Oil Men Elect Pampan; Senator Small Praises Governor W. Lee

Lynn Boyd, Pampa lumberman and oilman, was elected president of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners association in a business session here Saturday afternoon. Mel B. Davis of Pampa, Jack Nichols of Amarillo and Jake Phillips of Borger were named vice-presidents. George McGrath of Amarillo is the new Secretary.

iring president, presided at the noon meeting and welcomed members and visitors.

What we are doing in Austin was the theme of a talk by Senator Clint C. Small who declared that "the public is being misled about our governor."

"Pretty Good Governor"

"The governor has had trouble with the press and as a result the public is being misled about things being done in Austin," Senator Small declared. "We have a pretty good governor. He has more courage than we have seen in most men in high office. He wants to do the right thing and he has the courage to stick up for his convictions."

Senator Small said the proposed transaction tax wouldn't stand close examination but that out of it would come a tax that would not burden the oilman, the gas producer, the manufacturer or anyone.

"We in Texas have all wanted to pay taxes for some time and I believe the solution is at hand," Senator Small said.

New Tax Amendment
The speaker revealed that a new constitutional amendment was scheduled to be presented Monday.

Girl Scouts Will Observe Anniversary

Vesper Service To Be Held Today At Local Church

Girl Scouts of Pampa today are joining other thousands of Girl Scouts throughout the country in celebrating the 27th anniversary of their organization in America. Adult leaders and other thousands of former members, now grown to women, will look back upon the first quarter century and more in which the ideal and practices of Scouting have influenced the lives of nearly two million girls toward a healthier body and mind, happier homes, and better citizenship.

Local observance of the birthday will take the form of a vesper service at 5 o'clock this evening, at the Presbyterian church, where all troops of this city and the adult leaders and sponsors will participate in simple Girl Scout ritual suitable to the occasion and hear a special address by the Rev. Robert Boshen, pastor of the church.

Parents Invited
Parade and friends of the girls, as well as others interested in the Scouting movement, are invited to attend the service. A section of the auditorium will be reserved for the Girl Scouts.

All music for the service will be furnished by the girls, who will sing two hymns before the address, under the direction of Hugh McKimling. To close the service, they will stand in formation for the Girl Scout handclasp and sing two Scout songs. A Cappello.

Five troops are now active in Pampa, with a total registration of 131 girls. Various organizations of the city sponsor the troops, with special aid from the city.

Girl Rides Around After Being Shot

PAULS VALLEY, Okla., March 11 (AP)—A pretty 18-year-old high school girl who County Attorney Sam Goodwin said, rode with her boyfriend for an hour and a half after she was shot three times in a quarrel over a date with another boy, was given an even chance to recover tonight.

Goodwin said the boy friend, Murray Williams, 22, was held without charge, pending outcome of the girl's injuries.

Goodwin said Williams told him he obtained a rifle yesterday, asked Miss Carolyn Morrison to take a ride with him in his automobile and that she left the car during an argument.

When Goodwin said Williams related he fired, after telling her "not to take another step."

The girl, the county attorney said, then got back into the automobile and two more shots were fired during a conversation in which the girl said she was "sorry" and expressed willingness to patch things up.

20 Texas Convicts Maim Themselves

HUNTSVILLE, March 11 (AP)—Texas prison officials tonight revealed that 20 convicts on the Eastham prison farm maimed themselves 10 days ago after fire in incendiary origin had destroyed a bunk house on the Alcatraz of Texas.

Most of the convicts, it was revealed, cut their legs apparently in an attempt to sever the tendons but only a few inflicted wounds that were serious.

All of the men, O. J. S. Ellingson, manager of the prison system said, were in a hospital at the Eastham prison farm. The prison manager said some of the convicts who committed the self-maiming claimed they were forced to slash their legs by other convicts who threatened to kill them if they refused to carry out the acts.

The prison manager said officials were investigating the fire, which destroyed the bunk house, and that some charges of arson probably will be filed within a few days.

Window Glass Blown Out As Derricks Fall

Gale Stirs Up Dust Fog; All Towns In Panhandle Hit

High winds blew over the Pampa area Saturday, blowing over a pumping derrick west of Pampa, an oil rig south of the city, tearing down an awning, ripping off two roofs within Pampa and covering the area with a cloud of dust that cut visibility at times to as low as 50 yards.

The wind blew down a pumping derrick on a Phillips lease three miles west of Pampa. High winds also pushed over a rig of W. D. Kelley's on a Continental lease, two miles south of the city.

The wind also caused the breaking of the glass in the front door of the Pampa postoffice.

In Pampa, an awning at the Pampa dry cleaners and City barber shop, 208 North Cuyler, was torn down. Wind tore a hole in the east side of the roof at the Pampa Motor Freight lines, 409 West Brown, and unroofed a porch at the Murray Tool & Supply company, 735 South Cuyler.

Maija Battles Both Franco, Communists

(By The Associated Press)
MADRID, March 11 (AP)—General Jose Miaja's Republicans drove Communist rebels from flaming headquarters in the heart of Madrid today and fought a sharp artillery battle with Nationalist gunners at the edge of the city in the sixth day of "the war within a war."

The peace-seeking national defense council, formed before dawn Monday and forced to fight the Communists all week, felt the fury of Nationalist guns as it seemed to be getting the upper hand over the rebels.

Enemy artillery on the southeast fringe of the city opened up in the morning while Miaja's motorized troops, with 18 field guns were clearing virtually the whole length of Broad Calle de Alica which cuts diagonally through the capital.

The boom of guns on the Republican-Nationalist front mingled with the firing of anti-aircraft guns.

The slide started Monday after rains had soaked into the hill formation. It broke loose from the 1,130-foot level about 2 1/4 miles from the highway.

State highway engineer M. H. Ayres said the mass was sliding on a base of clay.

Gigantic Earth Slide Moving Toward Highway

GILROY, Calif., March 11 (AP)—A gigantic earth slide from the "dead hills" of the famous San Andreas earthquake fault was moving slowly but uninterruptedly toward the Pacific coast's main Canada-to-Mexico highway tonight.

On a front about a quarter of a mile long, the 125-foot high earth mass was advancing down a slope toward U. S. Highway 101 about five miles from here.

Engineers reported its advance at the rate of better than a foot an hour and said it was about a half a mile from the thoroughfare.

The spectacle attracted hundreds of sightseers.

"No smoking" signs were placed to forestall possibility of an explosion in event the movement might uncover a pocket of natural gas.

The slide started Monday after rains had soaked into the hill formation. It broke loose from the 1,130-foot level about 2 1/4 miles from the highway.

In their countries the prisons are full of people—thousands—who happened to say they didn't approve of the way things were going. I was glad to get back this time."

Pampa housewives, given to muttering under their breath when things don't go just right, had their muttering during Saturday's severe dust storm—in fact, some of them muttered tight cut loud.

That was because, if there was a crack in the house the dust got in, ran all over the place and then parked on the living room mantle or atop the ice-box out in the kitchen.

A survey Saturday night showed that in at least 2,960 Pampa homes at sometime or another during the day there was at least half an inch

Compromise May End Threat Of Slav Secession

PRAGUE, March 11 (AP)—An entirely new Slovak cabinet was formed late tonight by Czech and Slovak negotiators acting hurriedly in apprehension over possible foreign intervention in their domestic crisis.

The cabinet was formed under the leadership of Karel Sidor, vice premier of the central government and Slovak representative in Prague, to eliminate the influence of Slovak separatists.

Not a single member of the deposed government of Dr. Joseph Tiso was included in the new lineup. Premier Tiso's dismissal yesterday by President Emil Hacha of the central government precipitated a crisis which many had feared would result in foreign intervention in Czechoslovakia for the second time in six months.

The federal government showed concern over German radio broadcast reports of Czech troop movements along Germany's border. The government sent an official communication to Berlin denying there had been any troop movements whatsoever.

Stalin Hints Of Friendship With Germany

(By The Associated Press)

Czecho-Slovakia's central government and autonomous Slovakia strove yesterday (Saturday) to end quickly their family quarrel amidst reports of possible foreign intervention.

While this action was taken by Czech and Slovak negotiators in Prague, 8,000 persons attended a German party demonstration at Bratislava, Slovak capital, at which the main speaker attacked the Prague government.

The Bratislava meeting, called originally to celebrate the first anniversary of German annexation of Austria, was held in a tense atmosphere to the echo of bomb explosions in a vacant lot several blocks away. Several hundred men were given rifles at the German party headquarters as police watched idly.

The Czecho-Slovak crisis appeared to have hastened the decision of Germany to press her aims for domination of the Balkans after a brief period of indecision.

Moscow Softens

To Czecho-Slovakia's east, speculation arose in Moscow of a possible burying of the hatchet between Germany and Soviet Russia in the wake of Joseph Stalin's condemnation of what he said were efforts to embroil the two nations in war.

The Soviet chieftain said Russia did not intend to let herself be drawn into a conflict to pull other nations' chestnuts out of the fire. This and his suggestion that Britain and France used Czecho-Slovakia as bait to lure Adolf Hitler toward the Ukraine were interpreted in some Moscow quarters as a direct bid for friendlier Russian-German relations.

In London new talks between British officials and Jewish delegates left the Palestine peace conference still deadlocked over Britain's plan to make the holy land an independent Arab state. The talks, started unexpectedly Friday at the request of colonial secretary Malcolm MacDonald were to be continued Sunday, raising hopes of a last minute compromise.

HERE'S HOW

of sand and dust in the bathtub which caused at least 2,958 housewives to say "damn," or something.

Wait Till It's Over.

In approximately the same number of homes the housewives or the maids began dusting off the furniture around 2 p. m., going from room to room and by the time they returned to the first room they couldn't see where they had accomplished a blamed thing.

