'Saturday Night Specials' Face 3rd Senate Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite two lopsided setbacks, Senate advocates of stricter gun-control laws are trying again to strengthen a bill to take from the marketplace small, cheap handguns called "Saturday night specials."

Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., said he would offer an amendment today to require registration of all handguns and the licensing of owners, but its chances of adoption seemed slim.

A bill the Senate started debating Monday would ban the sale of snub-nosed, easily concealed handguns not suitable for sporting purposes.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the bill's chief sponsor, said it would take out of the marketplace the weapons most commonly used by criminals.

The Senate rejected 84 to 7 a substitute proposal by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to outlaw private possession of all kinds of handguns. Owners who turned in their pistols or revolvers would be compensated at fair-market value by the government.

Then, the Senate defeated 78 to 11 an amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to require registration of all firearms—rifles and shotguns as well as handguns—and state or federal licensing of all gun owners.

The votes were the first taken by the Senate on gun-control legislation since the attempted assassination on May 15 of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace during his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

It was the wounding of Wallace, a foe of further federal firearm controls, that spurred the Senate Judiciary Committee into reporting out the bill sponsored by Bayh.

Bayh opposed both Hart's substitute measure and Kennedy's registration-licensing proposal. Bayh maintained that it was better to stick with legislation that had a chance and that would mark some progress toward curbing gun violence.

Bayh said his bill would prohibit the sale of handguns of the type used in shooting Wallace and in assassinat-ing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. However, Sen. Edward Kennedy said the Senate should adopt his amendment "if we are seriously interested in doing something about crime and violence."

Hart voted for Kennedy's amendment although he said he didn't think the registration of long guns would be of much benefit to public safety.

mission for their continued sound leadership. It is anticipated that the fiscal budget for 1972-73 will be adequate to fulfill the service responsibility of officials to the citizens of Pampa at a reasonable cost.

The budget shows anticipated costs of operating the new M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium during the coming fiscal year will be $17,514.

In a summary of operating fund expenditures the proposed budget shows water production in the city's new treatment plant operation will be up about $12,000 from the current year estimate of $402,559. Water distribution costs are estimated to be down about $20,000 to $103,792 and sewer collection and treatment up around $3,000 to $80,601.

Estimated costs for the fire department are up from $305,281 to $318,718. Police department estimates show an increase from $254,937 to $272,838.

A three-year summary of operating expenditures for the city shows:

In fiscal 1970-71 the total was $1,295,533; in 1971-72 it was $2,205,479 and in the proposed total for fiscal 1972-73 is $2,243,700.

If the current proposed budget is finally approved it would be a gain of $74,374 over the operational costs of two years ago.

1972-73 Pampa City Budget Shows $38,211 Increase; Hearing Sept. 12

By TEX DeWEESE

Pampa's proposed operating funds budget of $2,243,700 for fiscal 1972-73 was formally submitted to the City Commission today by City Manager Mack Wofford.

The figure is an increase of $38,211 over the estimate of $2,205,479 for the current fiscal year which ends Sept. 30.

Commissioners set Tuesday, Sept. 12 at 8:30 a.m. for the annual public hearing on the proposed budget.

Taxpayers, meanwhile, have an opportunity to study the budget upon request in the city secretary's office at City Hall.

Persons wishing to contest any of the proposed items may do so at the Sept. 12 public hearing.

In a message submitted with the proposed budget, the city manager said:

"The budget is balanced in regard to anticipated revenues and expenditures during the budget year."

His message also stated the city's ad valorem tax rate of $1.72, established five years ago in 1967, is proposed to remain the same.

Wofford, in the budget message, stated further:

"It is anticipated that proposed funding will be sufficient to maintain the current level of services during the fiscal year."

Wofford, in the budget message, stated further:

"It is anticipated that proposed funding will be sufficient to maintain the current level of services during the fiscal year."

"(2) During fiscal 1972-73, it is proposed that a total of $98,750 be allocated from the Equipment Depreciation Fund for capital expenditures in the Street, Sanitation, and Parks and Recreation Departments. This is the first year that this fund has been utilized in the effort to level out the cost of replacement of heavy equipment.

"(3) Public Safety, Police Account No. 11, proposes one capital expenditure item of $5,637.00, which is approximately 25 per cent of the total cost to replace the Department's two-way communications equipment. It is proposed that the additional 75 per cent will be funded by a grant through the Texas Criminal Justice Council. This replacement of equipment is in accordance with the Regional Communications Plan of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

"(4) M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium, General Government Account No. 10, has been established to allow funding the operations of the Civic Center. Since fiscal 1972-73 will be the first full year of operation, little actual history of operating costs is available. The effort to keep operating costs at a minimum will continue throughout the year.

"This office and the City Staff would like to express our appreciation to the Commission for their continued sound leadership. It is anticipated that the fiscal budget for 1972-73 will be adequate to fulfill the service responsibility of officials to the citizens of Pampa at a reasonable cost.

City Buys Landfill Compactor

After formally receiving Pampa's city budget for study during the next three or four weeks and setting Sept. 12 for a public hearing on the proposal, city commissioners today awarded a $49,951 contract to Consolidated Equipment Sales for the purchase of a compaction machine to be used at the city landfill.

City Manager Mack Wofford said the compactor will replace antiquated equipment now almost beyond repair.

During a public hearing on abandoned buildings, City Manager Mack Wofford told commissioners the owner said two dilapidated buildings at 416 and 418 N. West will be completely removed by Aug. 28 and a third structure at 420 N. West will be rebuilt and remodeled. The hearing was continued until Sept. 12.

Mayor Milo Carlson, City Manager Wofford and engineering consultant Gene Barber reported briefly on their recent meeting in Austin with the staff of the Texas Water Quality Board regarding modifications of the city sewage treatment plant to conform with state standards.

The consultant firm of Merriman and Barber was authorized to proceed with a study of the pond aeration plan and submit to the TWQB by Sept. 1 a proposed calendar for completion of the project.

But before taking up its main business, the DNC this afternoon must settle credentials challenges to members from five states. The DNC's Credentials Committee ruled on four of the challenges Monday and will hear a challenge to the New York delegation this morning.

The Credentials Committee ruled against Ohio labor leader Frank King in the most sharply contested challenge and recommended that a black state senator, Morris Jackson, be seated instead of King's choice, Rep. Wayne Hays. King took the position that seating Jackson would result in overrepresentation for blacks.

The other challenges involved members from Illinois, Virginia and Wisconsin. The Illinois case resulted in at least a temporary victory for Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, whose slate will be seated for the vote tonight. Challenger William Singer agreed to put off his battle to unseat the Daley group.

The revive-Eagleton sentiment surfaced soon after his withdrawal from the ticket last week but apparently has dissipated almost totally, largely because the support for Shriver is widespread and enthusiastic.

Democrats To Nominate Veep Candidate Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are expected to nominate Sargent Shriver as their new vice-presidential candidate tonight, amid growing predictions that he can help unify the party for the uphill struggle against President Nixon.

Democratic National Committee members spoke warmly of Shriver, chosen by presidential candidate George McGovern as his new runningmate, as they prepared to make the selection official during a 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Young Woman Plunges To Death; 'Love' Blamed

MIAMI (AP) — A note found in a young blonde's car parked below the 30-story apartment house said, "I had to do it. I had no other choice. It's nobody's fault, only too much love."

The note was scrawled across a cigarette carton written partially in German and partially in English.

"It doesn't make much sense to commit suicide because of too much love," Homicide Sgt. Eugene McCracken said Monday after 23-year-old Susanne Schiefer plunged 21 floors to her death.

