Two Pampa 'Baby Bicycle Burglars' Loot LeFors Food, Lumber Stores EWING ORDERS FUNDS PROBE

Boys Found Asleep Beside Eight Baskets

Rode To LeFors On Bicycles; Goods Stored In House

Local officers today were stumped by the incredible deeds of two young Pampa "bicycle burglars," nine and ten years old. Last night, the two boys took bicycles from the Thomas Grocery and Irving grocery, both in South Pampa, and then pedaled to LeFors and burglarized a lumber company and food store of merchandise valued at $110.

The boys were found asleep this morning in four bedside light baskets piled high with all kinds of food. Also toppling around them were mounds of loot taken from the lumber company.

The boys were taken into custody this morning by Justice of the Peace E. A. Vance of LeFors. Later, Sheriff Cal Rose and Leo Wilson, fingerprint expert, arrived and brought them back to Pampa. The boys' bicycles were left at the city police station and the boys were taken to the offices of the sheriff's department in the courthouse.

The younger of the two boys, nine years old, was involved last night in the attempted burglary of the Pampa Hardware store. A brother of the boy was found inside the store by an employe of the local store. He had smashed a window and was preparing to escape when the hardware company employe arrived.

Smash Store Window Alternately talkative, sullen and gay, the two boys answered the officers' questions freely, according to the sheriff and policeman. They admitted breaking the front window of the Standard Food store in LeFors, the officers said, taking the time while they unloaded eight baskets of food and tobacco, and then pedaling the heavy baskets to the

Pampa 1938 Fire Loss Record Set At $12,242.72

Firemen made 112 runs within the city limits, which included the Talley Addition, and 25 rural runs during the year. Firemen also made four runs with the department's inhalator.

Total value of property involved in fires during the year was $1,135,590. Of that amount $712,455 was the value of buildings and $423,135 the value of contents. Buildings and contents of the buildings involved were insured for $559,326.

Total loss for the year, insured and uninsured, was $21,779.72 divided as follows: buildings, $6,153.71 and contents, $13,626.01. Insured loss was divided as follows: buildings, $7,084.71 and contents, $6,541.01.

Fire Chief White's report showed that firemen made 4,030 inspections and found 341 fire hazards of which 275 were corrected.

There were 21 fires to which the department was not called.

Insured fire loss during 1937 was $3,433 and during 1936 was $17,467 Chief White said.

Elliott Roosevelt Would Ask Congress To Cut Rail Rates

FORT WORTH, Jan. 3 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt favors Texas taking an appeal direct to Congress to secure relief from "discriminatory freight rates," should the Interstate Commerce Commission fail to grant their wishes, he said in a statewide radio broadcast last night.

Present rates are throttling the industrial development of the state, he said, asserting that rates in Texas are 41 per cent higher than in the industrial East and that the differential was 85 per cent in the extreme western portion of the state.

College Dean To Talk At Kiwanis Banquet Here

Dr. Howard Taylor, dean of the Oklahoma College for Women, Chickasha, Okla., who will be the principal speaker Thursday night at the annual installation banquet of the Pampa Kiwanis club, is considered one of the most brilliant public speakers in the Southwest.

At the college he is professor of psychology and philosophy, and is widely known for his research in psychology and child development.

Dean Taylor has been a member of the faculty of the Oklahoma College for Women for 15 years. During the time he has served as dean, the major state institution of higher learning has become one of the best known colleges for women in the United States, with an annual enrollment of 1,100 young women.

Dr. Taylor is active in civic organizations of Chickasha, and is a member of the United States and its Rotary club. He is a brilliant and witty speaker and holds a Ph. D. degree from Columbia university, New York City.

Following the banquet, scheduled for 8 p. m. in Hotel Schneider, the annual Kiwanis installation night dance will be held in the hotel ballroom.

Navy Department Asks 30 New Bases

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—The navy department told congress today it was in urgent need of 30 new air, submarine, destroyer and mine bases in the United States and its outlying possessions to meet the "normal operations" of the fleet.

Secretary Swanson transmitted to speaker Bankhead a 90-page report of a special naval board which surveyed the base requirements of the fleet.

Listing 30 separate projects as the ultimate need, the board, headed by Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, said it had no hesitation in naming nine for the mid-Pacific, Alaskan and Puerto Rican areas which it regarded as "necessary of accomplishment at the earliest practicable date" without regard to the expansion contemplated by the big navy act passed last year.

The most important project, the board said, were naval air bases at Kahooha Bay, Midway Island, Wake Island, Guam, Johnston and Palmyra Islands in the mid-Pacific; Kodiak and Sitka Island in Alaska and one at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

"An immediate expansion of training facilities at Pensacola (Fla.) is mandatory," he report continued. The navy's principal air school is located there.

Jerry Sadler Lays Off Three More Employes AUSTIN, Jan. 3 (AP)—The pruning knife swung into action again today in state railroad commission offices. Commissioner Jerry Sadler announced discharge of three additional employes in a government economy drive. They were H. G. Heard, $300 a month chief petroleum accountant here; Frank T. Ward, $250 a month senior accountant here, and M. A. Arnold, $225 a month deputy oil and gas supervisor at San Antonio.

Masonic Home May Play Under New League Plan

AUSTIN, Jan. 3 (AP)—The Inter-scholastic league executive committee today submitted to member schools a referendum which, if approved, would permit football teams in any classification to play in the highest ranking AA conference by a unanimous vote of district members last month.

The move by league officials was seen as an effort to counteract sharp criticism of a recent re-classification on an enrollment basis of schools which removed the Fort Worth Masonic Home and other teams from top-ranking competition.

Masonic Home's mighty Mites, assigned on the new basis to the Class B or third-ranking classification, fought their way into the semi-finals of the state championship playoffs last month.

As explained by Dr. T. H. Shelby, director, the amendment, if carried, would not limit the present provision for admitting schools from the next lower conference on three-fourths vote of a district committee but would liberalize the rules to permit admission by unanimous vote of a school in any lower conference to any higher conference.

Three other proposed amendments to existing rules submitted for a vote were prohibition of football practice between the close of spring training and Sept. 1 each year, close of the grid season on Dec. 1, to prevent schools from playing games other than regular play-off contests, and limiting spring training to one calendar month.

Receiving confirmation the proposition and his wife were held by Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco in a ramification of the "dirty shirt" spy case, the foreign office instructed the British agent in Burgos to demand the right to see Golding and to obtain the best possible legal aid for him.

Golding is a Welshman and his wife, formerly Spanish, now is a British subject. Golding has held his present honorary position ten years.

County Farmers Paid $227,496 In Spring For AC Compliance

Gray County farmers complying with the 1937 agricultural conservation program were paid a total of $227,496 in the spring of 1938, according to the annual report of County Farm Agent Ralph R. Thomas. The report was released today.

In addition to the $227,496, Gray County cotton farmers received $34,575 in 1937 cotton price adjustment payments during the months of September and October.

It was estimated that at least 95 per cent of Gray County farmers, and ranchmen complied in some manner with the agricultural conservation program. It was brought out that the ranchmen were especially interested in the agricultural conservation program of 1938. Practically every ranch in the county complied with the program by building dams, deferring the grazing on 25 per cent of the ranch during growing season, and drilling wells. There was a total of 77 dams built in compliance with the farm and ranch program in 1938. These dams contained approximately 139,000 yards of dirt.

