Airmen Rescue Kidnaped British Teachers

South Viet Nam Is Sending Infantry To Mekong Delta Region

By NEIL SHEEHAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — U.S. airmen in helicopters and light planes rescued two English school teachers who were kidnaped by Communist guerrillas on a beach near the mouth of the Mekong River, the British Embassy said today.

The two Britons—James Kinnaird and Alan Darby—had gone for a swim Sunday in an area of the South China Sea declared off-limits to military personnel because it is infested with Viet Cong infiltrators.

The embassy said the teachers were picked up and airlifted to safety when the U.S. aircraft flew low over the beach and sent the Viet Cong scurrying for cover.

Shot In Leg
Kinnaird was shot in the leg before the Communists fled. He was in a U.S. Army hospital today and doctors said he would recover.

Darby was not hurt, but an embassy spokesman said he was "terribly shaken up."

The two teachers work in Saigon. They traveled to the beach area at Cap Saint Jacques, 40 miles southeast of Saigon, Sunday to take a swim.

Armored Division To Be Airlifted To Germany

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An entire division of 16,000 U.S. armored troops will be airlifted to Germany next month in the largest such movement ever undertaken, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced today.

The operation, designated "Exercise Biglift" will involve 116 combat and 240 transport planes, and the entire personnel of the 2d armored division at Ft. Hood, Tex.

In Unfriendly Hands
The troops will maneuver in Germany for a week under NATO command, and then return to the United States. The exercise is expected to cost about $10 million.

Although it will constitute an impressive show of military muscle, the exercise is regarded as a possible prelude to the withdrawal of some U.S. troops now regularly stationed in Europe.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, recently said that if troops could be airlifted to Europe with great speed, it might be possible to withdraw some of the six divisions now in Germany.

McNamara arranged to release this announcement just before taking off for South Viet Nam to make a special study ordered by President Kennedy over the weekend of the military situation there.

"The 'biglift' will provide a dramatic illustration of U.S. capabilities for rapid re-enforcement of NATO forces," the Pentagon chief said.

Final Instructions Given In South Viet Nam Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy returned to Washington today and plunged immediately in a special conference on the crisis in South Viet Nam.

Kennedy called the session to provide final instructions for Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who are flying to South Viet Nam after the meeting.

The President ordered McNamara and Taylor dispatched to South Viet Nam to make an on-the-spot survey of the fight against the Viet Cong and to investigate conflicting reports on the situation.

Also sitting in on the conference was Undersecretary of State George W. Ball with an up-to-date report on the touchy political sit-

Dental Society Opens Test Treaty Second Day of Meet Ratification Is Assured

Panhandle dentists opened the second day of their two-day session of the Panhandle District Dental Society here this forenoon with a clinical discussion led by Dr. T. H. Shipmon, associate professor at the University of Tennessee College of Dentistry in Memphis, Tenn.

Dentists from the Panhandle area and as far east as Denison, Tex., and as far south as Odessa, were in attendance.

Dr. Shipmon spoke this morning of "Advancements in Materials and Techniques in Complete Dentures."

The district conference opened yesterday afternoon with a golf tournament at the Pampa Country Club in which Dr. George A. Snell of Pampa took top honors.

Guy V. Caskey, minister of the Mary Ellen Harvester Church of Christ, and a missionary in Africa, was the principal speaker at the society's banquet last night in

Co C Membership Luncheon Set For Tomorrow

Pampa Jaycees will meet with members and guests of the Chamber of Commerce at tomorrow noon in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn for the September membership luncheon of the C of C.

J. R. Bradley of Texas A&M University will be featured speaker and will discuss "Industrial Development on the Community Level." Bradley conducted an industrial development workshop here last week for members of the C of C industrial committee. His address will be a summary report of the workshop.

Reservations will be accepted until 10 a.m. tomorrow. At press time today more than 150 had reserved luncheon tickets. The Jaycees will forego their meeting this week to hear Bradley's address.

Coronado Inn.

Caskey spoke on the "Political Atmosphere of Africa" and told of the country's population, climate and cities.

During the course of his talk, Caskey castigated the foreign aid policy of "the United States in which he stated that "help has been cut off to the Union of South Africa which has been our friend."

Caskey said he could not understand a policy which "seems to be more eager to help our enemies than our friends."

Said Caskey:

"Since World War One we have given $3-billion dollars to people who are not our friends. They contend that the Union of South Africa should be cut off because of her position on segregation in a country where there are more than 11 million blacks and three million whites.

"There are 500 languages, 40 countries and 232-million people in Africa with a great lack of communication and education.

"Until we do something by way of education there can be no change in Africa. It is time we should stop helping our enemies and start helping our friends."

The speaker pointed out that the people in the United States still carry the belief that Africa is a vast jungle and desert area inhabited by snakes and wild animals.

"Actually, much of it is an ideal climate with some of the most modern cities in the world," he said. "I think we are being influenced too much today by some so-called allies who are pink, if not outright red."

"I pray that our country will look at Africa and see something to reclaim."

Travis Lively Sr. of Pampa was the speaker at a luncheon of the society in the Coronado this noon.

Wives of the dentist delegates were entertained at a luncheon in the Inn's Cibola Room. A style show of Fall and Winter hats was featured.

The meeting was scheduled to close with an afternoon business session.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today rejected Sen. Barry Goldwater's proposal to make the nuclear test ban treaty with Russia contingent on the removal of all Russian forces from Cuba.

Defeat of Goldwater's reservations virtually assured rejection of other controversial restrictions still pending. The pact is sure of ratification Tuesday morning.

Goldwater, front-runner for the GOP presidential nomination in public opinion polls, had challenged the Senate to "test the enemy" by postponing the effectiveness of the treaty until all Soviet military forces were removed from Cuba.

The top leaders of both parties opposed the restriction.

Goldwater's proposal was challenged at once by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who told the Senate its adoption would "have a very grave effect, driving Khrushchev back into Mao Tse-tung's arms."

Goldwater called up his reservation to the treaty as Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., dropped four other proposed restrictions to the pact.

Goldwater's reservation would postpone the effectiveness of the nuclear pact until Russia had removed its entire military base from Cuba under U.N. inspection. It marked the major hurdle for the treaty, which is assured of ratification Tuesday.

Dodd told the Senate he would not press his four proposed "understandings" in view of assurances by President Kennedy and the fact that one is to be adopted in another form.

But he added that following (See REJECTS, Page 3)

"THANK GOODNESS FOR THAT CHAIN" — Jess Walker, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walker, 2236 Dogwood, was probably very thankful that the elephants he was watching were chained to a post. Jess was watching the elephants eat after they set up the tents for the Carson and Barnes Circus which began its first performance at 2 p.m. today at the rodeo grounds. The second and final performance will begin at 7:15 p.m. today. (Daily News Photo)

Lack of Time Reason Given

1963 'Musts' Passage Unlikely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fall's official advent brought home to Congress today a chill realization it probably can't complete action this year on both the tax and civil rights bill labeled 1963 "musts" by President Kennedy.

Final action on taxes this year has been a prime target of the Kennedy administration since January. Three months ago, the President added civil rights to the priority list for this year.

