Viet Nam Newspaper Accuses CIA of Plotting to Overthrow Diem Government

U. S. Embassy Shelters Priests

By NEIL SHEEHAN
United Press International
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — The English-language Times of Viet Nam today accused the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency CIA of plotting to overthrow the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The newspaper said that the CIA had spent between $10 million and $24 million in the unsuccessful conspiracy.

The United States government has been spending $1.5 million a day and committed more than 16,000 men to Diem's government in the battle against the Communist Viet Cong.

The Times said the alleged target date for the coup was last Wednesday, but that the government was forewarned and took strong precautions.

The alleged CIA plotters got cold feet, it added, and the plot did not come off.

The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency was financing a planned coup d'etat scheduled for last Wednesday, reliable foreign sources said yesterday, the Times article said.

For some weeks at the Xa Loi (Buddhist) anti-government campaign grew, rumors of coup d'etats became more frequent and abundant, it said.

It is well known that the Communists were exploiting the Xa Loi campaign in an effort to topple the Vietnamese government and there were constant rumors that the CIA also was supporting it.

Reliable sources said the top-ranking priest who took refuge in the embassy Sunday is Thich Tri Quang, 41, chief priest of Central Viet Nam, a mastermind of Buddhist opposition to the government's religious policies.

The sources said Quang and the other two priests, Le Mai Chi and Tran Van Nham, gained asylum in the embassy Sunday evening after hiding since the Aug. 21 breakdown: Traffic 429, Drownings 42, Boating 4, Planes 1, Miscellaneous 45, Total 524.

California led the nation with 48 traffic deaths. There were 23 in Texas, 22 in North Carolina, 21 in Michigan, 19 in Illinois, 18 in New York State, and 16 in Indiana.

The old Labor Day record of 48 traffic deaths was set in 1952. (See NEW RECORD, Page 3)

Alabama Governor Orders School Opening Postponed

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George Wallace today ordered a white school in Tuskegee, Ala. which was scheduled to admit 13 Negroes to postpone its opening for one week.

Wallace issued an executive order less than an hour before 13 Negroes — eight girls and five boys — were to have entered the all-white Tuskegee public school, the town's only school for whites.

Wallace, in defying a federal court order to admit the Negroes, said his order was for the "sole purpose of allowing the governor of the state of Alabama to preserve the peace and maintain domestic tranquility and to protect the lives and property of all citizens of Alabama."

Wallace's legal advisor, Cecil Jackson Jr., said he did not know whether Wallace would issue a similar order affecting schools to be integrated in Huntsville Tuesday and in Birmingham and Mobile — the state's most populous areas — Wednesday.

Governor Not Available

Wallace was in Tuscombia, 200 miles north of here, for a Labor Day celebration and could not be reached by telephone.

His order was announced here. Shortly after sunrise, 30 highway patrol cars converged on the country farming town of Tuskegee where Negro leader Booker T. Washington wrote his book

"Up From Slavery." The state troopers were directed by Public Safety Director Al Lingo.

The 13 Negroes would have been the first of their race to enter a public school below the college level in Alabama.

Only Alabama and Mississippi retain rigid segregation barriers at the elementary and high school level.

It marked the second time in less than three months that Wallace had defied a federal integration order. Last June he tried to block the admission of two Negro students to the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa but backed down when President Kennedy federalized the Alabama National Guard.

He had vowed to "stand in the schoolhouse door" at Tuscaloosa and, as the day neared for integration to begin at the grade school level in the state, Wallace was reported to be planning another dramatic stand.

Pledges Resegregation

Wallace has pledged to work to "resegregate" any school forcibly integrated.

To queries about the possibility that he might make another "schoolhouse door" stand, Wallace had answered: "I am aware of the situation."

Tuskegee is located in Macon County, in Alabama's predominantly Negro "black belt."

Forty-eight Negro students applied for transfer to white schools. (See ALABAMA, Page 3)

Pampan Is Selected Miss Grain Sorghum

Ruth Ann Guthrie, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Guthrie, was selected as the 1963 Miss Grain Sorghum of the Nation Saturday night in Dimmitt.

Competing against 18 entries from the Tri-State area, Miss Guthrie was awarded a $500 college scholarship and a trophy.

Contestants in this fourth annual contest modeled street wear, formal and bathing suits.

Miss Guthrie was also Pampa's Miss Wheatheart of the Nation entry at Perryton Aug. 25. For her poise and singing talent, she won the right to represent the Golden Spread's $150,000,000 grain sorghum industry for 1963.

She will be a freshman at William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo. in September. A member of the First Christian Church, the

Sharpshooter Kills Daughter In Trick Shot

CALEXICO, Calif. (UPI) — Fifteen-year-old Marilyn Ploof stood erect and motionless in the warm sun. Around her head she wore a band with a balloon tied to each side.

Twenty feet away her father, former policeman Milo Ploof, 39, adjusted the two .38-caliber pistols he was about to use for part of the trick shot routine he and his daughter had performed on numerous occasions.

Father and daughter had worked as a team for six years, since Marilyn was nine.

The teen-ager showed confidence before the 300 spectators at the Dove Hunters Fiesta as she waited for her father to fire the pistols simultaneously and blast the two balloons from her head.

But Sunday something went wrong.

When Ploof fired, a bullet from the gun in his right hand struck his 15-year-old daughter in the top of the head.

The 5-foot-7 girl slumped to the ground. (See SHARPSHOOTER, Page 3)

Rescuers Abandon Hope Of Finding Bova Alive

SHREPTON, Pa. (UPI) — Rescuers abandoned any hope of finding Louis Bova alive in the mine where he was buried with two other men in a thundering cave-in nearly three weeks ago.

