Kennedy Is Urged to 'Clarify' Position On The Proposed Soviet Wheat 'Deal'

City Manager Gets Confidence Vote

Mayor H. R. Thompson, opened today's city commission meeting with a vote of confidence for City Manager Harold Schmitzer. The vote was three to two, with commissioners L. P. Fort and Leon Holmes opposing.

Thompson told the commission: "I have something that I want to bring before the commission for their consideration. There have been some statements made in our last two meetings that in my opinion would tend to be embarrassing to our city manager and I would like to see them corrected and I would like to see them corrected."

Thompson said that he had been in the city manager's office and had seen the city manager's reports. He said that he had been in the city manager's office and had seen the city manager's reports. He said that he had been in the city manager's office and had seen the city manager's reports.

Commissioner Fort also recommended that a bulletin board be installed listing items the city will open bids on to everyone, including local suppliers will be informed.

He asked the city manager how many bids were received on purchasing $1000 worth of fire hose for the city and was told "three" by S. S. Rubber Co., Ureka Fire hose and I don't remember the other one."

Fort then asked Schmitzer if it was a firm in Lufkin?

Answer: "Oh, yes."

Fort replied "I know he was a friend of yours and am informed that the local suppliers were not informed on the chance to bid on supplying the hose. They have said they would have been glad to bid and to comply with a regulations proposed."

He then asked Schmitzer "What else the city has bought from Lufkin?"

Schmitzer replied, "nothing."

Fort suggested it would be a better policy to give local people the chance to bid.

It seems the city manager calls up his own friends when bids are to be opened, and does not give local suppliers a chance." Fort said.

Fort also asked, "if it was not correct that the small animal control man had orders from the Commission?"

Lloyd Collis of White Deer was listed in good condition late this forenoon according to authorities in Highland General Hospital, after being involved in a two-pickup collision approximately three miles west of Pampa on U.S. 152.

The accident occurred shortly after 7:40 a.m. today according to investigating Highway Patrolman Lawrence Macha.

Macha said, "The pickup driven by Lee Edward Eslick of Pampa apparently went out of control and went into a broad side skid in front of Collis who was driving east toward Pampa."

Collis was rushed to Highland General Hospital in a Duken-Carmichael ambulance following the collision.

The pickup driven by Collis skidded approximately 30 feet before it turned over and landed back on its wheels, Macha said.

According to Les Kreis, a witness of the accident, as the pickup turned over, the glass of the windshield shattered and shot across the pavement some 60 feet.

Eslick's pickup skidded approximately 250 feet before going into a spin.

Council Takes 'Great' Step Toward Unity

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Ecumenical Council gave "nearly unanimous" preliminary approval today to a document that could mark a great step toward Christian unity.

During a three-hour session, 2,300 Roman Catholic prelates ruled that the proposal "De Ecclesia" about the church was fit for further debate.

Authoritative sources said the council "will now begin a point-by-point discussion." The Latin debate may go on for weeks before there is a final vote.

The document goes a long way towards exposing the cherished Protestant doctrine of "the priesthood of all believers."

There was no immediate official communique or press briefing. Official details of today's session probably will be given out later in the afternoon.

The Ecumenical Council press office announced the preliminary approval of the draft. It said there were 2,301 voters, of which 2,231 voted for the schema, 43 against, and 27 votes were annulled.

Majority Far Exceeded

A spokesman said the needed majority was 50 per cent plus one of the voting fathers, which was far exceeded. The question, (See UNITY, Page 3)

Christine Faces Pre-Trial Hearing

LONDON (UPI) — Christine Keeler, the red-haired girl whose affair set off Britain's sex-and-security scandal, has a pre-trial hearing Wednesday on charges of helping to frame one of her Jamaican lovers.

Miss Keeler, 21, was the mistress of former War Minister John Profumo, who resigned in disgrace after admitting he lied to Parliament about the affair.

She is charged with perjury and conspiring to obtain the assault conviction of Jamaican jockey Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon. Gordon was sentenced to three years in jail last June, largely because of Miss Keeler's testimony that he beat and kicked her.

Gordon claimed he was being framed as a cover-up for a prominent person.

Keeler was Dismissed

The sentence was dismissed on appeal on the basis of secret new testimony which has never been revealed to the public.

Christine's roommate, Paula Hamilton-Marshall, 24, and her housekeeper, Mrs. Olive Brooker, 56, also testified against Gordon

Government's Decision Will Be Forthcoming

By BERNARD BRENNER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ten Republican wheat state congressmen urged President Kennedy today to "clarify" his position on the prospect to sell U.S. surplus wheat to Russia.

The legislator's wire to Kennedy came after three cabinet-level officials endorsed the transaction at a meeting with the Senate Foreign Relations and Agriculture Committees.

Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman, Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges and Under Secretary of State George W. Ball told the senators at a closed-door session that the administration would decide within the next few days whether to allow private U.S. wheat traders to sell to the Russians.

The 10 congressmen asked Kennedy what diplomatic pressure the United States could apply to other free world countries trading with Cuba or other Communist nations if the U.S.-Russian wheat deal went through. "Will such a sale to Russia impair the present policy of containment in Cuba?" they asked.

They also asked what the future U.S. policy would be toward Red China, Communist North Viet Nam and Cuba should those nations offer gold or dollars for wheat or any other surplus farm products.

"As representatives of wheat-producing areas, we shall appreciate answers to the questions raised. Without specific information it is difficult for us and the many farmers we represent to make a proper appraisal," they said.

The 10 signing the telegram were: Reps. Robert J. Dolé, Garner E. Shriver, Joe Skubitz and Robert F. Ellsworth, all of Kansas; Albert H. Quin and Odin Langen, both of Minnesota; Don L. Short of North Dakota; Benjamin Reifel of South Dakota; Donald G. Brotzman of Colorado, and Catherine May of Washington.

Wheat sale to Russia could be carried out without specific congressional approval, but Kennedy's advisers have been consulting at length with the House and Senate committees involved.

Administration officials also have been discussing the proposal with American wheat traders and farm organizations. But a State Department spokesman stressed that the United States still had not received a formal request to license a special wheat sale.

During the Senate committee hearing, Freeman and Hodges endorsed the sale and Ball gave "qualified support" after outlining at length arguments for and against it.

Soviet Wheat Is 'Down'

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, admitting that bad weather has put Soviet agricultural production in a "rather difficult position," today continued his trouble-shooting tour of the state-run farms.

No figures have been released on the size of this year's wheat harvest, but the Soviet purchase of 7 million tons of wheat from Canada indicates it will be at least that much short of the 147 million tons harvested last year.

(Congressional sources in Washington said the Soviets are interested in buying an additional 3 million tons of American wheat.)

Urged Utmost Efforts

Khrushchev, who has given a great deal of advice and countless directives to the farmers and officials on the collective and state farms, urged them again Monday to make the "utmost efforts" to make up for the poor harvest.

The main way to do this, he said, was for Russia to manufacture and the farmers to use as much chemical fertilizer as the United States does. Soviet production last year reached 35 million tons, the same as U.S. production now, and 100 million tons by 1970.

Khrushchev, whose remarks to peasants in the Ukrainian town of Novaya Kakhovka were published in Monday's Izvestia, said irrigation also had high priority.

He called for more irrigation systems and the training of special Steppes workers in the field.

In Bad Position

"This year weather conditions were unfavorable and we found ourselves in a rather difficult position, and must draw the necessary conclusions," Khrushchev said.

He called for measures "to safeguard us against any eventualities." As one of these measures, he urged an increase of grain production in the Hungarian Steppes, where there are large-scale irrigation projects.

By raising more grain in this area of Kazakhstan and Uzbekistan, he said, the nation would have a kind of insurance, a "guaranteed fund" in grain.

California's Heat-Wave Over

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A siege of heat that kept temperatures above the 100-degree mark in most of southern California for five straight days apparently had ended today.

