Armored Attack Catches Viets By Surprise

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. troops aboard armored personnel carriers caught a company of North Vietnamese by surprise below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and chased them across three hills in an 11 hour battle reported today.

Military spokesmen described the clash three miles south of the DMZ Tuesday as the biggest fight in that area since U.S. Marines began pulling out a month ago.

Twelve North Vietnamese were killed in the running battle. Two of the U.S. 5th Mechanized Infantry Division soldiers died and 10 suffered wounds after catching the guerrillas on a hillside at 4:30 a.m.

The battle below Con Thien on the eastern end of the DMZ was one of several skirmishes reported. Military spokesmen said a total of 220 Communist troops were killed against U.S. losses of five dead and 37 wounded.

U.S. B52 bombers came in from foreign bases for eight raids during the night, two of them hitting at the western end of the zone near the old abandoned Allied fortress at Khe Sanh.

Six of the strikes were directed against the North Vietnamese troops threatening U.S. Green Beret and artillery camps along the Cambodian border north of Saigon.

Even as the Stratoforts' 500- and 750-pound bombs rocked the countryside, the guerrillas were firing five man-sized rockets into the Ban Me Thuot helicopter base supporting the outposts, causing light damage.

Military spokesmen in Saigon had no reports of new fighting in the region 110 to 130 miles north of the capital. The North Vietnamese began their drive 11 days ago, forcing Allied troops from three border camps.

South of that trouble spot, troops of the 1st Air Cavalry Division trapped and killed 18 North Vietnamese 70 miles northwest of Saigon Tuesday in another area endangered by the Communist troop buildup. No American casualties were reported.

The B52s, flying from bases in Thailand, came in during the night for an almost continuous series of raids, dropping a total of at least 600 tons of bombs onto suspected Communist troops bivouacs and supplies.

U.S. headquarters said the five rockets that hit Ban Me Thuot, 153 miles north of Saigon, were among the 11 overnight shelling attacks. One salvo wounded 11 persons at My Tho, second biggest city in the Mekong Delta.

A handful of ground skirmishes were reported, including an 11-hour fight three miles below the Demilitarized Zone between U.S. infantrymen and North Vietnamese infiltrators.

Military spokesmen said 11 of the infiltrators were killed and two Americans were slain and 10 wounded in the fight Tuesday, the biggest battle in (See ATTACK, Page 2)

Kennedy Gives Blessing To Draft Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who helped block President Nixon's draft lottery bill for two weeks, gave it his blessing today and said he hoped the Senate would pass it "in a week or two."

Kennedy bowed to Sen. John C. Stennis' demand the lottery measure breeze through without consideration of other draft reforms. But Kennedy said he expected in return the Senate Armed Services Committee to approve next year "a bill on the kinds of sweeping draft reform so important to guaranteeing a fair, nondisruptive draft." Stennis, D-Miss., is chairman of the committee.

Kennedy's judiciary subcommittee on administrative practice and procedure resumed hearings on alleged draft inequities, and summoned Robert H. Finch, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) to testify.

Ready For Weekend's Antiwar Protesters

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A force of 9,000 Army and Marine troops began moving into Washington today for duty in event of disorders in this weekend's antiwar demonstrations.

A Defense Department spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim, said all of the troops are "thoroughly trained in civil disturbance operations."

He said they would remain on federal property unless assistance in keeping order was asked by the Justice Department and the District of Columbia government.

The Justice Department has primary responsibility for maintaining order during the demonstrations—climaxed by a mass march on Saturday.

The department agreed Tuesday to allow a march involving perhaps as many as 70,000 on Pennsylvania Avenue, passing within a block of the White House, in exchange for a pledge by leader of the protest to keep it nonviolent.

The first troops to arrive were elements of the 4th Brigade of 82nd Airborne Division from Fort Bragg, N.C. They were landed at Suburban Andrews AFB, Md.

The Pentagon said the balance of the brigade—normally about 3,500 men—plus the 2nd Regiment of the 2nd Marine Division from Camp Lejeune, N.C., also would be flown to Washington.

A Marine regiment normally would have a strength of about 5,000 men.

Friedheim estimated that 4,000 other troops would be on hand by late today, and said the remainder would be brought in Thursday.

Friedheim said the action was taken at the request of the Justice Department. He said the request for troop help was received Tuesday.

"No final decision has been made to utilize federal personnel who will remain on federal installations unless the Department of Justice, coordinating with local civilian officials, requests assistance," the Pentagon announced.

Although the bulk of the troops are being brought from North Carolina in 28 Air Force transports, the force of 9,000 includes some men from the Washington area who will be moved into places within the capital Thursday.

The weekend protest starts Thursday night with a scheduled 40-hour "march against death" from Arlington National Cemetery, a single file procession past the White House and on to Capitol Hill.

On Saturday morning, demonstrators will form at the foot of Capitol Hill for the big march—agreement for which was obtained after several days of disagreement with the Justice Department.

Commissioners Take Oil Bid

Gray County Commissioners today accepted an amended bid for oil exploration leases on school lands located in Gaines County.

The accepted bid was submitted by Wendell W. Iverson, Midland who offered $10 per acre for exploration rights on the 1064 acres advertised for bid. This will bring an additional $10,640 into the Gray County Permanent School Fund.

Iverson's amendment to his bid submitted in October asked for a time extension which was granted by the commission. His accepted bids asked for 180 days seismic and exploration purposes.

County bills were evaluated and paid by the commissioners who also approved county treasurer's report and the country welfare report.

Political Powers May Be Witnesses

CHICAGO (UPI)—If the defense in the Chicago riot conspiracy trial has its way, it will put on the witness stand a parade of past and present political powers, including former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Stewart Eall, a member of the legal staff defending the seven men charged with conspiring to incite riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention, said Tuesday subpoenas were being drawn for Johnson, Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley has already been subpoenaed and was expected to testify when the defense opens its case, possibly Friday.

Ball said other luminaries will be called to testify but declined to reveal their names.

Whether any of the political figures will actually reach the witness stand was questionable. Those wishing to avoid appearing can send a lawyer to court asking that the subpoena be

Alleged Beating Of Tech Youth By Sheeted Men May Be Hoax

LUBBOCK (UPI)—Police said Tuesday the alleged beating of a top ranking ROTC student at Texas Tech could possibly have been a hoax.

Ira D. Walker, 22, a senior business administration major from Lubbock and a cadet colonel ROTC and cadet commander, told police he was forced off a lonely road Monday while returning home from a newspaper route and attacked by seven men wearing white hoods and black armbands.

Walker said he received a paste-up letter earlier Monday stating "stop ROTC activities before November moratorium or else." Walker also said he received threatening telephone calls Saturday and Sunday. The caller demanded he resign from ROTC and get Tech to disband the corps "or we'll get you some morning."

"It appears at this time the event as previously reported by cadet Col. Walker did not occur as related," said Col. Maxwell Murphy, chairman of the Military Science Department at Texas Tech. "For the time being it appears that the subject of the event was the only one involved."

"We are checking all possibilities and certainly have an open hand at this point," said L. D. Blaney, Lubbock assistant police chief. "We have not ruled out the possibility at this time that it was a hoax."

Walker was released from a Lubbock hospital after medical reports and X-rays showed no signs of injury.

Taken as evidence were a blue jacket he was wearing and a hunting knife recovered from the car. The jacket was slashed in the back and on the sleeves.

Walker said he wrapped the threatening letter in plastic to preserve it for police examination, and enclosed with it names of all whom Walker said handled it. He said when he came to after the beating the letter was missing. He had the wrapping and list of names in his possession.

Leland Stephens, Lubbock district resident agent in charge of the FBI, said his office was looking into the case.

"I myself have not seen the letter in question," Stephens said.

Top Egyptian Aides To Confer In Moscow About Arab Conflict

By United Press International

The semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt will send three top aides to Moscow next week for important talks about the Arab-Israeli conflict prior to the Arab world summit.

In Tell Aviv, a military spokesman announced four Israeli soldiers were injured Tuesday night in mortar duels across the southern sector of the Suez Canal. No further details were given.

Al Ahram said Anwar El Sadat, a member of the Arab Socialist Union's Supreme Executive Committee, will lead the Egyptian delegation to the Soviet capital. He is considered second to Nasser in the ruling hierarchy.

The group also will include Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad and War Minister Gen. Mohamed Fawzi, the newspaper said.

Disclosure of the trip came following another day of fighting along the Suez Canal that included an Israel-Egyptian aerial duel—20,000 feet above the waterway. Israel reported four clashes with Jordanian forces.

Sources close to the Arab league said invitations were being issued today for the Arab summit scheduled in Rabat Dec. 20. The meeting will be the second of its kind since the 1967 Middle East War. The first was in Khartoum in September, 1967.

In Gaza City in the occupied Gaza Strip, bulldozers today began knocking down a 300-foot long wall surrounding the El Fares produce market. The action was taken in retaliation for a grenade attack Tuesday, the third in as many days.

Israeli authorities said demolition of the wall would expose the market to surveillance.

Senate Whips Predict Victory On Haynsworth's Confirmation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate whips of both parties predicted today the confirmation vote on Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. to serve on the Supreme Court will be very close, with two or three votes deciding the battle.

The prediction as the Senate prepared to start debate Thursday on the nomination was made by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., both of whom oppose Haynsworth's confirmation.

Two Republicans—Sens. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts and George D. Aiken of Vermont—said there are enough opposition votes to block the nomination.

Brooke, who is opposed to Haynsworth, commented: "I think it will be rather close but I think conceivably there could be sufficient votes to prevent the confirmation."

In a preview of the debate, Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., spoke for more than an hour on the Senate floor today in defense of Haynsworth's record and appealing for approval of the South Carolinian.

Allott, only member of the Republican leadership publicly committed to vote for the nominee, declared: "I have now carefully reviewed the individual views and there are no new facts recited which convince me that Judge Haynsworth should not be confirmed by this body."

Aiken said Haynsworth seemed short of the necessary majority vote even if all the publicly uncommitted senators voted for him.

'Zodiac' Killer Breaks Silence To Say He Will Remain Silent

EDITORS: The spelling and grammar errors in the following on the Zodiac killer from San Francisco are faithful reproductions of the letter sent to the San Francisco Chronicle.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The "Zodiac" killer broke a monthlong silence Tuesday to announce by letters and cryptograms to a newspaper he will "no longer announced to anyone when I comitt my murders."

The boasting slayer, previously connected with five killings in the San Francisco Bay area since last December, claimed seven victims.

In occasionally misspelled correspondence to the San Francisco Chronicle, Zodiac said his future murders "shall look like routine robberies, killings of anger, & a few fake accidents, etc."

A postscript to one of his letters indicated he was displeased by a dwindling of public attention since he included a piece of a slain cab driver's blood-stained shirt in a letter one month ago.

"Could you print this new cipher on your front page?" he asked. "I get awfully lonely when I am ignored, so lonely I could do my thing!!!!!!"

Then in a large, scrawled handwriting—which contrasted with his usual small printing—Zodiac added, "And I can't do a thing with it!"

Latest Correspondence

The latest correspondence included a page filled with strange ciphers, a rambling letter, a note on a comic greeting card—and another piece of the cab driver's shirt.

"I though you would need a good laugh before you hear the bad news," he wrote. He began the two letters with the usual, "This is the Zodiac speaking."

"Up to the end of Oct. I have killed 7 people," he said. "I have grown rather angry with the police for their telling lies about me. So I will change the way the collection of slaves." The passage about collecting slaves, which was followed by his statement there would be no future announcements, apparently was a reference to one of his previous cryptograms which said souls of his victims would be his slaves in the afterworld.

Steno Re-Hired After Day Off

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A Bank of America stenographer is back on the job after fighting her dismissal for taking a day off last month to participate in the Vietnam Moratorium.

The bank said Tuesday Margo Pelton, 21, was fired by a "trigger-happy manager" whose decision was reversed by higher management.

The announcement by the bank followed settlement of a suit brought by Miss Pelton who claimed her constitutional rights were violated when she was discharged for taking time off to protest U.S. policy in Vietnam.

The bank said it will allow any employee to take a day off without pay for such activities as long as the bank can still conduct business.