"It's all over now, as far as the rescue is concerned," said Goddon Smith, deputy state secretary of mines, after an emergency pre-dawn conference with other officials.

The meeting was called to discuss the possibility of lowering a volunteer into a 304-foot-deep hole in search of Bova, 52, who has not been heard from since Aug. 29. But they decided against sending a man down the 22-inch-wide shaft to the chamber where Charmbury said the camera was lowered down the shaft at the bottom of the hole was too small to permit a man to descend into it. He said that these would be very long and very tedious.

Picture feature on the mine cave-in as compared to one in February 1925 may be found on page 4.

The situation is very serious, Charmbury said quietly in a voice that sounded full of regret. His head was bowed.

Bova was last heard from two weeks ago by Fellin and Throne while they were trapped in a small, cell-like pocket in the earth more than 300 feet underground.

Throne and Fellin were hoisted to safety last Wednesday in a parachute harness similar to the one which was to have been used today to send a volunteer down to look for Bova.

In addition to the television camera, a three-dimensional camera, microphones and Navy sonar apparatus were lowered into the hole since it was deemed to be too narrow to allow a man to enter. It originally had a 6-inch diameter.

It was hoped that the sound detection equipment would pick up some noises indicating that Bova was alive. The sonar device could pick up and amplify a heartbeat close to it.

He was buried with Fellin and Throne on Aug. 13 when the mine shaft in which they were working collapsed. Fellin, 58, and Throne, 28, were imprisoned and rescued together. They are expected to be released from a hospital in Hazelton Tuesday. Bova, however, was separated from them underground.

Pampa Accident Free During Labor Holiday

Residents of Pampa and Gray County joined with the nation today in observance of the Labor Day holiday.

Schools were closed. State, city and county public offices were shut down, with exception of the sheriff and police departments and highway patrol.

There were no mail deliveries except for special delivery letters and parcels and most stores and service establishments were closed for the day.

Many Pampans were on week end outings and parks were crowded with picnic parties.

Lake McClellan drew a large crowd of water and boating enthusiasts.

There had been no major accidents of any kind up until late forenoon, according to city, county and state police.

Only a few persons were on downtown streets during the morning hours and automobile traffic was light.

"It has been an unusually quiet holiday week end as far as Pampa is concerned," Police Captain Denny Roan said this forenoon.

Jaycee Rest Stop

Pampa Jaycees operated a rest stop one mile east of Pampa on U. S. Highway 60 to encourage drivers to slow down and help prevent highway fatalities during the Labor Day holiday.

"We had 65 cars to stop Sunday night," Bud McVickers, one of two chairmen of this year's rest stop, said. "We expect a larger crowd to use our facilities tonight."

The rest stop, operated between 6:30 and midnight Friday through tonight, offers travelers free coffee, soft drinks, swings for children and complete rest-room facilities to encourage drivers to slow down as they entered and left Pampa.

The Pampa Jaycee rest stop was operated throughout the state, according to McVickers. Signs were placed on U. S. 60 entering and leaving town. Near the stop, a wrecked car, with warning signs and flashing lights around it suggested to drivers to slow down.

Gary Griffin and McVickers were chairmen for this year's stop.

Two Men Killed After Wild Chase

Two 22-year-old men were killed and one 21-year-old was critically injured at 1:09 a.m. Sunday on farm to market road 280 when the car they were riding in "couldn't make the curve" and turned over, rolling 396 ft., according to investigating Highway Patrolman, Vernon Cawthon.

"All three men were from Berger. The injured man, Don Henry Burns, was thrown out and pinned under the car on the last roll," Cawthon said. "The dead men, Jimmy S. Vaughn and Arthur Floyd Belt Jr., were also thrown out and pronounced dead on arrival at a Berger hospital."

According to Cawthon, Burns was still alive this morning, but in "very critical condition."

The accident happened nine miles northeast of Berger when a 1958 car, driver-unknown tried to pass Burns' car. Burns sped up and wouldn't let the car pass, according to Cawthon.

Charmbury said the camera was lowered down the shaft at the bottom of the hole was too small to permit a man to descend into it. He said that these would be very long and very tedious.

Picture feature on the mine cave-in as compared to one in February 1925 may be found on page 4.

Police Search for Three Men in Shamrock Mystery

Highway patrolmen Lawrence Macha and Vernon Cawthon maintained a roadblock between 8 and 10:30 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of State Highway 132 and U. S. 60, to intercept three men suspected of disposing of a woman's body in Shamrock sometime around 8 p.m. Sunday.

"We received the report over our radio that three men had tried to dispose of a woman's body in an old abandoned car near a swimming pool in Shamrock," Sgt. J. W. Wilson, patrol supervisor for the Panhandle area, said.

A report was broadcast immediately with a description of the car and a partial license plate. Roadblocks were set up in the immediate vicinity of Shamrock to intercept the suspects.

"The report was sent out statewide, and all stations had it," Sgt. Wilson said. "They didn't come this way last night. The only identification we had was a dark, 33 model Pontiac."

John Topper, deputy sheriff in Shamrock, said today he believed it to be a "false report."

"I live next door to the swimming pool and was home when Mrs. J. T. Kidd said the incident was supposed to have happened, but I didn't see any men try to put a woman's body in a car," Topper said.

According to Topper, Mrs. Kidd reported the incident to police and they sent out reports to highway patrol to set up roadblocks to intercept the suspects.

"I have nothing to contradict her report," A. E. Austin, police chief said. "I have been told that the woman had reported other things that turned out to be illusions, but after talking to the woman, I believe she did see something. She was awful shook up and broke down when she started to talk about it."

According to Austin, Mrs. Kidd said she heard a car pull up in her driveway and thought it was her husband.

