Sergeant's Death Uncovers Security Leak

'Super-Secret' Security Man Sells Information

By FRANK JACKMAN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Demands for a sweeping review of U.S. security procedures appeared certain today to follow disclosures that a high-ranking Army sergeant sold secrets to the Russians for an estimated $60,000.

The Defense Department said Thursday night that Sgt. I.C. Jack Edward Dunlap, 35, an employee of the super-secret National Security Agency NSA, peddled classified materials to Red agents for more than two years, but killed himself when his lavish spending gave him away.

Dunlap's breach of U. S. security was the second case at NSA in three years. In 1960 NSA mathematicians Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin fled to the Soviet Union by way of Mexico and Cuba.

NSA deals with high-level military intelligence, particularly codes and ciphers of this country and foreign powers. Its work is perhaps the most secret of all government agencies.

Pentagon Says No Access

Dunlap, who was originally assigned to NSA headquarters at Ft. George G. Meade, Md., in April 1958 as a driver, did not have access to top secret U. S. codes and ciphers.

Heroin Cache Is Uncovered in Laredo

LAREDO, T.x. (UPI) — A 66-pound cache of pure heroin, worth $33 million on underworld markets and second largest seizure in United States history, today was held by customs agents who arrested a suave Canadian couple.

Preliminary hearings in federal court were slated late today for Joseph Michel Caron, 33-year-old Montreal gambler, and his attractive 30-year-old wife, Marie Ida. They were held in absence of $250,000 bonds.

The heroin, which would make 450 pounds of narcotics when cut with milk sugar, was found by border guards during a routine check. It was the largest seizure ever at the United States-Mexico border and second largest ever found coming into this country, officials said.

"It is pure heroin," a customs spokesman said. "I am certain it is a syndicate operation."

Customs officials said the narcotics apparently was moved to Mexico from Europe. The Carons crossed into Mexico Oct. 2 and went to Mexico City. They were driving back when the discovery was made.

James E. Ragsdale and Herman Scher were making a routine inspection of the car when 66 plastic containers were found stashed in a back seat and panels of the sedan.

Oran G. Pugh, Laredo customs chief, estimated the heroin would sell for at least $33 million to underworld sources in the United States, but would cost less than $1 million in Mexico.

Mrs. Caron, the mother of four, broke into sobs when arrested and said with a French accent, "I don't know anything about it." The shapely woman was dressed in tight blue pedal pushers and a black sweater.

Caron, who said he was a salesman and gambler, refused to discuss the cargo. He said he had friends in Montreal "who might help us post the bond." A pudgy, dark man, he wore a light grey suit and a sport shirt.

The heroin, which has no legal or medical use in the United States, was retained by customs officials as evidence. Authorities said with a French accent, "I Washington for destruction."

The couple retained Horace Hall Jr., a Laredo attorney, who said "we will not make a $25,000 bond at present." He indicated he would seek a reduction in the bond.

Reliable sources indicated that after the 66 pounds of pure heroin was cut to 450 pounds, each pound (See LAREDO, Page 3)

62-N-30 EQUALS UNITED FUND GOAL—Dan Eddy, public relations director of Salvation Army in Dallas, challenged the 200 United Fund workers yesterday to "make Pampa a 100 per cent city, not a 95 per cent or 82 per cent city." Eddy spoke at the annual United Fund campaign Kick-off luncheon in the Coronado Inn. The slogan, 62-N-30, equals the United Fund goal of $62,000 in 30 days. (Daily News Photo)

Eddy Challenges Pampans At United Fund Luncheon

"Pampa is prosperous and aggressive. The physical giant of this city is healthy enough, but some of the heart and soul is missing." This statement was made by Dan Eddy, public relations director of the Salvation Army in Dallas, in his address before 200 United Fund workers at the Pampa-Lefors United Fund campaign luncheon in the Coronado Inn.

"Future businesses and industries look at a community to see if it has schools, churches, streets, parks and colleges and successful campaigns, because that, to a large extent, is the true spirit of a community," he said.

Eddy challenged Pampa to be a "100 per cent city, not a 95 per cent or 82 per cent city," and said "Pampans quota of $62,000 is far below the national average and considerably below the Texas average. We have to raise our standard of giving and receiving more gifts to be successful."

He told the group that of over 2,200 United Funds in America, including the 191 in Texas, "more than 90 per cent will be successful and will raise more than $50,000 million."

"Pampa has failed eight out of 10 years to reach its quota, and if the United Fund itself should fail, we would go back to six independent campaigns. If those six campaigns should fail, then some form of government would do for us what we failed to do for ourselves," he said.

According to Eddy, Pampa has not reached any peak in fund raising because the contributions are only 14 per cent of what the Internal Revenue Service allows to be given.

"While Texans give over one million dollars to churches, schools, and other philanthropic organizations, some form of government, city, county, state or federal, is paying 93 per cent of the welfare bills in Texas, which leaves us seven per cent from complete socialized welfare," Eddy stated.

He explained that because every United Fund is completely "autonomous, home owned and home operated," and the money is spent to care for Pampa people, it is the most "sensible, economical way to finance these organizations."

Eddy emphasized he had not "come to insult" Pampans, but to "give you a challenge." He said each person can earn three degrees in life, a "B.S. for Being Something, a M.S. for master of something and Ph.D. for a Philosophy of Doing."

He told the group towns die when its people stop believing in free enterprise, when they stop giving the "gift of themselves."

According to Eddy, six major ingredients are necessary for the success of any campaign, "need, leadership, organization, hard work, determination and enthusiasm, the most powerful force of all."

