Industrial Shutdown Considered In Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio officials studied the possibility of closing down 125 industrial firms today as the stagnant hot air mass hanging over the eastern third of the country continued to present the twin threats of pollution and power shortages.
But the National Weather Service predicted a cold front would move down from Canada over the weekend to provide a measure of relief for at least part of the area.
The most acute situation was in Ohio, where a pollution alert was in effect in four counties in the Ohio River Valley steel-making region.
Twenty-five plants already were under court order to comply with state health department orders and, as the air grew dirtier, officials were pondering the need to take the next step—ordering 125 companies to prepare to shut down.
While predicting relief over the weekend, weather service forecasters saw temperatures continuing in the high 80s to middle 90s today, a situation that led to power blockouts and brownouts Thursday.
The week-long heat wave over the populous East was blamed on a Bermuda high that stretched to the Mississippi River valley and pumped humid tropical air up from the Gulf.
With the listless air, pollutants tended to collect and increased to dangerous levels in some areas.

In the Pittsburgh area, a first stage pollution alert forced industry to cut back operations. Eye irritation and shortness of breath were common complaints, especially in the downtown section.
A pollution alert was extended through today in Washington, D.C.
Rain showers brought relief to the New York metropolitan area during Thursday evening, washing the air of many pollutants and dropping temperatures to the low 70s. The respite was expected to be brief.
A spokesman for the New York Power Pool said it borrowed from Ontario, Canada, again Thursday to provide a potential supply of 20 million kilowatts.
Consolidated Edison Co. cut back voltage 5 per cent in New York City and Westchester County for two hours in midafternoon to prevent a massive blackout after a major power link tripped out 70 miles north of the city.
The Philadelphia Electric Co. said that city's electrical demands set a record Thursday, but no breakdowns or difficulties were reported.
In the Washington area, the Potomac Electric Power Co. reported record output with electricity use up 10 per cent from last summer's peaks.

Purchasing Power Increases, Living Costs Rise Moderately Economy Rate Surges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economy surged in the April-June quarter to the highest rate of expansion in more than six years while inflation slowed sharply, the government said today.
The Commerce Department said that the second-quarter Gross National Product, market value of the nation's goods and services, advanced at a fast 8.9 per cent pace in "real" terms, meaning economic growth with inflation subtracted.
On top of this, the rate of inflation as measured by GNP figures dropped to 2.1 per cent, the lowest since the days of President Nixon's wage-price freeze, and less than half of the 5.1 per cent rate that in prevailed in the first three months of the year.

Worker Paychecks Show Highest Gain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose a relatively modest two-tenths of one per cent last month and purchasing power of the average American workers' paycheck showed the highest yearly gain on record, the government said today.
The rise in consumer prices, chipping two cents off the value of each $10 in June, was due to a sharp increase in food prices and lesser increases for used cars, homes and household services, the Labor Department said.
The June rise in living costs pushed the Consumer Price Index up to 125.0 of its 1967 base of 100. This meant it took $12.50 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases five years ago.
The report, by the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the rise in living costs in the past year was 2.9 per cent, the first annual rise under 3 per cent in the past five years.
The bureau also reported that average earnings of some 50 million rank-and-file workers—more than half the nation's work force—rose $2.18 per cent to $135.39 for the month. This was due to a one-cent rise in hourly pay and a half-hour increase in the length of the average work week.

The average paycheck was up $7.82 or 6.1 per cent over the past year. After deductions for the rise in living costs over the year, the gain was 3.2 per cent or about $3.90 per week in purchasing power.
"This is the largest over-the-year increase in real earnings (purchasing power) for any June since the series became available on a monthly basis in 1964," the bureau said. It added that much of the rise in workers' purchasing power was due to lower 1972 federal income tax rates.
The bureau said that, when the June rise in living costs was adjusted for expected seasonal factors, the over-all June price rise was one-tenth of one per cent, the smallest rise on that basis in nine months.
Actual food prices rose six-tenths of one per cent, but the gain was figured as a two-tenths of one per cent rise on the seasonally adjusted basis.
Retail prices of poultry, beef and pork rose sharply in June after declining for several months, the report said. The increase was 1.3 per cent for the month and meat, poultry and fish were 7.7 per cent higher than a year ago.
Fresh vegetables also increased sharply, 2.7 per cent for the month. The bureau said bad weather curtailed supplies of fruits and vegetables, which normally do not rise that much in June.
The report said living costs have risen at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.7 per cent in the 10 months since President Nixon imposed his Phase 1 and 2 wage-price controls, compared with a 3.8 per cent rate of rise in the eight months before any federal controls were imposed.
The price of used cars continued to rise sharply, the bureau said. The June increase was 3.1 per cent.

Senate Approves New Wage Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to boost the minimum hourly wage to $2.20, a move that could bring bigger paychecks to millions of workers and more labor support for Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern.
The increase from the present minimum of $1.60 was the largest single pay-hike in history. It came after McGovern made a special trip from his vacation retreat in South Dakota to cast his vote.
The bill extends coverage to 7.4 million additional workers, including 1.2 million domestic servants, 1 million chain store employees and 4.9 million federal, state and local government employees.
It now goes to a House-Senate conferees to reconcile differences between the Senate version and one approved earlier by the House which provides a $2.00 minimum pay scale.
The Senate approved the measure by a vote of 65 to 27 Thursday night after defeating the Nixon administration's proposal for a $2.00 minimum by a 47 to 46 vote.
Backers of McGovern hoped his vote would improve his image with labor. The $2.20 minimum was a key goal of the AFL-CIO in this legislative session. McGovern was not endorsed by the AFL-CIO executive council.

As approved, the minimum wage would jump from $1.60 to $2.00 for most non-farm workers 60 days after enactment, and to the full $2.20 in two years.

City Official Slates Hearing Appearance

City Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones will be one of the participants when the Texas Legislative Property Tax Committee conducts its second statewide public hearing at 9 a.m. next Tuesday in Amarillo. County Tax Collector Jack Back and Homer Craig, school business manager, said today they would be unable to attend.
How to improve the property tax system in Texas will be the theme of the hearing along with discussion aimed at developing reform proposals.
The city tax collector said today he will present his views on the Texas Association of Tax Assessors' recommendation for appointment of the head of each assessment district.
The five-member committee, under chairman Charles D. Kirkham, Jr. of Dallas, is the group created by the Legislature to prepare a uniform code for all Taxing Units of the state, including schools.
Public officials, civic leaders as well as interested citizens have been invited to attend the hearing and present their views on the property tax and ways to improve it.
"The property tax is the keystone of local government finance, and ways must be found to not only make it

The 8.9 per cent growth rate compared with an upward-revised 6.5 per cent rate in the first quarter and it marked the highest rate of expansion of the economy since the fourth quarter of 1965.
Coupled with a report by the Labor Department that the Cost of Living Index slowed to 0.2 per cent in June, the GNP report was the best economic news the Nixon administration has had in a long time. Not only did the economy grow faster than it has anticipated, but the rise in prices in the second quarter was within the target the administration wants to achieve by the end of the year.

WTCC Hears Progress Reports On Development

By TEX DE WEESE
The West Texas Chamber of Commerce Executive Committee was deep in its quarterly business meeting in Coronado Inn here late last forenoon following a dinner last night at which some 125 WTCC members and guests heard reports on what the organization is doing and attempting to do for West Texas and the Panhandle.
Claude W. Brown of McCamey, president of the West Texas chamber, presided at this forenoon's business session as he did at last night's banquet in the Coronado Starlight Room.
One of the principal announcements came in the report of Harry W. Clark of Midland, chairman of the Industrial Development Committee, who reported on a recently completed study his committee had made of the textile industry and its possibilities for development in West Texas and the Panhandle.
Clark said civic leaders from 167 West Texas towns and cities, including Pampa, have been invited to a textile seminar Aug. 24 in Sweetwater. He said it will be the first of a series of area-wide seminars WTCC will sponsor for specific industries.
The WTCC president said it is the belief of the WTCC that the textile industry can be developed to make a substantial contribution to the further industrial development of the area.
Emil Rassman of Midland, reporting for the National Affairs Committee in the absence of chairman Beverly King, said, among other things, the WTCC is supporting the U.S. House version of the minimum wage bill which proposes a $2 minimum wage and exemptions for domestic and agricultural employees, is creating a department of community development, opposing the Revenue Sharing Act which, he said, would require Texas to enact a state income tax in order to participate, and is strongly opposing the Mansfield Bill which would eliminate oil depletion depreciation allowances and exemption of interest payments from the federal income tax.

Reports also were given by Fred Conn, publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times, chairman of the State Affairs Committee and J. Fike Godfrey, WTCC executive vice president.
Today's business session also was to include other activities reports, financial statement, reports on tourist development, membership, water, mineral resources, cultural affairs, agriculture and ranching, election of directors and appointment of an additional member to the board of the State Chamber of Commerce.

Executive vice president Godfrey told the audience at last night's banquet, "we are here for talks on what we're doing and what we should be doing."
The Executive Committee was welcomed to Pampa by Roy Sparkman, Pampa chamber president, and Mayor Milo Carlson. Response to the welcome was by WTCC president Brown. Lacy Watson of Brownwood gave the banquet invocation.
Dinner music and entertainment was by the Moonlighters and vocalists PreDelta Chambliss and Roy Marshall.
Emcee Bill Collins, editor of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, added a highlight when he closed last night's program by asking the audience to join with him in a "prayer for the U.S.A.—a prayer that it can be returned to what it used to be."

Elders Under Attack

ATHENS, Ala. (AP) — The church elders who fired a minister after his daughter wore a swimsuit in a beauty pageant are now under fire themselves from Bible-quoting church members who charge they applied a double standard.
Petitions began circulating after the elders dismissed the Rev. Charles Marshall, pastor of the West Hobbs Street Church of Christ. His daughter Becky, 17, won the Miss Spirit of America title and a $500 bond in Decatur, Ala., July 4.
One of the four elders, who have the authority to hire and fire, resigned at a prayer meeting Wednesday night. Ironically, the elder, Charles Bain, is a professional photographer and the man who took a picture of Miss Marshall for the Miss Photogenic part of the contest, which she also won. In the picture she wore a dress.
If more than half the 400 members sign the petition, the remaining three elders will be asked to resign. It could not be determined how many signatures had been obtained on the 13 petitions.
Both the Rev. Mr. Marshall, 39, and his daughter have declined comment. The elders also have refused to talk, saying it is a church matter.
Meanwhile, Miss Marshall, a high school senior, says she plans to use the $500 bond for a college education at one of two schools supported by the Church of Christ.

Local Lodge Hosts Meeting

Top O' Texas Masonic Lodge No. 1381 will host approximately 500 Masons from 11 districts in the Texas Panhandle Saturday at a Masonic Hilltop meeting to honor Duncan Howard of Waco, Deputy Grand Master of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Texas.
The event will begin with a luncheon at the Top O' Texas Lodge, West Kentucky, to be followed with a Master Mason's Lodge meeting at 1 p.m., when Deputy Howard will be officially received. The Hilltop meeting will follow on the Bob Andis Ranch.
Eddie Polnac, Worshipful Master of the Top O' Texas Lodge, explained the meeting has been held annually for 16 years to honor the Deputy Grand Master of Texas.

Pampa Gets More Rain

Pampa received .15-inch of rainfall last night and the weather bureau's noonday forecast indicated a 50 per cent possibility of more precipitation in the form of thunderstorms tonight and Saturday.
Last night's rain moved in about 7:30 p.m. with one real heavy downpour that was followed by intermittent showers for an hour or so.

