107 Arrested In February

Arrests made by city police officers during the month of February, including tickets issued for traffic violations, totaled 107, according to the report of Police Chief J. L. Downs filed with City Manager W. T. Williamson today.

Fines assessed by Judge W. M. Criven amounted to $496 of which $230.50 was collected. Prisoners worked a total of 14 days while others served 72 days laying out their fines. Five cases were dismissed and 10 were transferred to the county.

Officer W. C. Dillman had the most arrests, 42, with Officer Lawrence Flaherty next with 32. Both are traffic men.

Twenty-four of those arrested were charged with intoxication, the report revealed. Seventeen were charged with speeding as the police continued their ceaseless war to eliminate that menace on Pampa streets.

Pampa firemen answered only six alarms during the month of February according to a report filed by Chief Ben White with City Manager W. T. Williamson today.

There was no property loss on three legitimate calls in the city. Two of the other calls were false alarms and the other was to White Deer where a large building was destroyed. The Pampa truck arrived in time to assist in keeping the fire from spreading to the main business district.

16 Missing In Halifax Fire; Twenty Hurt

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, March 2—(Canadian Press)—Sixteen persons were missing, many of them feared dead, after an early morning fire swept through the half-century-old Queen Hotel and then spread to adjacent buildings.

Twenty others were in hospitals suffering spinal injuries, compound fractures and burns. Many victims were hurt when they jumped from hotel windows as the flames roared swiftly through the old wood and stucco structure.

Unofficial estimates of the missing ran as high as 27 persons, but police said the hotel register had been lost in the fire and it might be days before a complete list could be compiled.

Former Federal Judge Indicted

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Martin T. Manton, former Senior Judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, was indicted on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government by a special grand jury today.

Indicted with the former jurist was George M. Spector, insurance agent and one-time representative of the late Archie M. Andrews, financier.

The indictment contained three counts. Conviction would make the two men liable to a maximum sentence of six years in prison and a $500 fine.

HANOVER COURTHOUSE, Va., March 2 (AP)—Dr. William E. Dodd, former ambassador to Germany, was fined $250 and costs in Hanover circuit court today on a plea of guilty to a charge of hit-run driving involving an injury to a negro child.

Mrs. Blythe Taking Census

Most of the patrons of the Pampa Independent school district know Mrs. Lillian A. Blythe, school census enumerator, so it is not necessary to describe her. Mrs. Blythe, who has been "taking the census" for several years, began her annual visits yesterday.

That means that if patrons see Mrs. Blythe at their front door or gate, they should call off the dogs and welcome her, for every name of children of school age they give to her the school district will get $22, and every name they fail to give her the school district will lose $22. So it behooves every patron of the district to comply with the law.

Some patrons mistake Mrs. Blythe for some kind of agent or saleslady and peep at her warily from behind their window shades, but most of them know her and readily give her the information she desires, which includes ages and birth dates of children in the family who are of school age.

Mrs. Blythe is now working in the oil field camps south of town. The enumeration will continue during this month.

Pius XII Toured U. S. In 1936 And Visited President

VATICAN CITY, March 2 (AP)—Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli today was elected 262nd Pope of the Holy Roman church on his 63rd birthday and assumed the name of Pius XII.

The name under which the new pontiff will be spiritual ruler of 331,500,000 Catholics was assumed in recognition of his succession to Pius XI, to whom he was papal secretary of state.

The election of the eminent Italian Cardinal on the third ballot of the first day of the conclave's voting was without precedent in the modern history of the church.

Not since 1623, when Benedict XV was chosen, has a conclave acted so promptly.

The new pontiff has a thorough knowledge of the church in the United States, where he was a visitor in October and November, 1936. He was received by President Roosevelt, two days after the latter's election, at Hyde Park. On a quick trip across the country by air, he visited Chicago, St. Paul, San Francisco, St. Louis and Cincinnati in less than six days.

Class Hatred Is Target Of Gov. O'Daniel

WASHINGTON-ON-THE-BRAZOS, March 2 (AP)—Ten thousand Texans gathered here today where their forefathers declared their freedom from Mexico 103 years ago and heard Governor W. Lee O'Daniel decry class hatred, which he said threatened guarantees of pensions for the aged and needy.

Introduced after Congressman Lyndon Johnson had read a congratulatory telegram from President Roosevelt, O'Daniel said:

"Friends, I am about 103 years too late to save this state from those who would engender class hatred."

The governor, whose libellous band previously had entertained with songs he popularized in his gubernatorial campaign, asked for a re-consecration to the fundamental principles of democratic government as expressed in the state's constitution.

Further, he asked a re-consecration to those principles laid down 103 years ago by George C. Childress, who wrote the Texas declaration of independence from Mexico in the little blacksmith shop just over the hill on which he stood to speak.

Phillie Police Charged With Protecting Vice

PHILADELPHIA, March 2 (AP)—The police department of the nation's third largest city, from the mayor down to the most obscure patrolman, was charged by a special grand jury today with "protecting" and permitting the "ravages of commercialized vice and crime" to flourish on a widespread scale.

Winding up a 17-month-long investigation of vice conditions, the jury declared in its final presentation that political domination of the department by the mayor and high city officials had resulted in the police being "derelict in their duty to their superiors and the public."

