McGraw Testifies Oscar Williams Threatened To 'Blow His Head Off'

CAL ROSE'S LIFE THREATENED

Self-Defense Plea Argued By Attorneys Case Goes To Jury This Afternoon For Verdict

Arguments before the jury in the Clyde McGraw murder case were heard in Judge W. R. Ewing's 31st judicial district court here at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

McGraw is charged with the slaying of Oscar Williams, Pampa, on Sunday night, Dec. 11 following an altercation in Williams' apartment over a gambling game.

Attorneys John and Aaron Sturpion for the state and John Studer for the defense, were conducting the arguments before a 12-man jury to which Judge Ewing read his charge shortly after court opened for the afternoon session.

The jury was expected to get the case around 3 o'clock.

No Weapons Found.
Both state and defense rested their cases at 9:45 a. m. today after a half hour had been taken up by three rebuttal witnesses called to the stand by the state. They were Police Chief J. I. Downs, Mrs. Oscar Williams, and C. B. Chandler, an undertaker, who testified in the trial of the case yesterday.

The three witnesses were called in rebuttal to self-defense testimony offered by McGraw whose home is in Enid, Okla., when he took the stand late Tuesday afternoon. The defendant admitted shooting at Williams but said that it was only after Williams had said he would "blow your head off." Each of the three witnesses this morning testified that no weapon of any kind was found near the body nor in Williams' clothing after the shooting.

Following conclusion of the testimony, Judge Ewing adjourned court until 1:30 this afternoon to allow time to prepare his charge to the jury.

McGraw Takes Stand
At 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the state rested, and the defense asked for a 15-minute recess before placing McGraw on the stand at 4:25 o'clock.

McGraw said he had never been convicted of a felony although he later admitted on cross-examination to having been arrested eight or nine times. He testified he was raised in Arkansas, was in the army and had been employed in the Harvest fields at Hays and Gratiot Bend, Kas.

Enid, Okla., was given by McGraw as his place of residence. He said he had been in Spearman and Perryton before coming to Borger where on December 10 he met Homer Gor-

Borah Has Severe Case Of Grippe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, dean of the Senate, was ill with a "very severe" case of grippe and arrangements were made to take him to a hospital.

Mrs. Borah, who described the Senator's condition, said he had been in bed since yesterday.

Asked whether Borah had pneumonia, she said "that's what we're trying to ward off."

Mrs. Borah had this to say of the Senator's condition:

"He is no better this morning and we are taking him to the hospital. He has been in bed since yesterday."

Aides of the Senator's office said he was not expected to be able to return to work for several weeks.

The 73-year-old Idaho Republican has served in the Senate continuously since 1907.

Late News

AUSTIN, Feb. 1 (AP)—The House today overwhelmingly passed a Senate bill to abolish the office of state tax commissioner. House amendments will necessitate further Senate action before the proposal can reach the governor's office.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt's repeated willingness to "sell" the United States to sell war materials to democracies in Europe touched off Republican demands for full publicity of the administration's foreign policy. "There is no precedent in history for the taking of such liberties with the internal affairs of other people," said Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) in calling for light to be shed on the treasury's stabilization fund.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Senator William E. Borah entered emergency hospital today suffering from "very severe case of grippe." The 73-year-old dean of the senate was taken to the hospital in an ambulance, accompanied by Mrs. Borah and Dr. Worth Daniels, his physician, who declined immediate comment on the Senator's condition.

TOMORROW IS GROUNDHOG DAY OVER NATION BUT IT'LL BE GALA HOLIDAY IN QUARRYVILLE, PA.

Make up your mind, Mr. Sol, do I see my shadow or not?

Joseph Breneman, lodge fidler, sights Arctomys Monax.

Vanguard of pilgrimage to the groundhog's burrow.

QUARRYVILLE, Pa., Feb. 1 (AP)—Strange omens mark recent weeks in the neighborhood of the hardware store of George Washington Hensei II. Men with plug hats, and shotguns, and nightgowns, and large keys, and shepherd's crooks, move mysteriously about.

To natives, however, this is no mystery, but merely preparation for the annual Feb. 2 pilgrimage of Slumbering Groundhog Lodge to the burrow of their patron saint, Arctomys Monax.

On that day, as on Candlemas Day for 30 years back, the Hibernating Governor (Hensei) will lead his expedition into the fields near Quarryville and observe with due solemnity and yet with hilarious "ceremonial" the conduct of Arctomys. If he appears from his burrow and sees his shadow, the Hibernating Governor will proclaim six weeks more of winter. If the day is overcast the Slumbering Groundhog has will rejoice in the end of winter.

In the morning the 65 members (no more, no less) will follow the Venerable Patriarch, the Patriarch De Luxe, the Exalted Patriarch, and the plain ordinary garden variety of Patriarch, the Venerable Past

Girl Quadruplets Born In Galveston

GALVESTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Four luscious young girls, possibly the first girl quadruplets born in Texas, made their entrance into the world today and physicians gave them an excellent chance to live.

The babies and their mother, Mrs. W. E. Badgett, wife of a construction company foreman, were reported well at St. Mary's infirmary.

Dr. W. J. Jinkins, the attending physician, possibly was as astonished at the parents at the birth. Preparations had been made for the arrival of triplets, hospital attendants said.

The babies' weights ranged from 3 1/2 to 4 pounds, 9 ounces. Names had not been decided upon. A blood transfusion was given to the 36-year-old mother as a protective measure. The blood was furnished by Mrs. Badgett's mother, Mrs. C. L. Harper of Corpus Christi.

The father who is now working at Homer, La., reached the infirmary at 10:30 this morning.