Based on the same mathematical hypothesis, at least 762 housewives left a window open some place in the house and didn't discover it until around 5 p. m. Saturday at which time 762 sand dunes had piled up beneath 762 windows on the inside of the houses, causing 762 housewives, and/or 762 maids to say "damn" plus.

It was a rough day on housekeepers, especially those who are selfish about keeping the place tidy. A full-grown dust storm has absolutely no respect for a housewife who mutters under her breath because dust particles are dancing gaily through the house.

Wires of the carbon black, oil and gas industries.

The Cabot company will present its motion picture for the first time at the meeting. The picture was taken in plants in the Panhandle and shows the manufacture of the black. Persons who have wondered how carbon black is made but who have never been through a plant will be especially interested in the picture.

The bureau says to leave both the front and back doors open. This will create a draft through the house, blow the dust in the front door and right on through the house and out the back door.

As soon as the dust gets out the back door, you run quickly and close the door, lock it securely and then turn your nose at the dust when it tries to get back in. Let it stay out there in the back yard. What do you care?

Clark presented the act at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago last fall and he has been invited to Houston for the Texas High School Coaches association meeting this year. Clark will present his mystery rope trick that won the national award at a meeting of magicians two years ago. He will bring lighted cigarettes from nowhere and will present the famous cocktail shaker mystery.

that would call for a 2 per cent retail sales tax on everything but cigarettes, gasoline, farm necessities, etc. It would do away with many other taxes including the school ad valorem tax of 35 cents, the 7-cent confederate pensions tax, etc.

The amendment would also provide that no city or county could institute a sales tax.

"This one tax, which would be a burden to no one, would care for our schools, our aged and other agencies now supported by several taxes," Senator Small declared.

"The best session of all" were the words used by Senator Small about the present meeting of the legislature. He declared it was enlightening and that more bills than ever before are being presented" most of which will not pass, I hope," said the senator.

Wider Well Spacing

Wider well spacing in the Panhandle was advocated by Don Knowlton of Bartlesville, production superintendent of the Phillips Petroleum company, while the negative side of the question was taken by H. E. Schwartz, Pampa independent geologist.

In favoring the wider spacing Knowlton said that under present drilling and proration conditions it required seven years to pay off a well and that with the Saturday and Sunday shutdowns abolished it would require six years for a return on investment. Wider spacing, on 20-acre tracts, would curtail drilling but would increase producing, thereby giving the producer and property owner more money.

The speaker lauded Col. Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad commission for his untiring efforts on behalf of the oilmen of Texas.

Dunigan Gives Report

Declaring that geologists have agreed that Panhandle oil formations are "tight," H. E. Schwartz favored closer drilling of wells. He told about new wells being drilled as offsets to wells that have produced in excess of 100,000 barrels with the new wells producing as much as the old wells when they were first completed.

The value of organization was discussed by Charles Van Vleck of Tulsa, Okla., director of the Independent Petroleum association. He discussed the former wide open methods in the Illinois field and said that legislation was being sought whereby Illinois would have orderly development, profitable taking and conservation.

In his report on activities of the association during the last year, President Dunigan said that service to members and cooperation with those working for the good of the Panhandle field had been his aim. He pointed with pride to increases in allowable secured during the year, service to purchasing agencies, cooperation with the Texas Railroad commission, tax boards and equalizing boards.

Three Resolutions

Your association has been successful in having county tax rates lowered from 2 to 10 per cent in some counties," he said.

Three resolutions were passed, as follows:

1—against the federal government controlling production of oil and mandating the Texas Railroad commission on its oil proration.

2—urging passage of laws for the profitable taking of gas and prevention of underground drainage.

3—that the association incorporate under the laws of the State of Texas as a non-profitable organization.

At the close of the business session Mr. Dunigan was presented with a traveling bag in appreciation for his untiring work. He has been president of the association for five years or since its organization.

AMARILLO, March 11 (AP)—The Panhandle Producers and Royalty association in annual meeting here today passed resolutions opposing federal control of oil, calling for continued proration and asking laws to "insure equitable withdrawal of gas in the Panhandle fields."

Speakers included Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad Commission and chairman of the oil states compact, Harold B. Pell, official of the Independent Petroleum association of America, and State Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo.

Man Collapses At Filling Station

Frank Hayden, 53, was taken to Worley hospital in an ambulance last night after he had dropped unconscious in front of a filling station in the 300 block on West Foster street, directly across from the Pampa News building. He suffered a bump on his head and bruises on his face.

He stated that he had been struck by a car, but his attending physician said he was unable to corroborate this statement.

Before he started to cross the street, he had been in the filling station, according to one of the station employees, and had left the station and had fallen between two parked cars at the curb, it was believed.

Shackelford Oil Field Extended

ABILENE, March 11 (AP)—Extension of the Shackelford county Ivy field of a quarter of a mile northwest by a well which observers said was one of the largest completed in the Palo Pinto producing areas of Jones and Shackelford counties was reported here tonight.

The well, Owens-Snehold Oil Corporation of Fort Worth and Associates No. 1 J. S. McKeever, began flowing at a rate estimated at 6,000 barrels daily tonight when it was drilled two feet into soft, porous lime at 3,136-37 feet. An estimated 9,000,000 cubic feet of gas accompanied the flow, shooting off more than 150 feet across slush pits.

New Mexico Ports Of Entry Abolished

SANTA FE, N. M., March 11 (AP)—The 14th New Mexico legislature adjourned tonight, only a few hours over its legal 60-day limit. The Senate adjourned at 8:40 p. m. (CST) to join the House, which had quit at 6:35.

The last obstacle was cleared when the upper chamber concurred in the major appropriation bill, containing $5,900,000 for the next biennium. Earlier, the Senate had completed legislative action on a controversial merit system bill and a proposed constitutional amendment, to be voted on in 1940, for a split legislative session.

"There were last minute hurries in each chamber. In the House, Rep. Sylvester Lorenzo called Speaker George Armijo the "Hitler" of the House when Armijo refused to give him the floor.

The assembly passed many laws relating to the daily lives of the state's citizens. These included a voter's permanent registration law, a registration station law replacing the old ports of entry, a "use" tax of two per cent on all purchases made out-of-state, and a tax on all instruments filed with county clerks.

Labor's program fared poorly and one of the bills killed would have created a "little Wagner act" for New Mexico. A bill to regulate public utilities and their rates was another important measure defeated, as well as another reducing divorce residence requirements.

The legislature approved Sunday sale of liquor, after local option elections, but a bill licensing pin ball and marble games, slot machines and vending machines died in the Senate.

Jonsson's secretary said, "Queen Marla was most charming. I thought, 'She is very much interested in the peasant.'" Miss Jonsson said she appeared three times in concerts at Belgrade, opening with a concert in the Kolarcheva University hall. She played 18th century music as well as modern Russian and American works. The hit of the evening was undoubtedly Ernest Schelling's "Nocture (Ragusa)" which the Yugoslavs obviously liked and which all the press praised, according to newspaper clippings.

Miss Jonsson "made the front page" of the Bucharest newspaper which published her picture. The newspaper stated that the audience kept shouting "Bravo!" until she played a half hour of encores after the concert.

Music With Peasants

"During the summer I had a most interesting time continuing my research of Balkan music," Miss Jonsson said, "especially in South Serbia where I made the first colored motion pictures ever to be made of peasant musicians and their unique events associated with the musical life of the peasant. By horseback I climbed mountains into villages where there was no road and where I was the first tourist ever to visit the town. In these villages where there is no connection with the outside world and where there are no distractions, everybody sings and plays naturally, without knowing one note from another. I heard dance rhythms handed straight down from the ages, and melodies of the Middle Ages."

Miss Jonsson said she has shown these films at young people's concerts of Balkan music which she has been giving in America.

Cheered By Serbs

While in Belgrade she gave a Mozart concert for young people. The newspaper clipping described the hall as "crowded with young Serbs and several hundred children were standing. Whenever Mozart's picture appeared on the screen they sang and danced to the music. Miss Jonsson had to repeat everything she played."

Miss Jonsson played as a soloist with the orchestra on all-Mozart festival concert in Bucharest.

The birthday dinner will be one of similar observances being held over the nation by Legion posts in commemoration of the 20th anniversary of the founding of the American Legion.

It was on March 15, 1919, that 1,000 men and officers of the A. E. F. gathered in the Cirque de Paris, in Paris, France, to form an American all-inclusive organization composed of World War veterans. Out of it came the American Legion.

Plaques identifying the sites of the St. Louis caucus of May 1919, and the first national headquarters of the American Legion have already been erected. These plaques were dedicated to the occasion with preparations for the St. Louis 1935 and the New York 1937 conventions.

H. L. Plummer, assistant national adjutant, in charge of membership, predicts that the 1939 quota of 901,173 will be surpassed during the birthday celebration.

Chief Has To Pay Fine For Friend

HOUSTON, March 11 (AP)—Police Chief L. C. Brown ordered all the cops to cough up fines for friends they had stood good for in municipal court if the friends had failed to appear for trial.

Imagine the chief's surprise when the court clerk called the chief's name as one of 22 officers who would have to pay up for a pal, who skipped when the chief released him on a misdemeanor charge.

The chief glanced ruefully at the order and said he would either pay the fine or produce the friend in court.

U. S. Slaps At Nazis-To Build Brazil Warships

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—A proposal that the United States build warships in navy yards for Brazil and other Latin-American nations—received the endorsement of the State Department today, giving rise to the general assumption it was an integral part of administration efforts to tighten hemisphere defenses.

Acting Secretary Sumner Welles said the State Department was heartily in favor of the general objectives of the proposal, put forward by Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.), of the Senate foreign relations committee.

While the navy was non-committal, informed diplomatic quarters understood naval officials had been consulted.

