I Heard--

A number of people asking if Road Runner park was damaged by fire Tuesday night, The answer is no. The fire department was called to the park but found that the caretaker was burning some weeds and grass and didn't need the department. The alarm was turned in by a passing motorist.

West Behind FDR Declares Sen. Murray

Maverick Knows He's Against 'A Fifth Term' WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—New Deal supporters in Congress took up the talk of a third term for President today, with Senator Murray (D-Mont.) disclosing he had told the chief executive "the entire west" is behind his administration.

Murray, a White House caller yesterday, told reporters he had not made specific mention of a third term for fear of embarrassing the President, but added: "I think the entire West feels the President has a better understanding and appreciation of the serious problems of our country than any other man who could possibly succeed him."

Murray replied with an emphatic "yes" to a question as to whether Mr. Roosevelt would support Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) for renomination in 1940.

Wheeler has handled much New Deal legislation, but led the bitter and successful Senate fight against the President's court bill in 1937.

Murray's comments followed a pair of pro-third-term statements late yesterday. Secretary Wallace, mentioned in congressional circles as a potential presidential candidate, told reporters members of the cabinet would be loyal to Mr. Roosevelt if he should run again.

Against 'Fifth Term' Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio, Texas, a former representative, said after a chat with the chief executive: "I think I'm against the fourth term, and I know I'm against a fifth term."

Bob Wallace and Maverick were asked about Vice President Garner as a possible presidential candidate, and both gave quotation-mark replies.

Asked how Garner fitted into his statement about cabinet "loyalty" to the President, Wallace responded with a question as to whether Garner was a member of the cabinet. Maverick had this to say: "I'm not saying a thing about Garner—he's my fellow Texan, and I've got to be nice while I'm up here."

Capitol Hill discussion of the presidential contest brought a comment from Senator Ellender (D-La.), a New Deal supporter, that "if the country is to go Democratic in 1940, it will have to have a liberal candidate."

"I don't know of any better liberal than the President," he added, "and if he chooses to run for a third term, I for one will gladly support him."

'How Are You?' F.D.R. Asks King And Queen

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—A smile and a friendly handshake from President Roosevelt and the bombing salute of military honors welcomed King George of Great Britain today to the capital of the republic grown great from thirteen one-time English colonies.

Their faces crinkled in cordial smiles as their hands met as if to symbolize ties of friendship between two English-speaking peoples who parted ways in 1776.

Secretary of State Hull, who accompanied King George and his queen from Canada, introduced them.

"Mr. President, I have the honor to present their Britannic Majesties," Hull said. "How are you? I'm glad to see you," Mr. Roosevelt said.

The king and queen then greeted Mrs. Roosevelt and Brigadier General E. M. Watson, the President's military aide.

The royal couple and the first family of the United States chatted briefly for a moment, then formalities got under way.

The British monarch's suite was introduced to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

FDR WELLS WITH KING After the chief executive had met members of the royal suite, high-ranking officials of the American government were introduced to the king and queen.

The king and queen had strolled into the blue and gold presidential reception room at three minutes after 10 a. m. (CST) and walked up

Band Practice Hours Changed In New Schedule

Changes in the schedule of practice of the two bands in Pampa's summer band program were announced today by A. C. Cox, director. Rehearsals are held at the Red building on the high school campus.

O'Daniel Plan Turned Down In 93-53 Vote

Governor Assailed Before Final Ballot Is Taken AUSTIN, June 8 (AP)—The House of Representatives today rejected for the fifth time a sales-natural resource constitutional amendment to finance social security.

The vote was 93 ayes to 53 noes. One hundred votes were necessary for adoption of the constitutional resolution.

The Senate previously had voted to submit the amendment, for which a bitter fight has been waged by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, elected last year on a pension liberalization program.

The proponents of the resolution showed gains from the fourth attempt to put the measure over and were elated. Opponents on the other hand were jubilant because the amendment had been turned aside one more time.

On the last test several weeks ago 85 votes were registered for the amendment.

Opinion differed on whether the proposition was dead, although a leader of forces favoring it, Rep. E. H. Thornton of Galveston stated it was.

Asked if proponents would bring the resolution up again, Thornton said flatly: "It's dead."

On the other hand, Speaker Emmett Morse, answering a question, said the matter would be revived by a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules, or a motion by an opponent of the amendment to reconsider this vote.

Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene, an opponent, said the outcome still was doubtful because of possibility of reconsidering by a two-thirds majority.

After rejecting the amendment, the House refused again to adjourn the session sine die and then quit work until Monday.

AUSTIN, June 8. (AP)—Friends and foes of the sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment sponsored by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel fought it out for a fifth time on the House floor today.

The most bitter denunciation of Gov. O'Daniel in legislative halls during the past several weeks led the stage for debate on the main question. The attack on the governor came from 7 p. Jack Langdon of Glen Rose, lowering former Texas Christian university football luminary.

"Ruthless demagogue, political charlatan, arrogant opportunist, other egotist and Sabbath Caesar" were among the terms Langdon applied.

Band Practice Hours Changed In New Schedule

Changes in the schedule of practice of the two bands in Pampa's summer band program were announced today by A. C. Cox, director. Rehearsals are held at the Red building on the high school campus.

The junior high school band formerly met at 8 o'clock on Tuesday and Friday nights. This has been changed to 8 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday nights, with the red section meeting at 9 a. m. on Monday and Friday and the brass at 2 p. m. on Monday and Friday.

The band will play in the fiesta parade here Tuesday morning, when the eighth annual Top O' Texas Fiesta opens, and at the afternoon rodeo performances at Recreation park on Tuesday and Wednesday.

For the Harvester band, the schedule has been changed from 8 p. m. on Monday and Thursday to 8 p. m. on Monday and Friday. The red section meets at 9 a. m. on Tuesday and Thursday, the brass at 2 p. m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Members of the Harvester band will play in the fiesta parade Tuesday and for the night rodeo performances on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

For pre-school training and practice, Director Cox has made announcement of a band school to be held at West Texas State college, from August 8-18. Rehearsals will be resumed here on August 21 for both bands, and continue until school opens. A trip to Amarillo late in June for the V. P. W. convention is scheduled for the Harvester band.

There were 26 present at the rehearsal of the Harvester band Monday night, and 30 attended the junior high school band rehearsal Tuesday night.

The summer band program started May 29.

Whites Warned To Stay Out Of Flats

White men are going to stay out of the negro section of the city or they're going to land in jail, Police Chief J. I. Downs announced today.

Officers received two calls to the flats last night. A car of white men were driving around the flats and later two other cars arrived.

Some of the men tried to get into a house where a sick negro woman was located and friends were with her.

When officers arrived the cars had disappeared. License numbers of one car was not secured because the plate had been bent out of shape.

If necessary we are going to station an officer in the negro section and any white man sticking his nose in that part of the city will be arrested," Chief Downs declared. "We have had several reports of white men causing trouble in the flats. In the past it has been the negroes who have been arrested in such cases but now it's going to be the white men."

Dyer Buick Stolen A 1938 four-door Buick sedan was stolen from the driveway of George H. Dyer home, 721 1/2 North Gray street, sometime last night.

Mr. Dyer reported to city and county officers.

Loss of the car was not discovered until this morning when Mr. Dyer started to work. The car was black and carried license number 460-437.

75 Vet Oil Workers Honored In Articles

By THE ROVING REPORTER Thumb-nail sketches of several local drillers are contained in today's article by the Roving Reporter who has sought to honor veteran drillers, tooldressers and roughnecks, and give them the credit they deserve, by citing their accomplishments in the development of the Panhandle field and of the oil industry.

The R. R. wrote this series of articles, confident that the people of the Panhandle oil field would have a new and fresh understanding of the men who after all did most to develop the field. These biographical stories were also written with the thought in mind that the population's feeling of gratitude toward the veteran oil workers would be increased. The News believes these objectives have been accomplished.

Head Of Outlawed Irish Army Freed

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—The labor department today ordered release of Sean Russell, self-styled "head man" of the outlawed Irish Republican army, who was taken into custody at Detroit while the British king and queen were across the border in nearby Canadian territory.

Officials said the department's immigration service had telegraphed the release order to Detroit.

They said the service had approved bond posted for the Irishman's release pending a hearing on deportation proceedings Saturday at Detroit.

Some members of the House of Representatives had threatened to boycott Congress' reception of their majesties unless Russell were released. They appealed to President Roosevelt yesterday to intervene.

Benefiel Named Lions President

Carl Benefiel was elected president of the Pampa Lions club at the club's regular luncheon at noon today in the basement of First Methodist church.

Mr. Benefiel succeeds Frank Culbertson in the office. Other officers elected, all of whom serve a one-year term, are W. M. Craven, secretary, succeeding Roy McMillen; D. L. Parker, lion tamer, succeeding Duke Baltherpe, and Cliff Braly, tall twister, succeeding Capt. Herman Lan-zrecht.

Deputies Injured When Car Overturns

TULIA, June 8 (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Sam Ramsey of Potter county was critically injured and Deputy Sheriff Dick Vaughn and his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Clark, were badly hurt when their car overturned near here last night.

Physicians reported this morning that Ramsey, 63-year-old veteran peace officer, had little chance to recover from a broken hip and shoulder and internal injuries. Vaughn's chest was caved in and he received severe head injuries. Clark received a bad injury in the back.

Mrs. Clark received severe cuts and bruises. The car went out of control and overturned several times. The party was en route to Amarillo from Abilene, where officers had taken a patient to a state hospital.

WMS Society Has Indian Luncheon On Wednesday

An Indian luncheon was served at a meeting of the W. M. S. Society Wednesday at the McCullough Memorial.

Customs typical of India were observed as the guests entered and garlands of flowers in the form of leis were presented to the guests of honor, Mrs. D. L. Dodgen, a missionary who spent five years in India, and Mrs. Lloyd Jones, both of Groom.

Lotus blossoms and banana leaves set the decorative note in the dining room and a large rug was used in entertainment room from which all furniture had been removed. Each member was dressed in a sari, and the menu consisted of Indian foods.

Present were Mrs. D. L. Dodgen, guest speaker, and Lloyd Jones of Groom; D. S. Buckner, O. G. Smith, Chester Williams, C. R. Vernon, L. D. McDaniel, A. N. Rogers, J. A. Orton, Ben Ward, Ed Stokes, J. M. Nichols, H. H. Bratcher, and E. N. Franklin. Misses Louise Baines, Doris Smith, and Pauline Williams.

Katherine Kelley Elected President Of Scout Troop

At a meeting of Girl Scouts of Pampa Tuesday, Katherine Kelley was elected president of the troop to follow from Horace Mann school to the park north of the city water wells.

An investiture ceremony was held for Evelyn Horton who received her tenderfoot pin. Katherine Kelley was elected president of the troop for the month of June and Marion Longacre was elected vice-president for the same length of time.

