Mullen Lists Sermon Subjects For 16 Weeks

Something very unusual in special services during the coming weeks is the program announced by John S. Mullen, minister of the First Christian church. For sixteen weeks, beginning today, all of the Sunday morning and Sunday night services will be built around the theme, "The Church on the March." Mullen announces that his subject for tonight will be "The Church Is Lorn." This will be followed next Sunday by "The Church Breaks Racial Barriers," and then by "The Church Turns West."

Sunday the important turning point in the history of the church will provide the theme of the sermons, with the idea of showing how these affect the church today and how they explain many things that are going on today. On the tenth week the subject will be "The Church Goes Into Eclipse" and on the sixteenth and last week, which will be April 30, the subject will be "The Church Faces A New Day."

As interesting as the Sunday night sermons will be, the Sunday morning sermon will be just as interesting, according to the statement of Mr. Mullen. They will be on the fundamental teachings of the New Testament regarding the church or Christ's plans for the church. This morning the first sermon of the series will be on the subject, "The Church—The Body of Christ." Other subjects will be "The Church's Organization," "Life in the Church—Private Devotion," "The Church in a Dark World."

This program, "The Church on the March," is a growth and development crusade that will affect every part of the congregation's work and program.

Hitler To Build Huge Propaganda System In Latin American Cities

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 14 (AP)—Germany's "transoceanic" news service already a powerful weapon in the campaign to spread Nazi economic and political influence in Latin America, will be rebuilt and streamlined to meet United States efforts to keep "the Americas for Americans."

This was learned today from agents of the Nazi government who said the first link in the new set-up would be the opening of a modern wireless transmitting station Feb. 1 in Buenos Aires.

Another station is being built for installation at Lima but is unlikely to be ready before November.

Such apparently is Germany's answer to efforts of the American and most other delegations to last month's Pan-American conference to curtail inroads made in this hemisphere by off-continent influences and to prevent further penetration by them.

"Transoceanic" is the German government's official propaganda service and has functioned effectively in Latin America for five years. It provides world-wide news coverage to newspapers at a small cost.

On the surface all this propaganda is aimed at taking over the markets of Latin America for German manufacturers but there are indications Germany would like to spread its political influence at the same time.

Writer Socks Broker On Chin

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Ernest Hemingway, reputed tough boy of American letters, put a bullish broker to sleep in the Stork club early today with an old-fashioned lullaby—one on the chin.

The broker, who was generally agreed, asked for it.

Ernest Hemingway, as witnesses told the story of his latest demonstration of virility, was sitting in the Stork club with friends—two hundred pounds of good nature and lusty humor when the broker stumbled against his chair.

"So, you're Hemingway, huh?" he mumbled. "Tough guy, huh?"

He started rubbing his hand over the novelist's face, mumbling taunts that would have enraged even the bull.

Hemingway used to write about Hemingway didn't like it and tried to show the broker away. But the broker rubbed again.

Quentin Reynolds, the magazine writer who was with Hemingway, advocated his own policy of appeasement.

"Sock him, Ernest," he said, "but don't draw blood."

So Ernest rubbed one from the floor and put the broker on ice. And the band played on.

Senators Urge Consolidating Relief Agencies In One Unit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—A special Senate committee, proposing broad reorganization of the relief structure, recommended tonight that Congress consolidate all relief agencies into a single, new department of public works.

The report of the unemployment committee came as the Senate prepared to take up consideration of the relief appropriation bill. The House passed that measure yesterday after clipping off $150,000,000 from the figure recommended by President Roosevelt and writing in restrictions on WPA policies.

In addition to the consolidation proposal, the Senate committee recommended two other major changes.

It would increase the proportion of relief contributions required of local governments, with some exceptions. (The committee said contributions now ranged down from 22 per cent.)

The committee urged also that future WPA allotments be based

90,000 May Go To See O'Daniel Take Oath

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
AUSTIN, Jan. 14 (AP)—Old man Texas, eyes twinkling, was getting ready tonight to throw his ten-gallon hat in the air, cut loose with both six-guns and give "ousin' cowboy whoops for W. Lee O'Daniel, the flour salesman who becomes Governor Tuesday.

Ever since the Democratic primary last summer when, climaxed an astonishing campaign, O'Daniel won a precedent-shattering electoral victory, Texas has been thinking about what would happen when he became Governor. Now, with the inauguration three days distant, the state in general and the capital in particular was aglow with interest.

A month ago they were saying 90,000 would come here for the inauguration ceremony, the playing and the strutting, but no one mentions that figure any more now they talk of 90,000 to 100,000.

It looks as if Texas citizens took O'Daniel at his word when in his campaign he said if he was elected governor he wanted them all to come to his inauguration.

Hotel reservations are exhausted and residents have been asked to throw open their homes to visitors.

Red, white and blue bunting was appearing on fronts of business houses, along with yellow and white of the University of Texas. On some of the decorations were sketched large portraits of O'Daniel.

Texas Jaycee Prexy Coming For Banquet

P. L. Fontaine of Houston, state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled to address annual installation night banquet guests of the Pampa Jaycees on Monday, Jan. 23, it was announced Saturday by Dr. W. L. Campbell, chairman of the general committee which is planning the annual banquet to be held in Hotel Schneider ballroom.

Further details of the program were announced Saturday at a meeting of the general committee which, in addition to Dr. Campbell, is composed of B. M. Behrman, Carl Bennett, and T. D. Weese.

Mr. Fontaine also will install the new 1939 Pampa Jaycees officers, headed by Alton Hall president, who will succeed officers led for the past year by President C. H. Schuk y.

A modernistic theme, embodying Pampa of the future, will be carried out in the program arrangements.

John Osborne, Pampa attorney, has been named toastmaster. A special committee now is working out plans for several usual entertainment features.

On the evening's program also will be two or three numbers from the Jaycees' annual show, "The Singing Freshman," written and directed by Ken Bennett, which is to be presented Tuesday, Jan. 24, in the high school auditorium on the night following the annual banquet.

Pampa's outstanding citizen for 1938, under 35 years of age, will be announced at the banquet. Presentee See JAYCEE, Page 2

American Sentenced To German Prison

HAMBURG, Germany, Jan. 14 (AP)—A 34-year-old naturalized American, George Joseph Roth, was sentenced today to spend four and a half months more in a Nazi prison as the result of his conviction on charges of "preparation for treason."

Roth, former steward on the United States liner Washington, was arrested Nov. 28 accused of possessing a Communist newspaper printed in the German language in Le Havre, France.

At his trial in the Hensentse Supreme District Court today Roth testified he did not know the paper had Communist tendencies.

The court president told him it was "his duty to examine contents of the paper," and imposed a six-month sentence from which was deducted the month and a half he has spent in jail. No appeal from the verdict is permitted.

Roth emigrated to the United States from Germany ten years ago and became a naturalized citizen in 1921.

United States Consul - General Wilbur Keblinger and Vice-Consul Sabin J. Dalferes attended the trial.

Cold Wave Sweeps Texas Plains Areas

Somewhat colder weather was in prospect for most of Texas Sunday after a balmy week marked by rainstorms.

Although the official forecast was for colder weather tomorrow, temperatures in far northwest Texas had not dipped to freezing early Saturday night.

Lubbock reported 39 degrees with the mercury falling slowly. A low of 26 was anticipated. Partly cloudy skies prevailed over the South Plains.

El Paso early Saturday night had a temperature of 50, Amarillo 34, and Borger 38.

An 11:00 a. m. minimum of 42 early Sunday and much colder Sunday night.

Along the coast, Brownsville, Corpus Christi and Galveston temperatures remained near the 60's Saturday night.

Yep, We'll Miss Frank Allison's Sandwich Shop!

One of the best known cafes in this section of the Panhandle became non-existent Saturday night when Frank Allison closed his Canary Sandwich Shop at 312 W. Post street announced his retirement from the restaurant business.

Mr. and Mrs. Allison, among the Panhandle's most widely-known restaurateurs, came to Pampa from Denver, Colo., in October of 1928, and have been in business at the same place since that time.

Mr. Allison said he expects to devote the very near future to visiting in Colorado, and will spend most of his time in the development of a potential oilfield in which he is interested in Las Animas county, Colo.

With Al Johnson and J. H. Hulme, both of Pampa, Mr. Allison now is drilling a test well near Branson, Colo. Drilling Saturday had reached a depth of around 1,300 feet.

The Canary Sandwich shop was noted as a meeting place for newspapermen and around the coffee cups in Mr. Allison's cafe have been disclosed many of the biggest news stories to develop in this area since Pampa had its first daily newspaper about the time the Allison family came to Pampa.

Deskin Wells

Deskin Wells' Leader Judged Best In Nation

One of the nation's outstanding newspaper editors will be the speaker at the monthly joint Chamber of Commerce luncheon in the basement of the First Methodist church Monday noon. And he is a Pampa citizen, Deskin Wells of Wellington, pictured above.

Wells, editor of the Wellington Leader, is president of the Texas Press association and his paper has won many awards for being one of the best weekly papers in the nation. His paper is the first Texas Weekly newspaper Eleven, named each year by John Casey of the University of Oklahoma.

Subject of Wells' address will be "The Relation of a Chamber of Commerce to its Home Town Newspaper." Editors of papers in this section have been invited as guests of the Chamber of Commerce and to date ten have accepted the invitation.

Entertainment will be furnished from the forthcoming Junior Chamber of Commerce musical comedy, "The Singing Freshman," to be presented on January 24.

Reservations may be made by calling the Board of City Development office, telephone 394. Because of an expected large crowd, members are urged by President R. N. Stinson to secure their reservations early.

False Arrest Alleged In $20,000 Suit

Damages of $20,000 were asked in a suit filed in 31st district court Friday afternoon, in a case styled Harry Schwartz vs. Harris Food Stores et al. The sum of $12,000 actual damages and $8,000 exemplary damages is asked, with interest and costs of suit.

Plaintiff alleges that on November 23, 1938 he suffered false arrest and accusation of theft after he had purchased groceries at the Harris Food Store at 306 South Cuyler. He alleges that Marshall T. Brooks, searched him after stating that he had stolen merchandise and that not discovering any, Brooks, manager of the place, obtained a can of sardines that he threw down hard on the counter and asked Schwartz if he were going to pay for them.

After this occurred plaintiff alleges, Jeff D. Guthrie, policeman, armed with gun, came to the store and took him to the city hall where he was kept one hour. No complaint or indictment was filed against him, he says.

He alleges that as a result of the incident he became excited, suffered mental anguish and pain, was humiliated, and made ill because of Brooks' action. The accusations, Brooks is alleged to have made, he claims, were made in a loud tone and heard by friends waiting customers who were in the store at the time.

John F. Studer is attorney for the plaintiff.

PLANS DANCES

L. H. Johnson

Johnson Names Committees For Birthday Dances

Plans for celebrating the observance of President Franklin Roosevelt's birthday, funds from which will be used for the fight against infantile paralysis, are progressing here under direction of L. H. "Jack" Johnson, above, city and county chairman. Announcement of Johnson's appointment was received here Friday from national headquarters.

Yesterday Mr. Johnson named officers to assist him in completing an organization. Frank Harris was named vice chairman and Mrs. J. B. Massa was named vice chairman in charge of women's activities. C. E. "Dan" McGrew was selected as executive secretary and P. A. Peck as treasurer. Sidney Patterson was named chairman of the publicity committee.

Dances will be held here on the night of Jan. 30. Committees will be appointed to secure locations, orchestras, etc.

Half of the money raised through the dances will remain in the county and the other half will be sent to the national foundation to support its nation-wide fight against infantile paralysis.

Thumbs Ride With Officers Near Linden

Former Employe Of Book Shop Shoots Owner At Tyler

LINDEN, Jan. 14 (AP)—A disgruntled former bookshop employe who dangerously wounded one man, kidnaped another, and boasted he never would be taken alive, was captured today when he thumbed a ride with two officers.

