor found that I have a slightly enlarged liver. Blood chemistry and liver function tests were normal. A needle biopsy revealed minimal fatty change. I was told to eat a low-fat, high-protein diet but was given no medication. Is this serious?

A—Fatty changes in the liver usually cause no symptoms or impairment of liver function. The treatment you are getting should prevent any further progress of this essentially benign disease.

Q—How can one detect the early stages of cancer of the liver?

A—Scanning the liver with a Geiger counter after one has taken a radioactive isotope and microscopic examination of a small core of liver tissue (needle biopsy) are the best methods.

Q—What causes liver spots on the face and what can be done for them?

A—One type of liver spot (chloasma) appears only above the neck. It may be associated with ovarian disease, cirrhosis of the liver, tuberculosis, cancer, normal pregnancy, thyroid deficiency or malnutrition. Another type (tinea versicolor) may appear anywhere on the body. It is caused by a harmless fungus. The treatment consists of finding and eliminating the cause. Masking cosmetics are advised if the spots are conspicuous.

Q—What is the best treatment for jaundice?

A—Since jaundice is a symptom, not a disease, it is first necessary to find the cause. This may be an increased production of bile pigment due to an abnormal rate of destruction of red blood cells, certain types of poisoning, liver infection or obstruction of the bile ducts in the liver. Once the cause is determined, appropriate treatment can be prescribed.

Q—My son and I have several soft painless lumps under the skin. They have been present for years and don't get any larger. What causes them? Can they become cancerous? Should they be removed?

A—Lipomas or fatty tumors are very common. They are developmental abnormalities. They do not become malignant and should be removed only if they get so large that they cause discomfort or are unsightly.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

F-14s or F-15s— War in the Pentagon

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Just like old times, the Navy and the Air Force are engaged in a new outbreak of intra-Pentagon guerrilla warfare.

A new plane is involved, just as it was in the long controversy over the Air Force B-36 and in other Air Force fights of yesteryear. Congress is again the battleground.

There is a new strategy, however, in the old fight for funds and authorizations in the Senate and House. Now the ploy is not just to shoot down the pet plane project of the other service—but to make the other service buy your plane.

One of the Air Force pets in the big military money bill now under congressional scrutiny is the F-15. The F-15, a single-seat air-superiority fighter plane, is down for $175 million worth of development funds in the pending Pentagon budget.

Air Force experts see the F-15 as an air-to-air battle plane which will more than match the "Foxbat," "Flagon" and other fighter planes recently unveiled by the Russians.

Two contractors are working on a new engine for the F-15. Three other contractors are competing for a contract to build the airframe for the new plane. New radar and weapons are being developed.

However, the Navy also has a new fighter plane, the F-14, at a slightly more advanced state of development.

ENTER THE F-14 — Substituted by the Navy when Congress junked the Navy version of the controversial TFX last year, the F-14 is a two-seat carrier fighter which is scheduled to join the fleet in 1973. Like the F-15 it is to have a new power plant in later models which will give it superior performance.

Small wonder, then, that informal group of Navy officers, including at least one admiral, went to House and Senate military experts with a chart designed to show that the Navy's F-14, when it gets its new engine, could do the job of the Air Force F-15.

Not only would that substitution be another blow to the ego of the Air Force, which is currently using the Navy-designed F-4 as its basic fighter, but it would also mean additional purchases of the new Navy plane and thus cut the unit costs for Navy budgeting purposes.

Q—What causes liver spots on the face and what can be done for them?

A—One type of liver spot (chloasma) appears only above the neck. It may be associated with ovarian disease, cirrhosis of the liver, tuberculosis, cancer, normal pregnancy, thyroid deficiency or malnutrition. Another type (tinea versicolor) may appear anywhere on the body. It is caused by a harmless fungus. The treatment consists of finding and eliminating the cause. Masking cosmetics are advised if the spots are conspicuous.

Q—What is the best treatment for jaundice?

This may be an increased production of bile pigment due to an abnormal rate of destruction of red blood cells, certain types of poisoning, liver infection or obstruction of the bile ducts in the liver. Once the cause is determined, appropriate treatment can be prescribed.

Q—My son and I have several soft painless lumps under the skin. They have been present for years and don't get any larger. What causes them? Can they become cancerous? Should they be removed?