During his address he stood before the United Fund slogan, "Go All The Way—Give One Day's Pay."

After Eddy's address, Clyde Carruth, drive chairman of United Fund, explained the process of distributing cards and collecting funds and told workers their check-in day will be every Friday, at 10 a.m. in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. Workers will not check in tomorrow, but will every other Friday until Nov. 10, the last day of the drive.

The Pampa firms who have given 100 per cent to United Fund are Kyles Shoes, Zales Jewelry, Dunlap's, and Richard Drug.

Majors of the 10 divisions of United Fund contributions are Aubrey Steele, advance gifts; oil and gas, Hugh Burdette; service, Wyant Lemons; wholesale, David Tucker; individual, Kirk Duncan; (See UNITED FUND, Page 3)

Officers, Directors Installed

Donald L. Hileman, executive vice president of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, installed three new officers and 10 new directors during the director's dinner meeting last night in the Coronado Inn.

In his installing address, Hileman spoke on the responsibilities of the officers and directors to the organization. He reminded them of the importance of attending meetings, knowing all chamber activities, providing a proper work program, adequate financing and giving their time and abilities to promote the C of C activities and programs.

Aubrey Steele will be the new Chamber of Commerce president; E. L. Green Jr., vice president, and Gerald Sims, financial director.

These officers and the new directors will take office officially at the annual membership banquet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Robert E. Lee Junior High Cafeteria. Dr. Leslie E. Munneke, professor, department of management, University of Houston, will be banquet speaker.

New directors who will serve a three year term are Billy B. Davis, L. J. Edmondson, Gene Imel, Norman Henry, W. G. McComas, Wiley Reynolds and A. L. Smalley.

One year term directors, appointed by President Steele are R. M. Samples, David Tucker and John Wortman.

Holdover directors who have one more year to serve are Harold Barrett, James Evans, Loyal Davies, Ralph McKinney, Jerald Sims, Aubrey Steele and Floyd Watson.

Those with two more years to serve are Paul Crossman, Bill Duncan, E. L. Green Jr., George Newberry, J. C. Roberts, George Scott and Tom Snow.

Welfare Index Provides Invaluable Service

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of six articles written to explain the various organizations aided by the United Fund.

The Welfare Index was organized in 1952 to prevent the 37 city and county agencies that give welfare aid from overlapping with their services.

"All civic clubs, lodges, women's clubs, church groups, the United Fund agencies and every other agency and organization that participates in welfare work is a member of the Welfare Index," Tom Beard, president, said.

Other officers are Wesley Langham, vice president, Mrs. Libby Shotwell, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. E. M. Stafford, warehouse administrator.

Clothing and furniture donated to the Welfare Index is kept in a warehouse at the Plainsman Motel on the Amarillo Highway. Mrs. Stafford registers the amount of clothing received and distributed and a report is made annually on the amount of clothing used by the Pampa community.

This year, the Welfare Index received from the United Fund, an allotment of $400 which is used for the rent of the building and for office supplies, according to Beard.

"About 750 garments were distributed last year," Mrs. Shotwell said. "Up till June of this year, we had given out all our furniture, but have restocked the warehouse to take care of the need."

If anyone is in "genuine" need of clothing or furniture, he should contact Mrs. Shotwell and the Red Cross Office; Mrs. B. R. Shultz, at the County Welfare office or Mrs. H. C. Seago at the Salvation Army. They will channel the aid through the Welfare Index, according to Beard.

"We try to supply families who have been burned out or others who demonstrate a genuine need," Beard said. "We don't help people just because they don't have something. They have to be trying to help themselves."

The Pampa Rebecca Lodge, Business and Professional Women's Club and various individuals have given their time to help at the index storeroom to mend and straighten clothes donated during the year, Mrs. Shotwell said.

The Welfare Index meets with a representative from each of its 37 organizations to keep informed of which family is receiving help from each club and organization.

Although the index functions the year round, it only meets at 4 p.m. the second Monday of every month and does not meet during the summer.

"We do not care how many families a club sponsors," Beard said. "The only thing we are trying to prevent is one family receiving more than it can use and others being neglected."

At Thanksgiving and Christmas a coordinator is appointed by the index to give agencies and clubs in Pampa certain families to care for during the holidays, according to Mrs. Shotwell.

Pampa News City Editor

Last evening was the opening performance of the Pampa Little Theater's production of "If a Man Answers" at the Pampa Junior High School Auditorium.

Don Pope, Kay Cobb, Bill McGowan, Weynoka Yarbrough and Janice Cope did a marvelous job in their starring roles. The entire production was handled in a "professional" manner, with most of the comments from those attending very favorable.

Tonight is the final performance of the current production. It is a treat that is well worth seeing.

Oh yes, attendance was fair last night, but the people who missed last night and are not planning to attend tonight will miss possibly one of the best amateur productions that this scribe has been privileged to witness.

So if you were not there last night, do make plans to attend tonight.

Some people find the slogans of various things to be amusing as well as informative, so the following slogan is offered:

The Hemphill County News in Canadian has the following for its slogan: "If you don't read this paper, you miss a lot of news." (This could also be said about any paper, however this is the slogan of Othello Miller.)

Along those same lines comes the old stand-by that may be found on the front of the Oklahoma Press Building in Oklahoma City.

"All I know is what I read in the newspapers." Will Rogers.

In checking back through the years, I found that this week is the 50th anniversary of the 1040 federal income tax form. Even after all these years of use there are still some who find the form confusing, still others make mathematical errors.

