Sun-generated electricity predicted

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Electricity generated from sunlight can be made cheap enough for widespread use within five years if the government begins buying solar plants in large numbers, says a federal agency.

The Federal Energy Administration says the cost of solar power for many everyday uses could be brought down if the United States converts conventional power plants to solar units at many federal installations.

Such a move would mean mass production of solar power cells in place of today's handwork industry, a consulting firm says in a report to the FEA.

A preliminary version of the report went largely unnoticed when it was released July 20.

An FEA expert who declined to be identified said Thursday the agency will issue its final report within several weeks. He said the draft version is being reviewed and its basic conclusions are expected to stand. The report, by a suburban Washington company, is raising the hopes of solar enthusiasts, such as ecologist Barry Commoner, that the world may be on the verge of a clean, safe and virtually everlasting new source of energy.

The report estimates that government spending of $440 million on solar plants over five years could cut the cost of the power cells from the present $150 per watt of peak generating capacity to 75 cents or less.

The report suggests that the solar cells could provide enough electricity to power street lights, light parking lots and airport runways and run irrigation pumps.

The solar cells could even begin to meet some household electricity needs, the report predicts besides becoming a major energy source in developing countries where conventional power is very expensive.

Solar energy could power warning lights on buildings, power lines and bridges, besides providing corrosion protection to metal pipelines, wells and tanks. "The potential market is very large," it said.

The report says solar power could be generated where it is needed, without the need for massive generating facilities and long-distance transmission lines feeding electricity to large areas.

That prospect differs from the efforts of another federal agency, the Energy Research and Development Administration.

ERDA has concentrated its research on generating large volumes of electricity competitive with conventional power plants by using the sun's heat to generate steam and drive huge turbines.

The report says electricity generated during the day could be stored for use at night or in cloudy weather.

The report says the government could save $1.5 billion by using the solar cells instead of small conventionally powered generators for a variety of military and other government uses.

Pampa secretary indicted for forgery of checks

A 34-year-old legal secretary was indicted Thursday by a Gray County grand jury on charges of check forgery — making and passing in connection with an estimated $62,250.

Carolyn Zargar, 23, who worked in the law office of Gordon & Gordon, is free under a $7,500 surety bond set by Judge Don Cain in 23rd District Court.

Harold Comer, district attorney, said the grand jury returned a 33-page indictment against Zargar alleging approximately 60 forgeries in the name of an individual on checks payable to her. She allegedly forged the name DeLea Vicars on the Alex Smith Inc Account.

Comer said the woman had worked as a legal secretary for Bob Gordon 14 years. He said starting in September 1974 and continuing through June 1977 checks were forged in amounts ranging from $200 to $4,000 each.

Comer said the indictments reads that Zargar made the checks payable to herself and forged the name of Vicars as maker of the check.

Ten other indictments were returned late Thursday and the grand jury began deliberations on others at 8:30 a.m. today.

Larry Wayne Bennett, 29, of Canadian was indicted on charges of theft by taking — two horses, a sorrel stallion and a bay gelding valued at $4,000 from Myrtle W. Norman on June 25.

Others indicted include Gary Lee Snider, 22, of Pampa and Michael Blair Nisbet, 33, also of Pampa on charges of burglary. Larry E. Strickland, 20, of Pampa, criminal attempt to commit burglary. Garland Dewey Kysar, 31, of Pampa, and Kell Wagner, 62, of Amarillo, both charged with driving while intoxicated, subsequent offense.

Jimmy Hunt, who was not in custody this morning, was indicted on charges of forgery.

Dennis Medley, also not in custody, was indicted on two separate charges, both theft by check — one in the amount of $613.67 for obtaining general food supplies and passing a check on the First National Bank in Pampa in payment for the supplies. The indictment reads that Medley did not have sufficient funds to cover the check. The other check for which Medley was indicted allegedly was written in the amount of $569.40.

In other action Thursday the grand jury returned two indictments against Billy Dean Lewis, 19, of Pampa and Rory Dale Hill, 18, also of Pampa, for burglary of vehicles without the consent of the owners. One indictment named Jessie Smartt as owner of a vehicle, and another named Chuck Cota as an owner. Both offenses allegedly occurred June 21, 1977.

Four indictments were returned shortly before noon, including one against Thomas W. Ackerson, a former manager of the Coronado Inn Restaurant, charging theft by exercising control.

Ackerson allegedly leased a 1977 Thunderbird valued at $7,000 from Barrett Leasing Co. and did not return it. Comer said Ackerson is not in custody today, and no other details were available.

Others indicted this morning were Jimmy Richardson (not in custody) on charges of making and passing a $275 check, Larry Nilblack, 33, address unknown, charged with an Aug. 6 theft by taking a Ford pickup valued at $400 from Willie L. Bridgeman and Phillips Adair Pothuisje, 30, of Perryton, for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Man charged in sale of obscene material

A 36-year-old Pampa man is free on $10,000 bond following his arrest on charges of selling obscene material.

Troy Brewer of 300 N. Dwight was arrested by Pampa detectives Thursday on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Venora Cole.

The warrant was the result of independent investigation by the Pampa Police Department, the 31st District attorney and the Gray County attorney.

according to Pampa Police Chief Richard Mills.

A Pampa police officer working undercover, reportedly purchased films from Brewer before Brewer's arrest by Lt. J. J. Ryzman and Michael Hartsock.

Mills said no law enforcement agencies outside Pampa were involved in the investigation.

Brewer was arraigned before Judge Cole who set bond at $5,000 on each of two counts of selling obscene material.

Students asked to switch

Students at five of Pampa's six elementary schools took home letters to their parents this week from school officials asking for voluntary participation in a plan to equalize student populations in the schools.

Dan Johnson, principal of Lamar Elementary School, said fifth graders in that school were given the letters. In other schools, other grades were involved.

Basically the letters ask parents to voluntarily send their child to a choice of three elementary schools in the Pampa Independent School District for the remainder of the 1977-78 school year. Parents agreeing to the plan would be responsible for transportation to and from the school for their children.

The principal said the school district has offered the plan "many times in years past but the response is not normally good."

"We want to benefit everyone and above all the kids," Johnson said. "That's the aim to make better conditions for all the kids involved."

"We're not trying to cut any sections out," he added. "But we are trying to equalize the loads between existing sections."

Should some parents of fifth graders at Lamar accept the plan, Johnson said, they would be given a choice of three schools that would accept their children as transfers.

Students in the remaining two sections of fifth grade at Lamar could then be consolidated into one section.

"If that doesn't work," Johnson said, "your guess is as good as mine (on a possible solution)."

The principal said he is "hopeful" that "big changes" won't have to be implemented by the school administration.

"No decision is expected today," he said. "It might be Monday or it might be later."

Bob Phillips, Pampa ISD superintendent, was out of town today and could not be reached for comment.

Salary hike to be topic for commissioners court

The Gray County Commissioners Court will consider a six per cent salary increase for employees, including elected officials, during a meeting at 9 a.m. Wednesday in the county courtroom.

Also on the agenda is an executive session, if required, to consider personnel matters of Highland General Hospital.

County Judge Don Hinton said today salary increases for sheriff's officers will probably be considered at a $100 per month raise since their salaries are lower than those who serve in the same capacity in nearby counties.

A.C. Malone, county auditor, said there are 17 elected officials with salaries ranging from $668.16 to $1,751.71 monthly. Travel allowance on a mileage basis is now 16 cents per mile.

The court will consider approval of a hangar lease agreement at the county airport with Cabot Corporation, and will consider bids for courthouse janitorial services.

Amin enemies killed

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — A group of plotters against President Idi Amin were reported to have been executed today under a clock tower on the outskirts of the Kampala, the Ugandan capital. Fifteen persons were scheduled to die before a firing squad.

An editor of Voice of Uganda, the official government newspaper in Kampala, confirmed by telephone that the public executions took place at 5 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT). He said he had no further details.

Treaty foes gather 'truth squads'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservative foes of the new Panama Canal treaty said today they will send "truth squads" around the country to mobilize public opinion against Senate ratification.

Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., said a coalition of conservative organizations and various members of Congress will work in direct opposition to efforts by Carter administration for ratification.

"President Carter has said he is going to the country and so are we," Laxalt told reporters.

The "truth squads" will consist of prominent treaty opponents who will speak before and after Carter administration advocates of the treaty appear in various parts of the country, Laxalt said.

Laxalt said the same coalition of conservatives had won two big victories earlier by defeating public campaign financing for Senate candidates and a bill which would have allowed labor unions to picket an entire construction site when their dispute was with only one subcontractor.

He said Carter has seriously underestimated opposition to the treaty.

"Washington and the administration has completely misgauged public sentiment on this issue," he said. In many parts of the country, Laxalt said, the canal question is as strongly opposed as gun control.

The senator estimated that there are now 25 senators ready to vote against ratification. No vote is expected until early next year. A two-thirds vote is needed for ratification and some legislation must also pass the House.

The closer the congressional vote comes to the 1978 elections, Laxalt said, the more likely the treaty will be defeated in the Senate.

Acknowledging that many business leaders and AFL-CIO leader George Meany support turning control of the waterway over to Panama, Laxalt said he is hoping for some help in his campaign from maritime unions and the black minority in Panama.

He said there will be an inquiry into whether there is a connection between the timing of the signing of the treaty and a sharp increase in Panamanian government indebtedness to U.S. banks.

"We want to see if we might be engaged in another bailout here," he said. Because Panama will receive increased revenues from the canal under the treaties, its ability to pay back $2.7 billion in loans will be enhanced, he said.

Another issue he said will be raised in the campaign is the human rights record of Panamanian leader Omar Torrijos.

Conservative spokesmen have cited a finding by Freedom House, a New York-based organization, that Panama ranks at the bottom among Latin American countries in its observance of human rights and civil liberties.