Police said the victim's husband, Dr. Sigbert Schiefer, a 30-year-old visiting Austrian chemist, "broke up completely" when informed of his wife's death.

McCracken said Schiefer later told investigators "he thought it was odd when she kissed him goodbye twice this morning."

Officers said the young couple was married in Venice last fall and came to Miami as newlyweds.

Dr. Schiefer told police his wife became desperately homesick for her parents so he arranged for them to come here for a visit. They were due to arrive in Miami in three days.

The young biochemist said his wife had become distraught about the cost of the trip.

When officers were unable to translate the note found in the victim's car, building employees summoned Klaus Vosbeck, a resident.

"Everything is wrong, God will punish me," Vosbeck started reading aloud from the note in the lobby. "I have chosen the easiest way for myself and also the hardest way for the others. Remember me..."

Then a detective interrupted when he found Mrs. Schiefer's passport photo in her purse.

Shaken and pale, he then tearfully told officers that he worked with Dr. Schiefer and he and his wife were the Austrian couple's closest friends.

U.S. Bank Examiner Sentenced

HOUSTON (AP) — Ted Bristol, 40, a former federal bank examiner, has been given a six-month sentence for accepting a $10,000 loan from a firm controlled by convicted Houston financier Frank W. Sharp.

Bristol, of Richardson, Tex., was convicted June 22 by a jury of accepting a loan from Sharp's Oak Forrest Investment Co. while he was empowered to examine the Sharp controlled, Sharpstown State Bank.

U.S. District Court Judge Carl O. Bue also sentenced Bristol Monday to another six-month probation sentence following the jail term and a three-year period of probation.

Bristol will stay free on a $10,000 personal recognizance bond pending an appeal of his conviction.

Sen. Eagleton Gets Letters Praising Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas Eagleton has received thousands of letters praising him, as one said, for "dignity and grace in defeat" in bowing out as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee.

The Missouri senator received about 20,000 letters last week and thousands more were being opened Monday as they overflowed from his office into a committee hearing room.

Old Mobeetie Assn. Works On Plan Restoring One-Time Frontier Town

Some old towns may lose their glory and become dusty, almost forgotten ruins.

But once in a while, old towns are revived and restored to serve as a monument to the days gone by.

Such a fate now awaits Old Mobeetie.

The first meeting of the Old Mobeetie, Tex., Association was held Monday to undertake plans to restore the frontier town and make the area a historical museum.

A dream of L. E. Bond, the Association hopes to begin the reconstruction along the mercantile street, including MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Invading grasshoppers relaxed their unwelcome clutch on this West Texas city today with the help of some vigorous spraying.

Health Department workers said a cool front that pushed into this area probably caused the 'hoppers to move into town by the millions.

They were so thick that the floodlights were dimmed and baseball fans fought off the insects frantically until the umpires suspended the second half of a Texas League doubleheader midway through the first inning Sunday night.

An all-day job of spraying insecticide cleared the baseball park so that the game could be completed Monday night ahead of another game between the Midland and Amarillo teams.

"No one here seems to remember anything like it," a health official said.

Jeane Dixon's Midyear 1972 Predictions

Adlai E. Stevenson III

The career of the freshman senator from Illinois will bring him a little discouragement the rest of this year, but dominant changes begin for him in 1974. He will be reelected senator and start gaining recognition as an outstanding spokesman for his country. His activities will extend into civic and philanthropic affairs, one of which will be his work for mentally retarded children.

In June of 1974 I feel he will be given an important assignment: somehow, some way I get that he will be working near a President at a high official level from 1974 to 1978. In 1977 and 1978 Sen. Stevenson will travel a great deal in foreign countries for our government, perhaps in a diplomatic role.

A sizable legacy, rightfully due to him, will be held up for a while; but this inheritance will come eventually so he should not worry about the delay.

However, the senator should be very, very careful to watch his financial matters closely, for a trusted advisor or associate will cause him much financial hardship unless preventive steps are taken. And quickly!

I get that Sen. Stevenson will receive a special letter asking for a favor. It could get lost, and if it did, it could make a fantastic difference in some legislation of personal importance. He should scrutinize his mail carefully starting in September of this year.

I feel that an unjustifiable public attack is going to be made on Adlai Stevenson's fitness to perform his duties in the Senate. He must tread softly because he is being watched very carefully—not only by his friends, but by his enemies as well. He should not let this alarm him unduly because in early August of next year his friends will rally round to help. He has within him the political expertise and personal fortitude to handle the situation adroitly and come out on top.

One other thing, Sen. Stevenson will have to be most circumspect about a financial program he will initiate. He could be highly criticized for the way he handles it.

Fame, wealth and good fortune lie ahead for this hardworking, ambitious young man—provided he is especially alert regarding his financial advisors.

Orson Welles

An intellectual but temperamental genius, Orson Welles has yet to receive the wide public acclaim that will someday be his, for eventually Mr. Welles will write, teach and direct abroad with such vivid imagination and dramatic perspicacity that he will receive the highest theatrical awards. One day a theatre will bear his name in tribute.

Right now one of his greatest handicaps is his health. He is watching his diet diligently, but despite all efforts, I feel he will experience some stomach trouble. Some impending decisions will make it imperative for him to overcome his physical problems. He will emerge much slimmer, but perhaps only after a painful illness which need not occur if he will take the necessary health precautions in time.

This year will see Orson Welles embroiled in a lawsuit, probably over a contract, but I get that, by appealing his case, he will win.

Soon Mr. Welles will begin to have closer relationships with his children. I get that Mr. Welles will marry again, but his marriage will not be lasting unless he exerts himself to make it successful—as it could be if he really works at it.

He is now working on a book not to be completed until after his death, which will have great stature. Unfortunately, the real impact of his book will not be felt in time for him to benefit from it.

Mia Farrow

This wistful, appealing young actress, who captured the fancy of America, has many changes coming in her life. Fortunately, more good than bad ones!

1972 will bring some upsetting situations into her personal life, but because she's capable and realistic when necessary, she will work things out satisfactorily. Desiring harmony in her own life and the lives of all around her, the absence of loved ones will always be disconcerting.

Mia will not always live quietly as now in England. Her talent will blossom and she will become a truly great star to the point of giving command performances for royalty. Indeed, she will one day portray an historic queen, and despite some few early escapades, her name will be immortalized in theatrical history.

John D. Rockefeller IV

John D. Rockefeller IV has a phenomenal future, but he is a slow starter.

Toward the end of this year, he will have some great disappointments, maybe even a seeming reversal in his career. But I get that they will turn out to be blessings, strengthening him for later challenges. As a result, 1974 will open golden doors of opportunity for him.

Always eager to be on the move, he will want to decide hastily an important matter coming up in November or December of 1973. But I caution him now: do not make a move until early January of 1974. Timing is always important, but making a premature decision in this case could be catastrophic!

Too, I sense that he must exercise great prudence in visiting amusement sights and strange places in late 1973 or there could be a serious misfortune. An accident looming up in 1973 might very well turn out to be a "deliberate" accident.

Mr. Rockefeller is capable of changing decisions, even the course of his entire life, and come 1982, a revolutionary change in his life, right for that time, will actually begin the fortunes of his life.

Lamar T. Hunt

Owner of the Kansas City Chiefs, this son of Texas billionaire H.L. Hunt is an extremely versatile man, who prefers to be in business. He will be offered a governmental appointment early next year—I get in February of 1973—which will be in keeping with his lifetime interests.

He will accept for a brief period a different political appointment early in 1974, and will do a magnificent job. Mr. Hunt will have favorable periods in his life next year—both personally and businesswise. I do see some squabbling over a financial contract before the end of this year, but Mr. Hunt will win out.

