PONY RIDER REACHES GOAL

At the end of a long, weary trail, Shannon Davidson, young cowboy from Matador, Texas, who beat a field of 20 riders to Oakland, Calif., on a pony express run from Nocona, Texas, is greeted by Dorothy Peterson.

"Miss Alameda," and Bob Rogers of the Golden Gate International exposition. This picture was made on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge where Davidson was forced to swap his pony to cross the world's longest bridge.

Rumania Not Chained Says Chamberlain

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today Rumania "has not signed away her economic independence" in her new trade treaty with Germany.

"We must await developments before coming to any definite conclusion," Chamberlain added, however, in answer to a question put to him by Conservative Vyvyan Adams.

"The Rumanian government has informed the British government that the agreement contains no political clause and Rumania has not signed away her economic independence," the Prime Minister said.

He added the Bucharest government had informed Britain the accord "is directed against no third party."

In this, it was believed, Chamberlain was referring to the British trade mission to Rumania which Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, announced just a week ago would be sent to Bucharest. The mission has not gone but Chamberlain was believed to have indicated its purpose had not been threatened by Rumania's prior commitment to Germany.

Twister Nearly Wipes Out Town

NOCONA, March 27 (AP)—Mrs. D. J. Siedel, Montague county representative of the Red Cross, said this morning a twister had practically wiped out the small town of Mallard eight miles southwest of Montague last Saturday night, leaving 50 persons homeless and injuring one person seriously.

Communication with the little community was disrupted and had not been re-established today.

A message report of the storm given previously was not verified until Mrs. Siedel made a survey trip to Mallard yesterday.

Homes and farm buildings at Mallard were swept away, Mrs. Siedel reported. One house was struck and damaged by the twister on the outskirts of Montague.

Mrs. Siedel called a meeting at Montague for this afternoon to arrange food and shelter for the sufferers. She said she also had asked aid from Red Cross headquarters at Washington.

Japanese Army Takes Nanchang

SHANGHAI, March 27 (AP)—The Hankow headquarters of the Japanese army reported today the capture of Nanchang, once an important Chinese air base in Kiangsi province.

Alien Control Bills Flood Committees

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—A flood of Alien control bills is occupying the attention of congressional committees.

Sponsors of the measures, some of which are designed to curb activities of alien organizations in this country, already have chalked up one victory.

"When the House passed a bill last week providing for deportation of aliens who advocate changes in the form of the American government, there was no debate and the vote was unanimous.

Although the Senate has not yet considered the measure, its committees have been working on several others dealing with the alien question.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) of the Senate military committee appointed Senators Nye (R-ND), Hatch (D-NM) and Clark (D-Mo.) as a subcommittee to consider such measures.

Mussolini Ready To Negotiate Claims

ROME, March 27 (AP)—Signs of Italian readiness to negotiate by diplomacy a settlement of claims on France today followed Premier Mussolini's invitation that Paris make the first move.

Diplomatic observers felt the duke's speech to his fascist followers yesterday had left the way open to rapprochement between Rome and Paris.

Italian newspaper comment was conciliatory.

Italians started agitating last November for their "rights" in Africa and until those rights were recognized, Premier Mussolini declared yesterday, Italy will take no initiative in securing a long-term peace which it deuce said Europe needed.

Mussolini said Italian-French problems were "colonial" and concerned Tunisia, French North African protectorates Djibouti, French Somaliland port and terminus of the railroad from Italian Ethiopia, and the Suez canal.

There was no mention in Mussolini's address, on the twentieth anniversary of the formation of fascist combat squads, of Corsica, French Mediterranean island department, of Nice Savoy, parts of continental France. The three have been mentioned unofficially since November in a campaign for Italy's "natural aspirations."

Daladier Maps Reply To Italy's Demands

PARIS, March 27 (AP)—Premier Daladier, secure in his dictatorial decree powers, mapped a reply today to Premier Mussolini's African demands—a reply designed to permit opening negotiations for a French-Italian settlement.

Sources close to Daladier said the reply would be either a direct note to Rome through regular diplomatic channels, asking Italy just what she wants, or a similar question to be put in a broadcast speech on Wednesday.

Reconciliation appeared to be closer than at any time since Dec. 17 when Mussolini denounced the 1935 treaty which he initiated at Rome with Pierre Laval, then the French premier.

Although Mussolini's speech yesterday was far from specific on what he wants in Africa, hopes for reconciliation were rekindled by the French fear Mussolini later would permit opening negotiations for a French-Italian settlement.

British Reject Plan To Boycott Germany

LONDON, March 27 (AP)—The British government today rejected suggestions of an economic boycott against Germany or attempts to apply League of Nations penalties "with American cooperation" to halt German territorial expansion.

Richard Austen Butler, parliamentary under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the House of Commons Britain was not considering the possibility of a boycott.

Franco Troops May Enter Madrid Today

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier, March 27, (AP)—Nationalist Generalissimo Franco was reported today to have swung his central army into an offensive designed to smash a way into Madrid after peace negotiations failed to bring an agreement with the republican government.

Nationalist forces were said to have advanced to new positions on the Madrid front, the Toledo front, and in the Cordoba region in south central Spain against only weak resistance.

Republicans immediately announced by radio that they would surrender their entire airforce as evidence of good faith. Earlier, reports to the Nationalist command at Irun said Franco's troops might enter Madrid today.

A breakdown in negotiations for surrender of Madrid had sent the Nationalists in the south, under General Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, toward the rich Almaden mercury mines.

Legislature Endorses Garner For President

AUSTIN, March 27 (AP)—The Texas Legislature unanimously adopted a resolution today endorsing John N. Garner for president and calling on Democrats of the nation to work for his nomination.

It said Garner, a native Texan, had served long and ably in Congress, and had fully demonstrated his statesmanship and grasp of national affairs to all the country.

The voice vote was without dissent in either house.

The time is not far distant when the national Democratic party will put in motion the machinery for the selection of its presidential nominee in the 1940 general election," the resolution said.

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—The Daily News said today radio comedian Jack Benny would plead no defense—no defense—when he goes on trial here next Monday in federal court on charges of smuggling $2,131 worth of jewelry into this country.

The News said it was learned from sources close to Benny that if the court refuses to accept his plea, the comedian is prepared to plead guilty.

In the latter event, the newspaper added, Benny planned to point out he had paid $256,000 in income taxes in 1938 without protest and that it was unreasonable to assume he would attempt to defraud the government of $500 in customs duties.

Variety of entertainment seems to be just what the students enjoy most in the assemblies. Judging from the reaction of the student body, a musical program is most favored. Every one has some time, talent and would like to put it to use some time. Why not display it in assemblies?

Parents and teachers have been urged for many years to become acquainted, but not the students and the teachers.

Many students know their teacher only in the classroom. The students seldom think of the teachers as human beings, but they think of them as someone who assigns lessons.

If students who think of teachers in these terms would stop a few minutes to get acquainted with their teachers, they might enjoy school more. Perhaps this would help some low grades, for teachers are more willing to help those students they know and those who are friendly and cooperative.

How many boys like to fence or shoot a bow and arrow? There are many boys who like these sports but don't get to do such things because they don't have the material. The girls who have archery equipment but all the boys can do is practice the regular old baseball, football and basketball. If enough boys were interested, maybe the school would furnish a new type of sport and equipment.

"I wish I were young again!" This is a statement every boy and girl have heard their parents repeat.

Well, the seniors are going to have their little backside this week and become children. Short dresses, knee trousers, and big bow ties will dominate in dress wear.

So come, you seniors, don't stay at home, but come to school and show in the fun. This is your last chance to act like a "two-year-old."

Faithful and hard-working describer George Hancock who has been head janitor in Pampa school for six long years. His duties are to be plumber, furnace regulator, supervisor of ten janitors and to help hire the above and their helpers. His excellent work deserves honorable praise.

While visiting the grade schools last week, advertising the amateur night, several high school students sat through the assembly. These students were surprised to see how entertaining their assemblies were. High school assemblies are improving but they could still be better. How about some more good assemblies, student council?

