The man behind the feet—40-year-old William O. Douglas, chairman of Securities and Exchange Commission, who was named to the Supreme Court by President Roosevelt, will be youngest justice of high court in 128 years—and maybe one of most relaxed, judging by this informal shot taken immediately after appointment was announced.

Doctor Owned Three Yachts Says Witness

Former Tutor Of Brinkley Son Tells Of European Trip

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS.
DFL RIO, March 23 (AP)—Dr. John R. Brinkley, gland specialist, may tell a jury today of the mental anguish and humiliation he claims to have suffered after publication of a story written by Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association.
The specialist, now head of two hospitals in Little Rock, Ark., is expected to be called today or tomorrow as a witness in his $250,000 damage suit against Dr. Fishbein, who lives in Chicago.
Yesterday Dr. A. C. Petermeyer, Little Rock associate of Dr. Brinkley, testified the doctor was reluctant to appear on the street after publication of the article in Hygeia magazine more than a year ago.
Dr. Petermeyer said the article, which discussed "quackery" and "charlatans," humiliated Dr. Brinkley in the presence of friends and patients. The witness testified Dr. Brinkley, whose medical training was questioned in the article, had operated on many of the 15,000 patients who were treated in a hospital formerly maintained here. He

Saturday Oil Shut-Downs To End On April 1

AUSTIN, March 23 (AP)—Texas oil wells will be permitted to produce on Saturdays next month for the first time since August.

The railroad commission yesterday issued an order removing the Saturday shut-downs and boosting the April allowable to approximately 1,513,000 barrels daily, a gain of around 144,000 barrels over the current production allowance.

The United States Bureau of Mines had recommended that Texas output next month be limited to 1,412,700 barrels per day.

The order was signed by all three commissioners, who said in a statement that "the commission believes three extra days of production during April will not flood the market."

The allowable by districts April 1, not considering Sunday shut-downs, was estimated as follows: Panhandle, 88,996; east Texas, 522,164; north Texas, 1,176,544; west central, 67,311; west Texas, 265,654; east central, 124,437; southwest, 336,902; and Gulf Coast, 255,200.

300 Head Of Stock Ready To Be Sold

Opening of the Pampa Livestock Sales company, at the J. C. Carroll farm on U. S. Highway 60, across the road south of Recreation park, will be at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The allowable by districts April 1, not considering Sunday shut-downs, was estimated as follows: Panhandle, 88,996; east Texas, 522,164; north Texas, 1,176,544; west central, 67,311; west Texas, 265,654; east central, 124,437; southwest, 336,902; and Gulf Coast, 255,200.

The company claims it has the largest livestock sales arena in the Panhandle.

Over 300 head of stock are scheduled for sale next Saturday. Regular sales are to be conducted on Saturday of each week. Stock may be sold by either the head or the pound, and any kind of livestock will be accepted for sale.

Licensed auctioneers will conduct the sales. Scales used are state-inspected.

O'Daniel Announces Major Industry Will Come To San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, March 23 (AP)—San Antonio business leaders today pondered Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's announcement a major industry probably will be located in San Antonio.

O'Daniel, after conferring with a group of out-of-state industrialists here yesterday, said "this is one of the first big steps in the industrialization program."

The governor said he expected to concentrate on the industrialization program "as soon as pensions are taken care of."

He did not disclose the type of industry which proposed to locate here.

Legion Votes War Ballot At Canadian

A resolution opposing any movement designed to require a vote of the entire nation before the United States could declare war was passed at the 18th district American Legion monthly meeting, held in Canadian Wednesday night.

Lou Fields of Amarillo, who introduced the resolution said that if the vote of the nation was required before war could be declared, second and third-rate powers "could spit on the United States."

Voting of the resolution followed the principal speech of the meeting by R. G. Hughes of Pampa, who cited 1620, 1783, 1865, 1873 and 1917 as significant dates in American history, contrasting the events of those years with 1939. He mentioned the bravery of Texas at the Alamo and scored present attitudes of defeatism.

Attendance at the monthly meeting was 130, representing 14 Panhandles and one Oklahoma post: Shamrock, Perryton, Lipscomb, Follett, Amarillo, Memphis, Happy, Berger, Higgins, Claude, Panhandle, Canadian, Pampa, Hereford, Texas and Woodard, Okla. Members of the American Legion auxiliary met with the Legionnaires.

A lunch preceded the business session and a dance followed.

Seated at the front at the business session of the monthly meeting, which was held in the city hall auditorium, were Charlie Maxwell, Pampa, district commander; J. M. Johnson, Canadian, district vice-com-

Credit Control To Be Studied Tonight

"Special Problems of Credit Control" will be the topic of discussion at the sixth class of the Pampa Credit school being held each Thursday night in the study room at the high school, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Principal speaker on the program will be Shelby Gantz. His talk will be followed by a round table discussion.

The school is being conducted under sponsorship of the Pampa Credit Grantors association. At their noon luncheon yesterday members discussed accounts under letters I, J, and K. Next week accounts L, M, and N will be studied. Twenty attended yesterday's luncheon in the Scheidter hotel.

Walter Daugherty, secretary of the Pampa Credit association, has returned from Texarkana where he attended a district 3 credit meeting over the week-end. He was present at yesterday's meeting.

Seizures May Come To Halt

LONDON, March 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today Germany's recent diplomatic actions "contrasting the events of those years with 1939. He mentioned the bravery of Texas at the Alamo and scored present attitudes of defeatism."

Chamberlain rejected a suggestion by Sir Alfred Beit, government supporter, that he propose to Belgium, France, Australia and the Union of South Africa that they incorporate the former German colonial possessions which they now hold under mandate from the League of Nations.

Sir Alfred argued his proposal would be "an answer to German aggression in Europe."

MEMEL, March 23 (AP)—Adolf Hitler today indicated that Germany's swift absorption of one stretch after another of European territory may have come to a halt.

The Fuehrer gave this indication in an eight-minute speech to Memellanders after he had stepped triumphantly ashore from a German battleship in this regemantic seaport.

"I believe that now, in the main, we have arrived at an end of this unique process of reparation," Hitler declared.

Previously he had explained that Germany, while wanting to harm no one, had been compelled to repair "the damage" that had been done to Germany.

1000 Hear Jonsson; 2nd Concert Tonight

Ester Jonsson played before more than 1,000 children from all the schools in town here this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A program of Balkan music was presented chiefly Yugoslavian, Rumanian, Serbian, Bulgarian music. Proceeds will be used to help send the Pampa bands to the Plainview contests.

Tonight Miss Jonsson will play a recital before adults, beginning at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. Half of the program will be devoted to the composition of Mozart. She will wear a costume of the kind worn by Mozart during this portion of the concert. In the latter part of the program, she will play compositions by Gluck, Mozart, Schelling, Stowjoski, Bach, and others.

Wednesday night, Miss Jonsson played the same concert before a packed house in Clovis, New Mex.

The Balkan program presented this afternoon was the first time it had been given by Miss Jonsson.

Admission tonight will be 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Opponents Of Bill Charge Unfair Vote

Bitter Argument Breaks Out Over Pension Proposals

AUSTIN, March 23 (AP)—The House shortly after noon today was hearing a test vote on the pension financing constitutional amendment recommended by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. By a vote of 82 to 38, the body cut off all further speeches except by authors of the two pending amendments and the constitutional resolution.

BULLETIN
AUSTIN, March 23 (AP)—The pension financing constitutional amendment recommended by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel today fell 29 short of the number of house votes required for its submission to the people. The proposal can be brought up again later.

AUSTIN, March 23 (AP)—The pension financing constitutional amendment recommended by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel today fell 29 short of the number of house votes required for its submission to the people. The proposal can be brought up again later.

AUSTIN, March 23 (AP)—Bitter argument broke out in the house today as a conference of the revenue and taxation committee's vote last night to kill natural resources and income tax bills.

"Rep. G. C. Morris of Greenville charged the committee with being unfair to the house in not letting it vote on bills calling for something besides a general sales tax.

The bills were killed by such majorities that a minority report was not even possible. The votes were 14 to 2.

"The will of this house," Morris shouted, "should not be thwarted by 14 men. If that's democracy, I'd rather live somewhere where they never heard of it."

Rep. Max Boyer of Perryton, a member of the revenue and taxation committee, answered that the constitutional amendment pending in the house would solve the old age pension financing problem and there was no need for consideration of any other revenue-raising measure.

Bayer charged that two years ago when Morris was a member of the revenue and taxation committee "if anyone wanted to place a billion dollar tax on any natural resource not in Mr. Morris' district, all he had to do was knock on the door and the committee would vote it out without a hearing."

"Mr. Morris knows," the Panhandle representative continued, "that the people of Texas want a pension tax program submitted to them and want to end the constant threat of excessive taxes on industry. I know of multiplied thousands of dollars which will be invested in Texas could have been at the revenue and taxation committee. Morris said he wished '6,000,000 Texans could have been at the revenue and taxation committee meeting last night."

"They would have been reminded," he continued, "that someone was being inconsistent. Men who have stood before this microphone and told the house how their heart bled for the old people voted last night

M'Clelland Dam To Be Closed

The McClelland creek dam and all road leading to the dam will be closed until further notice, according to word received here today from Earl L. Bradshaw, project manager. The closing order became effective yesterday.

Building of permanent roads to the dam will begin immediately, Mr. Bradshaw said, and it will be necessary to close the lake to visitors.

The engineer said nearly 5,000 persons visited the site last Sunday and considerable damage resulted. Cars were driven over newly sodded ground and persons walked over new sod, stubs, etc. While the site is closed to visitors because of building new roads, beautification projects will be allowed to set.

In his notice of closing the site to the public, Mr. Bradshaw said: "McClelland creek dam will be closed to the public temporarily, until such time as permanent roads have been completed on government property. At the present time roads are only temporary and during construction of permanent roads no one will be admitted except on government business. Traffic through this property will be stopped effective March 23, 1939."

Tammany Power Under Sentence

NEW YORK, March 23 (AP)—James J. Hones, 62, a power in Tammany politics for 26 years, was sentenced today to four to eight years imprisonment, on his conviction on lottery conspiracy charges in connection with the late Dutch Schultz' numbers racket.

Judges Charles C. Nott Jr., suspended sentence of one to two years on the first count in the 13-count indictment, a misdemeanor charging conspiracy.

On each of the first four felony counts, Judge Nott sentenced the Tammany district leader to not less than one year nor more than two years, the sentences to run consecutively.

