O'Daniel Asks Abolition Of State Funds

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today recommended to the Legislature abolition of at least 55 funds in which the state keeps its money and provision for a more centralized method of handling its finances.

The governor's message pointed out that funds of the state government now are deposited in 105 accounts.

"Some of these separate funds must, of course, be maintained," the message said. "It would seem that the funds could be divided roughly into the following groups: Those which the constitution of the state requires to be maintained; other funds which must be maintained because of the relationship between the state and federal government."

"There are also bond, endowment and investment funds as well as certain law enforcement funds. Based on the study which I have made, I believe at least 55 of these funds can be abolished."

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—Here are the state funds which Governor W. Lee O'Daniel proposes to abolish:

Two Naval Pilots Killed In Wreck

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 21. (AP)—Trapped in a dense fog, eight navy planes were wrecked and two pilots killed on a routine training flight last night.

Rain washed away the fog at dawn today, disclosing the full toll to officers of the Pensacola naval air station.

Six student fliers escaped by bailing out in the darkness in their first parachute jumps. Four pilots landed safely in South Alabama.

Lieut. G. F. Presser Sr., a Brazilian navy officer receiving regular training here, died when his plane crashed and burned at Cory Field, where land planes are quartered.

Lieut. N. M. Ostergren was found in his wrecked and burned plane near McDavid, Ala., about 25 miles north of Pensacola. The fog kept his location a mystery until after dawn, when scouting planes took to the air for a search of the entire section.

Wedding Present List Lost In Play

What to do when a list of wedding presents is lost and a friend calls and the couple don't know for which present to thank him—that's the situation that confronts Helen Miller, Maderia and Leon Seitz in the one-act comedy "The Wedding Present" to be staged tonight at the city hall auditorium.

Charles Mason has the role of the friend of the couple, who calls on them. Adding to the complexity of the situation, he can't remember what present he sent.

The play is staged by the Pampa Progress players, a part of Pampa's WPA recreation project. Mrs. P. D. Ferguson directs the play. Wesley Pate is stage manager.

Preceding the play, three special acts will be presented. There will be dancing by Virginia McNaughton, accordion playing by Inez and Gene Shaw, and a ventriloquist number by Jack Johnson. The program will start at 7:45 o'clock.

Elliott Sees Truck Issue As Weapon To Cut Freight Rates

FORT WORTH, Feb. 21. (AP)—Raising the truck-load limit in Texas from 7,000 to 20,000 pounds may be a weapon for gaining readjustment of rail freight rates, Elliott Roosevelt said last night.

The President's son, in a radio broadcast, declared Texas cannot afford "to let herself be sacrificed at the altar of profit to railroad management."

He said there were four bills pending in the legislature for raising the present 7,000-pound limit for trucks. At the same time, Roosevelt reminded his radio audience, there are pending in Congress acts to re-adjust railroad freight rates.

Another Attack Made On Governor O'Daniel

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—Conflict between Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and a Senate faction over the state highway commission appointment echoed a second time today in the House of Representatives.

Rep. Harvey Riviere, 23-year-old law student from Port Arthur, accused the Governor of violating rules of fair play in denying East Texas the appointment. J. C. Hunter of Abilene was named to the position.

Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene deplored the cry of sectionalism which he said East Texans had raised and said the new commissioner would serve all Texas, not any particular section.

Meanwhile Senator Alvan Shivers of Port Arthur, chairman, announced the Senate committee on Governor's nominations probably would meet later in the day to set hearing dates on confirmation of Hunter.

Riviere charged the Governor's actions so far had "shown a reckless disregard of everything precedential, political and traditional, and with two or three exceptions, everything reasonable."

The claim of East Texas to representation on the state highway commission," he continued, "is one which should be granted in the interest of fair play. No one is more desirous than I of harmony between the Governor and the legislature. But the Governor's actions thus far have not been conducive to harmony."

"If we're not careful, mere crimes will be committed in the name of the common people this year than in any other year."

Man Freed In Borger Death

A man held in Gray county jail for investigation in connection with the hit-run death of Sam Lee, 76-year-old Borger laundryman, who was killed when struck by a car on Borger's Main street at 9 o'clock Sunday night, was released here Monday night.

Questioning by Sheriff Vern Underhill and Deputies Dale Lane and "Dutch" Inman, Hutchinson county officers, did not show that the man was the one wanted.

Underhill and Lane were in Pampa at 8 o'clock last night, Monday morning, Lane and Luman came over to Pampa from Borger to question the man being held here.

Conflicting identification has been given by officers concerning the make and model of the car that is reported to have struck Lee. One story gave the car as a 1934 Chevrolet sedan, another a 1936 Pontiac sedan. Since the death of Lee, Borger officers have been told that the car was one of a half-dozen makes and models.

The car recovered in Pampa was a Pontiac sedan.

Funeral services for Sam Lee were held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Powell Funeral home in Borger, and burial occurred in Borger's Highland Park cemetery. Lee is survived by two step-daughters, Mrs. J. I. Wood, Dallas, and Mrs. Dewey Willis, Gainesville; one stepson, Earl Nowlin, Borger; brother, Blue Wing, New Orleans; and by one son, Yee Lee, San Antonio.

Chamberlain Asks Huge Defense Fund

LONDON, Feb. 21. (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today sought House of Commons approval for raising the limit of Britain's borrowing for her great arms program to $4,000,000,000 and warned attentive members even this huge sum might not be enough.

The premier opened the second day of dull dress defense debate with a reminder that $2,900,000,000 was scheduled for armaments expenditures in the next year alone—a sum equal to almost the entire national debt in 1914.

Jones Listens To Substitutes For Farm Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—Chairman Jones (D., Texas) of the House agriculture committee, opening hearings on proposed substitutes for the current farm program, expressed the opinion today no satisfactory alternative had been presented.

He said he referred to price fixing, cost-of-production and domestic allotment theories, as well as to demands for repeal of compulsory control features of the present law.

"But we are going to go into all of the plans and make haste slowly," Jones said. "Every other farm program we've passed has been under whip and spur. Every member of the committee is anxious to improve the program in every possible way."

Jones said it was generally agreed only minor changes would be made in this year's program.

The committee invited proponents of the cost-of-production plan to testify first. This program would authorize Secretary Wallace to guarantee a fixed price for that part of their crop consumed domestically. It would apply only to commodities whose value exceeded $10,000,000 annually and would license processors and other dealers in farm products.

Secretary Wallace vigorously opposed a similar bill in the Senate, asserting the methods proposed to achieve it were "unworkable."

Rev. Hyde, Former Pastor, Visits Here

The Rev. A. A. Hyde of Burk Burnett, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, arrived in Pampa this morning for a visit with friends. He will be a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dykson.

Tonight between 8 and 10 o'clock the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McColm, 1221 Christine street, will be the scene of an informal reception for Rev. Hyde. Friends of the former pastor are invited to the McColm home to greet Rev. Hyde.

Carnival Spirit Rules New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21. (AP)—Masks and merriment held court today as this city swirled into its carnival climax under sway of Rex, the Mardi Gras mythical master of mirth.

Tens of thousands were out early for the jamboree of songs, dancing, parading and gay camaraderie that last until midnight, beginning of Lent.

Mardi Gras, which means "Mud Tuesday," was made a legal holiday years ago. Society folk did most of the early season honors, the general populace and visitors joined the revelry in parades of the last few days.

Today they are all in the fun making. Carnival mirth also swept Mobile, Ala., where a parade of burlesque antics was arranged.

Sheriff Rose Will Appoint Print Deputy

Authorization was given Sheriff Cal Rose by the county commissioners at a special meeting Monday to appoint an additional deputy to take care of fingerprint work in his department and to do other work the sheriff may assign him.

Salary of the deputy will be $125 a month. When the new deputy is added, the sheriff's department will have five employees: the sheriff, Chief Deputy George A. Pone, Deputy John Hudson, and Deputy Glenn Caruth, and the fingerprint expert.

The authorization granted Sheriff Rose to employ an extra man follows repeated requests the sheriff has made of the commissioner during the past month. No regular fingerprint man has been employed in the department since Jess Hatcher acted in this office last year. Hatcher was called in from time to time to do fingerprint work, but was not a regular employee.

Sheriff Rose has emphasized to the county commissioners the necessity of having some one to do this work, and to take photographs and keep files in order, telling the commissioners that it was essential that such a man be hired.

While the county commissioners were favorable to the proposition, they did not immediately consent on account of the extra expense involved.

At the meeting of the commissioners on February 15, there was a long discussion on the problem, which was further complicated by the question of the appointment of a successor to O. H. H. Nixon, constable of precinct 2, who was killed in a gun battle at the Southern club on the night of January 30.

The opinion was expressed that it would be better to appoint both a deputy and a constable. One commissioner said he favored appointment of an extra deputy, even if a constable was also named.

Action on both matters was tabled until the meeting yesterday, when the commission authorized the employment of an additional deputy, and for the present decided to leave the office of constable vacant. There had been 28 applications for the office.

Judge's Order Not To Affect Plans Of Gerald Mann

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—Attorney General Gerald C. Mann said today an amended restraining order by District Judge Bryce Ferguson would not affect his plans to ask the Supreme Court to set aside action of Judge Ferguson restraining enforcement of the 7,000-pound truck load limit in the Rio Grande Valley.

The new order from Judge Ferguson exempted weight inspectors of the Public Safety Department from halting, detaining or weighing trucks without a search warrant or warrant of arrest.

Homer Garrison Jr., state safety director, said he had not received a copy of the amended order and weight inspectors would continue to refrain from stopping trucks.

A subgroup of the Senate committee on highways and motor traffic, working on legislation to increase the load limit, may report a bill tomorrow.

Bombing Of Hongkong Protested By Britain

HONGKONG, Feb. 13. (AP)—Japanese warplanes bombed a railroad station in the British crown colony of Hongkong today, killing a British Indian policeman and wounding about a dozen other persons.

The bombers also demolished a railway car in which a score of British policemen were sheltered near the station.

British military authorities said the low-flying Japanese planes first dropped bombs in Chinese territory not far from the western border of the British colony, then flew over the border, unloading more missiles on the Loui station, 18 miles from Hongkong.

A mixed passenger and freight train on the Hongkong-Kowloon railroad two miles within the colony border narrowly escaped destruction when a Japanese bomb landed near the tracks, shattering windows of the cars. Passengers were reported uninjured.

A Reuters, British news agency, dispatch from Hongkong said that at another point a bomb fell on a British military blockhouse, killing an Indian and several Chinese.

LONDON, Feb. 21. (AP)—Great Britain today sent a "vigorous protest" to Japan over bombing of Hongkong territory by Japanese planes.

The foreign office radioed Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, British ambassador to Tokyo, to protest immediately to the Japanese government in the strongest terms.

Dispatches from Hongkong said a railroad station inside the crown colony border was bombed by Japanese planes. A British Indian policeman was killed and about a dozen other persons injured.

Officials said Sir Robert also was directed to press for a reply to the British note of Jan. 14 asking clarification of Japanese intentions toward western powers in regard to maintenance of an open door to trade in China. (The United States on Dec. 31 and France on Jan. 19 made similar representations to Japan.)

