Priscilla claims ex-husband raped her

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Priscilla Davis testified today a former husband raped her twice and that she did not lure him into sex to enhance her divorce action against him.

It was embarrassing and humiliating and I didn't know what to do," Mrs. Davis testified outside the presence of the jury.

"I told the truth," she said.
Mrs. Davis returned to the witness stand in the capital murder trial of her estranged husband Cullen to respond to questions left unanswered during her previous testimony that ended Tuesday.

State District Court Judge George Dowlen permitted the defense to interrogate Mrs. Davis about the contempt action she filed in 1967 against Jack Wilborn, her second husband.

A defense lawyer contended she enticed Wilborn to violate a restraining order by inviting him to her home on July 10 and 11 of that year for sexual encounters.

She previously was accused of a similar ploy with Davis, from whom she separated and sued for divorce in July 1974.

"You got Mr. Wilborn to come over to your residence and you engaged in sexual relations with him, did you not?" the lawyer asked today.

"I did not lure anyone over at all," she replied.

"You made that up?" the attorney asserted.

"I told the truth," she said.

"He came over and raped you?"

"Yes sir."

Asked if Wilborn returned the next day and committed a second rape she snapped:

"He did it and that's all there is to it."

Mrs. Davis said she left her home after the alleged second attack and visited her doctor and that she did so only on the advice of her attorney.

According to previous testimony, Mrs. Davis lay on a stretcher in the early morning hours of Aug. 3, 1976 and told an ambulance driver:

"My husband's in a black wig. He's killing my kids and everyone else. He's gone crazy. Please, let's get out of here. He's going to get me."

Such was the testimony Wednesday of Thomas Southall, 24, as he recounted the chilling aftermath of a shooting spree last summer at the $6 million Fort Worth mansion of industrialist Cullen Davis.

Southall first told his story with jurors out of earshot, but later provided the panel a less dramatic account as Davis' capital murder trial moved deeper into its third week.

Southall returned today as the state's sixth witness in the prosecution of Davis for the slaying of his stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, 12, one of two killed in the savage attack.

The shootings stunned Fort Worth's loftiest social and financial elite and left Mrs. Davis critically wounded and her lover, Stan Farr, dead.

A chance visitor, Gus Gavrell, 22, was also severely wounded.

Southall, now a Fort Worth beer route salesman, told Wednesday of arriving at 12:56 a.m. at the residence where Mrs. Davis fled that night and how she approached him and said, "I've been shot."

He said he asked her who did it, and she replied, "My husband, Cullen Davis."

Southall said she was frightened, excited and bleeding and that when a car passed his parked ambulance she said, "Please let's get out of here. He's going to come get me."

He said he sped to a hospital, stopping only briefly to tell a police officer at a driveway entrance to the mansion what had occurred minutes before.

The young ambulance driver figured indirectly in a bizarre incident later Wednesday involving Mrs. Davis and a photograph of her slain daughter.

Southall, who helped remove Andrea's body from the mansion basement, identified the photo of the child lying on a bloody floor, her eyes open, her skirt up over her thighs and the fatal chest wound clearly visible.

With the jury retired for the day, Mrs. Davis returned to the witness stand to respond for the record to defense questions left unanswered during her 11 days of previous testimony.

Moments after taking her seat, she spotted the picture of Andrea, which inadvertently had been left lying exposed among several other exhibits.

Suddenly she buried her head in her hands, sobbing, and was helped from the courtroom as the trial judge abruptly adjourned the session.

"We have scrupulously avoided ever showing her that picture," Tolly Wilson, a member of the prosecution team, said.

"She had never seen it before," said his colleague, Joe Shannon.

In another development, prosecutors told newsmen they had determined that a pistol, which surfaced in the case last week, had "no connection whatever" with the shootings at 4200 Mockingbird that night.

Completion date moved back

Work on the $886,668 paving project on S. Cuyler between U.S. 60 and FM 750 is progressing — slowly. The project was started in March and the target completion date announced then was Sept. 1. The contract for widening and rebuilding the .974-mile section of road was awarded to Gilvin-Terrill Inc., of Amarillo and Andrew Garcia, a Gilvin-Terrill employee, is shown on the job. A revised completion date has not been announced yet by the Amarillo firm or the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Lance's ability doubted

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's chief banking regulator today told a Senate committee he would have endorsed Bert Lance as budget director only if certain Lance had corrected some of his practices as a Georgia banker.

Noting that his office had ordered the Calhoun First National Bank headed by Lance to correct questionable management practices that included permitting officers to write overdrafts on their checking accounts, John G. Heumann, comptroller of the currency, characterized Lance as a very successful banker. His attention to detail clearly leaves something to be desired.

Heumann was the opening witness at hearings by the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee into Lance's financial dealings.

Lance is scheduled to testify next week.

While President Carter was described as remaining firm in his support of his budget director, Lance was coming under increasing pressure to resign. Heumann became comptroller in July Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., asked if Heumann would have endorsed Lance as fully as his predecessor when Lance was nominated as budget director by Carter.

"I would have informed the committee of everything I knew," Heumann said.

"We found his (Lance's) management to be faulty and we ordered it corrected," Heumann said. He added that if the practices had been corrected, he would have found Lance acceptable.

Lance and other directors of the Calhoun bank signed an agreement in December 1975 to correct management practices criticized by federal bank examiners.

The existence of the agreement was not known to the committee when it endorsed Lance as budget director. Earlier this week former Acting Comptroller Robert A. Bloom testified he didn't mention the agreement because he thought the committee already knew about it.

Heumann said it was the responsibility of the comptroller's office to inform the committee of the agreement.

It was Bloom who had written to the committee saying Lance enjoys a good reputation in the banking community.

The agreement with the Calhoun was lifted the day before Lance was nominated to be budget director.

Asked about the timing, Heumann said, "I don't know exactly what happened."

Heumann said there were several meetings during that period between Lance and Donald L. Tarleton, Atlanta regional comptroller. He noted that Tarleton has testified that the agreement was not discussed during those meetings.

"At no time... was I ever requested to rescind the agreement by Mr. Lance," Tarleton testified on Monday. He added that he ended it after concluding that "the agreement had fully served its purpose and was no longer necessary."

Lance's lawyer, Clark Clifford, a former defense secretary and a Carter envoy in the Cyprus dispute, said Wednesday he expects his client and the President to "sit down and assess the entire situation and reach some conclusion."

Clifford said such a meeting would be held after Lance gets his "day in court" before the Senate committee, the same panel that recommended his confirmation to head the Office of Management and Budget.

On Wednesday Heumann issued his second report on Lance's past financial affairs, again saying he found nothing illegal but noting he had referred some transactions to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. for "additional inquiry."

A spokesman for the corporation confirmed that it had received a letter from Heumann and said it "will do everything possible to cooperate with the comptroller."

Bringing the corporation into the investigation means that five federal agencies, as well as the Senate committee, are now looking into Lance's financial dealings.

Meanwhile, the Washington Post urged Lance to quit, saying in an editorial in today's editions "Mr. Lance has now become an intolerable burden and distraction to a President who needs his full energies for larger purposes than defending the past record of an old friend Mr. Lance can now perform only one useful service for the President, and that is to resign."

The New York Daily News said in an editorial in today's editions that Lance's usefulness as budget director has been "destroyed" and that "If Lance won't resign gracefully, President Carter ought to pull the plug on his pal."

And The New York Times said in an editorial today that "For the President to ask for Mr. Lance's resignation is not finally to surrender to lynch mob justice but to demonstrate an understanding and mastery of the rough and tumble of national politics. The most important issue is not Mr. Lance's probity as a banker but Mr. Carter's sagacity as a politician."

On Tuesday, the comptroller's office turned information about Lance's use of a Georgia bank's private aircraft over to the Justice Department, Federal Elections Commission and Internal Revenue Service for investigation.

Panama Treaty signed; Senate support sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration has Latin American backing for the new Panama Canal treaty, but the support of the American people and Congress is still in doubt.

After the colorful treaty signing ceremony, attended by 27 visiting leaders, the spotlight is focusing on opponents of the pact.

Two long-time foes of relinquishing control of the waterway planned to argue their case today before the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on separation of powers, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa.

Long-time foes of relinquishing control of the waterway argued their case today before the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on separation of powers.

Former California governor Ronald Reagan testified that if the Senate ratifies the new Panama Canal treaty the Soviet Union and Cuba may be encouraged to expand their influence in Panama.

It should never surprise us that whenever the United States withdraws its presence or its strong interest from any area, the Soviets are ready, willing and often able to exploit the situation," said Reagan, who unsuccessfully sought the Republican presidential nomination last year.

"Can we believe that the Panama Canal is any exception?"

With public opinion polls showing only minority support for the treaty, Carter faces an uphill fight in his bid to convince two-thirds of the Senate that the accord is in the national interest.

American officials say the President is expected to use three main arguments in his campaign for the treaty.

He is expected to stress the international support the treaty enjoys, a point amply demonstrated Wednesday night.

The 27 foreign leaders were at the Organization of American States headquarters to watch Carter and Panamanian head of government Omar Torrijos mark the formal end of 13 years of negotiation with the signing.

The officials said Carter will also seek support by campaigning against the present treaty, which dates from the turn of the century.

He told the OAS gathering "That treaty, drafted in a world so different from ours has become an obstacle to better relations with Latin America."

At a White House dinner for the visiting hemispheric dignitaries after the OAS ceremony, Carter noted that no Panamanian had read the 1903 treaty before it was signed.

The third point Carter will use in the coming weeks focuses on the provision in the treaty guaranteeing the United States the right to ensure canal neutrality even after Panama assumes control of the waterway at the end of this century.

Carter said the treaty marks "the commitment of the United States to the belief that fairness, not force, should lie at the heart of dealings with the nations of the world."

Torrijos said that while the old treaty was a "technical conquest," it also was a "colonial conquest."

"To be strong carries with it an obligation to be just," he said.

At the end of the 30-minute ceremony, Carter and Torrijos embraced warmly.

There were some dissenting voices to the signing. In Panama, demonstrators advocating an immediate takeover of the canal hurled stones and shouted slogans at the Foreign Ministry.

In Washington, some 2,000 demonstrators marched near the White House. Their target, however, was not the treaty but the presence of 11 military leaders from Latin America.

They carried placards saying "Carter's Human Rights Policy — Dinner with Fascists."

Here is a summary of major principles of the two Panama Canal treaties signed by President Carter and Panamanian leader Omar Torrijos.

—CONTROL. The United States and Panama would administer the canal jointly until the expiration of the new treaty on Dec. 31, 1999, turning control, management and maintenance of the canal at that time over to the Panamanian government. The old treaty signed in 1903 gave the United States perpetual control over the canal and adjacent Canal Zone.

—DEFENSE. For the duration of the treaty the United States has primary responsibility for defense of the canal. A board of U.S. and Panamanian military officers is established to consult on defense matters and every five years review military resources made available by both countries.

The United States may decide on its own how and when to reduce its 9,000-man military force in the Canal Zone and schedule the closing of 14 bases there during the life of the treaty.

—COMPENSATION. The United States will pay Panama $50 million to $60 million annually from canal revenue and an additional $10 million a year for the canal's operation. Panama also will receive $50 million in military assistance over the next 10 years.

Uncle Sam wants loans back

By WARRENE LEARY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you borrowed money from Uncle Sam to get through college and neglected to pay him back, there may soon be a bill collector looking for you.

The government, getting tough with some 390,000 recipients of federally insured student loans who never paid them off, is turning over about $430 million in bad debts to private collection agencies.

So if you're among the one in six federal loan recipients who defaulted since the program began nine years ago, there's the prospect that your credit rating may be jeopardized unless you pay up.

The Office of Education, part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has been trying to collect on the loans, but hasn't been successful, so it's calling in the pros.

If you're one of those in default, though, you'll be given one last chance to repay before your file is turned over to a collector, says a federal official.

"We want to give them a chance to pay because, if their files go to collectors, we want them to know what they are getting into," says Leo Kornfeld, deputy HEW commissioner for student financial assistance.

"They could be jeopardizing their future credit ratings and could have trouble later getting mortgages, credit cards or car loans."

Kornfeld said the decision to use private collection agencies is "rooted in our firm conviction that those who are able but unwilling to pay their debts do a grave injustice to the American public who provided them with an opportunity for education."

"Unfortunately there is an attitude on many campuses that this is government money it's a soft touch and you can get out of paying it back," Kornfeld said in an interview.

"This will almost be an educational lesson in a way," he said. "A part of growing up is learning that you have to pay off your debts."

Kornfeld said the response to his department's invitation to private organizations to bid for the first collection contract has been "overwhelming."

The winning bidder will be required to locate the negligent borrowers and set up a schedule for them to repay the government.

If unsuccessful, the collector will recommend to the government other measures it can take, including legal action.

Kornfeld said the first contract will be awarded and files sent to the collection agency by December. The contracts will prohibit unethical harassment tactics, he added.

Kornfeld said the collection agencies will work for a percentage of payments collected. No additional federal money will be used to finance the program, he said.

The collection contract will apply only to the Federal Insured Student Loan Program, under which the federal government has directly insured about half of all loans in the Guaranteed Student Loan Program. The rest are guaranteed by 27 state and private agencies, some of which already use private collectors, Kornfeld said.

Sick babies, drunk moms linked

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Women who drink heavily are twice as likely to bear sickly, deformed babies as mothers who use liquor moderately or not at all, a new study shows.

"There is definitely increased risk to offspring of women who drink heavily during pregnancy," said the study in today's New England Journal of Medicine.

The study said the health of the babies of moderate drinkers — women who drink more than once a month but do not fit into the category of heavy drinkers — and teetotalers was virtually the same.

The findings are based on a review by Boston University doctors of the drinking habits of 633 pregnant women at Boston City Hospital.

Earlier studies have warned of the dangers of drinking to the unborn, but this is the first report that measures the odds of this damage occurring.

Dr. Eileen M. Oullette, who directed the study, said she recommends that women give up drinking completely while pregnant.

