

Amarillo-Pampa Game Looms As Toss-Up

Lubbock Due To Be Tough Here Tonight

Important games in the quest for the 1939 Big Five championship will be played here tonight and tomorrow night when Lubbock's Westerners and Amarillo's potent Sandies will invade the local court.

The Westerners, on paper, are not as strong as either the Sandies or the Harvesters, but because Lubbock is the team that has slipped up on Pampa basketball teams in the past, Coach Mitchell is going to wind his quintet up for a hard driving performance.

The fact that Amarillo beat Lubbock only 4 points in a game played this week indicates that the Westerners will be harder to beat than the Borgans who last night allowed the Sandies to get away with murder in the first half.

Thus it would seem that the Sandies have an edge on the Harvesters even if their margin of victory over Borgos was the same. But things are not what they seem. Some times, and this is one of the times. Close observers feel that the Harvesters can mow down that Sandie team. They point out that Amarillo caught the Borgos five while the latter were still trying to get over being beat by Pampa, their traditional rivals.

Sandies Rout Berger 37-20

AMARILLO, Jan. 26.—(Special)—Amarillo's Golden Sandies kept their Big Five 1,000 percentage all in one piece here Wednesday night when they defeated the Berger Bulldogs 37 to 20 in a conference tussle in the Berger gym.

The Sandies swept into an early lead and were holding the long end of a 22-2 count at the half-time intermission.

Jack Childers, eagle-eyed marksman, was high scorer of the game with 14 points to his and the Sandies credit. Roy Bechtel, the other Amarillo forward, scored nine of his team's points.

Davis, Bullock forward racked up 10 points, half of the total scored by Berger.

'Dust Bowl' Mere Shadow Of Old Self

The "Dust Bowl" once a 51,000,000 acre region of desolation in the mid-west, has been shaved to a mere shadow of its former self.

Agricultural agents of five states—Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico—agreed today that the great area wherein blinding, shifting, choking dusts were making farming a nightmare four years ago had been whittled to about 9,000,000 acres.

The blowing dust problem has been so greatly reduced farmers and stockmen of the southern great plains turned their attention from this prospect to the price of their commodities.

In Gray county, the dust storms that are likely to occur here this spring will amount to only 10 per cent of the size of previous dusts, according to a local wheat man.

Prospects for the 1939 wheat crop in Gray county appear good at the present time and it is estimated that 90 per cent of the normal crop will be produced this year. However, the situation might change within the next 60 days, the local wheat man cautioned.

Boistering their hopes was the report of Alvin Alexander, county agent of Potter county, Tex., who said wheat prospects were the best since 1932.

Slow rains last year had a great effect in cutting down the area harassed by wind erosion. H. H. Finnell, regional conservator of the Soil Conservation Service for the five-state area, explained, but it was the unprecedented January moisture that shifted the "border" of the Dust Bowl.

While some "wheat land" is still being turned to grain, county agents say this practice has dropped to a minimum, with only land they shouldn't have been broken for cultivation in the first place being planted one season to grain sorghums and the next season to the succulent grain and buff grasses which have proved their hardiness.

Soil Conservation Service officials said agricultural men have found land once denuded by lack of rain and high winds must first be planted to grain sorghums to place a residue in the soil, before even the native grass will "take hold."

County agents predicted that with only a few scattered showers in February, March and April—the customary dry and windy months—followed by the usual heavy May rains in the Southern Great Plains region will harvest a crop not realizing in eight years.

McCollum, executive secretary of the Southwestern States for Y. M. C. A. workers; Roy E. Dickerson, national chairman of DeMolay work in America; Mr. Good and others.

Housewife Missing Link In 1916 Death

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP)—A dark-haired housewife was located and identified by police today as the missing link in a 1916 murder case and the victim of Los Angeles' first automobile kidnaping.

Capt. D. R. Patton said Naomi Allred, then 13, was kidnaped on the night of Dec. 15, 1916 by James Burchill, who police alleged shot and killed motorcycle officer Thomas J. Kronschnabel as he sped in pursuit.