Pittman announced he would offer next week a measure to authorize all Latin-American nations to build warships in United States Navy yards "at the lowest competitive prices."

Brazil, Argentina and some other South American governments have had warcraft built in Italy, Germany and England where labor and material costs are lower than in this country.

In addition to the ship-building proposal, there were informed reports the administration might conclude with other South American countries economic understandings similar to that reached this week with Brazil.

Welles explained to his press conference that specific legislation would be required to permit navy yards, busy now with the billion-dollar fleet expansion program, to undertake work for foreign governments.

Welles commented that the United States rearmament program should take precedence over other considerations.

the din of artillery and machine-gun fire within the city.

Then, around 11 a. m. (5 a. m. C. S. T.), the fighting at the front died down.

Stunned to the city, the National defense troops used their field guns and fired the Communist party's provincial headquarters.

Its occupants were captured.

Routed Out Of Cities

An hour later the Loyal troops routed both men and women rebels from the cellars of the Communist central headquarters.

Other Communists, dislodged earlier from a stronghold in Plaza De La Independencia, fled to a nearby maternity hospital where they defied arrest.

The rebels were firing it hard to maintain contact with each other and food was getting low.

Captured Communists were quoted as telling Maija's officers:

"We were told (ousted Premier Juan Negrin would see that we won the war over Generalissimo Franco because Russia supported us but that Negrin is in a dungeon in Madrid by order of Casado (General Segismundo Casado, head of the national defense council until General Maija took over.)"

"So we said we were willing to come to free Negrin."

Most of those captured were young peasant soldiers.

Storm Described As Windmill Leveler

A wind mill leveler is a wind that blows down windmills. Such a wind is so high it naturally blows top soil. The sandstorms frequent on the plains before the days of the dusts were called windmill levelers when the wind was high enough to blow down windmills.

Another test for the wind was the trace chain method. One end of a chain made of iron links was anchored to a post. When the wind got high enough to lift the chain to a horizontal position and hold it there everybody knew the windmills were blown down.

The black dusts of a few years ago were truly dust storms. The velocity of just rolled in. It didn't need a wind at all. But some of the light rains. The storm today was a straight, driving wind. It lifted pure top soil—not velvety dust, but sand, clods and nearly everything else. And it leveled many windmills.

phone lines, putting the company's line out of service.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone company experienced trouble with lines between Pampa and Amarillo and between Pampa and Borger. Most of the trouble on the latter line was centered at Borger. At Kingsmill the roof of a building was blown through telephone lines. However, at 5:30 o'clock Saturday evening the trouble has been adjusted, according to L. H. Johnson, manager of the telephone company here.

Candles Used.

Residents of one camp were using candles as power lines went out. Five transformer fuses were blown out and high tension wires in downtown Pampa, driven together by the wind, caused electric lights to flick on and off, but no serious damage was done. Fuses were replaced and service was back to normal at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, according to J. H. Collins, manager of the Southwestern Public Service company.

Firemen answered a call at noon to 211 West Crawford street, where a highline had come in contact with a barn. Some feed was destroyed, but the property was in the fire was slight. Fire Chief Ben White said. The firemen answered the call promptly but the fire had been out when they arrived.

Dust that swept the Pampa area was a part of the storm that covered the entire Panhandle and portions of Oklahoma and New Mexico. Highpoint of the storm here was at noon. By 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon the wind had subsided and the worst of the storm was over.

Striking Mexican Teachers Win Raise

LAREDO, March 11 (AP)—One hundred twenty school teachers of Nuevo Laredo, Mex., who have been on strike for two months, accepted today a federal-state offer of a wage increase plus back pay due.

Rain Also Fell

The maximum temperature in Pampa Saturday was 62 degrees at 11 a. m., one hour before the dust storm approached its peak. From thence on the mercury began sliding back, and forecasters predicted that the mercury probably would drop to around 20 to 25 degrees above zero in the Pampa area during the night.

Shortly before 3:30 Saturday afternoon the dust was routed locally for about five minutes when a rain shower came into the picture. It cleared up for only a few minutes, however, and was followed immediately by another dust storm almost as dense as the one that had been raging all day.

Borger had its worst sandstorm in three years Saturday. Visibility in Borger was limited to 30 feet. At Amarillo the wind averaged 42 miles an hour, hitting 52 miles an hour in gusts and kicking up a light fog of dust. Weatherman H. T. Coleman said Amarillo's balmy spring weather of the last few days would be supplanted by sub-freezing temperatures.

WIND

The South Plains the street lights were turned on at noon.

The Hale Center storm was described as the worst for the section since 1935. Small buildings and windmills were wrecked in that section and farmers feared damage to fields of young wheat would be heavy.

Some observers said the winds were as strong as in 1934 and 1935, at the height of the drought.

Dust struck Plainview before noon Saturday, increasing in intensity as the afternoon wore on. Motorists were forced to turn on lights as dust reached Electra and visibility dropped to one hundred feet. Visibility at Plainview at times was less than a block.

Freshing Predicted

A 40-mile-an-hour wind brought dust to Wichita Falls and visibility was reduced to an eighth mile. Cooler temperatures began to dispel dust clouds which swept across the high plains of New Mexico to Clovis, Big Spring, Tex., Olney, and Fort Worth, reported dust and sand, light only at the latter point.

A blow averaging 42 miles an hour at Amarillo, and hitting 53 miles an hour in gusts, kicked up a light fog of dust. Weatherman H. T. Coleman of Amarillo said spring weather of the last few days would be supplanted by sub-freezing tonight.

San Antonio reported some dust haze but no clouds, and a temperature in the eighties predicted for Sunday, but the advent of a north-easter expected to drive the reading down to 58.

The first real dust storm of the year struck Oklahoma Saturday, driven by a gusty wind reaching velocities as high as 44 miles an hour. The storm struck Northeastern Oklahoma and gradually spread south and east during the day. Visibility at Oklahoma City was cut to a half mile.

RKO Films, Including Gunga Din, To Be Shown By Crown

Announcement of a contract with RKO Radio Pictures, Inc. whereby the Crown Theater in Pampa will exhibit the films of this company here was made today by the Crown Theater management.

Some of the salient productions of RKO Radio the crown will be showing soon are "The Mad Miss Manton," featuring Barbara Stanwyck, "Room Service" starring the Marx Brothers, "Streets of New York," with Jackie Cooper, and "Gunga Din," in which the principals are Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Sam Jaffe, and Joan Fontaine.

First of the pictures to be shown here will be "The Mad Miss Manton," on March 26. "Gunga Din," based on Kipling's well-known poem, brings to the screen the atmosphere of several of his other ballads. It is a stirring story of battle and adventure. Scenery, acting, and direction leave nothing to be desired in a melodramatic version of a past period. "Gunga Din" is tentatively booked here for April 23.

The Crown Theater has secured exclusive rights in Pampa for exhibiting the animated cartoons of Walt Disney, who produced "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," a picture that made film history. "Snow White" ran for one week at the Crown here, longest run of any picture in Pampa.

Unions Battle In Strawberry War

PONCHAOTOLA, La., March 11 (AP)—Two rival farmer unions loaded strawberries today in separate refrigerated railroad cars a stormy struggle as several thousand farmers milled about the depot.

There was an atmosphere of tenseness, but a week's rumors that the first carload movement of the 1939 Louisiana berry crop might be shipped amid violence were not borne out.

Members of the Louisiana Farmers Protective Association rallied around a sound truck to hear music and speeches made by James H. Morrison, organizer of the union and an unsuccessful candidate for Congress last fall.

Morrison charged that under the existing marketing system there has been a conspiracy for years to prevent the berry growers from making profits.

Morrison cautioned against violence, but at his suggestion sympathizers of his group picketed the refrigerator car of the Growers and Shippers' Cooperative Union with placards bearing such legends as "Ship union this is a scab" and "This is a scab car." There was net attempt to prevent the loading of berries.

Members of the association led by Morrison stopped berry trucks as they came to town today and asked the drivers to unload at the Protective Union's refrigerator car.

The growers and shippers cooperative is headed by Marion T. Fannaly, long one of the berry belt's leading shippers.

AUSTIN, March 11 (AP)—Construction of one mile of highway costs more than $6,500 and maintenance of that mile nearly $400 a year, State Auditor Tom C. King reported today in an audit of the state highway department's books covering five years ending last Aug. 31.

King said for the two years ending Aug. 31, 1938, the department constructed 8,842 miles of highway at an average cost of $6,527 a mile which figure did not include bridges or grade crossings.

"The state was maintaining 21,466 miles of state highway on that date as compared with 19,913 on Aug. 31, 1934," King said. "The average cost of maintenance for the 1938 year was $390 a mile."

The audit showed department revenues for the year ending Aug. 31, 1938, were $40,151,815 as compared with $45,756,390 for the 1937 year and $48,008,542 for the 1936 year.

The decline was attributed to a decrease in federal funds from $22,229,449 for the 1936 year to $11,796,669 for the year ending Aug. 31, 1938.

King said income from the two cents a gallon gasoline tax increased annually over the years the audit covered. The other two cents tax goes to the school fund and to the retirement of road bonds.

Matador Rider Now Has 50-Mile Lead

SAN SIMON, Ariz., March 11 (AP)—Shannon Davidson, 22-year-old Matador, Tex. pace-setter in the pony express race from Nocona, Tex., to the San Francisco World's Fair, crossed the New Mexico-Arizona border here this afternoon well in advance of his rivals.

The State Highway Department said at 5:20 p. m. (CST) that Davidson passed through at one o'clock and that none of the others had arrived.

San Simon is 40 miles from Wilcox, night stop for the pony express riders.

