O'Daniel Refuses To Declare Martial Law In Valley Truck Row

Killings Now Appear To Be Closed Issue

With only a few of the details missing, the veil of mystery that has hovered over the killings of J. D. White, night club operator, and Constable Otis Hendrix at the Southern Club Monday night had been lifted Saturday night and the incident appeared to be a closed subject insofar as official inquiry is concerned.

Sheriff Cal Rose, Chief Deputy George A. Pope, and Deputies John Hudson and George Pearce stand on the shooting Friday night with findings that the officers were acting in the line of duty and a "no-bill" report based on insufficient evidence to return an indictment.

Following news of his exoneration by the jury, Sheriff Rose issued his first public statement on the actual shooting.

"It had to be that way," the Sheriff said, "while I fired the first shot at me. Then I began shooting. White fired three times and I fired five times."

The sheriff said that other shots were fired by some of the other officers present but that there was so much confusion and noise that he didn't know by whom or how many.

The sheriff said he made no public statement following the shooting because he had been advised not to by his attorneys. This, he explained Saturday, was because of what might have developed in the grand jury room.

George A. Pope, chief deputy sheriff, questioned as to shots fired by the other officers, declined Saturday.

N. Cuyler Bridge Will Be Widened

Widening of the North Cuyler street bridge leading to the Cook addition is scheduled to begin this week as a WPA project. City Manager W. T. Williamson announced yesterday.

Plans call for widening the bridge to 44 feet, a 32-foot center with six-foot sidewalks on each side. At the present time the bridge is barely wide enough for two cars to pass, with narrow walks on each side.

Traffic will not be rerouted for about two weeks, the city manager stated.

Work of paving 12 blocks on South Barnes street is also scheduled to begin this week.

Nazi Newspaper In Hungary Suppressed

EUDEPEST, Feb. 4 (AP)—The government tonight clamped martial law on Hungary to combat political violence and empowered special courts to impose the death penalty by hanging within 48 hours after arrest in certain cases.

This action, taken by the cabinet at an emergency session, was prompted by a bomb explosion last night in Budapest's largest synagogue which injured about 20 persons.

The cabinet also suppressed for two months the Nazi newspaper Magyarars, personal organ of the jailed Nazi leader, Ferenc Szalasi, who was sentenced last July to three years' imprisonment for "incitement."

The government made no comment on the suppression. The Magyarars had been clamoring for stern anti-Semitic laws.

I Heard - - -

That a bunch of Pampans saw a free show while standing outside the city hall late last night. The show was in the city jail where an intoxicated man thought he was a monkey. He removed his shoes, grabbed a pipe across the top of his cell and then walked up the wall, over the pipe and then down the other side.

ALICE, Feb. 4 (AP)—Inspectors halting drivers of overloaded trucks hauling citrus and vegetables from the Lower Rio Grande Valley tonight were forcing them to reduce loads to the legal 7,000 pounds limit before proceeding.

There were reports that a group of truckers, gathering at Falfurrias, had agreed to drive past inspectors on State Highway 66 near here, where representatives of the license and weight division of the department of Public Safety have been flagging drivers and weighing trucks.

The deadline for the attempted drive was reported to be midnight. Asked what steps inspectors would take if drivers refused to halt at signals, J. W. Longley, chief of the license and weight division, in charge of inspectors, said: "We'll have to consider that matter when we come to it."

Longley earlier today had said inspectors were "just doing our duty as we have always done and will continue to do."

He said that the law required a reduction of overloads to the legal limit before the vehicle could continue its trip, although the driver had paid his fine.

Inspectors were not forcing trucks to unload at the inspection station, but were advising drivers of legal requirements.

AUSTIN, Feb. 4 (AP)—State officers continued the enforcement of the 7,000-pound truck load limit law in South Texas today, and seekers of immediate relief for truckers admitted they were temporarily stumped.

They asked Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to declare martial law in the affected area and suspend the statutes to permit trucks to carry up to 20,000 pounds for 90 days. Associates of the Governor expressed the opinion he would not declare martial law now.

O'Daniel said he was still studying the situation and had reached no final decision.

Before him was a contention that a fast maturing citrus crop was endangered by a possible freeze and the Mexican fruit fly, and that growers were unable to move their fruit fast enough.

Rep. Homer Leonard of McAllen said he had talked with two growers in Austin today who said they hadn't sold any fruit since Wednesday, when a caravan of 44 trucks allegedly ran past two weight inspectors at Premont. Reports to Col. Homer Garrison, public safety director, said the drivers were armed.

Garrison said information reaching him today indicated "everything is quiet and peaceful." He sent five additional inspectors to the area as a result of Wednesday's developments. He said he was advised ten

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, the presiding bishop of the North Texas, Central Texas, Northwest Texas and the New Mexico Annual conference of the Methodist church, will preach at the First Methodist church, Pampa, next Thursday morning, Feb. 9, at 10:30 o'clock.

This will be his first visit to Pampa. He is traveling over this Episcopal area in order to become acquainted at first hand with the churches and the people. His area, as given in the conference named, includes 722 pastors, 1459 churches and 280,000 members of the Methodist church.

Tom Mooney Wants Divorce, Says Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Rena Mooney said today that Tom Mooney, pardoned recently after serving more than 22 years in prison, had demanded that she divorce him.

Mooney would not comment, but indicated he might issue a statement later.

Mrs. Mooney declared she would fight any divorce action.

Mooney was convicted of murder after the bombing of the 1916 Pampans bank here. His wife said she had aided him throughout the years in his efforts to obtain freedom, which culminated in a pardon by Gov. Culbert L. Olson.

10-Year Old Boy Captures Bandit

ST. PAUL, Feb. 4 (AP)—Walter Raschick, 10, of St. Paul, was a hero tonight because he seized a bandit suspect and held on until police and spectators arrived.

A youth held up the cashier at Field Schlick, Inc., loop department store, and seized $1,200. The bandit fled from the basement and in his haste dropped all but $12.75. The loot was recovered.

As he reached the street, he attracted the attention of Raschick, who seized the running youth.

"I just grabbed and hung on," said Walter. "People were chasing him. I was closest so I just grabbed."

Jury Orders Judge Return For Quizzing

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—A radio gram went out from the department of justice to Federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas, of Connecticut, South America-bound on the Grace liner, Santa Barbara, ordering his "immediate return" to the United States for questioning before two federal grand juries.

Judge Thomas sailed last yesterday and missed the serving of a subpoena issued by U. S. Attorney Gregory Noonan. Noonan wirelessly the master of the vessel and returned to the United States with the pilot. Nearly three hours later he received a reply the judge was continuing his journey.

Noonan said Judge Thomas was wanted for questioning in connection with the investigation of the business affairs of U. S. Circuit Judge Martin T. Manser, whose resignation is effective Monday, and the inquiry into the situation precipitated by the unmasking and subsequent suicide of F. Donald Coster-Musica, head of the McKesson & Robbins drug firm.

By radio gram Brian McMahon, assistant Attorney general, advised the judge, who has been on the Connecticut bench for 25 years, that the investigation is "very important to the administration of justice and to you personally. I insist on your immediate return from the first port of call."

"No subpoena at Cristobal is necessary," he said.

John J. Dowling, assistant U. S. attorney, said he had sent federal agents to Connecticut to subpoena the personal business records of Thomas, including bank account transcripts, bank books and duplicate income tax returns.

The judge, who was assigned to the Manton case, said, "a lot of interesting information is being developed. There is no telling where it will end."

Dowling said he understood it was Thomas' custom to spend a vacation at this time of year in South America.

Moderate Upturn In Business Predicted

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—A moderate upturn in business this spring was forecast by an overwhelming majority of noted economists in a national poll completed by the Associated Press.

A similar poll published six months ago accurately predicted the December business upturn high, and significantly showed indecision over the lengths of the recent recovery.

The economists, chosen to reflect various shades of political and economic views, and to supply geographical, agricultural, financial and government cross sections, again showed marked uncertainty—considered collectively—as to the duration of the newly predicted more modest recovery movement.

Six months ago most of those who responded attributed the then forthcoming upward trend largely to government spending, but today as a group they showed divergence of opinion on that subject.

Loyalists Reported To Be Seeking End Of Savage Civil War

FRANCO REFUSAL LIKELY. It is understood that in the request to the British government the Spanish government authorities stipulated that the peace talks be opened with three points enunciated by Negrin Wednesday as the background.

Then Negrin told the cortes (parliament) at Figueras that the government's aim was:

1. A guarantee of independence for Spain and freedom from foreign influence;

2. A government desired by the people, as shown by plebiscite;

3. Liquidation of the war without persecution to permit all Spaniards to join in the country's reconstruction.

There was no indication at Burgos of Franco's reaction to the Spanish government's move. Some diplomats believed the insurgent leader would balk at negotiating on such a basis, particularly in view of his military successes.

Plight Grows Worse. The Spanish government's plight in Catalonia was growing worse every hour.

Franco's troops—conquerors of the important city of Gerona this morning—smashed steadily northward toward the French frontier. They

Widow Of 'Dutch Schultz' Testifies

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—In 12 words, the widow of Arthur ("Dutch Schultz") Flegenheimer, slain czar of a $20,000,000-a-year gambling racket, today wove a background of secrecy around alleged meetings between her racketeer husband and James J. Hines, Tammany district leader.

Avoiding the gaze of the defendant, on trial a second time on lottery and conspiracy charges, Mrs. Flegenheimer told the jury: "My husband told me I should forget I had met Mr. Hines."

The meeting, she said, under questioning by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, took place in November, 1932, at "The Stable," a Manhattan speakeasy where Schultz frequently held court with his gang henchmen.

The young widow testified Hines stopped at the table where she was sitting with her husband. After she was introduced, she said, Schultz and Hines went to the rear of the speakeasy for a talk.

Swastika Taken Off Uniforms Of Guards

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 4 (AP)—The Swastika, symbol of the New Mexico National Guard, is to be replaced by the state's Zia sun symbol.