They said this human rights question is one on which President Carter may be especially vulnerable, having made that issue a cornerstone of his foreign policy.

On the canal's security, one of the coalition's prime spokesmen, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, said Thursday that, if the United States were at war, her enemies would have equal access to the canal.

The sources said the conservative push to prevent Senate ratification next year will concentrate on Republicans and some southern Democrats who either favor the treaty or haven't made up their minds.

They said Laxalt, who headed Reagan's presidential primary campaign last year, was selected to lead this drive because he is felt to have more clout than Sens. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and Jesse Helms, R-N.C., who until now have been the leading Senate spokesmen for treaty opponents.

While Laxalt tries to marshal Senate opposition, the conservative coalition is putting together a public appeal involving a direct mail blitz and radio, television and newspaper advertising.

Plans call for three million to five million pieces of mail to go out over the next two months, with the first 800,000 next week.

Drug charge blasted

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Prosecutors moved today to defuse a defense contention that Priscilla Davis was under the influence of narcotics the night she was shot and her lover slain.

Through questioning of two ambulance attendants, the prosecution sought to show the state's star witness was both responsive and intelligible as she recounted details of the summertime 1976 shootings.

Previous testimony indicated she told the ambulance attendants that her estranged husband, Cullen, had "gone crazy" and was "killing my kids and everybody else" at the Fort Worth mansion.

A prosecutor told the judge in Cullen Davis' capital murder trial he expects the defense to contend Mrs. Davis had taken unspecified drugs before returning to her home from an evening of dinner and drinks.

Mrs. Davis put the finishing strokes on 13 days of often stormy testimony Thursday, but vowed to return on recall if necessary.

"I don't want to jeopardize this case in any way," the defendant's estranged wife said. "I want to make sure I'm available if needed, and I'm sure I will be."

The state summoned a second ambulance attendant, Dan Brunner, 19, as the seventh witness in its case against the Fort Worth millionaire or the Aug. 2, 1976 slaying of his stepdaughter Andrea Wilborn, 12. Miss Wilborn was the first to die in the midnight shooting spree that left Mrs. Davis wounded, her boyfriend Stan Farr dead and visitor Gus Gavriel, Jr. crippled with a spinal wound.

The driver of the ambulance that picked up and delivered Mrs. Davis to a hospital the night of the shootings wound up two days of testimony Thursday.

Thomas Southall, 24, told the jury on cross-examination by the defense that he observed no scratches on the face, feet or hands of the wounded socialite. Mrs. Davis had said she fled shoeless across a field to a neighbor's home that night.

"Did you examine her for scratches?" prosecutor Marvin Collins asked before excusing the witness. "No sir," Southall replied.

Salaries and the IRS

Stanley Ledford gained experience in construction work while helping to build an air base on Guadalcanal during World War Two. The war over, he started his own construction business in Washington, D.C. with 10 employees. By 1970 he had built the company up to where he was providing employment for 250 workers.

Supervising all aspects of the business himself, Ledford often worked more than 12 hours a day, sometimes six and seven days a week. Instead of paying dividends to himself or the company's other two stockholders, his son and daughter, he ploughed all earnings of the company over salaries and other expenses back into the business.

He did, however, pay himself an annual salary of some $80,000. And that's where Ledford got into trouble with the IRS.

Obviously seeking to hit the company with a double tax blow, corporate and individual income taxes, salaries being deductible expenses, the IRS cited a law which prohibits paying executives or any other employe an "unreasonably" high salary and ruled arbitrarily that Ledford's contribution to the company's success only entitled him to a salary of $50,000.

Ledford, understandably, took the case to the Tax Court which, happily, ruled for him and against the IRS.

Noting that Ledford's hard work and long hours on the job were "largely responsible" for the success of his business, the court ruled that he was entitled to the salary he paid himself. Apparently swaying the court's decision was the fact that a big corporation had tried to purchase Ledford's company and had offered him $100,000 a year to stay and run it.

For once, the IRS was frustrated but the incident serves as a warning of the danger of that agency's grab for power, and begs for questions to be asked and answered. How, in a land of supposedly free people, did a law limiting salaries ever get on the books, and how did the IRS, a tax-collecting agency, get into the "business" of deciding what constitutes "reasonable" and "unreasonable" salaries?

Straws in the wind

Sometimes bits and pieces of news filtering out of the nation's capital tell us more than the big headline stories. For instance, these choice morsels picked up by the U.S. News and World Report's "Washington Whispers" reporter.

— Advised in a memo sent to him by an aide that one part of the federal government uses taxpayer money to subsidize the growing of tobacco, while another part of that same government uses taxpayer funds to fight the health hazards that smoking allegedly poses, an irked President Carter scribbled across the paper: "I refuse to be drawn into this fruitless issue."

— In other words, ignore blatant contradictions and maybe they will go away. Or, better yet, as suggested by the next item, let one's staff erect a protective barrier against the intrusion of unpleasant facts.

— In the eternal jockeying for position that surrounds the inhabitant of the Oval Office, Stuart Eizenstat, the President's assistant for domestic affairs, is slowly but surely gaining the upper hand. Memos from within the White House must now get a covering note from Eizenstat before going to Carter, who, according to aides, often does not read beyond what Eizenstat has to say.

One is reminded of the general who, in a pithy reference to the protective efforts of his staff officers, remarked: "The lowest private on this post is better informed than me."

And finally in contrast to Mr. Carter's election promise to cut government spending and streamline the bureaucracy, this gem reported by USN&WR speaks volumes.

— A new innovation by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) requiring that all visitors to the agency sign their names appears to be backfiring. Annoyed visitors are signing fictitious names such as "Mickey Mouse" and "Elmer Fudd." Cost of the sign-in policy to the taxpayers? A mere $56,000 a year to pay the salaries of bureaucrats handling the sign-in chores.

And so it goes.

'It oughta be a sure sale now—lookit how far I got my foot in the door'

A call for labor liberty

It is high time for the nation's political leadership to set labor policy based on fairness and personal liberty rather than the demands of big labor unions, the president of the United Industrial Council said in his annual Labor Day message.

"Organized labor is no longer the frail infant it was when it was according its many privileges and protections," said John G. Hutchens. "It is a lusty giant that is using its special position to bully working people and the American people as a whole."

Hutchens said that since the New Deal in the 1930's, the "cornerstone of labor's strength" has been its coercive powers of exclusive representation, union shop, and compulsory union dues, not voluntary principles.

"Predictably, these powers have been subject to widespread abuse," Hutchens said. "Corruption, violence, and contemptuous disregard for public welfare and individual rights have been characteristic of union activity for the past 40 years.

Hutchens called on political leaders at all levels of government to join the "substantial majority" of the American people who, according to recent polls favor a return to voluntarist union membership and the application of antitrust laws to labor unions.

"The right of a worker to join a union presupposes the right of that same worker to abstain from union membership," Hutchens said. "It is a matter of simple justice. It is also a matter of general prosperity."

Hutchens said states with so-called "right-to-work" laws which require union membership to be voluntary have lower rates of unemployment and higher rates of job creation and capital investment than states without "right-to-work" laws.

"It is not fair," Hutchens added, "to the public that monopoly unions be allowed to fix wage rates for entire industries or to bar the use of prefabricated materials or other labor and cost saving devices."

The United States Industrial Council, headquartered in Nashville, Tennessee, is an alliance of more than 4,000 American businesses, including many of the nation's leading corporations employing more than three million workers.

Dear Editor,

The highest function of education, I would maintain, is to help people to understand the meaning of their lives, and become more sensitive to the meaning of other peoples' lives. Education stretches the range and complexity of relationships that make sense to us.

Point in fact! Why did the voters of Gray County recently overturn the school bond issue? I maintain it is senseless and selfish to deprive the young people a chance to gain education in proper facilities. It is a travesty to any thinking human being to allow the petty persuasions of a few "blockaders" to deny adequate lighting and necessary repairs in a school district that is free from debt in a county out-of-debt. It is a well known proverb, "nothing ventured, nothing gained" that says if we are to transcend our own immediate environment, we must have access to the record of the past and present, learn skills to tell good data from poor, be able to read and convey competent ethical and practical judgments.

How do we extend the appeal of such education and above all support it against the hostility of people who are frightened or outraged by it? We preserve and encourage that great potential housed in our youth by what we do — do we care to venture ahead or let these fabulous mental resources crumble like the ceilings under which these Gray Co. kids are expected to gain education? Education derives its meaning from the Latin educare, "to lead out;" let's lead our children out of darkness and put some light over their heads!

Competition is keen for mourner award

Jim Fitzgerald

By JIM FITZGERALD
There has been no hint that Groucho Marx died from a drug overdose. If you are a show biz celebrity, there is something to be said for waiting 86 years to die, and I just said it!

When someone like Elvis Presley dies, two races are immediately begun.

In the first, newspapers race to uncover the secret autopsy which proves the star did not die from cancer. The real cause of death was acute perforation resulting from an unnatural relationship between the star and his guitar pick.

In the second race, the star's bereaved fans compete for sorrow honors. Who loved the lost star most? Some heartless people might measure this adoration by the number of albums bought or concerts attended while the star still shone. But this is too commercial. Money can't buy everything, including a sincere lump in the throat.

What counts is not economic investment in the star's memorial T-shirts. What counts is how loud a fan wails when first informed of the death. How far will the fan travel to throw his or her first born under the wheels of the star's hearse?

Ingenuity counts. Not everyone can get to the funeral. Thousands of Elvis fans were left moaning in airports by Memphis-bound airplanes which didn't have room for one more case of hysteria. But that doesn't mean the first prize for Magnificent Mourning can't be awarded to a mourner who never even sees the cortege.