British long has disputed Japan's apparent intention to restrict foreign commerce in China and Manchoukuo and form these two countries into a single, virtually closed economic bloc with Japan.

Japanese conquest of Canton Oct. 21 brought to the fore the question of the future of Hongkong, which has been South China's major outlet to the sea. The crown colony was ceded by China to Great Britain in January, 1841. A British naval and

France Will Deal With Nationalists

PARIS, Feb. 21. (AP)—The French foreign ministry today instructed its emissary to go ahead with negotiations for diplomatic relations with Nationalist Spain despite dwindling hopes for an early end of the civil war.

Senator Leon Berard, who came to the French border town of St. Jean-De-Luz, yesterday after meetings in his talks at Burgos, received new instructions by telephone from Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet during the night.

The French government was understood to hope that, even though present negotiations should fail to bring peace, the recognition of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regime might help check Franco's swing toward the side of the Fascist powers.

Foreign Ministry officials said Berard's report to Bonnet on his negotiations for diplomatic relations with Franco created an "excellent impression."

Talley Seeks Identity Of Child's Bones

PERRYTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—Sheriff J. S. Talley said today bones of a child found near here were sent to Austin headquarters of state police in an effort to ascertain their identity.

Talley said he thought the bones may be those of J. M. Cone Jr., 10, or Vernon Cone, 6, who have been missing seven years.

Two Oregon convicts, Claud and Elmer Tenison, serving 18 months for robbery, told parole board members they killed the boys on promise of $1,000 from their father. Then, according to their story, the father was slain because he did not pay off in full.

A verdict of suicide was returned in the death of the elder Cone, May 31, 1932, a day after the boys had vanished.

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 21. (AP)—Spurred by discovery of a child's bones on a Texas ranch, authorities checked anew today the bizarre story of two convicts that they had killed a father and his two sons seven years ago.

More than two years ago Claud and Elmer Tenison, brothers serving 18 years each in Oregon penitentiary for bank robbery, told prison authorities they had killed J. M. Cone, near Perryton, Texas, because he failed to pay $1,000 he had promised them for slaying his two sons, J. M. Cone Jr., 10, and Vernon Cone, 6.

Authorities discounted the story at that time. Sheriff J. S. Talley of Perryton wrote Oregon prison officials that the Tenisons "are only trying to get moved from there with the hope of getting a chance to escape."

Saturday, however, the bones of a child were found 35 miles southeast of Perryton, about the place where, the Tenisons told the authorities, the Cone children had been buried. Discovery of the bones caused Perryton officials to reopen the investigation.

State parole board members Gerald Mason and Cecil Edwards questioned Claud, 40, and Elmer, 42, yesterday and said they repeated their story of the triple killings.

The brothers told the parole board members that Cone agreed to pay them $1,000 to kill his two sons, because he didn't want to be encumbered with them when he "ran off with another woman."

Mason and Edwards said the convicts told them that the father paid them only $250 so Claud shot him. They said each shot one child and buried them about 35 miles southeast of Perryton.

Fire Department Makes Short Run

The Pampa fire department made its shortest run in history yesterday afternoon. It wasn't exactly a run because all the firemen had to do was to take a line of hose out of the fire station door. The blaze was at the rear of the Schneider hotel about 30 feet from the rear of the fire station. Burning gasoline necessitated use of some water to drown out the blaze.

Firemen made three runs in the city and one to White Deer yesterday. First call was to White Deer where fire in a garage threatened to spread to the business section.

Next call was to South Barnes street where a WPA tool shed had caught fire. The blaze was extinguished without loss.

A man thawing pipes in South Pampa was the cause of the third alarm. The floor of the house caught fire but no damage resulted.

Witnesses In Ivey Suit Take Stand In Court

Testimony of witnesses for the plaintiff was heard in 31st district court today in the case of W. H. Ivey vs. the Texas company et al. No testimony was heard Monday, as a jury to hear the case was not selected until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Two witnesses had testified up to noon today. B. M. Hutchinson, Llano Construction company truck driver, and W. C. Griffin, who was riding on the truck at the time it was in collision with a truck of the Texas company on June 30, 1937 on a bridge near LeFors.

Ivey suffered the loss of a leg as a result of the accident, he alleges, and is asking damages of $13,000.

John V. Osborne and S. D. Stennis, of Pampa, represent the plaintiff. R. A. Wilson of Amarillo, Sidney Benbow of Houston, Willis & Sitzer of Pampa, and John P. Sturgeon, of Pampa, are attorneys for the defendants. The case is a complicated one, with the Southern Underwriters, Llano Construction company, and the Texas company, each being separately represented among the defendants.

Jurors hearing the case are: J. E. Hayden, Pete Chilton, J. B. Pettit, Byrd Guill, Clyde G. Ives, Ray Knorrp, W. S. Stracener, L. H. Sullivan, J. P. Arrington, H. B. Taylor, R. L. Whitlock, and D. R. Henry.

Yes, Jim Farley's Boys Know Molly

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—The postoffice boys apparently keep right up with things.

Molly O'Daniel, 17-year-old daughter of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, today received an unusual letter which proves it.

From Fort Wayne, Ind., the envelope had for address a two-inch-square picture of Molly, and smaller pictures of the Texas capitol dome and a "long star," all apparently cut out of a magazine.

In the envelope was a sheet of yellow notepaper on which was scribbled:

"I am sending you this letter, Miss Molly, to see if Mr. Farley's boys know you. If I get the postal card enclosed from you, I will know they do.

"You may say anything on the postal you want, or not."

The note was signed "E. G. C." Also enclosed was a postal card addressed to E. G. C., 204 4th street, Fort Wayne.

E. G. C. will get the postal card in a day or so, a secretary to the governor indicated.

Pampans Warned To Stop Cars At Signs

Stop signs that have been looking like mounds of dirt will be cleaned up and Pampa motorists are warned to watch out for them and to stop their cars at all stop signs.

"Some of the signs have been covered with dirt and looked more like a post," Chief J. L. Downs remarked this morning. "They will be cleaned off and then there will be no excuse for not stopping."

"And by stopping we mean stopping and not just shifting gears," the chief continued. "Gears can be shifted at a high rate of speed."

In stressing his point the chief told about chasing a motorist through three stop signs before catching him. "Why, I shifted gears at each stop sign," the man told Chief Downs. "Those signs read stop and they mean stop," answered the chief as he wrote out a ticket.

Police last night reported that two cars had been stolen but they were recovered soon after, abandoned. Police believe joy riders took the cars.

Five Carloads Of Tank Steel Arrive

Five carloads of steel for the elevated water storage tank to be erected in East Pampa have arrived and are being unloaded. Erection work on the huge tank is expected to begin later in the week.

A work order for extension of water lines through the new Cook-Adams Heights addition recently taken in to the city, has been approved by the Public Works Administration and the project will be included in the city-wide water extension program now in progress.

One of the two new wells drilled last month has been completely developed and work on completing the other well is in progress. Laying of water lines is progressing rapidly.

HEATING ALL OUTDOORS

Air-conditioning indoors and out is proposed by an enthusiastic engineer who is equipping New York City with a great network of pipe lines along the curbs to run hot air in winter and icy blasts in summer. This will improve health, save life, stop hay fever and prevent disease from dust, smoke and the exhausts from motors. The cost? Why, in the slang of the Gay Nineties, it will be a lead pipe cinch. For the engineer, anyway. Note: Start a pipe line to good business through The Pampa News classified wanted ads. Call The News Number 605.

Organized Labor Opposed Any Kind Of Sales Tax

AUSTIN, Feb. 21 (AP)—The governor's transaction tax proposal designed to pay the old folks—top issue in the dizzy legislative whirl to date—has moved to its corner today to give the spotlight to the first House discussion of the truck load limit law.

Bitter fight over the present 7,000-pound limit law shifted to the House where a committee planned to hear testimony concerning the proposed plan to raise the limit to 20,000 pounds.

Growers dependent on citrus, vegetable, cattle, goat, sheep and other shipments by truck, contending the present law was discriminatory, unjust, harsh and slowing developments of which the whole state is prepared to ask for the increase.

Opponents, just as determined in their stand, contended in recent Senate hearings that two bills now up for consideration would wreck the state's transportation industry, ruin the railroads, stifle business in small towns, trim revenues from railroad taxation and crowd the highways with trucks menacing lives.

A Senate sub-group of the Highways and Motor Traffic Committee, headed by Sen. Rogers K. Hey of Edinburg, author of the bills, will depart one bill from the two it is considering at the whole committee's meeting tomorrow.

Meanwhile Attorney General Gerald Mann prepared to dissolve injunctions granted by District Judge Tracy Ferguson of Edinburg and H. F. Kirby of Groesbeck which halted enforcement of the Load Limit Law.

Labor Opposes Tax
The transactions tax hearing before a joint session of the House revenue and taxation and constitutional amendments was ready for another "open forum" session at which time the laymen of the state will have another inning in their long say on the proposals to pay old age pensions.

Organized labor intervened in the hearing yesterday, through W. H. Gallagher of Ennis, authorized spokesman for the State Federation of Labor. He told committees, bluntly, that labor was opposed to any kind of sales or transaction tax.

A substitute plan offered by Gallagher to raise the need pension fund was a tax on natural resources.

"Natural resources must be taxed as high as possible," he said, "but still not so high that it will place Texas resources at a disadvantage in world markets. And I'm speaking for organized labor in Texas when I say this."

He said labor was against a sales or transaction tax because they were economically unfair, socially unjust, and unnecessary.

Elections of James V. Allred and W. Lee O'Daniel in the last three general elections proved, Gallagher said, the people do not want such taxes. Both were opposed to sales taxes.

James O. Rail, San Antonio insurance man, offered a gross receipts tax plan as the solution to the problem and gave the committee a stack of petitions he said were signed by persons against a transactions, or sales tax.

Boshen Will Attend Amarillo Session
The Rev. Robert Boshen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will be in Amarillo on Wednesday and Thursday attending a seminar session of Presbyterian ministers of this section.

Attending the retreat will be ministers from churches in Northwest Texas. Hearing and discussing messages on faith and life will be an interesting portion of the program.

It has been computed that in the world today at least 2,700 different languages are spoken.

The Governor asserted belief a bill could be enacted to increase the frequency of state tax collection. He said:

"It seems to be that a bill could be enacted which would increase the efficiency of our system of collecting state taxes, simplify the system of accounts now kept by the state in a single office (that of the comptroller) and at the same time give further protection against loss in collection of state revenues and establish more direct legislative control of public expenditures."

"Sound business policy makes necessary that as far as possible all state revenue be deposited immediately in the state treasury and paid out only in response to direct legislative appropriation."

The Governor stated early attention to the subject, which he submitted as emergency legislation.

In a separate memorandum attached to what he termed a "rough draft" of a bill to accomplish purpose of the message, Gov. O'Daniel said there might be 60 industries where funds could be abolished or some of those suggested eliminating might have to be retained.

"I believe," he said, "there should be added to this bill at the proper place a section or sections directing that hereafter all revenue collected by the state government or any of its agencies must be deposited in the state treasury and paid out only in direct legislative appropriation."

