Lincoln 'Never Had A Chance He Did Not Grimly Make For Himself

By OLIVE ROBERT BARTON
In comparison to Abraham Lincoln's boyhood, a modern youngster is sitting on top of the world. He never had a chance that he did not make for himself. His father, Thomas, was shiftless and did not like education. Abe was taken out of his backwoods school after a few months of reading and writing. But he could read. Somehow he taught himself.

His step-mother had three books. The boy borrowed others from distant neighbors. Not just books, but good ones. Still he could not shake off the accented speech of the pioneer country. He said "kiver'd," "et," "feller," "purty," "ketch'd," "keered," and "fer," just like all the rest.

A TEACHER COMES
But he longed for the power to speak correctly. Then he met a traveling preacher from the east, Ezekiel Prentice, who told him stories in cultured accents, using the correct English heretofore denied the lad. Then and there Lincoln determined to learn that for himself.

He walked miles to borrow a grammar, and mastered it in a few weeks, alone. But it was hard to eliminate the habits of a lifetime. So he went deep into the woods and practiced orating on the squirrels and blue jays. It was an enormous task, and a slow one, but in time he was able to drop his country lingo. He taught himself, also, to think clearly before he spoke.

STOREKEEPER LINCOLN
At twenty-one he was still trying to "make his mind attractive." But he was also earning 50 cents a day, hiring himself out with his axe. Which he said was "good company," but clung to as a means of livelihood.

Abe then bought a little store. Like most others of his kind, it failed. But one day in a barrel of rubbish he had bought, for its paper most likely, he found to his delight an old copy of Blackstone's "Commentaries." It was his first taste of law. It was too good to be true. He mastered that in time, by candlelight.

Little by little he had built up a reputation for good sense and fairness, both on Pigeon Creek and later in Gentryville. Disputes were brought to him for settling. He felt

Hilburn Talks To 225 Men And Boys At Church

Take time to get acquainted with your son, take time to live, and remember that personality is the greatest thing in the world—this was the theme of an address made by H. S. Hilburn, editor of the Platynow Evening Herald and president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, at the annual Father and Son banquet held at 7 o'clock Wednesday night in the basement of the First Methodist church. Art Tweed was toastmaster.

Attendance at the banquet was 225, believed to be the largest number ever to attend the annual banquet. The banquet was given by the Brotherhood class. Serving of the meals was by the women of the Episcopal West Bible class.

Travis Lively, teacher of the Brotherhood, made a speech of appreciation to W. W. Harrah, one of the charter members of the First Methodist church of Pampa.

Mr. Hilburn said he was the son of a Methodist preacher. "I was 45 years old before I had sense enough to have any great appreciation for the fact that I was a preacher's son."

Official feel it is understood, that a man who has been sentenced to 99 years in prison might possibly be inclined to figure out ways to escape if given too much liberty before being taken to the penitentiary.

McGraw will remain in the Pampa jail until the regular visit of the state penitentiary prison wagon which makes its sweep through the Panhandle to pick up prisoners sentenced to Huntsville.

McGraw was convicted of shooting to death, Oscar Williams, Pampa, in an altercation over a gambling game last Dec. 11.

After the attack which occurred this evening, his holiness was reported "improved and resting tranquilly."

The service a short time earlier had reported the pontiff had taken "a slight turn for the worse." It gave no details but other sources familiar with his condition said an attack of influenza had developed into bronchial pneumonia.

In Vatican circles, it was regarded as almost certain the meeting of all Italian bishops, which the pope was scheduled to address Saturday in observance of the 10th anniversary of the Lateran accords between the church and the Italian state would have to be controlled.

It also was considered unlikely the pope would attend Sunday's pontifical mass at St. Peter's to inaugurate the 18th year of his pontificate.

Defendants Await New Mexico Verdict
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 9 (AP)—A case crowd—defendants, their relatives, political friends and interested spectators—filled the federal court room to overflowing here today to hear the verdict in New Mexico's mass WPA conspiracy trial. The jury, which retired at 10 p. m. last night, resumed its deliberation at 9 a. m.

Glass Claims FDR Plans To Unseat Byrd

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—A charge by Senator Glass (D-Va.) that President Roosevelt is seeking to unseat Virginia's two Democratic senators enlivened today the controversy over the Senate's 72 to 9 rejection of a judgeship nomination.

The 81-year-old Glass declared in a statement last night that the President had failed to accord the Virginia senators "the common courtesy" of discussing with them his appointment of Floyd H. Roberts to the Federal bench in Virginia.

Glass and his colleague, Senator Byrd (D-Va.), had endorsed A. C. Buchanan, a state judge, and Frank Taverne, assistant federal attorney, for the position. They criticized Roberts' selection as "personally offensive."

Discussing Buchanan, Glass said: "It is to be deplored from every point of view that he should have been rejected by the appointing power merely through a desire to injure the junior Senator (Byrd) next year and the senior senator of Virginia later if I should live longer than the intrigues hope."

There have been reports the organization of Gov. James H. Price of Virginia will put a candidate in the field against Byrd in 1940. Glass' term expires in 1943.

The statement by Glass put the rest move in the controversy up to the President, who must nominate another for the judgeship.

Glass said he did not recall ever

Parade Will Precede Boy Scout Ballot
National Boy Scout week will be in full swing in Pampa tomorrow when Scouts hold a torchlight parade at 6:30 o'clock and then hold a city and county election, naming boys who will serve for one hour Saturday morning.

Because of so much troop activity, the Pampa district has decided not to hold a banquet at this time.

Scouts last night heard President Roosevelt and other speakers in a radio broadcast.

The torchlight parade will begin at the intersection of Broadway and Center streets in Pampa and will be followed by trucks and cars which will exhibit of scoutcraft.

Following the parade boys will go to the city auditorium where the annual election will be held. Boys will be elected to serve in both city and county offices between 11 a. m. and noon Saturday. Parents of Scouts and all scouts are invited to attend the election and hear the boys outline their platforms.

On Sunday morning each troop in the council will attend the church of its choice.

House concurrence in an amendment providing a schedule for paying the warrants is necessary before the bill can go to the governor.

The Senate also authorized refunding a 16 per cent interest approximately $1,300,000 in warrants now pending against the pension fund.

Burke Would Protect Employers, Restrict Unions In Amendments

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Senator Burke (D. Neb.) proposed today that Congress virtually rewrite the Wagner labor relations act and set up a new kind of federal board to administer it.

He completed a series of amendments designed to protect employers as well as workers in labor disputes, to impose restrictions on various union activities, and to limit powers of the National Labor Relations Board.

Accusing all three members of the present board of being "organized labor partisans," Burke recommended that their terms of office be ended next Feb. 1. In their places he would have the President appoint one representative of employees, one of employers, and one of the public.

The authority of the new board would be much narrower than that of the present agency.

Labor cases could be removed from it to a federal district court, leaving the board only the power of prosecution of a labor complaint. All its rulings would be subject to prompt court review. It would have to give preference to craft unions in determining collective bargaining units.

Burke would let employers petition the labor board for collective bargaining elections, a right now only to employers. He would permit employers to confer with their workers on any subject.

"Unfair labor practices" would be broadened to include striking in violation of a valid contract, inter-union jurisdictional disputes, that interfere with an employer's conduct of his business, and intimidation of workers by union officials.

At present the act recognizes "unfair labor practices" caused only by employers. Burke would make it the policy of the government to encourage "the development of friendly and mutually fair relations between employers and employees."

His amendments are the most far-reaching yet proposed. Senator Walsh (D. Mass.) recently introduced amendments sponsored by the American Federation of Labor which contends the board is partial to the CIO. The Chamber of Commerce and other agencies also have asked for changes.

Biddle Appointed Judge By President
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—In the midst of a bitter quarrel with Virginia's Carter Glass over judgeship appointments, President Roosevelt today announced his recommendation today in nominating Francis Biddle of Philadelphia for the Federal bench.

In this instance it was one of Mr. Roosevelt's staunchest supporters, Senator Guffey (D. Pa.), who intervened for an agency on the third United States Circuit Court was overlooked in favor of Biddle who was special counsel to the Congressional committee which investigated the Tennessee Valley authority.

Newsprint Problem Solved At Savannah
SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 9 (AP)—The problem of converting Texas pine pulp into newsprint has been solved, Texas experts declared here yesterday after an experimental run at the Herty Foundation laboratory.

Builders of the first newsprint mill in the south, at Lufkin, Tex., were witnesses at the laboratory test.

E. L. Kurth, president of the Southland Paper Mills, Inc., of Lufkin, and Albert Newcomb, treasurer and director, said the experiments were successful and completed their research in that respect.

Chairman Of Committee To Oppose Bill

Boyer Of Perryton Wouldn't Approve Measure, He Says
AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Texas Senate today refused confirmation of Truett Smith of Tahoka, Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's nomination for state life insurance commissioner.

The committee on governor's nominations had recommended confirmation.

It was the second rejection of a gubernatorial nominee, the Senate having turned thumbs down on Carr P. Collins of Dallas, O'Daniel's choice for chairman-member of the highway commission.

