Texas Republicans Quiet About Poll Tax

For Fischer Quintuplets

Survival Chances Are Getting Better

ABERDEEN, S.D. (UPI)—The wife of a $76-a-week shipping clerk, already the mother of five children, gave birth Saturday to quintuplets—four "Mary's" and a "James Andrew," and all of them "fine babies."

The premature children of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer, with each hour of life, lengthened their chances of becoming the first quintuplets ever born in the United States to survive.

Although the odds against quintuplet births are 34 million to one, according to the American Medical Association, it was the second time in a week that the phenomenon had occurred in the Western Hemisphere. Last Sunday, quintuplet boys were born in Maracaibo, Venezuela, to a 34-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Ines Cuervo de Pierto.

Their Roman Catholic bishop of Sioux Falls, S.D., the Most Rev. Lambert Hoch, flew to this prairie cattle town near the North Dakota border to christen the infants. He baptized each of the four girls "Mary" and the boy "James Andrew."

The parents, exhausted and dumbfounded, said they would pick middle names for the girls later.

Mother Relieved

"Oh, thank God it's over," Mrs. Mary Ann Fischer, 30, told her husband.

"I don't know how it will be financially, but through God's will we will be able to take care of them," Andy Fischer said.

While the parents looked into the future, the full-resources of St. Luke's Hospital, a 235-bed Catholic institution, were devoted to keeping life in the 3½ pound youngsters, born six to eight weeks prematurely.

Dr. James Berbos, 40, the family doctor who brought the quintuplets into the world, said "these are fine babies. As far as I know they're going to be all right."

she felt the first labor pains. Dr. Berbos arrived. At 1:58 A.M. CST Saturday, the first girl arrived.

At 2:03, another girl; at 2:14 a third girl; at 2:39, James Andrew; at 3:01, the last "Mary" and it was over.

They were natural births, achieved without the aid of anesthetics. Mrs. Fischer saw her babies within moments after the birth.

"There was no difficulty," Berbos told a news conference late Saturday. "The first three were rather easy. The fourth and fifth had to be rotated a little."

No Danger

"At no time were the mother and babies in serious danger."

The babies were placed in isolettes—individual incubators of a type used for the Kennedy baby—and their mother was moved from the maternity ward to a private room.

Fischer, announcing "I'm popped," talked to his children and went to bed.

But he was up again in a few (See QUINTUPLETS, Page 3)

Repeal Election Set For Nov. 9

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI)—The Texas Republican Executive Committee was unexpectedly quiet Saturday on the poll tax issue at its last meeting before the Nov. 9 repeal vote.

The committee had been expected by some party members to consider a resolution in support of the amendment. But the resolutions committee ignored the issue.

A record 350 or more party workers and officials crowded to meeting rooms. Some party workers said state conventions of recent years attracted fewer delegates.

The series of meetings, which opened Friday afternoon, attracted many of the state party's big guns including U. S. Sen. John G. Tower of Wichita Falls, Rep. Ed Foreman of Odessa and five of the eight GOP members of the state legislature.

Much emphasis was placed on the move, which originated in Texas, to draft Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the GOP presidential nomination.

Tower predicted the Arizona senator "will answer the call."

"I think Goldwater could get the Republican nomination for the asking," Tower said. "He could swamp Nelson Rockefeller in California if that primary were held right now." He said he thinks Goldwater has about two-thirds of the necessary delegates locked up for the nomination.

Oppose Chamizal

The executive committee adopted resolutions opposing the nuclear test ban treaty between this country and Russia; opposing compulsory arbitration of the railroad dispute; and opposing this country's giving Mexico the Chamizal area of El Paso.

In a report on the Goldwater draft movement, State Chairman Peter O'Donnell told the committee that "now is the time for action."

"It is my deepest conviction that Senator Goldwater represents the best opportunity for the Republican party to win the presidency in 1964," he said.

Texas Republicans also were hoping to win a number of state and congressional races along with the presidency if Goldwater is nominated. Considerable jockeying for positions on the 1964 ballot already is underway.

Cool to Cox

George Bush of Houston announced earlier this week he will seek the GOP nomination for Sen. Ralph Yarborough's seat.

A divided coolness toward Jack Cox as a prospective candidate next year was noted among some party members at the meeting.

But party officials denied there was any move afoot to dump Cox. One official said Cox had been offered backing for the senate race opposing Yarborough, but had turned it down. Several party leaders said they hope Cox will actively seek the nomination for governor again.

One source said Cox has about decided he will not seek any elective post next year.

In 3 Texas Counties

'Sleeping Sickness' Claims Seven Lives

LURBOCK (UPI)—Encephalitis, a disease that affects the brain and is frequently called "sleeping sickness," has struck at least 66 persons and killed seven in three Texas counties around Lubbock this summer.

The water that is the lifeblood of the South Plains is directly responsible for the outbreak. Standing in shallow lakes or irrigation ditches, water provides an incubator for mosquitoes that spread encephalitis.

The disease has been a problem on the Plains for more than a dozen years. The current outbreak is the worst since an epidemic in 1957 and has touched off a campaign to stop encephalitis for once and all.

The disease is caused by a virus that attacks the brain and spinal cord. Since it takes 20 blood tests to confirm a case, Lubbock health officials think there were more sufferers than the records show.

Many persons, health officials believe, had a mild form of the disease, frequently without knowing it, and earned immunity. Some sources believe there are 10 unconfirmed cases for each confirmed case.

Vaccine for Horses

There is a vaccine, but it is for horses only. Work on a vaccine for human beings progresses slowly.

So the main way of fighting encephalitis is fight the mosquitoes, the way yellow fever was stopped. One of the leaders of the mosquito fight is Dr. Ellis Huddleston, a 27-year-old Texas Tech entomologist. Dr. Huddleston and his research team are concentrating on stopping the breeding of mos-

Reservations Are 'Coming In' For Sales Clinics

Reservations are beginning to come into the Pampa Chamber of Commerce office for the "One Great Day of Selling" sales clinics to be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 25, in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium.

John Wortman, chairman of the Merchants Activities Committee which is sponsoring the sales clinic, said Saturday the one-day sales training event will be conducted by Fred A. Palmer, nationally recognized sales training consultant.

He will stress in his sessions personality development, improved sales techniques and enthusiasm.

Palmer, with 25 years of actual selling and sales management and 15 years of sales consulting, is listed in "Who's Who in Commerce and Industry," and also is listed as a top speaker by Sales Marketing & Executives and by the American Society of Association Executives.

Wortman said he hoped Pampa merchants and businessmen would give their sales people an opportunity to attend the clinics.

Tickets are $2 per session or both may be attended for $3.50 per person.

City Budget Due For Final Action At Tuesday Meet

Final adoption of Pampa's estimated budget for 1963-64 is scheduled at the regular meeting of the City Commission at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday in City Hall.

The tentative budget figure is set at approximately $1,650,000.

City commissioners will hold their final discussion on the budget at a meeting late tomorrow afternoon.

Broken down into divisions, the total includes general fund rate of .32 cents; jury, one cent; road and bridge constitution, eight cents; road and bridge special rate, 15 cents; F.M. and L.R., 30 cents; bond interest and sinking fund, 13 cents.

In addition, the commissioners announced the state rate per $100 valuation is 42 cents. Other rates, not set by the commission are water district, number three, four cents; Grandview, school district number 17 and Kellerville, district number county line number four, are both $1 each.

"If a person is living in one of these school districts and in the water district, his total rate, including the state tax rate, would be $2.80," Jack Back, county tax assessor-collector, said.

"If the person is living only in the water district and not in either school district, his rate would be $1.80. This includes the county rate, district rate and the state rate," Back said.

This year's rate is five cents more per $100 valuation than last year's rate of $1.29 per $100 valuation, according to Back.

In other business yesterday, the commissioners approved a motion to advertise for bids on heating and air conditioning Highland General Hospital. Bids will be opened in the County Court room at 10 a.m. Oct. 1.

They also approved a contract between Highland General Hospital and the partnership of W. F. Hawkins Jr., R. D. Hawkins and Joe Hawkins to install and maintain 40 television sets in the county hospital.

"The contract is already in effect," County Judge William J. Craig said. "The partnership agreed to install and maintain the equipment at their own expense. This is an extra service. Patients will have to request a set and agree to pay the rental fee of $1.50 per day."

The contract gives the partnership the exclusive right to install and maintain the sets. In exchange, the hospital will collect the rental fees, which will be split 40 per cent to the hospital and 60 per cent to the partnership, according to Judge Craig.

Commissioners also authorized payment of $15,452.83 for the first monthly estimate of work completed on the M. K. Brown bridge, which is being constructed near the Coronado Inn.

In routine matters, the commissioners leased for the use of precinct one, commissioner J. M. McCracken, a tract of land from the Ft. Worth-Denver RR for $15 a year. The tract, located in Lefors, will be used for a storage yard for road and bridge equipment and supplies.

The commissioners authorized placing in the minutes a copy of the Soil Conservation Service's lease of office space in the Court House Annex, east of Pampa.

In other official business, the commissioners ordered their approval of the issuance of McLean hospital bonds to be placed in the minutes.

The Commissioners will meet at 10 a.m. Oct. 1 in the Court Room to pay salaries.