Kit Kat Klub Holds Initiation For Its Future Members

Praise, Allah, accompanied by grunts and groans came from the six pledges who went through an initiation, called "Hell Week," to become future members of a newly organized Kit Kat Klub, sponsored by Miss Eugeana Johnston.

The six pledges were Betty Cree, Maxine Holt, Marguerite Kirchman, Pat Bisset, Tommie Close and Joan Gurley.

Monday, skates were worn to and from school and carried to all classes. On Tuesday, heavy clothes were worn and by that time the girls were beginning to feel the soreness in their legs from bowing low each time a charter member passed.

Short dresses and bright ribbons were worn on Wednesday and a scrubbing "party" was held on the front high school steps. Not a word was uttered, Thursday except "I am a future Kit-Kat" for it was mute day.

Of all the embarrassment! No socks, make-up or hair-combing on Friday, but a mock initiation made them full-fledged members. Charter members are: Anne Buckler, president; Anne Chisholm, vice-president; Heidi Schneider, secretary-treasurer; Sara Frances Bourland, scrapbook keeper; Margery McColm, program chairman and Carolyn Surra, reporter.

At a meeting Sunday night, the Tub club was selected as a brother fraternity and "Stardust" as the club's theme song.

Lollipops and Bright Colors To Be Seen on Senior Kid Day

Yep, that's the day—next Friday. That's the day when the senior spirit will break loose and past memories of childhood day will be resurrected. Yessir, you guessed it right, it's senior kid day next Friday.

As always before, according to kid day customs, the seniors will dress as two-year-olds and will probably act as two-year-old kids. Big robust senior boys will present their under-carriages (legs) by wearing short pants. To add to the short pants they will wear a big red bow tie and all-day suckers will probably protrude from their mouths.

Then there will be the girls with their little short dresses and big red ribbons in their hair. They, too, will probably be seen with lollipops in their jaws.

Even though the seniors will not have to attend school this day, the largest per cent will probably be there.

In the afternoon the seniors will attend a movie at the LaNora theater. The seniors may not know it, but they themselves will offer about as big a show to the rest of the school as the one they will see.

The seniors will be admitted to school unless he is dressed as a kid. The seniors have charge of the assembly program next Thursday. Each senior will represent a certain child character.

Fourteen Students to Receive Quill And Scroll Membership

Fourteen students of P. H. S. have been accepted as charter members of the Pampa chapter of the Quill and Scroll, an honorary society for high school journalists, by the international office at the Northwestern university of Chicago, Illinois.

Eligibility for membership is based upon three set rules (1) must be a junior or senior, (2) must be in the upper third of their class and (3) must have done outstanding work on a paper or annual. They must have had printed 100 column inches. Samples of their work were sent to the international office.

Charter members are Tommie Close, exchange editor for the Little Harvester last year; Dorothy Jane Day, editor and sports editor last semester; Ellen Keough, a reporter; Annabelle Lard, for work on annual staff; Madge Lawrence, reporter; Jimmy Mosley, also for work on the annual.

Joe Dale Nelson, now headline editor and the paper; Hugh Skeen, editor for last semester; Leonard Earl Walker, now humor editor and Peggy Williamson, headline editor last semester.

A specific date for the initiation has not been set. The ceremony will be conducted by Eugene Mann, annual sponsor and journalism advisor and Miss Margaret Jones, annual sponsor and head of the English department, who automatically became members when the charter was granted.

Upon initiation the members will receive a gold pin, a scroll with a quill across it, an engraved certificate and a year's subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine.

Production records of the candidates and the positions of responsibility and exceedingly well written records prove they are able and efficient publications workers well deserving of Quill and Scroll recognition," stated the national secretary in her letter to the sponsor.

April Fool Victims Not Fools--Just Plain Suckers

April fooling was not meant for fools on April Fool's day in the United States. It was meant for practical jokes on people and is the fool's day off.

In Scotland, however, the April Fool is known as a gawk (cuckoo) and April fooling, as hunting the gawk, the cuckoo being reputed as a foolish bird.

The United States thinks that its people being made out as fools is no fun unless they are fools and then they don't know they're a fool because they are fooled. Anyhow, a fool's fool until (he) dies and (he) can't very well find it out just because a joke was played on him. So, if a joke is played on the reader and he or she can define the joke,

The money raised by the amateur night helped pay their expenses. At the student council meeting held last Wednesday nominations were made for the citizenship award.

Esther Jonsson Tells of Yugoslavian Dance

Dressed in a hand-woven and hand-embroidered costume of the Balkans, Miss Esther Jonsson, who has played before Hitler, presented a concert before 1,000 Pampa students last Thursday. Her program included a colored film of Yugoslavia.

The native dance of this country is the Kolo and everybody knows how to do many of them. They begin on Sunday after dinner and dance the captain's Kolo, the baker's Kolo, or any kind of Kolo except Coca Cola. Miss Jonsson learned several. Her costume was made by a 15-year-old girl. Everyone must learn to sew or they will be an old maid there. It was made of coarse material, trimmed with gala colored stripes and embroidered with designs handed down from the time of the Romans. Many of the costumes are woven with genuine gold threads.

Miss Jonsson complimented the audience as a whole, blaming the slight laughter on a fast-moving film during the dance numbers. This made the dancing go at a hair-raising speed. Student fans rushed her afterwards for autographs and pieces of the candles that lighted the music of this great artist.

Will someone be kind enough to inform James Washington that it is next to impossible to "altar" a horse but is entirely within reason to "halter" a horse. He may have just got his tongue twisted but again he may have been just what is it called?—nutty.

The Sage slipped in on the senior class meeting and found out a few of the characters that will be portrayed kid day.

First, someone mentioned Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs with Mary Margaret Gribbon, the class favorite, as Snow White.

Other characters to be portrayed are Frankenstein, Little Boy Blue, Jack Horner, Little Miss Muffet, Rose Be. Cinderella, Baby Snooks, the tin soldiers, Little Boy Peep, Red Riding Hood, Old King Cole, Romeo and Juliet, Prince Charming, Raggedy Ann, Jack and Jill, Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer with Becky Thatcher, the boys' chorus and many other characters.

Richard Saxe is the latest of the bare foot students. He sat through class with one shoe on the outside of the room. The Sage heard him remark, "That's the first time I've had my shoes off in two months."

Mrs. Alexander was seen reading a slam book last week and the only explanation she could give was that it must be good literature. Boy, but students with chemistry was as good.

Carol Montgomery says a certain nurse who used to be his "boss" for some time is now working in an insane asylum. Gosh, even the nurses are affected by Carpal tunnel.

The Sage hears that Mr. Osborne and Mr. Marks got lost when searching for a Latin club picnic. How could they in this country of broad plains?

H. C. Covington explained to Mr. Barton what "elephant" language means but it should have been "elegant" language.

Maxine Cherry has already found out that the night of April 3 will bring a full moon. That is the date of a certain F. F. A. steak fry, too.

Vernon (Ben Blue) Casey and Joe (Goofus) Nelson are again it but Bill (Hitler) Jones wants to add some new members to the Goofus band.

The future Kit Kats weren't allowed to have dates last week and one day they weren't even allowed to talk. They also had to scrub the front steps of the school building. If girls can do things like that and get by with it, why can't boys do it?

Harvester Squads Clash In Scrimmage

The Greens and the Whites, first and second teams, clashed for the second time in spring training last Friday in a 40-0 victory for the Greens with Dunaway and Heiskell causing a sensation with their running and passing.

