

She has the answers 'Can freeze husband, but...'

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Whether it is safe to eat a recently deceased lobster or lasagna that has matured five hours in the trunk of a car falls within the expertise of Charlotte Dunn.

Miss Dunn, who announces cheerfully she is "55 and over the hill," is a food nutrition specialist with the University of Wisconsin Extension.

She works from an office crammed with canning lids, notebooks and piles of the 43 food information pamphlets she has written for the Extension. She says she gets about 30 calls a day from people who have questions on nutrition and food.

Miss Dunn, settling back casually with her right foot propped on the chair seat, recalls some of the questions.

"There's this one: 'Grandma died and we're cleaning out her basement. We've found food from umpteen years back and we can use it, can't we?'"

She grimaces. "I tell them, umpteen years you've lived without it and I want you to go on living."

She admits her telephone manner is occasionally abrasive.

"I get a little impatient," she says. "I always say if anyone talked to me like I talk to some of them, I'd hang up on me. But you're taking such a chance. You have a product that could mean death and you're being sloppy with it."

Miss Dunn says she thinks many callers' problems arise from carelessness or inexperience, and "they want you to tell them it's all right."

Often it isn't all right — as in the case of a woman who wanted to be reassured that a lasagna casserole left in her car trunk five hours was still edible. It wasn't.

Miss Dunn, who has held her position since 1958, fires off answers like a drill sergeant surveying the troops. She seldom has to consult books for answers.

Many callers want to know if they can freeze a certain food. In most cases they can, although Miss Dunn advises them to freeze a small amount first to see if they like the quality of the thawed food.

"I tell them you can always freeze your husband, too, but the quality may not be there when you thaw him out," she says in her Oklahoma twang.

With the pickle season waning soon — she and co-worker Mary Mennes get 7,000 questions a year on canning, pickling and freezing — come ham and turkey questions. Then the January lull, followed by gardening questions.

Occasionally she gets calls at home. She answers all questions, including one about a deceased lobster.

"We had two live lobsters in an ice chest. One passed away during the night. Is it okay to eat it?" she reads.

"Oh no," she says with a shake of her head. "We don't know what time he died."

Carter owes Lance for plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential spokesman Jody Powell, conceding that Jimmy Carter and his campaign committee owe more than $1,700 for flights on an airplane owned by a bank Bert Lance once headed, says a complete review of Carter's campaign records may take four years.

Powell said Monday that the tab for flights in 1975 and 1976 on the plane of the National Bank of Georgia was $1,793.70.

He said the Carter campaign committee would use leftover campaign funds to reimburse the bank at least $955.80. Carter could end up paying the remaining $837.90 if it is determined that the flights involved were not legitimate campaign expenses, the spokesman said.

Powell said at the daily White House news briefing that the President has decided he will personally reimburse any portion of the flights that were not campaign expenditures.

Questions about the flights arose last Thursday when Lance held a news conference after the Comptroller of the Currency released a report on the personal finances of the budget director. The report said an investigation had found no evidence to warrant criminal prosecution of Lance in connection with his personal finances.

The biggest questions involve a flight on June 13 to Sea Island, Ga., from Americus, Ga., and a return flight on June 19. Powell said Carter has asked White House Counsel Robert Lipshutz to ask the Federal Election Commission to determine who should pay for the flights, valued at $657.90.

Powell said Monday accountants and the commission are reviewing campaign records from Carter's 1976 campaign. He predicted it may be 1981 before the review is completed.

Although Carter flew to Sea Island for a vacation after the last round of presidential primary elections, he met there with campaign aides, plotted strategy for the Democratic National Convention and talked about the vice presidential selection process, Powell said.

If the flights were campaign-related, and the bank was not reimbursed, they could be considered bank contributions to the Carter campaign, which would be illegal.

If free use of the aircraft was not reported, that also could be considered a violation of federal campaign expenditure reporting laws.

Fleming has service, too

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three memorial services were held for Groucho Marx. Two, held by his family, excluded Erin Fleming, the comedian's longtime companion. A third was held by Miss Fleming.

"We're just having a good time," the 37-year-old Miss Fleming said Monday night.

"There are a lot of writers, entertainers and contemporaries of Groucho's here. Carroll O'Connor, Eric Segal, all the boys ... and all the dames, too. They're bringing me presents.

like a 'You Bet Your Life' Game."

Miss Fleming's get-together came only hours after the family held a private service before the body of the 85-year-old comedian was cremated.

About 30 family members and friends also gathered Sunday for a private service.

At the family service Monday were Groucho's only son, Arthur, his daughter-in-law, Loretta, and attorney J. Brin Schuiman, said Groman Mortuary manager Russell Mayer. The service was held at Hollywood Temple Bethel.

Truck driver dies in Borger

BORGER — The driver of a gasoline transport truck died Monday after he was involved in a three-vehicle crash north of Borger.

Irvin Leroy Lilly, 56, of Perryton, was killed when his truck overturned when he attempted to avoid colliding with a car which had just passed him. He swerved to the right and hit a parked car.