"It's unknown whether there is a safe amount that can be ingested," she said in an interview. "Alcohol crosses the placenta and goes directly into the baby."

Some of the women cut down on their drinking during pregnancy, but the doctors said only two of the 27 women who drank heavily throughout pregnancy had normal infants.

The study defined heavy drinkers as those who consume five or more drinks daily, or an average of more than 14 ounces of pure alcohol a day. However, the heavy drinkers in the test consumed an average of more than 6 ounces of pure alcohol a day.

The doctors discovered a variety of abnormalities among the babies of the heavy drinkers.

Seventeen per cent of the heavy drinkers' children had serious birth defects, they said, compared with 3 per cent of the babies of nondrinkers, defined as women who drink less than once a month.

The babies of the heavy drinkers were also far more likely to be jittery, unable to suck well and have small heads and brains and poor muscle tone.

Overall, 71 per cent of the heavy drinkers' children had some kind of abnormality, compared with 36 per cent of the nondrinkers' babies, they said.

A presidential pipe dream

The projections from the Office of Management and Budget look almost too good to be true. While President Carter has been chided for too much optimism in promising to balance the federal budget by 1981, the OMB has come up with figures showing a balanced budget could be achieved a year sooner by fiscal 1980.

We can assume Carter's pleasure lasted until he got down to the fine print. "Long-range budget projections," the OMB cautions, "are very sensitive to small changes in the underlying economic assumptions." So they are, and if the president is going to see a balanced budget materialize even by 1981, it depends on a lot of people agreeing not to rock the boat.

The OMB analysts base their projections on smooth economic sailing for the next few years. Economic growth would average 5 per cent a year in constant dollars. Both the rate of inflation and the unemployment rate would decline steadily, dropping below 5 per cent in 1981. The federal budget would move into the black with a surplus of $3.9 billion in 1980.

The potential for realizing these rosy projections lies in the underlying momentum of the American economy. Given the right conditions it can create new jobs fast enough to reduce unemployment and maintain productivity levels that generate enough tax revenue to cover government budgets. But one of those conditions is that the government will follow tax and regulatory policies that do not inhibit economic growth and will control its expenditures.

Abortions and Detroit

Pro-abortionists and anti-abortionists demonstrate on the Capitol steps. Inside beleaguered congressmen wrangle over a bill to halt federal funding except when a mother's life is endangered, of fetide. The bill succeeds.

Common sense, a smattering of it prevails in Congress. The framers of the Constitution never intended that elected representatives gather under the Dome to act as everyman's doctor, lawyer, breadmaker, architect, engineer, and so on. And yet, that is exactly how congressmen, for the better part of this century, have presumed to act.

Who shall decide? You, or some bureaucrat?

By JOHN C. SPARKS
(The Freeman)

There's a difference between looking to another for enlightenment, and letting him make your decisions for you. At least, I think that is the message of the book, "If You Meet the Buddha on the Road, Kill Him!" by psychotherapist Sheldon B. Kopp. Never abdicate to a mentor the responsibility to make your decisions or solve your problems.

Shouldering responsibility for self and family is no easy task. It may seem more comfortable to lean on others or blame them for one's own shortcomings. But the road to maturity and peace of mind is through self-responsibility. Dr. Kopp's advice is to kill the temptation to lean on others — that the better path to mental health is for each person to rely upon the resources within himself.

To face up to this matter realistically today is to find the road practically blocked by a giant decision-maker — namely, big government. And the more decisions it makes for us, the more evident is our tendency to turn to it with our problems. So, let's examine some of the decisions or solutions government has rendered for us.

How, for example, has government relieved each of us of the responsibility to save and provide for his own old age? It is now being revealed that the security blanket of Social Security is not based on savings at all. The payroll deductions withheld from you and matched by your employer have all been spent, just as any other tax collected by government. Your security rests upon the willingness of younger taxpayers to cover your needs — a prospect dimmed by accelerating inflation and increasing longevity.

I ask you: Between increased mileage and the number of folks we're pricing off the road, who's doing more for conservation than us?

Bureaucratic intimidation

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Bureaucratic harassment of companies with proud records of achievement in manufacturing is one of the ugly features of government in our time.

A company may be internationally respected for the high quality of its products, it may have made important contributions to the nation in wartime. But all its achievements in the marketplace notwithstanding, a business enterprise can be subjected to abuse and the loss of federal contracts by high-handed bureaucrats, who demand that the company practice "affirmative action" in its hiring practices.

A case in point is Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall's allegation that the Ingersoll Milling Machine Co. of Rockford, Ill., discriminates against women and minorities. He barred the company from bidding on all federal contracts. "This may be our first disbarment," Secretary Marshall asserted in his arrogant statement, "but it won't be our last."

The truth is that the federal government wants firms such as Ingersoll, a highly regarded manufacturer of machine tools, to impose hiring quotas, to impose hiring quotas. Of course, the law doesn't specify quotas, that would be unconstitutional. Nevertheless, federal pressure to employ women and members of specific ethnic groups in effect forces business to practice quota hiring.

An experienced businessman pointed out to me that "a machine tool company as sophisticated as Ingersoll must certainly have problems finding minorities and women who are qualified to perform on an equal par with their skilled operators." The new, unskilled employees are extra personnel who stand around and draw wages while other, skilled people do the job.

One can imagine the demoralization that develops in a plant where management is forced to employ people who are mere window dressing. Indeed, employment of the workers aren't readily promoted, they complain to a "civil rights" organization or to the federal government.

Actions such as Secretary Marshall took against Ingersoll are wrong for several reasons. Companies are denied freedom to choose their employees on the basis of ability. Private employers are intimidated. They know all too well that if they resist the bureaucracy, they will face prolonged harassment and federal legal action. The federal government is overrun with lawyers who want to control and restrict private enterprise. The cost of fighting an unjust bureaucratic ruling is staggering in terms of money, time, and energy. The forced employment of people without adequate skills amount to another compulsory, but well-disguised welfare abuse at the state and federal level without attempting to ruin businesses that provide real jobs and are paying taxes.

Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan Tuesday blocked construction of a gym on the site where National Guardsmen killed four Vietnam war protesters seven years ago. Hurray for him.

His move will not stop construction forever, but will give the May 4th Coalition a chance to win its fight against university officials.

The now-famous Kent State episode would not be washed away, or even cleansed by building a gymnasium on the spot. Neither would a building on the site relieve those who felt the pangs of Kent State, the growing pains of a young nation, the most.

But the area should be set aside as a reminder.

T.H. White probably had no idea he would contribute the fanciful, musical "Camelot" to contemporary America when he weaved his tale of King Arthur, Mordred and Merlyn in "The Once and Future King."

He seemed to be writing about more than love in springtime and how to handle a woman.

White's final volume to King Arthur's story was recently discovered at the University of Texas Humanities Research Center in Austin which had acquired the writer's private library.

"The Book of Merlyn" was written in 1941 and is now being published by the University of Texas Press.

Why wasn't the book published at the time? Some believe that it was because White presented a sequence of strenuous arguments against the folly of war at a time when England was at war. The publisher at the time blamed a paper shortage.

Harper's magazine this month, with permission from the UT Press, reproduced sections of the copyrighted book. Merlyn is pointing out the inadequacies of man and King Arthur protests.

Arthur argues that man is not the most ferocious of animals.

"There is not a humble animal in England that does not flee from the shadow of man... the only animals which do not run from man are those which have never seen him..." the old magician says.

Arthur argues that man is not stupid.

"Well, the insect called Balanus is able to bore acorns... but it cannot write. Man can write, but cannot bore acorns. These are their own specializations. The important difference is, however, that while Balanus bores his holes with the greatest efficiency, man, as I have shown you, does not write with any efficiency at all," Merlyn says.

Arthur argues that man is political.

His political ideas are "either that problems could be solved by force, or that they could be solved by argument. The antmen of the future, who believe in force, consider that you can determine whether twice two is four by knocking people down who disagree with you. The democrats, who believe in argument, consider that all men are entitled to an opinion, because all are born equal... neither force, nor argument, nor opinion is thinking," Merlyn says.

He adds that man cannot be called "anthropos," the Greek word meaning he who looks up. "Man seldom looks above his own height after adolescence."

Would history be different had the English publisher printed "Merlyn" in 1941?

Probably not. Those who argue, force and opine will always be at the head of the pack.

Business skyrockets for alien smugglers

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A federal intelligence officer says misinterpretations of President Carter's proposed alien amnesty program are a boon for alien smugglers.

Jerry O'Connor, deputy director of the El Paso Intelligence Center, a federal unit that supplies information to all border law enforcement agencies, said Wednesday that Mexican-U.S. border points from Texas to California broke up 8,392 separate smuggling operations that handled 49,165 illegal aliens during 1976.

"This thing is skyrocketing," he said when asked about the misunderstood amnesty rumors. "There's no question about it having an impact. The Mexican border mayors are all complaining because it hurts their economy and living conditions."

Alberto Montoya Huerta, a spokesman for Juarez Mayor Raul Lezama, said last month that an estimated 50,000 persons have been lured to the border city this summer by dreams of U.S. citizenship.

Some "coyotes," persons who arrange to transport aliens illegally into the United States, charge as much as $350 to carry persons across the border. Montoya said the price includes a packet of counterfeit seven-year-old electricity bills to use as proof of residency in the United States.

President Carter's proposal has yet to be considered by Congress. If passed, it would make aliens who have been in the country at least seven years eligible to apply for citizenship.

O'Connor said the program has been misinterpreted by Mexicans who are willing to try almost anything to enter the country. The result, he said, has been a tremendous boon to smugglers, many of whom have deliberately misinterpreted the amnesty program to boost business.

Last week, agents in California, Arizona and Utah broke up 283 smuggling rings that had handled 2,512 aliens during that period, O'Connor said. Some 270 phony and altered resident cards were confiscated.

"They're dealing in human lives," he said. "One group we know of has gotten into smuggling cocaine, Colombian aliens and now they are even supplying counterfeit identification cards. They are also counterfeiting American money and selling it to the aliens who don't know any better."

O'Connor said some aliens are virtually "kept in bondage" by the smugglers until they can be dumped at various "drop houses" where they begin making their own ways into the country's interior. He said the smugglers have been charging up to $75 per alien per day to keep from turning them over to U.S. authorities.

"We haven't caught him yet, but there is one guy who gets $300 a head for smuggling aliens from Nogales to Idaho Falls, Idaho," he said. "If you figure they're getting $200-$300 a head...my gosh, there's no way to tell how much they're making."

O'Connor quoted a statement from a woman arrested for smuggling in California that she feels is "pretty symbolic" of the smugglers' viewpoint.

"She said she thought there ought to be a rehabilitation program for people like her," said O'Connor, "because she had become addicted to the easy money in smuggling illegal aliens."

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — With Texas' first scheduled execution by injection only a week off, state officials have decided to completely retire the state's electric chair and use a general anesthetic for the lethal dose.

The Department of Corrections earlier had said it planned to use "Old Sparky" as a place to restrain inmates to be given the fatal injections.

But TDC spokesman Ron Taylor said Wednesday that TDC Director Estelle had chosen instead to use a hospital gurney.

A gurney is a stretcher on wheels with straps to hold the passenger.

After reviewing TDC lethal drug research that indicated three options, Estelle decided on sodium thiopental, a general anesthetic.

Loss of consciousness comes almost immediately after the drug is injected, Taylor said, and death would occur "within minutes."

The two other drugs under consideration were succinylcholine chloride and sodium cyanide. The former is a muscle relaxant while the latter is a "contact poison," Taylor said.

The drug research was aided by unnamed consultants, whose identity TDC "intends to protect," Taylor added.

Unless a stay of execution is granted, the new execution form will be used Sept. 16 on convicted Fort Worth mass murderer and rapist Kenneth Granviel.

The U.S. Supreme Court turned down Granviel's appeal earlier this year and let stand a decision by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals that Granviel was properly convicted in the fatal stabbing of 2-year-old Natasha McClendon.

Granviel admitted killing five members of the McClendon family on Oct. 7, 1974, in a night of terror, and killing two women on Feb. 8, 1975. He said the killings "occurred in a frenzy" brought on by his sexual urges.

Texas' execution-by-injection law went into effect Aug. 29. While the death seat has changed from the polished oak of "Old Sparky" to the white linen of a gurney, executions will still be performed in the death chamber behind the ivy walls of the Huntsville Unit of the TDC, Taylor said.

The new law gives Estelle the option of designating an executioner or giving the lethal injection personally.

In June, the Rev. Clyde Johnston, Protestant chaplain at the TDC and a witness to 14 electric chair executions, said: "I would like to see this carried out in a nice clean room, something that doesn't look like a prison. Certainly not the death cell."

Johnston said he could picture executions carried out in a "gentle, humane" way, "just like someone going in, laying down and going to sleep."

Woman inmate to take stand

HOUSTON (AP) — A woman serving a 35-year prison sentence for her alleged part in the 1972 slaying of a Houston plastic surgeon was expected to be called as a witness today in the trial of a $7.6 million damage suit filed in connection with the slaying.

Lilla Paulus pleaded the Fifth and 14th Amendments Wednesday to all questions by attorneys except the first one—when asked her name.

She appeared outside the presence of jurors hearing the wrongful death damage suit against oil millionaire Ash Robinson.

The son, widow and mother of slain plastic surgeon Dr. John Hill have filed the civil suit against Robinson, alleging Robinson arranged the death of Hill in revenge for the death of Robinson's daughter.

When Hill was shot to death at his plush River Oaks home, he was awaiting trial on charges he killed his first wife, Joan Robinson Hill, through medical neglect in 1969.

Robinson, 79, has not been charged in the Hill slaying, and his lawyers deny the allegations by Robert Hill, 17, Connie Hill, 37, and Myra Hill, 75.

Mrs. Paulus, 58, was convicted on charges of conspiracy to commit murder in the Hill slaying.

Family wants Elvis buried at Graceland

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley's family asked county officials Wednesday to permit the burial of the singer on his 13-acre Graceland mansion.

