

Helicopter Crashes, Burns In South Viet Nam

By NEIL SHEEHAN
United Press International
 SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — Two U.S. Marine Corps helicopters carrying a total of 12 Americans crashed and burned in the jungle highlands 322 miles north of Saigon.

One military source said they may have been shot down by Communist ground fire, but other American military spokesmen said it appeared the helicopters collided in the air. The pilots may have been distracted by Communist groundfire in the area, the spokesman said.

On the basis of preliminary reports from rescue aircraft which flew over the scene, and were fired on by Red guerrillas, it appeared that all 12 men died in the flaming crash.

The two helicopters were on a mercy mission searching for a South Vietnamese plane piloted by an American Army captain when they crashed.

The captain is missing and believed dead.

Both helicopters were taking part in rescue operations in the rugged mountains near the Laotian border where a Vietnamese Air Force T-28 fighter bomber was shot down, apparently killing a U.S. Air Force captain and a Vietnamese observer.

56 No Survivors
 Search planes also reported no signs of survivors at the site of the T-28 crash.

The spokesman said the Americans aboard the helicopters included four Marine officer pilots, five Marine enlisted crewmen, one Navy doctor and two Navy hospital corpsmen.

Both helicopters belonged to a newly arrived Marine Corps squadron based at Danang about 40 miles northeast of the crash site, which is 325 miles north of Saigon.

An all-out air rescue search had been launched at dawn today when the two helicopters failed to return Tuesday night. They had last been heard from at dusk, heading back to the base from the site of the T-28 crash.

Protests Beating
 In Saigon, Rep. Williams S. Broomfield, R-Mich., member of an eight-man U.S. congressional team touring Viet Nam, protested to President Ngo Dinh Diem against the beating of three American newsmen by Vietnamese police.

Broomfield said he had made the protest Tuesday in separate meetings the team held earlier in the day with the president and his adviser brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu.

"When we arrived here I was deeply disturbed to find a correspondent (John Sharkey of National Broadcasting Co., from Detroit), who was a constituent of mine had been beaten up last Saturday," Broomfield said.

"During our talks at the highest level I also entered my official protest against the beatings," he said.

Sharkey and two other newsmen were beaten while covering the suicide by fire of a Buddhist priest in Saigon as a demonstration against alleged government religious persecution.

THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1963

46 PAGES TODAY

When today's mail was placed upon my desk it was quite pleasant to find that several people are reading this part of the paper and accepted the invitation on contributions. Might I add that so far there have been no comments against, but I feel quite sure that there are some who have not yet been pleased, however. I have faith for someday, it is hoped, something will appear at one time or another that each will find to his liking. Again thanks for the letters they are a great help.

Visitors from as far away as California were in Pampa overnight, as the All Texas Air Tour made an overnight stop. 125 persons dined and visited with the visitors last evening during a barbeque held in the "South 40" of the Coronado Inn. The visitors left this morning to continue their tour of the greatest state in the 50, with the friendliest people.

Noticed on the wire today the following story:

London (UPI)—National Health Service officials disclosed today they had approved a new set of false teeth for a Scotsman who swallowed his old ones while sleeping. (Some mid-night snack).

Something on the lighter side, but also of very grave importance is the following:

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR TEEN-AGERS

1. Stop and think before you drink.
2. Don't let your parents down. They brought you up.
3. Be humble enough to obey, you will be giving orders yourself someday.
4. Turn away from unclean thinking at the first moment.
5. Don't show off when you are driving. If you want to race join a racing club.
6. Choose a date who would make a good mate.
7. Go to church faithfully. The Lord gives us a week. Give him back one hour.
8. Choose your companions carefully. You become what they are.
9. Avoid following the crowd. Be an engine, not a caboose.
10. Or Better still, keep the Original Ten Commandments!

Hope that each parent and responsible adult in Pampa will give the Corporation Court Judge John Warner complete support in the "Teen-age Court", for this may be the way to solve many of the problems that all cities face, but in most cases do nothing about.

A vote of thanks to the forward thinking individuals who are starting this program.

Today's closer is as follows:
MIDDLE AGE—That time in life when one wishes there were some other way to start the day other than getting up.

All Texas Air Tour Receives Texas Welcome, Pampa Style

About 30 planes with 115 guests and members of the All-Texas Air Tour arrived in Pampa yesterday and were greeted at the Pampa Airport by about 100 Pampans including Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee and city representatives.

After welcoming the group to Pampa, the group, led by Buster Carter, chairman of the aviation committee, took them to the Coronado Inn for a old-fashioned western style barbeque and program of entertainment on the south 40 of the Inn.

They were entertained by Roy Brown, playing western tunes on a "rinky-dink" piano.

Ed Myatt was master of ceremonies for the informal program which included a welcome address by Dr. Joe Donaldson, president of the chamber, Tex Anderson, president of the All-Texas tour, represented the guests on the program.

Following the welcome address, Myatt presented prizes to the pilot coming the longest distance, the oldest pilot and the prettiest pilot.

Transportation was furnished to and from the airport by local businessmen.

The group representing eight states, was the 15th annual tour sponsored by five organizations, the Texas State Aviation Association, the Texas Private Flyers Association, Texas Flying Farmers, Texas Ninety-Nines and the Texas Wing Civil Air Patrol.

The tour started Saturday at Temple and ends Oct. 12 at Victoria. The 37 towns included in this year's tour are Temple, Pampa, Corpus Christi, Harlingen, McAllen, Mercedes, Alice, Laredo, Eagle Pass, Ozona, Fort Stockton,

Illness Raises Odds On Macmillan's Resignation Approval Is Expected On Soviet Wheat Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy was expected today to announce approval of a proposed multi-million-dollar "one shot" sale of surplus U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union.

The President's announcement may come at his news conference at 4 p.m. CST. The conference originally was scheduled for 2 p.m. CST, but the time was changed, possibly to coincide with the closing time of the west coast commodity markets.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman said today American traders had indicated the Soviet Union was prepared to buy about 140 million bushels of wheat for about $260 million. Other sources confirmed privately that total sales, which would include the satellite nations, could reach 275 million bushels.

Russia indicated to the U. S. government for the first time earlier this week that it is interested in buying between $150 million and $200 million worth of grain.

Gold or Dollars
 The proposed sale, which would be handled by private American grain traders, would be for gold or dollars. A 1934 law forbids extension of any but ordinary commercial short-term credits to any nation that has previously defaulted on a debt owed the United States.

Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, who has favored such a sale, said the transaction might involve as much as 5 million tons, or about $375 million to $400 million worth of wheat. But his total included possible grain purchases by Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria.

Canada announced Tuesday that Communist Bulgaria had agreed to purchase more than 11 million bushels of Canadian wheat in equal amounts over the next three years, and an additional 3.5 million bushels this crop year if Canada can supply it.

The administration was believed to have delayed a decision because of failure to obtain bipartisan congressional support for a wheat sale to Russia. But Humphrey said there were indications now of "broad support for a one-shot wheat sale for cash or gold."

Move Already Started
 Despite the Minnesota Democratic claim a move was started in the Senate Tuesday to block the proposed wheat deal, at least until after Feb. 1, 1964.

Under a resolution offered by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and backed by five other senators, a committee would be set up to study the proposal. Dodd said the nine-member committee would report to the Senate by the Feb. 1 date—with no transaction to be concluded before then.

Traffic Accident Injures Pampans

Don Earl North 23, of 614 Rider, was in satisfactory condition today in Highland General Hospital as a result of a two-car collision about 1 p.m. yesterday in the 300 block of N. Hobart.

According to Police Chief Jim Conner, North was taken to the hospital by his mother, Mrs. L. S. North, 1901 N. Sumner, after he was injured in the collision with a car driven by Katy Lederick, 15, of 121 N. Wynne.

"Both cars were going south on Hobart," Chief Conner said.

Milk Fund Provides Aid for Children

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of six articles written to explain the various organizations aided by the United Fund.

Three years prior to the organization of the United Fund in 1952, the Pampa Milk Fund was organized by the late Ivey Duncan to give milk to Pampa families who could not provide it for their children.

From funds contributed to the Pampa-Lefors United Fund, each child is given at least a pint of milk a day, or in "exceptional cases," the family receives more as needed, according to J. Kirk Duncan, chairman of the Milk fund.

"An exceptional case, is one where a child is suffering from malnutrition, or the family just does not have any groceries," Duncan said. "A typical family is quite large, hardly ever less than three children, sometime as many as 12, usually stair-stepped in age."

The reasons for needing help vary with family conditions, but Duncan lists these four basic ones that are often the cause, sickness, accidents, desertion and unemployment.

BULLETIN
 BAYARD, N.M. (UPI)—Searchers for the slayer of Billy Gene Carver, 28, of Duncan, Ariz., have captured a man near Bayard, N.M., it was reported today.

"The procedure usually follows these steps," Duncan said. "We get a tip a family needs milk. We tell them to contact any one of our three board members, Envy Seago of the Salvation Army, Mrs. Libby Shotwell of the Red Cross or Mrs. B. R. Shultz of the County Welfare Office. These members investigate the family and determine the need. If any one of the three recommends we order the milk, we do."

The "tips" come from various sources. Usually, the family's neighbor will call, the family may ask for help or are referred for additional help by the Welfare Office. Occasionally, in the "course of business, we discover a family that needs help."

On a budget of $2,000 a year, the Milk Fund workers provide milk for 12 families per month. These families are provided with milk for two weeks or for an indefinite time, according to Duncan.

"About 144 families are aided by the fund each year. In a year's time, we distribute about 8,000 quarts of milk," he said.

For three years, the fund was supported by individual contributions, but in 1952 it was incorporated into the United Fund.

Duncan is assisted by Mrs. Beverly Carruth, Milk Fund secretary and Mrs. Leora Rose, treasurer. All Milk Fund workers are volunteers.

Opinions Are Split

By Richard C. Longworth
United Press International
 LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's illness, which may put him out of action for three months, today increased the odds in favor of his resignation before the general elections.

Macmillan, who will be 70 in February, was admitted to King Edward VII Hospital Tuesday night for an operation, possibly Thursday, on his prostate gland. The news of his illness on the eve of the Conservative party convention in Blackpool brought an entire new factor into the party's leadership battle and election campaign plans.

Macmillan, under fire from disidents in the party as well as the opposition Labor party, had been scheduled to wind up the convention Saturday with a speech which many observers thought would spell out his intentions.