A—Lipomas or fatty tumors are very common. They are developmental abnormalities. They do not become malignant and should be removed only if they get so large that they cause discomfort or are unsightly.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

When he heard about the Navy's end run, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former secretary of the Air Force, loudly blew the whistle. As a consequence, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, the chief of naval operations, put an end to the informal Navy briefings.

Moorer, who has publicly testified that both new fighter planes are necessary, also called executives of Grumman Aircraft, the contractor for the Navy's new plane, and ordered that Grumman lobbyists stop tout the F-14 as a replacement for the cherished Air Force F-15.

Despite Moorer's directive, Air Force leaders are convinced that the lobbying campaign for the Navy plane has not been dropped.

ALSO THE A-7—Controversy over still another plane—the A-7—has not helped to smooth relations between the Navy and the Air Force. The A-7 is a relatively slow, relatively cheap ground support plane used extensively by the Navy in Vietnam.

The Air Force has already received funds for 74 A-7s, and an additional $375 million, for another 128 A-7s, was budgeted this year.

However, Symington and some other Senate military experts believe the A-7 is obsolete for fighting any modern air war. They persuaded the Senate Armed Services Committee to withhold further A-7 authorization and let the Navy have the planes already bought by the Air Force.

Before it acted, the Senate committee heard Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff testify that he would be glad to have additional F-4s to do the ground support job, and get rid of the A-7s. Later, after discussions with the other Joint Chiefs, McConnell changed his mind.

McConnell subsequently told congressional appropriations committees that the Air Force finds it both necessary and advantageous to continue with its purchase of A-7s.

For its part, the Navy has told the appropriations committees that proposed conversion of A-7s to Navy specifications—plus production stretch-outs, reallocation of costs and the like—would cost the government nearly $185 million if the Air Force should now abandon the A-7.

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

More Trouble Ahead South of The Border

Last week this column featured the testimony of Manion Forum radio guest Paul Bethel, the Executive Director of the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba. Mr. Bethel, who was with the United States Embassy in Cuba from 1958 until we broke relations on January 3, 1961, has written a book entitled "The Losers." In it, he examines U.S. foreign policy in Latin America—and the disastrous results of that policy.

The "losers" to whom Mr. Bethel refers are in control of a good deal of our foreign policy. Some people call them liberals. They apologize for capitalism and, in Bethel's words, "really believe in statism." Therefore, says Bethel, "in any conflict between our system and that of a so-called progressive system, they're happy to see us lose."

No one can deny that we are most surely losing ground in Latin America today. What sort of policy has produced the current mess? Here is what Bethel says:

"These people are government planners. They have been promoting so-called liberal government loans in Latin America, they've been promoting so-called liberal regimes, and the total result of this has been in Latin America that government planners themselves, in the final analysis, have more in common with Communist government planners than they do with the aspirations of a democratic society.

"The United States has put 767 million dollars in direct government aid into Chile. The Christian Democrats down there have finally come to the point where they are going into a coalition with the Communist Party.

"What the losers in charge of our policies do is set up a straw man and then pelt it with cliches. One of the cliches is that Cuba was a disaster, that foreign investment in Cuba had served to enslave the Cuban people, and that they were in very bad shape socially and economically.

"What they really hate is our system of capitalism and free enterprise, which, imperfect as it may be, is certainly vastly superior to anything that has appeared on the horizon.

"The Cuban people were fighting against Batista—for a change in the politics of the country. They were not fighting for a complete social change in Cuba, which, of course, has been brought about by the imposition of Communism on them. But to read the contemporary writings on this situation, you will find the liberal losers still maintain this myth precisely because they use it as an example of what will happen in Latin America.

"In other words, it will be another pre-Castro failure, and so forth in Latin America unless the Latin Americans accept their 'progressive' ideas, the result has been statism, political instability, and Cuba is nothing more than a figure of speech. It's not a country. What it represents is the launchment of Soviet power in the Caribbean, from which you have guerrillas being trained, up to ten thousand activists a year, who are being re-exported back into these Latin American countries to explode terror.

"The losers are not Communists. They are the indispensable carpenters who build the bridge over which the Communists walk into power.

Thoughts On Veterans Day

Today is the 51st anniversary of the halt of the war that was to end all wars and to "make the world safe for democracy." The day was known as Armistice Day in 1918, but now called Veteran's Day.