Personally, in the case of Elvis, I was most impressed by the employees of Texas Instruments Inc., a factory in Midland, Texas, hundreds of miles from Memphis. They proved that if your sorrow is real, it is not necessary to see the corpse to get sick.

A few hours after Presley's death was announced, a Texas Instruments worker fainted. Within the next 30 minutes, four other workers keeled over. Plant officials, fearing some toxic gas, ordered employees evacuated to a parking lot where 100 others said they felt faint.

Inspection of the factory uncovered no organic cause for the contagion. But a Dallas professor, Dr. Heinz Eichenwald, blamed it on mass anxiety caused by the death of Elvis Presley.

"We see this often in the death of public figures with whom people identify or admire," Dr. Eichenwald said.

No other factory, in Texas or anywhere, reported an increase in faintings after Presley's death. Certainly this indicates that Texas Instruments workers loved Elvis more than anyone else did, at least under the group plan. You can expect that these people will receive the recognition they deserve when the Magnificent Mourning trophy is awarded in the mass sorrow category.

I was never a Presley fan, but that was my fault, not his. It was not Elvis' fault that he started singing in 1954 when I couldn't hear him. I was still in seclusion, recovering from the death of Glenn Miller.

I wonder how Presley's fans would like it if his body were lost somewhere outside Memphis? That's what happened to Miller

Today in history

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, September 9th, the 252nd day of 1977. There are 113 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history
On this date in 1776, the term "United States" became official in a ruling of the Second Continental Congress.

On this date
In 1830, Charles Durant made early aviation history by flying in a balloon from New York City across the Hudson River to Perth Amboy, N.J.

In 1850, California was admitted to the Union as the 31st state.

In 1893, the First Lady, Mrs. Grover Cleveland, became the mother of a baby girl! It was the first time that a child had been born to a first lady in the White House.

In 1919, Boston police went on strike. Massachusetts Governor Calvin Coolidge ruled that they would not be permitted to return to their jobs on grounds they had no right to strike and endanger public safety.

In 1926, the National Broadcasting Company was formed as a service of the Radio Corporation of America.

In 1946, the formal surrender of about 1 million Japanese soldiers took place in China, at Nanking.

Ten years ago, a 20-year-old Kansas woman, Debra Dene Barnes, was crowned the new "Miss America" in Atlantic City.

Five years ago, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger headed for Moscow for talks with Soviet leaders on European security.

One year ago, Mao Tse-Tung, 82-year-old leader of the Chinese Communist revolution, died in Peking.

Today's birthday. Former Republican Presidential candidate Alfred Landon is 90 years old.

Thought for today. "The American, by nature, is optimistic. He is experimental, an inventor and a builder who builds best when called upon to build greatly" — President John F. Kennedy.

Habe Das Will Travel
A haberdasher is basically a dealer in accessories — shirts, ties, socks. Peddlers in Germany would cry their wares by calling "Habe das" — in English — "I have that."

When the sellers settled in stores they kept their traveling name — haberdasher.

US could trade Korea aid for Tongsun Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — A New York congressman says he may try again in his effort to cut U.S. aid to South Korea to force Seoul into returning indicted rice dealer Tongsun Park to the United States.

Rep. Bruce Caputo, R-N.Y., whose amendment to reduce food aid to Seoul was defeated 205-181 Thursday, said he may reintroduce it if Park is not returned to face charges and questioning by congressional investigators.

The House vote came several hours after a top South Korean official said his government could not force Park to return to the United States to face bribery charges arising from an alleged scheme to buy influence in Congress.

Caputo's amendment would have cut American food aid overseas by $100 million, stipulating that Congress wanted the deletion to be made in the aid earmarked for Seoul. South Korea receives about that amount in commodity assistance from the United States.

He argued for the cut in Food for Peace aid because "through this program Tongsun Park perpetrated his frauds against this Congress."

Park is accused in the 36-count indictment handed down last week with using commissions from sales of Korean rice in attempts to buy influence for the Korean government with several congressmen.

The House also defeated a second amendment that would have halted all American assistance, including military aid, to South Korea.

The vote on that amendment, by Rep. Andrew Jacobs, D-Ind., was 288-120.

In Seoul on Thursday, Foreign Minister Park Tong-jin said his government cannot legally force Park to return to the United States.

He said South Korea had asked Park, at the request of the United States, to return, and maintained that his government is cooperating with the United States.

Earlier, the South Korean news agency quoted the foreign minister as saying Seoul "finds no ... reason to turn over its national merely on the ground that he is suspected of having violated foreign law."

Caputo said the foreign minister's statements leave the United States "with few cards left to play."

Caputo told reporters he was surprised at the support his amendment received, although it did not pass.

"I feel the vote definitely was a signal to the South Korean government," he said, adding that his amendment was an attempt to induce "reasonable cooperation" from Seoul.

South Korea and the United States do not have an extradition treaty. Park had been living in London, but returned to Seoul last month after reports that Washington might try to have Great Britain return him.

Earlier, President Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, said Carter had written South Korean President Park Chung-hee, "in attempts to secure testimony" from the rice dealer.

Meanwhile, in South Korea, Tongsun Park was called in for his second interrogation session with the Seoul Prosecution Office since he returned Aug. 18.

Golden anniversary

Family and friends of Mr. and Mrs. R.W. Talley are invited to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at reception hosted by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hess of Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Bill Miller of Mexia and Russell D. Benefit dance to help boy's hospital costs

A memorial benefit dance, originally scheduled tonight, for Teddy Bob Malone, 15, who died Thursday in Houston has been postponed until Sept. 16.

The event will be from 9 to 12 p.m. in the Pampa Bull Barn to help defray hospital expenses of $1,500 per day while he was in a Houston hospital prior to his death.

The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Malone of Kingsmill.

Admittance to the dance will be $2 per person with all proceeds to go toward hospitalization expenses.

Music will be provided by "Jasper," a local rock group.

Tickets may be bought at the door or from one of the Jasper members.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Myrt Leigh at 665-1339 or 665-2264 or Maria Mansell at 669-6389.

Miss Ohio wins talent in pageant

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Miss Ohio, Susan Yvonne Perkins, sang a sultry version of Billie Holiday's "Good Morning, Heartache" to win the talent competition in the second night of preliminaries at the Miss America Pageant here.

In the swimsuit competition, Miss Arkansas, Bunnie Carolyn Holbert, was the winner.

Miss Perkins, 23, a recent biology graduate of Miami University in Ohio, is a speech writer for the senate Republican Caucus in the Ohio Legislature.

JFK confidant dies at 53

BOSTON (AP) — Kenneth P. O'Donnell, one of the most trusted and influential members of the Irish corps of political confidants of President John F. Kennedy, died today of an undisclosed ailment. He was 53.

O'Donnell, who was also known as "Kenny," was appointments secretary throughout the Kennedy administration and later served as aide to President Lyndon B. Johnson.

He had been hospitalized since Aug. 11 at Beth Israel Hospital.

Doctors declined to discuss O'Donnell's illness at the request of his family.

O'Donnell was a member of Kennedy's inner circle during every major decision from choosing the cabinet to the Cuban missile crisis.

As appointments secretary, he had almost absolute say over who got in to see Kennedy.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, said O'Donnell had more influence in shaping important decisions than anyone else.

"From my view," Salinger said, "O'Donnell had the greatest responsibility, influence and accessibility to the president."

Jacqueline Kennedy used to call him "the wolfhound," because when she saw him enter a room, she knew the president would have to go back to work.

O'Donnell worked on precinct organization during Kennedy's successful Senate campaign against Henry Cabot Lodge in 1962. Then he went to Washington as administrative assistant to Robert Kennedy on the Senate labor racket committee. But he left that in 1969 to join the Kennedy for President campaign.

He became Kennedy's right hand man, a role he kept throughout the Kennedy presidency.

After Kennedy's assassination, O'Donnell stayed on in the White House with President Johnson, but he said it was never the same. "Of course we didn't have the personal relationships with Johnson that we had with President Kennedy," he remembered.

When his Washington career was over, O'Donnell returned to Massachusetts to run for governor. He made unsuccessful attempts in 1966 and 1970.

O'Donnell was born in Worcester, the son of a Holy Cross football coach.

He went into the Air Force right out of high school at the start of World War II and served as a bombardier in 30 missions over Europe.

O'Donnell then entered Harvard and majored in government and political science. He was quarterback and captain of the football squad. One of his teammates was Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the president he later was to serve.

O'Donnell's first wife, Helen, died recently, and he remarried. His widow, Asta, is a native of Germany.

He had five children by his first wife: Kenneth Jr., twins Kevin and Kathleen, Mark and Helen.

Indictments in US 'disappoint' Park

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Tongsun Park, indicted in Washington for his role in an alleged South Korean influence-buying scheme in Congress, said today he was "surprised and totally disappointed" at the American legal action against him.

Emerging from 3 1/2 hours of questioning by Seoul prosecutors, Park told reporters he did not think he ought to return to the United States as long as the American press — in his view — was attempting to try him on its terms in "an emotion-charged atmosphere."

"I always have had great confidence in the American people. Its fairness and justice will prevail even on my situation," the Korean businessman said in English at a news conference here.

Park, named in a 36-count indictment handed down in Washington, is accused of using commissions from Korean rice sales to buy influence for the Korean government with several U.S. congressmen.

He said today that whatever he had done in Washington was performed "on my own account" and the Korean government "had no part in it." The South Korean government has disclaimed any responsibility in the Capitol Hill scandal.

It was the second time the millionaire rice dealer had been questioned by Korean investigators in connection with the alleged influence-buying scheme since he flew to Seoul from London on Aug. 18.

Park said he welcomed the current probe by Korean prosecutors, adding he hoped the investigation would give him the opportunity to clear himself and restore his reputation "at least in my home ground."