Adjutant General R. C. Charlton said the substitution had the endorsement of Gov. John E. Miles and General W. S. Key of Oklahoma City.

State guardsmen were recently jeered because of the Swastika when they appeared in a small New Mexico community to fire a salute over the grave of a war veteran.

Building Permits Here Total $6,500

Building permits issued last week by W. R. Potts, city building inspector, amounted to $6,500, hiving the total for the year to $12,100.

All of the permits were for small buildings or repairs, as follows: H. H. Heiskell, $1,000; White House Lumber Company, $1,000; L. A. Moore, $1,000; R. L. Norris, $2,500; C. Stapleton, $1,000.

Confederate Veteran Dies At Age Of 97

DALLAS, Feb. 4 (AP)—Thomas R. Rains, confederate veteran who once served with the Texas Rangers, died here today at the age of 97.

Before he was 20, Rains joined the Rangers. He rode the Border with them for two years, 1859-60. When the Civil War broke out he joined the Eighth Texas Confederate Regiment under Capt. B. F. Neal at Corpus Christi.

Mussolini's Press Snipes At President

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Feb. 4 (AP)—Anti-Italian demonstrations today pelted with eggs and vegetables an automobile bearing the Italian minister and an Italian admiral and aides on an official visit to President Dr. Juan Demostenes Aronima.

The car was badly splattered and so much refuse flew in before the window could be raised that the party had to return to the admiral's visiting flagship to change clothes before carrying out the call.

The disturbance occurred about noon as the automobile carrying Minister Italo Capanni and Admiral Ercardo Somigli passed Santa Ana Plaza on the way to the presidential palace. It lasted between 15 and 20 minutes.

Somigli is commander of the Italian seventh naval division, consisting of two cruisers, on a world cruise to demonstrate Italian naval strength.

Police reinforcements arrived shortly after the disturbance started and began gathering in the participants.

As fast as the disturbers could be arrested and arraigned they were sentenced each to 10 days in jail on charges of disorderly conduct and inciting the populace.

ROME, Feb. 5 (Sunday) (AP)—The Fascist grand council served notice today that Italian volunteers "will not abandon" the Spanish struggle "before it is ended, as it must end, with Franco's victory."

The council expressed "profound satisfaction" with Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag speech Monday but refrained from disclosing Italian demands on France.

A communique issued after the meeting, which ended at 1:15 a. m. (8:15 p. m., C. S. T.) indicated Premier Mussolini did not think the moment had arrived to state Fascist demands on France, but would push on for a complete victory for the Insurgent Generalissimo Franco.

It Duce outlined the "general international situation" to the council, and Foreign Minister Count Ciano explained to members "certain particular aspects of Italy's foreign policy," it was announced.

ROME, Feb. 4 (AP)—The controlled Italian press brushed aside today President Roosevelt's denial of reports he had said America's frontier was on the Rhine or in France by questioning its sincerity. Newspapers called the denial tardy.

Convicted Murderer Beheaded In France

RENNES, France, Feb. 4 (AP)—A convicted murderer who appealed a chance to live was beheaded on the guillotine today by France's nervous new high executioner.

The prisoner was Maurice Pelgore who was entitled by tradition to a pardon as the first convict in line to be executed by the new "Monsieur De Paris."

The prison Chaplain said Pelgore had shown only a desire to die since he confessed his crime at Christmas time, and, therefore, rejected the traditional pardon.

Eighty-year-old Leopold Desfourneaux was the executioner, at least temporary successor to the hereditary position of Anatole Delbier, who died Thursday.

Critics said Desfourneaux, former assistant of Delbier, did not let the blade drop fast enough.

The government's temporary capital of Figueras was only 20 miles from the fighting lines tonight.

Negri and his ministers had left for "somewhere in Catalonia" while minor officials crossed into France with the government's records.

Government army officers arriving here frankly admitted the insurgent advance had turned into a rout for their troops.

At Paris British Ambassador Sir Eric Phipps conferred tonight with French Foreign Minister Benet. It was his third visit in 24 hours and apparently was connected with the Spanish government's action.

Sub Net Builder Will Speak At API Meeting

Walter Voigtlander of Kansas City, the man who went to England to oversee construction of submarine nets for the British navy before the United States entered the World War, will be the principal speaker at the Tuesday night meeting of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

The meeting will be at 8 o'clock in the city auditorium and will be open to all oil field, carbon black and gasoline plant workers as well as to members of the API chapter.

The public is also invited to attend the meeting and hear Mr. Voigtlander discuss wire rope and its uses. He will also present a moving picture, sound, showing the manufacturing of wire rope.

Dr. W. O. Gilliland will make a 12-minute talk on safety preceding the address and picture. Entertainment will include a comedy skit by KPDD's radio team of Ken Bennett and Bob Morris.

Chairman Walter Bierly will preside at the meeting.

O'DANIEL (Continued from Page One.) trucks were tied up about a mile and a half south of Allee, where his inspectors are concentrated.

Must Enforce Law The safety director said he had no other course than to enforce the law. Where trucks are found to be violating the law they are fined and forced to reduce their loads.

Leonard contended the strict enforcement was making the situation of the Valley growers desperate. He explained truckers from all parts of the country go to the Valley, buy fruit, and leave with it.

Associates of the Governor questioned his power to suspend the statute if he declared martial law, but Kelley said under military rule any kind of law could be suspended.

He also said he believed the Governor could act under a section of the bill creating the public safety commission.

Situation 'Desperate' "I just hope the situation doesn't get out of control," said Kelley. "I can't tell what a bunch of men will do where their stomachs are involved."

A dispatch from Alice quoted W. V. Longley, head of the inspectors, as saying "we are just doing our duty as we have always done and will continue to do."

ITALIANS (Continued from Page one.) and took the view it was prompted by an upsurge of criticism in the United States which they said the President now was attempting to quell for political reasons.

Fascist commentators asserted that, whether Roosevelt did or did not tell the Senate military affairs committee on Tuesday that the American frontier lay some place in Europe, such a view was in line with his policies—which were regarded here as anti-Fascist.

Continuation of such policies, they said, would mean that Italy, Germany and Japan would have to take "defense measures," repeating that their frontier would be the Panama Canal.

SHOOTING (Continued From Page One)

jury to comment, saying the sheriff's statement covered the situation. The gun battle occurred after the sheriff, Constable Otis Hendrix, Chief Deputy Pope and Deputy John Hudson had been at the wrestling matches at the Pampa Athletic arena, and had made stops at the 88 Bar, and Y tavern.

Deputy Roy Pearce, riding balliff for the grand jury, was on duty at the Southern club where a President's Birthday ball was in progress. White, club operator, had been reported selling mixed drinks.

White said, "get out" and motioned Sheriff Rose outside with his thumb. Rose said: "This sheriff said that he advanced toward White saying 'what do you mean?'"

"This is what I mean," the sheriff stated White said, and reached for a gun inside his coat lapel. White began shooting. Sheriff Rose grabbed his gun with his left hand and began shooting at White, according to Rose.

The first shot fired in the battle killed Constable Otis Hendrix, the sheriff stated. Sheriff Rose said he was very sorry Constable Hendrix and the by-standers were shot but that he was not responsible for it.

Funeral services for Hendrix were held Thursday afternoon at the First Baptist church. Burial was in Fairview cemetery. Rites for J. D. White were held Thursday morning at Matador and burial was in the Matador cemetery.

Four persons were wounded during the affray at the Southern club Monday night: I. J. Huval, commander of Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion, shot in the left foot; Mrs. John Strange, who had a leg artery struck by a bullet; Mike Mitchell, flesh wound in arm; and a woman whose name could not be obtained also was slightly injured.

Mrs. Strange and Mr. Huval were still in Worley Hospital Saturday night. Their condition was improving, hospital attaches said. Mike Mitchell was dismissed after receiving first aid treatment at the hospital Monday night.

He also said he believed the injured also was dismissed Monday night. Although she gave her name to the hospital, she asked that her name not be revealed.

Sheriff Rose Saturday gave praise to Texas Highway patrol members and the Texas Rangers for their cooperation with his department. He said they were cooperating 100 per cent in his campaign to keep the county clean.

"I have tried to be fair with everyone," the sheriff said Saturday. "I have the reports of clubs and liquor stores that as long as they conduct their places within the legal limit they will get just as much respect from the sheriff's department as would the owner of a dry goods store."

"They have known from the day I took office what the policy of the sheriff's office would be. It was set forth very clearly in the public statement I made on the day I took over the duties of the office. That still is our policy."

Applicants expressed in the grand jury report to Texas Rangers Captain Manny Gault, Neal Arthur and Pat Tallferro for their assistance. W. V. McArthur, foreman of the grand jury, signed the report.

Investigation of the case by the grand jury began Monday morning and 40 witnesses were heard. Rangers Arthur and Tallferro, and Charles McCormick, Texas Liquor Control commission agent, did most of the questioning of the witnesses.

District Judge W. R. Ewing was disturbed at the quick report made, as he said he had not anticipated any report until Saturday. The judge awaited the grand jury's action until 5:30 o'clock and had been home only a short time when he was called to hear the report.

The investigation had been expected to continue through Saturday. Late Friday afternoon, the district attorney had said he did not know when the grand jury would finish its work. A night session had been anticipated, as several witnesses could not be reached during the day.

Members of the grand jury are: H. E. Peoples, LeFors; C. C. Butrum, LeFors; Raymond Harrah, B. W. Rose, V. L. Boyles, Fred Thompson, W. V. McArthur, foreman; E. G. Nelson, all of Pampa; Jack Stephens, Groom; J. E. Kirby and Boyd Reeves, both of McLennan, and R. M. Gibson of Alameda.

Insurance Company Increases Assets An increase in assets of $5,777,727, its largest in its thirty-six years' history, was made by Southwestern Life Insurance Company during 1938, according to C. F. O'Donnell, president.