At the next regular meeting to be held at three o'clock at Horace Mann school Tuesday the troop will meet in their regular meeting place for a surprise. An attendance of Scouts interested in earning badges is urged during the vacation period.

Friday evening at eight o'clock the girls will have a star-finding party at the Little House. Scouts from another troop who have attended camp will instruct the girls in star-finding. Milky Ways will be served. A swimming party scheduled for Friday afternoon has been postponed until the star-finding party will be held in the evening instead. All Scouts of troop seven and interested mothers are invited to attend.

Nancy Miller's Marriage To Hindu Is 10-Year Success

This picture of Sushila, daughter of ex-Maharajah of Indore and former Nancy Ann Miller, was Mother's Day gift to Maharajah's mother, Mrs. Jennie Miller of Seattle, Wash.

By NEA Service. SEATTLE, Wash., June 8.—A great many words ought to be eaten about this time.

They are words that were written a little more than 10 years ago, when, on March 17, 1928, Nancy Ann Miller married Tukoji Rao, former Maharajah of Indore.

The wedding of a well-educated, cultivated young American woman to an Indian potentate of Hindu faith—who had been involved in two former marriages and several political scrapes which made necessary his retirement as rajah—caused much public discussion.

There was a great deal of fresh predicting. It couldn't last. The differences in religion, in cultural background, in traditional manner of life were too great. "East was east, and west was west," and all that. The words flowed on.

Miss Miller was necessary because the rajah had fabulous treasures. Though he belonged to a culture that was ancient before America was discovered, he was painted as a barbarian. And when they were married at Barwah, India, in the solemn Hindu ceremonial which necessitated the American girl's giving up her own religion, the words flowed even more freely. This could never work.

Ten years have passed, and the eating of the words might as well begin now as any time. Pictures arriving in Seattle, of the American Maharajah's three lovely little daughters, came to her mother, Mrs. Jennie Miller as a Mother's Day gift.

So far had the mysterious culture of the East submerged Nancy Miller that she still sends Mother's Day gifts 10 years later.

The Maharajah and his American-born wife left India soon after their marriage to the territory of Indore going in charge of a son of the rajah by a former marriage. They went to live in a fine house in St. Germain near Paris. A year later their first daughter was born.

Eagerly waiting for discord, trouble, and scandal, the curious found only a devoted married pair, obviously still honeymooning. The ex-rajah's English, his European clothes, his manners, were perfect.

The caste-mark, imprinted on his Maharajah's forehead at the time of their marriage, was as inconspicuous as the devotion of the two was obvious.

The present stay in India is only their third in 10 years. Most of that time they have lived quietly at St. Germain. In 1932, the Maharajah visited the United States, testifying verbally to the happy and tranquil life she had achieved.

Today the picture of the three lovely little girls in European dress—Sumitra, Sharada, and Sita—and that of the Maharajah in Indian dress, dignified and at peace, testify that behind all the East-West stuff there stood simply a man and a woman in love.

Pampa Garden Club Adds Two Members To Roll

At a regular monthly meeting of the executive board of the Pampa Garden club Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. H. B. Landrum, two new members, Mrs. C. E. High and Mrs. Alvin Bell, were voted into membership.

How Unworthy A Thing You Make Of Me!

Children are not, generally speaking, born with strong hatreds.

They gradually acquire them only as they hear their elders voice them, by watching their elders practice them, by deliberate teaching.

This process goes on throughout life. Even mature people do not naturally hate other whole classes of people. Every natural tendency of a life which forces all to be together in the world is toward mutual friendliness, mutual assistance, mutual tolerance.

But some people, for reasons best known to themselves, go about stirring up hatreds. Quite simple people, who, like the amiable comic character Wash Tubbs, ain't mad at nobody, are thus converted into haters. This is an established principle, never better illustrated than during the World War when perfectly ordinary citizens with no particular feeling about Germany or things Germans were quickly and consciously converted into Hun-haters, and boys from the cornfields who had scarcely heard of Germany were taught to thrust home the bayonet with an angry growl of "Boone!"

All this is happening again today. People angrily demand one's ear, and insist that one should hate this or that nationality, this or that religion, this or that political system. But one's own nature and conscience are a better guide than the advice of interested persons, especially those who get their living by preaching hate.

We need to cultivate something of Hamlet's spirit, who, when the two courtiers tried to pump him, grew resentful that they should think him so stupid. Hamlet asked one if he could play the recorder, a kind of flu. No, said the courtier.

"Why, look at you now," rejoined Hamlet bitterly. "How unworthy a thing you make of me. You would play upon me. . . 'So'ood, do you think I am easier to be played on than a pipe?"

Such resentment immediately rises in the average American when some piper sneaks up and begins to try to play upon him a tune of hatred for some group for whom he has no special or natural dislike. It is insulting. 'So'ood, do they think we are easier to be played on than a lot of tin flutes!

Strong and deep in America is the tradition and feeling of respect for others, though they be different from ourselves in religion, in politics, in blood. Strong and deep in America is the natural tolerance and lack of ingrained hatreds that is far from a mark of weakness or indifference, but a tower of strength.

Be yourself, be natural, let the natural American tolerance and respect for others and their beliefs have full play. Turn disdainfully from professional hate-mongers who turn the supreme impudence to think that they can play on the American people at will a tune of alien prejudice and unnatural hatred.

RE $80,000,000,000 A YEAR (Saturday Evening Post)

"I told you so" is a cry that has never come from Godfrey N. Nelson, who writes on taxation for the New York Times. But he certainly has license to give tongue to it. Throughout the hearings on the endless tax shifts of the Government, Mr. Nelson consistently pointed out what was wrong about many of the Administration's proposals.

The Administration's tax wizards since have agreed with Mr. Nelson on many of the mistakes he pointed out. But their agreement never came before the original proposals had been made the law of the land, of course.

The Government's newest theory on finance is that by spending away we are likely to reach a national income of $80,000,000,000 a year, and that when we do, "present tax laws will yield enough each year to balance each year's expenses."

Mr. Nelson, writing in The Times, notes that we once had an income of more than $80,000,000,000 a year, in 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929. But, he points out, in the four years when we had such an income, the normal-income-tax rate and income-tax rate in the highest bracket reached a combined peak rate of 25 per cent. And today the peak rate is 70 per cent. Then, going back to the five years preceding the $80,000,000,000 years, Mr. Nelson presents the following comparison between national income and peak tax rates.

Table with 3 columns: Year, National Income, Peak Tax Rate. Data for years 1921-1925.

Is it simply a strange coincidence that our national income increased as our peak tax rate declined? Isn't it possible, on the evidence in the record, that our present level of tax rates is one of the chief obstacles toward the achievement of an income of $80,000,000,000 annually? Mr. Nelson raises a very interesting question.

ARGENTINE BEEF

(From the Portland (Ore.) Oregonian) Fiction couldn't possibly be sillier. The government of the United States has been buying surplus beef for years, and plowing under cows; and all the while the Navy has been purchasing 500,000 pounds of corned beef annually from Argentina, paying 9 cents a pound to avoid the home price of about 23 cents. No, fiction couldn't beat that. If it is ever beaten, it will be by the New Deal itself.

EXPLOITING LABOR

There has been a great deal said about exploiting labor. Invariably, those people who talk about exploiting labor have no conception whatever as to how labor can be exploited and who does the exploiting. When people who pose as great friends of labor, but seldom employ labor or furnish jobs are asked how labor can be exploited by capital, they express generalities, such as not paying the laborer what he is worth. But they do not say how they arrive at what the laborer is worth, so their statements mean nothing. They are confused when asked how they determine what labor is worth. They invariably say that they do not give him a living wage; and when asked whether a man should be paid a living wage whether he produces it or not, some will say "yes" and some will say "no." If they say "yes," they cannot explain how the employer can continue to pay out more than a worker produces.

There might occasionally be, under rare circumstances, that capital exploits labor but for every case that capital exploits labor, there is undoubtedly 10 cases that labor exploits capital. Nine out of every 10 employers go broke because they pay out more than they take in.

The only way that I can think of that labor can be exploited by the owners of capital is that the owner of capital pays the laborer less for doing a service than he could get another person permanently to do the same identical service, and then does not wisely reinvest this savings but uses it to satisfy his own vanity. If he wisely reinvests this saving, he is not exploiting labor as a whole because it rebounds to the benefit of all other workers and consumers. This exploitation, however, is relatively very little, for the reason that when an employer gets the reputation that he will not pay men what they are worth on a free market and tries to keep them ignorant of their real value, then it is difficult—if not impossible—for this employer to get competent help. So his growth is retarded and he does not play much of a factor in total employment. Then, again, with modern methods of communication and transportation, when a worker finds that he can get more reward elsewhere, he shortly changes his position so that the exploiting period is usually very short. And the man who is constantly changing help, is very frequently exploited himself before he realizes that the new employe is not producing as much as someone else will do the same job for, so the total exploiting is very limited.

The Real Exploiters

Who are the real exploiters of labor? The real exploiters of labor are other laborers. One laborer exploits another laborer. And how is this done? The biggest scale on which this is done is the so-called laborers working for the Federal Government who do not produce an amount equivalent to what they receive. And this extra wealth that they consume, and do not produce, is exploiting other labor. The government now is taking about 28 per cent or 30 per cent of the national income. The people working for the government certainly do not produce more than 10 or 15 per cent of the production. So they are exploiting the private laborers of 10 or 15 per cent of the national income. Laborers include of course, congressmen.

Another way one laborer exploits another laborer is by preventing other laborers from having the right to compete. This is invariably done by public opinion that permits labor unions limiting the number that dare learn the trade and join the union. The C.I.O. recognizes this exploitation that the American Federation of Labor perpetrates.

Another place where one laborer exploits other laborers is the arbitrary wages established by railroad unions who threaten to stop all railroad transportation unless the other workers consent to pay the wages they demand.

A splendid illustration of one laboring group exploiting another laboring group is the recent coal strike. Every dollar of wages that the coal miners get, more than other people are willing to perform the same service for, is exploited from all other laborers who consume coal in any manner, either for heating, transporting or furnishing power to manufacture commodities they consume. Yes, labor is exploited and the government, instead of protecting one laborer from another, has been devoting its time and energy in trying to prevent capital from exploiting labor. And in so doing, they have made laws that have prevented millions of workers from having jobs and they did this solely because the laborers, the Congressmen and the Senators wanted their jobs at fictitious wages, whether it exploited millions of other workers or not. Probably the Congressmen are the greatest exploiters of laborers as a whole, because of their greed and selfishness for positions of power, prestige and fictitious remuneration for their ability.

It is up to the laboring people as a whole to recognize who are the real exploiters of labor. There is little hope for this for some time. Labor has not been exploited enough yet to realize who the exploiters are. They are still fighting straw men set up by the real exploiters to detract the attention of the laboring man from the real exploiters.