But since Nov. 11, 1918, there has been little success from war. The United States has been engaged in almost constant conflict since then, and particularly since the end of World War II.

Henry Steele Commager, professor of history at Amherst College has some words about the half century failure to produce the desirable results sought after World War I. He blames much of the problem on the failure of the United States to participate in the League of Nations after War I, and seems to believe that some sort of international government will solve everything.

Typically of the "liberal" thinking, he seems to favor self-determination, yet says some of the problems are caused by nations making their own determinations of what they want. The United States, he says, "did nothing to mitigate the ravages of chauvinistic nationalism." Later he says "Americans departed from their own traditions and betrayed their own character."

We agree that Americans have departed from their own traditions, particularly when they forgot the admonitions of George Washington to have commerce with all nations, but permanent alliances with none.

When the United States engaged in World Wars I and II it departed fully from its principles. Previously it had erected tariff walls to prevent free individuals from trading with whomever they chose. Now it has become involved in attempting to police the world, and has built resentments against its policies by its own citizens. It has departed from its policies of non-interference in the lives of citizens, which allowed comparatively free individuals to seek out their own happiness as long as they did not infringe the equal rights of all others.

On this 51st anniversary of Armistice Day, as veterans of World War I, World War II, Korea and Vietnam are honored, as well as those of smaller conflicts on foreign soil, we say all honor should be given to those brave veterans.

But we believe honor can best be bestowed on them by a solemn declaration that the United States will start a return to the policy of minding its own business. Before World War I—even in the days before World War II, the United States had been the bright example of comparative freedom, despite its tariff and immigration restrictions. Its residents enjoyed fewer restrictions than those of other nations, and other nations were beginning to copy the United States. In recent years, the federal, state and local governments have gained increasing power to dictate the lives of the people; and the United States has become the principal financial support of a start of one-world government. With its people's money and its citizens' lives, it has attempted to police the world. And it is no longer a beacon light to show the way toward freedom. It is scorned in many places, particularly in the lands where it has sent its substance and its soldiers.

In honor of the veterans living or dead, who sacrificed to "make the world safe for democracy," we would like to see America start reversing the trend. If steps are taken to restore freedom of all individuals; to get out of the way of all productive persons; to stop interfering with free commerce and free communications between free peoples, we will start on the road to peace, an enduring peace that will, perhaps see an end to a need for future Veterans Days.

A Dollar Worth A Dime

By HOWARD KERSHNER and EDWARD ROWE

One of the most colorful and articulate voices on the American scene today is that of Mr. Jenkins Lloyd Jones, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Here are some facts which Jones released through the Business News Service of the Chamber of Commerce just recently.

Compared to the 1913 dollar, today's dollar is worth only 27 cents, and if the present 50 per cent rate of inflation continues, in 25 years it will be worth only a 1913 dime.

The cause of the inflationary trend is deficit spending by the federal government, wage-gouging by government-favored labor unions, and federal money spent by businessmen.

Over the past 10 years, federal spending has risen 112 per cent—from $92 billion to $195 billion. Nondefense spending jumped 163 per cent in that time from $37 billion to $98 billion. The increases include: Federal payroll costs, up 100 per cent; community development and housing, up 180 per cent; health and welfare spending up 200 per cent; education and manpower up 500 per cent.

Interest on the debt has jumped from $9 billion to $17 billion a year and the national debt has increased $55 billion. This amounts to plucking one $1,000 bill out the window every six seconds, day and night, for the past 10 years.

Of the consequences of inflation, Mr. Jones said: "What welfare is there in old-age pensions paid off in potato chips? What social security is there in a carefully accumulated life insurance program that matures in dust? What honesty is there in government bonds that you eventually might light your cigar with, if you could find a cigar?"

"This is no uncharted road. The trail of history is lined with the bleached bones of social systems that imagined that prosperity and a money supply are synonymous.

"And the ruination of workers is the surest result. People with cash reserves can find some hedges while the currency still has value. They can rush to buy land or diamonds or foreign currencies. It is the man who depends upon his weekly paycheck who goes over the falls first and drops the farthest."

WIT AND WHIMSY

George (a visiting Englishman to an American friend) The increasing divorce rate is rapidly making America the land of the free, all right.