Three members of the squad, Ray Boyles, Glen Nichols and Charles O'Dell, were out because of injuries. The line up of the two teams were:

1/2 MILLION IN TEXAS Through this telephone, and half a million others like it in Texas homes and offices, Texans talk about oil and cotton and livestock... about who will make a fourth at bridge, and what the doctor said to Henry. To clear the way for these calls, 8,700 telephone people work along the lines, or in the 314 offices that are the crossroads of the company's 2 1/2 million mile network of telephone wires in Texas. More than 10 million dollars in wages, nearly 5 million dollars in federal, state, and local taxes, help make up the total of over 24 1/2 million dollars this company spent last year to operate its Texas telephone system. Most Germans Loyal

The indignation of Americans at seeing certain persons trying to import prejudices and hatred from abroad, and seeking to fasten the goose-step on the United States, is natural, but it should be restrained. Those people of German descent who have been so thoughtless and so irresponsible as to foster these movements are a very small minority of the German-descended population of the United States. They are loud, and demonstrative, but they are not representative of the Germanic people who have made so splendid a contribution to the upbuilding of the United States.

No one should be more resentful of this loud minority than the honest and admirable people who have never hesitated, for several generations, to throw their weight decisively on the side of freedom and democracy. The antics of the uniformed, goose-stepping hate-mongers cast an undesired reflection on them.

Hitler's impudent presumption is that, simply because their ancestors came from Germany, whose institutions many of them hated, Americans of German origin owe some sort of allegiance to the man or the party which now rules Germany.

The great bulk of German immigrants to America came to escape the tyrannies of their own day, and they are not stupid enough to feel the slightest allegiance to an even more narrow tyranny of today. They turn to Carl Schurz, not to Josef Goebbels.

Usually, the vast bulk of such people are silent, and without rebuttal bear the slur that is cast on their loyalty by the Kurns and the Schwins. But in Los Angeles, a thousand of them decided to give no longer the silence that implies consent. They voted to protest the activities of the Nazi Bund, and to declare their own loyalty to democracy.

The United States has always had reason to be proud of its citizens of German descent. During the World War, almost to a man they passed the acid test of loyalty.

Today they are not less loyal, but more, for the tyranny abroad which has the impudence to demand their allegiance is a more bitter one than ever a Kaiser dared impose on a proud people.

Do not be deceived by the antics of a rabid few. The vast bulk of American citizens of German descent will be found loyal today as in the past, to freedom, to the land which is now, and in most cases has been for generations, their own.

The Nation's Press

(New York Daily News) The Federal communications commission has renewed its drive for power to censor the radio, in contravention of the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech. That is what its adoption of a recent report gotten up by two of its members amounts to, though Chairman Frank McIninch says the FCC has no desire to censor radio programs.

This report listed fourteen types of programs which it said might form the basis of punitive FCC action against broadcasting stations. This punitive action can consist in revoking a station's license, the FCC having power to revoke or renew licenses every six months.

The fourteen types of dangerous programs, as listed by Variety, are: (1) Fortune telling in any form. (2) Astrology or other fake sciences. (3) Solicitation of funds. (4) False, fraudulent, or misleading advertising. (5) Defamatory statements. (6) Failure to allow equal opportunity to discuss all sides of controversial issues. (7) Programs bordering upon the obscene. (8) Programs offending religious or racial groups. (9) Talking sides (as broadcasters) on political, religious, or racial matters. (10) Cliff-hanger kid shows (horror programs). (11) Boogie glorification. (12) Interrupting concerts or music to insert advertising announcements. (13) Too much advertising in general. (14) Too many phonograph records.

The FCC is to decide when any program comes under any of these heads. There are seven members of the FCC, which we call Censor McIninch and his six dwarfs. Well, make it five dwarfs. One of the commissioners—T. A. M. Craven—has the courage to protest this grab for FCC censorship power, to the grave annoyance of Mr. McIninch.

The FCC is one thing which can not be blamed on the New Deal. It was set up in Hoover's time; and to a certain limited extent it is necessary. It is needed to allocate wave lengths and kilowattages to the different stations to keep 16,000 many stations from cluttering up one wave length or jamming one another off the air.

But that is all it is needed for. And its current attempt to establish itself as a board of censorship of everything that goes on the air should be stepped on, and stepped on hard, by both parties in congress.

We think, for one thing, that the six month license period is too short. This keeps the broadcasters on tenterhooks, unable to build for the future. The period should be at least three years; or better, stations should be granted permanent franchises revocable only after appropriate government lawsuits regularly fought through the courts.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Holles

DECLINE IN LIFE INSURANCE

The effects of being off the gold standard and the danger of inflation, together with the trend of the government to enact social laws and give support to those in need, are having a marked effect on the buying of life insurance. It seems that the public has lost its idea that it is necessary for the individual to be thrifty and has come to believe that the saving of capital by the individual is no more necessary.

The Cleveland Trust Company's Business Bulletin, on the subject of life insurance, points out that in 1932 people of the United States were investing 15.4 per cent of their national income in life insurance; that by 1938, the percentage had dropped to 9.4 per cent. In other words, the percentage of national income invested in life insurance, or savings, to take care of future years, has dropped 40 per cent in six years.

This is one of the most damaging signs for the future, as far as the standard of living is concerned. It means that the individuals of the country have discontinued the habit of trying to save and this means that the workers of the future, when the increased population is considered, will have poorer tools per person with which to work and, as a result, will be able to produce less per person, and, consequently, will have a lower standard of living because of this decline in savings.

Everyone knows that the government is not saving and investing the wealth the workers are paying in to the Social Security Fund. It is using this money for current expenses and when these people become dependent, the government will have to again tax the citizens to support those in need.

Commenting on this condition, the Cleveland Trust Company's Bulletin, says, "Representatives of life insurance companies offer two chief explanations of these developments. One is that people have too little faith in the future value of the dollar to be willing to make present sacrifices in return for payments which will be received many years hence. The other explanation is that people consider present thrift unnecessary because they think the government will always take care of everybody through social security and relief payments."

BRAZILIAN LOANS

The United States government has arranged, through the State Department, to loan the Central Bank of Brazil some $50,000,000 in gold. In addition, they have agreed to extend $70,000,000 of credit to Brazilian importers.

Brazil already has defaulted on $357,000,000 of bonds that are now selling for about $25.

Senator Reynolds of North Carolina says that the State Department last week, "gave this country the finest dry-cleaning it has ever experienced."

It is rather strange that the Federal Government, after its experience of loaning some $12,000,000,000 to other countries which it has never received, now loans gold to other countries that have defaulted.

Certainly it is evidence of the desperate, absurd things the Administration will do in attempting to revive trade. If we ship the wealth out of this country, our people will have to do without the wealth exported. The administration seems to think we can have more by having less, and even go so far as to try to increase purchasing power by sending our wealth to Brazil so that she can send it back to us for other products. But, in the long run, we will be out just the amount we loan.

Walter Lippmann shows how irrational he is and how undependable he is in a long article endorsing the move as being a great stimulant to trade.

Trade can always be stimulated, if people want to work and give the products of their work away to others and receive nothing in exchange. But that is the reasoning of the New Deal and the Townsendites and is a foolish way of trying to stimulate trade.

HATES THE PUPIL TEACHER

In Milton's Aeropagitica, he strenuously objects to the state interfering with his right to read and educate himself as he sees fit. He says, the acute reader, when the government attempts to tell the individual what he dare study, will say: "I hate the pupil teacher, I endure not an instructor that comes to me under the wardship of an overseeing fist. I know nothing of the licenser, but that I have his own hand here for his arrogance; who shall warrant me his judgment?"

Then Milton continues by proclaiming, "The State shall be my governors, but not my critics; they may be mistaken in the choice of a licenser, as easily as this licenser may be mistaken in an author: this is some common stuff."

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The average American is apt to be a bit confused about his country's foreign policy in respect to Europe.

He knows vaguely that the administration is "for" the European democracies and "against" European dictatorships. He does not understand just how far that "for" and that "against" may carry him. Nor does he always see just why his government feels obliged to take any stand at all on European problems. Why, he sometimes asks, can Uncle Sam stay home and tend to his own knitting?

That, as a matter of fact, is what the administration wants to do. The key point of our whole foreign policy is a desire for peace. America wants to be able to develop and perfect its own democracy. But no country can exist in a vacuum.