Now police are ready, Patton said, to file extradition proceedings to return Burchill here next May for trial after his release from the western Pennsylvania penitentiary where he is serving 20 years for the slaying of Edward R. Fry, a love rival in Pittsburgh in 1918.

"I was Naomi, the girl who was kidnaped," said Mrs. William L. Bispo, wife of a city employe and mother of two children.

"I had put the terrible experience out of my mind and never knew they had identified the man who had kidnaped me and shot the officer."

Patton said the prosecution of Burchill would endeavor to prove with Mrs. Bispo's testimony that the man shot Kronschnabel because he feared the girl would be found in his machine.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Don't let people pass about 3 pints a day—about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filter don't work well, poisonous waste "matters" stay in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait. Footbal Games On Sunday Held Legal AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—Texas Tech can play football on Sunday so far as the attorney general's department is concerned.

Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, Southern Methodist University's former gridiron great, today had occasion to rule on a legal matter concerning the sport by which he first was catapulted into newspaper headlines. President-elect Clifford B. Jones of Texas Technological college asked Mann for an opinion on whether there were any state statutes prohibiting playing football on Sunday since the Red Raiders had scheduled a game with St. Mary's college of California on Nov. 5, a Sunday.

"There is no specific statutory provision prohibiting the playing of football or other similar games on Sunday," Mann said, "and we do not know of any statutory provision which might prohibit the playing of a football game on Sunday by Texas Technological college by reason of the fact that it is a state institution."

Mystery Of Life Alike At 6 Or 60 "To God, in heaven, up in the sky." That was the only address on the envelope.

The letter inside the scrawled envelope was simple. It read: "Dear God: "When I go upstairs, please let me see Floyd. "BOBBY."

Floyd, you see, had been one of Bobby's pals. He was only 4, while Bobby was 6. So when Floyd underwent an operation, Bobby was concerned with all the big-brotherly instincts of a 6-year-old for a little boy who was his friend.

A MINISTER'S FORESIGHT Yesterday, we reproduced the first part of a small folder issued by Reverend James W. Fifield, jr., minister of the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles.

Today we complete the article. We recommend that the ministers in the territory give this suggestion of Reverend Fifield's thoughtful and prayerful consideration. (Continued from Yesterday)

The leadership which is called for should be provided by the clergy because (1.) the problem is basically SPIRITUAL; (2.) other groups such as educators are too tied to the totalitarianism to speak out boldly, and (3.) if the church can save America from the impending tragedy of dictatorship, it is the clergy who will save itself.

It is not too late! We have detoured a long way but not too far. America is a rich nation with rugged citizens. She can survive her out-of-balance budgets. She can lift her head and go forward toward fulfillment of her worthy destiny if solid foundations be restored.

The task which I suggest the clergy should assume is not an easy one. We shall be called upon to lead the people to a new way of life, a new Christianity, to any partisanship. We may be called unpatriotic and accused of "selling out", but so was Jesus.

It is the great irony of life that Bobby may live to 60 or 106, and never get closer to the inscrutable mystery of life and death than he was as a little boy of 6.

Around Hollywood By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—I don't suppose Hollywood will or can take a lesson from it, but "Pygmalion" was made by doing things just about as differently from Hollywood's way as possible.

If you haven't seen "Pygmalion" you've heard about it. Around Hollywood you hear of little else. You get scenes and bits of business quoted at you, and you hear Co's and Ah's. You hear about Wendy Hiller, the "find" in the lead of the Bernard Shaw play, his first successfully adapted to films.

And "Pygmalion" hails from England, where all reports have it the film industry is in a bad way. From England, where a "dying industry" created about half the pictures that found places on critical "ten bests" of 1938!

Leslie Howard is in town, probably to do Ashley Wilkes in "Gone With the Wind" while he's here, but mainly to arrange for future work on what "Pygmalion" has started for him. For a long time Howard has talked about directing movies, and with Anthony Asquith on "Pygmalion" he had his change. He and Asquith are going on together, making pictures in England for RKO release.

