B52s Hit Quang Tri, Killing 300 N. Viets

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. B52 Stratofortresses shattered bunkers and inflicted heavy casualties on North Vietnamese around the provincial capital of Quang Tri, the U.S. Command said Saturday.

It estimated the bombers killed about 300 enemy in two massive raids.

A U.S. Command communiqué said South Vietnamese paratroopers searching one B52 strike area about eight miles south of Quang Tri "found 60 destroyed enemy bunkers containing approximately 250 enemy dead and their equipment."

Three anti-aircraft artillery pieces and two trucks were destroyed in the same area, the command said. If accurate, the number killed would indicate that a North Vietnamese battalion was knocked out by the strike.

The North Vietnamese claimed a B52 bomber was shot down over North Vietnam Thursday, but there was no confirmation in Saigon. No B52s have been reported lost to enemy fire, although at least one has been damaged.

On the northern front, military sources said a South Vietnamese paratrooper battalion had moved to within 700 yards east of the Citadel in the heart of Quang Tri. This was the closest government troops had come to the fallen provincial capital.

A government spokesman reported two new engagements Saturday outside Quang Tri and said 11 enemy were killed. He characterized South Vietnamese losses as light.

Thirty miles to the south, there was fighting west of Hue, and the old imperial capital was hit by eight enemy artillery shells that killed one person and wounded three.

An unusual broadcast by the Viet Cong's radio said its forces had taken more than 200 prisoners from the 23rd Division's 45th Regiment after they were wounded and left behind during ground fighting in Kontum Province between July 2 and 4.

The South Vietnamese prisoners were treated for their wounds and moved to a spot identified as Hill 616, where U.S. Air Force B52s dropped tons of antipersonnel bombs in raids the following two days, the broadcast said. It claimed all the prisoners were killed.

Substitute Of DDT Now Put On Sale

NEW YORK (AP)—A successor to U.S. government-banned DDT has been put on the market by young New Jersey manufacturers. They claim it is more efficient than DDT and "kills bugs, but doesn't kill people."

Dr. Alan Becker, president of the Ecological Manufacturing Corp. in North Bergen, has named the product Emtox. He said in an interview that it will be nationally available within six months. At present, it must be bought through professional exterminators.

"It's obvious that insecticides are needed," he said. "We set out to find the best chemical substance available that wouldn't kill a human." However, "we don't expect to make it for more than 10 years. By then the ultimate pesticide will have been found—and it will be organic."

Becker said manufacture of the product developed through an academic discussion group thrashing out the problem of pesticides.

Government Puts Ceiling On Cattle Hide Exports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration imposed a ceiling on U.S. cattle hide exports today with the aim of holding down rising prices for shoes and other leather goods.

Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson announced he is setting the hide export levels at last year's rate of 16 million hides—a rate he termed "very high by any standard."

And he said the curb on shipments on U.S. hides abroad would be carried out through an export ticket system which will avoid the windfall profits for exporters or foreign buyers.

Peterson, at a news conference, said inflationary pressure has developed on cattle hide prices because demand is exceeding supply. He said hides which used to average 14 cents a pound by last week had climbed to an historic high of 29.79 cents a pound.

Higher prices and shorter supplies result in higher leather prices and higher prices for leather products, principally leather shoes, the Commerce secretary told newsmen.

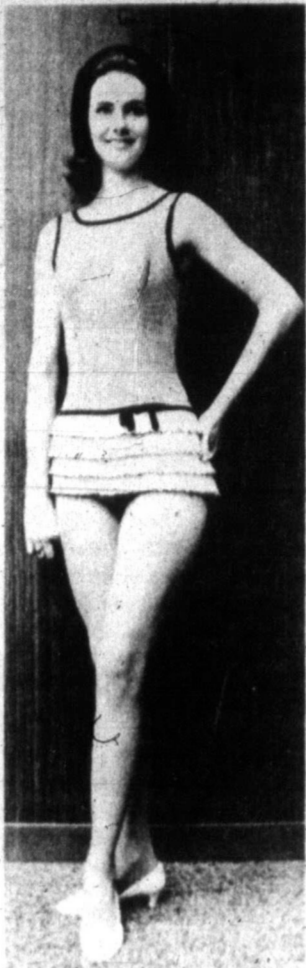

"These higher prices come out of the American consumers' hide," he said.

The new action was billed as temporary until the market pressure on hides eases, but Peterson declined to predict just when the export control might be lifted.

The program, he noted, envisages hide export tickets being required at least until November. He left open what the situation might be thereafter.

The Commerce secretary also avoided any hard-and-fast forecast about the future effect on shoes and meat prices.

"We believe it will result in a reduction in the price of American-made shoes," he said. But he also said, "There isn't any possible way" he could predict just what the price results would be on shoes and meat.

ANOTHER BEAUTY—Representing the House of Venus, Miss Melinda Gale Manning, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Manning, 1104 Garland, is one of the contestants in the Miss Top O'Texas Beauty Pageant set for Aug. 12. A 1972 graduate of Pampa High School, Miss Manning is interested in skiing, horseback riding and playing the piano. She is currently attending beauty school.

Chess Game Deadlocked

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—Boris Spassky fished for salmon and Bobby Fischer kept his Sabbath Saturday as chess officials scrambled to save the world championship.

After talks with officials of the International and Icelandic chess federations, Fischer's lawyer, Paul Marshal, announced the American challenger had withdrawn his objection to the presence of movie cameras in the playing hall "so long as they don't blow his mind."

Marshal also asked the officials to reconsider their decision to uphold the referee in declaring a forfeit because Fischer missed the second game of the 24-game series Thursday.

Fischer boycotted the session, saying the cameras distracted him. Marshal said new evidence was being prepared that might stave off cancellation of the match. He wouldn't say what the evidence was.

Fischer's failure to turn up for his second encounter with the world champion gave Spassky a 2-0 lead. Spassky needs 12 points to retain the title, Fischer 12½. Each game won counts a point. A draw is half a point.

Fischer is refusing to play game No. 3 Sunday unless the point the Russian gained by default is scratched from the score sheet.

The deadlock seemed unbreakable, but Fischer's attorneys and his second, the Rev. William Lombardy, were trying to find a way out.

One official connected with the International Chess Federation—FIDE—said he thought it was impossible to take the point away from Spassky.

Hanoi And U.S. Reported To Conduct Secret Talks

Nixon Aide May Meet Le Duc Tho

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers held open Saturday the possibility of few secret Vietnam peace talks and said "there are some slight nuances" in Hanoi's latest proposals that "give us some encouragement."

Emerging from an hour-long meeting with President Nixon, Rogers told newsmen on the lawn of the Western White House that he did not want to raise premature hopes of progress toward ending the war.

He would not comment directly on the statement Saturday by a chief North Vietnamese negotiator, Le Duc Tho, that he is ready to hold more private talks with Presidential adviser Henry Kissinger if Kissinger has "something new" to discuss.

But Rogers said the United States is "prepared to have any kind of diplomatic activity" that holds out hope for peace.

Rogers came to California to report to Nixon on the 11-nation around-the-world tour he completed on Wednesday. He said he found in the countries he visited that Nixon is "regarded as the world leader in the cause for peace."

At the ocean-front Nixon compound Friday, former Treasury Secretary John Connally emerged from a meeting with Nixon and accused Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern of sabotaging the President's peace efforts.

Asked whether he agreed with Connally's statement, Rogers said McGovern's pledge to end the bombing of North Vietnam immediately and withdraw all American troops and support within 90 days "would give our adversary exactly what he wants without any negotiation."

Kissinger, Nixon's assistant for national security affairs, who has held more than a dozen private sessions with North Vietnamese negotiators in the past three years, sat in on Nixon's meeting with Rogers.

A spokesman said that Nixon probably would return to Washington on Tuesday.

FBI Lauded For Handling Of Hijacking

WASHINGTON (AP)—John H. Shaffer, Federal Aviation administrator, gave special praise Saturday to the FBI for its handling of hijacking incidents.

"FBI agents on the scene have had to make some extremely difficult decisions in which the dangers of taking positive action with regard to the safety of hostages had to be balanced against the dangers of non-action," Shaffer said.

"I believe they have met this challenge in a mature and responsible way in avoiding the use of excessive force in all cases, and preserving lives of a significant number of innocent people in the process."

Nixon Woos Disgruntled Demos And Rival Seeks Young Voters

WASHINGTON (AP)—As the legions of Sen. George McGovern laid plans for a massive voter registration drive, the Nixon administration laid out the welcome mat for Democrats dissatisfied with their party's presidential ticket.

The first order of business in the Democrats' presidential campaign is a nationwide effort to register new voters, especially the young, said Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, vice presidential nominee, in a Kansas City speech Saturday.

McGovern, the Democrats' presidential choice, stayed at his Washington home Saturday.

Meanwhile, Democrats of every persuasion were saying McGovern had an uphill battle ahead.

"We're not under any illusions that the battle is won," McGovern remarked on arriving in Washington from Miami. "But I have much the same feeling I had in New Hampshire at the beginning of the year—it's an uphill effort but I think we're going to go over the top."

McGovern surprised pollsters and political commentators last January when he captured 37 per cent of the vote in the New Hampshire Democratic presidential primary.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, considered the front-runner for the nomination at the time, was moving in new directions came Friday in Miami Beach, when the national committee ratified McGovern's selection of Jean Westwood as Democratic national chairman—the first woman to head a major political party.

In another precedent-setting move, the committee selected Basil Paterson, 45, a Harlem black and former state senator, as vice chairman.

Roman Catholics In Belfast Heading South To Escape Upsurging Violence

BELFAST (AP)—More than 1,000 women and children fled Roman Catholic areas of Belfast on Saturday and took trains for Ireland, fearing an upsurge in Northern Ireland's violence.

Their exit followed hours of shooting in which two soldiers and two supposed gunmen died. Almost 5,000 now have headed south to escape the continuing violence in Belfast and other centers.

The evacuation was organized by politicians who have close links with the Provisional Irish Republican Army, fighting to merge mainly Protestant Northern Ireland with predominantly Catholic Ireland.

The departure brought charges from Protestants that the IRA would be organizing a weekend push against the British army. Catholics, by contrast, contended that the British were planning sweeps through Catholic areas which had become IRA strongholds.

One of the dead soldiers was a bomb disposal expert killed as he sought to defuse a milk churn packed with explosives on a country road near the border with Ireland.

The other was a soldier shot dead in the Suffolk district of western Belfast, where troops have battled IRA gunmen over the past five days.

Their deaths and those of the two presumed gunmen brought the total in three years of violence to at least 439, of whom 231 died this year.

In Londonderry, Northern Ireland's second city, gunfights and riots forced the army to stop building permanent barricades around their controlled, Bogside and Creggan districts.

As troops moved in to build the barricades, Catholic women staged a sit-down protest and youngsters pitched in with rocks and bottles. Within minutes the troops came under snarled attack but none were injured.

Earlier Saturday vacationers returning home from Spain by plane were caught in an hour-long gun battle at Belfast's Aldergrove Airport.

As passengers were walking from the terminal building to their cars, terrorists opened up on airport police. More gunfire came from a white panel truck parked near the airport. Police returned the fire as the vacationers dived for cover.

The shooting stopped when Royal Air Force marksmen were rushed in from the military part of the airport. The gunmen made their getaway in the predawn darkness.

Bombs wrecked two electricity transformers in Armagh, Ireland's ecclesiastical capital, and a service station near the town center.

Commitment To Israel Reaffirmed

President Nixon reaffirmed the United States' commitment to the state of Israel Saturday as the Zionist Organization of America celebrated its Diamond Jubilee in Jerusalem.

"I salute you today as people who truly share the heritage of two great nations, Israel and the United States," Nixon said in brief remarks that were to be conveyed by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

In the brief text of his message, Nixon said, "In my recent discussions with Soviet leaders on the Middle East, I made clear the commitment of the American people to the survival of the state of Israel and to a peaceful settlement that would be just for all countries in the area."

Large Street Demonstrations Expected To Greet GOP Convention

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Large and militant street demonstrations will likely greet the Republican National Convention when it rolls into town next month.

Police and protest planners say they want a repeat of the peaceful demonstrations that accompanied the Democratic National Convention, but nobody is taking bets on it.

Before the Democrats convened, the word from both sides was that there would be no violence. Everyone gave a little all week, and there was no trouble.

But police and protesters are more aggressive now as they talk about the Republican gathering Aug. 21 to 23. Instead of, "There will be no trouble," what one often hears is, "We don't want trouble, but we'll be ready for it."

In addition to more protesters and more militant actions, several additional factors could combine to produce a highly volatile situation. The candidate will be President Nixon instead of Sen. George McGovern. Peace movement heavies who sat out the Democratic conclave will be active in the demonstrations. The Republican party has not opened itself to young people, blacks and women to the extent the Democrats have.

"This was a dress rehearsal for August," Zippie leader Dana Beal said after the last of the Democratic Convention protest marches. "We will have a lot more people and be a lot more serious in August. We all hate Nixon. We are going to try to push him into the sea right here. We don't want trouble, but we are prepared for Nixon to react."

No one really knows how many people will be on the streets when the Republicans arrive. There were about 3,000 nondelegates around to welcome the Democrats. Mayor Chuck Hall said he expects 5,000 demonstrators for the GOP Convention. Organizers say 50,000. There were only 5,000 people on the streets of Chicago during the violence at the 1968 Democratic Convention.

The antiwar movement last winter singled out the Republican Convention as the prime target this summer. Plans for August have been laid by the Miami Conventions Coalition, which includes the groups that organized the 1968 Chicago demonstrations and the May 1970 demonstrations in Washington, D.C., that resulted in more than 10,000 arrests.

The coalition is likely to attract people seriously bent on radical politics rather than the marijuana smoking, guitar playing cultural revolutionaries who descended upon Miami Beach last week. Rennie Davis and Dave Dellinger, who sat out most of last week's activities, will play an active role in the August protests. Davis and Dellinger were convicted of crossing state lines to incite rioting after the 1968 Democratic Convention. The convictions are being appealed.

"It was decided months ago that the greatest mobilization would be concentrated on the Republican Convention," said Davis. "We expect the demonstrations to be large, disciplined and militant."

Protests planned for August include lining the streets with people holding posters depicting Vietnam War scenes and mass demonstrations wherever Nixon goes.

The resist and run tactics used in the May 1970 Washington demonstrations—blocking roads and buildings nonviolently, but fleeing in the face of arrest—may be used.

No one ever says they are going to act violently, but the possibility that there will be property destruction surfaces in almost every discussion. "I'm not into thrashing and burning, but a lot of people are talking about it in August," said Stefan Wanstrom of Dallas, a member of the Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice.

Many people planning to take part in the protests feel that the Republicans will react with more force than they faced when the Democrats were in town.

"If we try to protest in the hotels like we did this past week, the cops will be down on our heads," said Mike Pierson of Boulder, Colo., a member of Students for a Democratic Society. "We won't be looking for trouble, but we do expect it."

McGovern's candidacy was a moderating influence during the Democratic Convention protests, an influence that won't be present when the Republicans gather to nominate Nixon.

"No one out here feels McGovern is the second Saviour, but we know Nixon is the one we have to beat," said Mike Mariotte, a Zippie from Reston, Va. "People didn't want to do anything that would jeopardize his chances, so they cooled it."

Some of the groups that were in the streets this past week also had people in Convention Hall as delegates. There was a widespread feeling the Democrats were listening and the demonstrations were just to remind the Democrats people would protest if necessary. The same feeling does not prevail about the Republicans.

A Backward Look At Demo Convention

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — They may have to amend those marble inscriptions on the university and library walls because the past was not prelude to much this week among the palm trees, the plastic credit cards and the plaster Greek statues of Miami Beach.

"Craziest damn convention I ever saw," George Meany kept saying.

One can easily imagine the old labor leader, at 77, biting viciously on his cigar, growling out orders to command posts of the ABM ("Anybody but McGovern Movement"). Orders, pressures, threats, favors recalled, arm twisting. Nothing seemed to work. Finally, in the wee hours of a Tuesday morning, comes the grim bulletin: California is lost; Franklin Delano Roosevelt is really dead; long live George who? A party is being transformed. Perhaps a country, too, say the zealots. Outs are in. Ins are out. A sleeping bag pariah of Grant Park, Chicago, 1968, now orders up broiled kipper and eggs in the neo-classic splendor of the Fontainebleau. Averell Harriman, bent with honors, wanders lonely as a cloud, beaten for a delegate's seat by a 19-year old.

As symbols, the two examples should not be over-weighted. Besides the young and the blacks who are newly important in Democratic politics, there is a growing breed of the middle-aged, larger in number, who have moved from the neutrality of the League of Women Voters, the insulation of professorial chairs, the abstract stance of the "office liberal," and the intellectual comfort of suburban discussion groups into the sweaty nitty-gritty and not always inspiring hurly-burly of active partisan politics.

Regardless of age, color or class, the spirit of this convention was change. Old coalitions die. Old muscle now has no clout. Nothing ages faster than age in the new politics. The past, both the long ago and the recent, is badly bruised.

Lyndon Johnson, the party's last president, is scarcely mentioned. His picture is tucked away in right field of Convention Hall, among congressional leaders, not presidents.

At the start of the week, the party's last nominee for president bravely announces: "I didn't come here for a vacation. I came for a nomination." By the end of the week, Hubert Humphrey has had neither.

Few speakers try to milk sacred memory. Wilson, Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy, none of the names of the old litany touch off the reverence they once did. Even leaders of the new politics become old overnight.

There sits John Lindsay, mayor of the country's biggest city, now just another delegate with no particular magic. And somewhere on the fringes, floating like a butterfly, stinging like a bee, Gene McCarthy can't find a blossom to light on, only four years after he epitomized the whole garden called the new politics. Charisma seems to be as dead as Hamlet or Camelot. Things could change in the next few weeks.