The company's annual financial statement has been received by Mr. Earl Isley, local representative, who announced that total assets are now $81,200,299. A comparison with last year's statement shows that the Southwestern invested heavily during 1938 in United States government bonds, and in bonds of Texas cities and counties.

The increase in these items accounts for the greater part of the gain in assets. With more than $29,000,000 now invested in bonds, Mr. Isley said that his company had continued its record of never having had a default of either interest or principal on any bond.

"The Company's bonds are worth at current market prices $2,226,519 more than their book value," he said. During 1938 the Company gained insurance of $19,594,935, bringing the total to $342,517,328. "Southwestern Life is now the second largest company in the South writing ordinary insurance only," said Mr. Isley. "Measured by amount of capital, it is fifth in size in the United States."

A second murder trial will be started in 31st district court here Monday, when jurors summoned on a special venire are to report at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, will be selected to hear the case of State of Texas vs. Irvin Maxey. Maxey, Pampa negro, was indicted on January 5 for murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Odessa Linty, negro, at a negro dance at the Southern club. The stabbing occurred at midnight December 11, the same date on which W. Oscar Williams, Pampa apartment house owner was fatally shot.

Clyde McGraw, indicted for murder in the Williams stabbing, was sentenced to 99 years in a trial concluded Thursday morning in district court here. Released on Bond Maxey surrendered to county officers on the morning of December 12, following the stabbing, and was held in jail until about a month ago, when he was released on bond.

A score of witnesses have been summoned by both the defense and the state. State witnesses include Gilbert Jessie, Lemson Jessie, Winfred Jackson, Wash Callahan, Ray Fields, Odessa Caldwell, Oscar Green, Roberta Davis, Myrtle Clark, Ruby Proctor, Ammie Wright, Dan Harris, Dr. Malcolm Brown, Dr. Roy Webb, Mary McNeil and Ernest McNeil, all of Pampa, and Marshall Saul of Shamrock.

Defense witnesses will include Mrs. Katherine Burns, George Rainour, May Will Johnson of Fort Worth, Dan Harris, Adell Harris, Ardenia Brown, Odessa Hicks, W. S. Sturgeon to Help The Maxey case will be the third of the current term of court in which John Sturgeon has assisted the district attorney. In the first criminal jury week of the January term, started January 9, he was a special prosecutor in the case of State of Texas vs. Jim Hodges. Hodges was convicted of receiving and concealing stolen property on January 11 and sentenced to seven years in prison. On giving notice of appeal, to the court of criminal appeals at Austin, he was released under $100 bond, and given 90 days to perfect his case.

Sturgeon also assisted in trial of Clyde McGraw, who on Thursday was sentenced to 99 years in prison for the murder of W. Oscar Williams. The trial occurred in the fifth week of the term, that started January 30.

For the seventh week, starting February 13, the regular petit jury panel is to report, unless there is some change in the court schedule during this week.

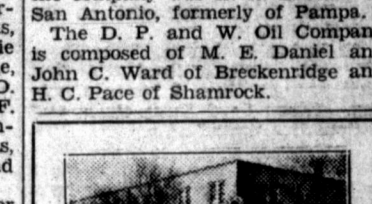

The seventh week will be the last criminal-jury week of the term. The week beginning February 20 is civil-jury, February 27, civil-jury, subject to criminal; March 6, non-jury.

and took the view it was prompted by an upsurge of criticism in the United States which they said the President now was attempting to quell for political reasons.

Fascist commentators asserted that, whether Roosevelt did or did not tell the Senate military affairs committee on Tuesday that the American frontier lay some place in Europe, such a view was in line with his policies—which were regarded here as anti-Fascist.

Continuation of such policies, they said, would mean that Italy, Germany and Japan would have to take "defense measures," repeating that their frontier would be the Panama Canal.

An increasing amount of newspaper space was devoted to the Fascist clamor for concessions from France as the Fascist grand council prepared to hold its first meeting of the new year at 10 p. m. (3 p. m. C. S. T.).

Pampa To Join Observance Of 'Americanism'

Pampa will join in the nationwide observance of "Americanism Week" which will be sponsored locally and nationally by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was announced last night by Dr. A. J. Black, chairman of the local Jaycee Americanism committee.

Dr. Black called attention to another in a series of "Americanism broadcasts" scheduled over the Texas State Network stations at 2:30 p. m. today which will feature an address by C. A. Pickett, president of the Texas Young Democrats club. Twenty-three affiliated stations will carry the program.

Legion Explains Part In Dance
A statement, designed to clear up any misunderstanding about the part the Pampa American Legion post had in connection with the President's Birthday dance at the Southern club last Monday night when two men were killed in a shooting affray, was issued Saturday night by I. J. Huval, Legion commander, one of the bystanders who was struck by a stray bullet and who still is confined to the hospital. Commander Huval was wounded in the foot.

"To clear up a misunderstanding regarding the President's Birthday Ball that was held at the Southern Club, as to who the sponsors were, the Kerley-Crossman Post of the American Legion wishes the following facts to be known:
"L. H. Johnson was appointed Pampa chairman of the President's Birthday Infantile Paralysis activities. Mr. Johnson in turn appointed Frank Harris, F. A. Peck, C. E. Dan McGrew, and Mr. J. W. Massa as a committee to assist him. All clubs and civic bodies were asked to assist. The American Legion post was asked to furnish a number of men to sell and receive tickets at the Southern Club. Being ready to assist in any worthy cause the Legion Post voted to help.

"It was not their duty to maintain law or order at this dance. The sheriff's department deputized a man for this assignment, and if there were any law violations it was his duty to stop them.
"The American Legion was not sponsor of this dance and its members were only assisting in this worthwhile enterprise as were the paid patrons who were present at the Southern Club last Monday night.

"(Signed) I. J. HUVAL,
Commander, Kerley-Crossman Post,
No. 334, American Legion."

Cemetery Attempts To Bar Concrete Slabs As Markers

Hearing on an application for an injunction against Fidelity Monuments, Inc., in which the Fairview Cemetery association asks that the company be required to conform to the association's rule that only granite, marble, or standard bronze markers be placed in the cemetery, will be conducted at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in 31st district court.

A temporary restraining order was issued last Thursday by District Judge W. R. Ewing, after the association had filed a petition alleging that the monument company had prior to November 30 placed three concrete slabs over graves in the cemetery.

In the petition it was further alleged that the company heretofore on November 30 had entered the cemetery and begun construction of another concrete slab. Sexton Ed Foran attempted to prevent the construction and was threatened with violence. It is alleged.

After the slab had been constructed, the association ordered the sexton to lock the entrance gates to the cemetery, lifted a slab over the fence, then placed it on a trailer and moved it into the cemetery, according to the petition.

Reason given for the ruling was that markers of material other than three types specified "deteriorated rapidly, broke off easily, and permitted the growth of weeds."
William Jarrel Smith and Arthur Teed are attorneys for the plaintiff, President of the Fairview Cemetery association is F. C. Ledrick.

Additional slabs would be laid, the petition states.
Basis of the action against the company is a ruling passed by the Fairview Cemetery Association of March 28, 1938, providing that no monument, mausoleum, or other marker should be erected in the cemetery until a design had been submitted and the design and location accepted by the superintendent.

The rule was given public notice in The Pampa News of April 3, 4, and 5, 1938. It is claimed an Sexton Ed Foran notified G. O. Sullivan, then president of the corporation, of the rule, according to the petition.

Reason given for the ruling was that markers of material other than three types specified "deteriorated rapidly, broke off easily, and permitted the growth of weeds."

The 'Mystery' Clears Up

Grand jurors investigating the shooting and double-killing at the Southern Club last Monday night have made a report of their findings and have notified the officers of the law who were involved in the tragedy.

It is to be regretted that the two lives were lost, but from the stories sifted and culled in the grand jury room there is no stigma left on the officers.

Sheriff Cal Rose and his deputies have been exonerated. In a post-analysis of what the sheriff says happened so quickly out there that night, one comes to the conclusion that, regrettable as it was, the officers had no choice in the matter than to take the action they did.

After learning details of the shooting, it appears that the miracle of the thing, now, is that more lives were not lost.

When officers of the law are "ordered out" of a public place after they have had knowledge of alleged law violation in that place—then, it appears, the time has come for a showdown between the forces of right and wrong.

Apparently, grand jurors came to that conclusion, too, when they completely lifted any finger of suspicion from the officers who figured in Monday night's shooting.

There was no evidence before the grand jury that the sheriff and his officers went to the night club on any mission other than a routine visit.

What happened at the Southern Club, if it does nothing else—should be a pretty clear indication that "bluffing" or "brow-beating" will not be tolerated by the sheriff's administration in its dealings with any who resent the appearance of officers of the law at a place where they have every right to be.

Developments in the grand jury room revealed little that already had not been known. There was none who believed there would be any indictments. The few facts that were known did not form sufficient grounds to lead anybody to expect that there should be an indictment.

It still appears that it would have been better to have cleared up the "mystery" around the case at the very outset. It would have eliminated a lot of rumor and gossip that did nothing but harm.

However, now that the case apparently is closed—it is the duty of good citizens to lend their support to the agencies of the law in their pursuit of law and order in the community, so that it will be a better place in which to live and to rear children.

"MECHANISTIC" MONETARY THEORIES (New York Herald-Tribune)

In his annual report to the stockholders last week Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National Bank, took occasion to decry the "mechanistic" doctrines of those charged with the formulation of the country's monetary policies.

Yesterday a similar note was sounded by William C. Potter, chairman of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. The banks, Mr. Potter told his shareholders, were "super-abundantly" supplied with lendable funds. But to argue from this, he said, as some do, that they were "not lending freely enough" was to fail to understand that loans are a two-sided affair.

This is the answer, of course, to those who attempt to justify wholesale government spending on the plea that "if business will not spend, then the government must." The country is still functioning—or presumed to be functioning—under the so-called profit system. So long as this is true business can be expected to borrow only when it sees an opportunity to use the proceeds of such borrowing in profitable investment.

