Pampa Hopes Of Baseball Team Fade

Must Raise $1,000 In 48 Hours To Operate Club

For several days it looked as though Pampa was going to have a team in the Texas-New Mexico Baseball league but during the past week the picture has changed and there is serious doubt that the national pastime will come to Pampa, according to L. N. Atchison, chairman of a committee named to raise a $2,500 sinking fund to assure the team completing the season.

"We have raised $1,500 and unless the rest is in sight within the next 48 hours we may have to throw up our hands and quit," Mr. Atchison said today. "We raised most of that money in two days and received promises of a great deal more. That was when we decided to take the leap and ask for a franchise. Now we have the franchise but not the money."

Donations, or investments as they should be called because not a dollar of the money may be spent, of any amount will be accepted by the committee. A telephone call to one of them will be appreciated. Members of the committee are Mr. Atchison, C. E. McGrew, Jack Dunn, Sam Ferguson, Dick Hughes and Sid Patterson.

"We simply must raise that money," Mr. Atchison declared today. "We can't let the other cities in the league down. Lamesa, a city far smaller than Pampa has raised twice the amount we are trying to get. They were not given a franchise until we came in. Now we can't let Lamesa down."

Italy Backs Up Nazi Conquests

ROME, March 22. (AP)—Italy in effect warned the democratic powers today that joint action to check the Rome-Berlin alliance might incur the risk of war.

The Fascist grand council, Premier Mussolini's cabinet, issued a strong statement this morning after a long discussion of the consequences of Adolf Hitler's push eastward.

Fascists interpreted the declaration as meaning the axis was prepared to fight, if necessary, to realize Italian aspirations to colonial concessions from France.

It is the general conviction among Fascists here that furtherance of these claims is the next task to be taken up by the Rome-Berlin collaborators.

The Fascist grand council, in the face of the threatened formation of a united front of the democracies associated with Bolshevism directed against the authoritarian states—a united front which is not the harbinger of peace but of war—declares that what has happened in central Europe has happened in Versailles treaty and reaffirms especially in this moment its full adherence to the policy of the Rome-Berlin axis.

Fascists said that Italy supported Germany in the annexation of Austria, Czech Sudetenland, and Bohemia and Moravia, and that naturally Italy expected returns of its own from the Fascist-Nazi machine.

Dr. Fishbein Meets Brinkley In Court

DEL RIO, March 22. (AP)—Dr. Morris Fishbein, stocky, bald editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, prepared today to meet in court Dr. John R. Brinkley, gland specialist, whose radio programs on a Mexican station are known to thousands of Americans.

Prominent medical men from the four corners of the United States were on hand for the court battle in which Dr. Brinkley is asking $250,000 from Dr. Fishbein for alleged damages resulting from an article that was published in Hygeia, national medical publication.

Federal court attaches predicted a bitter court fight between Dr. Fishbein, who is also secretary of the American Medical Association, and Dr. Brinkley, whose radio activities in Kansas a few years ago turned the medical association membership against him.

The suit is based on alleged derogatory remarks attributed to Dr. Fishbein in an article that appeared in the medical magazine.

Harvesters Will Play Casper, Wyoming, Club

Pampa high school's traveling Harvesters will set a new distance record to play football this year when they go to Casper, Wyo., for a game on September 22. Coach Odus Mitchell announced this morning upon receipt of a telegram from the coach of the Casper team.

"Your terms agreeable to us. We'll expect you on Sept. 22. Contract following," read the telegram signed by C. H. Blanchard, coach of the great Casper team.

The game with Casper was scheduled after Bill Anderson, high school athletic business manager, met Coach Blanchard of Casper while attending the basketball tournament in Denver, Colo., last week. Mr. Anderson told the Casper coach that Pampa might be interested in visiting a game.

Upon his return to Pampa Mr. Anderson discussed the proposition with Coach Mitchell and telegrams were exchanged resulting in the contract.

"We may make it a home and home deal with Casper coming here in 1940," Coach Mitchell said today.

Casper Won Title Casper won the Wyoming state championship in 1937 but lost in the finals last fall to a team they had soundly trimmed in an earlier game.

Coach Mitchell also announced today that he had signed a contract to bring the Van Buren, Ark., high school team to Pampa for a game on the night of October 20. The Van Buren team is to be accompanied to Pampa by the famous Bob Burns band and efforts will be made to bring Bob Burns to Pampa for the game, Coach Mitchell said.

Contracts have also been signed for games with Vernon and Central of Oklahoma City besides the district games.

A tentative game with Olney, Ok., is to be played on October 6, has also been scheduled. That leaves one open date on the Harvesters schedule, November 3. Teams available for that date include Hobbs, N. M., Big Spring, Hollis, Okla., Lawton, Okla., and Childress.

Previously bills of similar purpose also had lost out in the House of Representatives.

There was no debate in the Senate before the vote on Roberts' motion was taken, merely some sparring for time to get all members to the floor.

It was a quiet finish to a long and at times uproarious struggle. Pampa school children will go to Plainview to compete in the annual contests.

The first number on the program after the two Jonsson concerts tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night will be the free concert here Sunday afternoon by the 70-piece Sam Houston junior high school band of Amarillo which has the reputation of being as good as most high school bands in the southwest.

The concert which will be played under the baton of Sam Bagwell, the director, will begin at 3 o'clock. The public is invited to attend the concert which will include 12 numbers, including the Jolly Robbers Overture by von Suppe, and selections from Maytime by Romberg.

Two Concerts Planned On Thursday evening, March 30, all the ward school bands will give a concert, and on the next night, the Harvesters and Junior High Reaper bands will give a joint concert. Admission will be charged to both affairs, and the proceeds will be used to help send the musicians to Plainview. The Jonsson concert will also benefit the band for the Plainview trip. The school will pay entry fees of 25 cents each for the students.

The auditorium is expected to be packed at the Jonsson concerts tomorrow afternoon and at both band concerts. The school is going to make a drive to fill every seat in the auditorium at both concerts. The bands will play the numbers they will play at Plainview and thus Pampans will have an opportunity to hear the bands play the compositions which the children have been practicing for weeks.

Start Marching Practice Yesterday, Junior high band started marching practice which is being held from 7:30 until 8 o'clock.

The school will send nine school musical organizations to Plainview including the following bands: Harvesters, Reaper, Sam Houston, Woodrow Wilson, B. M. Baker, Horace Mann, and the high school A Cappella choir, the high school glee club and the Junior high school A Cappella choir.

The 400 musicians will be accompanied to Plainview by the directors, many teachers, school heads, and hundreds of parents and friends. It is estimated that about 600 from Pampa will attend the concerts.

Lithuania Surrenders Seaport To Germany

Hitler Orders Transfer Of Memel Area Demand Based On Force, Declares Lithuanian Writer

KAUNAS, March 22. (AP)—The little republic of Lithuania surrendered Memel, the seaport she acquired after the World war, to the advancing German reich today in answer to what semi-official sources said was a threat that her entire state would be taken over if she did not comply.

This Germany got back a Baltic seaport she lost under the Treaty of Versailles and Lithuania was left without one.

The semi-official newspaper, Lietuvos Aidai said: "In the face of dire necessity Lithuania was placed before the cruel dilemma—either transfer Memel to Germany or endanger the independence of the entire state."

Arguing that the best possible course had been followed in capitulating to German pressure, the newspaper said:

"The German demand was based on force and Lithuania must heretofore submit."

A state of emergency was proclaimed throughout Lithuania shortly after the government announced formally the return to Germany of the world war lost Baltic territory.