Officials said Mr. Lilly was pinned in the truck for more than one hour. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Nadean Spinks.

The wreck occurred at the intersection of Texas 136 and Farm Road 1509. There were no other injuries.

Funeral services are pending with Boxwell Brothers Funeral Directors in Perryton.

G-H board sets meeting on budget

The Grandview-Hopkins Independent School District Board of Trustees will meet at 8 p.m. Monday to consider the proposed $215,670 budget for the coming year.

T. J. Adkins, school superintendent, said the budget for the previous year was $141,000.

"The big difference is in the construction of an auditorium and remodeling in other areas," he said.

The board also will consider the school calendar change and pay rise for auxiliary personnel along with superintendent reports.

Elvis leaves fortune

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley, who gave diamonds to girlfriends and Cadillacs to strangers, left his fortune to his family and excluded his former wife and his fiancée in his will.

The 13-page document was drawn up at Presley's Graceland mansion and dated March 3, 1977. It was witnessed by Charles Hodge, Presley's guitarist; Ginger Alden, his fiancée; and Ann Dewey Smith, wife of Vernon Presley's attorney, Beecher Smith II.

The will was recorded and filed during a 20-minute session before Judge Evans. The elder Presley, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Hodge were present at the filing.

In his will, the singer directed that the net income of his estate go to his father, his 9-year-old daughter, Lisa Marie, his grandmother, Minnie Mae Presley, and "such other relatives of mine living at the time of my death who are in need of assistance for health, education, support, comfortable maintenance and welfare."

The document gave the elder Presley "complete freedom and discretion as to disposal of any and all such property so long as he shall act in good faith and in the best interest of my estate."

The will said that upon the deaths of Minnie Mae Presley and Vernon Presley, a trust will be created for Lisa Marie Presley, which will be turned over to her when she reaches age 25.

Besides excluding his former wife and his fiancée, the will named no charitable organization as a beneficiary.

Missing name stirs ire

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Telephone Company today begins delivery of 965,000 new Manhattan telephone directories. Missing among its 787,000 listings is the Government of Montmartre, and its "president" says he's mad enough to sue.

"We're the only foreign country in New York," says Barry Richmond, a theatrical entrepreneur whose name is also missing from the many catalogues of show business notables.

Richmond says he'll take the phone utility to court in a $2 million libel-restraint of trade suit.

The whole hassle began last year when the local media couldn't help but notice a 35-line listing in the phone book under the heading: "Montmartre, Govt of." There was a listing for the ambassador's residence, one for a Montmartre-U.S. Joint International Boundary & Water Commission and one for the Theatre Du Grand-Guignol De Paris.

"The phone company apparently became embarrassed about the press coverage and decided to strike Montmartre from the directory," said Richmond in a telephone interview early today.

Richmond went to the State Public Service Commission on June 24 and again on July 5 to insist that the phone company had no right to withdraw recognition of the country.

"I quoted precedent going back to Pericles," Richmond says, explaining that he used precedent to show that small sovereignties have been tolerated within the boundaries of larger ones ever since the Golden Age of Greece.

Richmond says the PSC seemed to uphold his position in the June meeting, which was informal, and then go against him in July. He took the case to a Manhattan federal court, which upheld the PSC decision that the phone company could withdraw the listing.

The phone company position stated frequently and reaffirmed in a telephone interview with a spokesman today, is that people have to trust what they read in the phone book. "As best as we can, we try to protect the integrity of the phone directory," the spokesman said.

But Richmond says the phone company simply has no sense of humor.

To what end does the Serene

Federal Republic of Montmartre exist?"

Richmond says that the country was originally formed to help bring the French comedy theater Grand-Guignol to the United States. He claims to have purchased rights to the theater company.

President Barry Richmond says many things. He says he is 45 years old. He said he was 45 last year.

When confronted with the discrepancy, Richmond laughs and says, "I should be 46, but I was sick a year."

For the fun of it. It's all a matter of style. And it's as simple as sliding your feet into a pair of DEX by Dexter. They're soft, flexible, "Nature Hide" with the outdoor look everybody's into. A flex sole, too, that tells the whole world you've got DEX appeal.

Up for grabs, but not for long

It only took two and half hours to sell 127 reserved parking spaces for Pampa High School students this morning. The much sought after parking spaces went on a first-come first-serve basis, a school official said, and students unable to be at the high school at 8 a.m. today, sent proxies to stand in line for them. The parking spaces cost $5 per quarter or $10 per year. Seventeen hundred were too late to get a parking space and put their names on a waiting list. The spokesman said the school will accept three more names for the waiting list. John Daniels was one of many forced to hurry up and wait this morning.

Carter mum on closing David

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer
CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — Before Jimmy Carter took office, there was talk about saving money by closing Camp David, the presidential retreat about 60 miles north of Washington.

Then the new President had a chance to look around the hideaway, a kind of personal country club with a membership of one. The talk stopped. Carter returned to the White House on Sunday after his first extended stay in Maryland's Catoctin mountains. It was his seventh trip to Camp David and every sign indicates he enjoys the retreat, with its rustic atmosphere, its tennis court and its swimming pool.