Commissioners Set New County Tax Rate

County Commissioners set the county tax rate for 1963-64 at $1.34 per $100 valuation during their regular commission meeting in county court Friday.

Broken down into divisions, the total includes general fund rate of .32 cents; jury, one cent; road and bridge constitution, eight cents; road and bridge special rate, 15 cents; F.M. and L.R., 30 cents; bond interest and sinking fund, 13 cents.

In addition, the commissioners announced the state rate per $100 valuation is 42 cents. Other rates, not set by the commission are water district, number three, four cents; Grandview, school district number 17 and Kellerville, district number county line number four, are both $1 each.

Treaty Opposition Held to 13 Votes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's campaign to produce the "widest possible" support for the nuclear test ban treaty has held opposition to ratification to a hard core of 13 votes to date, a survey showed Saturday.

A continuing United Press International check indicated 89 senators have now announced or indicated to vote for the pact. Seven others are "wrestling with their consciences" in the uncertain ranks.

Texas Railroad Commission Orders 20 Wells Plugged

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission yesterday ordered 20 oil wells in Gregg and Rusk counties of East Texas plugged and ordered directional surveys of two other wells as a result of its slant-hole investigation. Surveys were ordered on the A. A. Castleberry Well No. 1 in Gregg County, owned by Jack Peterson and a well on the Jim McMurray estate, also in Gregg County, to determine if those wells are illegally slanted. Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. filed a complaint requesting the survey on the Jim McMurray estate well, and Pan American Petroleum Corp. asked for the survey of the Peterson well. The 20 wells ordered shut down and plugged by the commission all were determined to be illegally slanted or to be in fields where a deviated well was found. In some cases, the commission finds a deviated well and it orders several other wells in the same lease closed. Unless the operator seeks to have such wells reinstated, all are ordered plugged. Wells ordered plugged by the commission included:

- E. M. Fish, Two wells on his McCord lease in Rusk County.
- Douglas Godfrey, two wells, A. A. King-lease, Gregg County.
- Laverne Crim, three wells, N. L. Marwill lease, Gregg County.
- Baton Swabbing Co., two wells, George A. Muckelroy lease, Gregg County.
- Carter-Jones Drilling Co. Inc., one well in Brewer cemetery lease, Rusk County.
- H. M. Harrington Jr., two wells, Skipper-Garner "B" lease and Harris Smith lease, Gregg County.
- J. L. Elrod, one well, Lizzie Washington lease, Rusk County.
- John George, six wells, W. H. Stroud lease, Rusk County.
- B. F. Carroll, one well, Longshore lease in Gregg County.

Volcano Will Be Site of Biblical Movie Production

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI)—On the slopes of Europe's most active volcano, which has destroyed more than one town in its eruptions, movie men are building the ruins of a city.

Mount Etna, called the "Pillar of Heaven," has killed an estimated 1 million persons in recorded history. Since 475 B.C., it has had about 300 eruptions. Only last April, the volcano threatened the little town of Linguaglossa high up on the 10,758-foot volcano's northeastern slope. This killer volcano will be the site for a reproduction of the Biblical city of Sodom in Italian movie producer Dino de Laurentiis' production of "The Bible"—an in-sequence shooting of the book of Genesis from the creation to Joseph.

The unique thing about the new movie is that Sodom will be built already destroyed to get away from the usual movie cliché of thousands dying while Sodom is razed by fire and brimstone. The destroyed Sodom will be the background for part of the Abraham and Isaac episode. Abraham will be seen leading his son, Isaac, to the sacrifices through the burnt-out city. On the way, he will explain to him what happens when people live evilly and deny their God.

The idea is that this will speak more eloquently of the disaster and its horror than a frantic scene of thousands on the screen fleeing from a mock-up city on fire. The ruined city that will backdrop Abraham's narration already is on the way to completion. About 200 workmen have been employed in building the construction of destruction.

De Laurentiis chose the slopes of Etna because he wanted a site that had the appearance of having been struck by brimstone, charred by fire. The lava-laced sides of Etna are as grim a landscape of the workings of fire as can be found. The choice of the site did not make it any easier for art director Mario Chiari to design and build a ruined city. Designing a standing city would have been easier, according to Chiari. The art director had great trouble in matching the lava rock in the materials that he chose for the wreckage of his city.

While director Orson Welles is filming the Abraham and Isaac sequence, construction crews will move to Egypt to start building the Tower of Babel and the city and palaces of the Pharaohs. The latter is for the Joseph and his brethren sequence, which is to go before the cameras in October, with Luchino Visconti directing.

Nikita Celebrates Anniversary as Leader

By HENRY SHAPIRO United Press International MOSCOW (UPI) — Ten years ago yesterday a former coal miner of peasant origin was elected to the most powerful job in the Communist world.

The man was Nikita S. Khrushchev and the job was first secretary of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party, which rules the Soviet Union. Khrushchev, now 69, has been at the top of the Kremlin roost ever since, and is likely to stay there as long as he wishes. As he solidified his position during the decade, he added the premiership to his post of party chief.

The Kremlin boss is having his troubles with Communist China, farm deficiencies at home, soaring defense and space costs, and unrest among the country's intellectuals, but he apparently is unworried about his position after 10 years.

Back On Vacation Wednesday he left Moscow to resume the Black Sea vacation he interrupted for his recent 15-day visit to Yugoslavia.

Two weeks ago in Yugoslavia, Khrushchev donned a miner's uniform at the coal town of Venjelic and told his hosts: "I am sure the doctors won't let me go down the mine again but I will continue to serve in the post I now hold through the will of the party and people." This was his way of telling the world that he intends to stay on the job for the rest of his life and scotch earlier rumors of his impending resignation or dismissal.

Actually, Khrushchev became party chief about two weeks after Josef Stalin's death in March, 1953, when the late dictator's triumvirate of successors, Georgi Malenkov, Vyacheslav Molotov and Lavrenti Beria, apparently not trusting one another, decided to give the post to a relatively "harmless outsider."

The formal title of first secretary was conferred on him by a plenary session of the Central Committee on Sept. 12.

Overlooked By Others Stalin's immediate successors had overlooked Khrushchev's extraordinary drive and political genius.

By midsummer of 1953, Beria, the police chief, was arrested and later executed as a spy.

A year later, Malenkov was ousted from the premiership. By June, 1957, he and Molotov, with half a dozen other old-guard Stalinists, were expelled from the Central Committee and discredited.

Khrushchev added the premiership in 1958 and for practical purposes became the "ruler of all the Russias."

Mexican Magazine Backs PASO's Work in Texas

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—An article entitled "A Revolution of Mexicans in South Texas" in the latest Manana magazine out Tuesday, said "Crystal City before the election which put Mexican descent U. S. citizens into municipal office was dominated by 'Anglos.' (a reference to Anglo-Saxons)."

"Politics, business and all public activities were controlled by Americans of Anglo origin," the magazine said. "Americans of Latin origin were in a 4-1 majority, but had no voice or vote."

"A preponderance of Anglos manifested itself in everything," the magazine said. The same offense had different penalties. Those who ran things, paid small fines, while the Mexicans were jailed if they could not pay fines arbitrarily set by an Anglo judge.

"Resentment increased. Americans who speak Spanish entered the Army. They left for other countries and other places in the United States."

How Idea Started "There they saw how others lived. This was how the idea began, that things should not be left unchanged at home."

The magazine said Crystal City Anglos tried "different methods of pressure from bribery to open threats," to prevent "all those Latins going to the polls." The weekly magazine quoted Antonio G. Cardenas, one of five Mexicans on the town council as stating, "there was a wall, bigger than the Berlin wall" which separated Mexicans and the others, "and it had to be torn down."

Things could not have continued the same. They erected the wall, but later we couldn't fell it. We ourselves had not made it bigger. That's why we tore it down. The magazine further quoted Cardenas as saying "they have much money. The fight will be very difficult, but we already have won more than 50 per cent."

"They have the newspapers here and nearby, but we have the power and we have the people. That's enough."

Work with Party "We work within the Democratic party because that's how we feel. They don't, and they're pure hypocrites. They say Lyndon Johnson is a traitor to Texas and don't want Kennedy. What kind of Democrats are they?"

Manana quoted Reynaldo Mendoza, another councilman, as stating "merchandise here sells for at least 11 per cent more than in San Antonio. Bread, meat and all canned goods (cost more) so money buys less here."

He added, "goods cost less in Laredo, although it is farther away."

The magazine quoted Crystal City Mayor Juan Cornejo as saying it all started when he learned about the Teamsters Union. Cornejo was quoted as saying, "now we control only Crystal City. We want to control Zavala County."

The plumber, user of lead pipe and solder, takes his name from "plumbum," Latin for "lead."

Lions Club Raises $725 For Children

To date the Evening Lions Club has made about $725 in its annual light bulb sale to raise money for the Crippled Children Camp at Kerrville, Tex., sponsored by the Texas Lions League.

"We have sold for four nights and anticipate four more evenings of selling if the rains don't continue to stop us," B. G. Gordon, chairman, said.

"When the drive started Sept. 7, the club had 1,450 bags of bulbs, each containing four bulbs of assorted sizes. About half of these bags, which sell for a $1 each, have been sold, according to Gordon.

"We have had every man in the club participating in the selling. For five years, the club has had a hundred per cent membership in the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children.