The Lithuania cabinet announced the return of Memel, 1,099 square mile territory with 150,000 mostly German population, early this morning.

German storm troop formations and Memel Nazis at once began taking over public buildings, the radio station and other posts in the city of Memel, which has been Lithuania's only port.

The regular troops of the German army, however, apparently had not yet crossed the frontier.

The Lithuania parliament in an emergency session this morning approved the cession of Memel.

The official Lithuania announcement said: "The cession of Memel, which has been forced on Lithuanians, has depressed the population but there is determination to fight for the independence of Lithuania herself."

There were rumors Chancellor Hitler would go to Memel to celebrate his latest bloodless conquest—one week after that in Czechoslovakia—but he remained in Berlin to see an official Lithuania delegation which would confer on details of the German annexation.

Jews' Fight Halted The German storm troopers halted the frenzied flight of Jews and other refugees from the little territory.

The Lithuania army began gradual evacuation of Memel.

The state of emergency declared by the government resembles martial law. Officials said one reason it was proclaimed was to facilitate withdrawal of Lithuanian troops.

A Lithuanian defense ministry official declared, however, that German storm troops crossed the frontier at Skirvyte, that they disarmed.

Legislators ACD Challenge Of Hitler

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—Legislators who want to shove down Hitler's demands for a challenge to a presidential declaration against immediate government rearmament.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday curtailment of federal spending would be worth conferring only if private enterprise gave a "guarantee" it would take up the slack in employment.

Injecting new elements of strife and uncertainty into an already heated congressional scrap over relief costs, his statement apparently strengthened determination of House economy advocates to pare down a supplementary relief appropriation to $100,000,000.

But it also gave a stimulant to those Congressmen who want the relief funds accepted as a challenge to a presidential declaration against immediate government rearmament.

Wholesaling Used Cars to Individuals!

A Message To Auto Buyers Of Pampa:

The Culberson - Smalling Chevrolet Company has been doing business in Pampa and vicinity for the past twelve years.

Our first location was on Kingsmill street in a small building. In the fall of 1929 we built our present building on the corner of Frances and Ballard where we maintain every modern service for your Chevrolet.

The policy of our firm is to give everyone a good square deal; keep their good will and friendship and merit their future business.

Year after year we have led in both new and used car sales; and repeat business from our old customers made this possible.

Selling used cars in mass sales at wholesale prices is something new in Pampa, but we are determined to sell ours to make way for more new car delivery.

This is not an auction, we have marked all the cars down below wholesale; and the individual buyers can buy them at the wholesale price.

We admit that we are losing money, because in every case, the wholesale price is much less than we allowed, but the demand for the new 1939 Chevrolet makes it necessary for mass used car selling.

Our salesmen will give you the name of the previous owner and the complete history of every car we have on display.

Ten men have the responsibility of reconditioning our used cars in a separate department, and we invite you to inspect this department.

They have the advantage of the most modern equipment, we sell our cars with a definite guarantee, and any customer we have sold will tell you our terms are easy and fair.

Since we started in Pampa we have sold 9,800 used cars; a record far ahead of any dealer, and one we are proud to call to your attention.

We mean business on this sale and when we say wholesale prices, we mean it! Come in and see for yourself. Our finance plan is the lowest in the city; and you do business with us all through your contract, make all payments in our office; and in case of unforeseen emergencies, we arrange payment extensions.

Get your car at this wholesale-clean-up sale! and you save money!

Signed: FRANK CULBERSON

Today, by the means of the printed word here, we give what we believe to be the first and greatest plan of its kind in buying USED CARS! This is not an auction sale! Read about every car described below and inspect them on our lot!

This plan is great in its simplicity. . . Wholesaling Used Cars to Individuals! You have heard about how dealers wholesale cars. . . well Mr. Individual here's your chance to buy as the wholesale buyer does.

BRITAIN'S SEA DOGS SEE KIEL CANAL AS MONUMENT TO DIPLOMATIC FOLLIES

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 22 — Prime Minister Chamberlain's performance at Munich — criticized even more strongly today because of complete dismemberment of Czechoslovakia — is regarded by opponents of the government's policy as another one of those diplomatic follies in which English statesmen — far from showing their reputed superhuman cleverness — proved, according to their critics, that they could not see beyond the tips of their haughty noses.

Adolf Hitler's current widening of the Kiel Canal is making high officials of the British admiralty shake their heads over what they especially call England's "twin follies" of the latter nineteenth century — her abstention from intervening in the Danish War of 1864 and cession of the Island of Heligoland to Germany in 1890.

In 1864, Bismarck, Iron Chancellor of Prussia, dreaming of a mighty, united Germany which would challenge England's supremacy in world affairs, looked at the map. If that future Germany was to become a colonial and mercantile sea power, it must have a navy as strong as England's.

But such a German navy would only be master of the Baltic Sea. To go farther afield, it would have to risk the narrow and dangerous waters between the Danish mainland and the Danish islands.

But Bismarck visioned something else, and made war upon tiny Denmark. Princess Alexandra, daughter of Denmark's king, had married the Prince of Wales, future King Edward VII. Despite the connection between the royal families of the two countries, despite the long friendship, the British made no move to save Denmark.

Prussia grabbed the mainland provinces of Schleswig and Holstein. Years later the English saw the extent of their folly. Germany built the great Kiel Canal across this one-time Danish land. This canal connects the waters of the Baltic Sea with those of the North Sea.

It gives the German fleet a safe hideaway in the Baltic and easy exit for belligerent purposes into the North Sea when conditions are favorable. Thus a German fleet is always a menace to England in time of war.

The canal, 61 miles long, was completed in 1895 at a cost of $100,000,000. It was wide enough and deep enough to permit Germany's war fleets to pass through.

Now England is planning to build ships of 40,000 tons — perhaps larger. If Hitler wants to match them, Kiel Canal won't take them. Result is he has ordered full speed ahead to widen and deepen the canal. At present it can accommodate 35,000 tonners. It is estimated it will cost another $50,000,000 and take at least two years to widen and deepen the canal. That may mean naval peace for two years.

The canal empties into the mouths of the Elbe and Weser rivers. Outside in the North Sea, a natural guardian of this water, is the island of Heligoland. The English gave it to Germany in 1890 in exchange for German recognition of British rule in the African island of Zanzibar. They thus gave up a pistol held at Germany's head.

When the Versailles Treaty was written, the British tried to save themselves from their two past follies. The treaty decreed that the Kiel Canal was to be open to all warships of countries at peace with Germany.

Hitler announced recently it would be closed to all, unless they received specific permission from Germany. The treaty decreed that the fortifications on Heligoland were to be destroyed. They were. But Hitler has now had the place more heavily fortified than ever.

The minute fiber spun by the silk worm, in proportion to its size, is the strongest known to mankind. The separate fiber, about one-fourth the diameter of the finest human hair, will, if twisted into a rope an inch square, sustain a weight of 32 tons.

Labels on cotton goods that mention shrinkage must now specify what is meant by "shrink" or "pre-shrunk," says a new rule for the industry.

GERHARD'S ICE CREAM

Plenty large enough for such small warships as this, the Kiel Canal needed widening if Germany wanted to match Britain's 40,000-ton dreadnaughts.

World War treaties forced the destruction of fortifications on Heligoland—rocky guardian of the western end of the Kiel Canal, but Hitler has rebuilt them, stronger than ever.

Lithuanian frontier police stopped freight cars and trucks carrying refugees and property out of Memel and forbade all to leave the territory.