One Man's Dirty Air Can Be A Breeze

LOS ANGELES (AP) — While portions of the Atlantic seaboard suffered through air pollution alerts, Los Angeles residents went blithely about their business, graphic evidence that one man's dirty air can be another's summer breeze.
It was generally a nice day Thursday in Los Angeles—the city whose name is synonymous in some minds with smog. Workers downtown could see the Santa Monica Mountains through the smog and the peak metropolitan ozone content in the air hit a mild .08 part per million (ppm). The top carbon monoxide level was 11 ppm.
But four times this year and 21 times last year school children were kept indoors in some areas when ozone, an irritant gas associated with pollution, reached .35 ppm. That is approximately equivalent to the "oxidant" levels that brought air pollution alerts Thursday in the District of Columbia and Maryland and in Connecticut Wednesday and early Thursday.
More than 12 times in the last two months in metropolitan Los Angeles carbon monoxide levels have soared to peak readings above 15 ppm, approximately similar to the eight-hour average of 16 ppm in Springfield, Mass., that brought a first-stage alert Wednesday.
Although an Associated Press survey Thursday seems to in-dicade that Los Angeles residents are old hands at coping with dirty air, it points up, more importantly, the diversity of air pollution alert levels and relief measures that exist across the nation.

This is because even though federal minimum guidelines were handed down last year by the Environmental Protection Agency, local governments can set more severe standards.
Los Angeles County calls an alert if carbon monoxide reaches 50 ppm peak reading. The California Air Resources Board, which sets statewide standards but doesn't govern local pollution control agencies, calls an alert if carbon monoxide reaches 10 ppm average for 12 hours.

Alerts mean different things to different cities. But generally, a first-stage alert means some heavy industries must curtail operations, automobile traffic is discouraged and other antipollution measures, often voluntary in nature, are urged.
Then comes a second-stage alert with mandatory shutdown of some industry, electrical voltage reductions to cut power consumption and, perhaps, banning some automobile traffic.
The final, emergency stage could lead to banning of all but fire and police vehicles, shutdown of industry and evacuation of people.
Alert levels in eastern cities show more conformity, checks with Environmental Protection Agency officials indicated.

In the Boston area, for example, EPA officials said in telephone interviews, a first-stage alert is called if nitrogen dioxide—the brown part of smog—reaches .6 ppm for one hour or .15 ppm for 24 hours.
In Los Angeles, an alert would be called if the "nitrogen oxides" reached a peak of 3 ppm, although this pollution measure includes other nitrogen compounds besides nitrogen dioxide.
EPA officials and other air pollution experts admit that medical evidence about when air pollution begins to harm health is skimpy and open to wide interpretation.

Buyers Want More Crude

Oil buyers have asked for more Texas crude than ever before. The Texas Railroad Commission ordered the fifth straight month of all-out production for August.

But even the continued 100 per cent allowance is not expected to provide as much as buyers would like to have.

August nominations total about 3,701,304 barrels a day, about 140,000 more than current estimated production.

Commission chairman Byron Tunnell said the state's crude oil stocks totaled 97.4 million barrels on July 14, a decrease of 1.4 million a week ago, 6.1 million a month ago and 6.7 million from a year ago.

Tunnell said the statistics were significant since crude oil inventories are dropping despite wide-open production since April.

Ten of the 16 major purchasers of Texas crude oil requested more oil in August than in July, six asked for the same amount and none wanted less oil.

Saigon Claims Capture Of Bong Son District

SAIGON (AP)—The South Vietnamese command claimed today that its forces waging a new offensive on the central coast have captured the district town of Bong Son, but informants in the field reported the government troops were still 500 yards outside the largely deserted town.

One informant in Binh Dinh Province said Saigon's infantrymen were still maneuvering close to Bong Son and encountering "only token resistance," but "at this point it is impossible to say whether the enemy has pulled out or is dug in for a fight." He said most of the town's residents had fled when government forces abandoned it to the North Vietnamese on April 29.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, told newsmen that two battalions numbering about 1,000 men "recaptured the district town of Bong Son at 12:55 p.m. with no enemy resistance inside the town." He said they were making a house-to-house search to root out any enemy sappers and snipers.

Hien said helicopters landed a third battalion on the northwestern edge of the town and reported two small fights about a mile southwest of Bong Son.

The Saigon command said the 10,000-man drive was launched Wednesday to regain control of Bong Son and two other district towns in Binh Dinh, 200,000 inhabitants and a rich rice harvest. The command said the troops had encountered only light resistance thus far.

U.S. B52 bombers made 12 strikes in support of the South Vietnamese troops closing in on Bong Son, dropping 300 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions.

The counteroffensive is the second in the three-month campaign that President Nguyen Van Thieu announced on June 19 to retake all territory lost to the North Vietnamese in the Communist offensive and to drive Hanoi's forces out of South Vietnam.

The first counteroffensive began June 28, with the recapture of Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost province, as its objective.

Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel reported from the northern front that heavy fighting continued for a second day near the old My Chanh River defense line about 10 miles south of Quang Tri City.

North Vietnamese forces there have outflanked South Vietnamese paratroopers in Quang Tri and are threatening to cut Highway 1, the paratroopers' supply line to the south.

Putzel said North Vietnamese troops dug in 200 yards from the highway and were firing onto the road. The fighting was significantly heavier than on Thursday, he reported.

South Vietnamese forces were holding back while U.S. B52s dropped hundreds of tons of bombs on the North Vietnamese positions, and U.S. F4 Phantoms attacked the bunkers just off the highway with napalm.

Putzel also reported that the wreckage of a U.S. helicopter that was shot down May 2 south of Quang Tri had been found and the bodies of four Americans recovered.

North Vietnamese troops continued pouring shellfire on South Vietnamese forces pushing into Quang Tri City. One unit on the northeastern edge was hit with 150 shells. The Saigon command said casualties were light.

Pampa Man Loses False Arrest Suit

A Thirty First District Court jury refused to grant a Pampa man damages in a suit against a local department store yesterday.

Tom Morgan had sought $5,000 damages from Dunlap's following an incident Dec. 2w, 1970 that led to his arrest.

In two interrogatories, the panel ruled he was unjustly suspected—that the store manager did not have enough cause to take action. Then, paradoxically, the jury ruled that he was not due any sum of money.

Their decision was evidently based on the judge's instructions regarding the law relative to false imprisonment. Judge Grainger McElhaney, who presided, noted that the incident did not fall within the premise of the statute governing this act.

UAW President Moves To Support McGovern

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock says he and two AFL-CIO leaders plan a labor campaign drive in an effort to swing rank-and-file union support behind Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Woodcock said Thursday that he will be joined on a labor campaign committee by Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, and Floyd Smith, president of the International Machinists and Aerospace Workers. Woodcock's announcement came one day after AFL-CIO President George Meany led the labor federation's Executive Council to a 27-3 vote not to endorse either McGovern or President Nixon.

Smith, who has endorsed McGovern, voted with the majority in the Executive Council decision. Wurf, also a McGovern backer, voted against a position of neutrality. Wurf said after the vote that it reflected "personal loyalties" within the AFL-CIO and was not a true index of support among union members for the Democratic ticket.

The AFL-CIO represents 13.6 million union members. Woodcock predicted that union organizations representing more than five million workers would campaign for McGovern. That total will include the 1.4 million-member UAW, whose executive board voted unanimously Thursday to recommend endorsing McGovern. The UAW is not a member of the AFL-CIO.

Spassky Blunders, Bobby Wins Again

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—Bobby Fischer took the fifth game of the world chess championship Thursday night after a bad blunder by Boris Spassky and only 3½ hours of play, evening the score at 2½-all.

"It was just what we expected," said Frank Skoff, vice-president of the U.S. Chess Federation. "The general opinion of the American camp is that Fischer will win—even with the forfeit."

Spassky was awarded the second game by forfeit on July 13, when Fischer refused to play because three movie cameras were stationed in the hall to film the match. The cameras were removed before the third game, and Fischer has refused to play if they are brought back.

Spassky defeated Fischer in the first game, then lost to him in the third, and the fourth was a draw. So in terms of actual play Fischer now has won two games to the Russian's one.

The sixth game in the 24-game series is scheduled for Sunday afternoon. With a win counting one point and a draw half a point, Fischer needs 12½ points to take the title and with it $153,125 of the $245,000 prize money, while the Russian as the defending champion needs only 12 points to keep his crown and collect the winner's share of the money.

Swallows More Than Just Pride

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Shirley Martin of Vancouver swallowed more than her pride to hold onto a $3,000 windfall.

Last month Mrs. Martin bought $1 box of buttons from a local Salvation Army thrift store, and later found an odd ball of rock appraised at a jewelry store, which said it was a large, uncut diamond.

While at the jewelry store, she said, two Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers asked her to come outside.

"But the jeweler said nobody could take it from me so I made sure of that," she said. "I swallowed it quick." Police checks later turned up nothing on the diamond.

Mrs. Martin said she recovered the diamond two days later at home and took it back to the jeweler, who bought it from her for $3,000.

Stones Tone Down Public Appearance

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Rolling Stones have toned down their personal appearance routine in an effort to avoid creating audience chaos, a spokesman for the hard-driving British rock band says.

The Stones, who have been dogged by trouble during their current North American tour, performed to a generally mild audience of 15,500 rock fans here Thursday night.

Police said 24 persons were taken into custody inside and outside the Spectrum, where the concert was held, but only four were arrested. Of the four, two were charged with minor narcotics counts and two for carrying concealed weapons.

No one was taken into custody trying to crash the hall, as has been the case in other cities. One youth, however, was discovered carrying a 10-inch hunting knife, police said. He was arrested for carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

Gary Stromberg, public relations manager for the Stones, told newsmen before the concert that certain songs are being dropped by the group because the numbers are too volatile.

Stromberg said the Stones will no longer sing "Sympathy for the Devil," for example, because it is too provocative and "it incites people, and they don't want to do that anymore." Stromberg said.

"Sympathy for the Devil" is a monologue by a character named "Lucifer" who traces his presence through climactic events in history, such as the Russian Revolution. It usually evokes wild enthusiasm when sung and dramatized by the Stones' lead singer, Mick Jagger.

Police Commissioner Joseph F. O'Neill took personal command of a security force of 250 policemen, all wearing riot gear and many on horseback for the concert here. A helicopter cruised overhead while plainclothes police officers stationed at all entrances of the Spectrum checked handbags and parcels for weapons. Only those with tickets were permitted past barricades which encircled the Spectrum.

Who Would Want To Do It Again?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of people think they'd like to have the chance to live their life all over again.

Why? Who would really yearn to go through all that folderol twice?

Who would want to be a small blob of wailing protoplasm spending half its time trying to get milk out of a bottle? Not me.

Who would like to wear a wardrobe of diapers and be stuck with endless safety pins? Not me.

Who would like to go through that prewalking period, when everytime you stand up you promptly fall on your bottom? Not me.

Who would like to be baby-talked to, dandled on knees, and tossed up in the air and caught like a football? Not me.

Who would want to spend hours as a child staring into a mirror and wondering who you were and what you were and why you were, and trying to decide whether Santa Claus, the devil and God were really real or only adult fictions? Not me.

No, indeed. Why should anyone want to live all his life-over?

On the other hand, who would like to skip all those doldrum and questioning years and start life again as a young man of 25 with a good job, a wallet full of credit cards, a sports car, a bachelor apartment and an address book full of the phone numbers of single young ladies anxious to prove how liberated they were?

Who would? After me, you!

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

Girls, heed Halsey's questions! And experiment in line with the data offered by Dr. Freeman! Test various types of perfume on different suitors. For men not only may fall in love with a dimple but also with your subtle erotic perfume.

CASE U-539: Halsey T., aged 28, is a biology teacher.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "you've often mentioned the erotic value of perfume. Don't animals and insects grow stimulated by certain sex odors?"

"Some exotic French perfumes carry very suggestive erotic names, probably for psychological effect."

