20 Stinnett Boys Enter Gloves Tournament

Louis Will Outweigh John Henry Fully 20 Pounds

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Indications are that John Henry Lewis, fresh from the light-heavyweight ranks, will spot Champion Joe Louis fully 20 pounds when the two negroes meet in their 15-round title fight tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden.

When the match was made the lighter man planned to build himself up to a solid 185 pounds, but when he finished his final workout yesterday he tipped the beam at only 161 and predicted he would not put on more than a pound or two before the official weigh-in at noon tomorrow.

Joe, who started training at 210 pounds, is down to his best fighting weight of 202, and looked razor-keen in his final sparring session at Pompton Lakes. He didn't look like a man who could be spotted 20 pounds by anyone who was un-armed.

John Henry is, in fact, the first fighter to attempt to concede anything like that much weight to Joe since the Brown Bomber reached championship class. Tommy Farr, the last opponent to go the distance with Louis, was of an equal weight, a point possibly overlooked by those who figure Louis will be on his feet at the end of 15 rounds tomorrow night.

For all his admitted footwork and defensive skill, John Henry is bound to feel those 20 pounds every time "old dead-pan" bores in on him, and Joe swears he is going to bore away every second, like he did against Max Schmeling last summer. Incidentally, Bob Pastor, who also escaped a knockout by Louis, was forced to dodge the lightning for only 10 rounds. John Henry must go five more than that, and fighting men say those last five are brutes.

Last Seven Bounces. Some experts think John Henry would have stood a better chance of outwitting his pal Joe about three years ago, when the boy from Arizona was a legitimate 175-pounder and elusive as a greased pig. He's had many a scrap since then, has taken on weight and lost a little of his bounce. Tomorrow night's will be his 100th professional engagement. Still, he really believes he will outpoint Louis and win the crown. And he has a surprising number of supporters. It looks like the odds will be about 1 to 5 on the champion at ringtime.

The only small doubt in the minds of the Louis following is whether their man has whipped himself into the proper mental attitude for this bout. They know Joe has become very proud of his title and is determined to beat Lewis or any other man who disputes his right to the crown, but they know, too, that he doesn't hate John Henry like he did Schmeling.

The impression of all who have watched the challenger train is that he intends to wage a cautious fight and concentrate on Joe's more or less untested stomach. He, like the others, is about satisfied now that the champion can take it on the jaw, regardless of what Schmeling did to him in their first meeting. The body attack at least is a promising experiment.

Joe, he doesn't need to do any special planning. With his big weight advantage and the sudden death in his fists he figures he can just climb in the ring and let nature take its course.

Aultman Disqualified In Rough Bout With Freeman

Joe Banaski remained at the head of the class in the light heavyweight wrestling tournament here after a disputed decision over Frankie Hill last night at the Pampa Athletic arena. The falls stood at one (each) and both wrestlers were nearly on their feet when Banaski got a full Nelson.

It was a situation because some fans believe that maulers were flat on their backs when the referee counted three over Hill. Hill attacked the referee after the count and Promoter Chambers had to enter the ring to reason with the hot-headed Kansan. Other fans thought Banaski's left shoulder was a couple of inches off the mat when Hill was counted out.

Tiger Billy McEwin dropped Steve Netry after 14 minutes in the preliminary. McEwin used his weight to advantage in roughing the little Florida grapple. McEwin won with a couple of mats and another.

Baseball For Plains Talked At Amarillo

Will baseball return to Pampa next Summer? The answer apparently lies in Amarillo's decision regarding the building of a baseball park. At a meeting in Amarillo last night Harold Miller, representing local park interests, said that Pampa would be interested in getting into the Texas-New Mexico league providing Amarillo entered.

Bob Seeds, former Shamrock boy and now a member of the New York Giants, told the gathering, "You build a park and I'll back a team for you in the league." Seeds said he already had tentatively acquired a franchise operated last year in a Texas-New Mexico league city.

Another franchise is available, it has been learned here, and Pampa can secure it. Bigger expense is a park and Pampa already has the best one in the Panhandle. An Amarillo man offered a site in San Jacinto for a park at no cost for two years and after that just a nominal rent. A committee headed by Jerry Malin was named to see whether enough money could be raised to build a park.