Legionnaire disease hits
COLUMBUS, OHIO (AP) — The state's fifth case of Legionnaires disease at Riverside Methodist Hospital has been diagnosed in a 79-year-old Columbus woman.

Jon Christensen, a spokesman for the state Health Department, said Thursday that the woman, who was not identified, was admitted to the hospital on Aug. 5, treated for pneumonia-like symptoms and released 13 days later.

A sample of her blood was sent to the national Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, along with samples from about 200 patients, hospital employees and other workers.

Four workers killed at Wyoming well site

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP) — Four workers were officially reported dead and two others were "unaccounted for" this morning after an oil tank exploded at an oil well site in the Red Desert about 25 miles northwest of here.

The explosion Thursday night ignited 14 other oil tanks in the area and created what one observer described as "a mountaintop on fire."

The well, owned by Davis Oil Co., was being prepared for production by Halliburton Services, said E.W. Willingham, superintendent of Halliburton's Rock Springs office.

Willingham said workers were preparing to inject crude oil and an additive into the well under pressure to create a hydraulic fracture intended to produce oil. He said the actual injection was scheduled for today.

Most of the more than 20 workers at the site escaped injury, authorities said. A man identified as Andrew Chappos was listed in critical condition at a Rawlins hospital with leg and arm burns. Another man, Garth Osborn, 21, was treated for leg burns and released from a Rock Springs hospital.

A spokesman for the Carbon County Sheriff's Office in Rawlins said a telephone call about 8 p.m. "urgently requested all the ambulance units we could muster."

"By the time our ambulances got out there a little after 9 o'clock, the deputies on the scene turned away the ambulances," he said. "It appeared that those missing were not going to make it out and there was no need for them."

Watergate mastermind out of jail

Liddy won't talk or write

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL, Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The years in prison softened Gordon Liddy's voice, shrunk his physique, made him less cocky and overbearing. But they didn't change his view of Watergate: if his president asked, he'd do it again.

more about Watergate and has said less about it than anyone else, so the questions came: Q. Can you tell us why you went into the Watergate? A. I can, but I won't. Q. Can you tell us what you were looking for? A. I could, but I will not. Q. Why won't you? A. I choose not to.

know something, I simply will not speak about it to you. If I say something to you, I will tell you the truth. Liddy's plan had been to speak to a few invited reporters. Instead, the rented hotel suite was jammed with reporters, cameras and microphones. One network, ABC, had him to itself first.

opened to Gordon Liddy was not. "I undertook willingly a risk," he said. "I knew what I was doing and I accept the consequences, good, bad or indifferent. There could have been some very favorable consequences for me. I would have accepted those without gain-saying them... it's five years, it's just a chapter. There's many more chapters to be written. Liddy said he isn't planning to write a Watergate book as so many other principals have done, but he isn't ruling one out either. He is trying to write a novel, but has trouble with fiction. He has many job offers, but has accepted none.

Carter may okay bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter appears to be leaning toward the production of neutron warheads, but officials say he is delaying a decision because NATO allies are not anxious to publicly embrace the new weapons.

of the sources said. The source added that the NATO allies appear eager to have neutron weapons but are not ready yet "to take the political heat at home."

The secretary added: "The enhanced radiation warhead, because of its characteristics which limit the damage to people and to objects to a fairly well specified radius, would allow it to be used in military situations of interest, against tanks, for example, without doing much damage to people and to things outside that radius."

Zero Mostel, 62, dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Zero Mostel once observed: "The theater is like a cathedral — I mean a shul (synagogue). At the end of it, there's a cup of tea. Solemnity and mirth were never far apart for Mostel, who died of heart failure Thursday in Philadelphia at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital. He was 62. The mammoth actor always seemed to be exploiting his talent as if running a rummage sale at Tiffany's."

Happened on the Way to the Forum," from the avant-garde of Ionesco's "Rhinoceros" to the sentimental tribulations of "Fiddler on the Roof." The latter two portrayals won him Broadway Tony awards.

When stricken, Mostel was about to start the troy in Philadelphia of "The Merchant," a new play by Britisher Arnold Wesker based approximately on the subject matter of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice." It was scheduled to arrive on Broadway on Nov. 15.

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Los Angeles attorney Harold Rhoden says forensic test results he will file in the Howard Hughes Mormon will case Monday are "the next best thing" to a Hughes fingerprint on the document.

Offers proof for Hughes will. "Short of a fingerprint on the will of Hughes, there's nothing that would be any better, or maybe a movie of his writing it, that would be pretty good," he said.

Freeze said he would take a deposition from Dummer on Friday.

Police battle Moluccans

ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP) — A hundred crack anti-terror police battled armed South Moluccans for more than an hour early today before searching a Moluccan youth club for weapons.

The rioters were protesting the trial of eight young South Moluccan nationalists charged with hijacking a train and seizing a schoolhouse in northern Holland last June. Today was the final day of the trial, and the prosecutor demanded maximum prison terms of 10 years for seven of the defendants and a four-year sentence for the eighth.

The court is to announce its verdict Sept. 29. Armored vehicles backed the police and a helicopter beamed a spotlight through the pre-dawn darkness as the troops fought to enter the youth clubhouse. Police said that at one stage of the battle 30 policemen were pinned down for 10 minutes by heavy automatic fire.

Dummer was named a beneficiary in that document. The Los Angeles attorney declined to elaborate, but said the tests were performed "somewhere back East" by a forensic chemist.

Freeze represents a relative of Hughes contesting the alleged will. In addition, Freeze said he would question Mrs. Dummer about words she had earlier been asked to spell that were also in the document. He claimed she misspelled the words in the same manner as those in the purported will.

The first armed car robbery took place on March 11, 1927. The Flathead Gang dynamited the vehicle on a road about seven miles from Pittsburgh and made off with more than $100,000 cash.

Advice

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my son's future in-laws. He has been going with this girl for four years, they've been engaged for a year and a half, and all this time, my husband and I have not met her parents.

We have often asked the girl and my son if we could meet her folks, but we never got a straight answer.

Finally, with the wedding coming up in a few months, I decided to call the girl's parents and invite them over so that we could get acquainted. The mother said she would call me back to let me know when they could make it. That was eight weeks ago. No call yet. I am at a loss as to what to do.

Everyone will think it's odd if they find out at the wedding that we have never met the bride's parents. They live less than a mile from us.

Should I drop the matter? Or should I pursue it?
PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: If you haven't met the girl's parents by now, collar your son and find out why. Explain to him that as parents of the groom, you do have a role in the wedding plans. [The rehearsal dinner.] Don't call the girl's parents again.

It will be awkward indeed if you don't meet them before the wedding, but if that's the way they want it, for whatever reason, so be it.

DEAR ABBY: Am I wrong for refusing to sleep with the man I love because he wants his dog to sleep on the floor of our bedroom?

When I walked out, he said the dog always slept on the floor in the same bedroom with him and his first wife, who is now deceased.

Abby, I have never had dogs and I am not used to them. I told him he could put the dog in the other bedroom, but he said he wouldn't do it—that next to his deceased wife, the dog came first. So where do I stand?
NO DOG LOVER

DEAR NO: Right behind his dog.

DEAR ABBY: My older sister irritates me no end. She never takes my word for anything. She always has to check it out. If I were in the habit of lying, I could understand it, but I'm not. I always try to stick to the truth.

Another thing about her that bugs me is that if I happen to be out when she phones me, when she finally reaches me she always asks where I've been. Abby, I just hate having to account for my whereabouts. She doesn't have to know every move I make!

I'm not a child. Far from it. I'm a married woman in my 40s.

Any suggestions?
YOUNGER SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Yes, grow up. You're still intimidated by your older sister. Don't blame her if you lack the courage to tell her that: (a) you resent her checking out everything you say because you're generally truthful, and (b) if you want her to know where you've been, you'll volunteer the information.

Ask Dr. Lamb

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — When I was in college I had an abortion. I'm Rh negative and my boyfriend was Rh positive. I had the operation in my sixth week with no complications.

Now about five years later my husband who is Rh negative and I are interested in starting a family. I'm concerned about the effect of the abortion on a future pregnancy.

Is there any reason I should consult a doctor before we start trying for a child? If so, what could be done?

DEAR READER — You've got a lot going for you. An Rh negative mother may develop a sensitivity to Rh positive blood of the baby but the baby has to be Rh positive and the sensitization doesn't start until the baby is about two months along. If you had an abortion at six weeks that should be too early to sensitize you. Incidentally, in pregnancies that have gone longer and end in an abortion, even if it is spontaneous, the doctor can give an Rh immune globulin within 72 hours and help to protect the woman from developing the sensitivity.

Now for the really good news. We all have two genes to determine whether we are Rh positive or negative. The Rh positive gene is dominant. That means that anyone who tests out as Rh negative has two Rh negative genes and cannot transmit anything but Rh negative genes. So if you and your husband are both Rh negative neither of you can transmit Rh positive genes and all of your children will be Rh negative. In that case you will not develop a reaction to any of them. The problem only occurs when the baby is Rh positive and the mother is Rh negative.

Any woman who is Rh negative should be certain about her husband's blood type. If there is any chance at all that the husband has Rh positive genes the doctors can be prepared to treat the mother at delivery if she has an Rh positive baby to protect her from becoming sensitized. I am sending you the Health Letter number 6-4 Blood Type, Rh Factor and Transfusions, for your information. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a woman 30 years old. I wear hard contact lenses. I've worn them for two years now.

I have bags under my eyes and I just can't get rid of them. I didn't notice the bags before when I wore regular glasses, so, do you think the contacts are causing them? Would soft contact lenses make them go away or do you know of some other way?

