Step Mourning We might as well face it. The great European market, which took off our hands vast surpluses of farm products in the 1920's, is gone forever.

It never did exist, really, because during the World War the need was abnormal, and afterward the trade was largely supported by huge loans.

Ever since the war, men have been dreaming of the return of this market to a "normal" which never was normal. Desperate moves toward self-sufficiency by all European countries, the rise of new and competing producing areas, the walling up of trade areas by totalitarian countries—all these have combined to destroy a market which once took the products of 50,000,000 acres of American farm land.

Secretary Wallace admits that this market is gone forever. The present trade difficulty with Germany, while it will cut down German imports here, will also further reduce export of cotton, for which Germany was a good customer. Overwhelming surpluses of cotton will continue to pile up.

There are two ways of facing this problem. One is to develop, insofar as possible, markets in the western hemisphere to replace those lost in Europe. Secretary Wallace is hard at work on this, and it is possible that some good can be accomplished in this way. But it will take time, planning, and government money.

Another approach is more immediate and more direct. Farmers in one-crop areas are beginning to realize that the great European export market is lost for good.

There is not, and cannot be, any permanent future in producing for a market that is gone, despite any generosity the government can muster. More and more such farmers, directed by wise and forward-looking local leaders, especially in the south, are turning to crop diversification, raising vegetables, or dairying, to supply things now generally missing from the diet of the people.

A manufacturer who stubbornly went on building 45-cylinder automobiles that nobody could buy, and selling them up in a warehouse, would be considered cracked. But a farmer who continues to raise cotton and wheat that nobody can buy is just unfortunate.

More and more of them are thinking hard about raising things that people can buy. The soy bean has gone from a novelty into an important staple within 10 years. Many a farmer has found that well-tended woodland on his farm yielded him more than fields in unwanted crops. The domestic need for vegetables and dairy products in many regions has never been supplied at all.

Before the problem can be solved it must be faced. Realization that the European markets of the 1920's are gone forever is the first step.

The Nation's Press

HITLER'S PROGRESS EASTWARD (Chicago Tribune) The second phase of Hitler's eastern program now causes the dissolution of the Czechoslovakian union. Slovakia is a state independent in theory, a German dependency in fact. The Czechs are restricted to the confines of Bohemia and German influence over the whole territory is virtually consolidated.

These developments were implied in the Munich agreement, although at the time France and Great Britain endeavored to soften the actual bluntness of the surrender by professions of concern for the Czechoslovakians and promises that they would receive financial aid and the guaranty of their restricted frontiers. Nothing came of that.

Mr. Chamberlain probably realized at the time that the considerations which had prompted him to buy the peace of Europe would remain in force and that the Munich agreement meant that western Europe had abandoned all programs which might conflict with Germany's expansion in the east. The French frontiers, after 20 years of power politics, are in France, and there is no excuse for the American frontiers being anywhere except in America.

The surgical operation which began last fall has aroused the indignation of a great many people: exhibiting, as they thought, a ruthlessness on the part of the aggressors and a subsmissiveness on the part of the defenders which, if it continued, would engulf the freer peoples. There was a warm spot in American feelings for Czechoslovakia, possibly in recognition of the success of American ideas in his post-war republic.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

TARIFF WALL BETWEEN STATES

Few people realize the extent to which subterfuge has brought about tariff between states. From the report prepared by Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Secretary Wallace reports as follows: Kansas has established 66 "ports of entry" on main highways entering the state, where officials stop all traffic, exactly as customs' officials do on the borders of European countries and make investigations and, among other things subject motor vehicles to taxes, regulations, etc.

Oklahoma has 58 similar "customs" establishments, while Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Nebraska, New Mexico, Utah have become infected with the same idea.

The report continues that practically every state has set up some kind of machinery, or barrier, to protect its industries as well as its farms, from competition from all other states.

Commenting on this, B. C. Forbes, says: "Isn't this an extraordinary situation? "Time and time again the United States Supreme Court has ruled against the imposition of tariffs by one state on products of any nature whatsoever entering from other states. But this authoritative compilation reveals that state legislators and other bodies have contrived to get around the principle of free interstate trade.

"Incalculable economic loss" is being inflicted on the American people by these tactics, practices, discriminations, the report strongly emphasizes. "That statement can be accepted as indisputable.

"The whole facts should be brought prominently to the attention of the American people, with particular pains taken to bring home to them how their well-being is injured by the growth of barriers to nationwide, unrestricted commerce.

"The present trend indisputably is utterly unhealthy unAmerican."

OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUTH

In most every country, rebellions usually have sprung from the youth of the land. And there is a very good reason for this, if the other countries are treating the youth of the land the way the people in the United States are treating them.

In the first place, we are coddling them, which is a most unfair treatment. But our greatest mistreatment of the youth is the combinations that prevent them from having fair opportunity to learn. We have built fences so that the youth cannot pry into the economic structure. We have done this by the labor unions' practices of preventing people from learning trades, by professional men's association, by business men's association, by profrats, by tariff laws and now by minimum wage laws and other laws that restrict the individual, limiting the number of hours he dare work, etc.

It is no wonder the youth of the land resents the combinations to keep him subservient to the exacting order.

It is truly a step in the caste system, that outlaws the youth of the land.

And yet the public thinks it is treating the young people fairly. Instead of treating them fairly, we should bow our heads in shame as to the unfair treatment we have given the youth of the land.

MIGHT BE A SAFETY VALVE

Henry S. McKee, author of "Degenerate Democracy" in writing in the Los Angeles Times, suggests that possibly things will get so bad, because of government regulation and restriction, that men with ability cannot do anything in private life and will, thus, be attracted to government service.

The trouble of course, under universal suffrage, is to elect these men. Until the public schools and the majority of people come to understand some simple fundamentals of economics, they cannot be elected and this lesson seems to be an extremely expensive lesson; namely, the destruction of the savings of centuries.

Possibly men of insight and foresight will accept the responsibility of sponsoring private education, in order to soften the costly lesson of hard experience, that is bound to follow from majority rule public education.

Behind The News Of The Day

Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, March 24.—One of the sharpest blows yet leveled at the New Dealer's relief system is being swung by a man who, ironically enough, is in a position to swing it because of the one success which the presidential "purge" of last autumn had.

Congressman Edward Eugene Cox of Georgia is the gentleman in question. He has put forward a resolution to investigate WPA from top to bottom, and his ultimate aim is nothing less than complete abolition of WPA and retirement of the federal government from the work relief field.

'AND HOW ARE YOU BOYS DOING?'

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Today's song of Unstinted Admiration is dedicated to a little woman who isn't "important" any more.

Unless you were a movie fan eight or nine or ten years ago, you won't even recognize her name. It's Evelyn Brent. Remember?

I saw her walking across the R-KO lot the other day, and a lot of other people saw her too, but nobody looked twice. People look twice only at "important" people. Stardust gets in the eyes, and they do not see gameness when it walks by in a plain gray suit and plain hat with its chain high. That was Brent—Betty Brent, as her friends call her.

Ten years ago I drove out to see Betty for the first time. She lived at Malibu then, in a big house right on the sand, a big house where Hollywood trooped in and out, paying homage to success. Brent was "big"—star, wealthy, famous. Big.

One day it ended. She wasn't a star any longer. She was broke. She had thought everything was safe. It wasn't. She had to start all over again. Just as if she hadn't had a heart-breaking tough time getting to the top. She went on "personal appearance" tours, she made her own way, she kept her chin up.

It's not a new story. What makes it different is that Betty Brent, with every human right to be bitter and sour, isn't. She's doing a picture again. She has a better part in "Second Shot" than she's had in years. Dance hall entertainer, tougher than tough, a real "character"—the sort of hard-boiled femme she did so well in "Underworld" and other hits. It may mean bigger things, it may not.

She's talking today in a little canvas shack of a dressing room on the lot. Once she had a room in Star Row, but she herself is no more conscious of surroundings than she was then. A queen doesn't need a palace.

"Bitter?" she laughs. "Why should I be? I'm happier now than I ever was. I'm not sorry for anything that happened. Once I had things, now I haven't—and that's all. It's true, I know, but the simple things are best."

The most valuable thing my experience taught me is—I know people now. I don't mean I'm suspicious of people, or distrust them, but I evaluate them more carefully. I've learned who my real friends are.