Dear Abby.... Says She'll Stay With Volley Ball

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: NO NAME PLEASE should join a nudist colony and she'd change her mind about it. Our family joined one three years ago and there is nothing like it. My wife and I are both 29 and our children are 8, 6 and 4. There is much more immorality in view at public beaches, where women try to make their figures look like something they aren't. At a nudist camp nobody cares. And everyone accepts everyone else just as God made them. Fine people belong to nudist camps. Abby, it is good clean fun, like volleyball.

MR. N., SAN BERNADINO, CALIF. DEAR MR. N.: Your serve! But do you mind if I wear a gym suit?

DEAR ABBY: A line in one of your columns has me puzzled. Quote: "Most girls would give their blue garters for a chance to be married in their great-grandmother's wedding gown." Where is there a girl who wears, or has, blue garters yet? All the girls I see this time of year wear no stockings at all. Where do "blue garters" fit into the picture for young girls today?

HAPPY BACHELOR DEAR HAPPY: When a girl marries, she traditionally wears, "Something old Something new Something borrowed Something blue"

The "something blue" is usually a pretty blue garter. (How's that for a snappy answer?)

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "THE OLDEST" hit me hard. I am the oldest in my family, too. Our father died when we were children and I quit school and went to work. I was the sole support of the family at 16. I put my brothers and sisters through school as far as they wanted to go. This was during the depression, and I remember putting cardboard in the soles of my shoes so the younger girls could buy school supplies. I did what I did, not because I expected any thanks, but because I loved those kids, and also for Mamma and Daddy. We are all older now, and three of them have made it big. I am comfortable, but not considered their social equal, so I am not invited to their homes when they have their grand parties. I wonder how many others were supported and practically raised by their older brothers and sisters, but have never given it a second thought?

THE OLDEST, TOO

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MOTHER OF A DAUGHTER 15 and A SON 5": If your letter described your husband accurately, and I have read enough letters to believe it did, you should see a lawyer about separate maintenance. A man, by law, must support his wife and children. To subject your children (and especially a 5-year-old) to such inhuman treatment is criminal. Are you sure he is all there?

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

During the social hour, sandwiches, coffee and cookies were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Clifford Hill and Mrs. Jim Bossay.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Forrest Cloyd, 808 N. Dwight, Nov. 5 at 7:30 p.m.

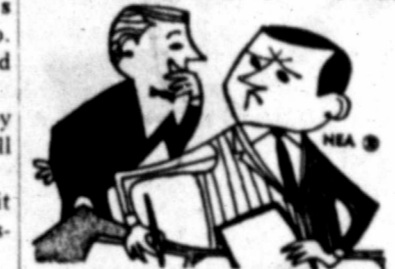

Second In Study Course Series To Be Held Tomorrow

$1,500 Damage Results From Traffic Mishaps

Two city accidents yesterday resulted in minor injuries to two Pampa persons, and an estimated $1,200 damage to four vehicles.

A car-pickup collision about 5 p.m. yesterday in the 300 block of S. Starkweather, resulted in $350 damage to a pickup driven by Kenneth Wayne Nickel, 16, of Star Rt. 2, and about $250 damage to a car driven by James Dewey Atwood, 32, 813 Grape St., according to Chief Jim Conner.

"Both vehicles were going north when Nickel ran into the back of Atwood's car. Nickel was given a ticket for failure to control speed to avoid an accident," Chief Conner said. "Atwood received minor injuries and went to a doctor's office for treatment."

According to police, Roland Wayne Doss, 17, 2131 Chestnut, "complained of slight injuries" received at 7 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of Duncan and Decatur Sts. when he was in collision with a car driven by Wynell Martin Willett, 36, of 404 Lefors.

"Doss was going south on Duncan onto Decatur St., and caused him to skid sideways and hit the can and Willett was heading north on Duncan," Chief Conner said. "Doss said the vehicle driven by Willett made a left turn off Duncan front of Willett's car."

Doss was given a ticket for failure to control speed to avoid an accident. His car received about $400 damage and Willett's about $500 damage according to police.

Countries of the World
 Finland Shares Only
 A Border with Russia

By A. E. PEDERSON
 United Press International
 HELSINKI (UPI) — An American visitor looked across the veranda where he was having lunch with a Finnish friend on a warm summer day toward the forested area of Porkkala, then a Soviet naval base.

 "Just think," he remarked, "here we sit having lunch while just over there are the Russians."
 "What do you expect us to do?" retorted his host, "go without lunch because the Russians are only a mile away?"
 Russians aren't the novelty they once were to much of the non-Communist world but the Finnish attitude toward them still holds. Being neighbors of the Russians is "one of the fundamental acts of life for a Finn."
 If ever a policy of "Love Thy Neighbor" made sense in this world, it is here in Finland. This is not to say the Finns live in a state of political servitude. They don't.
 The Finns do well enough by the Russians, and the Russians seem to have a genuine liking for the Finns. The Soviet Union last year supplied Finland with 14 per cent of her imports and took about 17 per cent of Finland's exports. Only Britain buys more from the Finns than the Russians do.
 Finland has been allowed to lease, for 50 years, the lost half of the border-crossing Saimaa Canal that drains the Saimaa Lake area of southeast Finland. Once it was an important waterway from the timber areas to the sea. Now, Finnish industrialists are not so sure. But as far as most Finns are concerned, the important thing is that they get the canal back.
 Finland is also an associate member of EFTA, the smaller of the two European trading groups. That was possible after Finland got both sides to agree that the Russians would have the same trading privileges in Finland as would the EFTA members.
 "We have noted here in Finland," President Urho Kekkonen recently told United Press International, "that the better our relations with the U.S.S.R., the better our relations remain with all other countries."
 President Kekkonen has made it his business to see that relations with the Russians are as cordial as they can be, ignoring occasional comments that he goes too far in his search for friendship.
 Finland today has a fairly healthy economy, paper and pulp sales have been weak for the past year, with increased North American supplies on the market. The cost-of-living index has gone up about six per cent in the past year. Free-spending Finns, still riding on the crest of the 1958-59 recovery, are importing more than they sell. Last year imports exceeded exports by about 130 million dollars.
 The past six years have seen a remarkable change in Finland's appearance. Where once stores stocked pressure cookers from Israel, washing machines from Norway, and other products of lateral trading, shops now stock the same broad multi-nations lines as do stores elsewhere in Europe. Finland has eliminated quota systems on practically all imports except autos, and importers may buy where they wish.
 Helsinki is Growing
 Housing is going up on every vacant lot. For Helsinki is still growing, and there is no let up in the pressure for more and better homes. The crying need is for the two- or three-room flat that a family with an average income can afford. Two rooms and kitchen nowadays means a monthly rental of about 350 new marks a month, or something over $100. Even one room and kitchenette can set a family back the equivalent of $70 a month.
 Finland is creeping out of the shell that it developed for self-protection after World War II. President Kekkonen has visited a dozen countries during his seven years of office, most of these during the last three years. During the past year he has visited the Soviet Union, France, Yugoslavia and Hungary.
 Finland is a member in very good standing in the United Nations, although she seldom votes on highly controversial issues. She works well with the other members of the Nordic council, which is still her main doorway on Western Europe. She has affiliated with EFTA and will have to make her peace with the common market when the time comes.
 Relatively Unknown Country
 Finland is still relatively unknown in the outside world. "Brave Little Finland" is a name that means something to an older generation, and in the United States, Finland is still known mainly as the debt-paying country of the Saunas.
 But geography has placed Finland outside the main stream of things, and no one comes to Finland unless he or she wants to come to Finland, or is on the way to the Soviet Union. This year's tourist travel for all that it is growing in a big way, will probably not add up to more than 600,000 visitors, most of these from neighboring Sweden.

 For Finland appeals only to a certain type of tourist, the visitor who wants to get out on the water in a sailboat, go fishing in a river or lake, or drive through mile after mile of forest covered country. This is an outdoor country, and despite the carefully guarded traditions of a few restaurants, Finland is not a country of good food and wine.

Red Feels:
 Berlin experts are on the alert for some probing moves by Communist East Germany after Chancellor Konrad Adenauer turns over the post to Ludwig Erhard. Rightly or wrongly, many Communists feel there is a possibility Erhard will follow a more "flexible" policy toward the east bloc than Adenauer. East Germany desperately wants credits and trade with West Germany. One move might be to see whether some minor concession, such as permission to West Berliners to visit East Berlin, would draw a favorable response from Erhard on financial questions.

Doctors Fighting Unknown Killer

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Doctors fought a silent battle against a little-known killer yesterday—hoping they have caught it in time.
 A prominent businessman and his 70-year-old daughter died Monday. A university professor, his wife and two children lay ill with the same disease. A chemical engineer and his wife also fought for life.
 The suspected killer was type "E" botulism. Rare but deadly, Doctors and public health officials conferred through the night at University Hospital and called for scarce supplies of anti-toxin located in Washington and Canada.

David S. Cohen, 35, a vice president of the Berkline Corp. of Morristown, Tenn., and Amy Beth Cohen, 10, died shortly before 8 a.m. Monday. Saturday morning they had eaten smoked whitefish bought at a Kroger Co. supermarket in West Knoxville and packed by Dornbos Bros. Fisheries of Grand Haven, Mich.

The others in the hospital had eaten the same type of smoked fish from the same store. Rudolph Paluzelle, 42, was in critical condition. Mrs. Lawrence Silverman, 39, and her two children, Matthew, 10, and Rachel R, were in serious condition. Paluzelle's wife and Mrs. Silverman's husband, a history teacher at the University of Tennessee, were in satisfactory condition.

Cohen and his daughter had been admitted to the hospital late Sunday night. No others in their family had eaten the fish.
 Several others reported to Knoxville hospitals for observation.

Kroger ordered the suspected product removed from its 1,375 stores in 22 Southern and Midwestern states. The fishery was shut down while Michigan Agriculture Department investigators ran tests on its inventories.

Horrible, Horrible Debauché

"This is a horrible, horrible debauché," J.H. J. Dornbos, president of the firm, said.
 Botulism, caused by the micro-organism "clostridium botulinum" in improperly processed preserved foods, is fatal in two-thirds of the cases. It is hard to treat because anti-toxin must be administered for the specific type of botulism involved — and there are at least five types. Each type causes identical symptoms. Type "E" generally is associated with fish products.