DEAR READER — No. Contact lenses, hard or soft, have nothing to do with bags under your eyes. You may be able to see the area now for the first time since you can see plainly without regular glasses and the frames obscuring that area.

If you really have significant bags under the eyes, the probability at your age is that they are fat pads. We all have a natural fat pad under the lower eyelid. Cosmetic surgeons can remove them surgically but unless they are really significant I would think you should just ignore them.

Dr. Lamb answers representative letters of general interest in his column. Write to him in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Polly's pointers

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — I was out of town for a few days and when I returned home the odor from my garbage disposal was horrid. Apparently something fell into the disposal unnoticed and rotted during my absence. I have tried using several things like a drain opener, vinegar, soap and cleansing powder but the odor remains. Please tell me how to have a clean smelling kitchen again. — R.J.W.

DEAR R.J.W. — You might cut up a lemon and run it through the disposal for a fresher smell. Vanilla works wonders in a refrigerator and you might put a couple teaspoons in a cup of water and let it run through, or put a cup of baking soda down the drain and then flush it through with a cup of boiling water. When I remove the box of soda I keep in my refrigerator I always empty the soda in the drain and flush it through. Perhaps our readers will have some other ideas for you. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those magazines that put recipes or coupons on the other side of a page that has a good article. Often a recipe is on the back of a coupon and one is forced to copy the recipe in order to be able to use the coupon. There are a few magazines that do organize their articles and coupons but I wish more of them would do the same. — MONA.

Liven kitchen with cabinet facelift

Who says you have to get out of the kitchen if you can't stand the clutter? Take a weekend and create a hearth your family and friends will love to live in. All it takes is imagination, careful organization, some up-to-date tricks and tools of the trade. Here's how.

Start with your walls. First, get rid of tough grease and dirt spots with an aerosol spray cleaner. A sunny yellow brings a slice of sunshine inside; dark backgrounds let your pots, pans and knick-knacks claim center stage. Wall graphics, ranging from simple color bands and squares to fanciful Peter Max rainbows, can create a unique environment or visually correct a defect in the shape of your kitchen. Block out your design, outline it with masking tape on the wall and paint. If your walls cry for a plastering, try hanging fabric instead. For quick cleaning later, apply an aerosol waterproofing or plastic laminate spray on the fabric. Use an aerosol spray glue on those leftover remnants to give new life to your canisters and cookbooks.

Now, turn your attention to the all-important trimmings. Windows, for example, should reveal the vision you'd like.

If it's an indoor garden, why not showcase your plants hanging at different levels from the rim of an old basketball hoop attached to the top of the window. Spray paint the hoop for a brand-new brilliance.

If you like the view, frame it with shutters or 2 by 4's, spray painted or covered with fabric.

Old cabinets and refrigerators can be revitalized with stencil designs, bought at hardware stores or homemade from stiff board or cloth. Tape them down firmly. Use an aerosol spray paint in a coordinating color. Be sure to follow directions on the label.

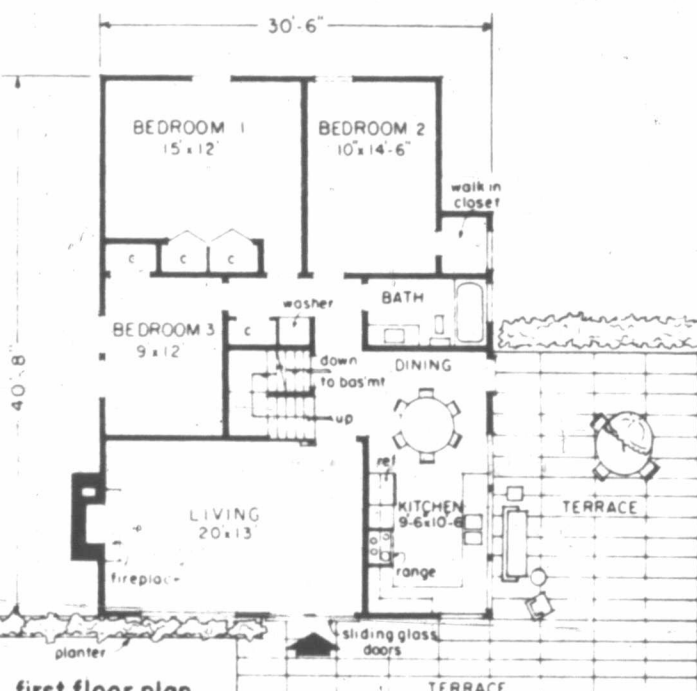

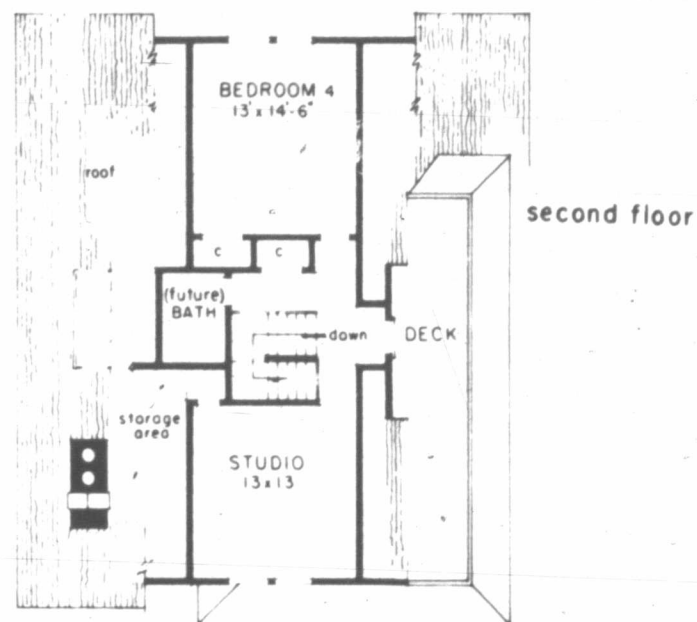

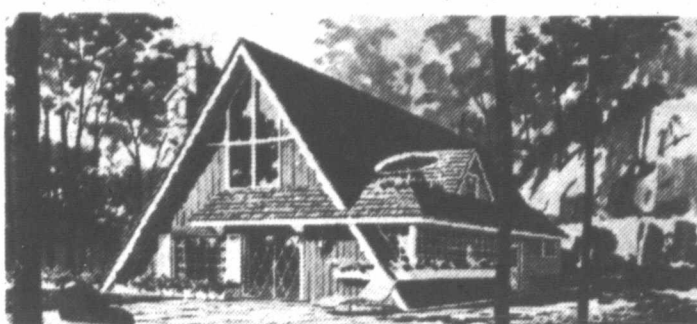

Highlight your decoration with personal touches. Decoupage — made easy and unmessy with spray glue — transforms old wedding gifts and hand-me-downs into objects d'art. Involve the whole family in your search for the perfect cutouts and labels. Old ticket stubs, invitations and photographs can become a collage wall hanging.

Discarded juice, soup and coffee cans create an unusual kitchen utensil organizer when glued together. Spray painted in a bright, shiny enamel and hung on the walls. For a special, fall finishing touch, top your table with a hand-picked bouquet of dried flowers. Spray with an aerosol lacquer to preserve their fullness. And if your kitchen is large with room to spare, why not include a comfortable sofa or reading chair.

THERE IS A BIT OF A DEPARTURE FROM THE usual in this "A" frame home as it has a wrap-around pent roof which starts at the front, covering the front entrance, and going 2/3rds down the side. The projected wall down the side adds floor space for the kitchen and bath and interrupts the main roof rafter framing at the ceiling. The living lounge has a log burning fireplace. There are three bedrooms on the first floor and two large rooms on the second. Plan HA956M, designed by Rudolph A. Matern, has 1,205 square feet on the first floor and 942 on the second. Those wishing further information may write the architect—enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope—at 89 E. Jericho Tpke., Mineola, N.Y., 11501.

Lobbies aimed at single women

By VIVIAN BROWN

Associated Press Writer
Single women who are traveling alone for business or pleasure will find a new kind of welcome mat at hotels. For example, "lobby lounges are making a comeback and that is good news for women," points out international interior designer, Ellen Lehman McCluskey of New York.

"Women don't want to go into bars, but they don't want to eat in their bedrooms and be closed, even if they are shy. They feel strange alone in formal dining rooms. They want to see a little provide it. They can see the world pass by and do it without looking out of order as they sip tea or something stronger."

A leading interior designer of hotels — she has been involved in more than 50 partial or complete decorating enterprises in hotels — Mrs. McCluskey is a big influence on design thinking.

In Washington the Hilton lobby has a modernized gazebo with tables and a piano right in the middle of the lobby, an ideal location for putting women at ease," she explained.

At the Waldorf-Astoria her octagonal gazebo at Peacock Alley spills out into the lobby. In London she put trellises in the lobby lounge of the Churchill, and she has revitalized hotel lobbies in Hamburg and Monte Carlo.

Some lobby lounges, such as the turn-of-the-century Palm Court at the Plaza Hotel in New York, survived the ax when lounges disappeared decades ago. Now Mrs. McCluskey has begun a restoration of the area around it with a stunning runner and carpet of English roses that was recreated from a floral design in early photographs of the hotel.

New attitudes are apparent in the reception given to lone woman diners. Mrs. McCluskey points out.

"In some hotels it always has been a well kept secret where the dining room is located. Now they are being updated and one hotel has partitioned a big area into four smaller dining rooms, so lone women need not feel strange as they do walking into an enormous room. Headwailers are instructed to take care of single women, has become less formal."

Mrs. McCluskey suggests candlelight for dining tables because "it is more flattering to women," and she often uses colored table cloths and real flowers. Hotels have become more competitive so they are genuinely interested in doing what is best, she says.