"But do you suppose human beings might be trained to respond to organic chemical odors, much as animals do?"

EROTIC SCENTS

Dr. S.K. Freeman gave a fascinating report on this topic to the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He mentioned that insects and lower animals give off specific chemicals called pheromones, which act as sex signals.

And he states that these pheromones excite brain centers to stimulate hormones that arouse sexual desire in both females and males. Even the female rhesus monkey produces a sex pheromone during her mating cycle.

And some scientists believe that puberty develops earlier in those teen-agers who are exposed to the opposite sex in social contacts.

For example, it was reported that women exposed to men more than three times per week had menstrual cycles of normal length. But females in less frequent contact with males had longer cycles.

In France, there is a "boarding house syndrome" that may also suggest human pheromones. For girls living in boarding houses where men were excluded, came into puberty later than girls in daily contact with males.

Could this theory possibly have a bearing on our girls' colleges here in America?

For graduates of such schools were more likely to go unmarried and become spinsters. Or, if they did finally wed, they had fewer children and were regarded as more likely to have platonic marriages.

Dr. Freeman suggests that exposure to pheromones of the opposite sex may be essential for normal biological sexual development.

And the musk odor which is involved in many commercial perfumes is chemically similar to the sex odors given off by insects and lower animals!

Dr. Freeman adds that women in their "pregnancy week" (the middle of their menstrual month) were found to be most sensitive to musk types of perfume.

But purely psychological brainwashing in childhood may also cause sexual excitement in connection with specific scents.

Many girls, whose fathers used a certain type of after-shave lotion, may thus subconsciously link their affection for their dad with specific scent. Thus, they may fall in love at first sight with the first young man they meet who may use the same lotion.

Men, too, often grow enamored of women who are grossly unsuited to them, yet these men exclaim that they are madly infatuated by such girls. Yet deeper analysis shows their subconscious love for their mother has merely transferred to the coed who happens to employ their mother's type of perfume.

Until recently, the sense of smell was the "blind spot" in our experimental psychology laboratories. Nowadays, it is coming into its own.

Girls, pick perfume that appeals to men; not to your own preferences! (Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bldg., Mellott, Ind., 47558, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Pampa Man In Venezuela

Gary L. Epperson of Pampa, a certified field inspector for Drilco, has been transferred to Maracaibo, Venezuela, following several weeks of training.

Drilco is a downhole drilling tool equipment division of Smith International, Inc.

Epperson joined Drilco last September, 1971, and immediately went into training as a field inspector for the International Division.

Born in Pampa, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Epperson, 1900 N. Nelson. Epperson attended elementary and high school in Pampa and was graduated from Pampa High in 1963. He participated in football and track while at Pampa High.

He studied agriculture at West Texas State University in Canyon for a year, then went into the Texas National Guard. He served in the National Guard from January, 1964, until January, 1971.

Epperson married the former Vickie Crow of Pampa in September, 1964. They have two children—Melody Ann, 6, and Gregory Don, 4.

Prior to coming to Drilco, Epperson was a farmer, then was employed at Cabot Corporation's Machinery Division.

Texas Labor Leaders To Consider Politics

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Labor's political action leaders meet privately Friday to mull over "complications" arising from the national AFL-CIO's endorsement of Sen. McGovern for president.

The administrative committee of the Texas AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) probably won't make any final decisions, said AFL-CIO president Roy Evans.

Evans said in an interview "there are some complications we have to overcome, like how you work with the McGovern campaign, how to work with the Democratic Party structure, how to work within your own (AFL-CIO) structure when some of the international unions won't endorse any candidate."

He reminded a caller that the Texas AFL-CIO's executive board voted earlier this year to urge union members to "vote Democratic."

And Evans announced at the Democratic National Convention after his first choice, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, withdrew as a presidential candidate that he would actively support McGovern.

But the national AFL-CIO's executive council voted overwhelmingly for the first time in the federation's history not to endorse either McGovern or President Nixon.

This left the federation's member unions free to endorse whomever they like. Like the national organization, the Texas AFL-CIO is a federation of unions, only on a state basis.

"Much of our discussion will be about the national council decision yesterday and how we will operate within the bounds of that decision," Evans said.

Evans ended the interview by saying:

"I've got Sen. (Thomas) Eagleton (the Democratic vice-presidential nominee) on the other phone. Can I beg off?"

Roberts Road Planned For Improvement

The Texas Highway Department is planning the improvement of State Highway 70 in Roberts County from 15.6 miles north of the Gray County line to Chicken Creek, a distance of approximately 5.2 miles.

The proposed improvement will consist of rebuilding, widening, and upgrading the present facility.

Maps and other drawings showing the proposed location and geometric design, environmental studies, and any other information about the proposed project are on file and available for inspection and copying at the Resident Engineers Office, P.O. Box 1136, Pampa, Texas 79065, on U.S. Highway 60 just east of Pampa.

Also, the drawings showing the proposed geometric design have been placed on file with Roberts County.

Any interested citizen may request that a public hearing be held covering the social, environmental, and economic effects of the proposed location and design for the highway project by delivering a written request to the Resident Engineer's office on or before Thursday, July 27.

In the event such a request is received, a public hearing will be scheduled and adequate notice will be publicized about the date and location of the hearing.

COUPLE OF COWPOKES try out some rodeo tricks which are even trickier when you know that David Trexler, left, and Gary Bartlett are amputee Vietnam veterans. Both lost legs but put so much into the rehabilitation effort that they are able to compete in horse shows across the country. Special harnesses keep them straight in the saddle. Below, Trexler, of Denver, puts horse through some fast paces.

Dear Abby

Marriage is for mature people only

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For three years I lived with a chick and we had the greatest love affair imaginable going for us. Do you know what killed it? MARRIAGE!

We're not kids, I am 33 and she is 30. So you see, Dear Abby, marriage isn't for everybody. We tried it and we didn't like it.

DEAR LOUSY: True. Marriage is not for everybody. It's only for mature people who are prepared to accept all the legal responsibilities of marriage. You just wanted to play house.

DEAR ABBY: How does one discourage "dropper-imers"? I hate to be rude but these people are running me crazy.

You see, my husband came home from the hospital after a stroke and everybody wants to see him. I know he will make a quicker recovery here at home, but if people don't leave him alone, I'll have to take him back to the hospital. I had a coronary myself, last year and all this company is wearing me out, too.

No amount of explaining seems to penetrate. People call and I tell them my husband isn't up to having any company just yet, but they come anyway, ring the bell and say, "I'll stay only a minute." Then they stay for hours.

DEAR EXHAUSTED: If they call first, say, "Sorry, absolutely no visitors yet." And if they ring your bell anyway, let the dingalings ring.

DEAR ABBY: I am curious to know what the law is regarding an unauthorized person opening another person's mail.

Our boss opens all the mail that comes to the office before passing it on to the person to whom it is addressed. Several of us are very put out about this.

While we have nothing to hide, we consider this an invasion of privacy and are considering reporting him to the postal authorities.

He has even removed complimentary tickets enclosed in the letters.

DEAR WANTS: Surely you are aware [as your boss must be] that opening mail addressed to another is a federal offense! And removing tickets is theft. I cannot imagine why you haven't already reported him, and quit your job.

DEAR ABBY: When one must [or prefers to] decline an invitation, is it necessary to state the reason? It seems so cold and aloof to simply decline without offering some kind of explanation.

DEAR CURIOUS: If one genuinely regrets that he must decline, he usually offers an explanation, and adds, "But please try me again."

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90009 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

winning safety play. He led a low trump!
East was on lead and could do nothing to keep South from taking the rest of the tricks. A third club would be ruffed in dummy; a heart, diamond or trump would be won; trumps would be drawn and dummy's diamond suit would be all winners.

Suppose South dished the safety play and played out his three high trumps?
East would be left with a high trump. If South ran off diamonds East would simply ruff the third diamond lead and leave South with three losing hearts. If South led last trump East would win and the defense would run the rest of the clubs.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The only thing that can be said in favor of South's bidding was that he wanted to play the hand.

He did have a nice two-suit but his hand was far stronger in support of his partner's rebid diamond suit and his real choice of bids should have been between a conservative five diamonds or an optimistic six.

Only a heart lead can beat six diamonds; no lead can both a five contract.

West opened the king of clubs and continued the suit. South ruffed and studied the hand very carefully before leading to the third trick. Then he came up with a

Candlelight Service Unites Miss Waldrop, Billy Coble

Miss Camila Coleen Waldrop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Waldrop, 404 Doucette, became the bride of Billy Ray Coble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winifred Coble, east of city, in a candlelight ceremony at 7 p.m. June 30, in the chapel of the Calvary Baptist Church.

Nat Lunsford was the officiating minister at the double-ring service.

THE BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a baby-blue street-length dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

For "something old," she placed a 1929 silver dollar in her shoe, and for "something new," she wore a necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. "Something borrowed" was a pair of white knit gloves belonging to Mrs. Irene Moore.

ATTENDANTS
Amarillo members presented a forum. Judge Roy Bean's Court... and the concluding session. "The Last Roundup" featured a speech by Ross on three ingredients for happiness.

Highlight of the convention was the presentation of a check in the amount of $9,651.57 to the Pediatrics Hematology Laboratory in San Antonio.

Another highlight of the convention was the presentation by Bill Ross, the founder's son, of Beta Sigma Phi's International Award of Distinction to Miss Estelle Smith, a Houston attorney, the first Texan to receive the honor.

Miss Smith has been a Beta Sigma Phi for 35 years. As state project chairman in 1950, she introduced the idea of funding Girlstown and now serves as a member of its board of directors.

How to Read a Person Like a Book

4. How Do You Shake Hands?

Many a male can recall a close relative saying to him, "I'm going to teach you how to shake hands like a man." There followed instructions on how to grip the other person's hand, how to squeeze it firmly and how to release it.

But no one teaches a businesswoman how to shake hands "like a woman." She develops a firm handshake out of self-defense.

Women, when expressing sincere feelings to other women, particularly during a crisis, gently hold the other's hands in theirs and with congruous facial expressions communicate their deep sympathy. Often an embrace follows.

The modern handshake is a gesture of welcome; the palm's interlocking signify openness and the touching signifies oneness. Firmness is expected of the typical North American male handshake.

Pampa ORG Recognized At Assembly

Twelve members of Pampa Assembly no. 95, Order of Rainbow for Girls, and four adult sponsors have returned from Houston after attending Grand Assembly of Texas.

While at Grand Assembly, the group toured the AstroDome. Astroworld, went swimming in the Gulf of Mexico in Galveston, and went shopping in the new Gallileo Shopping Center where some attempted ice skating.

Those attending were Becky and Kim Gooch, Tamara and Kelly Rainbolt, Joleen and Kathy Keel, Penny and Cheryl Miser, Janis Stubblefield, Rene Harwood, Shirley Muns, Cara Thomas, Mrs. Lillian Smith, Mrs. Ken Spoor, Mrs. Jim Miser, and Mrs. Lloyd Gooch.

Beta Sigma Phi Holds State Meet In Amarillo

A Western theme, used in everything from table decorations to meeting titles, was used at the annual state convention of Beta Sigma Phi, in Amarillo, with 1,000 persons from throughout Texas attending.

Attending from Pampa were Mmes. Randy Phillips, Tommy Hill, Randall Cross, Gary B. Clark and Bronnie Vaughn. Rho Eta chapter: Mrs. Danny Strawn and Mrs. Dwight Chase. Upsilon chapter: Mrs. Robert Brogdon, Xi Beta Chi chapter: Mrs. Jack Vaughn and Mrs. Jim Trusty, preceptor Chi chapter.

RECIPE FOR SUCCESS FOR A BOY

Take a boy-- a normally bright lad-- your son or the boy next door-- just as he is, jeans, sneakers and all.