The success of the Lubbock Hubbers in their first year in the league last season was stressed at the meeting. Also discussed was the possibility of Pampa's coming in the league.

Citizens May Buy Quail For 50c Each

The State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission of Austin has contracted to purchase a large number of quail at $1 each sell them to citizens at 50 cents each, the state thus saves half the cost, according to a letter received yesterday by Rufe Thompson from Beal Jester, assistant secretary of the commission.

Persons interested in buying quail, by the crate, may contact Mr. Thompson at the Johnson Hardware store or write to Mr. Jester, whose address follows: "I have just made a contract with one of the quail importers whereby we purchase the birds at the rate of one dollar ($1.00) each. We are distributing them on a cooperative basis, this department paying for half of the cost. That means that the birds really cost the applicant fifty cents (50 cents) each. The birds should be shipped twenty-five to the crate which would make it necessary to order 500 to forward a cashier's check for twenty-five dollars ($25.00) in order to obtain two crates of birds. Partial crate shipments will not be made."

The importation season is short and unless applications reach us within the next few days, according to CASHIER'S CHECK, it will be necessary for us to return the check. I am afraid that the demand will be far in excess of birds for which we have contracted.

By EDDIE BRITZ. NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Next time Elmer Layden starts moaning about Notre Dame prospects, give him the bird... Ask him what about that freshman fullback they got out there... This guy is so good they asked him to cut practice because he was making the varsity load and scoring so many touchdowns... Well, who do you like—Champion Joe or Champion John? Most of us can name the winner, but can't spell his name.

LEFORS, Jan. 24—Thirteen members of the LeFors Pirate football team of 1938 were awarded letters last week by Coach Francis Smith.

Phillips Petroleum Company employees have organized a A. U. basketball team since 1921. At this early date, K. S. Adams, then newly employed in the warehouse department, together with several other employees, formed the first squad. Mr. Adams, now president of the Phillips Petroleum Company, is the most rabid and enthusiastic follower of this year's team.

An A. A. U. team is very similar to college team; just as during their college days, these players have their regular work to do and must devote all of their leisure time during basketball season to practice sessions. But they are amply repaid for the loss of their leisure time by the enthusiastic support from other Phillips employees. It is Phillips regular policy to add a group of college graduates to their organization each year, and among these are usually some who have made a name for themselves in basketball. This year's squad, made up entirely of Bartlesville office employees, has four players who have received all-American recognition and the other six have been chosen all-state or all-conference in their particular locality.

In this way a A. A. U. basketball frequently brings together the better college players and as a result is considered by many the tip-top basketball in the country. These A. A. U. supporters point out the consistent victories of A. A. U. teams in the A. A. U. tournaments which are open to all Amateur teams. In the past two years, no collegiate team has even reached the semi-finals of the National A. A. U. tournament—and many fine college teams have competed. In 1938 when all amateur basketball teams in the country were fighting for the honor of representing the United States in the Olympics, the final match was between two A. A. U. teams.

Thus the team that wins the National A. A. U. tournament, will be recognized by most observers as the best basketball aggregation in the country. Phillips employees throughout the middle west are hoping for this honor for their team.

Hectic Harvester Week Opens Tonight At Borger

Borger's role in the 1939 district basketball championship race will become clearer tonight after the final whistle of a game to be played on the floor of the Bulldogs gym.

The last time the quintets of Coach Odus Mitchell and Coach Catfish Smith met was in the finals of the district tournament here last year. In that game the Harvesters came from behind to nose out the Borgans by one point. It was easily the most exciting game ever played on the local court.

No doubt the Bulldogs and Catfish will be remembering that epic struggle tonight, and no doubt he will have his boys fired up for the fray. Recent "dope" puts the most Valley A. U. league race in the Harvester's Sandies who will play here Friday night. The Sandies beat Borger by a big score, and whipped Plainview by a larger score than Pampa did.