Harry (the American, a somewhat henpecked husband) —Yes, but the marriage rate is increasing too, showing that America is still the home of the brave.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The World Almanac cites Oct. 30, 1938, as a red-letter day in the history of mass hysteria. Orson Welles, hosting radio's Mercury Theater, presented a dramatization of H. G. Wells' "War of the Worlds," in which Martians were reported to be landing in New Jersey. Thousands of listeners, unaware of the fictional nature of the program, were driven into a state of panic which persisted as long as 24 hours.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by: Lesson: Those famous, new-style, earthy movies favored by the young motion picture audience continue to meet general indifference on television. . . the film "Tom Jones" scored only mild ratings success—and was therefore a disappointment—in its network airing several weeks back. . . now comes word that "Georgy Girl" finished a dreadful 61st in the latest national rankings. . . point.

Weather Hurts Cotton Crop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department today estimated the weather-damaged 1969 cotton crop at 10,036,000 bales, down 492,000 bales from last month's forecast. The estimate compared with a 1968 crop of 10,948,000 bales and the very short 1967 harvest of 7,458,000 bales. In an effort to get production back up next year, the department has already boosted the 1970 cotton planting allotment to 17 million acres, up one million from this year. The forecast for Texas as of Nov. 1 indicated a crop of 2,950,000 bales down 300,000 bales from the Oct. 1 estimate. The Nov. 1 figure compared with a 1968 cotton crop of 3,525,000 bales. The Crop Reporting Board, on the basis of Nov. 1 conditions, estimated cotton yields this year would average 439—the lowest since 1967—pounds of lint an acre compared with 516 pounds in 1968 and 447 pounds in 1967. Earlier this season, the crop had been estimated at over 11 million bales, but bad weather and insect damage in September brought the estimate down to 10.5 million bales on Oct. 1. The drop was a blow to federal farm planners who had revised their planting control program for 1969, eliminating previous payments for acreage retirement, in hopes of getting production up this year. Included in today's estimate was a 79,500 bale crop of extra-long staple American Egyptian cotton compared with 79,200 bales last year. This cotton is grown in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

It may well be that the outbursts of earthiness on video from new-style films, a concern of conservative viewers, may be minimal after all as networks and studios fall back on their own homemade movies, which they know they can construct specifically to attract television's generally older audience. Add ratings: CBS-TV's prime-time pro football game came in a remarkably strong 26th among all shows. . . it was broadcast on a Monday night, which should please the opposition network ABC-TV because, starting next fall, it will present weekly pro football games in Monday's prime time. . . CBS-TV's "Hawaii Five-O," by the way, continued to build ratings strength, finishing 23rd. . . and the same network's new comedy series "The Governor and J.J.," with Dan Dailey and Julie Sommers, ranked a solid 30th. Kid stuff: CBS-TV's "Children's Hour," a series of occasional Saturday daytime drama specials for youngsters, debuts Dec. 13 with "J.T.," a tale of a lonely New York Negro boy who befriends a wounded cat. . . NBC-TV's "American Rainbow," a monthly series of Saturday morning children's specials, bows in Dec. 27 with the story of a Korean orphan boy's first view of the United States. . . Title: "Christopher Discovers America."

The Headliners: Peter Ustinov stars on NBC-TV's "Hallmark Hall of Fame" Feb. 6 in the Rod Serling drama "A Storm in Summer," about a delicatessen owner in upstate New York who unexpectedly finds himself playing host to a young boy from Harlem. . . Burt Bacharach toplines NBC-TV's "Kraft Music Hall" Nov. 19, as host to Lena Horne, Tony Bennett and Ballet dancer Edward Villella.

Astros To Carry Atomic Power Plant Into Space

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Apollo 12's astronauts will set up a nuclear generator on the moon powered by eight pounds of man-made plutonium worth $1 million. It is the first atomic power plant to be carried in space by men, and elaborate precautions have been taken to prevent it from contaminating the earth in the event of a launch disaster.