On the other hand the upper branch of the legislature confirmed appointment of Joe Kunschik of Austin as labor commissioner, a selection which brought protests from organized labor groups who claimed Kunschik was a member of a company sponsored union.

The objection to Smith was not known, members maintaining a rigid silence. There were unconfirmed reports some objected to a claimed lack of experience in insurance matters.

Smith, an attorney, was a former law partner of Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock who had sought unsuccessfully to defeat a motion ordering the executive session for the vote on Smith.

Nelson was an unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant-governor last summer.

AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel in a special message to the legislature today recommended abolition of the death penalty.

He submitted as emergency legislation the subject of repealing the laws which authorize capital punishment and substituting "an irrevocable life sentence."

His message follows: "On behalf of thousands of citizens of Texas from whom I have just received an avalanche of letters and telegrams who believe that they have the right to express their wishes to the legislature, and acting in my official capacity as governor, I desire to inform you that we are opposed to inflicting the death penalty for any crime."

"First, because we do not believe the state has the moral right to take the life of anyone.

"Second, the study which I have made leads me to believe that the

Dies Committee Given $100,000
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The House voted today to give the Dies Committee on Un-American Activities $100,000 to continue its investigation.

A resolution providing the fund was approved on a voice vote which sounded almost unanimously.

Chairman Warren (D-N.C.) of the investigating committee, replying to criticism of the methods used in conducting the inquiry, had contended the committee had been hampered by lack of sufficient funds.

When the committee was created at the last session of Congress, the House gave it $25,000.

Warren took the occasion to hand a mild rebuke to government departments. He called the attention of the House to a provision asking that the head of each department provide such legal, expert and clerical help as the investigating committee deems necessary.

Two Killed And One Missing In Snowslide

BINGHAM, Utah, Feb. 9 (AP)—Rescuers digging into the debris of a snow avalanche today brought out a youth wrapped in his bed blankets and alive after being buried all night.

The body of a girl was found, making two known fatalities in the slide that roared down narrow Eingham Canyon last night. One man is still missing.

Physicians said the youth, Duchin Thomas, may not live.

The snow slide last night that carried away the top of his home and killed his mother and sister swept him along securely wrapped in his bed clothes, accounting for his survival until reached today by copper miners, who had dug all night.

The body of his mother, Mrs. Stagnan Thomas, 41, was found last night. His sister, Helen, 11, was found dead at the same time Duchin was rescued.

Missing is Sam Natch, 42, boarder in the Thomas home.

Nineteen persons in all were caught in the mass of snow that hurtled down the canyon at Highgate.

Dr. Rainey Blames Southern People For Own Troubles
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Dr. Homer P. Rainey, president-elect of the University of Texas, said last night "failure on the part of southern leaders to face their problems realistically" was to blame partly for the north's encroachments on the south's economic welfare.

The entire responsibility, Dr. Rainey said, cannot be laid to "unscrupulous northern politicians."

Speaking before a banquet meeting of the Council of Young Southerners, Dr. Rainey recommended a more adequate educational program for all youth, elimination of special economic disadvantages; a new type of social education in schools and colleges; restoration of moral and ethical foundations of life and institutions; and the federation of democracy against Fascism and Communism.

Good Attendance At Junior Play Indicated
The sale of tickets to the junior play, "What Happened to Jones?" indicates that one of the largest crowds ever to attend a high school play will be present tonight and Friday at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium when the comedy will be given under direction of Kenneth Carman.

The final dress rehearsal Wednesday evening revealed that the production is to be one of the most amusing plays presented here in some time.

Proceeds from the play will be used in financing the annual junior-senior banquet this spring.

The complete cast follows: Jones (awkward salesman with modern ideas), Foxy Green; Holder, a cop, Bobby Karr; Ebenezer Goodly (hen-peck d.), Jack Johnson; Matilda Goodly, Jeanne Lively; Marjorie Goodly, daughter, Jerry Smith; Minerva Goodly, daughter, Marjory McGolby; Clay, Bonnie Lee Ross; Richard Heatherly, friend of Marjory; Chester Carpenter; Fuller, keeper of sanitarium next door, James Foran; Miss Alvina Starlight, old maid of 50, Carolyn Surran; Bishop of Ballaet, Hugh Anderson; Helma (Swedish maid), Heidi Schneider; Mr. Bigbebe, a victim of the sanitarium, Ed Terrell; stage committee, Bill Noland, James Foran; prompters, Ann Chisholm, property committee, Vera Sackett, Bill Davis; alternates, Eula Taylor, Ann Chisholm.

Belgian Premier's Cabinet Resigns
BRUSSELS, Feb. 8 (AP)—The cabinet of Premier Paul Henri Spaak resigned today as the result of a split over Spaak's appointment of Dr. Adrien Martrès, wartime German sympathizer, to the Flemish Academy.

The decision to resign was reached after an emergency session in which three liberal ministers informed the Socialist premier they opposed nomination of Martrès and threatened to resign unless it were revoked.

Martrès was condemned to death after the World War for cooperating with the Germans, but the sentence was commuted and he later was pardoned under a general amnesty.

His appointment to the academy aroused nationwide controversy and revived much World War bitterness. Spaak himself was slightly injured when he was attacked Feb. 2 by a group of war veterans who resented his action.

New Peace Terms Reported After Rebels Take Minorca
LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Great Britain was reported reliably today to have taken new peace terms from the Spanish government to the insurgents after the latter had asked for a sign of surrender there to Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces.

The insurgent landing occurred after departure of the British cruiser Devonshire from the island, where she had been sent to help negotiate a surrender.

The new peace terms reported offered by Dr. Juan Negrin, Spanish government premier now in France, centered mainly on clemency for his followers.

From Burgos, insurgent capital, word came that Generalissimo Francisco Franco, while still demanding an unconditional surrender by no price, promised there would be no reprisals and only those accused of crimes would be tried.

PAMPA YOUTH PLAYS IN CHILLICOTHE BAND

Sited tenth from the left on the back row is Nobel Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lane of Pampa, who plays regularly in the band of the Chillicothe Business College at Chillicothe, Mo., where he is a student. The band, one of the largest and most active musical organizations at the college, plays at all football and basketball games, at various entertainments and assembly programs, and is featured in the Annual Homecoming Parade. Due to his performance in the band, Nobel will be an honored guest at the Annual Gold Ball which is to be given at the close of the basketball season by the C. B. C. Athletic Department.

FDR Pressing For Showdown Within Democratic Party

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt, with sharp persistence, is pressing for a showdown within the Democratic party. Issue after issue that will test allegiance of Democrats to the chief executive is being pushed upon Congress. A record is being written on, appointments, on spending, that must be laid before the country in 1940.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Steel and motor shares displayed some climbing activity in a sluggish stock market today. While most stocks barely managed to get ahead, gains in Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler and U. S. Steel amounted to a point or more as the cautious buying continued in late trading. Aircrafts also got in on the rise for better gains than most groups.

Standing out in the advance were Safeway Stores, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Commonwealth & Southern Preferred, Corro De Pasco, Chesapeake & Ohio and American Woolen preferred.

Some of his opponents in Congress are not thinking about compromise either. They are still resentful of the blows he gave a few Democrats in last year's primaries.

Without a party truce which will bring President Roosevelt solidly behind the Democratic nominee in 1940, observers are not too optimistic about prospects for a Democratic victory. They are willing to get a long way toward capitulation to get a compromise, but that does not mean they are willing to go all the way.

Battles Not Ended. Nor does it mean that Mr. Roosevelt will get his relief fund without at least the semblance of a fight, or that the battle over the Virginia judgeship is ended.

In the referendum Mr. Roosevelt asked for $75,000,000. Congress gave him $725,000,000 and that if an emergency arose. He could come back for more. He now says an emergency does not exist and the extra $150,000,000 is needed. Quite a few of those who watch the progress of Congress from the inside think he will get it after a few interminable sessions.

Rejection of the Roberts nomination was not regarded as a true party test, though some politicians figure it may be reflected in the Virginia primaries next year when Senator Byrd comes up for Democratic renomination.

Mr. Roosevelt's failure to unseat Democratic senators in the Georgia, South Carolina and Maryland primaries last year was no sure token that he will not go on winning for other senators next year. What he does about picking a new man for the Virginia judgeship will provide a clearer indication of his future intent.

It is believed that fish reached the Rocky Mountain region from the Pacific Ocean by swimming up the Columbia river, then up its tributary, Pacific Creek, the headwaters of which mingle with Atlantic Creek, on Two-Ocean Pass, in Wyoming. Once over the pass, the fish came down Atlantic Creek into Yellowstone river.

The Lima Conference Re-Echoes From Europe

European reactions to the Eighth Pan-American Conference at Lima are coming in now, and they re-enforce the feeling of American reporters that much was really accomplished.

The Manchester Guardian of England says: "The results are a little less than most experienced observers expected, but not much."

And it is odd to find even the Berliner Tageblatt admitting that "It would be wrong to say that the Declaration of Lima contains nothing, for it actually says something fundamental and decisive about the political attitude of the 'double-American' continent."

For the German newspapers made every effort to belittle the Lima conference, and most of them still represent it as a complete failure and disappointment to the United States.