The old outs may be invited back in and the young ins may be hidden back among the Xerox machines. Bruised old egos will be cooed and wooed. But the experts already are certain: George McGovern,

Witnesses Hit 'New' Morality

AMARILLO—Speakers at the district convention of Jehovah's Witnesses Friday took gloves-off punches at the so-called "new" morality noting it went back to Sodom and Gomorrah 2,000 years before Christ.

The only thing new about it is the technology that has removed some of the fears connected with the practice of sin according to the theme followed.

Of extreme interest was the question raised by one of the day's speakers, R.C. Bopp, El Paso, who asked: "Can You Take Counsel Without Resentment?"

He said all must get God's mind on matters pertaining to life and conduct.

A special baptismal service highlighted Saturday's program, conducted by Scott Fyler, Amarillo. His theme was "Making Request to God for a Good Conscience."

School Board To Study PHS Parking At Meet

High school parking bids fair to be the most involved of 17 action items on the agenda of the Pampa school board at the regular meeting Monday night.

Actually there are two action items on the agenda dealing with this matter.

The first deals with parking space and will involve multiple areas of consideration: parking front and rear, rear delivery zone, bus loading area and the band marching field.

The second item will deal with control of parking during the next term of school after physical parking areas have been provided. The new principal of Pampa High School, Don Walker, will make this report.

Bids will be received for supplying gasoline, milk, bread and band instruments during the coming school term.

The board will hear a report and recommendations concerning printing and duplicating needs for the school system for the coming year.

Other considerations and actions will be of a more routine nature.

The board meets at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Carver Center.

Utah Woman Appointed Demo Party Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Democratic national chairman is Jean Miles Westwood, a 48-year-old grandmother from West Jordan, Utah, and the first woman to head a major political party.

Mrs. Westwood, a principal adviser to Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern, replaces Lawrence F. O'Brien. Sen. McGovern's selection of Mrs. Westwood was unanimously ratified by the Democratic National Committee Friday in Miami Beach, Fla.

The committee, in another precedent-setting move, selected Basil Paterson of Harlem, N.Y., as vice chairman. Paterson, 45, a former state senator, is the first black to be picked for such a top post in a national party.

McGovern's choice for the vice-chairmanship was Pierre Salinger, a campaign adviser and former White House press secretary, who withdrew from contention after black Democrats from Mississippi nominated Paterson.

While originally endorsing Salinger, McGovern said after Paterson was nominated that either man would be acceptable to him.

O'Brien, who held the chairmanship for 2 1/2 years, had led the presidential campaigns of Lyndon B. Johnson in 1964 and Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968. He was postmaster general under Johnson after being in charge of congressional liaison

Area Youth Boy 4-H Club Vice Chairman

COLLEGE STATION—John Davis, a 17-year-old high school senior from Canadian, has been elected boy vice-chairman of the State 4-H Council. He will serve the 100,000 member Texas 4-H organization along with other officers elected recently at a state council workshop at the University of Houston.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Davis. The District 14-H Council elected him as their 1972 chairman.

In 1971, he was a Gold Star Award recipient and attended that year's State 4-H Roundup, competing in public speaking. Again in 1972 he competed in the State Roundup in the cooperative demonstration.

In addition to his 4-H activities, this Hemphill County boy is active in the Future Farmers of America and various school organizations. He has served as FFA treasurer and secretary of both the chapter and district level.

In addition, he is to receive his State Farmer Degree this summer. For three years he won first at the district FFA talent contest and is this year's area winner.

EPA Hearing On Pollution In Texas Set

HOUSTON (AP) — An Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) hearing on proposed federal regulations to remedy defects in a Texas master plan to control air pollution will be held here Monday.

The hearings for the entire state will be conducted by Dr. Cooper Wayman, regional counsel for the EPA.

Recently the EPA ruled that there were deficiencies in four sections of the Texas plan. The deficiencies involved making emissions data available to the public, control strategy on hydrocarbons and nitrogen oxides and surveillance of pollution sources.

A substitute federal regulation on nitrogen oxides is expected to be the most controversial at the hearing.

Local Demo Casts Vote For Jackson

Reports of the final balloting for the presidential nominee at the Democratic primary incorrectly listed the vote for the delegate from Pampa.

Mrs. Ruth Osborne was inadvertently reported as switching her vote to Sen. George McGovern in the balloting Wednesday night, according to information received by the Pampa News.

Upon her return to Pampa, Mrs. Osborne said the News had received the wrong information. She remained behind Sen. Henry Jackson during all the balloting and cast her vote for him Wednesday night, she said.

Dolph Briscoe, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, did switch his vote from Gov. George Wallace to McGovern, being one of 54 Texans voting for McGovern at the convention.

Four Youths Arrested On Different Incidents

Charges of minor in possession were filed against two youths, two boys were picked up in connection with a gas station burglary, and a reported theft of a hydraulic jack were the only incidents in a relatively quiet weekend for Pampa police.

Answering a call early Saturday morning to investigate a disturbance, police apprehended the two youths, both 16 years old, as they ran away from the dwelling carrying a beer cooler.

Police picked up two boys, 11 and 13 years old, Saturday in connection with the burglaries of a gas station on June 20 and July 9. Their cases were referred to the juvenile officer.

Close to midnight Friday, police received a report from Hardin-Roth Gas station, that a man, described a six feet tall, with black hair and glasses, failed to return after borrowing a hydraulic jack to reportedly start a car at a local cafe. The jack is valued at $155.

Clothing Store Burglarized

Ten shirts, including a Mickey Mouse shirt, and seven pairs of pants, valued at approximately $230, were among the items stolen Thursday night or early Friday morning from Impulse Clothing Store.

The burglar, or burglars, apparently entered via a back, barred window, through a small opening between a bar and the window siding.

Police believe, from all appearances, the person, or persons, was familiar with the layout of the store and the location of sizes of clothing they wanted.

Store personnel are reportedly making an inventory to determine what other items were taken.

What Reforms McGovern Would Make?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — George McGovern started the long road from small-state senator to presidential nominee armed with a single major issue: opposition to the Vietnam war.

Vietnam — McGovern considers the conflict a Vietnamese civil war in which the United States never should have become involved, even though the Soviets and Chinese are supplying the North with arms.

On his inauguration day, McGovern says, he will halt all U.S. bombing in Southeast Asia, set "a definite date for withdrawal of all American forces within 90 days time of the inaugural . . . Simultaneously I would announce the termination of all military aid to the governments of Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam."

McGovern says he will take those actions without assurances that U.S. prisoners of war would be returned, but said his moves "would trigger the release of our prisoners."

Otherwise, McGovern has said, "I would go to Hanoi and beg, if I thought that would release the boys one day earlier." He said "begging is better than bombing."

China, Russia, Cuba — "Personally, I applaud Nixon's trip to Peking . . . and his efforts in Moscow."

McGovern also favors re-establishment of diplomatic relations with Cuba. It could begin "by inviting Castro or some designated person to Washington, or vice versa."

Middle East — "We have an obligation to furnish Israel the advanced aircraft and other equipment necessary to prevent attack . . . It should be an ongoing commitment, based solely on the military requirements of the day."

McGovern also says that it is a thousand-in-one situation but "if it were necessary to save Israel I would, without question, commit U.S. forces there. By making it clear to the Arabs and their Soviet allies 'that we're going to back the state of Israel, you head off the possibility' of World War III erupting over the Mideast."

Economy — The Democratic candidate has sponsored legislation to assist with economic conversion of U.S. private industry from production of military-related goods to civilian goods and services.

The bill, among other things, requires that part of the profits U.S. companies earn on military, space and atomic energy contracts be used as benefits to workers whose work weeks have been shortened or jobs eliminated due to cuts in military spending. It also offers an incentive to employers to plan for the transfer of their workers to civilian production.

Tax Reform — A major McGovern campaign issue is tax reform to close loopholes he says allow many big corporations and rich people to avoid taxes at the expense of middle-income working families.

His specific proposals include: Elimination of the investment tax credit for business; a tax rate on gifts and inheritances graduated up to 77 per cent when the value is $500,000 or more; a reduction in local property taxes by increasing the federal share of financing elementary and secondary education; a minimum income tax.

He has also said he wants to phase out depletion allowances on oil and other products.

Welfare — One of McGovern's most controversial proposals, the candidate's plan for redistribution of income, will guarantee every American a minimum annual allowance. It would be in the form of cash grants to those below a certain income level and in the form of tax credits. Like other income, this will be taxable.

McGovern stresses that his welfare reform plan would work only in tandem with tax reform.

National Defense — McGovern proposes cutting defense spending to $54.8 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1974—down from a projected $87.3 billion for the same year under the Nixon administration.

Under his proposal, McGovern says, the U.S. military would "be built on muscle instead of fat," with expenditures that are "necessary for a prudent national defense and no more."

It envisions a total end to U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war; a withdrawal of all U.S. land forces in Korea and throughout the Far East; a reduction in total military manpower from 2.4 million men to 1.7 million, a reduction in the number of U.S. troops stationed in Europe from 300,000 to 130,000, regardless of whether there is a similar withdrawal of Communist troops.

It also envisions reducing from 22 to 16 the number of air wings stationed in Europe; a decrease in B52 and FB111 bombers from 520 to 200; retention of the 1,000 Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles in hardened silos in the United States, but elimination of the 54 larger and older Titan ICBMs; termination of development and production of the B1 strategic bomber, the F14 and F15 fighter planes, and the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

Abortion — McGovern repeatedly says his position is to leave abortion laws for each state, "I would veto legislation that had to do with setting aside state jurisdiction in this field."

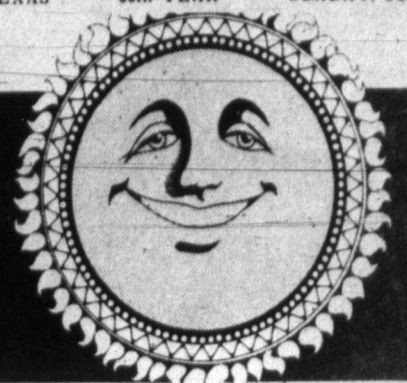

But, in the same interview, McGovern did say "I think perhaps some of the laws are too restrictive," and he suggested at another time that he viewed abortion as a matter between a woman and her doctor.

Education — "Equal opportunity is not a privilege," McGovern says. "It is the right of every American, whatever his color or birth or neighborhood."

He proposes eliminating the need for property taxes to finance elementary and secondary education by boosting the federal financial share from 7 per cent to 33 per cent. He says that would amount to $15 billion per year immediately and $24 billion by 1976.

James Abbott McNeill Whistler adopted the butterfly symbol to sign his nature paintings.

A BRONZE BUFFALO—A bronze sculpture of a buffalo will be one of the sculptures by Keith Christie of Yuba City, Calif., on display Saturday at the Carson County Square House Museum in Panhandle. Also on display will be a Norman Rockwell painting, "First Day of School."

Carson County Museum Sets Special Activities

Special activities will be held at the Carson County Square House Museum in Panhandle Saturday to honor Mrs. Mary Moody Northern of Galveston.

The ceremony, given in appreciation of Mrs. Northern's support for the museum, will be at 3 p.m., with Cecil Burney, president of the Texas State Historical Foundation from Corpus Christi, in charge.

Lester Prokop, chairman of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee from Houston, and other dignitaries will also be present.

Keith Christie, of Yuba City, Calif., will be in Panhandle the same day with a display of his western paintings and sculptures of Western life. His work in bronze is characterized by its sense of action and movement.

A Norman Rockwell painting, "First Day of School," recently acquired by Dr. Malouf Abraham, Jr., of Canadian, will also be on display.

Dr. Abraham bought the painting from the Bernard Dannenberg Gallery at New York and has had it renovated and restored by New York craftsmen. Painted in 1915 by Rockwell when he was 20, the painting was lost until recently discovered in the attic of a house owned by the former head engraver of the now defunct Colliers Magazine.

Area residents are invited to visit the displays at the Square House Museum Saturday. There will be no admission fee.

11 Accidents Reported On Rural Hwys In June

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 11 accidents on rural highways in Gray County during June, according to Sgt. J.L. Dalrymple, Highway Patrol supervisor of the Pampa area.

The crashes resulted in no fatalities and five persons injured.

New Ferment In Indochina Situation Cited

By Associated Press

Call it educated guessing, hunch or plain gut feeling, but some veteran Communist-watchers detect new ferment in the Indochina situation generated by the yeasty possibilities of the U.S. presidential campaign.

American politics presents mystifying problems to Hanoi. If U.S. campaign politics can create confusion among Americans themselves, how incredibly mixed up it must all seem to a clutch of Communist leaders who cannot hope to begin understanding the rudiments of American democracy.

Imagine yourself a member of the Hanoi Politburo.

You know the Democratic candidate for the U.S. presidency has pledged that all U.S. forces and prisoners will be out of Indochina 90 days after his inauguration. Should you sit tight until November to see if he wins?

Trying to figure out the Americans, you look to the record. Perhaps you see little difference on Indochina between Democratic and Republican presidents.

On the other hand, suppose the incumbent is re-elected. Would he be much more difficult to deal with after November?

You get advice from the Soviet Union and China, but your giant allies make you jumpy. Peking received President Nixon. Then Moscow received him, even while he was increasing the bombing of your country and mining its ports.

Both the Chinese and Russians assure you their hearts are with you, but you can't help wonder: What's going on? Clearly your allies have big-power interests. Clearly those interests clash in Southeast Asia. Neither wants a situation to develop that will overly enhance the other's influence. Each has an interest in an opening to the United States. Is the Southeast Asia war becoming an embarrassment to both?

The experience of history has been that every war must end when there no longer is any purpose in continuing the fighting, when costs outrun the value of objectives. Is that time near?

The rural traffic accident summary for Gray County during the first six months of 1972 shows a total of 103 accidents resulting in four persons killed, and 46 injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Department of Public Safety Region 5 for June, 1972 shows a total of 527 accidents resulting in 20 persons killed and 347 persons injured as compared to June, 1971 with 524 accidents resulting in 10 persons killed and 308 persons injured.

Parks And Wildlife Dept. Receives Awards For Information Programs

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's information and education effort during 1971 has been declared the best of all such agencies in the United States and Canada.

A first-place plaque for "outstanding total information program" was awarded the department at the annual conference in Salt Lake City last week of the American Association for Conservation Information.

Accepting the awards for the department was Richard A. McCune, director of information and education since November, 1969.

McCune is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McCune, 811 N. Frost, Pampa. A graduate of Pampa High School, he received a degree in journalism from North Texas University. Prior to working with the department, he worked with the Dallas Times-Herald.

In garnering the most points for the award, the information and education directorate took first place in photography, first in news services, second in television, third in radio and third in special information.

In addition, the department also entered four other categories including magazine, motion picture, wildlife exhibit and special publication.

Last year, the department took two first places and one second for the runner-up spot in total information programs during 1970.

"We feel that the citizens of Texas are among the best-informed in the world on matters relating to outdoor activities," said James U. Cross, department executive director. "Winning this international recognition from the AACI confirms that belief."

The photography award was for a five-panel essay on "Pathways and Paddeways," centering on some of the creeks and rivers in the Texas hill country.

Top Texas Corporations Report Higher Revenues

AUSTIN—Falling in step with the nation's steadily improving economy, Texas' Top 100 corporations showed a steady and healthy trend of revenue and profit-improvement during 1971, according to the July issue of TEXAS PARADE magazine just off the press.

In contrast to the year previous, 88 of Texas' Top 100 corporations reported higher revenues and 75 of them boosted profits.

LTV Corp. of Dallas, for the fourth straight year, headed the parade of 300 public-held companies ranked by the Austin-based monthly publication, and, for the third straight year, also headed the parade of losers, going $57.4 million in the red. LTV Corp. was followed in the Top 100 rankings, listed according to total revenues, by Houston-based Tenneco with $2.8 billion in revenues. LTV had $3.4 billion in revenues. Dallas-headquartered Halliburton Company, with $1.3 billion in revenues was third, followed by the Southland Corporation of Dallas, who joined the Billion Dollar Club in 1971 when its revenues jumped to $1.1 billion.

Next in order came El Paso Natural Gas, Dresser Industries (Dallas), Texas Instruments (Dallas), Pennzoil Company (Houston) Texas Eastern Transmission of Houston, and Houston-based Anderson, Clayton & Company.

The July issue, which also includes rankings of the state's Top 50 commercial banks, life insurance companies, and losers, shows Tenneco the leader in net income with $184 million net income. Tenneco also ranked first in total assets, with $4.6 billion on the ledger.

"To encourage literature and the arts," George Washington wrote, "is a duty which every good citizen owes to his country."

Coins with a Personal Flare

Sculptors and engravers, like most good artists and writers, impart a certain flare to their creations that resembles an unconscious trademark or signature by which their work can be immediately identified.

Typical examples can be found on much of our coinage.

James B. Longacre, one of our earlier sculptor-engravers with the Philadelphia Mint, was best known for his repeated adaptations of his daughter Sarah's profile to the likeness of Liberty on

Some of Longacre's trial pieces suggested for other denominations also reflected his "thing" about the union shield and there is every reason to believe it would have appeared on many more U.S. coins if Longacre's tenure in office had continued beyond 1869.

Longacre was born Aug. 11, 1794, in Delaware County, Pa., and served his apprenticeship under George Murray of Philadelphia before he became a free agent in 1819. Mr. Longacre was one of the originators of the National Portrait Gallery of Distinguished Americans. As did his predecessors, Longacre died in office, Jan. 1, 1869.

A NEW TWO DOLLAR COIN

As was indicated in a previous Money Clips, the Office of the Financial Secretary, Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands, British West Indies, has announced that that government will be releasing a new, $2 sterling silver coin, in the very near future.

Through the efforts of Financial Secretary V. G. Johnson, the Cayman Islands will soon begin a numismatic program, designed especially for collectors all over the world, including proof sets containing all eight of Cayman's new issues. In addition, there will be two $25 coins—one in silver and one in gold—to commemorate the 25th wedding anniversary of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

All coins will be struck at the Royal Canadian Mint in Ottawa but will be distributed exclusively, worldwide, by Paramount International Coin Corporation of Englewood, Ohio.