Newsman Sets Meeting For Senate Seat

Robert Morris of Dallas, a syndicated newspaper columnist, who is seeking the U.S. Senate seat held by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, was scheduled for a 3 p.m. news conference today at the Amarillo Air Terminal.

Morris, a Republican, is president of the University of Plano. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the seat in 1963. He was defeated for the GOP nomination by George Bush of Houston, who is expected to announce for the post again. Bush presently is a member of the U.S. House of Representatives.

An attorney, Morris served as chief counsel for the U.S. Senate Internal Security Subcommittee from January 1956 to January 1958.

Nixon Urged To Call Cease-Fire For Christmas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Warning against "a replay of Chicago," Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, urged President Nixon today to call a Christmas cease-fire in Vietnam as a good faith gesture toward demonstrators involved in the antiwar march on Washington.

Hughes asked for "a new Christmas peace offensive" in a letter that warned of possible violence as a result of "coercive measures" to control the demonstrators.

"At this point," Hughes said "the federal government's scenario of preparations appears to be running like a replay of Chicago."

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., urged Nixon to present the Saigon government "with clear cut time limit" of American involvement in Vietnam.

Hughes said if it prove impossible to persuade North and South Vietnam to agree to a mutual cease-fire, on the greeting card Zodiac printed, "Des July Aug Sept Oct equals 7?"

He previously had claimed responsibility for the killings of Betty Lou Jensen, 16, and her boyfriend, David Farady, 17, near Vallejo last Dec. 20; Darlene Ferrin, 22, near Vallejo, July 5; Cecilia Ann Shepard, 22, in Napa County Sept. 27, and San Francisco cab driver Paul Stein, 29, Oct. 11.
The letters did not specify the two additional killings but the "Aug" reference corresponded with the deaths of two San Jose teen-age girls Aug. 3. They died of multiple stab wounds.
Four of Zodiac's alleged victims were shot and one was stabbed numerous times, but the San Jose slayings had not previously been attributed to him.

San Jose Chief of Detectives Barton Collins said he doubted they were the work of Zodiac, because the boasting slayer would have wanted to take "credit" for stabbings of Deborah Gay Furlong, 14, and Kathleen Snoozy, 15, earlier.
In one of his previous notes, Zodiac warned that "school children are nice targets."
"I think I shall wipe out a school bus some morning," he wrote. "Just shoot out the front tires and then pick off the kiddies as they come bouncing out."
School buses throughout the area were under armed guard for weeks following the threat.
"The police shall never catch me," Zodiac said in his latest letter, "because I have been too clever for them."

FOR PHS IMPROVEMENTS

Building Bids To Be Awarded Thursday

Bidders on four major Pampa High School construction projects will have their chance Thursday when school trustees meet to open bids on the projects—music building, science wing, library and girls' gym.
Trustees will meet with Herbert Brasher, school architect, at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in Carver Educational Services Center. Brasher is representative of Lubbock firm of Erasher, Goyette and Rapier. Trustees will open bids on four projects, which were estimated in the bond issue budget to cost $425,000, of the $900,000 building project for Pampa schools.
Work is already underway on other projects in the 13-part improvement program approved by voters in March. New cafeterias are being constructed at Mann and Wilson Elementary Schools; a bid was accepted and work is underway for an athletic building at high school; several school parking lots were paved this summer, and renovation work was completed at Carver Center.
Other projects included in the program are renovation of PHS auditorium, and third floor classrooms, heating, ceiling, restroom and roof repair for three elementary schools, Baker, Mann and Wilson, and construction of a vocational-technical unit for high school.
Other agenda items for discussion include appointment of Pampa textbook committee and committee advisors, approval of 1968-69 audit, resignation, reassignment and employment of personnel and consideration of piano trade for Pampa Junior High School.
Supt. Dr. James F. Malone is expected to present a 10-part report to the board on an awards policy and student dress

City Policeman Points Out 'Booze' Big Problem For Youth, Not Drugs

Pampa Policeman Jim Woods told about 50 persons attending the PTA sponsored Study Course on Drug Abuse Tuesday that "booze," not drugs is the biggest problem among youth in Pampa now.
"Frequently cars with youths in the 15 to 16 year range are stopped, a couple six packs of beer are found and when questioned as to where they got it, the reply is 'at home'."
Woods said.
"Since 1964 there have been only two arrests in Pampa on narcotics, one in latter 1968 and the other in 1969," he said.
Woods mentioned a recent episode of a young boy who had been sniffing glue. "The youth entered the home of Pampa residents not knowing where he was or what he was doing. The strong odor of glue indicated he had been sniffing glue. However there is no law against it at the present time."
"A youth can be arrested for intoxication, but it is often difficult to tell from what source the intoxication developed." "If a juvenile is arrested, he can be declared a delinquent," but it is a long drawn-out and expensive process. I usually talk to a kid and try to help him.
"So far as we know the problem of drug abuse in Pampa is not serious. We have found evidences of glue sniffing in an unoccupied building in Pampa and have kept it under surveillance but the kids keep a look-out, and by the time we arrive, they're gone."

Indians To Shed Stoic Nobility To Fight For Hand In Own Fate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —None of that "stoic and noble child of nature" guff for the American Indian Task Force. This is an angry group of men and women, and they don't care who knows it.
The task force is comprised of 42 Indians from 32 tribes in 15 states. They came together originally to help write a book, "Our Brother's Keeper—The Indian in White America," and more recently to tell Vice President Spiro T. Agnew what the Indian needs most is a voice and a hand in his own destiny.

The task force held a news conference Tuesday to report on its four-hour meeting with Agnew and presidential aide Leonard Garment. But first some of the task force offered opinions of the news media and the small notice they said was given to the new book.
"We must indict you as being a major part of that conspiracy of silence that hides the daily injustices to which our people are subjected," Janet McCloud, a Nisqually from Yelm, Wash., read from the task force's prepared statement.
"Because you, the press, have not chosen in your mind to consider us important enough or sensational enough there is no one to listen, ultimately there is no record for these grievances," E. Stevens, an Oneida now living in Sacramento, Calif., read low, choked voice. "It is who have helped entrust us massive bureaucracy and us there—the captive—America's prisoners of war."

Cipriano Manuel, a Pampa from Tempe, Ariz., reported on the Monday meeting with Agnew. Manuel said the task force was "treacherously" listened to and responses "that had a ring of sincerity."
Task force member P. MacDonald, a Navajo from Fort Defiance, N.M., said however, the group would be deceived by cordiality.
"We heard almost identical promises in the early 1950s before the government began concerted effort to wipe out reservations and to destroy us as a people and a culture," said.
MacDonald said the task force would weight the extent to which Agnew's response provides funds, a direct channel to the White House and involvement of Indians including those who have not been listened to.
The task force asked Agnew and Garment to support a series of conferences hearings with the goal of creating a permanent system which all Indians could speak on their own problems and get action. Included would be state and national boards of inquiry, "red ribbon" grand juries to investigate violation of Indian rights and work law enforcement officials, hiring of "circuit riders" to travel about keeping in touch with Indian sentiment in each of 11 areas of the country.

Availability Of Explosives Can Cause More Bombings

NEW YORK (UPI)—A police munitions expert said today that bombing attacks like those which damaged three Manhattan skyscrapers may have "no end" because of the easy availability of dangerous explosives.
The bomb squad officer told United Press International "anyone can walk into supply places and buy what they want."
The high explosive—probably dynamite—used in the simultaneous blasts early Tuesday at World Headquarters of RCA, Inc., General Motors and Chase Manhattan Bank in Wall Street, can be purchased without licensing or legal authority in virtually any amount in states surrounding New York City, the officer said.
"With this sort of loose sales existing all over the country, these bombings could have no end," he said.
No one was injured in any of three explosions and business was carried on normally in the three buildings Tuesday. An elevator operator in the new General Motors Building was shaken up and hospitalized briefly.

Anonymous telephone warnings before the blasts were credited with preventing serious casualties.
The explosions triggered a rash of bomb scares in a number of city buildings. Police searches, however, turned up no explosive devices in a number of buildings investigated including the U.N. headquarters.
The task force asked Agnew and Garment to support a series of conferences hearings with the goal of creating a permanent system which all Indians could speak on their own problems and get action. Included would be state and national boards of inquiry, "red ribbon" grand juries to investigate violation of Indian rights and work law enforcement officials, hiring of "circuit riders" to travel about keeping in touch with Indian sentiment in each of 11 areas of the country.

TU Student Leaders Urge 'Cooling It'

AUSTIN (UPI)—As many as 2,000 students demonstrated against a cafeteria policy for the second day in a row Tuesday at the University of Texas at Austin, but student leaders urged dissidents to "cool it" to keep peace on the campus.
The two-hour rally Tuesday, with the crowd varying at times from 300 to 2,000 young persons, remained peaceful in contrast to violence that erupted less than a block away Monday.
After a similar rally Monday, 600 youths stormed into the Chuckwagon cafeteria to protest a ban on non students imposed for a two-week period beginning last Friday.
Violence broke out when 80 riot-helmeted state, city and campus law officers moved in to clear the demonstrators out of the cafeteria.
Local law enforcement officials said the cafeteria on campus is a hangout for marijuana users and a sanctuary for juvenile runaways.

Indecent Charge Lodged Against Pampa Man

Bond of $2,000 was set for Justice of Peace Nat Lunsford Tuesday for Marvin L. Mitchell, 20, who gave his address as 533 N. Doyle, on charge of indecent exposure a minor.
Pampa policeman Stan Brown and Harold Joe Grimes arrested Mitchell after searching for him since Monday.
Two girls, one 16, the other six, told police they were walking home from school when the man honked his car horn and exposed himself.
In a statement to police Mitchell said he accidentally exposed himself, saying he was brushing off some stickers that had gotten on his pants. He told police he had accidentally exposed himself to two other girls about a month ago near the Optimist Club park.
Officer Grimes spotted Mitchell's car about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and the man was found in a filling station on north Hobart.
Brown questioned Mitchell who told officers it was all mistake.

Moon Landing Linked To Moratorium March

NEW YORK (NEA) — If all goes well, on Nov. 14, a day that promises to see thousands of young people massed at the gates of the White House to protest the Vietnam war and the state of the nation in general, three men will step into an elevator in Florida, ride to the top of a Saturn 5 rocket, strap themselves into their capsule and blast off for the moon.

It's a good bet that things will be a lot more peaceful up there than they are down here.

Some people see little connection between the protest and the space problem but others, like Sam Baron, a New York University student and self-proclaimed "typical all-moratorium boy," read a lot more into it.

"I'll be in Washington," says

Baron, "and I'll be as antiwar as anybody. But I'm also pro-people, and that means diverting the billions we're spending on making the moon a better place to live to making America a better place to live. Bring the boys home — from Vietnam and the moon."

"I've heard that argument," says Daniel J. Fink, general manager of General Electric's Space Division, "and we're being squeezed from the other side, too. The government is cutting back on spending and the space program has been a prime target. We're in a tough spot."

GE, of course, is just one of many companies with more than a passing interest in space. But Fink maintains that the company is as interested in mankind as it is in making a buck.

"Sure, there are plenty of unsolved problems here on earth," he admits, "but space exploration can help solve those problems. Columbus was looking for one thing when he set out, but he found something else. It's the same with the space program."

Fink feels that the $4 billion or so invested in space is small potatoes, considering what the nation is getting in return.

"We spend more on welfare, lipstick, just about everything," he claims, "without getting the kind of return we get from space exploration. We've already improved communications, advanced weather forecasting techniques added new dimensions to medical technology and made tremendous advances in electronics — all as a direct result of space exploration."

"Progress over the next 10 years could make the past 10 years look like the Model-T days of space history."

Maybe, but when astronauts Pete Conrad and Alan Bean put their footprints on the moon Nov. 19, with Richard Gordon orbiting overhead, a lot of people will be wondering if the trip was really necessary.

As Sam Baron says, "I've got nothing against the moon, but I live in New York. Sometimes the air is kind of hard to breathe here, too."

Nixons Note Veterans' Day In Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Nixon observed Veterans Day today by visiting and chatting with patients at the D.C. Veterans Hospital.

They greeted veterans of three wars in the hospital lobby, then went upstairs to spend some time with patients in the wards.