When he didn't come on up the stairs, she went to the door and saw the three men carry the body of a red-headed woman toward an old abandoned car.

"She said she ran back into the house and closed the door. When the men heard her close the door, they ran back to their car, put the body in and left," Austin said. Mrs. Hill put her children in her car, drove to the city warehouse, where her husband was working. He called police, who sent out an all points bulletin, according to Austin.

"We have never located the car (See SHAMROCK, Page 3)

501 deaths was set last year. The holiday weekend spelled the end of beach parties and vacations for many Americans and the start of a new school year for others. Thousands of families braved the crowded highways for a last, brief visit with summer.

Today is registration day, when the contestants sign in and learn officially what is in store for them during the next five days. Many of the girls arrived during the weekend to look over Convention Hall, where the contests in various categories will be held, and to prepare themselves for the ordeal ahead.

Full Week's Schedule

At registration the candidates learn that they will be 52 busy young ladies until the windup Saturday night before a nationwide television hookup. They will be on the go from morning till night rehearsing their walk, their talk, their talent, posing for photographers, answering the questions of reporters, attending breakfasts, luncheons, teas and dinners, examining their wardrobes, and if at all possible somehow, by rearranging a tress or plucking an eyebrow, improving their looks.

Competition Starts Wednesday

On Wednesday the competition begins, running every night until the final contest Saturday evening. They will compete in evening gown, bathing suit and talent categories and will be examined from the standpoint of personality by the panel of 11 judges.

On Saturday evening the contest will have been narrowed down to a field of five finalists and from them the judges will choose one. After that, a farewell luncheon on Sunday will be the final function of the pageant and 51 disappointed young women will go their ways.

There was plenty of manpower to offer willing hands in the attempt to rescue Floyd Collins. Wheelbarrows in this photo attest to the elemental tools used by necessity.

This was the mouth of the shaft cut into the rock in the direction of Collins. A second cave-in isolated him and the shaft reached him too late.

Reporter William Miller made himself a hero by crawling to Collins to comfort him.

Back in February 1925, Floyd Collins was trapped like this in a Kentucky cave for 18 days until he died.

Successful rescue of two-trapped miners from their underground tomb in Pennsylvania stands in stark contrast to one of the most tragic stories of the 1920s. This was the 18-day ordeal of cave explorer Floyd Collins, who was caught in a narrow fissure in a Kentucky cave. Photographs below recreate that story.

CROSSING TOLL
CHICAGO (UPI) — More than 1,100 persons were killed and another 10,000 injured last year at railroad grade crossings, according to the Chicago Motor Club.

Matthew C. Sielski, director of the club's safety and traffic engineering department, said most grade crossings provide warning lights, bells, wig-wag signals or portable gates. He said a majority of grade crossing accidents are the result of inattention or excessive speed.

CASTRO'S NAVY AT WORK—Photograph taken from a Coast Guard patrol plane shows a Cuban PT boat leaving Anguilla Key carrying some of the 19 Cuban refugees forcibly removed from the British possession in the Bahamas. Intelligence experts claim that Castro, besides using regular navy boats such as this, is building a "fishing fleet" of 200 vessels. Under the guise of peaceful fishing operations, these boats would cut exile escape routes and also approach close to South and Central American coasts to carry on subversive activities. On the other hand, anti-Castro commandos are using armed motorboats to harass Cuban coastal military and industrial installations. In one recent attack, motorboats were lowered over the side of a mother ship to carry out attacks in river estuaries.

Texas Residential Construction Set New July High

AUSTIN (UPI)—Spurred by $28.5 million in new apartment buildings, Texas residential construction set a record high in July.

Residential construction reached 149.1 per cent of the 1957-59 average, the University of Texas Business Research Bureau said Saturday. Previous high was set in July of 1958.

The boom in homes and apartments pushed total construction to 139.8 per cent of the index level, highest level for any July and the third highest for any month since the bureau began keeping records in 1947.

Apartment construction accounted for 28.5 million of the $81.7 million total estimated value of July residential construction.

The July gain was all in the residential category—nonresidential construction was at its second lowest level in a year.

Estimated value of one-family home construction gained 13 per cent in July, but failed to check a trend toward decreasing investment in this area.

Building of new schools, always one of the most consistent construction categories, is running about 50 per cent ahead of last year. School construction through July was estimated at $75.5 million.

New hotels, motels and tourist courts built so far this year were valued at $12.3 million, a slight increase from last year.

The bureau said metropolitan areas continued to grow at the expense of smaller cities and towns, and central cities continued to lose ground to suburbs.

Austin continued to lead the state in building dollars per capita. Permits for $5,870,526 worth of buildings were issued in Austin in July, a per capita investment of $260.43.

Dodgers Finish SF Flag Hopes

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

Like all good troopers, the Los Angeles Dodgers know when to change their act.

The Dodgers provided one of the biggest sports thrills of 1962 when they dissipated a healthy first place lead in the final week of the season and then blew the playoffs to the San Francisco Giants.

The performance received heavy nationwide publicity and was good for the box office. But a happier ending was being demanded by the Los Angeles customers this year.

And it looks like they're going to get it.

The Dodgers trapped the Giants in a deadly bear hug before an appreciative audience during the weekend and shook most of the remaining life out of the defending champions. They completed the job Sunday with a 5-3 decision to win the big series, three games to one, and knock San Francisco back to third place, 7 1/2 games off the pace.

Moon Raps Double

A two-run double by pinch-hitter Wally Moon in the eighth inning was the crucial blow for the Dodgers, who went into the game trailing 3-2. Moon assured the final run across on Ron Faren's pinch-hit single.