For example the tax boys last year found 225 million mistakes, 75 million in favor of Uncle Sam and 150 million in favor of the taxpayer.

Another saying for your memory books: "Growing old is not a disgrace, but it is an accomplishment."

Remember the circus that is presently in town at the back of Montgomery Wards.

Quips for the UPI Wire:
"Is my car ready?" a man asked a mechanic in Passaic, N.J., as he pointed to a 1962 model automobile.

"All ready," was the quick reply. The man got into the car and drove away.

Later the owner arrived. Police are still looking for the car and the driver.

The only way that this quip can be titled is: Boring Late Show
Mrs. Yetta Czarlinsky stretched out on her couch to watch the late show on television. It apparently did not hold her interest. She awoke yesterday morning only to find that her TV set had been stolen.

A closing reminder about the Pampa Little Theater's production tonight at 8. I'll be there, Will You?

WEATHER FORECAST

Pampa and Vicinity—Generally fair with a few high clouds through tomorrow. Cooler tonight. Low tonight mid 40's. High tomorrow low to mid 80's.

The high in Pampa yesterday was 89. This morning's low was 52, with no moisture reported.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hdw. Adv.

Parade Starts Circus Today

The A. G. Kelly and Miller Bros. circus which has two performances today, at 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the back of Montgomery Wards store at 1200 N. Hobart was kicked off with a downtown parade of circus floats, three elephant herds, a rhinoceros and a full grown hippopotamus and about 16 displays of wild animals in cages.

The grand entry, "Toyland", led off down Cuyler St., was watched by downtown shoppers from Pampa and the Top O' Texas area.

More than 200 performers and trained animals will perform in the three ring, two stage circus. Aerial ballet performers will present a quartet style trapeze act and the wild animal trainer Capt. Fred Logan, will perform with leopards, panthers and wolves in a steel arena.

Some of the trained animal displays will include elephants, dancing Llamas, horses and ponies, seals and dancing horses and jungle lions. The traveling menagerie will also contain Indian tigers, giraffes, a hippopotamus, rhinoceros and other cages of wild animals.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist
Millions of eligible voters do not exercise this basic right nor fulfill this responsibility. The reason may be that as students they probably were not fully taught what being a United States citizen involves.

Some teachers and schools, recognizing their responsibilities, place an emphasis on the importance of good citizenship. Some junior and senior high schools have a token course. These are not typical of the nation's schools.

Is there a teacher's college which offers a specific course in the teaching of citizenship? Perhaps, there are a few but it is certainly not a standard procedure. This should be a requirement for the issuance of a teacher's license. It is everyone's fault, not because they object to this but because they have done nothing about it.

Needs Citizens' Participation
The strength of our nation depends upon the enthusiastic participation of its citizens. Some people might argue that the direct teaching of citizenship is indoctrination. But you cannot expect an individual to guess what his responsibilities are. He must obtain the knowledge and understanding through education. He must also develop the attitudes which are necessary to encourage his cooperation and participation in activities concerned with public welfare and government.

This is not meant to indicate that all citizens neglect their responsibilities. But too many tend to be lackadaisical about these important parts of democratic living.

Although not fully responsible, schools have not put the needed effort into developing programs concerning citizenship and related activities. Millions of dollars are spent yearly developing curricula. Very little is earmarked for research concerning citizenship programs.

U. S. History Fastinating

The study of American history can be fascinating. A student is exposed to this several times in his school career. The practice of politics also can be extremely intriguing and important. The schools teach about our government's development and structure but they often neglect to include a study of political history and influence. The political parties and their members probably have more effect upon our government than most other factors. An individual surely will have a greater understanding and feeling for our government if he is aware of the growth of political parties and what they stand for.

Citizenship responsibilities are more extensive in our form of government than in most others. The development of skills in the area of citizenship is as important as those in science and mathematics. A look at school programs should indicate where to begin solving this problem.

Cynthia Hogsett Named Reporter At 4-H Meet

Cynthia Hogsett was appointed reporter during a recent Top O' Texas 4-H Club's horse and pony project meeting in the Courthouse annex.

Georganna Jackson and Vickie Elsheimer were appointed as the telephone committee to remind members of meetings.

Alvin Reeves, adult leader, distributed pamphlets entitled "Ride a Quarter Horse" and "Judging a Quarter Horse." After pointing out and explaining parts of a horse, he told members to study the parts of a horse and be able to locate them at the next meeting.

He also explained and distributed the record sheet on "Horse and Pony Demonstration." John Winters, adult leader, told the club complete records are necessary for nearly all 4-H contests.

Leaders also announced a horse award will be given now that this subject matter group is organized. The club decided all members must attend four of the seven subject matter meetings this winter to be eligible to participate in riding activities next spring.

Members present were Alan and Cara Tidwell, Teddy and Phyllis Atwood, Lynn Taylor, Cynthia Hogsett, Ted and Jim Reeves, Wyatt Earp, Nancy and Vickie Elsheimer and Kenneth Stone. New members are Georganna Jackson, Kerry Barefoot and Rance Southard.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — CBS-TV's enterprising new "Chronicle" series Wednesday night offered what promised to be a bright and charming idea: A half-hour visit with three octogenarians who would recall for us their personalized views of American history in their lifetimes.

Here in the nuclear year 1963, where we have progressed to having a New York cabbies international amateur golf tournament, the appeal of such a rear-view look at an earlier and simpler time was obvious. And CBS found three lively oldimers to do the talking at their respective homes: H. E. Merry, of Duxbury, Mass., a veteran of the Spanish-American War; Mrs. William David Finkley, of New York City, the daughter and granddaughter of slaves; and John B. Dickey Jr., of Newton, Kan., who was born the year that Gen. George Custer made his last stand against the Indians at Little Big Horn.