"Of course, the constitution in some cases controls this matter, but in most instances it seems to me that the legislature should provide for every dollar of the state expended to be included in the biennial budget."

"This bill is only an outline draft and I shall thank you if you will free me to use this outline, or prepare a complete new bill as in your judgment is best and follow this legislation through to final passage."

PERRYTON, Feb. 21—One of the most colorful and influential men of the Panhandle of Texas Tom V. Ellzey, of Perryton, has built an outstanding "mouse trap" in the Ellzey's Four Fold life and training camp for boys located on the LZ ranch near Perryton, Texas. Although the camp is located 120 miles from a city, the world is making a beaten pathway to the door of the camp.

Ellzey's camp opens June 11, 1939, for the tenth annual encampment. Started in 1929 because Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ellzey had a burning ambition to teach their wholesome four fold creed of life for boys, the camp has grown until it takes the resources of the founders to provide accommodations to keep up with the rapidly increasing enrollment.

Ellzey, a cowboy, evangelist with many years of his life spent in lectures and his Christian educational work, believes that the youth of this nation should grow strong, mentally, physically, religiously and socially. Thus he established the four fold training camp.

The outstanding work of this Panhandle cowboy-instructor, has been praised by some of the most prominent men of the Southwest, in most every walk of life. Bishops, college presidents, Federal judges, attorneys, newspapermen, and farmers, who have visited his camp and placed their boys under his care, praise the LZ ranch highly.

Located in the most picturesque surroundings of the Panhandle, the camp is not a retreat for sissies or pampered boys. To make good at LZ camp, each enrollee must learn to ride, swim, brand cattle, shoot, football, baseball, hunt, fence fixing, gardening, cow milking and feeding of pigs and chickens. The boys are given responsibility, under adequate supervision and are taught self-reliance.

Each summer the camp ends with a big roundup and rodeo, and the program is fashioned after the regular western activities of grown up cowboys.

Boys of the adolescent age are taught the story of life. And from comments of parents the Ellzey camp management understands as few people in this world ever understand, the need of youth in their moral and spiritual life.

The LZ camp is manned by a staff of some 15 instructors, which includes dietitians, musical instructors, swimming instructors, expert croquet archery and hunting instructors, as well as truly western cowboys, that know how to teach the youth of this section how to ride and work.

Resident Here For Nine Years Dies
Mrs. Mary March, 68, a resident of Pampa for nine years, died this morning in a local hospital, two hours after suffering a heart attack. She made her home with a daughter, Mrs. Mable Fletcher. Mrs. March was an active worker in the French Avenue Church of Christ. Survivors are her daughter, Mrs. Fletcher, two sons, Arthur Reis, Chicago, and Ed Reis, Dallas, four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in French Avenue Church of Christ. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home.

at any other time in recent years. Many of the people in my district already are saying we voted for Governor O'Daniel but we are sorry of it."

Bradbury Speaks
Bradbury, asserting he was speaking on personal privilege for the first time during his three terms in office, said he could not sit idly by when the "great wrong" of West Texas is brought into question.

"The Governor could not have gone to a greater section," he said, "or picked a better man."

"In the past West Texas has not received a fair deal. The last federal census showed West Texas was entitled to more representatives in both branches of the legislature but this additional representation has not been allowed. West Texas is not even its rightful share of employees state departments."

The Abilene representatives pointed out there had been talk of West Texas forming a new state and warned that discriminations against the western part of the state would fan the flames of such agitation. He added he was not in favor of "West Texas secession" because the "glories of Texas cannot be divided."

The argument was an aftermath of a speech yesterday by Rep. Pat Dwyer of San Antonio criticizing East Texas Senators who denounced the Governor for the West Texas appointment. Dwyer offered a resolution in criticism but action on it had not been reached.

Lenten Season Starts Tomorrow

Observance of the Lenten season in Pampa will begin with the Blessing of the Ashes at the 8:30 o'clock mass Wednesday morning at Holy Souls Catholic church, and with the litany and penitential office at St. Matthew's Episcopal mission at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

Opening confirmation services will be held at St. Matthew's at 7:30 o'clock each Tuesday night, beginning February 28, and there will be a Holy Communion address at 10 o'clock each Wednesday morning for five weeks, starting March 1.

Each summer the camp ends with a big roundup and rodeo, and the program is fashioned after the regular western activities of grown up cowboys.

Boys of the adolescent age are taught the story of life. And from comments of parents the Ellzey camp management understands as few people in this world ever understand, the need of youth in their moral and spiritual life.

The LZ camp is manned by a staff of some 15 instructors, which includes dietitians, musical instructors, swimming instructors, expert croquet archery and hunting instructors, as well as truly western cowboys, that know how to teach the youth of this section how to ride and work.

Resident Here For Nine Years Dies
Mrs. Mary March, 68, a resident of Pampa for nine years, died this morning in a local hospital, two hours after suffering a heart attack. She made her home with a daughter, Mrs. Mable Fletcher. Mrs. March was an active worker in the French Avenue Church of Christ. Survivors are her daughter, Mrs. Fletcher, two sons, Arthur Reis, Chicago, and Ed Reis, Dallas, four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in French Avenue Church of Christ. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home.

at any other time in recent years. Many of the people in my district already are saying we voted for Governor O'Daniel but we are sorry of it."

Bradbury Speaks
Bradbury, asserting he was speaking on personal privilege for the first time during his three terms in office, said he could not sit idly by when the "great wrong" of West Texas is brought into question.

"The Governor could not have gone to a greater section," he said, "or picked a better man."

"In the past West Texas has not received a fair deal. The last federal census showed West Texas was entitled to more representatives in both branches of the legislature but this additional representation has not been allowed. West Texas is not even its rightful share of employees state departments."

Connally Introduces Freight Rate Bill
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—A bill described by Sen. Connally as designed "to correct the inequalities and discriminations in freight rates in Texas and the southwest" was introduced by the Texan yesterday.

The senator said a concerted drive would be made for enactment of a measure "upon which all can unite" when the Senate's interstate commerce committee begins hearings Feb. 27 on several similar bills.

A provision of the bill introduced by Connally was that the Interstate Commerce Commission investigate and determine the inequalities in freight rates between different sections of the United States.

Steel Contract Let To Oklahoma Firm

A contract for furnishing steel and all steel work construction on the grandstand at Recreation park a mile east of the city has been let to the Capitol Iron Works of Oklahoma City, according to a telegram today by City Manager W. T. Williams.

The bids were opened last week at Works Progress Administration headquarters in San Antonio but the letting was delayed pending data on freight rates from several points.

Fabricating work will begin immediately at the Oklahoma City plant. Date of starting construction was not revealed in the telegram.

When bids were asked it was revealed that work should start by March 1 but whether the delay in letting the contract will postpone starting of the grandstand is not known.

A frame grandstand constructed more than two years ago was condemned.

Expropriation Issue Denied By Refinery

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Ed Mante sugar refinery corporation took issue with a government decree of expropriation today.

A newspaper advertisement denied government charges that the company owed $1,800,000 to the government bank at the time of expropriation would not benefit workers or the nation as a whole, said stockholders had received no returns from their investment and denied exiled former President Plutarco Elias Calles, now living in California, had an interest in the concern—although he was its president in 1930—and stock "held by his son, Redolfo, did not amount to two per cent of the capital of the company."

President Cardenas in his decree of expropriation declared the company, its mill located in El Mante, was "established by a group who used funds obtained from the Bank of Mexico through the privileged positions they occupied."

"Under the present system the companies who make their profit from the earth join in one chorus in singing 'Old Man River' and the electric and telephone companies who make their profits through the air, join in the refrain in singing 'The Man on the Flying Trapeze' and 'There's a Gold Mine in the Sky.'"

"So it appears that we have a different choir, a different song and a different melody; one that all the people might sing, such as 'There's a Great Day Coming,' and when this day comes after this bill is passed, the people will rejoice and the utilities companies will then sing 'There is Hell Among the Yeastlings.'"

Despite the emergency clause, the bill may be going nowhere. Bradbury's first bill for state utilities regulation was killed in committee, 16 to 2.

FDR Sails Through Indies On Flagship
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt, aboard the flagship, Houston, sailed leisurely eastward through the West Indies today for a "grandstand" view of the mock war around the Panama Canal.

"Fleet problem 20," which began at 6 a. m. yesterday with preliminary scouting operations, found the cruiser, Houston, and the escort destroyer, Warrington, in Cuban waters. At 10:30 a. m. the chief executive paid his first visit to Guantanamo Bay.

After steaming by the naval station the Houston continued in the general direction of the Virgin Islands. Anagada Passage, in the vicinity, was expected to be one of the principal points of attack by the "white" fleet in the Atlantic. The Houston is a unit of the "black" defenders.

Child Stealer Tells Shocking Abduction Tale

EL CENTRO, Calif., Feb. 21 (AP)—Manacled for a trip back to Pasadena to face a charge of child stealing, 40-year-old Townsend Davis, gardener and church organist, told a shocking story today, police said, of his attempted flight to Arizona with golden-haired Anne Louise Switzer, 8.

The man and his tiny companion were seized last yesterday as his old sedan approached the state border.

Pain from an attack of nausea, Anne Louise was not able to be questioned, but admissions by Davis, Policewoman Anita Teft said, probably will result in morals charges being filed against him.

As reported by police, Davis told of spending Sunday night with the girl in a single room at Indio, because he "didn't have money enough to rent two rooms." When he was arrested, he had $2.90 and a religious tract in his pockets.

"I guess I done something rash, but she wanted to leave home. I considered her home a bad environment for her," Davis was quoted as saying.

At Pasadena, the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Switzer, indignantly denied she had been ill treated or led anything but "a happy, normal home life."

New Utility Bill Urged By Bradbury

AUSTIN, Feb. 21 (AP)—It's high time for Texas public utilities companies to be forced to sing a new and sadder tune, in the opinion of Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene.

The long and glittering emergency declaration which Bradbury attached to his second bill to regulate utilities would up with the following "parade":

"Under the present system the companies who make their profit from the earth join in one chorus in singing 'Old Man River' and the electric and telephone companies who make their profits through the air, join in the refrain in singing 'The Man on the Flying Trapeze' and 'There's a Gold Mine in the Sky.'"

Officers Named By LeFors Fine Arts Club Group

LEFORS, Feb. 21—Misses Lajuana Hanna and Goldie Pettis were hostesses at a meeting of the LeFors Fine Arts club recently.

Each member responded to roll call by giving an old-fashioned health superstition.

During the business period the nominating committee submitted the following names for officers for a customary term of two years: Miss Mildred Matteson, president; Miss Maidee Thompson, second vice president; Mrs. Regina Greenhaw, parliamentarian, and yearbook committee; Mrs. Rex Reeves, chairman; Mrs. Joe Clark, and Mrs. Joe Duby.

Other officers were elected last year for a term of two years.

Mrs. Virginia Crabtree, the guest speaker, presented a review of Anne Lindbergh's "Listen! The Wind."

The Valentine motif was carried out in the refreshments which were served to 14 club members and Mrs. Virginia Crabtree, a guest.

The next regular meeting will be Feb. 28 with Mrs. Rex Reeves and Cecil Brown as hostess. Mrs. Ho Wagner of Pampa will review Thomas Mann's "Joseph In Egypt" at that time.