Exact prices and ordering procedures have not been publicly announced but interested readers are asked to direct their inquiries to Mr. Max Humbert, President of the Paramount International Coin Corp., Paramount Building, Englewood, Ohio 45322.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

David, aged 8, may have stated a fact about his departed Grandpa Miller. For spiritual contacts with Heaven may have long preceded mankind's attempts at the Tower of Babel and our recent moon flights! Elisha apparently could tune in on Cosmic TV.

CASE U-536: Emma Miller was my wife's mother. At the age of 81, she passed away.

As we stood beside her casket, Mrs. Crane placed a flower in her mother's folded hands.

"She was always so fond of flowers," Mrs. Crane added, "so I wish she could see the beautiful bouquets here in the room."

Our youngest child, David, was then about 2 years old.

"Maybe Grandma does see the flowers," he chimed in.

And we nodded assent, for that is certainly possible.

When I spoke at the recent funeral of Nelle Cossey, I mentioned that maybe Nelle and a vast but unseen audience of her friends and relatives might also be present.

For I told the visible audience in the chapel that morning that man's inventive mind had now made it possible for hundreds of invisible people to be surrounding us.

"At this very moment," I added, "if we had a TV set and could tune in upon the proper frequency wave length, we could see scores of human beings, singing, playing athletic games, speaking or preaching."

"Yet our ancestors even 50 years ago would have said no such thing could be possible.

"If living human residents of this planet Earth can now be present as a vast invisible audience in our homes and churches, maybe a similar unseen audience could also be here from Heaven.

"Just because we can't yet tune in upon the proper cosmic wave length to witness them, doesn't preclude their being present."

"You Bible students will recall that the great Hebrew Prophet Elisha was approached one morning by his excited servant.

"The latter told Elisha that he had just looked over the walls and found the city was surrounded by a vast army of soldiers and chariots.

"So he asked Elisha what could they do.

"Elisha calmly told him that 'They that be with us are more than they that be with them.'

"The young servant still was puzzled, so Elisha pleaded: 'Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may see.'

"And when the servant's eyes were opened, he saw that the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha!

"So the Almighty may permit our loved ones to look down, or even descent, to be with us at moments of high spiritual exaltation.

For the more we learn of this universe, the more we realize that the Bible offers a remarkably accurate portrayal of man's destiny!

Highland General Operating Room Equipped With Newest Facilities

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is another in a series of weekly articles, prepared by the public relations department of Highland General Hospital, to acquaint the public with hospital officials, employees, department procedures and the many services offered to the people of Gray County.

By JUDITH KITTO

The operating room is one of the many departments under the supervision of Nursing Service at Highland General Hospital.

The supervisor is Mrs. Mary L. Bayless, RN, who oversees all activities of the department. There are four other members of the nursing staff under her supervision. Part of her duties is to schedule surgeries to be performed, to assign personnel to specific cases, to see that pre-operative hypos are given at the proper time, to notify doctors when the time arrives for them to go to the operating room and to check operative records and charges to enter the operative records into a permanent ledger.

Mrs. Dorothy Barrett, RN, and Mrs. Glenna Ingham, RN, are the head nurses in the operating room. They are in charge of patient care from the time the patient is brought from his room until he is under anesthesia in the operating room. It is also their job to see that necessary instruments, sutures, and supplies are ready for each procedure. One of the head nurses can assist the anesthetist when needed especially while the patient is being inducted under anesthesia and at the close of the surgical procedure. The head nurse must see that all supplies used are replenished in the operating room and that the room is stocked and ready for the next day's use. She makes out pre-operative, surgical and post-operative records for use in O.R. and the business office.

The two surgical technicians employed in the operating room are Betty Rice, LVN, and Columbus Morgan, S.T. It is their job to make sure instruments are ready for each surgery and to hand the instruments to the doctor when he is ready for them. After each surgery is performed, the instruments are washed and wrapped in cloth, taped and sent to central supply to be sterilized in the autoclave ovens.

Surgeries are performed regularly every morning except Sunday at Highland General Hospital. The surgical team is on call 24 hours a day for any emergency surgeries. Last year 1,427 surgeries were performed at Highland General. The operating room complex is composed of three complete operating areas, a cystoscopic room, a cast room, and a fracture room. In these rooms are located the most modern equipment available for surgical use. There are two cardioscopes which monitor the patient's heart beat, and a defibrillator to treat a patient with cardiac arrest. Each room is equipped with view boxes for viewing X-rays. There are wall suction units in the three major operating rooms, and three portable gomo-co suction machines. The table in the cast room is a Hawley and Sennan fracture and operating table and the cystoscopic room contains a Hugh H. Young urological table. The three champagne tables were purchased during the recent remodeling of Highland General. There is a machine available in O.R. which is an electro-surgical unit for cutting, cauterization, hemostasis, and fluorugation.

In recent surgeries patients have received external standby pacemakers and the endocardial pacemaker systems. These surgeries are performed in the X-ray department so the doctor can watch the positioning of the catheter in the heart by means of a fluoroscope.

A staff pathologist, Dr. V.L. Trammell, is on duty during surgeries to perform a frozen section analysis which is used as a rapid microscopic diagnosis of malignancy. The information is provided in approximately 15 minutes so the patient may remain on the surgical table and the surgeon can determine if further surgery is required.

Conflict Of Interest In Delegate Rulings?

WASHINGTON — Sen. George McGovern bought the $160,000 specially-built home of Chief Judge David Bazelon of the U.S. Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia—who handed down the majority opinion upholding the radical South Dakotan in the crucial California and Chicago delegate contests.

Why Bazelon did not disqualify himself in this momentous case, in view of their relationship, is not known. It is raising startled eyebrows in both government and private legal quarters.

A member of the Senate Judiciary Committee expressed surprise that Bazelon participated in this extremely controversial affair. The veteran legislator told this writer in Miami Beach.

"On its face, it doesn't look right. It seems to me that at best, Bazelon didn't exercise good judgment, particularly for a judge who has been on the bench as long as he has. Certainly he must know that judges, like Caesar's wife, should be above and beyond suspicion of any kind. This may warrant looking into when we reconvene after the convention."

McGovern bought the unusual Bazelon home, in a choice residential area near American University, in 1969. The asking price was $177,000, which was reduced to $160,000.

Mrs. Bazelon, a devotee of Japanese architecture and furnishings, had the house built according to her own design and ideas in the late 1950s. The furniture and drapes, in contemporary Japanese, also were custom-made.

The unique house has ten rooms and is surrounded by spacious grounds with a large garden and numerous tall, old trees. On the first floor is a large living room that leads into a sizable dining room; also a big study and adjoining library. Upstairs are a large master bedroom, and four other bedrooms and baths. The sale included both the house and furnishings. The Bazelons left everything except their personal belongings. They moved to a newly-built fashionable apartment on the Potomac River.

At the time the McGovern bought the handsome Bazelon mansion, there was much conjecture how and where the Dakotan raised the money.

For many years previously, the McGovern had resided in a modest suburban six-room frame house. Next-door neighbors were other Congressional liberals—Sens. Hubert Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn.

The big puzzle, particularly among liberals, was where McGovern got $160,000. He and his family had always lived on a modest scale, done little entertaining, and then nothing elaborate, and gave no sign of having outside income other than his official salary.

His ordinary suburban house could not have brought more than $40,000, even at inflated prices. Further, it wasn't sold. It was rented at around $300 a month.

Governor Asks For Air Time

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has requested 30 minutes of public service air time on the state's television stations July 26 to discuss the $4.1 billion appropriations bill passed by the recent special session of the Legislature.

A spokesman in the governor's office said the request was made Thursday.

The spokesman also said Smith was leaving town today on a working vacation at an undisclosed spot and would return sometime in the middle of next week.

Presumably, Smith would tell the state at 6:30 p.m. July 26 which items, if any, in the spending bill—the state's budget for the year beginning Sept. 1—he is vetoing.

Tee-Off Tid-Bits

By HART WARREN
It was just one of those weeks! After the first upsetting news of the cancellation of the Member-Guest slated for this week-end, problem after problem seemed to come up. The water pump threw a drive-shaft and put an abrupt halt to our fairway watering. But that's not all. One of our course workers rearranged the front end of the pickup when he found out that trees just don't move out of the way. We could understand these misfortunes but when this next news arrived we knew that we were jinxed. To help meet the needs of the members, five new golf carts were ordered two weeks ago. The truck bringing them left California last Friday. But the truck, the driver and the carts have not been seen or heard from since that time. Things are just going to have to get better. After holding on to first place in the Ladies Panhandle Golf Tournament for two months,

Lucky Chip By Trevino Smashes Nicklaus' Bid

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Lee Trevino, shaking off the choking pressure applied by Jack Nicklaus in an incredible bid for victory, sank a saving 30-foot chip shot and won the British Open Golf Championship Saturday. Nicklaus saw his dream of a first-ever Grand Slam vanish as his course record-equaling 66 fell one stroke short of Trevino. Trevino scored his second straight British Open victory—the first man since Arnold Palmer in 1961-62 to do so—with an up-and-down round of 71 for a 72-hole total of 278, six under par, on the 6,892-yard Muirfield links on the Scottish Moors. Nicklaus, starting the day six strokes back of Trevino, birdied six of the first 11 holes and gained a share of the lead with Trevino and Tony Jacklin. But the 32-year-old Nicklaus bogeyed the 16th and lost his chance for a Grand Slam of the U.S. and British Opens, Masters and American PGA, when Trevino canned his pressure chip. Nicklaus already had won the Masters and U.S. Open. Jacklin, the 26-year-old Englishman who won this crown in 1969, finished bogey-bogey, to drop from a share of the top spot to third with a 72-280.

Trevino, a Dallas-born product of Mexican heritage, collapsed against the side of the bunker after bulldozing his way out. The shot found the knee-deep rough while Jacklin put his second in short rough just in front of the green. Trevino hit his third into even more rough and was in three inches of heather and thistle with his fourth. Jacklin pitched up about 15 feet short of the flag and was lying three while Trevino was four and not on the putting surface. It appeared Jacklin was sure to win, possibly by two strokes. Trevino stalked to the green to survey the situation—then chipped it in from 30 feet, just as he had done twice in a brilliant round of 66 in Friday's third round. Shaken, Jacklin three-putted for a bogey 6. He missed from about three feet on the second one. That put Trevino in front by one. Nicklaus, at the same time, needed a birdie 3 on the final hole to have any chance. He put his second about 35 feet to the left of the flag. The putt was about a foot short. Nicklaus watched intently as the ball rolled toward the flag, then grimaced in despair as the dream of the sweep became impossible—at least for this year.

Colbert And Johnson
Share Milwaukee Lead

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Colbert, seeking his second tour victory and first in three years, and erratic George Johnson, each fired two-under-par 69s Saturday to share the third round of the $125,000 Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

Colbert and Johnson, who had shared a one-stroke margin at the halfway point of the tournament, each were 11-under par at 202 for 54 holes over the 6,514-yard Tripoli Golf Club course. Two strokes back was Buddy Allin, who also shot 69 Saturday. Seven golfers were tied at eight-under-par in the quest for the $25,000 first prize. Among them were Bob Bourne and Bert Greene; who each shot 67s Saturday.

Others at 205 were Jim Wiechers, Grier Jones, Mike Hill, Gibby Gilbert and rookie Billy Zibbro, who had been one-down after 36 holes. Colbert, 1969 Monsanto winner whose best this year was a sixth-place tie in the Monsanto, described his 16-par, two-birdie round as "very boring and unspectacular." Johnson, 1971 Azalea champion, had a round of seven birdies and five bogeys.

Rick Leverich Hits
Pampa Into Final Game

With two men out in the bottom of the seventh inning, with the game scoreless and with two strikes and two balls the count, Pampa's Rick Leverich hit a one hop single over the Canyon third baseman's head to score Mike Adair from second and get Pampa into the final game of the District One Babe Tourney with a 1-0 win. On the mound Leverich struck-out seven Canyon batters, gave up only two hits and walked but one to get the win. Ronnie Hix of Canyon pitched extremely well for the losing team. He struck-out 11, gave up five hits and walked just two Pampa batters. Pampa advanced into the finals of the tournament by beating Canyon 3-0 Friday night. Mike Coulter got that win. Pampa's six-run loss in the tourney came in the hands of Canyon Thursday night. Canyon scored eight runs in the first inning of that game to pave the way for a 9-4 victory. The second game of the evening to determine the District One championship was to get underway about 9:00 p.m. last night.

Crenshaw Meets Cain
In Trans-Miss Finals

DALLAS (AP) — Ben Crenshaw overcame near disaster on the front nine Saturday to finally out-falter Gary Koch of Temple Terrace, Fla., 1 up and advance into the finals of the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament. Crenshaw, the powerful University of Texas youngster, will meet Houston stockbroker John Paul Cain in a 36-hole match play final at Brook Hollow Golf Club. Cain defeated Wally Payne of Fort Worth, Tex., 2 and 1 in the other semifinal match.

Crenshaw was down three holes through nine after missing two putts of less than four feet and careening a second shot at the ninth hole into a water hazard. But beginning at the 11th Crenshaw won five of the next six holes, four of them with pars and the other with a seven-foot birdie at the par 3 16th. "I was pretty demoralized on the front but I told myself I can't give up," Crenshaw said. "I figured I hadn't had a break in the ball game and that maybe it was about time on the back."

Koch's putting stroke soured on the back nine as he three-putted two holes and lipped out a four-footer at the 11th. "It was a funny kind of match. Neither one of us played that well," said Koch, a University of Florida student. "I guess I got kind of excited and lost some of my concentration." Cain, 36, meanwhile, secured his seasaw match with a 17-foot birdie at the 13th and a par on the 14th. Payne took the early lead when he birdied three of the first four holes.

Floyd Patterson Likes Getting Older

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson can't wait to grow older. In fact, the former two-time world heavyweight boxing champion feels nothing improves him like age. "I'm hoping to still be fighting when I'm 38 or 39 so I will be twice as good. I know by then my reflexes will be sharper," said the 37-year-old Patterson said Friday night after he pounded Pedro Agosto almost at will and halted the lumbering Puerto Rican after six rounds.

After defeating Oscar Bonavena earlier this year, Patterson said he didn't feel ready to fight heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, but Friday said he would meet the rugged titleholder at any time. "I'm ready for Frazier now. I'd rather wait a year, although that doesn't mean I'm not confident. If offered a title shot now I'd take it. I might never get another chance."

Adolph Rupp Named
Memphis President

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Adolph Rupp, the winningest coach in college basketball history, will come out of retirement to serve as president of the American Basketball Association's Memphis franchise. Charles O. Finley, new owner of the Memphis ABA club, said Saturday. "This is the happiest day for me since I have been in sports. From the time I purchased this basketball team, I started thinking of one individual I'd like to have be president of this club and run it."

That person accepted a three-year contract a few minutes ago," Finley continued. "His name is Mr. Adolph Rupp."

Finley, a millionaire businessman who also holds the franchises for the Oakland Athletics of the American baseball league and the California Golden Seals of the National Hockey League said he would not reveal terms of Rupp's contract. Finley also said the team's nickname is now "The Tams." It was formerly the Pros. The initials of the nickname stand for Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi. The Memphis city limits adjoin the Mississippi and Arkansas state lines. Finley said Bill Barrett of West Point, Miss., will receive $2,500 for submitting the name, one of 20,000 submitted during a two-week contest.

Phillies 11, Giants 4

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies scored a season high 11 runs in the seventh inning to belt the San Francisco Giants 11-4 Saturday in a National League game. The Phillies sent 15 batters to the plate in the inning which lasted 48 minutes. The Giants used five pitchers in the frame. Willie Montanez scored two runs in the big inning and drove in two with a double. Oscar Gamble also scored two runs in the inning and drove in two others with a triple.

Pirates 5, Astros 1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Stargell and Jose Pagan cracked home runs to back the four-hit pitching of Dock Ellis and reliever Dave Giusti, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-1 victory over the Houston Astros Saturday in a nationally televised baseball game. Houston jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first on a walk and Lee May's double to right-center. But Pittsburgh responded with a run in its half of the inning on a single by Gene Clines, Vic Davalillo's double and a sacrifice fly by Al Oliver. Finley seized the lead for good in the third off loser Ken Forsch when Davalillo singled and Stargell followed with his 18th home run of the season, a 400-foot belt into the rightfield seats. Pittsburgh raised the lead to 4-1 the next inning after Gene Alley doubled down the leftfield line and scored when a pop to right bounced past the diving Jim Wynn for a triple.

Booster Club
Plans Meeting

The Pampa Booster Club will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday night in the film room of the football field house. The highlight of the meeting will be the showing of the Humble Oil film of 1972 Southwest Conference Football. Other matters pertaining to business will be discussed and last week's Booster Club benefit game between the American Legion team and the Pampa coaches will also be talked about at the meeting.

Deborah Edwards
Just Runs Race

HOUSTON (AP) — When 17-year-old Deborah Edwards lines up for a race, she doesn't worry about who'll be trying to beat her to the tape. This philosophy paid off last week in Frederick, Md. when Miss Edwards, soon to be a senior at Houston Worthing High School, became the first schoolgirl from Texas to make the U.S. Olympic women's track team (according to Olympic House records in New York). To reach the finals of the women's 400 meters, Miss Edwards whipped Madeline Manning Jackson, the world record holder in the 800 meters, in a semi-final race. In the finals, Miss Edwards placed second to Kathy Hammond of California, who set a national record of 51.8. Deborah hit the tape in 53.3, the best time in her three-year career. She also will run a leg on the 1600 meter relay team.

"I don't think about who I'm running against or the crowd, just the race," Miss Edwards said. Miss Edwards doesn't mind women's track being overshadowed by king football in Texas. "I just like to run—and I like to travel," she said. "I still have a long way to go. But right now I'm training hard for this one." She has been trained throughout her career by Oliver Brown, who sometimes pays for her travel expenses to distant meets. "I feel like she'll repay late by helping other young girls in track," the Worthing coach said. He makes Deborah run two miles daily, even on birthdays. "Well, he gave me one day off because we were traveling," she said, "but that was the only day."