Because he possesses great vision, I feel that beginning in 1978 he will turn away somewhat from "strictly business" and end up as a great philanthropist, helping worthy causes and improving the standards of health and living for the disadvantaged. His utilization of the vast lands he owns, both in the United States and other countries, will bring him renown.

This year, in the last week of November, Mr. Hunt will unexpectedly experience some fraud and doublecrossing from those around him in business ventures, but he will deal with them so firmly that others will be dissuaded from such tactics.

Lamar Hunt will make great fortunes on his own, his personal life will have its ups and downs, but he will have much happiness, and at least one more child.

Deeply interested in psychic and occult phenomena, Mia will study these subjects consumingly, and one day be a knowledgeable astrologer.

Great danger surrounds the president of the AFL-CIO. September will see bitter disputes that will cause Mr. Meany to think long and hard about the time-honored "political traditions" of organized labor!

At the very last moment, he, like Mayor Daley, will change his political viewpoint. I see much trouble and misunderstanding ahead for Mr. Meany and his fellow union leaders—old rivalries renewed and old friendships split—especially from mid-September to September's end.

Although he is still active and powerful, the years will soon begin to take their toll, and around his birthday in 1974 Mr. Meany will begin to live more quietly and benevolently.

Gov. George C. Wallace

In April I predicted Gov. Wallace would be the target of an attempted assassination, but that he would recover to lead a new force in U.S. politics. In several of my published predictions I had urged strong security precautions.

The controversial Alabamian will never walk again normally, but he will walk again, with help. I believe it is meant for him to fulfill his purpose on earth—to inject a sense of morality and honesty into politics.

As the governor regains his health, he will gain in political strength also. Misunderstanding of him will lessen and world opinion of him will change.

Critical Items In Moscow

They are: (1) The treaty on the SS-13 and the SS-16 which will carry the 64-megaton monster bombs. (2) Their perfected ABM system. (3) Their perfected anti-satellite system.

Because of this overwhelming strength, the U.S. will not be able to negotiate peace from strength, and only when the USSR is ready to negotiate peace will we secure the release of our prisoners of war.

Accident-Proof Your Home and Yard

(First in a Series.)

By DAVID HENDIN
NEA Science Editor

Is your home a dangerous place for your children?

The frightening fact is that accidents kill more children under 15 than cancer, birth defects, pneumonia and heart disease put together. In 1970 alone accidents killed more than 15,000 in this age group and about a third of the accidents occurred in the home.

If there are dangers in and around your home, and you ignore them, you could be endangering your child's life. They should be corrected immediately.

It is equally important for you to know how to treat all types of accidental injuries if they do occur. No matter how safe your home is, or how carefully you watch your children, they are bound to be out of your sight just long enough for an accident to occur.

This series will describe both safety precautions and first aid measures.

Since the only sure cure for any accident or disease is prevention, let's deal with some steps you can take to make home safer.

Accident prevention is an activity that should go on all year long, but summer is the time to pay particular attention to hazards in the area of your pool, patio and garden. Here is a safety checklist for those areas of your home:

Of the 105 U.S. school-age children in every 1,000 who are handicapped in some way, 20 are emotionally disturbed, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

• Forbid use of portable electric appliances within 10 feet of the pool.

• Keep extension cords away from poolside.

• Take care in handling poolside accessories. Hand-

• Play it safe in barbecuing. Keep children away. Use gloves or potholders.

• If your pool has a raised deck, be sure that its sides are safe and youngsters cannot fall through or over them.

• Do not overload decks; they can, and have collapsed, resulting in tragic loss of lives.

• All outdoor electrical wiring and lighting should be done by an expert. It is too easy to get electrocuted from an amateur job.

• Forbid the use of all firecrackers, cherry bombs and fireworks.

• Make sure guests and children are aware of any poisonous plants or dangerous animals in or around your home.

• Make sure that playground equipment is safe and sturdy. No sharp edges ding things while wet can cause shocks.

• Be aware of the danger spots in a pool's wiring. These include filter pump motor, filter, time clock, pool cleaning equipment, electronically operated pool covers and heating equipment.

• No glass should be allowed in the pool area. Use plastic or paper cups, plates and pitchers.

• Be sure your pool is properly fenced. Dozens of children die each year from drowning in backyard pools.

• No children should ever be allowed to swim alone. The "buddy system" used in many camps is an effective way of preventing accidents.

• No children should ever be allowed to swim when overtired, overheated or just after eating.

• Discourage horseplay in the pool and patio area.

or rust allowed.

that you will easily find. A room by room checklist can be found in the new book "Save Your Child's Life!" available through this newspaper.

TIRE SERVICE--Chris Walsh, a tire salesman well-known by the truckers and farm and ranch people of the Pampa trade area, is one of the reasons the truck tire service center at Montgomery Ward offers great service. Ward's offers 24-hour service for truck and tractor tires.

Business, Farm People Know Ward's

The Pampa industrial and agricultural businesses, the main cog of the Panhandle economy, have something in common with other area customers at Montgomery Ward.

Their vehicles all run on tires. And Montgomery Ward is providing much of the merchandise and service for their purposes.

Ward's has truck and tractor tires for the business people plus a full line of passenger tires for everyone.

And Ward's also offers expert 24-hour tire service for truck and tractor tires in Gray County and other nearby counties.

"We want to let the people know we have a complete line of new tires and radials, plus great service to back it up," Chris Walsh said.

Walsh is the man to call for all your needs, whether it be the purchase of new tires or recaps or that costly "flat" that keeps your equipment from being productive.

If help is needed, call Ward's during the day at 669-7401 or at night at 669-2966.

In addition to the tire service, Ward's also has a complete auto service center to provide safety at an economical price for your vehicle.

Services performed by the department include wheel balancing, disc and regular brake adjustment and installation, seat cover installation, wheel alignment, exhaust systems, motor tune-ups and so on.

The auto service center is also an official State Inspection Station, open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

In addition to its tire and auto service centers, Montgomery Ward also has other departments carrying nearly everything a customers could need. And all in the same building.

There are clothes, sporting goods, boats, motors, lawn equipment, televisions, radios, records, stereos and many, many more products. And a customer repair service department for appliances and other equipment.

With the service that is available at Montgomery Ward, a customer would rarely need to shop elsewhere.

Now the SEC is calling for stricter guidelines that some securities men say are unduly diligent in efforts to discourage a rash of hot issues, whose most identifiable characteristic is their peculiar rate of cooling.

The proposed requirements pertain mainly to the emerging company's registration statement, the document supposedly scrutinized by smart investors but which often is ignored. Among the details proposed:

—An estimate of how long proceeds will sustain the company.

—Report on operating plans for a year.

—Detailed information on competition.

—Background of key employees.

While adverse comments already have been heard, other investment bankers appear hardly disturbed at all. "We're not concerned," said one, "because these guidelines already are covered in our due diligence reports."

What the SEC seemingly wants is for the details of the due diligence report itself to appear in the registration statement rather than for it merely to be the documentation for the broad statements now customarily used.

"Due diligence." The phrase keeps reappearing in any discussion of new issues. But what is it?

The question was put to Frank Brown, who appropriately enough heads Frank C. Brown & Co., a management consulting firm that during the past two years has prepared about 30 due diligence reports for underwriters.

The investigation always includes an on-site check of facilities, an analysis of how the money is to be used, a study of financing, marketing, production and personnel, a discussion with key people "during which we also size them up," and opinions of the company by competitors and customers.

Much, much more is involved, and in great detail, such detail that one wonders if such a mass of information has any meaning at all to a nonexpert, a doubt shared by Brown.