At the close of the program refreshments were served to Miss Mary Elizabeth Pendleton, Mrs. Frank Dubose, Mrs. Perry Bones, and Mrs. R. C. Scott of Alvord, guests, and to Misses R. M. Barkley, E. K. Five Circles Of Methodist WMS Meet On Monday

Regular weekly meetings were conducted by five circles of the Woman's Missionary society of First Methodist church Monday afternoon.

A meeting of circle one was conducted in the home of Mrs. W. D. Waters with Mrs. J. S. Skelly as hostess to the members.

The session was called to order by the leader, Mrs. Waters, and a report on the spiritual life work at the home meeting in McAlester was given by Mrs. C. E. Ward after which the social relations report was presented by Mrs. H. E. Boggs and Mrs. Waters reported on Christian home work.

In the lesson study which was conducted by Mrs. W. M. Pearce, Mrs. J. S. Skelly and Mrs. E. J. Davis discussed the topics. After a prayer by Mrs. S. S. Ripley, refreshments were served to 14 members, one new member, Mrs. Etta Brittain, and one guest, Mrs. E. J. Dutton.

Mrs. R. W. Lane was hostess at the meeting of circle two which opened with the singing of "America." Following the devotional by Mrs. N. F. Maddox, Mrs. R. A. Selby conducted the study on "Problems of the Unemployable." Mrs. A. G. Vesting presented "The Church Takes Root In India."

The circle voted to cooperate with the Catholic women for better radio programs.

Refreshments were served to the 12 members and one visitor.

A meeting of circle three was held in the church with Mrs. Tom Cook as hostess. After the singing of "His Way With Thee," Mrs. Cook gave the devotional and Mmes. H. H. Boynton, Robert Elkins, and E. C. Wright gave reports on the zone meeting in McAlester.

The lesson study was led by Mrs. Aubrey Steele after which Mrs. Wright told of personal experiences in India.

Refreshments were served to 13 members.

At the meeting of circle four in the home of Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, the "Praying For You" opened the session.

The program included "Home Life In India" by Mrs. C. E. Davis, "Out of the Mud Came the Dawn" by Mrs. Joe Shelton, special music by Jane Hatfield and Ernestine Holmes, "Indian Day in Court" with B. R. Colihart directing, "Problems and Methods of Training Adults" by Mrs. G. C. Walstad, and "Problems and Methods of Training Children" by Mrs. Lawrence West.

Refreshments were served to 15 members.

Mrs. Lee Harrah and Mrs. Bob Roberts reviewed the fourth chapter of "The Church Takes Root In India" at the meeting of circle seven in the home of Mrs. Hoyt Allen.

Twelve members attended the program.

Church Women To Have Second Prayer Service

The first Friday in Lent is rapidly coming to symbolize for the Christian women of the world the spirit of unity of Christ's church, and on Feb. 24 Christian women throughout the world will join in World Day of Prayer services.

Local services will be held at the First Methodist church, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. This is the second year that the City Council of Church Women has sponsored such a program in Pampa.

During the morning the impressive ritual prepared by an interdenominational committee for use throughout the world will be observed, with representatives of the six churches comprising the Council assisting. This will be followed by a fellowship luncheon in the basement of the church, each woman presiding her own sack lunch. The luncheon program will include special music by the high school A Cappella choir, a talk by a representative of the Ministerial Alliance, and brief business session at which officers of the Council will be elected for next year.

"The World Day of Prayer is an excellent basis for an all too infrequent Christian fellowship of Protestants," said Mrs. Ho Wagner, chairman for the day, is urging all church women of the city to join in this service.

Mrs. T. F. Morton is program chairman. Mrs. A. L. Burge, president of the Council, will preside at the business session.

Refreshments in a George Washington birthday motif were served by the hostess to Mmes. J. B. Massa, Fred Thompson, Ray Kay, W. Postma, Bob Curry, R. M. Klingler, D. C. Hartman, W. G. Are Your Children Safe?

"School authorities too often feel that because they've never had a fire, they're never going to have one," writes T. Alfred Fleming of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, in the Kiwanis Magazine. "This cruel fallacy is a menace to the lives of American school children, for actually there are five school fires a day in this country. We cannot, unfortunately, eliminate all of them. But we can, by efficient fire drills, get our children out of burning buildings safely."

Most fire drills, Mr. Fleming observes, "are wretchedly inadequate; some actually dangerous." He describes one school in which, when the fire bell rang, downstairs pupils rushed upstairs to get their hats and coats from the cloakroom. A principal once proudly showed him a tubular-shoot escape in his modern school. The chute had locked doors at the bottom—and when the janitor was found after a 20-minute search, he admitted that he had lost the keys a year before! In another school, children had to stand on a windowsill and swing out three feet to reach the fire escape—and then drop 12 feet from it to the ground! And it is a quite general practice to leave crippled children in their seats during fire drills.

Mr. Fleming wishes to "convert every school official and parent to Texas where the study of fire hazards is included in all school curricula, and two fire drills a month are held in all schools under the direction of student committees. Various drill officers are appointed from the older pupils, and are charged with such specific duties as helping crippled children to escape, seeing that rooms are empty before doors are closed, checking on cloakroom and lavatories to see that they are vacant, and leading lines of children to safety. Here the Lone Star State has set an example that should be immediately followed by all other states. America has had enough of ghastly school fire disasters."

Three Hours For Lunch

The lunch-hour of Mexican government employes has been cut from four hours to three.

Doughnut-gobblers, stool-perchers, egg-salad-sandwich addicts, coffee-slippers in the United States will probably read that item and say "A-a-a-h! That must be a little bit of heaven down there below the Rio Grande. But no wonder things move slowly!"

Not so fast. The new hours for Mexican jobholders are from 9 to 1, off until 4, then back to work from 4 to 7:30. A little counting on the fingers will show that this means seven and a half hours at the old desk.

Anybody who has ever been in Mexico City will understand the reason for splitting the day. The altitude is high, the noon sun is hot. Only mad dogs, Englishmen and "loco Americans" go out in the noonday sun. But despite that three-hour break, seven and a half hours are put in at the office.

Whereas in Washington: Nine to 4:30, with an hour for lunch. Wiggle those fingers again—six and a half hours, if we make it right. What we always say is, those Latins just don't have the American love for good, hard work, that's all.

The Nation's Press

FOR ALL INTERESTED IN THE TOPIC (San Francisco Chronicle)

Under the title, "The Press Can Do No Wrong," Forum magazine for February has an article in which H. L. Smith proceeds to prove the contrary. Mr. Smith reports a very bad reaction to the press, worse than that to bankers, pulpit, veteran organizations or radio for misuse of their pressure powers.

Mr. Smith reviews possible reasons for bad reaction to the press—superficiality, commercialization, lack of responsible leadership, dominance by advertisers, abuse of privilege, greed for profit advantages, hypocrisy among them. In his opinion the most resented offense is smugness rather than sins of omission or commission, although of these he lays charges with a heavy hand.

Smugness, says the writer, is shown by the way publishers bounce with indignation at any hint of criticism. This and other evidences he finds have, in his opinion, made the man in the street realize that liberal thought is without a newspaper spokesman.

It is true that there are instances in which some publishers disclose a sensitive nerve and shout before they are hit or, at least, for a light tap. But if it were true that liberal thought had no spokesman and the man in the street wanted one, publishers would have more to worry about than hard words.

H. L. Smith, or another who can diagnose and prescribe, could then shortly become a newspaper publisher, rich as Midas. He might lack "news services," it is true, but "news" ceases to have property strings in 24 hours. The man in the street, desiring a liberal spokesman, could wait 24 hours for comment on Herr Hitler's latest words. Public favor is a magic force that could quickly turn a mimeograph into a battery of presses, a handful of copy paper into a forest of trees reduced to pulp and traveling at lightning speed under the rollers.

Revenue? Admitting for argument that national and local advertisers yearn to "dominate the press," they yearn more to sell their goods. They will advertise where they can sell them or give way to others who will.

The Forum article is recommended to all readers interested in the topic. By Mr. Smith's estimate the circle must be much larger than the newspaper 'sociational group.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life ---

By R. C. Hoiles

GERMANY'S DENSITY OF POPULATION AND WAR

In Hitler's speech, he pointed out some very important things that should be carefully considered by every man and woman who loves peace.

He explained that there were 135 people for every square kilometer of territory in Germany. This practically agrees with other authorities that Germany has only 1.12 arable acres for each person. It is generally agreed that under the present state of agriculture, it takes at least 3 acres per person to support an individual in a healthy condition. Therefore, it is unreasonable to expect capable, intelligent people, like the Germans, to peacefully consent to starvation if the other nations prevent her from getting raw materials by tariff walls or restricted quotas. If Germany is to support her population in health, she must be permitted to import raw materials and fabricate, or change, them into things of more value and trade them back for other comforts of life that she requires, in order to support her population in health and reasonable comfort.

So the greatest thing that could happen to the world to bring about progress and peace and good-will would be a rapid reduction in tariff restrictions, which interfere with nations that do not have sufficient natural resources, from getting these natural resources and trading back the finished product for other things they need.

ALARMING BANKING SITUATION

Everett Dean Martin, of Claremont College, in an address made at Los Angeles on the subject of "Liberty in Our Own Country—It's state of mind and its possibilities," made the statement that the banks, 10 years ago, had 90 per cent of the loans in job-producing loans and 10 per cent in non-job producing loans; that now they have 90 per cent in non-productive loans, like loans to the government and financing the purchase of automobiles, etc., and only 10 per cent in loans to industries that produce jobs.

When industry is not willing to borrow money, there is a very definite reason. It is hard to conceive how private employment can increase when enterprisers are afraid to obligate themselves to borrow capital.

Dr. Martin in his speech said that the spiritual plane had been rapidly declining since the Civil War; that unless the spiritual plane of the public were restored, we would continue to have more and more unemployment, until finally the government had nothing with which to take care of the unemployed.

Dr. Martin is a very careful student of liberty, so his predictions are worthy of thoughtful consideration by every spiritual leader.

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—About this business of boondoggling.

The word means anything you want it to mean. You can apply it to as much or as little of the WPA non-construction program as you wish.

When 600,000 relief workers are set to doing things, rather than to making things, no mortal can say definitely how many of their jobs are intrinsically worth doing, or just how much worth doing even the best of the jobs were. If you like, you can say that the non-construction projects are practically all boondoggles—or that practically none of them is.

In any case, these projects are bewildering in extent. They have provided jobs for more than a million men and women during WPA's life. Broadly speaking, they are classified under five general groupings.

First, there is the cultural program, under which jobless writers, artists, musicians and sculptors have been put to work.

Next are the public administration projects, in which research and statistical work has been done for local governments.

Then there are the professional projects, in which white collar jobs have tolled for such public institutions as libraries and museums.

There are service projects: the cooking of hot lunches for needy school children, gardening and horticultural projects, and "housekeeping aid" projects—of which more later.