Behind The News Of The Day

By MADEJIN BLITZSTEIN

NEA Service Special Correspondent PHILADELPHIA, June 9—The complex financial affairs of Moe L. Annenberg, the man who makes millions out of race horses without betting on them, are about to go before a federal grand jury in Chicago.

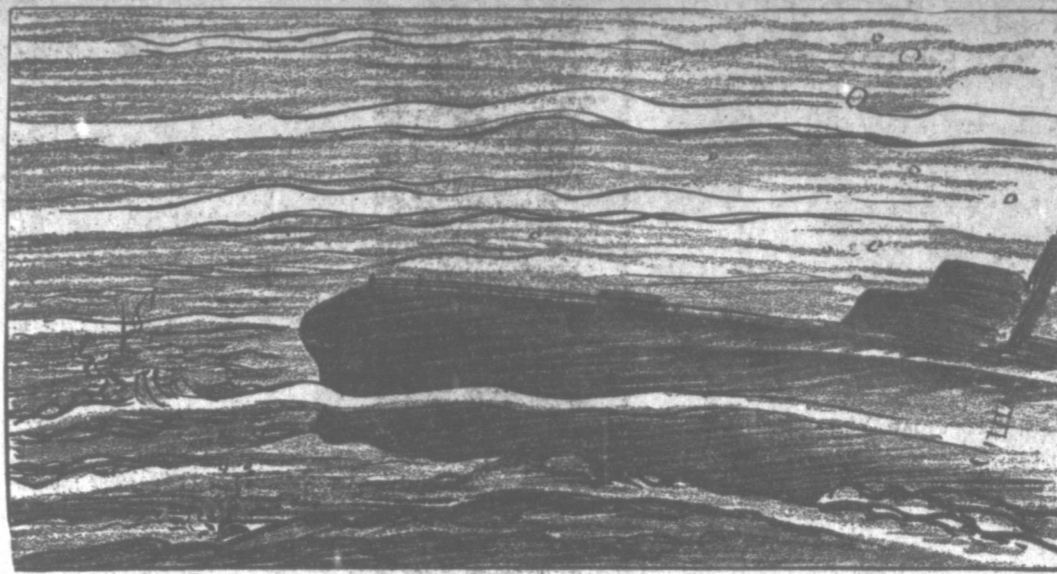

On June 5, this body begins winnowing through a mountain of data on Annenberg, much of which was compiled by the Department of Justice in Washington. The task will be to determine whether Annenberg owes the government any back taxes on his fabulous income in the years between 1933 and 1936, and whether, if so, the evasion involved a deliberate effort to defraud the government.

Moe Annenberg is a pleasant, lean, gray-haired, 61-year-old man who never gambles. He places no bets, owns no tracks, runs no horses, makes no books. But he has built into a business, estimated at $50,000,000 a year, the furnishing of information to those who do.

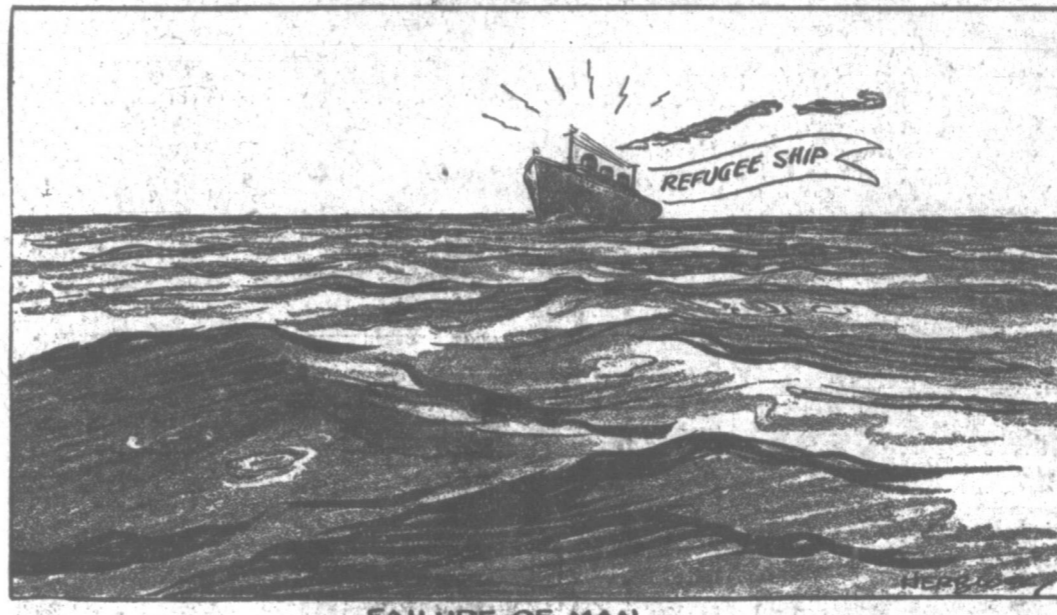

Needs All Joe Toot's Needs

The horse player, whose name is legion or sucker, according to the point of view, bumps perhaps a billion and a half dollars a year into bets. But before he does so, he requires a lot of information about re-

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

Here are five more questions about health. There are five possible answers listed for every question, but only one is right. This is an examination in which you can give yourself a mark and learn something at the same time.

If your mark is 100, you are well informed. If you label yourself 60, you are only reasonably well informed. If you get less than 60, you should learn more about health and disease in order to live longer and to be happier while you are living.

- 1. Shaving the hair from any part of the body makes it: (a), thicker; (b), coarser; (c), finer; (d), curlier; (e), has no effect.
2. Homogenized milk is milk that (a), comes from goats; (b), has been boiled; (c), has been thoroughly mixed under pressure; (d), has the cream removed; (e), is sour.
3. In a good standing position the shoulders are (a), held forward; (b), the shoulders are held back; (c), the shoulders are straight across; (d), right shoulder is raised; (e), left shoulder is raised.
4. The pituitary gland is located in (a), the chest; (b), the abdomen; (c), the head; (d), the heart; (e), the liver.
5. The three diseases most feared by mankind are (a), smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever; (b), whooping cough, measles, pneumonia; (c), tuberculosis, cancer, syphilis; (d), rickets, sore throat, rheumatism; (e), chingles, eczema and rhinitis.

ANSWERS: 1. Investigations show that shaving has no noticeable effect except to remove the hair. 2. Homogenized milk is whole milk which has been completely mixed under pressure so as to contain equal amounts of butter fat throughout with the fat globules broken up into smaller units. 3. In a good standing position the head is back, the chin in, the abdomen flat, the back straight, the knees slightly flexed, and the toes pointed rather straight forward. This will keep the shoulders in the correct position for the person concerned. 4. The pituitary gland is located in the skull and contains portions affecting the growth of the body, the sex glands, the development of the hair and many other factors. 5. The three diseases most feared by mankind are tuberculosis, cancer and syphilis.

Tuberculosis, once called captain of the men of death, is a disease about which the public has been extensively educated.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

"Heap no roses on this mound, Roses that he loved so well, Why bewilder him with roses That he cannot see nor smell? He is happy where he lies With the dust upon his eyes."

Yes, Jerome Rapstine of the White Deer community has gone back to the earth, and his clean dust will mingle with the soil that he always loved. For Jerome Rapstine was a farmer, and a good one, too, and his nature was as lavish as that of his productive acres when there was a good season in the ground. Jerome Rapstine, although of Polish descent, was a patriot of the purest type because he loved the soil of America, and he loved particularly that square of land which he called his own, and a man cannot be a patriot if he does not love the land. Jerome Rapstine imparted his love of the soil to his 10 children and he taught them to make it as productive as he had made it. . . . And so people remembered these things yesterday at his funeral in Sacred Heart church in White Deer. Father Zienta remembered them, and there were no flowers, no roses on his casket. Jerome Rapstine would have wished it that way. He didn't really need flowers to impress his friends and neighbors with his greatness. They knew. And so there were only candles and a cross. They hinted of the lavish hospitality that one always met in his house. Food and refreshments were always offered, for Jerome Rapstine, bless his sweet soul, was proud to be able to give of his means and goods. . . . He loved the good earth and that love was reciprocated in fine crops, and the strength of the soil became his, and now it has gone back to the earth; and so no wonder there was loneliness and grief, stark, unashamed on the faces of the pallbearers. No wonder his friends came from Groom, from Pampa, from all over the Panhandle to his funeral. . . . Farwell, Jerome Rapstine, we shall not forget you soon!

What Do You Know About BEAUTY?

This is the eleventh in a series of 12 quizzes prepared by NEA Service writers and columnists who are regular contributors to this newspaper.

BY ALICIA HART, Writer of NEA "Glorifying Yourself"

- Presenting a quiz on prettiness, which can be pretty easy or pretty hard. If you score 80 or better, you are pretty good. You get 20 for each correct answer.
1. A golden beige coat of amian is now considered smarter than a dark brown one. True or false?
2. Face powder should match your fill in the blank space.
3. Whom should you consult before going on a strict reducing diet?
4. Give two reasons why a conscientious manicurist always buffs your nails before she applies liquid polish.
5. Heavy, exotic perfumes are most suitable for summer wear. True or false?
Answers to these questions will be found on the Classified Page.

So They Say

The price they must pay, and which I am sure they will pay gladly, is the performance of the high duty of supporting our government at all times, and of living here as good neighbors.

—PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, welcoming new citizens through naturalization.

I know many young couples who have put off having babies because of the expense of hospital and medical care, and I cannot see that anything has been done in recent years to help remedy this situation.

—DR. HENRY F. HELMHOLTZ, president of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

It is not a question of the Japanese having the right to do so (stop and search neutral ships). It is something that is necessary and which we are doing.

Tex's Topics

By Tex DeWeese

SPRING AND THE approach of summer do things to one. Take Mrs. Harry A. Nelson, of Route 1, Miami. . . . It has driven her to the point where she has written a very brief, but to the point—and as described in her own words—"poetic gem" (?) . . . She calls it "Spring in the Panhandle," and it goes like this:

When the dust is in the air, And the ground is brown and bare;

It gives us all a scare— That our crops are 'Gone With the Wind.'

WELL, MAYBE IT'S us. . . . Maybe we're wrong. . . . No appreciation for the finer things in life. . . . Jackie Coogan, says a story from Hollywood, had to shake a small boy for a scene in "Million Dollar Legs." . . . He shook so lustily that his (Jackie's) toupee fell off. . . . Coogan, you know is among the fairly baldish movie actors who hide the nudity of their foreheads with a toupee. . . . And this reminds us that of all the Hollywood "toupees" probably the hardest to detect is that of Charlie McCarthy's stooge, Edgar Bergen. . . . Perhaps you noticed it in a colored short in a local theater this week.