For five years now the country's monetary policies, as Mr. Aldrich says, have been in the hands of the "mechanistic" theorists. First we were asked to believe that raising the price of silver would "raise the purchasing power of the silver-using countries," and thus start the world on the road back to recovery.

Warren, Pearson and Fisher, who assured us that by raising the price of gold we could raise the price of domestic commodities pari passu. Now it is flirting with an even more dangerous "mechanistic" theory—the Eccles theory—that the way to prosperity is through government deficits, and that for recovery it is necessary to have government credit inflation.

Only one explanation can be advanced for the Administration's readiness to embrace a theory as fantastic on its face as Mr. Eccles'. That reason is a desperate will to believe in anything that may make it possible to avoid financial realities for another year or two.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

THREE KINDS OF NEW FRONTIERS

In order to have a constantly increasing amount of employment and standard of living for a nation, it invariably is necessary for the nation to have at least one of the three kinds of the new frontiers. And the three kinds of new frontiers are: (1) Unused known natural resources; (2) Acquiring additional national resources by conquest; (3) New additional capital or methods of using the natural resources.

At the present time, Germany is using the conquest, or expansion, method and accumulated capital. During the time the United States had undeveloped territory and at the same time was permitting new methods and new capital to develop it made more rapid progress than any other nation in the world.

During the last 150 years, the population has jumped from 4,000,000 to 130,000,000. In other words, it has doubled every 30 years. This is regarded as faster than any other expansion of population in all the world.

But, during the last 25 years, in America, our land frontier has largely been exhausted and, at the same time, we have changed our Constitution so as to greatly cripple and retard the venturesome spirit of geniuses who were backing new enterprises. Thus, we in America have now no desire to conquer territory and we do not have the free land we had formerly and we have also crippled initiative and retarded the men who would add to the efficiency of labor by furnishing new and better tools.

And since we cannot take care of a constantly increasing population or continuously raise the standard of living without one or two of these three new frontiers being developed, we are stagnating.

It is an old law that what does not increase, decreases and if we will not permit billions of dollars to be spent on research, experimentation, trial and error, we are doomed to stagnation.

It is a pity that the people, the reformers, believe, like Roosevelt, that our industrial plant is built. And for this reason retard, by vicious taxation, the only way we now have left of taking care of a larger population or raising the standard of living of the population we have. It is a law of life and a law of nature, that what does not evolve and increase, decreases. No, our plant is not built, according to the greatest thinkers in science. But it is politicians, like Roosevelt, and the emotionalists and the sentimentalists who contend that wealth should be spent for consumable goods now instead of being spent in experimental work, research work and expansion so that all the people can live better later or a much larger population live equally well.

Until the people as a whole will permit leaders to encourage research work and the spending of billions on it, we are in a dangerous position and the law of evolution will make us become a second-rate nation, if we do not return to the belief in spending billions on research and junking our worn methods and tools for better ones.

As we see the schools gradually assuming responsibility of doing the training nowadays that was formerly done by private citizens, the statement made by Charles Allen Smart, in his book "R. F. D." shows how easy it is to appear to be able to give instructions. He said:

"It is easier to learn enough about something to talk about it entertainingly on a typewriter or in the classroom, say, than to learn enough to turn that knowledge into money by way of the soil and animals."

Behind The News Of The Day

If any American thinks that this government has been skimping the matter of national defense, let him look at the following figures. They represent the total expenditures for national defense—army and navy—for the years 1933-34 to the budget just disclosed by the President. Here they are:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Amount. 1933-34: $ 404,356,000; 1934-35: 709,931,000; 1935-36: 921,684,000; 1936-37: 935,114,000; 1937-38: 1,027,841,000; 1938-39: 1,119,810,000; 1939-40: 1,688,283,000; Total: $6,933,019,000.

The last figure for 1939-40 is of course the President's estimate and includes $500,000,000 which he proposes to outline and ask next week.

Glance at the column of figures and see how each year the amount has increased. In 1937-38 it was twice what was spent in the first year of the administration. Now in 1939-40 the sum proposed is three times what was spent in 1933-34. The whole is a huge sum—nearly seven billion dollars.

RELIEF AND RECOVER ALLOCATIONS In arriving at these figures, which are taken from the Treasury reports, I have included the sums which have been spent from the recovery and relief funds. Each year the President has spent not merely the sums appropriated by Congress for national defense, but also many millions which he has allocated from recovery and relief funds. The amounts are very great.

Here they are by years: 1933-34: $ 60,663,000; 1934-35: 176,235,000; 1935-36: 147,246,000; 1936-37: 79,004,000; 1937-38: 53,735,000; 1938-39: 77,694,000; 1939-40: 50,726,000; Total: $645,313,000.

About these allocations two very significant features appear. First of all these are sums not appropriated by Congress, but appropriated by the President himself. Thus in 1935 Congress appropriated $33,596,000 for national defense. But Congress has been turning over to the President billions each year to spend as he likes. And in $176,000,000 for national defense. Second, the money appropriated by Congress in each year was spent out of tax moneys. But the money appropriated by the President was spent out of borrowed funds. So we have actually in the last year we have actually in the last seven years spent $645,000,000 on national defense which was never collected in taxes and which we still owe. The practice of using borrowed funds from the relief appropriations for army and navy purposes ought to be stopped. Whatever we spend on national defense ought to be paid for in cash on the line as we go.

ALL THEY WANT IS TO BE LEFT ALONE

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4.—All over the lot: They're about to shoot a jungle scene for "Tarzan in Exile," and the tropical vegetation is steaming under the hot lights of the set.

A lion and tiger are caged nearby to do a little roaring, and a pet baby elephant is tethered by the thatched hut where Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan are making refuge.

The hut, by the way, is furnished with twin beds. Not modern ones, of course, but two beds, anyway. The influence of the Hays Office reaches into Africa.

Everything is ready, but Mr. Weissmuller isn't in sight. Director Richard Thorpe beats his chest and yells, "Tar-z-z-z-z-z!" in an imitation of the ape man's call. He gets an answer from a dressing room behind the scenery. In a falsetto voice, Weissmuller trills, "Just a second, Mr. Thorpe. I'm powdering my nose."

Buck Jones in the Prize Ring. Buck Jones is completing the first straight dramatic part he has had during all his eighteen years in movies. And doing it very well, too, from what everyone around the studio says. He plays a broken-down prize fighter in "Me and My Gal," which is a new version of "Lady and Gent," one of George Bancroft's best vehicles. Jones' leading lady is Helen Twelvetrees. She looks fine.

Buck says he naturally liked being a cowboy hero because he got to be the No. 1 star a few years back and made a lot of money. (He still has quite a bit of it.) But all the time he wished that he might step out of horse opera costume and try a little genuine acting. They wouldn't let him, though—not until he had made more than 700 westerns.

Regis Toomey is convinced that nothing will startle Hollywood. The other day, he recalls, he was playing a scene for "Key Woman"—a scene in which he stands in his shorts and presses his trousers while talking with Irene Hervey and Preston Foster. As the scene was completed the director dismissed the company for lunch, and everyone hurried off the stage. Some practical joker carried away Toomey's pants.

He couldn't find a dressing gown, or a property boy to go after one. So he decided to brazen it out and walk to his dressing room. On the way he passed lots of people who never even glanced at him.

Movie Powerhouse in a Wheelchair. The recurrence of a lingering ailment has not weakened Cecil B. DeMille's sense of showmanship. It has, in fact, given him a chance to further dramatize himself in the show-must-go-on tradition. Flat on a chromium-plated but well cushioned stretcher sometimes, and sometimes propped in a wheel chair, the old master of spectacle-drama has been directing "Union Pacific."

In addition to his usual group of stooges and assistants, he now is attended by nurse and a couple of white coated internes. An ambulance always stands ready on the set.

When the company went on location recently, and a lot of visitors were expected, DeMille had a cage constructed to contain himself and the stretcher. The idea was that this would be hitched to the end of a camera boom and he'd swing majestically over the heads of the busy crew and actors. At the last minute, though, he decided against using it.

Pudgey, the Pekinese dog of the R. L. Mounis family gave birth to six pups yesterday, but five died. Dr. Brunow announces the two words that have towels occurring in them in alphabetical order. It was an oversight, and no one reminded this one of it, that this space neglected to say a word of praise for Buddy Wilson of scout 16 who became an Eagle Scout last Monday night. Buddy has always been a swell kid.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M. D.

Painless Childbirth. During the past decades the agitation for painless childbirth has been intense. It has been conducted and sustained by well-meaning but none too well-informed individuals who make the subject their "aim in life."

They have managed to give the impression that the medical profession is indifferent to the suffering of womanhood. Some have even stated publicly that if obstetrics was a "woman's specialty," painless childbirth would have been much further advanced. Much of this kind of agitation is simple twaddle.

As for the charge that obstetrics should be a woman's specialty, history has the answer. Obstetrics, as midwifery, was practiced exclusively by women for many centuries. It became a scientific practice when it was actively developed by medical women.

In this field women physicians have done as well as men physicians; no better and no worse. Obstetrics cannot be practiced along the principles of sex-interest. The feminist woman physician, and the anti-feminist male doctor, must both respect the basic laws of good obstetrical practice.

The basic obligation of the obstetrician is to bring the woman in labor through her experience with the least amount of suffering, consistent with the welfare and that of the child. Any painlessness which he can give the woman in labor by means of drugs is regulated by the other considerations. There is little gain if the birth is painless but the child crippled or dead.

Dr. F. Schreiber of Detroit, contends that failure to breathe in the newborn is a serious cause of permanent injury to the brain. He argues further that many breathing failures in newborn can be charged directly to a depression of the respiratory centers in the child. This depression, he says, is due to the drugs which were given the mother to relieve or abolish her labor pains.

Dr. Schreiber reports a study showing that breathing difficulties occurred among only two per cent of the infants born to women who received neither drugs nor anesthesia. Among those babies whose mothers had received large doses of medication to make birth "painless," it rose to as high as 80 per cent.