Veteran Johnny Podres, making his first relief appearance since 1961, turned back the Giants in the ninth inning after they had touched young Dick Calmus for two singles. Calmus gained credit for his third victory in four decisions.

Harvey Kuenn had sent the Giants ahead in the seventh with a home run, but starter Billy O'Dell and relievers Don Larsen and Billy Hoft were unable to hold the lead in the eighth. Larsen was charged with the loss.

The game drew a crowd of 34,263 for a four-game total of 218,948.

Cards Stop Phils

In other contests, the second place St. Louis Cardinals remained six games behind Los Angeles by beating the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-3; the Pittsburgh Pirates tripped the Cincinnati Reds, 6-4; the New York Mets outlasted the Milwaukee Braves, 6-4, in 18 innings; and the Chicago Cubs nipped the Houston Colt .45's.

Curt Simmons threw a six-hitter for the Cards and helped his own cause with a triple and a steal of home. It was the 12th time Simmons has beaten the Phils against two reversals since they traded him. Ken Boyer hit his 20th homer for the Cards in the fifth inning.

A grand slam home run by Bill Virdon with two out in the ninth inning carried reliever Earl Francis to his fourth triumph for the Pirates. Leo Cardenas hit a three-run homer for the Reds in the second inning.

Tim Lincecum slammed a two-run circuit in the 16th inning to end a four-hour and 33-minute marathon at New York. Larry Bearnarh, who pitched scoreless for the last seven innings, won his third game against six losses. Bob Tiefenauer was the hard-luck loser for the Braves.

Ron Santo's ninth-inning double drove in the decisive run for Chicago and provided Lindy McDaniel with his 10th victory in 16 decisions. John Weekly slammed his first home run of the year for the Colts.

McKinley Better, Is Playing Today

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Cheered by his physician's forecast that he will be 80 per cent effective, top-seeded Chuck McKinley of St. Louis planned to resume play today in the National Singles tennis championships despite Saturday's back injury.

Fireball Chuck, the Wimbledon champion and tournament favorite, was matched against unseeded Jiri Javorski of Czechoslovakia, who gained the second round by eliminating Michio Fujii of Japan.

Dr. Charles R. Blair, representing the West Side Tennis Club, announced "Chuck's muscle-tear in the back has responded to treatment and rest. Moreover, x-rays showed no bone injuries. He warmed up briefly with Dennis Ralston and said he could play in spite of lingering soreness. He should be 80 per cent effective."

Chuck, 22, suffered the back injury Saturday during his painful, five-set victory over Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador.

Neither second-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia nor third-seeded Ralston of Bakerfield, were slated for action today. They gained the third round Sunday.

Emerson, 1961 U.S. champion, eliminated Cliff Richey, high school boy member of a Dallas tennis family, 6-1, 6-2, 7-5. Ralston, 21, and star of the United States recent Davis Cup victory over Mexico, played sloppily at times and needed four sets to eliminate Philadelphia lawyer Richard Sorlein, 6-2, 8-10, 6-1, 7-5.

In the women's featured second round match today, top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia, the Australian and Wimbledon champion, engaged Jane Albert of Peble Beach, Calif.

On Sunday, third-seeded Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., who beat Miss Smith at Wimbledon last year, romped to a 6-2, 6-2 win over Sally Seaback of Atlanta, Ga.

Tom Tresh Follows Mantle's Footsteps

By PRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Mike's kid has turned out to be quite a man.

Mike's kid is 24-year-old Tom Tresh, son of former Chicago White Sox catcher Mike Tresh who was a "plugger" for 12 years in the big leagues and all years paid his way into the World Series.

Old Mike had the great thrill in 1962 of seeing his boy win a job with the New York Yankees, win American League rookie of the year honors and star in the World Series.

And this year he's having the even bigger thrill of seeing Tom solidify his position as a big league by filling the seven-league boots of no less a star than Mickey Mantle, $100,000-a-year slugger of the perennial world champions.

It's a cakewalk for the Yankees again this year, of course, and few players can claim greater credit than Tresh, who switched from shortstop, where he earned his spurs as a rookie last season, to center field, where he followed up the footsteps of Mantle, Joe DiMaggio and Earl Combs.

Hits Two Homers

Tresh borrowed a page from Mantle's book of heroics Sunday when he hit two homers — one right-handed and one left-handed — to lead the Yankees to a 3-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. Tom's second homer of the game came off Dick Hall in the eighth inning and gave relief pitcher Tom McCall his first major league triumph. The blow followed a two-run homer by pinch-hitting Mantle that cut the score to 4-3.

The win enabled the Yankees to retain their 12-game margin over the Chicago White Sox, who topped the Minnesota Twins, 8-3. The Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers, 6-3 and 3-1. The Boston Red Sox shaded the Washington Senators, 4-3, in 10 innings and the Kansas City Athletics downed the Los Angeles Angels, 7-6, in other American League games.

Landis Heads Sox

Jim Landis led an 11-hit attack, with a double and a three-run homer as the White Sox dealt the Twins a second straight loss and presented Hoyt Wilhelm with his fourth win of the season. Earl Battey homered for the Twins, whose Bill Dailey dropped his third decision.

Dick Donovan won his 11th game and Pedro Ramos his seventh in the Indians' sweep of the Tigers. Mike De La Hoz hit a grand slam homer in the first inning to spark the Indians to their first-game triumph and Woodie Held had a double and a homer to lead the Tribe's 10-hit attack in the nightcap.

Relief ace Dick Radatz posted his 14th win of the season and completed the circuit of beating every team in the league at least once when Eddie Bressoud snapped a 3-3 tie with a 10th-inning single for the Red Sox. Had sent the game into extra innings when Dick Williams's pinch single delivered the tying run in the ninth.