Tigers 5, Royals 3

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Northrup drove in two runs with a single and contributed to two other rallies as the Detroit Tigers whipped the Kansas City Royals 5-3 Saturday. Northrup's single past shortstop Fred Patek gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead in the first. In the fifth, Northrup doubled and scored as a fly by Bill Freeham bounced off the left field fence railing for a two-base hit, giving Detroit a 3-0 advantage. Aurelio Rodriguez led off the Tiger seventh with a double off Mike Hedlund, took third on Northrup's sacrifice fly and eventually scored on a passed ball by catcher Ed Kirkpatrick. Norm Cash then drove in Detroit's fifth run with a double.

Angels 4, Mil. 3

MILWAUKEE (AP) — John Stephenson capped a four-run rally in the ninth inning with a two-run pinch-hit homer, powering the California Angels to 4-3 comeback victory over the Milwaukee Brewers Saturday.

Farm League Tourney

Trevino Almost Subdued
As He Picks Up Trophy

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Lee Trevino whose fast-talking wisecracks enchant the Scottish golf gallery, was almost subdued Saturday as he picked up the British Open title for the second successive year. Thousands of fans rose to their feet, applauding wildly, when the flamboyant Trevino accepted the crown and said, "I'm proud to be your Open champion again. See you next year."

More privately, in advance of the prize-giving ceremony, he told friends: "It would have been great for golf if Jack Nicklaus had won this title and kept alive his bid for the Grand Slam."

Brazil's Fittipaldi
Wins Br. Grand Prix

BRANDS HATCH, England (AP) — Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil drove a JPS-Lotus to a narrow victory over Jackie Stewart of Scotland in the British Grand Prix Saturday and increased his lead in the World Drivers Championship. Fittipaldi covered the 76 laps in one hour, 47 minutes, 50.2 seconds—an average speed of 112.06 miles per hour—and crossed the finish line about five seconds ahead of Stewart, who was in a Tyrrell. Peter Revson of New York was third in a McLaren, followed by Chris Amon of New Zealand in a Matra and Denis Hulme of New Zealand in a McLaren. The victory was Fittipaldi's third of the season and gave him a total of 43 points, 16 more than Stewart. His other triumphs were in the Spanish and Belgium Grand Prix. Jack Ickx of Belgium took the early lead and held it through the first 50 laps. Then he was forced into the pits with oil spewing from the gearbox and was out of the race. Fittipaldi, who had been in second place from the outset, then charged into the lead and held it the rest of the way despite the determined effort of Stewart. Of the 27 starters, only 18 still were running at the finish and just six had completed the 76 laps. There were no serious accidents.

Trevino shot a four-round total of 278 to claim the British Open crown, becoming only the fourth American ever to win it in two successive years. Bobby Jones, the immortal amateur, did it in 1926-27; the great Walter Hagen came through in 1928-29, and Arnold Palmer, still an electrifying name over here, made the double in 1961-62. "My one goal," said Trevino, "is to win $1 million in prize money. If I keep going the way I am now, I should do it, hopefully, in two years."

"Next year the British Open is going to be at Troon in Scotland and I'll be there," Trevino said. The two-time champion seemed almost apologetic over the fact that Nicklaus had failed to win the British title and thus lost his chance of making the Grand Slam with all four major titles in modern golf. "It would have been good for golf if Jack had won and gone on to the PGA Championship next month still able to make the slam," Trevino said. "But we're all in this game to win and so Jack has gone to the wall." Then Trevino paused before adding: "This year will be remembered not as the year I won, but the year that Nicklaus lost the Grand Slam."

OUT IN THE OPEN

Jesse Powell Has Taken Care Of Problem

MIAMI, Fla.—Jesse Powell made it a four-year battle at West Texas State University and never won the fight. Sure, he made a big name for himself around collegiate football circles, but he never whipped a problem that bugged him for four years.

Only once, when a trainer turned his head and let Jesse proclaim his own weight while standing on the scales, did the Spur native ever reach the 200-pound mark.

The 6-3 Powell has taken care of that problem now and reported to the Miami Dolphin training camp last week to start his fourth season of professional football and he is now pro-sized.

Powell hits the scales at 225 and has maintained the speed which made him such a standout defender at West Texas State.

Powell came out of Spur High School and enrolled at West Texas State without a scholarship. That situation was taken care of at the end of his first semester and then he started for three varsity seasons on Buffalo teams which had a 23-4 record from 1966 through 1968.

As a sophomore Powell started as a defensive end. He was moved to linebacker during this junior season and started on the Buffalo team which defeated San Fernando Valley State in the Junior Rose Bowl, 35-13. He was moved back to defensive end his senior year and earned the President's Award for his play that season.

Powell, who was graduated from West Texas State in 1970 with a B.S. degree in physical education, lives in Canyon during the off-season. He worked this past year in the off-season for the Swisher County Cattle Company. He is married to former West Texas State cheerleader Jan Jarnagin.

While attending West Texas State, Powell was active with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

In his first year at Miami, Powell was a regular member of the Dolphin speciality teams. In addition to playing on the speciality teams for the past two years, he has become a starter at various times as a linebacker. During the past two years Powell has started about half of the Miami games.

In last year's Super Bowl he was one of three Former West Texas State players in the game. Playing for Miami was Eugene "Mercury" Morris, while Duane Thomas was a member of the winning Dallas Cowboys.

Powell plans to continue working for the Swisher County Cattle Company during the off-season as a manager trainee and buyer.

Great Moments in Golf

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was on the second hole at the Augusta National Golf Course and it looked as if Billy Casper was going to take a double or triple bogey in his playoff with Gene Littler for the Masters Championship.

"I'd birdied the first hole to go one stroke in front of him," Casper recalled of that 1970 playoff, "but I snap-hooked it off the tee on the second hole."

The second at Augusta is a par five. It has a slight dogleg to the left and a creek and woods flank the left.

"I hit the drive left over the trees, over a service road," Casper said. "It went down that gully by the creek in a diving arc."

"I thought I was looking at six at the best, probably seven and maybe eight. I could have made anything."

"The ball was down in that gully but not in the water. It was a pretty good lie, but there was a log behind it about so big," he out three-inch diameter with his hands.

"I had to kind of slide the club over the log to get to the ball, and I had those trees in front of me on the bank."

"I swung a nine iron just right—got it over the log and lofted the ball over the trees and back to the fairway."

He put his third shot just over the green, chipped back to a foot and made par.

Littler, meanwhile, had hit two good shots just short of the green, then shanked a wedge into the trap and made bogey. That put Casper two strokes up after two holes.

Bouton's Radicalization Began On Baseball Field

"It was a combination of things like New York Yankee Manager Ralph Houk arguing on my contract that radicalized me on how people do business," Bouton said Thursday as he contemplated the victory of Sen. George McGovern for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

The 33-year-old Bouton, author of the controversial book, "Ball Four," and its successor, "I'm Glad You Didn't Take It Personally," became a McGovern delegate last spring at the Bergen County, N.J., Democratic caucus.

But he says his interest in politics began when he was a fireballing right-hander with the Yankees.

Many of the New York sports writers, he said, proved to be politically aware and "I was like a sponge, waiting to soak up what was going on around me."

Bouton believes he got a place on the McGovern ticket because backers of the South Dakota senator believed even one well-known name would boost their chances for victory. But he admits his first reaction to becoming a delegate was "Who am I, Jim the Jock, to come in and be a delegate?"

Bouton said he likes being in politics now that he's got his feet wet.

"There's a feeling of really having influence. You feel like you have some measure of control. In baseball, there was no influence."

"In baseball, they throw you out without a caucus," Bouton's major league career struck a high point in 1963 when he posted a 21-7 record with the Yankees and, he proudly recalled, had an earned run average of 2.54.

In 1964, he won 18 regular season games and then pitched two World Series victories.

After that, it was downhill until he finally was shipped out of the major leagues in 1969.

He now works as a TV sportscaster in New York.

Bouton voted for most of the more liberal positions in the party platform debate. He favored the defeated minority reports calling for stronger language on abortion and gay liberation and for the successful majority busing plank.

Athletes Charged With Arson

HOUSTON (AP) — Two highly-rated Houston Wheatley schoolboy basketball players were released on personal recognizance bonds Friday following charges they set fire to a temporary classroom at Wheatley last March.

Charged were Eddie Owens, 18, and Gary Wagner, also 18. The personal recognizance bonds were recommended by Ray Rainer, a school counselor, who said the two were good boys who made a bad mistake.

Rainer declined further comment but said he once taught the boys in junior high school.

D.A. Whitam, assistant chief of the arson division, said papers were set fire in the temporary building last March shortly after Owens and Wagner had been caught by a principal skipping class. He said the fire caused heavy damage to the structure.

Fort Worth Site Of Boxing Trials

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Eighty-eight of the best amateur fighters in the United States will be competing in the U.S. olympic boxing trials beginning Wednesday.

The four-day tournament at TCU's Daniel-Meyer Coliseum brings together the national champions of the four armed services, Golden Gloves, AAU and east and west division qualifying championships.

In case of duplicated winners, the runners-up, or unattached entries, have been invited to fill the vacancies.

The trials will be used to determine the U.S. representatives in the 1972 summer olympic games in Munich.

The winners of the trials plus carefully chosen challengers—not necessarily the runners up—in each of the 11 weights, will go from Fort Worth to West Point, N.Y., for additional competition. From these 22 the U.S. team will be picked.

Duane Bobick of the Navy and champion of the Golden Gloves heads the field. The 6-3, 210-pounder from Bowls, Minn., is considered the finest amateur heavyweight in the world and an overwhelming favorite to earn an olympics berth. He is ranked No. 1 in the latest U.S. Amateur Boxing Coaches Association poll.

Also rated No. 1 in the poll and who'll be fighting in the trials are:

Gulf Coast

ROCKPORT—The crabs came out of the Gulf the weekend of June 24 and had a "jubilee."
Parks and Wildlife officials on the coast report that thousands of Gulf crabs literally paved the beaches from Bob Hall Pier south to the National Seashore.
The tree-inch Gulf crabs are smaller than the commercially sought blue crabs.
Such "jubilees" are common occurrences in the vicinity of Mobile Bay in Alabama and are usually caused by lack of sufficient oxygen in the water which drives the little crustaceans onto the beach.

ARLINGTON, Texas—Texas Rangers' shortstop Toby Harrah has two goals as the 1972 American League race heads into the All-Star Game break.
"I want to play in 154 games

HITS McLAIN WELL.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — If former Detroit and Oakland pitcher Denny McLain had to face Smokey Robinson of the Montgomery Rebels each time he pitched here he might never get back into the major leagues.

On May 20, in McLain's first outing in the Southern League, Robinson homered twice and drove in five runs as the Rebels clouted McLain for nine hits, including three homers, in five innings. Five days later Robinson duplicated his two-homer, five-runs-batted-in feat as McLain gave up 10 hits, including three homers, in six innings.

and I want to hit .250," said the 23-year old Marion, Ohio, American Legion product.

Harrah, who admits he has trouble moving to his right because of surgery some time back to correct a knee deformity. Harrah was born with two kneecaps in his right knee, but he feels in time the knee will be as solid as his left and his lone weakness in his defense will be remedied.

"I'm not one of those guys who carries his mistakes around with his thoughts; I know I'll make some errors out there because I go for the balls that give me little chance to field."

"I'd rather get an error when I knock down one of those shots and throw hurriedly for an error, then see the ball go through for a clean hit."

Harrah hit .230 last year for the club in 127 games with 22 runs batted in. He already has moved well beyond that RBI mark with 27, and is courting his batting goal with 269, through the Detroit game, July 12.

In the four-game sweep at Baltimore, Harrah collected five hits in 18 times at bat and scored the winning run in the 10th inning on Joe Lovitto's double in the final game of the series to complete the rout.

Harrah has passed Lenny Randle for the club's doubles lead with 13. He also leads in triples with three.

Harrah has played in every game this season, the only Ranger with that distinction, and, barring injury, is headed for his 154-game goal.

Harrah played winter ball in Venezuela under teammate Rich Billings, who managed the Zulia team into the playoffs.

"I went down there to work on my fielding. I felt it has helped me on the doubleplay, and I am sure I gained more confidence at the plate. I made the All-Star team and that certainly has given me more confidence in the field," said the 5-11, 165-pound righthanded hitter.

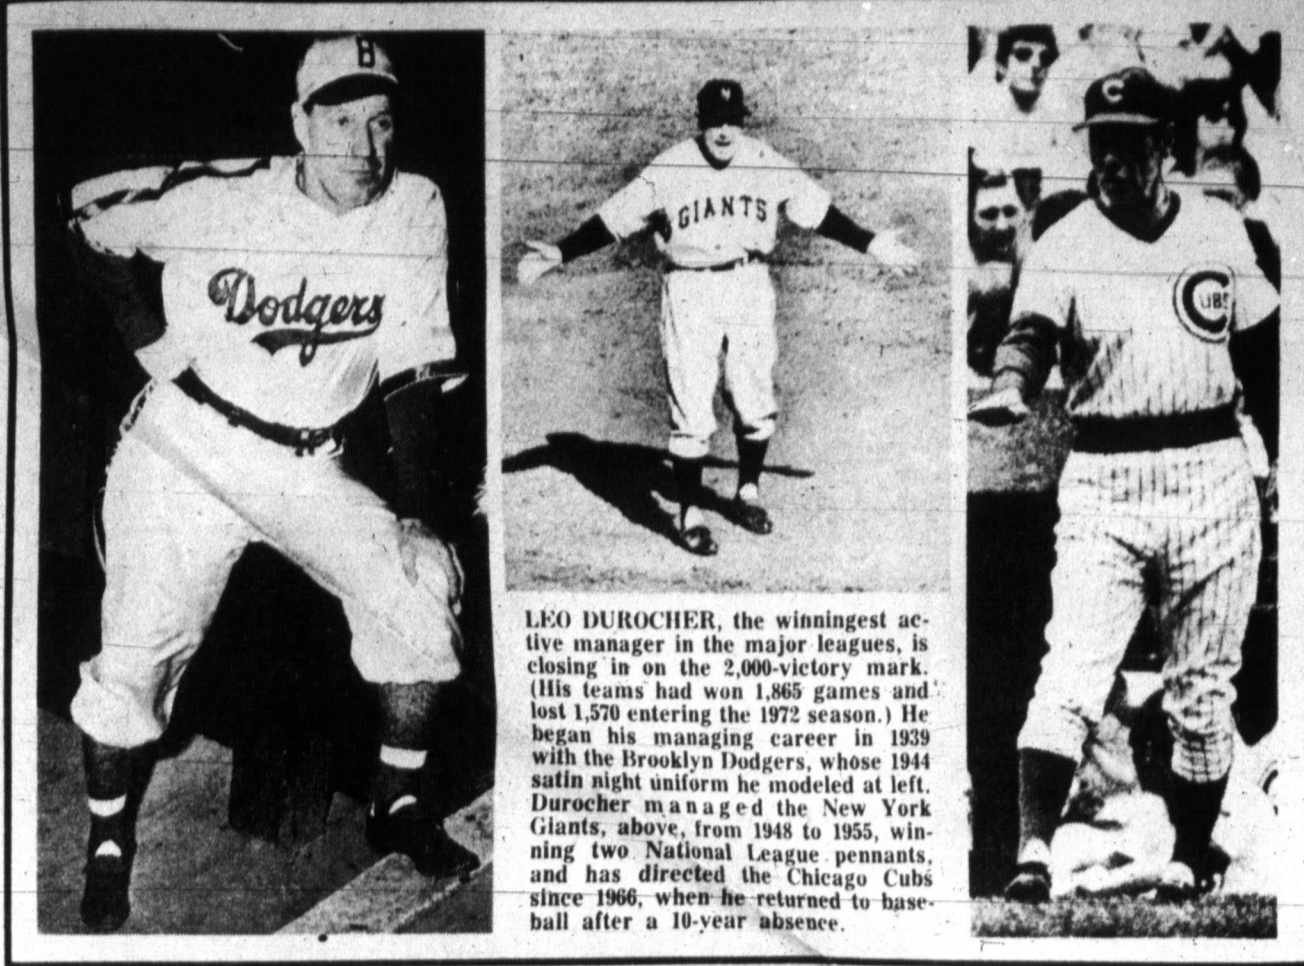

LEADS FALCON CAGERS
AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Tom Blase, a 6-foot-1 junior from St. Louis, will captain next season's Air Force Academy basketball team. Blase led the Falcons in scoring last season, averaging 11.6 points a game.

Editor Paulson Receives Award

The boating editor of Field & Stream, F.M. "Bud" Paulson, of Mentor, Ohio, has won the sixth annual Evinrude Writing Awards competition administered by the Outdoor Writers Association of America. The awards are presented to those writers whose work "creates an awareness of the recreational potential of the nation's waterways, coupled with an attempt to preserve the natural beauty of these waters."

Second and third place finishers were Zack Taylor, Fair Haven, N.H., the boats editor for Sports Afield; and J.W. Penfold, Washington, D.C., and executive of The Izaak Walton League of America and a free lance writer.

Citations were received by John Malo, Glenview, Ill., a free lance writer, and Harvey Duck, Chicago, outdoor editor for The Chicago Daily News.

LEO DUROCHER, the winningest active manager in the major leagues, is closing in on the 2,000-victory mark. (His teams had won 1,865 games and lost 1,570 entering the 1972 season.) He began his managing career in 1939 with the Brooklyn Dodgers, whose 1944 satin night uniform he modeled at left. Durocher managed the New York Giants, above, from 1948 to 1955, winning two National League pennants, and has directed the Chicago Cubs since 1966, when he returned to baseball after a 10-year absence.

A Time of Delight, A Period of Wonder

WITH AN EYE ON THE BALL, Troy Staus, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Staus, 701 Lowry, waits for the pitch during a game of baseball.