The President's visit helped inaugurate what he has termed a "significant national program" called Very Important Patients. It involved about 500 outstanding Americans, sports figures, entertainers and prominent persons in other fields, visiting Veterans Administration hospital patients through out the country to "let them know that the nation has not forgotten their service and sacrifices."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who also turned up at the hospital, told reporters: "I didn't know the President was coming now or I would have waited till later."

The President and Mrs. Nixon spent about an hour joking with doctors, nurses and veterans. A sports fan, Nixon found a lot to talk about with patients who are avid football fans and watch the games on television.

"How do you select the program?" the President asked, and was told all channels are offered on the various television sets.

Among those the President visited was Glen Seaman, 88, a veteran of the Spanish-American war and the oldest man in the hospital.

Upstairs, the President and Mrs. Nixon split up and visited separate wards.

As Mrs. Nixon approached one young Vietnam veteran, he asked, "Is that you, Pat?"

When she replied "yes," he shook her hand and said: "I'm so happy. I'm so happy."

Foreign News Commentary

As foreign and defense ministers of 13 Arab states met in Cairo to castigate the United States, one Arab nation was notable for its absence—Tunisia.

Tunisia under the leadership of its pro-Western president, Habib Bourguiba, has been the odd-man-out in Arab councils since April 21, 1965, when Bourguiba dared to suggest to Arab leaders that direct negotiations should be carried on between Israel and Palestine, and that dreams of a military victory over Israel were a dangerous illusion.

For his pains, he promptly was labeled an "Arab Judas." He does not like President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and has lost few opportunities since to criticize Nasser's apparently impulsive urge to inflict more blood-letting upon the Middle East.

In August of 1967, after the Arab-Israeli June war, he called upon Arab states to reconsider the policy they have stubbornly pursued for the past 20 years.

Indirectly, he blamed Nasser for that war, saying that in attempting to ban Israel from the Gulf of Aqaba, the Egyptian leader acted without calculating the risks involved and in spite of international agreements and the existing state of facts.

In October, 1967, and January, 1968, he suggested that Nasser resign, declaring that "in order to have a change in Arab policy, there must be a change in mentality and men."

Bourguiba's friendship for the West and his independent stand against Nasser has paid handsome dividends.

Tunisia has received around $500 million in aid from the United States, some $50 million from West Germany and she has negotiated partial association with the European Common Market.

Today, Bourguiba is ailing and soon it is expected he must name a successor. Meanwhile, among Arabs, his remains a voice in the wilderness.

As for Nasser's call for a campaign of "blood and fire" against Israel, it is the cry of a desperate man who already has surrendered his leadership to the militant Palestine commander.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Anytime a psychiatrist says something that helps me understand myself, I am grateful. Particularly if there is no fee involved.

I therefore make a low bow in the direction of Dr. Alfred Auerback of San Francisco, who has made me realize that I am the victim of an emotional condition called the "cowboy syndrome."

According to Auerback, the "cowboy syndrome" is the leading cause for divorce in this country. Husbands who have it fancy themselves "the strong, silent, be-man who loves his horse and his girl with equal passion," he told a news conference.

This ties in with some figures recently published by the American Horse Council, which estimated that the horse population in the United States has risen from 4.5 million to 7.25 million in the past 10 years.

Divorce Rate Rises

The national divorce rate during that period also has risen sharply. So we may assume there is a definite correlation between marriage break-ups and the comeback of the horse.

Well, I know a number of horse owners personally and I can readily understand why any woman who is married to one might be getting in contact with her lawyer.

I also can understand why some husbands might be as fond of their horses as they are of their wives.

But this does not explain the marital friction that arises in horseless households. For that explanation we need to examine another symptom of the "cowboy syndrome." It has to do with automobiles, which Auerback described as "the first symbols of manhood."

Autos For Horses

What he seems to be saying is that non-equestrian husbands may substitute autos for horses. Which might be called the "drugstore cowboy syndrome." If so, it explains an argument I recently had with my wife.

I had been out washing my car and as I came back into the house she met me at the door, arms akimbo, which usually signals trouble.

"Sometimes," she said, dagger-pointing each work, "I think you love that car as much as you do me."

"That's ridiculous," I said.

"Then why are you always kissing it?" she demanded.

"I might have given it a friendly smack or two," I replied, but they didn't mean anything. It's like a French general kissing a soldier he is decorating for bravery. I was simply telling my car 'well done.'"

That got me off the hook but I'll have to watch my step from now on. Otherwise, I may wind up in divorce court with my Mustang named as correspondent.

Agnew Doesn't Hold Much Admiration For News Media

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "I don't consider the people who write for the news media the intellectual elite. Sometimes I think they're about the most superficial thinkers I've ever seen."

The speaker: Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

His complaint: "If you say something and carefully qualify it, the qualification, after three or four repetitions, disappears. And the repetition becomes an unqualified, highly provocative statement."

Agnew, whose controversial comments about antiwar demonstrators have been criticized in many quarters, made clear Sunday in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report he considered himself a victim of reporters who were oversimplifying the news in an intentional effort to be derogatory.

"... One of the things that distresses me more than anything about the handling I've had and what I call this 'big city, liberal' media is that in their reporting," he said.

"Example: if I said that some of the supporters of the (Vietnam) moratorium were an effete cove of impudent snobs, it is reported that I said the leaders were. The next time it gets down to the point where I said the demonstrators were. And then finally it gets down to the point where I say all young people are impudent snobs."

Draft Lottery Bill To Be Rushed Through The Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Draft reform advocates agreed today to permit President Nixon's draft lottery bill to be rushed through the Senate without amendment — thus practically guaranteeing its passage.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and other leaders in the drive to overhaul the nation's Selective Service laws agreed to the procedure in an hour's meeting with Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Kennedy said Stennis' assurance that he would make every effort to pass a comprehensive draft reform bill next year convinced him that he should forego the right to offer amendments.

The agreement apparently guaranteed passage of the lottery bill this year—probably in two weeks, Stennis said.

Nixon's bill, which would permit selection of draftees by lottery or random choice, already has passed the House.

The President said when it passed Congress he would couple it with a system under which the draft would be largely limited to 19-year-olds, in contrast with the present "oldest first" system.

"I feel greatly encouraged now that the bill will move along and will pass the Senate without amendments," Stennis said after the meeting.

Kennedy, who emphasized he was speaking only for himself, said he would offer no amendments and would join in moving to table any amendments that are offered once the bill reaches the floor.

Stennis said he planned to call Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird to brief hearings on the lottery proposal next week.

Committee approval of the bill was a foregone conclusion, since members unanimously agreed at a meeting Monday to press for the lottery proposal without any amendments this year.

TO INTRODUCE BILL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., plans to introduce a bill today to bar the supersonic airliner from overland flights unless the government can show the sonic boom will not "harm or annoy people on the ground."

"We simply cannot allow supersonic airliners to assault the peace and quiet of millions of Americans just so a few jet setters can get where they're going a few hours faster,"

GIs Fight, But Don't Hate

SAIGON (UPI) — "I'd think twice before I'd fight them again."

"They had the opportunity to kill me and didn't. I really appreciate them sparing my life."

"I don't hate them, but I still consider them my enemy."

The comments were those of three young GIs freed last week by the Viet Cong. They told newsmen about their captivity before flying home for medical treatment today.

In blue hospital pajamas and sandals, the three, all 22 years old, appeared relaxed, and healthy as they recounted their experiences at a brief news conference.

Are Treated Well

The men are Pfc. Coy R. Tinsley of Cleveland, Tenn.; Spec.4 James R. Strickland Jr. of Dunn, N.C., and Spec.4 Willie A. Watkins of Sumter, S.C. Strickland and Watkins were held 22 months, Tinsley eight months.

All said they had been treated well by the Viet Cong and had spent most of their time eating rice, playing checkers and talking. They said they still supported United States' presence in Vietnam.

United States Asks For Humane Treatment Of War Prisoners

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States urged the United Nations today to issue an "unequivocal and specific call" for humane treatment of American prisoners of war held by North Vietnam.

Mrs. Rita E. Hauser, Permanent U.S. representative to the U.N. Commission on Human Rights, asked in the General Assembly's Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Committee that all governments support Secretary General Thant's appeal to North Vietnam to let an international humanitarian organization, such as the League of Red Cross Societies, visit the prisoners.

Defense Department figures show at least 410 U.S. servicemen known to be held by North Vietnam with another 918 missing and believed captured.

Mrs. Hauser said, "there is a wife, a child, a parent, who is concerned with his fate. They are subjected to uncertainty and despair which grow as each day passes.

"Our concern in this matter is humanitarian, not political. This concern was succinctly but urgently expressed in the agonizing question put by the many wives who have gone to Paris to ask the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris talks: 'Please tell me if I am a wife or a widow.'

North Vietnam contends that the 1949 Geneva Convention on protection of prisoners of war, to which it acceded in 1957, does not apply to the U.S. captives because the Vietnam conflict is not a declared war and the prisoners are "war criminals."

Mrs. Hauser denied both points and said the convention was designed to "let children know if their fathers are alive, parents if their sons are well-treated."

"It requires that 'immediately upon capture, or not more than one week after arrival at a camp, even if it is a transit camp, likewise in case of sickness or transfer to hospital or to another camp, every prisoner of war shall be enabled to write directly to his family,'" she said.

Space Agency Having Bird Trouble

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The space agency's six-million-pound crawler-transporter was built to carry Saturn 5 space "birds," but its operators are having a problem with sparrows.

Crews which operate and maintain the huge tractor-like crawler have tried their best to shoo off sparrows, which have discovered that the maze of steel girders and posts provide fine nesting places. But the sparrows keep building nests.

The concern is one of plant good housekeeping, and also for the welfare of the sparrow population. When the crawler, built to haul 363-foot Saturn rockets from the assembly building to the launch pad, cranks up its four 2,750-horsepower diesel engines,

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—By taking President Nixon's Vietnam speech in stride last week, the stock market "gave convincing proof that it is fundamentally healthy," Standard & Poor's says. While progress is not likely to be uninterrupted, the firm says, "the investor is justified in continuing to purchase attractively priced stocks."

The market lacks the volume needed to support an extended advance, according to E. F. Hutton & Co. In mid-October it was advancing on daily volume of more than 15 million shares and now it is trying to do so on 12 million shares. In the absence of any major news development, a market which won't move too far in either direction but will offer many trading opportunities seems more likely over the near term, the firm says.

Alexander Hamilton Institute sees signs of vigor in the market's strength after President Nixon's Vietnam speech: The "hefty margin" last week of new price highs over new lows, the new buying mood of institutions and foreign investors, and the increase in volume on rallies. The firm thinks a critical sell-off in the near future is unlikely.

PHS Victory Would Mean A 4-6 Season

All good things must come to an end, the fellow said, and this is the week that predicting football games ends in this column, for this year only, you understand. It hasn't been a bad season at all. Last week we were 14-3 and for the season stand, 119-43 for a 730 per centage and I haven't heard anything from my friend in Groom in a long time.

There could be a couple of upsets in the high school ranks this week at White Deer where the Bucks play Sanford-Fritch and in Wheeler where the Mustangs meet Claude. Both the visitors have won two in a row. But don't look for 'em.

SHOCKERS 28, PALO DURO 21 — This should be a wide open and highscoring football game and look for the Shockers to want to win bad enough to finish the season at 7-3, the best Shocker record in 11 years.

PAMPA 22, PLAINVIEW 6 — The Harvesters will have to have an even better defensive effort than they had against Borger. Plainview has more speed and already has beaten us once. But the Pampa offense should be able to move better than last time and everybody wants to finish, 4-6 now.

PASO DURO 35, AMARILLO 14 — The Dons still may be the best team in the state and Amarillo just doesn't have enough speed to slow down the fast and fleet Palo Duro attack. The Sandies have a good offense but so do the Dons.

BORGER 22, TASCOSA 14 — The Bulldogs should be able to comeback and beat a poor Tascosa team. But Borger is having problems between players-coach and fans and must get this resolved in time.

LUBBOCK 21, CAPROCK 20 — This might actually be the best game of the night. Lubbock is favored only because the game is in

You Don't Say...
By
RON CROSS

Lubbock. The Horns are capable of giving them a good tussle and could pull it out for their first and only victory of the season.