It might have seemed possible back in June to get both bills through the House and Senate in 1963. It doesn't look that way now.

Congressional leaders have been reluctant to talk about this. One reason is that the choice is a hard one and is certain, either way, to make a lot of people unhappy.

Some civil rights backers currently suspect that when and if the choice is made, taxes will get the nod. That could set off loud and long objections from civil-rights supporters.

Favor Tax Bill
"The cards appear" to be falling in favor of the tax legislation, and not entirely as a result of efforts by civil rights opponents.

For example, the House will act on the tax bill this week. The civil rights bill hasn't even been approved by the House judiciary subcommittee that has been working on it for months. The efforts of northern Democratic civil rights advocates to carry along Republicans, rather than delaying tactics by southerners, have taken the time.

When the subcommittee, dominated by pro-civil rights members, clears a bill, it must be considered by the parent judiciary committee. Southerners have a strong voice there and are not expected to pass it out quickly. Once that hurdle is cleared, the southern-led House Rules Committee must be by-passed or

Plane Crash Kills Two
WEATHERFORD, Tex. (UPI) — A single engine Luscombe light plane crashed Sunday shortly after takeoff from the Weatherford airport, killing two men.

The plane crashed on the Diamond A ranch.

Killed were Donald Parker, 52, and Leonard Bloom, 45, both of Weatherford.

Sales Clinics Reservations Are Still Open

Reservations can be made today and tomorrow at the Chamber of Commerce office for the One Great Day of Selling to be conducted in the Pampa Junior High Auditorium Wednesday.

Two sales clinics, conducted by Fred A. Palmer of Worthington, Ohio, will be held at 3 p.m., for big items, and 8 p.m. for the general sales rally.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets will be available at the door Wednesday. Tickets for each session are $2 per person. The merchants' committee of the C of C sponsors the clinics.

Oil Convention Starts in Houston

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Kennedy tax program and regulations over the oil business pushed the business end of the oil world to the fore today as delegates gathered for the Texas mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association convention.

For three days, the association will look at federal activities in business and how they relate to oil. Other topics in the convention will likely include discussion of the depletion allowance, oil proration, legal aspects of the business, and the place of petroleum in America's race into space.

The 44th annual meeting is being held at the Rice Hotel.

Today's schedule was dominated by a group of committee meetings, chief among them the executive committee. The group is expected to adopt resolutions touching on expanding government authority in business matters.

Longview oilman J. Clyde Tomlinson, the association president, will open the general business session Tuesday with his president's report. Martin R. Gainsbrugh of New York, vice president of the National Industrial Conference Board, will discuss the business outlook for 1964. Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon's of Austin will tell of the reorganization of the commission as recommended by the Texas Research League.

Wise choice of campus clothing includes at-ease slacks and sweater, a classic suit and an outfit which can be used to dress up or dress down, as shown.

Here's a Clothing Crib Sheet

By HAROLD SHEEHAN
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—Too bad the college entrance exams don't include a practical query like: QUESTION—The wardrobe of the young man entering college should be based on the proportion:
 a. 54-30
 b. 7-11
 c. 3-1-1
 d. None of the above.

If you picked "c" you have lit up all the squares on the pinball machine. The mysterious formula refers to the suggestion that campus clothes should be selected on the basis of three parts casual dress, one dress-up outfit and one ensemble that can be worn either dress up or dress down.

Whether the student spends most of his time in class, doing homework or merely flipping playing cards into a hat, his demand for casual clothes will be enormous. This means slacks, Bermuda shorts, sport jackets, mocs, tennis shoes, a couple of sweaters.

World Traveler Is Guest Speaker During Kick-Off Meet of Beta Delta

Germany and Japan, our two former enemies, respect the United States more than any of the other nations do," commented a world traveler, Mrs. Alice Short Smith of Lefors as she showed slides of her travels at the first meeting of the season held by the Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society.

Mrs. Smith expressed surprise at the ease in visiting East Berlin in that she has been there six times.

She remarked, "Traveling through Russia was interesting but a frightening experience. We were asked to purchase food stamps for use in procuring food at restaurants. No stamps; no food. In Russia there is a language barrier that did not persist in other countries where English is usually understood so that some communication is possible."

Other slides included "scenes from Greece, India, the Holy Land, and Hong Kong. Hong Kong was described as being a woman's paradise in that materials were plentiful and labor by refugee Red Chinese very inexpensive.

Kappa Delta Has Alumnae Meeting

An Alumnae Association of Kappa Delta held a meeting recently in the home of Mrs. J. R. Shuneman. This was the first meeting of the group since it was activated in June. The business on hand called for establishment of a constitution and bylaws.

The Pampa City Panhellenic Constitution was read by the president, Kay Shuneman.

Anyone interested in the organization is invited to call Mrs. Duane Copeland, MO 4-167.

Benefit Card Party Sponsored by WOM

The Women of the Moose, Lodge 1183, sponsored a benefit card party recently at the Moose Lodge. Proceeds from the party will be used to help the aged and the children at Moosehaven and Mooseheart homes which are supported by Moose Lodges and Auxiliaries.

Prizes were donated by several Pampa merchants.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Lodge.

A "Christmas In October" program will be followed. Each member is asked to bring a gift which will be forwarded to Mooseheart or Moosehaven to be used at Christmas.

Take It From Kathy

By KATHY PETERSON
 Dear Kathy—I met a fellow in the place I worked. We were both just starting to be friends. I had to leave that job when I went back to school. The last day he told me he was sorry he hadn't continu'd studying and was happy I was going back to school.

I'm 18 and he's 20. We have similar interests and get along well. I realize now that I like him very much but won't ever have a chance to see him again. My friends say that he'll call me if he cares but he doesn't know my address or phone number.

The job trains you to teach dancing. He'll be meeting lots of other girls who are being trained. How can I find a way to see him? —F. R.

Dear F. R.—Don't lose sight of the fact that a nice personality is as necessary for a dancing teacher as knowing how to dance. And being nice to people is a must. You might have mistaken his professional friendliness for a special interest in you.

There isn't a reason in the world why you couldn't send a note or card to reminisce a bit about the fun you had and thank him for being so nice. Then, if he found something special in your friendship, too, he'll know where to find you. Don't be too optimistic though.

Teen-agers: Please send your personal problems to Kathy Peterson in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Dinner Meeting Held By Medical Auxiliary Group

The Top O' Texas Medical Auxiliary held a dinner meeting recently in the Coronado Inn. Mrs. Harvey Hays of Berger, was in charge of the business meeting. The meeting was concluded with a personal introduction of each member and a White Elephant Exchange.

Members present were Mmes. Fred Elston, Harvey Hays, Ivan Hull, M. E. Ingham, Edul Powell from Berger. From Perrinton were Mmes. C. D. Monroe, E. E. Waide, Ann Stevenson. Attending from Canadian was Mrs. Rush A. Snyder. Mmes. R. M. Bown, J. R. Donaldson, Joe Gates, R. M. Hampton, Frank Kelley, M. C. Overton, Felix Vendrell, and E. S. Williams, attended from Pampa.