All three were highly fluent in the program's attempt to show the diverse elements that were a part of the nation's common past. But what might have been a far more incisive and coherent approach to the excellent announced purpose of the half-hour was unfortunately never fully realized, as the recollections consisted mainly of a few anecdotes that went nowhere in particular. There were several problems. First, the brevity of the show allowed little more than a skimming of the surface of the three participants; the material demanded at least an hour.

And had there been an hour to work with, the mere introductions of the first 30 minutes might have been harnessed for a central and precise approach: The asking of the three stars for their views on specific events that occurred in the nation during their lifetimes. Then these three disparate views of history might have given a much fuller idea of how different backgrounds and parts of the country reacted personally to the common major events that shaped them all. Then we would have had a rich meal instead of an hors d'oeuvre that merely whetted the appetite.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investment adviser James Dines says that "since we do not yet see a major decline it is prudent to refrain from any large scale selling in other than obviously overpriced issues."

Nevertheless, he adds, since a short term decline is possible, investors should limit new purchases until there is less indecision in the air.

Reynolds & Co. says that if the industrial index makes another new high accompanied by the rails and utilities, it will mark another phase of the year-old bull market. However, it adds, "until the market settles the stalemate by its own action, we would adopt a cautious attitude and continue to concentrate only on fundamentally strong situations selling at reasonable prices."

Harris, Upham & Co. says that "a summer rally that peaks out in July reflects a suspicious market, while one that continues into September usually indicates fair weather ahead for the rest of the year. It is reassuring therefore, the brokerage firm said, that this year the summer high was made on Sept. 24."

Clark, Dodge & Co. comments that "while the market is headed toward higher levels before it finally burns out, odds seem to favor some nearby irregularity. A policy of bidding for select issues rather than chasing them in excited markets is likely to yield the best results in the final analysis."

Russians Close Principal Highway Link With Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—The Russians closed one lane of the principal highway linking Berlin and West Germany today with armored cars which they vowed would stay there until a new East-West dispute is settled.

Some civilian cars were allowed to pass through the border in both directions, using the highway's open lane.

The Russians moved 12 to 15 armored personnel carriers into the lane which normally carries traffic into West Berlin and rolled the leading vehicles right up to the border of the Communist-encircled city.

A U.S. Army spokesman announced today that Soviet armored cars had been moved into both lanes of the highway, but a U.S. diplomatic official reported shortly afterward that the west-bound lane was open.

Eyewitnesses at the Dreilinden crossing point confirmed one side of the highway remained open to civilian traffic.

Indefinite Delay

The Russians said they would continue to block the autobahn "until the present controversy is resolved."

A U.S. Army convoy carrying 61 men has been held at Russia's Babelsberg checkpoint a mile outside Berlin since about 4 a.m. today. A second convoy from West Berlin joined it about 9 a.m.

One convoy rolled from West Berlin to West Germany today without incident before the highway was blocked.

The army said the holdup of the Berlin-bound convoys, which started at 9 a.m. Thursday at the West German end of the autobahn and continued today at Babelsberg is the "result of a unilateral Soviet attempt to change established procedure for clearing U.S. convoy traffic on the autobahn."

It condemned the blocking of traffic as "a wholly unilateral act of the Soviets."

Full-Scale Showdown

Maj. Gen. James H. Polk, U.S. commandant in Berlin, was prepared for a full-scale showdown with the Soviets to protect American access rights along the vital highway between Berlin and the West, informed sources said.

The situation was considered the most serious in Berlin since U.S. and Russian tanks stood muzzle to muzzle along the Berlin wall in October, 1961.

The two other convoys stopped Thursday by the Russians were permitted to continue their trip into West Germany.

The convoys were blocked because the United States refused to accede to Soviet demands to have its soldiers get out of the trucks and jeeps and stand behind the highway while Soviet guards counted them.

The Army insisted the Soviets have no right to do this and said the soldiers could be counted in the vehicles, as is the usual procedure.

The Army spokesman indicated that the Soviets' total blockade of the highway would not be lifted as long as the controversy over the processing of the convoys remained unresolved.

The five convoys involved totaled more than 500 men and more than 80 vehicles.

Diplomats felt the stopping may have been intended as a probe of Western intentions following the nuclear test ban treaty and the general relaxation of tensions in the cold war.

The diplomats said the Soviets may have been under the impression that Allied troops were under orders to avoid access route incidents as part of the "spirit of Moscow" that followed the treaty signing.

If this was the Soviet intention, the Army immediately made it clear it will not back down in its determination to keep troops and vehicles rolling over Berlin's access routes as often as it chooses.

20 Teachers Attend Meet

Twenty Pampa teachers attending the annual Classroom Teacher Conference with the Texas Education Agency at West Texas State University in Canyon, discussed subject matter preparation of teachers.

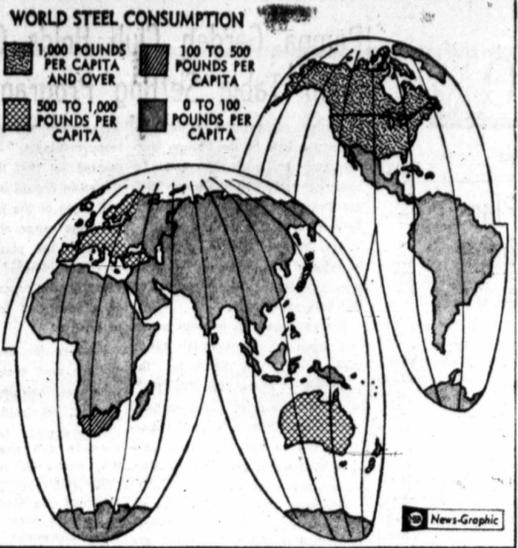

The recent conference was one of four held throughout Texas in a state-wide study to establish guidelines for teacher preparation.