A Tennessee legislator is mulling over an old idea with a new twist. He plans a $1,000 tax on bachelors. He proceeds to go into a fund for pensioning old maids. . . . Probably he isn't too serious about it, but just in case he is, it might be pertinent to ask "Why not tax the old maids for the benefit of the bachelors?"

In this year of Grace 1939 the picture of lonely reaping maidens remaining single despite their own yearnings for a home and because of the obduracy of selfish bachelors, is pretty well out-dated.

Besides bachelors are already indirectly taxed, nationally, by the exemption granted married men in the federal income tax. . . . Proponent of this Tennessee measure is Lovelace. ### NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELLINORE COWAN STONE
COPYRIGHT, 1938, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Janet and Barney had their real love at last, but just as Barney is laid off, so Janet goes hunting cheaper rent despite Barney's protests.

CHAPTER XXV

JANET'S heart sank lower and lower as she climbed one narrow stairway after another, and tramped through dark, bare, echoing hallways and chilly, cubicle-like rooms. The walls, painted in dull browns or grays or hard blues, or covered with monstrous paper, were marked by many trailing fingers; the plumbing was antiquated and stained with much usage; and there was everywhere the stale smell of cooking, and once or twice, of mice.

So far as the convenience of the locality went, she had spoken the truth. Within a block were signs marking a second-hand store, a cheap cafe, a filling station, a Chinese laundry, a fortune-telling booth, and a pawn shop. . . . Janet tried not to see that.

"I'll take another day to it," she told herself wearily at last. "They can't all be so unspeakable."

When she got back to the little apartment which, a few weeks ago, she had thought might "do" for awhile, it looked like a cozy Pa-adeise lost. She was enjoying a quiet sniffle on the davenport when steps sounded in the hallway outside.

"Good Lord! she thought. I can't let Barney find me bawling. Desperately she powdered her nose, listening meantime for the sound of a key being turned in the lock. Instead, someone rapped smartly on the door panel.

WHEN Janet opened the door, she was not sure that her swollen eyes were not deceiving her. But the slight, faintly crumpled figure standing on the threshold was unquestionably that of the old gentleman she had met feeding the squirrels in the park.

"Why, Mr. Justin, how nice to see you!" Janet cried, wondering how he had found her.

"Cozy place you have here, Mrs. McKnight," he said, looking about him. Then at her glance of surprise, he chuckled. "I told you I was a society-page fan. Read all about your wedding."

"But how did you know where to find me?"

"Ask me something harder. I was driving by and saw you come in; so I pursued you."

Janet said, laughing as she had not laughed for days. "I love being pursued; but you may be bored. I'm the only squirrel here just now."

"Oh, that's all right," he said and will arise during my term in office. I wish to take this opportunity to thank you one and all for your kind attention and I hope to be your next City Manager during Scout Week which will be February 8th to the 14th. And I also wish to thank Station KPDM for permitting me to make my address over their hook-up.

Thank you all very much,
RAY CLANTON,
Troop 24.

delightedly, taking the chair she indicated. "We did have some nice visits, didn't we? There aren't a lot of people you can just talk comfortably to these days. . . . By the way, I hear that slick young man you used to be engaged to is building a house on those lots of his for a rich widow. Skinned her right out from under the nose of the firm he was working for. I hope he doesn't skin her, too."

"You don't miss much that goes on, do you?" Janet asked. "I try to keep an eye out. But there's one thing I've missed lately," he said, suddenly serious. "That's the story your husband was writing for the News. . . . You're a good picker, Janet. You're a good picker, Janet. You're a good picker, Janet. Do you remember my telling you that even I still have a yearning to go out and snipe at dragons sometimes?"

IT was at that moment that Barney opened the door and came in, looking, if anything, more doggedly cheerful than usual.

"This is my husband," Janet said. "Barney, this is Mr. . . ."

"As a matter of fact, Mrs. McKnight," Abner Justin interrupted, "I'm here under false pretenses—sort of. It was your husband I really came to see. Haven't been able to run him down anywhere else."

"I need?" It seemed to Janet that Barney stiffened.

"What I'd like to know?" Mr. Justin went on, "is this: do you still own the rights to that story they were running in the News a few weeks ago?"

"Of course he does," Janet said. "He did the work on his own time and with his own money."

"Go slow, Janet," Barney said quickly, and turned to the old man. "Just what is it to you?"

"I am in a position," the old man said, "to pay you well for those articles."

"I seem to have heard that siren song before," Barney retorted, his eyes narrowing. "Only they send a different crooner each time. . . . And now you can go back to your little playmates at City Hall, and the higher-ups they're protecting, and tell them you've done your chore."

"My little—what?" The old gentleman seemed genuinely startled and entertained.

"I'm not impressed by your money," Barney went on, warming to his work. "I'm not even impressed by your threats. Because if you try any funny business, there are some signed papers in safe hands that won't leave any doubt in any one's mind who is responsible for it."

"I wonder," the old gentleman said, "if it would interest you to know that I own the News now, lock, stock and barrel; and that there's nothing under God's Heaven I'd get so much fun out of as seeing that story smeared all over its pages."

AFTER a moment during which Barney's face was a study of incredulous bewilderment, he demanded, "Who—what did you say your name is?"

"Justin—Abner Justin. . . . You wouldn't know much about me maybe, I haven't been around here a great deal lately."

Barney, who had continued to stand, sat down, looking completely deflated. Evidently, Janet thought, the name carried conviction.

"You see," the old man went on, "I've never had time for a real thing in all my life. And I'm getting along. So I decided to buy the News and throw my weight around a little while I still have some to throw. I read some magazine articles of yours before I saw that News story. I like the way you think and I like the way you write."

As Barney, for perhaps the first time since Janet had known him, seemed utterly at a loss for words, Mr. Justin went on, "And by the way, I'm going to need a wide-awake young editor who isn't afraid to speak his mind—especially if I can find one with a wife I like as much as I do yours."

It was several months later that Barney, coming in a little early one day, utterly stamped Janet by saying soberly, "Honey, I'm afraid we're going to have to move after all."

"All right, Barney," Janet said after a heart-sick moment. "I'll go to Tomorow and look around."

"Maybe you won't have to, if you can stand a place I stumbled over today. How about having a look at it now?"

As they drove, he refused to answer any questions, looking all the while so wickedly excited that Janet said, "All right, be a clam! But if you keep it up too long, you'll blow up with your own sense of importance."

Se did not guess, even when he swung the car into the hillside drive that led along the edge of the park. Then all at once Barney was stopping before the white house Lance had built.

"I haven't bought it yet," he said, "but Tim and Cynthia are going to Brazil—some construction job—and it's for sale. Do you—be coked a quizzical eyebrow, but his voice was eager—"do you think it will do, Janet?"

Plainview Upset Harvester Five 26 To 22

Lubbock Goes Down Friday Night 46-21

The Harvesters suffered their third loss of the season last night at Plainview where the Bulldogs plastered a 26 to 22 defeat on a band of youngsters whose aim was exceedingly bad.

It simply was an off-night for the Pampa cagers. They stood right under the basket and threw the ball at it a half-hundred times, or something like that, but the ball wouldn't go in.

That defeat toppled them from the lead in the Big Five basketball league, tied with Amarillo's Golden Sandies. Pampa has one more game to play in the Class A Panhandle conference, and that will be next Friday night. It will be the deciding game. Either Amarillo or Pampa will win the championship.

Pampa is favored only because the Harvesters licked the Sandies here by the overwhelming margin of 15 points. They are not favored by the fact that the game will be played in Amarillo.

Still that should not make difference if the team should play as they did Friday night at Lubbock where they moved down the West-enders 46 to 21. Fans had a right to expect that they would really go down against the Bulldogs who baffled the Harvester defense for a half here in the first game by flashing a zone defense which has been difficult for the Pampans to get through.

The Harvesters are all set for another whipping tomorrow night when the famous House of David quintet, bears, brawn and all, will be ready to cut the Pampa lads down to a mere shadow of themselves.

However, if the Harvesters get beat tomorrow night they wouldn't mind it half as much as if they got beat the next night when the Carey Cardinals whom the Pampa lads have never beat, come to town to try to prove that if they go to the region from the Childress district they will again spill any chances the Harvesters might have of going down state.

Carey has another great team. They are favored to win the district. That game Tuesday night should pack the local gym to capacity and then some. Everybody has wanted to see them and the Harvesters tangle. They want to see how the Harvesters stack up against a crew that has gone to the state three times in a row.

The game Monday night will start at 7:30 and the game Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

In the Lubbock game Friday night Andis scored 15 points, Heiskell 14, Miller 10, Dunaway 4 and Andis 3.

Indian Summer is not connected with any particular month, but may occur all the way from September to December.

Jug M'Spaden Favorite In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 4 (AP)—Metropolitan Harold (Jug) McSpaden, one of the stranger nomads of the winter golf trail, will tee off in the historic $5,000 Texas Open tournament here Thursday a very hot favorite.

The Boston buster has a "system," and apparently it works. Aside from the fact McSpaden is a mere six under par for picturesque Brackenridge Park's par 36-35-71 course in four practices rounds to date, he has that "system."

The slightly stooped veteran does not believe in pounding the winter tournament trail, post for post. He picks his spots.

He started his system in the Miami-Biltmore tourney in Florida and came away with top money of $2,500. He hurried on down to Houston, Tex., for the $3,000 Open there and continued his falling of par to again snatch first money and $700.

Out to the Pacific Coast he swung with the rest of the touring troupe, and, after quite a scuffle with Texas Jim Demaret in the Los Angeles Open, bagged second money—or another $900. Equipped with $4,100 for little more than a month's play, he squinted around at the California schedule, passed up Bing Crosby's event and the Phoenix, Ariz., Open and struck out for San Antonio.

This is his next "strike."

One of McSpaden's biggest foes for the top money of $1,200 here will be the husky Houston lad who beat him out at Los Angeles—Demaret.