"The camp at Kerrville, which is used as a crippled children's camp in the summer, is converted in the winter months to a rehabilitation center for the blind," Gordon said.

Club members are selling the bulbs-house to house all over Pampa and have partially completed the north section, according to Gepe Olds, committee co-chairman.

The committee members are Gordon, chairman, Olds and Jack Williams, co-chairmen.

hours and back at the hospital for his babies' baptism. First he had a few tender moments with his wife, who lay exhausted in a room 45 yards from the nursery where the already famous quintts matched their yells with those of 25 other babies.

Accompanied by Lawyer He was accompanied briefly in the room by an Aberdeen lawyer, Joseph H. Barnett. The attorney's presence indicated the parents were already aware of the publicity and pressures in store for them.

Fischer, who had confessed himself "shocked to the gills" earlier, looked drawn and "shook up" in the words of a nurse, as he watched his babies' christening. Four nurses and a doctor acted as sponsors.

No Names Earlier, Fischer had joked wryly "I don't know what we'll call them — just A-B-C-D-E and F." He still looked weary when he joined reporters after the christening for his first news conference. Wearing black horn rimmed glasses, he said he plans to stay in his 10-room $50-a-month farm home but didn't think he would have to buy more cows to keep the quintts in milk.

The birth of the Fischer quintts in South Dakota's cattle country revived memories of another birth, 29 years ago, 1,000 miles to the northeast at Callander, Ont. This was the birthplace of the Dionne Quintuplets; first quintts in medical history to grow to maturity.

Legless Veteran Flies Own Plane To Aid His Kind

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)—The walking days of Russell W. Heriford were cut off by German machine gun bullets during World War II, but that hasn't stopped the 36-year-old veteran from flying his own plane throughout the country helping other paraplegics and serving as a church evangelist.

In addition, Heriford has invented what he calls the StandAlone Therapeutic Aid which allows a paraplegic to be pretty much on his own, without outside help. It allows him to stand alone or wheel himself to a car, home or plane. He can fold up and store the device knowing that he simply reverses the process when he desires. Heriford began taking flying lessons in Memphis, Tenn., in 1946 and got his commercial license in 1951. Recently he was able to buy his own plane.

Charles Bray, vice president and general manager of Riverside Air Service, said he was worried about selling Heriford the plane. But a special hand rudder control was installed so Heriford could operate the rudder controls without his feet and he was ready to take off.

The StandAlone Therapeutic Aid required the removal of the Tri-Pacer's rear seat, still leaving the front seats for Heriford and his wife Kittie. Heriford says his chief purpose in flying around the country, is to visit paraplegic conventions; veterans hospitals and other gatherings where he can demonstrate his StandAlone and explain other methods how a legless person can achieve independence.

A religious man, Heriford is a commissioned evangelist in the Church of the Nazarene and uses his plane in this work. He and his wife plan to extend their field of operations — both in church work and with paraplegics — to other countries.

"The world is not too big a place for a paraplegic," Heriford said.

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

MADRID, Spain (UPI)—Ask almost any politically minded Spaniard what he believes is Spain's greatest internal problem, and the reply will be, "the succession."

Spain officially is still a kingdom, but the phrase, "the succession," applies to only one man and that is Generalissimo Francisco Franco, in all respects Spain's chief of state.

Today's Spain, 25 years after the civil war, is a nation moulded by Franco and ruled by his decisions.

Franco resents being called a dictator, preferring rather to regard himself as a man who fulfilled a national need and still is answering to it.

Whatever the definition, Spain has found tranquility after 100 years of civil war, enjoys a rising prosperity and once more is looking to the world beyond the Pyrenees.

Even Franco's home critics admit there is no one in the country able to match him in national prestige.

There is Opposition
There is opposition to Franco in Spain, said one knowledgeable American.

But it is an opposition upon which it is hard to place your finger, the source pointed out to this correspondent who flew to Spain aboard an Iberia Airlines plane to be shown the situation close-up.

Except for the Communists and the anarchists, no one is plotting against him. The minimum wage has been raised to a dollar a day, and the little man about to raise his standard of living with a new apartment or a television set is not willing to risk it in a new revolt.

Most of the opposition simply is waiting for Franco to get out of office or die.

Approaching 71, Franco shows signs of neither.

But neither has there been a decision on the succession, the man or system which will enable Spain to continue its era of stability.

Franco himself has said he cannot be expected to continue in office forever. Up until a short time ago, it appeared he was grooming the young Juan Carlos to take over the Spanish throne for a resumption of the monarchy. Highly placed Spaniards believe that idea is fading in the face of mounting public resistance.

Needs Army Support
Whoever is to rule in Spain must have the support of the army. Filling that requirement is Vice President Capt. Gen. Agustin Munoz Grandis, the only man whose military rank equals Franco's own.

Another alternative is the council of the realm, a council which would be composed of representatives of labor, the Catholic church, the universities and professional groups who would suggest a form of government and submit it to a plebiscite.

Finally there has been a suggestion that Franco himself might retire, giving the country an opportunity to reach its own peaceful solution but holding himself ready to return to office in case of need.

Within Spain political groups the Falangist party are barred and the right of assembly limited. Efficient police quickly subdue opposition demonstrations. In some government circles there is a hope that a gradual relaxation of restrictions will develop within the people, themselves a sense of political responsibility.

But meanwhile the question of the how, who or what of "the succession" remains unanswered.

Nearly 2 million Americans spent $2.6 billion traveling abroad during 1962.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

When Harry S. Truman took over on that April day in 1945, he cleared FDR's desk of a junky clutter and installed his own personal motto in a prominent spot. The motto read:

"The buck stops here."

"The buck stops here." He played politics for keeps, shot from the hip and, more often than not, wounded a fact or some innocent bystander. But he never laid off the blame on circumstances or associates. Nor did he duck the tough decisions that came his way.

This modest salute to the tough little man from Missouri was prompted by word from Albany, N.Y., and Washington, D.C., that the head men in those areas are reaching for an alibi to lay off blame for some of the conditions now existing.

There was the Sept. 1 story from Albany in which Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller reneged on his 1962 campaign promise to hold the line on New York State taxes through 1966. Rockefeller said he didn't expect any new taxes next year but did not feel bound by his campaign promise thereafter.

And, who is to blame for Rockefeller's need to renege on his promise? John F. Kennedy, that's who. The governor said he did not feel bound because his campaign promise not to raise taxes had been based on a national economic growth rate promised but unachieved by the Kennedy administration.

President's Version
As Al Jolson used to say, you ain't heard nothin' yet. On NBC's Huntley-Brinkley news show this week, President Kennedy was asked about the wisdom of seeking a tax cut when the budget remains far out of balance. He replied:

"The reason the government is in deficit is because you have more than 4 million persons unemployed, and because the last five years you have had rather a sluggish growth, much slower than any other Western country."

And there you have it, Kennedy, tricked Rockefeller with a promise that the growth rate and tax revenue would zoom. So, it isn't Rocky's fault that he cannot make good on a major campaign promise that helped elect him. Or, anyway, that is the way Rocky would want you to view it.

But the President, in turn, has been done in by the unemployed, 4 million of them, who ganged up to compel him to spend a great many billions of dollars beyond his tax revenue.

Government Costs Rise
Neither statesman mentioned that in the administrations of each the cost of government has risen almost perpendicularly as though from Cape Canaveral. Both are big-time spenders. The President and the governor are making to look very good Parkinson's law on government expenditure and revenue. The law is that government expenditure will rise to meet and usually to exceed revenue.

Federal revenue has risen from $81.4 billion in fiscal 1962 to $86.9 billion (est.) in fiscal 1964 while spending rose from $87.8 billion to $98.8 (est.) for this fiscal year. Rockefeller's spending record is similar.

All politicians tend to pass the buck on spending. It is not deemed dishonorable to spend other people's tax money to get elected or to keep your party in power. The voters could change that, if they would.

American Girl Turned Princess Is Homesick

By AJIT K. DAS
United Press International
CALCUTTA (UPI)—The American girl who became Princess Hope Namgyal of Sikkim March 20 in a fairy tale wedding admits to a bit of homesickness high in the Himalayan kingdom she now calls home.

But brown-haired, bright-eyed former Hope Cooke, a post-debutante from New York, relishes the change from college campus to Sarah Lawrence to the royal court life of a Buddhist state.

"You must understand," she said in an interview on her way to New Delhi with her husband to meet a friend. "After leaving the university it has been a completely different life. I have to fit into lots of practical things."

Nearly six months after her wedding, there has still been no honeymoon. It was called off when her uncle, the late Seldin Chapin, a former U.S. ambassador to Iran, died and she returned to the U.S. for the funeral.

Holds Lush Meetings
Since the princess married Crown Prince Maharajkumar Palden Thorndup Namgyal, 40, a widower with three children she met in India while traveling with friends, she has been kept busy with long chains of interviews—with sober school teachers, mystic monks and highly inquisitive rural people who come for a look-see at their "American Rain."

But most "practical" of all is Hope's effort to give a new look to the Sikkim palace, an unpretentious two-story red and yellow painted building in Gangtok. She is "not changing anything," she insists. Merely "integrating" the color scheme of the palace, with olive green and pink her favorite colors.

Still, Princess Hope feels nostalgic. In the midst of the heavy daily routine that keeps her busy almost all the time, her thoughts turn to home—to Mrs. Chapin, who was her guardian, to her friends from college and to the reading that was her passion.