Recognition by prominent papers in both Britain and Germany that Lima was important, is a good sign that its lesson was not lost on the world. It backs up those American correspondents who have written that much was accomplished. The only disappointed ones were those who expected too much.

Pan-Americanism has moved slowly for 50 years. That it continues to move forward is the best augury—it is the direction that is important, not the rate of speed.

Some of the European comment, unversed in the Pan-American way of doing things, has adversely noted that no treaties were signed, and none remain to be ratified by the countries taking part. That is a strange criticism from a continent where treaties have become nothing but pipe-spills, and the most solemn signed agreements only the scraps of paper so disdainfully referred to by Bethmann-Hollweg.

Declarations have served the Americas quite well enough, as Secretary Hull reminded the delegates at Lima. And each of them remembered that their very freedom rests on "mere declarations" of independence.

Hitler's reference to trade relations with South America in the Jan. 30 speech bears directly on the Lima decisions. "The German people must live—that means export—or die," said Hitler.

The Lima decisions do not tend to bar Germany from any rightful and proper share in South American trade. That nature and her own and South America's needs desire her for such a share, Secretary Hull is well aware.

What Lima does strike at is the German custom of exporting a pound of political propaganda and intrigue with every ounce of goods. It is this, and her own trade methods which tend to exclude others from fair competition, which hurt German trade and help produce the situation which Hitler himself admitted is getting desperate.

Joe Louis, who wound up his last two fights in less than five minutes, is taking no chances with the federal wages and hours act.

That heroine, who cheered the survivors of the Cavalier seaplane disaster as they clung to life preservers in the darkness, has a great future as a hostess. She could make a tea party cheerful.

The movement to keep tomatoes out of clam chowder will gain speed only if it is linked to a plan to put clams in.

The Nation's Press

MEXICAN MADNESS (Chicago Tribune) Mexico expropriated the foreign oil properties, without compensation, to satisfy the communists, the Stalinite revolutionists who are taking over the railroads, mines, farms, and industries.

Lombardo Toledano, the labor dictator, Mexico's John Lewis, is a follower of Josef Stalin. President Cardenas disavows connection with communism, but that is of no consequence. If Toledano is not the stronger of the two men he at least can manipulate the real trends of the revolution. Communism is its only possible destination.

Mexico cannot have a dictatorship of the proletariat without liquidating private property. When it has liquidated private property it will have a Moscow government. As the national resources are transferred from private enterprise to proletarian control the national income is reduced, governmental revenues disappear, production stops, and the whole Russian phenomenon of dictatorship, disruption, and destitution makes its appearance south of the Rio Grande.

This is the logical, the inevitable sequence of events in the revolution, but there are also some curious and contradictory consequences. Mexico could not sell the stolen oil in the markets into which it had gone before expropriation, a condition which brought Nazi Germany into Mexico as a buyer, but not for cash. Germany's barter system will give Mexico German goods, but no money. Confiscated American oil properties will be used to cause the replacement of American products by German products and also to give Stalin's enemy, Hitler, a supply of oil for military purposes.

The New Deal government in Washington is a mainstay in the support of Mexico's shaky-financial structure. The crazy American silver purchases give Cardenas a revenue when everything else is slipping away. John Lewis and Mexico's Toledano are warm friends. The New Deal does to American private investments just about what Mexico does to them. The two governments are sympathetic and equally communistic at heart. Nevertheless it works out that as the United States bolsters up Red Mexico the Mexican communists help out Nazi Germany, which is expected to attack Stalin's Russia.

Who's loony now? Everybody, it would seem.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

MUST COME BEFORE RECOVERY "Permanent recovery will begin only when the deficit trend is reversed through a reduction in government expenses and a broadening of the tax base. Only a broadening of the tax base can create that tax-conscious citizenry without which no democracy can long endure," is what Orval W. Adams said in his address at the Bankers Convention in November.

Here is a man who understands the fundamental cause of our trouble. When the great majority of people believe that taxes can be paid by other than themselves they are not interested in economy. In fact, instead of being interested in government economy, they are determined that the government shall try to do more and more things for people. They have been taught by the schools, by the preachers, by the Republican and Democratic parties that taxes can and should be paid by those with ability to pay. They have been taught that this did not lower the standard of living of the ordinary worker. They have been taught to believe that this would raise their standard of living. When, in reality, it is the very thing that is bound to lower their standard of living. There has never yet been demonstrated any method whereby taxes can be paid by any group that is not reflected back into lower wages and unemployment of the great mass of producers.

In this great speech made by Adams, he says, "With public spending out of control, upon us as bankers rests primarily the duty of protecting the savings of the American people. It is an economic truth that as the government debt and the government deficit increase, the purchasing power and value of savings decrease. I feel more confident than ever that it lies in our power to render real service in protecting such savings."

He says, "They (the bankers) know that as the flood of government securities rises, the outlets for investment in normal wealth-producing, labor-employing enterprises, are closed. They see that the service charge on the mounting public debt increases more rapidly than does the total annual income of the people. They see the country moving in a vicious circle. Increased taxes are already so great a charge on industry as to slow down production.

"If the present disastrous course is to be stopped before it is too late, the millions of holders of insurance policies and bank depositors must be acquainted with the facts. I know that we can do much to bring this about."

Widening of the tax basis and putting it on the direct tax basis, will do as much as anything in the world to bring about a government that is really democratic and does not interfere with the inalienable rights of every man to the fruits of his own labor.

Orval Adams certainly has put his finger on a very vital point as a beginning point before we can start recovery.

RESULT OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING As an example of the natural fruits of the belief that wages can be raised by collective bargaining, the recent decision by Dr. Towne Nylander, regional director of the so-called Fair Labor Standards Act, is certainly a good example. He ruled that the right for rush-season work can only be obtained with the consent of a union duly certified by the Labor Board.

If this would not be taking away the rights of anybody who believed in the competitive system, and force complete unionization by law, I have no conception at all of what liberty means.

Another of the fruits of the belief in collective bargaining is the growth and sponsoring of the Workers Alliance. The Worker's Alliance is supposed by those people who are on the government work relief, or dole, the sole purpose of it is to bring pressure to bear on the Congress for greater doles and softer jobs.

The idea that people who have to be assisted by the government have to be paid enough money so that these workers can contribute to a union to intimidate Congress is certainly asking the people who are furnishing the substance to also furnish the wherewithal to extort more and more from themselves.

But when people come to believe that wages of all the people can be established by collective bargaining, or by law, it is only natural that we reap results like the above two examples mentioned.

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—As soon as a little more red tape is snipped, scheduled commercial air transportation across the Atlantic will become a fact.

Out in the Pacific, Pan-American Airways is putting a spanking new 42-ton Boeing clipper through its paces. Two sister ships are berthed at Seattle, ready to go. Three more will be coming down the ways during the spring. All together, the six comprise the fleet from which will be chosen the boats that will span the Atlantic.

Before these boats can carry any passengers anywhere, they have to have the official okay of the Civil Aeronautics Authority. At this writing, the CAA has issued what are called "approved type" certificates. This must be supplemented by a letter of authority, approving their equipment and operation.

NO PASSENGERS ON FIRST FLIGHT Once that is done, Pan-American must apply for a foreign air carrier's permit, similar to the certificate of necessity which is issued for domestic air travel. Under the ordinary course, the CAA will then hold a public hearing to determine whether the proposed air service is really needed and whether Pan-American looks like the kind of outfit that can provide it.

These things done, still another step must be taken. Pan-American must file with the CAA a schedule of its tariffs, both for express and passengers. (Incidentally, the first few flights will probably be express-only flights, without passengers.) If the CAA finds these rates reasonable, it approves them.

The mail allowance will be by no means big enough to enable Pan-American (or any other company, for that matter) to pay its way. Whether the line operates at a profit or a loss will depend on the commercial business it gets. The big Boeings will carry from 40 to 50 passengers.

OVER ATLANTIC AT NIGHT No schedules have been fixed, so far. Flying the northern route between New York and Southampton, the probability is that a clipper would leave the Long Island port at noon, or thereabouts, stopping at Shediac, N. B., about 5 p. m. for refueling. It would take off immediately, spanning the Atlantic in the night and arriving at Foynes, Ireland, shortly after daybreak to refuel again. Then it would go on, reaching Southampton probably between 10 and 11 in the morning.

The American State Department some time ago negotiated a 15-year reciprocal agreement with Great Britain, under which Americans may use British ports and British planes may use American ports. Under this agreement, service across the Atlantic was to start simultaneously, with Pan-American (presumably) getting into action along with the British Imperial Airways.

Just recently a hitch developed. Imperial Airways announced that it would begin service in June and would fly from England to Montreal, not New York. Under the original agreement, this would have kept Pan-American out of England entirely. The State Department promptly put through a six-months-renewable agreement with France, under which American planes could have set up service to Marseilles, HOLLYWOOD—Big-time stuff: On the Warner ranch at Calabasas some 500 extras are on hand to help Paul Muni Juarez defy the raised guns of a firing squad as he marches alone down a block-long street into the low building held by Joseph Calleia as Uradí, usurper of Juarez's power in Mexico.