The majority of these dams were either laid off under the supervision of the county agent or Range Inspector E. S. Carr.

There was a total of 32,924 acres of deferred grazing in the county during the year. It was pointed out that this was especially valuable for erosion control since the turf of grass probably retarded both wind and water erosion more than any other practice.

There was over 9,000 acres either contoured or basin listed summer fallow, and 7,625 acres of crops grown on the contour with 746 acres of terraces built during the year.

Range Control Successful Relative to the value of the ranch program to the ranchmen, E. B. Johnson, who operates a 35 section ranch in the southern part of the county, said that the program was successful.

Justice Brandeis, who delivered the decision, said that "the substantial power of the state to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquor is undoubted."

No dissent was announced.

Fire Destroys 'Red' Barn At City Limits

Pampa Landmark For 25 Years Goes Up In Smoke Today

Fire destroyed a landmark south of the city limits this morning when the "Red" barn and its contents were burned. Known to everyone as the "Red" barn, it was built more than 25 years ago by E. E. Barrett. Old timers remember the sign on the roof "E. E. Barrett, home of the Shorthorns."

Fire was first discovered late yesterday afternoon by Henry and Albert Reynolds, who leased it from Homer Hays. They extinguished the fire but apparently failed to completely smother the blaze and about daylight this morning flames suddenly burst from the sides of the building. With no water near, firemen were helpless and the building and its contents burned.

About 40 tons of maize had been placed in the barn, the last load during the afternoon. A new tractor and new feed grinder were also stored in the barn.

Many head of white face cattle and one saddle horse were in a corral adjoining the barn. Vance Rhea, one of the first to discover the fire, opened a gate and drove the animals into a nearby pasture and none were burned.

Loss will be several thousand dollars.

100 Men Employed In Paving Program

More than 100 men are being given employment in the city-wide paving program City Manager W. T. Williamson revealed today. Dozens of city blocks have been paved at the lowest cost in history. Many blocks are being paved and others will be paved in the near future.

The city manager, after hours of figuring, announced that workmen had laid 19,631 lineal feet of curb and gutter, excavated 8,504 cubic yards of caliche base, laid 19,000 square yards of black top and removed 17,000 cubic yards of subgrade during 1938.

The city-wide paving program is a Works Progress Administration project.

The city's Public Works Administration water extension program is progressing rapidly. Workmen yesterday started excavating for the foundation for the 300,000-gallon elevated water storage tank in the east part of the city.

Walker 'Delighted' With P. O. Report

Postal receipts for 1938 showed a decrease of only 4.76 per cent from 1937. Postmaster C. H. Walker reported this morning. The postmaster was delighted with the report, considering that 1937 was the biggest year in the history of the office. Receipts for 1938 were nearly $5,000 more than during 1936, he stated.

December business for 1937 showed a decrease from the same month of 1937, receipts for 1938 being $10,573.71 compared with $10,573.71 for the same month of 1937.

Receipts of the office for 1938 were $78,098.44 compared with $82,008.91 or a decrease of $3,909.91.

Dies Blames Perkins For Alien Agitators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—The Dies committee placed responsibility on the labor department today for a large part of subversive espionage activities and propaganda in the United States.

Reporting to the House on a five-month inquiry of un-American activities, the committee accused the department of failure to enforce the deportation laws.

The laxity with which the department of labor deals with alien agitators would be unbelievable if we did not have before us the most convincing proof," the voluminous report said.

"Due to limited time and funds, we were unable to go into this question as fully as it deserves, but from the facts which we had obtained, we are convinced that a large part of the espionage and un-American activities and propaganda carried on

'Honky-Tonks' Denounced By Pampa Judge

'Get To Bottom' Of Reports, Jurors Advised By Judge

Members of the 31st district court grand jury were instructed to make a diligent investigation, "to get to the bottom" of reports that there was corruption in the Gray county courthouse and to make a report to the court, by District Judge W. E. Ewing as the 31st term this morning.

"An office is a sacred trust," Judge Ewing said. "If there has been fraudulent misapplication of public funds, it is your duty to determine the truth of the matter, let the chips fall where they may."

"The public is entitled to such an investigation and the county's officers are entitled to it," the judge said.

Three Murder Cases Pointing out that the last three grand jurors have had little to do, Judge Ewing contrasted that situation with the present, saying there had been a flare-up within the past 60 days, with three murder cases to be heard.

He emphasized the difficulty that sometimes occurred in obtaining convictions in murder cases, saying there were many legal loop holes for the defendants. Among these he mentioned were misuse of the plea of self-defense, and severance trials. In the latter, in a case where several persons were jointly charged, it was possible for separate trials to be granted. One of the defendants might ask to use one of the other defendants as a witness in his case, if the other were acquitted. Judge Ewing said he never knew of such a witness ever being supplied. He mentioned the expense the state incur when special venire of 100-150 jurors were called.

Gambling "joints," dives, and "honky-tonks" were scored by Judge Ewing. "These places reap a harvest of bugs. If we slow crime and corruption we reap crime and corruption," the judge declared.

Lax Enforcement Breeds Crime. "When there is open and notorious gambling going on it is due to one of two things the officers are either incompetent or unwilling to suppress it. If we slow crime and corruption we reap crime and corruption," the judge declared.

Ranking Officer Of Confederates Dies In Houston

HOUSTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—Hale and hearty until Sunday, General N. B. Harless, 93, ranking officer of the Confederate veterans in Texas and honorary life commander of the trans-Mississippi division of the United Confederate Veterans, died in a hospital today.

A retired jeweler, he was stricken with a heart attack on New Year's day and rushed to a hospital. He gradually began sinking before dawn today and death came a short time before noon.

Born in New Hope, Ala., on April 27, 1846, he joined the 49th Alabama Infantry in 1862 at the age of 14. Because he was a lad, and small of stature, his commanding officer refused to swear him into the service, but 20 days before Harless was 15 years old he participated in his first battle—Shiloh—and went on through the war between the States with the Alabama Infantry.

Active in the work of the veterans of the Gray army, General Harless at the last general reunion was elected the honorary life commander of the trans-Mississippi department of the U. C. V.

The body will lie in state until Thursday, relatives said today. Funeral arrangements had not been completed.

Surviving in Houston are his wife, Mrs. Harless, J. M. Harless of Gulfport, Miss., and Harry L. Harless of Greenwood, S. C.; two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Brown of Rio Kondo, Texas, and Mrs. Hattie Martin of Salisbury, N. C.; a sister, Mrs. Ida Sullivan of Alabama and a brother Jesse Harless of Alabama.

Slate To Decorate Man Who Saved 5

AUSTIN, Jan. 3 (AP)—In the first ceremony of its kind in Texas history, the state will decorate Alvin Granger, 32-year-old Orange man, Thursday in recognition for saving the lives of five persons whose car plunged into 10 feet of water in a canal near Orange last week.

Granger will be escorted to Austin by a squad of highway patrolmen and will be paraded from his hotel to the capitol steps for the presentation.

Granger has been chosen by the Public Safety Department as traffic safety hero number one for 1938. He rescued E. A. Sloum of Baton Rouge and four members of his family when their car rolled down a 15-foot embankment into the canal, Granger plunged into the water, kicked the windows out of the submerged car and extricated the passengers all of whom possibly would have drowned, police said.