400 Bob White Turned Loose On Nearby Ranches

Four hundred Bob White were given new homes in the Panhandle yesterday. The birds arrived yesterday morning from the Rio Grande Valley and were taken to pet places by purchasers.

The birds were ordered by Rufe Thompson, Mel B. Davis, Tom Perkins, Lynn Boyd, P. D. Robinson, M. A. Graham, and E. A. Vance of LeFors.

The Bob White were taken to points along the river, to the Mel Davis ranch, to the McClellan creek country, north of McLean and to points in Wheeler county.

Several other Pampans ordered birds but their orders were received too late to be filled at this time.

Galeno Set Down By Michigan Board

DETROIT, Feb. 4 (AP)—Frank MacDonell, chairman of the Michigan Athletic Board of Control, described as "silly" tonight the National Boxing Association's recent ranking of Tony Galeno as No. 1 contender for Joe Louis' heavyweight title, and imposed restrictions on future bouts of Galeno here.

At the same time he barred from further competition in the state Natie Brown, veteran Washington, D. C., boxer who dropped to the canvas ten times before, being counted out in the fourth round of a fight with the 234-pound Orange, N. J., tavern keeper here last night.

"It was disgusting," said MacDonell. "Brown is all washed up and I don't believe that Galeno can lick me."

The boxing commissioner, who says he weighs 128 pounds, explained Galeno's status this way: "Galeno will have to win a fight from an outstanding fighter in some ring 2, class A football conference were scheduled Thursday at a meeting of the superintendents and coaches of the district here.

The Bucks' schedule is: Oct. 6—Spearman, here. Oct. 13—Claude, here. Oct. 20—Canadian, here. Oct. 27—Perryton, here. Nov. 3—Groom, here. Nov. 10—Panhandle, here. Nov. 17—Phillips, here.

Bucks Schedule Football Games

WHITE DEER, Feb. 4—Eight games for each member of the District 2, class A football conference were scheduled Thursday at a meeting of the superintendents and coaches of the district here.

The Bucks' schedule is: Oct. 6—Spearman, here. Oct. 13—Claude, here. Oct. 20—Canadian, here. Oct. 27—Perryton, here. Nov. 3—Groom, here. Nov. 10—Panhandle, here. Nov. 17—Phillips, here.

Another Rabbit Drive Scheduled

Another of the now famous Wheeler rabbit drives will be staged Tuesday afternoon in the Erlscoe community according to a letter received here yesterday from J. L. Tarter, county agent of Wheeler county.

The drive will get under way at 2 o'clock sharp with the same plan and formations as in previous drives carried out. Men are asked to furnish their own guns and ammunition. Children will not be allowed to carry guns.

As in the past, no drinking will be allowed on the drive, Mr. Tarter said.

LeFors To Compete In District 3-A

LEFORS, Feb. 5—The LeFors high school football team will compete in District 3A it was announced yesterday by Coach Francis Smith of the Pirates.

LeFors was not represented at the district meeting three weeks ago but the school has since decided to compete in the upper bracket.

Other teams in the district are McLennan, Lakeview, Wheeler, Memphis, Shamrock, Wellington and Clarendon.

TEED'S GUARD

Monday night's wrestling card at the Pampa Athletic arena will not start until 8:30 o'clock, Promoter Cliff B. Chambers announced yesterday.

"Because of the basketball game between the Pampa Harvesters and House of David I have set the starting time back 30 minutes," Chambers said. "Coach Odus Mitchell of the Harvesters has advanced time of the basketball game to 7:30 o'clock so that it will be over before the wrestling match."

Tiger Billy McEwin, the mauler, who had a run-in with the sheriff last Monday night, will again headline the card. In the opposite corner will be Able Freeman, the smooth-working Bronx Hebrew. McEwin and Freeman had a run-in last week when Freeman was referee. When Freeman wasn't looking McEwin slugged him and then jumped on his opponent who was out cold from a Japanese crab hold.

That was when Freeman asked for a match with McEwin. "Just let me have him," begged Freeman and Promoter Chambers obliged.

Alan Plummer, who demonstrated in last week's preliminary that he doesn't know the rules, will go to bat with Joe Banaski in the semi-final. The easy-going cowpoke has been away for a couple of weeks.

Opening the card will be a wrestling match between Russ Riley and Steve Netry. The two like to wrestle, not slug, etc.

Wheeler League Directors Named

SHAMROCK, Feb. 5—W. O. Morrow, director general of the Wheeler County Inter-scholastic League this year, announced his appointments of directors for the various divisions in which the county school children will compete for honors at the annual meet in Shamrock, Mar. 24-25.

They are: Katherine Kersh, Kellerville, declaration; O. C. Evans, Briscoe, debate; L. J. Gilmore, Wheeler, extemporaneous speech; Robinetta Rodgeway, Briscoe, spelling; Mrs. R. W. Brown, Wheeler, ready writing; Allen Kavanagh, County Superintendent, rural schools; John W. Taylor, Shamrock, athletics; Naomi Kiner, Shamrock, music memory; Mrs. C. C. Brown, Kelton, picture memory; M. D. Blankenship, Mobeetie, choral singing; C. L. Nickell, Bethel, arithmetic; W. J. Murtagh, Wheeler, typographic shorthand; J. F. Shortt, Shamrock, rhythm; Leroy McDaniel, Lela, story telling; and J. V. Ramsdell, one act play.

Teachers have already begun training their pupils for competition in the above mentioned divisions. Rural schools are especially keen for the Inter-scholastic League meets and their pupils make excellent showings in the work.

The various events will take place in the auditorium and the class rooms with a definite schedule to be announced later, Morrow said.

Panhandle Beats Bucks 32 To 31

WHITE DEER, Feb. 4—The same jinx that brought the Bucks to defeat on the gridiron last fall on penetrations was working overtime again here Friday night to make the Bucks bow to the Panhandle Panthers by a one-point margin of 32 to 31.

The Bucks rang up the first counter and were leading 6 to 2 at the end of the first quarter. Then the Panthers took charge, bringing the score to 17 to 12 in their favor in the second quarter, and pressing it to a 10 point lead at the end of the third quarter, 28-18.

In the last few minutes of the final period, the Bucks began hitting the basket and in a thrilling whirlwind finish brought the score to the final one-point margin of defeat.

Hawkins of White Deer was high man with 14 points, with Slagle of Panhandle second, 13 points.

Terry Picks Reds And Giants To Win

By SID FEDER.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—William Terry flew into town today and calmly picked his own Giants and Will McKechnie's Cincinnati Reds as the clubs most likely to succeed in this summer's National League war.

"The mild man from Memphis went even further and saw the possibility of the St. Louis Cardinals climbing into the first division, in which case Pittsburgh's collapsible Pirates might be the outfit dropping out of the money."

He added that he's willing to make a deal for pitchers, and would like very much to get the temperamental Van Lingle Mungo from Brooklyn, which is like saying "you'd like to get a bomb in your morning mail."

Then, giving just a passing glance (and shudder) in the direction of the American league, he also decided it was about time to stop trying to pick any club to beat the Yankees.

"But I'm sure like to meet 'em again in the world series next fall, if the team I have this year stays in one piece. This club has more power than any I've ever managed, with the addition of Zeke Bonura on first and Frank Demaree in the outfield."

"That power and our pitching—will go with Hobbell, Schumacher, Gumbert and Melton as the four starters—makes us a tough outfit. I won't say we'll win the pennant, but the team that whips us will be a cinch to finish one-two."

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

Defending Golden Glove Champs To Find It Tough

It's going to be mighty tough sledding for defending champions in the second annual Pampa News Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights at the Pampa Athletic arena, beginning at 8 o'clock nightly.

Four returning champs are entered and it is their scalps that the boys are after. Benny Moore of Shamrock, the 112-pound champ has been boosted to repeat but Curley Penland of the Berger Elks club team sent word over yesterday that he has a boy who would whip the soft of Moore. Whether it was McGuire or Howe the Berger manager was talking about was not revealed.

Rusty White of White Deer has sent word that he will enter in the 118-pound class if he loses in Amarillo which will mean that Frankie Bills of Shamrock will have more trouble than anticipated. Bills already had enough worries when young Doug Kevser of Pampa and Lester Aylor of Stinnett entered.

Tough Divisions

The featherweight division is wide open because Jake Bible, defending champion, has become a lightweight. Pampa, Berger, Stinnett, Lefors and Alareud will be represented in that division which is dotted to be the roughest of them all. Take a look at Frank Brown, Ray Reeves of Alareud, R. Robertson of Lefors, Wayne Neal of Berger and others try and pick a winner, say the ringbirds.

Bible expects tough sledding in the lightweight class with such outstanding mites as Dwyer Hubert and Revista Harvey of Pampa, Odel Martin of Berger and others in the bracket. And to make it tougher, Orland Sheppard of Higgins entered and Red Johnson of Follett withdrew. Sheppard is considered the dark horse of the division.

Anything Can Happen

Anything can happen in the welterweight division which has no defending champion. Neil Hill of Alareud is in. Joe Hornback of Canadian has filed his entry. Sherman Morgan of Kingsman is working hard. Dood Massey of Berger is considered a favorite. Yesterday the entry of Woodrow Gates of Higgins was received.

Defending Middleweight Champion Maurice Hutchingson has a tough row to hoe with Carl Carver of LeFors. Mage Keyser of Pampa, Bob Gaiser and Horace Simmons of Berger and other top notchers on the dotted line.

Quality instead of numbers is the dish in the light heavyweight bracket which is wide open. Carl Nolen of Pampa has been a whirlwind in training. Lewis Brickett of Berger is another boy who is being talked as a champion. Ogle Jones of Higgins defeated Cleve Henke for the right to enter and Henke was doped as a dark horse.

Tickets Going Fast

Only Champion LeRoy Davis and Nelson Day have entered in the heavyweight bracket but one or maybe two are expected to come over from the Amarillo tournament, finals of which will be Tuesday night.