"Funny," she says. "How little it hurt when the crowds dropped away. It happened as soon as I gave up my house and took a little apartment. I was stunned at first, but then I laughed. After all, I'd never been able to do anything for them, unless it was to give them a drink and a sandwich."

"And in those days I was forever bothering. When you have things, you bother about them. Now I don't worry. I have my friends—mostly old-time pictures—and I read and practice my wood-carving, and I known as a leader of the "economy bloc" in the House. He has resisted efforts to restore to the WPA deficiency bill the $150,000,000 which was cut from it by Congress a month ago. Just the other day he charged that hundreds of millions of dollars appropriated by Congress for relief had not been spent for relief at all, and demanded that WPA render an accounting.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

In France they fight a duel with pistols to decide a personal difference. In Germany and Italy they duel with swords to get it off their chests, in Spain and Mexico they settle it with knives, but in the United States they traditionally rely on the old haymaker, the punch, the old sock when they've got a bone to pick with each other.

so today this one pins a medal on such men as that prince of good sports, Coach Toby Waggoner of Canadian, Coach Smith of Miami, Coach Allen of McLean, Coach Rush of Shamrock, and Cliff Chambers of Pampa for seriously instructing boys in the many art of self-defense.

They are not putting ideas of professional boxing into the boys' heads; as a matter of fact they discourage all such ideas. They emphasize that boxing is one of the best forms of exercise for physical development, and that it is a sport that teaches quick-thinking, self-reliance, confidence, good sportsmanship. Those boys in that Canadian tournament were about the cleanest, finest and best sports this one has seen in a long time. They showed a brand of courage in a way that they could not blame ten other boys, or five other boys, or the team. . . but a word about Toby. This is his second year at Canadian and he has made good in lots of ways.

His boxing team has put life into Canadian's athletic fans, he gets out a crowd, and he has instructed a bunch of boxers who really take it seriously and train, and do the people of Canadian like Toby and that team! Here's another medal for Toby!

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

Recently a physician who specializes in mental disturbances described a number of cases typical of the manner in which social stresses in the home may tend to bring about what people commonly call "nervous breakdowns."

For instance, a young woman, married to a laborer, with a baby a few weeks old, suddenly claimed to be married to Satan and to have passed through the Judgment Day. The mental disturbance occurred at a time when she was recovering from severe influenza.

A careful study of her social relationships indicated that she was dissatisfied with her married life, that her husband gave her little opportunity for romance or variety in her living and that she had been simply unable to arouse him to more interest. After the baby came, the family was considerably troubled by interference from the husband's parents.

The combination of circumstances was too much for her at the time when she developed the severe influenza so that her mind "broke down" under the strain.

In this manner a combination of circumstances may work to bring about a serious result. It is conceivable that the young woman might have survived either the neglect of the baby, the interference of the influenza individually, but the combination was too much for her.

In another instance the father in a home drank to excess. The mother was an excellent housekeeper but not interested in much else because, frankly, she had married principally to get a home.

She endeavored to find a real interest in the growth of her children but simply because she had no other interest, she was oversensitive to their faults and constantly accused and nagged them. The result was a revolt on the part of her son which manifested itself in extreme slowness and unwillingness to participate in the affairs at school.

Cases of this type show how difficult may be the problem of the physician who is called to see a patient when it is almost impossible for the physician to find out all the details and the intimate factors of the patient's life.

Cases of this type in which the physical and mental may be combined are an example of the necessity for an intimate relationship between doctor and patient as the very basis for the best medical practice.

The country boy who really makes good in the city is the one who makes good enough to go back to the country.

The society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is glad to hear that the Republican elephant is more comfortable these days. . . The society's officials thought it was a pity to see the crowd the elephant behind the right ball. . . Whatever became of the girls who switched to lisle stockings as a rebuke to Japan? Oh, is she?

FEW OTHER ANIMALS, says a fellow who knows, are more cunning than the wolf. Sure, the one at the door is just too cunning for words. . . Out in our neighborhood there is a fellow working on a new invention that looks like a dandy—it's a doodad for stringing beads of perspiration.

Things we never expect to know: Why, regardless of its length, a lawyer's written argument is called a brief. . . Why the woman of other cities is not nearly so beautiful as the women of Pampa. . . What size collar a little neck clan wears. . . Why, since they remain in one place, they are called circulating libraries. . . Whether an English sparrow ever breaks down and has a good cry. . . And, on what day and in what month the devil's birthday falls. . . Don't you often wonder about these things?

AND, BY THE TIME this is in print, we'll have been gone for two days somewhere in South Texas on one of those jaunts where you just start out and don't have the slightest idea from one day to the next where you will be from one day to the next than which there is no better kind of trip we can think of.

Book A Day

It is a placid, friendly scientist, passionately concerned for the welfare of the world, Albert Einstein. Garbedian pictures in his important biography, "Albert Einstein" (Funk and Wagnalls; $3.75). Here the great German emerges as an altogether different personality than that you would ordinarily associate with the "maker of universe," the "twentieth century Newton" as he has been variously called.

Garbedian, in fact, portrays two Einsteins: the brilliant scholar, the genius, intent only on unlocking the infinite, and Einstein the man, worker for world peace, social justice, international understanding. But the two characters are inextricably linked.

This is because Einstein looks on his science as merely an opportunity to advance civilization another step. Everything he does, every calculation he makes, is aimed toward that end. The result is a tower of intellectual integrity. Typical case in point was Einstein's refusal to sign a declaration with 93 German scholars attempting to shift the responsibility for the World War from Germany.

That refusal cost Einstein dearly in professional friendship, in associations. But the scholar placed principle first. That was to be true again in 1936 when he renounced his German citizenship.

Garbedian, incidentally, includes two chapters in his book clarifying the relativity theory.

At the first announcement of the theory, says Garbedian, Einstein was deluged with requests for explanations. His secretary one day applied him for a brief definition to pass on to the callers.

Editor "Sharing Comforts" III—Curtail Democracy. Introduce Minority Rule By Placing Our Affairs On a Basis Where the "So-Called Democracy" of This Country Will Not Be the Governing and Controlling Power. This is the philosophy of the Japanese oligarchy of Japan, Hitler, Mussolini, Franco, Hitler, and various other dictators, alive or dead, and of those little dictators of industry, social affairs and politics who flourish from time to time in all countries.

Why be so resentful towards democracy? In the first place, is it possible to have competition with a national democracy—or democracy without competition? Your use of the phrase "so-called democracy" in the Comforts column indicates that you do not believe that we have a democracy. Perhaps you are right. I had thought that the Chamber of Commerce, for instance, was a pretty good democracy within itself.

Many churches are, too. Most social and fraternal orders and unions are. Generally speaking, our governments—municipal, county, state and nation—are democratic. Democracy is not a theory. It is a fact. It is a compromise, a means by which each individual exercises the most freedom without bumping too vigorously into the rights of others. Not that we wouldn't like to usurp whatever rights we could belonging to others, but the others won't let us. So we evolve a working compromise.

Now if this is merely a "so-called" democracy, what is a real one? Or if you insist on a ruling minority, what minority? How would such a minority be selected, and by whom? Obviously it couldn't be selected by a majority. It must be selected by a minority. What minority? Necessarily itself. How would it make this selection? By over-riding the majority. There could be no other way. That was the way of Hitler, Stalin, Mussolini. It is the way everywhere.

Would a self-selected minority look after the rights of the majority it superseded? If so, it would supersede it? If you think it would, you are much more of an optimist than I am. Maybe this minority would. I have not discovered much evidence that it has ever been done, anywhere. Filene, the great merchant, got better results with democracy in his own business. So did Wallace, the clothing manufacturer, and others. There's little about a dictator or a minority that guarantees benefits to others. A minority can soon become a dictatorship.

And why not? If a small number is good, a still smaller one will be better. Where would the stop be made as to the size of the minority? If a majority makes errors, that does not insure that a minority will not. Is Hitler always right? Have emperors been notoriously wise? Are the mass murders in Spain and in China the orders of majorities or of minorities? Has democratic New England been worse than dictated South American countries? Is democratic Switzerland inferior to dictated Greece?