Add a newspaper route-- and fold in business training in buying at wholesale and selling at retail. Add a heaping measure of salesmanship and experience in handling money and making collections.

Encourage dependable and punctual delivery service to build a feeling of responsibility to his customers. Develop the ability to keep accurate financial records.

Blend in rewards for work well done with earnings that increase in proportion to his efficiency and "know-how."

Inspire with praise from Mom and Dad for good classroom work that goes hand in hand with good route work.

Let continue two or three years and behold a poised and self-reliant young man... who is well-equipped for a job or higher education... a credit to himself, his family and his community.

If you think your son or some other youngster might profit by News-paperboy experience, why not suggest that he come in and talk to us.

WIN TOP HONORS—First-place winners in the Gray County 4-H Dress Revue are, left to right, Regina Atwood, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Atwood, 2500 Mary Ellen, first-place in the senior division for girls over 14; Sally Youngblood, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Youngblood of Lefors; first-place in the junior division for girls between 9 and 11, and Rhonda Adams, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Adams, 717 N. Nelson, first-place in the intermediate division for girls between 12 and 14. These girls will represent Gray County at the district contest in Amarillo. (Staff Photos by John Ebling)

Winners Announced In 4-H Dress Revue

"Signs of the Sew-Diac" was the theme for the 1972 Gray County 4-H Dress Revue Friday in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church, Pampa.

Mistress of ceremonies was Miss Brenda Winters. Miss Mary Holman narrated the revue for the 25 participants, and Miss Suzanne Bond provided background music.

Top winners in the revue were Regina Atwood, Rhonda Adams and Sally Youngblood. Miss Atwood, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Atwood, 2500 Mary Ellen, was winner in the senior division, 14 years and older. She modeled a two-piece nautical-inspired ensemble of red, white, and blue print of polyester double knit. The walking skirt featured two box pleats in front and back and the overblouse featured a sailor collar and short, puffed sleeves trimmed in red middie braid. Her accessories were red patent shoes. She is a member of the Top-o-Texas 4-H Club.

Second place went to Mollie Carlton, 15-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Welborn of Lefors, and third place went to Margaret Spearman, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Spearman of Pampa.

Top winner in the intermediate division, aged 12-14, was Rhonda Adams, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Adams, 717 N. Nelson. Rhonda modeled an A-shaped jumper of denim blue polyester and cotton kettlecloth flocked with white scarecrows. The jumper featured a low, round neckline with a back zipper closing. Her accessories included a red blouse and red patent boots. She is a member of the Triple Star 4-H Club.

Second place went to Sarah Stallings, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Stallings. First place in the junior division, aged 9-11, went to Sally Youngblood, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Youngblood of Lefors. Sally modeled a wrap-and-go jumper of multi-color polyester cotton Kettlecloth. The A-shaped wrap-around jumper buttoned in front and was completely reversible. She wore a red blouse, red hose, and red shoes. Sally is a member of the Lefors 4-H Club.

Second place went to Bobbie Skaggs, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Skaggs of Pampa, and third place went to Angie Richardson, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson of Pampa.

Other girls receiving awards in the senior division were Stephanie Eastham, Elaine Webb, blue ribbons; Joy Hollenshead, Tammy Robertson, and Delia Holman, red ribbons. In the intermediate division, Kelly Dougal and Linda Adams won red ribbons. In the junior division, Terri Atherton, Cynthia Gage were awarded blue ribbons; Terri Alexander, Mike Wilkinson, Tonya Mills, Tonya Atherton, Kelly Caswell, Jana Buzzard and Teresa Baxter, red ribbons; Melinda Collinsworth, a white ribbons.

Points considered in the judging included the girl, the outfit on the girl, construction of the garment, and the 4-H clothing record. Judges for the event were Miss Pat Palmer, county home demonstration agent, Wheeler County; Miss Kathy Hugnagle, assistant county home demonstration agent, Potter County; Mrs. Edith Hughes, county home demonstration agent, Carson County; Mrs. Karen Skaggs, Miss Darlene Neusch, and Doug Coon.

The top winner in each division will represent Gray County at the District 1, 4-H Dress Revue in Amarillo, July 31.

Marketing Report

COLLEGE STATION — "It's time to visit food stores to check for this week's best food buys," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

"In general," Mrs. Clyatt advised, "look for best beef values on forequarter cuts that require moist heat and longer cooking." She listed chuck roasts and steaks, short ribs, round steaks and ground beef.

According to the Texas A&M University specialist, pork prices rank about the same as the past two weeks. Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks, end cut loin roasts, hams, picnics and pork liver generally boast best values.

"Fryers, in excellent quality, continue as a bargain in most meat departments," she said. "Frozen turkeys stock most markets at prices you can't afford to pass up."

Mrs. Clyatt added that egg supplies are ample and prices about the same as last week.

Polly's Pointers

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—My little granddaughter wakes up earlier than her parents, so at night her mother fills several "eggs" that hose come in with trinkets or little toys. She puts these in the corners of her bed and next morning she is quite happy to play with these surprises until one of her parents comes to take her out of bed.
—MRS. E.N.

DEAR POLLY—Bridget could decorate the outside of some of her plastic eggs that party hose came in and cover the "join" of the two ends to make nice party favors. She could also make salt and pepper shakers for herself and then more for gifts. Punch holes in the shape of an "S" on some and "P" on others. Cut a small hole in the bottom of one half so a cork can be inserted. Glue the two sections together so the egg will not come apart when filled. For a collar stand to hold the shakers upright, cover a strip of cardboard with adhesive-backed paper and glue the ends together to form a ring. Set shakers inside the collar.

These eggs could also be used to make heads for puppets by cutting a hole in the bottom half for the finger and then glue halves together. Add features and glue on yarn for hair. Cut a piece of fabric to go over the hand. Insert index finger through the hole. For arms, twist rubber bands around the fabric and your thumb and middle finger and your puppet is ready to perform.
—JUDI

DEAR POLLY—Save those party hose eggs until next Easter, then decorate the outside, fill with candy or little gifts and tape ends together with colored masking tape. They can be hidden or put in the children's Easter baskets.

I am already thinking of Christmas and decorating these eggs with felt, lace and spangles so they can hold a piece of jewelry, hanky, small bottle of cologne, etc. A small hole could also be made in one end of gaily decorated ones for a ribbon hanger to go through and then the eggs hung on the tree as ornaments.
—MRS. F.S.

POLLY'S PROBLEM
DEAR POLLY—Should epsom salts be renewed annually when used under carpets and in closets to keep moths away? I know they may lose their scent and I assume that is what moths do not like, but mine seem to have considerable scent left. Heretofore, I have renewed them annually, but am not feeling too well and do not want to do anything that is not necessary.
—VERA

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is also one of furniture repairmen and movers. When planning houses, why aren't the entrances designed so moving bulky pieces of furniture is made easier? Many times this is virtually impossible to do without getting a scratch or nick on the piece or on the wall.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, JULY 22
Your birthday today: The Sun moves from zodiac sign Cancer to Leo today at 2:03 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time. In other years the time may be earlier or later. Both Cancerians and Leos who were born on this day face an adventurous year of dramatic encounter, strong emotions, a chance to surmount their own limitations.

Arises [March 21-April 19]: Use care and caution even where you are familiar with the people and situation. It's not a repeat of anything that happened before.

"Play Dough" Recipe Given
COLLEGE STATION — What better way to learn more about your child than with play dough?

According to Jane Fleischer, family life education specialist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, play dough acts as a channel of exploring, experimenting, creating and expressing deep feelings for children two to six years old.

"The dough stimulates different kinds of thinking," Miss Fleischer continued. "Notice the child's comments and exclamations as he handles it."

As an exercise for development, the Texas A&M University specialist pointed out that play dough develops large and small muscles as well as eye-hand coordination. It also provides sensory experiences.

"As an outlet for emotional release," she added, "it becomes an acceptable means of working off anger and other problems. As the child pounds and squeezes it, he drains off his angry feelings and makes them more manageable."

Miss Fleischer suggested making your own play dough. Combine one-half cup flour, one-half cup salt, three teaspoons alum and enough water to hold together. Mix as for dough and bread to the consistency of clay.

Store the dough in a light-weight plastic container. Wrap it in a wet towel and then snugly fasten the airtight cover.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Plans encounter reality testing. Make changes gracefully. Responsibility for family or group resources should remain with the whole group.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: This is a great time to clear the decks, get details out of the way. Later you can redirect your efforts with clearer view.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: You have set your course, unconsciously, contrary to today's suggestions. Reflect on what you really want and act accordingly.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Quick money remains illusory—just a wee bit out of sight, while hard gains made now build toward lasting stability. Get busy!

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Be cheerful as you cope with monetary demands on your time and resources. Some definite priority on first things first must be set.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Letting well enough alone is difficult but rewarding. Expect nearly everybody to have plans which don't coincide with your own.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Seek reconciliation where needed. Apply newly learned skills experimentally once you have basic agreement among those concerned.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Concentrate on activities you can handle with little or no cooperation, get neglected chores done and out of the way.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: An upset schedule isn't a major experience. See that you're still taking care of yourself. Fresh plans arise when needed.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Some accounting for your recent activity is in order. Make adjustments readily. Prepare for coming improvement.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: An early start helps in unexpected ways, averts endless and unnecessary confusion. There's more than enough to keep you busy all day.

Peril To Nonsmokers

Take a deep breath. If you are in a crowded room, a bus, a plane or a restaurant, chances are good that you have just inhaled a fair quantity of cigarette smoke, perhaps spiced with a pungent dose of cigar fumes.

Are your eyes smarting a little? Are your lungs rebelling at the touch of tainted air? Do you wince at the occasional direct gust of smoke that curls under your nose? Unless you are one of those devout cigarette worshippers to whom pure air smells bad, you are unlikely to escape at least an occasional adverse reaction to the smoke-filled room.

are in confined areas with smokers. The 1972 Surgeon General's report on the health consequences of smoking cites evidence that carbon monoxide from tobacco smoke may, depending on the length of exposure, be sufficient to be harmful to the health of an exposed person.

"No smoking" signs are disobeyed as often as not and such efforts as segregating smokers on airlines have met with only indifferent success. Should nonsmokers retaliate by chewing garlic and breathing in the faces of those who puff grimly on cigarettes on packed buses?

Many Butts About It

British cigarette makers are trying for a synthetic. Sounds like the joke of a butt. One cigarette maker has tried four parts pulpwood and one part tobacco. It figures to be a popular brand.

package deal. So far it comes out "a cigarette maker is a bag of bones and a hank of hair, but a good cigarette is a smoke."

Question Box

QUESTION: Congressman Sam Steiger of Arizona reports that union strikers are collecting welfare payments, including unemployment compensation. Aid to Families with Dependent Children, general assistance, emergency relief, medical assistance, the school lunch program and food stamps. If this is true, why don't the unions support McGovern who wants welfare for everyone? Also why work?

ANSWER: It appears that most of the union officials oppose McGovern, not because of his welfare program but because of his anti-war, anti-defense spending proposals. They know that if McGovern's proposals are carried out, there will be more cutbacks in spending for armaments.

Union officials are looking out for their own jobs and for keeping and increasing their dues-paying memberships. They apparently fear that cut-backs in U.S. military spending would reduce the number of union jobs and subsequently union dues-payers.

Most union officials are in favor of welfare programs, since they help keep less skilled workers off the market and competing with union members for jobs. Thus, we believe most of them favor the big spending ideas of McGovern and the rest of the politicians seeking national office.

Taxpayers Striking

A new phenomenon is giving evidence of sweeping the U.S. as hundreds of ordinary law-abiding citizens refuse to pay their income tax.