Helping Her Husband
The new princess said she is schooling herself to share the royal responsibilities her husband has to discharge as the de-facto ruler of Sikkim, a Yellowstone Park-sized nation with fewer than 165,000 people.

Helping the princess with the Sikkimese language are the prince's two sons and a daughter aged 10, 9 and 7, born of his first Tibetan wife who died in 1957. In return, she helps them in Latin and French. And the affection she has shown for them has won her the hearts of all in the palace.

"It is lovely to have things in common—to share ideas," Princess Hope said.

Truman Backs Integration, Not Intermarriage

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman said yesterday he hopes that progress in integration in the United States will not lead to intermarriage between the races.

Truman discussed the subject during his regular morning walk which began the last days of a family visit here. He planned to return home to Independence, Mo., last night.

Asked his views on integration and whether it would lead to intermarriage, Truman said "I hope not. I don't believe in it." "The Lord created it that way. You read your Bible and you'll find out," he told reporters who accompanied him on the stroll along Madison and Park Avenues. His comments on intermarriage came after he praised President Kennedy's action in handling the Alabama integration crisis Tuesday.

Spain Has a New Spirit On the Rise Internally

MADRID, Spain (UPI)—A new spirit is on the rise in Spain. Externally, it expresses itself in Spain's cautious wish to play a part in European and world affairs.

Internally, it is expressed by an equally cautious, and so far limited, relaxation of some of the controls which have governed Spain's daily life since the end of the Spanish civil war 25 years ago.

The feeling of these changes soon is made apparent to the visitor such as this correspondent, who flew into Spain as a guest of Iberia Airlines on an inaugural flight from Los Angeles by way of Canada.

Emerges From Barrier
Spain's gradual emergence from behind the barrier of the Pyrenees after more than 100 years of isolation has been shown by its membership in such organizations as the organization for economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), the United Nations, and this year's action in joining GAAT the General Agreement on Tariff and Trade, binding her to world trade policies.

Spain's tolerant attitude toward the current strike of 16,000 Asturian coal miners although strikes in Spain are illegal.

It appears also in a new willingness to permit publication of criticism from abroad and to a lifting of censorship for Spain's provincial newspapers, a condition which on the first of the year is expected to be applied to the national press of Madrid and Barcelona as well.

Get New Status
And it appears also in a new so-called Protestant law which also is expected soon and will give legal status to Protestant

4. Grandmother, 34, gives birth to quintuplets—all boys—in Venezuela.
5. Jack Nicklaus wins World Series of Golf at Akron for second straight year, pockets $50,000.

7. Limited nuclear test ban treaty wins bipartisan support as Senate debates pact.

Youth Delopes Voice Dialing System

LAKE JACKSON, Tex. (UPI)—In 1961, John R. Treichler's mother spoke both her arms during a Cub Scout den mother's race. That made it most difficult to dial a telephone.

But Treichler, who was 13 years old at the time, had an idea. Why couldn't he devise a machine that would dial for her when she spoke into it?

He saved more than $200 from his newspaper delivery route and went to work. He immediately ran into troubles.

"I never could develop the precise timing needed," he said. He finally built a device with photoelectric cells, an electronic screen, and other electronic devices that promise to give him the desired results.

HOW FAR WEST CAN YOU GO IN BERLIN?—"All the way" is the answer, now that a live western is playing a West Berlin open-air theater for the first time in years. The play is from one of the stories by Karl May, whose written-in-Germany westerns have long enjoyed great popularity. From left, by dyed-in-the-imagination names: Winnetou, Nascho-Naschi, "Old Shatterhand." Pale-skin with the outsize blunderbuss is Tangu, "head" of the Kiowas. Frontier type at right is unidentified.

The British Romance With World War I

LONDON (NEA)—Although the 50th anniversary of the 1914-18 war is still a year distant, a World War I craze has already begun to sweep Britain.

Books, films, plays and television documentaries are flooding the island, with more on the way. The public, it seems, just can't get enough of the mud and blood that was the trench warfare-half a century ago.

Some critics see in the revival a middle-aged reaction against pushbutton warfare. Older Britons, they claim, are nostalgic for the age of personal heroism, when the individual soldier still counted for something in combat.

Others credit the younger generation for the present boom. It is their insatiable curiosity concerning how their grandfathers lived and died which has made the Great War, as it sometimes called, a best-seller again.

Whatever the reason, both World War II and the Korean War have taken a back seat in public interest here.

ITEM: The biggest stage hit in London at the moment is "Oh What a Lovely War," a bitter evocation of the Big Parade mostly in terms of songs which were popular during that period.

ITEM: Television has recently discovered World War I, and the British Broadcasting Corporation is planning to release its version of the battle in 26 half-hour installments.

ITEM: All official documents relating to World War I will become available to the public in 1964, the 50th anniversary. Expected results: a landslide of books quarried from this newly available mountain of fact.

Meanwhile, three new biographies of Nurse Edith Cavell, who was executed by the Germans as a spy, will soon appear on the newsstands here. Two London publishers are racing to see who will be first with a reappraisal of the Kaiser (was he responsible?).

ITEM: "The Lost Generation," which is being scripted by Frank Launder, will probably be the first of a long string of films taking an adult look at the 1914-18 war against a background of generals and politicians.

ITEM: Benjamin Britten's War Requiem, a cantata making use of Wilfred Owen's war poems, has become an overnight concert favorite here.

"Most visitors come here with the First World War in mind," says Dr. A. N. Frankland, director of the Imperial War Museum, who claims that attendance (normally 142,000 visitors a year) has recently trebled.

Indeed, I found as many school boys on the day I visited the museum examining the Sopwiths and the other fighter planes of 1916-17 vintage as there were clustered around the Spitfire of World War II, which is one of the museum's prize exhibits.

The museums' 12 million feet of World War I newsreels are also to be tapped for showing. But before any old newsreel extracts can be used they must be "stretched," a process which involves re-printing every third frame. This is so the film will not appear jerky—to prevent infantry going "over the top" like jumping fleas.

World War I inspired four times more poetry than did World War II, judging from the shelf space allotted at the museum to the poetry of both wars.

Professor A. J. P. Taylor, the Oxford don who is bringing out a short illustrated history of World War I, offers an explanation why the 1914-18 Armageddon has bitten deeply into British consciousness.

"It was," says Taylor, "the most bewildering war ever fought. It has an extraordinary atmosphere about it—full of paradoxes. Those who lived through the war felt their lives were being changed tremendously. And people remembered it for years after. Armistice Day was kept alive."

Writer's Attempt to Veil Zip Code in Secrecy Fails

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—As one of the last holdouts against the digitization of the human race, I have refused to tell anyone what my zip code number is.

But now I am beginning to see the folly of these obstructionist tactics.

Despite my efforts to maintain secrecy, several mail order houses have been able to learn my zip number, presumably by kidnapping my mailman and torturing him until he squealed.

As a result, this year's Christmas gift catalogs are being delivered anywhere from 24 to 36 hours ahead of last year's crop.

For a person who likes to do his Christmas shopping early, as I do, every minute counts. So I suppose I should apologize to the Post Office Department for having been such a sorehead.

As usual, the catalogs are filled with wonderful gift suggestions, and I can hardly wait to get at the order blanks.

One item that caught my eye is a "beer can launcher." Using a .22 caliber blank for propulsion, it will hurl an empty beer can as far as 100 feet.

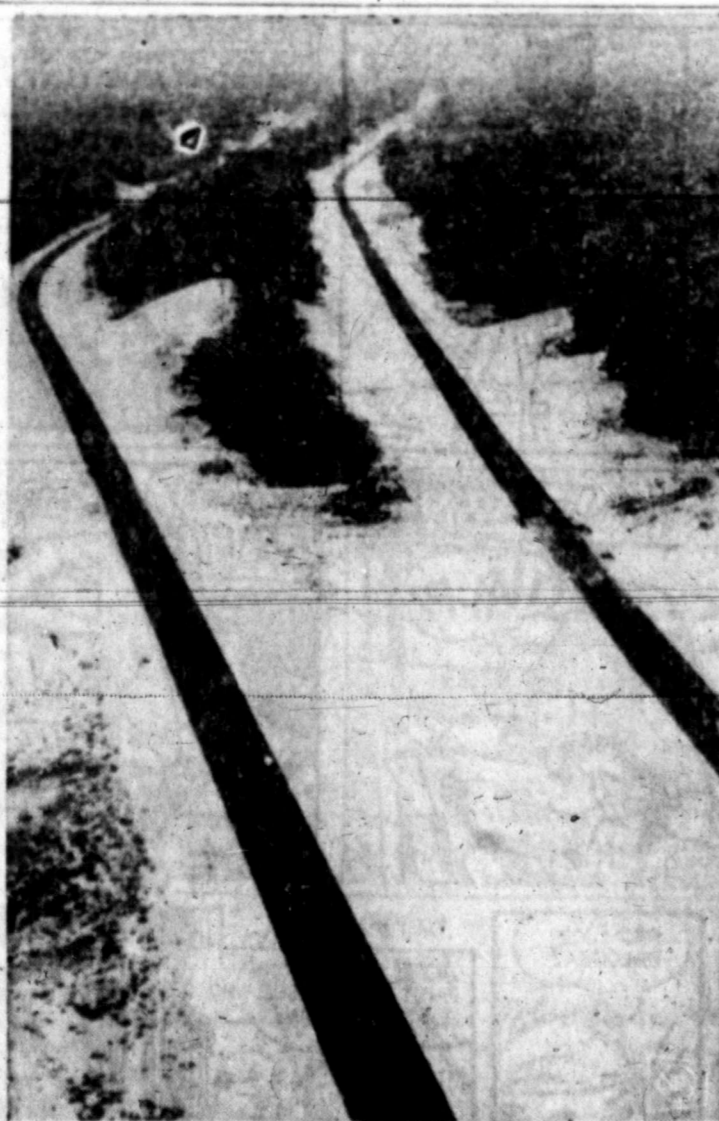

The catalog touts the launchers for target practice, but I see them as splendid gifts for motorized drinkers who are always throwing beer cans from car windows.