Their activities, this official said, virtually stopped the exodus of refugees.

Lithuanians wept. The officials said the Lithuanian army in Memel now was evacuating equipment and withdrawal of Lithuanian troops was imminent.

There was no telephone communication before now between Kaunas and Memel, 30 miles from the East Prussian border, but roundabout communications told of delirious rejoicing by Germans in the beleaguered streets of Memel, the port city. Lithuanians wept openly.

From Tilsit, East Prussian town on the now erased frontier, thousands of Germans poured into Memel after the government communique announcing the "addition" of the territory was broadcast by squadrons of airplanes — unidentified by nationality but presumably German — roared over Memel.

At a parade tonight Ernst Neumann, Memel's veterinarian-fuehrer, will take the salute.

—Expected No Help. The Lithuanian government, by its decision to surrender Memel bloodlessly, made it plain that it did not expect any help from the signatories of the Memel convention. This convention was signed May 8, 1924, by Lithuania, Britain, France, Italy, and Japan. It placed the territory under Lithuanian sovereignty but with a large measure of local autonomy.

German sources intimated formal occupation by Nazi troops would occur only after arrival of a Lithuanian delegation in Berlin.

The decision to hand back Memel to Germany followed a day of intense diplomatic activity. The British charge d'affaires, T. H. Preston, was among callers at the foreign ministry yesterday.

Lithuanians had been prepared for today's shock by rumors circulating for several days.

Victor Gallus, Lithuanian governor of the Memel territory, had said last night Germany delivered a virtual ultimatum to gain cession of the territory.

Gallus said his government was told that, if disturbances occurred before the transfer, German troops would march in to restore order.

Return from Berlin of Foreign Minister Juozas Urbys with a report of his conversations with the German foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, apparently hastened the decision by the cabinet.

Von Ribbentrop presented on the Reich's behalf a demand for the return of Memel to Germany, adding that if effected amicably Germany would take into consideration the economic interests of Lithuania in the harbor of Memel. "This demand was based by von Ribbentrop on the principle of self-determination of nations."

"Von Ribbentrop further intimated the mood in Memel was such that the question had to be settled rapidly on the basis proposed by Germany to avoid clashes."

treaty leaped off from her east Prussia, which it now adjoins. There was not the slightest indication of unwillingness of Lithuanian troops to move out nor that the population, which is 72 per cent German, would cause any trouble.

Besides acquiring a strip of territory consisting chiefly of agricultural and timber land, Hitler becomes master over a population that is industrious, hard working, and hardened.

In the city of Memel there are some 15 prosperous saw mills, a cellulose factory, a fertilizer plant, three textile mills, an export slaughterhouse and a furniture factory.

Before his newest triumph Hitler had increased the German population by approximately 20,000 and had added about 77,000 square miles of territory to the Reich.

Germany, Rumania Sign Trade Treaty

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 22 (AP)—Germany and Rumania signed a trade treaty tonight.

The trade agreement, negotiation of which was a major factor in the "Rumanian crisis" which disturbed Europe last weekend, was completed and signed this afternoon by Dr. Helmuth Woltbat, head of a German trade mission, and Jan Dujou, Rumanian minister of national economy.

Rumanians said Germany was not given monopolistic economic concessions, which she was reported to have asked previously.

The "open door to purchasers of the whole world remains open," one official commented.

A German gave no special pledges to respect Rumanian frontiers and negotiators said the subject had not been discussed.

FCA Plans To Study Brazil Market Plan

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The Farm Credit Administration may get some pointers from Brazil on co-operative marketing and financing of cotton.

Tom G. Stitts, of the FCA's co-operative research and service division, said yesterday Omer W. Herrmann, principal agricultural economist of the FCA, and Sterling W. Evans, president of the Houston bank for co-operatives, would make a study of Brazil's system of co-operative marketing and financing.

Gin associations, Stitts said, will play an increasingly important part in cotton marketing.

Plans Outlined On 'Hopper War' In Gray County

Kill the grasshoppers while they are still in the hatching stage, was the advice given by Parker C. Hanna, district 1 extension agent, at a meeting of Gray county farmers held Tuesday afternoon at the courthouse.

Last year a total of 42 tons of grasshopper poison was used in Gray county. Infestation this year, R. R. Reppert, state entomologist, calculates, will be five times as great as 1938, and a total of 228 tons of poison will be required.

Grasshopper infestation in the 22 Panhandle counties comprising district 1 will be heavy this year, and Mr. Reppert believes the most heavy by infested counties will be Gray, Carson, Potter, Roberts, Moore and Hutchinson.

Educational meetings to acquaint Gray county farmers with the correct methods of eliminating the grasshopper plague will be held from time to time as the season advances.

Attending the meeting here yesterday were County Judge Sherman, White and Commissioners C. M. Carpenter and John Haggard, County Farm Agent Ralph R. Thomas, C. W. Bowers, chairman of the county agricultural committee, E. A. Shackleton, community chairman; L. L. Palmer of Alanreed; P. B. Falley, alternate committeeman in Groom; J. L. Game Bill Virtually Killed After Witnesses Charge 'Favoritism'

AUSTIN, March 22 (AP)—Hopes of some conservationists seeking radical changes in administration of Texas game affairs sank today after a House committee unanimously dumped a bill abolishing the present commission to a sub-group.

Charges the commission was operated inefficiently, spent state funds recklessly, escorted legislators on hunting and fishing trips, was rife with favoritism and constituted a "powerful political machine" were hurled in a committee hearing last night.

The charges were denied by Will J. Tucker, the commission's secretary; W. W. Boyd, director of the coastal division of the game department, and members of the commission.

Dr. W. L. Rhodes of Corpus Christi, representing the South Texas Conservation League, asserted personnel of the commission had proven itself inefficient and that thousands of tons of edible fish had been destroyed by excessive salinity in Laguna Madre due to lack of proper dredging which would have permitted fresh salt water to enter the lagoon.

"The commission at the same time allowed illegal netting and seining of those fish," Dr. Rhodes said, "and it's a wonder nobody died from eating them."

Political Machine Charged
Edward C. Lorey of Austin urged the committee limit expenditures of the commission while Lewis Stephens of Corpus Christi charged Boyd had endeavored to stop him from carrying out his duties as a warden in filling certain violation cases.

Roy Myers of Dallas, representing the Federated Hunters and Fishermen of Texas, asserted the commission had been built into "a powerful political machine" to further certain interests and contended the bill under consideration would place the department under a semi-civil service "eliminating such conditions."

He quoted reports which he said showed extravagance and waste of department funds and produced pictures which he said showed oil pollution or formerly excellent fishing waters.

"Not even Hitler could penetrate the powerful political group now administering game laws in this state," Myers said.

Chairman A. E. Wood of the commission and Member Murrell Buckner of Dallas declared they would resign from the commission if Myers could prove they expended state funds for any other purpose other than game conservation.

Boyd Defends Board
Boyd said the charges made by proponents of the bill were "unfair, silly and untrue" and that if the committee desired them answered, he would gladly comply.

Pat Jefferson of Aransas Pass warmly defended the commission.

"They're doing a fine job under difficult conditions," he said. "I'm on the coast and I know. They and their wardens are performing their duties as well as any officials in the state. I believe it would be wrong to abolish any organization which is doing hard work well."

Tucker quoted figures showing the cost of producing one fish in state hatcheries had been reduced from 47 to 1.4 cents the past 12 years.

The secretary said he tried to take legislators on hunting and fishing trips whenever possible to acquaint them with wildlife conservation and the problems of the department.