Late last year, pollster Lou Harris found that nearly two-thirds of the people interviewed thought that "taxes have reached a breaking point." And a full 70 per cent of them said that they would sympathize with "a taxpayers' revolt where people would refuse to pay any more taxes unless taxes and spending were reduced."

Sen Henry L. Bellmon (R-Okl.) said last year that an IRS official told him that "if the taxpayers of this country ever discovered that we operate on 99 per cent bluff, the entire system will collapse."

THE LITTLE WOMAN RAY CROMLEY Power in Peking May Be Shifting

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There are shadowy signs of a struggle between Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai, China's two top men. Perhaps, if actual and real, the power shift could have strong effects on Peking's relationship with the United States and Russia.

This is the message from Hong Kong contacts who spend their time analyzing Chinese political statements. If this seems an unsubstantial base on which to make judgment, it is. But this is the technique on which Western analysts must depend heavily in assessing what is happening to high Russian and Chinese officials.

Even in drastic internal shifts, Peking seldom comes out directly on what is happening. Liu Shao-chi was purged as president and Lin Biao as Mao's first deputy and heir.

The constitution, it is thought here, may still provide for Lin to take over when Mao dies, although he most certainly will not. Years ago, Mao himself was demoted until a determined comeback restored him to power. But the West learned of this long afterward and indirectly. Such is the world in which Pekingologists live.

This year, for the first time since 1950, Mao did not appear at the May Day celebrations. Lacking were slogans prominently displayed in Peking on National Day 1971—"Hold High the Great Red Banner of Mao Tse-tung Thought" and "Unfold the Mass Movement of Living Study and Application of Mao-Tse-tung Thought."

Your Health Don't Forget Iodized Salt

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Could you help me? Five years ago when I was expecting, my obstetrician told me not to consume salt or sugar because my body retained fluid which resulted in too much of a weight gain. Since that time I have used a salt substitute and liquid sugar substitute. Nevertheless, I've gained 20 excess pounds of weight. Now I've read the label on both those products and both of them contain sodium. I thought this was the reason you couldn't use salt. What good does it do to use a substitute if it contains sodium too? How big a chance would I be taking if I gave up salt altogether?

The next day, the same story was again reported in Peoples Daily, word for word except a phrase changed to "Chairman Mao and the Party Center." No such retraction has been made of Chou's recent speeches.

H. L. Hunt Writes

NAVY AT WORK

To counter the bruising invasion the communists have launched against South Vietnam, the U.S. Navy has gone to the attack with the dash and vigor that is so characteristic of its tradition. Its cruisers, destroyers and smaller ships have rained deadly fire from their batteries on the ground troops of the communists who are bent on swamping the South Vietnam defenders. The Navy has not come out of the affray without some scars. Ships have been damaged and men killed and wounded. But its deadly firepower has shot up enemy concentrations near the coast with effectiveness.

It was marauding communist patrol boats that attacked a U.S. Navy destroyer back in the 1960s and brought us into open hostilities with the forces of North Vietnam. The incident is still controversial but the Navy is there now to carry out its orders and that is what it has done with efficiency and pride. The great aircraft carriers steaming at sea are constantly contributing to the defense of the South Vietnamese with air strikes.

Russia has studied the effectiveness of seapower as employed by this country and obviously is putting the lessons to work. U.S. intelligence indicates that the Soviets are now building two great cruisers and probably a carrier. When this armed sea might is brought into the diplomatic picture, our margin of security will be reduced. Our Navy needs more ships and more rocket firepower. It is ridiculous to let a traditional landpower such as Russia catch up. The men of the Navy have proved off Vietnam they know how to fight. Let's give them more tools.

GLOBAL VIEW Look What's Up Nixon's Sleeve!

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Foreign strategy provides the razzamatazz in President Nixon's re-election campaign. And a Vietnam breakthrough would be a thriller, if achieved. But Nixon has under way a series of economic sleepers which could provide a Sunday punch by election day.

None of these has the glamor of China, Russia or a Vietnam settlement. Individually they may get few headlines. But their cumulative effect could mean an economy rambling right along this fall in real orders and even greater prospects.

The pattern can be seen in the new agreement by which Moscow will buy $750 million in grains these next three years—and prospects this order will be increased.

A major purpose of Secretary of State William Rogers' visit to East Europe was to set the stage for increased shipments of farm goods—primarily to Yugoslavia and Poland.

A boost of say $100 million a year in sales to Peking is in the talking stage. And if Dr. Henry Kissinger is as successful here as in some of his other trips, the first results should begin to show before election day.

Another American firm is said to have landed a $10 million contract to design the world's largest foundry to supply the mammoth Kama River truck plant the Russians are building. U.S. companies are competing for an expected $200 million in U.S.-made equipment the Russians may buy for that foundry and for a share in the $1.2 billion truck plant itself.

meanwhile, consumer buying is on the upswing. Major inventory build-ups are expected to start by September. Government spending is set to concentrate heavily on the first five months of this new fiscal year, July through November.

Though unemployment continues high, employment is expected to grow at a thumping pace in the next several months.

giving hope to those who don't have jobs. Higher Social Security payments have been enacted into law. The administration is pushing hard to get a new GI education bill through Congress before this session ends. The new higher rates are expected to lure more veterans into school this fall, a small but important assist to the unemployment outlook.

The Nixon men expect these economic plusses, one after another, in thump, thump, thump order, to create a swing of optimism that will lead to even more consumer spending, more industrial hiring and greater industrial investment in new machines.

Nixon is known to believe the state of the economy in 1960 lost him the election in his race against John Kennedy. He is not about to let this happen again if he can prevent it.

Your Death On Demand

If the rate at which we are committing national suicide is too slow for you, consider the offer of "Requiem Associates."

This outfit, which uses a Tampa, Florida, post office box as its address, recently placed a large advertisement in the radical underground "Los Angeles Free Press" promoting "euthanasia by choice."

Requiem Associates is already offering detailed advice to those who don't like "the way people are forced to expire in our 'modern' society."

What this outfit is pushing is euthanasia, or "mercy killing," which under totalitarian regimes is a legalized way of getting rid of "undesirables."

Question: Once Requiem Associates et al have done away with you for good, how do they prove it was done with your consent? Or, of more interest perhaps, how do you prove it wasn't?

True Film Slated At First Baptist

A new dramatic film, "LIKE A MIGHTY ARMY," the down-to-earth true story of a man in tune with his times will be shown at First Baptist Church Sanctuary, at 6:00 p.m. Sunday.

The social revolution among young people today is frightening in many of its aspects. Even the church is being seriously questioned as to its existence and activity. Instead of responding with bewilderment and fear, a handful of people in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida led by their dynamic young minister, the Rev. James Kennedy, committed themselves to the principle of providing life-changing answers for the people of their community.

In nine short years the Coral

Ridge Church has become one of the fastest growing congregations in the world, growing from 17 to more than 2,000 members and needing three Sunday morning services to minister to the crowds. This exciting true story has been made into the film, "LIKE A MIGHTY ARMY" by Gospel Films, Inc., of Muskegon, Michigan. Starring in the role of Dr. Kennedy is Chris Robinson who is best known for his role as an Air Force Sergeant in the television series, "Twelve O'Clock High". As Jim Kennedy, Robinson gives the best performance of his illustrious career. The film is being shown as part of the preparation for the Lay Evangelism School, September 11-15. It is open to the public.

'Head of the Wife' No Longer in Rites

NEW YORK (AP)—Parts of the traditional marriage ritual terming the husband "head of the wife" and directing her to be submissive to him are no longer required in a new Lutheran marriage service.

Nor does the bride's father "give" her away, implying she lacks the independence of the groom. The custom derived from ancient times when daughters were regarded as possessions and were turned over to the groom for a price.

"We feel that they should be regarded as equal partners in the marriage," says the Rev. Dr. Eugene L. Brand, head of an Inter-Lutheran Commission on Worship which drew up the new service.

It omits the usual bridal promises to "honor" and "obey" the husband. Nor does the minister pronounce them man and wife as is customary. Instead, they themselves declare that compact.

In principle, this always has been the case, with the minister being only the officiating witness to it, even though he formally pronounced them wed.

Matching the procedure with the principle, the key part of the new service reads:

Ministers: "If it is your intention to share with each other your laughter and tears and all that the years will bring, by your promises, bind yourselves now to each other as husband and wife."

The couple, in turn: "I take you, (name), to be my wife or husband from this day forward, to join with you and share all that is to come and, with the help of God. I promise to be faithful to you as he gives us life together."

The minister: "(name and name), by their promises before God, and in the presence of this congregation, have made themselves husband and wife. Blessed be the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit, now and forever."

The new ritual, published June 14 and already authorized for trial use in the 5,844 parishes of the Lutheran Church in America, allows several optional phrasings. With limits, it also permits the couple to write their own vows.

This leeway is allowed only so long as they pledge a "Complete sharing" of life, which is the essential of marriage, Dr. Brand said. He noted many couples nowadays prefer their own distinctively phrased services.

While the father no longer "gives away" the bride parents of both bride and groom may add a blessing saying, "May you dwell in God's presence forever. May true and constant love preserve you."

Soil History-Filled

JERUSALEM (AP)—Sink a shovel almost anywhere in the soil of the Holy Land and chances are the digger will come up with some link to the history of man.

Bits of pottery, coins, inscribed stones all fit into a vast puzzle slowly being pieced together by hundreds of archeologists, both amateur and professional, who mine this ancient land.

"More than half our discoveries are made purely by accident," said Dr. Avraham Biran, archeologist and director of Israel's Department of Antiquities and Museums.

Biran, blue-gray eyes sparkling, told how this year an Arab work gang laying water pipe near Nablus in occupied West Jordan discovered a "magnificent Roman mausoleum."

"It was off the main road, a natural spot for someone to break in. And we don't have the funds or the manpower to excavate and preserve even a part of the accidental finds that are made," Biran said.

"Sometimes I feel I'd like to drive a couple of truckloads of sand out to these sites and just cover them up. That way they'd be safe until we could find the time and the money to dig them up properly."

In Nablus, Biran persuaded the municipality to move its water pipe a few feet to the west. A fence was erected and guards were posted.

Two more accidental finds were made in the occupied Arab Gaza Strip recently. Land reclamation projects near Gaza City and Deir el Balah unearthed a 7th century BC town and an 11th century BC ossuary (a stone cask in which bones were buried.)

The tel, or mound, some nine feet high, covering the ancient town of Oum Amar near the seacoast, already has yielded ceramics from the late Roman and Byzantine periods.

At Deir el Balah, an Arab working in an orange grove found the 3,100-year-old ossuary containing the remains of two men and a wealth of bronze elements.

Teams from the archeological institutes of Tel Aviv and Jerusalem have since found a set of bronze sacrificial instruments and a Canaanite period jar at the site.

Biran, 63, also pointed to finds made near Eilat on the Gulf of Aqaba, indicating that ancient Egyptians carried the search for copper and gold to the shores of the Dead Sea.

"In one case, a schoolgirl found an inscription and engraving during an outing with her class in the mountains near Eilat," Biran said.

The inscriptions seemed to

The 'Flock' Comes Home

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

It was like a family reunion. The offspring of a church returned, the far-spread spawn of a little flock. From mission posts in this country and abroad, they came back to the mountain congregation where it all began.

"We feel it's home," said J. Olin Coleman, an agricultural missionary to Brazil. "We got our encouragement to go into missions here."

He was among a dozen persons who have entered full-time Christian service as a result of the influence of the First Presbyterian Church of Weaverville, N.C., and who returned there to help celebrate its 50th birthday.

To these persons the church is woven into the very pattern of their lives, and the Weaverville story offers a special example of that deeply felt, personal imprint, made through the mutual support of a single congregation.