The man shot E. N. Ragland, 57-year-old husband of the book store owner, and then forced L. L. Daniel, who happened to be driving past the Tyler shop, to drive him toward Texarkana.

Daniel fled his car when the gunman stopped for a traffic light here.

Constable George Bennett and Night Watchman Frank Shew were hunting the kidnaper 20 miles north of here when they were halted by a hitch-hiker.

They stopped and he clamored into their machine. They asked him where he was from. When he answered, "Tyler," they said, "We've got you then," and covered him with their pistols.

Chagrined and wide-eyed with amazement, the man cursed his ill luck the officers said.

"I just walked into it," he cried in dismay.

The man was taken to jail for questioning.

Daniel, Tyler man who is employed out of the Houston division of a national canned goods concern, said the kidnaper stopped on a country road during the flight and wrote instructions for the disposal of his book store property in the event he were killed.

The note was thrust into Daniel's briefcase, which was left in the car when Daniel leaped from it and dashed into a drug store, screaming.

Slaying Threats Made
"Don't let him shoot me—he's going to kill me."

Daniel's car was found by the arresting officers near the spot where they picked up the suspect.

Daniel said the man admitted he had shot Ragland and threatened several times to kill him as they raced along East Texas highways.

The abductor said he intended to get to Arkansas or Louisiana, and repeated he would never be taken alive. The man apparently had been drinking, Daniel asserted.

At Daingerfield, the kidnaper forced Daniel to accompany him to a hardware store, where he bought a fresh supply of cartridges with part of $250 he had seized at Ragland's book store.

In a statement made to County Attorney Parks E. McMichael and Sheriff Dale Allen and in the presence of a newspaperman, the suspect said that when he went to work at the store this morning, he was

300 Jews Stranded In Uruguay Capital

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 14 (AP)—Three hundred refugee Jews from Germany and Italy who were to have sailed for their homes in Paraguay found themselves suddenly stranded in Montevideo today as the Paraguayan government cancelled their visas.

Uruguayan authorities were troubled further with disclosure that 200 more Jewish refugees had arrived Monday in a similar plight. President Alfredo Baldomir called a special cabinet meeting for Monday to study the problem.

The 300 here now apparently all are persons of means. They traveled first class and took up temporary abode in the Capital's finest hotels.

The 200 due Monday, however, are all third class passengers of the smallest French vessel Lipari, and their problem may become more acute.

The refugees, equipped with Visas granted by Paraguayan Consular officials abroad, did not learn until yesterday, when they were almost in sight of their "new homeland," the Paraguayan government had cancelled all immigration permits issued since the end of November.

Harvesters Win Mobeetie Meet

Quail, "the best team we have played this year," according to Coach Odus Mitchell lost to the Harvesters in the final game of the Mobeetie tournament last night 24 to 21.

The Happy girls defeated the Mobeetie girls 49 to 36 in the girls division for the championship trophy.

Bob Andis, Harvester forward, and Pete Dunaway, Pampa guard, placed on the all-tournament team.

Quail's players were around six feet tall. They defeated Mobeetie to enter the finals. Quail was leading Pampa 16 to 15 at the half, and 21 to one at the quarter.

'Dr. Pepper' Gives Aid In Emergency

CLOVIS, N. M., Jan. 14 (AP)—The old wheeze about calling Doctor Pepper because he just costs a nickel was put into practice here, Friday afternoon.

The local bottling plant received a call from a frantic 12-year-old boy who cried, "send Dr. Pepper at once. It's an emergency." His three-year-old brother had suffered a cut wrist when he fell on a bottle and broke it, he explained tearfully.

Two Dr. Pepper distributors drove the child to a clinic for treatment.

Dr. Pepper made no charges—not even a nickel—for his services.

Mayor Opens Campaign On Bridge Gambling

FRANKLIN, Ind., Jan. 14 (AP)—Mayor L. W. Oliver announced today a drive against gambling will include Bridge parties where prizes are given.

"There will be no exception," he said. "We are not going to swallow an elephant and choke on a gnat."

Girl's Attacker Gets Eight Years In Prison

A second victory for the state was marked on the record for the January term when Robert Wellington White, 40-year-old Pampa, found guilty of a charge of assault with intent to rape drew an eight-year prison sentence, in a verdict returned Friday night by a 31st district court jury.

On Wednesday night, another district court jury brought in a verdict of guilty against Jim Hodges, who had been charged with receiving and concealing stolen property.

Hodges was released under $7,000 bond Friday afternoon, after he had given notice of appeal to the criminal court of appeals at Austin, thru his attorney, E. T. Miller of Annarillo. District Judge W. R. Ewing overruled a motion submitted for a new trial in court here.

Hodges was given 90 days from January 13 to prepare a bill of exceptions, statement of facts, and to perfect his appeal.

Sureties on Hodges' bond were L. J. Halle, Moore county rancher, and Claude Upton, Borger business man.

Sureties Examined.
Acceptance of the bond by the court was given after an examination of the two sureties by Aaron Sturgeon and District Attorney Clifford Braly. After Hodges' release, about 3 o'clock, Judge Ewing retired.

August Shown As Month For Getting Jobs

August, ordinarily thought of as a poor business month, is the best time to get a job, according to the record of placements made by the local office of the Texas Employment service during 1938.

More placements were made by the office during August than in any other month in 1938, when a total of 286 job openings were filled. The peak load of applications came during early autumn, when more than 2,500 applications were active.

Despite the fact that the office found work for more than 2,400 persons during the past year, there were 714 more persons actively seeking work on Jan. 1, 1939, as compared with Jan. 1, 1938.

Of the applications on file at the first of this year, totaling 1,963, 1,801 are from men, 162 from women. Of the 1,801 men registered, 67 are war veterans.

1,249 workers were available for employment, of which 939 were men, 289 women, and 50 of the men were war veterans.

4,000 Registered In 1938. During 1938, work was found for five times as many men as women. One-third of the jobs secured were regular, the others being for temporary employment. Work was secured for 45 veterans during the year.

More than 4,000 persons were registered with the Texas State Employment service in Pampa during 1938, although seldom has half that number been available at one time for employment.

placements are made and new applications received. Of the 4,017 persons registered with the local office during 1938, 3,561 were men and 456 were women, and 225 of the men were war veterans.

Of the 857 for whom regular jobs were found 667 were men, 190 were women, and 36 of the men were war veterans. Temporary work of less than 30 days duration was found for 1,606, divided among 1,344 men, 262 women. Nine of the men were war veterans.

Figures given are from the annual report of Lonnie Hood, senior interviewer in charge of the Pampa office of the Texas State Employment service, which serves Gray, Roberts, Wheeler and Hemphill counties.

to complete his charge to the jury in the White case. Court had reconvened at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, after a noon recess and a morning session in which White had denied knowledge of his actions on the night of Dec. 8.

The defendant was brought back for a few questions, then the jury was taken out while Judge W. R. Ewing prepared his charge.

Jury Recalled at 4:10. At 4:10 o'clock the jury was recalled to hear the court's charge, and 15 minutes later District Attorney Clifford Braly began the state's argument. Braly told the jurors that White was innocent of the crime as charged, but that he did not want to see him punished, but that men who were guilty of such things should not be allowed to have freedom.

The charge against White, who was indicted by the grand jury on Jan. 6, was in connection with an assault upon a 12-year-old Pampa girl, who was the first prosecuting witness when the case opened in court here Thursday afternoon.

Defense counsel, Newton P. Willis, in his argument, pointed out that one under the influence of marijuana, as evidence had shown White to be, was a person totally different from his natural self. Willis started his argument at 4:50 and concluded at 5:38 o'clock.

The jury brought in its verdict at 8 o'clock.

Pampans Attend Shrine Banquet At Amarillo

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Saunders and Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCoy were Pampans attending the banquet given at the Amarillo Country club in Amarillo Friday night, when several hundred Amarillo Panhandle Shriners and their ladies gathered to honor A.A.D. Rahm, Imperial Potentate of the Mystic Shrine of North America, and Mrs. Rahm.

On account of the visit of the Imperial Potentate, the regular meeting of the Pampa Shrine club, scheduled for Friday night, was postponed until 8 o'clock of the night of January 20. The meeting is to be held in the Wynne-Martin building. John Sturgeon is president and C. E. McGrew secretary of the club.

At the banquet Imperial Potentate Rahm told of the achievements of Masonry in establishing homes for the aged and orphans, student loan funds, and declared that Masonry could advertise its accomplishments through the Shrine and let the world know what Masonry is and what it is doing.

Introduced by Wilbur H. S. Wilbur, of Canadian, past potentate of Khiva Temple, introduced the Imperial Potentate. Mayor Ross D. Rogers presented Mr. Rahm with a gift from the Khiva Shriners, a beautiful hand-made belt.

Dr. L. V. Credit, newly-elected potentate of Khiva, voiced the appreciation of Panhandle Shriners for the Imperial Potentate's visit here.

J. N. Riggs, past potentate of Khiva, told Mr. Rahm that Texas Masonry has received its greatest notice through the Masonic Home football team at Fort Worth.

on population of the states and the number of unemployed in each state, as shown by the 1937 unemployment census.

The report was signed by Chairman Byrnes (D-SO), and Senators Clark (D-Mo.), Hatch (D-NM) and Frazier (R-ND). Senator Murphy (R-Mont.) concurred in all except the formula for distribution of relief funds, reserving judgment on that.

Hearings Begin Monday. Hatch said he believed there was no disposition on the part of the committee to attempt to put its recommendations into effect in the emergency relief bill, on which hearings will be begun Monday by a Senate appropriations committee.

He said the committee's report, carrying also recommendations for specific legislation to prevent political reform, would be pressed when the appropriation for the WPA for the next fiscal year is before Congress later this session.

Sentiment existed among some Senators for further trimming the size of the relief appropriations bill, in addition to throwing still more restrictions about administration of the fund. The measure called for a $725,000,000 fund when it passed the House yesterday.

Speaker Bankhead insisted, in an interview today, that the House action was not a "rebuff" to President Roosevelt but merely represented the ideas of individual members on the size of the fund needed for WPA.

tion of several awards will be made by Reno Stinson, president of the Pampa Board of City Development.

Included on the program will be short addresses by the retiring president, Dr. Schulzky, and the new president, Mr. Hall. Invocation will be given by John Mullen, minister of the Christian church, and A. E. Hickman will lead group singing.

D. L. Parker heads a committee in charge of decorations and favors. Wayne Phelps is in charge of the program committee, and Bill Brown will handle the ticket sales.

O'DANIEL

Texas as workmen prepared the stage where Chief Justice C. M. Curtis of the State Supreme Court will administer the official oath while O'Daniel's hand rests on an ancient Bible.

Governor James V. Allred had sent to Houston most of his personal possessions from the white mansion near the capitol, which will be home for the O'Danields for the next two years. Immediately after relinquishing the governorship to O'Daniel, Allred will depart for Houston, where, should his appointment by President Roosevelt be confirmed by the United States Senate, he will become a Federal District Judge.

Spending his last weekend, for a long time probably, at his home in Fort Worth, O'Daniel planned to come to Austin Monday, escorted by state highway patrolmen, and pass the night at a hotel. Early Tuesday, things will begin to happen.

There will be marching by the military and playing by perhaps 40 bands from all sections of the state. Pageantry, speech-making, dancing, fun and frolic of many descriptions will entertain thousands far into the night.

At 9:30 a. m. a procession of cars bearing O'Daniel, members of the Legislature and various state officials will move from the capitol to the stadium.

Children To Sing. Following will be two hours of band music, singing of songs by school children and presentation of an historical pageant portraying the history of Democracy.