"I'll have to go to work now," he said after his fears concerning mother and infants were allayed. "We were expecting three but one more would make any difference."

The Badgetts were married June, 1925, at McKinney. They have two other children, both girls, one 15 and the other 13.

Double births are not unusual to either parent. Mrs. Badgett is a twin and two of the father's young brothers were twins.

45 Entered In Golden Gloves Tourney Here

New entries for The Pampa News Golden Gloves Boxing tournament, Feb. 8, 9, and 10, at the Pampa Athletic arena, continue to arrive.

The entries now number 45 and does not include teams from Borger and Clarendon which have yet to decide on final entries.

Two newcomers appeared in the field yesterday when blanks were received from R. Robertson, LaFors, featherweight, and Millard Puckett, Canadian, middleweight.

There still is a call out for heavyweights and light-heavyweights. Only in those two divisions is there likely to be a lack of competition, two heavies and three light-heavyweights entered.

Sanson reserve seat tickets are in demand and prospects are that a sell-out will result each of the three nights. Reserve seat tickets for the three nights, including general admission, are available at Crethey Drug and The News at $2.50 while tickets for each night will be $1.00. Only 200 of the ducaus were placed on sale.

Training locally has gotten down to the serious point. Every afternoon between 5 and 7 p. m. Trainers Cliff Chambers and Joe Vernon work the boys out at the arena. Conditioning, timing, etc., are behind and the boys are in the home stretch.

Word comes from Canadian, Hig-gins, Pollett, Shamrock, Alan-rd, Clarendon, Borger and Stinnett that the invasion will be the toughest in history.

Hardin Flays O'Daniel For Flour Profits

Claims Governor Continues To Use Name On Sacks

AUSTIN, Feb. 1 (AP)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel was denounced on the House floor today by Rep. Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill for assertingly continuing to reap a profit from the Hillbilly Flour company.

Hardin, now serving his third term in the House, introduced a resolution accusing O'Daniel of "ignorantly violating" that provision of the state constitution which provides that a Governor shall not hold any corporate office.

The resolution was referred to the House State Affairs committee without anyone other than Hardin speaking.

O'Daniel resigned the presidency of the flour company before becoming Governor. The resolution stated, however, that he still was a stockholder and therefore profited from the company's operations.

The resolution would declare it to be the sentiment of the House that O'Daniel is violating the constitution "by using his name and prestige as Governor for merchandising purposes, on a flour sack, and for personal gain."

The governor would be requested under the resolution "to refrain from putting his name on any more Hillbilly flour."

Several House members laughingly called "pour it on 'em, Ross" while Hardin was speaking and after he had concluded it was jokingly suggested that his time be extended. The Limestone County Representative seized the resolution as an opportunity to condemn O'Daniel's old age pension and transactions tax proposal and to criticize the Governor for assertingly accepting a car from the Ford Motor company after a tax claim against the company is pending.

Hardin called the transactions tax "iniquitous" and said that the $30 a month income now promised the old age pensioners was as different from $30 a month pension "as daylight is from the ground." His statements were to a closed session, there was undoubted jubilation in official circles.

Death Sentence Of Axe-Slayer Upheld

AUSTIN, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals today affirmed the death sentence as served Johnson Caesar, a negro, found guilty by a Dallas district court of slaying his common law wife, Corinne Allen, with an axe in May, 1936.

The convictions of Edison Berthrong and Joseph Angus, found guilty by an El Paso trial court on charges of Robbery by assault and assault with a dangerous weapon, were reversed and remanded by the court which said there was insufficient proof the men were the persons found guilty on the same charge in Massachusetts.

The tribunal affirmed the sentence of 25 years assessed Nesby Johnson, convicted for the slaying in January, 1938, of Clarence Heimage by a New Mexico court. It ruled there was no error in the trial record.

The 25-year sentence of Frank G. Vaughn, Beaumont attorney found guilty in a Tyler county court of the slaying of Willie Ray, a negro, was affirmed.

A life sentence for Ben Chapman, former Borger Policeman found guilty in a Carson county court, of slaying Lee Hutson, a constable, was made final when the court overruled the plaintiff's motion for a rehearing.

Free School Land Legislation Urged

AUSTIN, Feb. 1 (AP)—Recommendations for legislation designed to correct administration of public free school lands was presented to the legislature and Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel today by E. S. Giles, commissioner of the general land office.

Appointment of a board of ex-officio members, with the land commissioner as chairman, to administer the lands was suggested by Giles. The other two members could be any state officials whose "duties would be in harmony with the duties which would be required as members of the board." The group would be known as the state land board.

Giles said this would not be adding any new governmental agency, but on the contrary, would replace the board of mineral development.

Primary functions of the board would be to handle sales and lease of all public free school lands, surveyed or unsurveyed, and the mineral estate of all other areas appropriated or dedicated to the permanent free school fund.

FDR Hailed, Attacked For 'Our-Frontier-In-France' Declaration

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—A member of the Senate military committee said today President Roosevelt had indicated the United States was prepared to sell war materials not only to England and France but to other "independent states" in Europe which oppose the threat of aggression by the dictators.

Accounts—some in conflict with others—of what the President said to members of the committee yesterday continued to dribble out to the press and public, causing jubilation abroad in the democratic states and condemnation in Germany and Italy.

One conflict of opinion over what was said concerned how far the President had gone in outlining the foreign policy involved. One member of the committee said as he recalled the discussion, the President had said he considered that, in the event of a world war, the frontiers of the United States would be in France.

Two other committee members denied emphatically, however, that the President had said anything of the kind.