Mrs. Leslie Webb, of McLean, modeled a sari and displayed objects of art from the Far East to complement the slide commentary.

Mrs. Jack Riley of McLean, in concluding the program focus, "Women on the Way Up," gave an account of an American girl who is "way at the top of the mountain" in that she has married a prince of a Himalayan kingdom. Hope Cooke, an American who attended Sarah Lawrence College in New York, is the bride of Praliden Thonpud Namgyal, Crown Prince of Sikkim-Himalaya.

Recognition was given to Mrs. Roy Sullivan who is state vice-president of Delta Kappa Gamma and state chairman of the growth and public service committee. She was one of ten to receive the state achievement award at the state meeting held in San Antonio in the summer.

Clauda Everly was presented a guard for her state achievement pin by Ila Pool and Bernice Larsh. Miss Everly was a charter member of the Beta Delta Chapter that was organized in 1928. She has held offices at both state and local levels.

Dear Abby...
 Don't Ask Questions! Keep Listening!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband talks in his sleep. He says things as plain as day, such as, "Why do you always take me to these dumps, Honey?" (I have never taken him to any kind of "dump").

And, "Tell Eli to keep his hands off you or I'll fix him." (I don't even know an "Eli.")

When I wake him up and ask him what he is talking about, he tells me that a man is not responsible for what he says in his sleep. Do you think he is stepping out on me?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old Boy Scout. My Scoutmaster, who is almost 30, tells us to call him by his first name, Joe, (not his real name) because he feels old when someone calls him Mr. Jones (not his real last name, either). My father insists that I call him Mr. Jones out of respect for his elders. All the other boys call him Joe and their parents don't seem to mind. I'd like to call him Joe, too, but I want to please my father. What should I call him?

A STAR SCOUT
DEAR SCOUT: Please yell father, and call him Mr. Jones.

DEAR ABBY: I went with a friend to an antique shop and we both found several items we wanted to buy. I laid my purchases aside on the counter while I looked for more. My friend chose to carry hers around with her. She saw an item that interested her, but she didn't have a free hand, so she asked me to pick up the item so she could see the price on the underside. In doing this I knocked over and broke the item next to it. I paid the store owner for the broken item. When we came out of the store I found an over-parking ticket on my car. While driving this friend home she expressed regret over my bad luck that day, but she didn't offer to help me pay for the broken item or the parking ticket. (The total involved was only $4.50.) It would relieve me greatly to tell her how I feel. Would you? Or am I wrong?

Search Resumed For Missing Plane

NEW YORK (UPI) — An air and sea search resumed at first light today for a Military Air Transport Service (MATS) plane with 10 servicemen aboard missing since early Sunday and presumed lost. The Coast Guard said the C133 "Cargo Master" took off from Dover Air Force Base, Del., at 12:33 a.m., CST, Sunday and was scheduled to land at Lajes in The Azores at 8:33 a.m. Contact with the craft was lost about 57 minutes after takeoff. The last reported position of the plane was about 30 miles southeast of Cape May, N. J. Coast Guard spokesmen here said it would have run out of fuel by noon Sunday. Servicemen aboard the missing four-engine plane were identified by the Air Force at Dover as: Capt. Dudley J. Donnelly Jr., 33, aircraft commander, Jackson Heights, N. Y. Maj. George V. Stricklin, 42, instructor pilot, Waco, Tex. 1st Lt. Walter J. Steward 3rd, 31, second pilot, Annandale, Va. 1st Lt. Jerald D. Kopp, 25, navigator, Fort Worth, Tex. 1st Lt. Theodore R. McDaniel Jr., 25, navigator, Cocoa Beach, Fla. 1st Lt. Robert J. Wibbells, 25, navigator, Louisville, Ky. M. Sgt. Raymond P. Knott, 42, flight engineer, Farmersville, Tex. T. Sgt. Elwood M. Griffith, 34, flight engineer, Luray, Va. S. Sgt. Carl McClung, 45, loadmaster, Lanham, Md. Airman 1st Class Paul R. Ruehl, 21, loadmaster, Patchogue, N.Y. The missing plane was assigned to the 1607 Air Transport Wing at Dover. The crewmen were attached to the First Air Transport Squadron.

(Continued From Page 1) Tuesdays treaty-ratification he will offer a resolution calling for periodic reports from the Senate preparedness subcommittee on the status of U.S. underground testing, the only type permitted by the treaty. The preparedness group already has served notice it intends to "monitor" the future test operations to see that promised safeguards are carried out. "Good Outweighs Bad" Dodd and Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, both declared their support of the treaty in Senate speeches. Dodd said the "good in it outweighs the bad" and "there is no practical alternative to ratification." Moss, in effect replied to his colleague from Utah, GOP Sen. Wallace-F. Bennett, who opposes the treaty and contends the fallout threat has been exaggerated. Moss also took a slap at Sen. Barry Goldwater's offer to "commit political suicide" if he had to oppose the treaty. Without naming the GOP presidential contender from Arizona, Moss told the senate: "I will not seek sensationalism by claiming motives which override threats of political oblivion. This is a time to do one's duty and to forget political advantage." Ratification Assured Ratification is assured when the Senate takes a final vote on the pact Tuesday. With a two-thirds majority required for approval, 81 of the chamber's 100 members already are committed to support it. Senate leaders also were confident they had the votes to beat down all remaining efforts to attach reservations. A continuing UPI survey showed 81 senators announced for or inclined toward approval, 16 declared against, and three undecided. The undecided were Sens. John J. McClellan, D-Ark., Edwin L. Mechem, R-N.M., and Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine. Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., earlier regarded as a probable supporter, became the latest declared opponent Saturday when he announced that he would vote against ratification.

Police Looking For Auto Dumpers

Police today still were trying to find out who dumped an ancient automobile into the swimming pool at Coronado Inn sometime around Saturday midnight. Police Chief Jim Conner said someone stole a winch truck from the Bourland and Leverich Supply Co., 1108 S. Barnes, drove it to the Coronado Apts., 1001 N. Sumner, hooked onto the car, dragged it across a field to the Coronado pool and pushed it in. Chief Conner said the car had been parked on the north side of the apartments for a year or more and was an old model not in running condition. The incident, Conner said, was not reported to police until 9:15 a.m. Sunday. Investigation revealed that a guest at the Coronado had heard the car crash into the pool, looked out and saw several persons running from the scene. The winch truck was left at poolside. The auto was pulled out and returned to its parking place. Slight damage was caused to the pool.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst Notes from the foreign news cables: Kennedy-De Gaulle: President Kennedy and French President Charles de Gaulle have found themselves far apart on issues as diverse as nuclear weapons and South Vietnam. But there are signs the French leader now believes it is time to bury the hatchet. From Paris comes word that French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville hopes to see Kennedy during his Washington talks with Secretary of State Dean Rusk at the beginning of October. Insiders think Couve de Murville almost certainly will sound out the President about a possible meeting with De Gaulle early in 1964. The idea might tie in with a visit to Latin America which De Gaulle also is believed considering. He has invitations from Mexico, Brazil, Chile and Peru. Summit: While the quarrel with Red

Assurances to India

Britain has given India assurances she will not supply Red China with anything that could strengthen her war potential. The issue has arisen in the light of Peking's interest in British-made "Comet" jet transport airplanes. The Chinese, cut off from Russian supplies, have made inquiries in London about the possible purchase of Comet civilian planes, presumably for the projected new airline between Peking and Karachi, Pakistan. No deal has been concluded so far. Earlier Britain sold Red China several turbo-prop Viscount four-engined planes.