O'Daniel Plan Not Approved By Cattlemen

HOUSTON, March 22 (AP)—Contrary to the suggestion by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, delegates to the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association convention prepared resolutions today against consolidation of the state livestock sanitary commission and the department of agriculture.

O'Daniel, asserting he was glad "to get away from Austin where there's so much political pollution," suggested the merger as an economy measure.

J. T. Sneed of Amarillo, president of the association, had told the assembly "we want the sanitary commission to continue to operate as it has in the past."

O'Daniel launched into his program generally and into the "perplexing problem of old-age assistance."

He said "Every time I stick my head in an office at Austin to see how they are spending the money, they shut the door in my face."

"I introduced a bill to make the governor director of the budget and they defeated it. Then I found out that we have 105 separate state accounts. I sent a suggestion to the legislature to cut about 55 of these, but it looks like that bill is haywire, too."

European Borders Seethe With Troops

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 22 (AP)—The nations of southeast Europe were ready to defend their many frontiers today.

No country would say it had mobilized; but there were soldiers on every border and hundreds of thousands of men had been called from their homes to fill frontier fortifications.

The contagion of military activity ran from one country to another.

Rumania, alarmed by troop concentrations in Hungary, called out special troops of several very classes. Then significant military activity in Bulgaria prompted Rumania to call out reservists of the Bucharest region.

ESTHER JONSSON TO WEAR THIS COSTUME AT CHILDREN'S CONCERT

This costume will be worn by Esther Jonsson, world-famed as a pianist, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the high school auditorium where she will give a concert on Balkan music, featuring moving picture films she herself took in remote, Balkan mountain villages in Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Serbia, Rumania. She will play at intervals and then explain the pictures which show Balkan dances and village scenes. Proceeds of the concert will be used to help send Pampa bands to Austin. Admission will be 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults. Tomorrow night Miss Jonsson will give a concert for adults at the auditorium at 8 o'clock. She will wear a costume and wig similar to one worn by Mozart and will devote the first part of her program to his compositions. Admission will be 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

World Wheat Supply Large—Prices Low

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP)—If European armies march to battle this year they can travel on full stomachs.

Seldom has the world had a larger supply of wheat, the principal international food commodity, and elaborate distributing machinery is ready to direct its flow into army cantonnments, barring blockades that thwart international trade in time of war.

From half a dozen important grain producing regions in both hemispheres, wheat is available to European importing nations at virtually the lowest prices in years.

Availability of surplus wheat—an important factor in mapping military strategy in the war councils of Europe—explains in part the strange, lackadaisical behavior of the world's wheat markets in the face of recurring war scares, grain traders said today.

Under normal circumstances, the threat of war would be expected to increase the demand for wheat. Recent European crises, however, have failed to upset the grain markets. Europe continues to buy on a hand-to-mouth basis. Wheat reserves of sizeable proportions are known to exist in many countries.

Traders said the war scare fuse has fizzled out so many times recently it apparently will take equal cannon fire between the big powers to give the grain table a genuine war market. They recalled that start of World War hostilities was not immediately followed by a large demand for wheat. When war was declared in early August, 1914, wheat here sold between 86 1/2 and 88 cents. The day after the first declaration of war the price dropped as low as 85 cents. It was not until a week later that the market rose above $1 a bushel.

The 1938-39 world wheat crop was estimated at 4,535,000,000 bushels, an increase of 800,000,000 over the previous season.

World carryover next July is expected to be around 1,250,000,000 bushels, or 655,000,000 larger than a year ago. Acreage seeded last fall for winter wheat harvest this year was only slightly less than that planted the previous season.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart will be hosts to the club at the next meeting.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—The European crisis kept Wall Street on edge today and another heavy selling shower swept the stock market, into the lowest levels of the decline which started a week ago.

A swift but rather brief forenoon plunge carried many shares down 1 to about 5 points, quickly wiping out modest gains which interrupted the downward trend in the preceding session.

Selling lightened around midday but recovery was limited. In the final hour the market again dragged with a heavy step.

Italy's gesture of solidarity with Germany was interpreted widely in financial circles as pointing to an early showdown in Italian colonial claims. In addition, many expressed disillusionment over chances for concrete results in the administration's declared business encouragement policy.

Down 3 to 5 or more at the height of the decline were such issues as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Telephone, U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Chrysler and U. S. Gypsum. Losses were shared on the midday comeback.

Also hard-pressed were General Motors, Goodyear, International Nickel, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Union Carbide and Sears Roebuck.

Prof Tells Of Fascist Menace In Old Mexico

SAN ANTONIO, March 22 (AP)—Newly elected President L. B. Simmons of Duncan, Okla., today led homebound delegates to the Western Petroleum Refiners association convention who were warned yesterday that Fascism in Mexico would blight their hopes of regaining lost oil lands in the rich southern republic.

The warning was given by Henry M. Busch, sociologist of Western Reserve university at Cleveland, who said any attempt to overthrow the Cardenas government of Mexico likely would result in putting in power a Mexican with Fascist leanings.

Dr. Busch asserted there were rumors oil interests had backed the ill-fated revolt of general Saturnino Cedillo a year ago in Mexico. Cedillo subsequently was killed by Mexican soldiers.

The sociologist claimed Fascist powers in Europe were concentrating on capturing Latin American trade and swaying Latin Americans to the Fascist viewpoint. He urged American industrialists to gauge their export policies by the Following the annual dinner last night, the 27th annual convention of the association was adjourned.

New officers introduced at the convention were President Simmons and Vice Presidents R. W. McDowell of Tulsa, Okla., T. M. Martin of Shreveport, C. L. Henderson of Wichita, Kas., and C. W. Cahoon Jr., of Wichita Falls, Texas.

Optimism In Oil Industry On Increase

By ALFRED WALL
TULSA, Okla., March 22 (AP)—Reports of gathering momentum in all divisions of the oil business encouraged petroleum men today to maintain their optimism.

There was nothing startling in the spring pickup thus far, close observers of the industry said, but it was becoming apparent a gradual betterment in price and movement for all products was having its good effect.

Many executives here were taking satisfaction from their view that business now is substantially improved over what it was a year ago.

In some quarters there was real enthusiasm, based, apparently, on late predictions that 1939 promises to be the biggest tourist year in history.

The low price of gasoline at the refinery, together with the piling up of that product in storage tanks, has been the industry's biggest headache for months.

So it was with considerable jubilation the industry received Monday the bureau of mines estimate that in April the oil business could expect a demand for motor fuel of 46,300,000 barrels, up seven per cent over the same month last year.

Noting the bureau's report said the increase was the result of improved business conditions plus "an upward trend in motor fuel demand per motor vehicle," the cheerful-minded were prone to predict huge increases in consumption on through the heavy motoring months of May, June, July and August.

Crude oil producers were heartened by the almost unanimous opinion developed at the Texas proration hearing for a continuance of the present rate of production for at least 90 days.

Hill And Peterson Will Wrestle Again Monday

A war that started Monday night in the ring at the Pampa athletic arena continued yesterday afternoon in Amarillo and will be finished next Monday night in the same Pampa athletic arena ring. Said war will end with Frankie Hill, the Kansas wildman, meeting Ernie Peterson of San Francisco in a return main event.

Hill won over the popular Californian on last Monday night but by foul tactics, which put Peterson out of commission for the third and deciding fall. Yesterday afternoon Promoter Cliff Chambers drove to Amarillo to tell Hill that he must meet Peterson again next Monday night if he wanted his money from last Monday night. That was when the war was resumed.