MONTEREY 16, CORONADO 10 — This will be another good one between two good defensive teams. Monterey, however, has the edge on offense and should be able to best the Mustangs. Mistakes, however, could cost the Plainsmen, third place.

OKLAHOMA 28, KANSAS 16 — The Sooners have quite a job in store for themselves after the shocking, 44-10 loss last week to Missouri. But they came back after the Texas defeat and things haven't gone right for Kansas at all this season. The Sooners must comeback if they expect any kind of a bowl bid.

KANSAS STATE 35, NEBRASKA 22 — The Jayhawks have cooled off somewhat and were jolted last week by Oklahoma State. But despite the fact Nebraska is gunning for the Big Eight championship Kansas State should be able to win this big one at home.

COLORADO 22, OKLAHOMA STATE 19 — The Cowboys find it tough to win on the road and although, Colorado isn't as tough as K-State they are very tough at home.

WHEELER 42, CLAUDE 0 — The Mustangs should be a little sore after playing a good game against Clarendon and finding that mistakes can cost you a conference title. Claude has suddenly become the surprise of the conference but can't make it three in a row against

Wheeler, Groom Backs Rate 1-2 In Area Scoring

With the 1969 regular football season ending Friday night so does the area scoring race as far as Roy Don Chick and David Guinn of Wheeler and White Deer.

The pair rate as the No. 2 and 3 scorers respectively behind Dan Blackwell of Groom. While both Chick and Guinn see the season end for them Blackwell and his Groom Tigers have one more regular season game left. Guinn will be in at least one more game after Friday night but it does not count in the area scoring since it is a bi-district clash.

Blackwell has scored 11 touchdowns same as Chick but the senior quarterback has run for four, 2-point conversions while Chick has only two. Thus Blackwell has 74 points and Chick 70.

Guinn is not far behind. The senior runner has eight touchdowns and one, 2-point conversion and has kicked four others for 54 points and both he and Chick still have a chance to capture the scoring honors.

Chick and Wheeler meet last place Claude in Wheeler Friday night while the Bucks take on last place Sanford-Fritch at White Deer. Both could explode Friday night.

Blackwell and the Tigers meet Follett at Follett before ending regular season play week after next against Booker.

Wheeler is represented in the top 15 by the most players (4) while Groom and White Deer have three each.

Besides Chick the Mustangs have halfback Dave Britt with 36 points, Roy Simmons with 30 points and David Cole with 26 points. Mark Britten has caught seven touchdown passes from Blackwell for 42 points and Johnny Britten has scored three times and kicked 17 conversions for 35 points.

BOOKER 16, TEXLINE 10 — Booker may have trouble staying up with Groom as unbeaten in District 5-B. Texline surprised Follett last week and anything can happen.

Four Pampa Players To Top 5 In Zone Stats

Pampa, John Jenkins, Scotty King, Steve Scott and Dale Ammons all gained a bit in the final north zone District 4-AAAA statistics released today.

The Harvesters finished fourth in the zone in total offense and were next to last in total defense but with their effort against Borger Pampa was only 33 yards from third place in total defense, behind the Bulldogs.

Amarillo is the zone's total offense leader while Monterey shows the best defensive team in the district. The Sandies picked up 1,338 yards rushing and added 280 through the air for a total of 1,618 or 404.5 yards per game. Monterey gave up only 647 yards on the ground and 182 more in the air for 829 or an average of only 207.2 per game.

Pampa in its four zone contests picked up 699 yards on the ground and 272 in the air for a total of 971 or an average of 242.7 per contest. Defensively the Harvesters had 830 yards gained against them on the ground and gave up 498 more in the air for 1,328 total yards or 332 per game.

Amarillo's Bobby Pickard proved to be the most consistent back in the zone. Pickard led the zone in rushing, total offense and scoring. The Sandie senior had 763 yards rushing on 109 attempts for an average of 7 yards per carry. His seven touchdowns for 42 points led the scoring parade. Pickard added 61 yards on passing for a total of 824 yards to win the total offense honors by 200 yards over Borger's Cole Fraley.

Jenkins is Pampa's leading rusher, thanks to his fine night against Borger. Jenkins has gained 141 yards on the ground on 37 runs for an average of 3.8 yards per carry. The talented senior also hit on six of 21 passes in 3 zone games for 119 yards and a total 260 yards for the zone contests. Jenkins didn't participate in the Caprock zone game, due to an injury.

King, hurt in the first two zone games and not able to go full strength, carried the ball 46 times for 133 yards and a 2.9 per carry average. Scotty also caught a pass for 21 yards and 154 total yards.

Steve Scott, who wishes he'd been playing all the time, ranked third in pass receiving an average and second in most yardage in the pass receiving department.

Scott caught eight throws for 138 yards, an average of 17.4 yards per catch. Bruce Brake of Caprock caught nine passes for 89 yards for a 9.9 average and Tim West of Monterey had eight catches for 232 yards to lead Scott in that department.

Senior Tommy Hawkins had three catches for 94 yards to actually lead the average department. His figure averages to 31.3 yards per catch.

Ammons, who punted in only three of the zone games boomed the ball 14 times for 481 yards, an average of 34.3 yards per kick. The punting was led by Monterey's Marc O'Hair who had 14 kicks for 544 yards, an average of 38.8 yards per kick.

Second was Mark Vinyard of Amarillo with 10 kicks and 366 yards and an average of 36.6 yards.

Palo Duro led the south zone in total offense, averaging 372.5 yards per game while Coronado led in defense, limiting the opposition to only 210.2 yards per game.

Plainview, Pampa's Friday night zone playoff foe, was third in total offense, averaging 296.7 yards per game and third on total defense, limiting the opposition to only 303.5 yards a contest.

The Bulldogs David Woolley is third in rushing with 62 carries and 347 yards, an average of 5.5 yards per run. Larry McCutcheon is fifth in passing with six of 11 and 146 yards and two touchdowns. His prime receiver was Mart Hanna who caught nine passes for 231 yards.

McCutcheon was fifth in total offense with 256 yards rushing, 146 passing for a total of 402 yards. Woolley was fourth in scoring with five touchdowns and Warrack kicked 12 extra points.

Hawks Say Hull May Sign Soon

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bobby Hull may sign conditional papers today permitting him to rejoin the Chicago Black Hawks, but it is unlikely that he will play with the team for perhaps another week.

General Manager Tommy Ivan, in a statement released by the Black Hawks late

Tuesday, said from what he and Coach Billy Reay have seen of Hull's skating so far, he will not compete "this weekend."

However, while attorneys for both Hull and the Hawks tried to iron out final details of the conditional agreement.

Knicks Keep Flying In NBA Play

By United Press International
Once Dave DeBusschere caught his breath at halftime, there was no stopping the New York Knicks.

DeBusschere, playing his first game since suffering a broken nose Sunday night against Los Angeles, dumped 18 of his 24 points in the second half Tuesday night to pace New York to a 116-103 rout of San Francisco. The triumph was the Knicks' 10th straight, their 15th in 16 games this season, and helped them open a six-game lead in the Eastern Division.

The win also completed a five game road sweep for New York which now returns home for contests Thursday night against Chicago and Saturday night against Boston.

Other Games
In other NBA action Tuesday night, Atlanta beat Philadelphia, 124-107 for the Hawks' eighth straight victory. Milwaukee dumped Boston, 129-118. Detroit downed Los Angeles, 110-102, and Chicago beat Seattle, 106-100.

Lou Hudson, who tallied an NBA high this season of 37 points on Monday night, came back with 30 and teammate Joe Caldwell added 27 more for Atlanta as the Hawks upped their record to 11-3 and moved three and a half games in front in the Western Division. Billy Cunningham of the 76ers was high scorer with 37 points.

Law Alcindor of Milwaukee poured in 28 points, 16 of them from the foul line where he missed only one charity toss, as the Bucks handed the Celtics their fourth straight defeat. Flynn Robinson of the Bucks was high scorer with 31 points while John Havlicek paced the Celtics with 24.

Help Pistons Win
Reserves Terry Dischinger and Jimmy Walker helped the Pistons to their win over Los Angeles which extended its losing streak at home to four games. Dischinger scored 10 straight Detroit points in the third quarter after the Lakers had tied the score at 73-73 and Walker came off the bench in the final period to tally seven straight points.

Shocks Test Dons, Jr. Highs Battle

A couple of wild games should be on tap Thursday at home for Pampa football fans when Lee and Pampa Junior High eighth and ninth grade football teams end the season against each other.

The Pampa Shockers will conclude its season on the road in what also should be a wild and woolly finish. The Shockers, 6-3 for the season, journey to Amarillo to meet Palo Duro in a 4 p.m. game.

The Shockers, with their first winning season in three years already assured, have won two in a row. They are averaging 16.6 points per game on 150 points scored and have given up 128 points or an average of 14.2 points a game.

Lee and Pampa Junior High

ninth are just about as evenly matched as two teams can be despite the fact the Reapers have won just two games, lost five and tied one while the Rebels are 4-4 for the season.

Lee has scored 117 points, an average of just over two touchdowns and an extra point per game while the Reapers have scored 108 points, an average of 13.5 points per game. On defense Lee has given up 188 points, an average of 21 points per game and the Reapers have given up eight points less for a 20.1 per game average.

Lee eighth has posted a 7-1 record, won the conference championship and has won five in a row.

Pampa eighth is 1-6 but both clubs have played well defensively.

The Rebel eighth graders have given up just 40 points, an average of only five per game. The Reapers have given up 88, which is just 12.5 per game.

Lee has scored a lot more, 141 points for a 17.6 per game average while the Reapers have had their troubles, scoring only 32 points for a 4.5 average.

Lee eighth has beaten Pampa eighth twice, 20-0 in their first meeting and only 12-6 the second time the two teams played. The two ninth grades have met once this season and Lee edged the Reapers, 24-20.

Lee and Pampa ninth meet at 7:30 p.m. on Harvester Field while Lee and Pampa eighth play a 4 p.m. game on the same field.

Bufs Test BG Saturday At Home

CANYON — West Texas State University's Buffaloes won their third straight football victory Saturday in Kalamazoo, Mich., and pushed their season mark to 5-3.

Coach Joe Kerbel's Bufs used the bull-like rushes of fullback Duane Thomas and the gifted Redie, plus clutch defensive performances, in beating Western Michigan, 28-20.

The Buffaloes close their home slate at 2 p.m. Saturday in Buffalo Bowl, hosting strong Bowling Green. They wind up their season Nov. 29 in Hattisburg, Miss., against Southern Mississippi.

Thomas rambled for 169 yards in 25 efforts and scored three touchdowns as the Bufs scored all of their points in the second and third quarters. Redie was the second leading ball carrier with 45 yards in 14 carries and completed five of 10 passes for 106 yards.

Thomas, the Dallas senior, pushed his season total to 778 yards, thus insuring himself of his finest season at West Texas State in three years. He totaled 596 yards as a sophomore and last season ran for 708 yards. His three year total is 2,082 yards and he stands in fifth place among the school's all-time rushers.

Charles "Wire" Wright is in fourth place in the school's rushing leaders with 2,126 yards, 44 yards in front of Thomas. Pistol Pete Pedro's career total of 2,167 yards is also within east striking distance of Thomas.

Cagers Open In Tourney

Pampa Harvester basketballers, despite having only one parttime starter and no lettermen, back for 1969-70 basketball are not laying back and playing the weak ones this season.

Coach Sterling Gibson has enrolled his Green and Gold in tournament play to start things off and then comes right back to the Top O' Texas Tournament before opening district play Dec. 9 at home against Palo Duro.

Pampa opens the season Nov. 28 in El Paso in the Jefferson Invitational tournament that runs through Nov. 29. The Harvesters play at 1:30 p.m. on the 28th against El Paso Bel Air of District 2-AAAA. Bel Air sported a 19-6 record a season ago.

No matter how they do Pampa is assured of three games in the tournament, which will also have El Paso Burges, El Paso Cathedral, El Paso Amarillo High, Odessa Jefferson, High and Odessa Ector.