The children, led by O'Daniel, will sing "Beautiful Texas," his own composition.

Shortly before O'Daniel is inaugurated, Coke Stevenson of Junction will be sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor. Governor Allred will deliver a short speech, and O'Daniel then will take the oath and make his inaugural address.

In the afternoon bands will parade down Congress Avenue while at night mammoth receptions will be held at the capitol, the gymnasium of the University of Texas and in the open air north of the capitol. At the last O'Daniel and his original "hill-billy" orchestra, which accompanied him during his campaign, will entertain. Eight city blocks will be roped off for dancing.

Cupid Business In Pampa Slowing Up

If there isn't some increase in marriage licenses during the coming months, Charlie Tunt, county clerk, wonders if 1939 will at all compare with 1938 in the total number of licenses issued.

Only five licenses have been issued since January 1, and one since Tuesday. While there was no sort of record made during 1938, a total of 191 marriage licenses were granted, or an average of one a day for a period of over six months.

Four Persons Die In Montana Crash

MILES CITY, Mont., Jan. 14 (AP)—Motor trouble might have caused a Northwest Airlines passenger plane to crash in flames last night, killing the four persons aboard, investigators theorized tonight after examining the charred wreckage.

George E. Gardner, operations manager of the Northwest Airlines, said it was "obvious from the evidence the pilot took off and circled the field (Miles City airport) as if he intended to try to get back to land."

A high wind was blowing when the plane crashed. A light snow mixed with rain was falling.

The craft struck the ground at the bottom of a long dry gulch and was ripped apart as it bounced into a steep hillside.

O'Daniel And Boys To Leave Monday

FORT WORTH, Jan. 14 (AP)—Governor-Elect O'Daniel and family, together with visiting relatives and the Hill Billy Boys, will leave for Austin about 8 or 8:30 a. m. Monday. The party, escorted by state highway patrolmen, will follow U. S. Highway 81 to Austin.

economics are so closely linked that to control one it is necessary to control the other, at least to a certain extent.

Military Invasion Unlikely. The authorities ever have believed Germany or any other off-continent nation would attempt a military invasion of Latin America. But if any power is able to control both the political and economic life of these nations it would reap a harvest almost as rich as that of military invasion—without the adverse reaction to armed force.

Latin America propaganda efforts of both Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy are much in the spotlight because of their airing before the Pan-American conference.

The United States government, through President Roosevelt, has used sharp words in expressing itself on the methods of totalitarian governments and it has said very pointedly that it would combat their activities in Latin America. It must find a way to combat parallel two of the most perfect propaganda machines in the world, machines geared to meet almost any situation.

These and many other things will confront the United States if it decides to trade punches with totalitarianism.

Your Eyes Are Precious—Protect Them

SEEING UNDER Poor Light WASTES HUMAN ENERGY

Insufficient Light at the office, and inadequate lighting conditions at home are responsible for many business men nodding off to sleep while reading after dinner!

Maybe you don't know it, but there are probably many hours every day when you must force your eyes to strain their tiny muscles so that you may see clearly!

This unconscious exertion may not be noticeable to you—but if too prolonged or too frequently repeated, it may result not only in harmful strain to the eyes but in a drain of nervous energy that can have a serious effect on health.

If you want to avoid the danger of eyestrain, do two things—have your eyes examined by a competent eyesight specialist and have the lighting in your home and office checked with a Light Measuring Meter.

Your eyes can't tell you when light is inadequate for seeing, but a Light Measuring Meter registers it at once. With this simple little device you can learn accurately the amount of light necessary to eye comfort at every type of visual task.

One of our lighting experts will measure your light without charge and will advise you about your lamps and fixtures so that you can get maximum efficiency from the electricity you buy. This service is yours without charge or obligation and we are glad to have you request it. Phone for an appointment to suit your convenience.

Only Civil Suits On Docket Here For Next Week

After a week devoted to criminal cases that packed the district court with curious spectators, the district courtroom will likely have little interest for Pampans during this week, the third of the term, as only civil cases are scheduled.

Court will open at 10 o'clock Monday morning, when the regular list of 40 petit jurors report. At the same time, the grand jury is to reconvene.

The week beginning Jan. 23 is also civil jury and will immediately precede the criminal-jury week of Jan. 30, when a special venire of 150 is to report, to be drawn for juries in the cases against Clyde (Shorty) McGraw and Irvin Maxey, both indicted for murder, and A. C. Duncan, indicted for a statutory offense.

Maxey Under Bond.

Maxey has been released under

$2,000 bond. McGraw and Duncan are still in county jail. Duncan has not posted the $3,000 bond assessed against him, and McGraw is being held without bond.

McGraw is charged in connection with the fatal shooting of Oscar Williams, Pampa apartment house operator, while the charge against Maxey, Pampa negro, is in connection with the fatal stabbing of Odesa Lintz, Pampa negro, at a negro dance at the Southern club.

Both the stabbing and the shooting occurred on the night of Dec. 11. Arrested with McGraw and charged in the same indictment with murder were Homer Gorman and Abe Anderson, who have been released under $2,500 bond. Gorman posted bond on Dec. 14, Anderson a few days later.

Three Divorces Granted.

In district court Saturday, three judgments, all in divorce cases, were filed: Neal Smith vs. Faye Smith, Willie Helen Bilderback vs. Arthur Leonard Bilderback, and Hazel Jackson vs. Roy Jackson. In the latter case, custody of a minor child, Coy Ray Jackson, was awarded plaintiff, and defendant was to pay $15 a month into the registry of the court.

Jurors Listed.

Petit jurors for the week are: J. J. Gca', Pampa; L. H. Nicholson, McLean; J. J. Cobb, McLean; J. M. Saunders, Pampa; H. H. Keshley, White Deer; Hugh L. Braly, Pampa; C. J. Malsel, Pampa; R. J. Davis, Groom; J. P. Cox, LeFors; J. M. Williams, Pampa; C. E. Vincent, LeFors; Leslie Jones, McLean; J. L. Bennett, Pampa; J. S. Stocker, LeFors; R. A. Hankhouse, Pampa; R. M. Thacker, LeFors; A. B. Cumberland, LeFors; Bob Bonner, LeFors; G. W. Johnson, LeFors.

Edward J. Gething, Laketon; Ernest Howard, Pampa; Frank Dial, Pampa; J. H. Lutz, Lindsey Catham, Pampa; Porter Smith, McLean; V. C. Harless, LeFors; Lawton Hoffer, Miami; L. W. Natho, LeFors; J. W. Thompson, Jericho.

C. B. Bell, Pampa; Hermon Watley, Pampa; C. V. Davis, LeFors; Guy Andis, Jericho; Fred L. Ratcliff, Pampa; S. C. Evans, Pampa; L. R. Spince, LeFors; J. L. Metcalf, Groom; C. G. Willis, LeFors; J. W. Kurtz, Pampa; Travis Stokes, McLean.

Lunsford Not Juror.

In the list of jurors for the case of State of Texas vs. Jim Hodges, the name of Cecil Lunsford was incorrectly included in stories in The News last week. Mr. Lunsford's name was on the list of jurors summoned, and by error did appear on a list of jurors chosen in the case. It was from this list The News obtained its information. The News regrets its error.

Jurors in the Hodges case were: Charlie Setz, L. K. Stout, George Hancock, Frank Babcock, Charles Morgan, E. M. Boston, W. R. Harwell, L. L. Guthrie, John B. Rice, D. D. Cochran, Homer Gibson, foreman, and Buck Husted.

In an address before noon Logan Cummings, Wellington, gave Kiwanis' district objectives, outlining in his speech points that call for high aims and close affiliation of Kiwanis with community life. As the first objective Cummings gave "support of churches." Looking toward agricultural advancement, the speaker named "initiation and support of constructive policies in conservation."

Increased support of efforts in behalf of public safety was the final objective mentioned by Cummings.

Rev. J. Hoyt Boles, pastor of the Tulia Presbyterian church, delivered an inspiring address on the subject of "We Build Men." Rev. Boles said principles of Kiwanis were founded on the fact that "we cannot live alone."

The session was opened shortly before 10 o'clock with a song led by Logan Cummings, Ervin C. Ochsner, Amarillo, lieutenant governor, presided over the morning session. Curtis Clark of Corpus Christi, governor of the Texas-Oklahoma district of Kiwanis International, arrived in time to attend most of the opening session.

The Pampa delegation returned home at 10 o'clock Friday night.

10,000 Gray County Acres Now Terraced

Soil Conservation Week was observed by Pampa Kiwanians Friday when Ralph Thomas, Gray county agent, spoke on soil conservation, terracing and contour methods as applied to this area.

Approximately 10,000 acres of Gray county land now is terraced and upwards of 26,000 acres contoured. Mr. Thomas told the Kiwanians at their regular weekly luncheon in Schneider Hotel:

The very first terracing in the county was done as far back as 1921 on the George A. Abbott farm south-east of McLean. The first land ever terraced in the country under Mr. Thomas' supervision was on the John B. H. farm in 1930. This was followed by terracing in the spring of 1931 on the farms of I. E. Howard and W. H. Roberts east of Laketon. The county agent also reported that in 1937 practically all of the pricky pear in the county had been eradicated as well as the eradication last year of practically all prairie dogs, one of the worst enemies of range grasses and the chief cause of soil erosion.

In 1937, 59 dams were built in the county and in 1938 the number was increased by 77 additional dams. The value of these dams, Thomas stated, is illustrated by the lack of flood waters which heretofore washed out bridges on the highway between Pampa and McLean.

"Ranchmen are becoming more soil conservation-minded," Mr. Thomas said, "and they are following the methods of education set down as the best plans under which to whip moving soil."

Ken Bennett, author and director of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce musical comedy, "The Singing Freshman," which will be presented in the high school auditorium on the night of Jan. 24, entertained with several numbers from the show now in rehearsal.

The program was in charge of Joe Gordon, club program chairman for 1939.

Noel L. Dalton, manager of the Baash-Ross Tool Company, was received as a new member in the club.

Guests were Wayne Phelps, R. A. Chisholm, W. E. James, Ken Bennett, and Ralph Thomas, all of Pampa, and two members of the Kiwanis club from Plainview.

Third Of Students At Tech From Farm

LUBBOCK, Jan. 14—Almost one-third or 1,102 of Texas Tech's 3,597 students come from farm homes, according to a recent survey made by the registrar's office. Merchant's children are second in number, with 167 enrolled, and ranchers' third, with 166.

Parents of 124 gain their livelihood from the oil business, 116 as railroad employees, and 100 as salesmen.

Major classifications are as follows: agriculture, animal husbandry, 1,255; trades, 813; manufacturing and mechanical industries, 402; professional, 278; public service, 220; transportation, 173; miscellaneous, 102; domestic and personal service, 89; extraction of minerals, 75.

Missouri Police Moving Tenants Off Highways

NEW MADRID, Mo., Jan. 14 (AP)—Southeast Missouri's bedraggled army of road-camping sharecroppers and their families gave way reluctantly today before efforts of State Highway Patrolmen to end their protest against a low economic status.

Acting on orders of Dr. Harry Parker, State Health Commissioner, who said the situation constituted "a menace to public health," the patrol began breaking up the crude camps that have dotted 150 miles of highways in the "Bootheel" cotton country since Tuesday.

The 1300 men, women and children, who have endured inclement weather, lack of food and miserable living conditions in their makeshift highway hovels, complied stubbornly with the command to "get packing in a hurry."

By nightfall only three of the 13 groups had been disbanded and it appeared the job of ending the demonstration would take another day or two.

State police planned to work thru the night moving the demonstrators to their former homes, if possible; otherwise to temporary camps.

There were no reports of violence or disorder.