The set—specially built and including an old mission church—represents the town of Matamorás. Muni as Juarez—and with that make-up he isn't Muni any longer—arrives at street's end in a coach driven by Vladimir Sokoloff, steps down, and with most of the 500 extras at his heels, he marches solemnly on Uradí's headquarters. As the Uradí troops line up, level their guns, the crowd falls back but Juarez marches alone, never changing pace. The soldiers ignore their commander's order to fire, lower their weapons as Juarez marches unflinchingly through.

Safely behind the camera, grim Muni Juarez relaxes into a grin. "That took courage," he says. "Imagine my walking so bravely into those guns—knowing they weren't loaded."

It's like turning back the clock to go on the "Rose of Washington Square" set and see Al Jolson singing nonchalantly in the aisles of a burlesque theater set. The song he sings—or rather moves his lips to—is "Pretty Baby." The first take he plays it with typical Jolson cheer and personality stuff. The second he does with a worried expression, which fits the part better but not Jolson.

A little more than ten years ago Jolson was the only movie star in town doing only singing for the mike. His sound stage was a sweat-box, housing more jitters than today's swing craze has produced. When Jolson sang "Sonny Boy" nobody believed that sound would make much of a dent in the movies, or that some day Jolson could sing "Pretty Baby" on a sound stage where nobody worried much about sound. And neither Alice Faye nor Tyrone Power, then would have dreamed that today they'd be co-starred with Jolson.

It's "Lucky Night" for Myrna Loy and Robert Taylor. It's one of those pictures in which hero and heroine, after an impromptu meeting, start on a whirl of gambling fun during which they can't lose. The script says they get married then—which is when the let-down and the humdrum begin.

Today they're at the bingo table, winning hands down, on an elaborate "playhouse" set where in the

Last night in one of the fights at the Golden Gloves tournament a boy landed a hard lick in his opponent's face. "My fault!" said the boy who got hit; and that represents the kind of sportsmanship seen in the tournament. A boy has to be a good sport and he has to be able to take it—otherwise he'd better not enter. Last year Coy Palmer of Alanreed brought up Jake Bible, who became a favorite with the fans. This year, Coy, now teaching at Stinnett, is lack with more boxers. Jake who still reminds one of a rabbit-twisting Lil Abner, had a hard time winning but had his following. The boy who loses is to be admired as much as the one who wins, if he boxes hard and clean, and he usually does.

How's Your Health?

We live in an environment in which electricity approaches us from every side. In most American homes there are some electrical devices such as radios, vacuum cleaners, lights and even washing machines, mangles, toasters, coffee percolators, flat irons, and innumerable other electrical gadgets.

If a human being gets between two poles of electrical current or touches one pole and the ground at the same time, he becomes a part of the electrical circuit. It will not take him long to realize that this has happened. All of us have occasionally had this experience.

It is pointed out that one line of an ordinary 110-volt house circuit can be touched by a person who is standing on a dry non-metallic floor. What is felt on momentary contact is a slightly disagreeable tingling. If, however, the person were to keep his finger in contact, he would soon be burned. This situation is multiplied tremendously, however, by the person who stands in a bathtub or who stands in a wet bathing suit on a wet floor and who touches any charged object, such as the interior of an electric light socket or the chain of an electric fan.

Under such circumstances, he gets a sudden onrush of current over a large area, and fatalities have been reported from this combination of events.

Whereas the danger is not exceedingly great when one deals with the ordinary house current, it is multiplied tremendously when high-tension currents of thousands of volts are concerned. Under these circumstances the shock is sometimes sufficient to kill in a moment. The reaction is just like being struck by lightning.

We're just going to the dang thing backwards. Instead of us trying to get everybody to go back to work, we're bustin our buttons trying to seduce em all into retiring, under a blanket of loss like about all our legislators kin think up nowadays, is some way fer restrict a feller from overworkin himself too much, 'till it's finally got to where you got to hurry like the dickens to get in a little work. . . . I know the time you're too young to work — by law, and the time fer you to retire — by law; And if we don't stop it purty soon, it aint going to be long before we'll have more checker-players than there is checkers, an more fishermen than there is fish. . . . Just being 50, or 60, or even 70 aint no good rule to go by, on account of that's jest when a feller is beginning to have enough sense to really be some use in the world; And that's why it's a man's usefulness that should ought to fix the time fer his retirement, and not his age. . . . Wisdom aint jest born in a feller — it's got to be developed through experience, and that's why it's such a sorry way fer us to make our Supreme Judges feel like a has-been, and they'r all washed up when they get to be 70; Why even the Indians and savages knows better'n that, they don't let a feller get to be one of their Wise men 'till he's got age enough so's he kin settle down and do some real ponderin and thinkin. . . . No sir, they make em do all their fishin, and checker-playin first, and that way they'r able to consider the problems of the fishermen and checker-players later on, on account of they know all the moves.

Quads' Health Perfect, Says Their Doctor

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS.

GALVESTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—A long and full life lies ahead of the Baggett quadruplets, the stork's latest sensational achievement, Dr. Francis Garbade believes.

The doctor, who will look after the medical upbringing of the four little girls, said today health of the nine-day-old quads was perfect.

The quads' chance of reaching maturity, Dr. Garbade said, are good if not better than the Diamond quintuplets of Callander, Ontario, had at birth.

The quads outstripped the quint in aggregate weight at birth. The quads weighed 16 pounds, 3 ounces. The quint weighed 10 pounds and 3 ounces. That weight advantage, the doctor said, assured the four little girls of good strength to cope with the complex problems of life in its early stages.

Doctors, nurses and the Baggett family have found it impossible to distinguish Jeraldine, Joyce, Jeanette and Joan apart. Noys has developed some personality traits or habits, yet any of them are identical in appearance.

Their father, W. E. Baggett, 35, a construction foreman who earns $16 a day, said he had declined offers totaling $1,000,000 to exhibit his babies.

"I never thought I would turn down a million dollars," he commented, "but it doesn't bother me a bit to do it in a case like this."

A milk company today signed a contract that will give Baggett money enough to educate the quadruplets, he said, and will be put in trust for the quads. It assures them of a sizeable sum if the father should be incapacitated.

An insurance company has insured their lives free, and two schools, Baylor University at Waco, and Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, Texas, have offered them scholarships. A bank gave them savings accounts and Baggett's employer added $100 to it yesterday.

Two Other Girls. Papa Baggett started today to look for a larger house. He needs it for his family of six children in the family instead of four. There are two other girls, Geneva, 16, and Elsie Mae, 12.

The Baggetts, except for the quads, might easily be classed as the average American family. Mrs. Baggett does her own housework. Baggett keeps a bank account, pays his grocery bill every two weeks, and takes his family to a motion picture show once a week when he is in town.</

Europe Training 700,000 Men For Service In Air

By DEVON FRANCIS, Associated Press Aviation Editor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Intensive training programs occasioned by threat of war are expected to provide Europe's five major powers with regular and reserve air forces totalling some 700,000 men by the end of 1939.

That is more than four times the authorized enlisted strength of the entire United States army.

A survey of those European programs today produced these round figures for the respective countries:

Italy—10,000 pilots and a reserve (pilots, mechanics, radio technicians, etc.) of 120,000.

France—A goal of an enlisted and officer strength in the air corps of 86,000 by the close of the year.

Great Britain—A goal of an enlisted and officer strength of 100,000 in the Royal Air Force by June.

Germany—A total force, flying and non-flying, in the regular air corps of more than 100,000; a reserve of from 65,000 to 70,000 most of whom are reported to know the rudiments of piloting a plane.

Russia—An air force, flying and non-flying, of at least 100,000 men, and a reserve of at least that many more, thousands of whom have qualified as pilots.

The totals are based on estimates provided by European bureaus of The Associated Press and other sources.

Italy, Germany and Russia, have the most comprehensive air training programs, and their air force personnel is drawn from a reservoir of youngsters who are taught the rudiments of aeronautics when, or before, they reach their teens.

Neither Great Britain nor France have anything to compare with the air education programs for the youth of those three nations.

France and Great Britain depend on regular air force enlistments for pilot and mechanic training. Britain's air force is absorbing 2,000 recruits a week, and last November 85,000 officers and men were on the books. The surplus personnel is represented by retirements and honorable discharges.

will be used to take steps to avert possible spreading of the infection to cattle, goats and sheep.

The infection was first noted in Texas in 1935 and the first virulent outbreak was noted in the vicinity of Corpus Christi. Now it apparently is present in many sections of the state.

Wardlaw said the infection had been spread to many sections when truckers hauling infected animals have dumped carcasses of hogs infected by the disease along the highways.

Dr. F. G. Steinman, assistant state veterinarian in charge of the laboratory here, said the disease is capable of being transmitted to humans as well as cattle, horses, swine, sheep, dogs, turkeys, birds and fish.

Serum Cures Disease

The only cure for the disease, it was announced, is a specific serum which is used through intradermal. Given in successive doses, he said, it also served as a preventative.

Humans, Dr. Steinman said, can become infected by handling diseased animals if they have a skin break on their hands.

Wardlaw pointed out that Texas has only about 1,500,000 hogs while the livestock population totals around 25,000,000. This demonstrates, he said, the seriousness of the infection spreading to other animals.