DO YOUR OWN FIGURING

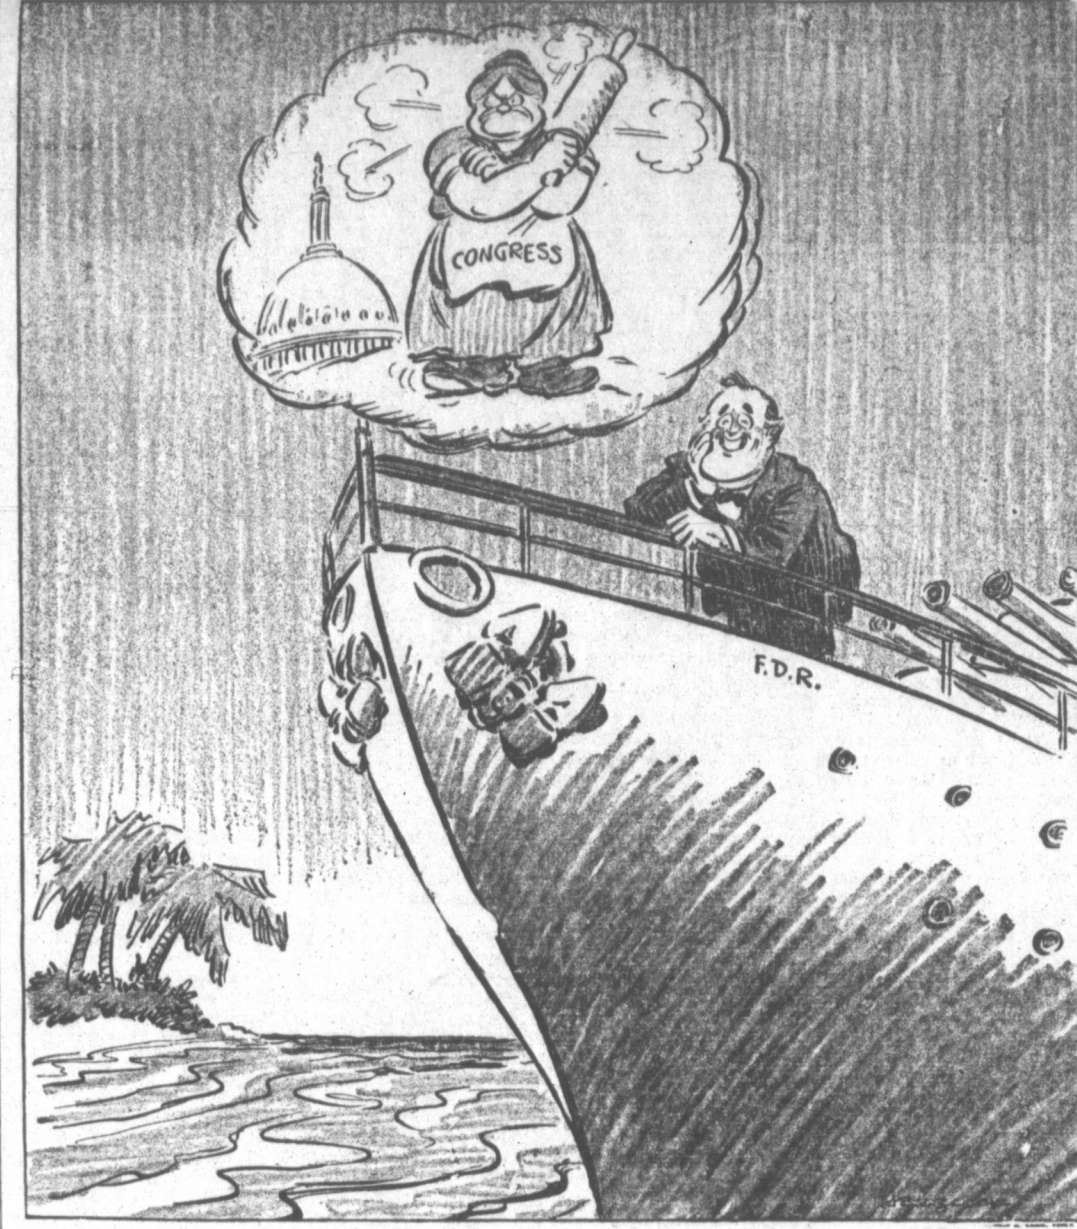

You can collect figures on these things if you like. You can show, for instance, that WPA artists have contributed upwards of 100,000 paintings, sketches, bits of statuary and so on to public buildings. That some 200 WPA bands and orchestras have given 110,000 concerts; that WPA theatrical performances have been witnessed by 3,000,000 customers; that 150-odd guide books have been brought out by WPA writers. But when you get these figures, where are you? Depending on your point of view, that varied program has either been a marvellous thing for the cultural life of America—or a dead waste of public funds.

Similarly with many of the other jobs. There are a few which are obviously useful; a revision of the files in a county assessor's office which enables the county to collect thousands of dollars additional in taxes is worth while, beyond question. But how about a research report headed—"The Evening Academy on Pittsburgh Landing"; or "Early Academies in Mississippi"; or "Directory of Arkansas Mineral Producers for 1935"; Write your own ticket.

Is "housekeeping aid" a boondoggle? Under it, a WPA worker is sent (under the supervision of the local welfare board) to the home of a relief worker in which sickness or some other emergency exists. She does the housework until the emergency ends. What about it: worth while or not?

Mrs. Florence S. Kerr, assistant WPA administrator, thinks this is one of WPA's best achievements. She points out that it often averts the necessity of sending children to an institution, sometimes keeps homes from being permanently broken. Says she: "The people who had the courage to start that program, and to live through the initial ridicule that accompanied it, have really given something to America. They have saved thousands of homes." The sewing circle stunt was an obvious one, of 108,000,000 different articles.

CARIBBEAN CRUISE

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS.

HOLLYWOOD—It's a frightful thing to tell on a lady, but Ann Sheridan eats like a horse. And incidentally she's got me running in circles which you people down in Texas can help me out of.

It started at lunch, when Ann sniffed, then purloined the raw onions from my hamburger. (Considerately, she passed some of her loot back to John Payne, at the next table, with whom she had a love scene in the afternoon.) I don't know that horses like onions, but Annie—

Well, it went from onions to the parsley she ordered to kill the odor, and from that to her fondness for the taste of bluegrass (Kentucky's kind) and for something she calls sheepshead (sheepshead), which grows around Dallas, said Annie, she saw what looked like it in her yard and tasted it, but it wasn't right. She also talked about Johnson grass, but when I raised sheep I said, "I don't know that horses like onions, but Annie—"

But there are two things I'd like. One is to know what sheepshead (?) is because Annie couldn't spell it and all I can find in the dictionary is sheep-sore! And the other is to call on Annie's Texas friends to airmail her nosebag of the succulent herb. A nice girl like Annie shouldn't be denied her appetite. Thank you!

Lee Tracy and Peggy Shannon, two come-backers, are in "What a Fixer For!" . . . Peggy is the girl they boomed as Clara Bow's successor, then overlooked too long. . . . But it's Louis Roth I want to tell about now: Louis is in his sixties, and a grandfather, and he's been in the lions some 40 years. . . . In this picture he does a taming routine, doubling for Peggy (via red curly wig), and it's all very exciting, the way he cracks his whip and shoots his pistol to keep the lions in order. . . . But he takes her for the whip and pistol and goes up and pets the toothy critters and talks baby-talk to them, and they all but purr. . . . He might have done it that way for the film, but Director Lew Lander thought they'd better make it look more exciting to show that Heroine Peggy is a big, brave girl. . . . And it's all said, when the real thing won't do—for the realistic movies.

Shocking—but Hollywood: Fritz Leiber, erstwhile Shakespearean great, playing a role in support of those great dramatic stars, Sally Eilers and Allan Lane . . . in "They Made Her a Spy. . . . Sally has her 4-year-old son, Hally Joe Brown Jr., doing a bit in the picture. . . . Kid called agent, demanded $10 a day—but more if you can get it!"

Constance Moore, 19, another Dallas girl, adopted Marie Wilson's technique in copping featured role in "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man." . . . Plagued producer and director until they gave up, gave her the part.

Reginald Owen, when he finishes the third act of that play he's doing, is calling it "The Sexologist"—I think he'll need a new title if he makes a movie of it.

Donald Collier, son of John Collier, commissioner of Indian affairs, is living with western tribes and doing research work for a doctor's degree in anthropology.

course. If you have to provide jobs, right off the bat, for a whole lot of women, giving them needles and thread is the quickest and likeliest idea. (Incidentally, of the 600,000 WPA workers now on non-construction projects, some 400,000 are women.) These sewing projects have turned out clothing for distribution to needy families. The most recent tabulation, now a year old, showed that they had made some

Burning Bean Smoke Brings Firemen On Run

SEATTLE, Feb. 21 (AP)—H. B. Griffith went for a walk without putting out the fire under a pan of beans.

When he returned, four engine companies, two truck companies and a couple of fire department battalion chiefs were doing it for him. The only damage was from smoke.

Sometimes white-collar projects have proved manifestly offside and have been canceled. Example: one group devoted weeks to making a digest of newspaper articles in a public library, only to learn at last that the research workers for whose benefit the job was being done didn't want a digest; wanted a good index of the articles, instead. So the work done was scrapped, and the workers got busy on an indexing project.

How's Your Health?

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN.

Last month a convict, sentenced to death, offered his body for experimentation in the transplantation of organs with the hope perhaps of saving his own life and with the hope that by such human experimentation something might be done toward saving the lives of other human beings.

Recent publicity as to the possibility of transplanting portions of the body, from one individual to another, has brought to every medical college and research institution in the country many letters from people who wish to sell an eye for transplantation. Hardly a month goes by in which institutions do not receive letters from other human beings who insist that they are willing to sell their bodies alive or dead for experimentation.

In the case of the convict it was proposed, according to newspaper reports, to transplant into his body the pancreas gland from the body of another individual to find out whether or not the gland would remain alive and able to supply the necessary secretion. The pancreas is the gland from which the body secretes insulin—the substance necessary for the proper use of sugar in the body. In the absence of insulin, diabetes develops and it is necessary to supply insulin by injection.

The actual facts as to the possibility of transplanting glandular tissues from one body into another do not indicate that the procedure is likely to become exceedingly efficient, or indeed, that it is possible at all with our present knowledge.

In fact, most of the evidence shows that tissue taken from the body of one species of animal and transplanted into another is treated by the body as foreign material and is either encapsulated and broken down and removed by the forces that the body has for this purpose.

For instance, attempts have been made in the bodies of both men and women who have lost the effects of certain glandular tissues necessary to a normal life, to transplant into the bodies some gland taken from other human beings who have suddenly died. Such procedures have not been successful except insofar as the gland supplied the secretion for a short period while the tissue was being absorbed. Nowadays when the active secretion from most of the important glands of the human body is available in tablet, solution and similar form, such transplantation is hardly necessary.

Special interest attaches to the endeavor to transplant particularly the sex glands of the male and of the female. All available evidence indicates that no such successful transplantation has ever been accomplished whereby the material transplanted was able to take over the functions of the tissue lost.

If transplantation of these simple materials were not found possible, how much less reason is there to hope for transplantation of some of the much more complex glands of the human body like the pancreas?