The generator, an 18-inch-tall cylinder with six large fins, converts heat from the radioactive decay of the plutonium 238 fuel directly into electrical energy. It weighs 43 pounds and has no moving parts. The unit, developed by the Atomic Energy Commission, is expected to produce a minimum of 63 watts to power Apollo 12's five surface experiments for at least a year, day and night. Apollo 11's moon quake meter was kept going in daytime only by sunlight. The plutonium 238 fuel has a half life of about 90 years, which means at the end of that time it will be supplying half its original heat. The U.S. space agency said the cost of the fuel was $1 million. Unlike other forms of plutonium, plutonium 238 cannot cause a nuclear explosion. But all forms of plutonium are extremely poisonous and rigid safety precautions are taken for their use.

Astros To Re-Visit Earth's Neighbor

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—For the second time men are about to walk on the moon. What is it like, this nearest neighbor of earth? Its surface is jagged with mountains rising as high as 20 thousand feet, pitted with craters ranging from a few inches to 180 miles across. A layer of fine, gray dust—like sand or silt—covers this uninviting surface.

The plutonium 238 fuel will be carried to the moon in a special container mounted on one of the four legs of the lunar module Intrepid. The fuel cask is designed to withstand the worst possible launch explosion. "The whole thing was designed so that if you had some launch abort or some problem you would not have endangered anyone on earth," Alan Bean said recently. "The thing we worry about is the temperature of it. It is pretty warm, about 1,400 degrees, after you leave it out for a while." It will be Bean's job to remove the fuel element from its container on the lunar module and carry it to the generator. He will use a long-handled tool that will keep him safely away from it. As soon as the plutonium is slipped into the generator, the unit will start generating electricity. Although the generator is the first of its kind to be carried on a manned spaceflight, eight nuclear power systems have been installed on unmanned spacecraft launched by the space agency and the Department of Defense.

There is no air, no moisture. Temperatures plunge to 279 degrees below zero Fahrenheit in darkness and soar to 243 degrees above zero in the sunlight. Day and night each lasts two weeks. The chemical makeup of its soil, at least at Tranquility Base where Apollo 11 landed in July, is much different from that of earth. The moon is 2,160 miles in diameter and 6,790 miles in circumference, both about one-fourth the corresponding measurements of the earth. It orbits an average distance of 238,857 miles above our globe, one orbit every 28 days, keeping the same face turned toward the earth. The moon travels through space at 2,287 miles an hour. Lunar gravity exerts one-sixth the force of gravity on earth, so an object that weighed 60 pounds on earth would weigh only 10 pounds on the moon. That is why astronauts walking on the moon bound as on a trampoline. Scientists are not sure how the moon was formed. The three main theories are that it was once part of the earth and split off; that it evolved as a separate body at the same time the earth was formed; that it formed somewhere else in space and wandered until it was captured by the earth's gravitational field. Whatever its origin, the moon is ancient. Scientists say the rocks returned to earth by Apollo 11 date back so much as 4.5 billion years, to the very beginnings of the solar system.

Moon Rocks Sent Around World

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The space agency has distributed almost 18 pounds of moon rock from Apollo 11 to scientists around the world. "All of the principal investigators have received a major portion of what they were scheduled to receive," an agency spokesman said. The Apollo 11 astronauts came back to earth with 48 pounds of moon rock and soil. Most of this will remain at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory in Houston, but a two-pound rock is on display at the Smithsonian Institution and another chunk is on display at the Houston Space Center. The agency began distribution of another 18 pounds of lunar samples to 106 scientists in the United States and 36 in eight foreign countries on Sept. 12. These scientists are to report on results of their experiments in January at a conference in Houston. By early November, a space center spokesman said, scientists had received all but 100 grams (about .02 pound) of the 18 pounds scheduled to go to them. All 142 scientists, he said, have received at least some samples. The undistributed samples, the spokesman said, consisted mostly of thin polished rock slices for microscopic geology studies and a little bit of lunar dust. Preliminary studies of the rocks and the soil indicated they may date back as much as 4.5 billion years and that their chemical composition is different from that of earthly material. Studies now under way will look for evidence of organic material, geologic form and origin.

Advertising is a serious investment. . . art, engraving, typography and copy are costly. All are planned carefully to attract readers who are prospects for the merchandise or service. No business can afford to waste any part of this investment in any medium that cannot guarantee definite circulation and readership. "Waste basket circulation" in post offices, and so called throw-aways that usually travel to the incinerator are of little or no value to the advertiser.