There are evils in democracy. So are there in good roads and fast cars and maybe in modern hair do's. The churches are not entirely without fault; some readers have discovered that even newspapers transgress occasionally. Should we abolish these institutions because of these faults? The totalitarian mind finds fault in democracy but believes the totalitarianism always right.

What was characterized as a very important meeting of the Pampa Automobile Dealers' association was called by the president of the local organization.

Pampa, beneficiary of many activities of the West Texas chamber of commerce, launched a membership campaign for 1934 in the regional organization.

William J. McDonnell of Dallas, federal radio commission inspector, closed the local radio broadcasting station, known as WREX, and secured a slight advantage from the operators that it would remain closed.

Grant, McLaglen, Fairbanks Head 'Gunga Din'

Indian Border 50 Years Ago Theme Of Film

Opening for five days today at the Crown theater is the RKO Radio picture "Gunga Din," a story of high adventure in the British army campaigning on the northwest frontier of India, half a century ago, colorful romance, rowdy fun, heroism and sacrifice are compounded in the screen production based on Rudyard Kipling's famous ballad. Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., share the starring honors in this production which employs as well a huge and notable supporting cast, and which boasts of elaborate settings on a vast scale and of a scenic sweep breath-taking in its realistic grandeur.

The three stars are cast as a trio of sergeants in the British Army, their long years of service together having cemented a deep friendship which holds fast despite their surface quarrels. Grant is a restless treasure-seeker, hoping some day to find a rajah's hoard that will make him wealthy; McLaglen is the typical two-fisted British N. C. O., ready for a fight or a frolic; and Fairbanks is a gentleman-ranker who plans to marry the daughter of a local tea company official as soon as his enlistment expires.

The three stars have perhaps the most colorful roles of their careers. They are brilliantly supported by Miss Fontaine and a cast that includes Sam Jaffe as Gunga Din, Eduardo Ciannelli, Robert Coote, Montagu Love and Abner Biberman. George Stevens, who both produced and directed the picture for RKO Radio, and Charles MacArthur, Ben Hecht, Joel Sayre and Fred Guiol, the writers who created the film story around Kipling's famous character, combined their efforts to make "Gunga Din" one of the noteworthy motion pictures of all time, and an outstanding cinema entertainment.

Scholars have found many similarities in the Japanese and Basque languages.

Dates Changed For Big Spring-Pampa Ring Meet

Date of the inter-city amateur boxing tournament between Pampa and Big Spring Golden Gloves champions has been changed to Thursday night of this week, officials of the Pampa Amateur Athletic association announced Saturday. The change was made so that Pampa could present a full team of champions against the visitors.

First bout of the evening will be at 8 o'clock at the Pampa Athletic arena, four blocks east of the post-office and one south. Only 200 reserve seats and 800 general admission seats will be sold for the bout. Reserve seat tickets will be placed on sale Tuesday.

The tournament will be the first held here since the Golden Gloves tournament early in February. There will be seven or eight championship bouts and four or five exhibition battles between experienced boys.

Tentative Bout

Although Trainer Cliff Chambers hasn't definitely named his team to battle Big Spring, it is pretty certain that Benny Moore of Brownfield, formerly of Shamrock, will tangle with Ynez Yanez, in the 112-pound class. Yanez went to the semi-finals in the state Golden Gloves tournament.

Frankie Bills of Shamrock, if he can make the weight, will battle Bob Dozier in the bantamweight division.

R. Robertson of LeFors, Pampa's finalist in the state tournament, will be paired against Jack Childress, district featherweight finalist and 1938 state finalist in the A. U. tournament.

Pampa's Denver Hubert will be paired against Ellis Reed of Big Spring. Both dropped before the terrific fists of Morris Corona of Galveston in the state tournament in terrific punching duels.

Canadian's Joe Hornback will probably drop down to a welterweight to meet Thomas McMullen of Big Spring.

A youngster from Canadian named Simpson is liable to take Hornback's place as a middleweight against Earl Pace of Midland, county champion.

Last on the list will be Steve Thomas of Canyon, if he can get away from football practice at West Texas State college, and Hyson "Dumny" Smith of Big Spring.

The visitors have no heavy-weight and as a result Dewey Weingan of Canyon will not appear on the card.

Both lineups are subject to change.

HERE THURSDAY

Jack Childress, above, is the 125-pound champion of the Big Spring Golden Gloves team. He will meet Rex Robinson, the local champion who went to the finals at Fort Worth. Childress was a finalist in the AAU state tournament last year, and is undefeated in five fights this year. He will appear on the boxing card at the Pampa Athletic arena Thursday night. Bouts begin at 8:15 o'clock.

contest which was won by Hal Boynton. The roster fight was won by the Coyote patrol.

Mr. Johnson announced that the troop would usher at the Methodist revival next Tuesday night and that the troop would attend church in a body next Sunday.

The following Scouts were present: Bobby Joe Dunham, Bobby Curtis, Bobby Frailey, Joe De Grace, Hal Boynton, Melvin Clark, Hugh Blevins, A. L. Patrick, Ray Thompson, Assistant Scoutmasters Clarence Coffin and Sam Johnson, visitors; Mr. Dunham, Wayne Broyles and Kenneth Johnson.

The meeting was dismissed with the Scout oath at 8:45 p. m.

After the above mentioned meeting, Bobby Joe Dunham and Melvin Clark passed their observation test and a belt line was enjoyed by all.

Jitters Business

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The nation's business proceeded gingerly this week as Europe suffered another attack of war threat nerves.

The commerce department, in its weekly survey of business in 36 cities said, "European developments had a slightly retarding influence on business during the past week."

Experts saw two symptoms of mounting cautiousness growing out of the latest moves of Adolph Hitler in building a bigger Germany. In New York, the wholesale capital, buyers were in a timid mood. Another indication was the ragged fluctuations of share prices in Wall street. Some stocks fell to new lows for the March decline.

The industrial sector showed continuing unevenness. Small declines

Negro Adopts Grid Eleven At Schreiner

KILGORE, March 25 (AP)—Sports followers of Kilgore and Henderson breathed a sigh of relief today when they learned that Slow Motion, a youthful negro baseball and football mascot, was safe and sound in Kerrville at Schreiner Institute.

Slow Motion, whose official name is Bobby Jones, disappeared from Kilgore two months ago and nobody knew where he had gone until the registrar of Schreiner Institute wrote Coach Clyde Lee of Kilgore junior college:

"A colored boy who calls himself 'Slow Motion' has adopted our football team, now in spring training. Bobby Jones, disappeared from Kilgore two months ago and nobody knows where he had gone until the registrar of Schreiner Institute wrote Coach Clyde Lee of Kilgore junior college:

"I believe the tortoise-paced youth will definitely add color to any team."

Slow Motion, who got that name because of his disregard for time in moving about, came to Kilgore as an orphan from Henderson. He told benefactors those who gave him money that his mother was dead and his father was in prison.

Last season, J. Walter Morris "bought" Slow for his Shreveport baseball club. Slow was gone two days, returning with the report that he couldn't find the Shreveport park.

Seven Pythians To Receive Degrees

Seven members will receive degrees at a special meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge 480 of Pampa, to be held at 7:30 o'clock Monday night at the American Legion hall, it was announced Saturday by H. E. White, keeper of the records and seal of the local lodge.

The rank of page will be conferred upon five, that of esquire upon two members. A degree team of Lubbock lodge 486, consisting of 10 men and headed by Elmo Payne, D. D. G. C., will conduct the ceremony.

Assembling at 7:30 o'clock the lodge will have its meeting, followed by the degree work, and a supper.

R. M. (Mose) Johnson is chancellor-commander of the local lodge.

Harvester Whites Swamp Greens In 42 To 0 Rout

Dust and wind which whipped across Harvester field failed to stop the stampede of the Whites as they roared to a 42 to 0 victory over the Greens in an intro-squad football game Friday afternoon between picked teams of Harvester prospects.

Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejan named the starting teams just before the kickoff. They apparently decided to try what to date has been the strongest contenders for each position on one team and if that was the case it worked. If, however, the players were selected more at random the coaches found some mighty promising whites.

The Whites opened with a safety and then rumped to seven touchdowns and five points after touchdowns. With blocking looking better than usual at this time of the year, Co-Captain Grover Helskell roared to three touchdowns. Pete Dunaway was a close second with two touchdowns while James Carlisle and Clarence Mathews followed with one each.