Type "E" botulism killed two Detroit women last March. Health authorities think it also was responsible for the death last Thursday of Chester O. Mitchell, 64, and his wife, Blanche, 62, of Kalamazoo, Mich.
 The suspected product, packed in vacuum sealed plastic bags, bears red and white labels read-

DOWNES TO FIGHT
LONDON (UPI) — Former middleweight champion Terry Downes makes his first ring appearance in six months tonight when he meets Rudolph Nehring of West Germany. Nehring is the first German since World War II to fight a main event in Britain.

The plant was described as similar to one Russia offered India. A high-ranking Egyptian military delegation was to leave for Moscow soon to sign the contract, according to the sources.

SETTLES SUIT
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Cyd Charisse has settled for an undisclosed amount a $14,000 suit against 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. charging she was not fully paid for her role in the movie "Something's Got To Give." It was learned today.
 The actress, who also named Claude Productions, Inc. in her court action, claimed she was promised $50,000 for her part in the picture but was paid only $36,000.

Today's Youngsters Shun the Violin

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Jascha Heifetz once said that violin playing is a great but perishable art. At least one man is willing to agree that Heifetz knew what he was talking about.

Violinists are a vanishing race." Vito Pisa, who is almost as intimately associated with the violin as Heifetz, said in an interview. Pisa's melancholy utterance reflects his concern for businessmen who are partly dependent on violins for their bread and butter. Pisa is the proprietor of a number of romantic-type night spots which employ first-rate violinists to stroll among the patrons and play worry-banishing music. He has enough musicians on hand at his home base, Chez Vito in New York, and his other clubs to take care of his needs for the present. But he is worried about the future. So he made a survey of professional music schools, a canvass that confirmed his suspicions and deepened his gloom. Juillard School of Music reported fewer students now are studying the violin because the instrument takes many years to master. Distractions at home, such as television, make practice there difficult. The New York School of Music said the violin was more popular 40 years ago, before radio became a commercial enterprise, than it is today. This school said comparatively only 10 per cent of the students now are bowing the strings. "Children today like things to come easy and get quick results," a New York School of Music spokesman said. At the American Conservatory of Music, a spokesman said only two of his school's 50 students are studying the violin. Youngsters in today's space age seem to prefer instruments that are easy to learn, the survey disclosed, indicating why the accordion and guitar are more popular than ever.

"I have employed hundreds of violinists both here and abroad," Pisa said. "I regard this as a situation full of alarm for those of us who enjoy violin music. There should be an organized campaign to win children back to the violins or should we admit that anything difficult, no matter how much the eventual enjoyment, is beyond our capacity?" Maybe Pisa's fears are groundless. In a pinch, he can always get Jack Benny.

High Budget Is Seen For Next Year

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon indicated yesterday that the administration probably would offer another record high budget next year but the deficit would show a shrinking trend.

Dillon said "moderate further increase" in the budget was likely in fiscal 1965 because of financial conditions over which the government had little control.

He said the rising tide of spending would reflect in part appropriations approved by Congress in prior fiscal years.

The treasury secretary discussed the nation's fiscal outlook in a speech prepared for the annual convention of the American Bankers Association (ABA).

Dillon said the deficit for the current fiscal year—originally the second highest in peacetime history—is still being whittled down and probably will go below the current $9.2 billion estimate. At the beginning of the year, it was $2.7 billion higher.

"That much, at least should be heartening to anyone—whether or not he agrees with every policy or program recommended by the administration," Dillon said.

The secretary said that, barring an international crisis, next fiscal year's deficit should drop even lower although the house-passed tax bill would take a $7 billion bite out of revenue.

He said most of the increases in the budget during the past three years was accounted for by "the sharp stepup in our defense and space needs."

Dillon was among the featured speakers at the second session of the ABA convention attended by about 8,000 bankers from all 30 states.

'RASHOMON'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—American moviegoers soon will be seeing an English language version of the famed Japanese hit "Rashomon."

Producer A. Ronald Lubin will make the film, bringing it up to date and putting the story in a modern setting.

Japanese Visitor To Return to Homeland

Kanjo Nakamura, superintendent of the Acetic Anhydride plant of the Dainippon Celluloid Ltd., Japan, has been in Pampa for a week learning the process and techniques of the Acetic Anhydride unit of the Pampa Celanese Plant. He will return home to Japan tomorrow.

Through a joint agreement with the Celanese Corporation of America and the Dainippon Celluloid Co., Ltd., the Japanese plant will adapt the Pampa plant anhydride process and techniques for use in the company's Aboshi Factory in Japan.

Acetic anhydride is used to make cellulose acetate which is further processed into fibers, photo film, plastics, cigarette filters and transparent plastic bags, according to Ernie Grady, superintendent of the acetic anhydride unit of the Pampa Celanese Plant.

A chemical engineer, Nakamura graduated from the Niigata University, Nagaoka City, Niigata prefecture, in 1949. Since graduation, he has been employed as an assistant engineer for the Dainippon Co. He was promoted 18 months ago, to his present position of superintendent of the acetic anhydride division in the Aboshi Factory in Himeji-Shi, Japan.

Nakamura's visit to Pampa was filled with firsts, his first plane ride, his first football game, first time to see the World Series live on television and his first visit to an American home.

He saw the Pampa-Toscana football game Friday night and remarked he was "surprised Football created so much excitement."

In commenting on the Panhandle he spread his hands wide apart and said "very wide and flat country." His own home region is mountainous and has "flowing rivers" compared to the dry riverbeds of the Panhandle.

Grady remarked they "had looked the town over to find souvenirs for Nakamura to take home to his two little girls, ages five and three. He wanted particularly to find two American Indian dolls, but all they could find were marked "made in Japan."

After visiting in Grady's and B. G. Perkins' homes, Nakamura remarked that recently Japanese men were losing control over their households because their wives were slowly becoming more westernized in their dress and ways.

Griming, he shook his head and said "this is not good."

"I had much knowledge about America, American life and customs from magazines, newspapers and Japanese exchange students to America and knew what to expect, when I came to America."

"Actually, I'm surprised I knew about American life and customs, however, I have experiences that were better and than I expected, more friendly and more kind."

According to Grady, Nakamura said he was "impressed" with the local plant's safety records, automation and the "small number" of employees required to operate the Celanese Plant 24 hours a day.

"Since June 1957, we have had no lost time accidents," Grady said.

Research has shown that hogs can gain 100 pounds of pork on about 400 pounds of feed when the temperature is 60 to 65 degrees. But the same hogs take over 1,000 pounds of feed to produce a hundred pounds of gain in 90-degree plus weather.

SAUCER TRAVELERS—Maria Hill, left, and sister, Cindy, have a make-believe flying saucer ride in the 75-gallon hat which tops "Big Tex," symbol of the Texas State Fair.

Governor Wants Poll Tax Abolished

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. John Connally has urged Democratic party workers to cooperate with other groups and to organize local campaigns for abolition of the poll tax, party headquarters announced Monday.

Connally asked executive committee members in the state's 31 senatorial districts to organize the campaigns and was joined in the request by state chairman Eugene Locke.

In urging the party to work with other groups, Connally said "we need not worry about duplication of effort," and added that failure to pass the amendment would result in "a difficult political situation in the 1964 elections."

Bobby Layne Jr. Leads Cowhands To Shockerland

A pint-size version of the immortal Bobby Layne will come to Harvester Stadium tomorrow, eager to duplicate some of the exploits of his famous father.

Robbie Layne, quarterback of the Lubbock Cowhands, has led his team to a 3-1 season record, and is seeking to make it 4-1 against the Pampa Shockers tomorrow at 4 p.m.

The Shockers, in return, will present a passing duo of their own which, although not quite as noteworthy as Layne's, has been tremendously effective, in the persons of quarterback Larry Daniels and right end Teddy Bird.

Layne has been tabbed as the "finest B team passer in the Panhandle" by several viewers, and lacks varsity status only because of his lack of size apparently. Backed by the breakaway running of Dennis Zips and the line-punching of fullback Joe Mack Tillson, the Cowhands have lost only to the undefeated Monterey Lancers, 20-12, with their last two outings being a 12-6 win over a rugged Amarillo Yannigan team that played Pampa to a 12-12 tie last week, and a 32-0 romp over Plainview.

Against the Bulldog Blue team, Zips sprinted for two touchdowns on pass interceptions, one for 80 and the other for 46 yards; returned a punt 39 yards for a score and ran over two conversions. The other score was via a 36-yard pass from Layne to Tillson.

Shocker coach Don Myers reports the Pampa B team in good shape, with Scott Epperson and Lewis Meers the only casualties. Both were out last week also and are not slated to return tomorrow.

Don "Dynamite" Dixon, rugged defensive halfback who was sorely missed against Amarillo, will be back. Daniels, who suffered a bruised rib last week and was only at partial effectiveness in the second half, is in good condition.

Amarillo scouted us against Berger, when Daniels to Bird converted nine of 15 passes," said Myers, "and covered us very well. Daniels stayed on the ground and did his best job of the year—running until he got hurt, with Joey Roden and Gary "Little Butch" Crossland doing terrific running jobs.

"Our offense bogged down completely the second half, they had possession of the ball most of the time, and our defense did a great job. Lolan Ellis was really outstanding, and Wayne Hill did a fine job too. Our pass defense was erratic, we made a few mental mistakes, but we've been working hard on pass defense and running all week. If we can accomplish those two things, we'll be all right.

"We've had a lot of spirit in workouts. The boys know they have a tough one coming and they will try to be ready."

Probable starting lineup:
Lubbock — LE Bo Boren, LT Richard Barrett, LG John Followell, C Mike Wallace, RG Ken Forrester, RT Ted Ratcliff, RE David Pirtle, QB Robbie Layne, LHB Dennis Zips, RHB Darrell Hurst, FB Joe Mack Tillson.

Pampa — RE Teddy Bird, RT Gary Parrish, RG Jerry Wright, C Dan Patterson, LG Larry Eckroat, LT Wayne Hill, LE Nolan Ellis, QB Larry Daniels, RHB Joey Roden, LHB Gary Crossland, FB Lolan Ellis.

The Pampa Harvester defense will run into and over a lot of familiar faces this Saturday night.

Pro Football Roundup

NEW YORK (UPI) — This is an odd-numbered year, so once again it's Yale Lary's turn to win the National Football League punting championship.

The versatile Detroit Lions' safetyman won it in 1959 and 1961. He might have won it again last season but he had a punt blocked and wound up fourth in the individual standings. At that, Lary's average was only three-tenths of a yard less than that of champion Tommy Davis of the San Francisco Forty Niners.