In St. Louis, Owen H. Whitfield, negro minister and tenant on the Government Rehabilitation Project at La Forge, Mo., declared the police "probably will have to use force" before they can clear the highways.

Whitfield had urged the mass demonstration.

Told that the camps were ordered broken up as "menace to public health," Whitfield said:

"Do you think those shacks my people have been living in are any healthier?"

community which was down to half food rations after a week's isolation.

But even as the first "bulldozer" bucked through the last drift, a new snowstorm blew down off the peaks of the Sangre de Cristos and threatened to undo three days of back-breaking labor.

Shortage of fuel for the 120 persons in the section appeared to constitute the greatest danger. The food shortage was reported unlikely to become acute unless new storms blocked roads before supplies could be brought in.

"If anyone wants to get in or out of here, they had better hurry or they'll be snowbound for the winter," telephoned Walter Demisson, in charge of the highway crew, from Gascon.

Youth Rightly Conditioned

We quote from an address by Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State College at Canyon, at a boy Scout banquet in Pampa the other night:

"The glory of America is that a boy from the poorest home and the lowest station in life, by intelligence, application, energy, and character can rise to the highest place. Every boy and girl, rightly conditioned, has this opportunity."

That is a very splendid analysis of what is needed in America to get the youth of today away from the all too prevalent tendency to believe that opportunities no longer exist for young people.

The world is full of opportunities. But, they must be grasped. Youth must get away from the idea that life as they desire it is dished out on a silver platter. Definitely, it is not.

Repeating: "Every boy and girl, rightly CONDITIONED, has this opportunity." Two powerful words. What is meant by "rightly conditioned?"

To be successful, youth must be taught to work, to be honest, to be courteous, to be thrifty, to be cooperative and to know the specific work of his chosen occupation or profession.

It is enough that his employer teach the very last one in this list of requisites.

All of the others should be taught by the parents. After all, the parents have the child from the time of birth until he has finished school, and they have a very definite duty to perform in seeing to it that the child if rightly conditioned to carry on from there.

The schools and outside forces cannot do it all. The parent who has not taught his children to work, to be honest, courteous, thrifty and cooperative, has failed miserably as a parent.

Such a parent cannot expect his child's future employer to spend the time and money to teach that child the things that should have been taught long ago in the home.

Dr. Hill says our failure to make it possible for three million boys in the United States to find jobs under present day conditions is an internal weakness which is more of a threat to us than Mussolini or Hitler.

It is possible that many of these youths have missed the very thing that Dr. Hill says gives them the opportunity to rise to the highest place in the land?

Perhaps, they have not been and are not being rightly conditioned. Perhaps their parents have neglected and are neglecting to instill in their minds the qualities of initiative, creativity, honesty, courtesy, thrift and cooperation.

The parents of today are conditioning the men and women of tomorrow. And, on the manner in which they go about it, hinges the type of young men and women who will be turned out into the world of tomorrow.

The schools have a job to perform in educating our youth, but parents must not expect the schools to do it all. The fathers and mothers of America have the biggest job of all.

Upon their action rests the answer to the question—will our children be rightly conditioned?

The Nation's Press

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE (New York Times)

The eloquence of which Mr. Roosevelt is master has never been used to better advantage than in his message to Congress yesterday. For the greater part of that message was a ringing defense of the democratic system against those rival systems which now challenge it and a call to the American people to display the self-confidence, the ability, the imagination and the devotion that give the staying power to see things through.

We need to be increasingly on guard against the pervasive doctrine that dictatorships alone know how to get things done, how to put men to work, how to make use of idle capital, how to avoid waste and inertia in the management of public business, how to act decisively in a time of crisis. We need to prove that we can do these things, as the President insists, that we have done them and can continue to do them "without any dictator's power to command, without conscription of the labor or confiscation of capital, without concentration camps, and without a scratch in freedom of speech, freedom of the press or the rest of the Bill of Rights."

We need to strengthen our defenses against dangers which are implicit in the swift rise of the totalitarian dogma; to strengthen not merely the physical defenses provided by our army and our navy, but the spiritual defenses to be found in the whole-hearted conviction of the American people that because democracy is the best guarantee of personal freedom and social justice they have a rich stake in the preservation of the existing order.

If for no other reason than because of its eloquence in presenting these ideas the President's message would take high place among his state papers. But there is more to be said than this. It is not too much to say, in fact, that the message seems to mark a turning-point in the annals of the Administration, and that both in the field of domestic matters and of foreign affairs the President outlines new policies the consequences of which may be far-reaching.

So far as domestic matters are concerned, it must be admitted that it is disheartening to find Mr. Roosevelt still championing the theory that Government spending on a lavish scale is needed to produce prosperity, when so much in the record clearly shows that Government spending is a relatively minor factor and that prosperity has been achieved many times in the history of our own nation, and of other nations without the use of this unwholesome device. It is equally disheartening to find the President leaving entirely to Congress all leadership in the matter of putting the fiscal affairs of the Government in better order, when he himself so clearly foresaw, before he was converted to his present theory, the danger that liberal government would in the end be wrecked on rocks of loose fiscal policy.

EXPLAINING WHY BUSINESS DOES NOT EXPAND

We have seen no better explanation of the effects of the Sixteenth Amendment permitting taxes to be levied on income than that presented by former Congressman T. W. Phillips, Jr., of Butler, Pennsylvania. The article appeared in the Butler Eagle and speaks for itself:

"It is now about as difficult for the business man who becomes heavily in debt to escape from the financial shackles that our laws have forged about him as for the criminal to escape from Alcatraz prison. A big personal income in the ordinary course of business will never pay back a big personal debt."

"Big incomes derived by individuals from business vary amazingly from year to year. Some years, when business is good, profits are very large. In other years when business is bad, losses are very large. In still other years, the battle between profits and losses is practically a draw."

"Take the case of an individual, who, fortunately for him, lives in a state that does not levy an income tax. Assume, for easy figuring, that he owes a million dollars, and that during one year he has a net income of two million dollars, the next year a net loss of one million dollars, and so on, thus having a yearly average net income of $500,000."

"Provided he uses all of his income, after the payment of Federal income taxes, for debt retirement, how much do you think his debt will amount to at the end of the first year, at the end of the second year, the third year, the fourth year, the fifth year, the sixth year, the seventh year, the eighth year, the ninth year, the tenth year? Please make your guess or estimate before reading the table of figures below."

"The years in which his net income is two million dollars, he pays the Federal Government taxes of $1,451,000 leaving $549,000 to pay on his indebtedness."

At the end of the first year his debt has been reduced to	$ 451,000
At the end of the second year, after adding the million dollars he lost his debt is	1,451,000
At the end of the third year, his debt is	902,000
At the end of the fourth year, his debt is	1,902,000
At the end of the fifth year, his debt is	1,353,000
At the end of the sixth year, his debt is	2,353,000
At the end of the seventh year, his debt is	1,804,000
At the end of the eighth year, his debt is	2,804,000
At the end of the ninth year, his debt is	2,255,000
At the end of the tenth year, his debt is	3,255,000

"I shall leave it to you to revise these figures by increasing the debt at the end of each year by whatever amount you would expect an individual having an average income of $500,000 to use for the personal expenses of himself and his family, and also by the amount which his religious advisers would expect him to give for church and charity."

"No comment is necessary as to the indirect effect such taxes have on employment and business expansion, and to what extent they account for the enormous idle funds at present in the banks."

"In the panic of 1874, my father failed, owing a very large amount of money. He did not resort to bankruptcy, and was able to pay all his obligations, with interest, in fourteen years. Had he, however, been working under the handicap of our present tax laws, not only would he have been unable to discharge his obligations by 1888, but in all probability his obligations with accrued interest, would have been greater in 1912, when he died, than they were in 1874, when he failed."

It makes no difference whether the employer borrows money or not, his condition is just the same as when he is using his own money. And the man who is not in business does not realize that rich men often lose wealth very rapidly, that it is very easy for a man to make money for a few years and then lose it very rapidly for a few years and if this individual had started out without owing any money and made and lost money as above so that his average annual income was $500,000 a year and he spent nothing on his living expenses, he would have been $2,255,000 poorer at the end of 10 years than he was at the beginning. Is there any wonder that big business men do not run risks by expanding new and dangerous and untried enterprises, when the government takes such an arbitrary and confiscatory policy as it has in its taxing system."

Behind The News Of The Day

By JOHN T. FLYNN

The disaster which has overtaken Mr. J. A. Sisto and his expulsion from the Stock Exchange bring up the question: What was he doing in the Exchange? He was not a broker. He handled business for no clients. His firm handled only its own operations and those of its corporate affiliates.

Now, I do not mean to intimate that there is anything unusual about such firms or individuals being members of the Exchange. There are hundreds of them. But the question cannot be downed that they have no business there.

Like the Whitney affair, the Sisto case carries a profound lesson. Here it is:

RULES MUST BE AGREED UPON

The Stock Exchange is a market place where investors and speculators may meet and exchange securities and cash. However one looks upon this business—whether as a game or an important financial function—there must be agreement on one thing, namely, that it must be fair and all who come into it must come upon equal terms so far as the Exchange is concerned.

If it is a game, every player ought to have the same chance, subject, of course, to the differences in the bank-roll and the brains of the players.

Now the impression of the public is that the Exchange floor is the haunt of brokers—men who act as the agents of others in buying and selling securities. But this is not true, because many of the men on the floor and many members not on the floor are not brokers at all but act only for themselves—they are big-traders, operators, or gamblers.

The advantages to them are obvious. First of all,

ARMS AND THE MEN

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Only three years ago a young blond chap and a cocky little fellow in a high silk hat were making the rounds in Hollywood. "Time on our hands" might have been their theme song, except that they were too busy looking for work to get in any singing.

The blond chap (aw, his name's Edgar Bergen) tried to get a job acting, either with or without the little fellow, and his name's Charlie McCarthy. He tried to tell Hollywood he'd make a good dialogue writer. But Hollywood was bored. Edgar and Charlie went back to Chicago, where they knew they could have regular meals, anyway.

What has happened since then you all know, and it all adds up to the fact that "time on my hands" is likely to be a missing element in the pair's life for a good spell to come.

Funny, how these things work out. Success in pictures, fame on the air, they bring a fine home, maybe a swimming pool—and precious little time to enjoy either.

Not that Messrs. Bergen and McCarthy are complaining, but—"I work five times as hard as I did before," Hollywood recognized our existence," says Bergen. "Before, I used to spend a great deal of my time looking for work. Now work comes looking for me."

At present Bergen and McCarthy are spending about nine hours daily at Universal, helping W. C. Fields prove that "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man." Then there's their weekly air show, not missed once in nearly three years, and requiring two new comedy routines a week. Bergen works those up at night after movie work.

There are 25 McCarthy novelties on the market, each representing a "deal" which had to be investigated and closed, like many others which have been rejected. And then—benefits.

As a double-talk artist, Bergen is the town's busiest actor. He must speak his own lines, do his own acting, speak and act for Charlie at the same time.

It's uncanny, the way he gives that little fellow personality, and yet retains his own. At Bergen's house, I understand, the servants speak of the woodpecker's feast as solicitously and admiringly as they do of the master—and are as proud of Charlie's wardrobe.

Incidentally, I picked up a new chapter in the McCarthy-Fields "feud," relating to bulbous-nosed Bill's first visit to the Santa Anita racetrack this season. Here:

Charlie: "Mr. Fields, I heard that you rode one of the horses at Santa Anita yesterday."

Fields: "As a matter of fact I did, Charles, my diminutive little chum."

Charlie: "What a jockey! I suppose, to hear you tell it, you won by a mile?"

Fields: "No, Charles, I am not given to tarradiddle,—won by a nose."