Cool ocean breezes rolled inland from the coast dropping temperatures 14 degrees in Los Angeles yesterday — down to a "cool" 88 from Sunday's 102. The hottest it got in Los Angeles during the five days was a 100 on Thursday.

Weather forecasters expected continued cooling for the rest of the week. A maximum of 83 — still above normal — was the forecast for Los Angeles today.

The normally cool beach areas welcomed the night and morning fog and low clouds that usually persist this time of year.

Weather men credited a high pressure area offshore with forcing cooler air inland to end the hot spell.

Fireball Is Sighted, But Is Not Found

Editor's Note: A Pampa man, Clifford Lewis, 1113 Terrace says, "The fireball story is true." He was traveling west on Highway 142 about a quarter of a mile from the stockyards near Panhandle when, "I saw this object about two inches in diameter, a foot long and real hot with a lot of heat following it. It came down on a terrific speed on 45 degree angle from the south-west and landed just east of the stockyards in high grass. This was around 9:20 Monday morning."

LUBBOCK (UPI) — To some, it looked like a falling airplane. One housewife thought whatever it was had crashed in her backyard.

It turned out to be a brilliant fireball. Astronomers today were studying information of sightings they received on the object.

Castenedo Garcia, a farm worker, saw the fireball first Monday. He left his plowing near Fossil, Tex., and told his neighbor, Cecil Novell, who called Reed A. Fox, a Novell.

A housewife in Seminole — about 100 miles southeast of the Fossil area — told police a flaming object had fallen in her backyard. Neighbors calmed her down and she conceded it might have fallen a mile or more away.

Other witnesses were reported at Rowell, Lovington, Clovis and Hobbs, N. M., and at Reese AFB and the Lubbock Municipal Airport tower.

Astronomers said if the object was a meteor it could have fallen as far away as eastern Arizona.

'Lurid' Account Is Given By Valachi

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gangland tumbler Joseph Valachi today gave Senate investigators a lurid account of underworld intrigue and murder-for-hire in the 1940s. But he insisted his criminal activities involved no police collusion.

Returning to the witness table in the marble-walled Senate Caucus Room, the stubby alumnus of the Cosa Nostra resumed his testimony before the Senate investigations subcommittee. He took up the story of his career in crime where he had abandoned it on Friday.

Police said U.S. marshals were spotted among the spectator area as a part of security precautions to protect Valachi, who is said to have a $100,000 price on his head.

Teenagers Being Held After Long 'Joy-Ride'

HOUSTON (UPI)—Juvenile authorities were holding two Amarillo 14-year-olds yesterday to see what to do with them for taking a luxury auto on a 650-mile lark to the beaches of the Texas coast.

The two were identified as runaways from Cal Farley's Boys Ranch 36 miles north of Amarillo. Sheriff's deputy Edward Krueger said they told him they planned the joyride while on a trip with a group from the ranch to Amarillo.

He said they told him they saw the Cadillac Sept. 18 on an Amarillo car lot, took the keys long enough to make a separate set,

SUCCESS

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Natalie Wood can think of herself as having "arrived" with the announcement that she will be represented in the Movieland Wax Museum in a scene from "West Side Story," and slipped the keys back into the car lot office.

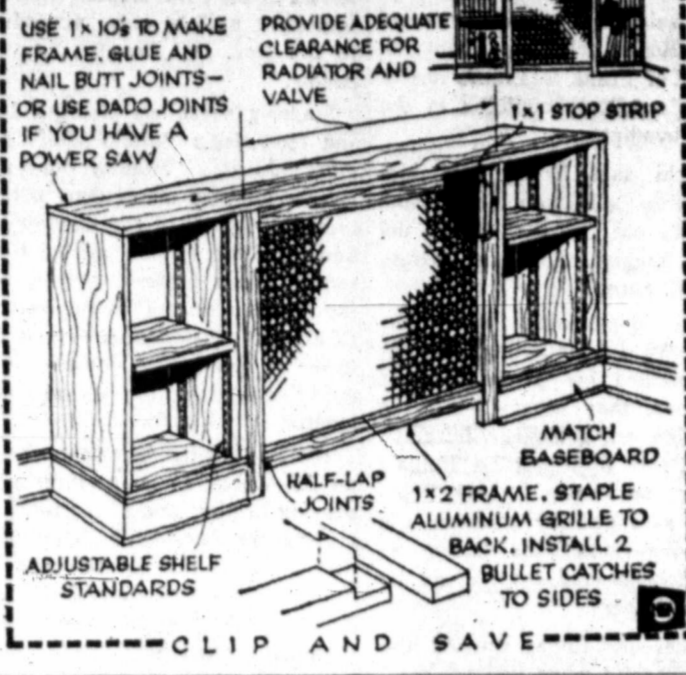

He said they drove the car to Dallas, slipped a checkbook out of a home there and took off for "Six Flags over Texas" amusement park.

They cashed checks and stayed in the "Inn of the Six Flags," Krueger said. Then they went to Galveston, Seabrook and Baytown before a cruising club operator they asked for a job became suspicious and turned them in.

Authorities will decide whether to return them to the custody of the ranch or request detention for the car theft.

Tape Recorders Aid Cops, JD Workers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Magnetic recording tape is becoming an important part of the law enforcement arsenal.

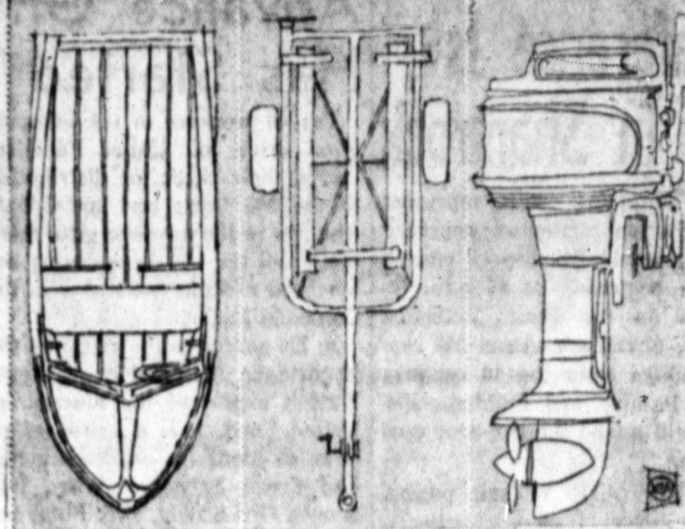

This thin little electronic device, a quarter-inch to two inches wide, is used in New York state to record automobile license data, in Indiana by the State Police to record explanations of traffic accidents or violations, and by Harvard University to reduce youth crime by letting juvenile delinquents air their grievances into a tape recorder.

And recently the sound of $20,000 in crisp new bills was heard over a tape recorder during a bribery and conspiracy trial in New York city hotel room. The highpoint of the recording was the alleged counting of $100 bills set the television set as the money audibly scratched from inches away into the sensitive microphone.

Indiana State Police, in cooperation with the 3M Company, tape manufacturers, produce a weekly radio show, "Signal 10," based on 25-minute collections of interviews by state policemen with drivers involved in traffic accidents or stopped for traffic violations.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst

Perhaps not since the weeks immediately following the end of World War II has world diplomacy hung as now in such a state of suspended animation.

The cold war is still with us and major issues remain but new elements have entered the picture to obscure the once sharp lines dividing the world into two camps.

The Communist world has discovered there is no such thing as coequal dictators and the struggle for leadership has divided the Soviet Union and Red China.

Changes also have come to the Western world, once secure in its Atlantic Pact and aiming toward a united Europe spurred by the impetus of a new prosperity under the European Common Market.

So neither the Communist world nor Western Europe are quite sure where they are going, and for the United States the direction each finally will take is a matter of vital concern.

Within the broad framework, other elements also are bringing about changes.