Almost everybody you meet these summer days has the fishin' or vacation fever. . . . They're itching to get away from it all. . . . Then, after they do get away from it, they itch like all get out to get back in the harness again. . . . Human nature is funny. . . . Most folk always are wanting to do something they're not doing at the time they're wishing. . . . Then when they finally get around to doing the thing they wanted to be doing—they wish they were again doing the thing they were doing when they wished to be doing the thing they are NOW doing. . . . When you get that figured out, let us know.

JUST AS SOON as Pampa's Top O' Texas Fiesta is out of the way next week, the Fiesta is to begin hearing and reading a lot about that big Pampa News-Pampa Lions Soap Box Derby that comes up the third week in July. . . . That's going to be the biggest thing of its kind ever staged in the Panhandle. . . . The Soap Box Derby has been lying low to give the Fiesta plenty of space and room, but don't think for a minute that any of the ardor has gone from the big event.

YOU HAVE TO hand it to the boys who didn't quit on the Fiesta Whisker deal, and there are quite a few of them. . . . Each looks like some kind of a strange bush from the mesquite country, but they have proved to the world that they have what it takes to stick-to-it-iveness. Lewis Curry has probably the town's best set of Burnseys. . . . Lowell Pendrick resembles the Lone Ranger after being lost for a month on the desert. . . . He comes nearest to my mental picture of what Billy the Kid must have looked like.

This column was written late Tuesday night before we took off for the state press convention at Lubbock. . . . Much water could have passed under the bridge or over the dam by this time if you know what we mean, or do you? . . . Incidentally, O. T. Lindsey, former deputy in the Gray county sheriff's office now is working out of the marshall's office at Lubbock.

as well as its distribution during the depression years. —PRESIDENT ROCK SLEEVSTER, of the American Medical Association.

I want to be expused and get out of here. —REPRESENTATIVE ALLEN T. TREADWAY, Mass., as the Ways and Means committee discussed a House vote on the Townsend Plan.

After all, we cannot have millions of unemployed in this country and allow that condition to be kept alive year in and year out without threatening the very existence of the republic. —U. S. SENATOR HOMER T. BONE, Washington.

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 8—All over the lot: You enter one big sound stage buildings at Columbia studio, pick your way through a maze of timber bracing and electric cables, climb about 50 feet of stairs to enter a door—and you are in the visitors' gallery of the Senate chamber at Washington.

It is an exact and vice-sized duplication, even to the vice presidential busts in their niches around the room and the senators' desks, which were made by a Washington firm and shipped here. The senators themselves, however, have not been chosen for likeness to members of the real upper house, although the Senate president, Harry Carey, does look faintly like John Garner.

The story of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" is hoopla Americanism, but it also is an indictment, shady and ruthless politics as it sometimes is practiced in the top circles. So nobody is identified, nor are the two main parties mentioned. But movie customers who have seen the real Senate chamber will notice that Jimmy Stewart, who is Mr. Smith, sits on the Democratic side.

Director Frank Capra hired 600 extras to sit in the visitors' gallery and a full quota of 96 senators, 24 pages and the usual clerks, reporters and press correspondents. One of the latter, in the press gallery over the clock, has been assigned the job of moving the clock hands with an unseen mechanism. At the beginning of each scene it must show a certain time and keep time during it. I saw the first shot, which came after three days of rehearsal and it lasted six and a half minutes from the calling-to-order to the sweating in of Mr. Smith.

JUST CALL ME LIZ

Next step: Warner Brothers where Bette Davis was playing her first scene in "Elizabeth of Essex." This was a big one, too, and also in a legislative hall of sorts—a vast, thronged throne room with the red-headed, regally pale queen sitting in state.

You probably wouldn't even recognize Miss Davis at first, and she hardly knows herself, she said, "Why my own dogs won't even have anything to do with me!"

The set is supposed to be closed to all but members of the actual company because the studio is worried about the nerves of its busiest actress. She is nervous, too, but not about the people on the sidelines. "I feel like an awful fool," she confided between shots, "sitting up there and pretending to be a queen. And what a queen!"

But Miss Davis wasn't nearly so nervous as Evrol Flynn, who had come to headquarters to report his progress in the war. Since Essex is supposed to enjoy a certain degree of intimacy with Elizabeth, the script requires him sometimes to address her as "Your Majesty" and sometimes simply as "Madame."

In his first speech before her Flynn fumbled these terms: "Your Majesty" and so "Madame—Your Majesty" and then he halted, knowing the take was spoiled.

Said the ultra-regal Miss Davis: "Just call me 'Liz' Or 'Diszy Lizzy'."

SOMETHING NEW IN WESTERNS

With western pictures proving themselves in such a gratifying way at the box-office the studios have been searching frantically for unusual plots. But a flicker called "Bad Lands," now being directed by Lew Landers on location at Victorville, must be given all honors for novelty.

The menace is a band of Indians, who snipe at a group of 10 white men barricaded—but the Indians never are seen on the screen. Only the sound of their guns is heard.

Although no women appear in the picture, the whole thing happens because a woman is murdered. There are no process shots in the picture. Everything actually will have been enacted, with real scenery.

The rescuing U. S. Cavalry, although riding hell-for-leather in the established tradition, doesn't get there in time; the two survivors have gone hopelessly crazy just before they arrive!

There were 2,374 airports and landing fields in the United States on January 1, 1939.

STORIES IN STAMPS

When U. S. Cavalry Rode to the Rescue

IN modern movie thrillers, depicting the "Old West" of the frontier era, who always arrives just in time to save the hero and heroine from death? The United States cavalry, of course! Guidons flying, bugles sounding the charge, the hard-riding blue-coats of the films sweep Indians and outlaws from the plains just as the real-life cavalymen did years ago.

There is no more brilliant chapter in the history of the United States Army than its campaigns against the Indians, protecting the emigrant, the railroad, the settlers.

Deprived of his hunting, robbed of his lands, the Indian savagely fought the relentless westward movement of the white man. Against these thousands of Indians the Army pitted its puny strength, and won. Between 1869 and 1875 no less than 200 battles were fought. In most cases the whites were heavily outnumbered.

To the Army, therefore, must go much of the credit for the winning of the west. The troops offered the only protection the wilderness knew. Forts were established along both Oregon and Santa Fe trails.

When the Indians went on the warpath, settlers rushed to their protective walls. And how many times the cavalry rode—movie style—to the rescue of a surrounded wagon train or a besieged settlement will never be recorded.

This little heralded achievement of the Army is depicted above on the eight-cent stamp of the Trans-Mississippi "Omaha" Exposition series of 1898, dark lilac, enlarged. It shows troops guarding a frontier wagon train.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers who imagine backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are the main organs of taking the excess acids and wastes out of the blood. Most people pass about 2 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney aches that are not poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Bill Williams of Groom was elected president of the Alanreed Homecoming at the annual reunion held Wednesday at the Alanreed school.

Williams succeeds Miriam Wilson of Pampa as head of the organization of Alanreed old timers. Other officers elected were Mrs. J. T. Blakney, Alanreed, vice-president, and Mrs. H. G. Gull, Alanreed, secretary-treasurer.

The homecoming event was opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the Alanreed gymnasium. A basket lunch was served at noon, followed by a softball game at 2 o'clock.

A team composed of Alanreed boys, led by Arthur Snyder, defeated a team composed for the most part of county officials 18 to 7 in a seven-inning game.

Jack Hessey and Sheriff Cal Rose composed the county officials battery. Other players on the team were R. C. Wilson, county auditor, Deputies James F. Stewart and John Hudson, and Deputy Hudson's son, D. L. Hudson, Charles Thut, county clerk, Clifford Braly, district attorney, W. R. Frazer, court reporter, W. E. James, county treasurer, Charlie Carpenter, county commissioner, J. J. Helms and E. G. Stapp.

There were 200 persons registering at the homecoming, the fourth annual reunion of Alanreed old timers, with points as distant as New Mexico, Houston, and Galveston, represented.

In addition to the Pampans listed above, other Pampans present included, F. E. Leach, county tax assessor collector, and Mrs. Leach, Avis Thompson, deputy district clerk, and M. M. McMillan.

Hot Oil Trial To Be Held In Tyler Court

TYLER, June 8 (AP)—The case in which a number of Texas oil operators are charged with conspiring to violate the Connally oil act has been transferred from the U. S. district court at Sherman to Tyler.

An order signed by Federal Judge Randolph Bryant on file here today and dated June 5 said the defendant's having requested it and the government offering no objections, the transfer was ordered.

This was before Judge Bryant disqualified himself to hear the case. The case is one in which John W. Gilliland, Al Meadows and R. G. Trippett, oil operators of Dallas and Shreveport, the Bell General Pipe Line company and 22 others, mostly employees, several of whom live in Tyler, are charged.

Stamp Collectors To Have Fiesta Display

A large stamp display will be placed in the window of the Pampa Office Supply company during the Top O' Texas Fiesta next Tuesday and Wednesday will be assembled tonight at a meeting of the Pampa Stamp club in the civil service room in the basement of the postoffice at 7:30 o'clock.

Anyone having unusually interesting stamps, first issues or cancellations are urged to take them to the meeting tonight. A part of the display has already been completed. A group of Berger collectors will bring a display for the window.

Model Train To Be In Fiesta Parade

One of the features of the Top O' Texas Fiesta parade will be the novel miniature train which is being exhibited by the Santa Fe Railway.

This attractive train model will be shipped here from Topeka, Kansas, by railway officials who are cooperating with the local Fiesta committee.

A crew of two is required to handle the consist, which includes gondolas, refrigerator, stock and other freight equipment, as well as a caboose.

It was constructed by employees of the Santa Fe shops at Topeka, originally for local exhibition purposes. Demands for exhibition of the train in conjunction with other celebrations became so widespread that railway executives were unable to respond to all requests. The expense of freighting the cars was another difficulty to be overcome.

In assigning the train to the Pampa Fiesta celebration, company officials declared that they were happy to be able to cooperate with the local committee.

all members of this house, whose independence and courage I honor, that if they continued to oppose his will and refuse to do his bidding they would attend to their political destruction in every district of this state. How easy is the choice between honor and disgraceful submission to this apostle of hate and distrust.

"Not only our own legislature has been the target of his hateful tirades because of its independence and fortitude; but likewise has the press of this state been subjected to his cruel and unprincipled efforts to prejudice our people against those who refuse to follow his hollow pipings. I charge that the condemnations made by this man against the press of Texas is not because it is a 'controlled' press but because it has steadfastly refused to be controlled and has exercised a courage and independence not found in a radio microphone.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Only a gentle push was necessary to tilt the stock market downward in today's market. After some opening hesitancy, prices backed away from a point...

Today's 'obituaries': C. P. Doyle, 403 North Zimmer, worked on his first well at Sartwell, Pa. It was located on Catholic church property.