Those representing the Pampa Classroom Teachers Association were Mrs. Bennie Shackelford, local unit president; Misses Mary Dean Dozier, Deanna Smith, Virginia Vaughan, Mrs. Mary Keim, Faye Dellis Adams, Peggy Dantel, Perry Gaut, Bernice Hatcher, W. A. Morgan and Florence Stinson.

Others attending were Austin Ruddick, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mangold, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sackett and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Watson.

THE STEEL STORY—Although demand for steel increased slightly in 1962 — net shipments were 7 per cent above 1961—production did not match the better years of the past. For the fourth year in a row, imports exceeded exports. Chart, left, shows that imports in 1962 were more than two million tons greater than exports. The latter United States and Canada continue to lead the world in steel consumption—one reason why they are prime markets for competing foreign steel makers. ## World's Worst Dam Disasters

ROME (UPI)—Following are the worst dam disasters in recent years:

—January, 1959. A dam went out at Vega de Tera, Spain, flooding the village of Rivadellaga and killing 144 persons, half of them children.

—December, 1959. France's Malpasset Dam broke, flooding the French city of Frejus and killing 421 persons.

—March, 1960. The dam at Ores, Brazil, broke, and its waters killed more than 1,000 persons.

—March, 1961. A dam broke outside of Kiev, Russia, killing 145 persons.

—July, 1961. A dam in central Korea broke, killing at least 250 persons.

—April, 1961. A natural dam break at Quebrada la Chapa, Columbia, killed about 50 persons.

Texas Division Building Contract Given to Jones

FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI)—The 2nd Armored "Hell on Wheels" Division today prepared for the largest trans-Atlantic movement of troops ever made by air—operation "Big Lift."

The U.S. Air Force, starting Oct. 22, will take 16,000 soldiers and airmen from the United States to Frankfurt, West Germany for military maneuvers against units of the 3rd Armored Division now stationed there.

"We will only take personal equipment, allowing 300 pounds per man," said Maj. William Mactee, information officer for the division. "That includes his own weight, the pack on his back, a rifle and two duffel bags."

Four air force bases in Texas, one in Virginia and one in North Carolina will be the take off points. The 2nd Armored Division will fly out of Connally AFB, Waco; Bergstrom AFB, Austin; Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, and Gray Army Air Field. Supporting units will board at Langley AFB, Va. and Pope AFB, N.C.

Home By Thanksgiving

Most of the men will be back at Ft. Hood by Thanksgiving.

During the first 24 hours, one C130 jet troop transport will land every hour at the Rhein Main Air Base, Frankfurt. A composite Air Strike Force of the U.S. Air Force will fly across the Atlantic from Dow and Loring Air Force bases in Maine while Military Air Transport Service (MATS) planes ferry the troops.

The movement will involve 240 MATS aircraft and 116 combat planes of the Air Force tactical air command.

The 2nd Armored men have three days for staging, and another four days to withdraw equipment from depots in West Germany where it has been stored since the 1961 Berlin crisis.

The Texas-based division will then move to an assembly area and begin a field training exercise with other U.S. troops stationed in Germany. The exercise is expected to last about a week.

The 2nd Armored Division is equipped with about 320 M48 medium tanks, which have 90 mm guns. There are 500 armored personnel carriers each with room for about a dozen soldiers, plus another 1,600 vehicles ranging from jeeps to wreckers.

Division has Nine Battalions

Macatee said there are about 800 soldiers in each infantry battalion and some 650 men in each tank battalion. The division has four infantry and five tank battalions.

The division artillery contains five battalions—three equipped with 105 howitzers, one with Honest John rockets and one with both 8-inch and 155 mm guns.

Maj. Gen. Edwin H. Burba, division commander, will be in charge of the Texas troops in Germany.

The division was reorganized into a ROAD concept this summer. ROAD stands for Reorganization Objectives Army Division. Three brigades form separate tactical units, each with both armored infantry and tank battalions.

Dear Abby... When Mothers Referee, Sons Retreat

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who won't let her 12-year-old boy fight his own battles? This mother runs outside every time she hears a disagreement in which her son is involved. My son is part of the neighborhood group of about 12 boys who play together. We have taught our son to be respectful to adults, so when this mother runs out and tells the other boys to quit picking on her son, no kid is going to talk back to her and tell her it's usually her kid who starts it. I am only one of the mothers who doesn't know how to handle this. Can you help us?

ONE MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: One of you mothers who is friendly with this woman should tell her that she is hurting her son while trying to help him. Boys must learn to resolve differences among themselves. It is part of growing up. Psychiatrists' couches are bathed with the sweat of men whose mothers ran interference for them.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is marrying a girl we all liked very much until she started planning the wedding. She said she didn't want any of those old-fashioned songs, like "I Love You Truly" or "Because" played at HER wedding. She wants songs that "mean something" to her and our son. It seems they met and fell in love to a jazz song called "WHAT KIND OF FOOL AM I?" And that, Dear Abby, is what she wants the church organist to play at our son's wedding. I told my son if they play "WHAT KIND OF FOOL AM I?" in church they will have to get married without me. Am I wrong?