Bedrooms and bathrooms have better lighting too, she maintains, so that "you don't go downstairs and see yourself in another mirror and say 'oh, my gosh,'" as she has done.

Ever mindful of women's needs, Mrs. McCluskey does not ignore men. She is careful to suggest for women what will also please men, whether she decorates for residences, restaurants or hotels. Right now she is involved in the rebuilding of Atlantic City to suit its new image as a gambling center, and she isn't thinking along typical lines.

FTC plans loan rules

By KEN HERMAN
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — A proposed set of revised federal lending rules will "protect the consumer" from his own ignorance, says a Dallas consumer advocate.

But a Fort Worth bank official says he thinks the Federal Trade Commission has been misled in formulating the new rules.

Such feelings have set the stage for national hearings on the proposed rules scheduled to begin Sept. 12 in Dallas. Already 61 persons have registered to testify before an administrative law judge who will preside over the hearings that will run through Sept. 23.

FTC spokesman Freddie Luna said the proposed regulations "would have dramatic impact on creditor-consumer relationships."

Joe Martin, senior vice president of First United Bank Corporation in Fort Worth, said the FTC has been misled.

"They are proposing an additional series of regulations that would presumably remedy certain abuses," Martin said. "What I'm afraid of is that they're overlooking that abuses do not exist except in limited instances."

Dallas attorney Larry Nealer, however, sees the proposed regulations as overdue and needed to protect consumers from themselves.

The proposed rules would make sweeping changes in procedures concerning lending practices.

One proposed regulation would force creditors to alter current procedures whereby a creditor can retain an extended lien on an item if the buyer decides to finance a second item when the balance on the first item has been reduced.

Nealer said the process allows a creditor to repossess an item although it may have been paid for. The proposal would force a creditor to apply the payments to the first item until it is paid off.

But Martin said the revised process would mean a creditor might not receive payments on an item for up to a year after he sold it.

The proposed rules also restrict creditors from calling third parties such as neighbors and employers in an attempt to collect.

"I've heard of cases where they've called an employer so often that the employer told the man he would be fired if he got another call," Nealer said.

But Martin claims calling third parties is often a necessary tool to find "skippers."

The FTC-proposed regulations would also alter repossession procedures. Under the rules a creditor would have to credit the consumer's account with the fair market value of the repossessed item.

"It's been a very abused practice," Nealer said. "They repossess and sell it for about 50 per cent of its value. Then they sue the consumer for the rest. The consumer usually assumes once the car is taken it's over. But they're in for a rude awakening."

Martin, however, said the proposal is "in practice virtually impossible."

"The item usually has not been kept very well. Very few repossessed cars are in saleable condition. It costs money to fix them up," he said.

The result, he added, is that the new rule would require lenders to credit a consumer's account for more than the item is worth.

"It would substantially reduce the amount we would lend," he said.

The FTC has also proposed the end of blanket security agreements—under which a consumer having trouble getting a loan uses all his household goods as collateral.

Martin said it is necessary to have a collection tool. They say "Either you make the payment today or we're picking up everything in your house," the lawyer said. "They make the threats day and night."

Nealer and Martin also disagree on the need for a detailed notice telling a co-signer exactly what he is signing.

Nealer said the notification, warns the co-signer that he is responsible for the debt if the borrower cannot pay it back.

"It tells him exactly what the creditor can and can't do," Nealer said.

But Martin said the notice "would scare hell out of a guy."

He also does not like the three-day "cooling off period" provided for in the proposed rules. Under that rule a borrower and co-signer would apply for the loan and then in three days come back in and, in effect, re-apply for the money.

Israel threatens Moslems

HASBAYA, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese Moslems in this former Palestinian stronghold near the Israeli border say Israel is threatening them with destruction unless they cooperate.

Officials and other residents of predominantly Muslim towns and villages in the shadow of Mt. Hermon report that Israeli officials across the border have issued several warnings recently.

They charge that the Israelis also directed their Lebanese Christian allies to increase their artillery bombardment even though the Palestinian guerrillas have left the area.

Residents of this market town five miles from Israel said eight persons were killed and 17 wounded by Christian shelling during the past week. Thirty per cent of Hasbaya's 20,000 people are Christians, and the town has stayed out of the Christian-Palestinian battles that have continued since the cease-fire in the Lebanese civil war last November.

"There aren't any Palestinians here, so why are they shelling?" a gendarme asked. He said the town gets about three hits a day from 120mm mortars.

Police said leaders of Hasbaya and three neighboring villages were called over to Israel last week and told they would be shelled unless they supplied water to Marjayoun, a Christian enclave eight miles away.

Munief Khatib, a former member of parliament from Sheba, said leaders of his village recently were taken across the border less than a mile away. He said Israeli officials offered to build them a road and a hospital and supply them with food and ammunition.

"They refused," said Khatib.

Now Sheba's 2,000 villagers are apprehensive about the effect of the refusal, but so far they have not been shelled.

A policeman from Kfar Chouba said the leaders of his village were forced to sign an agreement with the Israelis accepting similar assistance.

One prominent Moslem politician in Beirut charged that Israel "is trying to force protection onto these border towns" as a means of forging a buffer zone along its northern frontier.

The Lebanese residents of this rugged region, known as the Arkoub, have been squeezed for the past 10 years between the Palestinian guerrillas and Israel. Until the Lebanese civil war broke out, the guerrillas used the area as a launching pad for raids into Israel, and the Israeli army regularly raided towns and villages it claimed were harboring the guerrillas.

Crash leaves no survivors

ANCHORAGE (AP) — There were no survivors among the 13 persons aboard the twin-engine plane that slammed into 10,016-foot Mt. Iliamna some 200 miles southeast of Anchorage, Alaska State Troopers said Thursday.

Four members of rescue team reached the crash site Thursday using mountaineering equipment to cross glacier ice and crevasses. A spokesman for the Rescue Coordination Center at Elmendorf AFB said it took the men two hours to reach the wreckage. An Air Force helicopter landed the crew 100 yards above the crash site at the 7,500-foot level of the mountain.

The fuselage was reported to be broken into several pieces and wreckage strewn over a hundred-yard area on the south side of the mountain near the base of the Alaska Peninsula.

Troopers say those aboard the Alaska Aeronautical Industries plane have been identified as pilot Mitchell "Mike" Crandall of Anchorage; co-pilot Gary Bible, 23, of Iliamna; Richard Hanger of Anchorage; Becky Gilder of Anchorage; Merri Seals, 16, of Wasilla, Alaska; Tom Old of Santa Fe, N. Mex.; Jane and Paul Bendemire and their son Dan, of California; Pat and Harold Beckwith of San Antonio; Thad Minninger of Iliamna, and Dr. Michel H. Guerive of Saintes, France.

Ages and hometowns of some of the victims were not immediately available, troopers said.

Recovery of the bodies was to be discussed when the rescue team returned to Anchorage later Thursday, troopers said. That decision will depend on the risk involved in such an undertaking.

The ill-fated DeHavilland Twin Otter was on a 250-mile flight from Iliamna to Anchorage when the accident occurred Tuesday. The last radio communication with the plane was made half an hour after its departure.

The wreckage was spotted Wednesday, but initial efforts to reach the site were hampered by weather and rugged terrain.

An eight-man team from the National Transportation Safety Board in Washington, D.C., was due to arrive Thursday for an on-site investigation of the accident.

Possible jurors asked

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Attorneys in the murder trial of two former Houston policemen were to begin sifting today through 37 prospective jurors — many of whom acknowledged having connections with the Texas Department of Corrections.

Prosecution and defense lawyers agreed Thursday on the 37 finalists in this Southeast Texas city where the TDC is headquartered. Five additional units of the TDC are located in or near the city.

Eleven of the 37 said they were connected to the TDC is headquartered. Five additional units of the TDC are located in or near the city.

Eleven of the 37 said they were connected to the TDC either through current or former employment or the employment of relatives.

Terry Denson, 27, and Stephen Orlando, 21, are on trial for the May 6 beating-drowning of Houston laborer Joe Campos Torres.

Two other officers reportedly involved in the incident were given immunity in return for their testimony during the investigation. A fifth was suspended and later reinstated.

Each of the 11 prospective jurors said his connections with the TDC would not influence his decision should he be chosen.

Defense attorney Bob Bennett told the panel that "much of the news coverage" concerning the Torres case "has been erroneous."

NEW YORK JETS

PROSPECTUS

Michaelis

One season (and 11 defeats) convinced Lou Holtz pro ball wasn't for him. So they've turned to a salty old pro, Walt Michaelis, to inject toughness back into the Jets. Joe Willie's gone, which means end of an era. How to generate points is going to be paramount problem. Michaelis' forte is defense, and here the emphasis is on youth, also a gamble.

OFFENSE

Quarterback: There are still many who aren't convinced Richard Todd is the long-term answer to team's quarterbacking. But he's all they've got for now unless trade dregges up vet. Rating—C

Receiving: On paper it should be good with Jerome Barkum, out most of '76, and David Knight, sure-handed, on the flanks and Richard Caster a talented, swift tight end. Wes Walker, a fleet rookie, is insurance. But who'll get ball to them? Rating—B+

Running: A free agent, Clark Gaines, had to lead the way. And Ed Marinaro, with mediocre skills, is regarded as their quality back. That's the clue to running game, what there is of it. Ex-Steele Steve Davis has the ability to add yardage. Rating—C+

Offensive Line: You'll find the bulk of Marvin Powell, top draftee, at tackle, where help was desperately needed. About the only consistent man up front has been Randy Rasmussen, who goes back to Super Bowl glories. They're looking for new bodies. Rating—C

DEFENSE

Defensive Line: Pass rush has been virtually nil. Carl Barzilauskas, expected to be lower of strength at tackle, has not risen as expected. Lawrence Piliers at end has been pleasant surprise. They've got some old guys—e.g., Billy Newsome—as stop gap. Rating—C

Linebackers: Best yield from last year's fiasco was presence of Greg Buttle as middle linebacker—latest in string of Penn State products. He's future all-pro. Around him are such other youngsters as Bob Martin, Larry Keller. Rating—B-

Secondary: There is fine talent available, if it's used properly, and fronted by people who can keep pressure off. Burgess Owens, Phil Wise, Shafer Suggs are quality players who can develop nucleus of strong unit given time to play together. Rating—B

Kicking, Special Teams: Pat Leahy now has strong hold on field goal chores and provides depth on kickoffs, but Duane Carrell's grip on punting job is tenuous. The return men are couple of little Lous, Piccone and Giammona. Rating—B-

PREDICTION

Unless Walt Michaelis proves to be miracle man, Jets are in for another long year. Fact is they haven't risen above .500 since 1969, and the organization shows no real sign of savvy that it takes to put together a winner. Pick 'em fifth in AFC East.