All of the schools are AAAA with Ector and Odessa in 3-AAAA, Jefferson and Bel Air in 2-AAA and Pampa and Amarillo in 4-AAA.

A Pampa win would put them against the Amarillo-Jefferson winner at 8:30 p.m. the same day and a victory against one of those two teams would mean championship finals at 8 p.m.

The Harvesters come back home to host their own tournament Dec. 4-6 and will feature such teams as Burkburrett, Canyon, Dumas, Elk City, Enid, Wichita Falls and Woodward. Pampa will participate in one other tournament, the Hobbs, N.M. affair, Jan. 1-3, a tournament they would love to win.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Prospects of whopping new tax bills may face Texans in 1971, 1973 and 1975 and a critical housing shortage within the next decade is likely.

Texas Research League heard the bad news at its 17th annual meeting here.

James W. McGrew, new Executive Director of the League and one of the state's top fiscal authorities, warned of the coming "decade of tax crisis" like that of 1950's.

McGrew sized up the 1971 tax bill as at least $270 million and maybe as much as $400 million. Furthermore, he predicted, a bigger one will be in store two years later and one not quite so big in 1975.

Standby sales tax (now at four and a quarter per cent in many areas) may be near its "political limitation". Implication was clear that new tax trails will have to be blazed.

Gov. Preston Smith said half the state's 2,803,000 housing units are "inadequate or substandard." He requested the League to study the problem and come up with recommendations as to the state's role in the housing field.

Housing shortage may reach "crisis proportions" in two years, Smith told League members. Needs over the next decade, he forecast, will demand $1.5 billion worth of construction a year in Texas. With the same period he said, housing will have to be found for 875,000 new Texas families, and slums and overcrowding must be eliminated.

Greatest prospect for solving problems of slums, contended the governor, lies in "effective programs of governments to assist sium residents in becoming home owners." Public housing and rent supplements, he maintained, "tend to isolate, poor, while providing no long-range changes in their situations."

Smith suggested a statewide building code may be needed and State Housing Authority may be helpful to coordinate efforts of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development with local governmental units.

APPOINTMENTS — Gov. Smith has nearly 1,000 appointments to make to more than 100 State boards, commissions, and study committees. It is a difficult time-consuming task. In most instances, his trouble is in finding a capable "can-do" type of man or woman who will or is allowed to accept an extra job, which is usually a non-paying one.

Here are some of the major new appointments made by the Governor:

Chairman, Board of Mental Health-Mental Retardation:

Ward R. Burke, Lufkin attorney.

Texas Air Control Board: Dr. Willie Lee Ulich, Texas Tech Engineering Professor.

Texas Liquor Control Board: Joe W. Burkett Jr., Kerrville Attorney; (reappointment).

Board of directors of the Red River Authority: Joe E. Wolverton, Wichita Falls, and Jim Beeson, Memphis.

Egg Marketing Advisory Board: George J. Laughead of San Antonio and John H. Nash Jr., Austin; Jack M. Dubose, Gonzales; Boyd H. Hilley, Lamesa; Gary H. Pace, Fort Worth, and D.W. Reneau, Seguin, (reappointments).

Proposed constitutional amendment to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink will be in the second spot in the Nov. 3, 1970, general election ballot.

Here's how drawings for other ballot places by Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. came out last week:

No. 1—Provision for removal, censure or retirement of appellate court judges and justices of the peace by a new Judicial Qualifications Commission.

No. 3—Uniform method for assessing farm, ranch and forest lands on a capability to produce basis.

No. 4—Making the State Bldg. Commission a three-member appointive agency.

COURTS SPEAK — Supreme Court split six to three in holding the constitutionality of the controversial Saturday-Sunday closing laws. Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert wrote the dissenting opinion, contending that the statute prohibiting the sale of 46 items on consecutive days of weekends should be knocked out.

High Court granted a writ of error and agreed to hear oral arguments on December 10 on Houston Landowners' complaints that the YMCA should not be allowed to erect a building in Houston's Post Oak Estates subdivision where lots are a minimum of three acres in size.

Supreme Court rejected the appeal of a Dallas man who claimed part interest in vast holdings of oil-businessman J.D. Wrather Jr.

Reversing an intermediate court and affirming a trial court, the state's top civil court held that neither party in a Gregg County auto accident case was entitled to damages.

Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed a 30-year sentence of black militant Lee Otis Johnson of Houston, convicted of possession of marijuana after he gave a "cigarette" to an undercover police agent.

U.S. District Court in Tyler ruled that a teacher cannot be dismissed from a job because of political activity.

From Congress
BOB PRICE NEW DISTRICT, TEXAS
THE CONGRESS OF THE FUTURE, WASHINGTON, D.C. - 20540

FOOD STAMP: The House adopted by a voice vote last week a resolution authorizing an increase from $340 million to $610 million for the Food Stamp Program this fiscal year. This provides all the money Secretary of Agriculture, Clifford Hardin, says can be efficiently spent in the remaining months of Fiscal 1970 which ends on June 30.

The Agriculture Committee has recently completed hearings on a bill to make the program permanent beginning in Fiscal 1971. The Food Stamp Program allows poor families to buy stamps at less than their total value. They may then be used to purchase groceries at participating food stores for the full face amount of the stamps.

BANK HOLDING COMPANIES: The House approved by a vote of 315 to 24, a bill to prevent large banks from owning such non-banking businesses as real estate, life and health insurance sales, farms or ranches, travel agencies, and other similar activities.

Proponents of the measure pointed out that when a large bank with millions of dollars in assets invades an industry, it can ruin competition and drive out small businesses by its size and economic power. In addition, the large bank, through its lending and financing activities has the power to force suppliers and other businessmen to give it preferred treatment.

AIRPORT IMPROVEMENTS: The House also approved last week a bill to improve the airport facilities of our country. This bill was proposed by President Nixon, initiated by the Department of Transportation, and drafted by the House Committee on Public Works.

The bill is designed to provide Federal assistance to states and local governments for the purpose of improving existing airport facilities and creating new airports where needed so that our Nation can adequately handle our growing air problem. The funds for these projects will come from taxes on the users rather than from general revenue.

Those who have travelled in an airplane recently realize full well the overcrowded conditions of our airports and the hazardous conditions that are created by our overcrowded skies.

RECENT WASHINGTON VISITORS: Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Jordan of Amarillo; Mrs. Clyde Pugh of Darrrouzett; Mrs. O. Winfred Nowlin of Perryton; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Hinkle of Pampa; John L. Hamum of Amarillo; and Senator Grady Hazlewood.

Pampa Families Host FU Delegates

Pampa hosts for the North Dakota Farmers Union members this week are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harnley, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rapstine. Adam Krauter, Clifford Solseth and Harold Wiltse are in Gray County to take part in the 1970

Farmers Union Flying Membership campaign. The delegates came to Amarillo Monday aboard the Farmers Unions Convair, along with 39 other members of the Union. They will spend the week in concentrated membership campaign. The shuttle flight will carry members in and out of six states. Dwyte Wilson, Denver, national membership director of the Farmers Union, said similar flying campaigns will be conducted in other states later.

Jay Naman, Waco, president of the Texas Union, said "The Flying Membership campaigns have one purpose... saving the farm program and raising farm income. There has never been a more critical time than now for farmers. Farm prices have not kept pace with farm costs. If we let our farm program expire, it will cost farmers more than $1 billion a year, according to the Department of Agriculture's own figures. A bill is now before the Congress to extend and improve the program. Instead of cutting it by more than $1 billion a year. But we must have grassroots efforts to get this legislation passed."

Robert Rapstine, president of Gray County Farmers Union, commended Mr. and Mrs. Harnley and Cole for taking part in the membership campaign. "The farm bill that is now before the Congress is sponsored by forty members of the Congress in both parties," Rapstine said. "It will raise feed grains prices by increasing loan rates. It will improve wheat income by extending the domestic certificate, and creating 55-cents-bushel exports certificate. It will further increase farm income by establishing 'Consumer Protection Reserves' of wheat, feed grains, soybeans and cotton. These reserves will make our supply-management programs workable."

Beatle Paul McCartney Stubbornly Claims He Is Alive And Well

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Paul McCartney of the Beatles stubbornly insists he is alive and well in England, but it is generally believed he is only whistling in the dark.

McCartney's opinion in the matter doesn't really count for much anyway. The important thing is the opinion of the thousands of Beatle fans who are convinced he is dead.

Although he may very well be telling the truth when he contends he is still among the living, his word simply won't stand up against overwhelming evidence to the contrary.

An indication of what McCartney is up against may be seen in a conversation I had with my daughter, who has been a Beatle fan since she was 6 months old.

I found her crying in her room and when I inquired as to the cause of her lamentations she pointed to a copy of Life magazine. It was turned to an article about Beatle fans who claim they have discovered clues on records and album jackets that McCartney was killed in a car wreck.

"Isn't that terrible?" she sobbed. "Poor Paul."

"But McCartney said he isn't dead," I pointed out.

"Oh, what does he know!" my daughter retorted.

Poor Paul, indeed! I mean, what's the point of being alive if nobody believes it?

I'm no psychologist but I think I can explain this phenomenon. It is my theory that Beatle fans are gripped by a form of mass hypnosis known as "reverse Tinker Bellism."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to Margie for seven months, and there is one thing we argue about constantly. Margie is the secretary for a bachelor, and he has asked her to telephone him every morning at 7 o'clock to wake him up! (He doesn't trust an alarm clock.)

I say that my wife isn't supposed to report for "work" until 8:30 a.m. and her employer has no right to expect her to call him at 7 a.m., as she is not "on duty" then. Margie says she does not mind calling him, and that I'm making a big deal over nothing. I say, my wife belongs to me at seven in the morning and I don't want her worrying about having to wake up her boss.

I would like your opinion. Also the opinion of your readers. MARGIE'S IRATE HUSBAND DEAR HUSBAND: I do not see any harm in Margie's calling her boss to wake him up, but if you do, then out of consideration for you, she should tell her boss to get somebody else to wake him up. (And by the way, if he doesn't "trust" an alarm clock, how about a rooster?)

DEAR ABBY: I have read in your column many letters from the family of the bride resenting bitterly the family of the bridegroom paying off their social obligations by inviting all their shirt-tail relatives, friends, neighbors, and business acquaintances to a wedding since it's paid for by the bride's parents.

I recently returned from the orient where I attended a wedding, and was informed of their solution to the wedding guest problem. Each family invites as many guests as they wish and each family pays for his own guests. Clever? A READER DEAR READER: Very!

DEAR ABBY: People keep writing in to say they can't stand the smell of tobacco, or garlic, or onions. Well, there are worse smells as far as I'm concerned.

I can't stand closer than three feet from my mother-in-law without becoming nauseated because she uses a heavy gardenia perfume which practically knocks me out. And those "air fresheners" that smell like pine and orange blossoms gag me.

It takes me a full hour of fresh air to get back to normal after dancing with one of my husband's clients who uses a popular men's fragrance that smells like jasmine! I'm about to give my favorite wrap to the Goodwill because my niece borrowed it and in spite of numerous airings I can still smell the perfume she must have bathed in before wearing it.

Maybe I'm a weirdo, but I'll take the smell of tobacco, garlic, or onions to some of those fancy exotic "fragrances" any day.

STINKY in FORT WORTH

DEAR ABBY: Of course that 54-year-old man should not (when he goes to St. Louis on frequent business trips) stay with the cute 24-year-old stewardess who's married to his nephew who's out of town a lot. That's ridiculous! Can you send me her address?

FOR WOMEN

Airline Executive Suggests Tool Kit

LOS ANGELES — Lay that monkey wrench down, lady, and listen to the voice of experience when it comes to tools and how to use them.

For housewives (and husbands) faced with the prospect of mini-repairs around the home, Joe Martina, assistant vice president-maintenance of an airline prescribes a small, inexpensive tool kit for ending frustration over loose screws, bent nails or squeaky appliances.

Martina, whose job is caring for the airline's half-a-hundred huge jet aircraft, says your mini-tool kit should include:

1) Screwdrivers. One with a quarter-inch blade and with a separate attachment to deal with regular-sized screws. Ignore the huge mechanic's type screwdrivers and leave the teeny ones to watch-makers.