Bob Harper, 510 E. Scott, helped drill his first well six miles south of Coffeyville, Kans., in 1916. Since then he has worked in the following fields: Sedan, Kans., 1919; Electra, 1921; Bristow, 1923; Cromwell, 1925; Borer, 1926; Hamilton, Colo., 1927; Wink, 1928. In 1947 and 1948 Mr. Harper was a soldier in the American Expeditionary Forces.

J. M. Hash worked on the first producing oil well in the Panhandle fields in 1920. It was Gulf No. 2 and was located on the Burnett ranch. Previous to that time, Mr. Hash helped drill in the Gulf No. 1, a gas well, in July, 1920. Mr. Hash lives at 719 North West street.

H. B. Landrum, 1118 East Francis, worked on the Sun company's Landrum No. 1 Petrolia. That was in 1905 and 1908. Mr. Landrum then worked in the Petrolia field from 1905 to 1916. He was in the Burk field in 1918 and 1919. Then he worked on wells at Nocona, Wichita and Electra.

Otto Gross worked as toolpusher on his first well two miles southwest of Geneva Ind., in 1896. At present he is working for the Nabob Oil company southeast of LeFors. He lives at McLean on the LeFors ranch.

Ora A. Wagner, drilled his first well in 1916. It was a wildcat in northwestern Oklahoma. Thereafter he drilled at Eastland, Ranger, Rising Star, Cross Cut, and Pioneer, all in Texas from 1919-23. He worked in the Poison Spider and Salt Creek, Wyo., fields from 1923-34. He has been in the Panhandle since 1934. Mr. Wagner lives at 100 North Wynne.

H. C. Showers who works for the Southern Petroleum Exploration company here, helped drill his first well at Allamore, Okla., in 1912. It was known as the Camble-Luce. Mr. Showers then made the El Dorado, Kans., boom where he worked until 1916. He was in the Ranger field until 1919, at Brokenridge until 1921, Bull Hill, Okla., until 1922; Fayell, Tex., until 1923; Okmulgee, Okla., until 1924; and Bartlesville, Okla., until 1933.

Hugh Richards, 210 North Starkweather, helped drill his first well about 21 years ago north of Okmulgee, Okla. His next job was in the Lyons-Quinn pits. In 1918 he went to Henryetta, Okla. From 1919 to 1920 he worked in Central Oklahoma—Okmulgee, Mounds, Beggs, Prior, Fair Hill. In 1924 he worked at Fairfax. From 1926 to 1937 he drilled

Freight Rates Hit At Press Meeting

LUBBOCK, June 8 (AP)—The recently-organized freight rate equalization federation carried its case before the annual convention of the Texas Press association here today with a plea for a unified movement "to abolish these unequal freight rate zones."

The speaker was D. A. Bauden, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at the recent West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Abilene. The transportation bill paid annually by the people of Texas was computed by Bauden at more than 30 per cent of goods moving in commerce.

Bauden said the question of transportation and its costs are of paramount importance to Texas because the state is far removed from the center of the nation's population and is primarily a producer of raw materials depending on transportation to get to distant domestic and foreign markets. He placed at $10,000,000,000 (B) the value of Texas goods and products moving annually from origin to destination and from point of the raw material to point of consumption by rail, truck, pipeline and water. On all of this, he said, Texas shippers and consumers pay the highest level of transportation charges in the nation. He said:

"The people of Texas are paying freight rate charges for equal haul from 60 to 85 per cent higher than half the people of the United States are paying. I refer to the people presiding in the so-called official zone composed of the Northeastern states."

There was a brief pause, then the martial music of The Star Spangled Banner. Again the king raised his right hand in solemn salute and so stood to the playing of the national anthem. As the music stopped, the cannons across the plaza began the 21-gun salute.

Gray County Girls To Broadcast Over KGNC On Saturday

Gray county will be on the air Saturday, June 10, at 1:30 p. m. over KGNC, Amarillo, when the 4-H girls will give a 30-minute program. Musical selections, a playlet on the poultry work of the Gray county girls, a story of their clothing accomplishments and an account of the encampment held at Bruce's Nursery June 8 and 9 will be the program.

The members selected to go will be among those doing outstanding work this year and will be accompanied by Mrs. Julia E. Kelley county home demonstration agent.

HEPBURN SHOWS LOUDLY SHE SCARES BURGLAR IN HOUSE

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Katherine Hepburn, the actress, disclosed today that she chased a burglar from her town house when he awakened her from a nap Monday morning. Her about "what the hell are you doing there?" to uninvited the man, she said, he dropped a pearl necklace and a heavily-laden jewel case and fled. Miss Hepburn, starting in a current Broadway play, took after him with her flowing dressing gown entwined in her hands. They eluded her down the broad staircase of her four-story brownstone house on East 40th street, the noise attracting her butler and cook. The burglar bent down to the front door, however, was jammed into a waiting car and zoomed off. The intruder was flinching the jewel case in her bosom when Miss Hepburn was awakened.

To supplement British-French security front, England attempts to line up Moslem nations of Egypt, Persia, Iraq, Arabia, and Afghanistan, shaded on above map, into bloc against Nazi and Fascist expansion. Already in control of Palestine, with friendly French in Syria, Great Britain would thus safeguard vital Suez Canal area and transportation route to India.

Sadler Advocates Truck Law Changes

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP)—Barring large trucks from Texas highways on Sundays and holidays was suggested by Jerry Sadler, member of the railroad commission, as a means of curbing crash fatalities.

Sadler expressed belief the commission should pass regulations restricting truck traffic because of the large number of commercial vehicles involved in fatal wrecks and collisions.

"On these days, large trucks would be prohibited from use of the highways from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.," the commissioner said. "However, it would be necessary to grant exemptions for trucks transporting livestock, milk or cream, fresh vegetables, fresh fish, ice cream and bakery goods. Other exceptions could be granted wherever necessary to meet various emergencies."

Sadler said such an order would not be designed to hamper hauling or trade, its purpose being to "bring the trucking business into closest cooperation with current safety programs being fostered by various state and civic groups."

"The trucking business," he declared, "has already made improvements toward safe operation, and this would be simply another step toward furthering the program."

"Last year's tabulations reveal that trucks were involved in 1,880 accidents, in which 287 persons were killed and 1,493 were injured. Reports from the department of public safety from Jan. 1 through March 31, 1939, show 37 accidents with 38 persons killed.

BRIDE ON A BUDGET

BY JANET DORAN

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER I
AT first, when she saw the powder blue gabardine suit, Iris did not think about Bart Whitaker.

At first, there was just the shop window and the suit with the rich, gleaming strand of mink fur slung carelessly over one shoulder and the long suede gloves on the floor nearby. The suit did something to her. Crystallized a desire that had lain dormant, threading its uneasy way through so many things she had done up to now.

Then Iris remembered Bart. She had to do something about Bart, really. She had tried everything, done everything—still they were about where they were a year ago. Business was bad, Bart was cautious, thrifty and too proud to marry when he felt he couldn't support a wife.

"I'll take it with me, thanks," Iris told the salesgirl. And the little blue book in her purse said, "cash $15, balance due, $65, payments weekly."

Everyone knew Iris Ives, knew she worked in the dean's office, and was the best-dressed girl on the campus, the most popular. Few remembered that she had been the best-dressed girl in 1931, or that she was the belle of Fraternity Row, that year, though. Only Iris, and a tiny calendar in her bedroom, knew that.

By the time she had discovered the tailored linen blouse with the French cuffs, the alligator pumps, and the pinseal purse, the weekly pay checks of Miss Iris Ives were mortgaged for six months to come. But by then, Iris didn't care.

By then, she was sure, Bart would change his mind. The suit would do that.

"You ought to model, Miss Ives," the salesgirl had flattered her, when she tried on the suit. Secretly, Iris had always thought she should too. But models led precarious lives, and a private secretary, while not getting anything glamorous in the way of salary, did have a definite sum to depend on each week.

"Do you budget, Miss Ives?" the salesgirl went on. Iris nodded. She honestly believed she did. She honestly believed this was the trick in looking like a debutante, on a private secretary's salary.

At least, she thought her clothes in budget shops, agreed to pay so much a week and become what she was a living, lovely advertisement for the clothes, was able to explain, prettily, to credit managers, why this week's installment would have to go over until next week, because she had to go to the dentist. (Or the doctor, or pay her insurance, of which there was none, only it was a grand alibi, or anything else that occurred to her at the time as suitable explanation for robbing Peter to pacify Paul.)

THAT night, there were many new things in the little two-room apartment where she invited Bart for Saturday suppers. There was the deep lounge chair she bought because Bart liked to read the paper while she prepared the food she had purchased from Mrs. Kemble's home kitchen shop. There was the smoking stand, and both would cost her but a dollar a week, and the set of glazed blue pottery dishes included as premiums with the bargain chair.

There was the food-dampeningly old-fashioned home-cooked baked beans from a huge crock Mrs. Kemble cooked each Saturday, and hot crisp rolls, and brown bread. There was the salad Iris assembled from lettuce, halves of canned pears and pineapple rings, and a jar of Mrs. Kremble's home-made salad dressing. There was the steak. And a strawberry shortcake, because it was late May and berries were in from Florida, and a box of prepared shortcake biscuit required only a bit of milk, and a hot oven to transform it into a delectable dessert. But the steak was the main item. Even Bart raved about it.

Then she remembered Bart. She took the suit, so much down, so much a month.

"Good steak feed costs you $1.50 apiece, these times; and you cook one for a fraction of that, Iris. I don't see how you do it."

Iris never told him. Bart was a bound for figures and if he knew how much these Saturday suppers cost her, there'd be a riot. Too, he thought she cooked the things herself.

STILL it was worth it. Bart had his own little radio shop, and was coming along fine. And he was by far the most attractive man she had ever known. Though he hadn't reached the point yet wherein he realized the value of dressing to look the part of a successful, rising young business man.

"What for, Iris?" he argued, when she mentioned a sale on men's suits. "Why should I mortgage my future just to keep up with the Joneses? This suit is good enough for me—had it three years now, and there's still plenty of good wear left in it. A man has to think of his business these days."

So he hadn't bought the suit. But secretly, Iris speculated on what she could do to improve him. He was really quite handsome. Not quite so tall as some of the glamor boys she had known from Fraternity Row, but well-built.

A sturdy, dependable young man, Bart Whitaker. Ambitious, thrifty. A good catch. And when a girl was sliding into her 26th year, she had to consider such things.

THE evening paper was folded on the smoking stand, and Iris stood behind the new chair, wearing the new slipper satin house coat that zipped to the very floor, and made her waist look not an inch more than 20 inches. Bart flung open the door and grinned. "Hi, honey," he greeted her. Not noticing the new housecoat which had cost $11, and was palest lilac satin with a sash of deep royal purple, noticing only the new lounge chair, so deep and inviting and comfortable looking.