All three games are Big Five scheduled tilts. Amarillo is now leading the league. If Pampa gets by Borger tonight, and it is expected by close observers that the Harvesters can't lose because they must win, then one of the decisive games of Big Five competition will be Friday night in the Sandie-Pampa game. The Harvesters have played 29 games and lost 2 to Canyon and Abernathy, teams they later defeated.

Coach Odus Mitchell's team is about average in size as far as basketball teams go. He has two players around six feet tall and two around five feet ten and one that falls in the peewee class.

Observers believe that the team is going some place this year, but they are waiting until after the Borger, Amarillo, Lubbock games this week for pronouncing final decision. If Pampa wins all three games, the Harvesters should cop the Big Five title. If they lose to Borger, they might not even get to the regional at Canyon. They've got to win all three games to establish supremacy.

LeFors And Mobeetie Will Probably Play In Class C

The LeFors Pirates and Mobeetie Hornets will in all probability play Class C football this fall, it was announced today by Coach Francis Smith of the LeFors Pirates. The two schools were not represented at a District 3-B meeting last week and as a result the six remaining teams voted to combine the district and play a single schedule.

Both LeFors and Mobeetie come under C classification according to the new state ruling setting scholarships as a basis of competition. The schools could have asked for a vote of admission to District 3-B but neither were in favor of a single schedule, Coach Smith said.

Bing Crosby To Stage Ranch Golf Tourney This Week-End

By ROBERT MYERS. HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 24 (AP)—Whatever it is, Bing Crosby is having it again this week-end down in the general neighborhood of Rancho Santa Fe.

Officially, and in many aspects, it is a golf tournament; a tremendous tournament such as the U. S. G. A., never dreamed of—except in a nightmare.

The presence of 75 of the best professionals in the nation and assorted varieties of amateurs, perspiring freely under the load of clubs their caddies have to pack, virtually proves that it is a golf tournament.

Yet it's different. There isn't another golf tournament like this in the world, or even here in Hollywood. Maybe it's because this Crosby enterprise spreads over two days, three nights and most of San Diego County, and anyone who brags about a par '72 is likely as not talking about the hours he's been up and

Dozen Borger Boys Training For Matches

Entries in The Pampa News Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament to be held Feb. 8, 9 and 10 at the Pampa Athletic Arena jumped to 40 yesterday afternoon with receipt of 10 signed blanks from Stinnett. Coach Roy Palmer of the Stinnett Rattlers mailed the applications to the Golden Gloves editor.

"I have three flyweights, two lightweights and two welterweights as well as some other boys who want to enter," Coach Palmer wrote. "The boys in the same class are so evenly matched that I have been unable to determine the best and since all of them want to enter I hope it will be all right with you. I believe I have several potential winners in the group at Pampa. Borger and the rest of the towns had better be ready."

Flyweights entered from Stinnett were Charles Evans, Jack Sargent and Bud Yaunt, all students at Stinnett high school. Lester Ayler was a bantamweight entered. Soil Erosion Costs Nation $400,000,000 Loss Yearly, Regional Conservator Says

PERRYTON, Jan. 24.—This nation annually has been suffering a $400,000,000 soil loss while laboring under the delusion that there is a "cure-all" for soil erosion, H. H. Finnell, regional conservator of the Soil Conservation Service in the Southern Great Plains, told at a banquet here Tuesday night. This has meant the annual dumping of 20 times as much plant food into the ocean as is used by marketable crops, he stated.

"The lesson of this experience," the speaker said, "is that rather than depend upon a single method or practice of erosion control, we must depend upon a proper combination selected to fit conditions and needs in each individual field and pasture, and then coordinate them into a complete and harmonious program."

"In the first place," Mr. Finnell said, "conservation is a problem of the land, but in order to reach the land, it is necessary to travel by way of the mind of the individual who owns and operates the land. Conservation therefore becomes as much a human problem as a physical one."

"Many prominent individuals interested in national welfare and consequently in the Dust Bowl have formed some peculiar ideas about this part of the country. There is a notion, for example, that the Plains have all been plowed up and that this now is one vast and continuous wheat field. Well, as you know, about two-thirds of the area remains in native grass and has never been touched by the plow. Less than half of the cultivated land ever has been planted to wheat since time. And remember that wheat is a grass, too."