Experiment Shows Soft Water Provides Better Shampooing

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A test comparing the efficiency of cleansing agents in soft and hard water showed a soap shampoo removed 41 per cent of soil and grease from a test specimen when used in soft water and only 15 per cent in hard water.

The findings were recently announced by Dr. Peter Horvath, chairman of the Department of Dermatology, Georgetown University School of Medicine, at the 6th International Water Quality Symposium.

The tests, which were made by Dr. Jay Barnett and Associates of New York City, further showed detergent shampoos performed better than soap shampoos, but there was still a significant decrease (10 per cent on the average) in cleaning efficiency when hard water was used.

Dr. Horvath stressed the importance of proper cleaning of the hair and scalp. "A scalp that is not cleansed properly is more likely to develop bacterial infections and aggravation of pre-existing skin disease, especially a dandruff condition," he said.

"In addition, such hair and scalp may look and smell unattractive. On the other hand," he continued, "properly cleansed scalp and hair is less prone to skin problems and such cleansing measures can improve the individual's appearance."

"Such improvement would include cleanliness, lustrous hair, pleasant odor and easy manageability. If other cosmetic measures are contemplated, such as hair coloring or permanent waving, these must be preceded by thorough washing."

Bankers Needing Diligence

NEW YORK (AP)—Investment bankers who underwrite the public appearance of privately held companies—new issues, as they are called—are expected to exercise "due diligence" in examining the credentials of clients.

Whether or not they have been doing so is another thing. Certainly even the closest examination can't give complete assurance that what looks good today will be a star performer tomorrow.

But Securities and Exchange Commission figures suggest that in the past not all underwriters were duly diligent either in examining their young clients or in telling the public about them.

In a study of 49 new issues brought public between January, 1968, and July, 1969, the SEC said earlier this year, five were bankrupt, three out of business, six with liabilities exceeding assets, two merged because of money problems and 21 with retained earnings deficits.

Now the SEC is calling for stricter guidelines that some securities men say are unduly diligent in efforts to discourage a rash of hot issues, whose most identifiable characteristic is their peculiar rate of cooling.

The proposed requirements pertain mainly to the emerging company's registration statement, the document supposedly scrutinized by smart investors but which often is ignored. Among the details proposed:

For women's fragrances, B and B stocks Nina Ricci, Lanvin, Crepe de Shine, Coty, Faberge and Vitabath.

In the gift department, B and B carries such items as costume jewelry, glassware and billfolds.

The highly competent pharmacists at B and B have been filling prescriptions to the best of their ability and to their customers' satisfaction from their stock of 10,000 medicines since 1953.

Pharmacist R.B. Ragsdale said the B and B pharmacists have filled well over half a million prescriptions since the store opened for business.

Two pharmacists are on duty at all times at B and B and are on call Sunday.

B and B also offers "over-the-counter" medicines. They also carry Dr. Schol's remedies and are equipped to meet all drug and first-aid needs. With summer at hand, they also have remedies for sunburns.

B and B also has a short order restaurant to aid customers if a hunger pang strikes.

Whatever the need, B and B will handle it.

Seven employees operate the business directed by F.L. Stone and Lucille Foster, co-owners.

Jim L. Henderson, chief of pollution control at the champion plant, could not be reached for comment.

The company recently notified the Texas Air Quality Board it would be in compliance with the new state master air plan by Dec. 31, 1973.

But Quebdeaux says that isn't fast enough. A civil pollution suit is now pending against the company and the pollution control director said he expects to file more civil or possibly criminal suits unless the air is cleared.

He complained that Champion, in numerous conference and in its report to the air board, has never mentioned any concrete efforts to stop its odor problems, and it's the odor that is giving headaches to Quebdeaux and his staff, he said.

Marina Silhan Becomes Bride Of Bill Skidmore

MRS. BILL SKIDMORE
...nee Marina Silhan

Marina Diane Silhan became the bride of Bill Skidmore of Amarillo at 7 p.m., Saturday, July 29, in a home ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Vance, 1169 Varnon Drive, Pampa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lucy Skidmore of Amarillo.

THE CEREMONY
The couple was married before two large basket arrangements of white gladioli. The Rev. M. B. Smith, Baptist minister, officiated at the double-ring service.

THE BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal white sheath gown of Chantilly lace over silk taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a large cape ruffle extending from the Sabrina neckline and long fitted sleeves that came to petal points over her hands. The floor-length skirt featured a detachable chapel-length lace train, styled with a wide border of silk taffeta.

Her three-tiered veil of imported English illusion fell from a silk rose headpiece, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenia, accented with white streamers.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Sandra McCarthy of Pampa, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of red satin, featuring chiffon sleeves with red satin cuffs. Her headpiece was a white lace hat.

Serving as best man was Johnny Vigil of Amarillo.

RECEPTION
For the reception following the ceremony, the serving table was covered with a white satin cloth trimmed with white lace.

The two-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Miss Peggy Sue Nichols of Pampa served the cake, and Mrs. Johnny Vigil of Amarillo presided at the punch bowl.

For the wedding trip, the bride wore a white knit dress trimmed in red. Her corsage was a white gardenia from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home at 2306 W. 6th, Amarillo.

trump with the North hand would not be approved procedure in match points but at IMPs it has a lot to commend including the result.

Husband Bobby, who with Jim Jacoby, constitutes an anchor pair of the World's champion Dallas Aces, didn't have any chance to show great skill at three no-trump.

He simply won the diamond lead and proceeded to rattle off his eight tricks in the black suits to chalk up the no-trump game.

The bidding was more scientific at the other table. North used Stayman and raised South to four spades after South bid two spades in response to the Stayman two clubs.

Four spades is a mighty good contract. It can only be beaten by a 4-1 or 5-0 break in trumps but suits break that way about 32 per cent of the time and this was one of those times. There was no way for South to make more than nine tricks at spades and the net profit of 700 points was worth 12 IMPs to the victorious mixed team.

A dear old man becomes dirty old man

By Abigail Van Buren
(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 40-year-old married woman and have been told that I am reasonably attractive. I've always been able to handle men who have come on too strong, but now I am stumped!

Would you believe that an 85-year-old man has been bugging me? He is well respected in this community, and always greets the women at church with a hug and kiss. I thought nothing of it as he seemed to love people so much.

One day he telephoned me and asked me to come by his house to get some fresh vegetables from his garden. [He lives alone.] I went there, was given the vegetables, then he embraced me and tried to kiss me! I had to struggle hard to get away from him. He's surprisingly strong for his age. I left as tactfully and quickly as I could, but that really shook me up. I almost told him off, then I considered that a man of 85 might not be as mentally responsible as a younger man, and I didn't want to hurt his feelings.

He keeps calling me to come back for more vegetables, and I am running out of excuses. He calls so often I hate to answer the phone.

Should I keep making up excuses for not going back? Or should I tell him the truth and ask him not to call me anymore? I don't know how to get out of this situation. Everyone thinks he is such a dear old man, but to me, he's just a dirty old man.

DEAR STUMPED: He could be a "sick" old man. Don't be cruel, but do put an end to his calling by telling him firmly, but tactfully that you have decided not to return to his home without your husband. He'll get the idea.

DEAR ABBY: This man [I will call him Mr. Jones] runs a cement contracting business out of his home.

I have telephoned him at least a half dozen times trying to give him some business, but each time I call, a child answers the phone, says, "Daddy isn't home," and hangs up.

I have no telephone in my home so I must make these calls at a pay station which costs me a dime every time I call. Do you think a man should allow his business phone to be answered by a child who can't take a message? And have you any suggestions for how to reach Mr. Jones?

DEAR FRUSTRATED: You could write him a letter. But unless you have a concrete reason for wanting to give Mr. Jones your business, why don't you try someone else?