The commission chairman said that, while the livestock commission is making every effort to lessen the shipment of diseased animals, it does not have funds with which to enforce quarantine which might be established.

Dr. Steinman said that the greatest difficulty experienced in fighting the infection is its similarity to hog cholera. He also said that the bacillus which causes the disease will continue to live in the ground for more than a year after it has been left by the fatally-infected victim.

KPDN To Broadcast Singing Convention

The second annual Top O' Texas Singing convention will be presented Sunday afternoon between 2 and 4:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church, sponsored by radio station KPDN. An estimated 3,000 delegates from 17 counties are expected to attend.

The program will include massed singing, choirs, sextets, quartets, duets, and solos.

Invitations have already been accepted by Wheeler, Donley, Potter, Collingsworth, Randall, Hall, Hutchinson, Carson, Gray and five counties in Oklahoma.

Programs will be outlined at a meeting of the local convention group tonight.

Names of members nominated for officers in the home interest group of Pampa's WPA recreation project, will be submitted by the nominating committee when the group holds its regular weekly meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the housekeeping aide project house, 111 East Albert street.

he said. "They used to call me 'Preach' when I started to school in a new place and it embarrassed me but I am proud that I am a son of a Methodist preacher and only hope that I can be the kind of dad to my two boys that my sainted father was to me.

"I sincerely congratulate both the men and boys present and those who have made this occasion possible. A man needs a boy and a boy needs a man. Each has something of infinite value to the other.

"My reaction toward the foetus-master's question, 'What is a Boy?' My answer is 'there is one.' As he pointed his finger to a lad near him. 'There is the definition.' When I look at these quick-minded, scintillating-eyed boys I know now what I have learned before, there is no spoofing a boy. My boy knows what I am worth. A recent experience brought to mind the importance of son knowing dad and dad knowing son. A 16-year-old boy, son of a friend of mine, was in trouble. The father called me into conference and made the sad confession, 'I do not know my boy!'

Mr. Hilburn said, "Personality is the greatest thing in the world. And personality is developed through wholesome association with work, and play intermingled. I have two sons and one daughter. My six-year-old boy has been an invalid for eighteen months and is under the treatment of a physician in an institution that separates him from our home most of the time. This experience has taught me the value of association in the home and made me see how that many of us men waste our time with non-essentials of life."

Boys attending the banquet had much enjoyment in watching an act by Dr. H. L. Wilder, Sherman White, and Roy Bourland, president of the Brotherhood class. Wilder interrupted the regular program to ask Judge White to tell some of the experiences of his boyhood in the southern part of the country. Roy Bourland interrupted the judge's talk. They argued about the matter until Dr. Wilder suggested that the two settle the question. Roy Bourland, in the meantime, had taken off his coat, when Judge White told him he was going to whip him as he did when they were boys.

Dr. Wilder tied four toy balloons to the feet of the two and said the winner would be the one who could tie the other's balloons first, after which Judge White and Mr. Bourland engaged in an ankle-kicking bout.

Opening the banquet program was group singing led by John Edwin McConnell, followed by songs by a quartet composed of John Edwin McConnell, Dick Kennedy, James Evans and Jack Hessey, Ken Bennett was pianist.

Immediately following the banquet, Mr. Hilburn left for Austin, where he was scheduled to be at 2 o'clock this afternoon, in the interest of lower freight rates for the Panhandle.

Earlier, the Devonshire had been reported steaming to neutral waters with government and insurgent representatives so they might arrange surrender of the fortified island, the only major island of the Spanish Balearic group left to the government.

France, which has coordinated her policy with Britain's over the Balearics, was said to have given full support to the Devonshire's mission.

In Paris, the French government was understood to have tried to urge on defenders of Madrid the futility of further resistance in the one-fourth of Spain they still hold.

Soviet Russia instructed its charge d'affaires in Tokyo to protest "continuing provocative action of Japanese and Manchoukuoans" as tension between Japan and Russia increased over clashes on the Soviet-Manchoukuo border.

Mr. Hilburn said, "Personality is the greatest thing in the world. And personality is developed through wholesome association with work, and play intermingled. I have two sons and one daughter. My six-year-old boy has been an invalid for eighteen months and is under the treatment of a physician in an institution that separates him from our home most of the time. This experience has taught me the value of association in the home and made me see how that many of us men waste our time with non-essentials of life."

Boys attending the banquet had much enjoyment in watching an act by Dr. H. L. Wilder, Sherman White, and Roy Bourland, president of the Brotherhood class. Wilder interrupted the regular program to ask Judge White to tell some of the experiences of his boyhood in the southern part of the country. Roy Bourland interrupted the judge's talk. They argued about the matter until Dr. Wilder suggested that the two settle the question. Roy Bourland, in the meantime, had taken off his coat, when Judge White told him he was going to whip him as he did when they were boys.

Dr. Wilder tied four toy balloons to the feet of the two and said the winner would be the one who could tie the other's balloons first, after which Judge White and Mr. Bourland engaged in an ankle-kicking bout.

He enjoyed life and never lost sight of real matters while he was dreaming. Nor did he lose his passion for beauty. Beauty meant nature; it meant truth and kindness; it meant the fitness found in good books and gentle speech. He liked people. That was another form of beauty.

NEVER A DANDY

He had few clothes. He never had coats or trousers long enough to cover his bones. What a time his neighbors had getting him rigged up for the legislature when they had voted him in!

He did what he thought was right. He always did that. It brought him enemies in both the north and south during the war. He lost his first love and his married life was very unhappy. He became silent and depressed. Then he died. Slowly the world began to see what it had failed to see before. That a boy with no chance whatever, had done the impossible.

You see, the boy was great before he became a man.

Far above Highland Boy one damp snowbank gave way in the darkness and, cutting a 100-foot swath down the mountainside, tore into two two-story houses, shearing off the tops and hurling the occupants across the road against a retaining wall.

Neighbors who heard the roaring slide hurried to the rescue. Some of the victims were buried for more than an hour before being found.

death penalty has been ineffective in preventing crime.

"Third, we believe that to substitute an irrevocable life sentence for the death penalty would more effectively serve to prevent crime and punish the criminal.

"I, therefore, submit to you as emergency legislation the subject of repealing the laws which authorize the death penalty, and substituting in lieu thereof an irrevocable life sentence."

Sunday the governor said in a broadcast he would recommend doing away with capital punishment in Texas, which he long has advocated.

At the time he also was explaining a statement he made in connection with a 30-day reprieve he granted Winzell Williams, condemned negro murderer. The statement had been sharply criticized.

In it the governor had said he had granted the reprieve so the negro could suffer the punishment of seeing death stare him in the face 30 days. He explained he wanted to arouse opinion against the death penalty.

Two days ago the governor said he would certainly grant any additional reprieve authorized by the legislature.

Baptist Preacher And Catholic Priest Are Chaplains At Austin

By HARRY BURKHALTER.
 AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP)—A prayer for divine guidance plays an essential part in the daily labors of members of the Texas legislature.

Rev. George W. Coltrin retired Baptist minister, offers the invocation as the House convenes every day, and Father Theodore Drees, a Catholic priest, says the prayer in the upper branch.

Rev. Coltrin, 72 years old, is a former member of the legislature, having served from Live Oak county. His actual duties as chaplain requires only a few minutes of his time each day, but when the prayer is over he concerns himself with visiting members who might be hospitalized.

Office of House chaplain is filled each session by majority vote of the members. This is Rev. Coltrin's fourth year.

Also Newspaperman.

Aside from being a minister, Rev. Coltrin is a newspaperman. He owns a weekly (he calls it weekly) paper at Mathis which he has published the last 2 years.

Retired from active ministry 10 years ago, his last pastorate having been at George West. "I still fill in here and there in the pulpit when I'm needed," the clergyman said.

Reminded of the unusual combination of newspaperman-minister, Rev. Coltrin smilingly replied that in the "old days it was necessary for a minister to have other means of support than that derived from his pastorate."

Rev. Coltrin expressed keen interest in all legislation, but hastened to add this legislation was purely personal. "I never express an opinion about proposed bills unless I am asked, and then my opinion is strictly private," he said.

Commutes To Austin.

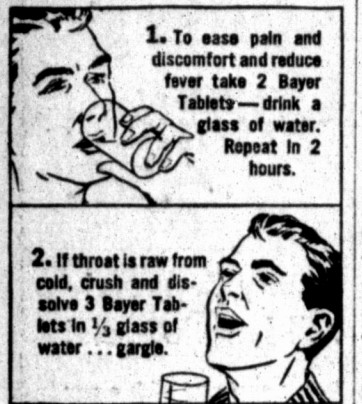

Father Drees is serving his second time as chaplain of the Senate. He retains his pastorate in Taylor and commutes to Austin daily. Seventy-five years old, he has lived in Texas since 1896.

Boys work being one of his chief hobbies, Father Drees finds his time well occupied with two Sunday services and Boy Scout work.

Contrary to popular belief, chaplains are not rotated according to religions, a minister of any denomination may apply for the position.