And the paper on the smoking stand. "Hey, what is this, a wifely touch? Or do I notice a little solid comfort offered the tired business man?"

"Goo!" Iris chuckled, but secretly, her mind was winging back to the new suit, spread out on the bed, and the new fur scarf and gloves, the handmade linen blouse. After supper, she'd put them on, to wear to the movies.

After she had fed the brute, she'd spring the new suit, and it would do what the lilac satin house coat, and the good food, and the comfortable lounge chair had failed to do. It would make Bart realize she was an attractive girl. Make him see she wouldn't languish around unnoticed, unappreciated forever.

Over the shoulder, Iris mentioned the offer the dean's wife had made her.

"They're going to Japan for the summer vacation, Bart, and they want me to go along too. He plans to do a book on his travels."

"Great," Bart began enthusiastically, "chance of a lifetime for you honey. Nothing like traveling, and with all your expenses paid."

Iris cleared away the things, stacked them in the sink. She slipped out of the house coat and into the suit. Then she came out quietly, so not to rouse Bart from his paper. Standing beside him, she swept the paper aside and watched recognition leap alive in his face.

"You see, darling," she told him regretfully, "I might not come back to Linwood, after a trip like that. Though of course there's a chance I might decide not to accept the offer. If . . . if . . ."

"Look, honey," Bart began patiently, "I'm barely clearing $300 a week now. That wouldn't run a house and pay expenses. So you'd better . . ."

The richness of the wool gabardine turned her eyes to deep violet, and the mink added entrancing shadows to her lovely face.

"I'm making $25, Bart. That's $75. And we're not growing any younger. If we can manage as we are apart, now, we could save by pooling expenses and income. I know we could. There are budgets. Figure every penny."

"I've this suit, Bart—I wouldn't have to buy anything else."

"I should say not. It's a knock-out, honey. But let's figure this."

U. S. MUSIC

Smith. Kate can be calm in Presidential company, having serenaded the Presidents Wilson, Harding, and Coolidge, but her first Royalty is somewhat unimpressed.

White House Range. This being a vaudeville show of catholic tastes, Mrs. Roosevelt even invited a cowboy singer. He is Alan Lomax, who next to Silver (Bill) and the Lone Ranger is America's most popular singer of the plains and prairie. Lomax likes to croon how he is headin' to "The Last Roundup" and how he is persuadin' the little dogie to git along.

American Britons. To North Carolina falls the honor of having contributed two of the star acts in the White House musicale. One of them is the WPA Negro Chorus from Chapel Hill. The other is the Soco Gap dance team from Waynesville in the North Carolina hills.

These Soco Gap dancers—eight men and eight women—responding to signals of "Callin' Sam Queen, are proud to regale King George and Queen Elizabeth with square dances such as the Queen Elizabeth of 300 years ago might have seen. These dances have been well preserved, because the Anglo-Saxon ancestors of the Soco Gappers, who retired to the North Carolina hills in Colonial times, seldom came out, and their customs stayed with them.

The native in the region even boast that the North Carolina Mountain folk are more British than the Britons themselves! And the Soco Gappers go before the royal visitors without fright, for these mountain folk are a proud and independent people. Mostly well-to-do, they own sizable farms on their huge land tracts in the Great Smokies.

Not-Forgotten Indian. The redman—remember?—is represented in the show by a red woman, Princess Te Ata, who has entertained at the White House before. The princess presents a dramatization of American Indian folklore, dances, songs, and legends. In private life, Princess Te Ata is the wife of Dr. Harrison Fisher, curator of the Hayden Planetarium, New York.

The Soco Gap square dancers from Haywood county, N. C., are farmers, mechanics, school teachers and housewives. They will dance the "Dive and Shoot the Owl," "King's Highway" and "London Bridge," the men wearing white shirts and dark trousers, and the girls wearing print dresses.

British Royal is "just folks" to four young girls from Coon Creek, Ky.—Rosie Ledford, 23; her sister, Lily May, 22; Violet Koehler, 21; and Daisy Lange, 19. Lily May says she keeps a snake's rattlers in her violin to improve the tone. The girls "figured" they would sing "How Many Biscuits Can You Eat," and "Knock 'Em Daid."

The North Carolina Negro spiritual singers were trained by Mrs. Nell Hunter, who selected 13 musicians from WPA community singing groups in Durham and Winston Salem, N. C., to sing "Humble Yourself," and "Wade in De Water."

League Adopts New Playoff

4 Top Clubs To Play In Final Series

Special To The NEWS
 ABILENE, June 8.—A split season in the West Texas-New Mexico Baseball league was approved at a meeting of league officials and team representatives here yesterday. The first half will end on June 29 and the teams will start off with a clean sheet the next.

The club leading the league on June 28 will automatically become the No. 1 team in the Shaughnessy play-off at the end of the season. At the end of the second half the first four clubs will enter the play-off providing the first half winner is one of them. Otherwise the play-off lineup will consist of the first half winner and the three top teams in the second half.

League directors gave Abilene's baseball club and its manager, Fincher E. Withers, a vote of confidence and by resolution expressed the hope that Abilene would remain a member of the league.

Abilene's seventh place team until recently had been unable to exert enough box office pull to meet expenses, and the players' salaries were paid for May by fan subscription. Reasonably good crowds attended the first games of a current home stand, but the loss of two double-headers on successive days to Pampa dented the fans going other places than the ball park again.

Manager Grover Setz of the Pampa Oilers attended the meeting.

Houston Wins 5th Straight

(By The Associated Press.)
 Johnny Hopp's home run gave Pletcher Ted Wilks a working margin and the Houston Buffs, winning their fifth straight, beat Oklahoma City 6-3 last night to inch a game ahead of three clubs hot after the Texas league leadership.

Two of these three fared well. Lefty Beryl Richmond pitched the Dallas Rebels to a 1-0 victory over Beaumont; San Antonio's Missions turned in an eleventh straight win, 3-2, in downing Fort Worth's Cats, but Shreveport, after winning the first game, 10-4, lost the second of a doubleheader with Tulsa, 8-6, 8-6.

Richmond got on with a walk in the fifth inning and scored the winning run for the Rebels when Hal B. Lee singled.

San Antonio broke up a 2-2 tie in the ninth to win when Silber Grisco and Swift singled in succession. Jim Blvin turned in his fourth win as he hurled the Sports to victory in the first game.

Open-Air Wrestling To Be Introduced Monday

Open air wrestling will be introduced to Pampa next Monday night with one of the rip-roaringest cards ever staged. It's a good thing Promoter Cliff Chambers is taking the roof off the Pampa athletic arena because Monday night's card would lift the roof with anything but the care necessary to remove an overhead protection.

Not only will Promoter Chambers present a couple of new ruffians but he will bring back Count Otto von Ludwig and send him against Gil LaCross, the roughest mauler in the country in the main event. Ludwig has been breaking skulls in the north for several months and he claims he's ready for Danny McShane and that an upstart like LaCross won't stand in his way.

Dale Haddock, the rough Detroit mauler who made his appearance in a preliminary last Monday night, will be elevated to a semi-final with Sugi Hayamaka providing the opposition. Hayamaka beat Stanley Buresh in the main event last Monday and Chambers has decided to let him tackle Haddock to see if that ruffian is ready for a main event. The two newcomers are Pete Belcastro, woodsman from the far northwest, and Sailor Jack Adams, harbored boss of the navy. The pair are reported to be rough, tough cookies who would rather fight than eat.

LaCross, still mad because he didn't get a main event last week, is sorer than ever because he doesn't like Germans. He is particularly bitter against Hitlerites and Ludwig is an ardent admirer of Hitler. "I'll treat that Hun like Hitler's treating the Jews," LaCross roared when informed he had been signed to meet Ludwig.

'Shakeup' Sets Yankees Back On Winning Trail

By JUDSON BAILEY.
 Associated Press Sports Writer.

The world champion New York Yankees at last know what it is like to have a shakeup. Alarmed at the team equaling its worst slump of the season—two losses in a row—Manager Joe McCarthy took typically drastic action.

He not only benched one man, but he switched the sixth and seventh men in his batting order!

The effect was instantaneous. A chap named Joe Di Maggio, making his first appearance in centerfield for the champions in more than a month, hit a triple to bring in a run in his first time at bat and the Yankees were away to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

At the time he injured his right leg in a game April 29 Di Maggio had hit safely in seven consecutive contests and had an average of .435. In three recent appearances as a pinch-hitter he doubled once with the bases loaded and twice was walked.

Although he got no other hits yesterday, his reputation still was good enough to get him into an intentional pass in the fifth inning, filling the bases and figuring in the three-run rally which was New York's margin of victory. Lefty Gomez earned his fourth triumph of the season.

The Washington Senators handed a double drubbing to the Cleveland Indians, 10-4 and 13-9.

With Joe Haynes pitching seventh hit ball and Bobby Estalella hitting a brace of home runs, Washington had no trouble snatching the opener but the nightcap was a heartbreaker for the Indians. They scored six runs in the first two innings and had a three-run advantage going into the ninth when Cecil Travis' triple with the bases loaded along with some other authoritative blows broke up the game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates barely were able to keep half a game ahead of the Senators in sixth place with a 5-4 decision over Detroit.

The Boston Red Sox' game at St. Louis was rained out.

The Cincinnati Reds recovered from their thumping by the New York Giants sufficiently to squeeze past the Phillies, 5-4, even though outlast 13 to 8. Ival Goodman and Lonnie Frey put together a perfect relay to the plate on Moe Amovich's double to cut off the tying run in the ninth.

The Giants, who had collected 20 hits and seven homers the day before, were held to five safeties by Claude Passeau as the Cubs opened their series with a 7-1 victory.

Bill Swift's first start of the season resulted in a 2-1 shutout in favor of the Pittsburgh Pirates at Boston.

The St. Louis Cardinals drove Van Mungo out of the box in the sixth and beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-3, in a night game. It was Bill McGee's fifth victory without defeat. The game was played under protest because a drive by Johnny Mize against the centerfield railing was thought by the Dodgers to have been touched by spectators.

Guldahl May Possibly Be Too Cocksure

PHILADELPHIA, June 8 (AP)—It was still the big, hulking fairways warrior, Ralph Guldahl, against the whole blooming field as the forty-third National Open Golf championship started rolling today over the strenuous Spring Mill course.

When they began teeing off a little after dawn, every man-jack of the 160-odd other contestants had his ears peeled for news of how the "bog boy" was going. Winner the last two years in succession, Guldahl entered this one a prime favorite at 6 to 1.

Naturally, there is a lot of talk of the player most likely to break Guldahl's victorious streak—the greatest since Bobby Jones won two Opens, then retired from hard competition. Conversations with a half-dozen experts will elicit the names of Harry Cooper, Byron Nelson, Sam Snead, Dick Metz, Henry Picard, and some hometown pride from the forks of the creek.