DEAR ABBY: I have worked in the same office for 18 years and there are many fine people here, but here is the problem:

Whenever somebody dies, gets married, has a baby or retires, I am the one who has the "privilege" of collecting for the flowers or gift from the office gang.

Believe me, it's a pain in the neck. I have sometimes waited until the last minute, hoping somebody else would head up the collection, but nobody does.

I have six children, and plenty of places for my money, but this collecting job has cost me a lot over the years. People say, "I'm a little short right now, but if you put in for me now I'll pay you next payday." I put in for them, and that's the end of it. A dollar here, a dollar there. Maybe they intend to pay me back, but most of them forget.

Abby, please put this letter in your column. Everybody here reads it. It might wake up a few who still owe me. No name, please. Just sign me...

DEAR COLLECTOR: Here's your letter, and I hope it pays off.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CONSERVATIVE": A woman in Cincinnati put it this way: "We teach communism without advocating it. We teach revolution without advocating it. Why not teach birth control without advocating it?"

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Hall Of Fame Induction Highest Baseball Drama

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Yogi Berra batted leadoff and made a hit. He was followed in the lineup by a host of superstars.

The Hall of Fame induction ceremonies were baseball drama at its best.

The tearfully sincere Berra and humbly grateful Sandy Koufax were among eight great names out of baseball's past inducted Monday into the Hall amid Cooperstown's pastoral setting.

"My only regret is that my father and mother weren't here to see this moment," Berra said of his late parents while he cried openly. "But I want to thank baseball for what it's given me ... I only hope that I can put something back."

The former New York Yankee catching great was the first speaker on the rostrum, bulging with famous names from the sport's past and present.

While thousands of fans, along with friends and family of the new inductees, crowded in front of the Hall of Fame library, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn introduced the newest of the immortalized.

Berra, Josh Gibson, Lefty Gomez, William Harridge, Koufax, Buck Leonard, Early Wynn and Ross

Youngs, Gibson, Harridge and Youngs were honored posthumously.

Koufax, the fabulous Los Angeles left-hander, recalled his early "inglorious" years when the Dodgers were in Brooklyn.

Joe Becker, the Dodger pitching coach, and catcher Roy Campanella and John Roseboro eventually provided the assistance that made Koufax the outstanding pitcher in the game for five years before an early retirement in 1966.

Each of the speakers talked succinctly and sincerely. Lusty applause greeted each as he was announced. Movie cameras went into action and flashbulbs popped as photographs zeroed in on each new Hall of Famer, standing with his plaque next to Kuhn.

Their speeches were of one tone—gratitude.

With the ending of the historic day's ceremonies, more than 9,000 fans attended the annual Hall of Fame game at nearby Doubleday Field. The New York Yankees defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 8-3, but the game was an anticlimax to the ceremonies. The induction was really the only game in town.

RANDY STEPHENS left for Childress Sunday to begin practice for Saturday's 23rd annual Greenbelt Bowl Football Classic. The two-year Harvester letterman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stephens, 1901 N. Dwight. (See story below.)

Eddie Machen Dies Of Apparent Fall

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The turbulent and near-brilliant career of Eddie Machen has ended in violent death with authorities unable to fit together the pieces leading to the former boxer's last bout.

Machen, once the world's leading heavyweight contender, died Monday in an apparent fall from his second-story apartment.

The coroner's office said late Monday that Machen, 40, had suffered liver damage in the fall and that foul play was not suspected.

The violent end paralleled his life. Machen's first public act came in 1952 when he was convicted and jailed for three years for armed robbery. In 1955, released from prison, Machen turned to the ring. His success was quick. He won his first 25 professional fights, the first 10 by knockouts, and quickly became the World Boxing Association's No. 1-ranked heavyweight contender. His fighting weight of 200 pounds was somewhat less than many of his foes but he was feared because of his speed and hitting ability.

His first loss was a one-round knockout by Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in 1958. Two years later he went a full 12 rounds before losing a decision to soon-to-be champion Sonny Liston.

But mental problems plagued him and in 1962 he was admitted to Napa State Hospital for treatment of what authorities said was acute schizophrenia and paranoia. Authorities said he had threatened suicide.

Upon his release a year later he lost a 12-round decision to Floyd Patterson and a 15-round decision to Ernie Terrell for the World Boxing Association championship.

The Redding, Calif., bomber seemed to lose his zip after the hospital stay and his last successful fight was 1966 when he beat Joey Orbillo and Jerry Quarry in 10-round matches three weeks apart. Then the roof fell in. By year's end, he had filed a bankruptcy petition.

Football Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie Toni Linhart, an Australian import, saw his first live professional football game Monday night. If New Orleans coach J.D. Roberts has anything to say about it, Linhart will see plenty more National Football League action.

The 30-year-old Linhart kicked two field goals, the last a nine-yarder with nine seconds remaining in the game, to help the Saints defeat the Philadelphia Eagles 13-10 in an NFL exhibition game.

Linhart also booted the extra point after quarterback Archie Manning had passed 73 yards to wide receiver Margene Adkins to tie the score at 10 in the fourth period. The hooting and jeering of the crowd of 53,372 fans didn't bother Linhart.

The game was delayed some 15 minutes just before Linhart booted the winning three points. New Orleans had recovered a fumbled fair catch at the Eagles' 25 with less than two minutes left. Then, Eagles' tackle Mike Dirks was charged with a personal foul and the penalty moved the ball to the Philadelphia 12.

The crowd was incensed over the penalty and every time New Orleans' Manning started calling signals they drowned him out with the booring. Twelve times, Manning brought his team over the ball, and each time he had to give up. At one point, the officials sent both teams off the field for several minutes.

The Eagles scored first on a second-period 61-yard drive on eight plays. Quarterback Pete Liske passed 10

Raymond McPhillips is president of the club and Jimmy Cantrell is the secretary. Both men are from Pampa.

Marine Moves

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Ray Russell, a Marine staff sergeant from Cincinnati, has gained the light heavyweight berth on the United States Olympic boxing team.

Russell gained the spot Monday when Louis Slaughter, of Portsmouth, Va., withdrew from a deciding boxoff with Russell.

"Only One More Step" -- Dolphins' Bob Griese

MIAMI (AP) — "There's only one more step," said Miami Dolphins' quarterback Bob Griese, "and it's our job to take it ... anything short will be a disappointment."

Griese speaks of winning the Super Bowl. "Bob's a man who knows where he wants to go," said Don Shula, coach of the American Football Conference champions, "and he knows what he—and we—have to do to get there."

The other Dolphin players feel the same way. Break-even seasons, even winning years, aren't the target anymore. Last season's Super Bowl losers talk of no goal but "going all the way."

Shula has been a miracle-maker in two years since leaving the established Baltimore Colts and taking on the challenge of building a Miami club that had been a loser.

Miami sputtered through records of 3-11, 4-10, 5-9-1 and 3-10-1 in the pre-Shula era. Then, in 1970, he produced a 10-4 playoff club and last season's 10-3-1 team went to Super Bowl VI before the Dallas Cowboys whipped the Dolphins 24-3.

"Dallas tore holes in our defensive line," admits Shula, "so that's an area where we're working hardest in training camp."

The Dolphins still are searching for that oversized defensive "animal" who can single-handedly chop down opposing offenses. They have no singular cruncher in the class of Buck Buchanan, Bob Lilly or Bubba Smith.

"I think our defensive front four is a helluva lot better than people are saying," said Manny Fernandez, the 250-pound standout in Shula's line. "Sure, we had a bad day in the Super Bowl, but we've also stacked up some of the best running games in the league. Give us a chance, you'll like us."