Long Memory Blamed

THERE USED to be a popular song whose refrain ended with "If You Talk in Your Sleep, Don't Mention My Name!" . . . And, if you can remember it, you look younger with your hat on. . . . But, getting back to the subject, we wouldn't know just how much force a fugonist court decision may have in this country, but in that enlightened country a great victory would seem to have been won for sleep-talkers.

A woman sued her husband in Belgrade for divorce, alleging that as he tossed restlessly about, in bed he murmured endearments coupled with the name of a pretty widow. The indignant and sleepless wife insisted that this was proof of infidelity.

BUT THE JUDGE, wise in the ways of modern science, sought a psychoanalyst. This expert allowed that the sleeper's words might more easily be prompted by suppressed wishes than by their fulfillment.

So the judge ruled "no case" and threw out the action. . . . Old joke, new twist: . . . "Who was that lady I heard you talking about last night?" . . . "That was no lady, that was my psyche!"

ON HIS WAY back to his mid-western home, tired, happy—and broke—is an 81-year-old man. . . . Seven years ago he retired. But a short time ago he decided to have some more fun. He took from the bank $4,000 he had saved.

He went to Europe, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, and France. . . . "Boy," he exulted on returning. "I've been everywhere and seen everything. Oh, boy, France!" And he was broke.

WHAT A MOVIE it would make! The draft life. The retirement. The restlessness. The decision to go so belated wild oats. The swell time. The return, laden with memories. Revolt against routine. Man triumphs over mouse!

The sequel probably wouldn't be in the movie. . . . But it might be this: . . . "Goes on relief and lives out his days at the expense of those who didn't go to Europe."

The Capital Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL.

AUSTIN, Feb. 22 (AP)—Nobody at the capitol seems to take very seriously the suggestion of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel that capital punishment be abolished in Texas.

That is, none who is familiar with the way the legislature does things and knows what large numbers of legislators are thinking, believes there is any strong probability the extreme penalty for crime will be done away with.

That the governor is sincere in his recommendation is not questioned, although some persons find it difficult to reconcile his statement about the Negro Winzell Williams and his denunciation of the death penalty.

All members of the three-member Board of Pardons and Paroles, which because of a constitutional amendment two years ago has the real power of clemency in Texas, are opposed to abolition.

They are not just mildly on the other side of the fence. They are vehement in opposition, believing abolition would be a serious mistake which Texas would regret and would lead to much mischief.

Bruce W. Bryant, board chairman, says capital punishment could be abolished only by a constitutional amendment, not by a legislative enactment. Gov. O'Daniel's special message on the subject said nothing about an amendment.

Gov. James V. Allred's secretaries had a "nut" file in which they slapped odd communications from citizens of Texas and of other states.

By calling it a "nut" file, they did not mean to imply that the senders were barmy; but rather that the letters, postal cards and what-not were out of the ordinary run.

Gov. O'Daniel had a similar file, and it is larger than that of Allred. If it is to be considered an indicator of the way the wind is blowing with regard to public interest in the governor's office, hurricane signals had better be hoisted.

In point of volume, Gov. O'Daniel's mail is putting, not only that of Allred, but all other governors definitely in the shade. He probably receives more mail than two or three governors combined.

Presumably this is due to the fact he is Texas' first radio-governor and for many years before he came to the office was a popular radio performer. Consider the famous $4,000 who asked him to run for the governorship!

Here are some exhibits from the O'Daniel "nut" file:

A woman had two boys and asked the governor to name them. Another woman wrote that her young son had refused to wear his hat unless the governor would state publicly it was good form to wear a hat. Therefore, she requested, would the governor please say in one of his Sunday morning broadcasts from the governor's mansion that it was entirely okeh for boys to wear hats?

A man suggested that a $25 tax be levied to defray costs of old age pensions, observing also that the tax would rid the state of worthless dogs. Another correspondent proposed a marriage fee of $5 and another fee of $7.50 for divorces, the revenue to be devoted to old age assistance financing.

To bring the state out of its financial difficulties, a man recommended printing $25,000,000 treasury notes a year. The notes would be redeemable only in Texas, and, as

FOURTH PRIZE ESSAY

(Editor's Note: The following is the fourth prize article in the contest grown as its "What Is A Reasonable Profit?")

What Is a Reasonable Profit?

Our professor of economics tells us the "profits" are the net income of a business or the difference between income and costs. He further tells us that profits are earned through the assumption of risk.

In the past, the conception of a reasonable profit differed considerably from the present views on the subject. In the period of rapid expansion in this country, huge profits were not uncommon. By re-investing his profits in the business, it was possible for the enterpriser to pyramid and increase his profits tremendously. The prevailing idea was that the enterpriser deserved as large a profit as he could honestly realize.

With the economic disorders which followed the World War, a new conception of a reasonable profit was born. It was thought that a reasonable profit was one which would repay the enterpriser for his investment and would also benefit a larger number of individuals. From this idea have come various plans to aid employees and consumers. Profit sharing plans or bonuses to employees are an outgrowth of this idea. Certain high prices were reduced in order to benefit the consumer.

The conception that a reasonable profit should be one which would give a fair return to the enterpriser and also benefit a larger group has continued until the present time.

With the advent of the New Deal in 1932, conditions were further altered. Business which had, in the majority of cases, become resigned to the principle of spreading out the benefits of profits, was discriminated against and taxed to the limit. With business conditions at a low ebb and profits practically non-existent, this attitude of the New Deal served only to destroy confidence and antagonize business. Profits became scarcer and the income of persons who formerly benefited from profit sharing plans was reduced further. Unemployment and relief rolls increased.

At last the business cycle turned upward and limited profits began to appear. Except for comparatively minor fluctuations, we enjoy relatively normal times. This is the principle of spreading out the benefits of profits, was discriminated against and taxed to the limit. With business conditions at a low ebb and profits practically non-existent, this attitude of the New Deal served only to destroy confidence and antagonize business. Profits became scarcer and the income of persons who formerly benefited from profit sharing plans was reduced further. Unemployment and relief rolls increased.

We must remember that profits by definition come as a payment for the assumption of risk. How can an enterpriser be expected to risk his capital if he is only to be harassed?

The humanitarian idea of a reasonable profit is the one which gives to the enterpriser a fair return on his investment and then benefits society as a whole, by giving the consumer a good value for his money and the worker a wage commensurate with his services.

Our present economic disorders cannot be cured until some such equitable balance is restored and the business man ceases to be the "forgotten man."

Massey Is Lincoln On And Off Stage

By GEORGE ROSS.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21—The Lincoln mantle has not hung lightly upon Raymond Massey, Canadian-born and American-reared, who plays the Great Emancipator in Bob Sherwood's stirring play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

Actors usually can resume their private lives after rubbing the grease-paint from their faces and bidding the stage doorman good-night. But not Massey. The Lincolnian role digs his footsteps in and out of the playhouse.

He used to care for the little swing clubs. He doesn't frequent them any more because of the incongruity between his work and such raucous play. If all the clubs and organizations succeeded in their demands upon his time, he would be repeating "The Gettysburg Address" at breakfast luncheons, dinners and banquets in every spare hour of his present life.

Even without the falseface that he studiously applies in his dressing room each night, his resemblance to the immortal President is uncanny. He was seen in a quiet supper hideout the other night, relaxing wanly from an arduous performance—for his work in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" is exhausting.

He was being regarded by those at other tables with solemn awe, not merely as another stage celebrity. For the Lincoln portrait has become Massey with more public dignity than falls to most actors.

The English language is spoken by more than 224,000,000 people, of which more than half are Americans.

A result, this financier said, the money would be spent in Texas. A boy wanted to get married and asked the governor for a suit, $25 in cash and a job.

Pampa And Lubbock To Play At 2 Friday

Harvesters Also To Play Friday Night

The Harvesters' first opponent in the regional basketball meet at Canyon will be Lubbock's rejuvenated Westerners.

The Pampans will meet the South Plains champions at 8 o'clock Friday afternoon in Buffalo gym in the second game of the afternoon.

In the first game which will begin at 2 o'clock, the Medicine Mound quintet will match shots with the Dalhart Wolves.

Two eliminations will be necessary to oust a team.

The four teams are champions of districts 1, 2, 3 and 4 in the interscholastic league and the winner will represent this region in the state meet at Austin.

Unless the Westerners have improved miraculously the Harvesters should have no trouble in beating them, but observers in the South Plains claim that the Westerners are not at all the same bunch that the Harvesters whipped by about 30 points in a Big Five clash at Lubbock about a month ago.

Perhaps, but the Harvesters have also improved, even if they did lose to Plainview and Amarillo. Lubbock's marked improvement began to be noted when the Westerners defeated Plainview's Bulldogs twice in a row before their district meet last week.

If the Harvesters get by Lubbock, they'll meet the winner of the Medicine Mound-Dalhart game, and if they win that game, they'll go to the finals Saturday night.

Medicine Mound is favored over Dalhart chiefly because the Harde-man county boys come from a district that has had a strangle-hold on the region for years, and because there are more good basketball teams to the square mile in Childress, Hardeman, Ford, Collingsworth counties than in all the rest of the Farshande combined.

So if Medicine Mound gets by Dalhart they'll meet the winner of the Lubbock-Pampa game. The two losers will play Friday night, and one team will be eliminated. In the next game which will probably be at 9 o'clock Friday night, another team will have a loss checked up against it. Then Saturday morning the loser of the second game Friday night and the winner of the first game will play. The winner will go to the finals. The winner of the second game Friday night will also go to the finals.

Pampa is the only repeating district champion in the regional meet this year. Canyon lost to Dalhart by a single point after the latter had

Gabby Turns Tough As He Lectures Men

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Charles Leo (Gabby) Harnett, 39-year-old manager-catcher of the Chicago Cubs known wherever baseball is known for his joviality, has turned tough guy.

Gabby herded a group of pitchers and catchers on the train last night and headed for Catalina Island, spring training quarters for the Cubs. But before he left he gave the players some idea of what to expect when the drills begin Friday.

"I don't have any new radical ideas on the method of spring training," said Gabby, who became manager in mid-season last year and drove his charges to the pennant.

"We're going to follow the same routine as before. But it's going to be different in one respect."

"For the last few years on the club it's just been one ache and pain and alibi after another. I'm sick of hearing about them. The players are the only ones complaining—and I'm not including Dizzy Dean, who really had a sore arm—variably are the ones loafing around the spring camp.

"Well, that's out. The pitchers have 10 days to get into shape, before the second squad hits the island. And they're going to be ready to put some stuff on the ball."

"I want to get everybody straightened around this year so we can get off to a flying start. No more cry-baby stuff."

Of the hitters Larry French and Gene Lillard are still unassigned, but both are expected to come to terms before Thursday.

Among the infielders and outfielders, all of whom are due at Catalina March 4, four are dissatisfied with Cub contracts. They are Stanley Hack, first baseman; Glenn Russell, first baseman; and Augie Galan and Hank Leiber, outfielders.

Robertson Loses Title By Half Point To Russey

Robby Robertson of LeFors, fly-weight champion in the Pampa News Golden Gloves boxing tournament, went out slugging against Eddie Russey of Wichita Falls in the featherweight title fight in Fort Worth last night. Russey, who was the favorite because of his winning the bantamweight title last year, tried to box but Robertson swarmed him from the opening gong and never let up.