LA Needs One To Clinch Flag

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

There will be no premature celebrations in Los Angeles this year. The Dodgers have learned their lesson.

Anybody else might be digging the corkscrew into the champagne. The Dodgers are keeping their bottles on ice.

Los Angeles clinched at least a tie for the National League pennant Sunday when the St. Louis Cardinals lost to the Cincinnati Reds, 5-2. The Dodgers could have clinched the flag by beating the Pittsburgh Pirates, but instead dropped a 4-0 decision.

The outlook is as bright as a World Series share for the Dodgers, who need just one of their final six games to qualify for what probably will be the richest Series ever against the New York Yankees. Still there was little joy in the Los Angeles dressing room Sunday.

"You never celebrate a tie," explained pitcher Don Drysdale. "This was a distinct turnaround from last year's reaction after the Dodgers had clinched a tie with two days remaining in the season. They held an impromptu celebration and then lost their final two games and the playoffs."

Finish At Home

The Dodgers will play their last six games at home starting with the New York Mets Tuesday night. They also entertain the Mets on Wednesday and Thursday nights before closing with a three-game series against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Even should the Dodgers blow all six games, St. Louis still would have to take all five of its own to force a playoff. The Cardinals are at Chicago for day games on Tuesday and Wednesday and close with a three-game home series against Cincinnati.

In other National League activity Sunday, the San Francisco Giants trounced New York, 13-4, the Chicago Cubs beat the Milwaukee Braves, 7-3, and in the lone night game Houston edged Philadelphia, 2-1.

Ends Dodger Threat

Bob Veale held the Dodgers to two hits until the ninth inning, but needed help from Elroy Face after walking two men. Jim Gilliam beat out a bunt to load the bases before Face got Tommy Davis and Frank Howard on pop flies to end the game.

Cincinnati got three unearned runs in the third inning as the result of an error by Julian Javier and the Cardinals were unable to catch up against the sixth pitching of Joe Nuxhall (14-3). Vada Pinson recorded his 200th hit of the season for the Reds, a two-run triple.

Willie McCovey blasted three consecutive home runs off three different pitchers to give him the league lead in homers with 43. Willie Mays also homered for the Giants, who collected 18 hits.

Bob Buhl went all the way for his 11th victory and helped his own cause by driving in three runs for the Braves.

The Colts rallied for both their runs in the ninth inning, the second coming home on rookie Joe Morgan's first major league hit.

Brackenridge Opens Play

By United Press International

A pair of southern bracket games, including defending champion San Antonio Brackenridge's second appearance of the season, highlight this week's Class AAAA Texas school football schedule.

Brackenridge, which could afford to be loose defensively in running up a 61-28 margin over AAA Uvalde last week, may need to concentrate on both phases this week when the Eagles meet Harlandale, a good AAAA outfit holding victories over Bryan and San Antonio Burbank.

The other spotlight game also involves a San Antonio neighbor of the champions — the Thomas Jefferson Mustangs, who hit the road after two fine home victories to face rugged Corpus Christi Miller. The Mustangs have whipped Abilene High and Alice, while Miller has trimmed Alice and Alamo Heights.

Against mutual foe Alice, Miller won 41-9 while Jefferson took it 39-8.

But, these games rate only a slight nod above several others in importance, including mighty Midland High's clash with Lubbock Monterey, Highland Park at Richland Hills, Dallas Samuel-Dallas South Oak Cliff, Corpus Christi Ray at Spring Branch, Port Arthur at Pasadena and Richardson at Irving.

In AAA, defending champion Dumas, a 14-5 winner over Borger last week, hosts Artesia, N.M., while Corsicana is at Tyler, and Nederland at Lufkin.

the Kansas City A's, 4-3, the Chicago White Sox edged the Detroit Tigers, 3-2, the Cleveland Indians whipped the Los Angeles Angels, 5-3 and 2-1, and the Washington Senators beat the Baltimore Orioles, 4-2, after a 6-3 loss in other American League games.

Wins 13th Game

Al Downing scattered nine hits and struck out six to score his 13th win for the Yankees, whose seven-hit attack included a two-run homer by Joe Pepitone.

Floyd Robinson and Ron Hansen homered for the White Sox as Joe Horlen won his 10th decision with late-inning relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm.

Fred Whitfield drove in two runs and Tommy Agee hit his first big league homer for Cleveland in the first game and the Indians won the 11-inning nightcap on Johnny Romano's run-producing single.

Sam Bowers, a rookie recently recalled from Rochester, drove in three runs with two doubles and two singles to help Robin Roberts win his 14th game for the Orioles, but the Senators gained a split on the strength of run-producing eighth-inning singles by Don Lock and John Kennedy. Stu Miller made his 69th relief appearance of the season for the Orioles in the opener — leaving him one short of the league mark of 70 set by the Red Sox' Mike Fornieles in 1960.

Harvesters Not Ready Mentally For Blackhawks

Pampa football coach Otis Holladay was understandably disappointed when reviewing the Pampa-Phillips football game Friday night, won by the Blackhawks, 20-15.

"We just weren't ready mentally to play," said the Harvester head man. "There just isn't any other way to explain it... we just weren't ready."

"We kept getting outcharged, especially in the first half. Our pass defense went to sleep twice and we couldn't connect on our passing game and that was the whole story physically. That and our failure to hold on third down defensively. Our defense, led by Ricky Goodwin and Billy Quarles, would stop them cold for two downs, and then they would just break through for a long gainer every time on third down. I don't know what was the matter... we must have been choking up or something. We missed Rexroad very badly on defense (Donnie Rexroad, with a neck injury), but we still should have done better than that... it wasn't physical, it was just mental."

"The offensive line was constantly getting outcharged the first half, but looked a lot better in the second half. Terry Criss played even a better game than usual and Ricky Goodwin was fine."

"Defensive backfield-wise, well, our pass defense just wasn't too keen. Ricky Stewart stood out on defense, and cornerback Phil Smith also."

"Our offensive backfield was running much better. Kenny Herbert looked great at times and Keith Griffith did a great job of blocking. All our halfbacks were running well, especially Jerry Garrison and Larry Gregory."

"About all I can say to sum up is that we all took it too lightly. They were as big as we were, they had too much speed, and they came to play. They were fired to the hit and we were overconfident."

"I guarantee one thing... we won't be playing like that this week against Palo Duro... we'll be ready."

"What I said after the game Friday night still goes... if we'll just play the whole ball game like we play parts of it, we can win the district."

Pascual Sole 20-Game Repeater

By Fred down
UPI Sports Writer

One thing Camilo Pascual of the Minnesota Twins never expected to be called — by friend or foe — is a model of consistency.