Trainer Cliff Chambers has named Joe Vernon and Ed Johnson as seconds for boys desiring experienced men in their corners. Boys may furnish their own seconds, however, but they will have to pay their admission.

Only passes will be to boys participating in the bouts. Seconds and families of boys will not be admitted on passes because of the limited seating space.

Season reserve seat tickets are going like hot cakes at $2.50 at Crethey Drug and The Pampa News. One fan purchased 15 tickets yesterday.

There will be between 15 and 20 bouts each night.

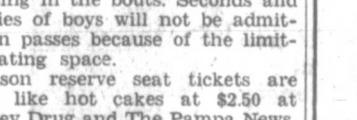

There are more than 1,000,000 followers of the sport of archery in the United States.

Experts Hail Joe Louis As Greatest Heavy Of All-Time

By HARRY GRAYSON, NEA Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—It was sure meaning the proclamation by many to come. It always has. "IT" meaning the proclamation by many, that Joseph Louis Barrow, heavyweight champion of all the world and undoubtedly the greatest piece of fighting machinery ever to come out of a Ford plant, is the greatest fighter the professional prize ring EVER has known.

It was said of John L. Sullivan. It was repeated when James J. Corbett was in his prime. Many insisted—and still do—that the "all-time" honor belongs to Jack Dempsey... and now they pass the floral wreath to Joe Louis.

Five years from now (give or take a year) they will be saying the same of Joe Dokes (whoever he may be) who will succeed Louis as heavyweight champion.

They always have. If we are to be guided by the past, they always will. "Bob Fitzsimmons is the only champion I'd hesitate over when it comes to picking Louis the best of all time," said Kid McParland. "A great ring general like Fitz who could roll his little freckled head under a lead, shift and drive a left to

Popular Musicians Presented In Mid-Season Recital

Approximately 200 parents and friends assembled to hear the pianoforte recital given by pupils of Mrs. May Foreman Carr in the First Presbyterian church last week.

Outstanding numbers were given by Martha Pierson, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Pierson, who gave an interpretation of Falmgren's "May Night" with unusual feeling for tone values and Woolenhaupt's "Etude." Another promising pianist is Clara Mae Lemm, who played Chopin's "Raindrop Prelude."

Of the younger group, Margaret Jones, Carolyn Sue Lipsky, John David Gattlin, and little Helen Kay Wilson were selected leaders. An important number of the evening was the "Concerto in G Minor" by Mendelssohn, which was played by 12-year-old Ernestine Holmes and Mrs. Carr.

The quartet, the overture to the "Cliff of Bardad," proved to be a popular number. The selection was played by Mrs. J. F. Yoder, Clara Mae Lemm, Ernestine Holmes, and Mrs. Carr.

Mrs. Pearce Will Speak For Junior High Study Group

FLOWERY VALENTINE LANGUAGE

If you hope she'll chuckle over the Valentine message you send, have the florist attach a plump little Cupid with a silken nose around his neck to indicate that your heart is hers. This corsage is of sweet-heart roses, forget-me-nots and carnations, with matching carnations for her hair.

Real Blossoms Convey Romantic Message On St. Valentine's Day

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—You can take St. Valentine's Day pretty seriously, sending HER a sweet bouquet with a sentimental message, or you can be lighthearted about the occasion and send one of the new "comic" corsages. Suit yourself—and HER. Both types are charming.

"Comic" corsages are the biggest flower shop news, however. And if the funny face in the blossoms is made from tiny clips or entertaining little pins, your love of the moment will remember for years to come that you remembered her on Valentine's Day, 1939.

One smart New York florist uses an amber clip and matching earrings for eyes and mouth of a funny face in the center of a tight cluster of white carnations. The same shop suggests attaching a jolly little Cupid to an evening corsage of sweet heart roses, forget-me-nots and carnations.

Another places a rhinestone puppy with eyes made of garnets in the middle of a tight boutonniere of pure white violets. The puppy, with or without flowers, makes a decorative lapel gadget.

If you've been sending conventional Valentine corsages every year for more years than you care to remember, you might, just for a change, consider a bracelet of fresh blossoms. Or a jabot of gardenias or white carnations—either of which is smart on a black dress.

A flower-trimmed comb or nosegay tied with velvet ribbons for hair upswipe coiffure are ideas to consider. Another delightful suggestion for a Valentine for one who has a Victorian evening gown is a neckband of small blossoms. Or a black velvet neckband with one perfect gardenia in the center of it.

Never before have Valentine senders had such a wide variety of fresh flowers from which to pick and choose. Besides gardenias and orchids, violets, sweetheart roses, begonias, iris, carnations, lilies-of-the-valley and many other old-fashioned garden flowers are used for streamlined, tailored corsages, comic and sentimental types. Iris is a new favorite.

Bulbous flowers such as daffodils and tulips are a novel choice for daytime corsages. A spray of begonias is lovely on the lapel of a tailored suit. A wristlet of sweetheart roses with tiny hearts dangling from the ribbon knot is attractive.

If you send out flowers, remember that it's chic to combine common garden varieties with expensive, exclusive types. Pink tulips and long-stemmed red roses are pretty together. Waxy gardenias and white carnations soon flank side by side in a crystal bowl. White sweet peas and tawny butterfly orchids make an attractive bouquet for a coffee table. One exotic, flaming lily may stand among three or four sprays of white snapdragons. Remember, too, that being out of town is no excuse for skipping Valentine's Day. Flowers can be wired anywhere for as little or as much as you wish to spend.

Altar Society Has Meeting In Home Of Mrs. Lynn Boyd

Members of Holy Souls Altar Society met last week in the home of Mrs. Lynn Boyd with Mesdames Mary Ikard, Frank Keim, and Paul McNallen as co-hostesses.

Mrs. William Finkbeiner, president of the Parish Council, announced the plans for a spaghetti supper to be given for the parish on Feb. 16. This entertainment will be the final activity before Lent begins.

The next meeting will be Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. B. A. Mitchell. Mrs. J. Sid O'Keefe will be teacher of the lesson on "Eve."

Attending the meeting were Mesdames, D. C. Landon, R. A. Mitchell, S. G. Bobbitt, A. E. White, J. J. Holcomb, O. Z. Light, E. Carr, Sid O'Keefe, and V. D. Biggs.

NEWEST 'COMIC' VALENTINE

Hearts and flowers are romantic affinities for St. Valentine's Day. You might surprise her with one of the new "comic" Valentines of fresh flowers. This one is an oversize boutonniere of carnations with a funny face, outlined by leaves, in the center of it. There are matching carnations on the new spring sailor hat.

included the confirmation of Mrs. Wes Izard, Amarillo, as third vice president, to replace Mrs. Cyril Lutzer of Amarillo.

Upon Mrs. J. M. Crain, veteran Parent-Teacher worker of Amarillo, the board bestowed the distinction of being named the first honorary member of the district board.

Mrs. Clyde Warwick, educational conference chairman, reported to the group on plans for the annual P-TA luncheon to be given at noon on March 10 at Canyon during the Northwest Texas Conference on Education. Mrs. Edyth Wallace, home counsellor of the Oklahoma City schools, has been secured for the luncheon speaker and will also be heard on a general session and a conference hour.

ed Homemaker" and "New Standards of Living."

Mrs. Todd Gives Brief Review Of 'Colin Lowrie'

COLIN LOWRIE, by Norah Loftis; publishers, Alfred A. Knopf.

By MRS. JAMES TODD.

In this historical novel Norah Loftis lets Colin Lowrie, a young Scot of noble descent whose family is ruined from the rebellion of 1715, tell his own story.

Young Lowrie aids in the escape of one Glenrathald when the Jacobite rebellion of '45 is lost. After this Lowrie, who has to flee Scotland, goes to sea and the shipmaster who befriends him is captured by West Indian pirates while Colin is sold into slavery to an English planter.

For 10 long years he endures hard labor and grows from a boy into a young man. Then France goes to war with England and through the aid of the same man, Glenrathald, whom he helped 10 years before and who now is fighting for France, Colin is rescued and is enabled to escape to Virginia where he becomes a tobacco planter. It seems that all odds are against Colin as his tobacco crop is a failure.

Colin, the tobacco planter, has his tavern maid, also he finds love with Eulalia, a neighboring plantation girl, but in the end he realizes that he does not want to live here in America, but that he has ever been homesick for his ancestral home, Braidlowrie, which he longs to restore to its former splendor. Despite the ties he has formed in the new world, he sets sail for home.

The novel moves both swiftly and smoothly in the characters and incidents in the book stand out vividly. It is a novel full of action and excitement from the first page to the last.

Table Linens Topic Of Bell H. D. Club Program Recently

"White linen damask, with its generations of fine tradition, its serene good taste, is the most admirable and admired background for a beautiful dinner table that it is possible to obtain." Mrs. C. McKnight said in her discussion of table linens to the members of Bell club who met recently in the home of Mrs. Jess Morris.

"Good damask should always be hand-hemmed. The finest of hand stitches on a double-turned edge is the only acceptable finish for damask of any kind," she continued.

Examples of table linens were shown—all white, soft pastel shades, and deep colors in hand-blocked linen. "Always buy a standard brand of sheets with which you are familiar and do not worry too much about the 'darning term' she continued."

"The test of a good towel is its ability to absorb moisture," continued Mrs. Morris. "Bath towels are woven of cotton with closely spaced loops which absorb water quickly and dry out easily. The closeness and fineness of these loops determine the quality. You will find it economical to include several qualities in your household supply."

"Your bathroom is one spot in your house where you can let your love of color run rampant to the richest of dark tones."

"When ironing plain materials, iron on wrong side crosswise from selvage and then turn to right side and iron straight up and down, when storing linens always leave starch out."

"Because prices on all linens are especially appealing during January, it is the month to replenish your shelves."

During the business session with the president, Mrs. Morris, in charge, the constitution and by-laws with amendments were read and adopted. The program committee outlined the programs in the yearbook giving the hostesses, leaders, and members taking part for each meeting.

