GILBERT'S

Lombard And Gable Marry At Kingman

HOLLYWOOD, March 30 (AP)—Fun-loving Clark Gable and Carole Lombard, who wrote the long-anticipated happy ending to the story of their courtship in a little Arizona town late yesterday, returned early today to the bride's Bel-Air home.

Exhausted by their 750-mile trip, they retired, to wait until later to move into the home of his one-mile San Fernando Valley ranch which Gable had decorated in preparation for the wedding.

Friends were not surprised when news of the ceremony reached here last night. The marriage had been expected daily since the screen's No. 1 masculine star was given his freedom earlier this month by his second wife, Maria.

Gable, 38, and his blond bride, 31, a top-ranking comedienne, scorned the time-tried Hollywood elopement plot. They chose Kingman, Ariz., a desert railroad community, for the rites in preference to filmdom's more favored Greena Greens, Yuma, Ariz., and Las Vegas, Nevada.

Gable was due back on the Selznick lot late today to continue work as Rhett Butler in "Gone With the Wind." Friends said the couple expected to defer a honeymoon until summer, when both are free of picture engagements.

Gable's home, with its comfortable home, was purchased some months ago.

For four years, he and Miss Lombard have been indulging in "gags" at the other's expense. Carole's latest was the gift of a "Bessie," a mule, to Gable on his birthday last month.

Once she gave him an old model Ford for a Valentine's gift, and he responded by parking a fire engine on her front lawn. When he gave what she considered a poor performance, she sent him a ham with his picture on it. The actress, who delights in the "screenball" role she made popular first in "My Man Godfrey," once arrived at a party given by the John Hay Whitehorns in an ambulance, pretending she was ill. Gable paid her marked attention throughout the evening.

Kit Kat Klub Will Have Presentation Pink Tea Tuesday

Announcement of a presentation pink tea to be given Tuesday in the home of Miss Anne Buckler was made at the last meeting of the Kit Kat Klub.

This club is a newly organized girls' organization, which has recently elected six new pledges. The pledges, Maxine Holt, Marguerite Kirchman, Tommy Close, Joan Gurley, Patricia Bisset and Betty Cree, have gone through the ordeal of Hill Week, the traditional week ended with a mock initiation in the home of Miss Marjory McCool, a charter member.

Other charter members are Misses Anne Buckler, president, Anne Chisholm, Carolyn Surratt, Heidi Schneider and Sarah Bourland.

The pledges took their solemn vows at an impressive formal initiation at a secret meeting place last Sunday night. At a previous meeting, the club selected "Star Dust" as their song and blue and silver were the colors named.

Whole Hog

In passing any law, it is a good idea to consider not only (1) Is this a good idea? but (2) Is there a Chinese chance that it will work?

Rather typical of occasional failure to consider the second point is unanimous approval by the House of a bill that would authorize deportation of any alien who advocates any change in the American form of government.

The present law provides deportation for aliens who actively advocate the violent overthrow of the government. That is sensible enough, when not tyrannically interpreted.

Lets say it is 1942. Ladislav Bronchosopovitch, recent arrival, is heard to remark: "I really don't think Congress should have the power to grant letters of marque and reprisal."

A friend reports him, and as what he is against is in the Constitution, he has violated the law, and is shipped forthwith back to Belgravia.

Democracy is not yet so wobbly as to need that kind of protection.

By-Product Of Dictatorship

One thing has been accomplished by Adolf Hitler in his conquest of Czechoslovakia.

He has swung wider the door to closer relations between the Americas. His recent acts have frightened and embittered millions of people in South America.

They turn naturally toward closer relations with the United States as their best bet for safety. And the United States also turns south for the sort of understanding that will alone make this hemisphere safe from any possible overseas menace.

From Panama, San Salvador, and the Dominican Republic have come journalistic cries urging closer relationships between the Americas for common defense against any possible emergency.

Whatever else Hitler has done, he has forged another and stronger tie between the two Americas.

Cruel Or Unusual?

The crusade against traffic deaths is going forward this year in earnest, spurred by the splendid results achieved last year.

To Scranton, Pa., goes the honor of the most ingenious plan thus far proposed in 1939.

The idea is to embarrass reckless drivers by marking their cars, painting a yellow ring on the hind end of the offender's car after the first offense, a red ring after the second, a blue one after the third, each to remain 30 days.

The legal department, reports the International Association of Police Chiefs, is studying the proposal.

The Constitution provides that "cruel or unusual punishments" may not be inflicted.

This one is certainly unusual. But is it cruel? Possibly only a trial will tell.

The Nation's Press

ONE BIG, RED UNION (Chicago Tribune)

John Lewis has been pretending that the scheme he put forward a few days ago to establish centralized control over all wings of organized labor in this country is the child of his own brain. Possibly he thinks he figured the thing out for himself, but the evidence to the contrary is overwhelming.

The Pan-American conference idea is not new. John Quincy Adams was the first President to send delegates to such a conference; and the first regular, periodic conference was held in Washington in 1889, when James G. Blaine was secretary of state.

In 1933 six or seven Latin republics adopted a treaty expressing the principle of non-recognition of territorial changes made by force, in respect to the American continents. Later, the United States and all the rest of the 21 new world republics adhered to it.

At Buenos Aires, in 1936, the 21-nations adopted a statement asserting that the American nations proclaimed their absolute juridical equality and their unqualified respect for their respective sovereignties—which, in plain English, means that they agreed that all of them were equal at law and that each nation was fully independent and boss in its own house.

At Lima, a few months ago, the delegates re-stated and amplified these principles.—They endorsed the removal of trade barriers and adopted a "declaration of continental solidarity," declaring that a threat to the integrity of any new world nation was a matter of common concern to all and agreeing to consult in case the "peace, security or territorial integrity" of any American republic is threatened.

The good neighbor policy is not one-sided. It must be reciprocal. The State Department admits that much remains to be done, but it also feels that all the new world nations are coming to see the advantage of standing as sovereign equals, united by common ideals.

Now if the good neighbor policy does not mean that the United States wants to be boss, it also does not mean that the United States wants to monopolize all trade with South America and stop imports and exports between South American nations and other countries.

THE EDUCATORS' FORESIGHT

It would seem that if the public educators really had much foresight, they would feel the pulse of the voters who are being gradually ground down into a lower standard of living and are, thus, beginning to realize that there is something very definitely wrong in the country, that has to cause them to work so hard for what they get with as many natural resources as we have here in the United States.

If these educators really had foresight, they would begin to change their "know-it-all" attitude and dominating tactics and adjust themselves so as to lessen the wrath that will eventually fall on their heads when the public comes to know how they have been misled.

But, probably the reason our educators do not adjust themselves is because they have very little foresight and have been drifting along with the crowd and cannot see what is bound to happen before it does happen. So, it is their stupidity—that causes them to continue to teach the undemocratic doctrine of the majority rule, on individual initiative as they are doing in practically every public institution in the land.

They are so contented with their college degrees that they do not mix with the people who are trying to teach by example and are actually producing wealth and, consequently, these contented self satisfied public educators do not know what is taking place in the minds of the people who are doing some thinking.

It would be better for all concerned if we did not have to learn by such an expensive lesson of increasing poverty and would adjust ourselves so we would not have to lose more and more of our personal liberty.