Upon the jury's recommendation, Mayor Wilson was indicted earlier this week on charges of misbehavior in office and failure to suppress gambling. The mayor is vacationing in Florida.

Eat And Digest Beauty "Foods that will beautify women" was the prospect offered by the vice president of a large food corporation at recent current events forum attended by 3,000 New York clubwomen. Some of them seemed to feel they didn't need any beauty-food, but the majority ate it up. Likely things over-eat soon: those charms and contour delicacies are on the market. How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 42), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life.

Time To Get Off Dead Center Again

While snowflakes still fly in northern cities, nevertheless spring is just where prosperity used to be—"right around the corner."

While eyes still watch eagerly for that first crocus and that hardy earliest robin, something else is being watched with closest attention.

It is the business upturn that is now so long overdue.

Always a wise and well-balanced man, William Allen White of Emporia, Kan., has something to say about this that deserves wider circulation than is provided even by his justly-famous Gazette.

Returning from a California vacation, White circulated about his home town and found:

"Trade is good, but some way psychology is sagging. We ought to buck up and look around and count our blessings. . . . Times are looking up across the land. It would appear that we are to have a new attitude in our national government. Business is being considered. Commercial Street everywhere in Kansas, and in the Nation is beginning to get a break."

White is no Pollyanna. He is best known for the way in which he can look a fact in the face and say "Hello!"

The business machine has been idling along in neutral for some time. And nobody knows quite why. Both President Roosevelt and Treasury Secretary Morgenthau have announced that no tax changes are in prospect. That guarantees the tax stability for which so many have cried. The spring building season is about to open, and federal contributions to building will reach their height in early spring.

Secretary Hopkins is busily attempting to promote that better understanding between the administration and business which is so much to be desired. The stage for revival is set, but the actors refuse to take their places or to speak their lines.

Prompters Roosevelt, Morgenthau, Hopkins and others have given the cue, not once but several times. It is now up to the actors to pick up their lines and carry on the play.

The shadow of war hangs over all the world, but more and more people are being convinced that it may not be as black as it has been painted.

Probably as always, spring recovery will get under way before anyone realizes it, and when it does, the ones who are left behind will be the ones who didn't get into gear before the light changed.

The Nation's Press

THE BELIEF APPROPRIATION (N. Y. Times)

The President has lost no time in returning to the issue on which he was defeated in the Senate only a few days ago by the margin of one vote. He insists that the sum of $725,000,000 appropriated for work-relief during the next five months is inadequate and he urges Congress to appropriate at once the additional $150,000,000 which he recommended in the first place.

The President's argument is based upon two premises, one of which Congress itself has given him. For Congress, yielding to the pressure brought to bear on it, set a limit of 5 per cent on any reduction of WPA employment during the months of February and March, and the President notes that the effect of this limitation will be to require a much sharper reduction during the three succeeding months than would otherwise be necessary.

The second premise of the President's argument is that the average monthly wage now paid by WPA must remain at the present figure of $61. On this basis he finds that it will be possible to provide work-relief during the months of April, May and June for less than one-half of the 3,000,000 persons now employed by WPA. But in reply to this it can be pointed out, as it was during the recent debate in the Senate, that a moderate reduction of the present average monthly wage, or even a reduction of the differentials under which WPA now pays some workers in some regions nearly twice as much as it pays other workers in the same region, would permit a considerably larger number of persons to be employed, with no greater expenditure of funds.

There has been evidence in Congress of a growing belief that the whole present system of relief stands in need of a basic revision which would make it as far as possible self-terminating, to the extent that business conditions and private employment improve, rather than self-perpetuating, as seems to be the case at present. The President's message of yesterday can scarcely fail to sharpen the issue here. For the $150,000,000 at stake in this continuing controversy has become something of a symbol: the symbol of a determination on the part of Congress to exercise its prerogatives in the face of Administration pressure and its increasing concern over an unbalanced budget which is now out of hand.

TAX EDUCATION FOR PUBLIC (From the Illinois State Register)

New Jersey is considering a bill which requires landlords to include in their statements to tenants a notation showing what proportion of the rent collected is used to pay taxes on the property. The idea is to impress upon renters that they, too, are contributing to the high taxes on real estate.

This is but one of many measures which have been suggested for bringing into the open, various forms of hidden taxes and acquainting the public with their details. It is believed by some, that if every person knew just what he was contributing to the expense of government, there would be less indifference to government waste and extravagance.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life ---

By R. C. Hoiles

EFFECTS OF PRICE FIXING BY LABOR UNIONS

Previously I attempted to answer a part of a communication from the Central Labor Council published in this newspaper. There were some other inconsistencies in the article which needed clarification.

The Central Labor Council says that they are not "industrial economists." Now, if they claim they do not understand economics and, yet, admit the right to establish an arbitrary wage, how can they claim they are humanists if they want to fix prices, when they admit they do not understand "industrial economics"? Is not price an essential feature of "industrial economics"?

They contend that their limiting of apprentices is for the reason that there is no demand for the worker, after he has learned the trade.

They overlook the fact that they are largely the cause of the lack of demand for workers, because they establish such arbitrarily high wages, thereby making the product so high it cannot be freely bought by others.