"I love thy kingdom, Lord," the people sang at the church north of Asheville, N.C.

In neighborly, rural style, they gathered in the "Fellowship Hall" for a big covered-dish supper, its myriad dishes home-cooked by women member, just as men volunteers had once pitched in to build the stone church itself.

"Everything in our lives hinged on the church," recalled Blanche Sayer, a missionary nurse in the Congo (Zaire) from 1939-57, recounting how the pastor arranged to get her in nursing school once she decided on a religious vocation.

"Women in the church and neighbors made the uniforms I needed for training," she related. "But most important was the knowledge of support through prayer by the pastor's family and congregation."

A big cake was cut, honoring the Dendys' 50th wedding anniversary and a scholarship fund set up, initially of $500, for them to pick recipients.

Dr. Dendy, among Southern Presbyterians who in 1942 started the independent, evangelical weekly, the Presbyterian Journal, and who for many years was its editor, recently retired from the pulpit, becoming pastor emeritus.

But his successor grew up in the same congregation. It had nurtured its own pastor, the Rev. David Parks. For an anniversary sermon, he preached on Revelation 3: "They have been faithful."

GOD'S "TOP 40"
Bigness impresses most of us. We call someone a "bigshot," a "big wheel," or a "big man" on the campus.

Standing six feet tall is just one part of our fascination with bigness. If a musician makes the top 40...if a basketball player averages 20 plus points per game...we automatically rate them "VIPs"—very important persons.

Bigness is America's badge of distinction, our measure of worth.

This common attitude makes it difficult for us to realize that our bigness does not impress God. He uses a different set of scales. God puts His tape measure around a man's soul—not his biceps, or his brain, or his bank account.

Jesus put it like this: "The proud shall be humbled, but the humble shall be honored."

Once there was a brilliant man named Paul. He was a Pharisee. For a long time he measured himself down. Compared to other nations, he was a Jew—one of the chosen people. Compared to other Jews, he was a Pharisee of the strictest sect. Compared to other Pharisees, he was a zealot, persecuting unbelievers.

Then one day on a lonely road, he saw a vision of God's glory in the person of Jesus. He fell prostrate, his measuring sticks were shattered. He cast aside his so-called goodness as refuse and reached out for God's mercy and forgiveness and as his sole support. This is the same man who wrote these tremendous words found in the Romans: "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God."

All men are created equal, but some better themselves more than others. All have sinned. In the sight of God this puts all men on the same level. God's measuring stick is the condition of the heart.

Some baseball players have higher batting averages than others—but no one bats 1.000. The best of us need forgiveness. God sent Jesus Christ to take the punishment for all our sins and to end all God's anger against us. He used Christ's blood and our faith as the means of saving us from His wrath.

"Now God declares us 'not guilty' of offending Him if we trust in Jesus Christ, who in Him, kindness freely takes away our sins." (Romans 3:24)

"So it is that we are saved by faith in Christ and not by the GOOD THINGS WE DO." (Rom. 3:26-28)

Have you been measuring your life with man's yard stick or God's? There is a vast difference in the two—and only God's will count in the end.

TWO PEOPLE READ THIS ARTICLE. One says, "I hope so-and-so reads this—he needs to." The other says, "God, be merciful to me a sinner, for Christ's sake." WHICH ARE YOU?

State Department Uses Computer System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The secretary of State may want to know — quick — what correspondence he's had with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee this year.

A year ago, he would have gotten the answer in maybe an hour — or maybe a day — after clerks burrowed through stacks of card indexes and documents. But not any more, thanks to a computerized document retrieval system which State Department officials say is without equal in the world.

Now an aide presses a few buttons and the secretary has his answer within seconds via TV-type screen.

There have been 56 messages between William P. Rogers and Sen. J. W. Fulbright since January, on items ranging from Vietnam to plane noise.

Rogers is proud of bringing the $30-million computer system to the government's oldest department, which is not noted for quick adoption of new technological gadgetry.

"When I came into the department," Rogers said in an interview, "it had moved from the quill pen to the ballpoint along with many other organizations."

"We've now got a management-information system based on computers that has no equal in this country or abroad," he added.

The system is called SADI, which stands for Secretarial Automated Data Index. It offers lightning-fast retrieval of any of some 28,000 papers flowing annually to and from the secretary of State and a half-dozen principal State Department offices.

Also cranked into SADI are deadlines on each document assigned for action somewhere in the State Department's large bureaucracy.

This automated spur from on high is rated as a mixed blessing in lower echelons. Under the old setup, recalled one veteran diplomat, the boss might forget or a document could get "lost."

The system can even supply high-speed printouts for those who want a piece of paper showing what they've just seen on SADI's cathode ray tube (CRT) screen. Complete documents are stored on 4 x 6-inch microfilm cards, each one able to carry some 60 pages of text, quickly re-producible by photo process.

State Department security agents have expressed concern about the possibility that spies might get secrets out of SADI that they couldn't under the old paper-filing setup.

To bar unauthorized persons from using the system, SADI is programmed to operate only if the questioner punches in a code word, which is changed daily.

And at the end of each day, the keyboards are supposed to be pulled out and locked away so that no night-time intruder can fish for information.

Still bothering security sleuths is the possibility that rays emitted by the electronic gear can be picked up outside the State Department building, and decoded, by spies using sensitive radio eavesdropping devices.

The State Department's executive staff seems happy to trade off the old difficulties for the new ones, however. As one senior aide put it:

"A year ago people would have a fit of ecstasy over getting a document in an hour. Now they scream if you take more than a minute."

The staff is pushing ahead, therefore, with plans for more computerized diplomacy.

One proposal is to put drafts of outgoing telegrams on the CRT screens first, rather than on paper, and getting the texts revised and cleared by the proper officials by push-button control. Once a telegram received a final okay, it could be transmitted to a U.S. embassy abroad with the push of another button.

Consideration also is being given to installing large-screen CRT's at the desks of the secretary of State and other top officers. At present, the sets are in adjacent offices where aides do the button pushing when their superiors want information.

City Hopes Children Will Feed Alligator

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — An official hopes to send Hobbs children out gathering live frogs and fish to feed the city's hungry but stubborn alligator.

City Parks and Recreation Director Jeff Williams said Wednesday the alligator, named John Roger Enzymes, is facing a second crisis in less than a month.

The 3-foot, 10-inch gator disappeared from his pen at the city sewer plant in June. He was found in a deep pool of effluent water after a four-day search that turned him into something of a local celebrity.

Williams said he is planning a contest with prizes for the children who bring John Roger the most live food.

He warned that contestants should leave their dogs and cats at home when they come

Frank Phillips Provides Guidance and Counseling

A major advantage of attending Frank Phillips College in Borger is the guidance and counseling program. The college will this year be offering the best service in its 25-year history, as the students for the 1972-73 term begin fall enrollment on Aug. 1, school officials said.

The comprehensive plan of the counseling group will include a three-point program which will take the beginning student just out of high school and guide him through Frank Phillips.

The first step in the program is the initial interview between counselor and student. At this meeting the student discusses his future with the counselor. High school records and entrance tests are studied. An effort is made to make decisions regarding the charting of the future for the student.

Many students know what they want to take and the profession they want to follow. Some know they want pre-law, pre-medicine and others know they want one or two years in business. Others have not made up their minds and need special help in choosing a course which will not be lost later.

After a decision is made as to which general or special area a student will enter, a degree plan is constructed. This plan takes into consideration which college a student will enter when he leaves Frank Phillips College if he is taking a transfer route. It includes all the courses he will need at F.P.C. to complete his program leading either to transfer to senior college or to employment.

A second step is continuing work with the student as he begins to take his course of study. If a student has problems he can go to the counselor and discuss them.

The counselor and student may want to involve a teacher in the discussion. The dean may be called in. This continuous counseling for those who need it is an integral part of the program at Frank Phillips College.

The counselors also constantly check with the teachers to discover students who need more guidance.

The third step is that of "follow up." When a student leaves Frank Phillips, either to a job or to another college, the counselors make a periodic check to find out how he is doing.

The Frank Phillips College counselors are also involved in counseling relations with high schools of the Panhandle. They spend much time with high school counselors making them aware of the services available to them at F.P.C.

Individual counseling for fall enrollment can be had by applying to the Dean of Admissions. Counseling starts Aug. 1 and a definite time is scheduled for students planning to register on Aug. 31 or Sept. 1.

Price Knocks Opponent's Stand On McGovern Vote

ELECTRA (Spl.) — When the gentleman who represents this district now says, "I will vote for McGovern," there can be no doubt where he stands on the critical issues facing this nation. Congressman Bob Price of Pampa said today at a townhall meeting in Electra.

"By his own admission, my opponent has established himself in such an extremist radical left position there is grave doubt that he can ever represent the best interests of this district," Price continued.

The Wichita Falls Record-News today quoted my opponent as saying, "If I do not (vote for McGovern), it will endanger my position on my committees." Price noted.

The Pampa legislator went on to say:

"My opponent is saying he supports McGovern, the man who advocates a sellout in Vietnam and will be at the altar of Communism. My opponent is saying, in essence, that he supports the man who will grant amnesty to draft dodgers and deserters."

"It is this man, McGovern, who would cut our defense spending in half and leave this nation at the mercy of Communist aggressors whoever they may be."

"Today, this is a complete sellout and a completely unacceptable system. I believe we must maintain a strong military posture in order for the United States to preserve its position of leadership. This is why President Nixon has asked for an increased military budget, and I strongly support this recommendation." Price added.

Town Divided Over Chicano Government Control

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In the spring of 1970, a Mexican-American political party began a drive that led to total control of school and city administrations in the Southwest Texas town of Crystal City. Here is a report, first in a series, on the situation two years later.)

By RICHARD BEENE
Associated Press Writer

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — With its spinach crops and dusty streets and dwindling population, this remote little town faces the problems that haunt farming communities throughout the nation. But it has still another problem: unrest over a Mexican-American political party which controls local schools and city governments.

It has become so divided over the past two years that many Anglos and Mexican-Americans—about 100 families, according to most estimates—have moved to nearby towns.

The Chamber of Commerce is no longer active. Some stores have closed. Two Catholic nuns have moved away in a dispute with their priest over the political situation here.

More than 100 teachers have left, including a veteran of 30 years in the city's public schools. A private school is in operation.

One side claims communism is creeping into Crystal City; the other side denies it; and counters that the shoe of democracy hurts when it's on the other foot.

The schools and industry are the focal points of controversy in this town of 8,104 residents less than 50 miles from the Mexican border.

For a variety of reasons ranging from geography to politics, it has been traditionally difficult to attract industry here. A Del Monte canning plant is the largest single source of jobs in Crystal City, which calls itself the "Spinach Capital of the World."

Industry is such a vital factor that city officials asked Mexico's President Luis Echeverria for help last month. He responded quickly, sending one of his top men to discuss ways to establish new industry here, possibly in cooperation with Mexico.

When Crystal City's problems or accomplishments are discussed, the conversation inevitably turns to one person—Jose Angel Gutierrez, 27, a doctor's son, college graduate and outspoken Chicano activist.

One sunny fall morning in 1969, the young Crystal City native told an interviewer how he planned to change what he called the Anglo domination and control of this predominantly Mexican-American town.

A few weeks later at least 1,000 Mexican-American pupils, encouraged and supported by Gutierrez, boycotted schools in a move that has led to a complete Mexican-American takeover of Crystal City school and city administrations.

It was the beginning of Texas' Raza Unida Party, which now is campaigning for the governorship and other state and local offices.

And it was the beginning of what is still, more than two years later, the most emotional, polarizing period here since Mexican-Americans first won complete control of the city council in 1963, only to lose it in 1965.

"If people don't wake up (to effects of Raza Unida), we'll be worse than in a state of Communism," says Jack Ware, one of the party's staunchest opponents.