Purse Held Up.
The state wrestling commissioner ordered Hill's purse held up because of his conduct in the ring. Now he's got to wrestle for it. Hill raved, tore his hair, stomped and yelled that he had beaten Peterson once and that he wasn't going to do it again. "OK," replied Promoter Chambers, "we'll send your purse to the state commissioner and let him decide," and then Chambers walked away. But the promoter hadn't gotten far out of the door when Hill started hollering for a contract.

"I'll get that sweet-looking sissy," yelled Hill. "What happened to him last time will be nothing to what'll happen next time. Huh, I just played with him over there. I'll show that bunch of hick fans what wrestling looks like in the big time where I've always wrestled."

When informed that Alfred (Dutch) Mantell was scheduled to be the third man in the ring, Hill yelled longer and louder. "I won't wrestle with Mantell. I want McEwin to referee. He's my pal," hollered Hill but he suddenly remembered that he had signed a blanket contract which allowed Promoter Chambers to name his referee. Mantell will be the referee if he can get here in time. He is scheduled to take a group of Maverick boys to Wichita Falls over the week-end.

Peterson Silent.
Peterson had nothing to say about the forthcoming battle. "I'll do my saying in the ring," remarked Peterson.

A semi-final top billing will send Lem Sleeklin, the original Blue Ridge Hill Billy, to the mat with John Nemanick. Sleeklin is the owner of a pet coon, Oscar, which sits in his corner and hisses encouragement to his master. Nemanick, all puffed up over a freak win from Willard Walker last Monday night, is blowing all over the country.

Five was added to the card when Promoter Chambers matched Mickey Durano, popular Argentine grappler, and Billy McEwin, who has decided he's a better wrestler than referee, in the opener.

Two hundred mules and horses brought more than $10,000 at the first big mule and horse auction in Kansas this year. Farmers called it a "pretty good price."

Henry Gets Chores Done in Hurry

Henry Armstrong wastes little time when he has his lightweight and welterweight titles on the block. Allison To Play Des Moines Girls In Wichita Tonight

By HAROLD McLAASEN.
WICHITA, Kas., March 22 (AP)—It's not just basketball, this first round of the Women's National A. U. tournament. It's a spectacle. There were the sun-tanned girls from Florida. Across the floor are winter-bleached representatives from Wisconsin. The brilliant finger-nails from Texas vie with the blood-red toe-nails from Iowa.

Blonds, brunets, and redheads. Their speech varies from the crisp Detroit chatter to the slow drawl of deep Dixie. There's even an Oklahoma Indian who spent two winters in Louisiana and acquired an accent as thick as Creole sauce.

Uniforms? They are as varied in style and color as the display on a dime store counter. Only in one respect are they similar. The bloomers and blouses of grandma's day are passe.

Tonight the tournament's beauty queen will be revealed. She was chosen last night in a secret ballot by the spectators from a field of 13 comely athletes.

For downright eye-appeal the Coleman Wis. sextet is offered. The girls were given their second defeat yesterday and leave for home today many a sigh—from the spectators.

Remaining to carry on for the beauty brigade is the Winston-Salem aggregation of North Carolina. The crinolines Carolinians also lost last night but they remain for the consolation event. Thurston of Wichita, second seeded team and runner-up last year, conquered the petite sextet, 20 to 11, in the best game played to date.

The Thurston's joined another Wichita team in the third round, the Steffens who downed the Antlerettes from Colorado Springs, 24 to 15.

Yesterday's first round results: Championship flight—Des Moines Thompsons 22, Wolfe City, Texas, 18. Colorado Springs Alexanders 25, Kansas City J. E. 15. Nashville, Tenn., 26, Waskom, Tex., 3. Consolation flight—Miller Grove, Texas, 27, Kansas City Brownies 10. Hoehne, Colo., 17, Coleman, Wis., 14.

Tonight's games, which conclude the second round of championship play: 6 p. m.—St. Joseph, Mo., vs. Nashville. 7—Allison, Texas, vs. Des Moines Thompsons. 8—Des Moines A. I. B. vs. Detroit. 9—Pittsburgh vs. Tupelo, Miss. 10—Galveston vs. Colorado Springs Alexanders. 11—Little Rock vs. Tampa.

Connie Mack's Worst Clubs Selected By 'Soothsayer'

By DREW MIDDLETON
NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—The "Dinosaur Breeders' Gazette and Clarion" is after us again for our annual ratings of the worst clubs in each major baseball league. The "D. B. G. and C." has an unheard of circulation and the world, which has been waiting with ill-concealed apathy, shall wait no longer.

While comrades Talbot and Martin have been wading through the training camps, were experting at long range.

To the surprise of many a veteran soothsayer we are picking the Brooklyn Dodgers to finish first in our standing, which means last in the National League. We know it is a big job for our heroes, for the Phillies are everybody's money.

Brooklyn, however, is a club that will be out of the fight after opening day. Only a week after it was shut out, and a no-hitter at that. It took two pitchers to do the trick. This is evidence the Dodgers are not in the best form. In mid-season only one pitcher will be needed.

It is to the credit of the Dodgers that they know more ways of kicking a game away than any other. Keep your eye on Pete Coscarart. What's he do in the no-hitter? He boofs one to the outfield good for a double and targets to touch first base. Pete, a second baseman, already had been hit on the kisser with a ground ball, a shining tribute to his fielding ability.

But the big edge the Brooklynites hold on the Phillies is their ability to lose on the road. The Dodgers can blow two or three series in the west and then stop off and lose to Albany of West Peapack. They are always in shape.

The Phillies haven't been in the World Series since Ben Franklin's time and they are tough to lose to in any man's league. We do not think they can out-lose the Dodgers. Although they are good workmanlike defeatists, they lack Brooklyn's touch of genius. The Phils will be a rattling hot seventh.

Turning to the American League we find those old favorites, the St. Louis Browns, the logical choice to finish last. They have everything the Yankees have but ball players. Buck Newsum may be sold to weaken the team at a vital position, but they can do it in spite of Buck's pitching.

The Philadelphia Athletics are a strong threat. They finished last in 1938 but this spring they have tightened up and are not losing with their old ease.

Major League Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)
SAN ANTONIO—After six straight wins and a tie against the Phillies, the St. Louis Browns are going out to the road to see if there is any other team they can lick. They'll face San Antonio, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, and Toledo during the investigation.

LOS ANGELES—Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox cut his pitching staff to ten today by sending George Glick and Tom Fleming to Longview, Texas, for further practice under Bob Tarleton, head of the club's farm operations. Dykes plans to carry the remainder of his hurlers at least until the season opens.

AUSTIN—The batting record of the Philles shows why young Norman DeWesse, rookie from Montgomery, is getting serious consideration for regular outfield duty. He has hit 428 in seven times up in exhibitions against the Browns. The only better record is Pinky Whitney's 436.

BATON ROUGE La.—Bill Nagel, Joe Gantebien and Irving Bartling are in the forefront of the battle of infield posts with the Philadelphia Athletics. Nagel may have sewed up the third base job already while Manager Connie Mack has been impressed by Gantebien's work at second and Bartling's at short.

NEW ORLEANS—The Cleveland Indians have slipped off some of their worries, but they're still wondering what's next. Frankie Fytkal, who deserted the club yesterday, changed his mind last night shortly after Earl Averil ended his holdout. His only comment on the rebellion was that C. C. Slapnicka, Indians' vice president, "doesn't understand me."