The conservator pointed out that wind erosion in reality is a simple mechanical action, but many people do not understand the fundamentals. "Wind does not necessarily cause dust storms," he declared. "Wind does not vary from year to year and season to season nearly so much as many of the other climatic factors such as rainfall. We have hard winds capable of eroding the soil very year and always have had. During emergency precautions were taken in an area extending 125 miles inland from the Mediterranean and some distance north from the border."

On all main and secondary roads in that zone Prefect Raoul Didkowski established mobile guard barriers which were in addition to posts on the frontier proper, where the guardsmen regularly watch every mountain path. Police of every village, forest guards and other local officers in the zone were notified they formed a part of the refugee-watching service.

Conservation Not Hoarding. "Conservation in the true sense is never hoarding. There are soil and water resources that surely would go to waste if not used currently. So the aim of conservation is one of saving natural resources for use in such a manner as to permit the maximum efficiency of their use. Land and water used must be consistent; it is just as necessary that the methods used in conservation be consistent with efficient use."

"Vegetation, under natural conditions, is both the buffer and the tool of soil successful systems of erosion control embodies the effective use of vegetation to maintain a continuous and adequate cover, either in the form of growing crops or the tushy remains of previous crops. This is the backbone of soil conservation under almost any circumstances. Different conditions call for different combinations of conservation practices."

Service Started in 1937. Pointing out that the Soil Conservation Service began operations less than six years ago with a single program of demonstration projects, Mr. Finnell said the responsibility of eight separate programs under five different acts of Congress now are under supervision of the service. These include conservation demonstrations, conservation research, technical cooperation with soil conservation districts, technical cooperation with the Civilian Conservation Corps, flood control surveys, flood control projects, development of water facilities, and land utilization.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 24 (AP)—The appointment of Felix Palavicini as ambassador to Argentina inspired speculation in foreign circles here today whether Mexico shortly would inaugurate a drive to sell oil to the South American nation. Palavicini, former diplomat and business man, helped write the 1917 constitution which included a clause that made possible expropriation of 17 foreign oil properties last March 18. He leaves for New York Feb. 17 aboard the liner, Uruguay. Feb. 25, the embassy post will be reestablished after a one-year suspension as a government economy. The ambassador said himself that he would not seek to sell oil and that his was "no commercial position."

A usually informed person, however, said that Mexico was "much interested in selling oil down there." (Mexico has encountered difficulty in finding oil markets since expropriation of the foreign properties.) Pan American Airways officials announced in Miami that 1938 set a new record for air travel between this country and Latin America, with a total of 73,910 passengers carried.

Harry Hopkins Confirmed By Senate Vote

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—Harry Hopkins may present to the business advisory council this week the first broad outlines of his program for improving economic conditions and increasing employment through the cooperative efforts of business and government.

The council meets Thursday, and Hopkins, who was confirmed by the Senate yesterday as secretary of commerce, is expected to take the occasion to submit his ideas for business improvement. These have not been divulged in detail even to some of his close associates. He is expected, however, to call for specific attacks on several problems, possibly including "friction" between business and the government, factionalism in organization, the construction lag in the utilities industry, and the railroad financial situation.

The Senate approved Mr. Roosevelt's appointment of Hopkins 58 to 27 after opponents had criticized his administration of the WPA. After being questioned for two days by the Senate commerce committee, the presidential adviser and former WPA chief was raked over the coals for three more days on the Senate floor by Republicans and anti-administration Democrats.

Most of the latter made it clear their attacks were aimed not so much at Hopkins as at some of the actions of the administration. Despite their criticism, some of these Democrats voted to confirm Hopkins, on the theory the President should be allowed to pick his own advisers. Administration Senators minimized the importance of charges of politics in relief, declared WPA subordinate officials were to blame, and praised Hopkins' record as an efficient administrator.