Marvin Barnes granted parole

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP) — The Rhode Island state prison will soon be losing its best basketball player. Former All-American Marvin Barnes will be checking out next month.

Barnes, who wound up behind bars last May for a probation violation, was granted parole Wednesday and will be returning to the Detroit Pistons on Oct. 14.

"He (Barnes) presented himself very favorably," said Joseph Galkin, Parole Board chairman. "He was contrite. He said he made two mistakes and he learned a hell of a lesson."

The 6-foot-9 forward was given a one-year suspended sentence and placed on probation for three years in 1974 after pleading guilty to assaulting Providence College teammate Larry Kevirtis.

Fishing report

Lake Greenbelt - Catfishing remains very good throughout the lake. Some very nice fish were caught over the period. Fishing for bass continues to improve for fish up to 4 pounds. Many small bass have been caught. Topwater baits have been effective. Fishing for white bass and crappie has been only fair. Bluegills and bullheads are still biting very well. One walleye was caught over the period.

Lake McCluskey - Channel catfishing is very good with numerous fish in the 2 to 4 pound class being caught. Several small bass have been caught and one 4 pound bass was taken. Crappie fishing is still slow. The lake remains nearly at spillway level and the water temperature is 62 degrees.

Lake Pauline - Fishing for bass is picking up. Several fish in the 4 to 8 pound range were caught over the period and one 4 pound 10 ounce fish was taken. Catfishing is fair with the best results coming in for trotlines.

Lake Rita Blanca - The fishing tournament will continue through Labor Day weekend. Several blue and channel catfish from 3 to 5 pounds have been caught so far and also several bass from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 pounds. Sunfishing is fair. No trout have been caught during the tournament.

Lake Marvin - Fishing for bass and sunfish is good. Most of the bass weigh around 2 pounds. Channel catfishing has slowed from previous weeks. Bass fishing has been best using topwater baits.

Lake Tane - The lake remains low and fishing has been slow for all species. A few crappie and sunfish are being caught. Bass and catfish fishing is poor.

Lake Meredith - The lake depth is up to 28 feet and the temperature is now 73 degrees at 3 feet deep. Fishing for flathead catfish and channel catfish is very good. A few fish weighing 14 to 15 pounds have been caught besides many fish in the 2 to 5 pound range. Fishing for white bass has been good at night with the fish being found throughout the lake. Walleye fishing is fair for 2 and 3 pound fish, one 5 pounder was caught during the period. Fishing for other species is slow.

Lake Marquette - The lake is 65 feet deep and the temperature is 76 degrees. Fishing has been very good for channel catfish and flathead catfish. Small bass are biting well in the clear coves and creek channels. Sunfish are also being caught.

Copper Brecks State Park Lake - Fishing is still poor for most species. Very few fishermen have been out the past few weeks. Recent rains and cool weather should help the fishing at the lake.

Texas Parks & Wildlife
LUBBOCK — The 1977-78 Texas hunting licenses are available at license vendors and all Texas Parks and Wildlife Department offices across the state.

The licenses will be valid for the period Sept. 1, 1977 through Aug. 31, 1978. The resident hunting license is $5.25 and the combination resident hunting-fishing license is $8.75. Non-resident - small game license is $37.75 and will be required for out-of-state hunters after quail, prairie chicken, pheasant, dove and other small game species. The non-resident - general hunting license is $100.75 and will allow out-of-state hunters to bag all legal Texas species including deer and turkey.

These licenses are printed on waterproof, tear-resistant paper and each license will contain buck, antlerless deer and turkey tags. The date and month of kill on all tags must be marked out in ink or cut out and tags attached securely to the carcass before transporting or moving the carcass. The place and county of kill must also be filled in at this time.

A resident license is required of every Texas citizen hunting outside of the county of residence between the ages of 17-45 years old. Persons hunting on land where they reside or persons hunting deer and turkey in county of residence must have an exempt hunting license which costs $1.25.

More information is available in the new 1977-78 Texas Hunting and Sport Fishing Guide which can be obtained free at all license vendors and P&WD offices.

Harvesters, Demons eye first victory

By TOM KENSER
 Pampa News Sports Editor

Pampa will try to get on the win side of the 1977 ledger when the Harvesters knock heads with the Demons tonight in a 7:30 encounter at Dumas.

The Harvesters are reeling from a 31-20 shellacking at the hands of Hereford, while Dumas would like to forget a 49-15 pasting by Palo Duro.

Pampa's offense suffered when tailback Rudy Roland went out with a bruised ankle in the second period, and Roland is a doubtful starter for tonight's game. Richard Wuest is the likely tailback starter.

But Doug Smith has been promoted from the junior

An already young Pampa offensive line will be even less experienced tonight since Bruce Silcott is doubtful with a bruised neck. Larry Craig will move to center after starting at right guard last week, and Louis Cox, a 6-1, 200-pound junior, will start in Craig's former position.

The offensive line will have its hands full containing a Dumas front four which averages almost 210 pounds. All-state candidate Brian Millard (240) heads the Demon destroyers.

Weiborn said the Harvesters had a "reasonably good" week of practice, following a team meeting Monday. "I'm hoping that we show more aggressiveness and senior leadership from now on," he said.

A week's work on fundamentals was highlighted by tackling and tackling fundamental drills.

"Tackling and aggressiveness were the weakest part of our defense to outguess them," Weiborn said. "The defense waited for Hereford to roll over and play dead."

"On defense you have to make things happen."

Making things happen could be especially important tonight because Dumas Coach Jack Moas likes to run a conservative ball-control offense.

"We have to try and keep them from holding the ball for 15 plays at a time. An offense like that forces you to gamble on

Cowboys humiliate Pittsburgh, 30-0

DALLAS (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers were blushing a bright red in their dressing room following Thursday night's 30-0 humiliating loss to the Dallas Cowboys in a National Football League preseason game and some were thinking ahead to Nov. 20.

"That loss concerns me, but we lost a battle not a war," said Steeler defensive lineman Dwight White. "They got to come to Pittsburgh. They got their vengeance for the Super Bowl, I guess. But we won't forget this one either."

It was the first meeting between the two teams since Pittsburgh downed Dallas 21-17 in the Super Bowl two years ago.

"You don't want to get zapped like this anytime," said Joe Greene, the Steeler's star defensive tackle. "But the next game is the one that counts."

Cowboy running back Preston Pearson also sounded a note of caution, saying "We shouldn't rejoice too much. They are better than that. We still have to play them two more times, once in the regular season, and once in the Super Bowl."

Dallas bounced back from a 23-14 loss to Houston last week to maul the Steelers, earning the Cowboys' first preseason shutout in their 18 years in the NFL.

Roger Staubach threw a touchdown pass, Efren Herrera kicked three field goals, and the Dallas defense sacked Steeler quarterbacks eight times.

Each team ended the preseason with identical 3-3 records.

The Cowboys meet Minnesota on the road Sunday week while Pittsburgh hosts San Francisco at home on a Monday night

Pampa Shockers drop to Borger

A charging defensive line swarmed on Shocker quarterback Joe Jeffers all night enabling the Borger Junior varsity Bullpups to beat the Pampa JV 20-6 Thursday at Harvester Stadium.

Tackles Jeff Gibbs and Jeff Carter opened up the middle for blitzing linebackers Bart Boone, Tommy Waiser, and Bobby Forrest who sacked Jeffers repeatedly during the game.

The Bullpups first scored with 2:33 left in the first quarter when a Tommy Hooper - engineered drive culminated in a three-yard plunge by wing back Ronnie Allford.

Allford scored again with 1:14 remaining in the half when he cut back on a right-side trap for 31 yards through the Shocker defense.

Neither squad scored in the third period, but Jeffers finally got time to throw and hit split end Keenan Henderson with a 35-yard scoring pass on the first play of the final stanza. Henderson caught the ball on the 20 and raced down the left sideline for the score. Jeffers' attempt to pass for the conversion fell incomplete.

The Bullpups scored the game's final points with 1:14 left when Hooper hit Forrest with a 16-yard toss.

Borger tried to surprise the Shockers with an onside kickoff, but Loyd Remy fell on the ball at the 42. Jeffers completed a pass to Jim Agan and two to Brent Rogers to give the Shockers first and goal at the five, but two plays later, time ran out when Doug Kennedy fell two yards short.

The Shocker defense played well considering the Pampa offense left them in poor field position several times. Ends Dwayne Avery and Billy Grimes and linebackers Tony Tolison and Mark Jennings made numerous tackles in containing the Bullpups outside running attack.

Connors downs shocked Orantes

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Back problems and past accomplishments notwithstanding, Jimmy Connors may be a greater contender now than ever.