"Neither do I," remarked President A. Bradley. "Make it three," added Manager Oscar Vitt.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—President Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators is congratulating himself for looking in the Philadelphia Athletics' back yard before the A's did. Masterson, a 19-year-old speed ball ace fresh off the Philadelphia sandlots, fanned five batsmen in three innings against Detroit yesterday.

BRADENTON, Fla.—After watching his Boston Bees lose four out of six games, Casey Stengel is getting really worried about the team's fielding as well as the absence of base hits. The Bees lost, 4-3, to the Cincinnati Reds yesterday, but on legitimate fielding by both sides they should have won 1-0.

Connie Mack's Worst Clubs Selected By 'Soothsayer'

By DREW MIDDLETON
NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—The "Dinosaur Breeders' Gazette and Clarion" is after us again for our annual ratings of the worst clubs in each major baseball league. The "D. B. G. and C." has an unheard of circulation and the world, which has been waiting with ill-concealed apathy, shall wait no longer.

While comrades Talbot and Martin have been wading through the training camps, were experting at long range.

To the surprise of many a veteran soothsayer we are picking the Brooklyn Dodgers to finish first in our standing, which means last in the National League. We know it is a big job for our heroes, for the Phillies are everybody's money.

Brooklyn, however, is a club that will be out of the fight after opening day. Only a week after it was shut out, and a no-hitter at that. It took two pitchers to do the trick. This is evidence the Dodgers are not in the best form. In mid-season only one pitcher will be needed.

It is to the credit of the Dodgers that they know more ways of kicking a game away than any other. Keep your eye on Pete Coscarart. What's he do in the no-hitter? He boofs one to the outfield good for a double and targets to touch first base. Pete, a second baseman, already had been hit on the kisser with a ground ball, a shining tribute to his fielding ability.

But the big edge the Brooklynites hold on the Phillies is their ability to lose on the road. The Dodgers can blow two or three series in the west and then stop off and lose to Albany of West Peapack. They are always in shape.

The Phillies haven't been in the World Series since Ben Franklin's time and they are tough to lose to in any man's league. We do not think they can out-lose the Dodgers. Although they are good workmanlike defeatists, they lack Brooklyn's touch of genius. The Phils will be a rattling hot seventh.

Turning to the American League we find those old favorites, the St. Louis Browns, the logical choice to finish last. They have everything the Yankees have but ball players. Buck Newsum may be sold to weaken the team at a vital position, but they can do it in spite of Buck's pitching.

The Philadelphia Athletics are a strong threat. They finished last in 1938 but this spring they have tightened up and are not losing with their old ease.

And Judich drove in two runs. Joe Gallagher, another promising rookie, went in as a pinch hitter and walked.

TAMPA, Fla.—The Boston Red Sox master minds spend plenty of time perusing box scores. This has brought them to the conclusion they got the better of swaps with Cleveland and Detroit on the showings of Jim Tabor and Ted Williams, who replace Pinky Higgins and Ben Chapman at third base and right field.

BATON ROUGE, La.—Two big questions on the New York Giants' training season are due to be answered in today's game with the Athletics. Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher, star moundsmen whose lame arms have been reconditioned, are due for their first real trials. Each will be allowed to pitch until he feels ready to quit, then Dick Coffman will finish.

BRADENTON, Fla.—The Detroit Tigers' slugging muscles are loosening up—on the evidence of six home runs in the last two games. Even Pitchers Schoolboy Rowe and Archie McKain have hit for the circuit, along with Hank Greenberg, Pete Fox, Frank Croucher, and Roy Culbrenne.

LOS ANGELES—Steve Mesner is doing so well at shortstop for the Chicago Cubs that Dick Bartell's rheumatic ankle will be given plenty of time to limber up. Mesner has hit five times in 12 trips to the plate and is playing good defensive ball.

That Strange Man, Mungo, May Respond To Dollar Diplomacy

By DILLON GRAHAM, AP Feature Sports Writer.
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 22.—Van Lingle Mungo is a very strange man. He is a man of moods. On occasions, too frequent occasions, he is a very sullen gent. Mungo is as temperamental as an opera songbird.

When the spirit moves him he is a very hostile guy. He has been known to break up hotel furniture and on swing at teammates, or whomsoever might be handy. At times he is not such fine company for little Willie, aged 9.

But Mr. Mungo, the squire of Pageland, South Carolina, has one thing in common with many of us. Like Joe Doaks of Hot Coffee, Ark., or his cousin, Bill, of Rodeo, Calif., Mungo likes to reach around to hip pocket and feel a wallet bulging with greenbacks.

That desire to collect bank notes may make a pitcher out of Mr. Mungo. At least, this is the fondest wish of Larry S. (for Scott) MacPhail, the freckled-faced major domo of the Brooklyn club.

Mr. MacPhail has been around long enough to know that country boys adore spending money they can flash at the general cross-roads store. So what does he do but amputate two-thirds of Mungo's salary check at one swipe. Not wanting to be too technical about it, I nevertheless venture the opinion that the cutting of an annual wage from $15,000 to $5,000 is a major operation in any league. At least one par with an appendectomy.

Mungo has been a Brooklyn pitcher since 1932. You've probably heard it said that he sings the fastest ball in the National League. And that he's got plenty of stuff. And that maybe he should be the best pitcher in the loop.

But he's never won 20 games, and that's the test for a crack hurler. In fact, for the last three years he's lost more games than he's won. Last season Mr. Mungo won the astonishing total of four games. Fifteen grand is a lot of dough to pay for four victories.

Other methods to make Mungo the pitcher he apparently can be having failed. Mr. MacPhail decided to pitch to his weakness. So he whittled his pay check down to a mere pittance. And the only way Mungo can get back in the big money circle is by going out and chucking up some 20 victories.

"I'm going to show them some, real pitching this year," Mungo says. "I'm going to give 'em everything I've got, and that's plenty."

Mungo reported to the Dodgers' camp in crack shape. He's about 10 pounds lighter than a year ago. He says his arm feels strong again. Last year he complained so much about it that the Dodgers packed him off to Pageland long before the season was finished.

Chances are the Brooklyn pitching will be better all around. MacPhail roped in some minor league beauties, such as Whitlow Wyatt, who won 23 games and lost 7 for Milwaukee; Bill Crouch and Russ Evans, who won 21 games in the Southern Association; Jim Winford, who copped 17 for Houston, and Hugh Casey, who won 13 for Memphis. Ira Hutchinson, who came from the Bees, should be a help. And Luke Sewell, the veteran catcher obtained from the Chicago White Sox, should be a great aid to the young tossers.

Bouts To Be Held On Night Of March 31

Amateur boxing fans of Pampa and the Panhandle will be given another chance to witness their favorite sport when the Big Spring-Midland Golden Gloves boxing team comes to Pampa for a match with the Pampa champions on the night of March 31, at the Pampa Athletic arena.

The inter-city meet will be sponsored by the Pampa amateur group with proceeds going to the advancement of amateur sports. Plans are also under way to hold a district A. A. U. tournament here with winners eligible to compete in the state meet in Dallas the middle of next month.

The Big Spring-Midland team presented some of the most colorful boxers in the Fort Worth tournament last month. In Ynez Yanes, the visitors have as spectacular a battler as ever stepped in a ring. Although weighing only 108 pounds, the little Mexican went to the semis-finals of the state meet, losing to the champion.

Another outstanding contender will be Ellis Reed, lightweight, who like Pampa's Denver Hubert lost to Morris Corona, state titlist and quarter-finalist in the national tournament.