For out of this desire to stay at peace and improve conditions at home arises the conviction on the part of the administration that America cannot be successful in those efforts if the rest of the world is torn by war or suffers a general deterioration.

Democracy can be defined in many different ways; but essentially, it is based on a conviction of the worth and freedom of the individual. Since that is true, democracy can have no accommodation with totalitarianism, which denies the individual's worth and freedom and implies choice from above followed by coercion.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Mr. Steele, history teacher in the high school, can tell you about the beauty of Texas. Last night he and other members of the faculty and a half-dozen Pampa students returned from a trip to San Antonio where they attended a student council convention.

Mr. Steele who came to Pampa from Oklahoma, said that San Antonio is the prettiest city he ever was in. All along the road for many miles near San Antonio the redbud was in bloom; the leaves were out and flowers were blooming. Bluebonnets were blooming in San Antonio, he said. Spring in that part of Texas is indeed beautiful, and will be here, too, said Mr. Steele in a different sort of way. You will see it—the wheat and the grass and the cottonwoods and the little yellow flowers are not as delicately pretty as redbud, but they are far more eye-filling, far more grand.

The long lines of people who waited in front of the Crown yesterday testify to the worth of the picture, Gunga Din, which deserves mention in this column—because it exploits the virtues that men need: loyalty to friends and country, patriotism, courage, bravery, self-confidence. The picture was about Englishmen, but the characters and the spirit of the picture were American. The American's penchant to use his fists instead of a weapon was exceedingly outstanding, and was a good argument for teaching fist-cuffing. In fact the socks in the picture set a new high—as did the battle that ended the film. Congratulations, Mr. Crown, for bringing the picture here.

sound stages again—and the word is clatter. First you hear her, then you see her—the Velez. She's practicing a tap routine in floppy sandals, and she breaks out—between breaths and taps—in a gusty vocalization of "My Heart Belongs to Daddy." The song has nothing to do with the movie she's making but seems to be her theme today.

She's singing about her heart and then, when you tie her to a chair to keep her still a few minutes between scenes, she says it doesn't belong to anybody.

This is typically Lupe, because a few days before she has said nice things about a mysterious, attractive New York swain. But now all she knows about that is what she's read in the papers.

"I weesh they'd feel me where he is, these fine lover they write about," she pouts, working hard to keep her feet still.

"All I know is I read I'm going to Reno to divorce John-nee (Weissmuller) queeck. When I go I don't know—I just read it."

You, like Lupe, may have read it too. You read it because Lupe said it—Lupe doesn't remember that. Because Lupe says so much from one day to another you can't expect Lupe to remember what she's said.

Her scene today (in "The Girl from Mexico") has her cracking a vase over Leon Errol's head. But Lupe never, never does such things unless the script calls for it.

"They say I have terrible temper. I have not temper. The only temper I have is when I get paid for it. I break vase today, I get salary for it. I break by beautiful long finger nail today too. See my be-you-tiful nail—all short again!"

The Velez energy never runs down. She taps when less animated players rest. She sings when they are too weary to talk. She eats:

There was a time, once upon a time, when if we sent a blunt note to some other country, they'd stop everything, else and read it, and chances we'd get an answer right back saying, "Glad you called the matter to our attention, assure you that it will not happen again, and I find indemnity check enclosed."

But that was when we had fellers like Fighting Bob Evans sailing our boats around, before we got to broad-casting the whole world that we got our belly full in the last war, and from now on we won't fight anybody, anywhere, anymore, under any circumstances, 'cepting in Madison Square Gardens under Joe Jacobs. And that's why it's just a waste of time for us to be sending Hitler these blunt notes telling him how we're disappointed in him the way he's acting up. That guy has got our word for it that we won't fight, and he knows our word is good, and so he just throws our note in the waste basket without no more respect for it than if it was just another Nazi promise. "Course we don't want to go clear over there fer another fight, but whether we like it or not, we're liable to have to take some cards in this game, and if we don't play em right, we're going to have to fight again, someday, someplace, and I ain't so sure but what it'd be better and cheaper to muss up that country than to get our'n all mussed up. And so instead of us being so blunt, we ought to be a little more tactful with a feller like that, and just write him a nice simple letter that he could understand, like "Dear Adolph, we changed our mind again, you know how it is,—well anyways, if you don't get back in your own yard by Saturday, we'll be backing up the other Democracies with all our resources. "Course we'd rather not, but just in case we have to send over our man-power too, you might as well be looking around fer a suitable asylum fer yourself, on account of we'll probably need your country fer another project we got in mind."

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

The glands of the body influence the rate at which we use our foods. They control the rate of the growth of our tissues and the rate of their repair. They determine whether we shall be male or female, and also what happens to us after the sex activities of life have ended.

The extent to which our glands function and the manner in which they function is, therefore, of vital importance to the success or failure of our lives.

Fortunately the glands represent an interlocking system, each of them being able to take over to some extent functions from the others when for some reason there may be failure. There are cases in which a single gland—the pituitary—may become excessive in its action, producing a giant, or diminished in its action, producing a dwarf. From time to time glands may act excessively and then diminish activity.

Dr. Joseph O. Aub has suggested that in general there is a tendency for the glands to be deficient in their action during youth and excessive in their action after middle age. Detection of what may be wrong with the function of a gland is easier in childhood than in older people because the child is undergoing rapid growth, and conditions are magnified.

Perhaps the gland about which we have learned most in recent years is the thyroid gland, situated in the lower part of the neck. The chief secretion of this gland is a substance which contains iodine, yet iodine itself is not a substitute for this secretion.

We know today that in certain persons failure to develop properly may be the result of insufficient thyroid and that in such cases the giving of the thyroid extract will produce excellent results. However, an excessive amount of thyroid is excessively harmful to the body. The person who has an excessive amount of this secretion in his body will burn his food too quickly, breathe quickly, be hot and perspire, will have a rapid heart beat and be jumpy and nervous.

It has become customary to call people who rush around in an over-stimulated manner "hyperthyroids." There are, of course, other conditions which may produce this "drive," including some which are perhaps chiefly emotional.

There is a difference between the way in which excessive action of the thyroid affects a younger person and an older person. The younger person may be stimulated to elation and a terrific response, whereas the older person may become quickly fatigued.

Editor "Sharing Comforts" IV. Reduce Free Public Education By Limiting It Probably To The Eighth Grade. Possibly Considerably Below That Standard.

It has long been noted that the ignorant mind is the one most easily influenced or enslaved.

Limitation of public education is the surest approach to repelling remedial and protective labor legislation; to restricting democracy; to extending child labor. It fits in exactly with totalitarian program. Without this withholding of education, such a program is difficult.

Perhaps the schools do not teach all that they should. Maybe they teach some they should not. Possibly there are some persons employed who are not real teachers. Every profession attracts those who are lacking in the essential qualities and who are mainly interested in salaries. Some editors are not real editors, some reporters not real reporters. Some newspapermen like common folks, examine their pay checks with more interest than the material they prepare for the readers.

Fifty years ago the schools gave what could be learned at home. The child was taught his home life to make a living. He went to school to master what parents could not teach him.

Many parents today can teach what the teachers can, perhaps, but they cannot fit their children to earn a living. How can the office employe or the clerk do this? Or the plasterer or the street car conductor? Their employers cannot have children about; they are operating businesses, not running schools. These employed parents do not conduct businesses at home in the way that formerly made child training for life work possible. So the burden is forced on the schools before the schools are equipped to receive it, and long before the public will permit even a recognition of the task set before the schools.

But suppose that children quit at the eighth grade. That is about 14 years of age. Then what? Into trades? What trades? Who will train them? Can industry absorb them? Into farming? What farming? Who is going to entrust a kid with a $1,000 machine in a $4,000-acre grove? Can agriculture absorb this labor?

Mow lawns? They do that now. We have to chase them, but make peddle out of the front porch all day long. Make Gardens? Where and how and why and who'll pay for the water? How many kids will the register hire, except as newsboys and delivery boys? What stores will hire them?