Often during the summer months a kind of lethargic mood envelopes people as they go about their routines of life, with the sun beaming down its sometimes unmerciless heat.

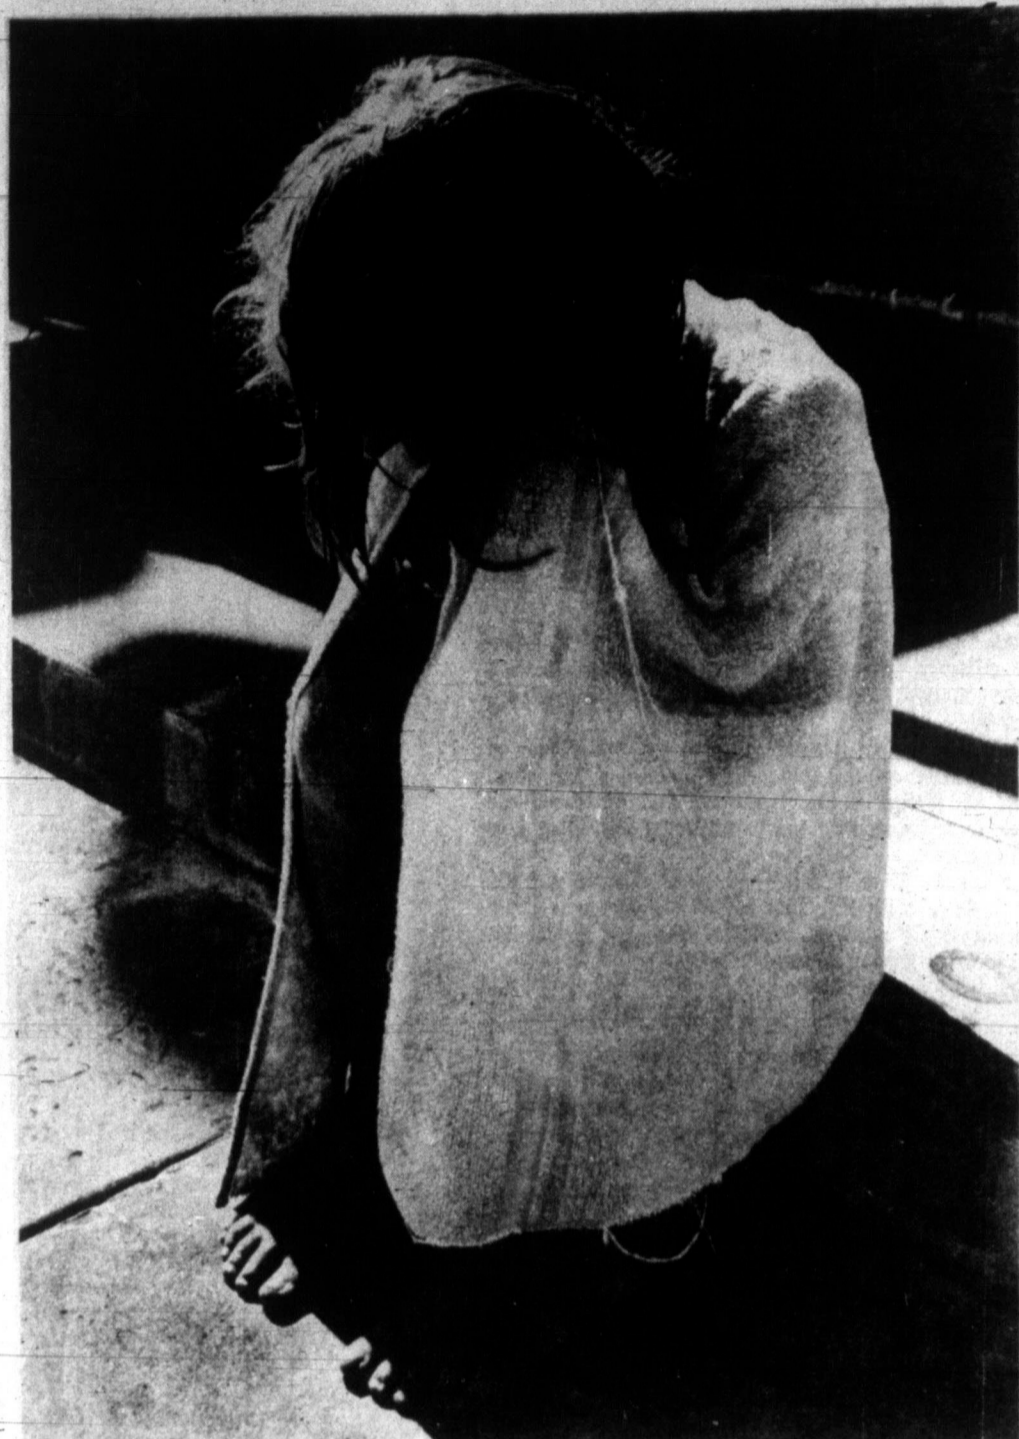

But with the warmth also comes a renewal of the energies that lay dormant in winter, began to bloom in the spring and burst forth in splendor among the life that now teems throughout the areas where summer breathes its life-giving light.

Broken away from the chill spell that surrounded them during winter, people now spend much of their time outdoors—playing sports, enjoying friendships, maybe just taking in the wonders of Nature.

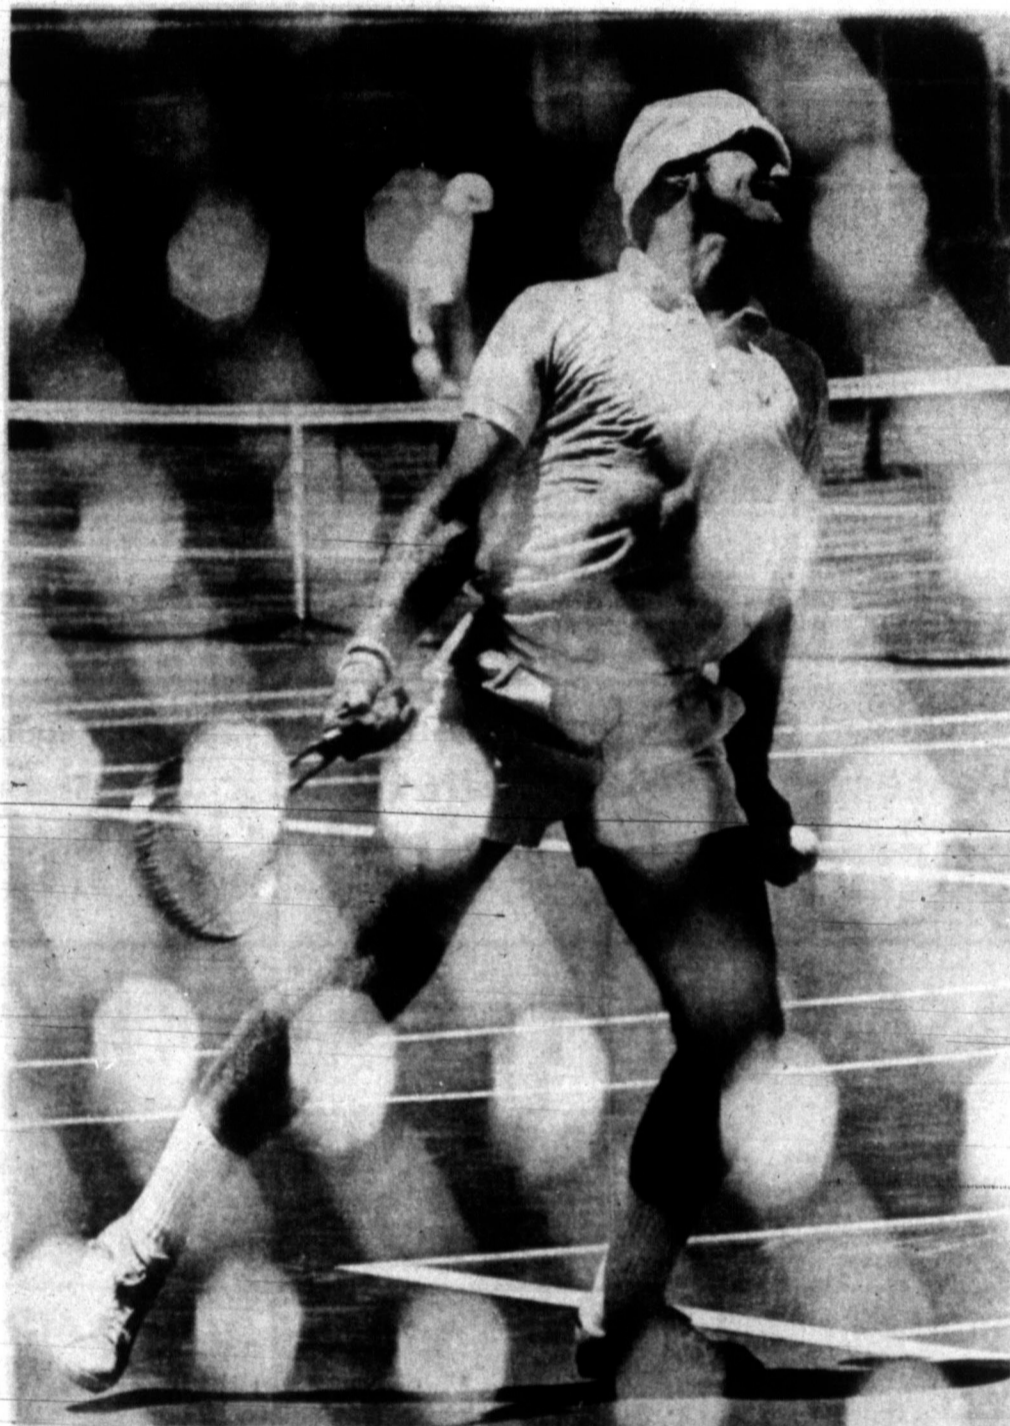

Whether it be a game of baseball or tennis, a cool dip in the pool, a visit to the park or a conversation with life itself, people tend to rejoice again that summer is here and to make the best of it while it lasts.

Judge's lecture to teen guilty of drug charge

By Abigail Van Buren
 (© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Recently, a 17-year-old Florida boy pleaded guilty to possessing hallucinogenic drugs. He had also been charged with violence toward a Miami Beach police officer.

Judge Alfonso Sepe sentenced the youth to one year in the County Stockade and four years probation. The comments of the Judge so impressed me that I ordered the transcript from the Court Reporter so that I may read it to my own children.

Your column is so widely read I am sending you the "lecture" Judge Sepe gave that boy in the presence of the grieving parents. I hope you will publish it and give it the national forum I think it deserves.

Sincerely,
 MRS. A. L. CATES, MIAMI, FLA.

DEAR MRS. CATES: Rarely do I devote an entire column to one letter, but I agree, this is worth it. Here it is: Judge Sepe spoke directly to the youth and said, "Do you know who is going to serve that year? Not you; your mother and father will serve that year."

"That is what's wrong. THEY get sentenced. They get sentenced for a lifetime."

"You serve a year. Your body is in the stockade for a year, but their souls are tormented for a lifetime. Why? Because you are a selfish, spoiled boy, that's why."

"There is no punishment in the world that I could inflict upon you that could in any way compensate for what you are doing to your mother and father. I have not spent five cents raising you. I didn't know you from Adam. But your mother and father have put their lives, their hearts, their sweat, their money and everything else they have into bringing you up. And now they have to sit in this courtroom and listen to a total stranger who had nothing to do with your upbringing scold you and put you in jail."

"This is at a time when phony kids your age are yelling, 'You adults have your alcohol, we want our drugs; you have polluted our water and our air, you have polluted this and that,' and all the rest of the garbage that comes out of your mouths."

"Meanwhile, you put yourselves above everybody else. I feel sorry for you."

"I want you to think of this for one year, and the reason why I say it:

"If you are sick, a doctor will treat you and he won't be on drugs. The lawyer who represents you won't be high on drugs, and the people in whose custody you'll be won't be on drugs."

"Your astronauts are not on drugs, and your President is not, and your legislators are not."

"And your engineers who build the bridges that you drive across and the tunnels that you drive thru are not on drugs, and those who build the planes that you fly in and the cars that you drive are not."

"Neither are those who build the bathrooms that you stink up with your lousy, rotten drugs."

"None of them have been on drugs, and this is because of people like your mother and father."

"But in the world of the future," Sepe went on, "the same may not be true. Teachers, doctors, lawyers, legislators—products of the new drug-oriented generation—may well be high as kites."

"You won't know whom to send your child to, or whom to trust your life to."

Sepe sighed and closed the case file.

"Let's see what kind of world you leave to your children," he said, "before you talk about the world that we left to ours."

Polly's Pointers

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I am afraid philatelists would not agree with Mrs. C.R. who objects to the size and subject matter of the many commemorative stamps. For her information, regular-issue stamps (like eight-cent Eisenhower and flag ones) are always available at the post office in sheets, booklets and coils. They are the convenient size Mrs. C.R. prefers.

I believe the commemoratives more than pay their way in the number of sheets or plate blocks that are purchased to be preserved unused. Postage rates do go up, as do prices for other services, but so that our postal employees may receive a decent wage.

—RUTH

DEAR READERS—I do hope this clears the air a bit concerning commemorative stamps. On checking Ruth's statement that she believed they paid their own way, I learned from a knowledgeable post office official that they do indeed make a profit. However he stressed the fact they were not just made for the profit and the satisfaction of collectors but have educational value as they teach or inspire the seeking of knowledge concerning our history by children and others and are also great U.S.

informational tools when sent abroad on letters as they portray pride in our own history.

—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—When I combed my little girl's hair into pigtails the yarn or ribbon bow always slipped off until I finally found the solution. Now I make several turns with a rubber band around the end of the pigtail, slip the ribbon through the last loop and then tie in a bow as usual.

—MARY LOU

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY—Will mothballs put in my china cabinet keep the silver shiny and pretty? I heard this somewhere and wonder if the silver would be safe for using without first being washed.

—MRS. R.S.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the manufacturers of thermos bottles. It seems to me that they could come up with one that had a large mouth and sold at a reasonable price so we could take leftovers to work for lunch and have them stay warm until lunch time.

Thrifty Salad Can Taste Like Luxury

Economy cooking has a bad reputation because it is so often from dullsville. But, a couple of clever and thrifty gelatine recipes can put excitement back on the table. Just such a recipe is Cottage Cheese Vegetable Mold, a snowy-colored, creamy salad with a confetti of color created by chopped or shredded vegetables such as carrot and broccoli.

To create this salad specialty and save money in the process, unflavored gelatine is the key ingredient. It makes sumptuous-looking, great tasting salads, main dishes and desserts with ease and distinction. There's nothing like a bright, imaginative salad in the meal to offset necessary economies in cooking these days. It can accompany a meat course, a hearty soup, or take the spotlight itself as a luncheon salad.

- COTTAGE CHEESE VEGETABLE MOLD
- 2 Envelopes unflavored gelatine
 - 1 cup water
 - 1 cup mayonnaise
 - 2 cups (1 pound) creamed cottage cheese
 - 1-3 cup vinegar
 - 1 tablespoon chopped onion
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
 - 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped broccoli, thawed

'HAIR' CUT
 BALTIMORE (AP) — In the rock musical, "Hair," a line in the hit song, "Age of Aquarius," tells of Jupiter being aligned with Mars. But it was the planet Mercury which caused one of the group's performances here to be canceled.

The cast took the night off on the advice of an astrologer, said a spokesman for the Mechanic Theater, which had to exchange about 1,000 tickets already sold for the performance.

"They mentioned something about Mercury being in the wrong house or something," said Robert Gibson, assistant managing director of the theater.

Double-Ring Ceremony Unites Sherrilyn Lassiter, Gerald Bailey

Miss Sherrilyn DeAnn Lassiter and Gerald E. Bailey, Amarillo, were united in marriage at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 12, in Joseph A. Hill Memorial Chapel on campus of West Texas State University.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Weaver Lassiter of Amarillo and formerly of Pampa. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Bailey, Indianapolis, Ind.

THE CEREMONY
 Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Jack Boyett, pastor of Bell Avenue Baptist Church.

Mrs. Lynn Crabtree, organist, played the theme from "Love Story," the theme from "Romeo and Juliet," and "Twelfth of Never." Miss Laurel Simpson, Amarillo, sang "The Wedding Song, ("There Is Love") to the bride and bridegroom, preceding the ceremony. The traditional Lohengrin wedding marches were played.

The altar was centered with fifteen branch arch candelabra and flanked by seven branch candelabra. They were bearing royal blue tapers, entwined with emerald foliage. Pews were marked with white satin wedding bows and the traditional white satin aisle cloth was laid preceding the entrance of the bride.

THE BRIDE
 The bride was given in marriage by her father, with the "her mother and I" avowal. She wore a floor-length formal gown of Angelist peau de soie and Alencon lace over bridal taffeta designed with high neckline. Empire waist, long Camelot sleeves, and semi A-line silhouette. Inserts of Alencon lace, enhanced with tiny sequins and seed pearls complimented the neckline, bodice, sleeves and skirt of the gown. The skirt swept to back fullness that fell into a short chapel train.

Her Mantilla veil of imported illusion, with a border of matching Alencon lace, fell from a coil. She carried a cascade of white baby rosebuds.

feathered mums and blue gypsophilia entwined with white ribbon streamers tied with love-knots atop a white Bible, which had been carried by her mother and sister at their wedding ceremonies.

She wore something old, a gold love-ring brooch which belonged to her paternal great-grandmother; something new, bridal gown; something borrowed was a lace-edged linen handkerchief of her paternal grandmother; something blue was a garter worn by her aunt and her sister at their weddings. She wore a coin in her shoe brought from New Zealand by her father.

ATTENDANTS
 Mrs. Charlie Miller, Jr., of Amarillo, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of royal blue crepe with empire waist, scooped neckline and long full puffed sleeves. She wore a scattering of roses and gypsophilia in her hair and carried a white wicker basket of blue pom-pom mums and white gypsophilia, accented by streamers of blue and white ribbons.