The launchers will enable them to litter suburban lawns that are presently beyond their range. Should make beer cans disposal in finitely more satisfying.

Another attractive item is a box of "magic birthday candles...huff and puff with all your might but you can't blow them out."

Imagine the fun you can have watching your child get blue in the face trying to extinguish the candles on his birthday cake.

As a companion gift, I recommend a mouthpiece, advertised in one catalog as an aid in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

SUMMER SNOWSTORM?—No, that white stuff covering the landscape near Lake Michigan in western Michigan wasn't dropped by a late-late (or early-early) blizzard. It's sand, and the roads are part of the spanking new Benton Harbor-to-Holland Freeway, which was being readied for its opening to traffic.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Investor-Stock Survey editor Walt McKibben points out that the power behind the market's advance is institutional demand for top quality issues, rather than general public demand for a broad range of issues.

McKibben concedes although there is a tendency for the better shares to pull the others along on a comparative basis he does not rule out the possibility of a strong blue chip market accompanied by a weaker market for secondary shares.

"If all the excitement is in the blue chips," McKibben says, "the rest of the market could take a long time to catch up."

Analyst Elliot Janeway believes the public, which was scared off in the spring of 1952 at the 690 level in the Dow-Jones industrial average, will return to the market at around the 750 spot in the blue chip indicator. Janeway feels the public will find this level, one which he expects to be reached shortly, both plausible and trustworthy.

TEXAS BOATING

By KENNETH CARR
United Press International

As another boating season nears an end for a good many Texas boaters, it is once more apparent that boating is the state's fastest growing outdoor sport.

Texas' 624 miles of Gulf coast line and 4,000 miles of inland water make boating a sport accessible to just about everyone in the state.

Texas now ranks fifth in the nation in retail boat sales and fourth with marine businesses. It is also fourth with 220 marine wholesalers.

Boats in the state run from about $250 for a small used craft to well over $75,000 for a luxury cruiser. The average is about $2,500 for a rig.

Statisticians tell us that in Texas boating families, the rig is the third most expensive purchase for the family, ranking after house and automobile. Boat financing is relaxing more every year, enabling many families to move into the boat-owner category.

Texas bankers are finding that average marine loans are relatively high, with negligible repossessions (about 1 per cent).

Houston and Harris County rank highest in boat sales in Texas—more than 20 per cent of the state's boats are sold in this area. It is estimated that about 18 per cent of all outboards in Texas are in Houston.

Free classes in navigation, small boat handling and safety at sea will be offered to Gulf Coast residents beginning Thursday at the Southmore Junior High School in Pasadena. The course consists of 14 weekly lectures.

Classes will cover such items as seamanship, rules of the nautical road, equipment required by law, reading the compass and nautical chart reading.

Couple Repeats Promises

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — Miss Patsy Lou Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard James Moore, of Skellytown and Winfred Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Simmons, also of Skellytown, were married Saturday evening at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Skellytown with Rev. M. B. Smith of Pampa officiating at the single-ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with baskets of palms placed on the choir bannisters with candelabra on each side, white baskets of gladiolus were placed on each side of the kneeling bench, tapers lighted the scene. Lighting the tapers were Ruth Giesler, and Miss Rita Faye Spence.

Miss Dianne Thomas, organist played traditional music and accompanied Mrs. Lowell McBroom who sang "Oh Promise Me," "Whither Thou Goest" and the "Lord's Prayer" for the benediction.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Simmons

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk organza over taffeta, with a bateau neckline trimmed with seed pearls. Dear Abby... He Let Go of the Reins — She Used Them!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I thought I was a "good" husband for 14 years, but now I wonder. We had three children. They were raised to understand that Mother was the boss, and Father was good for only the pay check. My wife made all the decisions, and I let her. I wanted a peaceful home without arguments. The result: My wife lost respect for me and my children did the same. Right now I am being divorced because I am "boring" to live with. I am giving my wife our home (paid for) and $200 a month for child support. I let her charge me with "mental cruelty" without protesting. Me a while, my brother sits at his table and eats steak, while his wife and children eat beans and bread. His wife adores him and his children worship him. His word is law and he is treated like a king. So, who is crazy?

"TOO GOOD"
DEAR "TOO": You're not, but when you abdicated your position as "head-of-the-house", you invited the loss of face that followed. Being a "good" husband is a self enough. Being respected is equally important. And about your brother: A man who eats steak while his wife and children eat beans is sick. And the family who could "adore and worship" such a man is as sick as he is. So don't rationalize your own evasions in terms of your brother's selfishness.

DEAR ABBY: I read somewhere that a woman should never go to sleep without "making up." I was taught that it is very bad for the complexion to go to sleep without washing your face. Can you please advise me?

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: You probably read "somewhere" that if a woman has a quarrel with her husband she should never go to sleep without "making up" WITH him—not FOR him. You were taught properly. Always wash your face before going to sleep.

DEAR ABBY: How old does a man have to be before he starts acting old? John is 42 and I am 40 and we have been married 20 years. We have two sons, 16 and

18. John's place of business is only a few blocks from here so he comes home for lunch every day, which makes matters worse. I know that when a man is first married he likes to hug and kiss and show a lot of affection, but isn't he supposed to let up a little with the years? John is a wonderful husband in every way and I love him very much, but I would be satisfied with just a good night kiss—if you know what I mean.

NO MATCH FOR HIM
DEAR NO MATCH: Yes, I know what you mean, and your complaint is not uncommon. When a man and his Mrs. are not operating on the same frequency, they should visit their family doctor for some frank talk and advice. Your husband is too young to start "acting old"—and so are you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "J": The answer is obvious. When you're with the one you love, you love the one you're with.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Way To Spray

NEW YORK (UPI) — For best results in using hair sprays, here is the method suggested by Kenneth Battelle, who runs a New York salon and practically commutes to Washington to dress Mrs. John F. Kennedy's hair.

"First," said Kenneth, "the hairdo must be completely combed or brushed into place. Then the hair is lightly sprayed at a distance of 8 to 12 inches so that the mist gently settles on the hair. The spray should never be applied with a blast directly at the hairdo, as this will have a tendency to saturate the hair and break down the set."

Children's Nursery Furniture Now Has A Future in the Home - Not Attic

Woman To Woman
By PATRICIA MC CORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Children's furniture now has a future in the family — thanks to a new departure in design.

Unlike the delicately-decaled teeny-tiny furnishings that once merely passed through the nursery en route to the attic, the trend today is to furniture that is durable enough to last a lifetime — and able to grow with the children.

Designers Mel Smilov and Mort Thielle, who've had a hand in blueprinting "Furniture that grows," said in an interview the trend is in response to demands of contemporary parents.

"Today's parents are demanding much more of the furniture they buy for their children," Smilov said.

"Most families regard furnishing a home as a lifetime project. They insist on one-time investment pieces for the offspring's room, too — furniture that can be adapted to multiple uses in the future."

The obvious problems of continuing physical growth from toddler to teen-ager furniture has been solved by supplying extra sets of furniture legs that can be screwed into tables to make them 10, 12, 14 or the standard 28 inches in height.

Correspondingly, different-sized legs can be twisted into benches for seating comfort.

The standard children's room chests are designed to sit or hang on the wall ten inches above the floor.

They have child-tested and found a convenient height for both the child who is being taught the virtues of neatness, and for the mom — who sometimes must lend a hand in operation put-things-away.

What design features should parents look for in children's furniture? Smilov cited the following:

- More than adequate storage provided by chests that can be matched and added to in future years.
- Stain and mar-resistant plastic tops on all flat surfaces.
- Lightweight tables and benches that fold or stack to provide a maximum of service in a minimum of off-duty space.

The president of the Council of Clubs requested a program in the near future on the "Functions of the Jaycee-Ettes". Those reporting were committee chairman, Mrs. Bob Blakeney, recognized for her job on publicity of Jaycee-Ettes, Mrs. Morris Wilson, reporting fine cooperation from the telephone committee, Mrs. Howard Anderson, civic, welfare chairman, reported a successful and enjoyable project at the Senior Citizens meeting, Mrs. Eddie Polnac, membership chairman, suggested that letters of invitation be written to all Jaycee wives inviting them to attend the meeting Sept. 26.

The group has organized a volleyball team to compete in local games.

The club also voted to assist in the United Fund Drive.