Lary took over the No. 1 spot this week from Bobby Joe Green of the Chicago Bears, according to official statistics released today by the NFL. His average is 49.4 yards for 19 punts, compared to Green's 47.7-yard average for 18 punts.

Should Lary finish on top this year, he would become only the second player in NFL history ever to win the punting crown as many as three times. Sammy Baugh won it four straight seasons from 1950 through 1953; Lary is one of five players to have won two punting titles (the others are Roy McCoy, Horace Gillom, Pat Brady and Norm Van Brocklin).

Ed Dove of the New York Giants became eligible to assume the punt return leadership this week, but there were no changes atop the other individual departments.

Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns remained first in rushing and scoring; Y. A. Tittle of the Giants in passing. Bobby Joe Conrad of the St. Louis Cardinals is a pass receiver; Clendon Thomas of the Pittsburgh Steelers in pass interceptions; and Abe Woodson of the Forty Niners in kickoff returns.

Brown, in addition to his rushing lead, also clung to first place in scoring with 42 points, compared to 38 for placekicker Lou Michaels of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Powerhouses Clash In Wink Vs. Seagraves

By United Press International
Wink's Wildcats, long a factor in Texas schoolboy football circles, were up for their district showdown battle against Seagraves, by taking on one of West Texas' better Class AA outfits in the feature game of this week's Class A schedule.

The Wildcats, who upset AA McCombs last week 21-20 to remain among the 25 undefeated - untied teams in the Class A division, will host Crane, which has only a 21 to 21 tie with AAA Fort Stockton to mar its record.

Wink and Seagraves, the latter rated No. 5 in the state, meet next week in the District 5 opener and the winner seems certain to barge on into the playoffs and become a factor in the state race. Seagraves is idle this week.

Another crucial district game shows up on this week's schedule in 9-A where undefeated - untied Goldthwaite, ranked No. 6 in the division, faces an early showdown with Copperas Cove, whose only loss in five starts has been to Waco Reicher.

Still another such showdown also looms in 2-A where perfect record Aspermont tackles district favorite Merkel (3-1-1). And, the same situation prevails in 28-A where unbeaten but tied Pettus engages George West (4-1) in a district opener expected to decide the title.

The only other unbeaten team which appears in possible danger is Clifton, which meets the same Waco Reicher which spoiled Copperas Cove's mark.

Top-ranked Albany, seventh-rated San Augustine and tenth-ranked Pearland along with Seagraves are idle this week. Goldthwaite is the only rated team in apparent danger. Ingleside plays Calallen, Rosebud meets Franklin, Hull-Daisetta plays Warren and Petersburg faces Anton.

as all but one of the Caprock Longhorn offensive linemen are former lettermen or B teamers from the Amarillo Sandies.

The Horns pulled off a liberal raid on Sandieland when they opened the newest Amarillo school for football, including two outstanding lettermen and four top ex-Yannigans for their offensive line.

Although relatively light, the Horns compare favorably with the Harvesters weight-wise, except for right end where speedboy David Orr, 144-pound junior, presides.

The only two seniors, and the two lettermen in the line are Alan Adams and Stan Smith. Smith, 165, is the team captain, and has been converted from an end into a left tackle. Adams, at left end, is the number one pass receiver, at 6'2" and 190 pounds the biggest man on the Caprock team. Roger Shelton, 180, is the offensive right tackle.

At right guard is a name full of unpleasant memories for Pampa fans. LaGrone. This LaGrone, first name Sam, while not as famous as his Borger namesake, is a sharp blocker, 170 pounds, and the pulling guard on offense, probably the best offensive lineman among the five juniors. Left guard is 185-pound Duane Gore, who also plays end. Center is Manny Perez, 160 pounds.

Defensively, the Horns line up in an Oklahoma 5-4 or an umbrella formation. LaGrone and Shelton are the left end and tackle, Adams and James Anderson, 172, the right sides. Middle guard is Robert Seiders, 170, and the linebackers are Smith and Elton Williams, 145.

Kenneth Bentley, 145, and Jerry Duniven, 165, are the cornermen. Speedboy Ricky Hickman, 155, is the right halfback and quarterback Ricky Smith, 140, the left half. Smith has proven to be the outstanding defenseman in the Longhorns' four games, being in on more tackles than anyone on the squad.

Illini Grid Boss Is Coach of Week

CHICAGO (UPI) — In football's unseined vernacular, it was a "flipper-dipper" play that carried Illinois to a 10-9 victory over Northwestern Saturday.

But in the cold hard realm of conscientious preparation for a football game, Illinois won on '98 touchdown pass."

It was a 32-yard lateral-forward scoring pass from Fred Custardo to Ron Fearn to Jim Warren, and it was the spark that ignited Illinois to come from behind and upset the Wildcats.

It also won for Illini Coach Pete Elliott, whose teams in the last two seasons had won only two of 18 games, honor as United Press International's college football "coach of the week."

"That play was one of those things that worked," Elliott said. "It was nothing new, and not my idea. It came from the staff. Bill Take brought it up first and then our quarterback, Mike Taliaferro, suggested it.

"We kicked it around, and worked on it Wednesday. And the way it ended up, we didn't fool the guy we figured to fool, Northwestern's deep back, Roland Wahl, but Warren got behind him anyway. It always set up for Fearn to throw to Warren, but it didn't make any difference whether Custardo or Taliaferro was at quarterback.

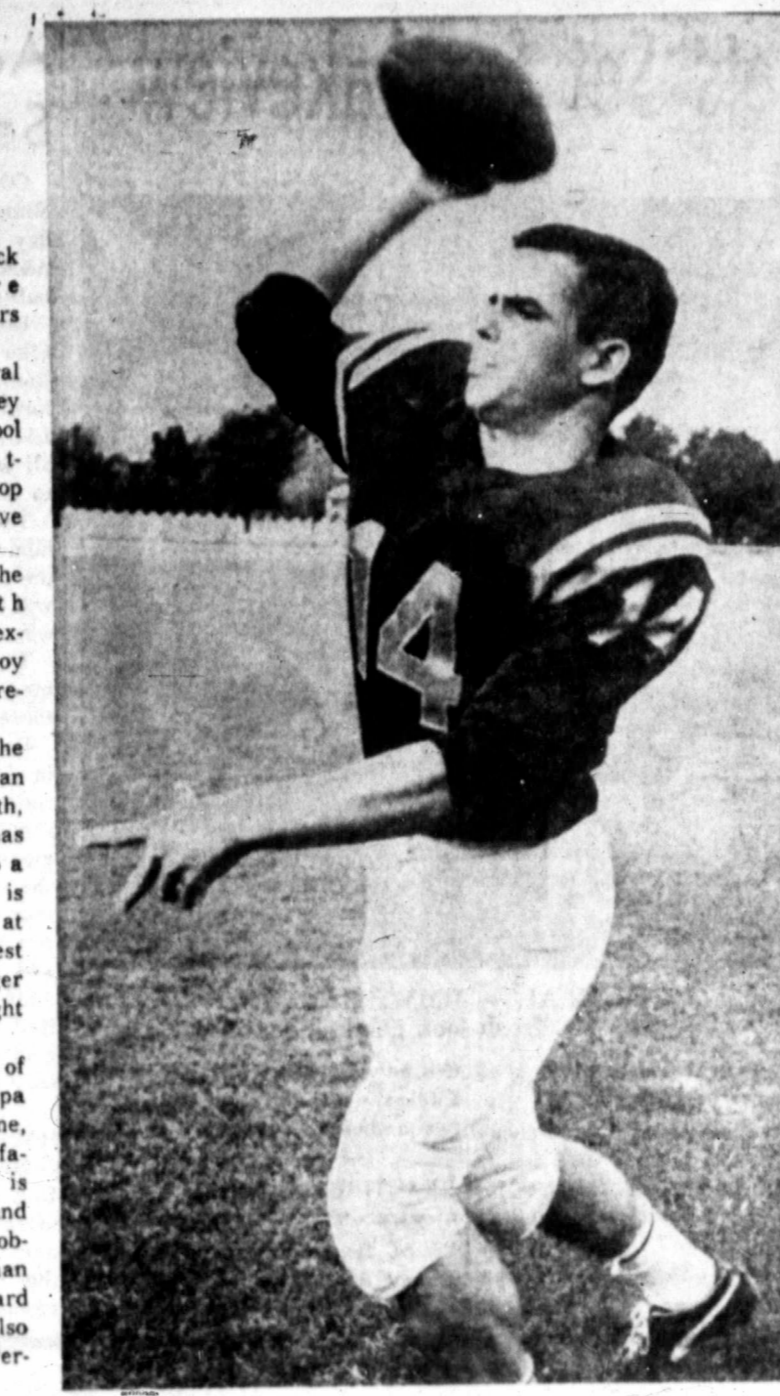

"We had some other plays, and we won't talk about them. They didn't work anything like this. This is the only play we ever called with a touchdown in it, and I guess it got that 'flipper dipper' name because talking about it after the game I said something like 'that flipper-dipper thing', but it's '98 touchdown pass."

Elliott, 37, in his 15th year of coaching, wouldn't credit the one play with the victory. Instead he credited his entire squad with an all-out heads-up performance.

"Everybody played hard, but not over our heads," he said. "Then we got a couple of breaks and you have to have those to win. Northwestern was keyed up and played good. But we played with pride in the Illinois football team."

DELAWARE IS TOPS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Delaware was the unanimous first place choice today in balloting for the Lambert Cup, symbol of Eastern small college football supremacy.

Dave Nelson's Blue Hens received a 10.0 rating compared to 7.4 for Amherst. Northeastern had 6.8 and New Hampshire 6.4.

DOUBTFUL — Larry Johnson is on the doubtful list for this Saturday night's game with Caprock. Little Larry alternated at quarterback with Phil Smith and Kenny Hebert for the Harvesters against Tascosa, until being stricken by a recurrence of an old knee injury late in the second quarter. Oklahoma Is Three-Point Favorite Over Longhorns

NEW YORK (UPI) — The University of Texas boasts one of the finest field goal kickers in the nation this year, yet it is Oklahoma who rates a three-point favorite in Saturday's clash of the top two teams in college football.

Tony Crosby of the Longhorns has already booted four field goals this season to place him in a three-way tie for second behind Georgia Tech's Billy Lothridge in the three-point category. Crosby's field goal provided Texas with the winning margin in last year's 9-6 defeat of the Sooners.