Stronger Socialist Voice
 In Europe there has been the gradual decline of the conservative parties which for years have ruled the destinies of the major powers and a stronger voice for socialism in Britain, West Germany and Italy.

President Charles de Gaulle of France stands almost alone as a towering remnant of the past.

And it is the collision between this towering remnant of the past and what other western leaders regard as the course of the future which today leads to a re-assessment of Western policy, military, economic and political.

Still another force at work is the growing industrial might of nations now fully recovered from the damages of war.

As industries of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany reach or surpass the ability to over-produce, they look longingly at markets within the Soviet Union. Similarly, Japan looks upon Red China.

Review U.S. Policies
 And, agriculturally, as both Canada and Australia profit from wheat sales to the Soviet Union and Red China, the United States is led to review its own policies.

The challenges which produced the Sino-Soviet break and uncertainties in the Western world have had other side effects, which scarcely seemed possible as recently as a year ago.

Lady Archeologist Makes Rare Find

By RAY MOSELEY
United Press International
ROME (UPI) — At some time in the Middle Ages, people living in a village northwest of Rome apparently found the remains of a small Etruscan temple and with the religious intolerance typical of the period, proceeded to destroy it.

They threw everything that was left of the temple into a well and sealed it with huge stone blocks. It stayed that way until Dr. Lucia Portoghesi, slim, dark-haired young archeologist, brought out a crew of workmen recently and dug up two of the most interesting items of Etruscan art found in modern times.

They are frescoes of Etruscan warriors and dancers, painted on terra cotta about 2,500 years ago. Dr. Portoghesi, who works for the Superintendent of Antiquities of Southern Etruria, said the style of painting is completely different than that of other Etruscan funerary art found previously in the same area.

Dr. Portoghesi made her discoveries at Ceri, a few miles from Cerveteri, the famous burial site of the mysterious Etruscan peoples, where extensive excavations were carried out in the 1930s.

By contrast with these works, Dr. Portoghesi said, the paintings she found have a greater pictorial quality and greater vivacity of content.

"The well already had been violated by clandestine diggers when we began our excavation," she said, "but fortunately a considerable strata of animal bones discouraged them and we were able to reach several stratum that were very rich archeologically."

"In the upper stratum we found tiles and fragments of painted stone. In the lower stratum, blocks of tufa, a frame that evidently encircled the sacrificial altar and, on the bottom, in a sandy strata, tiles and cups. Practically all of the little temple that had been, was contained in the wells."

NEW ASTRONAUT
EVREUX, France (UPI)—U.S. Air Force Capt. Ernest Hasselbrink of Elbridge, N.Y., has been selected for space training as an astronaut. The Air Force announced Saturday. Hasselbrink is currently assigned to a transport unit at the U.S. airbase here.

Dr. Portoghesi, who directs her digging crew in slacks and blouse, now is trying to locate the original foundation of the little temple. For Etruscologists, excavation work is a matter of a race with clandestine diggers, and the professionals frequently lose out.

An incalculable amount of Etruscan treasures has been lost to Italy by people digging them up and selling them in violation of the law.

FOOLER—Slice of jet-age skyline is from Mexico City, rising from a valley that was once a lake bed. On the city's outskirts Toltec Pyramids of the Aztecs provide contrast to the 20th century architecture.

SHIELD OF SECURITY—Enrollment in the nation's Blue Shield plans topped the 50-million mark in 1962. This was more than one-fourth the total U.S. population. (Blue Shield, which sometimes goes by different names in various communities, provides surgical insurance while Blue Cross covers hospital expenses.) Among Blue Shield subscribers, about 3.5 million persons were 65 or over.

GOOD TEACHERS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Good teachers are "very unusual people," says John H. Fischer, president of Teachers College, Columbia University. The qualities of good teachers are listed in Dr. Fischer's new report, "The Shape of Education." He reports the good teacher is alive with living thoughts, has the ability to work responsibly, respects imagination and is concerned with the creative capacities of human beings.

LBJ Speaks At Jasper Outing
JASPER, Tex. (UPI)— Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said Sunday the present generation of Americans "has too much to win and too much to lose to be turned away from the straight and sure course of national success by divisions of partisan pettiness." "There are among us some few who would deny us the pride and gratification of being Americans," Johnson said. "They would have us doubt. They would have us disbelieve. They would have us face the future with fear and trembling." He said "it is the man who works for unity — not the man who seeks to exploit disunity — who serves you best and serves your country's cause most of all." Johnson spoke at an outing given by Rep. Jack Brooks, D. Tex.

$2 Billion a Year Spent on Funerals

EDITOR'S NOTE: In 1960, Americans spent more money to bury their dead than they did on higher education. Following is the first of three dispatches examining the modern funeral business and explaining why the cost of dying is increasing at a faster rate than the cost of living.

By CHARLES H. WILSON JR.
United Press International

The majestic pyramids of Egypt stand as one of history's notable monuments to extravagance in death. But Americans, today, are dying and being buried at a cost that would stagger even King Tut.

One author, Jessica Mitford, who did an exhaustive study of American funeral practices, estimated from U.S. Department of Commerce figures that $2 billion was spent in this country in 1960 to bury 1.7 million dead.

That figure exceeded total personal expenditures the same year for higher education for 3.6 million students ($1.9 billion), for dental care (also $1.9 billion), for police protection ($1.8 billion) and for fire protection ($1 billion).

An interesting contrast can be made between the cost of living and the cost of dying. U.S. Department of Labor statistics reveal that the cost of living rose 71.9 per cent from 1944 to 1962.

The cost of the regular adult funeral jumped almost 100 per cent during the same period. In dollars-and-cents terms, the regular adult funeral cost $380 in 1944. That same funeral cost $755 last year.

Those figures do not tell the whole story, for the funeral cost includes only those goods and services provided by the mortician. Burial, flowers and other costs are separate items and can at least double the cost of dying.

The $755 figure for the regular adult funeral in 1962 was supplied by the National Funeral Directors Association (NFDA). Yet it is a figure that is hotly disputed by morticians themselves.

Funeral directors argue they can supply a "decent" funeral to fit any budget. An informal United Press International survey of 18 major cities across the country confirmed that.

The survey revealed that a complete funeral is available in most areas for as low as $150. But, for a person carried away with the "you can't take it with you" philosophy, funerals ranging from $5,000 to $20,000 and more are also available.

Between those extremes, the $755 average supplied by the NFDA appears to be a reasonable starting point for discussing what has become the third or fourth largest expense faced by a family, exceeded only by the home, car and children's education.

And it is an expense that most families will experience more than once.

Burying the dead has become big business in the United States. One Wyoming mortician, who is described as a small-volume operator, said he must gross $12,000 a month just to meet costs. Increasingly common is the chain operation in which a single firm owns several funeral homes in an area.

With added volume have come changing images and business practices. No longer is the funeral home a dreary building hidden discreetly among the trees.

The funeral home or chapel of today is modern in architecture, painted brightly and surrounded by rich green lawns and unrippled pools.

Mortician's trade magazines exhort their readers to watch their language. Death is a taboo word; "expired" is preferred. You do not buy a casket; you "make an investment in a service." The death certificate becomes a "vital statistics form" and the casket is placed in a "slumber room," not a laying-out room.

Funeral directors have mastered modern sales techniques. And they maintain lobbyists to protect their sizable economic interests before state legislatures.

One example of the funeral lobby's effectiveness is cited in Miss Mitford's new book, "The American Way of Death."

A highly critical article on funeral practices appeared in Collier's magazine in May, 1961. The article stirred the wrath of funeral directors and prompted an investigation by the California legislature.

When the investigating committee issued its report in 1953, it found nothing to criticize in the funeral industry. In fact the report praised funeral directors for their devotion to "the public interest."

That seemed to exonerate the funeral industry — until Miss Mitford uncovered a letter written by J. Wilfred Corr, then executive secretary of the California Funeral Directors Association, to Wilber

Krieger, managing director of the National Selected Morticians.