Fernandez and end Bill Stanfill are reasonably set in their jobs, but the other defensive line positions on the Miami roster are being contested among Frank Cornish, Jim Riley, Vern Den Herder, Jim Dunaway, Bob Heinz, Maulty Moore and 270-pound rookie Mike Kadish, the club's No. 1 draftee from Notre Dame.

Nick Buoniconti has been slow in readying for his 11th pro season at middle linebacker due to back surgery. Bob Matheson has been handling the job, but Buoniconti is expected to be well when Miami opens the regular season Sept. 17 at Kansas City.

Mike Kolen and Doug Swift, starting outside linebackers continue to mature into top performers but will be pressed by Steve Kiner, obtained last week from the New England Patriots.

Miami's secondary has been almost unchanged for three years and, Shula said, "It's getting better with age." Principals there are cornerbacks Tim Foley and Curtis Johnson, strong safety Dick Anderson and All-National Football League free safety Jake Scott.

Offensively, the Dolphins are exceptionally strong. Shula thinks Griese is the NFL's most prized quarterback and he's eager to strengthen what already was the AFC's finest ground game, adding fancy-stepping Mercury Morris to Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick and calling them all "starters."

Wide receiver is the deepest, most impressive position on the roster with all-league flash Paul Warfield teaming up with fleet Marlin Briscoe, obtained in a off-season trade with Buffalo.

Veterans Norm Evans and Doug Crusan at tackles and center Bob DeMarco are starters in the offensive line. Bob Kuechenberg begins his second season as the No. 1 left guard and the Dolphins have what may be the NFL's premier man at his position in 265-pound right guard Larry Little.

Tourney Set

The annual tournament of the Pampa Ladies Golf Association is scheduled for this Saturday and Sunday at the Pampa Country Club.

Ladies who are interested in playing in the tournament and who are not yet members of the association may still join and play in the tourney.

All entries must be received by Ava Warren by tomorrow evening. Mrs. Warren may be contacted at the country club pro shop; phone number 665-8371.

The tournament will provide two days of good golf and enjoyment for the lady golfer.

OLYMPIC FEATS 1920

(One of a series of extraordinary happenings in each of the 16 modern Olympic Games.)

ANTWERP, 1920—A large number of American athletes, led by Dan Ahern, world record holder in the triple jump, "mutinied" against the American Olympic Committee at Antwerp. The city had been bombed so severely in the war that no hotel accommodations were available.

In protest against the cramped quarters on board the liner which was anchored just off the city and against the poor food which was being provided for them, they marched off the ship, took quarters in the city and refused to compete unless better amenities were provided.

They were promptly suspended by the American Olympic Committee. However, following intervention by other members of the team and the promise that all their complaints would be examined, they returned to the ship and an uneasy peace was restored.

This Game marked the debut of Paavo Nurmi (Finland), destined to become one of the greatest heroes of modern Olympic history. Although the unsmiling Finn, who always raced with a stop watch in his hand, was beaten in his first Olympic race—he was nipped at the tape in the 5,000 meters by Joseph Guillemot (France)—he came back to win the 10,000 meters and to lead Finland to victory in the 10,000-meter cross-country event.

Before his Olympic career ended at Amsterdam in 1928, Nurmi had collected nine Olympic gold medals—six in individual events and three in team races. This, of course, is a record of the track and field events of the Olympic Games.

Baseball Roundup

By Associated Press

American League
Mike Cuellar had nothing, said Earl Weaver. But Weaver did have Mark Belanger—although by listening to the Baltimore shortstop, he may not have him for long.

What Belanger had Monday night was a hot bat at the right time. His tie-breaking, two-run double in the sixth inning provided the Orioles with the impetus they needed to turn back the Milwaukee Brewers.

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota shut out Texas 5-0, Cleveland beat Boston 6-2 and Kansas City defeated Oakland 4-2. On the abbreviated National League schedule, St. Louis nipped the New York Mets 3-2 in 13 innings. Cincinnati clobbered Atlanta 9-1 and Pittsburgh's game at Montreal was rained out.

"Don't misquote me because I'm not asking to be traded," Belanger said after helping the staggering Orioles to only their third victory in the last 10 games, "but those thoughts have run through my mind and a trade is still a possibility."

"I feel I have to play regularly to do my job because I have my up and down streaks," said the nine-year veteran who alternates at shortstop with Bobby Grich. When Belanger is at short, you'll find Grich somewhere else around the infield.

Ollie Brown's run-scoring single in the first inning for Milwaukee and Brooks Robinson's homer in the second for Baltimore sent the teams into their sixth-inning tie before Jim Lonborg issued two walks and served up the pitch that Belanger drilled into the left-field corner. But Doyle Alexander had to come to Cuellar's rescue in the sixth after the Brewers had cut the margin to one run.

"Cuellar had nothing tonight," Weaver, the Orioles' manager said. "He had no fast ball to start with and they were jumping on his slow curve."

Jim Perry gave up just two hits—a pair of harmless fifth-inning singles—drove in a run and helped himself with a strange unassisted double play to lead the Twins past the Rangers. Bob Darwin chipped in with a three-run homer.

Dick Billings' and Ted Ford's hits set up the weird double play. Bill Fahey followed with a looper back to the mound, with plate umpire Bill Haller calling the infield fly rule.

That meant Fahey was automatically out. Perry, not hearing Haller's call, let the ball drop, then grabbed it and raced to third for an attempted force play. And when, in the confusion, Billings assumed he was out on the force and wandered toward the dugout, Perry tagged him for the second out.

Graig Nettles slapped a tiebreaking single in the eighth inning, then pinch-hitter John Brohamer followed with a bases-loaded, three-run double to pave the way to the Indians' victory over Boston.

National League
Eddie Mathews is convinced "we have a better ball club than we've shown, and these guys can do it." The new Atlanta Braves manager admitted he was nervous in his debut as a major league manager Monday night as the Cincinnati Reds bombed him 9-1 on national television.

"I guess it's as good a way to break in as any," said the former Braves third baseman appointed to replace Lumen Harris, who was fired.

It's like the kickoff at a football game."

It was two former Atlanta teammates who did him in, Denis Menke and Joe Morgan who batted in eight of the Reds nine runs between them.

Morgan hit a three-run homer, his 14th of the season, and Menke got two more with a single in the six-run second inning for the Reds, and Mathews had to lift his first pitcher, Ron Reed—9-11.

In the only other National League game Monday night, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Mets 3-2 in 13 innings. Pittsburgh's afternoon game at Montreal was rained out.

The Reds increased their lead to 5½ games with the Houston Astros off Monday. Menke batted in three more runs with his sixth home run of the year in the sixth inning. The Braves managed to break Jim McGlothlin's shutout in the eighth inning on back-to-back errors by Darrel Chaney and Menke.

McGlothlin, who had not started since July 15, was inserted to replace the ailing Gary Nolan. Nolan complained of muscle spasms.

Ted Sizemore's looping leadoff hit in the 13th inning bounced past diving left fielder Cleon Jones for an inside-the-park home run that gave the Cards their victory and dropped the Mets 8½ games back of frontrunning Pittsburgh in the East Division.

Davis Cup Team Turns To Romania

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — The United States Davis Cup tennis team turned its attention toward Romania today and the Challenge Round for the Cup, expecting a tough series from both the Romanian players and the Bucharest crowd.

The Americans defeated Spain 3-2 Monday in an emotion-packed series in Barcelona, where they said the noisy crowd was a problem and hurt their play.

Seven Exempt

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — All but seven of the 150 players who will compete in the 72nd annual U.S. Amateur Golf tournament Aug. 30-Sept. 2 at Charlotte must qualify in sectional rounds next week.