But the shoe will be on the other foot Saturday, appropriate enough because Crosby kicks with his stocking foot. George Jarman, Crosby's opposite number at Oklahoma, has booted two himself in 1963 and could conceivably prove the difference in the Cotton Bowl extravaganza.

Alabama stakes its No. 3 position as a 13-point favorite over Florida. Fourth-ranked Pitt is idle but fifth-ranked Wisconsin begins defense of its Big Ten crown against seven-point underdog Purdue.

In other feature Big Ten attractions, seventh-ranked Ohio State is a seven-point choice over upstart Illinois, the nation's 12th-

Buddy Rawls Wins Praise For Play Against HSU

Defense and depth paid dividends for Abilene Christian College in its 21-7 triumph over cross-town rival Hardin-Simmons University Saturday night.

The Wildcat defense, which has been consistent in all three ACC outings, came up with probably its best performance against the Cowboys. The ACC 6-2-1 held Hardin-Simmons' vaunted rushing attack in check for the entire contest.

H-SU went into the game averaging 236 yards per outing on the ground. But ACC's inspired charges limited the Cowpokes to only 101 yards via the rushing route.

Head Coach Les Wheeler called the performance "the best defensive clutch effort ever given by an ACC ball club." Wheeler spoke primarily of the strong hold put up by the Wildcats in the final half when they three times withstood H-SU challenges to cross the goal line from inside their own 20-yard line.

"The boys came through when the going was tough," Wheeler said. "They held them in that critical zone, I think it gives our defense a lot of confidence."

"Coaches Lyda (James) and Hirth (Jimmy) worked a lot last week on our reactions to the traps," Wheeler said. "It certainly paid off Saturday night."

Wheeler singled out linebacker Jack Griggs, halfback Buddy Rawls and tackle Marvin Burgess as the game's outstanding defensive stars.

"Griggs played one of his best games," said Wheeler.

"Rawls was especially outstanding on the option and pass defense while Burgess was strong on plays up the middle and led the tackling like a captain should."

SWC Round-up

By United Press International
Texas Coach Darrell Royal was a picture of gloom today over the injury situation on the Longhorn squad.

Steer end Sandy Sands, recovering from a broken foot suffered in early practice drills, reinjured the foot Tuesday and doctors said he would be out for the season.

The unbeaten Longhorns learned Sunday their punting fullback, Ernie Koy, will probably be lost for the season because of a shoulder separation.

As if that were not enough, Royal said tackle Ken Ferguson, who underwent surgery on his back this summer, has appeared sluggish in workouts and may not be ready for the Oklahoma game this weekend.

Royal said Kim Gaynor and Bob Crouch "got their foot on the ball" in hurried preparations to ready them for Koy's punting chores.

Elsewhere around the SWC, the Texas Tech Red Raiders reported a squad free of injuries as they worked on pass offense and blocking in preparation for their game with Texas Christian Saturday night.

Coach Abe Martin of the TCU Horned Frogs meanwhile put his squad through their first contact drills in more than a week.

Martin said he was pleased with the "tough and effective running" of his backs and announced Donny Smith of Taylor, Tex. would start at left half in Lubbock Saturday night.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles expressed displeasure at the Razorback's defense as the Hogs prepared for Baylor Saturday night. Broyles said the Baylor pro-type offense was "different from anything we'll see all year."

Broyles said the squad would adjust its present defense for Baylor rather than develop a new one.

Baylor Has Defense Worries
The Baylor squad had a stiff workout and its own defense worries. Coach John Bridgers said "we can't be overjoyed," a reference to the Bear's loss to Oregon last weekend.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs prepared for their second service academy game in as many weeks—a Friday night date with Navy in the Cotton Bowl.

The Texas A&M Aggies worked out in preparation for their first home game of the season against the University of Houston Cougars this weekend.

Rice Coach Jess Neely promoted Billy Hale of Pasadena, Tex. to first string wingback and Larry Stewart of Rio Hondo, Tex. to first string left tackle. Neely worked the Owls hard on blocking and tackling.

NCAA Made Goof Over Football TV

DALLAS (UPI) — The NCAA television committee has admitted it goofed in granting permission to televise the Texas-Oklahoma game at Dallas Saturday but the committee allowed its decision to stand.

Television viewers did not have the same luck however, in Arkansas, where the NCAA refused to permit televising of the Arkansas-Texas game Oct. 19.

The whole issue started when KRLL-TV in Dallas asked permission to televise the Texas-Oklahoma game. The NCAA rule was that such a telecast was permissible if the game to be televised was sold out and there were no other college grid games within a 120-mile radius of the televising point.

Permission was granted. Then, someone discovered Seawee was playing Austin College at Sherman, only 60 miles north of the Cotton Bowl. The NCAA television committee subcommittee conducted a hurried telephone conference Tuesday and ruled the game could be televised.

The reasons given were that permission had already been given, announced, and sponsorship sold by the station, and that withdrawal now would be a major inconvenience to fans.

The same rule applied to the Arkansas-Texas game Oct. 19. Arkansas officials said Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference and a member of the NCAA television committee, said three other college games within 120 miles of Little Rock would prohibit televising.

The colleges said they would not object to televising of the game but such waivers do not affect the NCAA code.

The Austin Junior Chamber of Commerce, meanwhile, worked frantically to raise some $4,000 still needed to sell out the Trinity-New Mexico State game Saturday in San Antonio, 80 miles to the south. A sellout there would permit Austin to telecast the Oklahoma-Texas game.

A further bad weather warning for the Sun Devils comes from the

Lefors Healthy, Set for 'Hounds

LEFORS (Spl)—The Lefors Pirates plan to come back strong from their defeat by the undefeated Stinnett Rattlers, and knock off another undefeated squad Friday night in the person of the Gruver Greyhounds.

"Stinnett is a fine team, a very good team," said Pirate coach Dunnie Goode, "but it might have been a different game if all our starters were healthy. They'll all be in good shape Friday, and they'll all be hungry to get back on the winning path."

"Of course," added Goode thoughtfully, "Gruver has had a week off to rest and all their starters should be healthy, and they are itching to make up for that 8-6 squeaker over Canadian. It should be a real tough game, but if our kids play like they can, we can pull it out."

"Although I reported last week that four of our starters would see little, if any action, the doctors gave them all releases and they played. We didn't plan to use them, however, unless we absolutely needed to. . . but we did. Don't forget, the game was 7-6 our favor until deep in the third quarter, and only 14-7 until the last minute of play. It was too close to pull them out."

"Neither quarterback Terry Bromlow or fullback Lightning Coleman had worked out all week. Bromlow's timing was off and that made a tremendous amount of difference. Edgar Brown didn't see too much action. Marvin Todd's arm injury turned out to be a muscle tear, not a separation, and that was a big break. Marvin played a great game."

"Don McCool did an excellent job of taking over the running. He ran about 50 percent of the time and really gained the yards. Phil

"We really played a good game though, considering. We had them going in the first half, gaining 96 yards to their 42, and were leading 7-6 when they got the big break of the game in the third quarter. They had third down and 25 to go and pass interference was called. That was the turning point of the game and set up their second touchdown."

Pistol Pete Missing For Sun Devil Game

TEMPE (Spl) — Comes now a football game that's got a lot of things going for it, even without the nation's leading rusher. Gives Arizona State and West Texas State here Saturday night, and it ought to be a barn burner.

Coach Frank Kush's Sun Devils are fresh from a 50-7 romp over Colorado State at Fort Collins. They are 2-1, gaining momentum and hoping to reverse a 15-14 loss to WTS last season.

The Buffaloes of Coach Joe Kerbel are undefeated in three outings, gaining momentum and hoping to achieve the national rating lost by ASU in its opening loss to Wichita (33-13).

The damper comes from the fact that Pistol Pete Pedro, the Buffaloes' magnificent ignis fatuus, will probably miss the game. The 160-pound halfback suffered strained ligaments on the inside of his left knee in WTS's 38-16 win over North Texas State last Saturday. Pedro led all major college backs in rushing a week ago, and his 41 yards acquired before his injury were probably enough for him to retain the leadership. His season's rushing total reads 360 yards on 47 carries.

But West Texas State is not at a loss for ball carriers. Fullbacks Russell Mundy and Ollie Ross gained 112 and 89 yards respectively against the Eagles. ASU well remembers Mundy, a sturdy 5-11, 200-pounder who proved a vital factor in the Buffs' win of last season at Tempe.

As for ASU, it's seldom that a glaring weakness would be exposed in a smashing victory, but such was the case in the CSU contest. The Devils apparently don't have depth one.

ASU's three first team running backs carried the ball six times from scrimmage and three times they scored, each time from 50 plus yards out. But when the first team was out of there CSU moved the ball with ease, and the Sun Devils didn't.

Kush's problems were further compounded by the loss of not one, but two, reserve fullbacks. Second teamer Ed Mauck suffered a dislocated right shoulder and is out several weeks, while third stringer Mitch Siskowski received a back injury and his availability will not be known until later in the week. Meanwhile, Kush planned to move reserve halfback Steve Turkovich, 5-9, 180-pound senior, to the trouble spot.

West Texas' offense to date has been awesome. The Buffs hold wins over Arlington State (22-17), University of Pacific (32-8) and North Texas, all at Canyon.

A further bad weather warning for the Sun Devils comes from the WTS-NTS statistics. The Buffaloes scored 21 points in the fourth quarter to ice the game, indicating depth and strength late in the game. The Devils' depth problem, prevalent for several seasons, is usually foretold by a complete lack of scoring late in the game.

Despite a rough and tumble contest, Pedro's injury was the only one of any import suffered by the Buffs. And Mauck and Siskowski represent the only "recent" Sun Devil injuries. Still on the sidelines are halfbacks Gene Foster (broken arm) and Henry Carter (right bruise).

Tright spot in the ASU picture has been the fine showing of quarterback John Torok, 6-2, 195-pound JC transfer who has bumped all-WAC selection John Jacobs to the second unit.

Against CSU Torok completed seven of 10 passes for 219 yards and three touchdowns. His 219 yards broke the school record of 212 compiled by John Hangartner against Texas Western in 1957. And ASU's passing total of 296 yards set another school record, surpassing the mark of 258 set in 1961, again against TWC. Torok was nominated for "Back of the Week" honors in the Western Athletic Conference.

Other ASU football notes:
—ASU ranks this week as the total offense leader in the WAC with an average of 359.3 yards per game, 22 yards ahead of second place Wyoming. But woe is the Devils — they also rank last in defense, allowing 344 yards per outing, 11 more than runner-up Arizona.