There never was a time in our history that we so badly needed sound practical education as we need it now. But, we need it by men with foresight and honesty and consistency and not by politicians seeking to perpetuate themselves in soft, easy jobs. These jobs cannot last. Sooner or later, these political educators will be handed money with little value and then the people will realize that wealth cannot be created out of nothing; that it comes only from freely producing and exchanging goods between people; that any arbitrary prices or exchanges are not free enterprise, but a form of paganism.

FREEDOM OF CHOICE

As we see the government making more and more laws attempting to protect the individual from himself, the statement made by John Milton, in his great speech for the liberty of unlicensed printing, is timely:

"It was from out of the rind of one apple tasted, the knowledge of good and evil as two twins cleaving together leaped forth into the world, And perhaps this is that doom which Adam fell into of knowing good and evil; that is to say of knowing good by evil."

On the subject, Milton further said, "Assuredly we bring not innocence into the world, we bring impurity much rather: that which purifies us by trial, and trial is by what is contrary."

MAJORITY RULE ON IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

The man who believes the majority should have the right to make decisions on important questions always is the man who has never done anything important himself. There is a logical reason for this. It is the only way the mediocre can make himself important. But his mediocrity, in a few years, destroys his right to make decisions on the minor things which he is capable of making and which would help to develop him.

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Perhaps the best way to explain just what America's "good neighbor" policy in Latin America means is to describe a few of the things which it does not mean.

First of all, it does not mean that the United States is trying to set itself up as the boss of the Latin republics.

The Pan-American conference idea is not new. John Quincy Adams was the first President to send delegates to such a conference; and the first regular, periodic conference was held in Washington in 1889, when James G. Blaine was secretary of state.

For a full half century, the essentials of a democratic ordering of foreign relations in the new world have been in evolution.

In 1933 six or seven Latin republics adopted a treaty expressing the principle of non-recognition of territorial changes made by force, in respect to the American continents. Later, the United States and all the rest of the 21 new world republics adhered to it.

At Buenos Aires, in 1936, the 21-nations adopted a statement asserting that the American nations proclaimed their absolute juridical equality and their unqualified respect for their respective sovereignties—which, in plain English, means that they agreed that all of them were equal at law and that each nation was fully independent and boss in its own house.

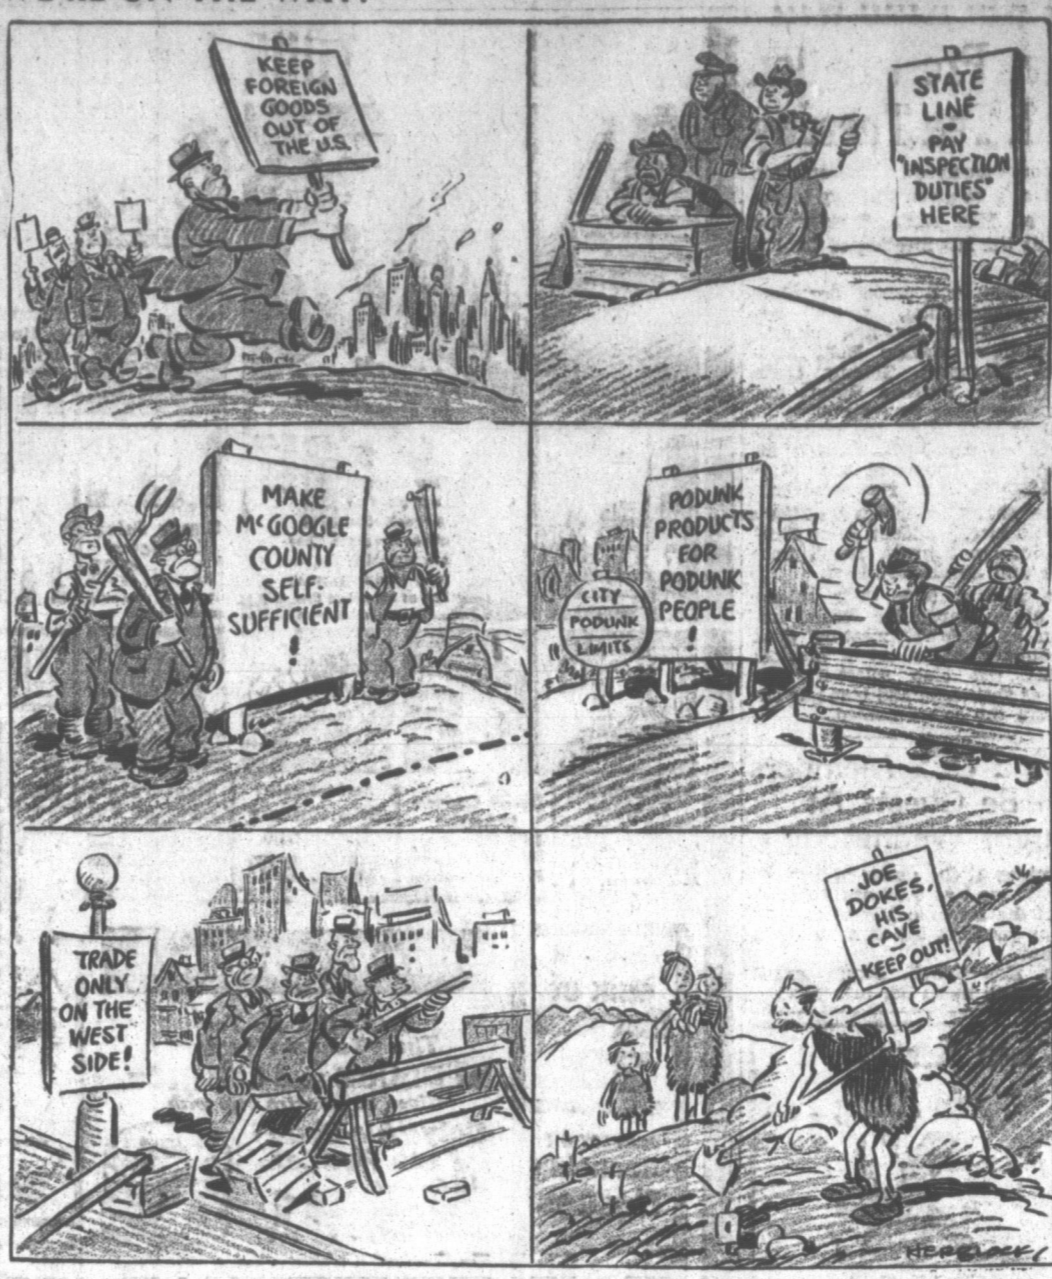

At Lima, a few months ago, the delegates re-stated and amplified these principles.—They endorsed the removal of trade barriers and adopted a "declaration of continental solidarity," declaring that a threat to the integrity of any new world nation was a matter of common concern to all and agreeing to consult in case the "peace, security or territorial integrity" of any American republic is threatened.

The good neighbor policy is not one-sided. It must be reciprocal. The State Department admits that much remains to be done, but it also feels that all the new world nations are coming to see the advantage of standing as sovereign equals, united by common ideals.

Now if the good neighbor policy does not mean that the United States wants to be boss, it also does not mean that the United States wants to monopolize all trade with South America and stop imports and exports between South American nations and other countries.