Would the Central Labor Council contend that the amount of wages and the rate they have for producing an article has no effect whatever on the demand for that product? Then, if they so claim, then why not make the wages higher? And if they are responsible for their wages being arbitrarily high, they are responsible for the lack of demand for labor in their fields. And the higher they make the cost of their finished product, by shortening hours, by inefficient and by arbitrary regulations, naturally the less demand there is for labor. Then, labor unions, undoubtedly, by their interference with free exchanges, are largely the cause of millions of people being out of work. And yet the labor unions constantly prattle about a fair wage. They have no conception of what fairness means. It means to them fairness to themselves and no consideration for the lowered standard of living of those whom they will not permit to work at the job they have monopolized.

Legalized Monopoly

The labor union article contends that the District Attorney's office should be informed of unlawful combines and restraining of trade.

The principle under discussion was whether labor unions operated for the good of all and not whether they were violating the law. We were not discussing the laws. It is true, under the Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, it is not unlawful for labor to combine to make things scarce. Business enterprises are prevented by the Sherman Anti-Trust Law from combining to make things scarce, but there is no remedy by law to prevent labor unions from combining for restraint of trade. And there can be no remedy for the outrages of collective bargaining, sponsored by labor unions, and demagogic politicians until public opinion begins to realize that the unions are not working for the good of all, as they so blantly proclaim to the world, but are working for their own benefit to the great detriment of the men outside of the labor union who have to exchange for the products of union labor, made unfairly and unreasonably high by labor union rules such as seniority, limiting learners, limiting hours of work, being obliged to hire help not as efficient as is available, and many other ways.

The Central Labor Body concludes its statements, with the inference that they are the great benefactors of humanity by raising wages, that they are performing a humanitarian service, and that they expect to be the targets of those interested in private profits. Does the Central Labor Body contend that it does not believe in private profits? If so, how much different are they from the leaders of Russia?

And these misguided union labor advocates, who say—and probably actually believe, they are performing a humanitarian service, are not even benefitting their own members. This is true because they insist on collective bargaining that results in their product being so out of line as to price that millions of men are prevented from being employed and the total production of the country is, thus, greatly reduced. Thus even the labor union members themselves are eventually obliged to do without many of the comforts of life they could have if all workers were permitted to work on a free and open market. And when the thing goes far enough, and the lack of parity of prices becomes too pronounced, discontent in the country becomes so general that the government steps in to relieve the unequal wages so that then even the union members lose their temporary advantage. And then they are obliged to work for much less than they would have had to work if they hadn't tried to temporarily gain an advantage over other workers by collective bargaining. So in the long run, it hurts everyone.

Remember the columns of this newspaper are open for the Central Labor Body, or any member of the Labor Body, to explain and answer these questions. It is an important subject and should be thoroughly, honestly and fearlessly discussed.

Johnny Weismuller, who thinks session (which perhaps wasn't to be sneezed at in those days). The pay now is $10,000 a year, about $27.50 a day every day in the year, or nearly $60 a day for days they are in session.

Congress adjourned from day to day and by March 11 the eight senators got tired of it and sent out a circular asking the 18 absent members to come in. By March 18, with still no new members present, the diligent eight wrote to the eight nearest senators and asked them to show up.

The House finally got a quorum on April 1. A Senate quorum showed up April 6. The first job was to count the electoral college ballots and learn who were elected President and vice-president. They already knew, of course, just as they know now. The House and Senate still go through the motions of tabulating the electoral vote.

They appointed members to tell Washington and John Adams that they were President and vice-president. The notification reached Adams at Boston, where he had just returned from nine years' abroad. Escorted by troops from border to border of the states he crossed, Adams came riding gloriously into New York.

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, March 2—Short takes: All of the six-month contracts for players in "Gone With the Wind" provide for a "lax" period without pay, and David Selznick is taking advantage of this during the suspension of production. So now the actors and actresses are going around grumbling (with a grin) that "GWTW" is being done so realistically it's even paying off in Confederate money.

It now develops that there was friction throughout the first few weeks of filming. Clark Gable at one time had wanted Victor Fleming to direct, but Vivien Leigh, Leslie Howard and others were stoutly in favor of George Cukor. Cukor, in turn, liked the Sidney Howard screen play and wanted to follow it. But Selznick himself didn't like it and would sit up nights rewriting it.

Freddie Bartholomew, who'll be 15 on March 28, is about to have his first screen romance. In "The Spirit of Oliver" he develops a puppy-love regard for Katherine "Sugar" Kane, who has the role of a screen actress. . . . After the day Friday, when Sugar had to pose together for publicity stills. "It was rather a terrifying experience," said Bartholomew, mopping his embarrassed brow.

Washington came along later from Mount Vernon and people lined the streets of cities through which he passed.

Meanwhile Congress got around to doing some business. On April 7, one day after a quorum, showed up, the Senate appointed a committee to draft a bill organizing the judiciary.

By April 8 the House was ready for speeches and the first of any importance was delivered by the young James Madison, delegate from Virginia, who had had a hand in framing the Constitution.

"The Union," said he, "by the establishment of a more effective government having recovered from the state of imbecility (gad, what a word) that heretofore prevented a performance of its duty ought in its first act to revive those principles of honor and honesty that have too long lain dormant."

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Exactly five years ago, Pampa was excited because two boys, one 11, and one 13, were being held in the county jail. For a week there were front-page stories in the News under big headlines, discussing details and angles of the case. Mrs. Violet Greenhill, from the Austin office of the Texas Division of Child Welfare, made a special trip to Pampa in connection with the case. . . . Now today, five years later, a 12-year-old boy is being held in the county jail. He has been in a cell for almost two weeks. No plans for disposition of his case have been announced, and the lad has almost become the "forgotten boy."