Margot Gill and Paul E. Thompson Exchange Vows in Miami Home Rite

Mrs. Paul E. Thompson

In the presence of their immediate families, Miss Margot Gill, daughter Mrs. Herchel Gill and the late Mr. Gill, of Miami, and Paul E. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thompson, were married at 10 o'clock in the morning, August 29 in the home of the bride's mother.

Thurman F. Boswell, minister of the First Christian Church of Miami, officiated at the double ring ceremony. An improvised archway with a white kneeling bench flanked by floor urns of white mums created the wedding scene.

Miss Debbie Thompson, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Harry Jones of Brownsville, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Ronnie with "my mother and I" avowal, wore a formal gown of white silk mist taffeta and French corded Alencon lace. The bodice featured a bateau neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her controlled bell skirt was overlaid in front with a French lace panel bordered in silk taffeta. A similar panel extended from the back waist to a sweep train. Her four-tiered veil of English illusion was attached to a forehead star of pearls and crystals. She carried an arrangement of white split carnations centered with a white orchid. Satin streamers tied in lovers' knots fell from the bouquet.

ATTENDANT
Her attendant wore a lemon yellow street-length dress of pearly luna taffeta. The basque bodice featured a scoop neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The bell skirt was adorned with self-fabric rosettes. Her head-piece, a tiny clus-

Manicotti Is True To Italian Flavor

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Like Italian food? Then you'll welcome this recipe for manicotti, one of the most popular Italian dishes with Americans. This version has been adapted to American cooking techniques. Serve it with a savory tomato sauce.

MANICOTTI WITH TOMATO SAUCE
(Makes 8 servings)

Tomato Sauce:
1 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1/4 cup olive oil
1/4 teaspoon sweet basil leaves
One 1-lb. 12-oz. can tomatoes
One 6-oz. can tomato paste
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup enriched corn meal
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted butter
3 eggs
2-3 cup water

Filling:
1/2 lb. ricotta cheese
1 egg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup ground ham
For tomato sauce, saute onion and garlic in olive oil. Stir in basil, tomatoes and tomato paste. Simmer, uncovered, about 45 minutes. Stir in sugar, salt and pepper.

While tomato sauce is cooking, prepare dough and filling. For dough, sift together flour, corn meal and salt into bowl. Stir in melted butter and eggs. Add water; mix until well blended.

Divide dough in half. Turn one half out on lightly floured board or canvas. Knead gently until smooth. Roll dough to form a 10x15-inch rectangle. Cut to form six 5-inch square. Repeat with other half of dough.

For filling, combine all ingredients; mix well. Spread 1 table spoon filling on each square. Roll up as for jelly roll. Pinch edge spoon filling on each square. Roll ends under or trim with pastry wheel. Cook these roll-ups (manicotti) in a large pot of boiled salted water (about 4 quarts) about 20 minutes. Make sure they do not stick to the bottom of the pot. Drain. Serve immediately topped with the hot tomato sauce. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese, if desired.

Make Soup For Lunches

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Soup — one filled with a lot of vegetables and meat — can be a meal in itself. Mrs. K. M. writes, "I was born in Europe and often our meal was a rich soup with cheese and a loaf of crusty bread. My American-born kids love it, too. So does my Canadian husband. And let me tell you this — we are all husky and healthy farmers."

Mrs. M. insists her soup tastes better than any made of canned or dehydrated soup. "Sure, it takes more work. But you just taste it and you'll see why it is better."

FRESH VEGETABLE SOUP
(16 to 20 Servings)
3 pounds beef shin bone
4 quarts cold water
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup minced parsley
1 tablespoon shortening
2 cups shredded cabbage
1 cup cut-up fresh snap beans
1 cup sliced fresh carrots
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced potatoes
1 cup fresh corn, cut-off-the-cob
1/2 cup thinly sliced zucchini squash
5 medium-sized tomatoes, diced
1 1/2 tablespoons salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
Place soup bone, water and salt in a large kettle. Cover. Simmer until meat is tender (2 to 3 hours). Remove soup bone, trim off meat, discard bone, add meat to stock.

Saute onion and parsley in shortening, add to stock along with vegetables and seasonings. Cover. Simmer 30 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Freeze leftover soup in tightly covered jars for use within the next 2 or 3 weeks.

Dallas Civic Opera To Have Repeat Performance of Handel's 'Messiah'

Dallas Civic Opera will repeat its 1962 production of Handel's "Messiah" this year as a memorial to the late Robert L. Clark, longtime civic leader who served as the opera's vice-president and executive committee chairman for several years.

The special pre-Christmas performance will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 30, in State Fair Music Hall. All tickets will be priced at $2, with no reserved seats.

Proceeds from the performance will be used to establish scholarships for young opera singers as a tribute to Mr. Clark and his devotion to the cause of grand opera in the Southwest, said Lawrence

Kelly, DCO vice-president and general manager.

Jon Vickers, internationally-celebrated dramatic tenor who made his American operatic debut with Dallas Civic Opera in "Melea" in 1958, has been signed as tenor soloist for the oratorio.

American soprano Joan Marie Moynagh, whose singing in the "Messiah" last year received wide acclaim, will repeat her solo role. Miss Moynagh was a close friend of Mr. Clark and his family.

Kelly said other leading operatic soloists will be signed for the mezzo-soprano and basso roles. Nicolo Rescigno, DCO artistic director, will conduct the performance, which will feature the full Dallas Symphony Orchestra and the Dallas Civic Opera Chorus. Norberto Mila, former chorusmaster of La Scala, will direct the chorus.

It will be, like the 1962 production, a fully-restored performance of Handel's most famous work.

Kelly said it was decided to hold the performance in the Music Hall instead of Dallas Memorial Auditorium "so that the audience may enjoy this oratorio under the most ideal acoustical conditions."

Salad Luncheon Marks First Meeting Of Civic Culture Club's New Year

Miss Diana Ditmore

Miss Diana Ditmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Carney of Arab, Ala., and Billy Ray Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Brooks of Winchester, Tenn., are planning an October 11 wedding to be held in Ferguson Memorial Chapel in Nashville, Tenn.

The Civic Culture Study Club held its first meeting of the new club year with a salad luncheon in the home of their president, Mrs. K. A. Sorenson, 2425 Christine, with the other members of the Program Committee assisting her as hostesses, Mmes. A. D. Hills, George Neef, Carl Axelson, and Emmett Osborne.

The individual tables were laid with imported white cutwork linens, and each table was decorated with orchid sweetpeas and white candles. Individual places were marked with miniature white candles with an orchid, sweetpea and orchid ribbon. The theme, or course of study, chosen for this year is "Guiding Lights for Growth." The sweetpea is club flower in the orchid and white colors.

During the short business meeting the club accepted the resignation of the elected president, Mrs. Stanley Brandt, who has moved to California, and pledged their support to Mrs. Sorenson who is assuming the office.

Mrs. Emmett Osborne introduced the yearbook and presented the yearbooks. She said, "In choosing our theme, 'Guiding Lights for Growth' we hope that our eyes may be opened to greater understanding and many worthwhile endeavors. As club women we must be the synonyms of light, life and love. Today we study the first light of service and usefulness in having our Federation Day Program with Mrs. E. H. Morris, President of the Top of Texas District of Canadian, Texas tell us how the light of Federation has glowed in the past and still is shining today."

Mrs. Morris traced the history of the Texas Federation from its beginning and its first convention held in Tyler, Tex. Mrs. Edward Rotan served as the first state president and was successful in organizing the work. Mrs. Rotan felt that the foundation of a great work had been laid and that the erecting of an enduring superstructure rested with the club women of that time and the ones to come in the future.

"The Federation has justified the vision and faith of its founders. As we take a perspective over the past, we can see the growth and service of our Federation has been tremendous, for from the small, limited literary club which was organized by a few sympathetic spirits whose aim was self-culture, it has become today the large group of modern women's clubs whose watchword is service and whose usefulness is bounded only by the limit of human experience."

Mrs. Morris concluded by reading the Federation Creed.

Special recognition was given to the two new members added last year, Mrs. Frank Grantham and Mrs. H. S. Alexander. Federation membership cards were presented to the following members, also, Mmes. Carl Axelson, Irvin Cole, R. E. Dauer, A. D. Hills, A. C. Houchin, W. J. Morris, George Neef, Emmett Osborne, C. F. Pennington, W. C. Scott, K. A. Sorenson, Louise Sewell, J. B. Townsend, Katie Vincent and Chester Williams.

Mrs. Frank Holeman and son, Duncan, accompanied Mrs. Morris from Canadian, and were welcomed as guests.

City Manager Is Guest Speaker

Harold Schmitzer, Pampa City Manager, was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the American Business Women's Association held Tuesday in the Court House Cafe.

Mr. Schmitzer pointed out that in his opinion, the majority does not always rule, and that small groups of people dedicated to their ideas can bring about success in whatever they strive to do, by cooperation and planning.

During the business meeting which followed the dinner and program, Miss Maxine Nabors, president, called for reports from standing committee chairmen. Plans were made to have a Salad Supper during the next meeting which will be held Oct. 8. Members were also reminded to attend the Hand of Friendship Tea which will be held Sunday in the Citizens Bank Hospitality Room in conjunction with the National Headquarters of the American Business Women's Association.