WE'RE ON THE WAY!

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 30.—The South, and everybody acquainted with the British principals from the "Gone With the Wind" than of anything else in the picture. David Selznick and his helpers know this and are taking elaborate precautions.

One precaution they have not been able to take is to isolate the two British principals from their British friends. Every Monday morning, Miss Vivien Leigh and Leslie Howard show up at the studio with their broad A's and their Mayfair inflections, and the dialog coach has to go to work on them again. He also has to go to work on Cap'n Clark Gable, who is tight-jawed and tough on consonants, as are most middle-westerners.

The coach is Will Price, a pleasant young man from Mississippi by way of Georgia, where he was regional head of the Federal Theater. He is a by-product of George Cukor's trip to Atlanta in search of a Scarlett. The former director of the picture saw one of his shows and hired him to teach the GWTW cast how to speak. Of course there isn't any cast then, so Price came to Hollywood and coached 1,250 candidates for screen tests and auditions.

He disclaimed any difficulties with the players selected, said it's lucky that some of them are British because their way of speaking is close to—or at least easily adaptable to—the Southern. I got quite a lecture on the subject, it being Price's hobby anyway. He said there are dozens of southern accents and cited as one example the speech of a girl in the cast named Rhett, from Charleston. It's rather like that of east Canada and Yorkshire.

Blame The Weather "All accents," said Price, "are traceable to climate. When people live in a windy and cold or dusty region they keep their jaws tight and their mouths closed more, and they use a lot of hard sounds and consonants and hisses. Like the Russians and Germans.

"Then you get farther south and people open their mouths and have softer speech and use more vowel sounds.

The ultimate example is the Polynesian language, which is very liquid and nearly all vowels.

"So it's not true that people of the South adopted the accent of negroes, although it's true that negro speech did influence the vernacular and idiom of the South. My biggest difficulty on this picture is trying to get the western and northern negroes to speak like southern ones."

Getting Details Correct Besides Price there are three technical advisers on "Gone With the Wind."

Primarily, the good neighbor policy is an attempt to promote better understanding and to improve trade. The two go hand in hand, to an extent; and they take with them the concept of a common plan for a new world defense, out of which come such things as the current proposal to help the Latin nations arm.

The defense angle is important. Back of it lies the belief that democracies can prosper only in a relatively stable and prosperous world. The constant sequence of war, war-threats, and the preparation for war is an eternal threat to the democratic ideal.

Hence, to defend American democracy, it is necessary to keep the new world at peace—and in the present state of the world that can best be done by working out a common plan for the defense of the new world and buttressing it with the proper armaments.

If that is done, if the peace of the new world is kept inviolate, if the common acceptance of the principle of peaceful settlement of disputes is firmly established, and if the normal, peaceful flow of trade is revived—

Then the outlook for democracy in the new world is bright... and the good neighbor policy, as one angle of America's general foreign policy, is vindicated by its fruits.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

To the Pampa boy who yesterday exclaimed rather disappointedly "the thing that makes me mad is the way them Nazis and Italians are always hintin' that they are superior to us and we can't fight!"; to that boy this one makes this reply:

In June 1917, the Fifth Regiment of the U. S. Marines sailed for France as one of the first units of the American Expeditionary Force, and a year later won a dying fame at Belleau Wood. With the Germans breaking through the Allies line at Chemin des Dames, the Marines were rushed into the breach amid the confusion of fleeing refugees and retreating French soldiers.

Stemming the enemy onslaught, the Marine Brigade, consisting of the Fifth and Sixth Regiments assumed the offensive and delivered a smashing attack which left the wood in American control despite all efforts to dislodge them. In recognition of this exploit the French government authorized the retaining of the wood to that of Bois de la Brigade de Marine, and General Petain conferred a citation upon the brigade.

After the war the entire wood was purchased by Mrs. James Carroll Fraser and is today the property of the American Battle Monuments Commission. After Belleau Wood, the Marine Brigade took part in the St. Mihiel and Argonne offensives, and the Armistice found the Marines across the Meuse in pursuit of the retreating enemy.

Remember that story, my boy; also remember that the United States does not want to fight, and will not fight until it has to, and there's no need for us to get our minds off football, boxing, etc., until we have to. There's no use worrying about a fight until you meet up with it.

Peace is not just a state of comfort for ourselves apart from other nations, but a state in which all the peoples of the world are able to participate and make their contributions to the common life of mankind.

Tex's Topics

By Tex DeWeese

ALBERT COOPER, THE "You Who" columnist of the Shamrock, Texas, took unique advantage of us the other day, all because one of our make-up men, overcome by spring, put this column under the heading of the "Family Doctor" and the good doctor's material under the heading "Tex's Topics".

The change had us making a technical discussion, from the doctor's viewpoint, on wens... Mr. Cooper says he never suspected the skipper of this space of having a bit of the family physician in his make-up... His suspicions are not unfounded... What we would like to know is: Why is a wen, and when is it?

In the same column Mr. Cooper confessed that he was just cutting a wisdom tooth... No doubt, he'll be a lot wiser, now, about wens and things... We've just got back from an 1100-mile hop around Texas and Oklahoma and Oklahoma's best trying to figure out whether we're wiser or sadder, or both, or neither... Only one more shopping day left before that 1938 license plate will be as useless as last Saturday night's half-bottle of ginger ale.

GOING UP FROM Dallas to Oklahoma City the other day we drove through the Arbuckle Mountains (hills to you) for the first time, and that's some of the finest scenery you'll see in this neck of the country... I'm still wondering who planted all that rock in rows as straight as any Nebraska cornfield... Over Texas and Oklahoma the red bud trees (or are they bushes?) are in bloom now... They're beautiful... They told me that each bud has a worm in it, and that these are considered delicacies to eat... The Indians used to eat them for medicinal purposes... Personally, it is one delicacy we can do very well without.

You'll miss some good entertainment if you pass up the box fights out at the Athletic Arena tonight... It'll be a case of champions vs. champions all the way through... Down in Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma, it was an old derick pop-dab in the middle of the main drag to tell the visitor that Ranger's principal livelihood comes from the oilfields... Going on that basis, what should be standing in front of a nudist camp? It was an old derick pop-dab in the middle of the main drag to tell the visitor that Ranger's principal livelihood comes from the oilfields.

WE TALKED WITH an Indian on the street corner in Ardmore, Okla., and he thought it would be a good idea if they gave the country back to him... He was sure, he said, that his people do any worse with it... This Indian never saw a tepee; he explained, except in the movies, and he doesn't like the Hollywood version of Indian life... This Indian did not offer us the pipe of peace... He did proffer a pall-mall cigarette, however... As big as a rock on the left hand indicated he was doing fairly well selling wampum, or something.

And, there was San Angelo, largest inland wool market in the world and one of the nation's greatest livestock distribution centers, Gainesville, "City of 100,000," which marks the golden anniversary of its founding this year... And Big Spring, the largest city on the transcontinental cable and west airline between Abilene and El Paso... And scores and scores of other towns and trading posts... We didn't even get started, but still covered plenty of country... As one of our Eastern cousins said on a trip out here: "Texas sure has a lot of neighborhood."