Just five years ago, Olin E. Hinkle wrote the following comments about the case of the two boys being held in jail then. They fit the present case just as they did the case five years ago:

"Jail experience is an awful thing in a child's life, in the opinion of those present at the mass meeting at which Mrs. Greenhill spoke and many others who have learned of the problem. The cry of 'jail bird' is often hurled at such boys by their later class mates. Staying in jail tends to affect the boys' whole attitude toward law and society. For that reason the Texas law relating to juvenile delinquents says that no child be held in jail as punishment. Detention in jail is possible only when the county or district judge thinks this is necessary to insure the presence of the child at a court hearing. . . . A child is not a criminal because he steals, he is delinquent by definition but the state does not intend that he shall be sent to the reform school, which is for older, hardened youthful offenders. . . . Placing children in jail is not good for them."

nothing of diving among rocks and crocodiles, slipped in his bathtub and cracked a bone in his elbow. "Angels Schlessinger is burlesquing "Angels With Dirty Faces" with a cartoon called "Slugs With Dirty Mugs" . . . "Wizard of Oz" is the most expensive picture since "The Good Earth" and will cost about $3,000,000. By April 8 the House was ready for speeches and the first of any importance was delivered by the young James Madison, delegate from Virginia, who had had a hand in framing the Constitution.

"The Union," said he, "by the establishment of a more effective government having recovered from the state of imbecility (gad, what a word) that heretofore prevented a performance of its duty ought in its first act to revive those principles of honor and honesty that have too long lain dormant."

After a time he got down to the meat of the matter, as House members do, even to this day, and proposed a tax. "But the system must be such a one," he said, "that while it secures the object of revenue, it shall not be oppressive to our constituents." So now you know where that idea started also.

How's Your Health?

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN.

While all now recognize the fact that the human being must have vitamins in his diet in order to resist infectious disease and avoid the effects on human tissues due to vitamin deficiencies, few people stop to realize that animals must also have vitamins to be healthy. Development of foods for domestic animals containing the necessary vitamins has come to be a large industry. Just as human beings differ one from the other in ability to eat and absorb vitamins, so also do animals differ, not only individually, but also as species.

A deficiency of vitamin A in the diet of the human being may result in the symptom known as night blindness. For the average domestic animal night blindness may not be serious, but it may be exceedingly important for the horse used for driving at night. A horse fed largely on field-cured hay and oats, both of which are low in vitamin A, might have difficulty in seeing well at night.

Most farm animals get their vitamin A from the carotene of green plants, from yellow roots and from yellow corn. Animals which live on meat get most of their vitamin A from liver and other glandular organs. Muscle meat is not rich in vitamin A. Therefore dogs particularly do well if supplied with extra amounts of vitamin A from the fish liver oils.

Exactly as human beings fail to grow well, and develop various symptoms as a result of vitamin B deficiency, so also do all of the domestic animals.

Studies of domestic animals in the United States indicate that there is little likelihood of vitamin deficiencies in dairy animals, in horses, sheep and goats that are pasture fed except during times of drought.

Moreover, pigs, chickens, turkeys and ducks which have access to natural food supplies and which may also be fed some corn, rarely show diseases traceable to lack of vitamins.

However, domestic animals and pets taken away from their natural food supplies—cows that are barn fed, and horses, sheep and goats kept under restricted conditions—may develop vitamin deficiencies. Dogs, cats and birds kept in the home, as pets are likely to be less scientifically fed than farm animals. For this reason the use of prepared foods, supplied with the necessary vitamins and minerals, is recommended.

The aggregate area of the West Indies is nearly 100,000 square miles.

Washington came along later from Mount Vernon and people lined the streets of cities through which he passed.

Meanwhile Congress got around to doing some business. On April 7, one day after a quorum, showed up, the Senate appointed a committee to draft a bill organizing the judiciary.

By April 8 the House was ready for speeches and the first of any importance was delivered by the young James Madison, delegate from Virginia, who had had a hand in framing the Constitution.

QUITE SERIOUSLY, THE Department of Agriculture recently proposed a label for rayon dresses which would tell the consumer what he is getting. It began like this:

"This garment has a breaking strength of 60 pounds in the warp and 50 pounds in the weft, and the percentage of fabric elongation at the breaking point was 10 per cent in the warp and 10 per cent in the weft."

WELL, SIR, THAT'S going to be quite some label by the time they get through with it. The garment won't need any lining. The label will take its place. . . . Seriously, it seems doubtful that the average person would be deeply interested in the elongation of the wool, as long as it didn't warp.

More than 37 per cent of Nazi youth have flat feet from marching. Aha, we can breathe easier! Maybe they'll be exempt from the next war. . . . A California angling novice caught a shark on his first fishing expedition. That ruins his career. How can he be expected to get excited about a sunfish from now on?

WALSH OF MASSACHUSETTS wants the eagle preserved because it's the official bird. Not in Brooklyn, senator. The Treasury just reported that U. S. internal revenue dropped 140 million in the last eight months. With income taxes on the way, this is a fine time to come out with that. . . . March 17 makes one wish that Patrick was born today. The old boy could do some mighty helpful snake driving right in America.