In the letter Corr recounted how two of his associates had written the report and how he had "engineered" the acceptance of the report by the investigating committee.

Critics of the funeral industry concede that its share of unscrupulous operators is roughly proportionate to that found in other business. Most morticians observe the general ethical standards set down by their national associations.

But funeral costs are high. And, since death costs are something that few individuals plan for, the fact of high costs is something the average person is not aware of until he is actually faced with buying a funeral.

Dietetic Dr Pepper has a deep fruit blended taste that's not a cola, not a root beer. And best of all Dietetic Dr Pepper has only 1/3 calorie per ounce. Enjoy sparkling Dietetic Dr Pepper often in returnable bottles or disposable cans.

At-Home In Corduroy

At-home wear is a new category in the clothes life of American women. Hostess costume (left) is red, white and blue print done on velvety wide wale corduroy. Equally at home in the boudoir or by the fireside is the pale blue pin-wale ensemble (center). The flaring tunic top, gilt-buttoned, is enhanced with golden ropes. An at-home gown that can easily go out to a party (right) has red basket-weave knit sleeveless top and red and white printed wide wale skirt.

W.M.S. Officers of First Baptist Church Are Installed During Meeting

New officers of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church were installed recently during a meeting held in the church parlor.

The installing officer was Mrs. O. N. Wells who used the theme, "Love, Love for God and Our Fellow Man."

The women were urged to use the tools that they have on hand to do their job as they would do to do their jobs around their homes.

New officers are Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, president; Mrs. Jack White, enlistment chairman; Mrs. L. V. Hopp, treasurer; Mrs. Paul Turner, secretary; Mrs. Charles Miller, stewardship; Mrs. Carroll

Ray, publication; Mrs. Lida Ramsay, program chairman; Mrs. C. F. Crowson, community missions; Mrs. W. C. Erwin, publicity; Mrs. John Gikas, prayer chairman; Mrs. Louis Tarpley, social chairman; Mrs. H. B. Taylor, mission study; Mrs. C. V. Forsman, chorister; Mrs. Bob Allen, and pianist; Mrs. E. D. Carver.

Circle chairmen installed were

Mrs. Zoe Ackerman, M. F. Williamson, R. L. McDonald, Lida Ramsay, Yan Mills, E. E. Brown, W. R. Morrison, Larry Anderson and Lurline Bowman.

The Y.W.A. directors are Mmes. Gordon Bayless and Melvin Bailey. The G.A. director is Mrs. W. B. Franklin, and the councilors are Mmes. George Henderson, Sid Harrison, Joe Boyd, J. C. Sheppard, Thomas Stewart, and Paul Barrett.

The Sunbeam co-ordinators are Mmes. Wayne St. Clair, Jerry Lunsford, John Smith, Jimmy Tucker, Tommy Burns and Bob Price.

Following the program, coffee and doughnuts were served from a table centered with arrangement of fall flowers.

New Club Year Launched by PEO

Chapter C. S. of P. E. O. met recently for a summer review and planning session of the coming club year.

The theme was "Tradewinds - Echoes of Summer". Travel posters were attached to the fence in the backyard of the home of Mrs. William E. West, 2109 Hamilton, where the meeting was held, to make a pathway to the patio meeting place. Mmes. John Gill, Walt Bailey, Murray Castleberry and Given Vance entertained the group with a hula dance in keeping with the Hawaiian setting. Members reviewed individual activities of the summer. Hostesses for the event were Mmes. William E. West, John Gill, Melvin Stephens and LeRoy Jacobs.

During the short business meeting, members voted to hold a rummage sale Nov. 1 and Nov. 2. Mrs. W. E. West, yearbook chairman, presented each member with a yearbook following the theme, "Cook's Tour".

The members and one guest, Mrs. John Brewer, received leis. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. W. R. Harden, Oct. 8 at 7:30 p.m. with the program, "Paris - Fall Fashions".

D.M.F. Auxiliary Holds Salad Supper

A salad supper was held by the D. M. F. Auxiliary of Cities Service Gas Co. in the Hospitality Room of Citizens Bank recently. Hostesses for the event were Mmes. James Bowen, Ernie Mesneak, Dave Kerns and Charles Tate.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Bowen. Attending were Mmes. Joe E. Hood, W. H. Scherer, Bob Brandon, Ray Sutton, Sam B. Goodan, Clyde Martin, Jerry Blanton, Ralph Wilson, R. E. Paxon, Ed Wiens, H. H. Kessinger and Mrs. Dick Brown, introduced as a new member. Visitors attending were Charles Tate Jr. and Cynthia Carnes.

Dear Abby... There's A Reason For This Action... Find It

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have three children. A boy of 20, and two girls, 16 and 13. I am at my wits' end with the boy. He graduated from high school two years ago and has been sitting home ever since. He never goes out. He has no friends and says he doesn't want any. He sits in the house all day watching television and complaining about the meals. He is always criticizing me and picking on his sisters. Nothing is wrong with him. He is big, strong and healthy. I tried to get him to join the Army or get a job but he threatens to hit me if I don't quit nagging him. My husband is dead. What should I do?

DEAR WITS' END: A 20-year-old is not a BOY, he is a MAN—or should be. Your son could be lazy, spoiled or sick. It is not normal for a "strong, healthy" man to withdraw from society and vegetate. You can find out what ails him by getting him to a doctor.

DEAR ABBY: Recently our bridge club met at the home of one of the members. I won first prize and another woman won second prize. When we opened our prizes hers was so superior to the little doodad that I won for first prize that I felt terribly cheated. Everyone present commented on the nice prize she had won. Don't you think the winner of the second prize should have said, "There must be some mistake"?

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Not necessarily. If the hostess, who had bought the prizes, did not indicate that a "mistake" had been made, perhaps there was no mistake. If I were you, I'd forget it.

DEAR ABBY: To "Insulted" whose guests complained about the temperature in her home. A very witty friend of mine recently bought a large home. When I complained that I was chilly, she left the room and returned with her gas bill in one hand and a sweater in the other. She said, "Here, put this on and shut up!" Personally, I thought it was hilarious.

DEAR SHERMAN OAKS: I'm glad you thought it was hilarious. A sweater wouldn't have helped me much in a large chilly room. I'd have requested an electric blanket—but then she'd probably have shown me her electric bill.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARK: Milk is not that cheap any more. You'd be ahead to buy the cow.

TOT Garden Club To Have Workshop

"The ABC's of Flower Arranging" was the program theme used by Mrs. Kirby Hyman during a recent meeting of the Top O' Texas Garden Club held in the home of Mrs. Fred Hinkley, 501 N. Nelson.

Mrs. Hyman stressed the basic ideas in learning flower arranging for flower shows. Ideas learned will be put to use for workshop meetings when members make arrangements and exercise constructive criticism.

Guest of the group was Mrs. W. L. Gabelmann.

Members present were Mmes. Kenneth Osborn, Fred Hinkley, J. A. Knox, Margery Mack, Kirby Hyman, Tom Patton, Joe Rutledge, A. H. Kouri.

During the social hour, the hostess served refreshments from a coffee table centered with an arrangement of roses.

The next meeting will be a workshop on flower arrangement held in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Osborn, 200 N. Sumner, Oct. 8 at 1:30 p.m.

First in Study Course Series Slated for PTA

The first of a seven part study course, sponsored by the P.T.A. City Council, will be presented at the Sam Houston School gymnasium Thursday from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

"Adventures in Family Living" is the overall theme of the study course. Subjects during the first session will be "The Woman You Want to Be" — as homemaker and spiritual leader, by Mrs. Fred Neslage; in your community, by Mrs. Frank Shotwell; and as an educator, by Mrs. Edwin Southard. "A Challenge to Modern Women" will be presented by Mrs. Thelma Bray.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served, and nursery facilities for pre-school children will be provided.

The second in the study course series will be held at Travis Elementary School Oct. 10.