The story of the 29-year-old Cuban right-hander's major league career is one of big talent hampered by a high-strung temperament. But today Camilo is indeed a good example of consistency — the only 20-game winner of 1962 to repeat in 1963.

Those who reached the 20-mark in 1962 but who won't make it this year include Ralph Terry, Dick Donovan and Ray Herbert in the American League and Don Drysdale, Jack Sanford, Bob Purkey and Joey Jay in the National League.

Pascual, 20-11 in 1962, raised his 1963 record to 20-3 Sunday when he pitched the Twins to a 6-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. Pascual struck out nine to lift his season mark to 193 — seven short of his third straight season with 200 or more strikeouts.

Killebrew Homers

Red-hot Harmon Killebrew hit his fifth homer in three games and his 45th of the season and Jim Hall and George Banks also homered for the Twins. Minnesota's club total of 224 homers is second in major league history only to the 240 hit by the 1961 New York Yankees.

Sporting Sidelines

by JEFF COHANE

THE PAMPA HARVESTERS have acquired a new enemy... in the person of Leo the Lip Drummer, the drummer boy of Borger.

Although Leo, as the sports editor in Bulldog-town has long been an enemy, I have always considered it a friendly enmity, as Leo has generally been an off-the-field friend of the Pampa coaches and myself. Leo and I have sniped at each other via our columns, but Leo had the grace at least, to confine his remarks to difference of opinion with myself, coaches Otis Holladay and Terry Culley, etc.

After games and on personal trips, I have been a guest at Leo's home and vice-versa, and he has also visited with coach Ray Howard, Holladay, etc. To be frank, we considered him a "friendly enemy," one who would argue for his principles, not a back-stabber like certain others.

What this long-winded preview is building up to is that the Drummer Boy has turned out to be a back-stabber of the first water. In a column last week, he mentioned the Pampa-Phillips game and said "I would like to see the Blackhawks raise some good old muck in Pampa tonight. I DON'T LIKE ANYTHING ABOUT PAMPA."

Thank you for showing your true colors, Mr. D. I hope all you Harvesters go into the Borger game with that remark tattooed inside your heads. Putt-putt isn't the only one. It is my sincere hope that Leo will like us even less after the outcome of that game.

NOT MUCH TO SAY about Friday night's Pampa-Phillips football game except that they wanted it more than we did. This department wishes to take some of the blame however. Otis Holladay kept warning me how tough Phillips was and I just couldn't see how a Triple-A club could beat a team that had played as we did against Wichita Falls. I am afraid that my overconfidence may have rubbed off... the trouble was we didn't play as we did against Wichita Falls. As Otis points out, however, neither the Wichita Falls game or the Phillips game mean anything but experience gained... the run for the marbles starts Friday night against Palo Duro. Win enough 3-4A games and the pre-district season is forgotten, as it was with San Antonio Brackenridge. All anyone remembers is that they won state, not that they lost three games during the season.

YE OLD bedraggled band of experts came out with three first place ties this week end, with the Ol' Swami; Otis Holladay and Ray Howard locked up at 23-6 and Brown Smith and Eural Ramsey each one game behind. Eural's first comment this morning was "What about Texas Tech?"... Ouch! Instant retaliation was "What about Miami Estelina?"... Otis and Brown went down with White Deer, Brown took us in the eye with Dumas and all of us were upset by Florida State.

KEITH SWANSON came in this week end to report that he was accepting a full basketball scholarship from Midwestern University, despite John Shipman's dire warnings. The Harvester jumping jack had spent the summer at Tulane and plans to study medicine, but decided he could best help himself with a full scholarship for his first four years in college and then go to Tulane Medical School on graduation. This makes a pretty complete slate for all graduates of the 1962-63 Harvester cage team.

Randy Matson and Donnie Ayres are at Texas A&M (although the Mighty Matson will forsake basketball for track, at least until after the Olympics). Wayne Kreis will play for TCU and Gordon Balch for ACC-C. E. Cantrell forsook a cage scholarship at Trinidad JV for an M. K. Brown scholarship to West Texas. Keith figures that he will probably play against some of the old team next year... and will be at West Texas and Clarendon JC where the home fans can see him.

Pro Football Roundup

The Green Bay Packers proved they can win the BIG game without Paul Hornung, but the New York Giants showed that without Y. A. Tittle they're nothing.

The Packers demonstrated the class of champions Sunday against the club they HAD to beat; drubbing the Detroit Lions, 31-10.

But the Giants, with Tittle moseying the sidelines because of a chest injury, were clobbered by the Pittsburgh Steelers, 31-0.

Two of the National Football League's old stars, one Johnny come-lately, and one young man with great promise also proved a few points on the second weekend of the season.

Jimmy Brown showed further that he thrives under the Cleveland Browns' new regime when he broke loose for two long runs in a 41-24 rout of the Dallas Cowboys.

Johnny Unitas showed his old clutch-touch when he engineered a 10-point last-period surge that earned the Baltimore Colts a 21-14 triumph over the San Francisco Forty Niners.

Billy Wade, who knocked around the league for several seasons before winning a steady job with the Chicago Bears two years ago, pitched three touchdown passes in a 28-7 win over the Minnesota Vikings.

And 24-year-old Charlie Johnson, undoubtedly the brightest young quarterback prospect in the NFL, also threw three scoring passes in leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a come-from-behind 23-24 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Saturday night on the West Coast, the Washington Redskins trounced the Los Angeles Rams, 37-14.

Thus, after two weeks of play, there are only three perfect-record (2-0) teams in the NFL—Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis.

SWC Roundup

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer

The Southwest Conference, winner in five of six inter-sectional clashes last weekend, takes this impressive record into action Saturday against a rugged slate of foes.

Rice, Southern Methodist and Baylor did not play last week and their games will be openers. The Owls battle Louisiana State, 14-4 victors over Texas A&M last week, SMU travels to Ann Arbor, Mich., to tackle Michigan of the Big 10, and Baylor meets Houston.

Texas opens defense of its SWC title at home against the up-and-coming Texas Tech Red Raiders. The Longhorns sputtered along offensively to blank Tulane 21-0 Friday night at New Orleans. The Steers were crisp on defense, but only partially successful when they had the ball.

The Steers may have their hands full against upstart Tech. The Red Raiders, thanks to three field goals by H. L. Daniels and a 35-yard interception runback by sophomore Donnie Anderson, upset Washington State 16-7.

Arkansas gets a severe test in a joust with Missouri in the Big Eight Conference. The Razorbacks coasted to a 21-6 victory over Oklahoma State, sparked by Billy Gray's passing and Jim Lindsey's running.

Texas Christian, knocking off tough Kansas 10-4 at Fort Worth, gets another rough one in Florida State this weekend. The Seminoles trounced highly-rated Miami 24-0 Friday night. The power running of Tommy Joe Crutcher paid off in victory for the Horned Frogs over the Gayle Sayers led Jay hawks.

Texas A&M, tripped by LSU, will try to hit the comeback trail against Ohio State, a top contender for the Big 10 title.