LORDBURG, N. M., March 11 (AP)—Chris Esselton of Nocona, Tex., to the San Francisco World's Fair, left a short time later, at 4:55 p. m. (CST), in a drive to El Paso, near the 50-mile lead now held by Shannon Davidson in the pony express race to the coast.

Both Esselton's horses appeared in fine condition. Davidson, who covered 91 miles yesterday, left at 5 o'clock this morning for Arizona.

The remaining riders were scattered over a wide expanse of southwestern New Mexico's sparsely settled open spaces.

A short distance behind Esselton were King Kerley, Slim Mathis and Lige Reed, all Texans.

FDR Program Being Passed Without Hitch

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Two months and more of congress and the continuing battle between President Roosevelt and members of his own party have demonstrated that the chief executive, despite the setback of last fall's elections, is still a powerful antagonist.

His defense program is sliding through with scarcely a hitch, although accompanied by vigorous criticism of his foreign policy. A bill giving him power to reorganize the executive branch of the government has been passed by the house. His major nominations, some of them disputed, have received confirmation by heavy senate majorities.

On the other side of the scale, the chief executive was soundly rebuffed by the senate for not consulting Senators Glass and Byrd of Virginia on the appointment of a federal judge in that state. Economy advocates won the first round of a still unfinished bout over the amount to be appropriated for relief. And the nomination of Thomas R. Amle to the interstate commerce commission, after the appointment of a federal judge in that state. Economy advocates won the first round of a still unfinished bout over the amount to be appropriated for relief. And the nomination of Thomas R. Amle to the interstate commerce commission, after the appointment of a federal judge in that state.

At the moment, Mr. Roosevelt is simultaneously endeavoring to encourage the expansion of business by plans for business legislation at this session and preparing to renew his fight with the economy bloc over the size of the relief appropriation. Asks For More.

Early in the session he asked congress for $875,000,000 to keep WPA numbers from February to July. It responded with an appropriation of $725,000,000 and an invitation to

Mr. Roosevelt to ask for more should that sum prove inadequate. The re-duction was approved in the senate by a single vote. Promptly, the President asked congress for the $150,000,000 that was lopped off. He plans to send another communication to the capitol Monday on the same subject.

Linked with the controversy over the Roosevelt foreign policy is the neutrality act and an impending fight over amendments to it. Mr. Roosevelt said that in his opinion the law had made no contribution to peace, and might, in fact, have encouraged threats of war.

The senate's neutrality bloc immediately began talking of resisting a repeal effort with, if necessary, a filibuster.

The reorganization bill passed by the house is but a pale reminder of the measure which was rejected last session. The bill permits the President to consolidate or abolish government agencies, with some specific exemptions. His reorganization orders are to become effective unless disapproved by both branches of congress within 60 days.

Militarization Of The CCC Bobs Up Again

Repeatedly squelched in the past, the proposal to include military training in the CCC regime has bobbed up again.

Though no responsible military authority has asked or even endorsed the plan, it continues to be advanced.

Congress can not too definitely reject this proposal, once and for all.

It is bad in theory. It is bad in practice.

First, the theory. Not even the most rabid backers of increased armament have as yet suggested universal military service for the United States. Yet it is proposed to subject to military training a single class of young men—those who have not been able to find a place in industrial life.

This is undemocratic. If military training is to be established on anything like a universal basis, then let all youths be subject to it. Even the totalitarian states do this, and at its worst, their military program has the merit of taking everybody without distinction. The draft of World War days at least had the merit of taking everybody.

But this proposal would train as soldiers a particular segment of the country's youth, leaving those in more fortunate circumstances untouched.

To advance any such program in a democratic country, whose foundation is in the equal treatment of all regardless of their circumstances, is a grave mistake.

Second, the practical side. The value of any such training, with six hours a week of military training sandwiched in with the regular week's work, is highly doubtful.

The CCC is a work program. It is and is meant to be a civilian program, as indicated plainly by its name, "Civilian Conservation Corps." The aim is to furnish productive work to young men who have not been able to find a place in regular jobs, meanwhile teaching them as much as possible to qualify them for regular jobs when they get out.

Military training doesn't fit into his picture at all. It would merely disrupt the work without providing military training of any value whatever.

The CCC has done a fine job, as almost everybody admits. To mix it all up (at great expense) with military training, would ruin its record as a work organization, provide no worth-while military resources to the nation, and flout the basic democratic principle that if a young man owes military service to his country, all owe it.

HINES THE NEW DEALER (Chicago Tribune)

Of itself, the conviction of James J. Hines, the Tammany boss, would not have merited all the attention it has received throughout the country. Everybody old enough to know anything expects Tammany politicians to be crooked. Accordingly, the news that a Tammany man has been found guilty of corruption cannot excite much astonishment. It tells nothing about Tammany which is not already widely understood.

The Hines trial attracted wide attention to some extent because Mr. Dewey conducted it, but more especially because of Boss Hines' long and intimate association with Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal.

The delegation from New York at the Chicago convention of 1932 was opposed to Mr. Roosevelt. Hines was for him. Mr. Roosevelt found it easy to work with Hines. Hines and Mr. Roosevelt's law partner, Basil O'Connor, played golf together while the New York delegates were vainly trying to prevent Mr. Roosevelt's nomination. Hines and Jim Farley were also congenial. They understood each other perfectly and Mr. Roosevelt understood both of them perfectly.

By 1934 Hines had become the representative of the New Deal in New York politics. The patronage was his to dispense. He was a crook at the time; everybody knew it, and nobody knew it better than did Mr. Roosevelt, but the alliance was made and it has never been broken.

Hines was indicted and came to trial for the first time before Judge Ferdinand Pecora, another of Mr. Roosevelt's favorites. If there ever had been any doubt about the kind of a man Hines was, the evidence produced at that trial was more than sufficient to resolve it. Hines was proved to have been the ally of racketeers and criminals who took his fat share of the profits in exchange for his services in keeping the police and the courts from doing their sworn duty.

The case against Hines was being built up in a fashion to leave no loophole. At this juncture Hines was suddenly rescued from the conviction which plainly awaited him. Judge Pecora declared a mistrial. A question asked by Mr. Dewey on cross-examination, so the judge ruled, had hopelessly prejudiced the case. Numerous students of law have since commented upon the criminal, but retained jurisdiction over two of the state's principal witnesses who had pleaded guilty. They were told they would be sentenced by Judge Pecora after the Hines case was retried. The effect of that pronouncement upon their attitude can readily be imagined. In short, the circumstances surrounding the first trial were so suspicious as to be damning.

PRODUCER OR CONSUMER PAYS TAXES? A contributor contends that it is the producer, in every case, who pays the taxes and not the consumer. But every consumer must, of necessity, be a producer, or a thief, or a recipient of gifts from some other producer or thief. So it makes little difference if we say it is the producer or consumer who pays the tax, because if the government makes justice cheap, they are most generally the same person.

The same contributor seems to think the men who use their judgment, or the entrepreneurs, do not produce wealth and do not pay the income tax but the ordinary workers pay the income tax. He also seems to try to leave the impression with the average reader that the man who abstains from using wealth and furnishes tools to another is not a factor in producing wealth and is not the real income taxpayer; that those who do manage or furnish tools and receive a large income therefrom are not paying income taxes; that the income tax is paid by the manual workers; that they are the only producers.

If this be true, then why do not these laborers, whom the contributor seems to want to make believe produce all wealth, go ahead and produce the wealth and get it instead of using the enterpriser and capital, if they are not a factor in production?

It is true that the ordinary worker might be regarded as paying the tax because he is obliged to do without an amount much greater than the direct income taxpayer pays. This is because of the higher prices the worker has to pay for goods and the lowered demand for his labor, because of the reduced competition of capital for his labor and his dollars.

I repeat what I have said before and challenge anyone to controvert the statement: Cost of Tax The real cost of taxation is ascertained by adding to the taxes themselves whatever additional effort is required to produce ideas, things and services as the result of a curtailment of production resulting from the taxation itself. A tax system is only right or perfect when it reduces to the minimum over a long period of years the aggregate amount of human energy required to procure things, ideas and services. Cost of any extra expenditure of human energy, resulting from retarded production—retarded when capital instead of non-productive wealth is taxed—must be added to both the direct and indirect taxes to obtain the sum total of the actual cost of the tax.

In this way, only the worker pays the tax. In fact, it might be said, it is paid by both the consumer and the producer because the income tax so greatly reduces production. Leo the Lion is best remembered of all because it's an animate trademark, with sound. More than 20 years ago, when Samuel Goldfish resigned as chairman of the Paramount board of directors and organized Goldwyn Pictures Corp., he wanted a non-discriminatory trademark. A young advertising man just out of Columbia university suggested a lion. It was adopted, and it survived subsequent mergers with Metropolitan and the interests of Louis B. Mayer. Goldwyn now has no connection with the company, but the lion remains; also the Latin inscription, "Ars Gratia Artis," which in practical translation means "Art for art's sake."

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 11—If running the manifold affairs of WPA get Col. Francis H. Harrington down, it won't be the colonel's fault. He believes in putting a job in its place.

Most Washington office-holders tell you that they are on practically 24-hour duty—take work home at night, come down Sundays, live for their work, never have a chance to exercise or relax. But not the WPA administrator.

Col. Harrington figures that if a man has to work overtime day in and day out it's probably the man's fault rather than the job's. He recalls that when he first came to WPA as assistant administrator in the fall of 1935 he had to work 14 or 15 hours a day.

At the time, Mrs. Harrington once remarked to Mrs. Harry Hopkins that WPA ought to be called HWA—Home-Wrecking Administration. But the colonel soon got his job tamed so that it only called for normal office hours.

Works Some Holidays Nowadays he gets down to work about 9:30 in the morning and goes home around 6 or 6:30 in the evening. He steals a march on the job by coming down on holidays, now and then, and getting in three or four hours of concentrated work. Then, he explains, "these telephones leave me alone."