Mobeetie Hornets Open District 3-B Season

MOBEETIE (Sp) — Mobeetie football coach Cecil Reynolds was all smiles as he reviewed Saturday night's 46-8 Homecoming victory over Miami B.

"The boys were really up for this one," beamed Reynolds, "everyone played wonderful ball. Big Ray Corcoran ran for four touchdowns, Brad Trout for two and quarterback Gerald Gudgel for another. Little Joe Kelley was really outstanding in the defensive backfield. . . that little 90-pounder can hit."

"As far as the linemen, they all played a great game. It's almost impossible to pick any one boy as outstanding, but if I had to name one, it would be Cary Jack Johnson, who hit real hard both offensively and defensively."

"We used every boy on the team except Joe Fred Nixon, our big defensive boy, who is down with a back injury. Everyone is ready for the start of district play except Nixon, and we're awaiting the doctor's report on him."

The Hornets open district play with powerful Booker. The Kiowa, preparing to move up to 11-man football next year, have played three 11-man games going into loop play, with a 42-6 defeat at the hands of Stratford-Fritch, a 46-12 loss to Follett, and then an 8-6 squeaker over Miami for their only win.

Halfback Jim Hughes is the big man in the Booker backfield, having had a hand in every touchdown the Kiowas have scored. A shifty broken-field runner, a plunging line-smasher and a deadly passer, Hughes gained 56 yards passing and 19 running against Fritch, passing for the only touchdown; ran 82 and 30 yards for the two scores against Follett, and plunged eight yards for the winning score against Miami. Hughes is backed by 3.9 state dash finalist Sloane Slovajak, who is averaging 6.8 yards per carry. A strong line is led by 205-pound all-district center Ben Rutz.

"We'll be up for this one too," said Reynolds, riding a two-game win streak. "But this is the district favorite. . . they'll be tough."

Hennigan Top AFL Receiver

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charley Hennigan can't understand why he's the leading pass receiver in the American Football League.

Hennigan, a four year veteran with the Houston Oilers, feels the defense in the AFL gets better each season, making it tougher all-round for receivers.

Hennigan replaced Oakland's Art Powell as the leading receiver this week. He has caught 28 passes for 543 yards compared to 26 and 471 yards for Powell.

A former Northwestern Louisiana State College athlete, Hennigan also is making a bid for the scoring leadership. He's scored 39 points this season on five touchdowns but remains three points behind Boston's Gino Capelletti who has 33.

Jack Kemp of Buffalo moved back into first place in the passing race ahead of Kansas City's Len Dawson.

Neslage Named Harvester of Week

John "Jocko" Neslage was named the Harvester of the Week at today's Jaycee luncheon. The 205-pound Neslage, who took over for Larry Watson against Palo Duro, was chosen by the coaches because "he came closer to fulfilling his potential than anyone on the team," reported head coach Otis Holladay. Neslage played an outstanding game, especially on offense.

Sporting Sidelines

by JEFF COHANE

THERE IS LITTLE that can be said about the Pampa-Palo Duro game this weekend. Although the films showed spots of individual brilliance, the impression in the stands and in the press box was that the Harvesters were not trying—the way they had against Wichita Falls. . . it seemed to the scribes as if they just didn't care.

Apparently the impression I got was wrong, as coach Otis Holladay tells me that the team was crying in defeat, and Ray Howard said that the bench and the players were united as never before, especially in the second half drives. I hope they were right and I was wrong. . . I will admit that the presence of Putt-Putt Powell at our discouraging performance made things somewhat uncomfortable. One good thing can be said for the Putterer — he is a fellow Kenny Hebert fan and was rooting for the Flying Frenchman to do well. Otherwise I believe spotter Keith Riemer and statistician Myron Argetout would have been peeing him with coke bottles.

Seriously. . . I said that if the Pampa Harvesters played every one as they did Wichita Falls, they would be a fine team. . . I still believe that.

A welcome visitor in the press box was "refugee" Clive Seymour, former Harvester fullback who transferred to Amarillo High. Clive laid out of football this season, but intends to go out for track. Asked who he would root for at the Harvester-Sandy game, Clive said that he would sit that one out.

THE PAMPA - PALO DURO game was not the only shocker in the area. Stratford's decisive win over previously unscored-on Lefors, and White Deer's 14-0 shut-out of hitherto-unbeaten McLean were other area stunners. The Pirates were hurt by the loss of their quarterback, Terry Bromlow, and their ace ballcarrier, Lightning Coleman, early in the game. In White Deer's case, McLean coach Derral Davis' prediction that White Deer had the psychological edge was true. . . but more than the psychology, it was the strategy of key personnel switches, such as moving mammoth Eddie Kleibrink to fullback; as well as holding Dickie Crockett, one of the leading ground-gainers in the area, to only 12 yards rushing that did it.

Correspondent Richard Ulrich was finally able to fill a mission . . . reporters are instructed to get comments from the coach after a game, but naturally, Colie had little to say after the first three games. When Richard came up Friday night, he was greeted by a big smile and happy comments for a change. Incidentally, while the sports department office gets frequent visits from area athletes, there hasn't been a Buck in visiting since track season, but they started showing up in big numbers Saturday to give the "Experts" the razz for picking McLean. Ouch!

BRIGHT NOTES on the area front were Wheeler's lopsided win over Follett and Groom and Canadian's outstanding games in three and two-point defeats respectively. Wheeler is one of the few teams that made predictions come true. I said the Mustangs were loaded this season and they are. Both Groom and Canadian need a win and both of them certainly deserve one, and I venture a prediction that the day is not far off when Sobbin' Jack York stops sobbin' and Dwain Currie smiles.

AS FAR AS THE EXPERTS GO, last week was a terrible one for all hands. Otis Holladay came out roses with three wrongs, and holds the lead, but co-leaders Ray Howard and the Ol' Swami each dropped seven. Eural Ramsey missed four and Browne Smith five.

The Lefors upset sent all hands down the drain as did the Missouri win over Arkansas. Everyone but Otis got caught on White Deer, everyone but Ray on Oklahoma and Brother Howard was incorrect on Florida State over TCU. Ray, moreover, joined the Swami in going down the drain on Miami, LSU and Houston. Otis now holds a big margin with 41 right and only eight miscues, Ramsey is 39-10, Smith 38-11, and Ray and I now share the tail gunner's post with 37-12 each. This week will bring revenge, I hope.

ONE EXTRA-CURRICULAR PREDICTION. . . Dodgers over the Yankees in seven games. The Yanks have the edge in most departments, but definitely not in pitching. They made a big mistake when they took former Edinburg neighbor Ralph Terry and sent him to the bullpen, what they have left cannot match Koufax and Drysdale. . . and they've never come up against anything like them in the (as James Waldrop calls it) American Farm League. Koufax should win two, Drysdale one and Podres or Perranoski should bail out the other one. The Ford-Terry combo should take at least one pitching duel and the Yank sluggers should wallop their way to at least one slugging win.

Rangers Threaten Dalhart's Record

By United Press International
Makeup of this week's schedule indicates the Class AA Texas schoolboy football list of 31 perfect record teams is in for further trimming.

There is actually only one game — Devine at Del Rio San Felipe — which matches unbeaten-untied AA teams, but Crane puts its unblemished record on the line.

Alabama was a distant second, Texas third and Big Ten representatives Northwestern and Wisconsin rounded out the top five.

The United Press International major college football ratings (with first-place votes and won-lost records in parentheses).

Team	Points
1. Oklahoma (22) (2-0)	324
2. Alabama (7) (2-0)	270
3. Texas (3) (2-0)	245
4. Northwestern (1) (2-0)	182
5. Wisconsin (2-0)	178
6. Georgia Tech (2-0)	134
7. Navy (1) (2-0)	108
8. Pittsburgh (1) (2-0)	87
9. Southern California (1-1)	76
10. (tie). Ohio State (1-0)	57
10. (tie). Nebraska (2-0)	57

Second-10 teams: 12, Mississippi, 41; 13, Penn State, 34; 14, Air Force, 32; 15, Oregon State, 20; 16 (tie), Michigan State and Missouri, 16 each; 18, Texas Christian, 9; 19 (tie), Duke and Rice, 8 each.