"It may be the best I ever saw him play on clay especially," said Spain's Manuel Orantes, who lost to Connors Thursday night, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3, in the most hotly-contested match yet in the nine days of the U.S. Open tennis championships.

Connors enters the semifinals against Corrado Barazzutti, the little-known Italian who thrashed the tournament's third-seed Brian Gottfried of Lauderhill, Fla., 6-2, 6-1, 6-2 Thursday.

Orantes had been considered one of the men who could take Connors down a peg in this Open. He did it in 1975 after Jimmy's brilliant 1974 season, and took him in straight sets this summer in the finals of the U.S. Clay Court Championship at Indianaplis.

The sell-out crowd of 12,497 watched as Connors hit deep, sledge-hammer shots frequently right on the line or in the corners. Orantes' ground stroke seemed aimless, particularly off his backhand.

"I've played a few good matches on clay," said Connors, the 25-year-old from Belleville, Ill., who is the defending champion here but second-seeded behind Sweden's Bjorn Borg, who defaulted earlier this week.

"He was hitting the ball very hard, very deep and very consistently," said Orantes. The gracious 28-year-old left-hander had surgery on his left elbow to correct a pinched nerve on May 28.

Scrambling Shocker
 Pampa JV quarterback Joe Jeffers (10) rolls out to pass in an effort to evade Borger Bullpup end Clayton Norton (62). Shocker halfback Brian Williams (46) prepares for the block. The fierce Bullpup pass rush hounded Jeffers all night, playing a major part in Borger's 20-6 win Thursday. (Pampa News photo by Ron Ennis)

McLean whips Sophs 35-8

McLean coach Bill Coward was especially pleased with the Tiger offense. "I was happy at our balanced scoring. We moved the ball well both on the ground and in the air," he said.

Soviets propose 'equal rights'

MOSCOW (AP) — An equal rights clause in the proposed new Soviet constitution has provoked a debate among newspaper letter-writers over an issue familiar to Americans — the role of women in society.

The clause states, "In the U.S.S.R. women shall have equal rights with men" and then goes on to say this must be guaranteed by equal opportunities in jobs and education, by equal pay and by equality in other areas.

It also speaks of the need for "special measures" to protect the "labor and health of women," and for various kinds of maternal support.

Locksmith V. Kutsy fired the debate's opening salvo in mid-July, writing in a letter to Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, that the clause accords women a special, and therefore unequal, position.

"Willingly or unwillingly (the clause) places women to a certain degree in a privileged position," he said.

He was answered a week later in Pravda by K. Aidarova, a seamstress from Frunze, who argued that the clause must be retained.

"I agree with the parts of the text that tell about the equality men and women have gained in our country, but I don't agree that everything has already been accomplished. No, there is still much to do in order to strengthen and deepen what has already been achieved," she said.

In a letter published Saturday, a nutrition teacher at Rostov-On-Don, V. Brovko, offered a compromise. He suggested keeping the clause but changing the wording to: "In the U.S.S.R. men and women shall have equal rights."

A. Benyushis, an officer in a industrial workers' association, said women's rights should be listed more fully and that the constitution should guarantee "constant improvement of daily services that promote the easing of housework."

A. Ivkina, a scientist and mother of three in Voronezh, said the statement should include a clause saying that "the woman-mother is surrounded by the concern and attention of the Soviet government," and that her rights and advantages should be listed.

The equal rights clause of the draft constitution includes provisions calling for "support of mother and child, including paid leaves and other benefits to mothers and expectant mothers, and state aid to lonely mothers."

Moscow law student V. Levenko objected to the "lonely mothers" phrase, which is the Soviet term for unwed mothers.

"The phrase 'lonely mothers' in my opinion is unfortunate

Pastor names sermon

The Rev. Lewis Koerselman Sr. of Amarillo will deliver the sermon this Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church, 525 N. Gray. His sermon title is "Gehazi's Folly" with the text taken from II Kings, Chapter 5. Elder Bill J. McDonald will assist.

Pampa church sets Kids' Crusade dates

Captain Hook will be conducting a Kid's Crusade at 7 p.m. Sept. 21 through 24 and again Sept. 25 at 9:45 a.m. at Lamar Full Gospel Assembly at 1200 S. Sumner.

When Captain Hook, whose real name is Von Saum, was 17 years old, he was involved in a motorcycle accident which cost him his left arm and leg. Now with a wooden leg and a hook, he travels as Captain Hook, doing not only Kid's Crusades and youth camps, but also patriotism and safety programs in the school.

FPC will be site for sing

A Gospel Singing will in the auditorium at Frank Phillips College at 7 p.m. Saturday. The event will feature the Wills Family of Fort Worth and the Gospel Harmonizers, a local group.

The singing will be sponsored by Jank Minton of Minton's Flowers in Borger. There will be no charge for admittance. The public is invited.

Group meets Saturday night

The Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Senior Citizens Center at 500 W. Francis.

Wayne and Geneva Cobb will speak on "A Testimony of a Miracle." Guests are invited to attend.

present "Thanks" by Fettek for the morning anthem. The choir is under the direction of Sally Green, Church organist. Doris Goad, will present prelude and postlude selections and "Renew Me, O Eternal Light" for the offertory.

The Congregational Nominating Committee will meet in the West Room. At 9:30 a.m. Wednesday the Prayer Group will meet in the West Room of the church; the choir rehearses at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Sanctuary.

Church school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. in the education building.

OKC singers here Sunday

The Shalom Singers of Oklahoma City will be ministering in song and word during the morning worship service at the Bethel Assembly of God, on the corner of Hamilton and Worrell Streets, at 11 a.m. Sunday.

The public is invited. Sunday school is at 9:45 a.m. and evening worship is at 7 p.m.

An investment in Your Future

...ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

Who is at the Helm?

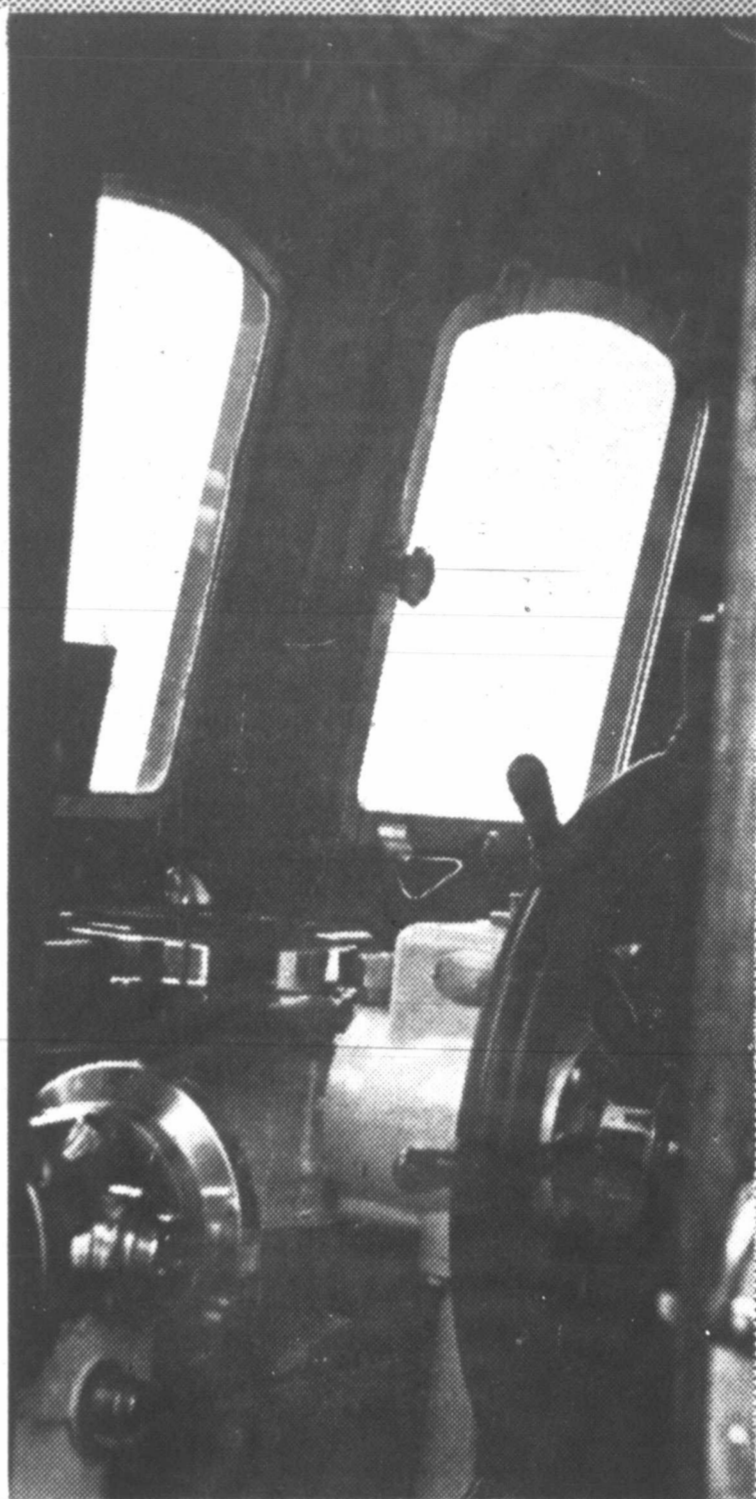

Who guides our lives? Are we a ship without a helmsman? Are we adrift, going no place?

Thanks be to God, who loves us so, He is willing to guide us, to show us the way over all manner of seas. How glorious to know there is such a One! All of us follow someone, some standard, but the true standard is God and His Word.

Let Him take over the wheel. He doesn't promise smooth sailing all the time, but He promises to guide us through the storm, and show us the way over calm and sweet but sometimes marker-less seas.

"And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make fat thy bones; and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water whose waters fail not."

Isaiah 58:11

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