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP)—The British press showed satisfaction today with accounts of President Roosevelt's meeting with the Senate military affairs committee. Emphasis was given to reports that he had said he intended to aid European democracies in every way possible short of war in any conflict with dictators.

Such headlines as "Roosevelt To Aid Democracies," and "Our Frontier Is In France—Roosevelt" stretched across the front pages of London evening papers.

PARIS, Feb. 1 (AP)—First editions of afternoon newspapers in Paris used scare headlines today to proclaim that President Roosevelt had declared the "frontiers of the United States are in France."

Although members of the government refused to comment on reports of the President's meeting with the Senate military committee yesterday on the ground his statements were to a closed session, there was undoubted jubilation in official circles.

BERLIN, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Berliner Nachtausgabe splashed the headline "America's frontier on the Rhine" across its front page tonight and described President Roosevelt's meeting with the Senate military affairs committee yesterday as "without example since the days of the World War."

In a two-column dispatch under a New York dateline Nachtausgabe quoted American newspapers saying Roosevelt had told committee members the United States must back up democracies in any war against the totalitarian states with arms deliveries.

"This action of Roosevelt's" the dispatch said, "is without example since the days of the World War. It leaves no doubt that Roosevelt is a See ROOSEVELT, Page 8"

Government Farm Program Attacked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—The administration's farm program came under fire today from two congressional quarters.

Seventeen Senators opened public hearings on their "cost of production" bill as a substitute for the present crop control act.

Sensors and Representatives from cotton states called on Secretary Wallace to solve the problem of a huge cotton surplus.

Senator Federer, Republican, N. D., leader in the bi-partisan group supporting the "cost of production" proposal, said "low prices and small benefit payments under the present act have demonstrated to farmers they can't hope to get anywhere with it."

Federer claimed good chances for Senate approval of the bill. The bill would fix prices for most crops at a level intended to reflect the cost of production plus a profit. Farmers would receive this price for their share of a crop consumed in this country.

Our present farm administration set-up could handle the entire program," Federer said.

Wallace's appointment for a conference with legislators from southern states followed a series of meetings of Senators in an attempt to agree on some program for reducing the large cotton surplus.

Sheriff Mum On Details Of 'Phone Call

Mystery Of Lead Barrage At Club Still Unexplained

A local telephone threat against the life of Sheriff Cal Rose, one of the principals in Monday night's double slaying at the Southern club, will be one of many strands in the network of facts and details to be called by the Gray county grand jury when it begins investigation of the sensational case at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

While he declined to reveal any details of the phone conversation, Sheriff Rose admitted today that he received a call in which his life was threatened as an aftermath of Monday night's shooting at the night club, a mile south of Pampa on the LeFors road, in which Constable Otis Hendrix and J. D. White, operator of the night spot, were killed and four bystanders at the President's Birthday dance were wounded in a blast of gunfire.

Five Rangers Leave
"I have nothing to say about details of the phone call," the Sheriff said. "I'll tell all that and the other facts in the case when I go before the grand jury."

Five Texas Rangers left the city last night after coming here admittedly because of reports that "there might be trouble" growing out of Monday night's gun-play.

Lead Spray Unexplained
Two of the Rangers, Neal Arthur and Pat Talliferro, however, are due to return to Pampa this afternoon. Manny Gaut of Lubbock, Ranger captain in charge of the division in which Pampa is located, was in Pampa for six hours Tuesday, then left to return to Lubbock.

Questioned as to Gaut's visit, District Attorney Clifford Braly said he did not know what Gaut did while here nor with whom he talked. It was rumored that the Ranger warned certain persons "not to go looking for trouble."

Details of the shooting affair, such as the total number of shots fired and how many shots from each of the guns of whom he gunned, the exact position of those in the fight, were unknown to the district attorney.

When asked the same questions, Sheriff Rose repeated his statement made Monday and refused to divulge this information. The district attorney said he had an idea of how many shots were fired, but would not reveal what his idea was.

Rumors Are Legion
While District Attorney Braly and the sheriff's office maintained the same silence that has marked their offices since the affray, rumors were flying on various versions of the gun battle.

One rumor was to the effect that two men standing against the wall at the Southern club were also engaged in the fight, and that guns used in the fight had been sealed up in the sheriff's office where they

In various pensive poses, members of what has been called the "greatest deliberative body in the world" watch closely as fellow Senators clash in debate over confirming Harry L. Hopkins as secretary of commerce. Head-resting, left to right in the front row are: Senators Hendrick Shipstead; Charles McNary; Alben Barkley. Elbow-leaning, second row: Senators Chan Gurney; H. Styles Bridges; Wallace White, Jr.; George W. Norris. Also elbow-leaning, third row, John Donaher; an unidentified Senator; Arthur Vandenberg. Fourth row thinkers: Ernest Gibson, Scott Lucas, D. Worth Clark, Rush Holt and Henry Cabot Lodge. Here the Senate chambers seem well-filled, but— It may have been pictures like this that caused Senators to wonder whether they may not have made a mistake in permitting candid camera photographs to be taken from the Senate gallery. This one, also snapped during the Hopkins debate, shows row on row of empty seats, with but few Senators on the job. These are probably the last pictures you will see of the Senate in session, permission to take more pictures have been withdrawn.

Ernest Thompson Warns Too Much Gasoline Being Manufactured

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL
AUSTIN, Feb. 1. (AP)—Warning the oil industry was manufacturing too much gasoline and heading for trouble as a result was sounded today by Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Concern over runs to stills has been evident in the industry for several weeks although some quarters have hoped the condition would be adjusted before spring. On the other hand, production of crude oil, currently about 2,270,000 barrels daily, is about on a par with the estimate of market demand made by the Federal Bureau of Mines.