'Big Brother' Now Has 91,236 Little Brothers

Do you feel that "big brother" is watching you? If that sense of uneasiness pervades your consciousness at times, you are absolutely right. Not only a big brother watching you, but big brother has encouraged and actually assisted in spanning a whole bevy of little brothers all of whom do their share of watching. And all of them do their share of taxing, either directly or indirectly.

According to the Commerce Clearing House there are in the good old U. S. A. some 91,236 separate and relatively autonomous governments. And our own count shows the Clearing House is off by one, since it failed to list the United Nations. So, we would contend that there are 91,237 separate, vigorous governments, all vying for tax dollars from you and your fellow Americans. Most of them tax you directly, but some get other taxing authorities to do the dirty work for them.

First of all, there is the federal government. That only counts for one. But it truly is "big brother." It peers at you through its bureaucracy of more than two and a half million civil servants, who have hundreds of thousands of laws by means of which they are empowered to direct your energies, restrain your ambitions and confiscate your earnings.

Then, there is the United Nations. It is not a full government, but it has obtained a surrender of a small measure of American sovereignty insofar as international affairs are concerned, so it must count as a government. The U. N. does not tax you directly, but it assesses its member-nations. The U. S. A. is a member and receives regular billings for its share of its costs. Then, when other members don't pay their share, the U. S. A. gets additional billings and bails out other members.

Thus far, the count comes to two. Now we must add the 50 state governments. Each of these has a constitution, a legislature and a full contingent of law makers who busy themselves within their geographic boundaries. That makes 52.

Add now the various county governments. This fair land of ours has 3,043 county governments. These, too, are taxing units. Also, they do their share of regulating and training each of us at the general expense. The total is now 3,095.

But wait. There are 17,997 municipal governments, ranging from such giant metropolitan combines as the Cities of New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and Detroit, down to tiny urban centers which are still organized as cities. The total now comes to 21,092 governing bodies.

Add to this the 17,144 townships, which are autonomous governmental organizations, and you have 38,236. Next, put in what are called "commissions" or "authorities." These are agencies of force and compulsion which serve as highway authorities, or port authorities, or relief authorities. There are 18,323 such special districts in the nation. And that brings the total up to 56,559, all of which can tell us where to head in, in some activity of our daily living, depending on where we are at the moment.

Now add the largest and most costly of the lot, the government school districts. There are 34,678 of them at this moment. There has been a recent movement to reduce the number through consolidation, but the power and the taxing ability of these districts grows on apace. That brings the grand total to 91,237 governments, taxing authorities, quasi-governments and what have you.

If Americans are not the best governed people in the world they are at least among the most governed, outside the Soviet Union.

If paradise is to be found by means of political action and governmental dependence, it surely must exist here or in Russia.

Opinions Shift On Welfare

There's a survey organization in England called "Mass Observations, Ltd.," which has been doing social opinion sampling concerning the welfare state.

The London Times cautiously released the findings from the latest survey about a month ago. The element of caution is commented upon. It seems the figures obtained weren't at all the kind of figures anticipated.

There is a surprisingly wide spread dissatisfaction with the state welfare program of Britain, not so much regarding its administration, but rather regarding its existence at all. There appears to be a swing towards a return to private health care, private education, private pension programs and the like.

A considerable portion of those interviewed believed that future state welfare services ought to be modified, either by confining them to persons actually "in need" or by including a "contracting out" provision for those who now would like to pay their own way.

The survey was significant also in that it did not confine inquiries to any particular income or social group. However, workers, both skilled and unskilled, furnished about 70 per cent of the survey group, and white-collar workers or entrepreneurs furnished the other 30 per cent. Despite the status of the person so far as income and responsibility were concerned, the findings ran about the same. Also, the findings revealed that London Labour backers and London Conservatives took almost the same position.

Analysts are as yet a bit reluctant to offer the figures, pointing out that there is a wide margin for error. This is a curious reminder at a time when figures run rather than socialistic. The reminder is rarely invoked if figures can be provided to indicate the opposite view.

From this distance, we have no idea at all concerning the merit or the accuracy of the survey.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

We've known Capt. Eddie Rickbacker for years. His career boasts more thrills than the silent film serials: Daredevil auto racer, staff driver for General Pershing, top flying ace of World War I, adrift in the Pacific in World War II, all comprising the saga of an unusual individual. The thought strikes us that Capt. Eddie has done more for commercial aviation than any other person. When he headed Eastern Airlines in 1934 he became commercial flying's greatest salesman. He has visited his office only periodically since. No group is too large and none too small for Capt. Eddie to bring his message of air transport. All airlines owe much to his enthusiasm, his salesmanship, and to his belief in and knowledge of his product.

Last year was a bad one for counterfeiters, according to James J. Rowley, Chief, U.S. Secret Service. He says 662 persons were arrested and 47 counterfeit plants seized. Phony dough amounted to $3,394,263, but the special agents grabbed $2,845,823 before it could be circulated. The other $548,440 was passed on to the unsuspecting public. Last year the Secret Service reports investigating 71,969 cases, mostly violations of currency laws, and made 4207 arrests. Cases brought to trial resulted in 97.6 per cent convictions; 92.3 per cent pleaded guilty. All of which should convince anyone there's no profit in passing "queer" money.

Country Editor speaking: "Henpecked husbands frequently look for other chicks." We recently read an article saying there are 25,000 nudists in the U. S., but we've never seen one. A huge fire in 1835 destroyed 600 buildings in New York City. Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry now stalled 1000 telephones to describe exhibits. Visitors pick up the phones to hear tape-recorded messages. Museum officials say most people won't take the time to read long printed signs. The next time you gripe about our defense budget remember George Washington said: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."

Sales of Eskimo handiwork totaled $750,000 last year, and are expected to double in 1963. Items range from $1 knickknacks to $300 muskrat parkas. Already a hit in Canada, plans are being made to export them to European and American markets. Memory Lane: Remember when candidates for President toured the nation in special trains? Dewey and Truman were about the last to use them in 1948. Now they cover the country faster by plane, and TV brings them into everyone's living room. Japan cultivates 95 per cent of the cultured pearls sold. Others come from Australia, Persia, and the South Sea Islands. A Postal official tells us we can help speed mail deliveries by dropping our missives in the mail before 5 p.m. Hydrofoil boats are being tried on a commercial basis on Puget Sound. They'll commute between Seattle and Victoria, B.C., carrying 75 passengers on the 75-mile trip in 90 minutes. It takes an ordinary boat five hours for the same journey. Since its inception three years ago pressure-packaged starch has been popular with the American housewife. Last year 54 million aerosol starches were produced. What next? An Irish brewery is using a pipeline to deliver beer over a 20-mile route. Have you noticed that, despite fallout, A-tergents and pesticides, the population keeps growing. Air freight is wonderful: during a heat wave this summer a Providence R. I. dealer ordered and received 45 crates of electric fans in time to capitalize on the temperature.

Today's smile: No doubt you heard about the doctor who fell in a well. The farmer pulled him out and said: "Doc, you take care of the ill and let the well alone."

Polls to Influence Future of Robert Kennedy And Role in Brother's Cabinet and Politics

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Robert Kennedy's future role in the administration and the 1964 presidential election could be greatly influenced by polls being taken in several politically strategic states.