The 56 points scored against CSU was the most tallied by the Devils in 54 games. In 1957 a Dan Devine coached ASU team downed Montana State, 53-13.

—ASU's scoring plays against the Rams were more in the nature of explosions. The scoring read: Herman Harrison, 56, pass from Torok; Charley Taylor, 71, run; Taylor, 80, pass from Torok; Ray Young, 54, run; Tony Lorick, 54, run; Lorick, 26, pass from Torok and Steve Turkovich 7, run.

—ASU's punting average, a fat 44.2 a week ago, suffered when the Rams blocked one of John Seeborg's three punts. The team average is now 40.1, but the kick doesn't count against Seeborg's total, and his average is still a respectable 41.7.

—Consider the plight of Ben Hawkins, sophomore halfback. This 6-1, 168-pound New Jersey product concluded his performance against CSU with final statistics that showed two carries for minus seven yards and two pass interceptions for 17 yards. However, penalties brought back runs by Hawkins of 30 and 16 yards and a 12-yard pass reception.

Mobeetie Hornets Set for Lakeview

MOBEETIE (Sp) — The Mobeetie Hornets are really hurting... mentally from a 64-14 defeat by Booker last week... and physically by the loss of several starters, possibly for the season.

Defensive halfback Johnny Allen has suffered a knee injury, which will probably keep him out for the rest of the season, reported coach Cecil Reynolds.

Joe Fred Mixon, at 190 pounds the biggest lineman on the team, missed last week's action with a strained back. "It looks as if he'll be out for quite a while," sighed Reynolds. "We hope to have him back by the Darrouzett game, but if he isn't completely recovered, we don't want to take a chance on losing him for next year."

End Eddie Hodges missed last week with a sprained ankle and is a question mark for Friday's action at Lakeview. Quarterback Gerald Gudel sprained an ankle against the Kiowas and is another question mark for Friday night.

"On the whole, the team was disappointing last week, except, of course, for Big Ray Corcoran's running, although Ray's tackling wasn't what it should have been," said Reynolds. "The whole team looked poor on blocking and tackling. The only standouts were two freshmen who replaced injured players and did real well. Jimmy Barton showed a lot of hustle at offensive and defensive end, and Cecil Beal made some good tackles at defensive guard.

CECIL BEAL — JIMMY BARTON
... frosh look good

"We're finally playing somebody our own size. I think we'll be up for this game, we weren't for Booker. I wish we were a little healthier though."

Lakeview smashed Morse, 36-0, in a district game last week. Dana Gibson and Gary Gamble led the Eagles with five touchdowns between them.

Ags, Houston Seek 1st Win

COLLEGE STATION (Sp) — Something must give here Saturday night as Houston and Texas A&M resume their spirited football rivalry in Kyle Field Stadium.

Both young clubs are winless after three outings this season. Both, however, have met fiery, formidable foes. A&M lost to LSU, Ohio State and Texas Tech, all in road contests. Houston lost to Auburn, Baylor and Ole Miss.

The Aggies will be making their home debut and are hopeful that the friendly confines of Kyle Field will inspire them toward their first win of the '63 season.

The series is all even after 11 meetings. Each has four wins and there have been three ties. Houston has a splendid passer in Jack Skog and a tremendous runner in Joe Lopasky. Both should test A&M's defensive legions to the hilt. The Aggies, on the other hand, have not generated much offense this season but are due to jell one of these Saturdays and Coach Hank Foldberg and staff think it might be this week. Halfback Travis Reagan is the club's leading rusher but still has only 65 net yards in three games.

HALL RECEIVES HONOR
NEW YORK (UPI) — Brown University's Bob Hall, a sophomore quarterback, has been named the Ivy League "Back of the Week" for his performance against Yale last Saturday.

Bears Open Loop Slate With Hogs

WACO — Baylor's Bears, fresh from facing one of the nation's finest offensive teams, the Oregon State Beavers, this Saturday night take on one of the best defensive clubs, the Arkansas Razorbacks, as they open their 1963 Southwest Conference schedule against the Hogs.

The Bears and the title-favored Razorbacks meet at 8 p.m. Saturday in Baylor Stadium with a crowd of upwards of 30,000 expected.

The Beavers, who won their 10th straight game last Saturday night in Portland, and boasting great speed plus a corps of receivers Baylor Coach John Bridgers termed "the finest I've ever seen on a college team," won 22-15 by covering a fumbled pass in the end zone with 27 seconds showing on the clock to break a 15-15 tie. Despite rain and a sloppy gridiron, the Bears produced 371 yards total offense, the Beavers 346 for a whopping game total of 717 yards.

Don Trull threw the muddy ball 28 times, connected on 16 for 246 yards. The Beavers completed 11 of 22 for 190 yards. Each club made 8 first downs by rushing, the Bears 11 and the Beavers 9, by passing. In Arkansas, the Bears meet a stingy defensive club, one that has allowed three 1963 opponents only one touchdown among them, plus one long field goal. The Porkers have beaten Oklahoma State, 21-0 and TCU, 18-3, lost to Missouri, 6-7. The Razorbacks have allowed opponents an average of only 129 yards rushing, 83 yards passing, 3 first downs.

Palmer Picks Julius Boros

ATLANTA (UPI) — Take it from Arnold Palmer, the big money man in the world of golf, the fellow to watch in the Ryder Cup matches here this weekend is U.S. Open champ Julius Boros. "Boros is playing so well it scares me," Palmer said Tuesday after the American team came off the East Lake Country Club course. They had just completed a practice round for the Ryder Cup matches with Great Britain, which begins Friday. The entire 16-man U.S. team appeared to be playing well and Palmer, the team captain, was beaming with confidence.

Sandy Koufax Cops More Hurling Honors

NEW YORK (UPI) — Los Angeles Dodger star Sandy Koufax was honored by the United Press International today as the No. 1 National League pitcher of the year and for having made the major league comeback of the year.

It was the first time in their history that any major leaguer ever has won both awards. The twin honors were determined by a survey of 24 baseball experts representing every city in the majors.

Koufax was the unanimous choice as the National League's pitcher of the year, polling all 24 votes cast by the experts. He was selected for having made the comeback of the year by 12 of the 24 experts with Curt Simmons of the St. Louis Cardinals ranking second with four votes.

Other Votes
Other votes in the comeback of the year balloting were cast for Hal Woodeshick of the Houston Colts, Dick Ellsworth of the Chicago Cubs, the Los Angeles Dodgers as a team (two votes each) and for Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs and the Cardinals as a team (one each). Koufax' credentials as the National League's pitcher of the year are beyond dispute. The 27-year-old 200-pound left-hander appeared in 40 games and 311 innings. He had a 25-5 record for an .833 won-lost percentage and the most victories by a National League left-hander since Carl Hubbell won 26 games in 1936.

Sets Strikeout Mark
Koufax set a new National League strikeout record of 306 in one season and thereby joined Rube Waddell, Walter Johnson and Bob Feller as the only pitchers who have surpassed the 300-mark in strikeouts for a season. Sandy also pitched 11 shutouts—a new record for a left-hander—and his 1.88 earned run average was remarkable for a pitcher who worked so many innings. All this by a pitcher who 14 months ago was threatened with the loss of a finger that undoubtedly would have ended his career.

Simmons, 34-year-old former Philadelphia Phillie whiz kid left-hander, compiled a 15-9 record for the Cardinals. It marked his biggest winning season since 1956 and it played a major role in the Cardinals' surprising rise as a National League pennant contender.

Gene Fullmer Wants To Make Comeback

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer
TEANECK, N.J. (UPI) — It became apparent from ex-middleweight champion Gene Fullmer's conversation Tuesday that only one barrier, wife Dolores, stands between him and a return to the ring.

In Gene's last fight, at Ibadan, Nigeria, on Aug. 10, champion Dick Tiger gave him a licking and stopped him at the end of the seventh round because of brow cuts.

"I was way off form at Ibadan," Gene disclosed. "And my doctors advanced various reasons—the Nigerian heat, humidity and so forth. But my wife's explanation was merely 'old age' although I'm only 32—a year younger than Tiger."

Bull-shouldered Gene of West Jordan, Utah, "Fighter of the Year" in 1961, is here in Teaneck for younger brother Don Fullmer's important fight Wednesday night with Jose Torres, Puerto Rican middleweight slugger, at the Teaneck armory.

Move Toward Title
"If Don beats Torres," said Gene, "he can begin moving toward a middleweight title shot by meeting some of the rated contenders in the East."

Chatting in the offices of the Garden State Sports Corporation, Gene informed listeners that 24-year-old Don has "fought a lot better men at 24 than I had at his age—and I think he has the makings of a champion. Marv Jenson, who manages both of us, feels the same way. Marv will arrive tomorrow."

Did Gene personally wish to start a comeback?

"What do you think?" countered the ex-champ, an excellent conversationalist and public speaker. "I'm very fond of boxing. I enjoy almost every minute in the ring. And the sport has been very good to me. It has given me prestige, money and a flock of friends."

Gene, once a mechanic's helper in the huge open-cut copper mine at Bingham, Utah, now owns a combination mink and quarter-horse ranch at West Jordan. He has 5,000 mink and he has 20 quarter-horses for work, show and breeding.

Barefoot Kicker Boots Longhorns Into Victories

AUSTIN (Spl) — Tony Crosby is kicking better this season but he's enjoying it less. The barefooted kicking specialist for the unbeaten Texas Longhorns, whose 26-yard field goal won the big Oklahoma-Texas classic last year (9-6), is batting .1000 for the year with 12 conversions and four field goals without a miss.

Add to these the regular kick-offs after each Longhorn score and it makes for sore toes. "They stay pretty sore all the time" the Kountze senior said about his pinkies. "I average around 150 kicks each day in practice."

Tony, an architecture major, claims he can get more power with his turned up toes. He can't turn his toes up wearing a shoe so he kicks with nothing on his right foot but a sweat sock.

Last year Crosby's only claim to fame was the first-quarter field goal after a Sooner fumble that eventually proved the winning margin.

"I had no idea it would be the winning kick," Tony recalls "because it was so early in the game."

In 1942 Crosby kicked 14 of 21 extra point attempts and only two of five field goal tries. He thinks that concentration and confidence have helped him more than anything else. Last year he had to practice his reserve end chores daily and didn't practice kicking as much. This year he does nothing but kick while his teammates don the pads and try to practice putting Tony in a position to use his magic toes.