Majority Leader Barkley declared the President was "the ultimate target of all this vituperation against Mr. Hopkins," and challenged "any Senator to point to a single dollar of graft" in the more than $9,000,000,000 spent for federal relief during the six years of Hopkins' administration. Hopkins was sworn in as secretary of commerce at the White House in Christmas week. He replaced Daniel C. Roper, who resigned to reenter private law practice. One official summed up the appointment this way: "The President wants Hopkins to sort of sell the administration to business and the same time let business people know they have some place to go where they can get a hearing, and most of all he wants to let those people see that Hopkins doesn't have horns."

2 States Discuss Minimum Prices Of Grapefruit

LAKELAND, Fla., Jan. 24 (AP)—Citrus leaders bent their efforts today toward solving the two most Florida problems growing out of Florida grapefruit price-pegging program. A state committee meeting here reported progress reconciling differences in minimum prices set by the Florida and Texas industries. Florida grapefruit canning plant operators, suspending work pending developments, insisted that the Texas minimum price be raised to the level where they would not be at a competitive disadvantage.

L. P. Kirkland of Abundance, chairman of the two-state committee, told the Florida Citrus Commission conferees had agreed the Texas price should be hiked and the issue now was how high it should be set. The Florida commission imposed fixing that figure as the cost of fixin g that figure as the cost of production under terms of the 1935 state law authorizing the price fixing program and the minimum cannot be less than the production cost. Texas minimums for the two-week period ending Jan. 20 are 10¢ a ton for white grapefruit, 15¢ for pink seedless and $3.50 for fruit sold to canners.

The industry committee, which administers the program under terms of a state marketing agreement, meets today to recommend minimum prices for the two weeks beginning Jan. 30. Kirkland said it was agreed the Texas minimum for canning fruit should be lower than that of Florida because of the higher juice content of this state's crop and because freight rates favor Florida. It was reported the Texans had suggested the canning minimum for their state be fixed at about $5.20 a ton.

Committee To Vote Secretly On Bills

AUSTIN, Jan. 24 (AP)—The House appropriations committee, which handles bills directing spending of many millions of taxpayers' dollars, will take its final votes this year in secret sessions. The vote of each committee member, however, will be available to the public immediately afterward and every final action will be by a record vote.

SERIAL STORY

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday: At a party, Janet... with another girl—Cynthia...

CHAPTER XV

SOMEONE caught Janet and supported her somewhat awkwardly until she regained her balance.

Then Barney McKnight exclaimed, "Janet... Why, Janet, you're shaking like a leaf. What—"

"Barney" Janet begged, "take me home! Please take me home, Barney!"

"Wait a minute! There seems to be more here than meets the eye."

Barney slipped her hand through his arm, and moved as if to stroll along the quiet veranda.

But Janet held back.

"No, Barney," she said in a stifled voice. "Not that way! I can't go back there."

"All right—this way then."

He reversed their direction.

"Now, tell Uncle Barney all about it."

"No, Barney, I can't... Just take me home, please."

"Say, listen, honny," Barney said. "I took a lady home from a party once because she seemed to think she had to go in a hurry, and nearly got my foot block knocked off by the boy friend when I got back. This knight-errant business can be pushed too far."

"He's—I don't know," Barney turned and stared down the veranda behind them for a long moment, and Janet felt his arm stiffen under her hand.

Then he said, his voice roughening suddenly, "I get it. You've finally got the layout, too. I think I knew all along, for I never did manage to kid myself about Cynthia in any big way... O-kay, Jan. Wait for me at the side drive. I'll get your wrap and sign off with Leslie."

AFTER they got into the car, Barney said, "How about driving around for awhile?"

"I don't care," Janet said numbly. "Talk to me, Barney... Just talk to me about anything."

"All right. You asked for it," Barney said as he turned the car out upon the broad moonlit highway along the river.

"The man doesn't live who needs any more excuse than that to talk about himself. How about this for a star—I've got a swell new job."

"A new job?" Janet echoed, surprised for the moment out of herself.

"I should have said a special assignment... You remember I told you the other day that I had the lowdown on the Skidmore killing? That is, I know what's back of it, but I can't prove it yet."