Benny Huntley of Amarillo served as best man and ushers were Charlie Miller, Jr. and Andy Dieterman, both of Amarillo.

MOTHER
 The bride's mother was attired in a double-knit street-length dress designed with white pleated skirt and turquoise and white fitted bodice. She wore white accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds and pom-pom mums.

RECEPTION
 For the reception in the home of the bride's parents, the serving table was covered with a lace-trimmed white formal cloth. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with fresh roses, trimmed with royal blue net and ribbon. Flanking the cake were two silver candelabra, holding royal blue tapers. Silver and crystal appointments were used. Serving at the table were Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Levick, Plainview, former Pampa residents, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca Jan, to Lindy Frank Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. G.F. Glenn of Plainview. The bride-elect is a graduate of Plainview High School and attended Amarillo College where she was a member of the Home Economics organization. The prospective bridegroom is a Plainview High School graduate and attended Texas Tech University where he was a member of American Institute of Architects. He is employed by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. in Plainview. The wedding will be Aug. 26, in the First Baptist Chapel in Plainview.

Cook Flank Steak On Grill

By Cecily Brownstone
 Associated Press Food Editor

Flank steak may be stuffed and rolled up for cooking on the outdoor grill. Or, if you prefer, you can bake the roll in the kitchen oven.

HEARTHSIDE FLANK STEAK

1 flank steak, about 1 1/2 pounds
 1 tablespoon butter
 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
 1 can (4 1/2 ounces) deviled ham
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 Barbecue Sauce
 Cut off excess fat from flank steak and score on one side.

In an 8-inch skillet heat the butter; add the onion and cook gently until softened; mix in crumbs, deviled ham and salt.

Spread deviled ham mixture over scored side of steak; roll up, beginning at short end. Fasten roll with short skewers.

Place steak on grill about 5 inches above hot coals. Baste with barbecue sauce. Periodically turn and baste steak, cooking to desired doneness. For a rare steak, about 35 to 40 minutes will be needed.

Steak roll may be baked in a preheated 400-degree oven for about 50 minutes.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rolling Stones concerts in New York, three of them, at Madison Square Garden, are using a different ticket selling system. People wanting tickets mail in a postcard, between certain dates, and when the cards are received, a firm of certified public accountants selects some of them at random. These are put through a computer, which is supposed to throw out ones with the same handwriting. Tickets will be assigned on a first draw-best seat basis.

Official notification cards will be mailed to the names drawn and those persons can pick up their tickets within a time period written on their cards. All persons notified will be entitled to buy a maximum of four tickets. All tickets, regardless of location, will be $6.50.

This is all supposed to eliminate long waits at the box office, riots during the long waits and reduce ticket scalping by not allowing blocks of tickets to be bought.

Kadingo Lingo By Jane Kadingo

WHILE WRITING THIS I am at a girls' school in Dallas where my daughter Anne is attending a week's dance workshop. It is very interesting to watch the different teachers instruct the students, especially the renowned ballet artist, George Zoritch, who has fascinated all the women with his tremendous physique.

The accommodations are very nice, although it is and has been many years since I've lived in a dormitory situation, and it is a first for Anne. The dorm is very nicely airconditioned, but there is a problem. The coldest spot in the building is the bathroom! Anne calls it the North Pole. It is rather a shock to wander down the hall first thing in the morning, in a comatose state, to be greeted with a freezing blast as you open the bathroom door! It DOES wake you up in a hurry. It also does away with any lingering in the bathtub or shower. As Anne put it, "you come out dripping icicles."

We arrived late Friday night without realizing the school staff was off for the weekend. In the bathroom is a receptacle marked "for wet towels," in which we deposited our towels after our bath Friday night. Saturday, we had no towels! Deciding everyone had arrived and was settled in, we solved the situation by scurrying to the end of the hall where there was a room that showed no signs of habitation, but, which had, two sets of clean towels hanging on the rack!

Later that day, we talked with a woman who was much disturbed over the long list of house rules each of us had received. She felt, since there are about twice as many teachers taking the course as students, that the rules were "ridiculous."

"I'm much more disturbed over the lack of clean towels," I commented. "I am, too," she stated. "And some of the people didn't get any!" Anne and I avoided looking at each other. "What floor are you on," Anne asked hesitatingly? We both sighed in relief when she said she was on the second floor. We are residing on the third floor! After the woman had left, still complaining about the rules, Anne commented: "Well, Mother, at least there isn't any rule on the list against stealing towels!"

SOMETHING NEW we spotted while browsing through a Dallas shopping center. A beverage glass with a long chain attached to hang around your neck while at a party, to leave the hands free. This raises the question in my mind of whether or not you could move. I get the mental picture of the beverage sloshing over the top and running down one's middle-section as you move...or someone bumps into you! With the bare-midriff styles, it could give a person quite a chill, if the beverage is iced!

THERE ARE THOSE DAYS—When you're about to kiss your five-year-old son as you leave him at the kindergarten door and he whispers in your ear: "Mother, please don't kiss me in public!" —When your 10-year-old daughter says: "Mother, in the olden days when you were young, did you...?" —when the girls in your Girl

Scout troop look at you in complete disbelief when you say, "When I was your age..." —when you ask your about-to-be seventh grader if she would like you to accompany her the day she enrolls, and she says: decisively, "Certainly not!" —when you ask the optometrist why your vision is getting so poor and he says, "What do you expect at your age?" —when, in the hospital elevator, as you go to visit a friend who has a new baby, another occupant asks sweetly, "Do you have a new grandchild?"

THE YOUNG SOMETIMES label things quite accurately, without realizing it. Early this month, John, age 8, asked, "Mother, what is Opinion Day?" I was puzzled until I realized what was approaching. "John," I asked, "do you mean Independence Day?" "That's it," he replied. I decided he had the right idea anyway. Without independence, we could not voice our opinions freely! It is delightful to see the way the young express their opinions, or reveal their view of life through essays or poetry. The following poems were written by three Pampa Junior High students and were published this year in the semi-annual Anthology Young America Songs of Los Angeles, Calif.

The Judgement Day
When the world comes to a halt
And every human being is gone,
The Lord will call his children
Who have waited for him so long.

They shall all rise in the air and follow him to heaven.
No misery will be there
And never any temptation.

Summer Flies To Fall
Pack those swim trunks
Good and tight,
The summer's leaving
Overnight.
See the mellow colors
Of tree leaves on the ground.
They're here to tell you—
Fall is on her way.

If I put moonlight in a jar,
And captured the wind in a flower,
And gave you a beautiful white cloud
To ride when you pleased,
And carved your name in the top of some icy peak
That shall be there forever,
Would you then
Remember me?

Mexicans Have New Attitude On Women's Clothes

By JOHN PLATERO
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A taxi driver got his gears mixed and his eyeballs crossed last week on Mexico City's biggest boulevard, jumped a curb and hit a light post.

The cause? Extra tight hot-pants on a statuesque senorita. It is now quite common to see hot pants in this capital city of almost eight million persons. But it's new — a year or two ago women were still cautioned not to even wear slacks on Mexican streets.

Now pants suits, slacks and microminis have joined hot pants in vogue with sophisticated young senoritas influenced by styles from north of the border. No longer are female tourists turned away from plush Mexico City restaurants simply because they wore a pants suit.

"If a woman is dressed in good taste and is accompanied by an escort she can go anywhere in our hotel," said a manager of one of Mexico City's newest, and swiftest, hostels, "but ordinary street shorts — no."

"The only type of dress we don't allow in our cabaret at night is hot pants," another hotel manager said. "But of course it sometimes depends on who the person is."

Many conventions or meetings use young ladies in hot pants or miniskirts as guides or aides — a 180-degree change of course in a country that passed the sixties extremely conservative in women's styles.

Catholic churches often still stop young visitors in shorts or miniskirts, but almost every place else is open. Acapulco on the Pacific Coast has been more liberal in what a woman can wear. However, bathing suits are taboo in good restaurants and a woman in a bikini at the market place still draws frowns.

Of course when one gets away from the larger cities on the tourist circuit those wearing slacks, shorts or miniskirts are still stared at, sometimes with open hostility. New editions of tourist guides advise comfortable and leisure-type clothing whereas earlier editions cautioned against slacks and shorts.

"We're selling hot pants over miniskirts five to one," said the manager of a fashionable women's boutique in the Zona Rosa, a cosmopolitan section of this capital city.

"And the girls have no trouble going anywhere they want to."

A local television station sponsors a weekly dance contest between young girls dressed in miniskirts and others in hot pants. It is an apparent success among its young audience.

And what does that taxi driver think of the change in styles? "I love it," he grinned as the cops led him away.

The popular song "Aloha Oe" (Farewell to Thee) was written by Liliuokalani, last reigning queen of the Hawaiian Islands.

Lacrosse Team Gains First Female Manager

By IRENE E. SHADOAN
Associated Press Writer

NEWARK, Del. (AP) — To the University of Delaware lacrosse team, she's "The Rat."

You can find her on any given weekday stringing lacrosse sticks, hauling the medicine kit and ball bag, or just talking over game strategy with such players as "Earth Beast" and "Tank."

Susan Comorat, 22, a petite brunette, is the first female manager for a male team in the university's history.

"There are some restrictions," Miss Comorat admitted. "There are three rooms in a row leading to the guys' showers," she said. "I can work in the outside two rooms, but not in 'the cage.' If that door to the showers swung open — wow!"

Miss Comorat simply applied for the manager's job after she read an ad in the student newspaper, "The Review."

"The ad didn't say the manager had to be a guy," she said. Coach Mickey Heinecken recalls he had no objections to Miss Comorat taking over. "There are some sports where a female couldn't be a manager because it takes too much strength — like moving practice dummies off the field in football," Heinecken said. "But that isn't true for lacrosse."

Miss Comorat, who said she often played with the boys on her block when she was a child because there were no girls her age, explained her decision to manage the team had nothing to do with women's lib.

"I'm no women's libber," she said. "I love to have doors held for me. But I really like lacrosse. It's that simple."

Some girls in her dorm thought her motives were more social than athletic, however.

"They kept saying I was only doing it to get dates with the guys," Miss Comorat said. "But I didn't even recognize one of the players when he said hello to me one day on campus."

"I got to know most of the guys from the back with their sweats on — not when they're in street clothes."

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SUNDAY, JULY 16.
Your birthday today: This coming year of healthy progress can lead you to a charmed life, but you must try to get it. Any self-improvement program involving participation in changing technology brings favored positions. Today's natives tend to be self-reliant, independent courses of idealistic activity.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Minding your own affairs while doing your share in communal Sunday customs is the best path. Later hours find relaxed conditions.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Give everybody something to do, get things shaken down to tidy comfort. Then for evening you can enjoy a small party with old friends.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Whatever you intend, go about it discreetly. Future should be left for later discussion, along with announcements of what you are up to now.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Seek advice today, enjoy the attention, but make no definite promise of what you'll do about it. Sentimental interest comes alive.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: You can't stay put this Sunday either in personal maturing or actual moving about. Learn, live, evolve toward wholeness, dignity.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: This Sunday is indicated as nearly a free ride for you. Take short cuts, skip routines wherever people will let you.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Get out early with your plans and good thoughts, and you have it made. Sunday activities should include catching up on your friends' news.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Doing things your way is the only effective course, requires tact. There are details which are hard to discover beforehand, but important.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Impulse can lead to strange and wonderful adventures this Sunday—it's better to hold off long enough to reflect on what you are asking for.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Staying near home pays off, you miss unwanted incidents while adding to your resources. It is time to review recent developments.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Spread yourself to catch up with your family, in-laws, relatives—to listen rather than to instruct or direct.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Give some thought to your health and its care, avoiding stress and fatigue at present. Friends and family can make this a most enjoyable day.

OLD SILVER CUSTOM
RACINE, Wis. (AP) — Collectors of antique silver are becoming more familiar with hallmarks appearing on old teapots, trays and candlesticks, says James Thornton of Goddard's Silver Museum.

A consumer protection device, the stampings were first instituted around 1300 in England when it became law for gold and silver articles to be tested, weighed and stamped before they could be sold. The first stamp was known as the King's mark and was in the form of a leopard's head.

this 24 high card point slam bid against an opening heart bid as an example.

North's two-heart call was one of those cue bids. He was going to game and wanted to suggest a slam. South had a very sound overcall and decided to cue-bid right back to show his own slam interest. North confirmed spades as the suit. South cue-bid in diamonds to show first round control and North felt strong enough to show the club ace with a five-club call.

Kids Like Going To Woman Dentist

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — You can hear the Portuguese-language equivalent of Little Red Riding Hood over the earphones by the dentist's chair. And your novocaine comes in three artificial flavors: orange, peppermint and strawberry.

But those aren't the only differences in Dr. Maria Mendonca Pedrosos' child dentist clinic. There are no parents around to hold your hand or pat you on the head. They are watching you through a closed-circuit television screen in the anteroom.

Your appointment is flexible.

since the imaginative doctor believes you should be at ease before submitting yourself to treatment. That means you can bat on a toy typewriter, do a puzzle, watch fish rush about a huge aquarium or simply play with the other kids who came to have teeth pulled or checked.

"So far none of my clients has cried or made any sort of ruckus," the dentist says.

To many of the youngsters visiting her clinic, a dental appointment is becoming a synonym for fun.

Her experiment in providing a congenial, fairy land atmosphere has been so successful

"some kids even have had their parents bring them back just so they could play around in the office."

When it comes to pulling the teeth, the doctor is loaded with gambits that help sway the child's attention from the business at hand. All the child's likes and dislikes, including his favorite topics of conversation, were put down on paper by the parents for the dentist's exclusive use.

"The child has to give up the idea the dentist is a boogey-man and that his office is a torture chamber," Dr. Mendonca says explaining her secret.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

One of the most important concepts of modern bidding is the all-purpose cue bid. You bid your opponent's suit to show a good hand. There are times when one of these modern cue bids succeeds in completely confusing your partner but this business of confusing your partner is not confined to complicated bids. We have seen the simplest bids lead to plenty of trouble.

When these fancy bids work they really do. Look at while each player cue-bid in hearts, neither one had first round control and each one showed he didn't. North could have bid four hearts over his partner's four diamonds. When he didn't, he denied that control. Similarly, South could have bid five hearts over five clubs if he could handle the first lead in that suit.

How did South know that his partner held the ace and king of spades? Easy. North would not have gone past game on his own hook without both those cards.

Every Housewife A Programmer?

By the year 2000, small computers will be as commonplace in the American home as the vacuum cleaner is today.

By the turn of the century, according to industry expectations, American housewives will be totally liberated from the chores of domesticity and will be running their homes like small successful businesses.

Kitchen cabinet computers will keep them apprised of what household bills are due, dates of kiddies' school holidays and a continuing stream of information on which foods are available and at the best prices, predicts Frank Masi, the vice-president of marketing of Cascade Data, Inc., Michigan-based manufacturer of small systems.

Most important, perhaps, small household computers will enable families to determine well in advance what they will be able to afford and in which areas. They will also be kept informed of what price increases they can logically expect, based on the rising cost of living.

Says Masi, "The average housewife will easily be able to operate one of our small computers. And some of them are operating our present generation of small computers right now in part-time jobs with small business firms."

She carried a white linen, lace-handkerchief which was a gift of bridegroom to mother 25 years ago.

Thomas Hopper, Palm Beach Shores, Fla. served as best man and John Hines, son of the bride, Riviera Beach, Fla., was ringbearer.

For the reception in the bride's home, Mrs. James Lee Taylor served a two layered, wedding cake, covered with small fresh pink rose buds on top.

Betty Canary

By BETTY CANARY

It has long been my belief that children should be included in dinner table conversation. I still believe it, even after years of such brilliant repartee as, "Can I have some string beans?" "May I?" "Sure, can I have some first?"

When children are small it is necessary to put emphasis on table manners, word definitions and the like, but when they are older we must use this time together to share daily activities, gather opinions on current events, discuss timely topics.

Noticing suddenly that the children are old enough to put premise into practice, I said to them one evening, "Stop slouching. You, there, get your elbows out of the gravy and stop wadding bread balls. We are going to converse."

Betraying the best instincts of a teacher, I then asked them a question to which I knew the answer.

"Did any of you happen to read the book review section of last Sunday's paper?"

"You aren't going to blame me! I asked before I used part of the paper to start the fire!"

"Now, now," I smiled. "I didn't mean to start an argument. I simply thought we might discuss some of the current best sellers."

"I'm going to be late for practice if I don't hurry up!"

"Well," I said, "perhaps we should discuss the elections—after all, it won't be too many years until you will be old enough to vote and a good understanding of the political system is..."

"May I be excused, I have to go to the bathroom?"

"Has anyone seen my stiletts? I was practicing this afternoon and..."

"Will you make her stop practicing in the family room—that banging makes the TV act funny!"