Follow Simple Method Below Takes Only a Few Minutes when Bayer Aspirin is Used

2. If throat is raw from cold, crush and dissolve 3 Bayer Tablets in 1/2 glass of water... gargle.

Starts to Ease Pain and Discomfort and Sore Throat Accompanying Colds Almost Instantly

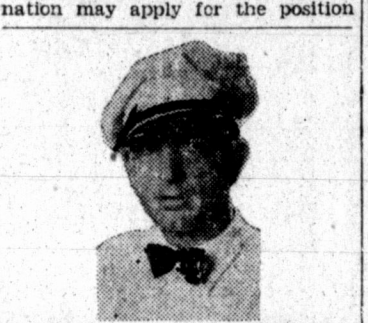

The simple way pictured above often brings amazingly fast relief from discomfort and sore throat accompanying colds.

Try it. Then—see your doctor. He probably will tell you to continue with the Bayer Aspirin because it acts so fast to relieve discomforts of a cold. And to reduce fever.

This simple way, backed by scientific authority, has largely supplanted the use of strong medicines in easing cold symptoms. Perhaps the easiest, most effective way yet discovered. But make sure you get genuine BAYER Aspirin.

Farm Tenancy To Be Meeting Subject

DALLAS, Feb. 9 (AP)—A series of meetings to improve the farm tenancy system will be held in various Texas counties, Dr. C. H. Hamilton announced here yesterday.

Hamilton, chairman of the Farm Tenancy Committee of the Texas Agricultural Workers Association, said local groups were arranging meetings in Lamar, Hill and Fannin counties. Meetings at other points are being considered.

Hamilton declared "land owners and tenants alike are now paying dearly for the fact that rental agreements may be terminated without notice at the end of any rental year."

Longer tenures with provisions for conservation and improvement will be stressed at the meetings, Hamilton said.

Coogan Flies Back To Resume Tour

DALLAS, Feb. 9 (AP)—Jackie Coogan flew here today en route to Wichita Falls, where he will resume the personal appearance tour interrupted by the illness of his wife, Betty Grable, in California.

He left the airport in his automobile, which he had deserted two days ago for the faster method of travel. Presumably he intended to drive immediately to Wichita Falls.

In Hollywood Coogan conferred with his attorneys on an agreement which would end the long litigation between him and his mother and stepfather, the Arthur L. Bernsteins, whom he accuses of appropriating some $4,000,000 he earned on the screen.

His attorney, William Rains, said: "We tried to draw up a brief agreement for Jackie to sign before leaving, but we found it contained so many loopholes we decided to give more time to it. Certainly we don't believe the case will go to trial during this period of attempting to reach a settlement out of court."

Young Coogan said that when and if the agreement is reached, he will fly back here to sign it. But he made it clear that "I won't settle for any $5,000, as has been reported."

Texas Swimmers Sack Up 5 Records

AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP)—The University of Texas swimming team packed up five American swimming records today.

Mike Sojka, sensational junior student from Buffalo, N. Y., led the wholesale assault last night as the school's annual three-night aquaticade bounded away in a fast start.

Sojka sailed through the 400-yard event in 5 minutes, 26.7 seconds, 10 seconds faster than the mark held by Radamaker, German swimmer.

Jane Dillard of Austin knocked over two records, stroking through the 100-yard breast stroke event in 1:58.8, 8 seconds under the accepted mark, and eclipsing Agnes Geraghty's record of 1:30.8 by swimming the 100 meters in 1:24.5.

Adolph Kiefer and Ralph Flanagan, Olympic champions, completed the work. Kiefer crased the 300-yard backstroke record with a 3:25.9 performance, and Flanagan swam the 400-yard free style in 4:14.8.

The old marks were 3.28 and 4:18.4 respectively.

Air Force That Will Defend U. S. And Canal Called Greatest Need

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9 (AP)—An air force which will adequately defend continental United States and the Panama Canal Zone, in view of a plane-building race abroad "more fervent than anything which has yet occurred in naval or land armament," was held up today by Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, as the nation's "greatest military need."

For the first time since the army's new aerial armament program was submitted to Congress, Gen. Arnold discussed it in detail last night before a meeting of the Los Angeles post of the Army Ordnance Association.

Emphasizing that it will require two years to complete the program, he said it must be designed for effectiveness at that time, adding: "And it can be done. Our aeronautical engineers are equal to, if not better, than those of any other nation in the world."

He blamed limited research activities for a "slip backwards" from America's pre-eminent position in the aviation world a few years ago, and for the result that "other nations have produced military airplanes with marked superiority in performance."

To remedy this, he disclosed plans for additional research facilities at the army's experimental station at Wright Field, Ohio.

As for production, Arnold said he expected the program "to take advantage of the good points and eliminate the bad points" of the European systems.

Arnold said the government's program called for 5,500 ships, of which only 3,300 would be in service at one time, and two new air bases in the United States, with one each in Panama, Puerto Rico and Alaska.

The problem of training pilots and mechanics, he said, will be carried on by 14 schools accredited by the Civil Aeronautics Authority, by which "we will be able to double or triple our present output of pilots."

Debate Enlivens Rotary Meeting

A debate on a question as to the need of a new type of legislature was held at the Rotary Club's regular luncheon at noon Wednesday. Affirmative of the question was upheld by Joe Key, with Ernest Cabe taking the negative side. The issues involved were taken from an article appearing in the January edition of the Rotary magazine.

Members of the cast of the Pampa High school junior play presented a sketch from their coming production.

Attendance at the meeting was 47, including Frank Culbertson and Joe Gordon, both of Pampa, and A. E. White and David M. Warren, visiting Rotarians from Panhandle.

Farris Oden was in charge of the program.

11 Mustangs Fail In Semester Exams

DALLAS, Feb. 9 (AP)—Scholastic deficiencies of 11 Southern Methodist University football players struck a body blow today to the Mustangs' chances for next season.

Among those ruled ineligible after officials checked their first semester work were Roy Holbrook, former all-state high school football back from Kerrville; Benny Graham, transfer from Weatherford Junior College who was expected to hold down a regular guard position, and J. W. (Cotton) Bolton, speedy backfielder from Henderson.

Members of last year's freshman team who failed in school work were Charles Clark of Van, end; David Gay, Highland Park back; Jack Maddox, end from Wichita Falls; E. E. McKinney, North Dallas tackle; Roland Webb, Woodrow Wilson and Terrill Prep guard; J. W. Sherwood, back from Roaring Springs; J. D. # Arena Packed As 12 Boys Win Close Fight

Bills And Moore On Card Tonight

The Pampa News Golden Gloves boxing tournament will swing into its second night at the Pampa Athletic arena at 8 o'clock tonight with more bouts and more experienced boxers participating. Last night 12 boys advanced to at least the quarter-finals, two by the knockout route, three by technical knockouts and seven on decisions, most of them close.

Borger and Pampa tied in victories last night with three each, followed by Canadian with two. LeFors, Alnreed, Stinnett and Kingsmill each registered one winner in the advanced list.

Leather flew like hailstones in most of last night's battles as a packed auditorium cheered the efforts of the youngsters who gave their best. No one backed down on his job and every loser took the decision with a grin and patting his victorious opponent on the back.

Referee Lauded
Toby Waagoner of Canadian gave the greatest exhibition of refereeing ever seen in a local ring. He broke the boys perfectly, warned them for rule infractions and stopped bouts when boys were unable to protect themselves, which is one of the major amateur rules. Some fans thought the referee a little strict but he was only following out the rules and after the bouts he received the congratulations of fans who recognized his excellent performance.

Although pairings for tonight have not been completed, such well known boxers as Benny Moore and Frankie Bills of Shamrock, Ogle Jones of Higgins, League Clay of Canyon, two or three newcomers from Borger, and Doug Keyser, and others from Pampa will be on the card.

Bible Advanced
Jake Bible of Alnreed, only defending champion to appear on last night's card, stayed in the running when he won a hardline decision from Frank Brown of Pampa. All three judges gave Bible the decision, principally because of his aggressiveness. Brown fought a strictly defensive battle but he landed many lefts as Bible came in hard.

Quickest knockout went to Denver Hubert of Pampa when he put Earl Sword of Stinnett on the canvass twice in the first round. Sword was unable to answer the second gong. Hubert showed power in both fists with a natural ability to duck blows.

Ray Reeves of Alnreed lost to Wayne Neal of Borger in a wild opening bout, and then R. Robertson, a wild swinging youngster from LeFors, stopped Baer Ferguson of Stinnett in the second round.

Former Harvesters Win
Junior Romack of Stinnett dropped the first round to Speedy Foster of Pampa but came back with a couple of straight rights to the jaw in the second stanza and the referee stopped the bout.

Middleweight — Joe Hornback, Canadian, decided Carl Carey, LeFors. Mage Keyser, Pampa, decided Morris Lamb, Groom. Millard Puckett, Canadian, decided Louis Moore, Borger.

Light heavyweight — Louis Brickell, Borger, kayoed Carl Nolen, Pampa, third round.

Exhibitions — Noel Berry, Borger, decided Bob Frailey, Pampa; Richard Stevens, Pampa, decided Roland Borger, Stinnett.

Lightweight — Denver Hubert, Pampa, kayoed Earl Sword, Stinnett, first round. Junior Romack, Stinnett, knocked out Grover Foster, Pampa, second round. John Kidwell, Pampa, decided R. J. Harvey, Pampa.