2) Pliers. Strong and plain. Great for disconnecting jammed garden hose couplings or easing a stubborn lid from a can, particularly when the man around the house isn't there to help.

3) Adhesive tape, wide variety and tube of all-purpose glue. In some instances, the tape can be used for emergency first aid and is ideal for pottery and glass repairs. When wrapped around a leaky pipe, tape will stem the water flow until the plumber arrives.

4) All purpose oil can with applicator. Could save fingernails on a jammed window or take the squeak out of a cabinet door.

5) Work scissors. Save your dressmaking shears and have a tough pair in your tool kit for cutting everything from light wire to corrugated boxes.

"For two or three dollars," Martina said, "such a tool kit can easily be assembled. It should also be kept in a convenient spot at all times."

Martina ends his home repairs advice, stating:

1) Always use a small step ladder for high jobs. Never stand on a chair when doing a repairs.

2) Call a service man for trouble with furnaces or heaters.

3) Unplug all electrical appliances before handling or cleaning.

4) Never repair a frayed electrical cord. Buy a new one.

Veterans Day Offered Chance For Americans To Show Colors

By United Press International
Veterans Day today was the chance for Americans who support the administration's policy in Vietnam to show their colors.

Later this week, those opposed to the war will have their opportunity to demonstrate in a series of "Moralism day" protests focused on Washington. Today, on the holiday dedicated to the memory of the nation's war dead, was time for Americans who believe in the nation's course to show their feelings.

They did so in Veterans Day parades in towns and cities, by flying the flag in front of their homes and by driving with their car headlights on.

An administration spokesman, in ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery, invited what President Nixon has called "the great silent majority" to show their support of his policies on this day.

After the President's red, white and blue wreath had been laid at the Tomb of the Unknowns, Donald E. Johnson, head of the Veterans Administration, spoke:

"Today in Veterans Day ceremonies throughout our land, thousands of Americans are speaking up, proudly proclaiming their unshamed love of America and urging the overwhelming silent majority of their fellow Americans to join them in this declaration of love for, and faith in, our great country."

In Los Angeles, the nation's only living five star general, Omar N. Bradley, called on Americans to keep faith with the men who have died in battle.

Bradley, principal speaker at Veterans Day observances in the Los Angeles Coliseum, said:

"We must employ our strength, power and conscience boldly and righteously because we owe it to our country, to ourselves and to the millions of veterans living and dead, who have fought and still are fighting for our American heritage."

Washington Window

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Is the southern tip of California an odd place to be writing about Washington, and particularly the White House? Not at all.

This reporter is in San Diego for the 60th anniversary national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, an organization and a meeting that brings together college and professional journalists.

Going to a convention and all of its shop talk is one thing, but more important for a White House reporter is getting away from 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue and the nation's capital.

Prolonged or over-exposure to Washington can result in what former President Harry S. Truman once isolated and identified as "Potomac fever," a cerebral condition which produces visions of over-importance in the victim.

Other social scientists have identified the ailment simply as the "Washington syndrome," symptoms of which include delusions that all wisdom is centered in the District of Columbia.

Victims are known to refer to "out there" as anywhere beyond direct sight of the White

Atomic Energy Inspector in Area To Discuss Community Shelter

PANHANDLE — Dr. Elmer Rollins representing the Atomic Energy Commission was guest speaker and advisor during a conference in Panhandle formed to discuss a Community Shelter Plan in Civil Defense. Dr. Rollins was in the area to inspect shelters at the Pantex Ordnance Plant at the western edge of Carson County.

He was assisted by Claud Gay of AEC at Pantex; Pantex safety director, Herman Phillips, and Bobby Lemons, civil defense coordinator of Pantex.

President Gene Phillips, executive vice president, Howard Reynolds and Howard Lane, director, represented First National Bank of Panhandle where the conference was conducted.

Carson County Judge Clarence C. Williams; Sheriff John Nunn Carson County, and Deputy Grady Staff of Groom, represented the county staff interested in safety.

Fire Chief and local coordinator, Jack Quirk of Groom also attended. Felix Ryals, manager of the Water Conservation District 3 represented that board and the city of White Deer.

The city of Panhandle was represented by Mayor Richard E. Nunn and former mayor, Ralph E. Randal, along with City Manager Woodward J.C. McCollough and Alfred Bell

Inflation Can Decline Even With Costs Up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices, wages, government spending and business investment can keep rising and inflation still can be curbed, a member of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers said Tuesday.

Dr. Herbert Stein told a conference sponsored by the American Management Association that the question of "how much" is the overriding consideration.

Stein said the early 1960s taught that even a recession can occur while almost everything is going up. So, he said, the rate of inflation obviously can decline while virtually everything goes up and, therefore, the goal of administration policy is simply to see to it that things go up more slowly in 1970 than in 1969 and still more slowly in 1971.

County Argues Draft Notice Obscene Mail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It was a nice try at beating the draft, but of course it won't work.

Robert Blanch, 20, of San Rafael, filed a formal request with his postmaster asking that no more messages from his draft board be delivered under terms of a new federal law.

The law allows a citizen to refuse mailed advertisements which he considers obscene, and Blanch said, "I think a letter which orders people to be trained to kill is obscene."

But Charles Harper, a post office spokesman in San Francisco, said Tuesday that Blanch will be advised by certified letter he has misread the law. Harper won't argue whether the draft is obscene, but he will point out that the law says the offensive mail must offer something for sale—and a draft notice doesn't sell anything.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In a rather remarkable television development, NBC-TV has decided to stand by its entire prime time lineup of entertainment series without making a single midseason change.

That, in short, means none of the network's 24 series will be canceled. Usually there is a fatality here and there among new shows. But NBC-TV's announcement makes clear that not only will there be no cancellations—but every show will remain in its current time period. Rather frequently, programs are shifted about to improve a network schedule.

The seven new shows NBC-TV is sticking with are "My World and Welcome to It," the Debbie Reynolds series, "Then Came Bronson," "Bracken's World," "The Bold Ones," the Bill Cosby program and the Andy Williams hour.

Those returning from last season are "Laugh-In," "I Dream of Jeannie," "Julie," "The Virginian," "Kraft Music Hall," "Daniel Boone," "Ironside," "Dragnet," the Dean Martin Show, "The High Chaparral," "The Name of the Game," "Adam 12," the Walt Disney hour, "Bonanza" and the Monday, Tuesday and Saturday night movies.

NBC-TV's stand-pat decision marks the first time it has

Lone Gunman Cut Down By Bullet Wound In The Neck

HOUSTON (UPI)—A gunman who tried to rob a newly opened jewelry store battled police inside one of Houston's largest department stores Tuesday shooting three policemen and a wig saleslady before being cut down by a bullet in the neck.

Hundreds of shoppers in Foley's Department Store, which takes up almost an entire block in the downtown area, ducked behind candy and cosmetic counters and dashed behind posters to avoid more than a dozen bullets fired inside the store.

The wounded were identified as Lt. Leon Michna, Det. Ken Waycott, patrolman R. L. Carver and Ellia Narvaez, a clerk at the store's wig counter.

None of those wounded was killed, but two policemen required immediate surgery.

The robber was shot by Det. Allen Rockwell. The gunman, who fell bleeding heavily in front of a pastry counter, was in critical condition.

Police Lt. Chester Massey said the gunman first tried to rob the Aaron Wolfson jewelry store across the street from Foley's. Massey said the attempted jewelry robbery was aborted by Michna, who tried to arrest the robber. In the ensuing struggle, Michna was shot and a stray bullet hit Miss Narvaez as she stood behind the wig counter.

Three Guns Used To Kill Husband

GOLDTHWAITE, Texas — A Goldthwaite woman was being held Monday night in Mills County jail after her husband was shot to death with three different guns.

John Bruce Cole, 40, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Police said Cole was shot with a 410 shotgun, a 22 caliber rifle and another shotgun of unknown caliber.

Charges were expected to be filed today.

Goldthwaite is about 20 miles southeast of Brownwood in Mills County.

Hippies Take Over 'Strip' After Dark

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — It's hard to believe that it's the same street, day and night. Tourists call it "Sunset Strip." Locals don't. To them, it's just "The Strip" if they speak of it at all.

In the daytime, it's just another hunk of main artery. Sunset Boulevard runs some 5 miles, from the Pacific Ocean on the west to downtown Los Angeles on the east. From the beach between Malibu and Santa Monica due east, wriggling and squirming, past Dodger Stadium until it dead ends into Union Station.

Twenty-five miles, more or less. And maybe a mile and a half of that, at the most; is what they call The Strip.

In the daytime, you would not look at it twice. It's an unattractive assortment of buildings. A few high-rise office buildings, but mostly old, undistinguished and indistinguishable structures.

It's a mish-mash of shops, beauty parlors, restaurants, a couple of theaters, a hotel or two. And a bunch of night clubs, which is what made it famous to begin with. In the old days this was the center of Hollywood's night life. The clubs on The Strip were the best. The stars came down here every night to play. And, in the days when Hollywood was world famous for its glamor, the Sunset strip was the place where most of the glamor went nights to unwind.

No more. Except for an occasional slumming trip, the top stars of today would not be caught dead on The Strip.

So there it is, in the daylight hours, pretty shabby and shabby. It looks like a slice of your main street.

But at night it springs to life, like a caterpillar turning into a butterfly every 4 hours. It's a pretty sleazy butterfly, but at least it flies.

At night, The Strip isn't undistinguished any more. It is crawling with humanity, packed on the sidewalks, spilling over into the gutter, dodging the bumper-to-bumper traffic of sightseers.

This is where the hippies — a dead term, but nothing has replaced it — live. The scene isn't San Francisco any more. Haight fell on its Ashbury. The real hippies have dispersed into the countryside communes. The plastic hippies are here. Barefeet. Beards. Miniskirts. Blue sunglasses even at night. Guitars over their shoulders. Birds and dogs and white mice.

They come out of their pads in the hills at night and come down to the Strip. They walk around. They stand outside Whiskey-a-Go-Go and watch the tourists go in. They window shop at the boutiques — The Psychedelic Conspiracy ("We have Super Grass") and Pleasure Dome and Head East and The Look and Changes.

They stop the tourists and ask for bread. They sit on the sidewalk and talk about whatever it is they talk about on sidewalks. They try to avoid the police, who are there in force, stopping the kids and asking for their IDs and breaking up fights between tourists who laugh and hippies who resent.

The neon signs tell the story of The Strip at night, neon signs that are dead in the daytime. The Body Shop. "The Nude Thing Top To Bottom."

Diana Prefers Milan To Motown

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — For some, show business is a passport. The visa reads: "You may enter the world, baby."

That's how it was, and is, for Diana Ross, the supremest of The Supremes. Cashing in on her wonderful singing skill and her extreme good looks, she has come a long way from Detroit.

"I'm still the same girl I was in Detroit," she says. "I hope I am. I liked that girl."

"I used to rattle and dance and play with my brothers. And I still do."

But there is sophistication around the edges now. The little girl from Detroit talks easily now about which restaurant she likes best in Milan. And the proper way to cook escargots.

And how she's doing with her tennis lessons. "I've found my place in the sun," she says.

She means, for one thing, Los Angeles as a place to live. She moved here six months ago.

"I used to like Detroit. But I guess I've just outgrown it. It's so square. I go there now and it's like going to Siberia."

California has other advantages, besides its ponsquareness. This is where the show business world is centered. She wants to do movies — when a good part comes along. She'd like to do more television, like her coming Nov. 12 NBC special.

"I want to do everything there is in the world," she says, throwing her arms wide. "Next week, I'm going to Tijuana to see my first bullfight. I want to go on safari. I want to learn to be a good cook."

The world is waiting. And Diana Ross is eager.

WOLF
You might call this a wolf of a dilemma.

Officially, says Irwin Rosen, who produced NBC's Nov. 18 special, "The Wolfmen, wolves are an endangered species."

They've fallen from a population in North America estimated at two million when the Pilgrims arrived to somewhere around 6,000 now. They face extinction. And yet, at the same time, the state of Alaska still has a bounty on them.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TEXAS PANHANDLE
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me!

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others. To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

H. L. Hunt Writes

"FOR" REPUBLIC U.S.A.