He disagrees with Gutierrez and other Raza Unida leaders who contend Mexican-Americans have been suppressed by the Anglos here.

"When you have a county like this, 85 per cent

Mexican-American and three or four per cent black and 12 per cent Anglo—to say Mexican-Americans have been discriminated against—that smacks of an utter falsehood," Ware asserted.

Angel Gonzalez, 42, a native of Texas' largely Mexican-American Lower Rio Grande Valley, was named school superintendent here in August, 1970, an appointee of the school board that came under Raza Unida control in the April, 1970, elections.

Gonzalez said he is the first Mexican-American school superintendent in Crystal City's history.

Before he came here, he said in an interview, about 70 per cent of the school faculty and administrators were Anglo and 30 per cent were Mexican-American. Now, he said, it's just the opposite.

Gutierrez, school board president and most frequent target of criticism, shrugs off such charges. Referring to a new bilingual-bicultural education program, he asked: "How can that be racist? You can't be a racist when you say you're bicultural."

City Manager Francisco Rodriguez, 29, a Crystal City native and Raza Unida member, maintains, "We're bringing more money into town."

He pointed to projects which he said will boost the economy, including a new health clinic, 124 public housing units, school improvements, and expansion of water and sewer service to accommodate new industry that the city eventually hopes to attract.

Like the school district, the city is leaning heavily on federal funds, such as $3 million in urban renewal money over the past two years and a projected additional $5 million in the next three; $2.4 million for public housing; and $2.25 million over three years for the health clinic and health programs, Rodriguez said.

"We're trying to build the community as a whole community, not as a divided community," he said, adding that Raza Unida is taking this attitude toward its opponents: "We're going to develop the city with or without your help."

MAN-MADE ISLAND takes shape in the harbor of Stavanger, Norway. Constructed of 245,000 tons of steel and concrete, when completed it will be towed to a site midway between Norway and Britain as a storage station for a million barrels of oil brought up from the expanding North Sea fields.

Flooded City Recovering From Dust, Dirt, Filth

By GERALD STORCH
Associated Press Writer

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — The dust, the dirt, the filth are still everywhere.

Walk in any low-lying area of this hilly city of 60,000, and you get a choice — depending on whether it's dry or raining — between becoming engulfed with dust that mixes with sweat and pastes clothing to skin, or being slopped with mud.

A full month after one-third of this eastern Pennsylvania city was inundated by floodwaters from tropical storm Agnes, the community retains the appearance of a disaster area.

And yet... amidst all this, a bustling spirit of renewal is undeniably in evidence.

A lot of the city's dirt, for example, is encrusted on the arms and faces of people who have determinedly shoveled four to six inches of mud from their floors.

Indeed, Nicholas H. Souchik, Luzerne County's executive director for civil defense, says the flood-stricken sections of the city are now 70 to 75 per cent back to their feet.

Souchik gave this status report: HOMELESS—The biggest problem, Temporary Red Cross shelters are accommodating about 2,300 persons, with perhaps double that number staying with relatives.

ELECTRICITY—Restored to about 25 per cent of flooded homes.

TELEPHONES—About 75 per cent back.

WATER—Some reports of low pressure, but otherwise not a major problem.

SEWAGE TREATMENT—Still completely out. Sewage is going straight into the river. But tons of mud have been removed from the city's treatment plant, and it should be operable in another 30 days.

Child Decries Divorce

VISALIA, Calif. (AP) — A 10-year-old girl has pleaded in a letter to a judge that her parents be refused a divorce.

The child, who was not identified, wrote: "Honorable Sir, My mom and dad is getting a divorce... please don't let them get a divorce. My mamma loves my dad; if you could put him in the hospital he could quit drinking..."

"Sir, you are a judge and this is your job, to divorce people."

"Only where do ones go that still love the husbands? And how do you divorce a 10-year-old? Can you cut out my heart and stop it from hurting?"

The girl pleaded, "Please, please, please help a 10-year-old keep a mom and dad. I know if mom tried you probably wouldn't listen..."

"God bless you and let God be on this day the judge beside you."

Superior Court Judge Jay Ballantyne said Wednesday he sent copies of the letter to the attorneys representing the girl's parents and replied to her. "I am well aware of the tragedy which is involved every time parents separate where small children are involved... I can assure you that if either of your parents petition the court for an attempted reconciliation I will do all I can to help resolve their differences."

RAPT ATTENTION is one viewer's reaction to one of the works in an East Berlin art exhibition. The figure in wood, entitled "Angela," is sculptor Manfred Salow's impression of Angela Davis.

Baseball Roundup

By The Associated Press

Billy Slayback felt right at home on the range ... while making the Texas Rangers feel downright uncomfortable at home.

"He pitched another great game, didn't he?" exclaimed Detroit Tiger Manager Billy Martin after the 24-year-old rookie mastered the Rangers 5-1 with a five-hitter Thursday night.

Slayback, who only a couple of weeks ago was in the minor leagues, struck out 13 Rangers with an assortment of sliders and fastballs.

"Why did I strike out so many?" Slayback said. "It was just a matter of throwing a lot of good, two-strike pitches. I mixed my pitches pretty well tonight."

Included in his performance were four strikeouts of Texas slugger Frank Howard, a giant who inspires awe in most veteran pitchers, no less rookies.

In Thursday's other American League games, the Boston Red Sox took a doubleheader from the Oakland A's 2-1 and 4-3 in 11 innings; the Milwaukee Brewers edged the Minnesota Twins 2-1 and the Baltimore Orioles downed the Kansas City Royals 8-5 in 10 innings. Rain washed out California at New York.

In the National League, the Atlanta Braves defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 6-3 and the New York Mets turned back the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1.

Slayback, who won his fourth game in seven decisions and lowered his earned run average to 1.70, struck out the side in the first and the fifth innings and was in serious trouble only once when the Rangers scored their only run.

Marty Pattin pitched a four-hitter as Boston beat Oakland in the first game and Carl Yastrzemski forced in the winning run with a two-out, bases-loaded walk in the 11th inning to give the Red Sox the second game.

Joe Lahoud collected three hits, including a run-scoring double in the fourth inning, and rookie Gary Ryerson scattered nine hits as Milwaukee edged Minnesota. Merv Rettenmund delivered a bases-loaded pinch single in the 10th inning to help Baltimore trim Kansas City.

Earl Williams smashed a two-run homer and Ralph Garr drilled a two-run double to power Atlanta over St. Louis. Williams' homer, No. 15, sailed over the center field fence after Hank Aaron had singled.

Willie Mays slugged a tie-breaking double in the fifth inning, carrying New York over Los Angeles. Gary Gentry went the distance for the Mets, scattering seven hits, to record his fifth victory in 11 decisions.

RELIEF PITCHERS have generally been among the absent on All-Star game rosters but two who appeared were Ryne Duren, left, Yankee bullpen ace of the late '50s, and Mace Brown of the Pirates, who in 1938 became the first reliever chosen as an All-Star.

Football Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Dallas Cowboys hope it isn't an omen of worse things to come.

Mike Ditka, starting tight end for the Super Bowl champions, is on the sidelines today just a week before the official opening of the pro football exhibition season.

Ditka pulled a hamstring muscle in a workout Thursday and probably will miss the All-Star game in Chicago next Friday when the Cowboys meet the College All-Stars. Billy Truax, the Cowboys' other starting tight end, has a groin muscle pull, but is expected to play against the All-Stars.

There was one bright spot for the Cowboys. Duane Thomas, star running back who reported late to camp "looked like he hadn't missed a day of practice" as a club spokesman phrased it.

Other mishaps included a sprained ankle by corner back Rex Kern of the Baltimore Colts, a fractured upper arm by corner back Zeke Moore of the Houston Oilers and a knee injury to offensive lineman Warren Koegel of the Oakland Raiders. They will be out for periods ranging from one to six weeks.

Star running back Leroy Kelly signed a two-year contract with the Cleveland Browns and quarterback Roman Gabriel of the Los Angeles Rams said he definitely will be ready to play by the time the regular NFL season opens.

Gabriel, who suffered a collapsed lung during Monday's practice, was released from the hospital and watched the Rams work out. When Coach Tommy Prothro called off a scheduled afternoon drill some of the players quipped: "A Roman holiday."

Bert Campaneris Replaces Aparicio

BOSTON (AP) — Manager Earl Weaver Friday named Oakland's Bert Campaneris to replace injured Luis Aparicio of the Boston Red Sox as the American League's starting shortstop in the All-Star game next Tuesday at Atlanta.

Aparicio, a 38-year-old veteran, was voted the starting honor in balloting by fans, but has been sidelined with a broken finger suffered a month ago.

Weaver, who will manage the AL for the third year in a row, completed a 28-man squad by naming 11 other players, including rookie catcher Carlton Fisk of the Red Sox and Kansas City's starting outfielder of Richie Scheinblum, Lou Piniella and Amos Otis.

Also chosen were Detroit first baseman Norm Cash, second baseman Cookie Rojas of Kansas City, third baseman Sal Bando of Oakland, shortstop Toby Harrah of the Texas Rangers, outfielders Carlos May of the Chicago White Sox and Joe Rudi of Oakland and Catcher Ellie Rodriguez of Milwaukee.

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard
67-Playing for the Hook

you might play better by hooking. You'll get more distance because the ball will roll farther. The hook swing is an inside-out swing, more of a round-house action like a baseball swing. I think it's much more natural than the fade swing, which is more upright.

To hook the ball I aim a little right but I don't change anything else except my hand movement. In the impact area I roll my right hand from right to left. That rolls the clubface and the clubface rolls the ball. It takes practice but it isn't that hard to do.

American Golf Lead Goes To Ron Cerrudo

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "Very lucky. Very fortunate. Very pleased."

Courageous Ron Cerrudo, once one of golf's brightest young stars until sidelined with severe back trouble, kept repeating the three phrases after establishing the first round lead in the $150,000 American Golf Classic Thursday.

Cerrudo, knocked out of action for eight months because of a back operation in 1970, had just come within one stroke of matching the course record on the vast stretches of the demanding Firestone Country Club course.

His five-under-par 65, including a bogey on his last hole, on the 7,188-yard par-70 layout gave him a one-stroke margin over veteran Kermit Zarley and former PGA champion Ray Floyd.

They tied at 66 in the wiling.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Here are the top first-round scores Thursday in the $150,000 American Golf Classic on the 7,188-yard par 70 Firestone Country Club course.

17 Year-Old Tim Dement Beats Bobby Lee Hunter

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Convict Bobby Lee Hunter had more to lose than any other fighter in the U.S. Olympic Boxing Trials — his temporary freedom — and the pressure of having to return to his jail cell became a true-to-life nightmare Thursday night.

"Hunter may have over-trained," said coach James "Red" Douglas after 17-year-old Tim Dement of Bossier City, La., pounded out a three-round decision in the flyweight bout.

"Hunter was too keyed up. Nobody else here had to go back to jail if they lost."

Hunter, serving the sixth year of a 20-year sentence at Manning Correctional Institute in South Carolina for manslaughter, must return to prison unless the U.S. Olympic Boxing Committee designates him as a challenger in the trials' Aug. 5 boxoff at Bear Mountain, N.Y.

Winners in each of the 11 divisions here must defeat a challenger in the boxoff before a trip to Munich, Germany, and the Summer Olympics is assured.

"It's not over yet for us," said Douglas. "I hope we get a challenger's role. We'll just have to wait and see."

However, the boxing committee would have to select Hunter over 1972 Golden Gloves champ Gregory Lewis, who is expected to meet the classy Dement in the finals here.

Hunter was the bronze medal winner in the 1971 Pan American Games. Dement actually was the top qualifier for the Games, but was "too young to compete."