Tony kicks with the bottom of his first three toes. The big toe gets most of the impact but the two next to it also makes contact with the ball.

Crosby began kicking barefooted in high school (about his sophomore year he thinks) but the only field goal attempt he tried in four years as a starting fullback was blocked.

The Class AA school at Kountze fielded a 9-1 team record his senior year. Tony's longest run with the ball was a 55-yard gallop to down Woodville 20-14.

Now he doesn't log much official time. He's never played a down at Texas except for kicking chores.

As a sophomore in 1941, Crosby kicked one of one extra point try (in the opener at California) and missed all four field goal attempts.

Last year he kicked one field goal against Oregon in the first game of the season, then got his only other one against the Sooners.

In addition to having constant sore toes, Crosby has another occupational hazard—that of going down on tackling coverage after kicking off. He's never had his bare foot stepped on yet.

Longhorn fans hope Tony keeps on having sore toes. For it means he's putting something on the Orange and White side of the score board.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

ATLANTA (UPI) — The richest bunch of tee tourists in the world were "out" bets today to slaughter the British Ryder Cup team in the biennial International Golf matches this weekend.

They compose the U. S. team which has won 11 of the past 14 contests from the British and is captained by a putting plutocrat named Arnold Palmer. He already this year has set a new money winning record of $127,555 and the 10-man U. S. team boasts total earnings of $459,386 on the pro tour in 1953.

The British, on the other hand, don't have rich tournaments back home and as one put it, "our total winnings aren't large enough to tabulate, old boy."

From a money won standpoint, you might expect that the British would have to pay their way in at East Lake Country Club — a gleaming green jewel which produced the immortal Bobby Jones — when they tee it up Friday. For the invaders will be going against a cut-throat cast which thrives on the tension produced by big money jackpots.

Yanks Used To Pressure
Thus there will be little pressure on them when they take their stroll in the country this weekend against the British, because the Yanks are accustomed to much greater squeezes around the wallet, a spot which causes much greater distress than that around the heart when you make your living swatting a golf ball.

Palmer wouldn't come out and say that the British didn't have a chance. But he did allow without equivocation that "this team of ours is unbeatable."

In the pro golf raffle they separate the men from the boys at the cashier's window. This 10-man team, composed of Palmer, Julius Boros, Tony Lema, Dow Finsterwald, Gene Littler, Billy Casper, Johnny Pott, Dave Ragan, Billy Maxwell and Bob Goalby, doesn't have to worry about next week's hotel bill.

Palmer as example, picked up $26,000 first money capturing the Whitemarsh Open last week. That boosted him to $127,555 in "official winnings" for the year. But he has copped another $26,000 in "unofficial" earnings — all good spending money, however — which runs his total of divot dollars to $153,551 for the year.

Nicklaus Ineligible
Jack Nicklaus, second with $85,596 in winnings, isn't eligible for the Ryder Cup because he hasn't served his five-year pro apprenticeship. But they'll do well without him as the other money barons of the brassie fill the gap.

As example, Boros has won $77,356 while having his best year at age 43. Lema has pocketed $64,675; Finsterwald has banked $46,916 and Littler $31,619.

Which gives you an idea of how these fellers go when the big money is piled on the greens. And, when you're accustomed to stroking home 30 footers for this kind of loot, playing for a big silver cup makes it a pleasant holiday.

Meanwhile, the pressure is solidly on a British team which never has won in the United States. Thus the cup has become as big to them as money. Well, almost. But nobody gives them a chance to swipe the silver from a bunch of guys accustomed to digging for gold.

Jaycees To Give Fitness Awards

Gary Frasher, Jaycee president, announced chapter plans to honor men and women from all walks of life who have made significant contributions to city, state, or national physical fitness efforts.

A special Physical Fitness Leadership Award certificate will be presented to physical fitness leaders in the community.

All schools, recreations groups, civic, fraternal and athletic clubs are invited to submit names to the local Jaycee office of individuals, whom they feel deserve recognition as fitness leaders. Names can also be submitted by calling Gary Frasher or Lynn Thames.

Why The United Fund?

With campaigns in the air, many people have a tendency to overlook some of the more important agencies at home. For example, you may ask any of the residents in the Pampa-Lefors area: What is the most important agency at the present time? The answer in many cases will be: "Why, who will run for governor?" However, the answer that should be heard in all cases and should be foremost in the minds of the residents of this area is the Pampa-Lefors United Fund campaign. Why the United Fund? Because through the United Fund each person who feels that he wants to give knows that he is helping to make his community a better place in which to live. At the same time, it eliminates the need for six separate and unrelated drives. The United Fund supports the following six agencies, Boy and Girl Scouts, Heart Assoc., Welfare Index, Salvation Army, and the Red Cross. The goal for this year is somewhat lower this year than in the past, but it is the amount that each of the six agencies will need during the year to operate at full capacity. $2,500,000 is something that should also be on the minds of the residents of this area as well as the slogan "Go All The Way With One Day's Pay" to reach the goal of $2,500,000. Some may ask, "How much should I give?" The answer remains relatively simple, as much or as little as you see fit, for there is no set amount to give or to be given by any one individual or group; it is purely voluntary. Let's show the skeptics that $2,500,000 in thirty days is not an unreasonable goal and is one that the People of the Pampa-Lefors area can attain.

Theatre Of The Individual

We have been considerably astounded by the advent of a new pup in New York, called the theatre of the individual. It resides at 310 Madison Avenue, Suite 801. And the apparent purpose of the organization is to encourage literary contributions, particularly satirical ones, with which to lampoon the t. A letter we have received bears as follows: "For a long time our liberal and liberal press have been giving wholehearted approval to the efforts of the medians and writers who are speedily bringing down the pretensions of the hated Establishment (Conservative). According to what is in print, it would seem that these comedians and writers are daring, original and overflowing with wit. Nobody says anything about flogging a dead horse. I analyze the material. How many years has it been since Conservatism has been in power? In government? In church? In education? In business and finance? The things they claim to satirize have been satirized countless times before. Perhaps, rather than for daring the approval is due the so-called satirical comic is so very, very safe." From here, the authors of the er, a quartet of drama fans, presume, go on to point out that the theater really needs a spark of originality. They would like to stage some "black-outs" or other edgy sketches which string up pretenses of the entrenched and make them look like the ddy tragedians they truly are. And as they do over the die of business, morality and insect. Since it was the left of ter power-grabbers who introduced the decline, nothing should be funnier than pointing out the bers of the comics in the collec- quote the letter again: "Then it would be original and daring? Hasn't the original and daring thing always been to satirize power? Real power. Not power that has had no power for many, many years. The power of now. Power that can — and perhaps will retaliate. Wouldn't you be honored to have the Secret Service knock at your door at 4 a.m.?" So, these ambitious lads are looking for some dramatic goodies with which to toss a custard pie into the drooly serious physiognomies of the "Liberal Establishment." And if they are successful in stimulating some of the latent ability lying almost dormant in the anti-communist, anti-collectivist group, something could come out that would be highly successful. Simply speaking, the "Theatre of the Individual" wants some dramatic sketches that can introduce stitches into the sides of an audience. They prefer items that won't cost a fortune in scenery, costuming or casting. They want simplicity with a bite in the line, not a bite on the purse. They'll take original musical numbers, but whatever it is has got to be funny. Payment, they say, will be on a percentage basis. It is certainly true that the grotesque mummery of the thespians who control that greatest of all stages, the American Congress, together with its minstrel show at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue are fit targets for a few well-aimed barbs in light vein. We ought to remind ourselves that three of America's foremost wits, all of them immortals, made their names by poking holes in the pretensions of phonies, politicians and power wielders. We are thinking of Mark Twain, Will Rogers and, of course, H. L. Mencken. Perhaps a little encouragement along this line will bring some future genius out of hiding and introduce his witticism to a laughter-starved America. We wish the Theatre of the Individual the best of good fortune.

The Cause Of Unemployment

Your attention has been called to an article which ran in our Sun-Family Weekly supplement some time ago. Our reader has mentioned the views on unemployment expressed in the article Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz asks the question, "Why is there this failure to meshable jobs with available job seekers?" We are inclined to agree with our reader. Wirtz never gets to the cause of this unemployment. It is simple. We think "The Family Weekly" performs a disservice by publishing opinions of bigwigs like Wirtz. Wirtz has no experience for the unemployment problem. He repeats that there is more demand for skilled and trained workers than for unskilled and untrained workers. Everyone knows that people who have ability have a better chance to get a job than those who do not, but there would be plenty of jobs for everybody if we let all people help establish values. But the labor unions and the government interfere with all people having the right to help establish values. They do this by a progressive income tax and by making laws that give organized labor the right to do things that no individual, as an individual, would have a moral right to do. It is a waste of space to be telling that good scholars have a better chance to get a job than those who are not good scholars. Good scholars are close reasoners and men who are self-reliant. What we need is for all men to be self-reliant and to try to develop what talents they have to the utmost and not have the labor unions, the merchants and the manufacturers run to the government to get a vested interest, nor should they run to the government to

Pull Up A Chair

By
Frank J. Markey

The detective story, almost everyone's favorite reading matter, didn't become popular until the middle of the 19th century. Edgar Allan Poe, between 1840-1845, incorporated in five tales the principles of detective story writing that have prevailed until now. Monsieur Dupin, Poe's detective, is the prototype of famous sleuths like Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes, Van Dine's Philo Vance, Chesterton's Father Brown, and many others. Wilkie Collins' "Moonstone" (1868) is generally credited as the first detective novel. There have been women detectives, but they were not very successful, probably because they depended upon intuition rather than the logical method. A warning to readers of who-dun-it: Don't be deluded by the author's frankness in giving clues; in every case it is the interpretation of the clues that solves the mystery. Like the classic Western, the general run of detective stories have the same general pattern. Both formulas have been the backbone of the movie and TV industries.

Country Editor Speaking: "As we grow older we gradually come to value time more than anything else." As a result of a new law prohibiting use of coin slugs in telephones, parking meters, etc., the U.S. Secret Service made 59 arrests last year, and expects that number to increase. U.S. beer and ale drinkers quaffed an average of 23.6 gallons each last year, according to the U.S. Brewing Association, which they figured comes out of 378 8-oz. glasses. Beer and ale run third in U.S. beverages, with milk leading and coffee a close second.