What would the police do if the kids were turned loose at the adolescent age of 14. Could they be kept out of mischief? Would they be better off out of school than in? It has been charged that the schools are Communist. What farming? Who is going to entrust a kid with a $1,000 machine in a $4,000-acre grove? Can agriculture absorb this labor?

If curtailing education downward is good, curtailing more of it ought to be better, and a nation which could not read or write would be about as near Heaven—educationally—as we can hope to get. This would bring us to the apparently highly desirable intellectual standards of India and Mexico, where the poor get little or no education. Maybe it would be an industrial benefit and make us all rich and happy and contented. Let's give it a trial. You use your kids and I'll use mine and make guinea pigs of them in the interests of greater industry.

Book A Day

The next great war may still be simmering in Europe, but Nevil Shute ushers it in with full, terrible reality in his latest novel, "Ordeal" (Morrow; $2.50). You can imagine no title more fitting for this timely, shuddering story.

It is a story that might happen to any country, any city, any people. Shute chooses Southampton, England, for the scene of his disaster, but it might very well be New York, Cleveland or Omaha. The human problem that makes Shute's story so gripping is universal.

Imagine the terror of Peter Corbett that night in Southampton when suddenly the sky seemed to open and a shower of bombs began to tear the sleeping city apart. Imagine, too, the terror of his wife and babies. The Corbetts survived the first attack, but they were to know no rest, no hope thereafter.

For the same death-dealing bombers came back night after night and they came without warning. They cruised

Hubert Training Hard For Battle Thursday Night

Seven bouts between Golden Gloves champions, and at least five exhibition bouts will be presented at the Pampa athletic arena Thursday night beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Occasion will be an inter-city amateur boxing tournament between Pampa and Big Spring Golden Gloves champions.

Two hundred reserve ringside seat tickets will be placed on sale tomorrow morning at Gretna Drug store on North Cuyler street. The reserve seat tickets will sell for 75 cents, tax included. General admission will be 40 cents, tickets on sale only at the arena.

Big Spring will bring a state semi-finalist, two quarter finalists and other top-notch boys to meet the Pampa team which will include a finalist, a quarter-finalist and other boys who made excellent showings in the state Golden Gloves tournament last month in Fort Worth.

The Pampa winners are training long and hard for the coming battle. Denver Hubert, Pampa's ace lightweight, is working especially hard for his bout with Ellis Reed, champion of Big Spring team.

Another boy working for his last appearance in the local ring for at least a year is Robby Robertson of LeFors, featherweight, who lost a hairline decision in the state finals. Robertson will meet Jack Childress of Big Spring, last year finalist in the bantamweight class and five times a winner in bouts this year.

Little Benny Moore, 112-pound giant from Shamrock, knows he will meet one of the toughest in the state when he battles Ynez Yanez of Big Spring, who although weighing only 108 pounds went to the semi-finals in the state meet.

Other bouts will be just as classy and the boys are taking the meet seriously, according to Trainer Cliff Chambers.

Oklahomans Win Wrestling Title

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27 (AP)—Southwestern State Teachers' College of Oklahoma, National A. A. U. wrestling champion in 1933, 1934, and 1937, have added the 1938 championship to the list.

The Bulldogs scored 18 points in the tournament which ended early yesterday morning at the Golden Gate Exposition. The New York Athletic Club finished second with 15 points.

Southwestern State's defeat this year was by the Oklahoma Aggies, who won the N. C. A. A. title for the tenth time in 12 years.

Harvard Soph Eats 24 Live Goldfish

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 27 (AP)—A Harvard sophomore, Irving M. Clark, 20, of Seattle, Wash., claimed the goldfish eating championship today.

Clark reported he ate 24 live goldfish in a little more than five minutes yesterday, using orange juice as chaser after each fish. "I could have eaten 50," he declared.

Clark was spurred on, he said, by a telephone call from Pope of Franklin and Marshall College who bet him $50 he couldn't eat more than Pope. Pope is reported to have downed a mere three.

By EDDIE BRIETZ.

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—Scoop: Notre Dame's basketball contract in the Garden has expired and probably won't be renewed because the Irish (not Ned) don't want it to be. Bill Werber is spreading the news in Florida that Connie Mack is getting ready to quit baseball. Latest unconfirmed flash has Francis Schmidt going out and Jack Sutherland going in as football coach at Ohio State.

L. C. Davis, St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "Jack Roper, who fights Joe Louis in April, didn't receive honorable mention indicating the N. B. A. didn't think enough of Jack to rank him with the rankiest."

Dixie Specials: The Giants went for that fancy New Orleans grub in a big way, but not all of the Athletics. One of Connie Mack's young men went to the state meet and said: "Gimme a mess of meat and potatoes and a bottle of beer."

Zeke Bonura still gets fan mail from Chicago panning the White Sox for letting him go.

Don't shoot the old iron boss yet. Andy Coakley, who coached Lou Gehrig at Columbia, says not to worry about Lou; he's going to have one of his best years.

Sports cocktail: Dick Harlow went down to Fort Worth to watch Texas Christian pass in spring practice and came away with both eyes bulging. Jack Miley says in the New York Post that what Max Schmeling really came here for was to get the German rights to "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs"—which he got.

Helen Jacobs To Play in England

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., March 27 (AP)—Helen Jacobs, 30-year-old tennis star who quit the courts during the winter to write a historic novel here, will return to competition at Wimbledon in June.

She is rearming for the British test and a home stand at Forest Hills by running the shoes of William and Mary college men players.

Greatest man champion — "Tilden was the greatest courtman who ever lived. He had all the shots, the speed and the court ability, and not only that, he was the smartest."

Cubs Choice To Again Win League Title

By ROBERT MYERS.

LOS ANGELES, March 27 (AP)—Heading into the last week of their annual spring sojourn in Southern California, the hustling Chicago Cubs remain, in the eyes of this admiring locality, a solid choice to win the National league championship again.

Unquestionably the class of the far western division of the grapefruit league, the Cubs begin their trek east, via Arizona and Texas, Thursday night.

Peeking into the worry department of Manager Charles Leo Hartnett, the biggest problems seem to hinge around the slightly rheumatic joints of Shortstop Dick Bartell, and the pitching possibilities of Jerome Herman Dean.

The Dean matter isn't such a critical problem, at that, for the simple reason that his ailing arm is no new development and the success or failure of the Cubs is not founded on his ability to come back.

With or without Ol' Diz, Chicago has a fairly good mound corps, headed by General Bill Lee, ace of the circuit in 1938, and flanked by Clay Bryant, Larry French, Charlie Root, Relief Pitcher Jack Russell, and a couple of recruits who may prove of value.

As for Bartell, Hartnett believes he'll be able to take up regular duty in the infield, and if he falters, Steve Mesner can fill in. Mesner batted 331 with Indianapolis in 1938, and staided by the reliable Stan Hack on third and Billy Herman at second, may turn out a real find for the Cubs.

Phil Cavarretta remains Gabby's first choice at first, although you can hear a lot of argument on why the slim young Italian gets the call over Gabby.

Gabby's outfield has been functioning splendidly to date. Hank Leiber, in center, hasn't reached batting form, perhaps, but he had been better than expected in fielding. Joe Marty, the right fielder who was the hero—if there was any—of the Cuban engagement with the Yankees last fall, has snapped out of a moody batting strag and looks better than ever, while Auggie Galan likewise is hitting the ball.

Carl Reynolds and Jimmy Gleason are the other two outfielders on the roster.

A young fellow named Hartnett will be back for the eighteenth straight season to handle the catching, but now that he's the Cub manager you can look for a lot of work to fall on capable Gus Mancuso.

Sunday Was Big Day For Golfers

Most popular place in Pampa yesterday was the Pampa Country Club where nearly every golfer in the city showed up either during the morning or afternoon. Many were on hand both times.

The weather was ideal for golf. There was only a slight breeze, excepting for a few minutes in the middle of the afternoon when a light duster blew up.