Three Large Air Bases Proposed WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Congressional concern over defense plans for tiny Guam island diverted attention today from the navy's proposal for immediate establishment of large air bases in Florida, Puerto Rico and Alaska.

Tex's Topics By Tex DeWeese We went with Carl Benefiel over to West Texas State College the other day to browse around the museum and take a look at Olin Hinkle's very excellent photographic display now hanging in the stately building's salon.

After taking in the photographic exhibit we browsed about the museum for awhile and finally drifted downstairs where, under expert supervision, WPA workers are putting together the bones of now extinct mammoths and giant animals that roamed the plains hundreds of thousands of years ago.

On the main floor we met an Indian chief who came from back in our old hometown neighborhood around the Great Lakes. He was standing there on duty guarding a giant buffalo. By a bit of research work we found that this Indian chief was a recreation by a West Texas College student of Indian lore.

An after school lunch with Mr. Hinkle, one-time editor in Pampa, and now head of the college's Journalism department, brought forth the idea that he will go for more knowledge next summer when he is to enroll at the University of Missouri.

He works swiftly, adroitly and is giving to the college's display rooms the "atmosphere" needed to dramatize the rich scientific finds which are being made in the area by WPA scientific parties and college and museum members.

'West Point Of Air' Needs More Space

RANDOLPH FIELD, Jan. 26 (AP)—While the nation debates President Roosevelt's request for a gigantic defense program, unruffled Randolph Field—"West Point of the air"—quietly keeps its attention riveted to a job at hand.

That job—preparing young men for the long grind necessary to become finished aviators—requires approximately 150 instructors for the 344 men who annually enter the army's only air training school.

"All we know about the proposed defense program is what we read in the papers," says Col. John Brooks, commanding officer.

"We have no plans for expansion, and so far as we know, the program doesn't affect us. Maybe it is enacted into law, it will."

Col. Brooks said Randolph Field was operating at about capacity. "Our problem is one of air space," he said. "We use outlying flying fields and about the only way for expansion would be for us to take on more outlying fields, and there are not enough available."

He said the army could, of course, establish another training base elsewhere.

As a part of the plan, 20,000 civilian pilots would be trained annually. Money would be turned over to the National Youth Administration, that in turn would allocate it to various colleges and universities for courses in instruction.

Col. Brooks would not say what percentage of the enrollees in this school finally get their wings as second lieutenants in the Army's Air Reserve Corps, but it would be safe to say that more than 50 per cent "wash out"—fail.

Any young man between 20 and 27 years of age, who has had two years of college work or who has its mental equivalent as determined by an examination, may apply for admittance.

Training is divided into three four-month periods—the primary, basic and advanced training.

For the advanced training period he is sent to Kelly Field at nearby San Antonio. At Kelly Field he gets a crack at flying in difficult formations, doing intricate maneuvers, and in general is rounded into an accomplished aviator.

During the cadet's stay, he is paid $75 a month and gets food, lodging and laundry free.

On graduation, he is sent to tactical units, some, possibly outside continental United States, for three to five years. At the end of his active duty period, he is given a $500 bonus to help defray expenses until he finds a job.

Col. Brooks estimates it costs the United States $20,000 to send a man through Randolph's training school.

Fight In Senate Over Amle Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—A Senate fight over the confirmation of Thomas R. Amle as an interstate commerce commissioner was assuming today the proportions of a broad conflict of economic views.

Some senators expressed opposition to Amle because of his views as embodied in legislation he proposed when a member of the House from Wisconsin. Others were quick to announce approval of the nomination.

Several senators announced that they voted for confirmation of Harry Hopkins as secretary of commerce, despite their opposition to the appointment, because they believe the President should have a free hand in selecting his cabinet. Some of these said no such consideration was involved in the Amle appointment.

While in the House Amle sponsored a proposed constitutional amendment for government ownership and management of business, manufactures, industry and banking.