Billings is going to handle football and college sports, and I'm going to keep the prize-ring angle and some others which will bring me in touch with a lot of the sort of people I need to know to get my other story. I'm to have three months to work on it. If I break it, it may shake up the whole city government, and incidentally mean a whole new field for me.

"But, Barney, it sounds dangerous."

"Not necessarily. No one but the boss and I will suspect what I'm up to till it's all in the bag. No one expects a sports reporter to have eyes for anything but fouls and knockouts."

"SO Barney talked quietly on, and Janet listened, staid and quieted by the listening. To Janet's surprise, she learned that he had been writing on current events for some time, and had even had several articles published in current magazines."

"It was almost five when they finally drove home. Lance was sitting in the living room, white and rigid, while Aunt Mary knitted quietly in her low chair by the fireplace."

"Well, I must say, McKnight," Lance began, his voice tight with anger, "you and Janet have put me in a pretty spot. Can't you imagine how I felt, after hunting all over the hotel for you, Janet, to be told that you'd gone out hours ago, with another man? And your aunt has been frantic with worry."

"I have not," contradicted Aunt Mary flatly, "been at all frantic—especially after I learned that Janet was with Barney."

Janet, who knew this was a high-handed perversion, almost smiled. Lance flushed with annoyance and turned back to Janet.

"I thought," he began icily, "that we agreed it was best just now to be seen together as much as possible. What will people think—"

"Now, that is an important consideration," Barney interrupted smoothly. "It doesn't matter, I suppose, what you do in private? Well, that ought to go both ways, oughtn't it?"

"Please, Barney!" Janet broke in before Lance could reply. Then she turned to Lance. "... It would have been more decent, of course, to have had this out with Lance alone; but since he had raised the issue, it might as well be settled here and now.

"Lance," she asked quietly, "what difference can it possibly make what other people think about us, when all this time neither of us has seemed to have any idea what the other was thinking? I understand—now—a lot of things that have seemed strange to me these last few days.

You see, I was on the veranda, too, tonight, and—oh, there isn't any use talking, is there? Won't you just—go away, Lance?"

AFTER a moment Lance said in a smothered voice, "You'll be sorry tomorrow, Janet. At least we might do this thing with some dignity."

Janet even smiled a little at that—her eyes very bright and dark and steady in her white face.

"Dignity?" she echoed. "What a funny word that can be! And somehow, just now, I'd rather be honest than dignified... I wish you'd go, Lance. And please don't come back."

"The Lance did go, without a word. When Barney lunged about as if to follow him, Aunt Mary quickly turned the key in the lock and planted her small person against the hall door.

"Oh, no, young man!" she said. "I'm here to see that he has at least five minutes' start. I'm not going to have you knocking his block off, as I suppose you would term it, on my doorstep. This family is getting enough publicity these days without that."

"And suppose I just lift you out of the way?" Barney suggested, glowering down at her as if he were seriously considering it.

"I," said Aunt Mary, "should scream for the police as loudly and long as I could. And if you don't think I have good stout lungs, just start something."

Barney continued to glower for a moment, and then dissolved into laughter.

"Now that's being a pal!" he said. "If you knew how long I've been wanting to push that lizard's face in, you'd give me a break."

When Barney, too, finally went to bed, Janet said, her fingertips white from gripping the arm of her chair, "Of course it's better to find out now—'at once.' Instead of—afterwards."

"Aunt Mary," I'm almost glad I lost my money." "Now that it's happened," Aunt Mary said bluntly, "I'm free to say that I think it's worth it at any price."

Late next day Cynthia came unceremoniously into Janet's room.

"Jan," she began, sitting down and nervously stripping off her gloves, "there's something I've got to talk to you about."

O'Daniel Says Legalized Horse Race Betting Wouldn't Be Crime

AUSTIN, Jan. 24 (AP)—Questioned about his attitude toward proposed re-legalization of horse race betting in Texas, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel said today he was opposed to any measure which would place the state in "partnership with crime."

There has been much interest in the Governor's attitude, especially whether he would at least sign a re-legalization bill if he would not actively endorse re-legalization.

A press interview on the subject started off with a question as to whether he would favor the return of horse race betting.