Book A Day

The call of the outdoors finds a ready list of books for the flower grower and the gardener this spring. Two of these seem to cover the field particularly well, both for the amateur and the professional.

The first, and the one most likely to find wide usage, is "Gardening—A Complete Guide" by Montague Free (Harcourt, Brace, $2.95). This is a book of 30 chapters and answers about anything you would want to know in the back yard, from fertilizing to pruning.

There are a number of chapters in this that you would not ordinarily find such as those dealing with selection and planning of your lot, grading and walls, hotbeds, how even to go about making a roof garden. The chapter on vegetables is typically thorough. There is another chapter showing you what are the proper garden tools and how to use them.

Thus, all in all, Free gives you a book which he says is simple enough for the average gardener and advanced enough for the specialist. Superb illustrations add the final note.

Second, and more specialized, but a valuable book because it has long been needed, is "Edible Wild Plants" by Oliver Peck, Madrona (Macmillan; $3.50). Here is the "first complete handbook of America's wild menu." The author spent 30 years gathering material for it. It is exhaustive even to instructions on how to prepare and cook these edibles of the field and forest... Nineteen photos and 80 pen and ink drawings distinguish this volume. You can imagine it being eminently useful to fishermen, hunters, and all lovers of the outdoors.—P. G. F.

CLEVER FOLDING CHAIR For speaker spots, where chairs are not provided, it would be convenient to have along with you one of these ingenious new chairs which unfold so easily to form a three-legged chair. Made of natural fish-bone wood, with a curved handle to facilitate comfortable carrying, it is said to be strong enough to support a person weighing as much as 250 pounds.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

If a man is over 40, he has one chance in eight or ten of succumbing to cancer. In women over 40 the chance is even more serious. This does not mean that cancer is increasing. It merely means that more of us are living longer, and that cancer is essentially a disease of advanced years.

Moreover, there is no use in worrying about the fact that cancer may be responsible for the deaths of more people now than used to die of the disease. It is much better to be intelligent and to make up your mind to help the doctor to find cancer in its early stages when it can be brought under control.

First, remember that false modesty may prevent the prompt reporting of personal symptoms which are intimate. Such false modesty may thus menace life itself.

Second, make up your mind to have an examination at least once each year after you have passed 40.

Third, make up your mind to know more about cancer.

If you do not have easy access to information, write to the American Society for the Control of Cancer in New York City at 350 Madison Avenue. This society has material freely available for all who are interested enough to ask for it.

Concerning the details of the prevention of cancer, Dr. Clarence C. Little has summarized a few simple rules:

1. Form and maintain habits of mouth hygiene. Wash the mouth, clean the teeth and gums. Remove or correct jagged teeth. Correct any artificial denture that presses, rubs, or chafes. If smoking irritates your lip or tongue, stop it temporarily or permanently if necessary.

2. Discuss with your doctor the advisability of removing warts or moles, especially deeply pigmented ones and those that are rubbed or irritated by clothing or during shaving.

3. Keep the skin clean and protected from undue or excessively prolonged exposure to sun and wind.

4. Do not abuse your stomach. Avoid extremely hot food, overeating or any type of food or drink that causes distress.

5. Establish and maintain regular habits of emptying the bowels; avoid constipation.

6. Avoid tight clothing which rubs or chafes, especially brassieres which do these things.

7. If a woman has borne children she should check, with her gynecologist to be sure that any tears or lacerations of the vagina have been repaired. Avoid the use of the old-fashioned metal or bone pessaries which are inserted into the neck of the womb to prevent disease or conception. The rubber variety of pessary is harmless.

8. Drink plenty of water to avoid the unnecessary irritating effects of too concentrated urine on both the kidneys and bladder.

Work On Texas Dam Will Be Continued

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Representative Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) said today President Roosevelt had approved a budget bureau recommendation that Congress appropriate $5,000,000 to continue work on Marshall Ford dam in Texas during the next fiscal year.

Nineteen funds now are available to complete a 190-foot high dam on the Colorado river at a cost of $12,000,000. The additional money was sought to start work on increasing the height to 270 feet.

The higher dam would increase the total cost to $18,000,000 and was designed to provide additional flood protection.

The request for additional funds will go to Congress. The money would be set work in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

There are on the average more than 20,000,000 gallons of gasoline sold to the American public each year.

SALES TAX

error's asserted previous views and Rep. Roy G. Baker of Sherman suggested they be printed in the House journal and about 10,000 copies be mimeographed for distribution among the people of Texas. Langdon averred the House ought to co-operate with the governor because he had stated departmental goods had been slammed in his face and his economy moves had been blocked. The legislature, if it favors sales tax, should put it in a bill, not a constitutional amendment, so the governor would have a chance to veto it, the young Glen Rose representative sarcastically argued.

JURY

Dr. Brinkley made an important surgical discovery and that his work had benefited his patients. Federal Judge Robert J. McMillan refused to allow former patients to testify Dr. Brinkley's operations had been helpful to them. Dr. Brinkley claimed Dr. Fishbein's references to quackery and assertions about radio health lectures "caused me to feel ashamed and embarrassed."

Judge McMillan in delivering his charge defined the word "quack" and told the jury the defense lawyers were "truth and privilege" under Texas law. He left it to the jury to determine whether Dr. Fishbein's article was a reasonably fair comment and criticism.

The judge read from the published biography of Dr. Brinkley a statement of the supreme court of Kansas which revoked Dr. Brinkley's Medical license in 1932. The biography said the Kansas supreme court called Dr. Brinkley "an empiric without moral sense, and having acted accordingly to the ethical standards of impostor, the licensee has performed charlatanism until he is capable of preying on human weakness, ignorance, and credulity to an extent quite beyond the invention of the humble mountebank."

WPA Rolls To Be Cut On April 8

Approximately 400 of the 3,352 workers now employed on WPA projects in Administrative Field 16 may be released during the week ending April 8 as the Panhandle district's portion of the 13,500 workers to be released from Works Progress Administration's projects in Texas, as disclosed today by A. Meredith, administrative officer.

How this will affect the 195 persons employed on Gray county WPA projects is not known. County Judge Sherman White is out of town and could not be contacted. However, it was learned that projects employing 10 or less workers would not be affected. The present plan for reduction in the total number of WPA workers is tentative and the proposed reduction may not be made.

There are now 3,352 workers currently employed on WPA projects and 1,804 on other Federal agency projects, or a total of 5,156 in the 26 counties of the Panhandle of Texas for labor. In addition to the number now employed there are 3,011 families certified as eligible for WPA employment in this district who have not been offered jobs due to the present limitation of funds. Records in the Amarillo office show that only 246 of these families now have temporary private employment.

Following the policy announced on March 30 by Mr. H. P. Drought, state administrator, the release of the 400 workers from WPA projects in the Panhandle will be made on the basis of project cost and efficiency, Meredith stated.

House Votes To Hike Own Pay

Joel Hunt To Be Wyoming's Grid Coach

LARAMIE, Wyo., March 30. (AP)—Joel Hunt of Baton Rouge, La., football coach at Georgia university last autumn, and Everett Shelton of Denver, who coached the Denver Safeways to the National A. A. U. basketball championship in 1937, will handle Wyoming university's grid and cage teams next season.