GROOM'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I think you are probably assuming that the bride plans to walk down the aisle to "WHAT KIND OF FOOL AM I?" She probably has in mind a medley of their favorite songs as a prelude to such ceremonial music as the traditional Lohengrin. P.S. If this is not the plan, see if you can't negotiate it as a compromise.

DEAR ABBY: In the apartment building where I live is a couple with a little boy. The husband is a professional man and his wife is a nice appearing woman, but she is letting that little boy slowly starve to death. He is so thin I could cry. Isn't there some way a nurse could be sent to that home to tell that mother to feed her child? I saw the husband in the hall one day and I tried to tell him that his son looked like he needed vitamins, but he didn't seem interested. There should be a law against letting a child grow so thin. He is a very active child and I've never seen a doctor go into that apartment so I don't think the boy is sickly. Please don't think me a busybody. I just had to tell somebody. Is there anything I can do?

A NEIGHBOR
DEAR NEIGHBOR: I think it's safe to assume that the parents are as concerned about their son's health as you are. A child who appears "thin" is not necessarily slowly starving to death. Your intentions are good, but any suggestions would be considered meddling.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Gray County HD Council Meets

The Gray County Home Demonstration Council met Monday at the Court House Annex with Mrs. D. W. Swain president, presiding over the meeting. Thirteen members were present and Miss Lou Ella Patterson and Mrs. Jay Chanell attended.

Mrs. A. P. Coombes announced the date change for the salad luncheon which is now scheduled for Oct. 29 at 10 a.m. All club members are urged to come and bring a salad.

Mrs. Coombes reported on the trip to the state meeting. A report in further detail will be given at the salad luncheon meeting.

Each club president gave the monthly report on respective club activities, meetings held, members present and new members enlisted.

Mrs. Jack Howard gave a report on the club year book. All clubs have turned in what they want for program next year except the Steadfast Club.

Mmes. Jack Carlton, Mrs. V. Smith and A. P. Coombes had gone to Amarillo and purchased dishes and other items to be used in the Court House Annex kitchen.

The group also discussed the Home Demonstration Council sponsored Highway Safety program which was held Thursday.

CAPPING FASHION
The jockey cap in felt or tweed will be a sure-fire favorite with the sportive suits for fall. Many will be made in the same fabric as the suits.

A-HA! CAPES!
Capes are very much in fashion for fall. You can have your choice of the true cape, cape-back coats or the removable capelet that shoulders some of the new coats.

P.E.O. Plans Tulia Dinner Meeting Date

Chapter C.S., P.E.O. met with Mrs. W. R. Harden recently. Plans were made during the business meeting to leave immediately following the next meeting, which will be held Oct. 22 at 10 a.m. in the home of Mrs. M. L. Jacobs, for lunch at the Elm Tree Inn in Tulia.

The members were told that Dr. Blanche H. Dow, president of Cotty College, Nevada, Mo., was recently elected national president of the American Association of University Women. Cotty College is a women's junior college sponsored by the P.E.O. Sisterhood.

The program, "Paris Fall Fashions," was presented by Mrs. W. R. Harden, who spoke of the fashion industry, the evolutions of fashion and some of the extremes which have taken over the fashion world. She explained the differences between the 1920's flapper dress, the sack dress, and the now popular, shift dresses.

Mrs. J. G. Crinklaw assisted the hostess.

TAILORED TOUCH

Although at-home clothes represent a popular new fashion trend, they aren't all like the fancy hostess gowns of past years. Taking a cue from the sportive, at-home clothes have a definitely tailored look for fall.

DUO — Miss Susan J. Patrick, left, and Miss Cynthia Rasco, right, duo pianists will perform during the program to be presented at a tea honoring past-presidents of the American Business Women's Association which will be held at Lovett Memorial Library Sunday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. (Photo by Smith's)

Pampa Garden Club Holds Guest Night Table Setting Program

A guest night table setting program was held by the Pampa Garden Club at Lovett Memorial Library recently with Mmes. Thelma Bray, Ed Parsons, and Tilden Armstrong acting as hostesses.

Mrs. Myron Dorman, president, introduced Mrs. Melvin Stephens who presented the program on flower arrangement.

She gave pointers in ways to use self ingenuity for everyday eating and living. The theme for the program, "Teach Me Tonight," stressed the use of items on hand that come from self grown gardens and to use original ideas—that hard work, not talent produced a good arrangement.

Telephone Women Meet for Luncheon

Members of the Telephone Pioneer Women's Activities of Pampa met Tuesday at noon in the Telephone Company Building.

Those attending the luncheon were: Mmes. Wilma Dixon, Pearl Poole, Mildred Payne, Clyde Willis, Opal George, Lillie Mae Fowler, Velma Sutton, Pearl Cox, Mable Cross, Corene McKay, Cora Mae Hood, and Miss Katie McConnell. Guests of the group were: Mrs. Barbara Carothers, Mrs. Leila Marlin and Mrs. Mollie Frisby, a retired member.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 12 at 12 noon in the Telephone Building.

imagination and not just a little resourcefulness." Mrs. Stephens pointed out that the decoration of the room should influence the general style of the table setting and limit the range of the color used. Color in the plates should more precisely indicate the colors featured in the centerpiece, the type of accessories, texture and color of linens.