On the last eight felony counts, Hones received one to two years to run concurrently with the previous felony count sentences.

Accident Victims Returned To Pampa

Wayne Smith and Tommy Flake, Pampa youths injured Saturday morning in an automobile accident near Shamrock, were brought to Worley hospital from Shamrock yesterday afternoon. It was at first believed Smith could not be removed but physicians ordered the transfer.

Three major fractures above one of Smith's knees and 14 splinters in the same leg were set last night as was a broken arm and broken ribs. A chest congestion was fast disappearing physicians said.

Flake's condition was reported as favorable.

Radio-driven cars, skidless, gasless and noiseless, will travel the highways 25 years hence, predicts the traffic engineer of Washington, D. C. That time, when you want to go places, you simply phone Charley McCarthy, tell him you and the girl are all set, and Charley will get you there and back by wireless. Dollars to doughnuts there'll be more humor and intelligence in his driving than you see today. But 25 years is a long way off. Atchison Sounds New Plea For Baseball Funds

Twenty-four of the 48 hours set yesterday in which to raise the $1,000 necessary to insure Pampa's entry in the Texas-New Mexico baseball league have passed and the response has been disheartening according to L. N. Atchison, chairman of the committee.

A goal of $2,500 was set two weeks ago and when the first $1,500 was easily raised the committee decided to ask for a franchise and raise the balance. Now the members can't get the balance.

Anyone wishing to place any amount in the pot is urged to contact Mr. Atchison.

All money raised will be placed in escrow in the bank and will not be used unless necessary to carry the team over rough spots because of bad weather or poor crowds. It will be given back to donors if not spent.

The money cannot be touched excepting by agreement of a committee of three in no way connected with the club. All books of the club will be open to that committee.

$36 Worth Of Light Bulbs Destroyed At City Tennis Courts

City officials today are calling upon parents of children who play around Central park to warn them not to destroy property in and around the park. Young vandals some time Tuesday night caused damage in excess of $50 at the park. City Manager W. T. Williamson learned yesterday afternoon.

Greatest damage was to lights at the tennis courts. Six of the huge light bulbs, costing $6 each, were smashed by stones. Trees and shrubs were also destroyed or damaged and electric danger lights on the bridge construction job were either broken or stolen.

"We are appealing to the citizens of Pampa to help us stop this wholesale destruction," City Manager W. T. Williamson said today. "It is the people's park as well as the city's park. We are proud of it and we know citizens are, too. Anyone seeing children, or grown-ups, damaging or stealing property should take the offenders to the police.

Vandals were caught in the past but they were not as destructive as the gang operating, Chief of Police J. I. Downs said.

'Tarzan' Killer Dares Posse To Have His Shaggy Head Mounted

CODY, Wyo., March 23 (AP)—A shaggy, maned renegade rancher who challenged pursuers to "have my head mounted and hang it up in the courthouse" repelled with savage gunfire today efforts of 100 possemen to reach his canyon fortress.

Well-concealed in a clump of trees and boulders 400 feet up the side of Clarksfork canyon, in northwestern Wyoming, Earl Durand, 26, shot down the only two men who dared climb the slope.

Eight picked sharpshooters started on horseback at daybreak today up Sunlight valley, bent on reaching the crest of the 11,000-foot ridge that so far has protected the Tarzan slayer from a rear attack.

Sheriff Frank Blackburn of Park county said Bill Garlow, a grandson of W. F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody Tom Knight, brother of Nick Knight, famous rodeo star, and Mel Stonehouse, another rodeo rider, were among the men picked to make the rear attack.

Durand, a 6 foot 2 inch rancher-woodsman with a taste for raw meat, dropped Arthur Argento of Meeteetse, Wyo., and Orville Linberry of Cody, Wyo., when they came within 50 yards of his natural fortress at dusk last night.

Garflow from the unseen fugitive drove back an eight-man party that went out after dark to bring back the victims.

McLEAN, March 23—Mrs. Hol Wagner of Pampa presented "All This and Heaven Too" by Rachel Field in the parlors of the Methodist church this week.

The review was sponsored by members of the Sigma Gamma club.

Miss Rosalie Carter, president of the club, presided over the program and introduced Mrs. Willie Boyett who in turn introduced Mrs. Brushkirk, who sang "Homing" with Mrs. Boyette at the piano.

Miss Jewell Cousins introduced the speaker of the evening, who delighted the audience with the review of America's best seller.

Mrs. Sherman White, also of Pampa, was a guest.

Refreshments were served to a number of guests and club members.

Painting the walls of a dimly lighted garage will greatly facilitate parking the car.

Guest Entertainers Appear On Program At Woodrow Wilson

Members of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of Woodrow Wilson school were entertained Wednesday afternoon by a group of students from Skellytown school.

The numbers included selections by Miss Bills, a first grade chorus directed by Miss Sides and Miss Davis and a second grade cowboy band dressed in colorful costumes and directed by Mrs. Sorenson and Miss Sills. Concluding the program were selections by the sixth and seventh grade girls' chorus directed by Miss Bills.

The Woodrow Wilson band will pay a return visit to Skellytown Friday.

Mrs. Harris Leads WMS Program For McCullough-Harrah

A meeting of the Women's Missionary society of McCullough-Harrah Methodist churches was held Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. M. Nichols.

The opening prayer by Mrs. D. S. Buckner was followed with the Bible study which was led by Mrs. E. L. Reese and the scripture reading by Mrs. J. M. Nichols and Mrs. L. F. McDaniel. Mrs. C. D. Harris gave the benediction.

Presiding over the business session was Mrs. L. F. McDaniel, president. The group planned a covered dish luncheon and social for next Wednesday at the church.

Attending were Meses. L. F. McDaniel, C. D. Harris, A. N. Rogers, J. A. Orton, D. S. Buckner, E. L. Reese, L. S. McDaniel, H. E. Hunter, O. G. Smith, and the hostess.

The National Dairy Show, premier milk cow classic of America which will be held at the California World's Fair, was organized 30 years ago and will be held in the West for the first time this year.

for Stopped-Up NOSTRILS

WHY try to open stuffy nostrils by blowing into your handkerchief until your nose is red? Simply insert a little Mentholatum into each nostril. Note how effectively, yet gently, it relieves the stuffiness and soothes irritated membranes. Instead of being a "blowhard," use Mentholatum. It's the clean, gentle way to open stopped-up nostrils due to colds.

Contempt Motion Filed Against Tech Directors

GROESBECK, March 23 (AP) — Cited to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court, six trustees of Texas Technological college are scheduled to appear for a hearing here before Judge Fountain Kirby April 3.

Those named in a contempt motion filed yesterday were Joe T. Sneed Jr., Mark McGee, Charles Thompson, Milburn McCarthy, Spencer Wells, and James M. West Sr.

They, the motion alleged, voted for re-election of Clifford Jones as president of the college, contrary to a temporary injunction which Judge Kirby had issued against such action.

The citation was issued on a motion of L. W. Sheppard, attorney for George W. Winningham, who Saturday obtained the temporary injunction.

At Fort Worth, William B. Brown, attorney who filed an appeal from the original restraining order issued by Judge Kirby, said, in his opinion, the court was without jurisdiction in issuance of the original order and that therefore there could be no contempt on the part of the trustees in not heeding it. Brown's appeal was to the court of civil appeals at Waco.

"We contend that this court still has jurisdiction," said Sheppard, "because the transcript filed in the court of civil appeals does not show that any writ of injunction was ever issued, being appealed for and completed by the clerk before the returns had been made on any of the writs."

Other schools entered included West Texas State college, College of Mines, Southwest Texas State Teachers college, Texas Tech, Mary Hardin-Baylor and Austin college.

Hopkins P-TA Has Election Of Officers

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS HOPKINS, March 23.—Parent-Teacher association of Hopkins school number one met recently at Hopkins school with the president, Mrs. James A. Hopkins, in charge. Two songs were sung with a prayer following.

The election of officers for the new year was held. The new officers are: James A. Hopkins, president; B. V. Brummett, vice president; Mrs. Jim Haden, secretary, and Mrs. Ellison Husted, treasurer.

After a short business session, the following program was given: "Tomboy Jo," an operetta, was presented by Coyett Bird, Doyel Lee, Kenneth Bird, Leonard Husted, Weldon Prater, Toy Lee Bird, Louise Brummett, Norma Jean Bird, Andrew Bird, Don Prater, Nancy Brummett, Billie Haden, Berdene Laycock, Gladys Haden, Willie Nell Brummett, Marian Anne Hopkins, Inez Bird, and Gene Prater. Louise Brummett gave a reading, "The Children's Hour."

While refreshments of angel food cake and lemonade were served, the rhythm band played two numbers, "Norwegian Mountain Dance" and "Country Gardens."

Garden Club Plans Park Improvement

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS McLEEN, March 23.—Plans for planting shrubbery in the city park were made by members of the Garden club this week. Approximately $135 worth of plants has been do-selected manufacturers in production of military supplies.

Four members of the army high command will fly south in a few days on a 5,000-mile tour of the Caribbean preparatory to improving Panama fortifications and establishing an air base at Puerto Rico.

Final action on the army bill came after a joint committee had composed differences between senate and house versions of the bill.

Congress is rushing ahead with other phases of the armaments program. The house passed yesterday a $186,854,028 deficiency appropriations bill, giving the army $116,529,287 for equipment and seacoast defenses.

Most of the money will go for supplies of semi-automatic rifles, light and heavy artillery, tanks, anti-aircraft guns, and gas masks.

Trinity and Southwestern university drama students will present plays tonight. Dr. T. Earl Pardoe, speech department head at Brigham Young university, Utah, will analyze each play after presentation.

Other schools entered included West Texas State college, College of Mines, Southwest Texas State Teachers college, Texas Tech, Mary Hardin-Baylor and Austin college.

Garden Club Plans Park Improvement

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS McLEEN, March 23.—Plans for planting shrubbery in the city park were made by members of the Garden club this week. Approximately $135 worth of plants has been donated for use in the park by Mayor Vester Smith and members of the Garden club.

The meeting was in the home of Mrs. C. S. Doolen, newly elected president. Other officers were Mrs. Bob Thomas, vice president, and Mrs. D. A. Davis, secretary-treasurer and reporter.

An inspection tour of the park was made during the afternoon. Those present were Mmes. C. B. Batson, J. B. Hembree, H. W. Finley, Bob Thomas, W. E. Bogan, and D. A. Davis.