Charlie: "Oh, just a length-and-a-half..."

as members, they can handle their own trades and clear them without commissions. Or they can handle them through $2 brokers or they can handle them themselves and clear them through other brokers for a dollar a share. In other words, they play the game with a commission advantage in their favor against the public speculator—which is recognized nowhere else in no other gambling casino in the world.

Next they enjoy the advantage of inside information in trading which is either never open to the public or open too late.

These kinds of memberships are held by large bankers, big operators and traders. Practically all the abuses on the Exchange have stemmed from the

People You Know

From Mickey Ledrick of Texas Tech, former member of this one's mob, comes a phonograph record of a song that is no longer this one's favorite—"Makes No Difference Now." That song sounded on my New Year's eve when we heard it 73 times on various nickel-teenies. Besides we're no longer carrying a torch. "It's Tech's favorite now," wrote Mickey. Thanks Mickey for the quinine—you win. If I remember aright you thought the song was quinine the first time you heard it—and speaking of music, two years ago this one told the boys a fearful ghost story. They shivered in terror and kept looking behind them. After they had exulted over it this one then told them that the ghost story (which took an hour to tell) was really the story of an opera by Mozart, Don Giovanni (Don Juan). Ordinarily that would have made their feathers fall, but they had enjoyed the story too much.

(We changed names and made the scene the actual "state of mind.") They said they wanted to hear that opera some time. They got a chance yesterday and four of them went to hear it. "I could go for that if I'd just let myself go—even if I can't understand the words," one said. Did they like the utterly beautiful Mozart music? Well, they sat through it for three hours. They even saw dimly that Music has no words—just as the song of a Mockingbird or a lark has no words. They began to realize that words of any kind do not matter—in music as well as in friendship.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY Given three sensational gushers in two days, Gray county promised to overtake Hutchinson's oil production total and attain supremacy in the Panhandle oil territory for the first time.

Panhandle's Panthers were guests of the Pampa Harvesters. The local basketball team won the game 25-18.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY Borger's Bulldog basketball team made a better showing against the Alhambra Hornets than did the Harvesters by scoring 36 points against the champs whereas the Pampa boys chalked up only 19 points.

activities of these groups or from brokers who acted not only as brokers but as traders for their own account. Put an end to this practice; that is, permit only brokers on the floor of the Exchange, exclude all but brokers from making rules and naming officials of the Exchange, prohibit brokers from speculating for their own account, directly or indirectly, and make the costs and terms of trading the same to all persons and you will put an end to 90 per cent of the abuses which make the Exchange so serious a problem. The business of regulating it will be made possible. No such firm as Sisto's should be permitted to be an Exchange member.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M.D.

THE PATIENT'S ATTITUDE When a patient comes to a physician presenting a number of symptoms the doctor must decide not only what the symptoms signify, and how they are to be dealt with, but also the more complicated problem of the patient's own attitude toward his symptoms.

We can fancy the patient saying "What nonsense is this! My attitude toward my symptoms? Why, I want to get rid of them. I want to get well. That's my attitude!"

In a small percentage of cases this is a forthright statement of the patient's actual "state of mind." It is most likely the case with patients suffering from acute illness.

On the other hand, what can we think or say of the overweight patient suffering from arthritis of the knees, who just cannot (in reality, refuses) to reduce weight or the over-fatigued patient who just can't quiet down, but must keep going at top speed? Here we must suspect that the patient's attitude toward his symptoms is a determining factor in his illness.

A patient may have one of three attitudes toward a symptom; he may wholeheartedly desire to be cured of it; he may consciously desire it to persist; or he may unconsciously desire cure and unconsciously long for the symptom to continue.

Why should a patient want to be ill? The question thus phrased is a little prejudicial because it implies that the will to be ill is based on rational considerations. This is not the case. It is rather that the will to be well is neutralized by such motives as self-punishment, self-importance, and various forms of protest.

One authority cites the illustration of the above statement: "The cost to a rich husband of the medical treatment of a neglected wife serves to compensate her for her lack of personal importance to him."

A large group of patients actually enjoy painful symptoms, and cure represents to them an unwelcome discontinuance of pain. Many a hypochondriac is really undergoing exploitation of a long-forgotten misdeed.

Patients who find relief in nothing but the latest so-called scientific treatments, some of which belong to quackery rather than to science, feel themselves distinguished by being able to take the treatment.

A mighty important proclamation, affecting the folk of the Panhandle, has just dribbled from the virtue pen of Mayor William H. Walker at Shamrock. Lifted from Albert Cooper's dandy Shamrock Texan, we give it to you, "as is":

Whereas, the City of Shamrock, Texas, annually celebrates Saint Patrick's Day on March 17, as a gala holiday, and

Whereas, sons and daughters of Erin all over the great Southwest respect and revere Shamrock citizens as typifying the spirit, customs and traditions of the old country, and

Whereas the wearing of Donegal beards is an accepted Irish custom, and best tends to differentiate the sons of Erin from persons of inferior rank, station and nationality, and

Whereas the patriotic principles of Gable and Robert Taylor or the clean-shaven and effeminate types of manhood are held in high repute by some few of the younger Irishmen to the extent they are forgetting the manners and habits of their forebears, contrary to the patriotic principles of all loyal Irishmen.

Now, therefore, I, in my capacity and authority as the Mayor of Shamrock, Texas, the only Irish city in these great Southwest States of the Union, do hereby prohibit, order and command that all male citizens of said city between the ages of 18 and 50, inclusive, do stop, desist, refrain and cease removing the hair from their faces promptly at high noon on January 17, 1939 A. D., except in the proper and accepted style of growing Donegal beards, and that they continue the growth of said fuffy hair or stubble until the stroke of midnight, March 17, 1939 A. D.

Given under my oath, hand and seal of office, this 12th day of January, 1939 A. D.

WILLIAM HOUSTON WALKER, Mayor of City of Shamrock, Texas. Attest: Wallace Braswell Barrett, Supreme Puff Grower, Shamrock Donegal Club, Shamrock, Texas.

Which reminds us of the grand time we had in Shamrock last St. Patrick's Day in the morning, and of the fine hospitality shown to us by the good people of Shamrock on that day of all days in the year for the Irish capital of the Southwest. They really dish up a fine program over there on the 17th of March and it's a date everybody should mark on their calendars right now, is it? Having been made an honorary member of the Shamrock Donegal Club, we're looking forward to the time when we can get over there and mingle with the Paddy Maguires and the Mike O'Tooles on the 76th day of '39.

Two Employees Of R. R. Commission Here Dismissed

Two members of the staff of the local office of the Texas Railroad Commission received notice of dismissal today. The notice was signed by all members of the commission. Relieved from duty here were Miss Jo Flanagan and Theodore Harris.

Jerry Sadler, new member of the commission, stated that the 57 employees dismissed in yesterday's order would not be replaced and that another general dismissal order would be issued in the near future.

In addition to slicing $7 from the department, the third cut since Sadler took office, the commission discontinued field offices at Corsicana, Refugio and Eastland.

Miss Flanagan and Mr. Harris both joined the local office last March. Miss Flanagan was a stenographer in the gas division and Mr. Harris was a deputy supervisor in the field division.

Burglars Take Two Hammers And Saw

Police are at a loss to know why anyone would break into a building and steal a saw and two hammers, but that is a case they are investigating.

The burglary was reported Saturday morning by R. E. Allen, manager of the Fox Rig & Lumber Company, South Hobart street. Police discovered that entry had been gained through a window.

Mr. Allen told officers that so far he had found nothing missing but the saw and hammers, and that nothing had been molested in the office.

The Capital Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Jan. 14. (AP)—A white-haired elderly man, portly of figure and erect in carriage, stood just inside the entrance to the green-carpeted hall of the Texas State Capitol.

Small, boy, pages scurried about. A few senators were loafing at their desks. Visitors were drifting in thru the wide-open doors to the chamber because the Senate had adjourned for the morning and everyone who wished was welcome to come on the floor.

The elderly took it all in with knowing eyes.

A press correspondent spied the figure in dark suit, white shirt and black shoestring tie, also the round black hat in hand, habitually known to thousands of Texans from one end of the state to the other. He came over and while he listened former Gov. James E. Ferguson talked.

It was not an unusual thing for "Farmer Jim" to have come to the capitol where he and his wife, former Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson had contributed to so many pages of Texas history. He is seen about the statehouse rather frequently, for he loves to move again upon the stage where he often has played dramatic roles.

The outlook for the new session and the administration of the amazing flour merchant of Fort Worth who will become governor of Texas next Tuesday? Pensions and taxes? Believes in Pensions

"No one on earth knows what is going to happen," W. Lee O'Daniel, members of the legislature, you or I?" said Ferguson. "However, Mr. O'Daniel has said he intended to make old-age pensions the first business of the legislature and I should think he would have enough support to hold that in." "I still think pensions should be paid to everyone over the age of 65 and I am for a sales tax to meet the bill. I have heard Mr. O'Daniel may recommend a transactions tax. And something like the Indiana gross income tax is worth considering."

"You can't talk old age pensions without talking of taxes. They go together."

"A lot of money could be saved the state by cutting appropriations. What appropriations? Why, appropriations for everything. We could have a blanket reduction and not hurt efficiency. The state's job would be done just as well."

"Mrs. Ferguson and I campaigned on a platform calling for blanket reduction of all appropriations and made good. We cut $10,000,000 from the $13,000,000, using the blue pencil on appropriation bills.

"The one exception to reductions might be the eleemosynary institutions."

Believes He's Honest

He has long known Ferguson-Elect O'Daniel, whose election he had bitterly opposed, and this was his comment:

"I believe he is honest and sincere and wants to serve the state. Don't you think that? I believe he means to do it. His head-keep may be that of all governors, inexperience with the governorship. He may overcome it. Certainly he should not be condemned now. Wait until we see his program. He may work it out."

Ferguson, who long had known Ferguson was coming up, Senator Clint Small of Amarillo, dean of the Senate, hurrying for the door, long cigar in mouth, detoured to grab the former governor's hands and cry, "Hello, Governor!"

Ferguson smiled as Small went on and remarked, "There goes an able man who could lead an economy bloc and stop reckless spending."

Senator Gordon Burns of Huntsville shook hands, and a man on crutches pushed up, with the statehouse people, the former governor. Another man from East Texas, as pumped Ferguson's hand, said "We've seen seven inches of rain out home" and hurried on.

Lives In Austin

"What are you doing these days, Ferguson, or at his headquarters?" "Oh, milking the cows and feeding hogs as usual. You can't teach an old dog new tricks."

Actually he spends his days at his handsome home in a fashionable part of Austin in the company of Mrs. Ferguson, or at his downtown office, looking over his business interests, including a farm or so. For many years he published his political weekly, The Ferguson Forum, but the paper has not appeared in several months.

Governor, you start the Forum again, won't you, now the legislature's in session?"

"I don't know," Ferguson replied. "I'm getting mighty lazy."

Joe Called Biggest Laugh In Basketball

A "one-man basketball show," Jumping Joe Satovich, ballhooper as "America's greatest ball-handler, showman and comedian" will feature the performance of the Ozark Mountain Hill Billies who will play the Harvesters on the floor of the local gym tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The Hill Billies are girls who played on state championship teams in Oklahoma and Connecticut. The girls will be played under boys' rules. The girls win about 50 per cent of their games with men or boys.

The game will start promptly at 8 o'clock. The Hill Billies and Satovich will perform in "warming-up" exercises before the game. Satovich is famous as a clown. One he appeared on the same program at Minneapolis with Jesse Owens, famous negro runner, and stole the show. He has performed all over the country, and has played on championship basketball teams all over the northwest.