Under the personal direction of President Kennedy, a nationally-known polling organization is making a survey in Oklahoma on what the voters think of the President's brother, his close relationship with the President, and whether his presence in the Cabinet will hurt the President's chances for reelection.

For comparison purposes, the pollsters are sampling the President's personal popularity to determine the "percentage of political drag" that the Attorney General's role in the administration is having on his brother.

After the Oklahoma polling is completed later this month, other surveys of "Bobby's" public image will be conducted in California, Wisconsin, Washington, New Hampshire and Indiana. These are five states that President Kennedy lost in 1960, which the White House now believes the Democrats can win in 1964.

These secret polls, which the Democratic National Committee is paying for, were proposed by the politically-minded Attorney General Kennedy. In suggesting the surveys, the President's brother reported that he was ready to step out of the Cabinet if his popularity — due largely to his handling of the race issue — endangered the President's election to a second term.

President would lose Texas, Arkansas, South Carolina, North Carolina, Louisiana, and Georgia — all states that he won in 1960. To offset this disastrous loss in electoral votes, the survey indicates that the President would have to capture five of the six states where the polls of "Bobby's" public image are being made.

The unpublished survey listed 10 states as "safe" for the President in 1964, including Missouri, New Mexico, Hawaii, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, Maryland, and Nevada.

POLITICAL FLASHES — Chairman E. William Henry of the Federal Communications Commission is planning a speech next month in which he will formally propose that television and radio stations give free time equal to the political time that they sell in the 1964 election. Louisiana's National Committeeman Camille Gravel has informed President Kennedy that he will resist efforts of his state's Democratic committee to send an anti-Kennedy delegation to the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City next year. Friends of Alabama's Governor George Wallace report that his name will be the first to be put before the 1964 Democratic National Convention. Reason: Alabama comes first on the roll call.

BAD NEWS — President Kennedy's chief trade negotiator has put an end to the hopes of New England legislators that the Kennedy administration would be able to obtain voluntary agreements with Japan and Britain to curb their export of wool textiles to the U. S.

After two years of conferences and White House "promises" to arrange an agreement similar to the one negotiated for the cotton industry, Christian A. Herter, the President's special representative for trade negotiations, has written the legislators, stating:

In the letter of August 21 which several congressmen from New England addressed to the President, you expressed a desire to discuss with the President the position of the domestic wool textile industry, particularly with regard to imports. The President, who is unable to meet with your delegation, has asked that I reply in his behalf. Over the past two years, we have several times taken the initiative to discuss with other countries the mutual benefits to be derived from the avoidance of a disruption of American market by excessive imports of wool textiles. The British and Japanese governments have responded negatively to any attempt to enter into negotiations on this subject.

The Doctor Says:

Everybody Should Have Shots Against Tetanus By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

You don't have to work around horses to be in danger of getting lockjaw or tetanus. For those who have not had tetanus toxoid the threat exists in any deep wound into which dirt may have entered. This includes traffic accidents, third-degree burns, stepping on a nail, gunshot or stab wounds and even snake bites.

The older method of prevention was to give tetanus antitoxin. This amounted to borrowing an immunity previously developed in a horse.

This method has two disadvantages. It does not give a sure protection as that built up by your own blood serum may make you very sick if you are allergic to it. If you are not allergic, the injection of horse serum may make you allergic so that you will get sick from it the next time you have to take it for any reason.

Tetanus toxoid has the advantage that, even though the immunity it stimulates in you may diminish after two or three years, it can be quickly restored at the time of an accident by means of a small booster shot. Because tetanus is such a deadly disease, because you never know when you may incur a potentially contaminated wound and because immunity can be so readily produced with toxoid, no one should deny himself or his family this protection.

If you have not had tetanus toxoid and are so unfortunate to get tetanus, your lot is not as hopeless as it once was, but even the successful treatment of this disease is a poor substitute for proper immunization.

Your doctor can accomplish much by cleaning out the deepest recesses of your wound. Antibiotics have been shown to give some added protection. And then there is a new approach to the treatment of tetanus that has received a lot of publicity.

A farmer in Illinois was admitted to a hospital with a severe attack. In spite of the usual treatment he grew steadily worse and when his doctors were about to give him up for lost one of them remembered that the life of a patient in Holland with another disease had been saved by treatment in a compression chamber of the type used to treat divers who developed the bends.

Edson in Washington Finances, U.S. Giveaways Are High on UN Agenda

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There are 78 items on the provisional agenda for the United Nations General Assembly this year.

It is likely a few more will be added during the session which convened Sept. 17 in New York. About half of the subjects up for discussion relate to international disputes. The other half relate to U.N. housekeeping operations, including financing.

As of Sept. 15, all member nations were sufficiently paid up on their assessments to be able to vote on all issues before the 1963 Assembly. But if additional payments are not made before Jan. 1, Soviet Russia, France and some of the Communist satellite countries will become more than two years in arrears on regular and special assessments for peace-keeping operations.

This would subject them to a loss of voting rights in 1964 or until they paid up. The guess is that they will pay up just enough to retain their votes, as they have in the past.

But if France and Russia choose to make another fight against special assessments for keeping the peace in places like the Congo and the Near East, it will be a battle threatening future U.N. effectiveness.

As of July 31, U.N. collections were more than $180 million in arrears—$44 million on working capital and regular assessments, $36 million for the Near East Emergency Force, and $100 million for the Congo account.

At the General Assembly special session earlier this year emergency financing of $42 million was arranged to carry on operations through Dec. 31.

The United States made some progress in getting its assessments for extra contributions reduced from 49 per cent to 37 per cent of the total.

There were some congressional complaints that this was not reduced to the 32 per cent of total which the U.S. pays on regular assessments. But considering that the United States has 40 per cent of the total gross national product for all U.N. members, the 12 per cent cut on special contributions was regarded as a good start.

On the purchase of U.N. bonds—a hot issue in the last Congress—total purchases up to Sept. 1 were $145 million by 50 countries, with $2 million more pledged but not paid in U.S. purchases are half of this amount, keeping the pledge to match other purchases up to $100 million of the $200 million issue.

The 1964 budget which Secretary General U Thant presents to the General Assembly is for $96 million for the U.N. itself, plus $100 million for its specialized agencies. With $14 million in receipts, the net total is $182 million.

Total U.S. contributions to the U.N. for 1964 are $57 million in regular and special assessments, plus $175 million in contributions outside the budget for programs like Palestine refugees and the Children's Fund.

The United States gives 40 per cent of the special fund for economic planning, 70 per cent of the United Nations Emergency Force costs in the Near East and up to 100 per cent on some of the special research projects.

This is criticized as being of no immediate or direct benefit to the United States. There are demands in Congress—like the proposal by Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo.—

that U.S. contributions to any international organization be limited to a flat one-third of the total budget.

But there is little support except from right-wing extremists for the prediction of Rep. James B. Utt, R-Calif., that the United States eventually will have to get out of the United Nations and that the U.N. will have to get out of the U.S.