Attorneys for the Presley estate asked the Memphis Board of Adjustment for a zoning variance to permit as many as six burial sites on the Graceland grounds. It was not clear whether the family planned to erect a private mausoleum at the mansion.

Presley, who died Aug. 16, was entombed at the Forest Hill Mausoleum two days later. The body of his mother, Gladys Presley, who died in 1968, was moved from a gravesite 100 yards away to the mausoleum two weeks ago.

A variance must be approved before the bodies are moved because the mansion is in an area not zoned for burials. The other burial sites would apparently be used in the future for other members of Presley's family. The petition could be heard as early as Sept. 28.

In the application, Beecher Smith, a lawyer for the Presley estate, cited security and consideration for the families of those buried at Forest Hill Cemetery as reasons for the move.

Since Presley was entombed thousands of his fans have flocked to the cemetery to view the mausoleum. Cemetery officials say that causes hardships for others who want to visit family gravesites.

Eleven days after Presley's casket was sealed in its crypt, three men were arrested near the cemetery and charged with trespassing. Police said they had a tip the body would be stolen and ransomed.

Police Director E. Winslow Chapman later called the scheme a hoax, but a man identified as the police informant, maintains the body was to be held for $10 million ransom.

Yarbrough must pay

HOUSTON (AP) — A special judge has ruled that a disbarment suit against Donald B. Yarbrough is a moot issue since the Texas Supreme Court said Yarbrough's resignation from the State Bar was "tantamount" to disbarment.

However, retired Civil Appeals Judge Bert H. Tunks ruled Wednesday that Yarbrough, a former Texas Supreme Court justice, must make restitution to anyone who has suffered financially as a result of actions alleged in the disbarment suit should Yarbrough apply for reinstatement in five years.

Waggoner Carr, Yarbrough's attorney, had filed a motion for dismissal of the suit because Yarbrough had submitted his resignation last week. He admitted none of the alleged wrongdoings listed in the disbarment suit.

Tunks, assigned to hear the disbarment suit, said, "This case has been dismissed because Yarbrough already, in effect, has been disbarred by the Supreme Court."

"There is no further point in maintaining this lawsuit," Tunks said. "The action of the Supreme Court in accepting his resignation is tantamount to a disbarment, so there is no point in maintaining a suit for disbarment."

State bar attorneys Frank Bean and Steve Peterson declined to comment. Both have contended Yarbrough's case should have been presented to a jury.

Yarbrough, who resigned from the high court July 15, has been indicted on charges of forgery and perjury in Travis County. His trial is scheduled Oct. 10.

Drug bust nets 11 suspects here

Pampa police arrested 11 drug suspects in raids lasting two and one-half hours Wednesday as part of what Pampa Police Chief Richard Mills called "a continuing effort to stop drug traffic in Pampa."

A team of Pampa police officers that included Lt. J.J. Ryzman and officers Lynn Brown, Mike Hartsok and Sue Mathew made the arrests for unlawful delivery of marijuana and unlawful delivery of a controlled substance.

Justice of the Peace Venora Cole arraigned all but two of the suspects Wednesday and set bonds.

Those charged with unlawful delivery of marijuana and their bonds include:

- Freddie Aloriz Rios, 21, of 1021 Varnon Drive, $3,500 bond for one count.
- Randy W. Clancy, 23, of 615 W. Browning, $3,500 bond for one count.
- John D. Young Jr., 26, of 536 Oklahoma, $3,500 bond for each of two counts, total bond $7,000.
- Johnnie M. Jackson, 31, of 1050 Varnon Drive, $3,500 bond for each of two counts, total bond $7,000.

- Leon Garza, 21, of 408 N. Somerville, $3,500 bond for one count.
- Jay Knox Miller, 19, of 1040 S. Faulkner, $3,500 bond on each of two counts, total bond $7,000.
- Herdis Lee Jackson, 34, of 1050 Varnon Drive, $3,500 bond on each of three counts, total bond $10,500.
- Ronald J. Dunn, 33, of 1041 Neal Rd., $3,500 bond on each of two counts, total bond $7,000.
- Gary Lynn Hoskins, 19, of 305 Anne, $3,500 bond on each of two counts, total bond $7,000.

Two suspects were arrested on warrants issued by Judge Cole and were scheduled for arraignment today.

Jim Wydus Hanks, 19, of 436 Jupiter, was charged with unlawful delivery of a controlled substance, to wit: amphetamines.

Charged with unlawful delivery of marijuana is Bobby Joe Dorsey, 38, of 1000 Huff Rd.

Dunn was released after posting bond and others charged were to be transferred to the Gray County Jail today.

Mills said investigative work preceding the arrests was done by members of the Pampa

Police Department with "no outside agency involved."

The chief added "about another arrest warrants" are outstanding.

Liddy out, never talked

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL, Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — On this third anniversary of Richard M. Nixon's "full, free and absolute pardon" another major Watergate figure, G. Gordon Liddy, is tasting his first full day of absolute freedom in more than four years.

His first night out of prison was spent with his wife in a fancy Washington hotel not far from his suburban home where the five teen-aged Liddy children awaited his return.

He was released from the federal prison at Danbury, Conn., on Wednesday.

Liddy, who devised and supervised the Watergate burglary which started Nixon on the road to resignation, held to his personal code of secrecy through 52 months in prison.

While others talked, wrote and testified about their part in Watergate and its aftermath, only Liddy held the answer to the central question: What were the burglars looking for when they entered the Democratic party offices? And Liddy never talked, even to the point once of refusing to state his name.

The price for that silence was not only the longest sentence handed any Watergate figure, but also refusal by the judge to grant a plea to shorten it and an additional 18 months tacked on for contempt.

Nixon, who once told aides he thought Liddy was a "little nut," received his pardon from successor Gerald Ford on Sept. 8, 1974, a month after resigning the presidency.

Liddy's neighbors in Oxon Hill, Md., had banded together in a petition drive and that may have played a part in the decision by President Carter to commute the 20-year sentence to eight years. Now the neighbors are starting a fund drive to help Liddy pay his debts and they plan a party for him on Sept. 24.

To win parole and get his $40,000 fine deferred, Liddy had to declare himself a pauper with less than $20 to his name. He said he owes $337,500 — the bulk of it to his lawyer and former law partner Peter Maroulis who fought his case to the Supreme Court.

G. Gordon Liddy

"Throughout our campaign to have the prison sentence commuted, we never once solicited any funds as we didn't want it to have commercial overtones," said neighbor James Gavin, an executive with one of the nation's largest firms.

"Now that he's released, however, he faces debts and fines of approximately $300,000 and unfortunately he's deprived from practicing law, which is the thing he knows and does best."

Liddy did some writing in prison and the November issue of Chic magazine has his article on national security Larry Flynt, publisher of the men's magazine, refused to say how much Liddy was paid.

Friends say he probably will write a book, but not about Watergate. He has received a number of job offers but as far as it's known, accepted none.

Women may want rebuilt breast

By ALTON BLAKESLEE, AP Science Editor
CHICAGO (AP) — Women who have had breast cancer operations should not be stigmatized for wanting plastic surgery to give them a new breast rather than a prosthesis made of cloth or plastic, says an American Cancer Society official.

"It seems grossly unfair that once she has lost her breast, there is a stigma attached to wanting to get it back," Francine E. Timothy told the society's second national conference on human values and cancer on Wednesday.

"Whether a woman can have breast reconstruction is entirely up to the surgeon, but she should at least be allowed to want one without being judged," said Mrs. Timothy, who is director of the society's Reach to Recovery Program and who has had a breast removed.

The agency is designed to help women who have had mastectomies, or surgical removal of the breast.

"For some women, the hope of an eventual (breast) reconstruction is the one thing that makes them hold on to life which may already be complicated or depressing" because of a breast amputation, she told about 1,700 persons at the conference.

"Any amputation is a terrible thing, but some amputations are more symbolic than others, and this particular one causes an internal turmoil that logical reasoning doesn't quiet," said Mrs. Timothy.

Many women have no idea to whom they could ask questions about a reconstruction, and often don't ask at all out of timidity. It is the fear of being judged vain or frivolous that keeps some women from looking into the possibilities, she said.

Artificial breasts, made of cloth and plastic, are worn by thousands of women who have lost a breast to cancer.

Instead of prosthesis, many women wish to have plastic surgery to give them a new breast, and they have many reasons for the desire, said Mrs. Timothy, who said she has not had plastic surgery.

"Imagine, each one of you, that every single morning you must attach an extra thing to your body, a thing of considerable weight which you can't forget, ever, during the day because it must constantly be checked," Mrs. Timothy said.

"In my interviews with operated women, I found that young women care desperately about being obliged to live with only one breast, but I found that married women care as much, and single women care as much and older women care as much."

"Perhaps," Mrs. Timothy continued, "breast reconstruction is almost more important to an older woman. A mastectomy is particularly hard on a woman who is already having trouble accepting the fact of growing older."

Canadian line to carry US gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau announced today agreement on construction of a $10 billion pipeline across the Canadian Yukon to carry natural gas from Alaska to the lower 48 states.

This joint undertaking will be the largest single private energy project in history," they said in a joint statement issued by the White House.

Carter and Trudeau said major benefits will accrue to both countries "from the pipeline. They said it will give Canada greater ability to develop its own gas reserves, particularly in the frontier regions of the Mackenzie Delta.

"The U.S., in turn, will have the enormous benefit of new natural gas supplies from the North Slope of Alaska at a significantly lower cost-of-service price than could have been achieved through an all-U.S. route," they said.

They said they hoped to sign a detailed agreement next week.

"After the agreement is signed, each of us intends to submit our decisions to our respective legislative bodies for the appropriate authorizations and assurances," the President and the prime minister said.

"We are both hopeful the project will be approved."

Democratic Whip John Brademas of Indiana said Carter and his advisers told him and other House leaders during a meeting in the Roosevelt Room at the White House that the trans-Canada route would deliver gas more cheaply and cleanly and equitably than the alternate route through Alaska.

White House officials said details of the agreement were on their way to Congress as required by law. Congress has 60 days either to let Carter's decision stand or reject it. The Senate Energy Committee has scheduled a hearing on the pipeline route for Sept. 26.

Brademas said the route through Canada would be acceptable to the House.

Hank Grover may consider gov's race

Hank Grover, who opposed Texas Governor Dolph Briscoe in 1972 and lost by a narrow margin, indicated in an address at Pampa Thursday night that he will oppose Briscoe and any other Democratic candidate in the next election in 1978.

He played strongly on conservatism, the Panama Canal Zone and President Carter's actions in regard to other issues in his indications that he may be a Republican candidate for Texas governor next year.

Grover addressed the Gray County Republicans and other interested citizens Wednesday night at the Pampa Senior Citizens Center.

After the agreement is signed, each of us intends to submit our decisions to our respective legislative bodies for the appropriate authorizations and assurances," the President and the prime minister said.

"We are both hopeful the project will be approved."

Kidnapers threaten

BONN, West Germany (AP) — The kidnapers of industry leader Hanns Martin Schleyer have threatened to execute him unless the search for him is halted, the West German government revealed today.

The execution threat was contained in a ransom letter the government made public 24 hours after it failed to meet a deadline set by the kidnapers for the release of 11 jailed terrorists.

That deadline expired at 8 a.m. Wednesday, but hours later the government demanded that the kidnapers send it a tape recording of Schleyer answering personal question to prove he was alive. A videotape was delivered Wednesday night, but officials refused to say what was on it. However, it presumably showed Schleyer in captivity.

The kidnapers' letter demanded "the immediate halt to all search efforts or Schleyer will be shot at once." It said Schleyer would then be released if the government freed six men and five women imprisoned for terrorist crimes.

Amin reported hospitalized

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin of Uganda was reported by one of his top aides today to be "in a coma" after undergoing surgery in a Kampala hospital for an undisclosed ailment.

Robert Astles, British-born confidant of the 51-year-old president, said in a telephone interview with The Associated Press in Nairobi he did not have further details.

Asked the reason for Amin's operation, he replied "We don't exactly know. But he's in a coma. We believe he'll pull out of it. I'm going over to the hospital right now to see what's happening."

Astles was speaking from his office in Kampala. He is a white Ugandan citizen married to a black Ugandan, Mary Astles, who is Ugandan minister of culture.

Earlier today, Uganda radio announced that Amin underwent the operation in Kampala's Nulago Hospital by a Soviet surgeon. The broadcast said the president was accompanied to the hospital by the Soviet ambassador on Wednesday. Dr. Feodor Senkof was identified as the surgeon.

Astles said he did not know whether the comatose state was a normal after-effect of anesthesia, or whether it was induced by postoperative complications.

Amin, self-declared field marshal and president for life, came to power in January 1971 when he toppled President Milton Obote in a coup backed by junior army officers.

His rule has been marked by violence and bloodshed as he allegedly eliminated rival tribes who threatened his grip on the landlocked African country the size of the State of Oregon.

Grand jury meets today

A Gray County Grand Jury began deliberations this morning on 16 criminal cases ranging from theft of $62,000 to automobile theft.

District Attorney Harold Comer said he expected the session to extend to at least Friday noon.

Names in the news

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Grace Kelly, who left a Hollywood acting career 21 years ago to become a real-life princess, is reportedly considering a return to the stage.

Princess Grace of Monaco is booked for two dates this spring at Harvard University's Loeb Drama Center for readings from Shakespeare and possibly other writers.

Douglas Schwalbe, Loeb's managing director, said negotiations are not complete but he added that performances have been scheduled March 16 and 17. Richard Pasco of England's Royal Shakespeare Company will appear with Princess Grace, Schwalbe said.

Performances are also planned at Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh a week earlier and at Princeton University's McCarter Theater after the company plays here, he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It's a scary, freaky feeling" to be told people are asking about your death, Elizabeth Ray says in scotching rumors of her demise.

Miss Ray, the one-time congressional aide who ended former Rep. Wayne Hays' career by revealing she was paid $14,000 in tax money to be Hays' mistress, was the subject of rumors in Los Angeles about her death Wednesday.