The university trustees announced last night Hunt also would become chairman of the athletic department, a position corresponding to athletic director Willard (Dutch) Witte, head football and basketball coach and chairman of the athletic department, designed recently to enter business at Fremont, Neb.

President A. G. Crane said Hunt and Shelton were given one-year contracts.

Herry Gamage, South Dakota university football coach, was offered the football position first, but rejected it because "terms and conditions" were unsatisfactory, he said.

Hunt was not offered a contract renewal at Georgia university after his team made a poor showing last season. He went to Georgia last year after five seasons as assistant coach at Louisiana State under Major Lawrence (Biff) Jones and Bernie Moore, and three seasons at his alma mater, Texas A. & M., as assistant coach under Metty Bell, now of Southern Methodist.

Hunt was a star quarterback at Texas A. & M., graduating in 1927. He played several seasons as a baseball outfielder in the St. Louis Cardinal farm system. A broken foot he suffered in 1922 while with Toronto in the International league, ended his baseball career.

Track And Field Team May Compete At Memphis

Coach Odus Mitchell may take a few of his track and field prospects to Memphis Saturday to participate in an invitation meet he announced today.

The thinkers have been training without supervision for three weeks excepting when Coach Mitchell could break away from spring football practice long enough to give them pointers on starting and form. Only seniors and boys not out for football have been doing intensive work in track and field.

This afternoon Coach Mitchell plans to let football boys desiring to try out for track and field events join the rest of the group in an impromptu meeting to decide who will go to Memphis.

"I don't plan to take a full team but will use boys who appear best in some of the events," Coach Mitchell said. "After next week we will discontinue spring football practice for two weeks and will devote all our time to track and field work."

The district tournament will be held here on April 15 with winners from all schools in the 11 northeast Panhandle counties eligible to compete following county tournaments.

"I don't have any idea who my best track and field prospects are at this time," Coach Mitchell said.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

"Curly" Robbins of Faulkner's set a new series high score in Class B bowling circles last night when he topped 605 pins as his team took three straight from the Humble Oilers. Gunn-Hinerman, won two out of three from the Kiwanis club.

Robbins also rolled high single game of 236 pins or eight pins short of tying high game set by Ives of Wier Barber's.

'What A Joint!' Says Jacobs Of Nova's Camp

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—They're going to take Lou Nova up among the pet elephants and tigers and the exclusive membership of the Country club... Nova, to do his training for his 15-round bout with Maxie Beer this summer.

This club is known as a center of Yoga teachings for spiritual and physical well-being and draws its clientele from the smart set. All of which promises to make it just "duddy" at a fight camp.

Ray Carlin, manager of the blond Nova, took promoter Mike Jacobs up to see the place yesterday, and Uncle Mike probably rounded the situation up as well as anyone.

After looking it over he cracked his store teeth in amazement just once, then stammered: "What a joint! What a joint!"

Carlin denied he had decided to try out the gorilla or an elephant or two from the club zoo as sparring partners for his California contender.

"I think," he decided, "Louis is just a little too tough. We're going to use experienced boxers who can take it."

Mrs. Page Leads In Golf Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C., March 30 (AP)—Mrs. Estelle LaVette Faye of Chapel Hill, N. C., former national champion, opposed Helen Detweiler of Washington today in the semi-final round of the Women's North and South golf tournament.

Mrs. Page, the medalist, defeated Helen Varing of Pinehurst 8 and 4 yesterday and Miss Detweiler edged out Mrs. Thomas R. Ruda of Forest Hill, N. J., 3 and 2.

Katherine MacCloskey of Pittsburgh eliminated 15-year-old Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., one up on the 18th hole, and paired today against Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, who defeated Helen Sigel of Philadelphia, 2 and 1 in the second round.

Other pairings today matched Mrs. W. G. Hamilton, Jr., of Philadelphia against Deborah Verry of Worcester, Mass., and Mrs. William Hockenjos of West Orange, N. J., against Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I.

Women's Golf Meet Begins

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 30. (AP)—Slim, dark-haired Elinor Jones, of Albuquerque, N. M., medalist, and Mrs. R. D. Roper, of Phoenix, defending titleholder, were installed as favorites today as top-flight feminine golfers of three states teed off in first round competition of the annual southwestern women's golf tournament.

Four-time winner of the New Mexico state crown and southwestern medalist for the third consecutive year, Miss Jones faced another Albuquerque contestant, Mrs. A. G. Sels.

Miss Jones carded a none-too-impressive 82, five over par, in qualifying play yesterday. Mrs. Roper, who eliminated the pretty New Mexico State college co-ed in the semi-finals of the 1938 tournament at Albuquerque, turned in an 83.

Mrs. Roper, society matron and sportswoman, is the holder of the Phoenix city, Arizona state and southwestern golf crowns. She plays Mrs. L. M. White, Tucson, Ariz., who qualified for 16th and 18th place in the championship flight by defeating Mrs. Thomas W. Woodman of Phoenix in a playoff.

Miss Shirley Ann Johnson, Chicago, a "dark horse" entry, matched Mrs. Roper's qualifying 83, and opposes Mrs. R. A. Murray, Tucson, Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Sels both turned in 94s yesterday.

Mrs. C. L. Dean, Lubbock, Texas, won seventh place in the title flight with an 89, and was paired with Mrs. W. E. McClure, of Phoenix, who shot a qualifying 92.

Baseball Park To Be Remodeled

Remodeling of Road Runner park for the 1939 baseball season is scheduled to get under way Monday. The roof of the grandstand will be repaired and several sections of the fence blown down by the recent heavy wind will be rebuilt.

The diamond will be worked over and the plant put in excellent condition for the season.

Manager Grover Seitz is expected to return from a trip after players in time to call out all players of this section desiring to try out for the team on Monday or Tuesday afternoon. Before leaving Seitz urged all boys who had contacted him to start limbering up.

Pampa officially became a member of the Texas-New Mexico baseball league with Amarillo, Lubbock, Lamesa, Big Spring, Abilene, Midland, and Clovis, N. M., on Tuesday when a forfeit check was mailed to President Branham of the minor league.

Play will officially begin on April 25 with the Amarillo Gold Sox playing here.

Plans for conducting a contest to name the local team are being made and will be announced soon.

Seabiscuit Will Rest Six Months

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30 (AP)—Charles S. Howard, owner of Seabiscuit, conqueror of War Admiral, today ordered a six-month rest for his horse with hopes the "Biscuit" would return to competition and break Sun Beau's all-time money record.

Seabiscuit, who pulled up lame Feb. 14 in a special mile race, a warm-up for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, was taken to Howard's Mendocino ranch near here.

Exes To Play Harvesters Here Monday

Monday afternoon has been set for the football game between the Pampa Harvesters out for spring training and the ex-Harvesters still in school. The kickoff will be at 3:45 o'clock and no admission will be charged.

The game was originally scheduled for tomorrow afternoon but bad weather which kept the elevens from workouts for two days this week and the senior Kid Day Friday necessitated changing the date.

Although lineups for the game have not been released, the exes are expected to use Andis and Kyle at ends, Hessey and Ripple at tackles, Parish and Stiles at guard, Solomon at center, and Kemp, Watkins, Rumble and Aulse at the backfield with Wear, Kidwell, Clemons, and Miller also ready as starters.