Members attending the meeting were Mmes. Francis Bradley, Neal Britnell, Rex Barton, Kenneth Butler, C. A. Heard, Charles Holway, Tony Smith, Bill Wright, Ed Wylie, Lloyd Laramore, Ted Mastip, Wayne Neff, James Query, Glen Ritter, Lloyd Summers, Earl Sutton, Lillie Walton, Ann Pitcock, Boyd Stephens, and Mmes. Maxine Nabors and Novis Parker. Guests attending were Mmes. Billy Davis, Archie Maness, Harold Stephens, Frankie Charleston, and Helen Graham.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY — My hint is for those who like to sew. When there are seams to be pressed, especially in wool, and you do not have a sleeve board, a rolling pin wrapped in a clean dish towel works beautifully. This would also work for pressing suit sleeves where a crease is not wanted.—M. C.

GIRLS — Fasten the towel on the rolling pin with a rubber band at the top and one at the bottom. When sleeves are large, try a terry cloth hand towel around the rolling pin.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I like to tidy my living room at night before retiring. Instead of dumping all the cigarette butts into one large ashtray, I empty the ashtrays into an empty tin coffee can with a lid. Put the lid on tight and the butts will not burn without oxygen. As an added precaution put some water into the can. Now I go to bed with no fear of a fire starting in the trash can.—MRS. J. F.

GIRLS—As you go around emptying the ashtrays, carry a damp paper towel to wipe out the ashtrays so they are passably clean until you get around to washing them.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When I need to leave a note for our milkman, I cut paper in the shape of a capital T, about 11 inches wide. The length is the height of the bottle, and I crease it down the center, write my order at the top and put it into an empty bottle. Several can be cut at one time. Never a note lost!—M. M. H.

DEAR POLLY — When packing my cosmetics for traveling, I fill and label plastic prescription bottles with the needed hand lotion, Plaid cotton knit takes top honors this fall for college wear. Belted cardigan jacket and matching skirt (left) is worn with solid turtle-neck shell. Knickers, destined to be a major subject around the campus are shown (right) with a matching weskit and long sleeve turtle-neck shirt. Aileen designs them in a plaid of blue and camel.

cleansing cream, powder, astringent, etc. from my large economy size packages. This not only prevents breakage and spillage but narrows everything down to a compact size.—ANOTHER POLLY

GIRLS — This would certainly help solve the weight problem when traveling by air.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — We are living in such an era of mass gift giving that if one fails to plan ahead, it can become a very costly and exhausting chore. You girls who sew can turn out, at a nominal cost, many delightful and useful gifts. I use my zigzag machine for making so many gifts. Monogrammed linens (applied or machine stitched) are attractive, personal gifts for brides or even the graduates. Monogrammed towel sets and handkerchiefs with hand embroidered initial or signature make inexpensive and lovely gifts. Stuffed animals and toys are quick and easy to make for baby gifts. I remove ribbons from gifts that arrive at our house and add them to our gift wrapping box. Also I use pretty shell paper for wrapping and find I save money. Since starting to plan a head, gift giving is no longer a chore to me or such a strain on the budget.

It is now a real pleasure and I save money, too.—MRS. V. J.

Savings Bond Director Commends Postoffice

Postmaster O. K. Gaylor said Saturday he had received a letter from William H. Neal, National Director of the U. S. Savings Bonds Division, commending the Pampa post office for its successful efforts in promoting the sale of U. S. Savings Stamps, and announcing that children buying their first stamps of the school year will be given a free certificate, signed by the seven Mercury Astronauts, designating them as "Junior Astronauts". The certificates are now available at the Post Office.

Postmaster Gaylor said: "Selling Savings Stamps through the schools and over-the-counter to the public is a part of the Post Office Department's services of which we are particularly proud. The Treasury-sponsored School Savings Program not only promotes practical thrift but also acquaints our young people with their government and their duties and privileges as American citizens. I know of no finer way to build for a better tomorrow than by training our youth of today in the sound American heritage of thrift."

Savings Stamps in 10, 25, 50 cents, $1 and $5 sizes are on sale at the post office at all times.

Bill Cullen, Camera Bug, Poses Problem for Callers

By VERNON SCOTT UPI Hollywood Correspondent

stop by Bill Cullen's Manhattan apartment to be prepared to have your picture taken, because the crew-cut host of "The Price Is Right" is almost certain to ask you to pose.

Bill's consuming off-camera passion is photography. Candid shots, action shots and scenery don't interest him. He is a nut on portraits. One entire room of his 10-room apartment is a photographic gallery, complete with lights and backdrops.

Cullen specializes in color photography, posing his subjects and snapping the shutter. He leaves the complicated business of developing and printing to the professionals. His wife, Ann, to whom he's married eight years, has been photographed by Bill more than 3,000 times, he estimates.

Friends and acquaintances among them Arthur Treacher, Henry Morgan and Betsy Palmer—frequently walk from the front door straight into the portrait gallery to pose patiently for Cullen's cameras.

Asked what he does with the thousands of pictures he takes, Bill answers: "I just put them into my files."

He also has sold many of his portraits to various photo magazines. And last year he helped the Polaroid company test its new color film. He's proud of this accomplishment.

The Cullens are childless and petless, which leads one to ask why they occupy a 10-room apartment.

"Because I collect junk," Bill says. "I've got rooms full of junk that I bring home and hate to throw away. So I just keep it stored around the place."

In addition to an enormous kitchen, dining room, living room, den-library and bedrooms, Cullen has set aside another room for his stereo and record collection. He estimates he owns thousands of records, the vast majority of which he hasn't listened to.

To keep the apartment in order, and to prevent Bill's junk collection from pushing them into the street (at 62nd Street and Central Park West Manhattan), a housekeeper stops by daily to lend a hand.

But Ann does all the cooking. According to Bill she is an excellent cook, for which he credits her Belgian heritage.

The master of the house, however, is a steak, potatoes and hot dog fancier, which frustrates his wife. "Ann is coming around on my side now," he says. "And when she wants something fancy, which is two or three times a week, we go out to Chambord (on the East Side) a wonderful restaurant."

Bill and Ann move around New York City in taxi cabs, but they own a 1955 Thunderbird for visits to friends on Long Island and in New Jersey and Connecticut. In eight years they've put only 14,000 miles on the mileage gauge.

Because Cullen and wife are interested in people they entertain frequently, often 20 or 30 guests at a time. Extra help is called in to prepare and serve the buffet dinners.

Unwary guests find themselves gently but firmly nudged toward the gallery where Bill snaps their pictures before they know exactly what is happening. At other times Bill will hire professional models to pose for him.

The apartment is decorated with a mixture of contemporary and period pieces. Bill's favorite piece of furniture is an overstuffed chair he's had for eight years.

dozen times," he grins, "and has been everything from black-leader green mohair."

Bill and Ann spend many hours a week working crossword puzzles, including the difficult ones that appear in the London Times. They sometimes spend as much as three days working out a single puzzle.

Cullen's daily "Price Is Right" show moved from NBC to ABC-TV this fall, as did his weekly evening version of the game show. His panelist appearances on "I've Got A Secret" will continue on CBS.

Though his work schedule appears to be heavy, Bill's shows require a minimum of preparation. He arrives a half-hour before each program is taped and quickly goes through the paces. He says a star like Perry Como spends many more hours on his complicated weekly show.

When time affords, Bill drives to Teterboro airport in New Jersey to rent and fly small airplanes.

A licensed pilot since he was 15 years old (he's now 43), Bill once flew his own plane and owned a seven-plane charter service which struggled along for a few years before going out of business.

The Cullens find time to take a month's vacation every year in California, usually in Palm Springs during the winter.

"It's a good life and we enjoy it," says Cullen. "The only problem I have is answering the question about what I do for a living. I'm not an actor. So when I fill out a form asking my occupation I write down 'entertainer.'"

After Five Years Former Actor Is Making Comeback

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jon Hall, an actor who teamed up with Dorothy Lamour to depict the South Pacific as make-believe paradise on movie screens, is making a comeback after five years away from the cameras.

It was in 1937 that Hall co-starred with Miss Lamour in the gaudy "Hurricane" movie, a film which had Jon playing a South sea native.

Hall, and other actors before and after him, created an image of the South Pacific Ocean area as one of aquatic paradise.

It took World War II to set the record straight. In Hall's movies about the Pacific islands, there were never any bugs. In World War II, there were.

Jon came by his ocean picture acting naturally, having been born in California and raised in Tahiti.

Hall appeared in such far away sounding, sea spray pictures as "Sailor's Lady," "South of Pago Pago" and "Hurricane Island." Occasionally producers would let Jon act away from the water as in "Arabian Nights," in the air in "Eagle Squadron," secretive in "Invisible Agent" and out West in "Kit Carson."

Jon's last major acting effort was in the successful television series, "Ramar of the Jungle." He played an American doctor in Africa.

That show went out of production five years ago and Hall quit acting. It was his own decision, Jon Hall pictures always had an audience and he could have kept on working.

"I quit the business five years ago," Jon said recently after completing a role in "Perry Mason," his comeback effort. "It got to the point I couldn't live with myself. I was doing that 'Ramar of the Jungle' series and we were making three shows a week. It was too much. I would get up at five o'clock in the morning, put on makeup and work before the cameras until night. We also worked on Saturdays. It just got out of hand."

"I figured if I didn't quit, after that series, I'd go into another one and it would be the same rat race all over again. I was offered other series but I turned them down."