He figures he will presently have things systematized so that he can move quitting time up a bit. But he'll never belong to the two-hours-for-lunch fraternity.

Following graduation from the U. S. Military Academy in 1908, Harrington entered the army engineer corps. He had charge of a construction crew during building of the Panama Canal and later oversaw maintenance there. When America entered the war, he gave up a mathematics teaching post at West Point to serve as instructor in officers' training camps. He is a graduate of several U. S. service schools and attended the Ecole Supérieure de Guerre in Paris. The colonel celebrated birthday 51 last fall.

He looks as fit as a youngster fresh out of West Point. He has a clear, pinkish complexion—his nickname, among his friends, is "Pinkie"—and neat grayish hair. He looks military, even in civilian clothes, but isn't the crisp, damn-you-my-man type at all. When you call on him he lolls far back in his chair with his feet up and smokes a cigaret.

Believes In His Job He likes his present job—says it's more work than the assignments he had in the army engineer corps, but more fun too. He is inclined to think that WPA or something like it will be with us for quite a while yet, although he hopes that as business picks up the WPA roll can be cut down to a million men shown by the whole country in the Hines trial was a natural one. The nation now realizes what kind of men have been governing it of recent years. The holier-than-thou attitude of the New Dealers has been disclosed in unmistakable fashion. There can no longer be any question about it: The New Deal is in open partnership with vice and crime. The New Deal not only countenances bribery and corruption; it indorses these practices and admits the practitioners to its inner councils.

As an army engineer, Col. Harrington has had plenty of experience with civilian workers on construction jobs in private industry. He says it isn't quite fair to ask him to compare those workers with the WPA crews. The private contractors pick the best men they can get, and the age level in their crews is substantially lower than in WPA. Those allowances made, he adds, the WPA crews can stand the comparison very well.

WHO'S GOT THE BALL?

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON. HOLLYWOOD, March 11.—Every motion picture released by a major company bears a trademark. However, these trademarks—although they are registered in Washington—do not register very strongly with the patrons, and it is one of the secret sorrows of the flicker factories that star names rank far ahead of company names.

Leo the Lion is best remembered of all because it's an animate trademark, with sound. More than 20 years ago, when Samuel Goldfish resigned as chairman of the Paramount board of directors and organized Goldwyn Pictures Corp., he wanted a non-discriminatory trademark. A young advertising man just out of Columbia university suggested a lion. It was adopted, and it survived subsequent mergers with Metropolitan and the interests of Louis B. Mayer. Goldwyn now has no connection with the company, but the lion remains; also the Latin inscription, "Ars Gratia Artis," which in practical translation means "Art for art's sake."

With the advent of sound, Leo began to growl. Fact is, there were several Leos. Every now and then somebody would glimpse a more imposing lion in a zoo, and he would be photographed for a new title strip. The official Leos thus became so numerous that M-G-M finally decided to squelch the confusion with a story that the real Leo was to be taken back to Africa and released in the jungle. Intended as an humanitarian gesture, the yarn brought protests from animal lovers who believed that a lion reared in captivity would soon starve or be slain in the wilds.

So Leo was supposed to be pensioned in a zoo for the rest of his days. Actually nobody remembers which lion it was that posed for the current Metro trademark. It's Got To Be Big. The Paramount trademark also came into existence in 1916, when Famous Players merged with the Jesse Lasky company. The brains of the concern handling the advertising account went into a huddle and decided that a rugged mountain peak was a logical symbol. Since the studio was famed for its stars, the mountain was crowned with a ring of stars.

It was away back in 1912 that the Universal name and trademark were originated. Carl Laemmle Sr. was forming his company and he wanted a really big, all-inclusive title. Pacing his office and pausing only to reject the suggestions of associates, he happened to glance out of the window. He stopped, snapped his fingers and said, "I got it—'Universal'!" The idea had come from the lettering on a horse-drawn truck which was passing the studio, a truck owned by the Universal Ice company.

The 20th Century-Fox trademark is the result of a merger between the old Fox Film Corp. and the new concern headed by Darryl F. Zanuck. One of his writers, Sam Engel, suggested the 20th Century part, and the skyscrapers and flashing lights were the idea of Producer William Goetz. It was designed, even at the beginning, so that the "Fox" portion can be dropped off at any time.

People You Know You would have thought Thursday and Friday that spring was following you, just behind you. If you would look back—so heavy was the air with a strange, warm breath. The stench of dead winter rose from the seething ground. You seemed to hear Earth stirring, and the springs of her bed squeaking as she turned over, and you would fancy she was rubbing her eyes and yawning after her long sleep. . . . So the Boys said it would be a good time to go where trees and animals are and find out whether spring was near. And so we went up to Hoover-Strader ranch south of Canadian, and up there winter was making his last stand (just like the duster yesterday was one of the last do-or-die blasts of winter). You could almost hear the sap singing in the cottonwood trees east of Miami. . . . The willow trees on the lake were just that shade of red that tells you they are blushing with surging sap. They are building dams night and day with a caterpillar tractor at the ranch—so confident are they that spring will bring rain as usual. . . . A few weeks ago they found a lamb wandering and bailing along the highway (they figured it fell out of a truck), and now the lamb follows Lee Strader everywhere he goes. . . . There was a raft down at New Orleans, Jimmy and Billy Willy fished leisurely for cat fish. . . . The next day the sand was blowing, but we went to Canadian to see Ferman Williams' palaminos and he was sick in bed, but there was a nice lady out in the yard digging up flower beds. . . . Yes, it was poet Swinburne who wrote, "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

How's Your Health? Health authorities are convinced that the pasteurization process is without doubt the most important single factor from the point of view of public health in the control of milk and milk products. Doctors, public health workers, and sanitarians alike are agreed on the necessity for pasteurization for the control of disease capable of being transmitted by milk. The most recently available figures show that in all cities with a population over 10,000 about 88 per cent of the milk supply used is now pasteurized. However, some people still oppose the pasteurization of milk, believing that raw milk possesses advantages which pasteurized milk does not have. A committee of the American Public Health association has recently made a special report on this subject. Experiments made on animals invariably show that there is no significant difference in the food value between raw milk and pasteurized milk. Experiments with children confirm the observations made on the lower animals. Out of some 2,500 school children studied, both in this country and in Scotland, those who were fed with pasteurized milk did just as well as those who were fed with raw milk. The main contentions have concerned the vitamins. Apparently the pasteurization process does not lower the content of vitamin A and vitamin D. It may affect, somewhat the various portions of vitamin B and vitamin C, yet these vitamins are plentiful from other sources. In any event the vitamin C content of milk is low and it is customary to add orange juice to the diet in order to provide the extra vitamin C that is needed. Some have argued that pasteurization interferes with the digestibility of calcium in milk, yet the total amount of calcium supplied by milk is so large that a slight reduction would not have much significance. With the improvement in apparatus for pasteurization, it is now possible for boards of health to make certain that products said to be pasteurized have actually gone through an efficient process and are safe.

Book A Day Having written profusely about the Revolution and the Civil War the historical novelists are turning now to the War of 1812. At least that is what Ben Ames Williams does in the "Thread of Scarlet" (Houghton Mifflin; $2.50). The result is a wholly refreshing book, as full of action as the romances of the New England shore. Perhaps this is so because Williams has practically grown up with the roar of breakers in his ears and the tang of salt spray on his face. But in any event he chose a vivid bit of history for this particular book, the plight of Nantucket during the war. That plight was indeed, of course, by the British blockade of the seagoing Quaker town. When the war opened, Nantucket was a thriving port. Its ships circled the world. Some 20 months later there was scarcely enough food to go around, and jobless men combed the beaches. So in time the town was split, on the issue of neutrality. Flatly against surrender was young David Swain, whom the British had impressed as a sailor earlier in the war. The town decided finally, but David got in his good licks nevertheless in one of the most exciting sea fights in all of American history. It happened when the British tried to capture an American privateer's man. The fight, incidentally, taught David something about love, for Williams has tied his novel together with a very pretty romance, the story of a girl who wore a thread of scarlet in her sober gray bonnet. All in all, you will find it one of the really moving, substantial historical novels of the year.—P. G. F.

NO TELLING WHAT the weather will be when this gets into print, but the past couple of days caused this department to be inoculated with Spring fever or something. When the mercury in your thermometer tube gets to bobbing around between 65 and 75 degrees a young man's fancy not only turns to thoughts of love, but it turns to thoughts of fish flapping their fins lazily in green waters.

Take Homer Lively, for instance, the Spring fever got him so he peddled up that he began inquiring around to learn when the fishing season opens and closes. . . . Joe Gordon, the county attorney, is completely knuts about getting himself some kind of a sail-boat to skim across waters of McCallan Lake this summer's-end. . . . There is no grander water sport than sailing, unless it is aquaplaning, which is definitely a young fellows' dish.

SOMEBODY SAID, if you can remember when farmers and ranchers used to make their own soap—you look younger with your hat on. . . . Well, that's not exactly true now, for instance. . . . Out at the farm of J. E. Moore just east of White Deer only a couple of days ago, Mrs. Moore was supervising the making of soap—that kind that won't necessarily add anything to your schoolgirl complexion, but it will remove the dirt which, after all, is the first thing soap is supposed to do.

The kind of soap Mrs. Moore was making in a great iron kettle is the kind that farm folk make at hog-butcher time. . . . Just in case some of you dude ranchers are interested—to make this soap you put lye and meat cracklings into a kettle of water and allow it to boil until the lye has "eaten up" the cracklings. . . . Then you strain it, dissolve more lye in cold water and stir it to a finish. . . . Simple isn't it?