After two unfortunate adventures in marriage, Johnny Weismuller has announced plans to take a third bride, Fazzan the Fearless. . . . Men's full-dress suits are coming out in colors. Suppose now a guy will have to possess a wardrobe of them so he can always match his lady friend's formal.

The U. S. sells planes to England and France; France sells iron ore to Germany; Russia sells oil to Italy. It all probably comes under the heading of business, as usual. . . . The month of March isn't so bad to live through after all. It's a breeze, isn't it? . . . Father used to be mighty pleased when Sonny grew up and joined the town band. But now he has the town band to worry about.

Nobody thinks much of the world any more, but you'll think even less of it after reading "Secret Armies" (Modern Age, 50 cents).

John L. Spivak, who is a sort of left-wing combination of Floyd Gibbons and Leon G. Temou, has strung together here, with photographic and overwhelming detail, all the nasty underground work being done all over the world today by fascism.

He names names, places, dates. And as much of his material has been previously published and is therefore generally undervalued and unrefuted, one inclines to credit Spivak with being the most circumstantial journalistic investigator of modern times. When he names the two French industrialists whom he accuses of bombing two union headquarters to discredit the communists, and describes their rendezvous to plot the crime, he even tells you what kind of wine they ordered. (It was St. Julien, Chateau Leoville-Poyferre, 1870, if you care about wines.)

This is sensational stuff, a new version of the "selling down the river" of Czechoslovakia by the Cliveden set; details of the French Cagoulard plot, which still threatens the French republic and which the French police and army know about but do nothing to squelch. Spivak asserts: German, Italian, and Japanese intrigues in Mexico and Central and South America; the Nazi propaganda in the United States; other domestic efforts to organize fascist and anti-Semitic movements; and a rousing kick in the pants for the Dies committee as specializing in communism, but ignoring Nazi activities in this country.

Spivak, as always, is specific, direct, circumstantial. Until and unless refuted in detail, his stands as the most damning accusation yet made of underground machinations of fascism, foreign and domestic.—W. T.

Hopkins May Be Spokesman For Business

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—A suggestion that Secretary Hopkins act as a spokesman for business during congressional consideration of Wagner labor act amendments came today from members of the senate labor committee.

These senators said Hopkins has been discussing possible revision of the act in conferences with business men, and that he would be well qualified to present the business viewpoint.

It was reported reliably Hopkins already is studying proposed amendments at the request of Chairman Thomas, democrat, Utah, of the labor committee. The labor department and the labor relations board also have the suggestions under scrutiny.

There has been no announcement of the administration's attitude on changing the act. In the past, indications have been the labor board and the C. I. O. were opposed to any major changes. The A. F. of L. has been urging adoption of amendments.

Appointed at the request of President Roosevelt, peace negotiating committees from the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. will be called by Secretary Perkins to meet some time next week.

Hopkins called together the business advisory council today to consider the administration's recent overtures to business. A new member of the council to be inducted today was George A. Hill Jr. of Houston, Texas, president of the Houston Oil company.

Hired Hand Quizzed In Double Slaying

EDINBURG, Ind., March 2. (AP)—State police planned to question Clifford Redmond, lanky Hoosier hired hand, today in a quest for the motive that drove him to the confessed slaying of a farm couple near here Tuesday midnight.

They brought him back to Indiana from Vandalia, Ill. State's Attorney Floyd Sonnemans said there last night. Redmond admitted killing Paul Brand, 40, and Mrs. Mary Jayne Brand, 43, and laid the deed to the fact he was drunk.

Corner Walter L. Porteus declared evidence showed the farm hand, while he had been drinking, was not intoxicated. Brand's billfold, in which he often carried $100, was missing and the house had been ransacked, the corner said.

Both victims were shot in the head with a .22-caliber rifle while they were in bed. In addition, Brand was stabbed in the neck with a butter knife and beaten with the rifle butt.

Texas University Due To Win Cage Title Tonight

The Southwest conference basketball season comes to a close tonight (Thursday) with the Texas University team virtually assured of the title but with Arkansas university retaining a chance to go into a tie for the top rung with the Longhorns.

Texas should lose and Arkansas win, the Razorbacks would move into a tie with the Longhorns. Arkansas defeated Rice Wednesday night, 50-45.

S. M. U. are tied for third place, each having won seven games and lost four.

Dewell Named As Finest Southwest Cage Center

By WILLIAM T. RIVES Associated Press Staff Billy Dewell, Southern Methodist's great all-around athlete, capped a brilliant collegiate basketball career by leading the Associated Press 1938 All-Southwest conference team.

The scrapping Dodge City, Kas., youth was picked by conference coaches for the third straight year as the league's finest center.

He joined a group of youngsters—fleet of foot, keen of eye and strong in the clinches—to round out a versatile crew of ball hawks—Long John Adams, scoring sensation from Arkansas, and Pete Creasy of Baylor, forwards, and Bobby Moers, Texas, and Frank Carswell, Rice, guards.

Creasy barely edged past his teammate Grady Vaughn, basket-peppering sophomore.

Moers and Creasy are juniors; Adams and Carswell, sophomores. Dewell, Moers and Adams were the breath of life for their teams, and every coach cast first-place ballots for them.