Welterweight — Claude Roberts, Borger, won on a technical knockout from Neil Hill, Alnreed, in third round. Sherman Morgan, Kingsmill, decided Aubry Dekle, Pampa.

Lightweight — Joe Hornback, Canadian, decided Carl Carey, LeFors. Mage Keyser, Pampa, decided Morris Lamb, Groom. Millard Puckett, Canadian, decided Louis Moore, Borger.

Light heavyweight — Louis Brickell, Borger, kayoed Carl Nolen, Pampa, third round.

Exhibitions — Noel Berry, Borger, decided Bob Frailey, Pampa; Richard Stevens, Pampa, decided Roland Borger, Stinnett.

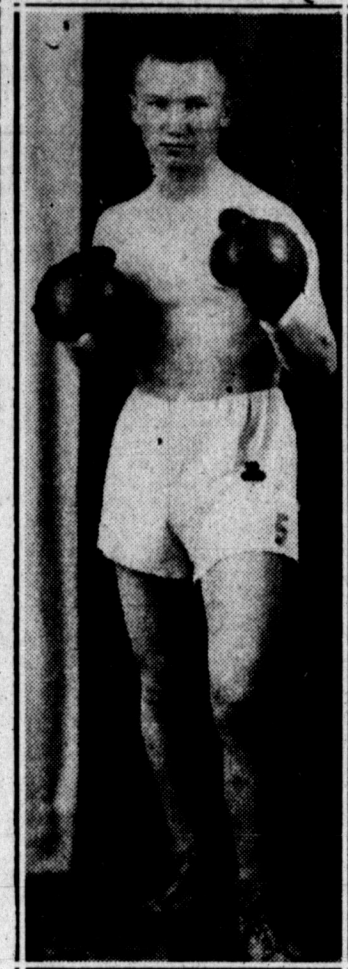

Lightweight — Denver Hubert, Pampa, kayoed Earl Sword, Stinnett, first round. Junior Romack, Stinnett, knocked out Grover Foster, Pampa, second round. John Kidwell, Pampa, decided R. J. Harvey, Pampa.

Welterweight — Claude Roberts, Borger, won on a technical knockout from Neil Hill, Alnreed, in third round. Sherman Morgan, Kingsmill, decided Aubry Dekle, Pampa.

Lightweight — Joe Hornback, Canadian, decided Carl Carey, LeFors. Mage Keyser, Pampa, decided Morris Lamb, Groom. Millard Puckett, Canadian, decided Louis Moore, Borger.

Macon Affiliated With Dallas Club
DALLAS, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Macon, Ga., club of the South Atlantic League is the latest affiliation of the Dallas, Texas League, baseball club, George Schepps, president of the latter club, announced yesterday.

Similar working agreements, providing for interchange of playing personnel, had been made by Dallas with Jacksonville of the East Texas League and Monroe, La., of the Cotton States League.

Timber Wolf To Be Displayed At Garden
NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Madison Square Garden customers, who have seen their share of lions in the circus, steers in the rodeo and gorillas in the ring, will get their first look at a full-blooded timber wolf when the sixty-third annual show of the Westminster Kennel club opens on Monday.

They expect to turn them away from the gym tomorrow night in Amarillo when the Harvesters and Sandies fight it out in the crucial game of the Big Five championship race.

The game will be a "natural" in several ways. In the first place, it will decide the championship of the Big Five. In the second place it is the first time the conference race has narrowed down to a battle between Amarillo and Pampa—with the Harvesters favored by virtue of a victory over the Sandies last month.

Amarillo has lost one game, in the conference, and Pampa has lost one. Amarillo fans, traditional spectators at all Pampa-Amarillo affairs, are planning to pack the Amarillo high school gym.

Just as Pampa had rather beat Amarillo than any other team, so had Amarillo rather beat Pampa. Pampa is usually the underdog in the football season, but tomorrow night the Sandies will be the underdogs, and they'll be playing above their heads, just as the Harvesters usually play above their heads.

Reserves To Play
The Harvesters may be hard-pressed to win. Coach Odus Mitchell will take his entire squad to Amarillo. The reserves will play the Yanningans in a game beginning at 6:45 o'clock. The Harvesters reserves consist of the second and third strings who will likely alternate against the Yanningans, in view of the fact that the third stringers have been beating the second stringers lately.

On the second string are Belton Bearden, Chief Carlisle, Seth Cox, Ed Terrell, Charles Odell. On the third string are Glenn Nichols, R. G. Candler, Jack Crout, Hamilton and Joe Nelson.

The Harvesters-Sandie game will start at 8 o'clock with Andie and Heiskell at the forward positions, Miller or Kyle at center, and Aulds and Dunaway, guards.

The game will be the Harvesters' last before the district tournament which will begin Friday morning, Feb. 17, at 9 o'clock. One defeat will eliminate a team.

The first game will be between the Carson and Lipscomb county champions at 9 o'clock. At 10, Wheeler and Hansford county champions will play. At 11, Roberts and Hemphill winners will square off. At 2, Gray and Hutchinson county champions will fight it out. At 3 p. m. Pampa and the Donley county winner will test each other.

Ochiltree county drew a bye in the first round in the drawings held here in December. They will meet the winner of the Lipscomb-Carson game Friday night at 8 o'clock. The other Friday night games, beginning at 9 o'clock, will see the winner of the Wheeler-Hansford battle the winner of the Roberts-Hemphill tussle.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning, the winner of the Gray-Hutchinson scrap will clash with the winner of the Pampa-Donley fracas. The semifinal game will be played at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. That game will determine the finalist in the upper bracket, the lower bracket drawing a bye, and the championship game will be played at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Brown Contracts Signed
ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9 (AP)—The signed contracts of John Berardino, young second baseman, and Bill Trotter, recruit pitcher, were received by the Browns yesterday, bringing the number of players signed for 1939 to 11. Berardino was with San Antonio last year, as was Trotter, who won 22 games and lost nine in the Texas league.

SERIAL STORY

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES

Yesterday, Fortnally, Susie recalls her only date with Dick, the kiss in the dark. Had he not been so kind she might not have loved him.

CHAPTER V

SUSIE, crouching in the dark, with the sweet, earthy smell of Dick's violets filling the room, resolutely went on, remembering the black day after the Delta Phi party. Not often had she allowed her mind to reconstruct the hated details. At first she had only been aware of pain and an overwhelming shame, later she had tried not to remember. Tonight, in a vague way, she was burying her head, with Dick's flowers to ease the sad rites.

On that day after the party, thrilled with the thought of Dick's kiss, with her first taste of living like other girls, she had gone on duty at the waffle shop shortly before noon. Busy she whipped up her batter and baked an endless number of golden brown cakes. From head to feet she throbbled with weariness, a pulsing, nervous weariness.

The waitresses had greeted her with a volley of questions. How was the party? Had she enjoyed it? Was Dick a good dancer? Who was there? Glowingly, Susie related the details, embellishing them a bit as she went along. Proudly she displayed the compact, minutely she described the food. Their interest and awe served to push her elation to a new high. While convincing them she had reassured herself.

She went about her work in pleased retrospection. Perhaps her hair hadn't looked so bad. Perhaps Dick had not noticed her fumbling dancing. Had he not danced with her constantly, even urging her to stay? Did not that constitute what the college girls called a "whiny"? Susie's thin line of lips softened, almost smiled.

At two o'clock, when the noon crowd had thinned, Susie took two waffles, a jug of syrup and one of honey, four bacon curls and a cup of coffee to a corner booth. She sat with her back to the shop. Eating slowly to prolong the restful interval she scarcely noticed that two girls entered the booth behind her. Deep in dreams she was startled by her own name.

"Where's Susie?" one of the girls asked. "Probably sleeping off her wild debauch," the other remarked, a thread of laughter running through the words. Did you ever see anything so screamingly funny as Susie was last night?

"Positively never." She bulged out of her dress at every conceivable point, if you can find a point about Susie. She was a riot if I ever saw a riot."

During this conversation Susie's brows had drawn even more darkly over her eyes, the pleased uplit of her lips straightened. Little cats. Let them talk. She hadn't gone to the party to please them. No doubt they were jealous. Dick was the best-looking and most popular freshman on the campus. So ran her sinking thoughts.

The voices went on. "Poor old Dick. I'll bet my next month's allowance that he never put in such an evening."

"Well, that's what he gets for being a pledge. Bill, a senior you know, thought up the idea of making Dick date Susie for the party. He said Dick argued himself hoarse before giving in. Imagine—Dick Tremaine and Susie, the waffle queen!"

"And he had to take every dance," the other voice added, quietly hilarious. "Did you see her clumping around, walking on his feet, falling all over him?"

Susie was no longer eating her waffles. With heart pounding, with shame, furious tears choking her, she sat rigid, listening. She felt bruised and cut as her pathetic dream castle tumbled around her bowed head. But there was still more.

"Did you hear what Dick did when Bill commanded him to kiss Susie on the way home?"

"Kiss Susie!" It was an astounded hoot. "What did Dick do?"

life Susie faced deliberate, hideous unkindness. With little confidence to go on she shriveled under the blow. She was scorched with bitterness, sullen anger chilled her blood, cruel disillusionment blurred what little color there had been.