Reporters contacted her attorney, who contacted Miss Ray.

She said she believed the rumor was started by an angry former boyfriend.

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — The parents of Claudine Longet's slain lover, Spider Sabich, have taken Dist. Atty. Frank Tucker to court in an effort to gain release of the prosecutor's files on the entertainer.

But Tucker told Judge J. E. Devibiss Wednesday it would not be in the public interest to release them. He said the files consisted of memos from Miss Longet's January trial and his impressions of her diary, which was not used as evidence in her trial.

Tucker said he had told the Sabiches at first they could have the files, but changed his mind when he read the appli-

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Mormon Church President Spencer W. Kimball, 82, was reported in good condition and resting comfortably today after being hospitalized for breathing difficulties.

He was taken by ambulance to LDS Hospital on Wednesday after becoming ill during a church Board of Education meeting, church spokesman Wendell Ashton said.

"The diagnostic testing is continuing, and no serious health problems have been determined," said Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson in a statement released by the church.

Park can't be forced to return

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The South Korean government tried and failed to persuade Tongsun Park to return to the United States, but it cannot force him to go back, Foreign Minister Park Tong-jin told a news conference today.

The minister said his government at Washington's request urged the wealthy South Korean businessman and rice dealer to return voluntarily to Washington, where he has been indicted on charges of attempting to bribe members of the U.S. Congress. But Park made clear that he has no intention of going to the United States, the foreign minister said.

The minister insisted that his government is cooperating as much as it can with American efforts to investigate Park. But he said his government cannot go beyond the limits of international law, established diplomatic practice and South Korean law.

The South Korean government has repeatedly denied that it had any connection with Park's activities or that he was its agent trying to influence members of Congress to support legislation favorable to it. The foreign minister contended today that the case against Park involved only his personal activities as a rice dealer.

The U.S. State Department said on Wednesday that it was trying through diplomatic channels to get the South Korean government to return Park to Washington to face trial. But there is no extradition treaty between the United States and South Korea, and Park told a news conference on Aug. 24 he would not permit American investigators to question him. He also denied the charges against him.

The foreign minister's tone was considerably more conciliatory today than it was in comments reported earlier by the Hapdong news agency.

Hapdong reported that on returning Wednesday night from a meeting in Tokyo, he said: "It is up to Tongsun Park to decide whether he should go back to America and it is none of our business. As a fully sovereign and law-governed nation, Korea finds no ground or reason to turn over its national merely on the ground that he is suspected of having violated foreign law."

He also recalled, the Hapdong report continued, that the U.S. government rejected his representatives' request for its representatives to interview Kim Sang-keun, a former official of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency who defected last fall in Washington and testified about Park's alleged activities.

Police report

A 74-year-old Pampa woman was treated and released at Highland General Hospital following a two car accident at Decatur and Williston Wednesday.

Mrs. Gladys Adams of 2001 Williston was taken to the hospital by Metropolitan Ambulance after the car she was driving was in collision with a vehicle driven by Sandra Stout, 17, of 1805 N. Dwight.

Police cited Mrs. Adams for failure to yield right-of-way at an intersection.

Police also investigated a burglary, a vehicle theft and one non-injury accident.

A woman reported the basement door at 438 Crest had been broken into. It is not known if anything was taken.

Thieves took a pickup and welding rig from C&C Welding Service, 724 W. Browning. The vehicle was later recovered in the middle of the street in the 900 block of W. Wilks.

Pampa police responded to 32 calls in the 24-hour reporting period that ended at 7 a.m. today.

Fire report

A lease car driven by Jack H. Osborne sustained light damage to wiring under the hood Wednesday when a leak in the carburetor ignited.

Pampa Fire Department Capt. Kenneth Kirby said firefighters were sent to Ballard and Browning at 4:25 p.m. Wednesday to extinguish the fire.

Texas weather

By The Associated Press
Scattered showers and thundershowers were expected in South and East Texas today following a day in which thundershowers struck a wide area of North Texas, taking the life of a high school football player who was struck by lightning.

Quarterback Bernard Derrick, 17, of Terrell High School, was struck by lightning and killed while the entire team was practicing at Terrell.

Tornado funnels were sighted Wednesday near Lake Lavin, Lake Ray Hubbard and near Rockwall in North Texas. Another tornado destroyed four airplanes and damaged some buildings at a small airport near LaGrange.

A severe thunderstorm dropped heavy rain, some golf ball size hail and created gusty winds in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Some street flooding was reported in the Dallas area where rainfall amounts ranged from only .04 of an inch at Garland to 2.72 inches at Duncanville.

Showers and thundershowers were reported along the Texas coast early today, but rainfall amounts were said to be generally light. Corpus Christi got the heaviest rainfall amount during the night, but the amount was not immediately available.

Clear skies were reported early today over West Texas, but skies were cloudy over most of the rest of the state.

Advice

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A reader wrote in asking what you thought of people who still had their Christmas tree up in May. He suggested that perhaps the men in the white coats carrying butterfly nets should be called. I'm glad you didn't join in and ridicule the people whose tree was still up because ours has been up longer than theirs.

My husband disappeared on December 22nd, 1975, and no one has heard a word from him since. He helped me put up our Christmas tree on the 20th of December, and our kids (now 6, 9 and 10) keep begging me not to take the tree down "until Daddy comes home."

It's still up. My hopes are fading, but you know how kids are—they never give up. God bless them.

ALL CRIED OUT

DEAR CRIED: If prayers will help, be assured you have mine.

DEAR ABBY: Seeing that you answer everything from A to Z, I was wondering if you'd stop at "D" for dogs. I have a problem with mine. He's an 8-month-old shepherd—a terrific dog, but I can't seem to housebreak him.

He is not dumb, but I can't seem to get the idea across to him that he has to wait until someone lets him out.

Abby, I have read dog books and followed every suggestion in the book, from rubbing his nose in the mess to spanking him within an inch of his life, but nothing has worked for me.

I hope you'll print this because there must be a way to housebreak a dog that works, even though it's not in a book.

DESPAIRING

DEAR DESPAIRING: My canine consultant suggests that you establish a "routine" by walking your dog at set times of the day. If he does what he's supposed to do where he's supposed to do it, reward him with a treat. And if he messes in the house, scold him in a harsh tone and "show" him why you are displeased. He'll catch on.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for trying to educate the public concerning the handicapped.

My wife and I are both deaf and mute (please, not "deaf and dumb") and we use sign language to communicate with each other.

The reaction of some uninformed people we encounter in places of business would astonish you.

I'd like to repeat a very old, but true story to make my point. One afternoon two fine Boston gentlemen were hanging onto the straps of a trolley. Below them were seated two deaf-mutes, conversing in sign language.

One of the straphangers whispered to his friend, "I'm curious about something," whereupon he took a note pad and pencil from his pocket and wrote, "CAN YOU WRITE?" Then he handed it to one of the deaf-mutes, who, after studying it carefully, slowly drew from his pocket an elegant, expensive fountain pen, emerald in color and trimmed in gold. Then, with a grand flourish, he penned a few words on the note pad and handed it back to the standing gentleman.

Imagine their chagrin when they read in exquisite penmanship: "CAN YOU READ?"

AXEL WINTERLANE

DEAR AXEL: Beautiful!

Ask Dr. Lamb
By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What has happened to a man who in the nine years I have been his wife has been sexually vigorous and is suddenly impotent? His age may be important, but from what I have read, it is not necessarily so. He is 63. We are happily retired, but he keeps physically active as I do. He weighs no more than he did at 20, a trim 135 pounds on a 5 feet 7 frame. He does smoke — one to two packs a day. He does not drink.

I am trying to avoid accepting the possibility that I have done or said something to "turn him off," and I don't know whether to open the subject for discussion which might hurt him.

When we were discussing his proclivity for catching colds and the fact that I rarely get one, he rather testily pointed out to me, "don't forget, I'm ten years older than you." As a matter of fact I am only eight years his junior. I may be overly sensitive, but I think his remark about the colds had a double meaning.

Can you suggest anything to help him or to help me adjust to a lack of something very precious to me?

DEAR READER — The most obvious fact is that the two of you have a communication problem. A husband and wife should be able to talk freely to each other about the important things in their personal life, particularly where it involves or affects both. If you were able to communicate effectively your husband might not have much difficulty either.

You should try to discuss your personal feelings with your husband and try to make him feel secure in your love. Avoid being demanding or accusing. If you are successful in making him feel that you love him, no matter what, and that you are his best friend

Polly's pointers

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — To keep the rabbits from eating the flowers and vegetables in my garden I set jars or jugs of water all around. This really works, since they see their shadows when looking at the water jugs. I have used many different methods but this has worked best for me. — LORETTA

DEAR POLLY — When pressing seams open with a non-steam iron I keep a pan with an ice cube in it and a towel near my ironing board. I run the ice cube down the open seam, dry my hands with the towel and then iron. This eliminates water over the entire garment or having a stopped up sprayer. — LOIS

DEAR POLLY — I use a tea ball to season stews and soups. Place the desired seasonings in the ball, cook with the food until it is seasoned to taste and then remove.

Sprinkle doughnuts with a mixture of instant coffee and confectioner's sugar for a different flavor. — MRS. M.B.

DEAR POLLY — When I want to use some food coloring I cut a plastic drinking straw in half and dip one piece in the bottle of food coloring and my finger on the end of the straw controls the amount I get — a drop or more. I do hope this helps Linda and others. FLORENCE

Hawaiian combination

Papayas are stars

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

You've probably noticed that the papaya — that lovely fruit — is now a staple in supermarkets. And that's all to the good. Many of us, according to nutritionists, need to increase our consumption of fruit. Eating papaya is, in our opinion, a painless way to achieve this!

In the main, the papaya is best served "as is" or in a fruit compote. But once in a while we come on a really worthwhile way of putting it into a "made" dish. Last year we called no-cook Papaya Topping to your attention. It's made with papaya, banana, pineapple and lemon juice and enlivens a simple compote of bananas and oranges. We are happy to say that a number of readers wrote to thank us for introducing them to this delectable way of adding interest to an everyday dessert.

Right now we want to give you another superb no-sugar recipe calling for papaya. It's as easy to make as last year's Topping. The recipe comes from Mrs. James Kealoha, the wife of a former government official of Hawaii. Mrs. Kealoha uses her Papaya Pineapple as a jam and we found it lovely to spread on toasted buttered English muffins. But we also used it other ways. For example, it wasn't a bit too sweet to be savored as a compote. It's marvelous served over angel-food cake with a puff of whipped cream. It's also delightful as a filling for layer cakes. And it's a great accompaniment for eggs and bacon, ham or sausage for brunch.

MRS. KEALOHA'S PAPAAYA JAM

- 2 ripe papayas, halved and seeded
- 8-ounce can crushed pineapple in unsweetened pineapple juice
- 1 teaspoon fresh lime juice

With a tablespoon, scoop out the papaya pulp; cut into about 1/2-inch cubes — there should be about 2 cups. (The cooking process will break down the cubes a bit but some texture will be retained.) Turn into a medium saucepan with the pineapple. Bring just to a boil. Remove from heat and gently stir in the lime juice. Cool. Store in a covered jar in the refrigerator if the "jam" is to be eaten soon or pack into an airtight freezer-proof container and store in the freezer for later use. We kept ours in the freezer for a couple of months with no change in flavor or color. Makes about 3 cups.

Make-and-bake chicken

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

DEAR CECILY: Why don't you copycat the bought season-of coating mix for chicken? After coating a cut-up chicken with an envelope of the mix, you bake the bird. Very easy, but I'd like to make my own mix. Recipe? — POULTRY FAN

DEAR FAN: No sooner asked for than given. The following formula is as close to the bought mix as we can come. — C.B.

- MAKE-AND-BAKE CHICKEN
 - 1/4 cup flour
 - 1/4 cup fine dry breadcrumbs
 - 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 - 1 teaspoon sugar
 - 1 teaspoon chicken-flavor instant bouillon granules
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon paprika
 - 1/2 teaspoon dried minced onions
 - 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
 - 2 1/2-pound chicken, cut up
 - 1 tablespoon corn oil
- Into a large plastic bag turn the flour, breadcrumbs, cornstarch, sugar, bouillon granules, salt, paprika, onion and garlic powder; shake together. Brush each piece of chicken on all sides with the oil. Put 2 pieces of chicken into the bag

Movable feast for fans

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Picnics take many forms, depending upon how formal or informal those involved want to be.

Now that school is in full swing, many fans are filling their weekends with trips to college or pro football stadiums. And, the tailgaters are out in force.

For your next movable feast before a game, take along a portable charcoal hibachi and broil steak for some tasty sandwiches. Prepare the meat in advance with a marinade and also a mushroom sauce to top the sandwiches for an extra fillip. In your cooler, take along a picnic Waldorf salad, cole slaw or potato salad.

Don't forget those finger towels for quick cleanup and it's off to the ballgame.

CHARCOAL grill steak for sandwiches for tailgate picnic.

STEAK SANDWICHES WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE

- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1/2 cup dry red wine
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 1 1/2 pounds top sirloin steak, 1/2-inch thick
- 3/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon water
- 6 large hard rolls, cut in half or 12 slices rye bread

AT HOME:

To prepare marinade, saute garlic and onion in olive oil until crisp-tender. Add wine, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Pour marinade over steak in shallow dish. Cover and marinate in refrigerator for 3 hours, turning occasionally.

Drain meat, reserving marinade. Chill meat until serving time. Saute mushrooms in butter. Add reserved marinade and simmer, uncovered 3 to 4 minutes. Combine cornstarch with water and stir into mushroom sauce. Stir constantly until thickened, about 1 minute. Transfer sauce to container with lid and chill until serving time.

AT PICNIC:

At serving time, cut steaks into 6 equal portions. Grill about 5 inches from medium hot coals for about 5 minutes per side for rare doneness. Turn with tongs. When done, remove steaks and keep warm. While steaks are grilling, transfer mushroom sauce to small skillet or saucepan and place on grill until heated through. Stir frequently. Toast bread or rolls on grill. Place one portion of steak on each roll bottom or on each of 6 bread slices. Top with mushroom sauce and cover with roll or remaining bread slices. Makes 6 servings.