Naval Superiority In Pacific, New Posts In Atlantic Are U. S. Needs

By GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT (Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.)

Wars don't just happen. They arise out of differences between nations, or are deliberately begun by one side as an instrument of achieving national ambition, or from fear.

The planners of our national defense must consider (1) why we might be drawn into war with various nations, (2) what we and they would be trying to achieve by such a war, and (3) what means are at our disposal and at theirs to gain these respective ends.

To take our Pacific front first, there is but one nation in that area with which we are likely to be involved in hostilities—Japan. A war with Japan will not be apt to occur because of something Japan does to us in our own part of the world. It will be far more apt to occur because of something which Japan does in Asia which we object to and are determined to stop, even by force.

Thus we might go to war to compel Japan to cease interference with our trade in the Far East. This would very likely come as the last act in a long contest, begun by trade reprisals, economic embargoes, and similar measures. Or we might be confronted by a Japanese attempt to seize the Philippines, perhaps as one result of our cutting off her oil imports from this country—the Philippines being a stepping stone to the Dutch East Indies, her most important source of oil supply next to the United States.

A war with Japan would be a long-drawn out affair. There is very little hope that Japan could do to injure us, once she had seized the Philippines and Guam and wiped out our military and commercial establishments in China.

While our navy remained superior, she could not send overseas such a great expedition as would be needed to attack Hawaii, much less our west coast. Small air raids from carriers might be delivered against our coastal cities, and commerce raiders might attack our merchant ships sporadically.

But for us to bring Japan to terms, it would be needful for us to establish a base in the Western Pacific from which our navy could so interfere with Japan's sea communications—apart from which, she becomes more and more industrialized, she is increasingly dependent—as to compel her either to abandon the contest, or make a last desperate effort for relief by sending her fleet out to fight.

Thus, in considering the strategic importance of the Pacific, the all-important consideration for us is always to maintain a considerable naval superiority over Japan. While we have such superiority, we can, if needs must, although at great trouble and with heavy loss, so gravely threaten Japan as to force her to yield. Japan, on the other hand, can never do the like by us while her fleet remains inferior.

Our best hope of staying out of so costly and terrible a war as would be entailed in the step-by-step process of fighting our way across the Pacific until we had come close enough for our purpose will be to keep up our naval and military establishments at a level at which there will be no doubt in Japanese minds of our ability to inflict deadly injury upon them—if they compel us to. The chances will then be excellent that they will not enter upon a course of action in which risk so heavily outweighs advantage.

In the Atlantic, the most serious threat of war—other than one coming involved in a European conflict as we were in 1917—seems to be a German or German-Italian attempt to establish areas of conquest in Latin-America, either directly or by supporting dissident factions in some Latin-American country.

In either case, the attempt must be based on sea communications, and is initially a matter to be dealt with by our navy. While the strength of the latter may be sufficient in ships, it needs also bases to give it freedom of action. Agreements with Latin American states to this end will be useful, especially with Brazil, whose ports command the greater part of the South Atlantic Ocean, where we have no bases at all.

The air threat, to which Britain and France were compelled to yield at Munich, is hardly serious for us as yet. Yet it is as well to realize that this is only true while no bases on this side of the Atlantic are in the possession of any aggressive-minded nation.

The northeastern part of our country, where are concentrated our centers of political, industrial, commercial and financial power and a third of our population, affords an objective for enemy bombers scarcely less tempting than the island of Great Britain.

The defense of this part of the country, if it be threatened, must ever be our first consideration. The mass flight of Air-Marshal Balbo, via the Faeroes, Iceland, Greenland and Labrador, showed the practicability of this air route. The first three stepping-stones being to or from controlled by Denmark, which country is a neighbor of expanding Germany and has indicated a friendly attitude toward us.

"The all-important consideration for us is always to maintain a considerable naval superiority over Japan." American vessels of war maneuver "somewhere in the Pacific."

The fact that any conqueror of Denmark might conveniently use the Faeroe Islands, Greenland and Iceland as aerial stepping-stones to America, would make desirable the establishment of U. S. air and naval bases in Newfoundland. Similarly, this map shows the strategic importance — to the United States — of British-governed Bermuda, 680 miles away from New York, and of the British-governed Bahamas, off Florida.

afford to allow Bermuda to fall into the hands of any conquering power. The Bahama Islands, covering the two important waterways of the Strait of Florida and the Windward Passage, afford many lurking places for hostile submarines and seaplanes. Bahama sea power now lies under the threat of German air power. British policy is showing a tendency to co-ordinate itself with German policy. The Monroe Doctrine, long tacitly supported by the British fleet, is now become our sole responsibility. Conditions which were tolerable when Britain was free to act in defense of her outly possessions and her Atlantic sea-lanes are not supportable under present-day conditions when the defense of this hemisphere is the responsibility of the United States Navy alone.

Prison System's Manager May Be Discharged Soon

HOUSTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—A statement issued by three members of the Texas Prison Board complained against the prison system's management by O. J. S. Ellingson and hinted at "early discharge of the general manager."

But Ellingson, who attended the board meeting here yesterday, declared at Huntsville nothing had been said in his presence about his discharge and that he "had no idea of it."

Mrs. C. A. Teagle of Houston, Dr. C. W. Butler Jr. of Crockett and W. A. Boyett of Bryan issued the statement. Earl Arnold of Greenville and R. W. Miller of Huntsville said no formal complaint had been made before the board.

The statement said "the general manager's inefficiency and inability to co-operate with his subordinates, and continuous waste in the construction program, may lead to an early discharge of the general manager."

Latin-American Institute For Texas U. Urged

AUSTIN, Jan. 3 (AP)—The University of Texas aspires to greatness, yet it must differ in respects from other state universities that have reached top ranking.

"This sums up briefly the major objectives of the next decade for a school soon to acquire a new president, Dr. Homer P. Rainey.

Maj. J. A. Parten, of Houston, a member of the board of regents who was most active in the 18-month search for a president to succeed the late Dr. H. Y. Benedict, believes the university must lay more emphasis on graduate work if it is to reach the level of the Universities of Michigan, California and Minnesota, for example.

Beyond that, however, there must be an extra something to lift it into a still different class. "That extra quantity, Maj. Parten believes, is a Latin-American institute.

"Texas, and more especially the University of Texas, is the best location for it," he says. "Racially, historically, geographically and in many other ways the university is adapted to such an institute."

In Maj. Parten's opinion it should embrace means of bettering and facilitating economic, social and cultural relations among the Americas. It should provide for exchange professorships and students with the great institutions of learning in Central and South America.

Library One of Asset. The groundwork has been laid, he says, pointed to the school's Latin-American library which is considered by many to be the greatest in the nation.

He revealed regents are negotiating for further additions to this library, amount which would be built the institute.

Another "bright prospect is the fact that Dr. Rainey who will become president of the university looks enthusiastically toward the building of an institute. He discussed the matter with the board of regents before his acceptance of the presidency. Maj. Parten sees the development of the institute as one of Dr. Rainey's greatest opportunities.

Classroom Load Heavy. Another opportunity is to chart a course for a better graduate school, to lay the path for more research in philosophy, the sciences, economics, and all fundamental subjects, Parten says.