Hall said he's not sure how often he'll work in movies and television now that he's returned.

Since leaving films and television, Hall hasn't been inactive. He has always been interested in aquatic photography and entered that field on a professional level. He manufactures underwater camera equipment.

Jon also heads a film library which rents film footage to producers wanting scenery for feature pictures and television shows.

His most recent venture has been in the furniture business.

Thomson & McKinnon's investment research department says investors planning to buy stocks should resist the persuasion of the new record highs of the industrial average and concentrate on individual values.

U.S. Roving Ambassadors Are Again Very Plentiful

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With the test ban treaty, civil rights and all like that going on, you don't hear much about this, but there is a feeling among certain senators that the United States is becoming overstocked with roving ambassadors.

Some concern over the increase in the roving ambassador population was expressed at a recent hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. This came as a surprise to me.

I can remember a time not many years back when the roving ambassador was, like the whooping crane, in danger of becoming extinct.

But now, thanks to the mobility of modern diplomacy, roving ambassadors are plentiful again. Some say too plentiful.

Thus far, nobody has tried to organize a campaign to stamp out roving ambassadors. Nor has there been any talk of an open season to keep their numbers in check.

The Lighter Side Capitol Theater Closed In Washington This Week

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The famous old Capitol Theater in downtown Washington was closed this week, marking the end of an era.

Actually, I'm not sure which era it marked the end of. I just threw that in to get your attention.

My journalism professor once told me that nobody gives a hang about a theater closing unless an era ends with it.

Anyway, the Capitol is closed, a victim of America's changing cultural pattern. Its interior is being converted to office space for lawyers and other professional men.

Apparently, more people go to see lawyers nowadays than to see movies. And with lawyers you have to bring your own popcorn.

An effort was made to persuade Congress to save the theater, but Congress was too busy doing other things — like watching television. So the Capitol had to close.

As I crossed its ornate lobby and climbed its grand staircase for the last time, nostalgia was gushing from every pore.

Which was strange, because I had never been in the theater before. I'm the drive-in type myself.

What prompted my visit was the sale by auction of the capitol's furnishings, which included some valuable antique pieces, particularly in the rest rooms.

I wanted to see if I could pick up an antique "standing room only" sign cheap.

When I arrived, the auctioneer was holding forth in the "ladies' salon" on the mezzanine. It was called the "Dubarry Room." I didn't get the connection.

Four cast marble drinking fountains with cherubs on the pedestals sold for around $200 each. "Any arrangements for a plumber you'll have to make yourself."

'Old Glory' Saves Cuban Refugees

COZUMEL, Mexico (UPI) — The leader of the biggest mass escape so far from Premier Fidel Castro's Cuba said yesterday that a U.S. flag improvised from women's clothing saved the 89 refugees who landed here last week.

"During the four-day trip, we were sighted twice by Cuban patrol boats—once 85 miles from the Cuban coast—but we were unnoticed because 'Old Glory' flew from the mast," said 48-year-old Rafael Rodriguez-Alfonso.

The refugees, 39 men, 22 women and 2 children, escaped in a hijacked lighthouse supply ship with the aid of its captain, anti-Castro naval petty officer Renaldo Almas Farinas. Two Castro guards brought along involuntarily will be allowed to return to Cuba.

The overcrowded boats that ferried the refugees from shore to ship capsized at shipside and they lost the food, clothing and medicine they had hoarded for what was to have been a voyage to the United States.

They fled across the Yucatan channel to the nearest land, living on scanty rations of Russian canned meat, milk, sugar and water found aboard the hijacked vessel.

They were hungry, thirsty and happy — when they docked here.

Spacemen Have Own Language

HOUSTON (UPI) — "PERT," "SCATS" and "MET" sound like the nicknames of a jazz combo, but they are parts of the alphabetized language of the space age.

So are LOR, NASA, EOR, REP, LE Mand MODS.

The stylized jargon of spacemen has a world of phrases knocked down in initials that everyone connected with space exploration plans knows. The words sprinkle reports and discussions and are sure to be a big part of conversation among the teams that will man the two-spaceman orbital flights of the coming space series.

The phrases are:

PERT — Program evaluation and Review Technique.

SCATS — Simulation, Checkout and Training System.

MET — Mission Elapse Time.

LOR — Lunar Orbit Rendezvous.

NASA — National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

OER — Earth Orbit Rendezvous.

REP — Request for Proposal.

LEM — Lunar Excursion Module.

MODS — Manned Orbital Developmental Station.

DOD — Department of Defense.

Toss a few of these names into a conversation between astronauts, and you may get:

"NASA has asked for a REP on the LEM to fit in with the LOR plans that the DOD has its eye on."

matter of fact

In still, open air it is possible to hear a cricket chirp at a distance of half a mile. This is possible because the sound travels in a radius from the source as a compression or squeeze wave of air. The standard pictorial illustration of such wave motion is provided by the ripples produced on the surface of water when a stone is dropped into it.

Mexicans Find Relics Of 'City of the Gods'

By JAIME PLENN

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Hundreds of laborers, directed by 18 archeologists, are carrying out the most extensive excavation and restoration program in the history of nearby Teotihuacan in a renewed effort to solve the enigma of that "City of the Gods."

Aside from its keen scientific interest and scholarly value, the program calls for creation of an area of special appeal to tourists, since it is a major archeological site referring to ancient Mexico, and only an hour's automobile ride from the capital.

Teotihuacan already was in ruins when the Aztecs arrived in the Valley of Mexico and founded Tenochtitlan, which later became Mexico City. Although it is known that Teotihuacan flourished between the sixth and ninth centuries, A. D., hardly anything is known definitely about its founders or its inhabitants.

Skills and funeral masks found in the ruins lead scholars to believe the residents of Teotihuacan had Mongolian features, with almond-shaped eyes. It also has been determined that they knew how to weave handsome and durable textiles, painted excellent fresco murals, and that their architectural and urban planning knowledge was highly advanced.

A rain god appeared to be the principal deity of the Teotihuacanos, studies have determined, leading to the conclusion that agriculture must have been one of their main occupations.

Trade was carried on between Teotihuacan and remote areas to the north and south and the Gulf and Pacific Coasts.

Among questions that may be solved by the excavations is the puzzle as to the destruction of the city, which has become famous for the remains of its Sun and Moon pyramids.

The Mexican Government has allocated nearly 20 million pesos for the first stages of investigation, in the area between the two pyramids, which folklore has attributed to various builders, including a legendary "race of giants" who once inhabited this area. The nahuatl name "Teotihuacan" means, literally, "a place where men become gods."

With the discovery of the "Palace of the Butterflies," the current phase of excavations got under way, advancing those carried on more than 30 years ago under the late Professor Manuel Gamio and others. The "butterfly" decorations, depicting a creature with the body of a butterfly and the tail of a quetzal bird, have since been interpreted as being stylizations of the quetzal itself, which was a sacred bird to early settlers in Mexico and Central America.

Among other discoveries made recently is a structure known as the "Plumed Seashells" with polychrome figures of shells adorned with quetzal feathers in mural paintings. Various murals there and in other areas have been among the most revealing discoveries in the current phase of exploration.

Nearly one-half the cost of a package of cigarettes goes for taxes.

New Drug May Replace Morphine

NEW YORK (UPI) — An experimental synthetic drug which kills pain as effectively as morphine but is not addictive has passed another set of tests in medical patients and soon may be ready for general use.

Dr. Arthur S. Keats of Baylor University, Houston, reported to the national meeting of the American Chemical Society Tuesday that the drug, Pentazocine, had been used in more than 1,000 Baylor patients over the past few years and there had been a minimum of "side effects."

As a pain-reliever it had proved as useful as morphine and not one person had become dependent upon it, he added. He saw the possibility of it eventually replacing morphine in medical practice because it is powerless to convert medical patients into drug addicts.

However, its impact upon the drug addiction problem would be slight. Heroin is the drug of narcotics addicts. Because morphine can have unpleasant side effects it is not a big commodity in the and-needs expert administration, here, as well as a legal question.

Kremlin May Stop Direct Mail Route, Peking To Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — Speculation developed here yesterday that the Kremlin may stop direct train service from Peking to Moscow as a result of a new Communist Chinese attempt to smuggle anti-Soviet literature into the country.

The affected through service would involve mixed Soviet and Chinese trains with mixed crews.

The Kremlin issued a protest note two days ago accusing the Chinese of attempting to bring banned literature into the Soviet Union on a train bound from Peking to Moscow.

Several Chinese were expelled following brawls Saturday and Sunday with border officials at Naushki, a Mongolian crossing point.

The official government newspaper Izvestia said Tuesday the offending Chinese acted like "cattle."

The incident was the latest in a series that has sent Sino-Soviet relations to a new low.

Today, Komsomolskaya Pravda, the Communist youth organization newspaper, and Trud, the publication of the central trade union, carried fresh condemnations of the Chinese actions at Naushki.

NEW YORK — Magr. Ngo Dinh Thuc, archbishop of Hue in South Viet Nam, commenting on reports that the U.S. may curtail aid to his country.

"If American aid is withdrawn, we will have to manage somehow."

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Police Capt. Henry Deason, leading the search for two missing girls, discounting a scribbled ransom note received Wednesday.

"It's hogwash, obviously the work of a crank."