Judges gave Russey the title by a half point margin over the Pampa entry. Out of a possible 180 points in the fight, there was only a half point difference in two of the judges' cards and one point, for Robertson, on the other card. Robertson led the fight all the way, landed the most blows and appeared to have coasted to victory, according to both radio reports on the fight and to Trainer Cliff Chambers, who returned to Pampa this morning.

Four Pampa boys were present after the bout. Robertson was presented with a silver statue, emblematic of runner up in the state tournament. Robertson was a favorite with fans from the opening battle when he decimated the veteran C. Stringfellow, champion of the Eighth Corps Area of the U. S. Army.

"Robertson put up a great fight all the way and was entitled to the decision but the judges said differently and we lost," Trainer Chambers said today.

"I am mighty proud of the boys. Those that lost went down fighting and were real sports. The winners congratulated their opponents for putting up stellar bouts. Fort Worth and the State of Texas certainly heard about Pampa all through the tournament."

Four Pampa boys went out of the picture before the first round fights, three went to the quarter-finals, two to the semi-finals and one to the finals which is a record for a small city without adequate training facilities for boys. The trophy for the most points earned by a team went to Amarillo which defeated Fort Worth in the second round with Pampa third, tied with Dallas, and leading Galveston, San Antonio, Austin, Big Spring, Lubbock, and other large cities.

Training Place Needed. "Give us a place in which to train these boys the year around and we'll give Pampa champions," declared Trainer Chambers. "Our boys went to Fort Worth with less than a month of training and experience while boys from the larger cities had trained for the entire year."

Mustangs Still Have Chance For Southwest Title

(By The Associated Press) Tied for fourth place with the Baylor University Bears, the Southern Methodist University Mustangs today hung tenaciously to a bare chance for the Southwest conference cage title.

The Mustangs' 44-28 defeat of the Texas Aggies last night spelled the difference between a chance for the title and the termination of even a look-in.

The victory gave the Methodists six wins in ten starts. It was the seventh loss in nine games for the Aggies.

Last night's game was marked by roughness. Referee Jack Sisco banished Mustang Charlie Sprague for tripping Tom Thinker of the Aggies. Later, Jude Smith, another Aggie forward, took a hard spill under the Methodists' basket and had to leave the game.

The Mustangs were paced by Virgil Wilkerson, who was high-point man with 16.

The lone T. C. U. Frog is scheduled to tackle the conference-leading University of Texas Longhorns in Austin Thursday. The same night, the second-place Rice Owls will play Baylor in Waco. The third-place Arkansas University Razorbacks are to entertain the Aggies at Fayetteville Friday night.

Yanks To Come To Terms, Says Barrow

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—President Ed Barrow of the New York Yankees figures his five unsigned players all will come to terms before the first contingent of ball players leaves Saturday for St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp.

The five are Joe DiMaggio, Frank Crosetti, Bill Dickey, Red Rolfe and Joe Gordon.

"We are only a few points out of line with these players," said Barrow.

Golfers Arrive At Houston For Amateur Meet

HOUSTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—A flock of Houston amateurs today prepared to tee off in the practice rounds for the Houston Invitation Golf tournament in the hope some of them will find enough encouragement to come back tomorrow for the qualifying round.

Their scores today won't mean a thing. They will just be playing for the love of the game, but that's the way amateurs are anyway. They all love the game else they wouldn't spend their money and time in trying to beat amateurs like Johnny Goodman of Omaha, Neb.; John Barnum of Edinburg, surprise amateur of the Texas Open; Lieut. Ken Rogers of Allan, Ga.; Bobby Reel of Houston, Texas amateur champion; Walter Emery of Houston, defending champion; O'Hara Watts and Don Schumacher of Dallas, and Hank Bow Beer of Chicago, and a flock of others.

Goodman, national amateur champion in 1937, blew in from New Orleans yesterday for his third crack at the Houston amateur title. He shot a non-impressive 75 in a practice round.

Gus Novotny of Memphis, Tenn., breezed around in 69 strokes and was shooting from the back tees. Some of the gallery looked upon the Tennessee as a possible finalist after match play gets underway Thursday.

Freddie Haas, the New Orleans amateur, and Richard Arlen, motion picture player, both of whom had indicated they would play in the tourney, informed tournament officials yesterday they would be unable to compete.

No Favorite In Santa Anita Race

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (AP)—Starting candidates for the Santa Anita Derby were ready to be announced today, but the outcome of the fifth renewal of this $50,000 feature will remain a matter of varied speculation until the 3-year-olds actually hit the finish wire late tomorrow afternoon at Santa Anita Park.

Turf experts can usually reach some kind of agreement on a favorite in a race for age horses, but this derby—certainly more so than the 1938 edition—finds favoritism scattered over a number of velvety noses.

Anywhere from 15 to 20 colts and fillies were expected to be named today for the mile and one furlong special, and track officials predicted almost a score would go to the post for a whack at the handsome purse.

Seabiscuit Gallops 2 Miles In Training

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (AP)—Charles S. Howard, who owns Seabiscuit, and "Silent Tom" Smith, who trains him, kept their fingers crossed today and hopefully admitted they expected the nation's No. 1 speedster to start in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap March 4.

They were hopeful because the "Biscuit galloped two miles and "cooled out" last night without a trace of lameness which was so noticeable a week ago as he lost his first out of the 1939 season to Neil C. McCarthy's today.

SPORT SPARKS

By WILLIAM T. RIVES.
DALLAS, Feb. 21 (AP)—Galveston's great football team, the Cowboys, have not lost a game in two years.

They scored their first shutout the other night, smothering Tupelo, Miss., 29-0.

Billy Patterson, Baylor's football pride and straight-A student, preached a sermon in the Second Baptist church in Houston Sunday night.

His topic was "Christ, the Great Coach."

George Halas of the Chicago Bears is expected to tempt Patterson within the next two weeks with his final offer for the passer to turn professional.

If Patterson could stay and keep up his law studies at the same time, he might accept.

Austin sports writers have the ravens about Billy Dewell, Southern Methodist basketball star. They call him the Southwest conference's greatest all-around athlete and say he's cinched his third straight all-conference basketball season.

Hizzoner the Governor may throw out the first ball of the Texas league baseball season at Houston come April 12.

Hard Luck Story: W. H. McBride of Fort Worth scored a hole-in-one but lost the hole to a hole-in-one owned by George B. McCamey of Fort Worth.

If the nag can run like Davey can pass, we'll wager two bob on him.

Golf Notes: Houston is working toward a $5,000 open tournament to be held next year between the Texas open at San Antonio and the New Orleans affair.

George B. McCamey of San Antonio will go after her fourth straight Texas Women's Golf Association championship over the Austin Country club course April 23-28.

Wichita Falls will be the state's golf capital June 1-4, when the nation's P. G. A. qualifying rounds, the Texas P. G. A. open, and the Texas cup matches will be played.

Mrs. Johnny Parnell, state women public links champ, will face a fast field when she defends her title at the Tension Park course in Dallas, June 12-16.

115 Entered In Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 21 (AP)—One hundred and 15 entries, 42 more than were nominated last year, have been received for the sixty-fifth running of the $50,000 added Kentucky Derby May 6.

Col. Matt J. Winn, president of Churchill Downs, said entries included William Ziegler's El Chico, credited by some persons as the likely choice for winter book favorite.

W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mite, winner of the Belmont Futurity last fall; Joe W. Brown's T. M. Dorsett; Belair Stud's Johnstown; Col. E. R. Bradley's Benefactor; A. G. Vanderbilt's Impound; Mrs. Bessie Franzheim's Zulu; Tom Taggart's Yale O'Nine; John March's Light Spur, and H. W. Jackson's Ariel Toy.

Turks Win Third Place In Tourney

TURKEY, Feb. 21—The "Terrible Turk" quint finished third in the district 4B race after a heart-breaking loss to Medicine Mound in the semi-finals of the district meet.

The Turks led the district champs 6 points at the half and also led them 3 points with only 2 minutes to play and lost 29-28 in the final minute.

Charlie Johnson, elected all district center, scored 39 of the Turks' points out of the 4 games played; Lawrence Arnold scored 31; Chat Johnson 34. The Turks defeated Paducah in their first game, then Chidress and Carey and lost to Medicine Mound.

The "Turks" played Carey for third place and defeated them 29-22.

SERIAL STORY

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES

Yesterday, the rigorous beauty treatments are an ordeal for Susie but she agrees to go on with Jeff's encouragement. He says he will stick with her.

CHAPTER XIV

JEFF asked eagerly, "How do you like the publicity? That's my idea, urging the girls to profit by your experiences. Later I have in mind a radio program, Swen putting you through your paces. We'll call it, 'The Susie road to beauty.' Maybe, if there's enough response, you can sponsor a question and answer column in the paper." His voice was rich with enthusiasm.

"Quite a program," Susie observed. "Certainly a lot more to it than meets the eye." She laughed good-naturedly. "Do you know what I remind myself of?" "No. Tell me."

"I knew a little boy who received a guitar for Christmas. He was crazy about cowboy yodeling on the radio and begged for a guitar night and day. When he got it he went for his first lesson and what do you suppose the poor youngster thought? He thought one lesson was all he needed, that the teacher would show him how to play and—presto—he'd play."

"I get it," Jeff laughed. "You thought someone would show you how to be beautiful and—presto—you'd be beautiful!" She nodded. Jeff was an understanding person. She liked him. Odd how easy it was to tell him things. Remembering how Dick had smitten her dumb she thought it extremely odd.

"Out of her thoughts she asked, 'Do you know Dick Tremaine, Jeff?'" "Yeah," he said, wheeling the car into his stall in the garage. "I used to know Dick well. He's several years younger than I am, but we went to the same summer camps when we were kids. Haven't seen much of him recently. My father lost his money and Dick's didn't. It makes a difference."

"I just wondered," Susie murmured. They went in the employees' entrance. Groups of men and girls at the lockers greeted them and looked curiously after Susie.

"Do you know Dick?" Jeff asked, pursuing the subject. "He went to the University," she said. "He liked my waffles." On an impulse she added, "I had a date with him once."

She waited for the surprised tilt of Jeff's eyebrows. It did not come.

"Dick's all right," he said. "I used to think him quite a baby, hated to have him tagging me around, but he's all right. Jeff got off the elevator with a chatty, 'Good luck, Susie,' and she went on to the gymnasium.

SWEN met her. "Did you drink three glasses of hot water with lemon juice?" he asked suspiciously.

"Yes, Swen," Susie felt happy, lifted. Jeff knew Dick, admired him. It was almost as if she'd had a glimpse of Dick. She hurried to the dressing room and donned the brief suit. On with the task of making herself over for Dick.

She had her breakfast, a pint of orange juice, one slice of toast so thin that it crackled when she bit into it, black coffee. The day went on, work, rest, hair sunning, more orange juice in mid-morning, a glass of water every hour. A young artist made a pen sketch of her while she sunned her hair, another as she lay on a mat with her feet in the air. He was a clever artist, a few lines, the face blank. Susie knew the sketches would appear in the paper with the next day's lesson.