Line play of the Whites was outstanding at times as they ripped holes in the Green defense. On the defense the White clad eleven was almost a stone wall. Although the Greens threatened they were never able to reach the goal line.

On next Friday afternoon the Harvesters will meet the exes in a regulation length game.

Starting lineups were:

Whites—Green and Clemmons, ends; Candler and R. Phillips, tackles; Fade and Giddens, guards; Terrell, center; Helskell, quarter; Carlisle and Mathews, halves; Dunaway, full.

Greens—Mullins and Cox, ends; Montgomery and N. Clemmons, tackles; L. C. Bailey and Gerald Nichols, guards; Maynard, center; Isbell, quarter; Elise and Fowler, halves; Giles, full.

Substitutes: Bailey, Morris, Barnett, Molesworth, Boyd.

Permit Issued For Pampa AAU Tourney

DALLAS, March 25 (AP)—Marshall Brown, chairman of the boxing committee of the Southwestern Amateur Athletic Union, said today permits for five AAU ring championships here April 12, 13 and 14, had been issued. These are Fort Worth, Amarillo, Pampa, Abilene and Tyler.

Brown said teams from Lubbock, Midland, Colorado, Gatesville, Waco, Brownwood and Wichita Falls were expected to enter. He said he would receive individual entries of unattached boxers if applications were sent directly to him at the Dallas Athletic club.

Brown announced defending champions would not be required to enter a district meet to qualify. They include F. H. Pietzches, heavy-weight, Amarillo; Delmar Koch, Eddie Bussy, bantamweight, Wichita Falls.

BRING YOUR EYES THROUGH THE FOG

Step into the finest room you can imagine. Its beauty not only astonishes, but its grandeur actually gives you a new feeling—a thrill. Suddenly turn out the lights, and it all vanishes. Light is the first essential to sight.

How much light is necessary? Science tells us that in unshaded sunlight there are 10,000 foot-candles of light. In the shade of a tree, 1,000 or more; on a porch, 500; by a window, at least 200; and by the ordinary reading lamp, only 5 foot-candles of light.

Strange as it may seem, as American living became more intense, American lighting became poorer. True, we passed from coal oil, to gas, to electricity. But we also passed to longer working hours, longer playing and reading hours; to greater strain on eyesight. When modern optical experts and lighting engineers began their studies, they discovered American eyes in a fog—working and playing under lighting conditions too dim for the ordinary demands of good seeing.

Shamrock Noses Out Canadian To Win Meet

Pampa Boxers Look Good In Fast Matches

Pampa boxers, all high school students, socked their way to a prize-worthy score in the Canadian tournament which was won by Shamrock's clever boxers with the hard-hitting Canadian Wildcatters fighting the Irishmen for supremacy every step of a thrilling, exciting fight.

The feature fight of last night's battles saw Spurlin of Canadian win over Thrasher, also of Canadian two of the best fighters in the tournament.

Shamrock won five first places and Canadian four. Trophies were presented to each.

The champions follow:
Callan, 85 pounds, Shamrock.
Worley, 95, Canadian.
Bonner, 105, McLean.
Roden, 115, Shamrock.
Bills, 125, Shamrock.
Spurlin, 135, Canadian.
Burton, 145, Shamrock.
Russell, 155, Canadian.
Sutcliffe, 175, Shamrock.
Calloway, 175, Canadian.

Knockouts were scored by Calloway over Gordon, McLean, (technical) in first; Bonner over Stagg, Shamrock, second.

Judges were Charlie Hill, Ivan Donkin and V. R. Ball, all of Canadian. A large crowd saw all three fight cards. The house was packed last night.

Although none of the Pampa fighters reached the finals, they won the praise of officials and spectators.

Smith Vs. Bills

In the semi-finals Saturday afternoon, Harold Smith gave Frankie Bills, twice quarter-finalist in the state Golden Gloves tournament at Fort Worth, the closest fight the Shamrock knockout specialist has ever had in the Pampa. Bills, who was in a bruising bout, in the first round Friday night Smith won an easy victory off Ayler of Stinnett.

In the bloodiest fight of the night L. V. McDonald almost kayoed Prince of Shamrock in the first round and continued to pile up points with smashing blows thru the next two rounds. McDonald lost a close decision to Gambie of Canadian in the semi-finals.

Bill Coons lost to L. Roach of McLean in a knock-out fight which Referee Toby Waggoner, Canadian coach, said Coons should have won. Roach lost to Thrasher of Canadian in the semi-finals after giving the Canadian a flash a highly respectable fight. Coons was knocked down in the last few seconds of the first round, but came back throwing lefts in a steady barrage in the second and third rounds.

Draws Tough One

Charles Bretthauer of Pampa drew the toughest boy in the 85-pound class Friday night and lost to Callan of Shamrock. Douglas Lovelace of Pampa piled up the biggest blow score but couldn't hold his feet and lost to Strother of Stinnett.

Bobby Fraley also drew a champion in the first round and lost to the knockout punch of Roden of Shamrock. Buddy Simmons was defeated by Ford of Stinnett in the 85-pound class.

Cotton Smith of Pampa lost a close fight to V. Schnell of Shamrock.

Other results of the Friday night fights:

85-pound class—Moore, Shamrock, defeated Laughrey, Canadian; Borger of Stinnett, defeated Burleson, Spearman.

105-pound class—Lefthanded Bonner, McLean won over O'Gorman, Shamrock; Douglas of Spearman defeated Young, Stinnett.

115-pound class—Kivilhen, Miami, defeated Smith, Shamrock.

125-pound class—Gambie, Canadian, defeated Hugg, McLean.

135-pound class—Spurlin, Canadian, defeated Braxton, McLean; Thrasher, won easily over Romack, Stinnett.

145-pound class, B. Fort, Canadian, knocked down Gordon, Mc-

Baylor Chalks Up Win Over Rice

HOUSTON, March 25 (AP)—Rice Institute lost its fourteenth consecutive Southwest Conference baseball game here today when the Baylor Bears chalked up a 7 to 1 victory in a game marred by frequent showers.

A hard downpour held up the game 20 minutes in the fifth inning.

Sherman Barnes, lanky Baylor hurler, had the situation well in hand when Rice threatened and left 19 Owls stranded on the bases. He had a shutout until two out in the ninth. That run, incidentally, was Rice's fifth in the conference after 19 shutout innings.

Baylor bunched five hits in the fourth inning to score four runs and then coasted in. Jack Lummus with a double and two singles and two runs batted in, and James Whit with three singles led Baylor's 13-hit attack off Floyd Meclier.

Hill Says He'll Finish Peterson In One Fall Here Monday Night

ORIGINAL KENTUCKY HILLBILLY

Lem Strecklin and Oscar

The House of David has nothing on Lem Strecklin of Kentucky, pictured above, who will be featured at the weekly wrestling battle at the Pampa Athletic Arena on Monday night. The famous Kentucky Hill Billy will meet John Nemanic in the semifinal to the Frankie Hill-Ernie Peterson return main event. Mickey Durano and Billy McEwin will open hostilities at 8:15 o'clock. Oscar, Strecklin's pet coon, sits in his corner and raises a rumpus all during the match.

Records Due To Shatter In Texas Relays

AUSTIN, March 25 (AP)—Texas relays officials today scanned an incomplete list of entries for their April 1-track and field carnival and wondered how many records would stand the strain.

They felt reasonably sure two of the special event standards would be bettered by University of Texas performers and figured several others were in danger from outsiders.

Gilliam Graham, Texas' great javelin thrower, will aim at Alton Terry's record, set in 1937, of 219 feet, 8 1/2 inches. At the Border Olympics March 3 the long-armed Brownfield youth flung the spear 218 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

Pole vaulting ambition of Beufus Bryan, another Longhorn, currently is to raise his own Texas relay record of 13 feet, 10 1/8 inches, set last year.

The broad jump mark of 2 1/2 feet, 7 1/2 inches was not considered entirely safe, with last year's co-champion and co-record holder, Jud Atchinson of Texas, returning and Billy Brown of Louisiana State, member of the 1936 American Olympic team, expected to extend him.