Members of the Hill Billy team are as follows: Vina Hobbs, 5-foot-7, all Oklahoma selection from Byng, Okla., state champion; Lorene Dan-fels, 5-foot-7, also from Byng; Lucy Peters, 5-foot-8, East Haven Jeffs, East Haven, Conn., greater New England champion; Nota Lee McCain, 5-foot-9, Vinson, Okla., runner-up to Byng in the state tournament; Eleanor Laich, 5-foot-10, also from East Haven; Jo Darrow, also from Vinson, Okla., runner-up team.

No passes of any kind will be good for the game. The contract calls for payment of admission by all students and adults who see the game.

NYA Office Here Changed 3 Times

C. N. Cochran, superintendent of Pampa's National Youth administration, is wondering where he will find his office the next time a court term is held here.

Just before the January term of district court opened on Jan. 3, he was allotted an office in the balliff's room on the third floor of the courthouse. The balliff's room is in the north wing.

When the term started the grand jurors went into session and the room was needed. So he came down one morning to find his desk changed to the jury room, in the southwest corner of the third floor.

With the start of jury week in district court, this room was also required, so he was moved to the Gray County Relief office two doors east of the jury room, where he is now located.

Amarillo Beats Pampa Sophomores

Sam Houston Junior high school of Amarillo trounced the Pampa Sophomores 34 to 18 in a game played in Amarillo Friday afternoon. League games will be discontinued until Jan. 24 because of mid-term exams.

Members of the Sophomore team are Cox and Sanders, forwards; Cunningham, center; Mounts and Sheffer, guards. Reserves were Kuehl, Cummings.

Pro Football Game Scheduled Sunday

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14 (AP)—Football fans a related farewell here tomorrow when the New York Giants, champions of the National Professional league, and a powerful aggregation of pro players comprising an all-star team, meet at Wrigley Field.

The game's profits have been dedicated to a charitable organization. Predictions the battle would be hard fought came from both camps. The all-stars plan to send in its most potent scoring threat at the kickoff, with Slimmy Sammy Baugh, Clark Hinkle, Lloyd Cardwell, and Erny Pinkert in the backfield, and Gaynell Tinsley and Perry Schwartz holding down the end positions. Against this combination the Giants have Ed Danowski, Ward Cuff, Hank Soar and Nello Falaschi as backfield starters, and Tuffy Leemans, Hugh Wolfe, Leland Shaffer and others waiting on the bench.

Attention quail hunters: The quail season closes at sundown tonight, Sunday. The warning comes from Game Warden Charlie Smith who doesn't want to have to arrest anyone for hunting quail out of season.

Several Pampans have been arguing and even waging on the comparative height, weight, length over all or stride of Seabiscuit and War Admiral. Well, here is the dope on the two great horses: Seabiscuit—14 hands 2 inches tall; weight, 1040 pounds; length over all, 7 feet 10 inches; stride, 20 feet 11 and three-fourths inches. War Admiral—15 hands 21 inches tall; weight, 960 pounds; length over all, 8 feet 2 inches; stride, 21 feet 1 and three-fourths inches.

Although it's winter, the baseball bug has bitten fans in Pampa and several other nearby Panhandle cities. Pampa fans are determined that Pampa will have baseball the coming summer. If they can't have a crack semi-pro team they will want one or two top amateur clubs. Fans in other cities have the same idea and two or three of them got together here yesterday and the following plan for baseball was suggested: Let Berger, Pampa, McLean, Shamrock, and possibly Amarillo, Skellytown, Panhandle and any other city wanting baseball get together and organize a league to play night ball. Importation of players would be barred but players already working would be eligible. How about it, fans? I would like to hear from you on the idea or on an idea of yours to bring baseball back to the Panhandle. Write me and I'll pass your letters on through this column.

Alcatraz Clues Hunted With Magnet

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14 (AP)—Alcatraz officials moved portable magnet detectors over the island prison today in an effort to solve a mystery in yesterday's escape attempt by five felons.

Arthur (Doc) Barker, who once was No. 1 on the government's list of public enemies, was killed in the almost-successful break, and the condition of Dale Stampitt, 27, Oklahoma kidnaper, who also was shot, still was regarded as critical at the prison hospital.

The "portable eyes" were utilized today in a search for saws the quintet apparently used to cut the lower ends of bars in each of their cells. The convicts were discovered on a small beach of the island and the two who refused to surrender were shot.

Waner Intends To Be 'Big Poison'

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 14 (AP)—Paul Waner let it be known today he intends to be "Big Poison" again during the coming baseball season. The hard-hitting Pittsburgh outfielder, whose batting average dropped to .260 last season, said he expected to hit around .350 this year and "I've never had a better chance to lead the league in batting."

"I've got just as good chance to hit this year as I've ever had," he declared. "I feel fine and I'm in good shape."

As he has done pretty well in his 19 years of professional ball. Over a 12-year stretch he was one of baseball's top hitters, and pounded the ball for a .354 average in 1937, the season before his slump.

Last year, however, Paul's brother, Lloyd, was the "Big Poison" of the family combination, hitting .313. Waner wouldn't alibi for his slump. "I'm just a .250 hitter who was lucky for 12 years and last year the thirteenth for me," he said. "No, I'm not suspicious. I don't think that 12 carried any jinx. The whole thing, is I just don't believe in excuses."

Gore To Be Plentiful In Main Event Monday Night

To give the sport fans an opportunity to see both the basketball game and the wrestling match, the starting time for the wrestling matches have been moved up to 8:30 p. m. instead of the regular starting time of 8 o'clock.

Wrestling fans who can't take it will be allowed to retire at the end of the second match Monday night at the Pampa Athletic arena. Of course they won't get any of their money back because the main event will be there for them but if they are chicken-hearted they probably won't want to stay.

The main event will be between Tiger Billy McEwin of Montana and Joe Banaski, Oklahoma cowboy. McEwin has made no bones about his plans for Monday night. He is going to go after Banaski at the going and when it is over one or the other will be carried out. That is McEwin's own statement.

Banaski, big and easy going, has said nothing. The big fellow has proved before that he can take care of himself although he would rather wrestle. But when the going gets too rough he can turn on the heat, which will probably be necessary.

McEwin will be wrestling to stay in the light heavyweight elimination tournament and that is why he has everything to gain and nothing to lose. He lost to Hill last week while Banaski was making a sensational semi-final showing to get the nod for the main event this week.

The semi-final is scheduled to be a wrestling match de luxe between Frankie Hill of Wichita, Kan., and Russell Riley, the Muleshoe flash. Both have demonstrated sensational wrestling ability in past matches.

Opening at 8 o'clock will be the battle between Steve Netry of Miami, Fla., and Abie Freeman from New York. Reserve seat tickets are on sale at Cretney Drug.

BOSTON, Jan. 14—Because he has a fine throwing arm but lacks hitting ability for an outfielder, Vince DiMaggio may be turned into a pitcher by Casey Stengel, Bee manager.

License Plates To Go On Sale Here February 1

New 1939 license plates have been received here at the office of F. E. Leach, Gray county tax assessor collector.

Although the tags have been received they will not go on sale until February 1, and are not to be placed upon vehicles until after March 1. The deadline for purchase is midnight of April 1.

Gray county received a shipment of 10,635 license plates, divided as passenger, 8,300; truck, 1,400; farm, 450; motorcycle 25; trailer, 425; dealer, 35.

Instead of the somber black and white of 1938, the new license plates for passenger automobiles for 1939 will have blue numerals on an orange background.

Passenger licenses range from 450-601 to 467-900; truck, from 74-951 to 76-350; farm, from 46-701 to 47-150; motorcycle, from 1,729 to 1732; trailer, from 16-021 to 16-445; dealer, from 2509 to 2633.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

When your young daughter was very little, you brushed her hair yourself. You kept her nails smooth and comfortable so she wouldn't bite them, and you pushed back the outie around them until now it just stays back. Her teeth are straight—you saw to that. Her feet and legs are very nice. For the past few years you've been pretty proud of the youngster's appearance.

Lately, however, you've been a little worried. Your daughter's posture isn't all it was. She walks with her shoulders slumped forward to hide the fact that she's getting so tall. When she sits, she drapes herself all over the furniture. Her complexion gets bumpy now and then. Her interest in her nails and hair comes in spurts. For weeks she just won't do anything about them. But, for weeks following, she over-does the whole business, insisting on wearing scintillating and all sorts of queer coiffures.

About the best—in fact, the only—thing you can do about the situation is to be pretty philosophical, as tolerantly understanding as possible. Meanwhile, you and her older sisters ought to try to set her fine examples.

Give the 12-year-old her own manicure set and teach her to use properly each instrument in it. Invite her to your room once a week "to do our nails together." Talk to her, without appearing to be lecturing, about good taste in grooming, the importance of having healthy, shiny hair—the result of cleanliness and nightly brushing.

Do a couple of posture exercises together now and then.

See that she has her own nail and bath brushes, a shower cap and perhaps her own giant-size cake of bath soap. Don't let her forget to wash her face thoroughly and rinse it carefully with very cold water each night before she goes to bed.

The growing girl needs to sleep at least eight hours every night. She ought to get quantities of outdoor exercise, too. And her diet, like your own, should include plenty of fresh vegetables, milk and orange juice, crisp, green salads and fresh stewed fruit.

If, in spite of rigorous attention to health habits and thorough cleanings, your child's skin doesn't seem to improve, by all means talk to a chronic blemishes with any or she'll-outgrow-it attitude. Maybe she will outgrow her present complexion ailments. Again, maybe she won't unless given proper treatment.

Do all you can to help the 12-year-old realize that her youthful, fresh-faced look is her chief asset right now. Time enough for quantities of elaborate cosmetics later on. If most of her friends are wearing lipstick and powder, you'll probably have to give in on this point. But do try to get her to wait a year or two before going in for dark shades of nail polish, eye makeup for parties and other "sophisticated" effects.

Mrs. Hunkapillar Speaks At Meeting Of Hopkins P-TA

HOPKINS, Jan. 14.—Hopkins Parent-Teacher Association met in the Phillips Community hall last week.

The Rhythm band opened the program with two numbers, "Gavotte" and "Gavotte" from Mignon-Thomas. The fourth grade presented a safety playlet, "A Day in a Traffic Court." Those taking part were Judge, Fred Boatwright; first clerk, J. M. McPherson; second clerk, Rae Franklin; Harry Smith, Junior Ellis, Eva Cohen, Charlene McWhorter, John Johnson, Cleland Calvert, Ben Miller, Billy Grace, Arnold Harris, Jimmy Berry, Mrs. Miller, Benjamin F. Johnson, Delva Sheedy; George Bennett, Billy Don Bird.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar was the guest speaker. In her talk on Parent-Teacher work, she explained the Why, How and What of Parent-Teacher work. There are four main purposes to be followed: one, physical; two, mental; three, social; four, spiritual. It was brought out clearly that the home and the school played in these purposes.

The nominating committee was elected. Mrs. Boatwright, Mrs. Rippe, and Mrs. Parker were named. Refreshments were served to 41 members and the following guests: Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Mrs. Clifford Braly, Mrs. G. C. Walstad, Mrs. Paul Lambert, Mrs. Mack Modderell, Mrs. Fred Fender, Mr. W. R. Barrett, W. L. Felton and Raymond Dollar.

Miss Cardwell And Football Star Wed In Simple Ceremony

SHAMROCK, Jan. 14.—In a ceremony at Duncan, Okla., Saturday night Miss Cecile Cardwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cardwell of this city, became the bride of Ashford Benjamin Murphy, football star and captain of the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

The Rev. Spencer P. Martin read the vows in the study of the First Christian church in Duncan with only a few friends and the bride's attendants in attendance.

Miss Helen Bradley, childhood friend of the bride, was maid of honor. The bride wore a robin blue velvet dress with matching accessories and carried a corsage of pink rose buds.

Mrs. Murphy is a graduate of Duncan high school and attended Texas Tech at Lubbock. The Cardwell family moved to Shamrock two years ago.