Still another top hand among the visitors will be Jack Childers, district champion and finalist in the 1938 A. A. U. tournament. He is a featherweight which is R. Robertson's classification in the Pampa team.

Trainer Cliff Chambers of the Pampa team has issued a call for all his boys to get ready for the big match. The Pampa Athletic arena will be open from 5 to 7 p. m. excepting Sunday and Monday. High school boxers and boys desiring to take part in exhibitions are asked to report to the arena.

Most of Pampa's champions will be here for the match. Trainer Chambers reported today. Winners of the local event were Benny Moore and Frankie Bills of Shamrock, Denver Hubert of Pampa, R. Robertson of LeFors, Earl Brown of Adrian, Joe Hornback of Canadian, Steve Thomas and Dewey Vaughn of Canyon.

O'Brien All Set To Sign Pro Contract

DALLAS, March 22 (AP)—Arrangements were made today for Davie O'Brien to sign a professional football contract although the All-American quarterback said last night he had not conferred with Bert Bell, president-coach of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Bell and O'Brien was to ink a two-year contract in a meeting scheduled at the flower shop of Boyd Keith, uncle and advisor of O'Brien. The stellar performer on the undefeated Texas Christian university squad agreed to the terms in a telephone conversation from his home in Fort Worth, Bell said. Bell was accompanied by Keith when he made the announcement.

SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC' BY TOM HORNER

Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

Yesterday Alan decides to go to St. Louis, much against his real feelings. Emily is delighted over the decision. Returning home that night, Alan receives a telegram.

CHAPTER XII

ALAN ripped the envelope open, read the message quickly. He frowned.

"Bad news?" Emily asked solicitously. Alan handed her the telegram.

"LETTER RECEIVED" she read. "IMPORTANT THAT YOU COME AT ONCE TO SIGN CONTRACT. LEAVING FOR EUROPE AT NOON TOMORROW TO SERVE ON INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION ASSIGNING JEWISH PHYSICIANS OF VIENNA AND BERLIN HOSPITALS TO STAFFS OF AMERICAN MEDICAL SCHOOLS. EXPECT YOU BY NINE A. M."

"WILLIAM PETERSON."

"What's so bad about that?" Emily queried. "You can catch the midnight train and be there in plenty of time. Sign the contract and we'll be ready to move any time Dr. Peterson says. . . Why, Alan, what's the matter?"

"I can't go tonight!" he answered.

"You can't go tonight!" Emily echoed. "Why?" She almost screamed the question.

"I can't leave. Mrs. Howland is in the hospital. Grandma Frank may not live through the night. . . I'll live Dr. Peterson."

"You will not," Emily ordered. "You'll call Dr. Farrell and tell him to look out for Grandma Frank and to take charge of Mrs. Howland. Then you'll catch that midnight train."

"No, Emily, I couldn't do that. These people are depending on me. I'm not kidding myself that Farrell couldn't take care of them as well as I, but I owe it to them to stay here. Mrs. Howland engaged me because she had confidence in me. . . even after she had lost her first baby. She might have gone to a specialist in the city, but she didn't. And when I took the case, I gave my word that I'd be here when she needed me. She needs me tonight. I can't break my promise. And Grandma Frank—"

"This is no time for your 'knight in shining armor' philosophy," Emily broke in angrily. "You're too idealistic, Alan, too ethical. . . And if you don't go to St. Louis, what will Dr. Peterson think? You've already written that you'd accept his offer. I've hoped, I've planned—"

"Peterson may understand. I'll try to explain. And if he doesn't—then your chance to be a professor—to amount to something—is gone. . . forever."

"If he doesn't—then your chance to be a professor—to amount to something—is gone. . . forever."

"I'm staying here, Emily. I'm writing Peterson that the whole thing is off. I don't want to be a professor. I want to be a doctor and that's what I'm going to be."

He went to the telephone. Emily winced as he dictated the message. This was the end. Fighting to keep back her tears, she waited until he had replaced the receiver.

"That is your decision, Alan," she said. "Now listen to mine. I'm going to St. Louis. If you won't come, I'll go alone."

"Emily!" His face was white. "This can't go on. You won't go on. You can have Sumner—but you can have it without me!"

"What do you mean?" Alan's lips tried to set in a thin, hard line, but they quivered, involuntarily.

"I mean that we're through, Alan. I'm leaving. I'll arrange for the divorce."

"Emily, what are you saying?" he shouted.

"You can have your patients—they mean more to you than I do."

"But they don't. You can't do this. Think what it means. . . Our life—our marriage. Think—think what you're doing."

"I have thought—I've done nothing but think—for months. I know what I'm doing. I don't belong here. I—"

The jingle of the telephone interrupted her. She paused as Alan answered.

"It's Mrs. Howland," he said as he turned to her again. "I'll be at the hospital."

Even now—Emily thought after he had gone—when his own marriage hangs in the balance, they call and he goes!

THE telephone was still warm from his hand when Emily lifted it, called a number. After a long wait a man's voice answered.

"I want to speak to Eric Kane," Emily said.

"He's out on the dam. Can I have him call you?" the man shouted at her.

"It's important that I speak to him immediately. Please call him," Emily replied. There was another prolonged wait. At last Eric answered.

"Oh, it's you, Emily. Sorry to keep you waiting. Having a little trouble this rain—"

"Eric, I'm leaving Alan." She spoke evenly. "I'm going home. I need you, here, now. Will you come down tonight?"

"WHAT are you going to do?" Emily asked him calmly, evenly. Alan had known she would be like this in a crisis. No tears, no hysterical pleading.

"I'm staying here, Emily. I'm writing Peterson that the whole thing is off. I don't want to be a professor. I want to be a doctor and that's what I'm going to be."

Three One-Act Plays Will Be Given At Miami

MIAMI, March 22.—Cast for three one-act plays, which will be given Friday evening in the Miami high school auditorium, have been announced.

Characters in the play, "While the Toast Burned," a domestic comedy by Mary Clarke Werts, are Jimmie Evans as Herbert Werts, Nona Nickel as Ruth, his wife; J. D. Paris as Herbert Jr.; Ruthie Wade as Mary Lie, and Janie Ad-dington as Grandmother Canby.

These plays, which are being produced by Miss Ozella Hunt, will be staged in the order which they are listed.

Forty-three University of Georgia co-eds were able to get room and board at a cooperative 4-H club home for $10.37 a month during the 1938-39 term.

Pipes Favored By City Commission

Pipes are not usually associated with spring, but members of Pampa's city commission varied the rule at their meeting yesterday, when half of the commission puffed away on pipes.

Mayor E. S. Carr consistently smokes his pipe, Commissioner D. W. Osborne and City Attorney Walter Rogers discarded their customary cigarettes for pipes at the meeting Tuesday, leaving City Manager W. T. Williamson, Commissioner Lynn Boyd and City Secretary W. M. Craven alone in the cigar smoking section.

When H. N. Roberts, Lubbock municipal water engineer, came in to the room later in the afternoon, he sided with the pipe smokers, and gave Mayor Carr some of the new kind of tobacco he had bought.

France And Italy Talk Peace Again

PARIS, March 22. (AP) — A French friend of Premier Mussolini who knew him when they both were Socialists came from Rome today on a secret mission, arousing reports that conversations were under way for a French-Italian reconciliation.

Hubert Lagardelle, a writer who has been living in Italy for many years and has maintained his old personal friendship with Il Duce, arrived this morning.

Friends of Lagardelle indicated he might carry proposals for settlement of the French-Italian quarrel back to Mussolini. Attaches of both the French foreign ministry and the Italian embassy here said they knew nothing of Lagardelle's activities.