Jose Tartabull was forced home with the winning run when Paul Foytack walked Manny Minter with the bases filled in the last of the ninth inning to give Julio Navarro his fourth win of the season. Albie Pearson dove in three runs with four hits for the Angels while Tartabull and Gino Cimoli drove in two runs each for the Athletics.

Pro Football Roundup

By United Press International

The San Diego Chargers, who won only four of 14 games in the American Football League last season, apparently won't be such pushovers this year.

The Chargers wound up with the best record among AFL clubs in pre-season games, winning four and losing one.

The Buffalo Bills finished second in the exhibition standings with a 3-1 mark. They were followed by the Oakland Raiders, Kansas City Chiefs and Houston Oilers with identical 3-2 records.

Bringing up the rear of the eight-team league were the Denver Broncos (2-3), the New York Jets (1-3) and the Boston Patriots (0-5).

The Chargers, led by Tobin Rote, a National Football League castoff, completed their exhibition slate with a 13-3 victory over the Oakland Raiders Saturday night. Rote, recovering from a rib injury suffered in his first game with the Chargers Aug. 3, completed 15 of 31 passes for 218 yards.

The Buffalo Bills finished second in the exhibition standings with a 3-1 mark. They were followed by the Oakland Raiders, Kansas City Chiefs and Houston Oilers with identical 3-2 records.

Bringing up the rear of the eight-team league were the Denver Broncos (2-3), the New York Jets (1-3) and the Boston Patriots (0-5).

Bills Beat Broncos

In other final AFL tuneups, Jackie Kemp passed the Bills to a 21-14 triumph over the Broncos, the Oilers turned back the defending champion Chiefs, 23-17, in a replay of their 1962 title game, and the Jets scored their first victory by downing the Patriots, 22-20.

The Baltimore Colts emerged as the only unbeaten team in the NFL by beating the Washington Redskins, 27-21. A 54-yard scoring pass from rookie quarterback Gary Ciozzo to John Mackey with less than four minutes remaining gave the Colts their fourth victory of the exhibition season.

The Philadelphia Eagles won a 34-27 triumph over previously unbeaten Minnesota Vikings, the Cleveland Browns whipped the Los Angeles Rams, 23-14, and the St. Louis Cardinals rallied to down the Chicago Bears, 17-14, in other NFL tuneups Saturday night.

Has Rough Start

Rose Bowl hero Ron VanderKien made his first start for the Vikings and had a rough time completing only 4 of 13 passes for 24 yards. Opposing quarterback Sonny Jurgenson clicked on 18 of 48 attempts for 279 yards and three touchdowns.

Jim Brown, held to a mere 23 yards in the first half, gained 77 in the second and plunged for one touchdown in leading the Browns to victory while Charley Johnson's two touchdown passes fired the Cardinals to their comeback triumph over the Bears.

The New York Giants and the Green Bay Packers, defending champions of the NFL, wind up the holiday action when they tangle at Milwaukee today in a replay of their 1962 playoff game.

Wright, Rawls Idaho Favorites

BOISE, Idaho (UPI)—Leading golf champions Mickey Wright and Betsy Rawls teamed up with potent competition today in the final round of the Idaho Centennial Open Ladies' Golf Association tournament.

Miss Wright, a blonde driver from Dallas, Tex., and Miss Rawls, a calculating hitter from Spartanburg, S.C., are favored in the tourney. Both are top money winners on the ladies golf circuit.

In the round today, Miss Wright is teamed up with Idaho's sentimental favorite, Shirley Engelhorn of Caldwell. Miss Rawls is matched with Jo Ann Prentice who was top firer Saturday and tied with Miss Engelhorn for third place after two rounds of play.

Miss Engelhorn edged Miss Prentice with a 71 in the second round against the Birmingham, Alabama golfer's 73.

Both hit for a 144 overall total while Miss Wright had 142 and Miss Rawls 143.

The women are competing for $10,000 in prize money.

Farquhar Takes Big TOT Lead

John Farquhar of Amarillo took a commanding eight-stroke lead at the halfway mark of the 26th annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament, posting a blazing 65 on the Pampa Country Club course Sunday. The six-under-par round, paired with his 68, which won medalist honors in the first round, almost clinched the TOT title for the National Amateur contender.

Strong winds yesterday practically blew highly-rated college contenders Marty Fleckman and Randy Geiselman out of the tourney. Fleckman had shot a 69 in the first round, only one stroke behind the Amarillo ace, but blew to an '80 in the second round to virtually knock himself out of the race. Geiselman also found the tough PCC course too much for him as he totaled 150, barely surviving the cutoff. Another favorite, last year's runner-up John Paul Cain, stayed within sighting distance of Farquhar with a 143. River McFee of Denton, another top-ranked contender, finished the first two rounds with 150.

Only competition for Farquhar in today's 36 holes of stroke play appear to be Max Hickey of Pampa and Steve Le Cron of Texas Tech, each eight strokes behind at 141.

The championship flight was cut to the low 30 and has begun this morning, while the other 10 flights, which shoot 18 holes each, had four semi-finalists left in each flight.

Chi Chi Wins Denver Open, Is 'Uptown'

By GENE MEAKINS
United Press International

DENVER (UPI)—Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez, a little guy with big power, is going to write a book now that he finally has won a professional golf championship.

"Man, I'm uptown now," said the popular young Puerto Rican after winning his first championship on the pro tour. He had just stormed from three strokes back of third round leader Gene Hill to post a one-under par 69 Sunday and capture the Denver Open with a 276 four-under.

Earlier in the week, when Rodriguez was still just one of the contenders, he said he had a secret of power hitting which he would reveal in a book only after he had won a championship on the PGA tour. His victory at Denver County Club after a three-year drought on the circuit, paid Rodriguez $5,300. It boosted his year's money winnings to about $15,000.