PICNIC WALDORF SALAD

- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 4 red apples, cored and cut into bite-size chunks
- 1 1/2 cups thinly sliced celery
- 1 cup red grapes (1/2 pound), halved and seeded
- 1 can (20 ounces) pineapple chunks, drained
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- Crisp romaine leaves

To prepare dressing for salad, blend sour cream, sugar, lemon peel and salt in jar with lid.

Toss lemon juice with apple chunks in 3 quart container (with lid) until apple chunks are coated. Add celery, grapes, pineapple and walnuts. Cover. Chill all ingredients until ready to assemble.

At serving time pour dressing over salad ingredients. Toss until mixed. Garnish salad with crisp romaine leaves. Makes 8 servings.

Cocktail calories count up

By Gaynor Maddox

The cocktail hour has tremendous lure for Americans. But we will treat it only in relation to the problem of overweight. Cocktails or any other alcoholic beverages are the dieter's greatest hazard. The first drink, like the first kiss, usually leads to more. Whatever else may happen, you are sure of acquiring one thing — calories.

Nevertheless, the cocktail hour, or a drink or two before or after dinner, has become an established part of the American way of living. Therefore, it must be taken into consideration in any long-term weight-reduction program geared to today.

However, all such beverages contribute calories. In general, the way to count calories in whiskey, gin and other hard liquors is this: per ounce per proof equals calories. For example, one ounce of 86-proof Scotch contains 86 calories; one ounce of 100-proof bourbon contains 100 calories and an ounce of 90-proof gin contains 90 calories. If you use gingerale, cola, vermouth, etc. in mixing, the calories in the mixer must be added to the total in your drink.

An eight-ounce glass of beer generally contains about 104 calories, according to the Brewers Testing Laboratory. Ale has slightly more, so have foreign beers. Generally, three ounces of red wine contain around 70 calories; the same amount of white wine, about 80. Two ounces of sherry have about 84. Of course, dry wine has fewer calories than sweet.

To watch your calorie intake cut down on those tempting camp followers of the cocktail party — canapes and hors d'oeuvres. That is one way to compensate for calories. For example, a one and one-half-inch cube of cheddar cheese has 110 calories, eight large potato chips have 100 and 10 peanuts 50. Turn to the tray of celery, endive spears, radishes, raw carrots and cucumber sticks instead. They are comfortably low in calories.

Another way to compensate for these alcohol calories is to increase your regular, mild daily exercise. You might walk to the cocktail party and then walk home.

Trinity River Mud Cake

- 4 eggs
- 2 cups Imperial Granulated Sugar
- 1 cup (2 sticks) butter or margarine, melted
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup shredded coconut
- 2 cups walnuts or pecans, chopped (4 ounces)
- 1 (7 ounce) jar marshmallow cream

Combine eggs and Imperial Granulated sugar in mixer and mix at high speed for 5 minutes. Combine melted butter or margarine, flour, cocoa, vanilla, coconut and nuts. Combine the two mixtures and mix well. Bake in greased and floured 13" x 9" x 2" pan in preheated 350°F oven for 30 minutes or until cake tests done. For best results, bake on rack in middle of oven. Remove from oven and spread marshmallow cream over top of cake. Wait a few minutes, then frost while cake is still warm.

Floodtide Frosting:

- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine, melted
- 6 tablespoons milk
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1 pound (4 cups unsifted) Imperial 10X Powdered Sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups walnuts or pecans, chopped (4 ounces)

Combine all ingredients and mix well with wire whisk. Spread carefully over marshmallow cream. NOTE: Cake is very rich and filling so it can be cut in small squares to feed a crowd.

Bar cookies-microwave or plain

Bar cookies are easy to make, and in these variations, are something special.

The preparation of these bars is simplicity itself. The margarine melts right in the saucepan that later doubles as a mixing bowl. When making brownies, the chocolate squares melt with the margarine. The rest of the ingredients are added, the batter is mixed, and all goes into the oven for baking.

Take special care not to overbake the bars; they are best when moist and tender. These recipes were tested for use both in the conventional and microwave ovens by home economists.

Applesauce Nut Bars
1 stick (1/2 cup) margarine
one-third cup granulated sugar

one-third cup packed brown sugar
1/4 cup applesauce
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1/4 cup raisins

Conventional oven:
Yield: 18 bars (1 1/2 by 3 inches). Melt margarine in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Add sugars and applesauce. Blend. Stir in flour, baking powder and cinnamon. Add egg and vanilla. Beat well. Add nuts and raisins, and stir lightly to combine. Pour into a greased 9 inch square pan. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven about 30 minutes. Do not overbake. Cool in pan. Cut into 1 1/2 by 3 inch bars.

Microwave oven:
Yield: 16 bars (2 by 2 inches). In an 8 by 8 by 2 inch glass baking dish: Place margarine uncovered on high for 45 seconds. Mix in sugars and applesauce. Blend well. Stir in flour, baking powder and cinnamon. Add egg and vanilla. Beat well. Add nuts and raisins. Stir lightly to combine. Uncovered on high for 5 1/2 minutes. Turn dish after 4 minutes. Cool.

Cut into 2 by 2 inch squares. (Expect the top to look damp when cooked by microwave; it will dry out on standing as the bars continue to cook by conducted heat even after removal from the oven.)

Brownies
1 stick (1/2 cup) margarine
2 squares (1 ounce each) unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs

Conventional oven:
Yield: 18 bars (1 1/2 by 3 inches). Melt margarine and chocolate in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Add all ingredients except eggs. Mix to blend. Add eggs and beat well. Pour into a greased 9 inch square pan. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven 30 minutes. Do not overbake. Do not burn. Cool in pan. Cut into 1 1/2 by 3 inch bars.

Microwave oven:
Yield: 20 bars (1 1/2 by 2 inches). In an 8 by 8 by 2 inch glass baking dish: Place margarine and chocolate uncovered on high for 3 to 4 minutes. Stir occasionally. Add remaining ingredients except eggs. Mix to blend. Add eggs and beat well, uncovered on high for 7 minutes. Cool.

Cut into 1 1/2 by 2 inch bars. (Expect the top to look damp when cooked by microwave; it will dry out on standing as the bars continue to cook by conducted heat even after removal from the oven.)

Chocolate Coconut Bars
1 stick (1/2 cup) margarine
one-third cup granulated sugar
one-third cup packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons water
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nuts

1/2 cup flaked coconut
6 ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Conventional oven:
Yield: 18 bars (1 1/2 by 3 inches). Melt margarine in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Add sugars and water. Blend. Stir in flour and baking powder. Add eggs and vanilla. Beat well. Add nuts, coconut and chocolate pieces, and stir lightly to combine. Pour into a greased 9 inch square pan. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven about 30 minutes. Do not overbake. Cool in pan. Cut into 1 1/2 by 3 inch bars.

Microwave oven:
Yield: 16 bars (2 inch squares). In an 8 by 8 by 2 inch glass baking dish: Place margarine uncovered on high for 45 seconds. Stir in sugars and water. Add flour and baking powder. Blend well. Beat in egg and vanilla. Add nuts, coconut, and chocolate pieces. Mix thoroughly uncovered on high for 6 to 7 minutes. Turn dish twice. Cool.

Cut into 2 inch squares. (Expect the top to look damp when cooked by microwave; it will dry out on standing as the bars continue to cook by conducted heat even after removal from the oven.)

Bar cookies can be baked in microwave or conventional oven.

Serve a jar of pepper relish soon after making, store the rest for later use or for gifts.

Aspic teams with salmon

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

At the end of the last century, Tomato Aspic came into vogue and it's been going strong ever since. Fannie Farmer, in her 1896 Boston Cooking-School Cook Book, called it Tomato Jelly Salad and made it with stewed and strained tomatoes, gelatin and powdered sugar.

Over the years tomato aspic has had a good many partners. One of the best of these is salmon. Recently we came on a new-to-us way of teaming the two: salmon salad bedded down between layers of the jelly. And very good, too. This combination is turned into custard cups and unmolded to serve for a main dish with crisp greens and other adornments. However, it may also be turned into sherbet cups or other footed glasses and served as a cocktail; in this case it is not unmolded.

SALMON TOMATO ASPIC
2 cups tomato juice
1 small onion, sliced thin
Large sprig parsley
1 bay leaf
4 whole cloves
1 envelope unflavored gelatin

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice
Tabasco sauce to taste
7 1/2 ounce can salmon
1/4 cup finely chopped celery
1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons finely chopped scallion
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
Add the onion, parsley, bay leaf and cloves to the tomato juice and refrigerate, covered, overnight to allow flavors to blend. Pour off 1/4 cup of the tomato juice and sprinkle gelatin over it to soften. Heat the remaining tomato juice and seasonings to boiling; simmer for 5 minutes; strain; add the softened gelatin, salt, lemon juice and tabasco; stir until gelatin dissolves. Chill until very thick. Drain and flake salmon; toss with remaining ingredients. Add about 2 tablespoons of the tomato mixture to each of six 6-ounce custard cups; add a layer of the salmon; top with remaining tomato mixture. Chill to set. At serving time, unmold and garnish with lettuce, hard-cooked egg quarters and sliced cucumber. Makes 6 servings.

Jellied pepper relish

When sweet green peppers are reasonably priced in markets or flourishing in the garden, you may want to use them in a jellied relish. The following recipe was successfully tried in our kitchen.

Although it calls for green peppers, if sweet red peppers are at hand they may be substituted for half the amount of green pepper called for. The red peppers make for attractive color, especially if the green food coloring is omitted.

JELLIED PEPPER RELISH
1 small tomato
1 very small onion, peeled
4 or 5 large sweet green peppers, seeds removed 7 cups (3 pounds) sugar
1 1/2 cups cider vinegar
1 bottle (6 fluid ounces) liquid fruit pectin
10 drops green food coloring, if desired

Cut tomato in half crosswise, squeeze out seeds and discard. Using the finest blade of a food grinder, grind the tomato and onion and turn into a 2-cup measure. Grind the peppers and turn into a strainer to drain; with a spoon, press out liquid; add enough of the prepared pepper to the tomato and onion to make 2 cups. Turn into a 4 or 5-quart saucepot. Stir in the sugar and vinegar. Over high heat bring to a full rolling boil and, stirring constantly, cook at this rolling boil for 1 minute. Remove from heat and at once stir in the pectin. With a large metal spoon, skim off the foam, stir and skim for 5 minutes to cool slightly and thus help prevent floating vegetables. If used, stir in the green food coloring. Ladle quickly into hot sterilized glasses or wide-mouth fruit jars. Use melted hot paraffin to seal the glasses or adjust lids and screwbands on the fruit jars according to manufacturer's directions. Makes about 8 cups of relish.

NOTE: If the green food coloring is omitted, the jellied relish will be on the amber-looking side.

Those tiny loaf pans can often be found in the toy departments of dime stores. They measure 4 1/4 by 2 1/4 by 1 1/2 inches. A yeast-bread recipe that calls for 3 cups of flour will usually fill about 6 of the small pans.

Grapes mix into salads, cream cones

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Fresh grapes bring a refreshing touch to salads or desserts and are a fruit that is available in a number of varieties throughout the year. An attractive confetti salad combines fresh grapes with cabbage, celery and carrots in a lemon-flavored gelatin. Top this molded salad with a sour cream mayonnaise dressing with a gingery touch.

A very special departure for fresh grapes is to combine them with chocolate chips and strawberry ice cream for a grape cream cone. You may want to try different ice cream flavors with this grape recipe.

GRAPE CONFETTI SALAD
1 package (6 ounces) lemon flavored gelatin
2 cups boiling water
1 1/3 cups cold water
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups halved and seeded fresh California grapes
2/3 cup finely shredded cabbage
2/3 cup thinly sliced celery
1/2 cup shredded carrot
Salad greens

GINGER DRESSING
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup dairy sour cream

1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon ground ginger

SALAD: In mixing bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Cool. Stir cold water, vinegar and salt into gelatin. Chill mixture until gelatin is syrupy. Spoon about one-half cup mixture into a 6-cup mold and arrange a few grape halves in mold. Chill until set. Mix remaining grapes, cabbage, celery and carrot into remaining gelatin. Pour into mold over decorative layer. Chill until firm. Unmold salad on serving dish. Garnish with salad greens and serve with

Ginger Dressing
GINGER DRESSING: In small bowl, thoroughly combine mayonnaise, sour cream, lemon peel and ginger. Makes 8 servings.

FRESH GRAPE CREAM CONES
1/2 cup chocolate chips
1 package (5 ounces) ice cream cones (12 cones)
2 packages (3 ounces each) lemon flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 quart strawberry ice cream, softened
3 cups California seedless grapes

Melt chocolate chips over hot (not boiling) water. Stir until smooth. Dip top edge of cones into chocolate. (Swirl chocolate inside if desired.) Stand in small water glasses. Chill. Empty gelatin into bowl. Add boiling water and stir to dissolve thoroughly. Spoon ice cream into bowl, stirring until smooth. Fold in grapes. Refrigerate until serving time. Scoop no-melt cream into cones or serving dishes. Makes about one and one-half quarts.

If you enjoy serving sherry to guests as a pre-dinner drink, it's a good idea to chill it.

Grand jury indicts Trull

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A Smith County grand jury has indicted Maxie Don Trull, a promoter who prompted current investigations of convicted West Texas swindler Billie Sol Estes, on a charge of aggravated kidnapping. The indictment was handed down Tuesday after Trull, 40, testified at his own request. He is charged with taking a vice president of Pyron Investments hostage in the firm's gasoline-splashed office Aug. 9, 1977, and threatening to burn it down if he didn't get $10,000, a Cadillac and a promissory note for $775,000 from the firm's owner, Tyler millionaire Billy D. Pyron.