Secretary Wallace reports that until unemployment is reduced, agriculture is going to be "in pretty weak shape."

Surveying the future of agriculture in the United States, Wallace told a house appropriations subcommittee in hearings made public today:

"About half of the farm problem is found in the cities. If the people in the cities do not produce more and if there is not less unemployment, there is bound to be real trouble in agriculture, and there is nothing you can do in agriculture that will cure that."

Wallace said he believed the nation's farmers did not want any major change immediately in the crop control program, despite criticism in some quarters.

Other high-spots of Wallace's testimony:

1. The administration wants $250,000 to promote production in Latin America of commodities, such as rubber, which the United States does not produce but which the nation might need in "certain types of international difficulty."

2. The department did not ask congress to duplicate this year's $212,000,000 fund for parity payments to farmers because President Roosevelt has said congress should find new sources of revenue for any farm benefit appropriation above the usual $485,000,000.

3. The nation will face a wheat carryover at the end of the 1939-40 season of more than 250,000,000 bushels, compared with 150,000,000 bushels at the start of the current year.

4. The government's wheat subsidy program forced a world conference out of which the United States hopes, by subsidy, to obtain a fair share of the world wheat market.

FDR Ready To Sign Army Bill

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—Only President Roosevelt's approval was needed today to let the army spend $300,000,000 building up its air force toward a top limit of 6,000 military planes.

The President was expected to sign without delay the $358,000,000 army expansion bill on which congressional action was completed yesterday.

The measure, containing the bulk of the administration's defense program, will permit the army to more than double its plane strength in the next two years, bolster Panama Canal defenses, aid in the program of student pilot training, and educate

A Year's Experience

It's a few days past a year since Mexico expropriated the property of 17 American and British oil companies (March 18, 1938).

Both Americans and Mexicans have learned something during the year that has passed. Donald Richberg has held several conversations with President Cardenas in an attempt to settle the affair. How far they got no one knows. But it seems likely, that as in any controversy, well-disposed discussion has brought the parties closer to each other. Perhaps settlement is on the way.

The United States has learned that Mexico is dead in earnest about the expropriation, and that the only ready means of fighting it drives Mexico into the trade hands of Germany, Italy and Japan.

Mexico has learned that running the big oil properties is a tough job, that the wages paid by the American companies are hard to maintain, let alone improve, and that the unsettled seizure is furnishing fine political capital for the political opposition.

Nobody is happy about it. Only settlement will enable both parties to get back to normal and mutually-profitable relations.

OUR INTERNAL TARIFFS

It used to be one of the proudest boasts of our economic system that "the United States presents within itself the greatest free-trade area in the world." That the boast will hold good much longer at the present rate will be doubted by any one who examines the rather startling data on interstate tariffs and trade restrictions assembled in a special report just published by the Department of Agriculture. Most are familiar with the general tendency; not every one realizes the extent to which it has already been carried, while even this report, primarily interested in restrictions on trade in agricultural products, probably does not cover the whole field.

Our internal tariffs, controls and quota systems are not, of course, called by those names, but the effect is frequently quite the same as if they were. A dozen states lay excise taxes on all margarine except that manufactured from certain domestic ingredients—which amounts to a tariff on the foreign margarine. A number of states adjust their liquor-license requirements in such a way as to tax dealers in out-state beer or wine more heavily than dispensers of the domestic product; Michigan for a time had a frank tariff of 25 cents a barrel on out-state beer, and similar legislation has been proposed elsewhere. Various states and cities, including New York, apply their milk-inspection laws in such a way as to discriminate in favor of the neighboring farmer and against the "alien" producers of Wisconsin, Vermont or similar foreign parts. Grading and labeling laws can be discriminatory as well as helpful to the consumer; plant quarantines may serve the interests of domestic producers as well as those of defense against infection. Automotive license laws frequently penalize the interstate trucker by comparison with the domestic competitor, sometimes to the grave detriment of domestic shippers. The report notes cases of bitter protest by farmers who could not find the trucks to move their perishable produce because their own state's trucking laws kept out the "foreign" motor truck. And a system of regular ports of entry, at which trucks must check into and out of the state, is spreading a net of what almost amount to custom houses widely through the West.

The report makes it clear that few of these restrictions are without some other justification than that of internal tariff protection. The system as it is growing up is a compound of necessary health and grading measures, legitimate taxes, red tape, plain muddle and lack of uniformity and the protective motive. But the net result is to lay very heavy restrictions on an internal trade supposedly completely free and constitutionally controllable only by act of Congress. It is a result which is beginning to demand attention.

COOPERATIVE REGULATION

The present rule for short selling on the Stock Exchange, which became effective in February of last year, provides that no short sale may be made except at a price above the preceding sale. This rule has proved so awkward in practice that the short interest has been reduced to what many consider a dangerous level. It is recognized that short selling, properly controlled, can be a stabilizing factor in the market. Effective March 20, the rule has now been changed by the Securities and Exchange Commission. The new rule allows a short sale at the price of the last sale, providing only that the previous different price was lower than the last sale.

The change may seem a technical one of no great importance. But it is significant not only because it will remove an unnecessarily encumbering restriction on the freedom of the market but because of the way in which it was adopted. The present rule was framed by the SEC. The new rule was framed by the experts of the Stock Exchange itself and submitted to the SEC for its approval. That body approved it without revision. "We showed the commission," says the chairman of the Exchange's committee on the subject, "that the operation of the new rule would be fair, that long stock would have the right of way in a declining market, and that the man selling short would not be penalized in a rising market. That was all we had to do."

What is particularly encouraging in this episode is the evidence it gives that the SEC itself is eager to avoid over-regulation, that it has no foolish pride of opinion where it can be shown that a previous regulation has worked awkwardly, and that a genuinely two-sided cooperation now exists in the regulation of the markets in the public interest.

FARM BUREAU FEDERATION PRESIDENT SEES CAUSE OF UNEMPLOYMENT

Edward A. O'Neal, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation, at the recent Des Moines Farm Institute meeting, pointed out very definitely the cause of unemployment.

He "challenged labor to adopt a wage scale that would permit more people to buy its products." This, he said, "would lead to greater production, increased employment and a higher annual wage for the laborer himself."

He further said, "The objective we should all strive for is an economic system under which commodity prices, the wages of labor, prices for manufactured goods and farm prices are kept in such relation to one another as to permit the widest possible exchange of goods and services by all. We must never forget that the only way to raise the standard of living and to increase the national wealth is through greater production and use of goods."

"Agriculture now has a law designed to give farmers parity position with other groups, but I am frank to say that I don't believe it will be possible for us to reach and maintain parity position for any considerable length of time, even with the help of this law, unless this problem of economic balance between groups is solved. There is a limit to the price which consumers will pay for food and fiber."

"I am quite frank to say that, in my opinion we never can solve the problem of unemployment in a democratic way except as the different groups unite on a coordinated program which, in effect, will provide for parity for all three groups."

Here is a man who sees the cause of unemployment. And the sooner the public realizes artificial prices and artificial wages, established by different groups, including labor groups and government employees, can only mean more and more unemployment, the better off it will be.

The Iowa Farm Bureau Federation gave this principle of Mr. O'Neal's a splendid endorsement in its December meeting. It declared:

"We are willing to pay parity interest rates to capital, parity wage rates to labor, parity commissions to finance and fee paid professions, parity prices to industry, and parity tax rates and parity salaries and wages to all employees of government."

"We make this offer because we believe through parity prices, and that alone, can we have security and stability for capital, labor, finance, industry, agriculture, government and the individual everywhere."

The Kansas State Board of Agriculture, in January, adopted a similar resolution, closing with the declaration that "only by the free exchange of goods and services among groups, on a fair price and income basis, can we hope to achieve and maintain prosperity. America needs an economic balance which will assure security for labor, stability for industry and parity for agriculture."

Would that more people could realize the truth and the wisdom, and the necessity of people understanding, these principles.

MORE EDUCATION, NOT LESS

A contributor contends that I am opposed to education. He seems to draw this conclusion because I have criticized the inefficiency of majority rule education, because I cannot see how majority rule education can really educate.

No, I am not against education. I have repeatedly said that we are not spending a large enough fraction of our energies in education.

I would be glad to hear the advocates of more and more majority rule public education explain whether or not it is a cause or a coincident that the more we spend on majority rule education, the more we seem to lose our liberty and our character and our self-respect. And if it be part of the cause, then it is high time we analyze the eventual results that are sure to follow when we trust the most important thing in our lives—education to majority rule.

It seems to be logical that the standards of education, under majority rule, can be no higher than the standard, honesty, character, and intelligence of the majority. And if this be true, it is doubtful whether the majority will do much lifting. All our real progress in education has come from men like Jesus, Socrates, John Milton, John Wycliffe, and not from the masses.

It seems that the people who should really be doing the most important thing of our lives—educating our children—have shirked this duty because they think there is some magical way of having the state do the educating, or they were not willing to make the sacrifice themselves and thought, by majority rule, they could force someone else to do what it is their own duty to do; namely, assist in educating their children.

If state education can be successful, why did John Milton, who wrote the greatest treatise on freedom of speech and freedom of education ever written in the English language, proclaim that he did not want the government to educate him?

But these people who are so thoroughly convinced that majority rule education is our solution probably have never read or heard of "Areopagitica" by John Milton.

Behind The News Of The Day

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—At times we feel like defender of the faith and protector of the Senate, so insistent are we that this branch of the Government be safeguarded on its right sphere, but the battle for the time has been taken out of our hands and we are glad of it.

Sometimes it is just a little troublesome to defend the Senate, not to mention when the House is thrown in too.

But the job has fallen to Jim Preston of Washington.

He has been chosen to present the Senate properly before the country in the movies. For anyone in Washington to make a go of it in the movies is news in itself. It is true enough that Helen Hayes began her career here but she left early in life, long before the blight of politics had fallen upon her.

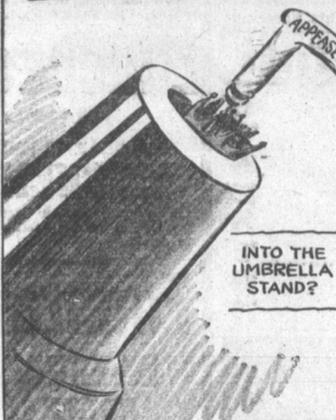

Jim came into the job this way. He once was superintendent of the Senate Press gallery—and may some day be again. More recently he has been keeping the national archives before the public eye. But all this went into the discard when Frank Capra, the producer, came to this town. He is dynamic. He

HURRY, MEN — ANOTHER DOOR TO LOCK!