A highly constructive U.S. Senator, responding to the moratorium marches of October 15, called for observance of Veteran's Day yesterday as a national day of patriotism. Those who love this great nation and who recognize that our greatness comes from personal freedom, the individual initiative and personal enterprise system and an abiding faith in God, should answer the call to this colors from now on.

Many of the moratorium marches are basically anti-government and have openly avowed overthrow of the Republic USA in favor of a communistic state. Contrasted to these on Veterans Day were those "FOR" the Republic USA. Those "FOR" believe in representative government as envisioned by our Founding Fathers. Those "FOR" respect our nation and national flag, honor our traditions and take pride in the courage, dedication and sacrifice of Patriots, past and present, who figure this country is worth fighting for and, if necessary, dying for.

Those "FOR" believe in property rights and personal rights and personal freedoms. Those "FOR" want domestic law and order which permits a private citizen to be safe and secure in his person and property and enjoy the fruits of his labor without molestation. Each individual citizen can publicize the message of freedom by writing Letters to the Editor supporting National Unity Week. Each one can stand up and be counted and rededicate his personal loyalty and support to the Republic USA. Unity Week can be the time when the inactive majority who have stood silent all too long act constructively to express their Patriotism.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

Here it comes. The boondoggies are busting up the country. Property taxes have been stretched to the breaking point. Consumers in many states are paying 5 cents on the dollar in sales taxes. Business taxes are passed on to consumers. Social Security taxes nearly 5 percent of earnings. In some jurisdictions there now are federal, state and local income taxes. . . . The commissioners blame the governors, the governors blame the federal bureaucrats, the bureaucrats blame the Vietnamese and the Vietnamese blame the Russians. I guess if it wasn't for the Ruskiens we wouldn't be taxed.

State governor now are saying they were "lured" into a lot of new spending programmes with the promise of federal aid. But when the bureaucrats asked them if they wanted the programs they all shouted "We do, we do!" And they still do. . . . There are now over 100 federal-assistance programs, there are 400 to 1,000 which require a long-range operational "plan" to qualify for finding. Every federal agency has its own little "empire" and they won't give it up.

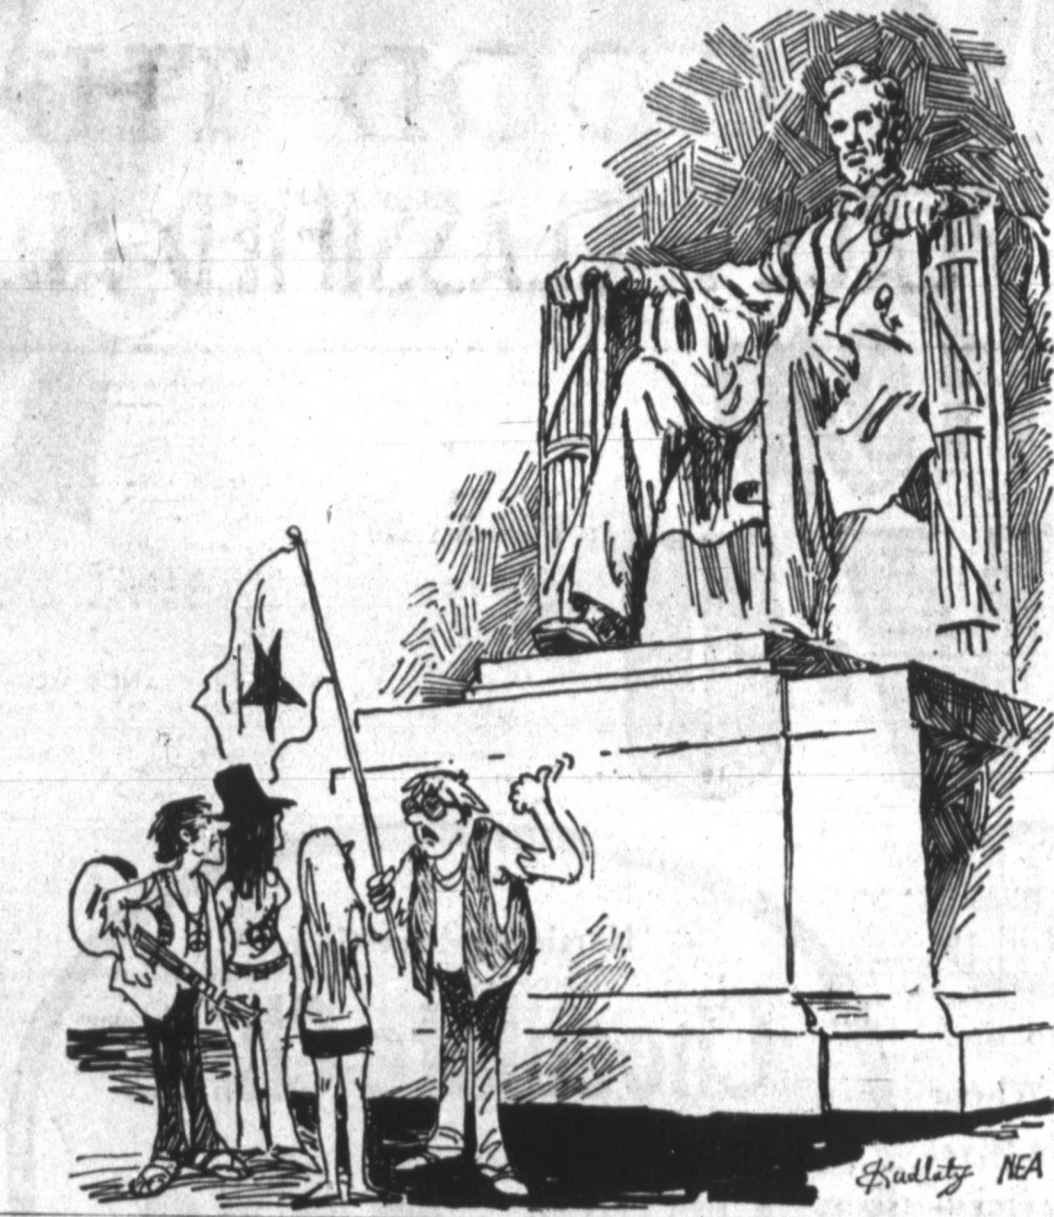

Taxpayers are choked till their eyes bug out. They are tired of programs that cost money but don't solve any problems. Every level of government is squirming like a worm on a riverbank. But they are all trying to pass the buck. Local bureaucrats would like to transfer their headaches of welfare and education to the feds. But they are afraid they might lose control over policies, which they would. So they squirm. . . . There is definitely a need for overhaul from top to bottom if the people of this society are to survive the remaining years of this century. The taxpayer no longer needs to be afraid of being picked clean — he's already picked clean. . . .

Humans Cruel To Each Other

By ROBERT LEFEVRE

I have often been called an anarchist. Since this identification is not correct, I've been at some pains to try to explain to my friends (my enemies would not believe me anyway) why I am not and can't be an anarchist.

Like me, the anarchist lays the basis of his belief upon the bedrock principle of individual liberty. And as he constructs his philosophy from this foundation, it takes only modest intelligence to realize that our problems, which are many, can be reduced to man's inhumanity to man. Let's face it. Human beings treat human beings abominably. We war upon each other. We are cruel and thoughtless in regard to others. And we formalize these wars and this cruelty within governmental structures which employ force as the summa qua non of the practical.

One need not study the facts of the case long before one realizes that government, in itself, contains the real problems we face. . . . But it is here that the anarchists go off on a tangent. Instead of continuing to champion human liberty, they begin to call for the overthrow of government. They begin to equate liberty with the absence of government. . . . Let me be entirely candid about it. I believe that we would all be much better off if we had either a great deal less government or a total absence of government. Yet, at the same time, I would counsel no action whatever that would seek to overthrow the government. . . . Why, if I really believe the state to be evil? Because, in point of fact, the evil of government is not in the instrument of government per se. Government is merely a structure. Remove the men from government and government, of itself, could do nothing. To hate the state is to concentrate my abhorrence upon a symbol, a myth, a zero. Remove that zero and we would be back where we are. If you take nothing from something, you still have the something left.

Government is merely a formalization of man's inhumanity to man. Remove the formalization and you are left with man's inhumanity to man. But it is that inhumanity which is at the root of the problem, not the mere formalization. . . . And what are the methods that anarchists recommend? Invariably they begin with high-sounding ideals relating to human dignity and human liberty. But they end by saying, "We will stop at nothing to overthrow the state."

It is as though they supposed that if you took a fancy dress tuxedo off the back of a bully, he would no longer be a bully. That is illusion. Given the bully, you have the problem with him, whether he wears blue jeans or ermine. This is a point which anarchists overlook. Thus they concentrate their energies in the field of revolution, holding that it will take the force of their disorganized and despotic selves to counter the force of the organized and despotic holders of political power. . . . But wait. If it is despotism that the anarchists so despise, then despotism can't be uprooted by a despotism in reverse. What makes them susceptible to the illusion that despotism in their hands would be benevolent, while they recognize that in the hands of an organized team of statist despots is evil? The name of the despot is of small consequence. He can be elected Smith or usurper Jones, and the result is the same. . . . The problem with anarchists is that they do not have the intellectual capacity to adhere to the principles of liberty which they presume to espouse. They want liberty up to a point. Then they are mentally derailed and go screaming after the state which they propose to hang. . . . But this is to presume that if they hang an effigy, they have hanged a villain. The anarchists are masters of self-deceit. And albeit I can't help but admire them so long as they speak of human liberty and revere it, I can't help but deplore their rantings when they flout human liberty in an effort to re-create it. . . . And let me go to the end of the line. Let me assume that somehow the anarchists achieved a success, which at the moment is wholly unlikely. They would have gained their ends only by the concentration of power in their hands. Their method is to rely on power. And it will surely take an enormous amount of power for them to uproot entrenched and organized power establishments. Then what? They would quickly find that they had to employ a ruthlessness and a viciousness to "convert" millions to their beliefs. And this would be, for me, an exchange of a condition where I sizzle in the frying pan of high taxes and regulations, for quick extermination in the bonfires of hate. This is why I am not an anarchist. I favor freedom and do not propose to permit myself to be derailed.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The early Roman festival of Saturnalia was a feast somewhat similar to our holiday of Christmas. Originating as a harvest celebration, it commemorated the joyful period under Saturn when brotherhood was to have reigned supreme. The World Almanac says that the festival not only provided a holiday from public business, but it was also a time when sincere kindness, good will and giving of gifts prevailed.

Inside Washington

JOHN GOLDSMITH

Negro Leader Speaks Out

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — One outstanding Negro leader has finally had the fortitude and integrity to publicly denounce the steadily soaring black crime rate and the failure of black leaders to forthrightly condemn that.

This remarkable censure comes from Sterling Tucker, vice chairman of the Washington City Council, Democratic National Committee member of the District of Columbia, and minister of the 19th Street Baptist Church.

Citing the dire fact that the capital now "ranks among the highest in crime in the nation," Tucker bluntly declared the time has come for black leaders to speak out clearly and forcefully. Their continued failure to do so, he asserted, "lays an intolerable burden on the black man himself."

It is not enough, Tucker held, to place the blame on social, economic and other conditions. The validity of these charges is unquestionable. But they still are not the whole story. "We know and we agree," said Tucker, "that in the last analysis at the root of crime are the desperate conditions of the ghetto, and all the vicious forces that push the poor urban blacks outside of society. But while I'm deeply disturbed about the conditions that perpetuate the ghetto and foster crime, there is something else that also disturbs me."

What disturbs me is the failure of black leadership to speak out against crime itself. "I do not hear their voices raised against the robbery and burglary and rape that is perpetrated on our people, against the gun-toting that turns our streets into a-eyes of fear. The statistics rise, but they maintain an aloof silence."

And it disturbs me because their silence most damages the black community itself. Tucker conceded this silence is understandable as black leaders have been concentrating on "society's crimes against our people, the tragic injustices of our system, and on the attitudes and vicious practices of a fascist white majority that have kept our people so long in poverty and despair."

But while castigating police brutality and bigotry, he continued, "Our attention has been diverted from crime itself." Attacking and forcing changes in the system is good, but disregarding the growing menace of black crime is "not so good."