Editor:

The house was old and had never known a coat of paint, its two back rooms wore a sheet-metal roof. Its windows were bare without the protection of screens, and its chimney was only a metal pipe that puffed mesquite wood smoke. The floors were never covered by a rug, or linoleum and showed the often scrubbed planks, clean and bare. Its living room contained a bed for Father and Mother and sparse other furnishings. The family's fare would be called dire poverty by the standards of our day. But somehow it didn't matter. "For there was love in the home of my youth."

There was a rickety porch that a movie script could use today to illustrate the underprivileged family type dwelling. On summer nights there was a song festival on the porch with Father's mixed base and alto harmonizing with Mother's high, sweet soprano. The old songs that tell a story, "Sweet Marie," "Maple on the Hill," "Oh Sir I Was Only Flirting," and many gospel tunes, "Precious Saviour," and a hundred others.

Prayers were said on that rickety old porch, and as I remember those prayers were filled with a lot more thanking for, than asking for. We had little and needed much, but somehow I never realized it, because there was love in the home of my youth.

Sister dropped the plates and they broke with a terrible crash, so the family ate out of bucket lids until Fall. Daily fare being, black-eyed peas and cornbread for dinner. (We called the peas life-savers.) After a hard day's work, there was cornbread and milk for supper, eaten by the light of a kerosene lamp. Every body worked, a poor cotton farmer we were, but somehow no one was unhappy, because there was love in the home of my youth.

Father was fond of saying that he raised his own boll pulling crew, and he did. We gathered our own crops and many of the neighbors' crops. Mother was up until eleven o'clock sewing on cotton sacks by hand and up again at 4 a.m. to fix breakfast and a dinner to carry to the field. They say that will kill a person, but Mother is seventy-five and going strong. This generation would say, "My what a terrible way to live!" As for me, I wouldn't trade my upbringing for a million dollars. Because I knew I was loved in the home of my youth.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

United Press International HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jerry Lewis proved he had guts during the weekend when he did not flee from the premises after the first half of his new, two-hour live series on ABC-TV. A man with such nerve should make an honest apology about the whole thing when he returns for his second outing this Saturday — and perhaps regain the respect of some viewers still in a state of shock.

The second thing he should do is get — and take — some professional television advice from those who may not regard him as the eighth wonder of the world. If any of his coterie of flatterers tells him he was great, he should eye their professional judgment with suspicion. I personally cannot believe that such a fabulously successful entertainer does not know he put on one of video's all-time debacles. He is no dope.

But does anyone around him have the guts to tell him with full impact what an embarrassing two hours it was, and how it was frequently tasteless, offensive and outright barbaric? Will they tell him that if the quality of the first show keeps up, he could very seriously damage his career, if he has not already done so since Saturday night?

In the two hours, there were some scattered funny moments. But it seemed as though he spent more time telling what he was going to do for the two hours. And throughout, it was not pleasant for this viewer to watch the comedian, once the image of a lovable and sympathetic character, display an ego at odds with this portrait, letting fly an insult or lecture-type remarks that made one cringe.

Some show business people called me Sunday to express shock over the show, and I understand there was quite a bit of phoning around town. ABC-TV learned from a 26-city spot rating that Lewis did not draw nearly as big an audience as he mentioned he would Saturday night.

NBC-TV's new half-hour situation comedy, "The Bill Dana Show," bowed in Sunday night with the comedian starring as his creation, Jose Jimenez, who is cast as a hotel bellboy in New York. The idea of the series is that Jose brings sunshine to everyone's life, and Dana is a crack laughgetter with acute timing. Unfortunately, no one else in the cast sustains his mood, and the writing sagged after a fast start. The series has better possibilities than most situation comedies, but would do best to negate the roles of all starring players except Jose.

CBS-TV Sunday evening offered a one-hour special about the Golden Age of Greece, taped on the hill of the Acropolis in Athens, with King Paul and Queen Frederika as guides. Eric Sevareid as reporter, and the roots of modern freedom and democracy the subject, and the result was a generally charming, adult and intelligent program.

SLAIN BY REBELS

LLANDA, Angola (UPI) — Two Portuguese soldiers were killed and three were wounded in fighting in northern Angola last week, an official communique said today.

It said Angolan rebels also ambushed a vehicle and killed a civilian.

TO THE MAN WHO "DOESN'T CARE WHICH GASOLINE HE BUYS":

If You Think All Major Brand Gasolines Are Alike In Being Good Gasolines, You Are Right As Far As You Go, But That's Only HALF The Story... And It's The OTHER HALF That Counts Today In Choosing The Best Gasoline For Your Car:

All major brand gasolines today are good. In fact, in many respects they are pretty much alike. The petroleum industry has spent billions of its own money to make gasolines of similar high specifications to meet the needs of modern engines. In many instances this means that pipelines and other transportation facilities can be shared. This cuts the cost of shipping gasolines — and saves you money. It's AFTER gasolines leave the pipeline that they become different. And the BIG difference today is "ADDITIVES" — special formulations added by various major oil companies just before their gasolines go to service stations. That's why... TODAY, THE BEST ADDITIVES MAKE THE BEST GASOLINES.

Don Miller
 President, Skelly Oil Company,
 Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The best additives make the best gasolines today. More than 40 different additives are used today in various brands of gasoline. Whatever may be claimed for them, they may be quite different from one another in composition and how they go about their work in your car.

We have tested many of these additives ourselves. Many of today's widely used gasoline additives are available to Skelly—and would cost as less to put into our premium gasoline than our own additive, Keotane®, does.

Why did Skelly develop its own exclusive additive?

Very simply, it's because we know that, to earn your confidence—and your business—we have to be better than our competition. That's why Skelly has never been satisfied with products "just as good" as those of its competitors. That's why Skelly developed Keotane to fight one of the main causes of poor engine performance and costly overhauls: excess carbon build-ups in modern engines.

We know of no other additive in use today like Keotane. No other oil company has it. In fact, Keotane is so different that Skelly has been granted U. S. Patent No. 2,578,109 covering its use.

We could talk all day about Keotane, but... Instead, we'll just say this. We believe Keotane is the best additive in any gasoline today. Thousands of car owners who have switched from other brands of gasoline to Skelly Keotane Gasoline—and continued to use it—seem to agree with us.

Will it pay you to switch to Keotane? Look at it this way. The cleaner your engine is inside, the more it can run like a clean, new engine. If Keotane can keep your engine cleaner inside... if it can help prevent excess carbon deposits from wasting your gas and stealing your power... if it can give your car more pep, more power, and better gas mileage, shouldn't you find it out?

There's only one way to find out for sure what Keotane can do for your car's engine—and that's to try it. That's all we ask—just try 3 tankfuls of Skelly Keotane Gasoline, and you be the judge. If you don't notice a difference, you haven't lost anything—since Skelly Keotane Gasoline costs no more than other major premium brands without Keotane. If you do get better mileage and performance, you could be miles—and money—ahead.

Why not find out for yourself that, today, the best additives make the best gasolines—and be convinced yourself, as we are, that Keotane is the best additive in any gasoline today.

Only Skelly has Keotane. ...so different its use is patented* by Skelly