Southern Methodist floundered after a burst of speed at the start, and failed to justify the experts' predictions of a second straight championship. Dewell's play suffered somewhat with his team's, but he still was good enough to coast in.

Adams shoved his Razorbacks into a contending position after a ragged start. His scoring spree never let up and coaches believe he'll be a three-year man on the mythical quintet.

Far and away the conference's greatest individual player was Bobby Moers. His ball-handling was magical, and frequently he interrupted enemy drives by stealing the ball. The championship-bound Longhorns were singled by Moer's flaming competitive spirit and never let up. Besides performing a splendid defensive chore, he was a 100-point man through the season.

Creasy did a yeoman job for the Baylor Bears, getting a smooth, point-producing offensive game as his forward position, then dropping back to guard the opposition's most potent scorer.

Garswell's specialty of dropping in shots from beyond the foul line had other teams frantic at his devious ball-handling, he led many down-court drives and was a backboard specialist.

Making up the second team were Vaughn and Virgil (Country) Wilkerson of S. M. U. forwards; Willie Tate, Texas captain, at center; and Oran Spears and Howard Hickey, Arkansas, guards.

J. D. Norton, captain and forward of the S. M. U. 1938 champions, had a chance, like Dewell, to crawl in a first-place berth for the third consecutive time, but his standard of play was far below last year's.

'Ferdinand' Bull Fights Proposed In Arkansas House

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 2 (AP)—Bull fights in a "Ferdinand" were proposed in the Arkansas house today.

Rep. Keelin Anthony introduced a bill to legalize exhibition bull fights—provided the weapon was used and the animals would not be subjected to any injury causing physical pain, suffering, or death.

How a weaponless matador was to defend himself before a ferocious bull was not explained.

Buff Yearlings To Play Three Games

CANYON, March 2.—West Texas State's undefeated Yearling basketball team will dominate the local athletic scene while the Buffaloes are at the Southwest tournament at El Paso.

The frosh will battle Eastern New Mexico Junior college here Friday evening. Coach Jack Curtice's rangy youngsters defeated the New Mexico men at Portales a few weeks ago, but had to set a fast pace to do it. Since then the Portales lads have had the fuller schedule.

A severe test will be experienced by the yearlings Saturday night at Lubbock, where the Texas Tech freshmen will be engaged. The freshmen's last home game will be played here against the same team Monday evening.

Dempsey's Latest Prospect Is Diver
NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Jack Dempsey unveiled a diver as his latest heavyweight fight prospect today, and the New York boxing writers gasped when they heard Wild Bill Boyd, the fighter in question, admit it.

"But don't get me wrong, boys," the ex-sailor man hastened to add. "All my diving is done in a swimming tank. I'm pretty good at it, too. I have ambitions to go places as a swimmer and diver before I turned to fighting."
Boyd went on to tell of his boxing "career." It's still quite young having started professionally less than two years ago, but to date it's blossoming quite nicely. His record shows 20 victories, including 18 knockouts, in 24 pro starts.
Dempsey liked the way Boyd could weather a punch and keep coming, and he'll be in Bill's corner when the 24-year-old "Bama better fighter Philadelphia Jim Robinson in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Louis-Galento Fight Rated Joe Jacobs' Masterpiece

By GAYLE TALBOT. MIAMI BEACH, March 2 (AP)—Now that all the principals in the next heavy weight championship fight are back in their street clothes, I think it is a good time to point out Joe Jacobs has done the greatest job of managing in the glorious history of prizefighting in getting his character, round Tony Galento, a shot at Joe Louis.

Whatever Tony does with the chance when the night of reckoning comes around next June and he actually finds himself in the ring with Louis, is strictly up to Tony. But Jacobs has done his part. He's landed a title fight for a man who, a year ago, was regarded only as a beer-drinking freak, and who only a few brief months ago was at death's door with pneumonia.

It's been known for some years that "Yousef" Jacobs who, incidentally is no relation to Frontenac (Mike Jacobs) knew his way around, even in the daylight, to which he is unaccustomed and violently opposed.

Up to now, Joe's brightest achievement had come the night he jumped into the ring and yelled Max Schmeling into the heavyweight championship. Max at the time was on the floor from a number of blows planted by Jack Sharkey and was about to be counted out. Joe yelled "foul" so loud and so earnestly the arbiter finally believed him.

"Boy," wait'll you see the trainin' camp Tony set up as soon as Mike decides where to hold this fight," says Joe. "We'll have a bar as long as this beach, and Tony'll be the bartender for you guys."

Texas Tech Cager Leads In Scoring
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 2 (AP)—Marshall Brown, Texas Tech's sophomore scoring wizard, has bumped Kiko Martinez, New Mexico Aggie ace, out of first place in the Border conference basketball individual scoring race, unofficial tabulations showed today.

In 16 games, which included the Tech-Aggie series ended Tuesday night, Brown piled up 230 points, against 277 snagged by Martinez in 14 contests.

Fans Praise Tomorrow Night's Mat Program

Even the most particular wrestling fans are hailing the Sterling (Dizzy) Davis-Ernie Peterson wrestling match to be staged at the Pampa Athletic arena FRIDAY NIGHT one of the best in history. The two will meet in the main event of a well-balanced card that had to be postponed Monday night because of bad weather.

Supporting the top attraction will be a semi-final between small but fast and experienced Steve Netry and big and young Frankie Hill of Wichita.