Pete Nossent, club professional, has the course in good condition despite lack of rain. The fairways are dry but greens have been constantly watered until only two or three are windblown.

The annual meeting and election of officers will be held next month after which plans will be made for the most active year of all in golf circles.

Ski Champs From Seven Nations To Ride This Week

PORTLAND, Ore., March 27 (AP)—Downhill and slalom ski champions of seven nations will ride the slopes of Oregon's majestic Mt. Hood this week-end in the combined national championships and U. S. Olympic team trials.

The event, to be held April 1 and 2, ranks with any ever held in the country due to the magnitude of the entry list.

Among famed snow riders from foreign lands will be a five-gig team from Switzerland headed by Erna Steuri, former world and Arberg Kandahar champion; Fred Iselin of France; Vera Fraundfeld of Germany; Beidar Anderson of Norway; Helen Palmer-Tomkinson of England; Tom Mobernet will represent Canada and Dick Durrance, Harold Hillman, Ed Moservey, Hannes Schroll and Friedl Pfeiffer, will carry the banner of United States ski clubs.

Galveston Anicos Win AAU Cage Title

Grapefruit Grind Goings-On Good, Clean But Futile Fun

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—At this point in the baseball training-season everybody is usually trying to prove something by the goings-on in the Grapefruit grind. It's good, clean but futile fun.

The St. Louis Browns, who still are setting the pace in the exhibition exercises, can be beat and were yesterday for the first time in 11 games. The Philadelphia Phillies can win and did, twice, over the weekend after failing the first ten tries. In other words, anything can happen.

No difficult deduction is required, however, to determine that the hitters have caught up with the pitchers. In 58 games last week there were only three shutouts and fewer than a dozen contests in which less than ten runs were scored.

A census would be needed to list the home run makers and there are whole teams sporting batting averages above the charmed 300 mark. But just for the record these ramblings of the week's hitting splendor should be noted.

Dolph Camilli of the Brooklyn Dodgers hit three homers in one game against the Cards and added two others during the week. Joe Di Maggio, who left Fort Worth for the circuit in spring training games, collected three in two days.

A high team mark for one game was five by the Brooklyn Dodgers against the Cincinnati Reds.

All the well known sluggers were shaded by a rookie, Hal Reisler of the Dodgers. He appeared in three games and got eight hits, including two homers in one contest, in eight official times at bat. He bragged, "I can hit any right-hander living."

Although the Browns maintained their clutch on first place in the Loneey League standings, the best ride of the week was given by old Connie Mack's young Philadelphia Athletics, who won all their six games and handed the naughty New York Giants their only two setbacks of the spring.

The Yankees also began their trade a little more seriously and won six out of seven. On the other hand the Cincinnati Reds, who were just about to be voted the National League pennant without flipping for it, were beaten three times in a row and won just twice.

TEXAS LEAGUE BRIEFS

DALLAS, March 27 (AP)—Marvin Gramly, slight 150-pounder who starred with Lubbock last season, hurled superbly yesterday as the Dallas Texas leaguers, now his teammates, clouted 15 hits to defeat Lubbock of the West Texas-New Mexico league 16-2 in an exhibition baseball game here.

Meanwhile the Lubbock reserves were losing by an identical score to Marshall of the East Texas league in the East Texas city.

BROWNSVILLE, March 27 (AP)—The Phillies staged a three-run rally in the eighth to break a 2-2 tie and defeat the San Antonio Missions of the Texas league 5-2 here yesterday in an exhibition game.

Three bases on balls, a sacrifice, Morrie Arnovich's single, Merrill Mays' two-bagger and a long out-field fly by Bill Atwood brought the trio of tallies. Claude Passeau yielded only two hits in five innings pitched.

BEAUMONT, March 27 (AP)—The Fort Worth Cats got to Walter Schaffer for four runs in the second inning, coupled the result with a first inning marker, and defeated Beaumont's Exporters 5-4 here at exhibition baseball yesterday.

The win made it four out of five for Fort Worth in its protracted series with Beaumont.

Longhorns Play Browns

(By The Associated Press)

Southwest conference baseball teams will be officially idle until Thursday when Texas A. & M., invades Dallas to play Southern Methodist and Rice. Journeys to Fort Worth to meet Texas Christian.

Friday and Saturday the Aggies and T. C. U. will meet at Fort Worth and Rice will engage the Methodists at Dallas.

The potent University of Texas nine, idle in conference play for the entire week, will take on a hefty competition at Austin Thursday in an exhibition game with the St. Louis Browns. The Longhorns return to loop competition April 12 against S. M. U. at Dallas.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian, rained out Saturday in the second scheduled game of a two-game series, planned to play the clash was put off indefinitely when classroom examinations forced the Frogs to remain at home.

Baylor also will be idle this week. Texas, the defending champion, the Texas Aggies, and Southern Methodist, led standings with perfect averages as the first few days on conference competition ended.

The Longhorns, by virtue of two wins over Rice, and the Aggies, victors in a two-game series with Baylor, shaded the Mustangs in actual play, since the Methodists boasted only their Friday win from Texas Christian.

Maio League Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

LAKELAND, Fla.—Rudy York, the Detroit Tigers' slugger best known for home runs, is going after shorter hits, too, in exhibition games. His eight hits, including one circuit blow, in 21 turns at bat gave him an average of .381 and nearly a 50-point lead over the next best hitter on the squad. He had 33 homers last season, but an average of .298.

NEW ORLEANS—Viewing his favorites in four games was enough to make President Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants satisfied with their pennant prospects. "They certainly look good to me. And it's especially satisfying to see the swell condition Burgess Whitehead is in," Stoneham said before heading back to New York.

BRADENTON, Fla.—Paul Dean, the St. Louis Cardinals' sore-arm question mark, had a bad inning against the New York Yankees Saturday, but asserted today "the arm feels so good I could go out there and pitch even harder today." He believes a couple more starts will hit him for real action.

NEW ORLEANS—Jeff Heath is temporarily, at least, riding the Cleveland Indians' bench. Manager Oscar Vitt refused to say whether his removal from the lineup yesterday was because of a lackadaisical attitude toward practice games, but previously had complained publicly about Heath's failure to hustle and to try to remedy fielding faults.

SAN ANTONIO—The St. Louis Browns are taking a two-day rest from exhibition games and Manager Fred Haney thinks the time out is just what his charges need. "The club engagement with the Yankees of the season yesterday to Toledo's Mudhens, which Haney managed last season.

LAKE CHARLES, La.—Buck Ross, hindered by a sore arm in the latter part of the 1938 campaign, shows signs of becoming one of the Philadelphia Athletics' standouts this year. He looked good although giving three hits in a four-inning turn against Jersey City yesterday.

Guldahl Wins Golf Gold At Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 27 (AP)—Golf's national open champion, Ralph Guldahl, doesn't even speak optimistically, but the tall, broad-shouldered Madison, N. J., pro left this battle scene today and headed for Augusta, Ga., confident of taking the big end of the purse there.

With a check for $1,200 in his pocket for the first place payoff in the $5,000 Greensboro open, which he won with 280 strokes, Guldahl figured his two second finishes in the Augusta National against the all-star field headed by Bobby Jones should be enough.

"I'm due to win this time," said the big boy who has won the open crown for the last two years. "My wife told me I would win here and at Augusta and she's right about a lot of things. And my game is good now."

Guldahl took the Greensboro prize by three strokes over Lawson Little of Brittons Woods, N. H., who slipped after leading for 36 holes, and Clayton Heafner, 24-year-old Greensboro rookie.

Galveston Anicos Win AAU Cage Title

WICHITA, Kas., March 27 (AP)—Galveston's Anicos unleashed a victorious drive they had kept in reserve all week and crushed the Little Rock Flyers Saturday night, 21 to 8, for the championship of the women's national AAU basketball tournament.

So tight was the defending champions' defense the Flyers, holders of the title in 1937, got their first field goal late in the fourth period.