In a statement, Thompson said runs to stills had been "exceedingly high" of late, asserting they constituted the "one very bad fly" in the oil situation.

He added: "Because of proration, United States participation in the world's oil markets is steadily declining, and effects of proration should be seriously studied."

Runs Too High
Too much money is going into the drilling of wells. For the week ending Jan. 21, Thompson said, the average daily run to stills was 3,310,000 barrels, which he termed "300,000 barrels too much."

If the rate continued, he stated, stocks on March 31, approximate start of the new consuming season, would be around 95,000,000 to 100,000,000 barrels, compared with 82,000,000 to 83,000,000 estimated desirable. "Of course, it is out of reason," Thompson said, "and will be greatly in excess of what we had on hand at the beginning of the consuming season in 1938, which was 62,000,000 barrels, a record-breaking inventory which broke the price for last year and has continually threatened the entire industry with destruction."

He declared the "unregulated end of the industry, namely the manufacturing end called refining, is running more or less wild," going on to say unneeded gasoline storage could do nothing but "play havoc" to the entire industry as well as cause decided physical waste.

Despite the fact some states have no conservation laws and are producing "rather wide open," he continued, crude production has been kept "close to market demand."

World Market Less
He noted that since 1927, when the United States produced 71 per cent of the world's supply of crude, "our production in relation to the world's production has greatly declined."

"This is not due to the inability of our fields to maintain the pace set by the various oil producing countries of the world," he observed; "it does mean that because of proration our participation in the world's market is becoming less and less." Proration has been defined as the effort to divide up markets between various wells and states. He said: "It is well for us to study seriously the effects of proration. It has now been long enough tested that we may begin to take stock of the effects."

"It is my conviction that it is best for us to limit our efforts as regulatory bodies to the actual prevention of cognizable physical waste in the production of oil and gas. 'I believe that if we truly put into effect all of the known methods of preventing actual physical waste in the production of oil that we cannot be producing currently in the United States more oil than we can use.'"

France Puts Spanish Deserter To Work

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 1. (AP)—France, unwilling host to thousands of able-bodied but war-weary Spaniards, today began to put those who refused to return to Spain to work. The first 200 Spanish government army deserters sent to the site of the French concentration camp at Argeles-Sur-Mer discovered they had to build it.

The concentration camp idea plus eight of food trucks rolling into Spain already had sent a large number of government ex-soldiers back to the units they deserted. Heavy reinforcements of French troops, nevertheless, poured into the frontier zone to barricade France against a possible mass retreat of the government armies fighting against the insurgents in Catalonia. The insurgent drive northward from Barcelona was reported slowed down by stiffened government resistance and muddy roads, but in the center of the line Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces were said to have advanced to within five miles of Vich, highway town about 39 miles north of Barcelona and the same distance from the French border.

Nazis Resolved To Boost Trade

BERLIN, Feb. 1. (AP)—It became increasingly apparent today that Chancellor Hitler's determination to increase German trade might put Nazi political demands temporarily in second place. While the press kept up the colonial arguments which Hitler strongly advanced in his reichstag speech Monday night, the economic ministry concentrated on the more immediate question of export. It was announced German and British industrial representatives would meet in Dusseldorf Feb. 18 to consider mutual trade and economic problems. (The British minister of overseas trade indicated last night that a British-German agreement to end conflict in world trade might be reached upon a lessening of international tension.)

Murder Charged In Weinberg Killing

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. (AP)—George Herbert H. Lehman was urged today by a Nassau county lawyer to investigate a report that the fingerprints of George Weinberg, a key witness in the retrial of Tammany District Leader James J. Hines, were not found on the gun with which he allegedly committed suicide last Sunday.

George E. Mulry, of Mineola, Long Island, sent the following telegram to the governor: "Informed believable source that Weinberg's fingerprints are not on revolver of Dewey killing. Check Confiscate revolver for confirmation." The gun used by Weinberg, it was reported at the time of the shooting, had been taken from the coat of one of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's detectives guarding Weinberg and two other witnesses, J. Richard Davis and Harry Schoenhaus, at a White Plains, N. Y., retreat.

Small Group Opposes Dies Investigators

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP)—A small group of House members decided today to fight extension of the Dies committee on un-American activities, but House leaders expected it to pass late this week.

Chairman Dies (D-Tx.) predicted not more than 30 members would vote against it. The rules committee gave Dies another opportunity to explain why he wants the committee continued for two years with an appropriation of $150,000.

He continued yesterday propaganda, chiefly from Communists, was being spread to discredit the investigation. Protests reaching the rules committee included some from individuals who said charges had been made against them during the inquiry and the Dies committee had not given them a chance to reply. "We were begging them to come," Dies asserted.

Representative Marcantonio (AL-NY), Keller (D-Ill.) and Coffey (D-Wash.) formed the spearhead of the group battling the resolution. Marcantonio is president of the International Labor defense, described by witnesses before the Dies committee as a Communist front organization.

Dies headed the investigating committee which expired Jan. 3. He asserted Rep. Keller (D-Ill.) had used in a speech language identical with that of a Communist publication assailing the inquiry. Keller told reporters he had never seen the Communist publication and never heard of it until last night, when his attention was called to it.

The Illinois Democrat continued his criticism of Dies committee methods, which he termed "infamous." He introduced bills calling for creation of a substitute group and directing the rules committee to conduct open hearings before deciding whether to grant legislative right-of-way for a measure to re-create the Dies committee.