Flowers for use with informal pottery are: cockscomb, chrysanthemums, calendula, small sunflowers, marigold and dahlias of the shaggier, coarser textures. Flowers for use with porcelain are: carnation, rose, snapdragon, delphinium, peony, lily, stock or tuberous begonias. In old-fashioned arrangements use anemone, aster, columbine, crepe myrtle, daffodil, dogwood, iris, lilac, larkspur, marigold, mountain laurel, phlox, sweet William, tulips or violets. For Victorian arrangements, use camellia, fuchsia, petunia, tuberose and bleeding heart. Flowers which work out nicely in modern arrangements are: bananas, bird of paradise, Amaryllis, glads, globe thistle, lilies, ginger, zinnia and poinsettia.

Members of the club who had prepared table settings were Mmes. Tom Price, John Sweeney, V. N. Osborne, and Malcolm Stephens. These tables were set in a variety of styles and colors. One of the most striking tables featured a Boedeker wall hanging which was used as a table cover. This cloth, made in Germany, was given by the grandfather of John Sweeney to his wife. Brass articles were used with the colorful drape. Mrs. V. N. Osborne used an African violet plant in an arrangement, on a table featuring China etched with a violet design and violet glassware.

Mrs. Tom Price used leaves in her decorations. On one table brown placemats, were used with pottery in a leaf design and an orange glass. Mrs. Stephens carried out her color theme of black, white and red.

Mrs. Stephens, acting as modelator, described each table and explained certain changes in each table setting which would make it suitable for a different occasion.

An arrangement of pyracantha in a pumpkin which had been used on one of the tables was presented to Mrs. Bob McCoy as a door prize.

Dr. Bratcher Will Be In Pulpit At First Methodist

Dr. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will preach at the two morning services this Sunday. The special music for the early service will be the anthem, "Jesus, Blest Redeemer" by Grieg, sung by the Junior Choir.

At the 11 a.m. service the Sanctuary Singers will sing the anthem, "Rise, O My Soul" by Frank Palma.

The Youth Choir meets at 5 p.m. Sunday afternoon, followed by Sunday evening fellowship at 5:45 p.m. with a light supper for the entire family in Fellowship Hall. At 6:15 p.m. children, youth, and adults will separate for one hour of Fellowship group activities according to interest and needs. The adult fellowship group will meet in the church parlor.

The Sunday worship service at 7:15 p.m. will be conducted by the pastor, Hubert Bratcher, who will present a brief meditation followed by an altar time.

Methodist men will meet at 7 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall Wednesday with guest speaker, Dr. E. Kay Bryan, general practitioner, from Amarillo. Dr. Bryan has served as a medical missionary and will speak on "Medicine and Religion."

Dr. W.D. Lawes, Earl Ruble Will Conduct Revival at 1st Baptist

Dr. W. D. Lawes and Earl Ruble will lead the First Baptist Church of Pampa in a revival this coming week starting Sunday. Dr. Lawes is director of the department of Evangelism and Baptist Brotherhood of the Arizona Southern Baptist Convention.

Ruble is director of music in the North Phoenix Baptist Church in

DR. W. D. LAWES

Phoenix, Ariz. Both of these outstanding men have had vast experience in evangelistic crusades and are highly qualified to lead the people of First Baptist Church.

All of the organizations of the church, which includes the Sunday School, Training Union, W.M.U., and Brotherhood are holding individual prayer meetings in some 50 homes throughout our city. Nothing has been spared in preparation for this meeting and we feel that it will be one of our most successful.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday through Friday, and every evening at 7:30. Our nursery will be provided for every service and we cordially invite every one to come and worship with us.

Joe Whitten has announced that the Senior High Choir and Adult choirs will combine to make a large revival choir under the direction of Ruble. We anticipate a great music program every evening.

Rev. Williams Will Speak on "Our Christian Heritage" For Sunday

Sunday School will begin at 9:45 a.m., followed by the worship service at 10:45 a.m. The Rev. Loren E. Williams, minister, will speak on the subject "Our Christian Heritage."

The functional committees of the church will meet at 5 p.m. The Chi Rho Department of the Sunday School will serve a snack to the committee members after the meeting. The Sunday worship service will be at 7 p.m. Friday at 6:45 p.m. Lamar Church will launch the Building Fund Drive with a kick off dinner for the workers. Mrs. Allie Boswell and Mrs. Josephine Blalock are chairmen of the meals committee. The goal for this campaign is "burn the mortgages" on Thanksgiving Day 1966.

The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Hunter will be delighted with the news that they are being honored by the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ). The convention will be held at Miami, Fla. This honor, a dinner, Tuesday is a high honor in the

Chap. Henry of AAFB Will Be At 1st Christian

Chaplain L. Henry of the Amarillo Air Force Base will be the guest minister of the First Christian Church morning worship service. Rev. Glyn B. Adsit, minister, will be attending the International Convention of Christian Churches in Miami, Fla. Max Presnell, Elder of the Church, will preside in the pulpit. Lloyd Laramore will give a short stewardship message emphasizing "C" Day October 28th when the First Christian Church will underwrite the 1964 budget.

The Youth meetings will continue as usual with a snack-supper at 5 p.m. followed by study and recreation at 5:30 p.m. The JYF will continue their series on "Workers in Bible Times"; the CRF will hear a talk by a local attorney on the need for individuals in this field and the preparation necessary, and the CYF will continue their study of "The World's Great Religions".

Disciple Churches. Dr. and Mrs. Hunter were missionaries for many years. Since returning from the mission field they have served many churches as ministers and since his retirement they have served as ad interims in a number of churches. They were at Lamar church for several months. The members of Lamar feel that this great honor for the Hunters at our International Convention could not come to a more dedicated, committed couple than the Hunters.