The U.S. Golf Association said Monday that a record field of 2,363 players has entered the preliminaries. Last year, 2,327 golfers competed.

Qualifying play will take place Aug. 14 and 15 at 43 locations across the country. A new champion is assured since Gary Cowan of Canada, winner of last year's event has not entered.

But the British amateur champion, Trevor Homer, is in the field and is one of the players exempt from qualifying. Ben Crenshaw of Austin, Tex., is also in that category.

Advertisers Care

"Have you ever faced the possibility that your country could cease to exist?" is the poser which tops a recent Warner & Swasey Company advertisement in U.S. News & World Report. Some advertisers care about conditions in our country and spend their money on space to present helpful educational information.

Warner & Swasey, which handles productivity equipment and systems in machine tools, textile and construction machinery, presents at the bottom of the page a small photograph of plant equipment and a few cutlines explaining its function, but dominating is a bit of history in answer to the above question. Read, then ask, "Can it happen here?"

Nations richer and more powerful in their day than we are in this, have been sabotaged, defeated, enslaved. Babylon was the largest and richest nation of its time, but its lust for luxury made it an easy mark for the Medes and Persians who overran and divided its land and enslaved people between them.

Rome was a greater military power than we ever were, but when free bread and circuses became more important to the people than hard work and patriotism, Rome was invaded and looted by the tougher Vandals.

A strong talking point for patriots can be cited in the communists' breaking of still another treaty when they crossed the DMZ with an all-out invasion of South Vietnam by Soviet-armed regular army divisions. The Reds had been breaking their treaty, signed in July of 1954, since before the ink was dry. All this time they have denied any invasion across the DMZ. The North Vietnamese and their Soviet allies deny any other breaking of the treaty, and although they still deny that any North Vietnamese troops have attacked in South Vietnam, the evidence is so great that it is hardly worthy of denial.

Red China, Soviet Russia, France and England drafted and agreed to the 1954 original truce agreement which cut Vietnam in two and set up the DMZ. Neither north nor south was to put any troops or military installations in the 6-mile-wide DMZ. The U.S. did not sign the pact and sought no territorial gains. We sought only to keep South Vietnam from being overrun.

The Reds immediately violated their half of the 6 miles, and when the U.S. Marines were first put into South Vietnam to prevent an invasion from the north, the North Vietnamese Reds moved in and fired across the DMZ from the southern half of the zone. Our Marines for a time were prevented from firing back into the DMZ at the communist troops shelling them from there.

The Incas were the most civilized, richest people in the Americas, but ruthless, better-armed invaders destroyed them as a nation, and looted everything they owned and had spent generations in creating.

"In every case it was the self-indulgent weakness of the victim which made the victory of the invader easy.

"How strong is a nation which allows foreign competitors to capture the world leadership from one after another of its most vital industries?"

"How wise is a nation which gives away so much of its substance abroad and at home that it can no longer afford to keep up its own strength and protection?"

"How intelligent is a nation more careful to protect the criminal than his victim?"

"How weak is a nation which allows bureaucracy and a socialist philosophy to run riot and squander billions?"

"Undoubtedly there were Babylonians, Romans, Incas who warned against overindulgence and weakness, who warned that each citizen is responsible for his nation, and that that responsibility cannot be shrugged off into officials. But to those who warned of impending trouble there was then as now the smug sneer, 'It can't happen here.'"

"But it did."

Republicans Optimistic On Illinois

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Sen. George McGovern's field forces are putting out a huge effort in Illinois, but Republicans are more optimistic about winning it handily this fall than at any time since the Eisenhower days.

At stake, of course, are 26 electoral votes. President Nixon won them in 1968 by a margin of 135,000 popular votes. Illinois has not been on the losing side in a national election since 1916.

McGovern made sure of getting attention for his Illinois endeavors when he chose as his state manager a now-celebrated 26-year-old Nebraska farm boy, Gene Pokorny.

This soft-spoken young man is widely accepted as the organizational mastermind who shaped McGovern's watershed victory in the Wisconsin primary this April. Pokorny bears the "new politics" label. But he really thinks of himself as one who basically just tries to practice the old politics well.

In an interview (one of a dozen or more from his first few days on the job in Chicago), he said:

"It's a very simple process. There's nothing fancy about it."

The "process," he outlines is indeed old-fashioned. It starts with planting store-front offices (perhaps 150 in Illinois). Then follows a heavy voter registration effort, the identifying of McGovern voters, the attempt to win fence-sitters, and the business of getting them to the polls on election day.

Pokorny and his aides have to refine their lists yet, but he thinks he may have 25,000 or more volunteers to do these jobs.

He's going to make an extraordinary effort in down-state areas and in the burgeoning Chicago suburbs, where Democrats usually have not done much organizing. The judgment is that the suburbs particularly may be a swing zone where a good showing is vital to any hopes of victory.

The value of this territory would be underscored if there were any fall-off in the usually large Democratic margin in Mayor Richard Daley's Chicago. Daley has given his good-soldier endorsement of the McGovern ticket. But doubts continue as to how full-hearted his organization's city effort will be, and how effective Pokorny's young stalwarts can be if they have to try to make up for noncooperation by some of Daley's men at the precinct level.

As if the Daley matter were not enough, Pokorny will find Illinois Republicans more hopped up for Nixon than in 1960 or 1968.

The GOP Illinois managers I talked to won't use figures, but they insist they're mounting a pretty sizable organizational force of their own. One top figure said it was the biggest in his memory.

These people aren't at all complacent. Yet they feel Pokorny and his counterparts in the McGovern setup made their spring primary scores in at least partial vacuums in state after state. They think the young man is going to get something of a shock when he encounters the offsetting political force they say they are generating.

Told of Pokorny's eager plans for the suburbs, one GOP leader said:

"It's not going to work out quite that way."

The leader thought a moment and added:

"We've got a very healthy situation for Nixon in Illinois. Our people are fired up. Their spirit is better and they have greater zeal than ever. They're tired of seeing Nixon get beat over the head."

Illinois is big league. We'll soon see if Pokorny can play there.

Paul Harvey News Equal Rights? Women In Trenches Not New

It was a bitter debate which lasted late in Kentucky's legislature before those lawmakers voted to ratify the constitutional amendment guaranteeing equal everything for women.

Within minutes the HIS sign on the men's room door had been changed to OURS.

SAs more states consider ratification of the so-called Equal-Rights-for-Women Amendment, those opposed emphasize two objections; that this will segregate public toilets and send women soldiers into combat.

"For an admitted reactionary who prefers women to be ultimately feminine, it's painful to picture women in the trenches.

But it's nothing new. Since Molly Pitcher took her place beside the cannon of the American Colonies, it's been nothing new.

The leader of the wildest, most brutal bunch of bomb-slinging, bloodthirsty anarchists in West Germany is Ulrike Meinhof, 37, female.

So women are capable of combat. Policewomen in many American cities are now trained in judo, karate and catch-as-catch-can grappling.

H.L. Hunt Writes

HOPE FOR SOUTH VIETNAM?

The Administration has steadily reduced the strength of U.S. fighting forces in South Vietnam, on the grounds that Vietnamization of the war would put a stop to communist aggression. But the massive Soviet-backed invasion of South Vietnam has shown that the U.S. has not done enough to strengthen its ally to resist communist attack.

Military experts, however, have pointed out that steps could be taken which would strengthen the South Vietnamese position without committing additional U.S. troops. Mining the port of Haiphong was a step in the right direction, but it is not enough.

Air strikes should be directed toward military targets, such as military storage areas, air bases, bridges and similar installations which enable the North Vietnamese to carry on aggression. If the bombs were directed strictly toward military targets, communist strength could be crippled without undue loss of life.