Others: North Carolina State, Michigan and Wyoming, 4 each; Notre Dame and Kansas, 3 each; Auburn, Army and Arkansas, 2 each; Oregon, 1. against unbeaten-untied Fort Stockton of AAA and Paul Hewitt's perfect record is jeopardized by unbeaten but tied Clarksville.

And, some of the others may be in for the same type of rude treatment which befell top-ranked Denver City and 11 others last week. The powerful Mustangs, who meet AAA Littlefield this week, fell to AAA Levelland in a 20-14 shocker last Friday.

Floydada, Electra and Port Acres—all dumped from the unbeaten list last week—get a crack at pulling off the same stunt this week. Floydada is at Post, Electra hosts Olney and Port Acres is at Beaumont Forest Park.

There also may be trouble ahead for Dalhart, which meets AAA Perryton; Stinnett, which plays once-beaten Class A Lefors; Plano, which plays dangerous Lancaster, Katy, which meets Humble; Karnes City, which meets AAA Cuero, and La Feria, which faces San Diego.

Most of the others appear safe. Tulia plays at Dimmitt, Friona meets Happy, Ballinger is at Colorado City, Nocona is at Justin Northwest, Mansfield at Everman, Liberty-Eylau at De Kalb, Rockdale at Brenham, Columbus at Hallettsville, Cotulla at San Antonio Kennedy and Lyford at Rio Hondo.

Caldwell hosts Rogers, Hearne plays Madisonville, Little Cypress entertains Kirbyville, Goliad plays Vanderbilt, Edcouch-Elsa meets Hebronville and Hamlin, Stamford and Los Fresnos are idle.

World Series Opens At Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK (UPI) — Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees hoped today for "the breaks" and skipper Walter Alston of the Dodgers for "a healthy Sandy Koufax" for the World Series opening Wednesday in Yankee Stadium.

There was a good chance Alston's hope would be fulfilled for Koufax, the golden armed southpaw who will face Whitey Ford, New York's left handed money pitcher, in the first game said on his arrival, "I feel fine." He had been reported suffering from the aftermath of a slight case of the flu.

However, only time — perhaps seven games — will tell whether the Yankees, who have made winning World Series a habit, will get the breaks.

The way Houk sees it, the two teams are so evenly matched that the series could be decided by "the breaks of the game." He doesn't buy the general talk that the Dodgers are inferior defensively.

Pitching is Factor
He does agree with Alston that pitching, usually the name of the game whether it be for one game or 162, will decide the series victor providing those breaks even up.

Although the Yankees are concerned to have more depth in the pitching department, the Dodgers starting trio of Koufax, Johnny Podres and Don Drysdale, and their relief ace, Ron Perranoski, are accorded a slight edge over the Yankees "big four." They are starters Ford, Al Downing and Jim Bouton with Hal Reniff the No. 1 man in the bullpen.

Houk, cheered by the improvement on the condition of his two outfield stars, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, said the Yankees "are in the best physical condition of the season."

Alston was concerned over his pitching — Koufax, Perranoski and Podres.

Has The Flu
Like Koufax, Perranoski has had a touch of the flu.

"Unless Koufax gets sick today or tomorrow, he'll pitch," said Alston upon the Dodgers' arrival Monday night, "and Perranoski is okay."

Among his regulars, Alston had a question mark in rookie third base Ken McMullen. McMullen re-injured a muscle in his left leg Thursday night but Alston thinks he will be ready to play Wednesday. If he isn't, he will shift Jim Gilliam to third base and put rookie Dick Tracewski, a slick fielder but weak hitter, at second.

Alston refused to name a starting lineup "until I find out if McMullen will play."

Houk named this lineup and batting order for the first game: Shortstop Tony Kubek, second baseman Bobby Richardson, left fielder Tom Tresh, Mantle, Maris, catcher Elton Howard, first baseman Joe Pepitone and Ford.

Although this will be the eighth World Series meeting between the clubs, it will be the first since the Dodgers left Brooklyn after the 1957 season to find a baseball gold mine in the Far West and Yankee officials predicted capacity crowds for the first two games here Wednesday and Thursday. They reported, however, that a few reserved seats had not been sold while about 6,000 bleacher and standing room only tickets will go on sale the day of each game.

With standing room, the Yankees can crowd 72,000 in their park. Add that to the 55,000 capacity of Dodger Stadium.

Powerful Rebels Come To Pampa

An offense that has averaged less than two touchdowns a game, but has won three straight victories, will spearhead the Tascosa Rebels when they invade Harvester Stadium Friday night for a District 3-4A battle.

In addition to the potent defense that has allowed opponents only one touchdown a game, the Rebels feature a backfield composed principally of members of the state championship sprint relay team, and a quarterback who is bidding to take the laurels away from Greg Lott and Kenny Hebert, as well as a line that averages almost 185 pounds from end to end, with six of the linemen returning starters.

Although the Rebels lost their breakthrough scoring threat when left halfback Richard Ross was hurt in the Odessa Permian game, they have had enough punch, featuring the versatility of quarterback Pat Harkins, to take 14-7, 10-8 and 13-8 victories respectively over Odessa Permian, Midland Lee and Lubbock High.

Ross had been counted on as their chief threat, having picked up 83 yards rushing before being hurt against Permian.

Quarterback Harkins, 150, has taken his place effectively, outshining Lott in the key win-over the Westerners as he ran for 107 yards on 27 carries and completed six of 14 passes for 74 yards and a touchdown. The lithe ballhandler likes to run on option rollouts, sneaks and power plays around end, reports coach Norman Phillips, who scouted the Rebels.

Although Harkins throws only when he has to, the pass is an effective weapon in his hands, as he has completed 10 of 26 attempts for 152 yards. Although short buttonhooks, and heaves into the flat are his specialty, Harkins can, and will throw the long one well, warns Phillips. Pat receivers are right halfback Mike Turner and ends Tommy Denton, Harlan Green and Billy Hobbs.

The other backfield workhorse is 180-pound fullback Danny Abbott, who is called on for the short, steady first-down yardage. Hall-tail.

Frisco Gets New Coach

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Youthful Jack Christiansen held his first workout as head coach of the San Francisco Forty Niners today — confident that he could rebuild the fading fortunes of a club that has lost 10 straight ball games.

Christiansen, 34-year-old former defensive star of the Detroit Lions, took over the fortunes of the San Francisco club late Monday after Red Hickey resigned.

He has to be a man with a mission to make good with a club that was slaughtered by the Minnesota Vikings, 45-14, on Sunday; had lost all three league games this year; all five exhibition games plus the final two games of the 1962 season.

"I have no definite changes in personnel or playing positions at the present time," said Christiansen. "But we have some good men on this squad if we can get them to play up to their potential first-down yardage. Hall-tail."

'The Anarchists'

When governments grow large and oppressions increase, talk of anarchy is bound to flourish. There will be those who are attracted to the idea simply as a reaction to tyranny often observed in governmental anarchistic tenets attractive not for political but for economic reasons.

It is probably true that some will oppose anarchy openly but in the quiet of their own minds will rejoice that others of greater courage or less complacency are willing to carry again that dreaded banner of opposition to the state. Barbara W. Tuchman, author of "The Guns of August" among other published volumes, has written an item which is worthy of study in this connection. She titles it simply, "The Anarchists."

Her approach to the subject emphasizes the European anarchists and virtually ignores American leaders in both anarchistic thought and action. However, this omission does not detract from her work in general which is well written and bright with human insight, though it could not be considered as definitive.