DR. JOHN M. HOOPEER, the state health supervisor in Dist. No. 1, with headquarters at Floydada, is a former Pampa man. . . . When in town to deliver a noonday address Friday he renewed old acquaintanceships. . . . Howard Buckingham, the gas and oil man, "hates" whipped cream and shaved ice, and is disinclined when it comes his way with desert. . . . The Emory (Insurance Man) Crocketts have a three-year-old son whose hair stands straight up despite curly locks owned by both his mammy and pappy.

A wave of business optimism is sweeping Pampa and this section of the Panhandle. . . . Pampa business men Saturday reported that there had been a noticeable pick-up in business over the weekend, and no doubt the very good news that the Saturday and Sunday oilfield shutdowns likely both will have been lifted by May 1. . . . More and more men are going back to work in the fields, they report. . . . If all it takes—a little encouragement. . . . The loosening up will take care of itself. . . . Things never are as bad as painted.

RAY MONDAY, the radio voice, is ailing at his home, laid low by a severe attack of the flu. . . . Incidentally, you'll soon be hearing new dramatic personages over KPND when shows written and produced by Gene Moser, recent addition to the local radio staff from WLW, Cincinnati, takes the air under the banner of KPND's Little Theater of the Air. . . . Moser plans to make the Little Theater a regular weekly feature on the local airwaves.

With the springlike weather of the past few days, bicycle addicts are beginning to pedal their stuff. . . . Among the town's ardent feminine cyclists are Mrs. Chester Thompson, Mrs. C. E. High, and Mrs. D. Gleazer. . . . Topping the male list of bicyclists is the spry John Ketter. . . . Other signs of spring and summer are roller skates, marbles, fishing tackle displays, and Sid Patterson's pipe.

Book A Day Having written profusely about the Revolution and the Civil War the historical novelists are turning now to the War of 1812. At least that is what Ben Ames Williams does in the "Thread of Scarlet" (Houghton Mifflin; $2.50). The result is a wholly refreshing book, as full of action as the romances of the New England shore. Perhaps this is so because Williams has practically grown up with the roar of breakers in his ears and the tang of salt spray on his face. But in any event he chose a vivid bit of history for this particular book, the plight of Nantucket during the war. That plight was indeed, of course, by the British blockade of the seagoing Quaker town. When the war opened, Nantucket was a thriving port. Its ships circled the world. Some 20 months later there was scarcely enough food to go around, and jobless men combed the beaches. So in time the town was split, on the issue of neutrality. Flatly against surrender was young David Swain, whom the British had impressed as a sailor earlier in the war. The town decided finally, but David got in his good licks nevertheless in one of the most exciting sea fights in all of American history. It happened when the British tried to capture an American privateer's man. The fight, incidentally, taught David something about love, for Williams has tied his novel together with a very pretty romance, the story of a girl who wore a thread of scarlet in her sober gray bonnet. All in all, you will find it one of the really moving, substantial historical novels of the year.—P. G. F.

Fellow Citizens: In Mr. Holles' column of recent date he stated "Democracy really means that the government does things with the consent of all the people." That surely refers to the acts of government in functioning, as is shown also in the context; and that is what I take exception to. Democratic government must act through majorities. If every act of our government required the consent of all the people there could be only chaos ending in dictatorship. I did not say we would have very little government. I said we would have exactly none.

In the article on "Democracy and Majority Rule" Mr. Holles says that "real democracy means government with the consent of the governed," which is also fallacious. Italy and Germany have government with the consent of the governed. Does Mr. Holles contend they have real democracy? I contend they have not.

In his definition of democracy, Mr. Holles omits the most essential part—that it is government by the people as well as for the people, and as a matter of course, by their consent. The people not only consent to be governed, they, themselves, govern through their representatives who perform the functions of government under the Constitution. The representatives are elected, laws enacted, and many other things done through majorities, which is the only possible way in a democracy. In a totalitarian state the people need only consent. They have no other real voice in their government. And they must all consent to whatever their government sees fit to do, which seems to be the all-important point with Mr. Holles. Is it suggesting that our government be changed to some such pattern?

Certainly any sane person not an anarchist wants some kind of government to protect his own life, property, liberty and peace however he may object to some of its acts in doing the protecting, or however regardless he may be of the protection of the other fellow; and the more protection he wants the more government is necessary. But Mr. Holles says "the government is our worst enemy." What a position we are in when we must depend for protection on our worst enemy!

If Mr. Holles will reflect calmly, he surely must agree that our government is the best friend we have, to be honored and cherished above all else. In plan and theory it is probably as perfect as the present state of mankind will permit. If its administration is often faulty, it is because of the imperfections in the citizens. How important it is, then, that we see clearly, think logically, and perform our duties as intelligently as possible, so that our government may be safeguarded and kept responsive to the will of the people. Dutch Mantell Will Referee Mat Classic

Women Will Be Admitted Free Monday

Dutch Mantell of Amarillo will referee the matches here Monday night, it was learned late today. If anyone can handle the tough Billy McEwin in his main event with Ernie Peterson, it is the well-known Dutchman.

Women wrestling fans will be treated to one of the best matches ever staged here Monday night—free. They will be admitted free if accompanied by one paid admission. Ringside reserved being 65 cents and 40 cents for general, while children under 12 will be admitted for 10 cents.

Unless done and records are cockeyed, wrestling fans of this section will see one of the old slap-bang type of matches famous years ago when they got to the Pampa athletic arena on Monday night. Hostilities will begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

When Alan Plummer and Frankie Hill step in the ring for the opening battle the fire works will be on. Plummer is a wild mauler and Hill has been gradually turning from a meek battler to a cyclone. In that match anything can happen.

Then will come the Mike Durano-John Nemanic semi-final. Durano, of Irish-Mexican descent, will be making his first Texas appearance in Pampa on Monday night. He speaks not a word of English but he knows all about wrestling. His home is in Mexico City. Nemanic is well known here as a rough, tricky mauler.

Then will come the main event between Tiger Billy McEwin, the Montana cowhand, and Ernie Peterson of San Francisco. And that's the natural of the evening. McEwin is a wild and woolly, rootin', tootin' mauler who is out to win regardless of the method.

Peterson is a good-looking, mild-mannered gent until aroused and then he turns into a human tornado. He forgets he is in the ring and gets his man anywhere. He finished a bout in Amarillo under the ring last Thursday night. Promoter Cliff Chambers is spending considerable extra money on the cards and he invites fans to see the best card in years.

Chico Favored To Win Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 11.—High winnings as a juvenile gave El Chico the spot of favorite over 114 other thoroughbreds nominated today for the 1939 Kentucky derby.

Colonel Matt J. Winn, president of Churchill Downs, made public the nominations for the sixty-fifth running of the $50,000 added American turf classic for three-year-olds at a mile and a quarter, to be run May 6.

The William Zeigler Jr. entry won all of seven starts to bring his owner $84,100, including the youthful stakes at Jamaica, the Dover stakes at Wilmington and the junior champion stakes at Aqueduct.

Other top-ranking money winners nominated were Challender, $67,700; Porter's Mite, $66,940; Johnstons, $31,420; Inscoldo, $30,950; No Competition, $18,640; Time Alone, $16,715; T. M. Dorsett, $15,080; Third Degree, $12,605, and Yale O'Nine, $10,750.

In addition, the nominees included Colonel Edward R. Bradley's Benefactor; John March's Lightspur, winner of the Labor Day handicap at Hawthorne; Joe E. Brown's Jockey club stakes champion T. M. Dorsett; Mrs. B. Franzheim's Xalapa Clown; Herbert Woolf's Technician, winner of the Flamingo stakes and Stablemate of Lawrin, winner of the Kentucky derby; A. A. Baroni's Touch and Go, and F. A. Carraud's Time Alone.

Colts, as usual, dominated the list with 92, there are 17 geldings and six fillies listed. The fillies have won but once—in 1915 when Regret came home.

Cleencia, winner of the Santa Fe Anita derby, is missing from the nominations list as are Volitant, Allegro and Eight-Thirty. All are considered of derby calibre.

Garrison Roach Quits Coaching At Shamrock

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
SHAMROCK, March 11.—Reorganization of the entire athletic department of the Shamrock high school and putting all branches of athletics under the direction of an athletic director was discussed by the school board of the Shamrock Independent school district at a called meeting Thursday afternoon in the city hall.

The board voted four to two to select and employ a new coach for the first string football team. A proposal to employ an athletic director, who would also coach the B squad and basketball, was presented but no definite action was taken.

Garrison Rush, football coach for the past four years, had indicated a desire to retire from active coaching, but expressed himself as willing to continue with the school system in some other capacity. His name was mentioned as the proposed athletic director, but it was decided to hold off filling such a post until the time for electing faculty members for the 1939-40 term.

Employment of a man to fill the football coach vacancy will have the careful consideration of the trustees in the near future. It is hoped to get a man from the Southeast conference.

'Fire' Trucks Fanned 420 Last Season

BEAUMONT, March 11.—Young Virgil (Fire) Trucks, a pitcher as hot as his name, lugs an all-time record with him when he takes the field for Beaumont this spring in his first chance at Class A-1 baseball.

Fanning his long arms with effortless grace, the husky youngster churned up 420 strikeouts last year during the regular season, cracking a record that had stood up since old Boss Radbourne of the Providence Nationals whiffed 411 back in baseball's teething age.

In that year—1894—Radbourne was sailing 'em up to mystified batters from a distance of only 50 feet. He won 60 games, whereas in these days of sore arms and enlarged pitching staffs a hurler doesn't even pitch that many. All of which makes Trucks' record the more.

Trucks ran up a dizzy string of victories and strikeouts with Andalusia of the Alabama-Florida League. By June he had won more than 15 games, had struck out more than 250 batters and had chucked two no-hits, no-run games.