J. W. Gardner, Claude Heiskell, Bob Karr, and Leonard Hull are not expected to suit up. Heiskell plans to try out for the Pampa baseball team and the others are afraid of aggravating old injuries. Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean will, in the opinion of the sidelines regulars, start the team that made such an excellent showing in scrimmage last Friday afternoon. Only change that might be made would be to send Co-Captain Glen Nichols to his old tackle position if his knee is well enough to let him play.

The lineup that looked strongest last week was:

Green and Clemons, ends; Candler and R. Phillips, tackles; Fader and Giddens, guards; Terrell, center; Heiskell, quarter; Carlisle and Mathews, halves; Dunaway, full.

Major League Camp Briefs

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Hank Greenberg, unperturbed by one rebuff, has devised a new webbing for his big left hand to bring the Detroit Tigers' slugger says it is equal and much better than an earlier fishnet arrangement he invented some seasons back only to have it ruled out after Manager Joe Croin of the Boston Red Sox protested.

LAKE CHARLES, La.—You can take it from Connie Mack, there isn't another club in the American league with as many "doubtful" pitchers as the Philadelphia Athletics. Almost ready to abandon this proving ground, Mack took inventory today and announced he would carry 10, or 11 hurlers this season. He's definitely decided on George Carter, Buck Ross, Bud Thomas and Chubby Dean as starters.

SHREVEPORT, La.—Rested by a two-day rain which washed out a pair of games at Dallas, the New York Giants pulled in here today hoping for some action against an all-star Shreveport nine.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who were busy traders throughout the winter, have shown signs of more shuffling before the season opens. Manager Leo Durocher has disclosed he would like to trade Brian (Betsy) Grant, Atlanta, outfielder and from other sources it was learned Scout, Ted McCrew is on a junket to New Braunfels, Tex., headquarters of the Philadelphia Phils.

CUERO, Texas.—Manager Doc Prothro of the Philadelphia Phillies thinks maybe he has found a winning pitching combination in Jim Henry and Walter Beck. They gave the Phils their first victory of the spring last week and yesterday Prothro sent them against the St. Louis Browns in the hope they could repeat. They did, in a 14-13 baseball burlesque.

AUSTIN.—Successful against the professional opposition they have been meeting the St. Louis Browns tried their pace today against an amateur aggregation. They tackled the University of Texas nine.

LAKE CHARLES, La.—Manager Oscar Vitt, ever one to admit the obvious, said Odell Hale's batting was a big argument in the veteran's favor when figuring on second base, where a lot of rookie experimentation has been going on. Hale got three home runs in four times at bat yesterday as he held down the keystone stop for the first time this spring.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30 (AP)—Harold "Pie" Traynor, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, peered into the baseball future today and saw a four-way National league "photo-finish" involving Chicago, New York, Cincinnati and his own club.

"A few breaks probably will decide it all as it did last year," predicted Traynor.

"Until the final week of last season we thought we were in. We blew up and the Cubs coasted in. This year it might be just the reverse. With four or five teams evenly matched it only takes a few lucky breaks to put one or the other in the top spot."

After watching his team perform in a series of exhibition games here and in Southern California, Traynor described it as "definitely stronger" than last season.

Our pitching will be better. Last year we had three inexperienced pitchers. Jim Tobin, Russ Baggs and Bob Klingar carrying the pitching load while we were in the thick of the pennant fight. They've had the benefit of being under fire in

Phillie Manager Tries To Change Club Attitude

SPORT SPARKS

DALLAS, March 30 (AP)—Davy O'Brien, great campaigner though he is, will need plenty of cooperation to click for the Philadelphia Eagles. The passing game in the pro ranks is not the highly-specialized feature it is down here in the Southwest conference, and if the little fellow doesn't get the same protection, the same well-screened plays, and the same sort of receiving he was given at T. C. U., he may fizzle. Bert Bell, the Eagles' owner, however, assures all and sundry he plans to provide all that.

"We'll guard him like gold, like the Frogs did in 1938." Seizes.

Morgan Harris, Palestine junior high sprinter, tore down the track several feet ahead of everybody in a 50-yard dash preliminary at the Anderson county track meet. Finish judges held the tape taut across the line, but Harris ducked under it. His explanation: "I ran into a barbed wire fence, once, and I don't like the idea of having to run into something that even looks like a wire."

In an exhibition at the San Jacinto relays, E. Y. Streakley of Rice equaled the Southwest conference record in the 100-yard dash, running it in 9.6. Then he helped the Rice relay team to the 440-yard relay record with 41.4. Texas should be a warning to Texas university's tracksters. . . . Streakley's brother, Ike, was elected 1940 Rice basketball captain the same night.

Alvin Gardner, Texas league president, and Lee Stebbins, Fort Worth's first baseman, have the same first name—Jebes. . . . The pro football scouts are chasing Jake Schuehle, fullback, and Jess Hines, tackle, of the Rice Owls. . . . Fort Worth sportsmen may feel feebler about bringing the National Open Golf tournament to Colonial club there . . . The Texas relays will have an entrant from the state school for blind—Sam Millap—in the high school division. . . . Sammy Baugh, football player and rancher, says he'll not try baseball this spring. Says the Sacramento team, which owns him, refused to give him a contract which would let him leave in August for football training.

Bobby Jones As Pro Urged By PGA Head

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 30 (AP)—It would be worth $100,000 each year in cash prizes to the professional golfers, or maybe even twice that amount, if Bobby Jones would turn outright professional and participate in the annual winter tour, estimates Freddie Corcoran, tournament manager for the Professional Golfers' association.

Freddie made his estimate while casting a gander at the gallery following Jones as he turned up half-heartedly for the "72-hole augusta national "masters" tournament starting today, the only event for which Bobby comes out of hibernation.

"The cream of the world's golfers, barring Henry Cotton and Alf Padgham of England, were practicing all over the place, yet the only crowd of any size was following the Jones foursome."

Raymond Guest, better known for his polo than his golf, was in the group.

"There's your answer," said Corcoran. "Bobby still can play with a polo player and draw a bigger crowd than all the others put together. The American sports public might be a lot of things, but it isn't fickle about its golf heroes. We have had about $200,000 in prizes at our tournaments this year. If Bobby would join us, I honestly believe we could double that figure."

These were strange and unexpected words, coming from Corcoran, because after all his business is to sound the drums for the bright professional stars under his banner. He could be forgiven if he pointed out the simple truth—that Jones at 37 no longer is a great golfer; that he probably never would win a tournament against the present tribe; that there isn't a chance in the world of Bobby hitting the winter trail, anyway. But Freddie just felt like he had to tell the deeper truth to somebody.

"There's no use in kidding ourselves. All the fellows wish Bobby would come back, no matter what sort of golf he's shooting. Everywhere we play the people ask about him and say their one ambition is to see him hit a golf ball."

Not a 300 Hitter.

In the front firing line will be Al Hollingsworth, Claude Passeau, Max Butcher, and Hugh Mulcahey. Their joint winnings last season, with Butcher chinking for Brooklyn and the Phillies, was 35. Jim Henry, with Minneapolis last year, Jennings Poindexter, an eccentric problem child who chucked for the same club and Peter Sivess, a Philly last year, round out the staff.