With Elmer Hackney of Kansas State, last year's intercollegiate champion, putting the shot, Sam Francis' 37 record of 51 feet, 11 1/2 inches might be stretched. Hackney's championship toss was three inches shy of that distance.

Around 700 individuals have been entered. Important teams on the list included Rice, Oklahoma, Louisiana State, Kansas State, Drake, Texas, North Texas Teachers, East Texas Teachers, and Loyola of Chicago.

Baylor Chalks Up Win Over Rice

HOUSTON, March 25 (AP)—Rice Institute lost its fourteenth consecutive Southwest Conference baseball game here today when the Baylor Bears chalked up a 7 to 1 victory in a game marred by frequent showers.

A hard downpour held up the game 20 minutes in the fifth inning.

Sherman Barnes, lanky Baylor hurler, had the situation well in hand when Rice threatened and left 19 Owls stranded on the bases. He had a shutout until two out in the ninth. That run, incidentally, was Rice's fifth in the conference after 19 shutout innings.

Baylor bunched five hits in the fourth inning to score four runs and then coasted in. Jack Lummus with a double and two singles and two runs batted in, and James Whit with three singles led Baylor's 13-hit attack off Floyd Meclier.

Dallas Methodists Win Over Mustangs

DALLAS, March 25 (AP)—Southern Methodist University's Mustangs and Texas Christian University's Horned Frogs, their scheduled game today called off because of wet grounds will end their two-game series at Armstrong field Monday afternoon, weather permitting.

Coach Roswell Egginbotham of SMU announced the tentative new date after conferring with Howard Grubbs, athletic director and baseball coach at TCU, by telephone.

SMU won the first game of the teams' opening Southwest Conference series Friday, 7 to 2, behind three-hit pitching by Guy Dougherty, lanky righthander.

Records Due To Shatter In Texas Relays

AUSTIN, March 25 (AP)—Texas relays officials today scanned an incomplete list of entries for their April 1-track and field carnival and wondered how many records would stand the strain.

They felt reasonably sure two of the special event standards would be bettered by University of Texas performers and figured several others were in danger from outsiders.

Gilliam Graham, Texas' great javelin thrower, will aim at Alton Terry's record, set in 1937, of 219 feet, 8 1/2 inches. At the Border Olympics March 3 the long-armed Brownfield youth flung the spear 218 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

Lawson Little Leading Field

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 25 (AP)—Lawson Little of Bretton Woods, N. H., sprayed shots all over the course today but the 27-year-old former amateur champion kept his score low enough to remain in front of the field at the half-way mark of the $5,000 Greensboro open golf tournament.

The curly-haired native San Franciscan did only a 73 on the second round, but that figure, added to his record-smashing 65 of yesterday gave him a total of 138 blows and a one-stroke lead. John Bulla of Chicago and Ralph Ouldahl of Madison, N. J., with 139s, were but a stroke behind.

The day's biggest advance was made by Ben Hogan, young pro from White Plains, N. Y. Hogan (toured the Sedgefield course in 65 today, to equal the course record set by Little yesterday. With a 79 in his first round, he moved up from far back to a tie for sixteenth place at 144.

Harry Cooper of Chicago and Clayton Heafner, the 24-year-old Greensboro pro, duplicated their opening round par 70s and were tied at 140 for third place, one stroke in front of Jimmy Hines of Green Neck, L. I., Felix Serafin of Scranton, Pa., Denny Shute of Coral Gables, Fla., and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa.

Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles added a 67, three under par, to go with his starting 79.

Scores of 154 and under qualified for tomorrow's 36-hole finale, which will be played over the Starwood Forrest club course.

If words and looks could kill there wouldn't be a main event wrestling match between Frankie Hill and Ernie Peterson at the Pampa Athletic arena on Monday night. The dead man would be Peterson who last week lost a match to Hill here.

Hill's purse was held up because of his unsportsmanlike conduct in the ring and the only way he can get his money is to meet Peterson in a return engagement. "I'll meet that pansy from California but instead of the match lasting two falls as it did last week it's going to last only one," Hill roared yesterday while on a visit to Pampa.

Hill had nothing but contempt for his fellow wrestlers who kept him from manhandling Peterson after he had him unconscious and for fans who gave him the razzberry in a big way. He was mad at Sheriff Cal Rose, who failed to be at the ring-side when he requested, and he was madder still at a couple of deputies who jumped in the ring and held him in a corner.

But when Hill learned that Dutch Mantell might be the third man in the ring he went berserk. "With that Dutchman in the ring what chance do I have?" squeaked Hill, purple with rage. But Mantell will be here if he can get away from Wichita Falls in time. Otherwise Willard Walker will probably be the third man in the ring.

While Hill has been doing all the talking, Peterson has been silently training with a pick and shovel and saying nothing.

A semi-final that will be the first of its kind ever presented will pit Lem Strecklin, the bearded Hill Billy from Kentucky, against John Nemanic, rough and tough Californian. Strecklin and his pet coon have been hits all over the country. The coon sits in a corner and squeals encouragement to his master.

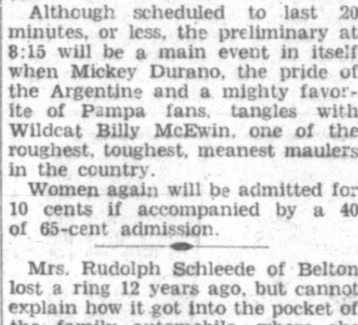

Although scheduled to last 20 minutes, or less, the preliminary at 8:15 will be a main event in itself when Mickey Durano, the pride of the Argentine and a mighty favorite of Pampa fans, tangles with Wildcat Billy McEwin, one of the roughest, toughest, meanest maulers in the country.

Women again will be admitted for 10 cents if accompanied by a 40 of 65-cent admission.

Mrs. Rudolph Schiede of Belton lost a ring 12 years ago, but cannot explain how it got into the pocket of the family automobile, where she found it recently, because it was not the motorcar the family drove in 1927. Identification was made through the name engraved on the ring.

Betting Bill To Come Up In Few Days

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

AUSTIN, March 25 (AP)—Quietly in its stall for many days, the horse racing and pari-mutuel wagering issue promises to break out in the house again within the next few days—with possibility of a photo finish for its supporters.

Doctored to correct defects termed unconstitutional in a recent ruling by Attorney General C. Mann, the bill, authored by Rep. Bailey Ragsdale of Crockett, will be presented with a batch of amendments designed to override any opposition.

The local option feature—termed unconstitutional by Mann—will sport net raiment.

Local vote on the return of racing to its particular county will not be the deciding issue, under Ragsdale's amendment, but a favorable vote will be a requisite to an application for opening a race track.

The horse racing issue has a preferential place on the house calendar and Ragsdale strongly indicated it would be laid before the body next week. In its only appearance, the bill won one preliminary skirmish, then lost another both on very close votes.

Advocates claim enough house strength to pass the measure by "two or three votes," while racing enthusiasts contend the senate holds a 17-vote racing bloc.

Opponents, however, insist the ponies won't come back to life under the present legislative setup. Governor W. Lee O'Daniel has been courted by both sides, but he has been close-mouthed on the subject since saying he had "an open mind on returning the race track."

Churchmen have led the opposition, but Ragsdale exhibited letters from Dallas, San Antonio, Houston and Fort Worth merchants favoring return of strictly regulated racing and wagering. The merchants, in many instances, recommended that race meet not exceed 21 days.

Under Ragsdale's proposed amendments, a vote of the people would be necessary to approve or disapprove an application for racing. The application, if approved by the people, would be submitted to the senate racing commission, and a hearing held. The commission may still deny a license or permit even after a favorable local option vote, Ragsdale said.

Under Ragsdale's bill, six per cent of all pari-mutuel wagers, plus one-half of the breakage, would go to the state.

Winds Damage Texas Areas

Twisting winds damaged some property but brought thundershowers which broke drought over a large part of Texas Saturday. One man was killed by lightning in North Texas, but no one was injured in the several small twisters, which struck in scattered spots.

A windstorm swooping down on Jefferson, in far East Texas, before Saturday noon, caused damage estimated at several thousand dollars as it struck houses and tangled telephone and power lines in the Whelan addition. A twister caused damage estimated at $1,000 at the Jacksonville CCC camp for negroes.