Statisticians dived for their record books and ran across Radbourne's figure. He couldn't do it, they said. Just for good measure, Trucks picked up enough strikeouts in the playoffs to give him an over-all strikeout mark for the season to 451 in 299 innings. He won 27 games and lost 6.

Eddie Goosetree, Detroit Tigers' scout, watched Trucks work in one game early last spring. It didn't take long to convince the sharp-eyed detective. Before the game was half over, he had bought Trucks' contract.

Detroit sent him to its Texas League farm here for seasoning.

The spring training railroads have not had a chance to appraise Trucks' pitching yet, but they like his looks—especially the ladies. Virgil is big, handsome, dimpled, and 19 years old.

Major League Camp Briefs

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 11.—If it was power Bill Terry wanted in his New York Giants this year the 15 to 2 walling the club gave the Philadelphia Athletics in the first exhibition game today must have been pretty satisfactory.

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—The Cleveland Indians, with scattered regulars in the lineup, hammered out 13 hits today to defeat Jersey City of the International League in the Tribe's second exhibition game of the season, 12 to 10.

SHAMROCK, March 11.—The Shamrock high school boxing team won their first match this season last night against a scrapping team from Amarillo high school in the local gymnasium by a score of five matches to four with one match ending in a draw.

All the Irish lads are coming along in fine style and it is expected that by the end of the season they will display some real boxing skill and a probability win the greater part of their matches. They meet the Alameda team in Alameda on Tuesday night and then the Canadian team which took them into camp last week on Friday afternoon, March 17 as a feature of the St. Patrick's celebration.

Shamrock's two 108-pound boys started off the fireworks right by winning their matches. Walter O'Gorman decisioned Johnson and Mervel Staggs knocked out his opponent in the first round.

Bobby Purcell lost a decision to Kenneth Sherill, Hiram Prince, fighting his first fight in the ring, came close to getting a draw with Blackwell, one of Amarillo's golden glove champions.

Billy Sherill, fighting very cautiously and never uncovering his chin, stayed with Frank Bills the full three rounds, but Frank was easily the victor, landing two punches to one for his opponent.

Eugene Coleman and Critis McRae met in a knock down and drag out with both boys landing plenty of punches but with McRae finally getting the decision.

D. H. Wilson kept his record as a boxer clean by winning a close decision from McManus. Grayburn Burton and R. D. Solman fought to a draw. Ed Suttfield got a technical knockout over Bob Childers and Harlan Seals dropped a close one to Milton.

55 Teams In Denver Meet

DENVER, March 11.—Fifty-five teams rehearsed their pet plays tonight for basketball's week-long "world series" that will close with the crowning of the 1939 national A. A. U. champion next Saturday night.

The field, the largest in the five years the biggest show in basketball has been held in mile-high Denver, with teams representing 27 states, will begin play tomorrow.

A killing schedule of 39 games must be run off in the next three days to trim the entry list to the round of 16 by Wednesday.

This is the 33rd national tournament since the Knickerbocker Athletic club of New York won the first championship back in 1899.

The A. A. U. meet brings together teams from every strata of basketball society. Small college outfits like Doane College of Nebraska and Phillips of Oklahoma. Club teams like the Goodfellows of Gary, Ind. Powerful A. A. U. quintets, like the Denver Nuggets, champions of the high-powered Missouri Valley A. A. U. league this season.

The Nuggets, unbeaten this season on the spacious city auditorium court where the tournament battles will be fought, are still the top favorite for the championship.

Observers noted the pairings did nothing to harm the local team's chances. If all goes well with them, the Nuggets will clash with the Chicago Harmons in the semi-finals, while the Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips and the Oklahoma City Pinks, the Denverites' lusty rivals from the Missouri Valley circuit, must battle each other in the other semi-final, providing they get that far.

These four teams are seeded, along with the Seattle, Wash., Alpiners, San Francisco Olympic club, Hollywood Metros and Kansas City Wire Rope.

Only 11 college teams are entered—all small schools from the mid-west, southwest and Rocky Mountain sections. No teams from the nation's big intercollegiate conferences have competed in the meet in years.

Cravat Captures $25,000 Handicap

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—Ushering out the 1939 meeting at Santa Anita Park with a flourish, Cravat, 4-year-old pride of the Townsend B. Martin stable, captured the $25,000 added San Juan Capistrano handicap in track record time today before 40,000 fans.

With Jockey Jack Westrope in the irons, Cravat found the mile and one half to his liking and turned on a burst of speed in the stretch and won going away from Neil McCarthy's 7-year-old charger, today.

Jacola, the Edward Friendly filly which kept close to the pace, ran third.

Time for the race was 2:30 2/5, cracking the old track record of 2:32 1/5 set by Dark Accent.

Cravat, generally favored by the handicappers, paid off at $11.80, $7.20 and $5, while Today, ridden by Johnny Adams and coupled with Gosum in the betting, paid $4.80 and $4, and Jacola, with Harry Richards aboard, paid $4.60.

Cravat won by three lengths, and Today was a length in front of Jacola, while Whitece, folding up at a mile and one eighth and finished next to last.

Cravat's victory was worth $25,200 net—a measure of consolation for his failure in the $100,000 race. Today won $2,000, Jacola $2,000 and Honey Cloud, owned by Mrs. A. J. Abel, won $1,000.

Fans Endorse Pampa Entry In Ball Loop

A small but enthusiastic crowd of Pampa baseball fans met in the city auditorium Friday night and almost unanimously endorsed a plan for Pampa entering a team in the Texas-New Mexico baseball league.

A committee composed of L. N. Atchison, Jack Dunn, Dick Hughes, and Grover Seitz will meet Sunday morning with park officials in an effort to pave the way for raising a sinking fund of $2,500 to carry the proposed team over a rough starting period if needed.

The league officials must know by Wednesday whether or not Pampa will enter a team. If Pampa does, Lamesa will come in with the eighth franchise. At the present time only six teams are definitely on the dotted line.

Under the plan Grover Seitz of Pampa, former well known professional player and later with the Pampa Road Runners and Pampa Oilers would seek a franchise in the league. He would ask citizens to raise $2,500 as a sinking fund, placing it in escrow in the bank for use should the team meet a rocky road the first few weeks. The money would be controlled by a committee of citizens. If the team was self-supporting the money would not be used, according to the plan.

A Class D team such as is proposed would be composed of six rookies, five two-year men, and three class A men or professionals if the club desired to hire that many. Maximum salary, excluding manager, would be $1,100 a month, which is the league maximum.

Sam A. Fenberg presided at the Friday night meeting at which fans expressed their opinions and desires.

Cunningham Beaten By John Borican

NEW YORK, March 11.—John Borican, smooth-striding New Jersey negro, beat Glenn Cunningham by two yards and smashed the master miler's world record for 1,000 yards tonight in taking the special invitation race at the Knights of Columbus games in Madison Square Garden in two minutes, 8.8 seconds.

Budge Lamberts Perry BOSTON, March 11.—Peerless Don Budge tonight raced through Fred Perry, former British Davis cup ace, in straight sets for the second night in succession, taking the second match of their cross-country professional tour 6-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Under the plan Grover Seitz of Pampa, former well known professional player and later with the Pampa Road Runners and Pampa Oilers would seek a franchise in the league. GAINESVILLE, March 11.—The Tyler Junior College Apaches captured the Texas Junior college state basketball championship here tonight, nosing out Jacksonville's Jaguars in a hard fought game 38-33.

The Jaguars got off to an eight-point lead in the early part of the first half, but the Apaches rallied, enough to pull up within two points of Jacksonville, which led 18-6 at the half.

Major League Camp Briefs

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 11.—If it was power Bill Terry wanted in his New York Giants this year the 15 to 2 walling the club gave the Philadelphia Athletics in the first exhibition game today must have been pretty satisfactory.

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—The Cleveland Indians, with scattered regulars in the lineup, hammered out 13 hits today to defeat Jersey City of the International League in the Tribe's second exhibition game of the season, 12 to 10.

SHAMROCK, March 11.—The Shamrock high school boxing team won their first match this season last night against a scrapping team from Amarillo high school in the local gymnasium by a score of five matches to four with one match ending in a draw.

All the Irish lads are coming along in fine style and it is expected that by the end of the season they will display some real boxing skill and a probability win the greater part of their matches. They meet the Alameda team in Alameda on Tuesday night and then the Canadian team which took them into camp last week on Friday afternoon, March 17 as a feature of the St. Patrick's celebration.

Shamrock's two 108-pound boys started off the fireworks right by winning their matches. Walter O'Gorman decisioned Johnson and Mervel Staggs knocked out his opponent in the first round.

Bobby Purcell lost a decision to Kenneth Sherill, Hiram Prince, fighting his first fight in the ring, came close to getting a draw with Blackwell, one of Amarillo's golden glove champions.

Billy Sherill, fighting very cautiously and never uncovering his chin, stayed with Frank Bills the full three rounds, but Frank was easily the victor, landing two punches to one for his opponent.

Gladiolus Topic Of Garden Club Program Friday

At the March meeting of the Pampa Garden club Friday morning in the city club rooms, Mrs. Frank Perry discussed "Gladiolus Culture."

Mrs. H. B. Landrum, president, presided over the business session which preceded the program.

In discussing the gladiolus which grows from a solid fibrous coated stem, Mrs. Perry pointed out that there are 150 known species, a large number of which are grown in South Africa, extending into tropical Africa and forming a characteristic feature of the country which grows as far north as central Europe and western Asia. One rare type is found growing wild in England.

When buying these plants the gardener should not get those which grow too tall as the slender stems will not stand. Mrs. Perry pointed out. They should be planted every two weeks, three to five inches deep and about one foot apart in well-worked ground.