Another characteristic of this particular piece is its emphasis upon the violence of the anarchists during the days when Bakunin dominated the scene and men such as Ravachol, Malatesta and even Vaillant and Crolgoz were tossing bombs, wielding daggers and scaring the daylight out of politicians and capitalists alike throughout Western Europe and the United States.

Whatever defects her study may have in these particulars, we are indebted to her for her clear and incisive statements concerning the economic motivation of the anarchists. This is a point that today is almost obliterated in the shallowness of study recommended in our schools and the tendency of so many to presume they have acquired an education if they look up a definition in Webster's or read a dozen paragraphs in the encyclopedia.

She begins by saying: "So enchanting was the vision of a stateless society, without government, without law, without ownership of property, in which corrupt institutions have been swept away, man would be free to be as good as God intended him..." etc., etc.

Later on she reveals the true motive of the anarchists: "The anarchists believe that with Property, the monarch of all evil, eliminated, no man could again live off the labor of another..." etc., etc.

What she does not expound upon is the fact that Karl Marx, who began his career as an anarchist, and who later devised a new system of anarchy called by some "communism," and by others, "modern socialism," actually was able to popularize the anarchist view of property and to have it largely accepted by virtually every shading of socialist philosophy.

However, people generally tended to reject the anarchist political view, both from the standpoint of its oft-incurred violence and from its emphasis upon abolition of the state. Marx was able to do this by becoming a true socialist. He advised a program which would destroy private ownership of productive property through the expedient of transferring it into the hands of the state. Thus, in modern socialism, the communist and the anarchist are opposed; the former relying wholly on the state and seeking to make it grow, the latter still opposing the state and seeking to have it abolished so that property ownership would cease to be.

The editors of "Atlantic" are possibly responsible for the omissions of Miss Tuchman in that they explain the article as a "shortened version" of a chapter in a new book she is writing. "Even so," we'll recommend it for those who wish to learn some of the hard facts respecting anarchy and why anarchy is opposed by those who believe in private ownership of property and consider this as a right with which all men are endowed.

Got Yours?
Having troubles? Don't worry—maybe government will take care of them.

To make things all-hunky-dory down on the farm, the federal government has put up tens of billions of dollars to keep prices up and is still kicking in to the tune of $5 billion a year of the taxpayers' money. The mess is worse than ever, but no one can say agriculture is neglected.

Due to changing needs, times and habits many of our city transit systems are finding the going hard. So, as a start, it is proposed that, over a three-year period, the various units of government kick in with more than $500 million in grants and low-interest loans. Representative Taft estimates the total at $20 billion. Representative Derwinski thinks that

Handing out government grants will discourage initiative among transit operators who might otherwise solve their own problems; drive financing out of the field, and subsidize inefficiency. They sure would—but never mind little things like that.

The house has balked at a proposal to establish a cabinet level Department of Urban Affairs, which would enable the federal government to run the cities. But don't worry—the bill will be back.

There's lots of money down there in Washington, so long as we don't worry about more and more taxes, more and bigger deficits, a worsening world trade position, inflation, and other such petty matters. Got yours yet?

The Doctor Says

Today's Contact Lenses — Far Cry From Early Ones

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT
You never know which of your friends are wearing contact lenses, because they are invisible while being worn. You do know that most persons who are wearing spectacles are not wearing contacts, but even then you can't be sure.

Contact lenses have been made for many years but were never popular until modern research began to get some of the "bugs" out of them.

The older lenses were large and covered the whites of the eyes as well as the pupils. They were so uncomfortable few people could get used to them. The newer lenses are small and fit over the pupils only.

The first contact lenses were made of glass, but the mild acidity of the tears after a few months of wear caused clouding of the surface so that they had to be replaced every three to six months. The plastics now used have greatly increased the time a single pair of contact lenses can be worn.

Much of the research has been done by two doctors in Chicago. One of them, Dr. N. K. Wesley, was told when he was 21 that he had a deformity of the cornea (keratoconus) that would slowly but inevitably lead to blindness. Although he enrolled at once in a school for the blind, he refused to accept this verdict.

For six years he and his partner, Dr. G. N. Jessep, worked on improving contact lenses. In that time Dr. Wesley's vision had become so poor he couldn't see beyond two feet, but the contact lenses the two doctors designed restored Dr. Wesley's vision to normal.

This is another instance of necessity being the mother of invention. No one is ever quite so interested in saving others from blindness as a person who has once almost lost his sight.

In 1958, Dr. Wesley founded the National Eye Research Foundation, a nonprofit organization that has helped researchers all over the world advance the cause of sight-saving.

Although contact lenses are a specific remedy for the many persons with keratoconus who have otherwise been blind, they have other uses. Near-sighted teen-agers prefer them to glasses; athletes, persons who have had a lens removed, persons who are so nearsighted that they need very heavy and unsightly glass lenses, and persons who have severe facial skin diseases that would be aggravated by spectacles find contact lenses advantageous.

Everyone who would like to wear contact lenses cannot do so. Anyone who has any kind of eye inflammation or glaucoma cannot wear them, and persons who must work in a very dusty atmosphere or who are in danger of splashing chemicals in their eyes should not wear them.

If dust or chemicals get under the lenses great damage may be done before the irritant can be washed out.

Prince Souvanna Phouma in Private—Warns U.S. Officials Against Forcing South Vietnam into Laos-type Coalition with Reds

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The dark fear of a U.S. Soviet deal on South Vietnam is forcing Prince Souvanna Phouma to make statements in public as different as night and day from his private ones.

A key figure in the backstage diplomatic talks involving Vietnam, the Prime Minister of Laos appears at times like a Soviet puppet in his public statements, supporting a solution of war-torn Vietnam parallel to the one instituted in his country.

In private conversations, the charming Laotian Prince acts like a modern Paul Revere, warning U.S. officials against forcing South Vietnam, his southern neighbor, into a coalition government with Communist North Vietnam.

If South Vietnam is neutralized, Prince Souvanna Phouma is convinced that the Communists would in a very short time take over not only all of Vietnam but Southeast Asia as well.

"A coalition government in Vietnam will not work," Prince Souvanna Phouma warned a group of legislators gathered at the Washington residence of Under Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman. "The Communists in the north are too well organized and armed. It would only be a matter of weeks before all of Vietnam would be in Communist hands."

"Didn't you urge the formation of a coalition government in South Vietnam in a recent statement in New York?" challenged Secretary Harriman, who privately is pushing for a political solution in Vietnam.

After a long silent glance at Harriman, who negotiated the faltering coalition in Laos, Prince Souvanna Phouma turned to the sitting legislators and smiling broadly, said:

"After hearing my plea, I believe you gentlemen will regard my remarks in New York as being misquoted or misconstrued by the press. I believe that is the diplomatic way to express it."

INSIDE STORY — Despite this timely warning that the U.S. can't deal with the Communists in Vietnam, a powerful group of President Kennedy's chief policy makers are continuing their backstage push for a coalition government in Vietnam.

Headed by Secretary Harriman, these advisers argue that the price of a military victory in the dirty Vietnamese war is higher than American vital interests can justify and that the only alternative is a political solution.

They stress that their position is supported by the findings of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and General Maxwell Taylor, who are now in Saigon on a special presidential fact-finding mission.

The first McNamara-Taylor cables indicate that the Communist guerrillas, the Viet Congs, cannot be defeated in South Vietnam as long as they have an open supply line to North Vietnam.

Since it is U.S. policy not to extend the war into North Vietnam, the Harriman group point out that a military solution is not possible. They contend that unification and neutralization of South Vietnam should be the basis for ending the war there. Once the Communists agree to that type of settlement, the U.S. should move to reconvene the Geneva Conference of 1954 and negotiate the agreement regardless of the position of South Vietnam's President Diem.

This soft-line approach is being vigorously opposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. If necessary, they favor operating directly against North Vietnam by bombing the supply lines to the Viet Cong guerrillas in order to win the war.