Five patients in the camp infirmary escaped injury. The blow lasted about 20 minutes and was accompanied by hail and rain.

The storm at Jefferson also was accompanied by hail.

Heavy rains at a time when they were most needed were reported in North, Central, and East Texas. Range-saving rains fell as far south as Kerrville and as far west as Del Rio.

A mid-morning windstorm damaged houses and barns in Corsicana and elsewhere in Navarro county. Damaging windstorms swept Mexia, Haltom City near Fort Worth, and scattered communities in the Lubbock area. At Princeton, Collin county, Chester McCraw, 35, was killed when lightning struck his home early Saturday.

In Central Texas, McLennan, Bell, Coryell, Bosque, Falls, Limestone, and Hill counties had much-needed moisture. Good rains fell near Jacksonville and Athens in East Texas, and the rainfall was general over North Texas. Wichita Falls had 1.81 inches, breaking a long drought and reviving hope for a wheat crop of at least 70 per cent normal. Precipitation extended to portions of the Texas and Oklahoma wheat area.

a number of other incapacitating and often fatal diseases.

Sulfapyridine has given promise, however, of even more startling effects in the treatment of human influenza. It is one of the hundreds of combinations of other chemicals with sulfonamide—the essential ingredient in sulfanilamide—which have been experimented with in laboratories throughout the world.

During the past two years, tests have shown it effective in treating 19 of the 32 different types of pneumonia. Until recently pneumonia has been treated with a specific serum made from the germ from which a patient was suffering. Of the 32 pneumonia types, specific sera are available for only five.

The importance of the sulfapyridine discovery can be appreciated in recalling that pneumonia today is one of the leading causes of death in the United States.

However, like sulfanilamide, it has proved effective in some diseases, meningitis, gonorrhea, and bacterial infections of the inner lining of the heart.

Sulfapyridine is a combination of molecules of benzene, sulphur and pyridine, according to the Southern Medical Journal. Pyridine, a chemical used to control spasms, to stimulate the heart, and as an antiseptic, is added to sulfanilamide to create the new drug.

Discovered in Germany

The pneumococcus germs which cause pneumonia heretofore have been particularly resistant to the action of drugs because they are enclosed in an armor-plate coating composed of calcium, sulfur, pyridine, however, apparently dissolves this coating, laying bare the actual pneumococcus germ to the destroying action both of the drug and of the white corpuscles of the blood.

Some active reactions, such as nausea, discoloration of the skin, destruction of blood cells and dizziness, have been observed in experimental use of the drug, but no severe reactions or deaths have occurred.

Until the German discovery in 1934 of a crude form of sulfanilamide, then a common red dye, medical scientists had believed chemotherapy—the treatment of disease with chemicals—had attained its maximum usefulness. Only a few specific drugs, such as quinine for malaria, and salvarsan for syphilis, were known.

But the beneficial results from sulfanilamide and sulfapyridine have opened up a vast new field of research.

Mrs. Jim Cox is visiting in Wichita, Kansas, with her husband who is critically ill in a veteran's hospital. Mr. Cox is a cable tool driller.

Hoppers And Wheat Will Be Discussed Here

The grasshopper situation and regulations on volunteer wheat in connection with applications for 1939 wheat parity payments will be topics discussed at three meetings of Gray county wheat farmers this week.

On Wednesday afternoon a meeting will be held at 2:30 o'clock in the county courtroom in Pampa, and another meeting on the same day at Laketon school at 8 o'clock at night. The third meeting is to be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the Grandview school.

In a letter sent to Gray county farmers from the office of the county agent, the following instructions are given:

"This office has received forms for making application for the 1939 wheat parity payment. Producers may come in and sign these applications at their convenience, provided they planted within their allotment and there was no volunteer wheat in excess of such allotment, or wheat mixtures on the farm at the time the wheat was measured this winter. According to a ruling just received from the state office, in the event that you planted up to your allotment, no volunteer may be left in excess of your allotment even though some of the planted wheat has blown out or has been destroyed."

"If you had any volunteer wheat it will be necessary for you to notify this office as soon as you destroyed the volunteer so that an inspection can be made by the supervisor. In case you have planted wheat mixtures, an inspection must be made in order to ascertain whether or not there is sufficient barley, oats, or rye in the mixture. If only the wheat remains alive, such acreage must be destroyed before application for payment can be made, and in no event, as in the case of volunteer wheat, not later than April 15."

School Tennis Teams To Play In Oklahoma

Pampa high school tennis teams will go to Cordell, Okla., Monday for matches with Cordell teams. Miss Euseania Johnston will be in charge of the girls' teams and B. G. Gordon of the boys teams.

Pampa and Borger boys teams played here yesterday with Pampa winning two and losing one singles match and dividing the doubles. In singles play Hugh Stennis of Pampa defeated Davis of Borger, 6-2, 6-0; Rives of Pampa beat Charles Ryan of Pampa, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1; Wayne Roby of Pampa won from Mauney of Borger, 6-4, 6-2. In doubles play, Mitchell and LaCrosse of Pampa defeated Robinson and Lewis of Borger, 6-1, 6-1; Davis and Mauney of Borger won from Cletus Mitchell and Frasier, 6-3, 2-5, 6-4.

Pampa girls who went to bed in a hospital for his brother in order that the latter might go to a movie shaded all other tall twin stories here today as Baylor University's quadruplet-triplet-twin convention closed.

The hospital bed story was the product of an experience meeting in which mistaken identity yarns were offered by the dozen. The winners were the aviator twins, Virgil and Victor Robertson of Randolph Field, near San Antonio.

94-Year-Old Man Dances All Night

LAS VEGAS, Nev., March 25 (AP)—Celebrating his divorce, Joseph C. Manning, who says he is 94 years of age, danced far into the night last night at a Townsend pension club meeting.

He divorced Jessie L. Manning in a five-minute hearing yesterday afternoon. Manning said he and his wife had trouble over money matters. He charged extreme cruelty. They married at Sawtelle, Cal., June 13, 1930.

He is a veteran of Indian wars, very active for his age and is the father of a large family by a former marriage.

by the townspeople when Durand tried to escape, Easton said. Sheriff Blackburn said Durand evidently holed up in the willow-covered bottom of Bitter creek from the night, March 16, when he shot two officers at his parents' ranch, until he kidnaped a ranch couple last Tuesday night.

Visits His Parents

Durand shot down two officers who pursued him to the ranch after he slugged a deputy sheriff to escape from the Cody jail. Officers found no trace of him until he forced Mr. and Mrs. Arch Thornburg Tuesday night to drive him to the Clarkfork canon in which he stood off 100 possemen, killing two more officers. Durand saw his parents for the last time yesterday morning. He drove to the ranch home with Harry Moore, amateur radio operator, who had kidnaped a mile from the base camp of a posse he had eluded.

"Earl, I hardly know you," said his mother, weeping.

"I just came to say hello," replied the son, shaggy-bearded and unkempt after nine days of flight. Durand's "hello" was his "good-bye."

Forcing Moore out of the car, Durand drove into Powell, for his fantastically bold attempt to rob the First National bank.

He said Great Britain had "defended the lawless act" of Japan in seizing Manchuria, which he said laid the foundation for the present undeclared war in China.

"During the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia," he declared, "no mention was ever made of the teachings and practices of Nazism or of the danger of enlarging its influences in Europe."

Declaring "powerful influences at home and abroad were seeking by all kinds of methods" to lead the United States into war, Borah said it was apparent this country was in no condition to enter any conflict.

What Price this Glory? Less than You Think!

The model illustrated is the Buick SPECIAL model 41 four-door touring sedan $994 delivered at Flint, Mich.

$894 and up

delivered at Flint, Mich. *Subject to change without notice. Transportation, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories extra.

YES, it looks like a million—and if you've ever put hand to this brisk beauty's wheel, you know that it handles and travels and behaves the same way!

And it rides like a cloud, serene and buoyant, with the rough road's hard realities gentled by the "full float" action of BuicCoil Springing.

But is this trim Buick the premium-priced package you might expect just from looking at it? Quite the opposite!

This year you can drive a great straight-eight—a Dynaflex straight-eight with gas-saving cyclones in each cylinder—for actually less than some sixes would cost!

This year you can ride in Buick's staunch steadiness—at lower cost than prevailed even a year ago.