Refreshments of fruit jello with whipped cream and cake were served to six members, Meses. C. McKnight, Connor O'Neal, T. S. Skibinski, Melvin Witchurch, Miss Geraldine Skibinski, and the hostess.

"Jesus Paid It All," sung by the group with Mrs. I. B. Bales leading accompanied by Mrs. A. M. Baker at the piano, opened the meeting, with a prayer by Mrs. Bert Scheaf.

Mrs. C. E. Tiffany, president, presided at the business meeting, after which the meeting was turned over to the Rev. Baker, who taught the Bible lesson from the first chapter of Romans. The meeting closed with prayer by the Rev. Baker.

Five visitors were welcomed, Meses. L. O. Collins, W. M. Franks, Joe Wedge, J. S. McBride, and Miss Melba Jo Dawson; also two new members, Meses. J. R. Agan and L. Johnson. Other members present were Meses. Lynn Wall, I. B. Bales, A. M. Baker, J. C. Kennedy, Bert Scheaf, A. C. Carroll, Arvil Williams, Willis Denham, I. P. Delong, Frank Awtry, Lee Willis, C. V. Biggers, C. S. Tiffany, G. E. Groninger, Bill Fulton, Edd Harmon, Floyd Hand, C. R. Brewer, J. S. Dawson, S. O. Dunham, C. C. Coffey, Everett Huffhines, Keith Caldwell, Fred Genett, O. B. SERIAL STORY

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES

CAST OF CHARACTERS
SUSIE LAURET—She served waffles and dreamed of being beautiful.
DICK TREMAINE—He liked Susie's waffles but he couldn't see Susie.

CHAPTER I

SUSIE'S heart was breaking, tears stung behind her eyes, a lump in her throat refused to be swallowed. No one looking at Susie, polishing a nickel-plated coffee urn, industriously wiping counters, filling little jugs with syrup, would have credited her with emotions of any sort.

"Where's your boy friend?" the girl asked, watching the flush mount to Susie's cheeks.

Working at her tasks she kept one eye on the door, dully regarding the handsome young men and smartly sophisticated girls who swarmed into the Waffle Shoppe in quest of Susie's golden brown delicacies.

That is, none of them treated her as a contemporary except Dick Tremaine, and in Dick Tremaine lay the cause of Susie's despairing heart and the lump in her throat.

It was the last day of the spring term and excitement pulsed through the Waffle Shoppe, a tenseness, a too gay spirit of comradeship, a subtle denial that this was farewell.

ALWAYS Susie had been heart-sick at the end of the spring term, but never like this. Always she had been able to count the days until autumn, always she had known that Dick would come again in the autumn, that he would swing through the door and greet her with his friendliness.

It was different today. Dick had received his diploma that morning. Susie, sitting far back in the gallery, had seen him walk across the platform and grin as he accepted the sheepskin.

Standing there she was suddenly caught by a ray of sunshine from an upper window, spot-lighted in all her drabness. Short and stout, heavy limbs ending in large, flat shoes, a definitely outcurving waistline, thick shoulders, pudgy wrists and hands.

WITH the passing of the afternoon fear added to the desolation in her heart. Perhaps Dick had gone without a last waffle, without telling her goodbye.

THE ray of sunshine passed on as if in distaste and Susie ladled a huge spoonful of batter to a sizzling waffle iron. She had not always minded being homely.

Had she not come to the University town she might have settled into a comfortable, contented niche. It was seeing the young men and girls, having beauty shoved down her throat every day and every day that had embittered her.

A co-ed, smart in tailoring and jaunty in appearance, slid onto one of the counter stools, ordered a waffle. Intently, she watched Susie fork a pat of butter, drop it in the exact center of the golden brown dish. Then she asked:

"Where's your boy friend, Susie?" Impudently, she watched the slow flush mount to Susie's cheeks. Susie said nothing.

Susie said nothing. Once she had been breezy, snappy on the up-take. That was before the quivering heartstrings had tied her tongue. The tears, so close to the surface, crowded upward and she saw the waffle irons through a blur.

She knew the girls laughed behind her back, that they watched her wait on Dick Tremaine, lingering near him while he ate, with secret glee.

Susie did not encourage her love for Dick, willingly she would have torn it from her heart. No girl, fat and homely and utterly devoid of charm, had any right to love like that.

come on this, the last day, life would end for Susie. Not that she expected anything in particular. Just to see him again, that was all.

Stolidly, Susie went on with her baking. Chatter rose and fell around her like the wash of waves, gay little laughs broke across the waves like spray.

The door swung open and Dick was there. Chin up, gay, young—strikingly handsome. A shiver of pain shot through Susie's numbness.

Susie closed the waffle iron and moved to the counter. Immediately one of the waitresses took her place. The girls knew what to expect, this had been going on for almost four years.

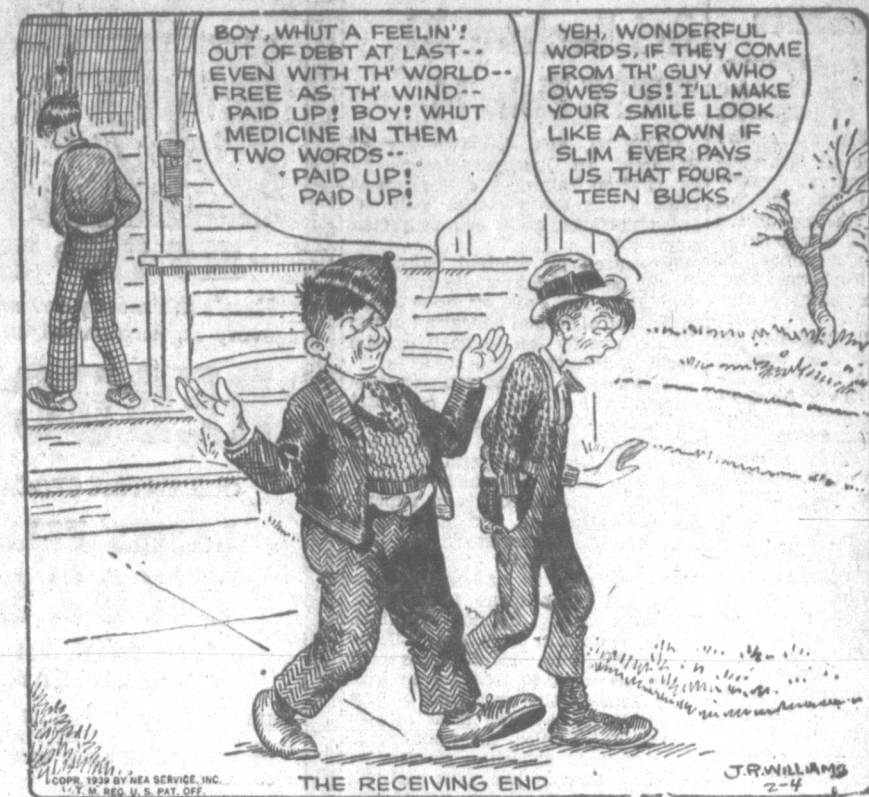

"Hello, Susie," Dick said cordially. He always said it like that, as if he were glad to see her. Never the patronizing, "Hi, Susie, make it snappy," of the other boys.

"How's my appetite today?" he asked, the twinkle far back in his eyes. Susie kept her mouth grim.

He asked, the twinkle far back in his eyes. Susie kept her mouth grim. If she smiled her lips would quiver. Wanting to say something that Dick would remember she floundered stupidly, "I guess you want a waffle."

Methodist Stewards To Form Association

SHAMROCK, Feb. 4.—Stewards of the northern part of the Clarendon district will gather in Shamrock Tuesday, Feb. 7, at 2 p. m. for the purpose of perfecting an organization that is expected to greatly stimulate interest in lay activities in the future. The meeting of the stewards will be held concurrently with the three day seminar of Methodist pastors of Northwest Texas, which will open Monday evening.

Bishop Rush Holt will be the principal speaker at the session, which is expected to draw an attendance of between 60 and 75 stewards representing various churches. Sam Braswell of Clarendon, district lay leader, John Forbis of Wellington and H. B. Hill of Shamrock will have an active part in the meeting.

The organization, which will be known as the League of Stewards, will be formed according to the plan outlined and adopted by the conference board of activities at Memphis, during the annual Northwest Texas Methodist conference last November. So far as known this will be the first organization of its kind in Texas and is designed to bring the church officials in closer contact for the discussion of mutual problems and exchange of ideas.

A similar organization planned for the south half of the Clarendon district and the ultimate aim is to merge the two groups into a close knit organization of the entire district. There are 64 churches in the Northwest Texas conference, which is divided into nine districts, each of which will have a league of stewards, according to the plan.

Under the Methodist setup each chairman of a board of stewards is charge lay leader of his town. A. C. Hallmark acts in this capacity for the local church.

Palmer To Give Art Lecture At WTSC Feb. 14

CANYON, Feb. 4.—"The Joy of Pictures," an illustrated lecture by Dr. Carlton Palmer, will be given at West Texas State college Feb. 14. It is an offering of the college lyceum committee.

Illustrated by original paintings, it will be a layman's discussion of art. It is Dr. Palmer's observation that years of formal education in the schools usually fail to open up the world of beauty to the students. "Whether or not the younger generation will choose to surround themselves with things of beauty and refinement as sources of pleasure and inspiration will depend primarily upon the degree to which we provide these associations and experiences for them in our homes and schools," Dr. Palmer says.

It is his purpose to teach his audiences how to understand pictures and get pleasure from them. He talks largely in non-technical terms. He has spoken in more than a thousand institutions. He discusses such things as what to look for in pictures, sensing the emotional quality of paintings, catching the moods, how to enjoy color, the romance of story pictures, collecting pictures as a hobby, how to live with pictures adventurously, appreciate use of pictures in the home, and how to develop the creative spirit.