Chi Chi consistently gets off drives over 300 yards when he needs them, although he carries only 120 pounds on a five-foot, seven-inch frame. He pointed out with pride that two of his four birdies in the final round of the 72-hole tourney were scored on the long holes where his driver made the difference.

Rodriguez became a 30-year-old Bill Eggers of Henderson, Nev., by two strokes. Eggers, who had a 278, received $2,400—as much as he had won on the tour all year long.

Actually, Eggers was in good position to take it all after an eagle on the par 5, 599-yard 13th, where he cupped a sand iron shot from 20 yards away. But he double-bogeyed 17.

Hill's lapse—a five-over par 75—the PGA tour, his victory at Denver County Club after a three-year drought on the circuit, paid Rodriguez $5,300. It boosted his year's money winnings to about $15,000.

Each with Hill were Al Geiberger and Jay Hebert. Each had 279.

Businessman Deputy Tax Collector

In wartime 1943, American businessmen went along with the government's plan for withholding income tax money from wages and salaries. Yet 20 years later, taxes are still being withheld from pay envelopes, and every employer in the United States is still serving as an unpaid deputy tax collector for the federal government. Not only is the bureaucracy guilty of complete dishonesty in taking tax money from the people ahead of tax time and paying no interest on the money; but it is also guilty of two direct violations of the U. S. Constitution in its methods of doing so.

By forcing the nation's employers to collect these taxes, the government is, in effect, using the employer's equipment, labor and premises for warehousing tax records. This is in violation of the Fifth Amendment which reads in part: "...nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation." Furthermore, the 13th Amendment which forbids involuntary servitude "except as a punishment for a crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted," is also being violated.

The majority of Americans are certainly unaware that their government is violating the Constitution. The attack has been so gradual and so effective that we have been conditioned to accept whatever the government does or says without making any concerted protest. Where the employer is concerned, he has been afraid to protest. Harassment by the Internal Revenue Service can be such that the easier course is to go on withholding taxes from his employees' wages without complaint. As for the employee, he has grown so

No Alibi

Few of us ever do anything perfectly. This must not become an alibi for doing nothing to perfection.

Will Our Way Endure?

A number of distinguished historians and social critics are concerned with what they consider America's almost suicidal immersion in material things.

This, Vance Packard, in this "The Waste Makers," writes, "The superabundance in quantity the good things of life in the U. S. may quite possibly be producing a deterioration in the quality of life." And Arnold Toynbee tells us that the American society we have created "is unlikely to survive very long."

Dr. George Katona, Director of the Economic Behavior Program, Survey Research Center, University of Michigan says nay to these and other prophets of disaster. He finds vast and lasting virtues in our mass-consumption society. He writes in This Week Magazine, "Just as the ideal of freedom spread from America over the world, so the ideal of a good life is spreading. And most important, the Communist countries are not immune. A greater and greater concern for consumer goods is evident in Russia — and the greater, the better. It is the have-nots who feel they have little to lose in a third world war. Fighting for national or ideological glory, the military notions of a bygone age, appeals far less to those with a decent standard of living."

"Perhaps, when the long perspective of history falls on our age, it will be seen that America contributed as much to mankind through the development of (a) high standard of living for the masses as through the invention of liberty."

Mass production will continue to find and create new and better products of every kind — and its partner, mass distribution, will bring them to us. And if the world's dreadful troubles and dangers are to be eased, it will do not by undermining our own standard of living, but by bringing the standards of living of other nations closer and closer to ours.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

The United States is out of step with 90 per cent of the world's population in weights and measures since the majority use the metric system. Only Canada, Australia, and New Zealand still go along with us in measuring the temperature by Fahrenheit instead of centigrade. Britain switched last year. Washington and Jefferson urged adoption of the metric system in 1790. Alexander Graham Bell couldn't see much sense to a measuring system that grew out of gauges by hand or foot. The yard, for instance, was the distance between King Henry's fingertip and the tip of his nose. Research scientists, pharmacists, and the film industry use the metric system. The army will adopt it after 1965. It's only a question of time until this country will have to get in step.

Many visitors calling on Congressmen and Senators are often confused by the number of bells that ring from time to time throughout the solons' office building. Here is their significance: One bell means a Teller's vote; two bells a Yea and Nay vote; three bells is a Quorum call. They really scramble when three bells sound. But the sweetest signal to them is the ring of the telephone bell. It's a wonder all Congressmen aren't happy because, in addition to the rest, telephone bells are always ringing in their offices.

Country Editor speaking: "Now that summer is nearly over, the thought occurs to you see more redskins on the beaches than you do on TV. . . . Auto manufacturers say 603,000 new cars were sold in July, almost a record and second only to July of 1955 when 624,000 were bought. Last year July sales totalled 511,700. . . . Castro raised the price of gasoline from 34 to 60 cents a gallon. That's really helping the working man in reverse. Imagine the howls at anything like that happening here. And remember those bleeding hearts telling us to make everything hunkydory. . . . In another Workers' Paradise, East Germany, life is so wonderful that 16,456 refugees took it on the lam since they erected the Berlin Wall in August 1961. They all went to West Germany. . . . We wonder if those British train robbers didn't get their plan from a Peter Sellers' movie of a couple of years back. All about three bad boys who sneaked out of prison to pull off a big job, accomplished same with dispatch, and returned to prison in time for breakfast without having been missed. . . . It's bad enough to realize officialdom regards us as numbers, but we think the Post Office Dept. went too far in assigning ZIP Code No. 99701 to Santa Claus. No youngster will remember it and Santa will get his mail late like the rest of us. . . . I. C. Better is the name of a Canadian optometrist."