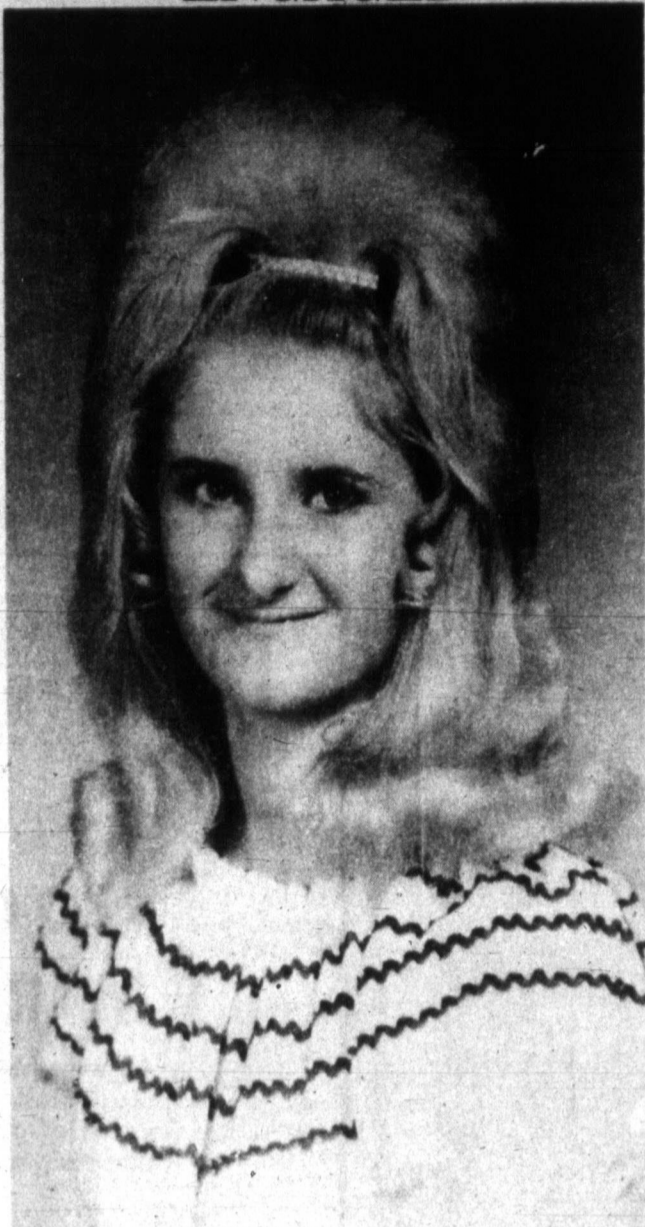

"He ate part of my cake while I was in the bathroom!"

If there's anything I enjoy, it's a scintillating family discussion.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Glin Woodruff, 228 Tignor, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Sue, to Gary Neal Frost, son of Mr. and Mrs. G.N. Frost, 1108 S. Sumner. The bride-elect attends Pampa High School and is a member of the Rodeo Club. The prospective bridegroom, a graduate of Pampa High School is employed by Pampa Coca-Cola Bottling Co. An August wedding is planned.

MORE MONEY SPENT FOR RECORDINGS

NEW YORK (AP) — Manufacturers' sales of phonograph records and prerecorded tapes were up 5 per cent in 1971 over 1970, the Recording Industry Association of America says.

Sales of phonograph records were up 5.8 per cent, to a high of $1.251 billion, against $1.182 billion the previous year. Of this total, LPs accounted for $1.086 billion in 1971, compared with $1.047 billion in 1970. The increase is due in part at least to a rise in prices. Total sales of prerecorded tapes in 1971 amounted to $493 million, an increase of 3 per cent over the $478 million in 1970.

The association estimates that piracy and counterfeiting of tapes took around $150 million away from legitimate sales. You can use yogurt as a dressing for chicken salad. In this case you may want to add curry powder and onion powder plus minced fresh parsley to the yogurt to make the dressing.

Man Uses Hands To Pedal Bicycle

EDMONTON (AP) — Ken Hillaby can't use his legs to pedal a bicycle, so he uses his hands.

Crippled with polio since childhood, the 21-year-old musician now can take part in the bicycle craze thanks to a friend who designed and built a hand-pedaled bike.

The friend, Bob Townsend, 23, is a foreman at a bicycle shop and he built the machine for Hillaby as a favor.

Especially adapted to Hillaby's handicap, the bicycle has front and rear wheel drive, two front brakes which are operated by hand and a rear brake operated by feet — for when Mrs. Hillaby uses it — and hand-operated pedals for hand-debars.

The idea for the bike came up when Mrs. Hillaby told her husband how much she'd like it if they could ride together. Built by adding to and altering a small bike, its most noticeable feature is its three wheels — for stability.

Almost as eye-catching is the plaid baby seat, complete with safety belt, behind the rider's seat. It is especially for the Hillaby's son, Jason, who is 16 months old.

Mix soft butter with prepared horseradish and spread over thick slices of cooked beef (from a roast). Broil just until hot through.

Your Horoscope

By Joane Dizon

MONDAY, JULY 17
Your birthday today: Personal stability is your ideal this year. If you already have it, life is serene and joyful—if you haven't yet acquired it, this is the year to find it. Today's natives often follow mystical lives which escape general notice.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Disagreement needn't lead to unhappiness—tell it like it is and take your share of responsibility. Your work deserves full attention.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Let people keep their distance—stand off if they won't. Precautions routinely taken today save endless difficulties later on.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: There's no point in starting a conflict. Listen before complaining, wait for people to find fresh situations for themselves.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Hold your previous plans despite tempting offers for quick gain. Where differences develop it seems there's no ground rules.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Getting almost anything done depends on your efforts and resources. Start early. Results begin to show soon—keep at it!

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Time to resume work is not time to forget play. Assign priorities, get something done in all important projects. Relax early.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Go directly to the point without dragging in unrelated questions. Activities dependent on your will yield better and quicker results.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Make this a quiet day, at as easy a pace as people and conditions permit. The evening brings a lively mood—let go and enjoy yourself!

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: The harder you work on the most demanding tasks, the quicker you get this week's enterprise off the ground toward success.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Be actively involved in promoting your own interests that are already going. There's plenty to do without getting into new situations.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Febr. 18]: Begin with clearly defined chores, stay within your budget for time, energy, and money. Expect no outside help.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Coping with people of real or imagined authority is delicate. Patience and tact cover a flawed surface—agreement comes later.

Local Jaycee-Ettes Have Salad Supper

The Pampa Jaycee-Ettes held their regular monthly meeting and Summer Salad Supper recently in the home of Mrs. John Warner. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Philip Kimbley and Mrs. Milton Saltzman.

Mrs. Kimbley, president, presided over the meeting with Mrs. Warner giving the invocation and Mrs. Nathan Lancaster leading the Jaycee-Ette Creed.

Mrs. Andy Rhodes reported that four Jaycee-Ettes attended the Amarillo Sit-In-Hen meeting held in May and that several girls aided the Jaycees with their booth during the Band Booster Carnival. Four members attended the Jaycee Ladies Night held in June, according to Mrs. Rhodes.

Mrs. Don Williamson reported that ten garters were made for the Texas Jaycee-Ette National Give-Away project. She also thanked the members for serving her family a meal after returning home from the hospital.

It was announced that the Pampa Jaycee-Ettes were represented at State Convention in Corpus Christi and that they had won second place in Aid to Jaycees, third in Civic Activities and first in other Jaycee-Ette activities in scrapbook competition. Mrs. Philip Kimbley won Outstanding Jaycee-Ette activities in scrapbook competition. Mrs. Philip Kimbley won Outstanding Jaycee-Ette in Division IV and Mrs. Milton Saltzman was installed as Area 1-A Vice-President at the convention.

Mrs. Kimbley reported she represented Pampa at an Area council meeting held in Amarillo. She stated that there were nine clubs from the Panhandle area attending the meeting.

Mrs. Dan Stanley gave a report on the Jaycee Work Forum held in Parnell Hall. The Jaycee-Ettes helped prepare and serve the spaghetti supper, registered guests and helped clean up afterwards. She also reminded members that the club was donating can goods and hair care items to the Genesis House this month.

Mrs. John Warner reported that four girls helped with the Genesis House Flea Market, six girls helped serve approximately 55 Senior Citizens and five girls aided the Jaycees with their July 4th concession stands.

After the doorprize drawing, which was won by Mrs. Don Williamson, cake and coffee was served and the meeting was adjourned.

Members attending were Mmes. Terry Duenkel, Nathan Lancaster, Dan Stanley, Andy Rhodes, Don Williamson, John Warner, Philip Kimbley and Milton Saltzman.

SAFE RIDE

NEW YORK (ED) — It's not easy to grow a perfect lawn. You need time, patience, and faith (as well as more mundane items like fertilizer and seed). Luckily, trimming a prize lawn is easy... if you have a riding lawn mower. But like any power tool, you have to use your mower carefully. Here are some safety tips to keep in mind:

¶ You wouldn't drive a new car without studying the owner's manual; Don't use your power mower till you do the same.

¶ Watch where you're driving. Be extra careful when backing your machine.

¶ Mow steep slopes up and down. Don't stop or start suddenly on hills.

¶ Don't pick up hitch-hikers! Your power mower wasn't made for carrying passengers.

¶ Clear the yard of debris before you begin mowing, and stay alert for holes and other hazards.

¶ Disengage mower when moving from one area to another.

¶ Do not operate machine when you're not in the driver's seat.

¶ You're not in the Grand Prix! Excessive speed is dangerous and shortens mower life.

¶ For a free copy of all the safety rules, see your local power mower retailer. He's Mr. Lawn Mower Safety in your neighborhood. He can answer your questions and give you advice on the safest way to use your rider while mowing your lawn.

BPW Club Plan Trip To "Texas"

A bus safari to Palo Duro Canyon Park for a performance of "Texas" on Friday, Aug. 11 was planned at a recent meeting of the Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club in the City Club Rooms.

Mrs. G.E. Tinnin, Chairman of arrangements, emphasized that the trip is a public service of the club. She stated that anyone interested in attending "Texas" is welcome. Reservations include bus fare and a reserved seat for the show. For information and reservations call Mrs. Tinnin or any member of the BPW Club. It was also planned to bring Mrs. Hermine D. Tobolowsky to Pampa for a public forum on the Equal Legal Rights Amendment to be voted on in the General Election, November 7. Mrs. Tobolowsky, a Dallas attorney and leader in promoting equal legal rights legislation, is chairman of the Texas Federation of B&PW Clubs Legislative Committee.

Mrs. Earl Eaton, vice president presided. The club collect was given by Mrs. Charles Ford. Mrs. L.B. Robertson gave a report on the club bulletin.

Miss Elsie Cunningham talked on Public Relation saying that public relations is what the public thinks of an individual or organization. Everyone has public relations, good or bad, whether he likes it or not. Miss Cunningham stated.

It was announced that a club picnic will be held Tuesday, July 25 at Hobart Street Park.

Voting Costs Big, But Do We Worry?

Now that the $10-million question has gone all the way to the top—the President himself—and come back unanswered, we may very well have to go to the polls without knowing who were the big pre-April 1 contributors to Mr. Nixon's re-election fund.

After April 1, the new federal campaign spending law requires publication of the names of political contributors and amounts of contributions. The President's money raisers had put considerable effort into raising the bulk of his campaign money from the usual well-heeled but frequently publicity-shy sources in advance of the magic date.

The President's press conference "no comment" is not, however, likely to be the last word on the subject. The Democrats can recognize a good needling issue when it is handed to them.

But does it really matter? Does the great mass of voters really care who contributes how much to Mr. Nixon's campaign, or to Senator McGovern's or Senator Humphrey's or Governor Wallace's?

The American public has become so accustomed over so many years to the big buck as an integral part of political process that the question of where it comes from is usually of only incidental interest.

New disclosure law or not, we can be sure at this point that the fund raisers will find the ways to set a new political spending record by November. Presidential elections always do.

The British, as with so many other aspects of our sympathetic but very different systems, provide a startling contrast to the American high cost of politics.

In their last national election, June of 1971, Prime Minister Edward Heath spent a grand total of $2,704 on his campaign, according to the Home Office breakdown of expenses for all parliamentary candidates. That covered only the campaign expenses for his own seat from a London suburb. But even on a national scale British political spending is nickles and dimes—or pence and farthings—by American standards.

For 1971, the grand total for all 1,837 parliamentary candidates of all parties was $3,518,252—which would scarcely see a major American presidential contender through a respectable primary.

Many indigenous factors contribute to the British situation, of course. Politics generally carry on in a much lower key than in the United States. Campaigns are much briefer—a few weeks as compared to almost a year. Free TV time on the state-operated BBC is available to the major parties to state their versions of the issues.

And a more homogenous, concentrated population makes a very low legal limit on campaign spending—$3,150—more realistic than it would be in the continental-sized United States.

Nevertheless, the contrast with the extravagant American way is painful. Not so much so, however, that there is any real danger of our changing it.

Three Ways to Be a Lady

The California Senate put an O.K. on "Ms" as an identification for women registering to vote. Makes the ballot more secret.

Actually, "Ms" is more a non-identification. Why not "N" for neuter?

A "Mrs" sets a woman apart as claimed. Means she's a filly who's won a claiming race.

A "Miss" sets a woman apart, too. It suggests she's a kind of knight prowler.

"Ms" is half of a "Miss". Maybe it's as good as half a mile and maybe it isn't.

"Ms" is part of "Mrs"—The Mr. is silent.

The "Ms" probably doesn't do the Mr's ego any good. Instead of pointing with pride, she won't even admit he exists.

The time may come when addressing a female as "Miss" or "Mrs" will be undue familiarity. Then things will really be "Ms-ed" up.

McGovern Had It All In The Bag

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
MIAMI BEACH (NEA) —In the Democratic convention that nominated Sen. George McGovern, old laws of human behavior proved as decisive as the heralded "new politics."

One such law is that it is dangerous to employ political tactics which outrage people's sense of fairness. There may be short range gains, but they tend to produce a counter-trend that may more than offset the advance.

That is exactly what happened this time to yield McGovern his sweeping victory in the key credentials battle for 151 California delegates. After he won them in a June primary, they had been taken from him by a stop-McGovern power play which in effect changed the rules that had guided a campaign consigned, at that late date, to history.

McGovern's device, from the moment of that reversal, was to call for "fair play." It worked better than he hoped.

By my updated delegate count on convention eve the senator had a strong grip on about 1,420 of the 1,509 delegate votes needed for nomination. Yet he won 1,618 votes to his side in the big California challenge.

Most of that excess of roughly 200 votes he added onto his committed strength was considered by his own strategists to be "soft," meaning uncertain in prospect.

When I talked to those McGovern aides, they said the "soft" delegates indicated almost uniformly that they were offended by what they deemed the injustice of the move depriving the senator of those 151 California delegates.

These "extras" were not counted as hard supporters because the delegates themselves said they were being subjected to great pressures from skillful party regulars and labor operatives bitterly opposed to McGovern's nomination.

The smashing McGovern triumph demonstrated, however, that an outraged sense of fairness is a powerful counter-pressure, especially in the highly charged atmosphere of a national convention. It had been proved so in 1952 when Gen. Dwight Eisenhower won a test "fair play" vote over Robert A. Taft and thereby clinched that year's Republican presidential nomination.

Even before the California vote here, it was plain that another old law was working for McGovern. Its essence is that a front-runner who builds a commanding lead automatically becomes a strong magnet attracting, in a steady flow, the rest of the delegates he needs.

My careful checks, using the most conservative indicators, show that McGovern was on a slow but uninterrupted upward course in delegate totals from the moment he hit this convention scene.

From Saturday to mid-afternoon of the Monday opening of the convention, nearly 100 delegates switched from formally uncommitted status to open support of candidates. Most of those went to McGovern in small clusters of two, three and four.

I have observed this pattern at work in every convention I have covered from 1952 on. Surface clamor and conflict may suggest that the outcome is in doubt. But, for the developing winner, the old delegate flow chart tells a different story. Underneath all the noise, he climbs higher by the hour.

So it was this time for George McGovern. He really had won the key votes before he went to Miami Beach.

Inside Washington

Double Triumph Posted For Armed Services Chairman

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — For Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, the House's sweeping 334 to 59 approval of the multi-billion-dollar military procurement authorization bill was a double triumph.

Not only did the House decisively uphold the able and popular one-time New Orleans newspaperman by repeatedly rejecting scuttling amendments by a bipartisan clique of doves and Pentagon blazers, but in the process also sharply slapped down a carping Hebert critic—Rep. Michael Harrington, D-Mass.

Harrington, lowest ranking member of the Armed Services Committee and a New-Leftist supporter of Sen. McGovern, has sought to make political capital by challenging Hebert's strong defense policies. Harrington has gotten nowhere in either the committee or the House as a whole—but that hasn't deterred him from issuing numerous publicity-seeking pronouncements and self-promoting declamations.

Hebert has forcefully countered these hostile antics by direct and blunt action. Graphically illustrative is what transpired in the Rules Committee when the tall, veteran Louisiana legislator appeared there to clear the way for House consideration of the huge military procurement authorization measure.

Rep. Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., like Harrington a McGovernite dove, voiced disapproval of a provision barring the allocation of defense funds to colleges that abolish ROTC units or bar military recruiters from the campuses.

Piping "Em Down" Congressman Harrington, who is a member of your committee," snapped O'Neill, "tells me that the only witnesses heard on this measure were military men and others who think as they do. From what he indicated, I gather the hearings were entirely one-sided in favor of big defense spending."

Looking O'Neill squarely in the eye, Hebert retorted with icy-cold deliberation: "That is an unqualified lie. There isn't a scintilla of proof in it."

Then after a pause to let that emphatic refutation sink in, Hebert picked up three thick volumes of the printed hearings on the bill (about six inches thick) and told O'Neill: "For your accurate information, my committee's door is always open and the latch-string is always out. That's the way I have always run the committee, and that's the way it is always going to be run. Anyone who wants to testify is given full and fair consideration. And anyone who says that isn't so is an unmitigated liar."

In the weeks of hearings on this measure, we heard testimony from the military, business, industry, the academic community and a great many groups and organizations. We had more than 50 hearings on this bill. As you can see from these printed hearings that I hold in my hands, we took hundreds of pages of testimony.

Mr. Harrington's statement is another example of his constant and irresponsible pronouncements and publicity-grabbing. The plain fact is that he knows very little about the committee hearings—for the very simple reason that he rarely attended them. That is clearly shown in the record of those proceedings.

If Mr. Harrington would attend more committee meetings, he would know who is testifying and who isn't.

For a few tense moments, Hebert and O'Neill eyed each other holly.

Who They Are Ringleaders of the bipartisan dove block, overwhelmingly rebuffed by the House on five separate major rollcalls, are: Democrats—Reps. Bella Abzug, N.Y., clangorous New Leftist and women's lib champion, who was resoundingly defeated for renomination in the June 20 primary; Ronald Dellums, Calif., avowed Marxist and Black Panther supporter, who is a leading black McGovernite; Robert Drinan, Mass., first Catholic priest elected to Congress and a militant leftist, McGovernite and inveterate denouncer of the military.