Dement, a classic jab artist, bloodied the brawling Hunter's nose with a tattoo of left jabs.

Twice Hunter came within a whisker of decking Dement. "Hunter stunned me twice," Dement said. "He can hit hard and I was trying to stay away. I had to think more than any bout I ever fought."

But he was an easy target for the jab, and you could count the number of times he hit me on one hand."

Douglas admitted "Dement gave Bobby a boxing lesson. It was the best I've seen Dement fight."

Hunter, a brawler with a dynamite left, never got untracked against the frail-appearing 5-foot-10 Dement in the 112-pound bout.

It was the 60th victory in 70 fights for Dement. Hunter's record is now 34-5.

The 22-year-old Hunter was in tears as he made his way to the dressing room. He never said a word.

With Hunter's loss, the spotlight in the four-day trials which end Saturday night switched back to America's heavyweight hope for the Olympics, Navy Engineerman 3-C Duane Bobick of Bowles, Minn., who battles blubbery 215-pound Leroy Jones tonight at Daniel Meyer Coliseum.

Staub Has Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielder Rusty Staub of the New York Mets will undergo surgery on his injured right hand Friday night, the team announced. Staub was hit by a pitch from Atlanta's George Stone in a June 3 game, but the fracture was not revealed until Wednesday, when the Mets were playing in Los Angeles against the Dodgers. Dr. Herbert Stark told the team that Staub had a fracture of the hook of the hamate bone. It was first diagnosed as a muscle spasm.

'It's a Free Country' and an Alabaman pays a high price to prove it.

By TOM TIEDE

LUVERNE, Ala.—(N.E.A.)—Five years ago G. T. Miller was one of the most prosperous businessmen in this small (pop. 2,000) deep-Dixie community. His flourishing feed mill and cotton gin complex dominated the market for miles.

Today Miller and his firm are on the edge of bankruptcy. Why?

"Oh, well," says Miller, burying his hands in the pockets of his overalls. "I been cussed, discussed, lied to, hung up on, stoned, shot at and boycotted. The only reason I'm still in business here is to see what hell will happen next."

Actually, 70-year-old George Thaxton Miller stays in business for better reasons than curiosity. He is trying to prove a hard point: This is a free country.

The man's woes began in 1968. About the time this area was beginning to integrate its public schools, Miller was, in the vernacular of the time, a well-known "nigger lover from way back." He employed both blacks and whites at his mill. He was an easy touch for any poor-folk charity. He even, they say, shaking their heads, had some kind of bleeding-heart scheme whereby he would help his employes, black or white, build their own homes; he'd give the workers land and building materials—on interest-free loans—and supply much of the construction labor; the only thing he asked was that the new homeowner help with the building and guarantee the upkeep.

Well, anyway, everybody knew old Miller was cozy with the blacks. But it was a peccadillo usually forgiven. Because he had some saving graces. He was, after all, a true son of the South. Born poor. Family of eight. He plowed fields as a kid, 12 hours a day, with an old one-eyed ox. "But, dammit, he worked his way up." His mill and cotton gin became one of Luverne's most important businesses. A dozen structures. Sitting both sides of Route 1, north of town. "You had to admire the old coot; even with the blacks there he did good work and charged a fair price."

But then, when the insistent arm of Federal law finally reached into Luverne, and the integration orders threatened to destroy centuries of local bigotry, fate chose G. T. Miller as part of the drama. The son of one of his black workers was among the first to integrate Luverne's school. Somehow this was construed as Miller's fault. "I remember it like it just happened," says G. T. "One day some cars drove up to my place, filled with Ku Kluxers (members of the Ku Klux Klan). They said, 'Miller, you got to get rid of this here black.' I said why? And they said, because we don't want his blackness in our school, that's why.' They made some threats that would happen if I didn't follow orders. Then they loaded up, all red faces, and drove away."

Miller knew the threats were not smoke. He had had dealings with the Klan before. In 1920 he joined the organization, taking its propaganda as "Christian principles" at face value. When he found out the principles included "whipping people with three-inch leather straps," he quit. Shortly after his resignation, he says, he was "shot so full of buckshot that when I went swimming, well, I liked to sink."

Despite his familiarity with the ways of the Klan, however, Miller stayed fast on the matter of his black employes. He refused to fire the man. And the KKK struck. "They organized this boycott of my place. And I felt it immediately. Old customers, old friends, stopped coming in. People began to avoid me on the streets. My business and my social position dropped to zero. Plus the usual Ku Klux harassment—threatening phone calls, burning crosses, vandalism. Yessir, they hit me good."

Too good. In five years Miller's customers have dropped from 465 to a present 185. Where he once netted $35,000 a year, he now operates at an annual loss of from $12 to $16,000. "Worst of all, I had to fire the black worker anyway. Business got so bad I had to let most of my 25 workers go. Now we only keep six or seven fellows."

So it is that G. T. Miller has gone from business riches to rags. Or very nearly. He says he keeps his doors open with the help of some church organizations which sympathize with his predicament and admire his pluck. "But even if I didn't get a cent from the outside, I'd still keep going. 'I ain't ever gonna close my place down. I mean, I'm not about to kowtow to a bunch of dumb fools in white bedsheetes."

In fact, there are indications

PHEASANTS MOWED DOWN ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Probably the biggest hazard that pheasants in New York face is the mowing machine.

During the peak of the state's pheasant population in the late 1930s, mowing was not started until about the Fourth of July. By this time about 80 per cent of the pheasant nests had hatched.

It has since been found that June hay is better for cattle. Mowing now usually starts during the first week in June, when fewer than 20 per cent of the nests have hatched.

About the only solution is to leave unmowed land along fences, farm lanes and in odd corners around the farm, to decoy the pheasant hens away from hayfields.

"What was I before I was a mommy? . . . THIN!"

tions now in Luverne that the kowtowing may be the other way around. White bedsheetes have lost their clean in the South. The once fearsome KKK is little more than a joke in Alabama. Miller hasn't been threatened, stoned or chased from his home—the one he had to live in his mill, for safety. He even got some old customers coming back now. Now and then one'll drive up and say: "Miller, I'm gonna do business here again." They don't say much more than that. But that's crazy, they know and I know what they really mean.

The turnaround, sadly, has probably developed too late to save Miller's business. The boycott has opened up competitors and alternate milling methods which, unlike KKK harassment, won't disappear. Yet G. T. Miller is undismayed. Rather, he is back to his old tricks. "I think by now I've proved this really is a free country," he says, "so I don't go worrying about the business any more. Now I'm just worrying about poor people. I got this idea I'm working on to build this big Co-op and to organize all the blacks and whites on these little farms around here so . . . Ah, well, folks, shaking their heads, that old G.T., he's a nigger lover from way back."

CITY FREELY TOWS UNWANTED CARS

VIENNA (AP)—The city of Vienna has a special mailbox for motorists desiring to surrender ownership of their dying automobiles.

The mailbox in the traffic department is used to send receipt of documents facilitating the removal of abandoned cars from the streets of the Austrian capital. Under a program started in 1970, old cars are towed away free if the driver signs a form relinquishing ownership to the city.

So far, more than 1,200 Viennese have signed their cars up for the free trip to an auto graveyard.

Small Boy Baffles Doctors

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The more the doctors study Sergio Pacheco, the more baffled they are. Why did the 14-year-old youngster stop growing at the age of 3?

After two months of study Dr. David Chadwick, who heads a team of researchers on the case, says, "I'm afraid our research so far has raised more questions than it has answered."

The dark-eyed Mexican boy was born in a hovel on the southern fringes of Tijuana. He grew normally for three years. Since then, he and his family say his normally apportioned body has changed only a fraction of an inch.

Doctors say he is 33 inches tall, weighs less than 40 pounds and actively competes in sports.

Sergio, a sophomore who does well in high school, gets along with his brothers and sisters, whose growth has been normal, and with his friends.

A campaign in San Diego has raised $1,000 to finance the research tests which Chadwick, a specialist at Children's Hospital, said have turned up "nothing to explain adequately his physical problems."

At first, it was thought Sergio either lacked sufficient growth hormones or suffered from a pituitary gland problem.

"Maybe it is something missing in his tissue structure that keeps his body from growing," Chadwick said in an interview Wednesday. "It could be a new missing factor as far as medical science is concerned."

CASE DISMISSED IN 5 MINUTES

Man Spends 17 Months In Jail on Knife Charge

HOUSTON (AP) — It took Mack Adams 17 months to get into a courtroom to face charges of illegally carrying a knife and when he got there his case was dismissed in five minutes.

He was released June 16 after spending almost one and one-half years of his life in the Harris County jail without ever being brought to trial.

Adams' troubles started Feb. 13, 1971 when two officers found Hubert J. Tappin staggering along a street, covered with blood from stab wounds.

Tappin took officers to Adams' lounge and accused Adams and his wife of robbing and stabbing him. Witnesses told officers Adams and his wife had been at the lounge at the time of the incident but Tappin filed charges against the couple when he recovered.

When Adams was arrested, officers found a knife in his pocket and he was also charged with carrying a prohibited weapon.

Adams and his wife, Tina, were placed in jail on $2,500 bond each. Mrs. Adams paid $2,500 bond on Feb. 20 and was released but Adams remained in jail because the couple didn't have enough money for his bail.

Adams was in jail three months before being indicted by a Harris County grand jury. He was arraigned June 21, 1971 and given a court-appointed lawyer. Adams said that was the last he saw of the lawyer until he was released from jail one year later.

Adams' case was set for trial Jan. 24, 1972 but on that date he was told his trial had been postponed for two weeks because another trial was in progress.

But a memo in Adams' file written by Assistant District Attorney Jack Bodiford indicated charges were to be dropped.

The memo said: "Could not locate complaining witness. No rap sheet (police record) on him. Cannot prove if complaining witness is dead or alive or out of the state. I will dismiss."

But it was not until May 4 the district attorney's office filed a motion to dismiss the two felony charges against Adams. Adams said he did not know the felony charges had been dropped and the knife charge was all that still kept him in jail.

Then on June 16, Adams was taken to the courthouse again. He said "one told him why he was going to court. He was then told charges had been dismissed against him."

The court-appointed attorney said: "I'm a little hazy on why the case was passed on Jan. 24. I didn't know the state could not find the complaining witness."

The attorney said he knew the felonies had been dismissed. "I was not appointed in the knife case so I assumed he was out of jail. When I found he was still in jail, I asked that the knife case be dismissed."

So after 17 months, Adams was free. He could be forgiven if he decided justice was not only blind, but also slow.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Today is Friday, July 21, the 203rd day of 1972. There are 163 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1588, British forces under Sir Francis Drake attacked the Spanish Armada in the English Channel.

In 1831, Leopold I was proclaimed king of the Belgians after separation of Belgium from Holland.

In 1861, the first major military engagement in the Civil War took place at Bull Run Creek in Virginia.

In 1873, Jesse James staged the first train robbery—at Adair, Iowa. He held up the Rock Island Express and escaped with $3,000.

In 1918, in World War I, the Allies retook Chateau-Thierry in France as the Germans retreated.

In 1930, the U.S. Veterans' Administration was established.

In 1954, France surrendered North Vietnam to the Communists in an armistice agreement signed at Geneva.

Ten years ago: Indian and Chinese Communist troops clashed in two disputed areas in Kashmir.

Five years ago: A black man and a white woman were married on the courthouse steps in Nashville in the first interracial wedding recorded in Tennessee.

One year ago: Rebels in East Pakistan bombed three power stations, leaving the capital, Dacca, without electricity.

Today's birthday: Violinist Isaac Stern is 52 years old.

Thought for today: A man can never be a true gentleman in manner until he is a true gentleman at heart—Charles Dickens, English novelist, 1812-1870.