Keller expressed the opinion a new, 11-man group could do a more "decent job" of investigating subversive activities than the 7-man group Dies headed.

The rules committee has under consideration a resolution to continue the Dies committee for two more years.

Oklahoma Mine Cave-In Costs Lives Of Five

PICHER, Okla., Feb. 1. (AP)—Louis Hansbergh, critically injured in a mine cave-in that cost five lives, said today he "thought the world was coming to an end" when a huge slab of stone tumbled loose 300 feet down in the earth.

"I don't know just how it happened, it came so quickly," he said from his hospital bed. Searchers recovered the crushed bodies of Jess (Doc) Crossland, 35, of Picher, and Freddie McComber, 24, of Galena, Kas.

One other man, Wesley Anderson, 21, Columbus, Kas., escaped with injuries from the Southern Zinc Mine, in the Missouri-Kansas-Oklahoma zinc and lead field. Hansbergh, 35, lives at Galena.

H. C. Snodgrass, Kansas district mine inspector, said three men still were missing: Henry Butram, 30, Galena; Frank Porter, 40, Wilburton, Okla.; and Oral Campbell, 33, Galena.

"It will take hours for us to reach the bodies," he said. More than 200 men were digging.

Parliament Of Loyalist Spain Holds Session

FIGUERAS, Spain, Feb. 1. (AP)—(By Courier to the French Border) (AP)—The Parliament of Government Spain, the Cortes—assembled today for a secret session to display its determination for continued resistance to the insurgents.

The Parliament was convoked "somewhere in Catalonia" just behind the battlefield in northeastern Spain where the government succeeded in establishing its lines after last week's rout from Barcelona, the former capital.

The time and place of the meeting were kept secret lest insurgent air raiders break up the proceedings and endanger the lives of government leaders.

Deputies from central and southeastern Spain, however, were known to have flown north for the session as evidence of solidarity between the separated governmental regions and of confidence in Catalonia's security.

Since outbreak of the Civil War July 18, 1936, the work of the Cortes has been carried on by a small committee with the law-making power in the hands of Premier Juan Negrin's cabinet. The deputies have been called into session at late intervals to serve as a sounding board for government policy.

The army newspaper printer at Gerona said fresh troops had arrived in Catalonia from the central front and that General Juan Serabia Hernandez, former commander-in-chief of the Catalanian armies, had been replaced by General Jurado, professional army officer and former inspector general of artillery in the central zone.

Green Seeks Aid Of Labor Unions

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 1. (AP)—The American Federation of Labor was reported concentrating today on an affiliated union behind the federation's drive for revision of the national labor relations act.

William Green, AFL president, indicated all national and international unions with a claimed membership in excess of 5,000,000 workers, would be asked to support the revision drive already underway in Congress.

Green himself, aides said, will appear before Senate and House committees handling the amendments to explain why the federation wants the law revised to curtail some of the national labor relations board's powers.

The federation not only wants the board's powers restricted but specific provisions written into the act guaranteeing employers the right to ask the board to call employee elections and to express opinions in favor of one union or another contesting for the right to speak for the workers.

Take Calotabs to Help Nature Throw off Colds

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of any virus-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which may be needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package—(adv.)

Borger Drops 2nd Game To Pampa 46-23

By ARCHER FULLINGIM What has the Catfish got up his sleeve?

Last night he sat quietly and calmly, almost contentedly, and watched the Harvesters devastate his Borger Bulldogs 46 to 23. There wasn't a sound out of the usually voluble, gesticulating Bulldog coach.

The large crowd that filled the gym was disappointed, because they came to see the Catfish carry on as he did last year. Now, what was the matter with the Catfish? Well, after the game I went up to the Catfish and I said, "Catfish, what are you trying to pull on us—letting us beat you like that and you never let out a single squawk? What you got up your sleeve?"

"Listen, Slim," answered the Catfish. "You see that floor out there? Well, I'm gonna mop you up with it at the district tournament. Boy, I'm going to beat you then. We're gonna have to be on for just one game, and we'll take you!"

Star Player Out Pampans who wondered at Borger's poor showing last night probably didn't know that Raber, Borger's captain and center and high-scoring and three-year letter man, did not go into the game until after the half. He was suffering from a bruised knee with blood-poisoning threatening. However, he begged so hard that his papa hustled him into a uniform at the half, and he went in and had time to score nine points and lead the Bulldogs in goal shooting. Naturally, he could not get around as well as he usually does.

There may be something in the Catfish's remark that Borger has beaten the teams the Harvesters have defeated, except Amarillo, by larger scores than the Pampans did, but that the Bulldogs have been off every time they played Pampa. The Catfish believes that they'll be on when the district tournament arrives and that they'll take Pampa.

All Reserves Play The Bulldogs were easy victims of the Harvester attack last night. The score at the first quarter was 16 to 2, at the half 25 to 5, at the third quarter 39 to 12. When the fourth quarter started, Coach Oduis Mitchell began substituting, and he used the entire reserve squad of 12 players during that period. Raber scored all of his points in the last stanza. The reserves specialized in committing fouls.

The Harvester defense was almost faultless. During the first half, the Pampa lads dazzled the crowd with lightning-like interceptions that resulted in quick dribbling and set-up shots. They took the ball away from the Borgans time and again. They worked the ball in under the basket without much trouble.

So it looked last night as if Pampa has put that thing on the Bulldogs, and that Borger won't have a chance against the Harvesters this year despite the Catfish's optimistic predictions.

Summary table with columns: Pampa (46), Fg, Ft, Pp, Tp. Lists scores for various players like Davis, Jno. Williams, Drake, etc.