President Kennedy, who is leaning toward a diplomatic settlement, will make his fateful decision on Vietnam after Secretary McNamara and General Taylor return with their recommendations.

DIPLOMATIC WIRE — Fresh from his secret talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Yugoslavia's Tito is reported carrying a Russian offer to President Kennedy to support a coalition government in South Vietnam. He will be the President's personal guest at a "working luncheon" at the White House on Oct. 17. Tito, who wants to do some traveling in the U.S., is being politely told by the State Department that he should keep his junketing to stops in Washington, New York, and California for his own safety. At least two Yugoslavian refugees now in the U.S. have vowed to try to kill the Communist dictator during his U.S. trip. Tito, who will speak at the United Nations on Oct. 22, plans to stay in the U.S. eight days. Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., has quietly blocked Tito from speaking at a Joint Session of Congress by notifying the State Department that the Communist dictator was not welcomed.

Roger Hillsman, Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs, has denied under oath before the House Foreign Affairs Committee that he sent a cable to U.S. Information Service officials in Saigon, urging the Vietnamese Army to get rid of President Diem and his brother and sister-in-law, the highly publicized Ngo Dinh Nhu. Hillsman, once director of the State Department's intelligence branch, is at loggerheads with William Bundy, Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Affairs. Bundy, a brother of Presidential Assistant McGeorge Bundy, is seeking Hillsman's key post in the State Department, according to friends of the latter. They have traced the leak of the story about the diplomatic cable to Bundy's office in the Pentagon.

HOW YOU CAN BE TAX-EXEMPT
By Harry Browne

Editor, Freedom Magazine
If you could get a permanent and total exemption from the income tax, what would you do with the money you'd save?

Take a moment and dream about it: Would you invest that money in a business? Buy a new car? Move into a better home? Get that new furniture you've been wanting?

We're talking about quite a bit of money, you know. If you make $6,000 per year, you probably pay around $600 in personal income tax. At $10,000 per year, the tax is over $1,300. And at $20,000, the tax is almost $4,000 every year.

What would you do if that money was suddenly yours to spend?

Possibilities
It could add up pretty fast into a comfortable retirement fund. Or maybe you'd like to invest it in stocks and bonds. Or a college education for your child.

Maybe you just want to have a good time — so you might take a trip to Europe or Las Vegas. Then again, you might be inclined to support your church or favorite charity to a much greater degree than you can presently afford.

Facts
The average $10,000-a-year man could trade for a new car every year with the money he presently pays in income taxes.

Let's examine some other possibilities: Perhaps you'd like to give some of your money to the Communist dictator of Yugoslavia — where a good part of your income tax money goes now.

Or, instead, would you like to invest in some good farm subsidies? On the average, over $100 of your annual income tax presently goes to subsidize, control or regulate agriculture.

In fact, it is 700 such "welfare state" projects that consume your entire income tax payment every year. Federal ventures like public power, farm subsidies, foreign aid and pork barrel projects consume more money every year than is collected by the personal income tax.

The federal government receives enough revenue from other taxes to cover our defense needs and all other constitutional requirements — without the income tax!

Proposition
The proposed Liberty Amendment — already approved by six states — will eliminate the government's spending spree and repeal the income tax.

So start dreaming. What would you do with that money? It can be yours — once the Liberty Amendment is enacted. But your help is needed to make it a reality.

Visualize what having your income tax money would mean to you. Then realize that this would be yours every year for the rest of your working life. That's how much you can benefit from the Liberty Amendment.

What are you going to do about it?

TRUTH FORUM

National Education Assn.

Pits Class us Class

By ED DELANEY

One of the most active and well-financed lobbies in Washington is that of the National Education Assn., usually identified as NEA. Purporting to be concerned with improvement in the nation's public school system, it is primarily seeking to control the school curricula, the thinking of the teachers and of course to increase its dues paying membership.

The NEA has long been active in the campaign for federal aid to schools. They and other groups with the same objective, deny that increased federal aid means the eventual control of the school. Such denials do not delude those with a glimmering of intelligence. The one who pays the fiddler, calls the tune.

Recently the NEA initiated a campaign to pit one class or segment of our population against another. They state in one of their tracts that the fight for federal aid to education is a "fight between the people with wealth and the people with kids." In a glaringly obvious attempt to gain support of what they term the "masses" the NEA has embarked on a program and with a publicity campaign, the phraseology of which, in the general theme, resembles the Communist credo of taking from those who have means and giving it to those who have not. In fact one of their tracts asserts very blandly that the battle for federal aid to education is a conflict between "the haves and the have-nots, between those who control the wealth of the land and those who make up the masses."

That same piece of NEA literature informs us that "the minority, who are the elite financially and culturally, do not trust democracy very far. They tremble, and with good reason, at what would happen to their wealth and position if the masses could bring the vote of the majority into full play." Regardless of any futile effort to deny it, those words are almost identical with the philosophy of Marx, Lenin and lesser luminaries of the communist canon.

The financially "elite" minority, says the NEA, continually devise means to thwart the will of the majority by giving lip service to the word "democracy." Here again the NEA is apparently plagiarizing from the writings of the communists. The publicists of the Soviet and its illegally held colonies always prate of their "democracy" in action. They call the Soviet zone of Germany the German Democratic Republic. It is neither German, democratic nor is it a republic.

The United States of America, the NEA seems to forget, is a republic and not a democracy, which is a synonym for mobocracy. The NEA tract says, in what they seem to believe is cleverness, that "we are all supposed to be of a mold, good, port, freshly scrubbed Americans, believing that capitalism and free enterprise came down to us on stone tablets from the mountain and that democracy was devised by angels."

The NEA exists only because of the free enterprise system. Its income is what they can wrangle from those who have accumulated some means and from professional members who are recipients of incomes made possible by the free enterprise system which is taxed to support the schools. Yet NEA makes the inference that free enterprise and capitalism are some kind of outmoded system.

tems and may be supplemented by something comparable to the "democracy" of which they prate. "The NEA carries on a perennial complaint about the shortage of classrooms in the nation. Sen. Barry Goldwater has exposed that stock-in-trade falsehood by showing, from the records, that each year, local communities have built more new schools and added more classrooms than the NEA said were needed. Yet next year the NEA, completely ignoring facts, waits of the need for more classrooms. Only federal aid can solve the problem, if we are to accept the word of the NEA — which millions of us will not.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government) which will not injure anyone.

QUESTION: "What is Religion?"
My biology book of 30 years ago defined religion as a human instinct."

Answer: There are probably about as many ideas of religion as there are individuals. We have run across an essay by Thomas Carlyle that we think pretty well defines religion. It was in his essay on Work from the book, "Past and Present." Among other things the essay says, "Religion, I said; for, properly speaking, all true Work is Religion; and whatsoever Religion is not Work may go and dwell among the Brahmins, Antinomians, Spinning Dervishes, or where it will; with me it shall have no harbour."

In another place Carlyle relates, "Labor is life; from the inmost heart of the Worker rises his god-given Force, the sacred celestial Life-essence breathed into him by Almighty God; from his inmost heart awakens him to all nobleness — to all knowledge, 'self-knowledge' and much else, so soon as Work fitly begins."

Spencer Heath, inventor of the reversible-pitch propeller for airplanes, who is now 87 or 88 years old says that spiritual means, to him, creating, and that is developing the individual. Certainly that is a religion that is useful to all mankind.

The Bible says that man must live by the sweat of his brow. That means that he must take action. Emerson says that "a gift is contrary to the laws of the universe."

So therefore, man must work to develop his faculties and get happiness and joy out of life.

Ayn Rand says that the part of the Declaration of Independence that says, "Men are endowed by their Creator with life, liberty and pursuit of happiness," really means that men are endowed with the right to take action to preserve their lives, and to acquire liberty and to keep it. Pursuit of happiness indicates that action is required by the word pursuit.

We have often heard it said that, "To work is to pray" and certainly if we work the right way, it is the real religion that benefits all mankind.