"It looks too rainy and the track is too muddy," he said, glancing out the window at a gray sky, "to talk about that."

Another question was whether he would submit waging re-legalization as an emergency matter. Last week he submitted an astonishing transaction tax as an emergency.

"Do you still have an open mind?" he asked.

"I would not be in favor of any bill, no matter how much money it would raise," he said, speaking deliberately. "If it placed the state in partnership with crime."

"Do you consider betting on horse races a crime?" a reporter queried.

"Or anything that might be allied with crime, directly or indirectly," he said.

It was suggested that if horse race betting was legalized, it would not be a crime.

"No," he agreed.

Asked if he would approve a local option legislation measure, he commented he had nothing to say on that.

Medical Association Seeks To Quash U. S. Indictment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The American Medical Association will begin a fight in federal court tomorrow to quash an indictment accusing it, along with some of its members and affiliates, of monopolistic practices.

While congressmen study the vast national health program submitted yesterday by President Roosevelt, the A. M. A. will try to show that it did not conspire to restrain trade in opposing Group Health, Inc., an association of federal employees providing medical service for a monthly fee.

The court hearing will be on a motion to question grand jurors about the evidence which government attorneys presented in a secret nine-week inquiry.

The question of prepaid medical service indirectly by the A. M. A. indictment is expected to become the major controversy in congressional discussion of the proposed national health program.

It is the only phase of the program, drafted by a presidential committee, with which the A. M. A. took issue. The other committee recommendations involved extension of public health research and facilities, along with additional hospitals, and improved care of the indigent.

The President submitted the health program without any request of his own for its adoption. He did not discuss the committee recommendations, nor mention the compulsory health insurance phase. Senator Wagner, Democrat, N. Y., said he was preparing a bill to cover at least part of the recommendations.

The A. M. A. was accused today by Dr. Charles L. Parsons, secretary of the American Chemical Laboratories "to the detriment of the health of the public."

Dr. Parsons said the medical association and the American Society of Clinical Pathologists would approve medical men untrained in chemistry to work in laboratories, but excluded competent chemists because they were not medically-trained.

The A. M. A. and the chemical society, the two largest individual scientific organizations in the country, have been in disagreement before over the question of medical adoption of scientific discoveries reported by chemists.

The United States each year produces 108,142,000,000 pounds of milk, equivalent to approximately a quart a day for each man, woman and child.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—The stock market today suffered its sharpest break in more than 4 months as Wall Street's outlook over foreign developments deepened perceptibly.

Pivotal steels and motors tumbled at the start and dragged down other sections of the market. At the close, the Dow Jones industrial average fell 15 1/2 points from 1 to around 6 points generally with a few set-backs of as much as 9 or 10 points.

Occasional efforts at a rally met with little response. Transfers approximated 1,000,000 shares.

Commission houses with overseas connections reported offerings of American stocks from London and Paris heavier than usual. Markets in Amsterdam, Paris and London turned downward.

Touching the exchange, brokers said, were reports Prime Minister Chamberlain would make a strong defense speech later in the day, and the commitment Spanish war crisis involving possible fall of Barcelona to the Insurrectionists, with international repercussions feared likely. On top of this the German financial muddle following the ousting of Reichstag leader Dr. Schacht tended to dampen speculative sentiment.

Prominent on the slide were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Eastman, E. I. du Pont, Westinghouse, Douglas Aircraft, J. I. Case, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Rubber, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, American Telephone and Telegraph, Edison, Santa Fe and N. Y. Central.

Bonds remained steady and even U. S. governments backed away. Most commodities prices lower.

Showdown On Dies Probing Likely Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—A sharp controversy in the House over continuing the Dies committee on un-American activities appeared today to be headed for a quick showdown.

Some administration leaders who have criticized committee methods in obtaining testimony—particularly that against New Deal agencies and officials—have considered blocking in the rules committee a resolution to extend the investigation.

Others have said privately that sentiment for its continuation is so great Democrats could not risk the chance of a major defeat by opposing it. Chairman Dies, Democrat, Texas, said he expected a hearing before the rules committee next week.