Its accomplishment necessitates more money rather than increased physical plant, the money to be spent on lessening the classroom load of instructors and professors who would be given more time for research in their chosen subjects.

The university's classroom load is about twice that of the average, Maj. Parten says, and until it is lightened little can be accomplished.

The regents look to Dr. Rainey to meet these and other problems and opportunities. They did not discuss every nook and corner of the educational field for 18 months without weighing well the qualities of the man they chose.

Death Toll For New Year Hits Total Of 327

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's violent death toll over the New Year's week-end stood at 327 today as compared with more than 500 for the Christmas holidays a week ago.

At least 200 fatalities resulted from automobile collisions. There were numerous suicides and deaths by drowning, homicide, asphyxiation, falls and other causes. A score lost their lives in fires and several were killed in plane crashes.

The number of deaths from alcoholism was negligible despite record celebrations in many cities.

New York led the states with 52 dead, of whom 26 died in a suicide wave in New York City. Thirty were dead in California, 26 in Illinois, and 25 in New Jersey.

Deaths in other states: Alabama 16, Arizona 4, Arkansas 2, Colorado 7, Connecticut 4, Florida 12, Georgia 5, Idaho 1, Indiana 4, Iowa 2, Kansas 4, Kentucky 5, Louisiana 3, Maine 9, Maryland 4, Massachusetts 6, Michigan 8, Minnesota 4, Missouri 6, Montana 2, Nebraska 4, New Mexico 2, Ohio 7, Oklahoma 7, Oregon 2, Pennsylvania 11, South Carolina 4, South Dakota 2, Tennessee 3, Texas 13, Virginia 2, Washington 6, West Virginia 10, Wisconsin 10, Wyoming 1.

Grays Harbor Gets Only 77.83 Inches Rain During 1938
ABERDEEN, Wash., Jan. 3 (AP)—Grays Harbor's bountiful rainfall, a matter of local pride but a "blessing" the rest of the state glady yields to the harbor, was in eclipse in 1938.

It only rained 77.83 inches, of 6.94 inches less than the "normal" of 83.77 inches.

Even the Wynoochee Oxbow, reputedly the wettest section of the United States, and its rival, the Wishkah Meadows, had "dry" years, the Oxbow with only 137 inches and Wishkah with 110, compared with normals of approximately 170 and 140 inches respectively. The regions, with some 50 inhabitants each, are about 50 miles north of here.

Magician Invites Camera Fans To Photograph Acts

Candid camera "friends" enjoy a Roman holiday during the performance of Marquis, the world famous magician, who will appear in Pampa at the high school auditorium, Friday night at 8 p. m. under auspices of the Pampa Lions club.

Marquis encourages amateur photographers owning candid and high speed cameras to try and "catch him if they can." The wizard audaciously asserts that the fastest lens on earth cannot detect his secrets.

Featured upon his fast moving two hour program Marquis presents: "In a Spooksey," "The Great Television Mystery," "Spirits of the Keg," "The Tent of Omar," and 50 other mysteries.

The Marquis spectacle of a renaissance is exhibited amid the mystic splendor of glittering scenic draperies enhanced by special batteries of electrical equipment. A haunting musical theme adds charm to the program.

Probably no form of entertainment has more potency to the general public than Magic and to Marquis is due much credit for bringing it to its highest form of expression. His performances are like a jolly party where all the guests share in the fun-making. Especially the children are not overlooked.

Frogs Finest Club Of Year Kern Decides

(By The Associated Press) Texas Christian and Tennessee got throwing holds on the national football championship and Duke's dream of football empire faded in the bleak atmosphere of the Arroyo Seco as the football season ended yesterday on a note of violence and high hysteria.

Only a Bowl game to end all Bowl games can settle the mythical chase now. Texas Christian effectively drubbed Carnegie Tech, 15 to 7, in New Orleans Sugar Bowl yesterday while Tennessee rolled steadily into a 17-0 win over Alabama, hitherto inviolate, in the Orange Bowl at Miami to preserve the season's two most enviable records.

But if the Horned Frogs and the Volunteers gained the greatest glory, twice-beaten Southern California provided the drama. With a little over a minute to play and Duke protecting a 3-0 lead, Doyle Nave, fourth string quarterback, threw four complete passes to accomplish a 7-3 triumph for the Trojans in the Rose Bowl as 91,000 fans, the day's biggest crowd, looked on.

This defeat ended a season in which the Dukes from Durham, N. C., had marched through their schedule undefeated, untied and unscored upon, lone major aggression to accomplish this feat.

Elsewhere on the Bowl horizon Utah slapped New Mexico, 26-0, in the Sun Bowl game at El Paso with 13,500 fans in the stands and Texas Tech's passes bounced back and bit the Red Raiders as St. Mary's won, 20-13, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas before 40,000.

In two inter-sectional all-star games the West drubbed the East by 10-0 and the North pounced on a hard-earned touchdown to whip the South, 7-0.

By KENNETH GREGORY
NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 3 (AP)—Little Dave O'Brien, the All-America miler of a quarterback, has proven to the satisfaction of the football world that he is one of the greatest passers of all time.

Leading the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian to a 15 to 7 triumph over Carnegie Tech yesterday in the fifth Sugar Bowl game, the 152-pound aerial artist threw a total of 28 passes, completing 17 of them for 225 yards.

Not one of his tosses was intercepted. The Christians gained a total of 367 yards, the most in any game in the series. O'Brien's passing was down to 10 for the Skibos.

The first period was scoreless but in the next quarter TCU started from its 48 and, on passes and nice runs by Johnny Hall and Earl Clark, took an aerial on the 30 and Sparky drove over for the score. O'Brien missed the kick from placement. A few minutes later Muhu gathered in Moran's 50-yard pass to tie the score. Muhu's placement was good for the extra point and the half ended with Tech leading, 7-6.

The Texans threatened often in the third, finally starting from the TCU 20 to march for a touchdown. O'Brien tossed one to Earl Clark on the TCU 47 and he ran to the Tech 44. A few plays later Durwood Horn took an aerial on the 30 and raced for a score. Again O'Brien's placement try for the extra point failed. His toe was more accurate in the fourth, however, as he booted a field goal from the 10 for three points.

"We were beaten by a great team," said Skipper Bill Kern of Carnegie Tech after the game. "That TCU team is greater than any we had previously met and undoubtedly is the finest college eleven of this and many other seasons."

"As for O'Brien, he is the finest passer I have ever seen and he certainly proved that he has not been over-rated."

It was O'Brien's final game for Texas Christian and more than 50,000 persons saw him end his college football career in a blaze of glory.

Trojans Beat Duke 7-3 In Last Minute

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN.
PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 3 (AP)—The shadows had all but swallowed the Rose Bowl.

For 59 minutes a great Duke football team had kept its goal line uncrossed—as it had done all season. Southern California was on the verge of its first defeat in four Rose Bowl games.

Then, out of the shadows, raced a slender youth, Doyle Nave, who hadn't enough playing time in two seasons with Troy to win his letter.

Nave was coming in and the score 3 to 0 against him. From the 40-yard line Doyle rifled the ball to Al Krueger, glue-fingered end. The ball reached the 26. To Al he fired another and the ball was on the 18.