Reserves Win The Harvester reserves, in line form, swamped the Borger reserves 25-18 in the first game of the evening. The Pampa reserves got revenge for the licking they took from the Bulldogs sons over at Borger recently.

LeFors Beats Alanreed And McLean Last Night

LeFORS, Feb. 1.—The LeFors Pirates won two county championship basketball games last night, defeating the McLean Tigers, 35 to 17, and the Alanreed Longhorns, 26 to 24, in games played here. In a third game the LeFors faculty team defeated the Alanreed Independents, 43 to 40.

Eagles To Be At Local Gym On Thursday

Only two teams have beaten the Harvesters this year, and the team, Carey's Eagles, that beat the Pampa basketballers the most will be here tomorrow night to see how they stack up against Coach Mitchell's boys now.

Due to a Parent-Teacher association meeting in the high school auditorium, the game will not begin until 8:30 o'clock. The reserves will play before that time.

The Canyon-Pampa game will be one of three battles with top-notch teams. Monday night, the famous House of David team will play the Harvesters. The Eagles played 201 games last season and lost only seven. They played in Canada, United States and Mexico. These boys play to win—being unlike the Ozark Hillbillies, who were here recently. They have never been put on a show. The Davids, with their beards flowing in the breezes and their eyes cocked on the basket, also put on a show, but seldom do they find a team that they can't annihilate. They are favored to run roughshod over the Harvesters.

On Tuesday night, the regional champions over the Harvesters opponents. This should be the best game of the season. Carey is favored to win the district down at Childress again and to represent that area in the regional meet at Canyon as they did last year and the year before and the year before that. Last year, Carey defeated the Harvesters in the finals of the regional at Canyon, and naturally the Harvesters with a better team than last year want to see how they stack up against the Cards and Eagles.

Many fans will too, but the game will cost them more than usual. Admission will be 35 cents and 25 cents, due to the fact that Carey demanded a larger guarantee than most teams.

Four Rioters Put In Jail In Mexico MEXICO CITY, Feb. 1 (AP)—Four more political speakers were under arrest today for violating the new ban on unauthorized public speeches directed against the present regime and its policies.

Two prisoners, Ovidio Pedroro Valenzuela, a lawyer, and Reynaldo Sanchez Lozada, were arrested following a riot yesterday in which nationalist groups, after criticizing the government, attacked and stoned a downtown building occupied by a chauffeur's union.

Informed sources said they were members of the Gold Shirts, an anti-Communist organization outlawed by President Lazaro Cardenas in 1936. They were charged with inciting to riot and "insulting" the president, a federal offense.

The other two were Col. Francisco Linares and Jose Perdomo Benitez, members of the Mexican second largest party in Mexico and of which four other leaders were arrested Saturday. They were charged with inciting to riot and inciting to rebellion.

Dr. Prothro Has Ambitious Plans For Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Phillies' new doctor, who'll try to revive the club which finished 24½ games behind seventh place in the National League last year, was in today with a couple of fighting-word descriptions and a decree that the patient will get better—or else.

"I'm the boss," proclaimed Dr. James Prothro, the one-time dentist from Little Rock, Ark., club of the Southern Association. "And I say we sell no more star players until we get something besides cash in return."

The new manager declared the Phillies' record last season was "inconceivable," but promised: "It will not happen again."

"I'm not a miracle man," he said, "and I can't rub a lamp and bring a pennant winner out of the bottom of the pail."

"But I can promise you this—that if we have the spirit, I hope the boys will show, and the seriousness that I expect to instill in them, we will not be in the cellar. I won't boss a losing club."

In the first step toward revitalizing the club, Prothro said the Phillies would get their own star material—young.

SERIAL STORY

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

Yesterday Janet goes home hunting for a modest apartment...

CHAPTER XXIII

JANET could hardly wait to hurry Barney off to inspect the new apartment...

As they went back into the living room, she apologized, "Of course it is a little tacky in spots, Barney; but it will do till we find something permanent, won't it?"

"Do?" Barney said. "I think you were darned smart to find all this elegance and luxury for what the old budget allows."

"Well," Janet admitted somewhat guiltily, "as a matter of fact, it did cost a little more... This was a subject she had meant to lead up to. "You see, you have to pay $5 extra if you rent by the month."

He seemed, she thought, unpleasantly startled at first. Then his eyes traveled over her smart fur coat and expensive accessories, and he laughed.

"If you swept in looking as much like the Duke millions as you do now," he remarked, "I wonder they didn't ask you twice as much... Well, I guess $5 won't upset the international rate of exchange. Of course, when I get the new deal they promised me at the office, we can begin to expand a little. You know this isn't what I'd like for you, don't you, Janet?"

Janet turned hastily away before something would flash in his eyes. "But I think it's really swell," she declared staunchly. "I was just afraid you wouldn't like it... Look at the cute window seat—and, Barney, you haven't seen the ice box."

They collected from the Breckenridge what possessions they needed for immediate use, and moved in.

Upon taking inventory, they found that "practically everything furnished" was a slight overstatement. It ignored table silver, for instance, and a number of minor essentials. So they spent a diverting hour at the five-and-ten, buying wash rags, paper napkins and tablecloth, and knives and forks and spoons at 10 cents a throw.

"How long do you bet it will take us to lick that 10 cents' worth of plating off the spoons?" Barney wondered.

A few minutes later, Janet, finding him before another counter, obviously enchanted by an assortment of gayly painted kitchen gadgets, was amused—and unexpectedly touched. He insisted on buying a memorandum pad for the kitchen, a wastebasket decorated with a wise-looking owl, because the owl looked so much like his boss that he'd get a lot of fun throwing things at it, and a half dozen gadgets of mysterious utility, because, he said, they looked "convenient." It was amazing, they found, how much money you could spend at 10 cents a throw.