THE MAN WHO WAS ALWAYS SO AFRAID OF BLOOD-POISONING

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS.

HOLLYWOOD—The big bad villain lives on a hill. It's a beautiful hill, and from the living room you can look through the big window and take in miles and miles of hazy-covered Southern California scenery.

If you blot out the lower right-hand corner of the view you won't see the big hangar-like sound stages of Warner Brothers studios. And if you want to get away from it all (motion pictures) it's just your own fault if you let the WB hangars spoil things.

I'm up here at Alan Dinehart's investigating the private life of a villain. I'm sitting on a downy couch delectating a bowl of popcorn and listening to the profound philosophies on National Defense shared by the redoubtable Dinehart and his pretty young wife.

It's soon apparent that, villain though he be, Dinehart isn't an Ism fan. Neither is his wife—and I honestly don't believe the villain beat her into meek accord with his own views on Americanism. In fact, for a villain, the Dinehart fellow lets the little woman speak her pieces quite freely.

Looking around the room all this time, I can't find any evidence that Alan Dinehart is other than a conventional movie villain. There's a nice grandfather's clock in the corner and a piano (they're both musical) and many shelves of books, and good paintings. There's a dog named Mr. Wu (or is it Poo?) and the picture is complete when young Mason Dinehart, a curly-haired, bright little tyke, toddles in to meet the company, duly shakes hands, snatches at a bit of popcorn, and toddles out again. Ye complete movie villain: he loves children, dogs, books, flowers art, music and—of course—his wife.

But Mrs. Dinehart (who's Mollie Britton on stage and screen) insists that Alan has one villainous trait he cannot down. It seems that once in a movie he played a villain who wandered through stationery stores with sticky fingers. To this day (accuseh the villain's wife) her good spouse has not forgotten. Let him but get near a stationery store, and his fingers begin to itch. He walks past the counters and—well, it's called kleptomaniac in polite circles. Nothing serious, you understand. Just paper clips and rubber bands and similar trivia, and I'm sure he makes amends later.

A little sheepishly the Red Shadow admits his crime. (I'm calling him met Jim Preston. Jim is not dynamic. He is factual. They merged.

WONT OVERDO IT

Capra wanted to produce a picture about Washington. He wanted to tell the story of a Brilliant Young Senator coming to town to make the world over. Somehow romance gets tangled up in it but that is for Capra to worry about. Capra was just a little fearful that in his effort to put romance in the Senate he might overdo the thing, get the atmosphere wrong, or slight an important tradition and make the film seem silly.

It is Jim's job to prevent that. He is Senate tradition incarnate. He is a slender, tallish fellow about 55 who looks so much like Prime Minister Chamberlain that he was used as the main course at a Oridion Banquet skit on Chamberlain. He looks that way without dressing up. It is a natural. He even wears the black homburg, although he doesn't carry the umbrella, yet.

Jim came to the Senate gallery the year before the Spanish American war. He stayed through the World War and the war against the depression. He has known every senator well since 1895. The country is full of managing editors who were broken in to the Washington newspaper business by Jim Preston, so to him the gallery is something sacred, like nothing

People You Know

Junior Foster and Omer Harrell have gone away to join the Army, and they're glad of it. They've been trying to get something to do ever since they were graduated from high school last spring, but if you think it's hard for married men to get a job, you ought to be a young fellow just out of high school and then try to get one!

Last summer Junior and Omer tried to get in the navy but they were not big enough to suit the enlistment admiral. "The army was their second choice. They passed the physical examinations at Amarillo and were sent to Denver for final examinations. The Amarillo office was quite positive they'd make the grade at Denver. "If we do, we'll be on the ground floor—we hope—when the next big war breaks out," said Junior.

This one is sorry they left, because Junior and Omer are the kind of boys you want to keep in your community.

The Red Shadow because a villain ought to have a name. He can't explain it, either. He says it's not because he made that picture under von Sternberg or some other artistic director who made enough takes to install the taking habit in his actor. He says it's just the way it is, and he's sorry and all that.

Villains do have griefs, however. Mollie's mother, for instance, dreaded having her daughter marry that awful person. She couldn't figure how her little girl could be happy with a man who was so wicked on the screen. After the marriage, when the bridal couple visited the folks, Mollie's mamma still was timorous—until she met the villain and found he really didn't beat children.

Tex's Topics

By Tex DeWeese

WE ARE GROWING weary of that Dr. Fishbein joke... Dr. Fishbein, you know, is the medical expert who writes "The Family Doctor" column on our editorial page.

A couple of days ago one of the composing room make-up men was thinking about the flowers in the spring tra-la, and he made the mistake of putting the good doctor's column under the headline of this column, and vice versa, which had me dishing out the low-down on a sabbaceous cyst-when to you.

Now, among the many many things that I know nothing about, a sabbaceous cyst is right up there on top of the list.

So, if you have a bump on your head, don't call me and ask if it's a wen... It may be—and again, it may be just the place where somebody popped you... Dr. Maximilian, the city health officer, called us to offer congratulations upon joining the medical fraternity...

He said it was remarkable, and that he'd never heard of anyone taking such a rapid-fire course in medicine and becoming an expert in so short a time... In fact, he didn't even know I had been studying medicine... And, neither did I... But the man in the composing room did... He's always on his toes—or something.

ONE REASON we are particularly anxious to get that Fishbein mistake straightened out is because the doctor is having court trouble with Dr. Brinkley, and we don't care for any of it... There is plenty of grief in the newspaper office without messing around in the doctor's office, thank you.

Some people in certain quarters, according to secret underground rumblings, are ready to talk—in fact, they already have begun talking... What's they are saying some of a time... In something, if they say it in the right place... Make a note not to ask us what this means... How does the old saying go... The one about "you can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the etc., etc."

JACK CULP, FORMERLY with the railroad commission offices here, has said goodbye to Pampa and now is head of the Amarillo branch office of Frank Hill's Pampa Insurance Agency.

This column is going to take off on a little jaunt down state for two or three days, and we're trying to make arrangements to have Adolph A. Miller fill up this space while we're gone. When we called him about the proposition, he was busy interviewing American chorus girls but said he would think about the offer if he could ever get his mind back on his work.

Topping of highway 33 through South Pampa with asphalt was to begin, it was stated by L. A. White, resident State engineer.

Editor "Sharing Comforts"

1. REPEAL CHILD LABOR LEGISLATION SO THAT THERE WILL BE NO OBSTACLES TO EMPLOYING CHILDREN. This will permit agriculture and industry to produce more cheaply, consequently to sell at lower prices.

There was a time in the past when there were no restrictions on child labor. In those good old carefree days in the dawn of the industrial era, manufacturers could hire children—and did—and used them with the then new machinery. Twelve hours was a short work day and the calendars showed no Sundays, if we may believe the history of those days. There is little reason to doubt, what history records.

For instance, in order to get cheap labor, it was a quaint custom of the times to contact with orphan asylums for children. Employers were obliged to take one idiot from every quota of normal children. He had to feed and house his happy band of workers. Employers went back—and they had hard times before 1913, strange as it may seem—the industrialists were required to continue caring for these contract child workers. They sometimes got around this tough economic problem by the eminently practical and simple device of dumping the kids along the highways, idiots and normals alike.

Fossily the necessity of this drastic method of curtailing expenses helped usher in the wage system, or accelerate it. The employers were not necessarily cruel; they had to cut costs. Today employers retrench whatever means they must, not by the means they prefer. It is no longer necessary to dump the kids on the highways. Enlightened industry does not hire so many of them, anyway.

But I take it that the author of "Sharing the Comforts of Life" would have the nation return to employing children without restriction. Let 'em work. If a child elbows out an adult, let the adult look back on the street. That's labor competition, and the unlimited competition and the cost of production can be reduced noticeably. What will be done with the products? Sell 'em. To whom? Them as can buy 'em—the small-waged kids and the small-waged adults, same as today.

Producing cheaply, cheap. Let the world go buy if it can. Under modern conditions kids can be used to operate machines. In the South there are none of these silly child-labor laws to interfere with industry. That's one good reason why the South is getting so rich. Those whose kids usually is not made too evident. Cheap labor, cheap production. They do it very well in Japan, which can teach us lessons along this line.

If children are to be employed, this work must chiefly be in industry. A certain amount of work for the kids used to take the family cow and stake her in the vacant lots so plentifully provided. It was free land and free labor. But when I ask Junior today to do his dairy work it means taking a can opener to a can of corned beef. Corned beef is the top of a bottle of milk. Junior isn't really sure whether it's the cow or the milkman that gives milk.

There are no child labor laws in the South, in Mexico, in China, in Japan, in India. Maybe we can emulate a certain country in the North of wasting their time in schools, let the kids go to work—hunting jobs even if they can't get 'em. But pity the poor business man and the busy housewife. They'll have to use shotguns or fill to protect themselves if the cheap courses in industry go. Or they might hire one kid to herd off the other job-seeking ones.

Hungarian Troops Move To Slovakia

BUDAPEST, March 23 (AP)—Hungarian troops moved into Slovakia today at several points along the Slovakia-Czechoslovakia frontier, said reliable sources from that region, and diplomatic quarters heard Hungary was occupying Slovakia on Germany's invitation.

The reports supported belief among foreign diplomats Adolf Hitler, protector of Slovakia since last week's absorption of Czech-Slovakia, had adopted a policy of encouraging Hungarian expansion to build up a powerful ally in Central Europe.

Hungarian troops had been in Carpatho-Ukraine since their occupation last week of that easternmost section of Czechoslovakia. In government quarters confirmation of these reports could not be obtained.

But some diplomats saw partial confirmation in the fact that last night the government issued strict orders to Hungarian newspapers and news agencies to publish nothing concerning military operations. In some diplomatic circles there was a belief Reichsmarschall Hitler, under whose protection Slovakia placed herself last week, had adopted a policy favoring reconstitution of the real St. Stephen the pre-war kingdom of Hungary, of which Slovakia was a part.

Gaming Cases Dismissed In County Court

With no cases set for today or Friday, county court was inactive today after a busy day Wednesday. No jury was needed in any of the cases heard yesterday, although the jury panel of 14 reported again Wednesday afternoon.