Guldahl, the imperturbable, perfect shotmaker, has got in an astonishing bluff on his fellow craftsmen. Almost they seem to have an inferiority complex. They talk with no bravado. When Guldahl talks, he consciously leaves the impression it is he, Guldahl, against the rest.

Yesterday, on the sunny side of the eighteenth green, the curly-locked champion complained somebody had clipped the rough bordering the fairways of Spring Mill. He said he wanted a deep-tangled rough that would harass his opponents. It never occurred to him that one of his own shots might wind up in the wildwood.

Off hand, it might even be suggested that Guldahl is a trifle too cocksure. He has shown perfect golf to him exactly when he needed them so unostentatiously, that he can't imagine a failure. That could prove his undoing. But don't bet on it.

Another Olympic Squabble Rages

LONDON, June 8 (AP)—The international Olympic committee found itself in the thick of another international sports squabble today.

The International Ski Federation insists instructors of skiing be allowed to compete in the Olympic games. The international Olympic committee says "no" and as a result the site of the 1940 winter games may shift from St. Moritz, which wants a full skiing program, to Garmisch-Partenkirchen in the Bavarian Alps, site of the 1936 winter games.

Avery Brundage, United States delegate, said St. Moritz officials had refused to hold the games unless a full skiing program was arranged. St. Moritz can call on many crack Alpine instructors and members of Alpine regiments, groups that provide some of the greatest European stars and potent gate attractions.

If the games return to Garmisch, the repeat performance is sure to draw loud beefs from some IOC delegates who would like to see the juicy gates of the winter games assigned to their own countries.

Just the same it appears quite probable that what would happen. The international committee has determined not to change its definition of an amateur, which excludes ski instructors, and St. Moritz is just as stubborn about wanting top instructors to lure Europe's ski-conscious winter sports enthusiasts.

Oilers Lose To Midland By One Score

Lefty Loren Tiley couldn't hold the Midland Cowboys last night and the Pampa Oilers lost their tenth game of the season by a one run margin, 7 to 6. Art Verrengia went to Tiley's aid but the damage had been done and the Oilers couldn't score any more runs off Brown, who hurled six-hit ball.

The Oilers met Midland again tonight in Midland and then return home tomorrow night, bringing the Midland club with them for opponents. Tomorrow night's game will be at 8:30 o'clock. On Saturday night the teams will clash at 9:15 o'clock with women admitted free to the game. A doubleheader will be played on Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

Big Gordon Nell boled his eighteenth home run of the season last night and then added a single for good measure. Pietras assisted the Oilers with a double.

Midland got away to a three-run lead off Tiley and then added four more in the fourth before Verrengia came to his rescue. The Oilers sent two across in the fourth and added four in the sixth but Midland's Brown held the slugging Oilers the rest of the way.

Tiley fanned three and walked three while Verrengia finished with one walk and one strikeout.

The Oilers remained in third place in the league standing with 24 wins and 20 losses, leading Big Spring by two games. Clovis downed Lamesa last night while Lubbock swamped Abilene. Big Spring took a 10-inning game from Amarillo.

had hit safely in seven consecutive contests and had an average of .435. In three recent appearances as a pinch-hitter he doubled once with the bases loaded and twice was walked.

Although he got no other hits yesterday, his reputation still was good enough to get him into an intentional pass in the fifth inning, filling the bases and figuring in the three-run rally which was New York's margin of victory. Lefty Gomez earned his fourth triumph of the season.

The Washington Senators handed a double drubbing to the Cleveland Indians, 10-4 and 13-9.

Boat Races Will Feature Lake Opening

Special To The NEWS. CAADNIAN, June 8 - This city, long nesting along the shores of the river bearing the same name, at last has gone nautical.

For years, known as headquarters of the cattle man, ranches and rodeos, the type of conversation has changed until, today one hears earnest discussions of motor horsepower.

All of this talk hinges around the opening of Lake Marvin, Sunday, June 18, when cowboys of the Panhandle will try their spurs on bucking goats in place of broncs in celebration that promises to draw the largest crowd ever to visit this city.

Bathing Revue To Be Held. In addition to 10 fast boat races, a bathing revue to determine Miss Lake Marvin and a score of other entertaining features, there will be the official dedication ceremonies when W. H. Fennell, regional coordinator of the Soil Conservation Service dedicates the lake to citizens of the Southwest.

On the program with Mr. Fennell will be Gene Howe and John McNeill, president of the Panhandle Water Authority. Judge Edward C. Fisher will be master of ceremonies for the official program and he announced today that Congressman Marvin Jones, for whom Lake Marvin is named, has been invited to participate in the program as has Colonel Ernest O. Thompson, Carl Hinton and many other dignitaries of the state and nation.

$300 In Race Prizes. Just as Canadian is a pioneer city of western hospitality the committee in charge of the lake opening elected pioneer boat racers of the Panhandle to furnish spills, chills as none but the racing fraternity are capable of providing. The Plains Boat club will supply these "hell divers" in 10 races ranging from the midget size to the large and powerful inboard racers. Some of these boats are equipped with motors of more than 150 horsepower. More than $300 in cash prizes will be awarded the drivers. It was announced today by Delbert Gibson, general chairman of the program committee.

Three Motorcades From Amarillo. With announcements from Amarillo that at least three large motorcades will arrive here Sunday, June 18, from that city and a fifty-car caravan from Canyon, other cities of the Panhandle have stated that they would be here enmasse for the celebration. All cities between Amarillo and Canadian will be invited to join the motorcade, according to Clay Thornton and Milton Cox of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and two of the majors in charge of the caravans. Hours of arrival in the city will be announced later this week, the Amarillonians said.

Sea Scouts To Show Skill. More than 150 Boy Scouts will be encamped on the shores of Lake Marvin on opening day to assist in handling the large crowds. The Sea Scouts of Amarillo are being invited to demonstrate their abilities during the program at the lake.

Barbecue will be the menu honoring water conservationists, mayors, judges and other officials of the Panhandle will be invited to join luncheon on opening day just before the entertaining programs gets under way.

Members of the local committee in charge of the lake program include S. E. Allison, Hemphill director of the Panhandle Water Authority and manager of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce; Honorable John R. Caylor, mayor; Jack Lawrence, concessionaire of Lake Marvin; Delbert Gibson, president of the Chamber of Commerce and general chairman of the committee; and Judge Edward C. Fisher of Hemphill county.

Canadian To Form Boat Club. To make the celebration as nautical as possible, a meeting has been called of all boating enthusiasts in this city to form the Canadian Boat club and auxiliary which will be the second such organization to be established in the former dust bowl area of the Southwest.

12,000-Mile Job. Tickets for the Top O' Texas Fiesta rodeos are now available at six Pampa drug stores, Harvesters, Fattys, Oretney, Pampa, City and Wilson. It was announced today.

Rodeo performances will be held at 2:30 p. m. on each afternoon of the Fiesta, Tuesday and Wednesday, and at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night and at 9:15 Wednesday night, at Recreation park, a mile east of the city limits on U. S. Highway 60.

Calif. roping, bulldogging, bronc riding, steer riding, junior calf riding, Timbony Frank Keener, rodeo clown, Cecil Corbett and his "high school horse," trained Brahma bull, and Golden Eagles Palomino horses, are on the rodeo program.

In the junior calf riding contest, open to boys from 10 to 14, there has already been 10 entries, according to Ed Tracey, in charge of the part of the event. Boys can still register for the event by filling out a form and calling on Mr. Tracey at the Pampa News.

Prayer Book Fails To Save De Carlo. CHICAGO, June 8 (AP)—Dumnick de Carlo's prayer book failed to ward off the vengeance of his enemies.

Two men dumped de Carlo's bullet pierced body into the vestibule of the Mother Cabrini hospital shortly after midnight today and then sped away in an automobile.

The bullet passed through the prayer book in his vest pocket before coursing through his heart.

The police said the 30-year-old victim had a long criminal record but they could suggest no motive for the slaying.

ANSWER TO CRANIUM CRACKER. Here are correct answers to Alicia Hart's beauty quiz which appears on the Editorial Page.

1. True. 2. Skind. 3. Your doctor. 4. To stimulate circulation in the nails; to make the surface of each nail absolutely smooth.

5. False. "Hawkesbury" is the name of a newly-developed, wilt-resistant watermelon of good size and quality.

Rodeo Tickets On Sale Here. Tickets for the Top O' Texas Fiesta rodeos are now available at six Pampa drug stores, Harvesters, Fattys, Oretney, Pampa, City and Wilson. It was announced today.

Rodeo performances will be held at 2:30 p. m. on each afternoon of the Fiesta, Tuesday and Wednesday, and at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night and at 9:15 Wednesday night, at Recreation park, a mile east of the city limits on U. S. Highway 60.

Calif. roping, bulldogging, bronc riding, steer riding, junior calf riding, Timbony Frank Keener, rodeo clown, Cecil Corbett and his "high school horse," trained Brahma bull, and Golden Eagles Palomino horses, are on the rodeo program.

In the junior calf riding contest, open to boys from 10 to 14, there has already been 10 entries, according to Ed Tracey, in charge of the part of the event. Boys can still register for the event by filling out a form and calling on Mr. Tracey at the Pampa News.

Prayer Book Fails To Save De Carlo. CHICAGO, June 8 (AP)—Dumnick de Carlo's prayer book failed to ward off the vengeance of his enemies.

Two men dumped de Carlo's bullet pierced body into the vestibule of the Mother Cabrini hospital shortly after midnight today and then sped away in an automobile.

The bullet passed through the prayer book in his vest pocket before coursing through his heart.

The police said the 30-year-old victim had a long criminal record but they could suggest no motive for the slaying.

Wall Street Agents Ruling O'Daniel, Says Legislators

Skips Royalty to See Brother

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP)—Charging Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel with dictatorial attempts to bulldoze the legislature, Rep. Abe Mays of Atlanta asserted today in a radio address machinations of the executive were responsible for the death of statutory taxes to finance social security.

Speaking on the state-wide program, Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene declared the sales natural resources tax constitutional amendment favored by the governor another political promise by professional politicians intended to blind and mislead.

It was high time, he said, the people awakened to the true situation, decided whether Texas would be run by Texas citizens or by agents of Wall Street, and learned that all special interests were working for the amendment.

Stating O'Daniel had "merely assailed" legislators who in opposing the amendment had "voted their convictions," Mays charged the governor "showed the most dictatorial spirit possible."

He then attacked the amendment as a "solution" of the old age assistance problem which would limit old age assistance to $20,000,000 a year and prevent any future increases in taxes for social security.

Launching into a review of the governor's campaign pledges and recommendations to the legislature, Mays declared O'Daniel:

Promises $30 a month pensions to all over 65, and subsequently recommended assistance to those who did not have an income of more than $30 monthly.

In the campaign said no additional taxes would be needed, and at the outset of the session advocated a transaction tax.