The gladiolus bulbs cannot be planted by other bulbs because of disturbing roots, she continued. Neither can they be too near drooping shrubs as they grow too tall.

Arrangements of gladiolus are ideal in small or large bouquets and for churches and other decorations. The flowers should be cut early in the morning or late in the evening. The undeveloped buds will open in succession after the flower is cut, Mrs. Perry added.

Attending were Meses. J. B. Massa, Joe Gordon, H. B. Landrum, Frank Perry, R. F. Dirksen, B. C. Fahy, H. H. Hahn, R. J. Hagan, F. K. Harris, T. H. Henry, P. C. Ledrick, W. L. Loving, W. M. "The Patriot" Reviewed By Local Librarian

The Patriot Pearl Buck Publishers. John Day Co. "The Patriot" deals with the love of a Chinese man for a Japanese woman. Wei I-wan is the son of a wealthy Shanghai banker. His friendship with the poor student En-lan leads him into certain revolutionary activities on account of which he is obliged to leave China in a hurry. In Japan, he enters the business of his father's friend, Muraki, a merchant of Nagasaki. From there on it becomes a chronicle of life in an upperclass conservative Japanese family. I-wan falls in love with Muraki's daughter, Tama, and marries her. Meanwhile the troubles of China fade from I-wan's mind. Their marriage is a happy one, two sons are born. Not even a disastrous earthquake can disturb I-wan's peace, for earthquakes are taken for granted and houses are easily built. Then very suddenly, he learns what Japan has really been doing to China, and that he must leave his family and go home to fight. He is sent by Chang Kai-shek in to the northwest interior with a message to an officer of the communist army, who turns out to be his old friend En-lan. I-wan, who is an idealist and sentimentalist, does not always see eye to eye with En-lan, particularly in the matter of torturing prisoners; but on the whole he recovers his old revolutionary ideals. The close of the book leaves him with little hope of seeing Tama and his children again. Pearl Buck seems to have one objective to give her readers in "The Patriot," and that is the horrible revenge that Japan is wreaking on China.

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt told reporters today that he might have a substitute for the word "appeasement" at next Tuesday's press conference. The question was raised at today's press conference that Secretary Hopkins and others in the administration had objected to the use of the term "business appeasement" program in covering the government's current efforts to stimulate recovery by assurances of no new reform measures plus the possibility of revising some old ones such as those covered in business taxes.

A reporter asked Mr. Roosevelt whether he could suggest a better word. He said he had one or two in mind but thought they might be misinterpreted and that he would prefer to wait and have a look at his thesaurus and try to have something by Tuesday.

Monument To Be Made Honoring Texas Mustang

AUSTIN, March 11—Contract for erection of the first major monument to Texas wild life—a huge bronze memorial to the early Texas mustang on the grounds of Texas Memorial Museum—was let to A. P. Proctor, outstanding American sculptor of Seattle and New York today.

The $20,000 memorial, to tower ten feet high and measure about the same distance in length and width, was given the University of Texas by Ralph R. Ogden, Austin oil operator and former cattleman.

"I want to show the children of this country what the horse was like that carried the men who redeemed Texas from the wilderness," he told J. Frank Dobbs, University professor and author who represented him in arranging for the memorial.

The several-ton statuary will show seven bronze mustangs—stallion, five mares and a colt—galloping "hell bent for leather" in Dobbs' words down the face of a bronze mountain. Mr. Proctor said he would mould his working model during a three months' camp on the Tom East ranch near Hebronville, where the pure strain of the fading breed of Texas horses is still preserved.

The contract calls for completion of the statuary within two years. It was let to Mr. Proctor after a five months' conference with the outstanding animal sculptors of America, Mr. Dobbs said.

Texas Company Stakes Three New Locations

11 Intentions Filed At Rail Office Here

The Texas company came back into the drilling picture in the Panhandle first last week with three new locations, two in Gray county and one in Carson county. There were 11 intentions filed at the local office of the Texas Railroad Commission.

It was the fourth consecutive week that locations have hovered about the down mark and continued to bear out the belief that the Panhandle would be an active spot during the summer of 1939.

Four new oil wells added 1,921 barrels to the field potential while three gas wells were gauged for a total flow of 70,842 cubic feet. Gray county reported three of the four oil wells, good for a total of 1,011 barrels. The Cree & Hoover No. 1 Hiale in section 5, block M-21, TCRR survey, Hutchinson county, was the best well of the week gauging 910 barrels. All of the gas wells were in Moore county with two being completed by the Tesoma Natural Gas company.

Five of the new locations staked were in Gray county. Carson county reported three with one each in Hutchinson, Moore and Wheeler counties. Nine of the new wells will be drilled for oil.

News that the Saturday and Sunday shutdowns might be lifted soon was received joyfully by operators in the Panhandle field.

Completions by counties:

In Gray County
Dolomite Oil co., No. 5 Saylor, section 11, block 3, I&GN survey, gauged 398 barrels with lime formation between 3,135 and 3,210 feet. Total depth of the hole was 3,228 feet.
Magnolia Petroleum co., No. 26 Fee Land 227, section 11, block 3, I&GN survey, tested 254 barrels. Lime pay was from 2,885 to 2,959 feet.

In Hutchinson County

In Moore County
Shamrock Oil & Gas co., No. 12 Sneed, Sneed subdivision of the Mary S. Johnson survey, gauged 28,106,000 cubic feet.

Texas Nat. Gas Co., No. 15-Sn, Sneed, section 31, block 6-T, T&NO survey, tested 29,147,000 cubic feet.

GOOD TASTE IN CARDS
Newsdays it's just as smart to purchase playing cards that are in harmony with your home furnishings as it is to select a nail polish that matches your lipstick and tones with the color of your dress. Whatever the period or style of your home, you will find new cards thoroughly in accord—from brilliantly colored ones as gaily informal as your Mexican luncheon pottery to rich deeply toned cards suitable for the most dignified setting.

Ready for spring outfits is plenty of a light grayish blue called by some stylists "dawn blue." It is used for suits and dresses.

Dewey Boom For President Hits Capital

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The boom for Thomas E. Dewey, Michigan-born New Yorker, for the republican presidential nomination in 1940 got fresh impetus this week from an invasion of the capital by top-flight republican state leaders from New York.

There was no open fanfare for Dewey, the Dewey bombers making it an incognito affair. Nominally they just came down to talk politics with important party figures, in congress and out. Yet Dewey, absent in person but very much present in 1940 gossip, was the theme dominating all the off-stage discussion of republican presidential ticket available for that year.

Even more significant of the Dewey boom aspects of the New York republican visitation was a "get-acquainted" dinner arranged by Representatives Pierce and Hall of New York to bring the visitors into personal contact with a hand-picked group of Washington political writers whose observations, taken together, reach a nation-wide audience.

In the circumstances, a canvass by such writers of Dewey's availability for highest party honors in 1940 was indicated.

It impressed Washington political observers that party leaders from both up and down state New York participated in the Washington pilgrimage. Kenneth Simpson, national committeeman, and Ed Jascie of Buffalo, a powerful figure in upstate republican circles, were reported agreed that Dewey was a coming man politically and destined to attract national attention increasingly between now and the 1940 campaigning.

Landon Drive Recalled.

Whatever the motives and inspiration of the New York expedition to Washington, it recalls circumstances which helped build up popular party sentiment in 1936 for nomination of Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas.

President Roosevelt's western trip in the summer of 1935 carried a large corps of Washington political writers. He took ship for a pacific cruise. He set the political reporters free to ramble back to Washington on their own and most of them called at Kansas City en route to check upon the strength of the Landon boom.

The Landon movement got a popular strength that summer which made his nomination at Cleveland a year later a walk-away. The ardent Dewey men in New York and elsewhere are obviously counting on a similar Dewey build-up in which the Washington visitation figures as at least a preliminary stimulus.

Hopkins Also Boomed.
Across the party line, events are transpiring at an increasing tempo in Washington to focus national attention on another transplanted mid-westerner for possible 1940 democratic presidential consideration. He is Iowa-born Commerce Secretary Harry L. Hopkins, who put in most of his public service career in New York before coming to Washington with the New Deal in 1933.

Rated President Roosevelt's most trusted lieutenant, Secretary Hopkins is the key man in the administration's new drive for recovery and cooperation with business. Whether he has political ambitions or is marked for Roosevelt favor in 1940, nobody knows; but the circumstances of his first speech as a cabinet officer, delivered in Des Moines, Iowa, strongly suggest that he will be put forward as a favorite son of his native state, not as an adopted son of New York, if he figures in democratic presidential nomination maneuvering next year.

There is no close parallel in American political history for what appears at least possible, a Dewey-Hopkins race for President in 1940.

That they are talked about stresses the expectation of most political analysts will decide the course of events.

Convicts Return To Sugarland Prison

HOUSTON, March 11 (AP)—Three convicts who escaped the Harlem prison farm near Sugarland Tuesday returned and surrendered to prison officials at the farm today.

They were Ose Hossler, 28, serving eight years for burglary in Jasper county; Herbert Couch, 20, serving five years for murder and burglary in Harris county, and Joseph Carl Green, serving five years for robbery in Taylor county.

The three, all trustees, fled to Dequincy, Alabama, after their escape later returning to Beaumont, Tex., where they telegraphed the farm yesterday they would return today.

Girl Dies In Fall From Waco Bluff

WACO, March 11 (AP)—Four Baylor University students who heard the cry of a child today found 13-year-old Eva Sanders clinging at the foot of the 75-foot cliff known as Lovers' Leap at a park here.

She had gone to the park with a camp fire group from her junior high school. Her initials inked on the rocky ledge and a trinket found in her pocket brought identification two hours after the tragedy.

Police notified her playmates of her death. They had not missed her.