Not a 300 hitter graced the club in '38.

Prothro thinks maybe opening day will find Merrill May, up from Newark with a .333 average, at third base; veteran George Scharen at short; Eight Del Young, or Emmet Mueller, both second and light hitters, at second, and Lee Powers, a Jersey City product, at first base.

The veteran Arthur (Pinky) Whitney, great third sacker in his tenth major year, may wind up at utility.

The outfield seems to belong to Chuck Klein, once National league batting king who has found his eye this spring; Hershel Martin, and Morris Arnovich, although Ed Scott of Birmingham, a 321 hitter last year, might bob up in the opening lineup.

Bill Atwood is getting most of the play behind the plate while Virgil Davis recovers from a recent illness.

● SERIAL STORY
'MRS. DOC' BY TOM HORNER
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

Yesterday Emily retires in the... she loves only Alan, that she must reject him. Meanwhile, as Alan is operating a lamp is pulled to drop of his head, she jumps to catch it to save Alan.

CHAPTER XIX
THE reflector was only inches from Alan's head when Eric caught it in both hands, pulled it toward him so that the heavy metal container would fall clear. Agonizing pain shot through his hands, up his arms. Then numbness. His raincoat protected his body, but he felt the intense heat on his face, scorching the flesh, digging at his eyes.

The container missed Alan and Farrell, cleared the table by a hair's breadth, fell to the floor with a crash. A man behind Eric jumped, cut off the gas, pulled the lamp, from Eric's desperate grasp. Eric stood, his teeth digging into his lip, every muscle rigid, his hands flaming torture.

Alan, startled by the crash, looked up. "Eric!"

Farrell was at Eric's side, holding his wrists. Grady was running in a bag for unguents. "It would a—hit you—Alan!" Eric groaned.

"WELL, how do those hands feel now?" Alan asked. "About like the dam looks." Eric managed to grin.

They stood at the edge of the trestle, high above the broken wreckage in the bright sunlight of a chilly March morning. Far down the river, Alan could see the barge, bearing the injured men, Farrell, Grady, Weber and Father Johnson toward Price's Point and waiting ambulances. Two white-sheeted forms lay on that barge. Twelve others lay there, too, but they, with good luck and care, would recover. Still others sprawled or stood with arms or legs in awkward, hastily made splints. Below him a crew of men dug steadily at a huge mass of gravel. Bud Price's body was still in there.

"There isn't much left, is there?" Eric asked.

Alan looked around. Over the top of the diversion dam into the waters of the lake it had created, a lake now strangely still. Water trickled through a gap at one end of the earth and gravel fill, spilling down to splash on the timbers of the broken trestle. The wheels of a half-buried truck were there, too, looking like a child's toy buried in a sand pile.

It was the damage done to the once-splendid framework of the main dam that he hated to see for he knew that the rain it caused Eric hurt far worse than the burns on his hands. Sunlight glistened on the grease on Eric's face as he turned to survey his broken dream.

"If we could have had more time—more steel—more concrete—it might have held," he said.

"It isn't completely ruined, is it?" Alan asked. "Can't you clear away the wreckage, start again?"

"Possibly. Depends on what they want to do in Washington. This river can be licked, and if they'll let me—I'll lick it yet!"

Baker was waving to them from the shack. Slowly, silently, they turned away, started down the steep steps to the waiting launch.

"MRS. WARREN called early this morning, Doctor," a nurse was saying. "She wanted you to call as soon as you could."

They were on the sunporch of the hospital. Eric stretched full-length upon a lounge, while Alan slumped, comfortable and relaxed, in a deep chair.

"Thank you, Miss Anderson. I'll be going home soon as that gang of reporters gets off the front door step."

The wall of an infant came faintly through the corridor.

"That's young Alan Warren Brown," Miss Anderson explained. "We let his mother keep him a little longer than usual this morning—she was worried about her husband. Now he's spoiled, already, and hates going back to the nursery."

Alan laughed heartily. "He's rather young for that—but let Harry and Maryanne have him in the room with them if they want to. It won't hurt him. Harry's pretty glad to be here safe."

Well, Eric, feel like facing the press barrage?"

Eric sat up. "Just as well get it over with."

REPORTERS gathered around them as they left the hospital, and headed for a waiting taxi.

"Dr. Warren, you and Mr. Kane stop there. Now shake his bandaged hand." Lights flashed in their faces. Cameras clicked.

"Is it true, Dr. Warren, that you did all the surgery?" Alan shook his head.

"You burned your hands when you beat out the fire on Dr. Warren's blazing gown, didn't you, Mr. Kane?"

"Have they found Bud Price yet?"

Alan rescued Eric from the reporters, hurried him into the taxi. "Come on Eric. We'll get some food—and some sleep. We need it."

EMILY was waiting in the doorway for them. She rushed to

Oil Industry Worried Over April Order

By ALFRED WALL
TULSA, Okla., March 30 (AP)—All other problems were shunted aside at least temporarily today while operators in almost every phase of the petroleum industry bent their attention to the unsettling problem of Texas' April crude allowable.

Oil men wondered:

- Whether the Texas railroad commission would heed Col. E. O. Thompson's suggestion to rescind its order opening the state's wells three Saturdays in April.
- Whether the crude market would hold if the order went through, and nearly 4,000,000 barrels were added to the nation's total April production.
- Whether the announced intention of Louisiana's Governor Richard W. Leche to put his state in the interstate oil compact by executive order would influence Texas to withhold its increased April allowable.

"This whole thing started," said a well-informed observer here who asked not to be named, "in East Texas where certain interests were unable to get oil at home because of promotion here or because the supply was tightly held by other interests. They went into Louisiana and Arkansas and developed fine sources of supply at great expense. "Rancor and dissension developed. East Texas producers were angered because they felt Louisiana, operating without proration, was taking their crude markets. There were many extenuating circumstances. Politics played a part. The new flow of Illinois oil into the national market aggravated the situation.

"Texas' action is a culmination of a fight on Illinois and Louisiana oils; Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky crudes all have been cutting in on the Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Louisiana markets.

"New Governor Leche's action is a hopeful sign. If Louisiana's entrance into the compact could bring in California and Arkansas and induce Illinois to continue a member, there's always a chance that reasonable men around a conference table can exchange views to keep them from cutting their own throats.

"Most oil men dislike the idea of federal control but it'll come if this isn't adjusted."

Crude men here were inclined to agree with Col. Thompson's state-

Franco Captures Total of 85,000

MADRID, March 30 (AP)—Spanish Nationalists, with all 52 provinces of Spain under their guns today, faced a long struggle to reconstruct the country torn by 32 months of savage civil war.

Generalissimo Franco's military police rounded up thousands of Republicans for classification and perhaps trial as a prelude to the great social task.

The war-torn populace continued peace demonstrations in the streets of Madrid, fallen Republican capital, while waiting for food from the unending stream of supply trucks that follow Franco's legions into the city Tuesday.

Nationalists estimated 40,000 Republican prisoners were taken in the Madrid area alone.

A Nationalist headquarters announcement from Burgos said in all, 85,000 prisoners had been taken in the final collapse of the Republic, raising to 600,000 the total captured since outbreak of the war.