Opening the card at 8 o'clock sharp will be a battle between two ace grapplers, Able Freeman of the Bronx and Russ Riley of Muleshoe. And there'll be no hike in admission.

Pauline Betz Makes Name In Tennis Meet
NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Indoor tennis is being a breed distinct, the outcome of the National Board court championships rates no consideration in national ranking. Yet these championships occasionally do bring to light prospects who look good enough to win matches on any sort of surface.

The current tournament's likeliest "comer" is an attractive 19-year-old Los Angeles miss named Pauline Betz. Though this is her first appearance on the boards, she is in the semi-final round.

Her loudest booster is Wayne Sabbin, himself favored for the men's singles title and matched in today's semi-final with Jack Tidball of Los Angeles.

Heard discussing the match yesterday were Albert Combs and Frank Carter, a couple of rabid fans. Said Mr. Combs, "Frank, we don't have anything on for Friday night, do we?" To which Frank replied, "Well, if we do, it can wait, because I'm going to see that wrestling match."

John and Bush Haggard, another pair of regulars, also checked their calendar yesterday to see that no dates would interfere with their seeing the battle. J. C. McWilliams, L. M. McWilliams, L. M. McWright and Bert Wilhelm were among others heard getting ready for the battle of battles.

Peterson is a newcomer but he made such a hit two weeks ago that he was immediately placed on a main event. Davis has been here before but has been on a road trip for several months. He is rough and tough while Peterson only goes rough when the other fellow is that way.

House Makes A Prediction On Sales Tax

AUSTIN, March 2 (P)—Oratory ceased today and a bittered bundle of taxation proposals to pay the old age pensions lay with a small group of men charged with patterning a workable solution to the state's most vexing problem. Not one of the popular forms of taxation had been overruled—natural resources, retail sales, transactions and net income.

Sadie Hawkins Week Observed At West Texas

CANYON, March 2.—This is Sadie Hawkins week at West Texas State college, but the college men complain that the girls are not making use of their opportunities. Under the rules for the week, the boys are to make all the dates, extend all the gallantry, and pay all the bills. College men, viewing the period as a vacation for their hard-pressed finances, were perhaps more optimistic than the circumstances justified.

Only Veteran Solons On Appropriations Committee

By HARRELL E. LEE. The appropriations committee of the Texas House of Representatives, which handles all money bills before they reach the House floor, is most unusual in that its membership of 21 does not include one legislative freshman. Nearly half the members of most other committees are first-timers. It is no novelty for appropriations committee to talk economy in government and the current House group has been acting the part, splendidly so far. A request for the livestock sanitary commission and several suggested emergency allotments for colleges were turned down. The nearly $3,000,000 requested to supplement rural school aid funds was cut to $336,000.

President's Power Argued

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—A 150-year-old dispute over the power of Presidents to remove officials or abolish agencies is arising once more in the new administration proposal to revamp government departments.

The reorganization bill, though shorn of many controversial features of the measure beaten in the 1938 congress, carries a provision the President may abolish agencies or the functions they perform.

Oddly enough, the first congress worried over a similar problem in 1789. Its debates were secret, but the memoirs and letters of its members show clearly the course of the discussion.

It arose during the debates over creation of the first three government departments—state, treasury, and war—and has lingered ever since.

In the creation of these departments after the inauguration of President Washington, James Madison, a member of the house from Virginia and the one man who had more than anyone else to do with shaping the constitution, suggested that the heads of these departments should be made removable by the President.

That set off an argument in both chambers which has continued through the century and a half of life under the constitution.

The debate ended in a tie vote, with the grant of removal power given to the President by Vice President Adams when he voted for the bill.

In 1926, Chief Justice Taft gave as the majority opinion the ruling that congress could not impose any restrictions on the President's power of removal. Ten years later, however, the court found that President Roosevelt had no power to remove a member of the federal trade commission.

Doyle Osborne Gives His Views On Education

Maybe the Pampa High school student of today is better informed on national and international happenings, and in this sense "brighter" than their predecessors of 20 years ago, but Doyle F. Osborne, principal of Pampa High school, doubts if their education is as complete.

This opinion of the Pampa principal is not altered by the fact that 20 years ago only about 25 per cent of the eligible boys and girls completed high school, over the nation, and today the percentage has risen to approximately 75 per cent.

Attending high school today is largely a matter of course, with students entering high school because someone wants them to, and not from the real interest in school that characterized the students of two decades ago.

While not viewing the modern trend in education with prejudice, Mr. Osborne is a firm believer that the classic studies of ancient and modern languages and of mathematics is to be preferred to the new idea that would abolish most of the courses students have found difficult.

Mr. Osborne's opinion is that these studies develop mental discipline by causing the student to exert his energies at a difficult task.

Pastor Cut Off Air For Garner Attack

FORT WORTH, March 2 (AP)—Sam H. Bennett, general manager of radio station KTAT, said today a pastor was cut off the air in the midst of a speech mentioning Vice President Garner yesterday because "the public interest" dictated such action.

"We are licensed to serve the public interest and it is our duty to cut a speaker off the air when we consider his remarks are in violation of that interest," Bennett said.

The Rev. John A. Lovell, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church at Ranger, was the speaker.

Mrs. Lovell said, after the pastor's departure for Dublin, that he was cut off in the middle of a statement that Vice President John N. Garner "being backed by a bunch of bankers, would not make a desirable President."