When they got home, Barney set the wastebasket on the living room table and pelted it with paper wads until he declared he felt better.

"He wants me to cut some of the best things out of my story," he explained. "We've been at it hammer and tongs all day about that."

So that was why Barney looked so tired.

"But, Barney," Janet cried, suddenly recognizing what this meant to him, "after you've spent all those months on it! And why should he, if it's true?"

"It's because it's true. It begins to look," Barney said soberly, "as if someone had got to him where he lives... You see, they didn't take it very seriously at first. Now they're beginning to realize that we actually have the goods; and they'll do anything they can to kill it."

JANET started to cry out, "Barney, what do you mean by 'anything'?"

But she caught herself in time. Barney would hate that. She remembered that the suggestion that he might be in danger had always seemed to embarrass and irritate him.

Instead, she laughed, not quite naturally, and said, "That sounds to me as if one of those coat-of-mail undershirts might be indicated—the kind gangsters wear, if they really do—and a six-shooter. Think of the headlines: 'Ace News Reporter Forced to Go Armed.' And I'll bet you can't even shoot!"

He grinned; then said with a touch of grimness, "You'll lose them," and changed the subject abruptly.

But she had a feeling that she had somehow let him down. It seemed to her that often, these last few days, there had been that something defensive about Barney's grin. She had never noticed that before. She wondered if she only imagined it now because, especially since seeing Cynthia and Timothy Benton together, she had found herself feeling doubly guilty that she was taking so much from Barney and giving so little—most guilty of all when he was least demanding.

But Barney, himself, sometimes made it a little hard. Once, when out of the real affection she felt for him, she leaned over behind his chair and put her cheek against his, he said, almost roughly, "You don't have to pretend, Jan. I went into this with my eyes open."

And so something of the ease and naturalness of their earlier companionship had gone, leaving nothing in its place.

NEXT day Janet had her own set of the real affection she felt for him, she leaned over behind his chair and put her cheek against his, he said, almost roughly, "You don't have to pretend, Jan. I went into this with my eyes open."

In the load Cynthia included, besides, several warm, soft-colored rugs that Janet had bought for her own room, her reading lamp with its cream shade, her white cordy table lamp, her gold-colored silk bedspread and draperies, two of her favorite pictures, the electric clock which had stood on her mantle-piece, and a silver bowl for flowers.

By a prodigy of effort for one unaccustomed to such work, Janet cut and made slip covers for the dingy chairs. With the carpet covering the worst in the room, the lamps softly burning, and the 25-cent dozen of roses she bought at the corner market in the silver bowl, they transformed the drabness of the living room into intimate coziness. The curtains, Janet decided, would have to "do" for a while. At least, they were clean and inoffensive.

"Home from the wars!" Barney called, coming in that night, looking taut, but doggedly cheerful.

Then his eyes lit with incredulous pleasure as he stepped into the transformed room.

"Gosh, Jan!" he cried softly. "Like it?" Janet asked proudly.

"Like it?" he echoed, looking about him slowly. He took her into his arms and kissed her.

"If only—" Then as if reminding himself of an earlier resolution, he broke off abruptly.

"If only what?" Janet asked. "Oh, nothing." He released her and turned to take off his coat.

Probe Reveals Solons Fight In New Mexico

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Testimony relating alleged political coercion as an outgrowth of a struggle for power between United States Senator Dennis Chavez and former Governor Clyde Tingley was related in federal court today in the WPA-conspiracy trial of 35 defendants.

Ramon A. Montoya, truck driver, testified he was fired from his WPA project because he was not on "the right side," and quoted Peter B. Coleman, a defendant and former WPA administrator, as telling him: "Senator Chavez is a very strong man and he is going to take New Mexico over."

The government's witnesses testified to the sharp fight waged prior to a special state election in September, 1937, over a proposed amendment to the constitution which would have removed a two-term limitation on elective offices and continued Governor Tingley at the helm of the state government.

The election resulted in defeat of the amendments, and the retirement of Tingley January 1, 1939, at the end of his second term. Earl E. Oldfield, an Albuquerque city policeman, who said he was "fired" by WPA supervisors in 1937, testified:

"Peter Coleman told me I had better get on the right side or I would not last very long on the WPA."

"Did you know there was a Tingley faction and a Chavez faction?" inquired Defense Attorney A. T. Hannett.

"I found that out after I was fired from WPA," replied the witness. Montoya testified he was approached by Mrs. J. A. Werner, wife of the Albuquerque postmaster, after he was discharged from his WPA job.

"Did Mrs. Werner tell you how to get your job back?" "Yes, sir. If I called Mr. Stanley Miller."

Stanley W. F. Miller, also a defendant, is son-in-law of Senator Chavez and was assistant United States attorney until ousted following his indictment last October.

Names of Chavez and Tingley were brought out early in the trial, in which four relatives of the Senator are defendants.

Now It Can Be Told-- Thornton Rips Back Curtain On Lima Conference Spying

While delegates to the Pan-American conference at Lima deliberated peace and good-will, truckloads of Peruvian soldiers like these shown unloading in front of the national palace, whirled through the streets.

By WILLIS THORNTON, NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

Now that the political and economic implications of the Pan-American conference at Lima have been pretty thoroughly discussed, the behind-the-scenes story of experiences of delegates and correspondents in surroundings of suspicion, espionage and snooping detectives can well be told.

The military display, the pomp and ceremony with which the conference opened, was mildly thrilling to most of the visitors. But even before the grand opening, it was perfectly clear there were peculiar goings-on.