Camp David gives Carter privacy and relief from the highly organized schedule he follows at the White House.

Firefighters from East aid California

By The Associated Press
Reinforcements from five eastern states are now part of the 5,600 firefighters trying to control a blaze that has blackened more than 70 square miles of California's Klamath National Forest.

Firefighters from Florida, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and South Carolina, have been dispatched to the 12-day-old fire, according to U.S. Forest Service spokesman Ernest Weinberg.

He said the fire, covered by heavy smoke and burning in steep timberland, had burned more than 45,000 acres and was out of control Sunday.

The blaze was sparked by lightning Aug. 9 while 10,000 firefighters were trying to put out huge blazes, also attributed to lightning, near Big Sur on California's Central Coast and in Modoc and Lassen Counties in the state's northeast corner.

"I think we've finally got as many people as we need to do the job," said Weinberg.

The Klamath blaze, called the Hog's Ridge fire, is located in the northern part of the state, about 50 miles northeast of Eureka.

The firefighters were brought to the Klamath after containing the 175,000-acre Marble-Cone fire near Big Sur. Before that, many of the crews fought a fire which burned scores of expensive homes in Santa Barbara, Weinberg said.

"They were pretty well worn out after 12 or 15 days at Big Sur," he said. "But they're standing up well."

Quake toll reaches 72

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The death toll in the Indian Ocean earthquake and tidal waves in the Lesser Sunda islands of Indonesia has risen to 72. Social Affairs Minister M.S. Mintareja reported today.

Mintareja said there were 52 dead on the island of Sumbawa, 18 on Lombok and 2 on Bali. He said nothing about any missing persons, but the head of the Sumbawa government, Hassan Usman, reported more than 65 persons missing earlier.

Tidal waves as high as 16 feet crashed over villages on the coasts of Sumbawa and Lombok and demolished more than 150 homes. Mintareja said he believed hundreds of persons were injured.

One village chief on Lombok said the waves rose from the ocean like giant hands. He said most of the villagers were struck with awe and wonder, and by the time they realized what was happening, their tiny village was washed away.

"There is no set routine," says Tim Kraft, the President's appointments secretary and one of a handful of aides who accompanied the Carters on their vacation last week.

Carter is free to put on casual clothes and wander alone through the woods. Or he can indulge his interest in softball.

But the symbols of the presidency are never far away.

A Marine in a red and blue dress uniform raises the President's flag on the Camp David flagpole the instant the President's helicopter touches down. When Carter leaves, a Marine stands at attention and then marches to the flagpole to lower the flag the instant the helicopter lifts off.

The camp is situated in the Catoctin Mountain Park, run by the National Park Service. It is surrounded by two chain-link fences topped by barbed wire. An electric fence runs between the two other fences. The perimeter is patrolled by rifle-carrying Marines in battle fatigues.

Every President since Franklin Roosevelt has used the presidential retreat. FDR called it Shangri-La. Dwight Eisenhower renamed it Camp David, after his grandson, David Eisenhower. It is about 20 miles south of the Eisenhower farm in Gettysburg, Pa.

Richard Nixon retreated to Camp David for weeks on end as the Watergate scandal unfolded and chipped away at his administration. He reportedly enjoyed the rustic atmosphere so much that even during the height of the 1973-74 energy crisis he turned his air conditioning on full blast so he could keep the fireplace in his lodge glowing during the summer.

When Carter and his family make the 30-minute helicopter flight from the White House, they guard their privacy jealously. Few staff members accompany them.

Occasionally, they invite a friend to join them. Carter's confidant, Charles Kirbo, spent a night there last week and the parents of one of Carter's daughters-in-law visited in February.

But most of the time Carter spends his weekends at Camp David with his wife Rosalynn, daughter Amy and, occasionally, with one or two of his sons and their wives.

Voyager zooms to Saturn

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Voyager 2 spacecraft is speeding toward Jupiter, Saturn and beyond while scientists try to analyze its shaky start and the problems that threatened the mission.

Scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here ordered the spacelab, equipped with television cameras, to turn several of its instruments on and off late Sunday night to test them.

They were to analyze the results of those experiments today. But the scientists said the Voyager 2 appears to have overcome its earlier troubles and was sailing smoothly to the outer planets and eventually out of the solar system. Most troubling of the Voyager 2's apparent problems was the possible failure of a boom containing cameras and scientific tests to project itself away from the craft's body. But engineers now believe the boom did extend and is within one degree of its proper position.

That diagnosis was made Saturday night when mission controllers ordered a sun sensor on the boom to turn toward the sun so it could absorb solar rays. That command was obeyed, said mission controller Jerry Stilwell, and data fed back to Earth began showing the absorption of solar heat. The Voyager's problems, including an unstable gyroscope — used to keep the craft on course — and a malfunctioning computer, began about an hour after its launch from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Saturday morning. The two spacecraft are being sent on the voyage in a $500 million effort to study, among other things, plasmas — gases composed of charged particles — in the atmospheres of Jupiter and Saturn.