Longhorns Play Browns

(By The Associated Press)

Southwest conference baseball teams will be officially idle until Thursday when Texas A. & M., invades Dallas to play Southern Methodist and Rice. Journeys to Fort Worth to meet Texas Christian.

Friday and Saturday the Aggies and T. C. U. will meet at Fort Worth and Rice will engage the Methodists at Dallas.

The potent University of Texas nine, idle in conference play for the entire week, will take on a hefty competition at Austin Thursday in an exhibition game with the St. Louis Browns. The Longhorns return to loop competition April 12 against S. M. U. at Dallas.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian, rained out Saturday in the second scheduled game of a two-game series, planned to play the clash was put off indefinitely when classroom examinations forced the Frogs to remain at home.

Baylor also will be idle this week. Texas, the defending champion, the Texas Aggies, and Southern Methodist, led standings with perfect averages as the first few days on conference competition ended.

The Longhorns, by virtue of two wins over Rice, and the Aggies, victors in a two-game series with Baylor, shaded the Mustangs in actual play, since the Methodists boasted only their Friday win from Texas Christian.

Nick Wall To Ride El Chico In Derby

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—The little fellow with the sandy hair stood in the sun outside the barn full of racing stock and allowed it's going to be mighty nice to wear that necktie of roses on derby day in Louisville.

He's been booting them home a dozen years, this pleasant little Nick Wall. He won $325,000 in prize money for the owners of his horses last year.

But somehow you're not in the exclusive jockey set until you're aboard a Kentucky derby winner. Nick thinks this is his year, with him in the saddle and El Chico to do the stepping in the run for the roses.

"There's never been a horse as full of run as this one," he says, and he ought to know. He had the leg up in each of the seven straight races the William Ziegler Jr. colt took last year.

He is famous at the all-American "jinx" of the great Seabiscuit. Nick was aboard Jacala, Exposa, Today, and Stoghead, the latter in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, when each whipped the "Biscuit."

"Don't give me the credit, though," he hastens to explain. "I thank the handicapper. Not even Seabiscuit could spot 20 to 26 pounds to such good horses."

Oregon And Ohio State Will Play For Cage Title

EVANSTON, Ill., March 27 (AP)—The University of Oregon and Ohio State, exponents of the fast break and offensive basketball, play tonight at Northwestern university's Patten gymnasium for the championship of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

Both teams, playing on the theory a good offense is the best defense, carved impressive season records. Oregon won the Pacific Coast conference title, defeated Texas and Oklahoma in the N.C.A.A. western regional meet and wound up with 23 victories in 31 games.

Ohio State's record also is outstanding. The Buckeyes lost four of their seven games, then moved into high gear and took the Big Ten title with 10 victories in 12 games.

The Bucks averaged better than 58 points in downing Wake Forest and Villanova in the N. C. A. A. eastern regional meet.

Florida Youth Wins Skiing Tournament

SUN VALLEY, Idaho, March 27 (AP)—A youth who hails from a land without snow and a teacher of skiing came out of a tremendous three-day tournament today as the nation's best skier.

A slender Swiss miss, Erna Steuri, overshadowed all feminine competition.

Peter Radacher of Sun Valley placed together second positions in the Langlauf, downhill and Slalom, first in the down-hill-Slalom combined and seventh in jumping to win the national four-way open and its recognition as the best all-around skier in America.

Dick Durrance, Florida-born youth who went to Dartmouth college to study art, won the national four-way amateur meet and the title of best all-around amateur skier.

Miss Steuri won both events in the women's combined tournament.

BOWL KEEP IN TRIM!

Builds Stronger Bodies Keeps You Alert BERRY'S ALLEYS A. R. C. Regulations JOE BERRY, Prop. 117 N. FROST

Principal characters in the slam, bang 'rattle rattle to be staged tonight at the Pampa Athletic arena will be:

MAIN EVENT. Frankie Hill, the Kansas cyclone who has turned into a big, bad wolf, and Ernie Peterson, the California adonis, meeting in a re-tur engagement. Hill nearly annihilated Peterson last week but had his purse held up because of unsportsmanlike conduct in the ring. Tonight he'll be wrestling for his purse.

SEMI-FINAL. John Nemanic, the wild miler from Marysville, Calif., and Lem Stricklin, the original Hillbilly from Blue Ridge, Ky., whose pet and constant companion is a coon. It will be in his corner.

PRELIMINARY. Mickey Durano, the Argentine favorite, and Wildcat Billy McEwin, the Montana terror. It's a main event in itself.

REFEREE. Alfred (Dutch) Mantell of Amarillo if he can reach here in time for the matches. Mantell has a group of Maverick boys in Wichita Falls but will try to get back in time for the battles.

Everything's set for the big battle at the Pampa Athletic arena tonight at 8:15 o'clock. Promoter Cliff Chambers has raw meat in the dressing room, the original Hillbilly and ropes handy to tie up the maulers that get out of hand.

It's scheduled to be the wildest card in years or since the night Danny McShane and Rod Fenton went haywire down at Roadrunner Park. The headline attraction will be the Ernie Peterson-Frankie Hill return main event. Fans who say last week's meeting will be in front row seats while those who missed will be fighting for admission.

Kentucky's Lem Stricklin, the original hillbilly wrestler, will be on hand to back up Peterson and all to meet John Nemanic, rough and tough ex-referee. Oscar, the coon, will sit in his master's corner while that bearded mauler will attempt to tame Nemanic who is pretty cocky of his national victory last week.

Opening University of Chicago Mickey Durano of the Argentine to the mat with Billy McEwin and if fans are wise they'll be in their seats before the opening gong. The preliminary may steal the show, some fans believe.

Earle Meadows Batters Indoor Pole Vault Mark

CHICAGO, March 27 (AP)—Earle Meadows, formerly of the University of Southern California, and co-holder of the world's outdoor record for the pole vault, cleared 14 feet, seven inches Saturday night in the Chicago relay, bettering the recognized indoor record by more than two inches.

The indoor record is 14 feet, 4 7/8 inches, held by George Varoff, University of Oregon and was established in 1937 at Boston.

John Borican of Elberon, N. J., best of Howard Borck, New York, to the tape by 10 feet in the 1,000-yard run, running the distance in two minutes, 10.6 seconds, a half second behind the record. Mel Trutt of Indiana was third.

In another matched mile relay the University of Iowa defeated the University of Illinois by less than a foot in three minutes, 20.

CHAPTER XVI

"What?" Eric shouted, and rushed to the telephone. "The dam broke," Farrell repeated as he slumped into a chair...

"Yes, I'll be all right, soon as I get my breath." Eric came back into the room. "Diversion dam went out," he said...

"Those men are seriously hurt. They've nothing but barges up there, and they can't bring them down the river in this darkness..."

"Come in, Father," Dr. Farrell greeted him, introducing Eric as if nothing had happened. The telephone rang again...

"Tell him—tell him I don't know anything; tell him I'm not here. Here—I'll tell him." "Yes, Eric Kane, diversion dam went out, diversion—D-I-V-E-R-S-I-O-N..."

"I can handle it. No need of you going," Alan said. "You can't do it alone, son. See if you can get Weber and Grady, and Smith. Need them, too..."

"Then Alan again: 'We'll take that chance. Here, get Farrell into these boots and this coat. I'll get the stuff at the hospital, pick you up later...' Alan's car roaring out of the driveway..."

Eric pacing up and down the floor, cursing himself, softly. Dr. Farrell's labored breathing. The telephone ringing. For Eric, Eric shouting again...

"It's nothing, Emily, nothing. Back in the morning, early. Get some sleep. Nothing to worry about..."

A car stopping in the driveway. She let Dr. Grady in. Dr. Farrell explaining tersely. Dr. Grady damning all floods, damning the rain, damning anything...

ERIC saying: "It will take an hour to get upstream, if we're lucky. Maybe most of the debris will pile up on Price's Point..."

The doorbell again. Rotund little Father Johnson, the Catholic priest, from the church across town. "I heard about the dam," he said...