The bride and groom will make their home in Shamrock.

Senior League Has Dinner At Church For Methodists

PHILLIPS, Jan. 14.—The Senior League of the Phillips Methodist church was entertained with a 6 o'clock dinner in the church dining room recently under the sponsorship of Mrs. Floyd McSpadden, the Rev. W. E. Hamilton, Miss Esther Rudolph and the Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Reaves.

Kieth Alexander was in charge of the program and the Rev. W. E. Hamilton of Lubbock addressed the Senior and Intermediate Leagues.

Places were marked for Roy Walby, Naomi Blidde, Bernice Lindsey, Bessie Church, Bonnie Lucille Church, Paul E. Wilson, Virginia Lee McSpadden, Marquette Salot, Jack Alexander, W. M. Goss Jr., Marcel A. Paulain, Kieth and Gale Alexander, Mary Jane Fitzsimmons, Dorothy Fuhs, Renda Jean Sharp and Helen Scott.

Year Books For Methodist WMS Made At Meeting

PANHANDLE, Jan. 14.—Ladies of the Methodist W. M. U. met with Mrs. Earl Nunn last week for an all-day meeting to make the year books for the coming year. The theme for the year is "Widening Horizons." A covered dish luncheon was featured at noon.

A pledge service will be held Wednesday afternoon at the church and a program on "New Horizons in Personal Service" will be rendered.

Present for the meeting and luncheon were a guest, Mrs. Sarah Parsons of Colorado Springs, and members, Mmes. George Crow, F. J. Holcroft, Bussey, Grace Wells, Fred Surratt, George Grot, Fred Hood, J. L. Slimp, J. L. Graham, and the hostess.

Radio Broadcast Program Given By Literary Members

SHAMROCK, Jan. 14.—Mrs. R. C. Lewis was hostess last week to the Thursday Literary club at her home on North Houston street.

The annual business meeting of the club was held after which Mrs. Chas. Perry led the program in the form of a radio broadcast with each member talking on some current topic of interest.

After the program the hostess served a salad course to Mmes. J. B. Clark, Shirley Draper, and Ruth Carnes, guests; and to Mmes. H. T. Fields, J. B. Benson, T. G. Davis, Chas. Green, Ben A. Skidmore, Chas. Pirry, P. W. Bones, Edwin Griffin, Earl Kromer, B. A. Ziegler, Bedford Harrison, and A. M. Hilburn, club members.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it a good idea to drop in for a "visit" with a friend during his office hours?
2. When a receptionist asks a caller's name should she say "Please"?
3. When a man gives his name to a secretary over the telephone does he say "This is Bob Brown at the Doe Company" or "This is Mr. Brown at the Doe Company"?
4. Is it good manners to ask to use a business telephone to make a personal call—in order to avoid using a pay telephone?
5. Is it correct to say "This is her" when someone asks for you by name over the telephone?

What would you do if—

A friend stops by your office to see you, and those around you are busy—

- (a) Take your friend around and introduce him?
- (b) Be courteous, but let him know you have work to do?
- (c) Feel as obligated to urge him to stay as you would if he had called on you in your home?

Answers.

1. No.
2. Yes.
3. Mr. Brown.
4. No.
5. No. This is she. Or, this is Mary. Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b).

Austin Crosses Fingers Against Rain Marring Inaugural Program

AUSTIN, Jan. 14.—With their fingers crossed against continuation of drizzling cold weather, members of the state inaugural committee today put finishing touches on the timetable of events for Tuesday when Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel is sworn into office in Texas Memorial stadium here.

Given clearing skies before Tuesday, there will be 80,000 people in Austin for the ceremonies. E. H. Perry, chairman, predicted. The 1939 inauguration marks the first time any state oath-making has been conducted on the campus of a state university.

Highlights of the day's program will be a historical pageant by 250 university students and a 10,000-voice high school chorus just preceding the formal inaugural ceremonies.

Fifty Texas high school and college bands will parade downtown Austin Tuesday afternoon, a fireworks display, official receptions and the inaugural ball are scheduled for that night.

8:30 a. m.—High school, college and military band presentation in Texas Memorial stadium. (Fifty bands.)

9:30 a. m.—Caravan of official cars arrives at stadium.

11 a. m.—Historical pageant (250 university students).

11:50 a. m.—Massed high school choruses singing "Texas, Our Texas," "Proudful Texas," and "The Eyes of Texas."

12 m.—Formal inauguration. Nineteen-year salute.

1 p. m.—University campus, classes, displays and museum open to visitors.

3:30 p. m.—Parade of bands down Congress avenue.

6 p. m.—Governor's reception in Gregory gymnasium on the campus. Receptions at the Austin and Driskill hotels.

9 p. m.—Inaugural ball in Gregory gymnasium, Driskill and Austin hotels.

Open-air reception on Congress avenue north of capitol. Hillbilly band will play for street dancing (fireworks display).

Locke Honored On 86th Birthday

MIAMI, Jan. 14.—Friday, Jan. 13, he is "dixie" last week for N. F. Locke, pioneer Texan and long-time resident of the Panhandle.

Children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Locke gathered at the Locke home at 7 o'clock Friday night and surprised Mr. Locke with a party on the occasion of his 86th birthday.

Mr. Locke, a Texan since 1874, served for a period in the Texas Rangers, coming to the Panhandle in 1879 when he settled in Mobeetie, later moving to Miami where he and Mrs. Locke made their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Locke have been married 58 years.

Attending the birthday party were Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Locke, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Locke and children, Betty Wallace, and Dar; Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Locke Jr. and children, Phyllis Barton, and Billy Jo Gilbert, and Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Locke, C. T. and W. F. Locke are sons and C. T. Locke Jr. a grandson of N. F. Locke.

WMU Baptist Church Convenes

MCLEAN, Jan. 14.—Mrs. F. E. Stewart entertained members of the Women's Missionary Union of the Baptist church in her home recently.

A program was presented on the subject, "Doing the Will of God," after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Texas Memorial Museum Opening In Austin Today

AUSTIN, Jan. 14.—Exactly one century after President Mirabeau B. Lamar named a commission which chose Austin as site of Texas government, the state's first museum—dedicated to Texas pioneers—will be opened today on the campus of the University of Texas.

Opening of Texas Memorial museum will also highlight campus observance of inaugural ceremonies two days later for Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel. The inauguration is to be conducted one block distant in Texas Memorial stadium.

The $800,000 museum, played by bull's white shell stone in Grecian design, overlooks the campus from a hill on the east side. Exhibits in five natural sciences will be housed on its four floors. Dr. E. H. Sellards, director declared today.

The museum was built from American Legion and private contributions, state and federal funds. Original plans were to include two $300,000 wings on either side of the present building, but shortage of funds curtailed the program at completion of the central unit.

McLean High School Presents Operetta

MCLEAN, Jan. 14.—An appreciative audience applauded the cast of high school students in their presentation of "An Old Fashioned Charm", Thursday evening in the high school auditorium. It was a musical romance of two acts and four scenes and was interpreted with skill and gave credit to both producer and students. The operetta was directed by Miss Dale Smith, music instructor.

The cast was led by Miss Georgia Colebank and Jack Young. Other outstanding parts were played by Misses Julia Hancock, Louella Cobb, and Lorraine Hodges; C. B. Lee, Clyde Carpenter, and Eric Fullbright.

The stage was appropriately decorated for the garden scenes with a white fence and shrubbery in the background and lawn chairs in the foreground.

A Spanish chorus led by Louella Cobb sang several songs with tambourines. The girls, Vada Appling, Evonne Floyd, Iowa Hale, Frances Sitter, Earline McPherson, Ruth Thacker, Lejen Stevenson, and Johnnie Mae Scott, wore typical Spanish costumes of black full skirts and boleros with gold satin blouses.

Miss Glenda Landers gave a comical reading during intermission.

Others assisting in the operetta were Misses Naomi Young, Mary Alice Logerwood, Dorothy Sitter, Opal Thacker, Glyn Dora Bailey, and Margaret Kramer; John Bond, Herbert Moore, Junior Windom, Paul Bond.

Panhandle Children In Hollywood Film

When it comes to talent, the Top O' Texas can furnish the best.

Two former residents of the plains met in Hollywood recently. One was Dorothy Dean Lehman, former Pampa, who is playing the role of Sally in "College Guinea Pig," a Warner production, now playing in Hollywood.

Talking to another actor in the cast, she discovered that he, too, was from the Top O' Texas. His name was Lehmer Graham. Graham is 16 years old, formerly lived in Wyo. Deer, and in addition to playing in the same play in which Dorothy Dean Lehman is cast, also has a role in "Five Thousand Lov-ers."

Dorothy Dean, who is 10 years old, and her brother, Eldon, 12, are to start work on a new play in February, according to a letter received in Pampa from Mrs. Lehman. The Lehman children were on radio programs of KPDN while the family lived in Pampa.

Baptismal Services Will Be Held Today

"The New Man" is the sermon subject to be discussed at the morning service of the Central Baptist church by the Rev. John O. Scott, pastor.

At 7:30 o'clock the pastor will preach on "The Atonement of Christ For Our Sins."

Baptismal services will be conducted at both hours.

Senior Class Has Party At School

PANHANDLE, Jan. 14.—Senior class members and their sponsor, J. C. Line, enjoyed a party in the grade school gym recently.

Active games, contests, and radio programs furnished the entertainment for the evening. Guests other than seniors were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Vaughn, and Jack Atkins.

Following the games, refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served.

TROOP 24

Boy Scouts of Troop 24 will hold a festival in the basement of the Central Baptist church Monday night at 7 o'clock. The occasion being the presentation of the troop charter by Executive Fred Roberts of the Adobe Wks. council. An interesting program is being prepared by the boys, and the public is invited to attend.

Member of the troop's Flying Horse patrol met Friday night at the home of Harding Lee Casey with Patrol Leader James Hargis in charge. Several second class tests were passed.

SERIAL STORY

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday Cynthia is about to tell Janet some secret when she hears the door open. That night she hears the telephone rings but it is not Lance.

CHAPTER VII

It was Cynthia's voice that came over the wire.

"Jan?" Cynthia's speech was clipped and tense, all the careful indolence and indifference gone.

"Who do you think it is?" Janet demanded crossly. "The Duchess of Windsor or Shirley Temple?"

"I asked the hall operator to switch me to your room; but you sound—strange."

"I'm reeling with sleep, if you want the truth. What do you expect—waking me up this time in the morning?"

The clock by her bed registered 3:30. "And what on earth—" she was going on, her voice rising as her grievance grew upon her—but Cynthia broke in:

"Hush! I'm down at the drug store at the corner. And I've got to talk to you, Jan."

"Well, you know where to find me any time you choose to call it a night," Janet said impatiently.

"But if you think I'm coming down to the drug store in my—"

"Hush!" Cynthia cautioned again. "You'll have to let me in. I— I came without my key."

"You would! Janet thought. The room was invitingly cold after her snug bed.

Aloud she said, "All right; but step on it. You just wrecked a sweet dream. I'd like to catch up with it again."

"I won't be more than five minutes. Wait for me at the door. But please don't turn the lights on—and—Jan, muffle the telephone bells, will you? I don't want Grams awakened if— I mean, some one might ring."

"What did you think would happen when you called?"

"Oh—that once she'd just think it was Lance calling you after his party . . . It's important, Jan—about the telephone. Please do."

"Listen, Cy, is this some kind of new game?" Janet demanded. "Like 'Treasure Hunt' or 'X Marks the Spot'?"

Nevertheless she did muffle her own bell, and the one in the hall. There was no instrument in Aunt Mary's room.

To reach the hall door, Janet must cross the living room and pass the small corridor which led from the entrance hall to Aunt Mary's room and bath. She negotiated the passage in total darkness without incident except for the minor one of bumping her bare shin against the coffee table, and silently turned the night latch of the door.