Secret diplomacy, however, has been the order of the day recently.

The return of Italy's ambassador from Berlin to Rome for consultations on Germany's bloodless conquests had stimulated French hopes that Italy could be drawn out of the Rome-Berlin axis.

The strain between France and Italy dates back to the League of Nations economic penalties which failed to halt Italy's 1935-36 campaign in Ethiopia.

The government's $1,500,000 exhibit at the San Francisco world's fair is devoted largely to Indian life.

Memphis, Tenn., statisticians estimated 59,600 persons attending 520 conventions in the city during 1938 spent nearly $3,000,000.

Arnold Hints Future U. S. Oil Policies

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS.

SAN ANTONIO, March 22 (AP)—Assistant Attorney General Thurmond Arnold's statements on trusts in the United States were studied by the membership of the Western Petroleum Refiners association in an effort to learn what the government's attitude on mass production will be.

Fayette B. Down of Washington, counsel for the association, presented a summary of Arnold's public addresses with the comment:

"It is easy safe to say that never since the World war period have more actions affecting the American business men taken in Washington than during the present administration."

Down said Arnold's first public statement was one of policy and that the assistant attorney general intended to give business men "both guides and warnings in a field which is admittedly uncertain in definition."

The association's counsel read at length from the eight public addresses and 21 statements issued by Arnold since he assumed supervision of the anti-trust division of the department of justice a year ago today.

Giving the public knowledge of the policies of the department of justice, he says, would be of advantage to both sides." Down explained, quoting directly from one of Arnold's speeches, "on the government's side" it would prevent the argument of acquiescence in the cases where the government has not actually prosecuted. On the business side it should be both a warning and a guide because "it would localize the department's interpretation of the law to a particular industry."

Yesterday the association heard Glenn Griswold of New York, former editor of Business Week, warn the oil industry it must set its policies within the next two years to adjust itself to social and economic forces" now bearing down inexorably upon it."

Griswold said the United States would profit from a general war in Europe and that present neutrality laws probably would prevent "a great wave of munitions manufacturing as well as a vast increase in the sales of non-munition supplies and raw materials."

Rumania Puts Brake On Nazi Balkan Drive

BUCHAREST, March 22 (AP)—By maneuvering in which Britain was persuaded to buy larger quantities of Rumanian products, King Carol appeared today to have put the brake on Adolf Hitler's political drive in Southeastern Europe.

Rumania seemed to have escaped German economic domination and Carol assumed leadership of Balkan forces opposed to the Nazi political and economic penetration.

At the same time the king won another round in his long fight against the outlawed and Fascist-inclined Iron guard which had been urging political cooperation with Germany.

News that London soon would send a trade mission to Bucharest overjoyed official circles, although it came after completion of a new Rumanian-German trade agreement. It was likely that signing of the pact with Germany would be deferred.

There were indications Rumania, having won new hope of independence, would alter the modified dictatorship under which it has been operating in favor of a more democratic regime.

Officials said additional British economic support would help Rumania make up her mind on whether to cast her political lot with the western democracies or the totalitarian states. It was indicated the ban on political parties might be lifted and Parliament reassembled.

However, protest of an Iron guard revival, at least for the time being, vanished overnight when the government took a strong hand in suppressing a so-called renewal of subversive activities.

A German language professor at Bucharest University, I. San Giorghiu, was arrested and the government refused to release Ion Mancelestrunga, president of the Rumanian National Bank, arrested several days ago on a charge of spreading disturbing rumors.

Citrus Election Cheers McDonald

AUSTIN, March 22 (AP)—Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald said today he was "very happy" over results of the citrus referendum last week and believed they indicated confidence of marketers that "the state could effectively handle the problem."

The referendum indicated a nearly 3 to 1 sentiment against continuance of a federal marketing agreement, 9 to - for continuance of the state agreement and 5 to 1 for a state minimum price agreement.

"The figures speak for themselves," McDonald said. "I believe the marketers have definitely indicated their preference for state over federal agreements. I was reluctant to call the referendum on the federal agreement alone but inclusion of the state marketing arrangements made it alright."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Confirmation Of Douglas Soon Likely WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt's nomination of William O. Douglas to succeed Justice Louis D. Brandeis on the Supreme Court appeared headed today for speedy and overwhelming Senate confirmation.

Although most western Senators expressed disappointment someone from their region was not chosen, none said specifically he would oppose the 40-year-old chairman of the Securities Commission. Republican Leader McNary joined Democratic Leader Barkley in predicting quick approval.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.) said the appointment probably would mean Douglas' nomination for president on the Democratic ticket next year.

Speculation arose over the choice of a new SEC head. The remaining commissioners are understood to feel that on this selection will depend a great extent whether the agency will continue its active course in stock regulation and regional reorganization of utilities holding companies or whether, as one administration adviser put it, there will be a trend "to the right."

Some well-informed persons said Commissioner Jerome Frank, who was reported planning to resign, might be persuaded to stay on and become chairman.

Mr. Roosevelt sent Douglas' nomination to the Senate yesterday. The Brandeis seat has been vacant since Feb. 13 when the renowned jurist retired at the age of 82. The new appointee is an admirer of Brandeis.

The appointment lowers the average age of the nine justices to 62 years. Less than two years ago, it was a little under 72 years.

Administration leaders argued that to some extent the President had heeded the pleas of western senators to select a Westerner. Douglas, born in Minnesota, spent his formative years in Oregon State. He came east for his schooling in law and became professor of law at Yale before he was appointed to the SEC in 1936.

Since 1928, his legal residence has been Connecticut, and Senator Adams (D-Colo.) commenting on the nomination, called Douglas "a Western man from Connecticut."

Road Bond Bill Meets Opposition In Texas Senate

AUSTIN, March 22 (AP)—Strong opposition to the proposed road bond assumption bill, now pending in the Texas legislature, was voiced by the membership of the Texas Good Roads association in meeting here last night.

They contended the plan was sponsored by county judges to pledge a portion of the state gasoline tax to the payment of principal and interest on bonds and warrants issued by counties and road districts to finance the construction of purely local roads.

The association argued the bill would inflate the present value of low grade bonds and insure "enormous profits to bond promoters and speculators; would open the gates to indiscriminate renewed spending of funds by counties that have reached the limit of their bond debt; would give no assurance of relief to the ad valorem taxpayer; would give the state a fictitious title to thousands of miles of local roads having no value to the state as a whole; penalize counties that have been frugal in expenditures for benefit of counties that have been extravagant; and divert motor transportation taxes badly needed for state highway construction."

Lowry Martin of Corsicana was re-elected president; Oscar Burton of Tyler, first vice-president; Joe Leonard of Galveston, second vice-president; Max Starck of Austin, third vice-president; Francis C. Groos of San Antonio, treasurer; Datus E. Proper of San Antonio, executive vice-president; C. B. Shorter of Dallas, secretary, Charles E. Simons of Austin, editor of The Texas Parade, the association's publication.

Horse Sits On Woman, Owner Has To Pay $750

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 22 (AP)—A district court jury decided it was worth $750 to Lois and Tighe, 18, to have a horse sit in her lap. Miss Tighe sought $15,400 damages from the owners of a horse she said threw her over its tail and sat down on her.

Bachelor Starts Sharing Wealth

ALBANY, Ga., March 22 (AP)—In the 86 years he has lived Henry H. Neims achieved a distrust of "new fangled" farming methods, a flowing white mustache and consistent bachelorhood.