In the afternoon, after the kneading and pounding and spanking, after the restful massage, Emma covered Susie with a sheet and two girls took over the job. One worked on Susie's nails, finishing with cream rubbed into her hands and arms and a treatment for her elbows. The other girl tolled over her feet, pedicuring the nails, trimming the callouses, smoothing them with delightful lotions. Susie drowsed while this was going on, blissfully relaxed.

Followed a busy week, a profitable week from Mr. Harker's point of view. The drug department reported 89 calls in one day for Susie's shampoo, the tea room was swamped with orders for Susie's diet. Women called John Harker to commend him, to ask questions, even to report progress.

"May we see Susie when you've finished with her?" they asked. "Yes, she's a real girl! Does she really do all these things?" Mr. Harker congratulated Kane and Jeff Bowman on their campaign.

At the end of the first week poor Susie, the subject, the experimental laboratory for beauty, the guinea pig, had just about reached the end of her own particular string. Swen, with the Tibbity hard as the well known nail, Jeff sympathetic but inflexible. The fact that Susie lost seven pounds during that first, gruelling week brought her small comfort.

Her stomach, expanded for 23 years, refused to shrink. Instead, it folded up on itself, pinning constantly, gnawing and grinding. She filled the aching void with orange juice, with water, with unsweetened tea. She chewed on her bread lamb chop and toast to the last thread and crumb. She forced her stiff muscles to perform miracles in the way of stretching and straining and doubling, she tightened her belt three inches.

It was when the battle had raged for seven days that Susie felt; that is, she was prepared to make the downward plunge had not the faithful Jeff been on the job.

Sometimes Jeff doubted if he would ever attain success in his chosen field. He knew himself to be a good advertising man, he was fairly bubbling over with ideas. John Harker listened to Jeff's ideas and acted upon many of them, slowly but steadily his pay increased but, to his disgust, Clifford Kane had the last word and got the credit.

On this night, a week after the beautifying began, Jeff had taken Susie to her hotel. He often drove her out, it was on his way home, he liked to hear of the daily events, they gave him more ideas. On this particular evening Susie had said not one word. There was a kind of weary desperation that made him park his car a block from the hotel and walk back with the intention of taking her to Edna.

His mother was vitally interested in Susie, often she urged Jeff to bring her home with him. Jeff had hesitated on several counts, the first being the matter of food. Edna was a hospitable soul, possibly didn't appreciate the importance of Susie's diet.

This night, however, he decided that Susie needed Edna and walked back to the hotel. Poor Susie, she hadn't even said good night. Passing the drug store in one corner of the hotel Jeff stopped and exclaimed softly. Susie sat at a small table in the rear. Even from the sidewalk Jeff sensed her attitude of mind. Defiant, reckless, for-the-moment-don't-care.

Gazing at her he saw a white-coated young man place a tall glass before her and, to his horror, he recognized it. A double malted milk, chocolate, thick. As Susie inserted a huge straw into the mixture Jeff strode through the door.

He marched to her table. Susie, her lips parted over the straw, stopped in arrested motion. No habitual drunkard, lately having signed the oath of abstinence, caught with a flask in his hand, could have looked more gullible.

"Susie—," Jeff exclaimed. Her lips closed over the straw and Jeff swung on the glass. There was a sharp struggle, foamy liquid slopped on the table. Jeff was victorious.

A football game caused a conflict in a state law.

It came to light in the Texas Senate when Weaver Moore of Houston introduced a bill to correct the discrepancy in the statute dealing with leasing of state prison lands for mineral purposes.

As enacted, the law stipulated a five-year primary lease but in another section it said the lease lapses if oil is NOT produced in three years.

Moore said the author of the bill was at a football game the day his steno-grapher copied it and the next day it was rushed through without proof reading, the conflict escaping notice until various lease holders discovered they had five-year leases but apparently had to give them up unless oil was produced within the first three.

To make matters more complicated the attorney general had approved the leases. The Senate quickly ironed out the conflicting clauses after Moore introduced the corrective amendments.

Bryan Bradbury of Abilene, House whip in a successful effort two years ago to outlaw horse race betting, had NO opposition in last summer's Democratic primaries. Regardless, he had cards printed but not the type associated with campaigners.

They bore the Arab proverb, "I had NO shoes and complained—until I met a man who had NO feet." The card didn't mention the youthful legislator was a candidate for renomination. It simply bore his name in print smaller than that of the proverb.

He said demand for the cards was heavy, many persons writing him for additional copies.

The "Spilvins Boys" champion is NO longer in the Senate but in his wake has arisen a legislator for the "Shingle Bill Smiths."

Former Senator Tom Deberry of Bonham had created the mythical figures, the Spilvins boys, to defame the common folk whose rights he cherished.

Since he became a member of the important board of control little of that sort of language has been heard on the Senate floor. Recently a new myth came into being when Senator Gordon Burns of deep East Texas took occasion to refer to some of his constituents as "Shingle Bill Smiths."

This led Senator Moore to whose Bill Burns was speaking to remark: "I didn't know my bill would be the vehicle for the first skinned milk and wild onion speech of Senator Burns."

Life in the Governor's mansion starts early Sunday morning when Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel presents his weekly broadcast. He's up at 5:45 a. m., on every other morning, a habit of years, and other members of the family are apt to be around pretty early, especially Pat and Mike, the Governor's children who play with the Tibbity orchestra on the O'Daniel program.

Long before the program begins at 8:30 a. m. visitors arrive. A door slams in a far hall. Whispered conversations and the muffled sound of feet thumping on thick carpets mingle with tentative strains from banjos, violins and a portable organ.

The Governor in shirt sleeves receives the group of musicians, banks around the Governor. A warning buzzer sounds and the strains of Home, Sweet Home on the organ sends another O'Daniel broadcast into thousands of homes.

When the program ends a few visitors shake the Governor's hand, congratulating him in subdued tones. There is NO loud talk. One by one the visitors depart. The Governor comes into the hall and chats informally with correspondents as Mrs. O'Daniel and a secretary type copies of the Governor's address for the correspondents. Pat and Mike join the group, the copies are ready, the newsmen depart and the O'Daniel family—Molly hurrying downstairs for a late breakfast—relaxes for a hour or so before going to church.

Quips that pass in the Senate: Senator Clint Small of Amarillo, "I think you can get excused long enough to get a sandwich."

Senator Houghton Brownlee, describing Dr. Home, Erice Rainey, president-elect of the University of Texas: "He's a native Texan, a man with southern ideals and a Democrat without a plus or minus mark on him."

Senator Burns, during a speech from the floor: "I won't follow the schemes of some wild hyena from California named Townsend."

in answer to a question from a colleague: "Certainly it's NOT unconstitutional for the legislature to return to the general fund the unused portion of an appropriation, but it is rare."

Senator Joe Hill of Henderson, stopping midway of a warm speech: "Wait a minute. I swallowed a cough drop."

Senator Burns, on contemplating a bill setting the salary of the state auditor at $7,500 annually: "Seven thousand, five hundred—and cotton eight cents a pound in Texas."

Lieut.-Gov. Coke Stephenson, when a Senator complained of the lateness of the hour and suggested adjournment: "I think you can get excused long enough to get a sandwich."

Senator Houghton Brownlee, describing Dr. Home, Erice Rainey, president-elect of the University of Texas: "He's a native Texan, a man with southern ideals and a Democrat without a plus or minus mark on him."

Senator Burns, during a speech from the floor: "I won't follow the schemes of some wild hyena from California named Townsend."

Tall Building For Offices Given Study

AUSTIN, Feb. 21 (AP)—Erection of a towering state building to house various departments now paying some $200,000 in annual rentals got studied consideration from the House committee that quizzed department heads until early today.

The committee on public buildings, looking everywhere for economy measures that could provide funds for the Austin skyscraper without direct taxation on the people, probed deep into departmental finances in a six-hour session.

Reliable sources said a skyscraper, costing in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 had been planned.

Chairman Robert Wood of the House committee on public buildings interrogated every ranking state official in search for funds and in an effort to pare the state's rental expenditures.

Railroad Commissioner Lon A. Smith estimated the commission could give an approximately $110,000 annually towards a new state building. He said economies effected in his department, and a potential 20 per cent slash in expenses of the department is housed in one building, would make it possible for the railroad commission to cooperate on the project.

Mrs. D. L. Neal and Mrs. P. A. Houston, members of the state Board of Cosmetology, estimated $100,000 could be taken from their surplus fund to be applied to the building.

Liquor Administrator Bert Ford testified his department of liquor control paid annual rents of $19,960.

Director of Public Safety Homer P. Garrison, Jr., and Adjutant General Harry Knox said they favored economy and would be willing to cooperate in cutting down office space if it could be arranged.

Other Rentals High

Knox said he did not like the idea of moving his office in the capitol to Camp Mabry because he could not be in close contact with the governor.

A. J. Dartz, secretary of the State Barber's Board, said it was possible that body could give a percentage of its surplus towards the building fund.

Orville Carpenter, director of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, said the commission had signed a five-year lease on the building it now occupies and for which it pays an annual rental of $64,218.75.

Fred Rightor, secretary of the State Board of Professional Engineers, estimated it would be possible for his body to contribute "about $50,000" to the building cause.

Chairman R. L. Bobbitt of the State Highway Commission told the committee he did not think it good policy to take money from highway fund and apply it to a building fund in which the department could not be interested because it had its own place.

Labor Commissioner Joe Kunschick estimated some $6,000 could be taken from the boiler inspection fund surplus to be applied to the fund, while Attorney General Gerald Mann pledged cooperation in the movement.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Mild recoveries today dented a slow-going stock market. Higher tape, but many issues lacked even slight rising tendencies.

Although fractional gains predominated in the close, numerous stocks were unchanged to off a trifle.

Tension over foreign affairs appeared to have lessened somewhat, but speculative forces were disinclined to make any large wagers on potential overseas happenings.

On the home front support was accorded shares of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Glenn Martin, Consolidated Edison, Santa Fe, Postum, Standard Oil of N. J., and Celanese.

Selective foreign leanings were exhibited in the bond department. Commodities were narrow.

Quakers To Aid Nazi Refugees

WEST BRANCH, Ia., Feb. 21 (AP)—A common desire to aid German refugees has brought together two factions of West Branch Quakers split since 1880 and forecast new attention for the little Iowa community where former President Herbert Hoover was born.

Seventy-five Quakers, representing 10 Iowa settlements, and both the conservative and progressive wings of the faith here, have joined hands in a project to provide a refugee home and readjustment center for victims of Nazi Germany's economic and political persecutions.

The Quakers decided to do their part "to alleviate suffering and make citizens" of German refugees by rebuilding an abandoned Quaker boarding school near here and using it as a home for refugees, to be brought there in groups of 40, taught American customs and then sent out as residents of a new country.

Details of the plan remain to be worked out, but the first group of refugees is expected to arrive in the spring after $5,000 has been spent renovating the boarding school.

Iowa Quaker groups plan to pay out of equities and readjusting the boarding school while the cost of maintaining the refugees afterwards will be met by the American Friends service committee.

Final action on the proposed refugee project will be taken later this week at a meeting of an official committee, but all leaders have agreed that there is no doubt of approval by the executive group.