Once more he threw, and the big farm boy from Lancaster, Calif., who develops strong hands milking cows, caught the ball for no gain. Forty-five seconds remained and the dusk was deep.

Nave faded far back to his 35. Trojan blockers knocked down the Duke rushers. Doyle stood there and waited. Suddenly Krueger broke to the left, over the goal line. He was alone among 91,000 witnesses. Doyle fired the ball. Al took it and the game was won, 7 to 3, with Phil Gaspar booting the conversion.

Duke vainly tried to come back in the dying seconds, but the die was cast and soon that record Rose Bowl crowd swayed on its feet carrying 177-pound Nave off on its shoulders—splintering the goal posts into match sticks.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 3 (AP)—The University of Tennessee football team, 17 to 0 victor over Oklahoma in yesterday's Orange Bowl game here, relaxed today and received praise as a team that made no mistakes.

Many of the 32,818 persons who were here to witness the Volunteers' triumph, crush the Big Six champion that had won 14 consecutive games spoke of the speed, power and judgment that made the triumph possible.

Outweighed 12 pounds to the man in the line, the Volunteers completely throttled Oklahoma's land maneuvers and gave way only slightly late in the game to the Sooners' aerial bombs.

Bob Fox scored the first touchdown in the opening period and Capt. Bowen Wyatt kicked a field goal in the second as the Vols made the most of their opportunities. Babe Wood in the final quarter sparked a glorious 73-yard march to another touchdown.

Basketball is the great equalizer. It would take a long stretch of the imagination to envision a national football title for Bradley Tech of Peoria, Ill., and it would be just as far-fetched to think of Long Island University, Huntington, N. Y., Notre Dame and other greats of the gridiron. The easterners, in fact, don't even have a football team.

This is the time of the year, however, that the Peoria Braves and the Long Island Blackbirds play the part of giant-killer, by cutting a huge swath through big-time case circles. And how they cut it leaves unpleasant memories for the so-called collegiate top-notchers.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

Managers and captains of all Class B bowling teams in the city will meet at 8 o'clock Wednesday night in the basement of the Schnepf hotel when final plans for league play beginning next week will be completed.

In Class B are Texas Company, Gunn-Hinerman, Weir Barbers, Standard Food, and Kiwanis while Pampa Press, Dr. Pepper and Faulkner are tentative entries.

Other teams desiring to compete in Class B competition should be represented at the meeting.

To be decided at the meeting will be the number of players allowed on a team, time and date of games, amount of prize money and election of a secretary.

Every team must be represented at the meeting or their entry will be dropped from the league and another team substituted.

No league games will be rolled this week.

Not all at the New Year news is cheerful. The journals report Alex the Great flat broke in St. Louis; Canzoneri playing the subway circuit and good old Jim Hill ready to go back to the ring. . . . Sort of takes the edge off, don't it?"

Carl Hubbell's $22,500 contract tops the Giants' 1939 payroll. . . . Basketball is the best source of revenue for the fight, the sports world is launching against infantile peralys. . . . Jack Dempsey is trying to book Lou Ambers for a Miami bout in February.

Well, Mr. Budge goes tonight and we shall see what we shall see. And how about that yarn that two of his rivals (Vines and Perry) had to chip in and help Promoter Jack Harris raise the 25 grand that had to be on the line before Budge reached for his fountain? . . . The Gayle Talbots (all youse guys know that guy) can hardly wait until February 1 when they hope it will be a boy.

The fickle (to say the least) New York weather has just about tabooed talk of a 1940 Eastern Bowl game to be rolled in with the Rose, Sugar, Cotton, et cet games.

In the last few seasons these two schools have risen to the top of the basketball heap. A year ago, Bradley, coached by A. J. 'Big Train' Gets Beating In Noisy Bout

Joe Banaski and Frankie Hill finally made Referee Ray "Big Train" Clements admit that he isn't a wrestler and that he should stick to his business of referee last night at the Pampa Athletic Arena when Banaski and Hill won the team wrestling match from Clements and Bill Cazzell.

The referee, however, got some consolation out of his humiliation by making a razing fan back down between falls. The fan really gave the referee a panning during the fall but he backed water when Clements left the ring.

The maulers started fairly scorable in the opening stanza but soon turned on the heat and at 12 minutes smoke was curling from the mat. At that time Cazzell's shoulders were on the mat, which meant that Clements had to hang on alone.

With everything to gain and nothing to lose, Cazzell and Clements opened up in the second fall and it took them only three minutes to place Hill outside the ropes for the time limit. Although it was against the rules, Hill gave Banaski valuable assistance from the sidelines and it was 10 minutes before Cazzell and Clements got Banaski in the center of the ring where they pinned him.

Banaski and Hill dropped Cazzell from the picture in four minutes of the final fall and it was then that they decided to make a braver out of Clements. They refused to pin his shoulders to the mat and refused to let him lie down. Every time Clements tried to let his shoulders sag to the mat one of his opponents would pick him up. The pair finally beat him to their satisfaction in six more minutes.

Tiger Billy McEwing, the Montana bulldogger, lived up to his name as tiger when he chose both Russ Riley, his opponent, and Referee John Nemanic. Riley about held his own and the referee nearly bit McEwing's thumb off. The battle went to a draw.

DALLAS, Jan. 3 (AP)—Powerhouse St. Mary's, a bunch of lads who could model in any iron foundry, rolled back to California today with a Cotton Bowl triumph over Texas Tech and reverence for the passing tactics of the Southwest.

St. Mary's won the ball game all right, 20-13, but it had its doubts along with 40,000 fans in the final ten minutes when the West Texas Plainsmen opened up with a sky raid.

Out in front, 20-0, with eleven minutes to go, St. Mary's gave up two touchdowns and shuddered thru the possibility of a third before the Techs finally gave up.

"Those passes!" sighed Coach Slip Madigan after the game. "It was a pleasure to play those boys all right—and you can say we'll have a hell of a game out at San Francisco next season."

Outclassed until that final splash, Tech, with Gene (Bubbles) Barnett on the business end of the passes, Tarted from their own 20 after Jerry Hoover and Klotovich, the heralded sophomore, jogged to the Tech five. He whirled across for the second touchdown from there and Marefos kicked the point.

Tech's passing game St. Mary's the third counter. Tech Scores Twice In Last Minutes But Loses 20 To 13

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP)—It's quite a trick, like swallowing a watermelon without first slicing it up into one-room kitchenettes, but Mr. Edward S. Kennedy of Kansas City not only names the greatest athlete of one year in one sport; he names the greatest athlete of all years in all sports.

Mr. Kennedy climbs out of a record book to nominate Denton T. "Cy" Young, a baseball pitcher who not only was a man of a century, but a man of two centuries. He performed from 1890 to 1911, and when he voluntarily retired it wasn't because he couldn't see the plate any more, but because he couldn't see his feet. The old arm still had its zip, but his waistline needed a zipper.

Mr. Kennedy's selection is based both on durability and performance, with the fact that Cyrus won 20 or more games a season for 14 consecutive years the main talking point.

Other data dug up by Mr. Kennedy to qualify his candidate includes:
In one five-year stretch he won 167 games, an average of more than 33 per year.
He pitched 23 consecutive hitless games.
He pitched three no-hit games in one of which no man reached first. The mark has been equaled, but never bettered.
He won 511 games in his 22 years under the big top, and lost 315. His total of 826 games nearly doubles that of his nearest rival.
Young's victory record is the more remarkable, Mr. Kennedy points out, through the fact that during all but three years of the 22 he was with teams which were anything but potent.