Memory Lane: "Remember when Walt Disney delighted the nation with Mickey Mouse in 1928. Unlike the man in Emerson's epigram, who built the better mouse-trap, Disney built a better mouse, Mickey. He is now 35 years of age and still going strong."

Pretzel manufacturers suggest a new breakfast dish: Crush four pretzels by hand into a cereal bowl, add a teaspoonful of sugar, cover with cream or milk. Pretzels contain only 84 calories, but they say it is real energy food. . . . We read somewhere the cold war costs us $50 billion annually. . . . There were 16,488 new books published in the U.S. last year. Less than half were non-fiction. . . . Today's smile: We love those bird and animal stories like the one about the pelican who was told he caught a fine fish and replied: "It fills the bill."

Edson In Washington Lodge Enters Political

Hornet Nest in Viet Nam

By PEVER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The only safe prediction to make now on troubled Viet Nam is that new United States ambassador, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., is going to find Southeast Asia politics even tougher than trying to beat the Kennedy machine in Massachusetts.

While Washington has condemned Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem's latest repressive actions against the Buddhists, there is reluctance to abandon him to his many enemies. If his declaration of martial law does not prevent it, or if Diem himself is not overthrown by a coup beforehand, Viet Nam is scheduled to elect a new one-chamber national assembly on Aug. 31. If held, it will be a peculiar election.

There are 350 candidates for 123 seats. Eighty per cent of the candidates are said to be "independents." Up to now, a big majority of the assembly has supported Diem and the National Revolutionary Movement he heads.

The Buddhists have no political party of their own and no candidates. But they have advocated boycotting the election, to show non-support of the Diem government. The Communists, as the National Liberation Front, tried this tactic in 1961 but failed.

Diem was overwhelmingly elected for a second five-year term as president, although when the French picked him to head a provisional government in 1954, they said he would not last six months.

Washington thought so, too. But he is now entering the 10th year in office. And the "American position is that there is no better man in sight for the job."

Whether Diem can complete his term ending in 1966 is questionable. However, for a coup is feared from any one or a combination of the many elements opposing his regime.

For one, Diem's principal adviser, his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu, heads a "Revolutionary Workers Party" and there are reports of a power grab on his part. It is Nhu's beautiful wife Mme. Nhu who is the principal moultrieuse and cause of embarrassment. There are also socialist, democratic socialist and other splinter parties of opposition.

The most active opponent, of course, is the Communist Viet Cong, recruited and supplied by North Viet Nam, fighting guerrilla warfare in scattered pockets all over the country.

They tried to organize a revolt in 1959 but failed. They are still trying, first to neutralize the country, then to drive out what they call the "United States-Diem regime." Reunification with North Viet Nam under Ho Chi-minh is the ultimate aim.

President Diem's non-Communist opponents are put in numerous groups. Many of them are headed by former ministers of government whom Diem has fired as incompetents.

In a second category are leaders of militant sects that controlled private armies. When they lost their local power under Diem's nationalization program they fled the country. Some went to Cambodia, some to Paris. From these points they propagandize against Diem and for their return.

There are some military leaders in exile — backers of Col. Thi, who led his 500 paratroopers in a 1960 attack on the presidential palace. They were forced to flee by the loyalty of the regular army. The military is still rated by American advisers as a good army, with increasing success over the last six months in fighting the Viet Cong and defending the strategic villages where three-fourths of the people live.

Diem's greatest trouble, comes from the Buddhists. Last May the government made the mistake of banning all flags except the national emblem, as part of a unification program. In a protest demonstration, eight Buddhists were killed by security forces. Buddhist protests have grown since and Mme. Nhu's comments made a bad situation worse. What the Buddhists want, in summary, is equal status with the Catholics. Diem has proposed new laws that would grant such rights. They will be taken up by the new National Assembly when it convenes Sept. 17. If he can stick it out till then, he has a chance.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not include answers.)

Question: "What can a person do to help another get an education?"

Answer: The key word of this question is "to help," or it might be interpreted to mean "to stimulate" another person to have the will to try to understand the laws of nature and the laws of God. No one can give another person an education. It is up to the individual to use his own mind. About all any person can do, is to try to stimulate another person to have the will to learn. One of the best ways of stimulating another is by example, by trying to get an education oneself.

To stimulate another is always being willing to have your assumptions or your hypotheses tested, and if you cannot answer them without contradiction or evasion, you have no principle, but only an assumption. If you continue to hold that assumption or hypothesis when you cannot answer, you are hardly worthy of confidence. Until you are willing to have your assumptions challenged and can answer all questions, there is little chance of the individual ever stimulating another to try to get an education.

An education is being able to recognize a contradiction and seeking after understanding of the laws of nature and the laws of the universe. In order to reason and determine a contradiction, you must have, by inductive reasoning, a principle from which to start. One cannot reason without a principle from which to reason, any more than one can measure distance without having an agreed unit of measure or a starting point.

The best way to help another is to have the desire to acquire an education, and thus, by example, the individual will see that it will be to his advantage if he, too, learns to recognize a contradiction and tries to live in harmony with the laws of the universe.

Italian, 15, Is World's Youngest Tire Dealer

PARANIO, Italy (UPI)—A young and all correspondence needed to conduct his thriving business. It is not unusual for a 15-year-old boy in Italy to hold down a full-time job. The average boy Cataldo's age in Paranio earns the equivalent of about $1.50 a day.

Cataldo is probably the world's youngest tire dealer. He not only sells tires through his own dealership, but services customers' cars, repairs tires and tubes, handles contracting, delivery, stock order.