County Judge Sherman White said there would probably be some civil cases heard next week, but nothing had been set for today or Friday.

Charges of gambling against eight men, filed in county court on August 15, 1938, were dismissed on motion of both the county and city attorney in county court yesterday afternoon. The gambling charges were in connection with an alleged game of "moon", played with dominoes. City officers arrested the men in the basement of the Post-office bar. The case was later transferred to county court.

Fines of $25 each and cost were assessed G. R. Campbell, charged with selling beer without a permit, and Mrs. Anna Lee Cooper, charged with permitting her permit to be used for the benefit of another. Both entered pleas of guilty.

M. T. Shaddix entered a plea of guilty and was assessed a fine of $25 and costs on a charge of maintaining a common nuisance. Shaddix had been charged with transporting liquor, but this case was dismissed on the filing of new information.

SCHOOL PLAN

the rural schools of Gray County understand that Pampa officials had nothing to do with the recommendation, that they have not studied it and are not advocating its adoption.

"We have more students than we can adequately take care of with our present facilities," C. T. Hunkapillar, president of the Pampa Independent school board said. "The costs shown in the report seem to be much less than they would actually be to care for the increased load in the Pampa schools. We have not studied the recommendation and knew nothing of it until we saw the story in the paper. We have certainly done nothing to advocate the recommendation, and I doubt that our board would endorse the plan if it were submitted to us."

Mayor E. S. Carr of the Pampa City Commission and Ferris C. Oden, president of the Pampa Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce made similar statements this morning.

The proposed recommendation, under the present Texas laws, can be adopted only by vote of all districts concerned, which gives rural school districts ample assurance that the recommendation will not be adopted as it affects their districts unless the majority of voters in their districts approves, as well as the majority of voters in the city district with which the consolidation is proposed.

LEVY BILL

that we must either accept this sales tax constitutional amendment or nothing at all.

"The people sent us here to raise some money quickly, not to let them vote on raising some money which would not be available until Jan. 1, 1940."

AUSTIN, March 23 (AP)—Only the constitutional amendment over which they have bickered for days—a sales tax with hiked natural resource impost—breathed in the house today, other measures virtually smothered in committee.

The revenue and taxation committee, instructed by the house two days ago to report back three bills—two dealing with natural resource taxes and another with a net income tax—sent them all back last night, with recommendation they not be passed.

Authors cried the committee was "ruling with an iron hand" and stifling chances of the house to vote on measures other than a sales tax.

The constitutional amendment now before the house, as amended, provides for a two per cent tax on retail sales, utility services, admission prices over 50 cents and 33 1/3 per cent tax on natural resources.

Derden Opposes Bill.
Rep. Albert Derden, author of a natural resource bill, shouted to the committee:

"It's not fair to the people or the legislature to smother bills in this committee just so the house will be compelled to vote on something else. At least give the house a chance to do their duties or let's come down in the morning and adjourn, please die."

The speaker is not going to swallow this sales tax. You can't sit here and rule with an iron hand. You've got a liberal governor right now because you didn't raise a dollar for the needy, borderline cases heretofore. If you don't get something out on this matter, you'll have the most liberal legislature two years from now in history. Gov. O'Daniel never made a radio speech to what he'll make them."

Petsch Supports Act.
Rep. Alfred Petsch, ardent supporter of the sales tax, arose to say:

"If the people don't vote their own taxes, put the lid on and nail it down so the politicians will know it is settled, politicians will continue to carry on as they did at the Beaumont democratic convention and right here on the house floor—wanting the big interests to pay the taxes because they know they don't have many votes."

Rep. G. C. Morris, author of another natural resource bill, appeared before the committee after Derden's bill had been flattened and grinned:

"I feel like Nero must have when Rome was burning."

He quickly changed his tone and warned "if you don't get this constitutional amendment out of the legislature, you won't have any money to submit to the people. You—this committee—will have to answer to the old people. You'll be the ones who said 'if we can't get what we want, we won't have anything.'" both were killed almost immediately.

'TARZAN'

Left Letter
Sheriff Blackburn said a letter left for him by Durand at a ranch stated: "Of course I know that I am done for and when you kill me I suggest you have my head mounted and hang it up in the courthouse for the sake of law and order."

The letter bore as a return address: "Undertaker's Office, Powell, Wyo."

Durand was tracked to his primeval lair yesterday after he stopped at three ranches near Powell, leaving the letter at one and forcing Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thornburg, owners of another, to drive him to the mouth of the Clarkfork canyon 40 miles north of Cody.

His appearance at the ranches was the first trace of Durand since last Thursday night, when he shot and killed Undersheriff D. M. Baker and Town Marshall Charles E. Lewis of Powell, at his ranch near Powell. Durand had overpowered Deputy Sheriff Noah Riley at the Cody jail and forced Riley to drive him to the ranch. Durand was serving a six-month term for game poaching.

Committee Rejects FDR's Farm Slash

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—The House appropriations committee rejected President Roosevelt's request to cut farm benefit payments 30 per cent, asked Congress today to appropriate $750,000,000 to promote agricultural recovery—essential to the complete restoration of our national economy.

The committee sent to the House floor a bill calling for a $1,067,274,427 appropriation for all agriculture department activities in the year beginning July 1. The total was $244,598,376 more than the President and the budget bureau asked and $113,109,148 more than regular appropriations last year.

The bill called for $500,000,000 for soil conservation payments under the administration's farm program—$15,000,000 more than the President's budget called for—and $250,000,000 for farm parity benefits which the budget bureau recommended Congress earmark $212,000,000 in a relief bill last year for parity payments.

The committee, in its report on the bill, noted that the President had not requested any parity payments, but it said they should be made under the "clearly indicated policy" of the last Congress.

Mr. Roosevelt has said that no appropriations above $485,000,000 should be made for the farm program unless Congress at the same time legislates offsetting revenue.

Patrol Joins Search For Lost Oklahoman

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 23 (AP)—The State Highway Patrol was enlisted today in the search for Mrs. Eudora Cunningham, 30, Oklahoma City socialite who disappeared 17 days ago.

After Assistant County Attorney E. W. Brown expressed the opinion she would never be found alive, State Safety Commissioner J. M. Gentry ordered his patrolmen to look for her body under culverts and bridges of the regular runs over the state.

Still hoping his wife would be found unharmed, Roger Cunningham, 33, remained under detention of Brown. Cunningham said he wanted to be on hand for questioning in the hope it might aid in the hunt.

Mrs. Cunningham disappeared March 6, Brown said, when her husband took her to a depot after she announced plans to go to San Francisco. Brown said Cunningham told him he let his wife out at the station, went to park his car, and when he returned, she was gone.

Investigation of a telegram signed with Mrs. Cunningham's name saying she was well and sent here from San Francisco disclosed, Brown said, Cunningham had asked a friend to send it to her mother, Mrs. Joel P. Stokes. Brown said Cunningham told him he wanted to prevent worry when his wife did not reappear. Search for Mrs. Cunningham started last Monday.

Lowell Brown of Council Grove, Kas., former tutor of Dr. Brinkley's 11-year-old son testified both principals in the law suit and their families went to Europe on the liner, Queen Mary, in 1937, and returned on the Normandie.

Dr. Fishbein's story asserted Dr. Brinkley "crossed the Atlantic in the finest ships and occupying the finest suites."

The former tutor revealed that Dr. Fishbein's small son and the Brinkley lad played together on shipboard. He said he played ping-pong with Dr. Fishbein's daughter until he told her he worked for Dr. Brinkley and then the ping-pong games were disrupted.

Brown asserted Dr. Brinkley owned three yachts.

He denied having heard Dr. Brinkley record speeches to be broadcast by radio station at Villa Acuna, Mexico, across the Rio Grande from Del Rio. The records have been ordered produced at the trial.

The defense sought to prove Dr. Brinkley's three yachts were "of the finest type" but Brown said he had no knowledge of yachts other than the three owned and operated by Dr. Brinkley.

Lions Club Hears Girl Scout Leader

One hundred per cent attendance at the meeting next Thursday noon is the goal of the Pampa Lions club it was announced today. Every Lion not present will be sorry.

Miss Catherine Shanklin, regional supervisor of the Girl Scouts of America, was principal speaker at today's meeting. She has been in Pampa for more than a week and following a survey revealed that there are 1,200 to 1,400 girls between the ages of seven and 14 eligible for membership. Miss Shannon was introduced by Mrs. Frank Culbertson, local chairman. Mrs. Ralph Thomas, leader of the city's largest troop, was a guest. There are 130 Girl Scouts in Pampa.

Entertainment was furnished by the high school's Hell band composed of Vernon Casey, Joe Nelson, and Bill Jones.

Solos were presented by Lois Frailey and Dick Kennedy accompanied at the piano by Maxine Holt.

The program was in charge of John Hesse of the attendance committee. Bob Morris and Walter Rogers were guests.

40-8 Will Meet In Panhandle Tonight

An oyster supper and a Good-fellows club election are on the program for the regular meeting of the Pampa voice 933 of the 40 and 8, to be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the American Legion hall in Panhandle.

Local voyagers will leave at 6:45 p. m. from Buckingham's Service station, 120 South Cuyler, for the trip to Panhandle.

The meeting at Panhandle is a regular meeting of the local voice. Panhandle 40 and 8 members are affiliated with the Pampa unit of the society.

'Rainmaker' Sits To Bring Rain To Florida Groves

FROSTPROOF, Fla., March 23 (AP)—Orange and grapefruit growers were looking over the lakes hereabouts today in preparation for the visit of a professional "rainmaker."

Chairman John Maxey of the Florida citrus commission said the fruitmen had invited Little State of Oxford, Miss., to do her rain-making chores for the benefit of citrus trees which are shedding fruit because there has been only one rain since last October.

Miss Stoaite was reported enroute here today.

The "rainmaker" said her method was merely to sit near a body of water—the larger the body of water and the longer she sat, the greater the rainfall. Precipitation would come within 24 hours, over a radius of 150 to 200 miles.

Because she would not have to work hard, her charge for making rain would not be very much, she advised the fruit growers.

Miss Stoaite, who said she discovered her "peculiar power over water" in 1916, explained she had broken droughts in several sections.

Thompson Plan Considered By Cattle Raisers

HOUSTON, March 23 (AP)—The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association pondered today a plea from Ernest Thompson, Railroad Commissioner, for a fight against what he termed rail rate discrimination in the southwest.