Memory Lane: Remember how local political rallies used to brighten up fall nights years ago? Candidates would place ads in the local papers telling at what street corner they would appear and the approximate time. There were no P.A. systems and most of the politicians were leather-lunged vocal artists who could be heard throughout the neighborhood. Radio and TV changed all that. If you're paying monthly for a washing machine, automobile, or anything else, don't worry about it. You have lots of company, because 85 per cent of all U.S. families are buying something on the installment plan.

Everyone applauded when Jackie wanted "to do over" the White House, but when President Millard Fillmore installed the first bathtub in 1851, the populace rose up in anger. Red-blooded Americans said he was a sissy. Kuwait, the richest country in the world per capita, is building its first embassy in Washington, a $700,000 architectural gem modeled after the Sheikh's palace in the homeland. There's no mention of a harem though. The Dept. of Agriculture is never plagued by a surplus of tomatoes. Nature takes care of that problem by destroying them. Art authorities say a 17th-century painting, "The Adultress Woman," generally attributed to Rembrandt was actually done by one of his pupils, Jacob de Wet.

Today's Smile: We didn't know what kind of stars should be subject to the game laws, but our favorite teen-ager told us: "Shooting stars."

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 9, the 282nd day of 1963 with 83 to follow.
The moon is at least quarter.
The morning stars are mercury and jupiter.
The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.
On this day in history:
In 1701, Yale College was founded.
In 1781, George Washington fired the first gun at the siege of Yorktown.
In 1858, a mail-carrying overland stagecoach reached St. Louis Mo., after a trip of 23 days and four hours from San Francisco.
In 1958, Pope Pius XII, the 261st pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church, died.
It would increase credit to bail the man out who had had judgment in investments.

The American Way

THE BIBLE — SYMBOL OF UNITY
By Raymond C. Baker
American Way Features Correspondent

Is America relaxing beyond recall its traditional moral guidelines? Are recognized leaders failing to provide the religious leadership upon which this nation was founded? Are too many churchmen — lay and ecclesiastical — taking too lightly the stresses and strains that tend to overshadow moral obligations in a rapidly changing world? Have the "nine old men" of the U. S. Supreme Court turned away from the precepts instrumental in forging a fledgling nation into the greatest country on earth? Can it be that in too many homes the Holy Bible has been relegated to a bookshelf, buried among some of the filth that has been pouring off the presses in recent years?

Churches Alarmed
The answer to these questions, at best, is an equivocal "No," otherwise men of the cloth would not be telling us that while church membership is higher than ever, attendance is off; that today one in every four marriages ends in divorce; that some 13 million children are tragedies of broken homes! Churches of all denominations are alarmed, and with good reason. Moral laxity is self evident in too many places. An attitude of "Who cares?" is being substituted for the old-fashioned principle of righteous living.

This is not to conclude that we cannot turn the corner back to a way of life where impeccable religious standards are the moral fiber of family life. People everywhere recognize that present-day ideologies are a far cry from the sound moral principles of untold generations of Americans. They know that in too many homes, in our schools (by order of the Supreme Court), in our work-a-day world, in our social life and, most important, in our thinking God's Word no longer holds the place of honor. But they are doing something about it.

National Bible Week
One of the country's outstanding business leaders, Frank M. Folsom, for instance—is heading a nationwide drive to bring the Holy Bible back to its place of prominence. Himself an executive of the Radio Corporation of America, Mr. Folsom is being assisted by scores of business leaders whose names constitute the bluebook of American industry to reawaken religious thinking as a tool against moral laxity.

BERRY'S WORLD

Edson In Capitol

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The long-awaited report of President Kennedy's Consumers' Advisory Council under the chairmanship of Dr. Helen G. Conover, dean of Cornell's School of Economics, probably will be made public in early October when the group holds its sixth two-day session in Washington.

The advance word is that the report will not set the country on fire or start a march of consumers on Washington to demand their rights. In its first year's work the Consumers Advisory Council of six men and six women—call them CAC for short — has done little more than sort out the problems. There is a long historical chapter, reviewing relations between consumers and government since the New Deal days. The peak of government interest in protecting consumers came in the OPA era of price controls and rationing during World War Two. Anything that has happened after that is in a sense anticlimax.

But another section of the CAC report reviews everything that has happened in the Kennedy administration thus far which has been intended to benefit consumers in any way. Since most of these continuing programs were launched before the President sent Congress his special message on protecting consumer interests in March 1962, there is nothing particularly new here. Housing acts of 1961 and 1962, for example, antedate the consumer movement agitation. Securities and Exchange Commission also has done a comprehensive job investigating the stock, mutual investment fund and over-the-counter markets. But its work — which probably will result in new regulations and legislation — was begun long before the Kennedy consumer program got hot.

The President's legislative recommendations in the consumer field have met with only limited success so far. On food and drug safety, the thalidomide case was responsible for waking up Congress on the need for greater protection as embodied in the late Sen. Kefauver's bill.

The "Truth in Lending" bill fought for so earnestly by Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and others, is still having difficulties in spite of recent hearings, but may sneak through. The same is true of the "Truth in Packaging" bill introduced by Sen. Philip D. Hart, D-Mich. CAC endorses both. But this latter proposal is running into competition from the so-called "Quality Stabilization Bill," which CAC opposes. This legislation has so many congressional sponsors, however, that if it is ever cleared by the House Rules Committee, it will probably pass. The assumption is that it would be vetoed, but it might even override a veto. One major development, since the President's message suggested it, is the establishment in 23 government agencies of offices to protect consumer interests. These include all 10 cabinet level departments, some of which — like Health, Education and Welfare —

RED CHINA: RECOGNITION OR LIBERATION?
America's official policy toward Red China has been a subject of argument for the past 14 years. While some people claim that we must recognize the fact that the Communists are here to stay, it must be noted that they overlook a basic fact: Red China's existence has been maintained mostly by American containment of the Nationalist Chinese who are bent on liberation — and who would obviously receive active support from most of Red China's 600 million captives.

Question Box

QUESTION: The disobeying of what Commandment, that prohibits certain acts, is the primary cause of the predicament we are in today?
ANSWER: It would seem that if people realized the importance of respecting the commandment, "Thou shalt not steal," private property would be secure and production would go up, because people will not use their utmost energy to produce and create if they do not believe they will have the right to use the fruits of their labor as they see fit. Adolph Tiers contended in his book, "A Refutation of Socialism and Communism," that when people could not distribute what they earned in the way that would give them the most happiness, they would cease producing. Certainly a man who believed in free enterprise who believed that the communists or the socialists were going to take over his property at his death, would not be anxious to accumulate property. If during his life time he could keep only enough to stay alive, he wouldn't want to produce more than that for the benefit for those who took it over. People pretty well understand that stealing is wrong when done individually, but they do not seem to think that if it is done by the group or the majority vote and made legal by a legislative or administrative act of the President, that it is stealing. It doesn't make a bit of difference whether it is one man or the agents of the majority that steal or take from the individual something that is rightfully his own against the individual's will, it is stealing.

So if people respected the stealing commandment and understood the harm that comes from collectively disobeying this commandment, we wouldn't be in the predicament we are in today. We wouldn't be in one war after another, we wouldn't have the purchasing power of the dollar shrinking, we wouldn't have our debts increasing, we wouldn't have increased crime, and we would be on the road to becoming civilized. If people did not steal, they would not bear false witness because they are stealing the reputation of a man; they would not commit adultery, they would not murder because they are stealing the life of a man. So the stealing commandment pretty well covers the human relations commandments.

LIBERATION
The final chapter of the book covers in detail the possibilities of a liberation campaign spearheaded by the willing Nationalist Chinese based on Formosa. The Communists' status as a "paper tiger" is effectively revealed. And the two frequent objections against liberation are met carefully. First, the idea that Chinese liberation could "escalate" into a world war is debunked by pointing out that the Soviets fear a world war more than we do. They can't depend upon the satellite armies to be loyal — nor can they even depend upon their own captive citizens or army. Secondly, Red China's huge population is often used to scare us into thinking it is a formidable foe. Yet, again, these 600 million hungry slaves are more of a liability than an asset to the tyrannical Communist regime.

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
Victor Lasky's brass-knuckled book, "J.F.K., The Man and The Myth", has zoomed in two short weeks from last to first place on the metropolitan best-seller list (New York Times) generally recognized as standard.

The list is compiled on reports from more than 125 bookstores in 64 American communities. "J.F.K." reached last place, No. 10, on the best seller list on Sept. 22, about a fortnight after publication. On Sept. 29, the book was No. 4. Last Sunday it was No. 1, displacing James Baldwin's bitter study of U.S. race relations, "The Fire Next Time."

Lasky's book was published by the MacMillan Co. at $7.95. If "J.F.K." maintains itself on the best-seller lists for 32 weeks as, for example, Baldwin's book has done, the Kennedy's surely will be counting the book as a major political reverse.

Book is Anti-Kennedy
"J.F.K." is frankly anti-Kennedy. Lasky wrote it as a challenge to John F. Kennedy's political integrity and fitness for the presidency. It is a tirade Kennedy's friends and delight his enemies. But that is not of much moment.

The important question is whether the book will have substantial impact on the 1964 presidential election. It could be deadly to Kennedy's re-election chances if enough voters read it and were convinced that Kennedy is — as charged — a weather-vane politico who substitutes for political convictions and principles merely an obsessive need to win at all costs. The portrait of Kennedy sketched by Lasky in 582 pages is not a pretty one.

Foreign News Commentary

Despite Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's tough talk against the Kabylean rebels, French officials are confident there will be no civil war in Algeria. They believe Ben Bella will do everything to reach a face-saving compromise. Ben Bella does not have the military strength to conquer the rebels' Kabylea mountain stronghold which several hundred thousand French troops also failed to reduce during the Algerian war. So far as French relations with Ben Bella are concerned the French have reacted angrily to the nationalization of all French farmland in Algeria but the French will think twice before taking any sharp reprisals. They want at all costs to avoid provoking Ben Bella into seizing the Sahara oilfields, too.

Macmillan's Future:
Political insiders say it still is a 50-50 bet whether British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will yield Conservative party leadership in advance of the coming general elections. Talk now is he is under fire in party councils not so much for staying on but for not making his own wishes clear. It is being argued that this is hamstringing party planning. On Macmillan's side it is said he is equivocal because he feels there is no agreement or any one man to succeed him. More light on his plans may come when he makes his windup speech at this week's Conservative party congress.

ERNE PREPARES
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tennessee Ernie Ford is wasting no time getting ready for the Christmas Holiday Season.
Ford, a regular on daytime television, is preparing "The Story of Christmas" which he plans to do on night time video.