This year you have a car that's complete with all the little things—dual windshield wipers, dual sun visors, Flash-Way direction signal, Hand-shift transmission, lighted luggage compartments, locks on both front doors, even Knee-Action that banks the curves for you—and spend less, when all that's counted, than for some cars with lower advertised prices!

So open up your mind, sir! Before you decide this glory's not for you, find out what the model of your choice delivers for — at your door!

Look into what you get for your money—you may be surprised, for instance, at the gas-mileage figures owners report — and figure out where the value lies!

For any new car's going to cost you something. And you'll be money ahead, even if it does cost a trifle more, to get the car and the value of the year.

Your Buick dealer's waiting to show you which car that is!

Mag Well On Morse Has Potential Of 926

7 Locations In Panhandle Field Staked

Although flowing only by heads, the Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 1-B J. S. Morse in section 68, block 25, H&GN survey, East Central Gray county, was given a potential of 926 barrels on railroad commission test Friday. The pay was from granite wash formation. Seven new wells were tested last week and given a total open flow potential of 2,877 barrels, the most new oil in one week in several months. Three new gas wells were also completed during the week, adding 64,776,000 cubic feet to the field potential.

New locations numbered seven, five to be drilled for oil and two for gas. Three of the new locations were staked in Hutchinson county and two each in Carson and Wheeler counties. Four new leases will be proven by drilling of wells. Gray county led the field in new production with three wells producing 1,817 barrels. Two Carson county producers added 879 barrels.

The Texoma Natural Gas company further proved the gas area southwest of Pampa by bringing in their No. 2-G Daurer in section 236, block B-2, H&GN survey, Carson county, for 44,459,000 cubic feet.

A gas area two miles east of McLean in southeastern Gray county was proven when the McLean Gas company, formerly Stockley & Savage, No. 1 Biegel in section 63, block 23, H&GN survey, gauged 2,729,000 cubic feet.

The Panhandle's most interesting wildcat, the Smith Brothers Refining company's No. 1 Ribble in section 46, block A-5, H&GN survey, a half mile south of Mobeetie in Wheeler county, is drilling at 725 feet.

Completions by counties follow:

In Gray County
Magnolia Petroleum co., No. B-1 J. S. Morse, section 68, block 25, H&GN survey, flowed 926 barrels from granite wash pay between 2,667 and 2,713 feet.
Magnolia Petroleum co., No. 27, Fee Land 227, section 11, block 3, I&GN survey, gauged 106 barrels with pay in lime from 2,884 to 2,889 feet.
Continental Oil co., No. 3 M. K. Brown, section 115, block 3, I&GN survey, was given a potential of 585 barrels. Pay was between 3,200 and 3,240 feet in lime.

In Carson County

Hey Jim Collins, Why Not Bring Molly O'Daniel To Fiesta Here?

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff

There is a pretty girl in the Governor's mansion. Her name is Molly O'Daniel. Everybody likes a pretty girl, especially one named Molly.

Whether her father, W. Lee O'Daniel, Texas, hill-billy flour man Governor, is a success remains to be seen, but Molly's success is assured.

The people of Texas like to take their governor to heart. They like to have him come to their towns and cut the ribbon that opens a new bridge, turn the first spadeful of earth for a new public building, or to hang a bell around the old cow's neck when her milk wins a prize.

The governors of Texas have found it politically expedient to do such things and dictators have discovered the same thing. Pictures showing them running with the herd gives the great men the common touch.

Now the governor of Texas, the father of Molly, has never spoken on the floor of the state legislature. Texas do not know for sure whether he is a good ribbon cutter, bell hanger or earth turner, but Molly has smiled a few times at the camera and that smile has wowed the folks at the forks of the creek.

So, Molly will be the Queen of the Bluebonnet Festival at Navasota April 14, 15 and 16, and be at the Brenham Maifest in May.

Molly will attend tomato tom-toms, Indian festivals, onion festivals, potato festivals, rodeos and what have you, if she accepts all of the invitations the people of Texas shower upon her.

All the world likes a pretty girl with a pretty smile, but almost anybody can make a speech.

"That's a man's job," is a dictum women are pushing more and more into the background.

For instance, Mrs. C. E. Wheeler Dyer of Mineola and Miss Pauline Hatzenbuehler of Tyler are capable of handling jobs that a few years ago no one thought women could master. Mrs. Dyer is head of Mineola's chief industrial plant, its basket factory and Miss Hatzenbuehler is resident agent and solicitor for a motor freight line. She also operates a bus line and is in the produce business. Miss Hatzenbuehler is the only woman office manager among the 50 employed by the freight company, and executives say her record of soliciting new business equals, if not exceeds, the records of the men managers.

Mrs. Dyer's association with the

Orphan Girl Guest Of Canyon Patrons

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
CANYON, March 25.—An orphaned girl they have helped support for more than seven years will be the guest April 1 of the Cousins Sunday School class of the First Methodist church in a keenly anticipated visit.

The orphan, Geraldine Webster, 12 years old, will come here from the Methodist orphanage at Waco. Former members of the class are paying the expenses of the trip. While here she will stay at the home of Miss M. Moss Richardson, English teacher of West Texas State College who is teacher of the class. A full program of entertainment will be provided Geraldine, including a theater party, a shopping tour, a picnic in the nearby Palo Duro canyons, a sunrise breakfast, and a party for girls of her own age.

The little visitor plays the violin and piano. She has corresponded with several members of the class.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Unless your eyes are very large, your brows and lashes just naturally quite dark, the chances are that eye makeup, subtly applied, will improve your appearance. Used correctly, mascara and eyeshadow can do as much for the eyes as powder does for the complexion or as lipstick does for the mouth.

Eyeshadow is used, of course, to define the eye and make the white seem quite whiter. Generally speaking, it is best to choose one of the natural color tones—brown, blue, gray—rather than bizarre shades which cannot possibly match or harmonize with the natural coloring of eye lids.

Always start eyeshadow at the lash line and blend upward over the fullness of the lid. Use springy and blend carefully so that no harsh edges or smudges remain. Never put eyeshadow under the eye.

For evening, you may want to use an eyebrow pencil on the upper lid along the lash line. But never use it on the lower lash line. If you want to darken brows, run the pencil lightly through the center of them, then soften the line with your forefinger. Whatever you do, don't even consider shaving eyebrows with the thought that you can pencil a better line than the one nature provided.

Use tweezers to remove straggling hairs that grow down on lids or too far above brows. Also those which grow across the bridge of the nose between the brows. Don't over-do the tweezing job, however. It's no longer smart to have thin, narrow eyebrows.

Apply mascara sparingly, too, choosing a natural shade and letting it dry thoroughly before you blink. Afterward, remove the surplus with a tiny brush.

Whether you like mascara and eyeshadow or not, do remember to brush lashes and brows immediately after you have powdered face and throat. And do put a bit of oil or cream on eyelids. This will give the eyes a rested, glowing look and, in addition, tend to keep the lids from becoming too dry. The best insurance against crepey-textured eye lids is daily oiling.

If your eyes are puffy and swollen-looking in the morning, try ice water applications. If they are slightly bloodshot, and very tired at the end of the day, cover them with cotton pads that have been dipped in witch hazel and keep them closed for five or ten minutes. Or, if you prefer, cover them with commercially prepared eye pads which come in a jar.

To ward off fine lines and wrinkles at the corners of the eyes, apply night cream or special eyelid oil every night and leave it on while you sleep. Always put it on with reserve. It is not unusual for her to start the day at six or 6:30 a. m. and end it long after dark.

Miss Hatzenbuehler, too, is reserved and goes about her work without fanfare. She doesn't think she has achieved anything unusual because she is holding down what customarily is known as "a man's job."

She and her brother, J. E. Hatzenbuehler, went into the produce business at Palestine in 1927. They sensed the need of a motor freight line between Tyler and Palestine and with J. E. Barker, established and conducted a profitable transportation business until 1937 when it was bought by her employers. Miss Hatzenbuehler became office agent and business solicitor, but she has her interest in the poultry business with her brother at Palestine.

Along the Texas-Mexican border linguists say the Mexican term "Gringo" as applied to North American Anglo-Saxons by Mexicans dates to the war between the United States and Mexico. U. S. troops moved into Mexico singing "Green Grow the Grasses," a popular song of the middle nineteenth century.