It seemed ages before Cynthia slipped through the open door like a ghost. Janet shut it silently behind her.

At that moment there came a faint stir down the corridor to the right, and a ray of light from Aunt Mary's opened door; and Janet felt Cynthia's warning hand on her arm as Aunt Mary called, "Who is that?"

As the two girls clung together in the darkness outside the ray of light, Janet called, "It's just me, Aunt Mary. I—I went to the ice box for a cold drink"; and heard her own voice unnecessarily loud and cheerful.

"I thought I heard your telephone awhile ago."

"You did." That's what woke me. It was—

"Lance," Cynthia whispered. "It was Lance. He wanted to tell me about his party."

"It must have been right smart of a party if he had to wake you up at this hour to tell you about it," observed Aunt Mary.

"Well, for you're sake go back to bed. It's as cold as a stepmother's breath."

She shut her door with decision.

JANET felt Cynthia's slight figure quivering against her in what she took for silent mirth; and she wanted desperately to shake her.

A moment later she was thankful she had not. By the light in Janet's room, Cynthia was pale white; her slender brows were drawn up at the outer corners as if with pain, and her whole body shook in a convulsive chill. Janet took her hands between her own and found that they were like ice.

"Cynthia! Janet cried. "Cynthia, my dear! For Heaven's sake, what have you done to yourself?"

"Will you be quiet?" Cynthia whispered angrily through chattering teeth.

Janet threw down the windows, turned on the steam heat, and taking the fluffy coverlet from her bed, tried to wrap it about her cousin's shivering shoulders. But Cynthia brushed it aside. Then with one hand she sketched a brief gesture indicating the black and silver dinner dress.

"Well, darling," she said, a twisted smile writhing about her lips, "it's paid for. I made the sale."

"You—what?" Janet said, thinking, "will you never stop playing-acting?"

"Cynthia, have you gone completely crazy?"

"It was so ridiculously easy, Jan," Cynthia said. "I shouldn't even have needed the new dress."

This isn't play-acting, Janet decided.

"Cynthia," she said gently, "sit down, dear. . . Try to tell me what you're talking about."

She drew the trembling girl down beside her upon the edge of the bed.

"Yes," Cynthia said between chattering teeth. "Of course. After all, that's what I came for, isn't it? . . . I wanted you and Grams to know before the morning papers came out—or the reporters began to call the apartment. They're sure to. Some of them saw us. . . That's why I asked you to muffle the telephones. Tell her the first thing in the morning, Jan—after she's had her coffee."

"TELL her what, Cynthia?" Janet asked as quietly as she could, her own hands beginning to shake a little.

"Of course . . . I am getting things all backwards, aren't I? . . . And I haven't much time. I've got to get back before he wakes up."

"Before—you've got to get back where, Cynthia?"

"You see," Cynthia was going on dutifully, "she'd had quite a lot of drink off and on all evening, and I guess he was pretty tired, too. When we finally got up to his apartment, he went very promptly and soundly to sleep. That's why I could slip away and come here. But I really ought to be there when he wakes up."

"His apartment—a lot of drinks?" Janet repeated blankly.

"Who's apartment?" Cynthia, she demanded incredulously, "you haven't been drinking, too?"

"Only a glass of sherry—hours ago. . . But I don't seem to be making myself very clear, do I? . . . It's my husband I'm talking about, Jan—my nice, new gilt-edged husband."

Her laughter was terrible in Janet's ears.

"Hush!" Janet said sternly, remembering Aunt Mary in her turn. "Cynthia—you can't have done this—a crazy thing. You had no idea of getting married when you went out this evening."

"Oh, hadn't I? . . . Well, not so immediately, perhaps. But it had begun to seem like a good idea."

"But I can't believe he would do a thing like that—marry you like a torch singer, without letting us know, and then get drunk in the same breath."

"It was several breaths, darling," Cynthia said, with that crooked little smile that hurt Janet so much to watch. "And just who wouldn't do a thing like that, by the way? . . . Just whom do you imagine I'm married to, Janet?"

Guam May Be Focal Point Of Arguments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Naval plans for immediate fortification of the island of Guam may become the focal point for a furious congressional debate over President Roosevelt's $552,000,000 defense program.

Well-informed legislators said today the project pointed toward a complete reorientation of American policies in the Far East.

The President's defense message to Congress yesterday endorsed the suggestion of a naval board for immediate establishment of a major air and submarine base on the island—only about 1,500 miles from Tokyo.

Such a base, the board said, would: 1. Assure practical immunity of the Philippines against a major attack.

2. Reduce to its simplest terms the defense of Hawaii and the continental coast of the United States.

3. Assure the ability of the American fleet to operate with greater freedom in meeting emergency conditions that might arise in the Atlantic.

Tokyo already has eyed with annoyance the establishment of an American trans-Pacific commercial air line which has way points at Honolulu, Midway, Wake and Guam.

Japanese newspapers said these islands could be used for military as well as commercial planes.

Since 1925 army engineers have begun harbor improvements at Midway and made preparations to improve navigation facilities at Wake.

Rep. Brewster, Republican, Me., who fought much of the administration's naval expansion program last year, expressed conviction the Guam project would touch off a congressional controversy "beside which last year's naval debate will pale into insignificance."

Texas College Appropriations Not In Proportion To Enrollment Gains

CANYON, Jan. 13.—Each year since 1923 state-supported colleges of Texas have been called upon to accommodate a 10 per cent increase in enrollment over the previous long session, it was revealed at a conference of the senior college presidents of Texas, attended by Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State College, at Austin this week.

The increase since 1936 has been 6,938 students, bringing the total in the state-supported institutions to 34,360. Registration this term was even more accelerated, and indications point to another hike in the fall of this year.

Legislative appropriations, based on a per capita system, are directly affected by the increases. This basis of support is $175 for each full time student on the lower class levels, $225 for each full time student in the upper class and graduate levels, and in addition thereto $25 each fulltime student in technical courses. Estimates for the coming biennium have been formulated on the basis of a continuation of this formula.

A comparison of the appropriations for higher education in Texas with those of other progressive states showed that this state is spending a smaller per cent of the tax dollar for the purpose. Missouri and Wisconsin are spending twice as much as Texas, calculated a percentage of the tax dollar. Of the total state expenditures, the amounts spent for higher education in typical states were: Missouri, 8.48 per cent; Wisconsin, 7.96 per cent; Iowa, 6.58 per cent; California, 5.76 per cent; Illinois, 5.23 per cent; California, 5.76 per cent; Illinois, 5.23 per cent; Minnesota, 4.15 per cent; Texas, 3.75 per cent.

This comparison is for 1936-37. Over the same period, Texas expended a total of $144,572,102.11, of which the amount for higher education was $5,424,695.36.

Increases during summer sessions were not considered in showings that 62 per cent more students attended Texas state colleges during the year 1937-38 than were in attendance in the same institutions for 1927-28, or a decade earlier. But while enrollments increased 62 per cent in this period, appropriations increased only 6.3 per cent.

The comparisons were made to show the burden which the state institutions have been carrying in meeting rising demands, and to indicate the necessity for some plant and personnel expansions in the coming biennium. Instructors in Texas colleges are carrying almost intolerable teaching loads as one means of providing for larger student groups.

Six New Locations Staked In Panhandle

Activity In Gray County Shows Gains

Six new locations were staked in the Panhandle field last week, three in Gray, two in Moore and one in Wheeler counties. Only two wells were tested, one for oil and the other for gas, as the field dried up following a two-inch rain Sunday.

A search for big gas will be extended in southeastern Gray county by the Lone Star Gas Company, which made a location for its No. 1 N. W. Foster in the northeast quarter of section 117, block 23, H&GN survey, three miles north of McLean.

The test will be drilled a mile south of the same company's No. 1 Fowler in section 118, block 23, H&GN survey, which was brought in last fall as an oil well but plugged back to gas pay which has not yet been tested. The bit dropped into oil pay while deepening through gas.

Three of the new locations are in oil territory and three in gas. The first were filed by six different companies.

During 1938 one new pool was discovered and several extensions to present pools were uncovered in the Panhandle field. Eighty acres of territory was proven in the new pool in Gray county with the reserve oil estimated at 300,000 barrels.

Extensions to pools were estimated at 1,100 acres in Hutchinson county with reserve production estimated at 3,850,000 barrels; 3,000 acres in Carson county with reserve production 10,500,000 barrels; 800 in Gray county with reserve production of 2,800,000 barrels.

Completions for the week are:

In Hutchinson County.

Cree & Hoover No. 2 Hall, section 16, block L, EL&RR survey, was given a potential of 924 barrels with lime pay between 2,965 and 3,032 feet.

In Carson County.

Sinclair-Prarie Oil Company's No. 5 McConnell, section 198, block 3, I&GN survey, gauged 41,643,000 cubic feet.

Intentions to drill:

King Oil Company Allam No. 6, 330 feet north of east and 990 feet from the south lines of E $\frac{1}{4}$ of NE $\frac{1}{4}$ of section 127, block 3, I&GN survey, Gray county.

Lone Star Gas Company N. W. Foster No. 1, 1,322 feet from the north and 1,327 feet from the east lines of section 117, block 23, H&GN survey, Gray county.

Phillips Petroleum Company J. T. Benton No. 2, 2,310 feet from the north and 1,050 feet from the west of NW $\frac{1}{4}$ of section 63, block 3, I&GN survey, Gray county.

Canadian River Gas Company Masterson A-4, 400 feet from the north and 794 feet from the west of section 33, block B-10, EL&RR survey, Moore county.

The Shamrock Oil & Gas Company Sneed No. 12, 1,320 feet west and 660 feet north of southeast corner of Tract No. 5 of Sneed's subdivision of Mary S. Johnson survey.

Alma Oil Company East Johnson No. 1, 1,856 feet from the north and 332 feet from the east of E $\frac{1}{4}$ of quarter of section 47, block 24, H&GN survey, Wheeler county.

Black Skunk Brings Bad Luck To Fox

WAYLAND, N. Y., Jan. 14 (AP)—Black skunks and black cats are all of a color to P. R. Fox—bad luck.

Fox's car ran over a black skunk yesterday and he stopped to salvage the carcass, since an all-black skunk is worth something extra on the fur market.

A few minutes later Fox's car crashed into a fence, and a fence rail pierced the dashboard and grazed the driver, almost impaling him.

The car was towed home. When Fox tried to remove the fence rail the machine burst into flames and was destroyed.

So was the skunk.

Hull Accepts Dare To Probe Lobbyists

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull accepted today an invitation by Senator O'Mahoney, Democrat, Wyo., to draft a legislative proposal for a congressional investigation to tariff lobbyists in Washington.

Noting a statement by the white-haired secretary before the Senate finance committee that Washington "is swarming with sugar lobbyists who are hanging on our flanks to attack the trade agreement program, O'Mahoney challenged Hull to prepare legislation which would provide for an investigation.

"Will you draft it?" Hull was asked by newsmen as he shook hands with O'Mahoney after a heated session of questioning had been ended.

"Certainly," Hull replied. O'Mahoney added assurance that it would be incorporated in a resolution introduced by 10 Senators calling for an investigation of the circumstances surrounding negotiations for a revision of the 1934 trade treaty with Cuba.

75 Texas Students Visit Army Airports

AUSTIN, Jan. 14.—Seventy-five University of Texas engineering students studied United States army flying first hand Friday, when they visited three San Antonio army air fields. Students toured Randolph, Kelly and Duncan fields.

"The trip had nothing to do with President Roosevelt's recent move to establish flying as part of regular college training," H. E. Degler, professor of mechanical engineering at the university, said. "We are interested in seeing military aviation in operation outside the classroom."

Cocoon spread to all parts of the globe by floating.