The U.S. could train and equip South Vietnamese forces for an amphibious attack on North Vietnam. The communists have operated under the assumption that their territory will remain safe from land counterattack no matter what outrages they inflicted on South Vietnam. Such a policy has made it much easier for the North Vietnamese to carry on aggressive warfare.

We should equip the South Vietnamese forces with sufficient weapons and ammunition. Especially needed in view of the nature of the communist invasion are modern anti-tank weapons. If Vietnamization is to be successful, our government must be willing to make sure that our ally has the resources to carry on the fight.

Your Health

Weight Training Can Be Helpful

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Several Tests Determine TB

Dear Dr. Lamb—Can you tell me what tests can be taken for tuberculosis besides chest X rays to determine whether a case is arrested or active?

Dear Reader—Chest X rays certainly help. In addition, skin testing is thought to be important by some doctors in assessing the status of tuberculosis and, of course, there are numerous cultures that can be taken. One of the most common of these is to collect sputum specimens and then samples of the sputum are streaked over a culture medium (the food material for the bacteria) and set away to see if germs will grow.

Basically, you could almost say that the bacteria are planted like seeds and then you wait to see if they grow out. If there is no growth you assume there weren't any seeds, or in this case no bacteria.

In addition to the frequent sputum samples for tuberculosis cultures, blood cultures can be taken and the urine can be tested. The urine is often tested to see if the tuberculosis involves the kidney.

Incidentally, tuberculosis can involve other parts of the body besides the lungs and for this reason X rays of other parts of the body are sometimes helpful, including those of the skeleton. Principally by the use of cultures and X rays one can determine fairly accurately whether a case of tuberculosis is truly active or not.

Dear Dr. Lamb—When I was 18 my family doctor found a heart murmur. He sent me to a heart specialist who took some tests and said it wasn't serious. Then three years later, I went to another doctor and he discovered that the heart murmur was caused by pulmonary stenosis and said I should be checked every six months. He thinks it should be getting better, but it remains the same. Can you enlighten me further to explain what this is?

Dear Reader—If that indeed is what you have, it's a defect that you were born with. The blood that flows out from the right muscular chamber of the heart is pumped to the lungs for oxygenation. The entire amount of our oxygenated blood must go to the lungs through the pulmonary artery. If there is an obstruction to the outflow of blood to the pulmonary artery it is called pulmonary stenosis. The obstruction can be of the pulmonary valve itself or it can involve the overgrowth of the heart muscle tissue at the outlet below the pulmonary valve.

If surgery is needed the surgeon simply enters the heart and opens the obstructed valve or cuts away the excess muscular tissue directly underneath the valve. These operations have been done for many years and are highly successful. Of course, if the obstruction is minimal, then you don't need to have the surgery.

Viet Skyjackets Trying To Get Back into U.S.

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—There is an unreported sequel to that recent skyjacking by a South Vietnamese studying in this country which tells a great deal about a little-known foreign aid program that costs U.S. taxpayers some $43 million annually to provide free schooling and training for foreign youths.

This fiscal year, around 14,000 from 87 so-called "developing" Asian, African and Latin American countries are studying at 382 U.S. universities and colleges at U.S. taxpayer expense.

Well-intentioned as this $43 million aid program is, there is disturbing evidence it is being grossly misused and abused.

An increasing number of these foreign students are deliberately violating and ignoring explicit terms of their generous educational grants—many engaging in leftist and other hostile agitation and activities against both the U.S. and their own governments.

The irrational case of Nguyen Thai Binh, the skyjacker, and six other South Vietnamese students is a graphic instance in point.

Selected for scholarships in this country, at a cost to the U.S. of more than $3,000 each a year, they took to demonstrating and fulminating against Washington and Saigon policies—with a distinct Vietcong undertone to their opposition. Binh, slain following his armed demand to be flown to Hanoi, had previously been arrested on criminal trespass charges in New York when he led a demonstration that forcibly occupied South Vietnamese government offices there.

The scholarships of Binh and the other six malcontent students were cancelled, and they were ordered to return to Vietnam.

None have—and haven't the slightest intention of doing so. Binh was shot, after mindlessly endangering a plane load of men, women and children. Of the six others, one is still living comfortably in the U.S. (thanks to church, pacifist and anti-war elements) while seeking "political asylum."

The other five skipped to Ottawa where the height of irony and gall—they have applied for new visas to come to the U.S. as foreign students on their own. In that status, they would not be bound by the conditions and restrictions of the foreign student aid program. They would be free to go their own way—which in their case presumably would mean to do as much dissident agitation as aliens can legally get away with.

Gaping Loophole

That they can come back to the U.S. despite their troubling background is due to a big defect in the law.

The law does not bar re-entry to foreign students whose scholarships were cut off for cause and their visas cancelled—effect, expelled from the U.S. Under the law, they can return to the U.S. if (1) they present proof they can support themselves or will be supported and (2) have been accepted as a student by some educational institution.

With various do-gooder, pacifist, leftist and anti-Vietnam elements on tap to provide such support, these dissident young aliens have little difficulty finding their way back here.

That's what the Ottawa five are in the process of finagling. The State Department is trying to plug up this gaping loophole by notifying U.S. consular officials in Canada not to issue visas to these ousted South Vietnamese students.

Whether this belated stopgap succeeds is conjectural.

State Department authorities admit they are far from sure it will. They point out consular offices have to handle hundreds of visas, and these five could slip through.

So it will be no surprise if they soon again pop up on a U.S. campus to resume Vietcongish yacking and yammering.

Longtime Project

Since the start of the student-aid program, as part of the original Marshall Plan, more than 150,000 youths over 100 "developing" countries have been enabled to get college educations and other training in this country.

Of the 7,198 new students admitted this fiscal year—2,282 are from East Asia and South Vietnam; 2,752 from Latin America; 1,390 from the Middle East and South Asia; 774 from Africa. Some have grants for a full four years' schooling, others for shorter periods.

Average grant is around $1,500, although many run as high as $15,000. That's what the seven ousted Vietnamese had.

This fiscal year, Brazil, with 738 nationals, far exceeds the number of students participants from Latin America. Colombia is next with 296. From East Asia, Thailand has the largest number with 673. South Vietnam next with 632. Laos 345 and South Korea 149. Nigeria and Ethiopia lead the African contingent with 152 and 109 respectively.

There is an element of irony in the Middle East picture. Despite President Anwar Sadat's constant anti-U.S. carping, 16 Egyptian students are studying in this country under foreign aid grants.

And they aren't the only Arabs doing so. Following is the list they carefully never say anything about—89 from Jordan; 34 from Lebanon; 28 from Saudi Arabia; one from Iraq; four from Arabian peninsula states.

In striking contrast to this sizeable contingent from Arab countries, Israel has only one participant.

India, which also is given to frequent bellyaching about the U.S., has a large number of students in the U.S. under scholarship grants—355 this fiscal year. Participants from Pakistan number 188.

Empty Boast

The following is a revealing illustration of how taxpayers' money is squandered by so-called liberal and reform members of Congress: Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., avowed Marxist and Black Panther supporter, who affects a bush haircut and mod attire, filled four pages of the Congressional Record (at $140 a page) with a list of bills he has introduced since coming to Congress last year. In an introductory note he says he did this "at the request of many of my constituents"—which may or may not be so.

The significant fact (which Dellums carefully does not mention) is that not one of these measures has seen the light of day since he introduced them. Without exception they are all empty gestures—not worth the paper they are printed on at taxpayers' expense. All are forgotten and ignored in committee pigeonholes.

They are just so much political grandstanding and hogwash to bamboozle his constituents.