Dr. Hooper Inspects Public Health Course

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
LUBBOCK, March 25.—Dr. John M. Hooper, former Pampan, director of public health in district No. 1, with Bruce E. Sasse, district engineer, were visitors at Texas Technological College next week in connection with the forthcoming summer course for public health workers and sanitation officers at the college. Dr. Hooper strongly recommends public health workers in his district to take the course.

Dr. H. S. Booth To Speak At Chemical Society Meet

Dr. H. S. Booth, professor of chemistry at Western Reserve university, Cleveland Ohio, will talk on "Chemistry Through the Microscope," Friday night when the Panhandle chapter of the American Chemical Society holds its monthly banquet at 7 o'clock in the Amarillo hotel.

A charge of 85 cents a plate will be made and an invitation to scientific groups and camera clubs to attend the luncheon is being extended. Reservations may be made by contacting W. M. Deaton, box 2250, Amarillo, or by telephone, 2-2211, Amarillo.

The lecture will be illustrated with motion pictures showing the technique and lumiere lantern slides in natural color. Chemical Microscopy has been a hobby of Prof. Booth's for several years.

"The term 'Chemical Microscopy' was coined by Dr. Emilie Monnin Chamot many years ago in order to differentiate between 'microchemistry,' or quantitative analytical procedures on a small scale by methods such as those devised by Pregl and others, and the application of the microscope to the solution of chemical problems.

Death of hogs from cholera in the principal farming states showed a 30 per cent increase in 1938 over 1937.

McLean Annual Band Concert To Be Held Tomorrow Night

SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC' BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

Yesterday, Dr. Farrell was called to the office to see Mrs. Doc. Then Alan strikes in, says to Kane, "I want to talk to you!"

CHAPTER XV

FOR a moment there was a breathless pause. Even Farrell was taken back. "Oh, it's not that bad, Alan said, quickly, noting their faces. "I'm sorry if I startled you, breaking in so abruptly. I'm a little upset, a little tired. Mrs. Howland—" "She's all right, isn't she?" Farrell asked.

"Oh, yes, she's all right, now. We had a few bad minutes, but she'll live and so will the baby." "I'm so glad," Emily's relief was sincere. "What you need now, darling, is some food," she added. "You haven't had a bite since breakfast—" "I think we could all do with a little coffee," Farrell said. "Come on, Emily, I'll help."

LEFT alone, Alan and Eric were silent. Alan was the first to speak. "Well, Kane, what have you to say for yourself?" "Emily called, told me; I came as quickly as I could. She needed someone," Eric explained. "She told me everything—" "Nice of her. Thoughtful, too," Eric ignored the comment. "There is still time, Alan. Emily loves you. You must do something," he went on earnestly. "Just what would you suggest?" Alan's voice was hard, sarcastic. "But you have no right to be unfair to Emily. She's an unhappy child, but she's your wife and you can't let her go like this. Start again. Begin over. She'll stay then."

with Emily, that he had been blind to the fact that Eric might. The kiss—the kiss of the dance—had dismissed almost without consideration. Neither Emily nor Eric had made any attempt to conceal it, and circumstances, rather than an attempt to cheat, were to be blamed for it. "This is entirely between Emily and myself, Kane," Alan said, more kindly. "For what you've tried to do, I am grateful. There's nothing to be done, now. I can't have Emily stay here and be unhappy. Nor can I do what she wants to. If I gave up, went to St. Louis, as she asks, it would be the same. I've tried to make her happy but I'm afraid I've failed. This is the way Emily wants it to be."

"This is the way she thinks she wants it—" "She has to find out—one way or the other." "I'll give you my word," Eric said earnestly, "I won't see Emily until she is free—if she ever is free."

"That's for her to decide, too. No, Eric, you and I have to stand by until Emily makes her choice. If she wants to see you, if she wants to get a divorce, marry you, or if she wants to come back here—it's up to her."

tributary creeks, we'd have our hands full." "NO, Emily, not another bite—and no more coffee, thanks. One cup is my limit at this hour," Farrell said a few minutes later. "I have to be going. I'll stop at the hospital on my way home, Alan, and look in on Mrs. Howland and Grandma Frank. I'll call you from there. No need of your going out again."

"Good night, Emily. Good night, Eric," Alan saw him to the door. Farrell's hand on his shoulder, and the grip of his handshake said more than words. "I have to be getting back up the river, too," Eric said as Alan returned. "Tough day tomorrow." "Alan, you still have time to make the midnight train," Emily said. "Mrs. Howland is all right; Grandma Frank won't die tonight. Alan shook his head. "Must you be so stubborn, Alan?" she asked.

"I'm not being stubborn. We've been all over that before. The decision has been made. I'm not going to change it." "You've nothing to hold you back now." "Yes I have. A hundred other Mrs. Howlands, a hundred other Grandmas Franks. The answer is 'No,' Emily."

Prison Probe Bill Vetoed By O'Daniel

AUSTIN, March 25 (AP)—Gov. V. Lee O'Daniel vetoed today a concurrent resolution providing for a legislative investigation of the state prison system. In an explanatory message to the house of representatives, the governor objected to the form of the committee. Some time ago he remembered an inquiry into the business methods of the system, with the object of determining whether it could be operated more efficiently, and suggested the committee be composed of the chairman of the house and senate penitentiaries committee and six business men. The business men would have been chosen thusly: two by the governor, two by the lieutenant-governor and two by the speaker of the house.

The investigation authorized would have been conducted by a joint committee of the legislative branches, with three of the six members appointed by the lieutenant-governor and three by the speaker. In floor discussions arguments were made the legislature has the responsibility and therefore should make the investigation; also that there are business men in the legislature.

Old Print Shop To Be Museum Exhibit

CANYON, March 25—Frank Hill, Tahoka newspaper man, announced here this week that construction of an oldtime print shop at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum here would begin next summer. Hill and other publishers are collecting pieces of equipment which, added to an old "G-Wash" press, will reproduce in its entirety a pioneer print shop. Local arrangements are being directed by Clyde W. Warwick, secretary of the Panhandle Press Association.

Interclub Kiwanis Meeting Held Here

Nine members of the Wellington Kiwanis club, headed by their president, Logan Cummings, presented the program at an interclub meeting of Wellington and Pampa Kiwanians held here at noon Friday. A playlet, stressing good fellowship, entitled "Mar No Name" and a talk by Mr. Cummings was on the program. President Cummings told of the work the Wellington club was doing, mentioning their sponsorship of a Collingsworth county 4-H club fair, Boy Scout troop, Cub pack, and Kiwanis work for the needy and underprivileged.

Burrus Funeral Held At Petrolia

Special To The NEWS
SHAMROCK, March 25—Funeral services for J. A. Burrus, 85, Clay county rancher since 1881 and father of Mrs. Ralph Burrus of Shamrock, were held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Baptist church in Petrolia. Interment was in the Henrietta cemetery.

Mr. Burrus died at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday at his home in Petrolia. Mr. and Mrs. Coburn were called to Petrolia Wednesday afternoon when they were notified that Mrs. Coburn's father was not expected to live.

A native of Henry county, Missouri, Mr. Burrus lived for a time in Gainesville before moving to Clay county. He was active in the cattle business up until the time of his death. He was a former member of the Petrolia school board and a vice-president of the Continental State bank of Petrolia for 30 years.

He is survived by his widow and five children: Dale, Petrolia; Mrs. Faye Inman, Petrolia; Mrs. Fred Neely, Fredman, Okla.; Mrs. R. V. Ligon, Byers, and Mrs. Ralph Coburn, Shamrock.

Plains Shelterbelts Reseed Like Forests

Special To The NEWS
LINCOLN, Neb., March 25—Some of the field shelterbelts planted on the Plains by the U. S. Forest Service have started reproduction naturally in true forest manner. Assistant Regional Forester D. S. Olson of Prairie States Forestry Project reports.

Reproduction from natural seeding of cottonwood and desert willow was observed this spring in four-year-old shelterbelts in Texas and Oklahoma, Olson said, and similar developments may appear this spring or next in shelterbelts farther north, because black locust, catalpa, mulberry, colutea, jujube, Chinese elm, wild plum, and vitex have been found bearing seed.