The hostage, Bill May, was released after four hours of tense negotiations. Trull's fiancée, Mrs. Glynell Logan, 42, and two of her children were also considered by the grand jury for possible aggravated kidnapping charges, but were not indicted. Trull, who says he shared an Abilene office with Estes, claims Pyron and Estes bilked him out of $1.5 million in a business venture. Prior to his arrest Aug. 9, Trull had turned over documents, some of which bore Pyron's name, to state and federal authorities. The documents prompted current investigations into the business dealings of Estes, who is specifically barred by the terms of his 1971 parole from engaging in any promotional activities.

Mexican workers have been severely hurt by inflation, which the government has projected at 18 per cent this year. Private economists say inflation may run around 25 to 28 per cent in 1977. Fidel Velazquez, president of Mexico's largest union, the confederation of Mexican workers, said the purchasing power of the wage earner has dropped 48 per cent since November.

Congressmen linked with Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a list of the current and former congressmen and one congressional candidate identified in an indictment against South Korean businessman Tongsun Park: —Former Rep. Richard T. Hanna, a California Democrat named as an unindicted co-conspirator, allegedly received more than $100,000 from Park. —Rep. John McFall, D-Calif., allegedly received a total $4,000 from Park in 1972 and 1974. —Former Rep. Elvis statue in the works

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Plans have been announced to build a 25-foot bronze statue of Elvis Presley which will be given to the city by the Memphis Development Foundation. Joe Pipkin, president of the Mid-South Fair Association, and real estate developer Dan Wilkinson said Tuesday the 50-ton statue would be financed with private funds and built on a site that has not been selected.

Donations will be accepted to finance the tribute to Presley, who died Aug. 16 at age 42.

Pennsylvania sculptor Eric Parks has been commissioned for the statue, which should be completed in about two years.

State treasury gets tax boost

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Big jumps in collections of the sales tax and oil and gas taxes boosted Texas tax collections to a record $4.194 billion for the state's fiscal year that ended Aug. 31. Comptroller Bob Bullock said Tuesday that sales tax collections for the year were up 15 percent over 1976, city sales tax revenues were up 14.9 percent and motor and special fuels collections were up 4.5 percent with oil and natural gas taxes combined up 15.7 percent. Bullock said the total included $351.5 million in city sales taxes which were collected by the comptroller's office then sent on to the cities. The previous high in tax collections was $3.5 billion in 1976.

Miami Lions plan sale for Saturday

MIAMI — The Miami Lions Club will sponsor a garage sale Saturday for the Caravan for the Blind. The fund-raiser will also feature lightbulbs and a broom sale.

The sale will be at the downtown fire station here. Anyone wanting to sell an antique or rare item may consign it to this sale. The Lions will charge a commission on the sale of any consigned item.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Charles Bailey or Cecil Gill. Proceeds from these projects are used on community improvements, the Hi-Plains Eye Bank, Girlstown and Care Program.

During the past year, the club worked on the football bleachers, and Little League baseball equipment and uniforms.

A marquee sign was purchased for $1,200, and placed on a downtown building for citizens' use in announcing community activities.

Eskimo hunters say subsistence life threatened

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — The Eskimos, who have survived 2,000 Arctic winters through subsistence hunting, could face tougher winters if a ban is upheld on killing the bowhead whale, which is on the endangered species lists.

"We may be on it ourselves soon," said one Eskimo.

The International Whaling Commission, meeting in June in Australia, unanimously approved a ban on killing — including subsistence hunting — of the bowhead, a slow-moving mammal whose head is almost a third of its length.

The state sharply limited the hunting of caribou, a large species of deer. The hunting of ducks and geese had been banned earlier.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration will hold two days of hearings here beginning Thursday on whether the United States should challenge the whaling ban. The federal government has until Oct. 1 to oppose the ban.

The price of food here suggests that dietary substitutes to whales and caribou would be expensive. Milk is $3 a half gallon; eggs $2 a dozen.

One bowhead whale can supply 40 to 50 tons of food and raw materials, enough to sustain a small village from one hunting season to the next.

Mike Jeffries, an Alaska Legal Services lawyer for the Eskimos, says "the whale cannot be replaced with food stamps. They plan festivals around it; their whole lives center around the hunt."

Some local businessmen say the Eskimos don't pay any attention to caribou restrictions, which bar all but subsistence hunting, and aren't likely to observe a ban on whales either.

Eben Hopson, an Eskimo and mayor of Barrow, says: "We are used to overcoming the physical obstacles while hunting the whale. We are resourceful enough to overcome human obstacles. Our people will not go hungry."

The bowhead, which stay close to drifting ice and occasionally use their brow to break through the ice for a breath, was protected from commercial hunting in 1946. The U.S. Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 and the U.S. Endangered Species Act of 1973 stopped all but subsistence hunting.

Eskimo crews took a dozen or so whales a year until the early 1970s when the annual average rose to 29.

One bowhead whale can supply 40 to 50 tons of food and raw materials, enough to sustain a small village from one hunting season to the next.

Mike Jeffries, an Alaska Legal Services lawyer for the Eskimos, says "the whale cannot be replaced with food stamps. They plan festivals around it; their whole lives center around the hunt."

Some local businessmen say the Eskimos don't pay any attention to caribou restrictions, which bar all but subsistence hunting, and aren't likely to observe a ban on whales either.

Eben Hopson, an Eskimo and mayor of Barrow, says: "We are used to overcoming the physical obstacles while hunting the whale. We are resourceful enough to overcome human obstacles. Our people will not go hungry."

The bowhead, which stay close to drifting ice and occasionally use their brow to break through the ice for a breath, was protected from commercial hunting in 1946. The U.S. Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 and the U.S. Endangered Species Act of 1973 stopped all but subsistence hunting.

Eskimo crews took a dozen or so whales a year until the early 1970s when the annual average rose to 29.

Corcoran reunion held

The children of Sarah and Paul Philip Corcoran met for a family reunion in July at the Lefors City Hall. All of Mr. and Mrs. Corcoran's children were born in Wheeler County. Except for four who live in Gray County, the rest of the family lives in Wheeler County. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Phil Corcoran, Mrs. Dale Corcoran and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Corcoran, Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Corcoran, Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Ridgeway and Bill, Mr. and Mrs. Ariza Corcoran, Mrs. Kent Sims and daughter, Mrs. Ellen Haning and Mr. Charles A. Haning, all from Mobeetie.

Mr. and Mrs. (Pete) W.E. Corcoran, Mrs. Bessie Keaton, Ernie Grady, Mr. and Mrs. James Trusty and son, all from Pampa; Mrs. Mouda Trusty from Lefors; Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Corcoran Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barnes from Wheeler; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ogden and daughter and son, and Miss Kari Mills from Perryton; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Riley and son and Jacque Gillispie from McLean; Tina Snoggers, Sam Black, Earl Andrews, and Mattie McAdams from Groom and others from outside the area.

What's up in libraries

America's public library systems, beset by budget problems, have continued to serve the reading population, as evidenced by these circulation figures, gathered by The World Almanac. According to the most recent information, public libraries in the following cities lent the most books per year:

City	Circulation
1. New York City	23,775,697
2. Los Angeles	11,344,100
3. Chicago	7,792,922
4. Buffalo	5,792,911
5. Philadelphia	5,605,062
6. Cincinnati	5,566,728
7. Houston	5,168,726
8. Dayton	4,357,941
9. San Diego	4,274,105
10. Sacramento	4,069,475
11. Seattle	4,000,000

Checking the population figures we come upon some surprises. Buffalo ranked 31st in population in the 1970 census, yet its public library users came in fourth. Detroit, the fifth most populous city, didn't even make the top 10.

Posters may feature tax dodgers

BOSTON (AP) — The city is planning to embarrass some of its prominent residents into paying their delinquent property tax bills by splashing their pictures and tax bills on wanted posters in various public spots.

Details of the poster campaign are still sketchy, according to George Regan Jr., Mayor Kevin H. White's press secretary, but the handbill-size posters were expected to be up this week. Possible locations for the posters include city hall and on the downtown Park Square billboard.

Regan, who would not identify any of the tax delinquents, said putting pictures on wanted posters would be harsh. But he said it would get the point across — that the city is serious about collecting an estimated $50 million owed in property taxes for the last three fiscal years.

Boston has recently used several tactics to get that point across, all of which have been somewhat successful.

Last week, city officials, along with a pilot and television crews, tried to confiscate attorney F. Lee Bailey's helicopter at the Plymouth Airport. Bailey owes the city $18,000 in back taxes for his downtown law offices. The plan was to land it at City Hall Plaza and display it as testimony of the city's determination to collect its taxes.

Bailey apparently caught wind of the plan and locked the helicopter in a garage. However, his office did come up with a $5,000 payment.

Also last week, the city confiscated two taxi cabs whose owners have large, outstanding tax bills. One owner, who owes $16,000, immediately paid $6,000 and promised quick payment of the remainder.

The most successful effort to collect taxes was last spring when the city released and the Boston Globe published the names of 6,000 delinquent taxpayers. Tax Collector Newell Cook estimated that action brought the city about $2 million in the final six weeks of the last fiscal year.

Meanwhile, in nearby Revere the mayor was the first resident embarrassed by efforts to get the names of delinquent taxpayers publicized.

Mayor William G. Reinstein gave the city tax collector a check for $4,017.92 Tuesday, a few days after the Lynn Evening Item reported that he had not paid last year's property tax bill.

Reinstein told the Boston Globe he had forgotten about the bill until the item printed the story Thursday.

Colleges will chip in HOUSTON (AP) — Three of four universities named as beneficiaries in the so-called Howard Hughes Mormon will apparently have agreed to help with the expenses of a trial. The three include Rice University, The University of Texas and the University of California. The three, along with the University of Nevada, were left one-eighth of the Hughes estate in the alleged will discovered April 27, 1976 in the Mormon Church headquarters at Salt Lake City. Regents of the University of Nevada are scheduled to discuss the matter at a meeting Sept. 16. "By law, we can't walk away from the opportunity of getting a large amount of money," Rice attorney Tom Eubank said. He believes expenses shared by the universities may total $50,000. The costs will consist of jury expenses and the printing of transcripts. The Houston Post quoted University of California attorney Jim Holst as saying the decision to help with expenses was made "only over the last several weeks" although the matter has been discussed for months. University of Texas attorney Jim Fitzpatrick declined comment but the Post said four persons familiar with the matter confirmed the university will also help finance the trial.

Farm population down 610,000 in '76

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's farm population declined another 610,000 persons last year, the sharpest percentage drop this decade, according to new government figures. In all, some 8,253,000 persons lived on farms in 1976 — an average for the entire year — for a decline of 6.9 per cent from 8,864,000 reported in 1975, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday. Vera J. Banks, a demographer in the department's Economic Research Service, said, however, that changes in Census Bureau processing and survey procedures accounted for about 130,000 of the decline. Even so, she told a reporter, the adjusted 1976 decline of 481,000 persons was "a significant drop" and is the largest on a percentage basis since the farm population slipped 5.8 per cent from 1969 to 1970. "Offhand, I just can't give you any good explanation for it," Ms. Banks, who prefers that designation, said of the sharp decline. The farm population skid has accelerated in recent years. Since 1974, the average rate of loss has been 5.8 per cent, compared with an annual average loss of 1.2 per cent from 1970 to 1974 when it appeared that the long-term decline in farm population was leveling off. Despite the drop in the number of people actually living on farms, the population of rural areas — including small towns and areas where people simply have homes in the countryside — has made a resurgence in recent years. From 1970 to 1975, rural populations overall have increased 6.6 per cent compared with a city growth rate of 4.1 per cent, Ms. Banks said. The farm population, meanwhile, has dropped 15 per cent from 9,712,000 in 1970 to the 8,253,000 now reported for last year. In other words, Ms. Banks said, about one out of every 26 Americans had a farm residence in 1976 — some 3.9 per cent of the population. When the U.S. farm population peaked at about 32.5 million in 1916, about one of every three Americans lived on a farm. The farm population declined gradually in most years after 1916 but increased during four years of the early 1930s in the midst of the nation's worst economic depression, rising from about 29.4 million persons in 1930 to 31.2 million in 1933. By 1936, however, it had dropped back to 30.4 million and 20 years later, in 1956, fell to 18.7 million. According to the latest analysis, the South has lost farm population most rapidly in the 1970s, declining to 2,855,000 persons in 1976 from 3,754,000 in 1970, a drop of 23.9 per cent. The north central region is the largest in terms of farm population, averaging 3,800,000 last year against 4,305,000 in 1970, a decline of 11.7 per cent. States include Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. In the West, the farm population surged against the trend of the remainder of the country, increasing 4.8 per cent from 954,000 in 1970 to 1,000,000 in 1976, the report said. Maria Callas, the Greek operatic soprano, was born Maria Anna Cecilia Sofia Kalogeropoulou in New York City.

No scrambling for The Dodger

DALLAS (AP) — Don't look for Roger Staubach to be doing his thing tonight.

Roger Staubach, the 35-year-old Cowboy quarterback with a penchant for wild scrambles, says he will stay where National Football League quarterbacks his age should stay — in the pocket.

The Cowboys host the Pittsburgh Steelers in nationally televised National Football League preseason game with some 50,000 fans expected in Texas Stadium.

Staubach has been bothered by a pulled hamstring muscle and missed two preseason games.

"I've played before when I didn't run," says Staubach. "I don't want to jeopardize my chances against Minnesota in the season opener Sept. 18. If I get in trouble I'll just lay the ball off."

The Cowboy brass is worried that any sudden dash by Staubach might reinjure the hamstring.

"He's in good shape but he has to be careful he doesn't sprint," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry.

There will be one person on the field tonight who doesn't have to worry about going high speed and that's Steeler running back Franco Harris, who has been having a workhorse preseason.

That statistic has caught the eye of the Cowboy coaching staff which saw the Dallas middle ripped for 250 yards by Houston in a 23-14 loss last week.

"There's nothing fancy about the Pittsburgh offense," said Cowboy assistant Ernie Allen. "It's just move you out of there."