Republican militiamen still at large were ordered to surrender their arms immediately. It was believed virtually all Republican planes and artillery had passed into Nationalist hands.

The Burgos government also announced all members of the Republican defense council, save Gen. Jose Maria, its head, and Defense Minister Segismundo Casado, had been detained in Valencia.

Chicago Defeats New York In Finals Of Golden Gloves

CHICAGO, March 30 (AP)—An 18-year-old grocery clerk, Alvin Allen, stood out today as the best prospect developed in the Golden Gloves amateur boxing competition in which the Chicago team retained its inter-city supremacy by defeating New York, nine bouts to seven.

Sixteen stirring battles were fought by alternates and champions of both teams in the Chicago stadium last night before 19,500 spectators. It was Chicago's seventh triumph in the series begun in 1928.

Allen, a 172 pounder, went into the ring as a heavyweight, knocked down a gigantic opponent twice and had him "out" on his feet in the final round to give Chicago its margin of victory. Outweighed 16½ pounds, Allen gave Enzo Avondoglio, a 22-year-old iron worker of New York, a one-sided shelling.

Here Are Three Favorite Ghost Stories Often Heard In Texas

(By The Associated Press) Texas, so new in the North American Confederation of states it long was "the last frontier," yet is so old it has an assortment of ghost stories flung up in the lawless pioneer era from the mysterious Big Bend country, the wind-swept...

plains and the silent terrain lying between. Most of the tall tales, based upon historical facts, have been garnished a bit in retelling, but the "hunts" are as realistic as those inhabiting the most sinister ruin at the dark of the moon. List to the stories of "The Murder Calf," "The Ghost of McDow Hole" and "The Ghost of Boothill."

In 1890 and one killed the other. Hunters who saw the shooting caught the animal and burned the "murder" brand on its side. There are reputable persons today who tell you they have seen the "murder" calf nibbling short grass on wind-swept hillsides in the Big Bend. A district judge swore he roped the calf years after it was branded. The calf, the story has it, never grew after branding. It is a runt with long, mangy hair, a slightly humped back and always alone.

In Alpine there was an old building used to house a rowdy saloon, the scene of a few shootings, and the murder calf, the legend records, has been seen in its vicinity on stormy nights. It sticks its head into the gaping, paneless windows and bellows in mournfully, says teller of the yarn. The shooting and branding are historical facts.

'Coronado Jones' Will Be Presented Monday, Tuesday

AMARILLO, March 30.—An Amarillo newspaperman and the conductor of the Amarillo Symphony orchestra had an idea. They decided to capitalize early on the fact whole southwest would be celebrating the 400th anniversary of Coronado's expedition across the high plains in 1940, and produce a musical show based on this incident.

Texas college, drew the fourth principal role, that of Cecilia. The supporting cast and chorus and show went into rehearsal. A 20-piece orchestra from Amarillo symphony will play the music. Oma Link Rowley of the Little Theater is directing the dialog and staging. Artist Ben Carlton Mead is designing the principal set—the largest ever built in Amarillo. It forms a colorful canyon rim scene.

If you want to learn the details about the Ghost of McDow Hole get in touch with J. E. Fritzgerald of Stephenville. He won't mind telling you he knows there is a "hant or something" at the old water hole.

About 70 years ago when the frontier's edge was in Erath county, a woman and her baby were killed by half-breed Indians and outlaws at McDow Hole, a spring at which the residents of a neighboring community obtained water. The bodies were buried near by, but before many days passed there were reports of strange sounds at night at the McDow.

One man who discounted the stories built a house near the hole and lived there alone. A short time afterward he was found dead in his doorway. A doctor said he died of fright.

Many persons said they had seen the ghosts—images of the mother and child with their bleeding wounds. Because of so many reports of ghosts at McDow residents of the community had the remains of the murder victims exhumed and removed to Alexander, a small town in the southern part of the county.

That failed to stop reports of the ghosts at McDow Hole, where the water, one reputed sparkling and clear, has been murky since the mother and child were killed. The killing, burial of the bodies and the removal of the remains are historical facts.

The Ghost of Boothill, a famous graveyard at the ghost town of old Tascosa in the Panhandle, recently caused the killing of pistols. Reports that a phantom cowboy had been seen riding a phantom horse and carrying a branding iron which glowed in the night as if red hot led so many visitors and souvenir hunters to the old town state police had to go there to stop vandalism. Residents of the vicinity threatened to seek court injunction if disregard for property didn't cease. Headstones in the Boothill cemetery were chipped practically to the ground by souvenir hunters.

At Fort Sumner, N. M., the city had to take action to protect the grave of Billy the Kid, who in the late '70s was a recent visitor to Tascosa. Col. Jack Potter of Clovis, N. M., trail-driving son of Jack Potter, the fighting parson of the days of trail herds and Indian wars, likes to tell the story of the "ghost steer," a big Texas animal he used for a lead steer on a hard drive. After the herd was delivered at the railroad the steer, which had acted as a sort of protector of the herdsmen on the trail, didn't want to be loaded on the train. When the train pulled out, Col. Jack says, there was a sort of moaning sound riding the wind. It sounded like the voice of the lead steer.

Few persons will be quoted on a ghost story, but nearly anyone will quote a ghost story. The romance of hot iron on a live cowhide is part of the romance of Texas, but there is nothing exclusive or distinctive about a cattle brand in this state. The brand, in use since the days of Jacob as a mark of identifying ownership, was developed in early cattle days largely as a protection against rustlers and for cutting-out in the roundups on the open range. But no man has a right under the law to exclusive use of a brand in Texas.

There can be 254 cross bars, X claw hammers or bar door knobs, for there are that many counties in the state, and each county handles its own brand registration. The only requirements in registering a brand are 25 cents for the fee and a check over the brand records to determine whether a proposed brand would duplicate one registered. The only way a cowman can be positive he has an exclusive brand is to register it in each of the 254 counties. Ranches in joining counties may have identical brands. Complete duplication is rare, however, because the position the brand is to be placed on an animal is registered along with the brand, and many cattlemen use earmarks. Unintentional duplication of brand, position and earmarks would be rare coincidence, but a possibility, none-the-less.

A few western states, including New Mexico, have central state brand officer which look over applications for new brands and guard against duplication.

The Texas system guards against duplication in a given county. In fewer than a dozen Texas counties are elected brand inspectors who check the brand in cattle transactions. The other counties require no such inspections.

Inspectors for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, 63-year-old organization which protects its 3,000 members who own more than a million cattle from rustlers, have a big job wrangling cattle brands, although they are well acquainted with the brands and marks of members. The inspectors work major shipping points and market centers in the south-west and midwest and frequently find unintentional duplications.

Shamrock Band Will Play At Shattuck Fete

SHAMROCK, Mar. 30.—The Shamrock Irish band will attend the band festival at Shattuck, Okla., Friday, Glen Traux, director, announced today.

The band will leave Shamrock at 8 o'clock Friday morning and will be back in the city by 6 p. m. Citizens of Shattuck were most cooperative in sending their band to the St. Patrick's celebration this year and as a matter of civic spirit and appreciation for their recent visit here both Traux and Bedford Harrison, secretary of the chamber of commerce, feel that local people should do their part in transporting the Irish band to the festival.