The labor department controversy came to a head today with Rep. Thomas, Republican, N. J., declaring he would ask for impeachment of Secretary Perkins. He based his resolution on the labor department's failure to press deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, West Coast CIO maritime leader, on the ground he was a Communist.

Dies said he had not seen the impeachment resolution in advance, but remarked:

"Many Democrats as well feel that this woman ought to get out of the cabinet."

The labor department suspended proceedings against Bridges after a federal circuit court decided in another case that membership in the Communist party was not adequate reason for deportation.

Secretary Perkins reiterated yesterday in a letter to Chairman Norton, Democrat, N. J., of the House labor committee the department's contention that it would be a waste of time to proceed in the Bridges matter until the Supreme Court reviews the other decision.

The Dies committee has contended that the cases are not similar.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (AP)—Wheat prices were depressed today by the decline of security values and by snows that blanketed much of the winter wheat belt. Early gains of 2 cent were replaced with net losses that amounted to as much as 3 cent at times, but there were frequent fractional rallies after the lows had been established.

Wheat closed 1/2 cent lower than Saturday, May and July 69-69 1/2, corn 1/2 cent down, May 5 1/4, July 5 1/4; oats 3/4 cent lower.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23 (AP)—Increased liquidation depressed cotton futures here today and at the lowest prices were nearly 50 cents a bale net lower.

In the afternoon March contracts sold at 8.55, May at 8.27, July 7.96, and Oct. 7.47, or 3 to 9 points below Saturday's close.

The unfavorable situation abroad, sharp declines in securities and lack of development regarding future farm policies in Washington were the influences behind the selling movement.

Demand was light and limited to scale down trade calling and some covering. Ginnings to January 16 of 11,558,360 bales were construed as slightly bullish but had little effect on the market.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23 (AP)—Sentiment was depressed later in the morning by sharp breaks in stocks which attracted additional liquidation and checked investment buying.

Near mid-session trading was quiet and March contracts sold at 8.55, May at 8.27, July 7.96, and Oct. 7.47 or 3 to 9 points below the previous close.

President Of Great Northern Road Dies

ST. PAUL, Jan. 24 (AP)—William Patrick Kenney, 69, president of the Great Northern Railway since 1932, and the last of the James J. Hill-trained executives of that road, died here early today.

Widely-known among railroad men as "Bill" Kenney, the executive had been engaged in railway work for 52 years, 37 of them with the Great Northern.

He began his unbroken railroad career of more than half a century in 1877 with the Chicago Great Western Railway, for which he worked as switchman, clerk and stenographer.

In 1902 he joined the Great Northern as chief clerk in the freight department and advanced rapidly under the regime of James J. Hill. In 1904 he became assistant general freight agent, advanced a few months later to assistant to the vice-president in charge of traffic. In 1907 he became assistant traffic manager; in 1911 general traffic manager, and in 1912 became traffic vice-president.

He remained in this position until 1932 when he succeeded Ralph Budd as president of the road when the latter became head of the Burlington road.

Kenney's life was threatened last April by extortionists who demanded $100,000 in a letter and then negotiated through newspaper want ads. His would-be abductors abruptly ceased contacts when federal men entered the case. But a guard was kept about the rail chief for many weeks.

Gambling Cleanup In K. C. Ordered

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 24 (AP)—Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves, who broke open the 1936 vote frauds, set a grand jury on the trail of another scandal today with an order to get the "big man" in Kansas City gambling.

He did not name the "big man" in his charge to the jury.

Judge Reeves armed the jury with one of the government's most fearsome weapons—the income tax evasion statute, which sent Al Capone to Alcatraz.

"Gambling places exist," he said, "from which huge incomes, enormous incomes, are derived and from which the government, burdened as it is and burdened as its citizens are, derives no benefit and no income, and the people must suffer the odium of having these places maintained amongst them."

As a sample of the "big man's" operations, Judge Reeves cited figures obtained by a federal investigator which showed he took $30,500 from one place alone in a little less than a year.

"I give you these figures," he said, "that you may know something of the awful tariff, of the awful 'lug' that is laid on the unwary, the unsuspecting and upon the innocent population of Kansas City."