Cotton Bowl Director Breaks With His Board

DALLAS, Jan. 3 (AP)—Distinct possibility of Texas staging rival post-season football classics next year clouded the nation's already jumbled "bowl" scene today.

Immediately after yesterday's Cotton Bowl game, which drew some 40,000 fans, it became known that J. Curtis Sanford, director-general of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, had split with his board of directors over questions of policy.

Dan D. Rogers, Dallas banker, member of Texas Christian University's board of trustees and president of the Cotton Bowl Association, revealed Sanford had withdrawn his affiliation with the Association, commented, "You can definitely say that the association's board, appointed by representatives of the conference schools, will work towards holding a post-season game for Texas next year. Mr. Sanford had lease on the Cotton Bowl stadium, but at runs two more years, but there are other stadiums. Dallas will have a fine new high school stadium and there is the possibility the game could be played in another city."

Sanford, contacted after the announcement, commented, "I will definitely hold another Cotton Bowl game next year—and for years to come."

Rogers revealed that Sanford holds the charter on the Cotton Bowl Association, has copyrighted the name and did not relinquish the charter to the association's board when it was elected several weeks ago.

Holds Charter
Sources directly in contact with the situation said Sanford had been retained as director-general at a salary of $10,000, but, at the same time, continued to hold the charter. Some ten days ago it was learned, he advised the board he wished to revert to his former percentage status.

He staged the 1937 and 1938 Cotton Bowl negotiations that the Association had posted a $20,000 minimum guarantee for St. Mary's of California for yesterday's game. Rogers said, and Sanford returned that sum when he split with the association. Sanford would like the affairs of the game during the interim.

Sanford admitted "there has been a misunderstanding with one or two individuals, but I certainly have no trouble with the Southwest Conference."

He said he had made a courtesy offer of five per cent of yesterday's net to the conference, but that it had been declined because no conference school was represented in the game.

The conference, at its mid-winter meeting recently, went on record as favoring the individual school would lead to permanent alignment of the conference with the Cotton Bowl, possibly by next season. What effect the new developments would have on that decision was not known.

Rogers said he had been informed that certain conference officials had spoken favorably of a new post-season classic.

Western Eleven Drubs East 14-0

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3 (AP)—A heavy Western team with an impenetrable wall and an effective passing attack gave its all-star Eastern opponent a 14 to 0 drubbing in the fourteenth annual Shrine charity football game here yesterday.

Both scoring plays were manipulated by Bill Patterson of Baylor university and Jim Coughlan of Santa Clara. Patterson did the pitching and Coughlan the catching. The first touchdown in the second quarter came after Patterson tossed one nearly half the distance of the field to Coughlan, who went over. In the fourth quarter Patterson heaved one from the East's 25-yard line to Coughlan for the final touchdown. On the previous play Patterson had galloped 30 yards with the ball after taking a lateral from Al Braga of the University of San Francisco.

'Cy' Young Hailed As Greatest Athlete Of All Time By Kennedy

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP)—It's quite a trick, like swallowing a watermelon without first slicing it up into one-room kitchenettes, but Mr. Edward S. Kennedy of Kansas City not only names the greatest athlete of one year in one sport; he names the greatest athlete of all years in all sports.

Mr. Kennedy climbs out of a record book to nominate Denton T. "Cy" Young, a baseball pitcher who not only was a man of a century, but a man of two centuries. He performed from 1890 to 1911, and when he voluntarily retired it wasn't because he couldn't see the plate any more, but because he couldn't see his feet. The old arm still had its zip, but his waistline needed a zipper.

Rose Bowl Hero Injured Before Game Started

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 3 (AP)—A fall in the Rose Bowl shower room nearly robbed Doyle Nave of the chance to be a football hero.

U. S. C.'s fourth-string quarterback, wearing cleats after a workout last Saturday, slipped and hit his head on the concrete floor. Several stitches had to be taken to get him ready to warm the bench for 59 minutes of yesterday's game with Duke. And he was wearing a big bandage on his forehead when he hurled a touchdown pass.

Wheeler Tournament Will Begin Friday

WHEELER, Jan. 3.—(Special)—Coach Stins Cain announces that the annual Wheeler high school baseball tournament will be held Jan. 5-7 in the high school gymnasium. According to Cain it will be one of the largest held in this section and is expected to surpass any ever held here previously.

Ten teams, not counting the locals, have entered to date and twice the number is expected to mail entry

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ.
NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP)—Dan W. Hill, former president of the Piedmont league and the daddy of Duke's crack center now is a hair tonic tycoon here. "You can search us as to how and why they ever let him get out of baseball. One of the things that you ought to start 1939 right by grabbing him off right quick. . . . Not all at the New Year news is cheerful. The journals report Alex the Great flat broke in St. Louis; Canzoneri playing the subway circuit and good old Jim Hill ready to go back to the ring. . . . Sort of takes the edge off, don't it?"

Carl Hubbell's $22,500 contract tops the Giants' 1939 payroll. . . . Basketball is the best source of revenue for the fight, the sports world is launching against infantile peralys. . . . Jack Dempsey is trying to book Lou Ambers for a Miami bout in February.

Well, Mr. Budge goes tonight and we shall see what we shall see. And how about that yarn that two of his rivals (Vines and Perry) had to chip in and help Promoter Jack Harris raise the 25 grand that had to be on the line before Budge reached for his fountain? . . . The Gayle Talbots (all youse guys know that guy) can hardly wait until February 1 when they hope it will be a boy.

The fickle (to say the least) New York weather has just about tabooed talk of a 1940 Eastern Bowl game to be rolled in with the Rose, Sugar, Cotton, et cet games.

Basketball is the great equalizer. It would take a long stretch of the imagination to envision a national football title for Bradley Tech of Peoria, Ill., and it would be just as far-fetched to think of Long Island University, Huntington, N. Y., Notre Dame and other greats of the gridiron. The easterners, in fact, don't even have a football team.

This is the time of the year, however, that the Peoria Braves and the Long Island Blackbirds play the part of giant-killer, by cutting a huge swath through big-time case circles. And how they cut it leaves unpleasant memories for the so-called collegiate top-notchers.

In the last few seasons these two schools have risen to the top of the basketball heap. A year ago, Bradley, coached by A. J. Robertson, beat the Braves for the eighteenth year, won 18 and lost one in its regular campaign, defeating Indiana, Nebraska, and Utah among others, and losing only to Northwestern by the margin of a single field goal.

This season, however, Bradley decided to get tough. . . . went out and scheduled Pitt, Nebraska, New Mexico, California, Oregon, Yale, Duquesne, Southern Methodist, City College of New York, and New York University, in addition to lesser opponents. Which practically amounts to suicide.

Robertson probably knew what he was doing. His charges swamped Pitt, Nebraska, and New Mexico before losing to California after a tiring trip to the coast.

Then they came back and routed Oregon, 52-39 at Peoria. . . . considered one of the greatest teams in the nation.