Tuning Replaces Arteries in Leg

Dear Dr. Lamb—My husband has poor circulation in both legs but he is not a diabetic and the doctor wants to replace sections of the artery with plastic tubing. He says it is a simple operation. I have heard of one case where the operation was performed on one leg, and the other leg had to be amputated several weeks later. Was this amputation related to the artery replacement in the opposite leg?

Dear Reader—This type of operation has been performed on literally thousands of people at numerous medical centers and it has been a very successful operation. The plastic tubing is a synthetic material, and actually new cells grow through it and provide even a new lining of cells in the tube exactly similar to the cells that lined the original artery. The forerunner of this operation was replacing diseased sections of the arteries with artery grafts obtained from other people. Interestingly enough, these human artery grafts were not nearly as successful as the subsequent synthetic grafts have been, in properly selected cases. I strongly recommend this operation.

The person who will do well with such an operation must have good open blood vessels below the blocked area that's going to be replaced. If the circulation in the foot and lower leg for example is bad because the arteries there are already blocked and obstructed, then putting in a graft higher up in the artery will not do any good. The whole idea is to replace a blocked area of the artery with an open tube which will eventually become a new artery. The operation isn't even too difficult under skilled hands.

I would imagine that the person you mentioned lost his leg because the artery was so badly obstructed in the entire leg that there wasn't enough circulation. This wouldn't have anything to do with the replacement of the blocked artery in the other leg. Again we see the importance of fatty deposits in the arteries—Your husband's problem is the exact same process that affects the arteries in the heart to cause heart attacks or the strokes.

Individuals who are prone to having fatty deposits in their arteries because of eating too much of the wrong kind of food, not getting enough exercise and smoking too many cigarettes can have a lot of things happen to them besides a heart attack. It includes strokes, senile mental changes, poor circulation to the legs and, in men, even poor circulation to some sexual organs leading to incapacitation in that area. You would think that with this long list of things that fatty deposits in the arteries do to people there would be greater willingness by people to adjust their lives to prevent this vast array of medical disorders.

THAT TELETHON staged by the Democratic National Committee on ABC-TV last weekend left us a bit on the cold side. The idea was to raise money to pay off the Democrats' 1968 election debt of $9.3 million plus the approximately $2 million cost of the telethon.

That added up to around $11 million in cash needed to break even. When the curtain rang down on the last bit of talent Sunday night, the total on the board was around $4,400,000 in direct telephone calls. Anything that came in by mail was to be added to that figure. The final yet been reported. One suspects it is far, far short of the hoped for goal.

Hosts on the program, TV-star Allen King, movie star Jackie Cooper, et. al., kept reminding viewers there were 50 million registered Democrats in the country and if they would each send 50 cents or a buck it would boost the jackpot to 25 or 50 million dollars which would get the Democrats out of hock for the 1968 campaign, finance the 1972 campaign to chase Nixon out of the White House, and take care of perhaps still another campaign in 1976.

WHAT HAPPENED that the contributors didn't come through as expected during the telethon?

Well, one wonders if the promoters considered the timing—smack dab on the eve of the opening of the Democratic National Convention last Monday in Miami Beach.

At the same time the telethon was in progress, there were news breaks and pre-convention programs on the TV networks indicating everything was in the bag for Sen. George McGovern to be the Democratic nominee. And he was.

As Robert S. Allen, one of the Pampa News correspondents at the convention, pointed out—there has been a drastic drying up of contributions from businessmen and other wealthy liberals who have long been the mainstay of Democratic campaign funds, estimated by insiders to be around 50 per cent.

With a few distinctive exceptions, these former "sugar daddies" have evinced marked alarm and a strong distaste for McGovern, and made it clear they have no intention of financing him.

BY THE same token there are many Democrats who believe what used to be the Democratic Party—now headed by Mr. McGovern—will go down the drain in November.

Many Republicans and Independents join with many disenchanted Democrats in disappointment over the treatment given George Wallace's platform proposals at the convention, all of which were tossed out the window by a majority of the delegates of the new Democratic Reform Party. They also tossed out Sen. Scoop Jackson, a real strong and dedicated Democrat, along with HHH and Muskie.

You hear talk, too, that because of the convention's nomination of the South Dakota radical as their choice to lead the country, a lot of good district and local Democratic candidates across the nation will hit the toboggan with him in November.

GETTING BACK to the post mortem on the Democratic telethon, Congressman Bob Price jumped down the Democrat's throats with a charge they used it to engage in "demagoguery and lies."

The Associated Press quoted Price as saying in a Wichita Falls speech that he was "appalled by the fact protest songs were permitted during the telethon program criticizing the Nixon administration."

Price's Democrat opponent in the 13th District congressional race, told us he was not going to attend the Democratic convention just to make it clear he wanted no part of it. He said he was not for McGovern.

Later he was quoted as saying he would vote for McGovern but wouldn't urge anybody else to support the Democratic presidential nominee. Just what the logic is there, we haven't figured out. It must have something to do with political expediency.

YOU CAN add to that the fight that is brewing over Congressman Price's challenge to Congressman Purcell to denounce McGovern and support Richard Nixon for re-election.

Asking a Democratic congressman to support a Republican President for re-election is sort of like asking the Houston Astro's centerfielder to muffle a fly ball knocked into his territory by Cincinnati's Johnny Bench when the catch would mean the difference between first and second place in the National League's western division.

After "attending" the Democratic convention via television into the wee small hours every morning, we definitely came to the conclusion that politics, like the Old Gray Mare, ain't what they used to be.

At least the Democratic Party ain't what it used to be—and the delegates and speakers at Miami Beach kept telling us that it ain't. They pretty well convinced me.

Now, we're holding our breath until next month when the Republicans go through all the politically-required motions to nominate Mr. Nixon for re-election.

About the only suspense in the Democratic convention related to just who would get the vice presidential nomination.

Everybody knew in advance what the Democratic platform would be and that McGovern would get the top spot.

The same is true of the upcoming Republican pow-wow in Miami Beach. The platform is all set and everybody knows Nixon will be nominated. The only suspense left centers around Spiro Who. Will he again get the nod? And that, too, is pretty much in the foregone conclusion category.

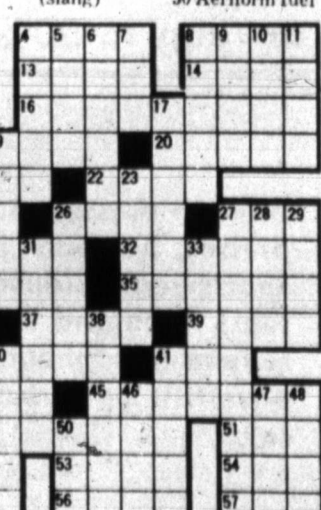

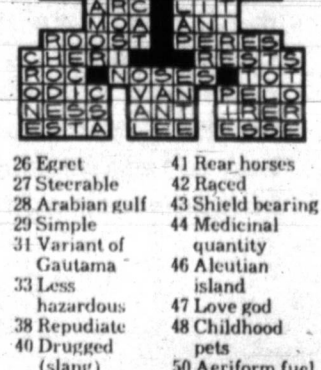

Looking at it from one angle, seems like a big waste of money to go through a week of roll calling just to find out who is going to be the next vice presidential nominee.

Farm Money Profit 1/3 That of Industry

COLLEGE STATION—Invest identical amounts of money in both farming and industry, wait about ten years, and then compare the returns from each investment. You will find, as did two Texas A&M University economists, that the return from farming will be less than one-third that of industry.

Dr. Donald E. Farris of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Dr. James I. Mallett of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service found that the returns on investments in farming were substantially below the average for the rest of the U.S. economy, from the mid-1950's through 1960's.

During the 1960's farm corporations earned about 45 per cent as much as the average U.S. corporation, the economists said. The rate of return on investment for manufacturing was over three times that of farm corporations, not including asset appreciation.

Farm corporations having receipts over $1 million made the highest returns in agriculture, but still had returns well below manufacturing corporations with comparable receipts.

Net income from farming as per cent of total assets declined from over 9.7 per cent in 1950 to about 5 per cent in 1970, the economists reported. The return on assets in agriculture, which includes income for operator labor and management, was less than 6 per cent in all but two years of the 1960's. Other segments of the U.S. economy average approximately 10 per cent and do not include labor income.

Disposable per capita income did increase from slightly above half of nonfarm income in 1950 to above three-quarters in 1970. To obtain this increase, farm assets, such as land, equipment and livestock, had to rise much faster than assets of other businesses. Average assets per farm increased nearly 500 per cent over the two decades.

Some of the least profitable types of farms from the period of 1956 to 1967 were Southwest cattle and sheep ranches, Wisconsin Grade "B" Dairy farms and Georgia broiler operations.

More profitable farms were medium and large cotton farms in Texas, California and the Mississippi Delta.

Farmers experience wide swings in income from year to year and the rate of return varies widely among types of farms, the report said. Generally, the rate of return and stability of income is greater for farms producing products with some type of price and production control.

Additional information can be found in the report, "Return on Investment in Agriculture Compared with Other Business in the U.S.," MP-1035, of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

County Farmers Get Set-Aside Payments

Approximately 320 farmers in Gray County were scheduled to receive farm set-aside program payments last week, according to Evelyn Mason, County Executive Director, Gray County ASCS.

By the end of the month, the total will be about 450 farmers. All those who report the grain sorghum and cotton by the middle of the month should receive payment by the close of July. It will take about two weeks after reporting to receive the payment.

Nationwide, approximately 750,000 cotton, feed grain and wheat producers were mailed a total of $850 million in expedited preliminary payments in time for the checks to arrive by this time.

Payments under the set-aside programs are made to farmers who agree to set aside part of their land from production in order to meet a national objective of balancing supply and demand in certain commodities. These payments help to off-set the loss of returns from cropland that otherwise would be used for income-yielding production, and on which the farmer is obliged to continue to pay taxes and apply needed conservation steps, according to officials of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Payments to producers are limited to $55,000 per person for each of the three crops—feed grains, wheat, and cotton—under the Agricultural Act of 1970.

Of all back-boned animals, turtles live the longest. One that was in captivity is known to have lived 152 years.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
We continue to have numerous calls about recent changes in Sales Tax with reference to certain things farmer buy. We have a partial list of many of the common things farmers buy showing non-deductible and deductible items. Pre-fabricated buildings to be used exclusively for the farm and ranch business bears an exemption. As I understand it, a building fabricated on site would not bear an exemption. We have a copy of the form a farmer must sign to obtain certain of these exemptions. A pre-fabricated building, as is being built locally, could save a farmer or rancher as much as $500 to $750, based on the 5 per cent tax exemption.

having their ranch scales checked. We would try to coordinate the checking of the scales when the Department of Agriculture get their truck back in working order.

You are seeing the first of shortages in food items we advised you about some time back. Hogs are now showing some real strength also. It is good to see prices getting closer to parity. Hogs are now slightly over eighty-three per cent of what they should be and cattle are about ninety-two per cent of what they should be.

In my opinion any effort brought to hold the price at the present level or depress the price will tend to further aggravate the shortage that exists. We have all the resources necessary to produce an adequate supply of hogs and cattle. We lack one incentive, a fair and equitable price. This is why so many have gone out of the cow-calf business. It got to where it just wasn't profitable. Any efforts to lower prices at a level below one in which producers cannot make a fair return, will create a shortage of beef as a long-range affect. Consumers must be willing to pay a fair price for food items. They have had a steal in food for three decades.

You will see other shortages develop in other items as more and more people leave the farm or cease to produce certain food products because it is not profitable. We have very little subsistence agriculture any more. It is now a business...not a way of life.

The strange thing about this situation is the fact that no one seems to be aware of this pending situation. I have seen no forewarning in any of the farm publications. But it is coming and will be national headlines in the not too distant future.

They have already climbed the Caprock. Cases have been reported in Donley, Armstrong, and Oldham Counties. The screwworm program is out of money. The 1971-72 winter was not severe enough to crowd the screwworm back far enough into Old Mexico. Castration at will on the ranches in Gray County might bring disaster. I'm not sure what steps would be taken should we have a screwworm case in Gray County. We encourage you to collect specimens of any apparent screwworm cases.

I have been advised by Varner Williams, Texas Department of Agriculture, that the scales checking truck is being changed out. There will be some delay in checking scales in this area by this Department. If you are in a hurry to have your scales checked, we would advise you to obtain a regular independent scale company. They can place an official sticker on your scales.

I would be happy to keep a list of names of those interested in

Toxaphene Is Approved

An amendment to federal regulations to allow use of toxaphene as a dip for cattle tick eradication has been adopted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Previously, the regulations governing inter-state movement of animals permitted use only of arsenic, dioxathion (Delnav) and coumaphos (Co-Ral).

The amendment became effective upon signature by an official of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

Both species of cattle ticks—Boophilus microplus and Boophilus annulatus—have been found in a quarantine zone in south Texas. The quarantine zone, necessary because of presence of the ticks in Mexico, extends from the mouth of the Rio Grande River 500 miles northwest to Amistad Dam near Del Rio and varies in width from a few yards to several miles.

APHIS officials have alerted cattle owners to watch for ticks and to submit specimens for identification. If fever ticks are found, infested and exposed cattle are dipped in tick-killing baths at regular intervals for at least one year.

To protect fish and wildlife, officials warn that after dipping, animals must be kept out of streams and ponds for at least seven days. Tests made at Beltsville, Md., have shown that until that much time elapses, animals retain enough dip solution on their legs and bodies to pollute water.

Texas Tops in Beef

AUSTIN—Texas leads the nation in all major categories of the beef cattle industry, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reports.

Texas is number one in total of cattle and calves, number one in beef cows that have calved, and number one in cattle on feed.

"Thus, Texas has a tremendous influence on the nation in relation to beef for the consumer," White said.

The livestock industry in Texas is a $2 billion enterprise. Almost half of the total agricultural income in the state comes from livestock.

Rankings by counties in Texas for livestock categories include Panhandle and South Plains counties.

All cattle and calves: Deaf Smith, Parmer, Hansford, Castro, Swisher, Sherman, Randall, Ochiltree, Hale, Hopkins.

Cattle on feed: Deaf Smith, Parmer, Hansford, Castro, Randall, Swisher, Ochiltree, Sherman, Hale, Lubbock.

Texas as of June 1 became the nation's top cattle feeding state with 2,045,000 head, replacing Iowa.

Texas has more than twice as many beef cows than has second-place Oklahoma. Total beef cows that have calved as of Jan 1 totals 5,452,000 head.

Panhandle Water

The special session of the Texas legislature is over. In spite of the misgivings of many people, the session was productive in many ways.

Many state commissions have been operating with appointees of Gov. Preston Smith who required confirmation by the Texas senate. The consensus was that these lame duck appointees were going to find it difficult to receive confirmation.

Many of these appointments have now been confirmed. For these to have been rejected would have been a gross disservice to the state of Texas. The majority of these commission members are men of great ability and wisdom. They are also men of unchallenged honesty.

Deskin Wells of Wellington was confirmed for appointment to the Interstate Compact for the Red River. His appointment is a big assist to the Texas Panhandle as he is well acquainted with our needs for a more equitable share of the water entering the Red River from the Panhandle watershed area.

Howard Boswell, who retired two years ago as executive director of the Water Development Board, was confirmed for appointment to the State Board of Control.

William Clifford was confirmed for re-appointment to the Canadian River Compact. Former Senator Dorsey Hardeman, who had been serving as a member of the Water Rights Commission for the past nine months, was confirmed. He had also served a one-year period as Executive Director of the Water Rights Commission.

The various water agencies have been doing a good job and this was reflected when the budgets for these agencies came through the special session in good shape.

For many years the sanitation and sewage disposal habits of the rural areas of Texas went unnoticed. The big shift of city residents to rural areas has created a positive pollution threat to the underground water reservoirs. The Water Quality Board, taking note of this in its meeting the last week of June, approved an order to allow the Grayson County Commissioners Court to regulate septic tanks in areas of the county outside of incorporated cities.

Without warning, the Texas Supreme Court, on June 28, reversed itself in the Sun Oil versus Whitaker suit and held that Sun Oil Company is entitled to produce up to 100,000 gallons of fresh water per day from the Ogallala underground water formation in Cochran County for waterflood operations. Waterflooding of the oil formation below the red clay beds, in many instances, causes the oil wells on the lease to increase in production of oil.

The reversal came on a five to four vote after the Supreme Court had tied four to four. At this point, the Court ordered Justice Ruel Walker to vote after he had excused himself because some family land was leased to Sun Oil Company. Justice Walker then cast his vote in favor of Sun Oil Company. On October 27, 1971 the Court had ruled against Sun Oil Company. This marks the third decision by the court concerning the ownership of the fresh water beneath the land.

The Texas Lawyers weekly letter used the following language to describe the Court reversal decision:

"Oil and gas lessee, as owner of dominant estate, has implied right to free use of such part of and so much of the surface as may be reasonably necessary to produce oil from its wells. In the absence of express limitation or express provision for payment, lessee had the right to take fresh water from the Ogallala formation and inject it into the San Andres formation, in view of stipulation that the waterflood process was a reasonable operation to produce oil from the San Andres Reservoir and use of Ogallala water for injection was a reasonable method of conducting the water-flood process."

The effect of the reversal on the current accepted ownership of the water beneath the land in the Texas Panhandle is not yet clear. There are many who feel that in the future, each disputed or contested situation will have to be decided on the specific language of the particular lease agreement. We have many cases where cities have purchased the water rights to the underground fresh water from the landowner and paid a specified price for the water. In many of these instances, an oil company also has a lease for oil production from the current owner or a previous owner of the land. The big question now is just what stand the cities will take since they now regard the water as city property for which a price was paid.

Sheik Shakbut, the former ruler of Abu Zaby who allowed slave-trading in his Trucial State until 1964, feared modernization would ruin his land and tried to refuse payment for oil found there. Forced to accept the money, he kept it under his bed where rats gnawed through a fortune in banknotes before he was deposited in 1966.