Thompson yesterday asserted railroads seeking protection against truck competition should "show the people of Texas they are willing to haul their goods as cheaply northbound as they haul it southbound."

To illustrate his claims, Thompson said an oil well pumping unit, weighing 7,000 pounds is manufactured at Lufkin, Tex., and Oil City, Penn.

"It costs $32.50 to ship the unit from the Oil City factory to the Centralia, Ill., oil field. It costs the Lufkin factory $73.50 to ship the same kind of unit to the same point, and there is only 19 miles difference in distance," he asserted.

Escaped Convicts Caught At Denison

DENISON, March 23 (AP)—Dolph Tuck, 37, and Arthur Louis Brown, 46, who said they had eaten a single sandwich since they fled the Wynne state prison farm Tuesday, were captured without resistance today.

Constable Ira Jesse met the pair as they trudged along a road within 200 yards of the officer's home. Recognizing their prison garb, he covered them with a pistol.

Tuck covered with his right hand a revolver used in the prison break, which he had stuck into his shirt front, but made no effort to produce it.

"We are worn out," they told Jesse.

The capture left at large only two of the five men who broke away from the farm. V. E. Cooper, who was forced to accompany the men, surrendered yesterday after he deserted them near White-wright.

Baugh-O'Brien Duel In Offing As Davey Signs

By WILLIAM T. RIVES.
 FORT WORTH, March 23 (AP)—Back in 1936 a wee Irishman warmed the Texas Christian bench and watched Silging' Sammy Baugh run through his football chores. When Baugh had passed T. C. U. into a safe lead, the little fellow—Davey O'Brien—would replace him. Davey didn't get much attention that year, and when the next season rolled around, the fans were wondering who could fill the shoes of Baugh the great.

The answer, of course, every football devotee knows—O'Brien filled the shoes so well Baugh was generally forgotten except to furnish fuel for arguments over which was the better pitcher.

Now the arguments may cease, for football's "battle of the century"—Baugh vs. O'Brien—is in the making. O'Brien decided yesterday his geological career could suffer just a little—especially when something in the neighborhood of $10,000 was involved—and signed a contract to play professional football with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Baugh plays in the same league, with the Washington Redskins, and the clash of the two teams will be a promoter's dream. Baugh's college passing record was a thing to marvel at, and when he joined the Redskins he virtually single-handed them into the professional championship. Last year injuries handcuffed him part of the time, but his record still was excellent.

O'Brien, meanwhile, passed Texas Christian into the No. 1 national ranking spot and was the most-talked-of player of the 1938 season. Which is the better passer? Here are their college records over a three-year period, but don't let snap judgment get you. There'll be an interesting game up east this fall which may make you eat your words.

U. basketball tournament, 18 to 19.

With the southerners leading by a single point, the second round game was almost over when Miss Duke fouled tiny Mary Bradley. The petite Pennsylvania miss strolled to the free throw line and tossed in the point which tied the score. A moment later Miss Duke again fouled on the Allegheny champions, wearing the most scanty uniforms on display at the tournament, were in front by a single point. Then Miss Duke was fouled.

The clock was stopped as she walked to the free throw line. She missed.

Her failure sent the golden silk clad Quakers into the quarter-finals along with the Galveston, Tex., Anicos, defending champions; the Little Rock, Ark., Flyers; the Nashville, Tenn., Business College; Wichita Steffens and the Wichita Thurstons.

mill, smothered Helen Williams, the Coloradoans' main offensive player. Lucille Thurman, the All-American player from Little Rock, was the star in the Flyer warmup over Tampa, Fla., 31 to 8.

A hard driving A. I. B. team from Des Moines eliminated Detroit, Mich., 25 to 6, but another Des Moines sextet, the Thompsons, found difficulty in finding the hoop and lost 32 to 12 to Allison, Tex., two-time champions of the Lone Star State High school tournament.

In the consolation flight Washkom, Tex., Independents defeated Hoehne Colo., 14-13, and Miller Grove, Tex., downed Winston-Salem, N. C., 75-14.

Tonight's games:

7 p. m.—Pittsburgh, Pa., vs. Little Rock, Ark.
 8—Allison, Tex., vs. Galveston, Tex.
 9—Wichita Steffens vs. Des Moines A. I. B.
 10—Wichita Thurstons vs. Nashville Business College.

Boxers Will Enter Meet At Canadian

Although Pampa High school does not sponsor boxing among its students, many boys like the exercise and have been training nearly every afternoon at the Pampa Athletic arena under supervision of Cliff B. Chambers, trainer of the Pampa Golden Gloves team. Several of the local boys plan to enter the Canadian High School Invitation tournament tomorrow.

More than 100 high school boxers are scheduled to enter the Canadian tournament which will begin at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow night. Another session will begin at 10 o'clock Saturday morning with the semi-finals and finals set for 8 o'clock Saturday night. Admission will be 15 cents, 25 cents and 35 cents.

Boys have already entered the tournament from Pampa, Borger, LeFors, Shamrock, McLean, Stinnett, Claude, Miami, Spearman and Canadian.

The boxing team winning the most points will receive a 16-inch gold-plated statue of a boxer.

Each winner will be given a gold filled miniature boxing glove. Runner-up in each weight division will receive a bronze glove.

The Pampa team has not been named by Trainer Chambers up to today. He planned a light workout for the boys this evening before naming the representative in each weight division, from 80 pounds up.

Perfect Strike

If Ed Carnett does as well on the mound as he does on the golf course the Chicago Cubs' rookie southpaw pitcher will go over in a big way. Here he is preparing to the ball after scoring a hole in one at the Cubs' Catalina Island training camp.

Grid Starters For Friday's Tilt Unknown

Two Pampa Harvester football teams will line up for a scrimmage tomorrow afternoon at Harvester park but the start time is unknown except to Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean. The game will be called at 3:45 o'clock.

For the past week coaches have been drilling their charges long and hard on assignments. With the return of all cripples and most of the boys on the sick list, coaches will probably be able to field two strong elevens.

Just before the starting whistle tomorrow afternoon Coach Mitchell will read off 11 names and those boys will comprise one team. Then he will read off 11 more names and that will be the other team.

"Then we'll see how the boys absorbed the work of the week," Coach Mitchell remarked this morning.

Neither coach would open up in regard to starting elevens following a bruising workout yesterday afternoon. The boys will be well mixed up and substitutes will be numerous, they intimated, however.

No charge will be made for the scrimmage and fans will be welcomed at the park.

Grand National Will Be Run At Aintree Friday

AINTREE, England, March 23 (AP)—The experts say Dorothy Paget's Kiltstar of H. C. McNally's Royal Danial, both eight-year-olds, will win the Grand National tomorrow, but the history of this witch's gamble favors the nine-year-olds.

Since the war, seven nine-year-olds have won the race, and five other nine-year-olds are being watched carefully this time.

This year's five are Sir Alexander Maguire's workman, Lord Bicester's Rockquill, A. Donn's Dominick's Cross, Mrs. A. Smith-Bingham's Brendan Cottage and Sir W. Chilcott's Dunhill Castle.

Trainers gathering for tomorrow's classic explain this nine-year-old business is not just a lucky theory but that nine actually is the age at which a staying chaser is at his best.

New Orleans Raising Fund To Enlarge Tulane Stadium

By GAYLE TALBOT.
 NEW ORLEANS, March 23 (AP)—I find this town in the throes of a red-hot drive to raise $550,000 for increasing the capacity of Tulane stadium to 70,000 for the next big Sugar Bowl game.

Big signs say "buy Sugar Bowl bonds and sweeten business," and a lot of the towns top men are hustling around the warm pavements selling the handsomely engraved debentures to each other.

There's already close to $350,000 in the pot, and several of the best spring team captains assure me they will be ready to award the contract by this week-end.

Tulane stadium at present is a horseshoe. All they need to do to add 20,000 seats is fill in one end, and lift the two sides a trifle higher. Then the local folk think they will be ready to give the Rose Bowl a fit.

The last Sugar Bowl battle, between Texas Christian and Carnegie Tech, turned customers away, and the hotels couldn't begin to accommodate the visitors. They're going to take care of that, too. The Pullman company plans to establish several "sleeper cities."

Where the Sugar Bowl folk feel they've got it all over the Rose Bowl is their greater flexibility in the choice of teams. As Herbert Benson, president of the Mid-Winter Sports association, points out, the Rose Bowlers are committed to using the team that wins the Pacific Coast conference title, whereas the locals aren't committed to anything except bringing together the two best elevens they can find.

"That's where we've got them," said Benson. "They can't count on the Coast conference producing a real standout team each season, one that can be considered a real contender for the national championship. But they've got to use the best they have. In their last game, for instance, I don't think there was any tremendous national interest in Southern California, but everybody wanted to see how T. C. U. and Carnegie would stack up. We had the better game."

"From here on, with this big seating capacity, we can offer them as good or better proposition financially, too. We will offer each team we pick 37 1/2 per cent of the receipts, and that will run into nice money. It won't cost most teams near as much to come here as to make that long trip to the coast, either."

Allens And Ungers Resume Cage Feud

DENVER, March 23 (AP)—The Allens apparently never knew when they're licked.

Last year the Ungers gave the Allens a hearty 48-33 shellacking on the basketball court, but now the Allens want another crack at their rivals.

So the cage feud between the two families of brothers will be renewed Tuesday night.

The families are intact for the second game of what may turn into an annual series. The Ungers will be led by 23-year-old Art, who had a good year on the Colorado university varsity this season.

His mates will be Clarence 33, Harold 27, Ralph 25, and Joe 15. They outscored the Ungers 48-33.

Carl, 21, is the Allens' star. Others in the east are Lee, 34; Joe, 31; Ed, 24; Les, 23; Jim, 17, and Roy, 15. They outnumber the Ungers seven to six.

championship to be held in the United States and the third annual Sun Valley international open.

The temperature in the sun reached 109 degrees yesterday and similar warmth was indicated for today.

Snow conditions on the lofty peaks, where the courses are set, remained good, however.

Leading contender in the open, a combined Slalom-Downhill event, is Dick Durrance, Dartmouth College amateur who won in 1937 and 1938.

Grace Carter Lindley of Minneapolis won the women's trophy in the 1938 initial competition. She will defend her title.

The national title will go to the amateur skier with the best score in combined cross country, downhill, slalom and jumping.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

In Class A games rolled Tuesday night Tom Darby of the Cabot company team set a new record for the season when he toppled 64 pins in three games with scores of 233, 187 and 221. It was John Weeks of the Schneider hotel, however, who rolled high single game with 236 pins.