The Braves are on the warpath in their own merry way. Leading the uprising are Dar Hutchins, 6-foot-4-inch center who is headed for national honors, and Ted Panish, a great guard who was named on the Little All-America football team last fall as a halfback.

Didn't Need To Go Far

UPPER SANDUSKY, O. (AP)—Autos driven by Phil Zby and Paul H. Frey collided.

"Maybe we'd better call an officer," Eby suggested.

"Maybe I'll do it," Frey replied as he flashed a badge and identified himself as a deputy sheriff.

"Maybe we'd better call the chief of police," said Eby.

"Okay, here he is," said Frey, pointing to his companion, Police Chief Adolph Kirchner.

Then everything was settled.

Lash Again Awarded Sullivan Trophy

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP)—Don Lash, pace-maker for America's distance runners for three years, has won the Sullivan Memorial award.

The University of Indiana alumnae polled 459 points to win the annual award to the amateur athlete adjudged to have contributed the most to the advancement of the cause of sportsmanship.

Use Fast Break, Man-for-Man.
Bradley uses a lightning-fast break and a man-for-man defense. Robertson adapts his style to his material and this year he is extremely fortunate. He has a bunch of smooth ball-handlers who can do anything.

Clair Bee, Long Island major-domo, finds himself in the same situation as regards material. His basketball floor is cluttered up with it, and as a result the Blackbirds, who won 23 of 27 last season, are headed for the heights again.

And to reach the peak Bee's boys had nothing more than Southern California, California, Kentucky, Marquette, Dequesne and a dozen other top-notchers to overcome.

Chances are the Blackbirds will do a lot of over-coming, too. Bee has a veteran at every position. He took his team on a barnstorming exhibition tour to Puerto Rico early last fall and won nine straight.

Bill To Form State Bar To Be Advocated

By WILLIAM E. KEYS.

AUSTIN, Jan. 3 (AP)—Two paragraphs on a piece of paper might blind Texas' 6,000 lawyers into an organized legal group next year.

Streamlined and free of features which some have blamed for its failure to pass at four previous sessions, a proposed bill—its contents packed into two pithy paragraphs creating an integrated state bar, is sure to turn up in the beginning next Tuesday.

In common language it could be called an all-inclusive and compulsory bar with a measure of self-government, similar to that in effect in 21 states and which, proponents claim, can have none but good effect upon the public and the profession.

The proposed measure, introduced by the executive committee of the Texas Bar Association, the Texas Civil Judicial Council and scores of local bar groups, would require all licensed attorneys to register annually with the clerk of the Supreme Court and pay a fee not to exceed $5.

In addition it would give the high tribunal authority to make rules and regulations for the practice of law and to set up a code of ethics, retaining, however, the right of trial by jury in disbarment proceedings.

To opposition charges of "regimentation," friends of the bill cite its one obligation upon attorneys—payment of a registration fee.

There are no other obligations to the lawyer who has been used to ordinary honesty in his practice with his clients and dealings with the courts, they claim.

Listed as its major benefits are: Elevation of the profession in the public mind with resultant improved service to clientele.

Effective dealing against unathletic practices.

Sponsors admit integration is an ideal never absolutely attained and countered with a claim disintegration has too long been an actuality.

Rugged individualism has been of little or no aid to the profession as a whole, they state, it points to the "retarded" future of voluntary associations which tend to represent a minority rather than a majority voice.

They also admit of its coercive nature—in so far as registration is compulsory—but in view of this feature, as necessary to the success of the plan, they believe it is a necessary evil.

An outspoken champion of the measure, former Rep. Fred M. Knecht of Seguin, argues a universal bar would represent the majority opinion of Texas lawyers and points to a membership of little more than 3,500 in the Texas Bar Association, a voluntary organization.

"With a unified bar the legislature, as well as the general public, would take notice of any cause or proposition having the endorsement of the bar," he says.

200 Gavels Given To John Garner

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—Nearly 200 gavels have been presented to Vice President Garner, so he expressed confidence today that he could maintain order and dignity in the Senate.

"I really don't need any of the gavels," Garner remarked.

"It's easy to get these Senators to quiet down," he said, "I just buy one or two little tabs, then I hold up my hands and look them in the eye."

Opening of a new session always is a test of agility, he continued, because there are usually half a dozen gavels that some Senator or friend wants used.

"I use all of them" the Vice President said. "Sometimes I have to fumble around with both hands, but I get 'em all in, one way or another."

Senate attendants said that Garner's favorite gavel is a small barrel-shaped piece of white ivory. It is said to have been used by every Vice President since the first days of this republic. It does not even have a handle.

Garner confided that presiding in the Senate is much easier than his old job of rapping the gavel as Speaker of the House.

"That's a bull pen over there," Garner said, but he added sadly, "nevertheless it's my first love."

Crude Production Drops Over Nation

TULSA, Jan. 3 (AP)—Decreases in the production of all major producing areas except the east brought the nation's crude oil production down 250,888 barrels daily during the week ending Dec. 31 to a daily average of 3,260,827 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Texas accounted for most of the decrease. Its two-day a week shut-downs were resumed after Dec. 24, the one Saturday in five in December designated by the railroad commission to allow the wells to flow.

Oklahoma's production dropped 1,925 barrels daily to 421,925. East Texas 72,706 to 373,339 and the total States except Texas 1,903,777 to 1,289,542.

In Louisiana there was a decline of 2,133 barrels daily to 260,014. California's output was down 44,550 barrels daily to 614,750 and Kansas recorded a drop of 7,900 to 149,100.

Eastern states, including Illinois and Michigan, showed an increase of 4,241 barrels daily to 375,416 and the Rocky mountain section had a decline of 5,580 barrels daily for an average of 67,260.

Japan Sends New General To Rule China

By LLOYD LEBRAS.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 3 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Ozoto Yamada, new commander of Japan's legions in China, today faced the monumental task of consolidating the gains made in 18 months of costly fighting.

Whether he would attempt to extend the invasion further into the interior it was not known, but many foreign observers considered his appointment to succeed General Shunroku Hata as foreboding a definite change in Japanese tactics.

These observers held that major military operations had been completed and that the campaign henceforth would be directed at wiping out guerrilla opposition and pacifying partially conquered regions.

That in itself was regarded as a formidable undertaking. During the past 18 months the war has spread over 13 provinces: Hopeh, Suiyuan, Chahar, Shansi, Shantung, Honan, Kiangsu, Anhwei, Hupeh, Chekiang, Kiangsi, Hunan and Kwangtung.

The Japanese maintain they have conquered about 900,000,000 square miles, but the Chinese admit occupation of only about one-seventh of the total area of the 13 provinces.

A neutral organized army of 800,000 men liberally equipped with modern weapons and supported by 1,200 warplanes and scores of warships.

Against the invaders Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek flung nearly 3,000,000 men but they were for the most part inadequately equipped and poorly supported by artillery, tanks and planes. At present a Chinese army of 1,000,000 men is concentrated in Hunan and Kwangsi provinces while perhaps another 1,000,000 men are fighting in various units throughout China.

The toll of lives is disputed but best available foreign estimates place Chinese losses at 1,300,000, including nearly 1,000,000 who died in action or as a result of inadequate medical attention. These estimates place Japanese casualties at 350,000, including 125,000 killed.