MINCING NO WORDS — This silence by black leaders, Rev. Tucker maintained, "encourages certain assumptions that are degrading and dangerous." "It tends to encourage the assumption," he contended, "that crime is only a function of poverty and injustice. It tends to justify the crime rate in terms of the cost of living. Bleeding hearts, both black and white, say in so many words, 'You steal because you're poor. You're not responsible for your poverty, therefore you are not really responsible for your crimes.'"

"This attitude is highly injurious, not only to society but most particularly to the recipient of all this commiseration and sympathy, the black man himself. It is degrading, it is harmful, and it is false." Citing how false it is, Tucker pointed to the fact that crime in Washington "not only is higher than in most cities, but is growing faster."

"Our rate of crime increase is triple the national average," he pointed out. "Statistics for the first six months of this year show robberies in the District were up 46 per cent, rape up 50 per cent, and other crimes also were far above those of last year."

It is also false, Tucker asserted, "because those who steal are not those who are trying to make ends meet." That is one of the worst fallacies of all. "Those who steal," he said, "are not those who are trying to meet the monthly rent bill, the gas bill and all the other bills. They are not those who are trying to feed their children and clothe them. Those who are doing that, those who are really fighting the cost of living, are not the ones who steal and rape and murder."

For that reason, the outspoken Negro leader declared, "We must not let the injustices of society, cruel as they are, muffle our alarm over crime." "We must speak out," he insisted. "The burden of being black is bad enough. The burden of being poor is bad enough. What we certainly do not need is the additional burden of being told, 'You steal because you are poor.' What we do not need is to condone and tacitly support the assumption that we are not—morally responsible."

Black people and their leaders are morally responsible for the widespread prevalence of crime among them, and the time has come when they must speak out and do something constructively about it. "We do not need this erosion of our dignity," Tucker said. "We must not let society hang this on us."

So far these extraordinary pronouncements have drawn no response from the many other Negro leaders in Washington. They have been greeted with the same tight-lipped silence that Tucker so scathingly condemns on the grievous issue of black crime.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Operation Is Necessary For Gallstone Removal

Q—What is meant by cholecystitis with lithiasis? What is the best treatment for it?

A—Cholecystitis is an inflammation of the gall bladder and lithiasis is the presence of stones. The best treatment is removal of the gall bladder because this will prevent agonizing attacks of gallstone colic and chronic infection of the gall bladder.

Q—X-rays showed stones in my gall bladder. Can they be treated without an operation?

A—No.

Q—Is gall bladder trouble more common in women than in men? If so why?

A—Yes, but no reason has as yet been discovered.

Q—My side is always sore and there is a bitter taste in my mouth all the time. My doctor says I have a non-functioning gall bladder. What treatment is recommended?

A—Your symptoms are not necessarily related to your non-functioning gall bladder. For the latter, a low-fat diet and avoidance of alcohol is the best treatment. In some cases, antispasmodic drugs are helpful.

Q—I had my gall bladder removed eight years ago but the attacks are worse than they were before. What could cause this?

A—This is an oft-repeated story. The most likely cause is colitis.

Q—My gall bladder has been removed. Will eating too much fat overwork my liver?

A—No, but it might tax the digestive ability of your intestinal tract.

Q—I am a housewife, 53. I have hardening of the arteries and am on a low cholesterol diet. The health food store recommended lecithin which I am taking. What will it do for me?

A—Recent study indicates that while this emulsifying agent will not dissolve gallstones that have already formed, it will prevent the formation of new ones. Although it may help to lower your cholesterol level it is not nearly as effective for this purpose as large doses of niacin.

Q—What is lithium? What effect does it have on a person?

A—Lithium is a light metal. Its salts are effective in the treatment of some forms of depression.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Branstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Branstadt can't answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Crime No Longer Practical

At last count, some two-dozen major cities had adopted the exact change plan in their public transportation systems. Under this plan, a bus or rapid transit rider must deposit the exact fare in coins or a ticket he has purchased in advance, or else receive change for a bill in script, which he can later redeem at designated locations.

After some initial grumbling, the method has been generally accepted by riders and has been found to increase efficiency of operations by relieving drivers of the distracting business of change-making. But the major purpose behind the idea — deterring robberies — has been even more dramatically realized.

Most cities report impressive decreases in the number of attacks on drivers, who no longer have to carry large amounts of money to make change. In Cleveland, Ohio, for example, where scores of robberies and one or two killings of bus drivers used to be registered every year, the problem has been reduced virtually to zero.

This raises some interesting thoughts. One wonders what has happened to those hoodlums who once made a specialty of preying on bus drivers. Undoubtedly they have gone into other lines of crime, but it is at least possible that some would-be criminal beginners have been forced to stay straight simply because, in this instance at least, crime is no longer practical.

One wonders what would happen if an equivalent of the exact-change plan could be devised for other categories of crime that figure prominently in the FBI's annual index — for banks, perhaps, where modern interior design of openness and friendliness actually invites robbery.

One wonders what would happen to the homicide rate, the bulk of which is accounted for by unpremeditated murders of passion involving family members or friends, if the general availability of firearms were reduced.

One wonders what would happen if our city streets were so well-lighted and so well-patrolled that mugging were transformed into a highly risky way of making a living.

Criminals, they say, are not born but made. And one neglected factor in their making is that society has never undertaken, nor been willing to pay for, a really comprehensive and scientific exploration of the field of crime deterrence.

Local Tax Reform Needed

(Texas Tax Journal)

Everybody is talking about tax reform at the federal level. Nearly everybody is in agreement that the goal of a more equitable federal tax system is eminently desirable. However, federal taxes are but part of the tax story. There is also a mountain of state and local taxes, many of a discriminating nature.

A bill has now been introduced in Congress that eliminate discriminatory property tax assessments against common carriers. The railroads have long been a classic victim of this type of local taxation. Testifying in support of congressional action on this matter, a top rail spokesman warned that unfair state and local property tax policies could sap the economy vitality of the nation's rail carriers, if unchecked. He said, "Unaided, we can do little about this destructive erosion — we can only attempt to survive it."

And a part of the cost of survival must be passed on to the shippers — who must, in turn, pass it on to consumers. An industry like ours does not exist in a vacuum. The public needs the services of the railroads, and any inequalities we suffer ultimately must be felt by the public." This rail spokesman emphasized strongly that in seeking relief from discriminatory local taxation the rails are not asking favors. Again, in his words, "we seek only the same treatment accorded other taxpayers — in other words, fairness, and nothing more."

The railroads have always been a cornerstone of state and local revenues. With costs of operation soaring in the face of a minimal rate of return on net investments, the ability of the rails to continue to serve as a financial cornerstone of local government makes "tax reform" at the local level imperative.

A Way For Users To Pay

While various governmental agencies are proposing assorted and sundry subsidies for airports, Forbes magazine has come up with a way to provide some funds for modernizing airports. Says Forbes:

"Our airports and airways desperately need modernizing. One reason for delay we're told is the need for money. "Can you think of any good reason not to do as so many European countries do — impose on each passenger a moderate "use" tax every time he uses an airport for take-off? "At one dollar a throw, such a tax could raise perhaps $165 million annually. Even at present interest rates, such revenue could cover a couple of billion dollars worth of airport and air traffic improvement bonds."

Believing that any government services should be paid for by the users, we think Forbes has made a valid suggestion.

Commies Protect Themselves

Some people say capitalists are greedy individuals who look out for themselves first and pay no mind to their fellows. In fact that's one of the reasons some of the intelligentsia around the colleges and universities say they want to destroy the capitalist system and replace it with socialism.

We thought of that when we read the following from U.S. News & World Report for Oct. 27:

"Swiss banking sources report a noticeable rise in the amounts of money being deposited in secret, numbered accounts owned by East European Communists. This is taken as a sign of declining confidence in the present leaders of the Soviet Union."

Who's looking out for No. 1?

Poor Richard Stung On Stone

The Burton Bauble

NEW YORK (NEA) — Take these facts:
 Less than two years ago, a 69.42-carat pear-shaped diamond was sold by jeweler Harry Winston for $55,000.
 Less than a month ago that same diamond brought $1,050,000 at auction when Cartier Jewelers purchased it at Parke-Bernet Galleries.
 Immediately after, Cartier resold the gem to Richard Burton as a bauble for Elizabeth Taylor. The price was undisclosed, but a jewelry expert figures it to have been $1,100,000.
 Why? What caused the tremendous increase in value in an admittedly beautiful gem, but one of several such stones in existence?
 It's a question that can't be answered. As Winston said, "There is a mystery somewhere and poor Richard Burton is the victim."

 Winston, who brought the 240-carat rough diamond from De Beers in 1966 and spent nearly eight months cutting it, had his own bid in at the auction. But it was much lower than the winner.
 "I'm not going to pay twice what it is worth," he said.
 Winston, who sells gems to what royalty is left in the world as well as the untitled rich, says he has only once sold a stone for over $1 million. That went to Greek shipping owner Stavros Niarchos. It was 420 carats in the rough and yielded three perfect stones, a 123-carat pear-shaped stone known as the Niachos Diamond, a 45-carat emerald-cut stone and a 27-carat marquis cut.

"There's a story behind the Cartier Diamond that we'll never know," he says. "But a dealer just didn't pay $1,500 a carat. Possibly they were buying it for someone who then wedged. That happened to me once. A woman called me, a good customer, and asked how high I was planning to bid for a certain stone at auction. When I told her, she asked if I would bid 15 to 20 per cent higher and she would pay me a five percent commission.
 "I got the stone and when she came to see it she said she didn't like it as much as she had at the auction house. She didn't take it. What are you going to do? Sue?"
 Cartier exhibited the Burton diamond in its New York store for a week and drew an average of 6,000 people a day. Then it was taken to Chicago. Elizabeth Taylor Burton will take possession soon.

TCCC Reports Many "Schemes", "Deals"

(Editor's Note: There is virtually no Texan who has not been victimized, knowingly or unknowingly by an in- or unscrupulous repairman or dealer in some form of consumer service. This report spotlights the situation.)

By ANN ARNOLD
 AUSTIN (UPI) — "there's a sucker born every minute," P. T. Earnum used to say. And Texas officials are convinced there are enough con men and just plain crooks to victimize every one of them.

The Texas Consumer Credit Commission reports an endless variety of schemes and "deals" in which thousands of Texans are "taken" every year. They include:
 — A smooth talking salesman gets $13,000 out of a lonely old lady for more dancing lessons than she could possibly live to use.
 — A mechanic convinces unsuspecting car owners that their auto transmissions are "in horrible shape" and collects $300 from each after changing only a few bolts.
 — Con men flashing pictures of nonexistent dormitories and classrooms convince illiterate parents to fork over $600 to $1,000 or sign notes to send their children to business college.
 State laws give officials authority to put the con men out of business once they are found out, but do little to help those who have already been victimized or to prevent the unscrupulous from moving into new rackets.

Limited Action
 "We're limited now to getting an injunction to prohibit the guy from using the same scheme again, but these salesmen just move on into other things," said consumer credit commissioner Francis A. Miskell.
 Miskell's proposals for legislation to empower officials to demand refunds for shysters' victims and to provide a three-day "cooling off period" for people to cancel agreements with door-to-door salesmen did not win approval from lawmakers this year.

Another measure he sought without success would have allowed courts to revoke "unconscionable" contracts even when the agreements meet normal legal tests.

"This would allow us to do something about contracts that are just unreasonable on the face such as an 80-year-old woman who signs up for 20 years of dancing lessons," Miskell said.

Some Refunds
 In some cases threats of prosecution and publicity have led to partial refunds for victims. Miskell's office and local officials last year staged a statewide investigation into home improvement frauds and got one major finance company to cancel all its loans of $1,500 or less and refund part of the money it had collected.

"But when we get into these things we're so late we're sort of like the ambulance people going to a wreck — you're never going to be the same after you get in the hands of one of these people," Miskell said.

One of the biggest areas of complaints today is in the field of the so-called business schools.

Trouble in Dallas
 Nearly 100 youngsters from poverty-stricken areas of rural Mississippi and Louisiana borrowed up to $195 for their tuition and spent all they could scrape together to get to Dallas for a school that promised guaranteed jobs after graduation.