Strangely, the video creators do not offer us any series in which television reporters are heroes, and we must assume that those in charge know their own business. And since many of these creators fall into the I-was-a-newspaperman-once-myself category, it may also be assumed that there is also a partially psychological reason for their fond recollections of former employment.

Continues to try to turn a profit on its belief that newspapermen are born heroes, which is undeniable. CBS-TV this fall has a new comedy series, "My Favorite Martian," in which a reporter is costar to a traveler from outer space who lands by mistake on earth. Another new CBS-TV series, "East Side, West Side," almost followed suit by casting star George C. Scott as a prize-winning columnist, but then switched him to a social worker. That was really a shame, because Mr. Scott is a good man to have in your corner. The real problem, of course, is that video is helping deglamorize its would-be heroes by putting real newsmen on its serious discussion shows. To be blunt, while they are incomparably glamorous and dashing fellows, many are also incomparably homely. What the newspapers must do is hire magnificently handsome fellows with mellifluous and resonant voices—gentlemen who would be trained solely and specifically to represent the papers on television, and never have to learn to even read, let alone write, news stories. Radio proved it can be done.

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—This being Labor Day, it seems appropriate to call attention to a television figure who is having trouble finding work: The fictional reporter hero of yesterday.

It is the saddest of situations. On the one hand, tonight's expansion of Walter Cronkite's CBS-TV news report from 15 to 30 minutes is an example of the real-life improvement of the situation of video newsmen. On the other, a look this past weekend at ABC-TV's "The Gallant men" series was further proof of the decline of their glamorous counterparts.

As you may know, "The Gallant Men," which featured a fictional war correspondent as one of its heroes when it bowed in a year or so ago, is not slated to return to ABC-TV this season. But it was only one of several similar casualties in television's attempts to bring us the thrills of the newspaper business.

"Saints and Sinners," which was cancelled quickly by NBC-TV last season, starred Nick Adams as a hot-diggity reporter and rewrite man. And CBS-TV's Lloyd Bridges show, which also will not return, started off with him as a journalist who imagined himself into the lead roles of his stories. This format was soon abandoned, to the consternation of glamorous newspapermen everywhere.

When Cataldo's father died last fall at the age of 47, he bequeathed the business to his eldest son. The family considered selling the dealership because of Cataldo's age. He was just two months past 15. But Cataldo plunged into the business, working 11 to 12 hours a day, and was able to show a marked increase in business within the first six months.

The tall, dark-haired boy gives the impression of being a little older, but not much. His customers and neighbors judge him as a good businessman who "knows what he is up to and knows how to make himself respected."

In spite of all this, Cataldo car himself for three more years. In Italy, the age for getting a driver's license is 18.

But there's some balm. At 16, the young tire dealer who can take cars apart and put them together again will be able to apply for a license to drive a motor scooter.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department predicts continued high prices for fruits. Supplies of most fresh market fruits for September through early fall are somewhat smaller than a year earlier.

Supplies of fresh citrus fruit, now mostly from California, probably will continue a little higher in September than in the same month last year, the department said. But the citrus from the new Florida crop later in the fall is expected to be in shorter supply than last fall.

The department said grower prices for lighter fruit supplies for both fresh use and processing generally are expected to equal or exceed last year's levels. Continued high grower prices for citrus fruits are expected.

The agency said the 1963-64 pack of canned fruits probably will be moderately smaller than the record 1962-63 output, primarily because of smaller crops on those fruits extensively canned.

Retail prices for canned fruit probably will be higher than last year.

Soft Water as An Investment

Few household appliances can match the "return" that comes from an investment in soft water. There are real savings in soaps and detergents, real pleasures in soft water baths, shaves and shampoos, and a most welcome lightening of nearly every household cleaning task.

The whole family will enjoy the benefits, and soft water is an investment ever family can afford. Soft Water Service, 314 S. Starkweather, would like to show you their many plans. They believe you will quickly find one to fit your budget and give you all the wonderfully soft water your family needs.

Some of the permanent dividends that come from an investment in soft water are cleaner dishes and appliances; more efficient appliances and housekeeping, more fun in cooking, bathing, shaving or shampooing and better drinking water, coffee, tea, mixed drinks and food flavors.

In washing machines, for example, soft water doesn't stop cleaning when it gives you soap-free, dirt-free washes. It carries the dirt right on out of the washing compartment, out of pumps, and washer piping.

Your small fry (and likely some bigger ones too) will take the credit for soft-water-at-work on that after-bath cleanup job. Let them. It's all part of the help soft water gives you toward better homemaking.

Only a few of the benefits of this service have been mentioned here. For full details, pick up your phone and say, "Hey Culligan Man!" (Phone MO 5-5729).

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sharp declines in prices for tomatoes and lettuce and a slight increase in returns for cattle and hogs knocked average farm prices down one per cent during last month through Aug. 15, according to the Agriculture Department.

Higher prices for wholesale milk, potatoes and eggs were not sufficient to prevent an overall decline the agency said.

The lower returns put average farm prices one per cent below the level at the same time in 1962.

Farm costs dropped one-third of one per cent in the latest survey mainly because of lower prices for some family living items. The decrease in farm costs was the first since March. Over all costs still were 2 per cent higher than a year ago.

The prices farmers received dropped a little faster than the prices paid by farmers from July 15 to Aug. 15.

Average hog prices for the month were $16.60 per hundredweight, compared with $17.10 in mid-July, and $17.50 in mid-August last year.

Average beef cattle prices were $20.40 per hundredweight compared with $20.50 in mid-July and $21.60 in mid-August a year ago.

Relife Importation
The native tobacco of Virginia was unobtainable and Jamestown planters were discouraged. John Rolfe imported seeds from Spanish- Trinidad in 1612 and from these grew the successful Virginia leaf.