Newspapermen were approached by Peruvians with hints that Haya de la Torre, fugitive leader of Peru's suppressed Aprista opposition movement, might be approached for interviews. One such attaché of the conference staff slyly produced Aprista literature, but correspondents rapidly lost interest in him when they compared notes and found that the same fellow had attended several recent Pan-American conferences, always in a capacity attached to the Peruvian government, and always under a different name.

Soon after these overtures, several newspapermen were summoned by U. S. representatives and told that Peru had protested against their probing into internal Peruvian affairs. In no case that I could find had the correspondent actually responded to the suggestions made, but in almost every case he had been reported to the Peruvian government anyway.

Then it began to get more complicated. In the lobby of the Hotel Bolivar, where 90 per cent of the delegates and newsmen were staying, there was a little elevated balcony facing the only elevators and stairs. This was screened from the lobby by potted palms. Then it was discovered that three detectives were constantly posted behind the palms where they could see every person entering or leaving the hotel.

The official explanation, that they were a guard protecting lives of diplomats, explained nothing. It was disconcerting to know that every time one entered or left the hotel, three pairs of prying eyes noted every move.

Delegate after delegate began to report that he or she was being followed. Several became convinced that Peruvian chauffeurs furnished with official cars were noting every word said. Was it jitters? Were such drivers merely curious, hoping man, and with Abe Anderson came to Pampa in Anderson's car.

Started Poker Game
The three men went first to Tom Tabor's place in southeast Pampa, then to "somewhere on Main street" where they started to play poker about 10 or 11 o'clock Saturday night. McGraw testified that he had never met Oscar Williams before until he was introduced to him that night by Gorman.
The game lasted until late at night and when he left he was $35 loser, McGraw said. He testified that he had been notified of a game to be started at 9 o'clock Sunday afternoon and that when he returned the next day Williams took him aside, and asked him, "What kind of a game do you think I'm running?" as Williams grabbed his wrist and sought to dislodge a card concealer attached to McGraw's arm. On cross-examination he said he had told Williams to "wait a minute, I'll take it off."
Later testimony revealed that McGraw at this time was carrying in his pocket an automatic pistol, which he claimed he purchased 22 years ago in Arkansas and carried for protection. The use of the card concealer was explained by McGraw as a means of "protecting his money." He said he had owned a card concealer for two years.

Pair Lost $70
Up to the time Williams took him aside, McGraw stated that he and Anderson had lost $70 together. He said he asked to check in and the three men, Gorman, Anderson and McGraw, went to Tom Tabors' place, where McGraw ate some sandwiches and a bottle of beer.
McGraw testified that Anderson had been complaining of the hands he had held during the game, saying that every hand he held had been "topped."
At Tom's place, McGraw said he left the card concealer, then with Anderson and Gorman came back to town. The car was parked near the postoffice. While Anderson remained behind to lock the car and stopped in at the Postoffice to purchase a package of cigarets, McGraw and Gorman went on to Williams' apartment, McGraw said.
Oscar Williams came to the door in response to a knock and Williams said, "You back again?" Williams asked them if they had more money, and McGraw said, "Yes, a little over $10," McGraw testified. The money had been obtained in a loan made to one of the trio while they were at Tom's place, it was testified.
"Well, you haven't got much money," McGraw stated Williams said.
Claims Threat Made
McGraw then told Williams he "thought it was a dirty trick" and Williams said, "You're dirty."
"I'll blow your head off," McGraw testified. On cross-examination a question was raised as to whether "blow your head off" or "pull your head off" had been the exact words.
McGraw said that Williams reached toward him with his left hand, that he parried the attempt, stepped back one step, closed his eyes and shot. He said he did not know how many times he shot.
He claimed he had been "scared to death" and said that he and Gorman went down the stairs to the street where Levine's store is located. At this point he dropped the gun, he testified.
Anderson was backing out the car when the two men found it, McGraw said. The three drove to Tom Tabor's place and within a short time county officers arrested them.
Dr. R. A. Webb testified that Williams had been shot three times, two of the wounds being minor, the third, a shot that entered the base of the skull and lodging behind the right eye, causing death.
Mrs. Ruth Winger, Empire cafe waitress, testified that she had served a meal to Gorman and two other men and later that she heard a sound like feet shuffling and then a gun fired on the night of December 11. She said she saw one tall man and a short one come down the stairs above the cafe, but could not positively identify McGraw as one of the two men she saw.
Chief Takes Stand
Other witnesses who testified Tuesday afternoon were Police Chief J. I. Downs, Ned Sparks, Mrs. Oscar Williams, Homer Gorman, J. W. Hayley, Paul Clark, Earl Rice, and Phoebe Jane Hall.
The police chief testified concerning the automatic pistol Ned Sparks said he found at 7:40 a. m. December 12 near the corner of the Levine store. Mrs. Williams' testimony was to the effect that she and her daughter Margaret were in the living room of their apartment on the night of December 11 when a shot was heard. She said she saw a door full of smoke, two men running down the steps and that her husband had been shot.
Hayley, Rice, and Clark testified they had been in the room Sunday when the card game was in progress.
Phoebe Jane Hall testified she had seen a short man wearing a leather jacket, with a gun in his hand that he was trying to put in his pocket. She said she saw the man while standing in front of the State Building.
In telling his version of the story Homer Gorman corroborated later testimony of McGraw's about the movements of the three preceding the shooting. He said there was very little light on the landing in front of the apartment and he could not determine whether or not the defendant held a gun in his hand at the time he saw Williams fall.