Strongly opposed in his campaign any form of sales tax, and now not only is he begging, but demanding that members "vote his two per cent sales tax on the people."

"Surely the common people of Texas cannot read these facts and not know he has crawled on them," Mays said.

He continued with the statement the governor's "role interest is to write the natural resource ceiling, or immunity from further taxation, into the constitution.

"The people of Texas should not be fooled," he said. "There is not a special interest in Texas that opposes joint resolution 12 (the amendment). On the contrary they are all doing everything they can to see that it passes."

"All the trouble that there has been in Austin this year has been brought on from lack of leadership in the governor's office, and a direct result of his hypocritical talks each Sunday."

He said tax bills passed by the house were killed by a senate committee by pre-arranged plan after the governor had paved the way for the execution.

"I hereby charge that the pre-arranged killing of these bills," Mays said, "is due to the machinations of the governor of this state, who wanted

Yesterday, Mary is questioned for the murder of Martin while Ladd hits Shirley and Burden with special copies of a paper...

CHAPTER XXV

"I've just heard of your arrest," Ladd protested, leaning on the police commissioner's desk. Mary's eyes flashed. "You've just heard of my arrest. You've probably arranged the whole thing. I haven't worked for you for nothing."

even in the joint when the Duke kicked in," he whined. "Take him out," ordered Fenelon. Still whining, Condon was led away, his mouth twisted in a snarl. The commissioner turned to Jack. "What motive would you have for killing Martin?"

"How about Condon?" Ladd asked. "Condon is scared of going to the chair for the Janice French murder—it was murder," the commissioner went on. "We've been questioning him since the Martin killing was discovered, and he's told us everything. He'll turn state's evidence to send Nick Hart up for 20 years, and Condon himself will be lucky if he gets off with 10. There's an old pre-repeal gang killing charge against Condon, too."

"This isn't true," he shouted, pointing to the headline. "I killed Martin and I got out of it." Ladd and Fenelon exchanged glances. Mary's own expression cleared as she realized what was happening. "Well, aren't you going to do anything about it?" demanded Jack hysterically.

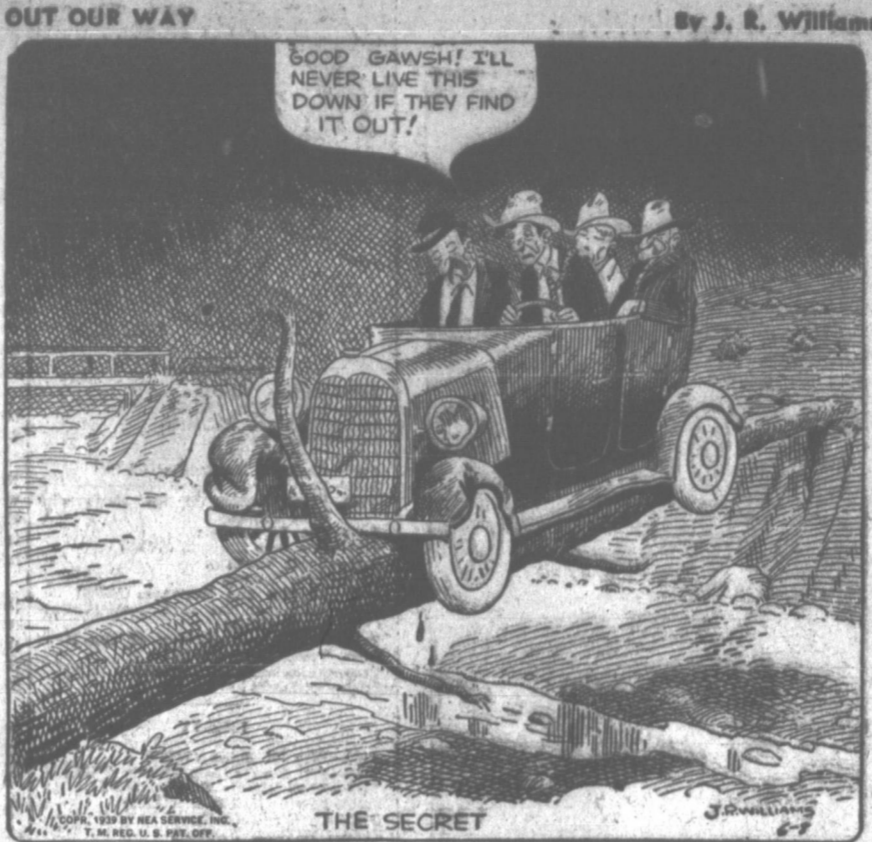

"I saw Duke Martin after they had left. He was as alive as you," "Did you kill him?" asked Fenelon skeptically. "So the Gazette claims," said Mary, again looking at Ladd.

When Ladd left police headquarters, a disconsolate managing editor, he stood on the corner, face set in a pessimistic scowl. Then suddenly he brightened. Shoulders straightened. Stepping as if he were going to a fire, he dived into a cigar store and dialed Mary Franklin's number.

"Where's the gun?" demanded the commissioner. No one had seen any gun. Then they'd all seen it, but no one could produce it. "I think you can go, Miss Franklin," interrupted the commissioner. "And you'd better take your young friends with you."

"That's simple enough. The boy was jealous. She went to Martin's place. He followed. Mary trailed them." "I can understand that," drily commented Ladd.

Hospital Has Too Many Patients, Says Institution Head

SAN ANTONIO, June 8 (AP)—Despite transfer of 50 patients from the San Antonio state hospital to the Noel hospital, the plant here still was crowded today with 200 more patients than it should have, according to Dr. W. J. Johnson, superintendent. At present there are 2,884 patients in the hospital for mental diseases and another 50 are expected to be sent to the Big Spring hospital about July 1. The 50 patients sent here the first week by bus are former residents of the West Texas area and the second group will be from the same vicinity, Dr. Johnson said.

Borger Priest Talks To Panhandle Lions

Special to The News.
PANHANDLE, June 8.—Rev. James Daly of Borger spoke to members of the Panhandle Lions club on "Crime Prevention" at the weekly luncheon Tuesday. Rev. Daly is very much opposed to reform schools as he believes they tend to harden young criminals rather than reform them. "In the past our penitentiaries were filled with older men, on an average of 50 years of age. Today our crime institutions are filled with young men," stated Rev. Daly. Rev. Daly said, "There is more crime in any five large cities in Texas, than in the empire of Great Britain," and added "if one-seventh of the money spent on convicting and housing criminals were spent on crime prevention we would soon eradicate crime."

Rev. Daly will lecture on "Crime Prevention" at a union church meeting at the Methodist church Sunday evening, June 18. An effort will be made to have a large crowd of boys and girls in attendance at the meeting.

The Lions club will celebrate their annual chicken barbecue at the 6666 ranch the evening of June 20.

Carson HD Club Will Make Field Trip To Amarillo

Special to The News.
PANHANDLE, June 8.—Members of the Home Maker's Home Demonstration club will go on a field trip to Amarillo tomorrow. The group will leave from the home of Mrs. Frank Berres at 9 o'clock Friday morning, and will enjoy a play hour and picnic lunch in Elwood park. After lunch they will be accompanied by Miss Bernice Westbrook, home demonstration agent, who will direct them on a tour of inspection through a green house to study plant life.

100th Meridian To Stay In Same Place

AUSTIN, June 7 (AP)—An epic suit involving the true location of the 100th meridian as it forms a boundary between Texas and Oklahoma apparently was concluded in the Texas Supreme Court today.
Special Justice Sidney L. Samuels of Fort Worth overruled a motion for rehearing by Gus L. Wortham of Houston who for years had sought to have 28,000 acres along the boundary declared a vacancy between surveys and subject to claim as public domain. In February the court refused Wortham's application for a writ of mandamus.
A commission composed of the governor, the state land commissioner, and the attorney general soon may set up procedure by which owners of the disputed acreage may acquire Texas titles. They have held title under Oklahoma and federal law but not in Texas because of the Wortham claim.
The area is a triangular strip extending from the Red river on the south to the parallel 36 degrees and 30 minutes on the north. It developed as a result of inaccurate location of the 100th meridian by old-time surveyors.
Oldest on the docket of the Texas Supreme Court, the suit was filed in June, 1930, but the history of the litigation goes back 28 years when John L. Wortham, father of Gus L. Wortham, filed a claim to the land.

Panhandle O. E. S. Honors Mrs. Thorp

Special to The News.
PANHANDLE, June 8.—Mrs. Dell Held presented Mrs. Iva Thorp, newly elected worthy matron of the Panhandle chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, with a bouquet of red carnations from the chapter at the close of the meeting, Monday evening.
Mrs. Earl Cox acted as grand installing marshal when Mrs. Letha Gramer was installed as treasurer, Allen Johnson as sentinel and Dorothy Johnson as organist.
Mrs. Thorp appointed the following committees: sick and flower committee, Mrs. Thelma Hood and Mrs. Emma White; finance, Mrs. Dell Held, Mrs. Ruby Pemberton, and Mrs. Mae Pierce, and reporter, Mrs. Eva Weakley.

Present for the initial meeting of the ensuing year were Misses, Iva Thorp, Dell Held, Mae Pierce, Ruby Pemberton, Annie Skaggs, Essie Stepek, Earl Cox, Thelma Hood, Emma White, Eva Weakley, Pannie Miller, Dorothy Ferrell, Ella Taylor, Letha Gramer, Allen Johnson, and Dorothy Johnson.
Members of the Panhandle chapter who are studying for B certificates will attend the Borger school of instruction Friday.

There are approximately 100 licensed airports in England.

U.S. Asked To Furnish More Pension Funds

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Flight of the needy aged in 31 states, coupled with the desire of many congressmen to bury such balms as the Townsend plan, has formed the basis of the house appeals for a greater federal share in old age pensions.
Two-thirds of those now getting such pensions receive less than $20 a month.

That was one of the chief reasons why the house was filled this week with a sudden clamor to increase the federal dollar-for-dollar contribution to the states for expense of caring for the needy over 65.
The suggestion was designed to make the social security act of some service to those aged who need help now and who otherwise do not fit into the regular old age insurance sections of the act.

As it stands, the pensions being paid to them range from an April low of $6.05 in Arkansas to a high of $32.46 in California.
A house committee proposal would fix the federal contribution at half the total pension, up to a maximum pension of $40 a month. This would make the upper limit of the federal gift $20 a month instead of the present $15. California is the only state paying pensions high enough to enable it to collect the full $15.

Some representatives from low-pension states advocate a contribution of four-fifths of the pension, up to a maximum $20 gift.

Taking the nation as a whole, only about one person of every three over 65 is drawing an old age pension. There are upward of 6,800,000 persons over 65.
The drive for larger pensions—particularly the agitation for the Townsend plan—defeated by the house last week—appears likely to figure largely in next year's political campaigning.