Daladier Reassures Bey Of French Help

TUNIS, Tunisia, Jan. 3 (AP)—Premier Daladier brought assurances to the Bey of Tunisia today that all France's military forces are ready to defend Tunisia, if necessary against any Italian threat to French domination.

The premier, who arrived at Bizerte this morning on a tour of the empire's North African colonies, conferred with the Bey at his fifteenth century palace outside Tunis shortly before noon.

He told the ruler that France was determined to keep her protectorate over Tunisia, the key to the Mediterranean, even if it means war with Italy.

The Bey assured Daladier of his loyalty to France.

A small but noisy demonstration against France threw a discordant note into an otherwise triumphant reception at Bizerte.

Coins To Be Given Members Of Legion

Twenty year commemorative coins, symbolical of the two decades since the American Legion was founded, will be distributed to all members of the Kerley-Crossman post who had their 1939 dues paid before November 15, when the post holds its regular meeting at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the Legion hall.

Members desiring service cards are asked to have all necessary data on hand and to submit this information to the adjutant. Cards are given for five, ten, fifteen and twenty continuous years of American Legion membership. This week's meeting will be the last opportunity for members of the local post to secure these cards.

Relief Funds Diverted For Political Uses, Report Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—The Senate campaign expenditures committee charged today that relief funds in several states had been diverted for political purposes.

It made no specific charges of Harry Hopkins, former WPA administrator who recently was named secretary of commerce but it called for legislation to "make impossible offenses of this character."

Concluding a long inquiry into the 1938 senatorial contests, the committee offered 16 suggestions for cleaning up elections. It cleared all the candidates personally, however, of wide variety of accusations.

The committee report of more than 400 printed pages said many charges of political activity against the WPA had not been sustained, but it added:

"The committee believes that funds appropriated by the Congress for the relief of those in need and distress have been in many instances diverted from these high purposes to political ends."

A majority of 22 complaints against the WPA administration in Kentucky, Vermont and Wisconsin, the report said, included charges of irregularities in registration and voting, abuse of the Senate franking privilege, excessive or unsupported expenditures, solicitation of federal and state officials and employees for political purposes, intimidation or coercion of employees by federal officials, use of congressionally appropriated funds for political candidates, and promises of employment in private industry in exchange for promises of votes.

CHAPTER XX
"SALLY, my sweet," Corey Porter said, for the hundredth time, "I don't see why you won't give 'in'...

There was no use now in hoping that Dan ever would return. She might as well forget him! She might as well destroy the letter that was the one thing she had left of him...

"I've got something for you," Corey said now, his blue eyes looking into hers across the intimate little table. "Since you admit there's no reason why you shouldn't accept it, my sweet, I want to give it to you today..."

The inn was practically deserted, except for a few scattered parties. The lights were low, the room warm and cozy, the gypsy orchestra was murmuring a love song.

Corey opened the box, took something from it, reached across for Sally's hand. Before she could stop him he had slipped a ring on her third finger, a square-cut diamond that sparkled up at her in a blaze of challenging brilliance.

"No, there isn't any reason," Sally answered. Truthfully, there really was not. For now Sally knew, after these three long months of heartache, that Dan would never come back. She had waited, all this while, still hoping that he might, in spite of that letter locked in her jewel case.

WHY didn't she? Sally wondered, looking at Corey. He had been very good to her, very patient for Corey. He was a young man any girl might well be glad to marry. So blond and easy to look at, so gay and glamorous, so much a part of the luxurious easy world that Sally always had known...

any other so faithful, so persistent. Anyone else who would make up her mind for her. It's time Sally told herself that she stopped thinking of Dan, hoping he might some day come back. He never would. He did not want to live in her world. He had not asked her to go with him to live in his. He had told her that she was not the sort of girl he wanted.

DURING these long months those words had been in back of every thought that Sally had had. They had wounded her at first, but gradually they had begun to hurt with a different way. They taunted her, they stung her pride, they stirred her to rebellion and on toward anger. She knew, though he had not told her, that that was what Dan, writing them, had meant they should do. He had meant to hurt her, deliberately. He had meant to arouse her anger, to make her come to despise him for them. He had wanted her to put him out of her world, forever.

Sally did not take off the ring. After she withdrew her hand from Corey's firm clasp, she left it where he had placed it. It was a very beautiful ring. The kind of ring that a girl like Sally should wear.

She laughed shortly, thinking of that. She said, "Why not?" And the light in her dark eyes was dangerously bright, as long ago it often had been. Perhaps in that instant the old Sally Blair, Queen of the carnival, party and glamor girl, came back. The Sally that that other girl, who had loved Dan Reynolds, had tried so hard to kill.

"You mean you'll wear it?" Corey asked. He had known he would win her in time. Yet somehow, maybe because of something that lay behind the brightness in Sally's dark eyes, his high moment of triumph held a tinge of remorse.

Or, maybe, in spite of being what he could not help being, Corey Porter had enough decency and goodness in him to have to experience that one moment, at least, of self contempt and reproach.

Sally nodded. What difference did it make whether she wore Corey's ring or not? What did anything matter in her gay, glamorous world? She had not succeeded in killing Sally Blair, but she could kill that other one, the one who had been Dan's friend, the girl he had believed in.

Oh, she promised herself grimly, perhaps to cover up the ache in her breast, she would begin, right now, to do a very good job of that!

There was no use now in hoping that Dan ever would return. She might as well forget him! She might as well destroy the letter that was the one thing she had left of him...

Students Invade White House On Scavenger Hunt, Get Autographs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—An uninvited young woman attempted to gain admission to the White House today while secret service agents sought to fix responsibility for the intrusion of two high school pupils into the executive mansion Saturday night.

The woman, about 20 years old, threatened to bite the officer as her escort made efforts to restrain her. A secret service agent took her across the street to the treasury headquarters for questioning.

Those being questioned today included White House policemen, colored doormen, ushers and secret service agents. A factor in their favor, some officials said, was that Secretary Morgenthau, a White House New Year's Eve guest, had informed those on duty as he entered the mansion that he expected his young son and daughter and some of their friends to arrive late.

English Crown (Coin)

LONDON (AP)—The best hoarded coin of the realm, and probably the least liked is the "five shilling" silver piece, or "crown," worth in American currency, approximately $1.25.

It is big and cumbersome, and mostly associated with "jubilees." Traders, don't like the coin, and when they get any they usually send them back to the bank quickly.

In the liquor trade there is a superstition that any bartender accepting one is destined for early dismissal.

The extinction of the coin, sometimes called "crowned," has been predicted periodically, but it keeps cropping up. The Royal Mint recently announced no more would be struck for the remainder of 1939.

Patman Drops Fight For Committee Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—Representative Patman (D-Tex.), complying with a request of House Democratic leaders, agreed today to drop his fight for a place on the House ways and means committee.

His decision left Representative West (D-Tex.) as the probable choice of the state's representatives to fill a vacancy on the ways and means committee caused by the defeat of Representative Sanders, veteran East Texas representative.

Membership of the committee is to be decided in a caucus of all House Democrats Thursday. The Texas delegation was called by Representative Poage, secretary, to meet tomorrow to determine its choice for the committee assignment.

Patman announced his decision after receiving a letter from Speaker Bankhead and House majority leader Rayburn, in which they expressed belief Patman could better serve his party and country by remaining a member of the committee on banking and currency.