Thompson Re-Appointed To Interstate Oil Commission

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, March 2 (AP)—A lot of hard work by persons interested in the oil industry contributed, it is said at the capitol, to the re-appointment of Ernest O. Thompson to the interstate oil and gas compact commission.

While Thompson generally is acknowledged to be one of the country's experts on oil and gas conservation problems, and has been the only man to represent Texas on the compact commission since its creation in 1935, many thought he would not be chosen for another two-year term by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel.

Considerable credit for his re-appointment is being accorded to leaders in the oil industry, or their representatives, who told the governor the success of the industry in Texas depended to a large extent on keeping Thompson on the commission.

There are a number of reasons why observers would not have been surprised if O'Daniel had retired "the colonel."

For one thing, Thompson was the runner-up to O'Daniel in last summer's race for governor and is regarded as a certain candidate for the governorship next year.

It is very unusual for a governor to appoint his leading political opponent to any position of prominence; yet that is exactly what O'Daniel did.

As a member of the interstate oil and gas compact commission, Thompson will receive a great deal of publicity in the next year, which is vital to his political future.

In view of the fact he no longer is chairman of the railroad commission, and as a consequence seems to be taking a sort of back politics entered into the matter at all, which the governor indicates was not the case.

Following this reasoning, O'Daniel strengthened himself politically in several ways.

First, he broadened the basis for his contention that he is not a politician and does not want to play politics in administering his office, by appointing to a prominent place his late contestant.

In the second place, he may have many friends among oil men who have confidence in Thompson and want to see him stay at or near the helm of oil conservation, not only in Texas, but also other oil producing states.

Furthermore, he avoided making enemies of many in the oil business who know Thompson's ability and would have resented his discard.

The consensus among capital observers is that O'Daniel did very well politically in retaining Thompson on the compact commission.

Letters exchanged between Gov. O'Daniel and Thompson on the occasion of the appointment seemed to lack warmth. They also seem to have been most carefully worded, or carefully guarded in the wording.

O'Daniel wrote he was taking the action because he believed Thompson's experience enabled him to serve the state better than another man could who was not NOW familiar with problems of the commission. Was there an implication someone else could do just as well after he had familiarized himself with the problems?

Further on the governor said he wanted Thompson to continue to serve as his work "seems" to have been satisfactory to both independent and major oil companies.

In his acceptance, Thompson thanked the governor, expressed appreciation and said the appointment and the reasons assigned for it assured a team work between them for the best interests of Texas "so far as this interstate oil compact and the working under the treaty is concerned."

Thompson and his colleagues on the commission, Chairman L. P. A. Smith and G. A. Jerry Sadler, on the surface are getting along very well.

At the statewide hearing on inequalities in oil field allowances, first general oil hearing since Sadler took office Jan. 1, most of the questioning of speakers and witnesses, as among the commissioners, was by Smith and Sadler. However, the pair did not burden the record with questions. Thompson was almost wholly silent.

Smith sat between the other commissioners, with Sadler on his right. When there was need for a commission decision, there was a quick placing of heads together, then Smith announced the opinion.

Smith, incidentally is quite used to acting as chairman. He was chairman four years ago, yielding the position at the end of two years to C. V. Terrell, who, in turn was succeeded after a two year term by Thompson. It is a commission custom to rotate the chairmanship.

A large framed picture of Sadler has appeared recently on Thompson's office desk. It bears this inscription in Sadler's writing:

"To my co-worker who does the greatest good for the greatest number. Ernest O. Thompson is a man who does the job well."

Sadler signed his name "Jerry Sadler." His full legal name, due to a court action last year, is G. A. Jerry Sadler. On Sadler's application, the court ordered "Jerry" inserted in the name.

Merely A Coincidence

PORTLAND, Ore., March 2 (AP)—Noticing duplicate entries in the hospital records, at variance in the ages, Nurse Jessie Eivers sought to get the matter straightened out.

She found John Baxter, 42, and John Baxter, 82, each receiving three stitches in their left hands to close wounds received while chopping wood.

Uninvited Guest

RICHMOND, Va., March 2 (AP)—Sherman Anderson's uninvited breakfast guest came in like a lion upon the first day of March—and almost lammed him.

The guest, Lee Smith, arrived with a rush at the breakfast table—still seated in his automobile after it crashed through the kitchen wall.

License Plates Can Be Put On Here Wednesday

It's time again for Pampans to express their preference on automobile license plates. Wednesday was the official day on which 1939 license plates could be affixed to automobiles, with the deadline one month distant.

Most automobile owners are waiting until the middle of this month or near the deadline before making application for their license plates, but this hasn't stopped the early advance "bids" for special numbers.

One automobile owner has asked that the office of the tax assessor collector reserve for her a license number that is easy to remember. She was uncertain just what combination of numbers she wanted, but agreed to a suggestion that the tag contain four sixes.

cycle, used by the police department, went tagless for nearly two weeks after it was received here in mid-February. Wednesday the vehicle had a license number X-428, Texas, 1939.

1939 automobile license plates are gold in color with blue numerals and lettering. The state name is in large lettering across the top of the tag and can be easily seen, in contrast to Oklahoma's chunky automobile license plates, of odd shape, stamped "OK," and difficult to distinguish readily.