Voss Cleaners and Schneider hotel rolled three of the closest games of the season with the Cleaners finally taking all three, the last in an overtime frame. They won the first game by five pins and the second by 14 pins. Cabot took three straight from the Diamond Shop while Thompson Hardware won two out of three from Cargray. The Gasolinemen won the final game by six pins.

Byron Nelson Leads Field By Stroke PINEHURST, N. C., March 23 (AP)—Byron Nelson, young Ryder Cup player from Reading, Penna., led by a stroke today as the North and South open tournament entered the 36-hole final round.

He shot a second round 68 yesterday for a 139 total. Occupying second place in the $4,000 affair was Lighthorse Harry Cooper of Chicago. His second round 68, six strokes under par, set a new course record and snapped the windy city star out of a slump that had kept him out of the big money for a year.

Smallin' Sammy Sneed, the West Virginia sharpshooter and pre-tournament favorite, was third with 141.

Biscuit To Ru n LOS ANGELES, March 23 (AP)—Seabiscuit, one of the mightiest of them all on the race track, has proved unsatisfactory standing at stud, and probably will be withdrawn from a breeding farm near here and returned to light training.

France Trying To Get Poland To Join Allies LONDON, March 23 (AP)—France is taking the lead in trying to get wavering Poland to join France, Britain, and Soviet Russia in a united front against Germany, political circles understood today.

It was said further that France, through her foreign minister, Georges Bonnet, who is here with President Albert Lebrun of France, wanted Britain to agree to Polish demands for an outright military alliance with Britain as the price of Polish membership in the anti-Hitler front. "Germany and Poland now have an anti-aggression pact."

France was reported in political circles here (although Paris lacked confirmation) to have given reassurances that she was ready with Britain mutually to protect Holland, Belgium, and Switzerland in western Europe in the event of aggression against those small countries.

With Menel returned to German rails yesterday by Lithuania, some quarters expected Britain to call an international big power conference shortly, either in London or Paris, as originally proposed by Russia after the German obliteration of Czechoslovakia.

Britain had suggested originally that the Soviet proposal was "premature" and in turn proposed a four-power declaration against aggression. Many Britons attacked this as "just another useless declaration."

Premier Chamberlain's plans for an anti-aggression declaration thus far have been held up by Polish reluctance to join without a parallel guarantee of military support in the event of Nazi repercussions.

There is a movement to increase speed limits in various states. One in particular, in California, calls for abolition of speed limits except for 45 miles an hour at night. Another favors a 60-mile limit.

Major League Camp Briefs

LAKELAND, Fla.—Birdie Tebbets, Detroit Tigers catcher, is an advocate of helmets for baseball players. After trying one on Tebbets said it was comfortable and—probably recalling the injury which ended the baseball career of Manager Mickey Cochran—said he believed it should be adopted.

NEW ORLEANS—All the Cleveland Indians were finally present or accounted for today. Shortstop Lyn Lary and Pitcher John Broaca reported for their first practice; Catcher Frank Pytlak returned to duty after a one-day absence; Outfielder Earl Averill was signed and on his way to camp, and holdout Pitcher Willis Hudler was reported on his way here for a salary conference.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—On top of Lloyd Moore's feat in holding the Boston Red Sox to three hits in five innings yesterday, Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds today added some enthusiastic praise: "Moore is the most improved pitcher on our staff. His control is 100 per cent better than last year, but the biggest improvement is his change of pace. It should make him a 15-game winner this year."

BATON ROUGE, La.—Connie Mack is waving his famous scoreboard right out in public these days. There is no doubt for visiting teams here and the venerable leader of the Philadelphia Athletics sat out in the sun during the series with the New York Giants and maneuvered his club in the legendary manner. It was successful, too, because he called for a home run by Wally Moses in the tenth yesterday and dampened the debut of those two famous cripples, Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—Dis-mayed by dropping four out of five games to the Chicago White Sox and Cubs, Manager Pie Traynor called on Cy Blanton and Truett Sewell of his Pittsburgh Pirates pitching staff to turn back the Los Angeles Angels today in a game transferred from Ontario, Calif.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Everybody connected with the New York Yankees attempted to minimize the significance of yesterday's benching of Iron Man Lou Gehrig. But there was no denying the day's rest given Gehrig showed recognition by Yankee officials that the durable first baseman was not playing well enough to warrant a place in the lineup. Tommy Henrich, who took over the job in yesterday's 14-4 rout of Kansas City, was closely observed by President Ed Barrow and turned in a good job.

SAN BENITO, Texas.—Manager Fred Haney indicated today five circuit hurlers who have been trying out with the St. Louis Browns were lopped off the rolls soon. They are Emil Bidldill, Joe Hare, Bob Bergin, Loy Hanning, and Johnny Sams.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Paul Dean, who looked pretty good in his major league comeback at the end of last season, probably will make his 1939 debut Saturday when the St. Louis Cardinals face the New York Yankees. Manager Ray Blades said he thought a couple of innings would be enough for Dean's first effort.

HARLINGEN, Texas.—The Philadelphia Phillies set up headquarters here today for four days of exhibition games against minor league teams along the border. Toledo's Mudhens were their foes today with Oklahoma City, Tulsa, and San Antonio to follow in that order.

VISION OF LEWIS Eye Impaired PITTSBURGH, March 23 (AP)—World Light-Weight Champion John Henry Lewis admitted today the vision of his left eye is "somewhat impaired" but said he would continue to fight and was proceeding with training for a title match with Len Harvey in London, England.

The Michigan Board of Athletic Control last week banned Lewis there when he refused to submit to an eye examination by a specialist before continue to fight and was proceeding with training for a title match with Len Harvey in London, England.

Lewis said he refused to submit to the examination because he had not wished the impairment to become generally known. This, he said he feared, might cause embarrassment in connection with future matches.

SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC' BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

Yesterday, Alan decides at the last moment not to go to St. Louis because his patients need him. Emily is furious. An Alan leaves for the hospital, she tells Eric Lane, she wants him to come down at once.

CHAPTER XIII

IF Emily had expected her blunt statement to surprise Eric, she was not disappointed.

"You're doing what?" he shouted over the wire.

"I'm leaving Alan," she repeated. "I'll explain when you get here."

"But I can't leave the dam now, Emily. Things are in bad shape here. The water is rising."

"Please, Eric. The appeal in her voice could not be denied. You are the only person I could turn to, I need you."

"Well . . . all right. I'll be there within an hour."

BUT it was almost two hours before she let him in the door, wet and dripping. His clothes, his boots were mud splattered.

The moment he saw her all the love he had tried so hard to put from him, claimed him again. She was so small, so helpless, so forlornly alone. Her eyes were red from weeping, but she managed a wry smile as he took her hands.

Eric wanted to enfold her in his arms, comfort her, tell her of his love. Instead he said:

"Just what is this all about? What's this about your leaving Alan?" He tried to make his voice sound stern, matter of fact.

"It's true," Emily answered. "I'm leaving. I'll go back to St. Louis, then to Reno. I can't go on here."

"What happened, Emily? Why this sudden decision? Don't rush into anything you'll regret later."

"I know what I'm doing—and I won't regret it, Eric. Alan turned down the chance to go to St. Louis tonight. Wired Dr. Peterson that he was staying in Summer. . . . Well—I'm not!" Emily's eyes blazed.

"It's been wrong ever since I came here. You saw only a little of it, while you were here—it's been like that for a year."

Self-pity welled up within her. Eric listened understandingly while she poured out her story of that hateful year—a year of loneliness and discontent. Try as he would to defend Alan's actions, Eric found himself admitting that Emily's decision was not without justification. He let her talk on and on, and her returning composure was his reward.

A SUDDEN meeting, a girl he could not forget, and a blizzard had drawn him, as if by fate, into the tangled pattern of their lives. What role was he to play? Would Alan believe that he had nothing to do with Emily's decision? Was there any hope of the future—with Emily? Could he face Alan, secretly happy, as he had to admit he was, that Emily soon would be free?

Emily's voice was lost in the flood of questions that assailed him. Suddenly he realized that she had stopped speaking.

"What do you plan to do, Emily?" he asked.

"Reno, first; after that, I suppose I'll go back home and try to pick up where I left off a year ago. Work and play can make one forget."

A question trembled on Eric's lips. He did not want to ask it, but he could not help himself. Loving Emily, he had to know.

"Is there any place in your plans for me?" he asked slowly.

"Frankly, Eric, I don't know." Eric knew she was telling the truth. "Please don't forget me; please don't leave me to face it alone. Together, perhaps, we can find the old gang and all the help in at home again. You will help me, won't you?"

"I want to marry you, Emily," he said simply.

"You're sweet, and kind, Eric," Emily said. "But I'm not sure. Right now I'm still married to Alan—and I'm still in love with him. That sounds funny, doesn't it? But it is true. One can't idolize a man for five years and then suddenly get over it all at once."

"Ever since we came to Summer, Alan apparently has been trying to kill my love for him. Love can't last forever if it is not returned. Alan's profession, not his wife, is his real love. His practice always comes first; I really don't matter much to him. Even tonight, when I needed him most, he left me."

"He's a doctor, Emily. Did you expect him to stay?"

"No. . . . But you—you were having trouble at the dam, you are not my husband—yet when I called you . . . you came."

"I'll always be here if you need me, I love you, Emily."

"I know you do, Eric. That's why it's so difficult to tell you—to ask you to wait, just a little longer."

"BUT there's one thing I must do," Eric said. "I have to tell Alan. He must know that I love you. I can't have him thinking that I came into his home and deliberately tried to steal his wife."

"He knows. . . . I told him that you had kissed me, the night of the dance. And he doesn't blame you, Eric," Emily continued. "It was your kiss, I am sure, that brought him to his senses, made him accept Dr. Peterson's offer. He wrote the letter the next day. But when the time came to sign the contract, to get away from Summer, he wouldn't do it. He never will!"

"Don't judge too hastily," Eric advised. "If the thought that you—that some other man was in love with you—made him accept the offer, maybe the threat of a divorce will make him change his mind."

"You don't know Alan," Emily said. "He's made up his mind and nothing will ever change him. After I told him I was leaving, there was still time to catch the midnight train—still time to reach Dr. Peterson. But he went to the hospital. No, Eric, if our marriage is to go on, I'll have to be the one to give in; Alan never will."