"Come in, Father," Dr. Farrell greeted him, introducing Eric as if nothing had happened. The telephone rang again...

"Tell him—tell him I don't know anything; tell him I'm not here. Here—I'll tell him." "Yes, Eric Kane, diversion dam went out, diversion—D-I-V-E-R-S-I-O-N..."

"Then Alan again: 'We'll take that chance. Here, get Farrell into these boots and this coat. I'll get the stuff at the hospital, pick you up later...' Alan's car roaring out of the driveway..."

CARS racing down dark streets. Dr. Weber, beside her, staring straight ahead. Emily snuggled closer to Alan. His raincoat was cold...

Past rows of dark houses. Past a few homes, blazing with light. They might have men—husbands, or fathers, or sons—working on the dam. Past the hospital...

A small, open launch tied up at the edge of the dock, its motor idling, straining at the ropes that held it. A man in oilskins at the wheel, speaking to Eric...

The river, dark, mysterious stretching out into blackness. Spotlights on the launch's prow stabbing only a few feet into the night...

Rain poured down upon Emily, wetting her hair, soaking through her coat. She shivered. Alan carrying grips and bulky packages from the car to the launch...

"I'll have someone call you as soon as we reach the dam, if the lines are still open," he said. Always thoughtful; so that she wouldn't worry...

But how could she keep from worrying with Alan gone into the blackness of the river— Even a small timber could tear a hole in the side of that fragile launch...

"Alan—Alan—come back! I love you!" Emily screamed for the world to hear. "I love—you!" The last word was muffled in a sob.

Court Upholds Power To Tax U. S. Incomes

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that a state has constitutional power to tax the salaries of employees or officials of the federal government or its instrumentalities.

This decision was delivered on litigation involving an attempt by New York and Utah to impose an income tax on federal employees.

The opinion in effect approved part of President Roosevelt's tax recommendation to Congress. He asked for legislation permitting reciprocal taxation of the salaries of federal and state employees.

Justice Stone delivered the decision in the New York case and Justice Black read the opinion in the Utah case.

While holding that Utah had the power under the federal constitution, the court returned the case appealed from that state to the Utah Supreme Court. This court will determine whether the state income tax law exempts the federal employee sought to be taxed.

Justice Stone asserted that the court's famous 1871 decision in the case of collector vs Day and other similar opinions were "overruled so far as they recognize an implied constitutional immunity from income taxation of the salaries of officers or employees of the national or state government or their instrumentalities."

In his dissenting opinion, Justice Butler said it may "safely be said that presently marked destruction of the doctrine of reciprocal immunity has been so much impaired."

Chief Justice Hughes, who is ill, concurred in the result in the New York case. He did not participate in the Utah decision.

fully and convincingly demonstrated his statesmanship and grasp of national affairs.

"His ability has been recognized in each and every one of the other 47 states of the American Union, as well as in his own state."

Garnier is hereby endorsed and put forward as a candidate for the nomination of the national Democratic party for the high office of president of the United States, which we believe he would fill with ability and distinction.

"We call on fellow Democrats in all of the states to instruct their delegates to the 1940 national Democratic convention to vote for the nomination of . . . Garnier as the candidate of the national Democratic party for the presidency of the United States at the 1940 general election."

The resolution was by Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe.

collees education. He wants to study aviation designing.

The Powell High school junior, whose parents live at Cody, Wyo., was felled tonight at a dinner.

Cox recounted how he knelt in a filling station and leveled a high-powered rifle at the ranch hand.

"When I was leveling my rifle at Durand," the youth said, "he looked up and saw me. He was about to take a shot at me when I fired. My shot struck him in the chest."

Cox said that he was positive that the shot that killed John Gawthrop, 20, the bank teller, was fired by Durand.

Cox shot down the bad man of the mountains as he was emerging from the bank, using Gawthrop as a shield.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—The stock market had a falling start today after a forenoon bulge of fractions to around 2 points. Gains and declines of most amounts were about evenly divided at the close.

Brokers said traders apparently were a trifle discouraged. A refusal of the list to respond more wholeheartedly to so-called "good news."

Following London, Paris and Amsterdam in a quiet uptick in the first hour. The initial climb was attributed to the more conciliatory than expected tone of Mussolini's Sunday speech which brought renewed hopes Italy and France would settle their row over the former's demand for colonies without touching off the much-feared European explosion.

At the same time, potential stock buyers seemingly were none too confident regarding the foreign outlook.

Among the active issues were Goodrich, Boeing, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, N. Y. Central, American Coking, Allied Chemical and Woodworth.

Lagging were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Santa Fe, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Western Union, Johnson & Johnson, and General Electric.

Crop Insurance Meet To Be Held In Miami
Representatives of the farm program in Gray, Lipcomb, Hemphill, Wheeler and Roberts counties will meet in Miami on March 30 for a discussion of wheat crop insurance for the 1939-40 season and 1939 wheat price adjustment payments by the AAA.

Bill Dryden, Panhandle area field representative of the AAA, is to be in charge of the meeting and explain plans to make the crop insurance policies more conveniently obtained in the future. Delegates are to include Agricultural Conservation secretaries and treasurers, county committeemen, Extension Service representatives, and county crop insurance supervisors.

Illness Of AAA Employees Delay Farmers' Checks

Influenza put a fifth of the employees of the state AAA office at College Station on the sick list recently. County Farm Agent Ralph R. Thomas, and C. W. Bowers, chairman of the Gray County Agricultural Conservation association learned while they were at College Station on business last week.

The office employs 500 persons. Of these, 115 were absent from work on account of illness. This is the reason agricultural conservation checks to Gray county farmers have not been received here as rapidly as has been expected, Mr. Bowers said.

Acree allotments for the 1939 farm programs in Gray county are: wheat, 95,852 acres; general (sudan, kafir, etc.) 47,596 acres; cotton, 7,483.

CRASH

Just west of the municipal airport boundary lights about 3 a. m. It just had taken off into a north westerly direction. "Turn on lights. Returning to field."

The pilot and co-pilot were thrown from the wreckage. The two passengers who escaped alive pulled off their safety belts and struggled from the plane just as it caught fire.

The bodies of the victims were slumped in the forward part of the ship. The hostess, Miss Louise Zarr, 25, Dallas, was at her post.

Miss Joan Allan, 35, an Evanston, Ill. nurse and one of the eight victims, had "sensed a tragic death because of a terrible dream she had two weeks ago."

A friend, Miss Elena Gould of Evanston, said a note was found in Miss Allan's room addressed to friends, Mr. and Mrs. William Baker of South Bend, Ind. It began:

"I am not expecting any accident, but in case one should occur these are my requests."

The ship was bound from Chicago to Dallas.

The crash was the first fatal to a passenger in the airline's history, since company employees were killed Dec. 23, 1935, in a test flight at Dallas.

Two of the victims, Ben Coplon and Barney G. Crossman, 37, brothers-in-law, were en route to the bedside of Coplon's wife, Ida, in Houston, Tex., hospital. Coplon lived at Chicago, Grossman at Aurora, Ill.

Others killed were R. T. Bate, Denver; Mrs. Georgia Sheldon of Omaha; Fermin Cairo, Mexico City, and Mrs. E. Hinckley, Port Isabel, Tex.

Charles Beard, vice president in charge of traffic for Braniff, praised the "skillful handling" of the plane by Seaton and Wallace as "undoubtedly responsible for saving the lives of two of the passengers."

ALIEN

a Senate immigration sub-committee would report in a few days on a half dozen bills affecting aliens, introduced by Senator Reynolds (D-NC).

One of the measures would direct the secretary of labor to deport any alien whose presence she might find to be "injurious to the public interest." Another would open the way to deporting all aliens who subsist on relief for more than a specified length of time.

A third would require fingerprinting and registration of all aliens and would tighten entrance requirements. Still another would suspend all immigration until unemployment rolls fall to 3,000,000. One bill would reduce immigration quotas 90 percent.