Houston wiped out Dallas' defensive tackles and middle linebacker Bob Breunig last week.

Pittsburgh is 3-2 in the preseason while the Cowboys are 2-3.

Dallas leads the regular series 10-8 and Pittsburgh has a 2-1 edge in preseason meetings with Dallas winning 20-10 last year.

The biggest meeting between the two teams was Super Bowl X in which Pittsburgh bagged a 21-17 decision in one of the most exciting NFL title games in history.

Well the time has come for me to place my bets on the college football season. I've been putting it off as long as possible so that some heavenly vision or back-alley dope might give me an edge on "Sports Illustrated," "Street & Smith's," "Playboy," or even Major Hoople.

Oh how I'd love to out-prognosticate the Major! Now down to the nitty-gritty; my Top 10.

1. Notre Dame — The Irish have all eleven starters back and ample backs to replace Al Hunter.
2. Michigan — Like N.D., the Wolves should go undefeated with wins over Texas A&M and Ohio State at home.
3. Oklahoma — The Sooners will lose only to Ohio State in Columbus.
4. Texas A&M — If the Aggies can get by Tech in Lubbock, they may give Michigan a good battle in Ann Arbor.
5. Southern Cal — The Trojans get Alabama at home, but Notre Dame (ugh!) in South Bend. Then there is always UCLA for the finale.
6. Ohio State — Will squeak by Oklahoma, but losing to Michigan in the last game will hurt the Buckeye's ranking.

7. Penn State — Joe Paterno will probably never lose four games in a season again.
8. Alabama — Bear Bryant may have gone overboard to dispel criticism about easy schedules. The Bear will find no picnic baskets at Nebraska or Southern Cal.
9. Maryland — The Terps should lose only to Penn State, but again an easy schedule will prohibit a higher ranking.
10. Texas Tech — If the Raiders beat A&M early they may sweep the SWC, although Texas will be tough in Austin.

For the record, here's how some of the other so-called experts picked the top 10 in the land:

"Sports Illustrated" — 1. Notre Dame; 2. Oklahoma; 3. Michigan; 4. Texas Tech; 5. Alabama; 6. USC; 7. Ohio State; 8. Texas A&M; 9. Maryland; 10. Penn State.

"Sporting News" — 1. Michigan; 2. Oklahoma; 3. Texas A&M; 4. USC; 5. Notre Dame; 6. Alabama; 7. Ohio State; 8. Colorado; 9. Pittsburgh; 10. Florida.

"Street & Smiths" — 1. Notre Dame; 2.

Michigan; 3. Oklahoma; 4. Ohio State; 5. Texas A&M; 6. USC; 7. Pittsburgh; 8. Mississippi St.; 9. UCLA; 10. Alabama.

"Playboy" — 1. Michigan; 2. Oklahoma; 3. Notre Dame; 4. USC; 5. Colorado; 6. Texas Tech; 7. Alabama; 8. Ohio State; 9. Maryland; 10. Texas A&M.

Major Hoople — 1. Notre Dame; 2. Oklahoma; 3. Michigan; 4. USC; 5. Ohio State; 6. Alabama; 7. Penn State; 8. Pittsburgh; 9. Houston; 10. Maryland.

While I'm hot, I might as well predict the SWC, Big Eight, and Valley races.

My calls:

SWC — 1. Texas A&M; 2. Texas Tech; 3. Texas; 4. Houston; 5. Arkansas; 6. SMU; 7. TCU; 8. Rice.

The Aggies and Red Raiders are about equal in ability, but the cannon leg of Tony Franklin will make the difference for A&M. Unless Franklin's toes get frostbite, the Aggies are a threat to score whenever they reach the opponent's 45-yard line.

Big Eight — 1. Oklahoma; 2. Nebraska; 3. Colorado; 4. Oklahoma State; 5. Missouri; 6. Iowa State; 7. Kansas; 8. Kansas State.

Evert whips King; Austin loses

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Chris Evert beat the past and Betty Stove beat the future to advance to their semifinal match at the U.S. Open tennis championships.

The top-seeded Miss Evert provided a barometer for Billie Jean King's continuing singles comeback Wednesday night with a 6-2, 6-0 victory over the former queen of women's tennis.

About 4 1/2 hours earlier, Tracy Austin, the 14-year-old future queen of tennis, drove her Cinderella carriage to center court. But Miss Stove turned the clock to midnight with a powerful 6-2, 6-2 triumph.

In the other women's quarterfinal matches today, No. 2 seed Martina Navratilova, the Czech expatriate now playing out of Dallas, faced No. 10 Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia and third-seeded Virginia Wade of Britain met Wendy Turnbull, the No. 12 seed from Australia.

With all the hoopla attached to Miss Austin, the most famous school girl this side of Amy Carter, a pair of men sneaked less dramatically into the semifinals.

Guillermo Vilas, the No. 4 seed from Argentina, could do no wrong in his 6-1, 6-1, 6-0 rout of unseeded Ray Moore of South Africa. Vilas has a Saturday semifinal date with Harold Solomon, the No. 12 seed from Silver Spring, Md., who wore down No. 10 Dick Stockton of Carrollton, Tex., 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

The other semifinal pairing will be determined today. Brian Gottfried, the No. 3 seed from Lauderhill, Fla., plays surprising Corrado Barazzutti of Italy and second-seeded Jimmy Connors. Belleville, Ill., meets fifth-rated Manuel Orantes of Spain.

While school bells were beginning to ring around the country, Miss Austin — set to enter the ninth grade in Rolling Hills, Calif. a week from today — was given a professional tennis lesson by Miss Stove, the 32-year-old native of The Netherlands.

"She just overpowered me," said Tracy, standing tall on the court at 5 feet and 90 pounds. "I'm lucky to get in a rally. Most of the time she just put the ball away off her serve, and hit winners off mine. She was too strong for me."

Miss Stove gave Tracy a professional beating because she was able to see her pig-tailed opponent as the enemy, not just some cute little kid.

"Five or six years ago, I would have been sentimental, too," said the 6-foot, 160-pound Miss Stove. "And I would have lost to her."

"I considered her a competitor, a very good competitor. She has a real good future."

Ms. King, a four-time champion here, had a wonderful past. But if her comeback from knee surgery and a year's retirement from tournament singles doesn't progress, she hinted that she would retire permanently.

Dumas coach likes ball-control offense

By TOM KENSLER
Pampa News Sports Editor

Pampa may be traveling to the den of a sleeping giant Friday night, and John Welborn and his crew had better hope the Harvesters can tiptoe in and out of Dumas with a victory before the Demons awake to their potential.

Dumas had the bad fortune of opening at Palo Duro, and as expected returned home with an 0-1 record after an apparent 49-15 flogging.

But that game was much closer than the stats would indicate. In fact, the Demons took the second-half kickoff and drove 79 yards to the one before losing it on downs. Had Dumas scored and converted the extra point, the score would have read Dumas 22, Palo Duro 21.

That's all academic however, because Palo Duro used its amazing speed to put 29 more points on the board.

Dumas is probably the most experienced "young" team in the Panhandle, starting only seven seniors. But last year the Demons listed 14 sophomores as starters, and head coach Jack Moss feels they are just starting to get the confidence needed to reach their potential.

"We were very young last year, and we're still young, but I was pleased with the way we played at Palo Duro. We may be starting to come on," Moss said.

Moss likes to run a straight T offense dominated by the fullback dive. But he is afraid that this Woody Hayes philosophy might haunt him against the Harvesters.

"I think Pampa is going to be extremely tough up the middle with those two big tackles (Marvin Oliver and Charles Copeland).

"I expect that we'll have to throw quite a bit to beat them, but in the beginning we'll run our fullback to test their middle," Moss said.

To complicate matters for the Demons game plan, starting fullback Steve San Miguel went down in the Palo Duro game with a knee injury and may miss the rest of the season.

Moss' major concern for tomorrow night is containing the Pampa backs from breaking the long gain which cost Dumas dearly in the Palo Duro contest.

"I'm worried about Young (Steve) and the little guy (Rudy Roland) getting outside on us. They're the game breakers," Moss said.

"We were impressed with the way Pampa moved the ball against Hereford, and I don't think Pampa is as bad as John (Welborn) lets on that they are."

Women who are beginning swimmers and want to learn to swim may enroll in this class conducted by Rosella Stout, Water Safety Instructor of Pampa.

Enrollment is open to the general public as well as membership. Reservations are now being accepted at the center.

Rangers salvage finale

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Texas designated hitter Willie Horton penetrated the Minnesota Twins' defensive shift Wednesday night, and in the process helped the Rangers defeat the Twins and salvage the final game of a three-game series.

Horton drove in Toby Harrah from first with an opposite-field double in the sixth inning to lift the Rangers to a 4-3 win.

Harrah had walked to lead off the inning with the score tied 3-3. With one out, the Twins shifted second baseman Bobby Randall to the left side of second base in an effort to retire the pull-hitting Horton.

CINCINNATI BENGALS

PROSPECTUS

Bengals were probably best 10-4 team in history that didn't make playoffs. And Coach Bill Johnson expects improvement, with fruitful draft that will jack up defensive line. The running game should also take some of the pressure off Ken Anderson, whose passing remains basic staple of Cincy attack. This is team just on verge of blossoming out to greatness.

Johnson

OFFENSE

Quarterback: Accurate without peer is Anderson, the man from Augustana who is entering seventh season. He's been NFL leader last three seasons, is backed by John Reaves. Rating—A.

Receiving: Isaac Curtis is the man Tremendous long threat. Billy Brooks was shade disappointing as rookie wide receiver, threatened by John McDaniel. At tight end, longtime incumbent Bob Trumpy, class guy, gets help from rookie Mike Cobb. Rating—B.

Running: Archie Griffin had satisfactory break in year to hype up ground game. Boobie Clark also returned to form. Lots of numbers with such as Stan Fritts, Lenvil Elliott, Tony Davis, and now they've added Archie's Ohio State mate Pete Johnson. Rating—B.

Offensive Line: Big, strong, experienced, anchored around that original Bengal, Bob Johnson at center. Tackles are potent—Vernon Holland and Rufus Mayes. Slight dropoff at guards with Dave Lapham and messengers, John Shinnors, Glenn Bujnoch. Rating—B.

DEFENSE

Defensive Line: Age was the worry, with such antiquities as Coy Bacon, Bob Brown—although they stimulated pass rush, particularly Bacon—and now draft has yielded couple of potent prospects in Eddie Edwards, Wilson Whitley to provide youth. Rating—B.

Linebackers: Settled into consistent pattern, with Jim LeClair emerging as solid man in the middle. Fine debut of Reggie Williams on right side eased potential problem after Ron Pritchard injured knee. Bo Harris is rugged guy on strong side. Rating—B.

Secondary: Maybe strongest department of all, with couple of veteran, swift corner backs in Lemar Parrish and Ken Riley, who are all-pro caliber, as is strong safety Tommy Casanova. Marvin Cobb developing brilliantly as other safety. Rating—A.

Kicking, Special Teams: Reserve receiver Pat McInally was OK in first year of punting chores. Both long and accurate. Chris Bahr, the placekicker, has strong leg but must show more accuracy on field goal attempts. Willie Shelby handles returns. Rating—B.

PREDICTION

When you're in the same division with mighty Steelers, there's always some hesitancy about being picked for top spot. In fact, losing to Steelers was what ruined Bengals in '76. Yet I'm convinced that this is year Cincinnati leaps up. First in AFC Central.

Problems of Social Security and Congress

Age for benefits may be raised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans at some future time may have to work beyond age 65 to qualify for full Social Security benefits, if some serious students of the system have their way.

The mere mention of this possibility recently provoked an uproar, even though there is no pending legislation and no proposal by President Carter's administration for such a change.

Congress is now working on a more pressing problem: how to keep the system's reserves from running out in about five years. There is no real prospect that Congress will permit such an outcome, which would mean cutting off or reducing benefits.

Actual drafting of legislation to refinance Social Security is scheduled to begin in a House subcommittee Sept. 12.

However, while that subcommittee and the corresponding Senate panel were conducting hearings on Carter's proposals to provide Social Security funds, they received testimony on a wide variety of future threats and present inconsis-encies in the huge system that collects taxes from more than nine out of ten U.S. workers and their employers and pays benefits to 33.3 million persons.

A major concern is the aging trend of the population. By early in the next century there may be one retired person to every two active workers carrying the tax burden of the system — instead of the present ratio of one retired person to every three workers.

Other problems Congress was told it will have to face sooner or later included:

- Eliminating discrimination against women.
- The perennial demand that the retired not have their benefits reduced because of money earned from a job.
- The advisability of drawing a clearer line between needs that should be met by Social Security and by welfare systems, and financing each accordingly.
- Deciding how much of a worker's income should be replaced by Social Security and how much should be left to company and individual pension plans, and how government could encourage these.

—The possibility of merging Social Security with other public retirement programs, such as the Civil Service system for government workers.

Little public attention had been given to the possibility of raising the standard retirement age until Commerce Secretary Juanita M. Kreps mentioned it, as a personal concern, in an interview.

Chairman Claude Pepper, D-Fla., of the House Committee on Aging, fired off a letter saying he was shocked and urging Mrs. Kreps to "withdraw your proposal."

She replied she had made no proposal, the administration was considering none and so there was nothing to withdraw.

But, she added, she thinks the possibility may have to be examined in the future.

Some nongovernmental witnesses did make such proposals to the committees. A typical one was to add one year to the standard retirement age in 1985 and two more years at five-year intervals, bringing the age to 68.

Persons still would be able to retire at 65, but with a reduced benefit, just as they now may retire at 62, but with a 20 per cent reduction.

A long-standing complaint about the treatment of women under Social Security stems from its provisions affecting a dependent spouse — usually the wife — who nevertheless has worked and paid the payroll tax.

When she retires, she receives either the benefit earned by her contributions or half the amount of her husband's bene-

Woman's body identified

WHARTON, Tex. (AP) — Wharton County Sheriff H.R. Flournoy said today he is convinced the decomposed body found in a culvert on Farm Road 2919 is that of a young woman missing since last January.