Yes, Emily was right. If there was to be any surrender, she must make it. Alan was staying in Summer, with or without Emily.

And if Emily did not surrender, if she did get her divorce, could he even hope? Eric put the selfish thought from his mind. His dreams, his future had no place here. First he must make every effort to save Alan's home.

That Galahad spirit must be contagious, he thought, smiling. But it was not being Galahad alone that made him want to do all in his power to hold Emily and Alan together. If the break did come, Emily must be thoroughly convinced that it was all over—that there would be no returning. Only when she was sure that all her love for Alan was dead, would she turn to Eric. Right now she regarded him as her best friend, a friend who sympathized, who understood. That was the role in which she had cast him; that was the role he must accept, for a time at least.

HE hardly noticed when Emily left the room to answer the doorbell, so engrossed was he in his thoughts. Then he heard Dr. Farrell's voice, echoing throughout the house. Farrell here, too? What brought him?

Farrell greeted him without warmth. Eric could see that the doctor did not welcome his presence. But Farrell had little time for Kane. Almost savagely the old physician, now suddenly grown older, turned to Emily.

"My God, Emily," he asked, his voice trembling with emotion, "what have you done to Alan?"

King of Italy Hints French Pact Possible

ROME, March 23 (P)—King Vittorio Emanuele told the new steam-lined legislature today Italy had notified France of questions dividing them, giving some of his listeners the impression the government was awaiting French moves toward settlement.

His majesty, in a speech from the throne, also said Italy wanted peace to last "as long as possible" so he could develop her African empire but declared it was necessary to continue rearming "in the sky, on the land, and on the sea."

Because the speech had the obvious approval of Premier Mussolini, diplomats regarded it of hopeful significance.

"Regarding France," the king said, "my government has made known the questions which divide the two countries, in this moment in an official note of last Dec. 17."

While the king was speaking Pope Pius again expressed his desire for "peace based on justice and mutual cooperation," a Vatican news service announced. This came in an audience for 700 Hungarian pilgrims.

Vittorio Emanuele acknowledged that events in eastern Europe had brought uneasy times.

"Europe has not yet and will not have times which can be called easy, and the recent collapse of some of the artificial political structures begun after the World war demonstrates it," he said.

"But it is difficult times which reveal the character of peoples and it is for this reason that no doubt clouds my mind with regard to the future of the Italian people, a future guaranteed by the arms and by the ever more profound united national consciousness tempered by the hard tests of war and the no less arduous duties of peace."

The king said that Italy was arming to "save peace for us and everybody."

"As for relations between the church and the fascist state, they continue to be inspired by the most cordial understanding and cooperation in the sphere of reciprocal attributions and responsibilities."

'Jeepers Creepers, Use Your Peepers'

CLEVELAND, March 23 (P)—The influence of swing music has invaded the field of safety education in the police department.

Erected in the center of a street at public square was this sign, addressed to motorists and pedestrians: "Jeepers creepers, use your peepers."

Railway Express Agency, Inc., will operate a "Century of Service" exhibit at the California World's Fair on Treasure Island.

Marvin Jones Would Hike Farm Benefits

WASHINGTON, March 23 (P)—Chairman Jones, democrat, Texas, of the house agriculture committee announced today he would lead a campaign to increase farm benefits next year 40 per cent to $1,000,000,000.

Jones said he would offer an amendment to the agriculture department appropriation bill, probably Friday, to provide $500,000,000 for parity payments.

Informed persons said the house appropriations committee had agreed on an allocation of $500,000,000 for soil conservation payments and $250,000,000 for parity payments.

The total of these two funds this year was $712,000,000. President Roosevelt's budget calls for a total fund for farmers of $500,000,000.

Parity payments are intended to increase farm income to a point where purchasing power equals the 1909-1914 level. Mr. Roosevelt repeatedly has opposed increasing the $500,000,000 figure unless Congress at the same time tapped new sources of revenue.

Horses, Chicks, Lumber, Cattle, Hogs, Auctioned Off At Higgins

Special To The NEWS
HIGGINS, March 23—More horses were consigned at the Higgins Sales pavilion Tuesday than have been sold for some weeks and total receipts were considerably more than $4,000.

Numerous buyers present spurred bidding on to extreme heights when a pair of fine bays sold for $82.50. Another horse of special qualities brought $47 while a gray mare sold at $35.00.

O. C. Winn of Follett, Bob Hyde and Jeff Williams were the main consignees in this division with R. T. Kelley of Lipscomb and L. G. Hedges the heaviest purchasers.

About 500 baby chicks were consigned by the Laverne, Okla., Hatchery, bringing from $5.25 to $6.25 per hundred. Brown and white Leghorns, Hybrids, Wyandotts and mixed chick were included in the bunch.

Roland Wheat, Higgins, was the consigner of 1,716 feet of lumber. Other goods in the miscellaneous division included household goods and farm machinery sold at very good prices.

In the cattle yards approximately 200 head of stock were sold at prices in line with central markets.

The highest price bid on Jersey milk cows was $63.50 with other milk cows of lesser quality going at lower prices. G. W. Moore of Gem City, O. Peterson, R. D. Sheppard and A. Longhoffer of Shattuck, Okla., were among the milk cow consigners.

The top bull of the day sold for $69.00. George Storms sold a number of bulls including whitefaces, brindles, and blacks that brought satisfactory prices.

A whiteface bull of 630 pounds sold at $7.30 per hundred.

V. K. Scarth was the consigner of 25 mixed calves with half the load going to Sam Schick.

A 970 pound red cow went thru the ring at $9.45 per hundred and other cows sold as high as $5.95 per hundred.

Whiteface roan steers sold around $31.50 per head and black whiteface heifers tipping the scales at 600 pounds brought $7.25 per hundred. A mottled heifer and mottled bull weighing 580 pounds went to the highest bidder at $7.50 per hundred.

T. M. Mauldin of Pampa was the purchaser of a 610 pound brindle whiteface steer that sold at $7.25 a hundred.

Other purchasers were B. A. Donnelly, A. Hinderschot, O. E. Watts, Ed Vise and N. E. Bayless.

Frank Walton was the consigner of 9 whiteface steers. Gaddy Wise and Glen George of Briscoe were also among the consigners.

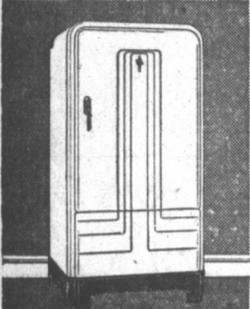

Hogs for slaughtering purposes were sold with a red sow of 380 pounds going to the highest bidder at $5.30 a hundred. A red bar weighing 170 pounds sold for $6.15 per hundred and a 200 pound red bar brought $6.30 per hundred weight.

If a driver turns his head for one second while driving 30 miles an hour, the car covers 44 feet, without him seeing what is in front of him.

Ferry boat company officials are prepared to transport 65,000 passengers an hour at peak periods of the California World's Fair on Treasure Island.

GERHARD'S ICE CREAM

With Hitler master of most of what once was Czecho-Slovakia, with Germany's eastern frontier identical with eastern boundary of Slovakia and adjoining Polish Ukraine, Der Fuehrer now is within striking distance of the coveted Russian Ukraine. Above map shows distances from Ukrainian capital of Kiev to Berlin, before Nazi annihilation of Czecho-Slovakia and distance from Slovakia to Kiev after conquest of Czech state, illustrating how, in less than a week, Hitler extended his authority almost to the Ukrainian border. Only tiny Ruthenia, now part of Hungary which is friendly to Germany, lies between Hitler and the Ukrainian and Rumanian frontiers. Black area is Germany or controlled by Germany. Lighter shading is Hungary.

Garner Calls 'Em As He Sees 'Em

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—Vice President Garner will call 'em as he sees 'em in refereeing future senate battles.

The bushy-browed presiding officer announced this rule late yesterday amid a hurly-burly parliamentary dispute over the government reorganization bill.

He halted a flurry of demands from senators seeking the floor by saying he always tried to recognize the one who jumped up first.

"But when six senators are standing, the chair is not going to try to say who rose first," Garner drawled. "The chair will recognize whosoever he wishes."

He recognized Senator Byrnes.

When Children Fuss at Meal Time.

There must be a reason. Poor appetite, fussing, fidgeting and crossness are unnatural to normal childhood. They may mean the presence of large round worms, and even the carefully safeguarded home may not be immune.

These unwelcome parasites infest and distress millions of children and many adults. The infection may be caught from flies, dogs, uncooked vegetables, fruit, contaminated water, dirt, etc.

Fortunately, large round worms can be expelled pleasantly. Just get Jayne's Vermifuge, the kind that doesn't require starving bare or during treatment. It is mild and mint flavored. Does not upset digestion. Constipation may accompany large round worm infection and should be relieved with the aid of a suitable laxative such as Jayne's Laxative Pills. At all drug stores. Dr. D. Jayne & Son, Inc., Philadelphia.

Earth Shocks Scare Rumanian Civilians

BUDAPEST, March 23 (AP)—Earth shocks in the region near the Rumanian frontier threw thousands of civilians and some of the soldiers massed on the borders into a short-lived panic today.

The shocks continued intermittently for 40 minutes.

The center was at Debreceem, where many troops are concentrated.

Excited villagers, thinking war had begun with a nearby bombardment, leaped from their beds and ran into the streets seeking safe places.

Some rushed into cellars after a short time and reports from the region said the earthquake had caused but slight damage.

McLean Tacky Party To Be Held Friday

Special To The NEWS
McLEAN, March 23—Beginning at 7 o'clock Friday evening, a "tacky" party will be given at the skating rink in the ward school gymnasium. Much interest has been taken in the skating rink since its opening last month and a large crowd is expected to attend. Bleachers for spectators are available free.

Members of the senior class will have charge of the candy and cold drink concession for the week.

Dyson Funeral Held At Mobeetie

Special To The NEWS
MOBETTIE, March 23—Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist church for Mrs. Ophie Dyson, who died in a Wheeler hospital, after a few days illness.

Mrs. Dyson, age 29 years and a few days, is survived by her husband, Homer D., three sons, Adrian, E. Edward, 7, and Charles Hugh, 5. Her mother, Mrs. Mollie Hatheway, of Mobeetie, several brothers and sisters also survive. Her father, Harvey Hatheway, and a younger sister, Mrs. Lucille Leonard, preceded Mrs. Dyson in death.