AT last Susie arose from the booth. Piling her dishes she carried them to the kitchen. She walked slowly, heavily. Stunned, numb with pain, ashamed, she broke eggs, measured flour and sugar and milk. Of Dick she thought with a frantic helplessness. Even then she felt no blame for Dick.

When he came in that afternoon he stopped short before swinging to his accustomed stool. At once he knew that somehow Susie had learned the truth.

"Hello, Susie," he said gently, sorry for her. "Hello, Dick." He had kissed her last night, she had made him kiss her. The humiliation of it now hurt like a searing flame.

Dick only ate two bites of his waffle that day. He lingered, drinking coffee. At last he stood up unsteadily and she picked up his plates.

"Susie," he said, "will you go to the movie with me tonight?"

"No," she answered in a small, strangled voice. But she smiled at him and the hurt was a little easier and the bud of love in her heart blossomed into a full-blown flower.

All that had been almost four years ago. And now Dick had gone away, never to return. Before going he had said he was sorry, he had sent violets. Rousing, Susie touched the violets. Her face was wet with tears. Through all the years Dick's smile, his small, casual attentions had kept the flower of love alive. It would have been far better for Susie if he had blasted the bloom with indifference, but she would not have had it so. Not for worlds would she have exchanged the misery of loving Dick for the old contentment.

Wallace Maps 'Hopper Drive' In Panhandle

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Secretary Wallace informed Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, the agriculture department contemplated an extensive drive in ten Texas Panhandle counties to combat grasshopper infestation in the actual distribution of the bait if control measures are successful.

The secretary noted the fall egg survey on which the prediction of increased infestation was made, indicated a need of approximately 18,000 tons of grasshopper bait in 1939. He added some of the 17,000 tons sent to Texas last year had been unused and would be available for the next eradication program.

The indications are that the problem will be most acute in approximately ten extreme northwestern Panhandle counties, wrote Wallace. "In which area the egg population is very high and where, under favorable weather conditions, an outbreak of epidemic proportions may be expected in the spring and summer of 1939."

Those counties are Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Oldham, Potter, Randall, and Ochiltree.

Burial Contracts Upheld By Court

AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals ruled today it was no violation of the law for a funeral home to contract with a person for burial of himself or members of his family.

The state's highest tribunal in criminal matters reversed the judgment of a trial court and ordered the prosecution dismissed in the case of R. P. Phillips, Fort Worth undertaker, who had been found guilty and fined $25 for making such a contract.

Phillips had made a contract with G. F. Howard who paid $10 for a funeral for himself or any member of his family at cost plus approximately 10 per cent, allowing a reduction of $10 on the first funeral. The contract also provided free ambulance service for Howard or members of his family within the city limits of Fort Worth.

The court conceded the state had a right to regulate any contract which was inimical to health, good morals or public welfare but said there was a limit to the valid exercise of the right since the liberty of contract was guaranteed under the federal and state constitutions.

Texas Quadruplets To Be Peace Envoys

GALVESTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Despite their tender ages, the Badgett Quadruplets, eight days old today, are going to do their part to preserve world peace.

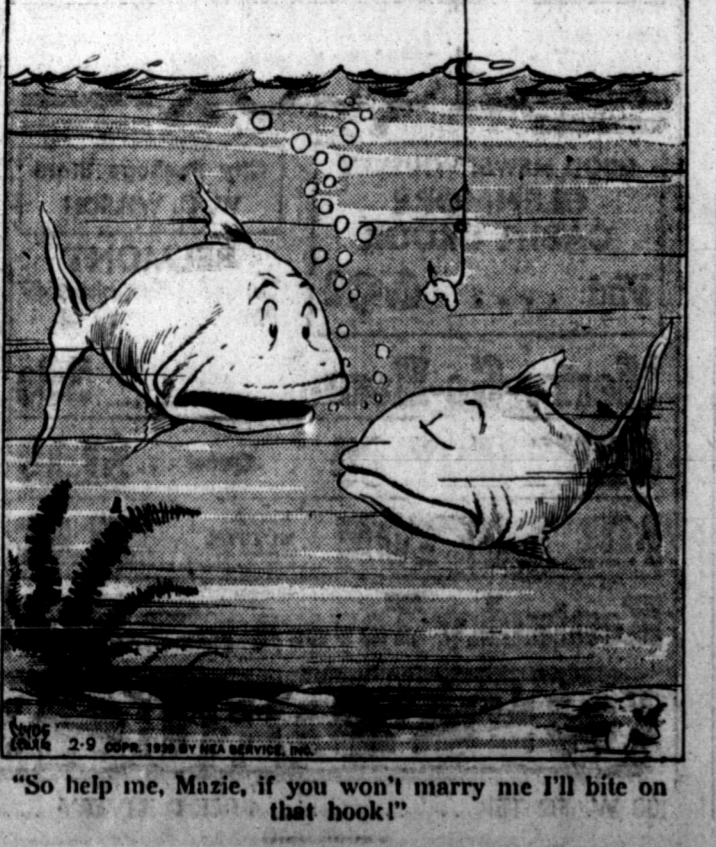

Phillips was indicted for a violation of the statute regulating the sale of burial material and services.

As "peace envoys," the quads will extend invitations to members of the Texas Conference for the cause and cure of war and to attend the conference meeting here Feb. 23-25.

Mrs. Lloyd Merriman, general convention chairman, who announced the enlistment of the quads, did not say how the girls would deliver the invitations.

Prince Domino Bull Bought For $8,000

FORT WORTH, Feb. 9 (AP)—Reversal of the trend that for years has brought Hereford bulls from the northern states to Texas ranches marked the payment of $8,000 for a Texas-bred bull to go to ranchmen in the Kansas City area.

The $8,000 bull is Prince Domino Premier and he brought that price in the Harriestale Farms section here with Warren Woody of Chicago and Joseph W. Radotinsky of Kansas City, Kas., as the buyers.

Dr. Charles H. Harris, owner of Harriestale Farms, listed 48 animals for the sale. The 28 bulls averaged $1,005 each and the 20 females sold for an average price of $435.77. Nine of the bulls brought more than $500 each and seven females sold above that price.

Second highest price of the Harriestale sale was $5,500 paid for the Prince Domino 30th, a 3-year-old bull, by George D. Meith & Sons, and Joe Bridwell, both of Wichita Falls, with John Murrin of Fort Worth as the contending bidder.

Murrin later was the successful bidder for the highest price female of the auction when he bid $1,025 for Princess Domino C 124th.

Another partnership purchase of the auction was that of Prince Domino Randolph by Walter Graham, W. A. Graham, and M. A. Graham, of Quitaque, Silvertown, and Happy, on a bid of $1,850, making this bull the third highest priced animal of the sale.

Commander Domino E 138th at $1,500 and Prince Domino Superior at $575 were purchases of G. W. Patterson of Tallulah, La. Scharbauer & Edison of Lovington, N. M., purchased D. Prince Domino 103rd at $1,500.

Nazi Proposes 'Reservations' For German Jews

BERLIN, Feb. 9 (AP)—Alfred Rosenberg, supervisor of the spiritual and philosophical development of Nazidom, proposes that "reservations" be allotted to Jews under international control in either British Guiana or French-owned Madagascar.

Room would be made for 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 Jews under the Rosenberg plan which he advanced to diplomats and newspapermen last night with the assertion Germany last night was determined to get rid of every Jew.

"The entire problem narrows down to these two territories," Rosenberg declared in an exposition of the most specific proposal yet advanced by a high Nazi official.

Rosenberg, opposing Palestine as a Jewish home, proposed:

Territory be set aside with contributions by Jewish millionaires and billionaires from all the world" to the International Refugee Committee in London.

Supervision of the "reservation" by a police administration under the command of a governor or a "league of nations."

No self-rule or establishment of a Jewish state.

Palestine, Rosenberg said, was too small and experience had shown England could not come to agreement with the Arabs.

Alaska, he added, offered too harsh a climate, was too close to the United States and Canada, and a "reservation" there would be a "racial danger" to the two North American countries.

"I stress the word reservation, for there can be no talk either at present or in the future about a Jewish state," Rosenberg said.

George Rublee, director of the committee, returned recently from Berlin to London after the refugee problem with German representatives. He is to present results of his trip to the committee next week.

recalled he had been shot eight years ago. An operation was performed 10 days ago but it could not be removed because it was too deeply imbedded. He died yesterday of pneumonia.

Canadian Credit Association Meets

CANADIAN, Feb. 9.—The fifth annual meeting of the Canadian Valley Production Credit association was held here Monday.

This meeting was well attended, there being around 60 per cent of its members present, as well as a number of visitors, and members' wives attending.

Due to the large attendance, the association feels that the people living in the six counties served, are realizing the merits of such an organization. Counties served are Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Hemphill, Roberts, Gray and Wheeler.

During 1938, the association made loans totaling $900,000.00 which is an increase over any previous years business.

This association is one of the thirty-six similar associations operating in Texas. According to Mr. Allen, the services of a production credit association are available to farmers and ranchers in every county of the state.