In this connection, Senator Norris (Ind., Neb.) commented: "I don't believe that it disqualifies a man to be an interstate commerce commissioner if he believes in government ownership of the railroads."

Several senators announced that they voted for confirmation of Harry Hopkins as secretary of commerce, despite their opposition to the appointment, because they believe the President should have a free hand in selecting his cabinet. Some of these said no such consideration was involved in the Amle appointment.

While in the House Amle sponsored a proposed constitutional amendment for government ownership and management of business, manufactures, industry and banking.

In this connection, Senator Norris (Ind., Neb.) commented: "I don't believe that it disqualifies a man to be an interstate commerce commissioner if he believes in government ownership of the railroads."

Flame-Throwing Conspiracy In Rumania Nipped

BUCHAREST, Jan. 26 (AP)—Police announced several of 20 persons seized in an alleged Rumanian flame-throwing conspiracy confessed today they had sworn to achieve political reform by terrorism "even if we had to burn down Bucharest."

Several, the police said also admitted they were sympathizers of the Fascist-patterned iron guard fostered by the late Corneliu Codreanu, whose memory, authorities said, was an inspiration for the alleged conspiracy for an assault on many buildings with flaming bullets.

The American-owned telephone building, Bucharest's only skyscraper, was among the structures police said the plotters hoped to bombard with fire.

Police remained alert but seemed satisfied that the plot was balked since two arrests last night and the reported suicide of Dimitrescu Nicolai, an army officer who authorities said had been implicated.

The official Gazette disclosed a

Labor Delegations Will Visit O'Daniel

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—Labor delegations from the larger cities in Texas will protest Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's appointment of Joe Kunschik of Austin, as labor commissioner at a hearing by the Senate committee on governors' nominations next Wednesday, Harry W. Acreman, secretary of the Texas Federation of Labor, said today.

Acreman said he understood there would be no labor march on the capitol by representatives of unions affiliated with the federation.

"We're making no attempt to name a labor commissioner," Acreman said, "but we stand ready to pass on an appointee's labor record."

Appointment of Kunschik, a member of a telephone company union, brought numerous protests from organized labor.

Council Moves To Keep King Cotton On Throne In South

DALLAS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Members of the brand-new national cotton council moved homeward today, all set for a battle to keep King Cotton on his throne in the South.

The council met for two days, choosing Oscar Johnston of Scott, Miss., for president and perfecting its strategy for an advertising and educational campaign to restore to cotton its unquestioned primacy in the South's economic structure.

Definite objectives included: expanding consumption of American cotton and cotton seed and its products at home and abroad; supporting scientific research to develop new uses for cotton; supporting legislation to increase consumption; modification of freight rates to give the cotton belt better rates, or rates allowing shipments on an equal status with other sections.

The council, which picked Memphis for its permanent headquarters, planned to seek a change of maritime shipping rates, and to study the advisability of getting more general federal aid to combat cotton insects.

Credit School Will Be Held In Pampa

A credit school will be held here next month, probable starting date being Feb. 16, it was announced at the regular meeting of the Pampa Credit Grantors association yesterday noon.

The school will last about eight weeks with meetings one night each week. A committee on arrangements is composed of Tom Smallog, chairman, Lloyd Laird, Mrs. Lela Mann, Mrs. Clara Bobbit, Mrs. Laura Corneliuss, Mrs. W. C. Mitchell, W. C. Wilson, Greely Warner and Crawford Atkinson.

Cost of the course will be $4 and will include a text book. Speakers and other programs will be announced later. The schools have been well attended in large cities over the state, it was revealed by Walter Daugherty, secretary.

The 21 members present discussed delinquent accounts under letters J, K and L.

Treatment of T. B. By Bovine Methods Urged

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 26 (AP)—The same methods which have brought bovine tuberculosis under control should be applied to human beings, Dr. J. A. Myers, professor of preventative medicine at the University of Minnesota, said here last night.

Speaking before the seventh annual international post-graduate medical assembly of Southwest Texas, Dr. Myers said veterinarians have practically eliminated tuberculosis among cattle.