Diana Kaiser, 21, vanished sometime during the early hours of Jan. 6. The compact pickup she was driving was found abandoned on U.S. 59, about 10 miles from where police said the skeleton was found near East Bernard in southeast Texas.

"There's no doubt in my mind that it's her," said Flournoy. "The skeleton was found yesterday (Tuesday) about 3:30 in the afternoon. The Texas Highway Department was out mowing and they came up on a small 24-inch culvert. When one of the men went down to cut the grass around the culvert by hand, he saw this skeleton shoved up in there. We found a white jacket, a blue blouse that she was supposed to be wearing at the time, a ring and a necklace."

Flournoy said the remains were sent to the Harris County Medical Examiner in Houston where dental charts would be checked.

Mrs. Leslie Kaiser, the girl's mother, said the dental records had been checked two or three times previously against other bodies since her daughter's disappearance.

In Japan, the average household subscribes to two daily newspapers.

fit, whichever is greater, but not both. Accordingly, in most cases, she is no better off than if she had never worked and never paid the payroll tax, since a nonworking wife is entitled to half the amount of a husband's benefit when they both retire.

This and other provisions relating to women reflect 1930's views that a standard family consisted of a working husband and a nonworking wife caring for children.

But the committees heard testimony that this description now fits only 16 per cent of American families, that recent statistics show 54 per cent of all working-age women are in the labor force, including 44 per cent of married women and 29 per cent of women with children under six.

Supreme Court decisions during the past year force some change. The law provided that a wife was automatically a dependent, but a husband was not entitled to corresponding benefits based on a working wife's earnings unless it were proved he actually depended on her economically. The court held this distinction unconstitutional.

The decision was estimated to affect 520,000 men at a cost to Social Security of $15 million. Among other things, it requires payment of dependent or widower benefits to some men who had actually been the main support of the family, if their employment — for example, by the federal government — were outside Social Security coverage.

In response, the administration has proposed establishing a dependency test applicable to both husbands and wives. The dependent would be

Moslems jailed for seige

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twelve Hanafi Moslems are being sent to prisons across the country to start serving sentences ranging from 24 years to life for their roles in a 38-hour siege.

"I am not going to apologize," said Hamaas Abdul Khaalis, their leader, who was allowed to address the court before sentencing Tuesday.

Khaalis received a 41-to-123-year prison term. He told D.C. Superior Court Judge Nicholas S. Nunzio he was defending his faith and country when he and his followers captured 149 hostages March 9 at B'nai B'rith headquarters, the Islamic Center, and Washington's city hall.

"Today America is in very, very grave trouble and no one seems to listen," said Khaalis, his arms crossed over his chest.

During the takeovers and during his trial, Khaalis stated that his main motivation was to alert Americans to the "blasphemous" movie, "Mohammed, Messenger of God," and prevent it from being shown in movie theaters in this country.

Other motives, he said, included revenge against five men convicted of the 1973 murders of seven members of Khaalis' family.

Under District of Columbia law, the 55-year-old Khaalis must serve the full minimum term before he is eligible for probation or parole.

Four charged in false claims for USAF work

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A federal grand jury here has indicted four men for allegedly defrauding the U.S. Air Force by submitting false claims for work and material provided on repair contracts.

Three separate indictments were returned by the grand jury Tuesday, charging three San Antonio men and one Abilene resident with falsifying claims for payment to two companies, Mikelco of San Antonio, Inc., and Mikelco of Bandera, Inc., for work done at Kelly Air Force Base.

The federal probe was triggered by a General Accounting Office report issued last December charging substantial overcharges on $24.4 million in of repair contracts during 1975.

Indictments against William F. Thorne, 41, and William W. Crater, 50, both of San Antonio, allege they billed Mikelco for parts allegedly sold to the company by Aztec Electronics Corp. of Brownsville. However, Aztec never sold some of the equipment, the indictment alleged.

Named in separate indictments on five counts each of submitting false claims to the government were Juan Teran Jr., 38, of San Antonio and Owen G. Cook of Abilene.

Teran is charged with billing the Air Force with 153 hours of labor more than was performed by Mikelco of San Antonio employees. Additional counts against Teran allege he submitted claims for ammeters, voltmeters, transformers and rectifiers which were not used in the repair work done by the company.

Cook allegedly billed the Air Force for power supplies, motors and other equipment which were not used by Mikelco of Abilene, the document states.

Cooke and Crater surrendered Tuesday and were freed on $100,000 personal recognizance bond each.

Thorne said before his indictment that the government has withheld final payment of $75,000 for work done in 1975 and he is appealing that decision.

Rape suspect asks to meet mom and dad

DALLAS (AP) — Police are still musing over the actions of a 29-year-old accused rapist who was arrested after asking to meet his victim's parents.

Officers said an 18-year-old woman told them the man raped her twice last Sunday, then offered to drive her home because "he wanted to meet her parents."

She told police she gave the man her cousin's address and told him to wait in the car while she went inside to get her parents. A quick call to authorities followed and the man was arrested outside the residence still waiting to meet mom and dad.

Rice Hotel purchased

HOUSTON (AP) — A group of Houston investors has purchased the downtown Rice Hotel for $542,982.

J.E. Shaw's bid at foreclosure auction Tuesday was the only one for the hotel, its fixtures and furnishings, the nearby Rice Hotel Garage and the lease on the land where the hotel is located.

Shaw, attorney and president of Rice Preservation Corp., said the hotel will be preserved in some form but probably will not reopen as a hotel.

The hotel was sold at auction to satisfy a $510,000 note held by Southern National Bank. The financially troubled hotel has been closed since Aug. 22, the second time in two years it has closed.

Elvis fan will part with record

DALLAS (AP) — Of all the Elvis memorabilia on the market today, Mrs. Thelma Walker's offering surely ranks near the top of the charts.

For $5,000, Mrs. Walker is willing to part with her copy of the first record the "King" ever made. She said the 45 "That's All Right" and "Blue Moon Over Kentucky" was cut 24 years ago when Presley was better known in truck driving circles than for his swivel hips.

"I didn't even know I had it until all this business of selling souvenirs started," she said. "I'm not sure when I bought it, but I know I did. I bought every record in my collection."

Mrs. Walker, who admits to being "past 50," said she was upset when she saw Elvis fans criticized those who were willing to part with their treasures for a profit.

"Yes, it made me feel rather bad, but you know I didn't start this," she said. "It's been going on for centuries — people selling things after the artists are dead."

Mrs. Walker, who describes herself as a "good" Elvis fan, advertised in a local newspaper this week. She said the results, even though she hasn't sold the record, have been "delightful."

"People have been calling — you wouldn't believe. This one man called and told me to hold out, for my price. He said he just sold his record for $7,500."

Little things are important

Small in size, but performing an important function when needed... what would we do without razor blades?

Classified Ads are like that too! In fact, they do more things for more people at lower cost than any other form of advertising!

Finding... selling... hiring... buying... renting... or just telling, a small, low-cost Classified Ad will do a big, important job for you.

Jury deliberates Bell case

By RICK SCOTT
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A jury was deliberating charges today against Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in a $29 million damage suit filed against it by a fired executive and the family of another former Bell official who committed suicide.

The suit by James Ashley and the family of T. O. Gravit went to the 10-man, two-woman panel in state district court Wednesday afternoon following four weeks of testimony and four hours of final arguments by lawyers on both sides.

Deliberation of the case began at 9 a.m. today.

Gravit was the top Bell official in Texas when he killed himself at his Dallas home Oct. 17, 1974. Ashley was a $55,000-a-year Bell executive in San Antonio when he was fired two weeks later, ending a 23-year career with the telephone company.

The suit, filed in November 1974, alleged that an improper internal company investigation by Southwestern Bell hounded Gravit to his death and led to Ashley's wrongful dismissal.

The telephone company said it began its probe in late summer 1974 after rumors of sexual misconduct among San Antonio-area Bell employees reached corporate officials in the St. Louis headquarters.

Pat Maloney, the plaintiffs' lawyer, urged the jury to find Bell guilty of the allegations in the suit and "join a mighty crusade asking for social reform" of the giant utility.

He said the investigation was designed to drive Ashley and Gravit out of the Bell power structure because they became critical of certain company policies they considered unfair to consumers. He said these included unfair rate-making tactics, operation of a political "slush fund" and extravagant wastes of company money.

But Bell lawyer Hubert Green said Ashley and Gravit "did themselves in" by the actions which led the company to investigate rumors of misconduct.

He said there were two Gravits, one who was a chamber of commerce president and the other who was sexually promiscuous with female subordinate Bell employees.

Green reviewed the testimony of various women Bell employees who said they felt compelled to have sex with Ashley to get promotions.

"What we have are two people who were caught. That's what's so tragic," Green said.

He said neither Ashley or Gravit ever complained of company policies "until they felt the heat" of the investigation in 1974.

And, Green said every time the plaintiffs talked about some alleged wrongdoing by the telephone company, "they were at the bottom of it."

Judge Peter Michael Curry gave the jury final instructions and a list of 35 questions they had to answer before returning with their verdict.

Most of the questions dealt with whether Southwestern Bell or its corporate parent, American Telephone & Telegraph, slandered Ashley and Gravit and whether the investigation was malicious. Jurors also had to decide the amount of damages, if any, to be awarded.

Gravit left behind a suicide note in which he said, "Watergate is a great compared to the Bell system."

And Maloney told the jury: "The truth is Watergate really is a great compared to the Bell system."

Generally, Maloney did not discuss much evidence in the case, and instead directed the jury to consider what "magnificent people" the plaintiffs were.

"They have lost the personal dignity it took them all their lives to build up," he said referring to alleged damages caused by the Bell investigation.

And, Maloney blasted the telephone company as a corporate monster which believed it could control anyone with its money.

"They got the wrong guy. He wouldn't run. He stood and told the truth about them. It's a story that had to be told, a hill that had to be climbed," he said.

Maloney also said Bell had never fired any other employees who were supposedly involved in sexual activities with other employees. And, he said Ashley was the only executive at his level ever fired by Bell.

Jack Hebbon, another Bell lawyer, said Ashley and Gravit were held in high esteem by their superiors in the telephone company until the investigation.

"They were in trouble with their superiors. Little people will take it and put up with it just so long. Finally, they were heard from. Finally, the little people had enough" of the abuses by Ashley and Gravit," Hebbon said.

"And they began to talk. What are superior officers supposed to do when they hear one of their top employees in San Antonio (Ashley) is inviting female subordinate employees to sex parties?" Hebbon asked.

The jury took into the deliberations nearly 200 exhibits entered in the case by both sides. Bell had testimony from 50 persons while the plaintiffs had testimony from 43 individuals.

Voters reject cloud seeding in Panhandle

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Voters in the Panhandle have rejected cloud seeding to suppress hail.

The Water Resources Department informed Speaker Bill Clayton it had finally determined the election results Wednesday.

It took several days to make that determination because the affected counties failed to include precinct maps with the ballot results.

"The elections, provided for by legislation passed last spring, have given the opportunity to the people of our area to finally settle the long-standing dispute over state regulation of hail suppression," Clayton said. Clayton is from Springlake.

"The people have made their wishes known and the Department of Water Resources is informing the companies involved of the people's decision by letter," he said.

The affected counties are Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Deaf Smith, Lamb, Oldham, Parmer, Briscoe, Crosby, Floyd, Hale, Hockley, Lubbock, Randall and Swisher.

Education Commissioner Marlin Brockette said the $35.7 million grant would benefit 110,000 children in 145 districts.

Special projects at Texas A&I and in several South Texas communities also will receive part of the allocation, he said.

Largest single grant will be $1.8 million to the Pharr-San Juan-Alamo Independent School District. Brockette said migrant children from Texas spend at least part of each school year in one or more of 40 other states.

"This year we expect 72 per cent of our migrant students to be actively following the harvests with their parents with only 28 per cent staying in one place throughout the 1977-78 term," Brockette said.

White Deer tax same

The tax rate for the property assessed on the 1977 roll in White Deer was set in a special council session recently. The rate will remain the same as the previous year, which is $1.25 per $100 valuation with a 50 per cent ratation declared on value.

Wayne Brown, CPA in Pampa, recently completed the audit which indicates that $7000 was transferred from the gas system to the general fund for the operation of the fiscal year April 1, 1976 through March 31, 1977. The total tax roll assessed for 1976 was $34,887.

A total of $33,094.70 was collected on the 1976 roll with $2080.85 delinquent taxes collected. The percentage of taxes collected is 95 per cent.

Statements will be mailed late this month to all White Deer property owners for 1977 tax assessments. Current taxes will be due Oct. 1 through Jan. 31, 1978.

Texas gets biggest slice for migrants

Workers expect justice

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Farm Workers Union expects it will win a court battle, at least, before the Texas Supreme Court reaches a decision on the union's lawsuit for "justice for farm workers" reaches fruition.

Antonio Orendain said Wednesday that does not bother him. He has been trying to organize workers in Texas for 10 years without much success. He says he will be content if his efforts are met with success for his children's lifetimes.

Orendain, a sun-wrinkled man with a drooping mustache and a weathered brown sombrero, spoke after he and other TFWU leaders met with Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall. They plan to spend the rest of this week lobbying in Washington.

Orendain called the session with Marshall a "very good meeting," but he could report little or no progress in the TFWU's efforts to persuade the federal government to enact a national labor rights law for farm workers.

The TFWU wants federal help to overcome what it feels are handicaps it faces as it tries to organize the transient labor force that picks the crops in South Texas. Texas has a right-to-work law that is permitted under Section 14(b) of the federal Taft-Hartley law. And farm workers are not covered by the federal statutes that guarantee workers in other industries the right to organize, vote secretly for union representation, bargain collectively and strike. Though it claims 7,000 members, the union has never successfully organized a farm or ranch and won a contract.

Marshall "listened to us for an hour and heard our point of view. I think it was a real good meeting," said Orendain.