Revival Continues At Central Church

There are few services remaining in the revival at Central Baptist Church. The revival will continue through Sunday with the remaining services being today at 7:30 p.m.; Saturday at 7:30 p.m.; and three services Sunday, at 8:45 and 11:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. This evening the youth will have a fellowship following the services. This fellowship will be held at 511 E. Browning.

Saturday morning the Brotherhood of the church is having a fellowship breakfast at 6 a.m. Men of the church are inviting their friends to attend this fellowship breakfast.

The Sunday School forces are looking forward to one of the finest Sunday attendances in the history of the church. Much work has gone into making this possible.

Bob Harris, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Killeen, will be bringing the messages in all three services Sunday. These three services will be the closing services of the revival.

Texas Gospel Singers Will Meet In Altus

The 34th annual Oklahoma and Texas Gospel Singers Association will meet in the city auditorium in Altus, Okla., Oct. 12th and 13th. The first session will begin on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Singers will be coming in from all parts of the nation for this song fest. The public will be privileged to hear some of the greatest class singing and directing in America. Some of the special guests of the convention will be, The Stamps Quartet of Dallas. The Stamps Quartet of Dallas. The Watchmen Quartet of Dallas. The Ambassadors Quartet of Wichita, Kan. The David Sapp Trio of Orange, Tex. The Williams Trio from New Braunfels, Tex. and many others too numerous to mention. The public is invited to attend and there will be no admission charge, according to Elmo Hudgins convention president of Pampa.

Readings To Come From Ephesians For Scientist

The obliteration of evil in the redemptive and healing work of Christ will be emphasized at all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Scriptural readings include this verse from Ephesians (2:8): For we are sometimes darkness, but now are we light in the Lord: walk as children of light."

A related passage from the Christian Science textbook will be read: "Let unselfishness, goodness, mercy, justice, health, holiness, love — the kingdom of heaven — reign within us, and sin, disease, and death will diminish until they finally disappear" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 248).

The Bible Lesson is entitled: "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

30-Voiced Choir To Sing At Church Of God Revival

The thirty-voiced Youth Choir, of the West Amarillo Church of God, will be in Pampa Friday night, to sing for the Revival Services now going on at the Church of God here. The Choir has been making personal appearances in the Amarillo area, but has never been in Pampa before. They will do several numbers, of their own arrangements, after which their pastor, Reverend Clifton Ratchford, will bring a message.

The Church of God here is located on the corner of Reid and Campbell, across the street from the Lions Club Park. The pastor, Reverend W. L. (Bill) Hopper, invites you to come to these services and enjoy the blessings of the Lord. Services are at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. West Will Talk On "O For A Christian Nation" At Brethren

Sunday at the Church of the Brethren, the Rev. Russell G. West, Pastor, will preach on the subject, "O For A Christian Nation!" Sunday evening Rev. West will conduct a Communion Service in the Church of the Brethren in Waka, Tex. The Rev. Bryce Hubbard, assistant minister, will have charge of the service of Bible Study and Prayer in the Pampa Church, beginning at 7 p.m.

Sunday School will open at 9:45 a.m. with classes for all age groups. The public is cordially invited to all these services.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

HAROLD STARBUCK, MINISTER
HI-LAND CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"They shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory" (Matt. 24:30)

When Jesus was riding into Jerusalem on a donkey, surrounded by the excited throng shouting His praise, the people of the city asked, "Who is this?" And some of the crowd answered, "This is the prophet Jesus, from Nazareth of Galilee."

How far short their description fell! How little they really understood who he was!

Today, far too many people are thinking of Jesus as only a teacher or prophet from Galilee in the days of long ago. They think that He has had some interesting and important effects upon society. They may respect somewhat His teaching and His following, but they only think that they know Jesus.

No one knows Jesus who thinks that He belongs to the past, or who considers that we have to do only with the moral and social application of His teaching.

He is far more than a prophet in the past. He is a power in the present. And He is the most certain and significant of all the prophets for the future!

Jesus is living and reigning today at the right hand of the Father in Heaven, offering His covenant of mercy and the new birth or the Spirit to all who will receive, calling out of the world a people for His own possession. He is coming again to earth to consummate this age, to receive His redeemed ones unto Himself, to purify His kingdom, and to execute the righteous judgement of God upon all the living and the dead.

The gospel of Christ is a message of facts — facts of history, unchangeable as the past naturally is and sure as historical records and testimony can make them. But they are not just ordinary facts such as might be found in every part of history. They are unique facts of men's experience with God when God came to men in human form in the person of Jesus Christ. They are the incomparable facts of His life and works, revealing His divine person and power and His eternal purpose for all men of every age. Thus the gospel is not merely a record of the past. It is even more than the truth regarding our present duty and welfare. It points inexorably to the future. It is most important as a preparation for and a promise of things to come. Predictions are an inseparable and most vital part of the gospel, giving meaning to its facts and purpose to its commandments. The promise and warnings of the Lord help to enlighten and to motivate every believer of His word.

The most important prospects for the future for you and me and everyone are not the prospects of national prosperity or depression or war or conquest of space, but the certain coming of Jesus to end this age and to institute a new order of things.

Pampa Switches Larry Gregory to Fullback

Coach Otis Holladay said today that he preferred not to reveal whether the Pampa Harvesters will start tomorrow night's game against Ceprock in their regular T formation or in the split-end formation which worked so successfully last week against Tascosa.

"The split end formation," with Kenny Hebert at end and Phil Smith or Larry Johnson at quarterback, worked very successfully last week," said Holladay, "and we were very satisfied with it. For obvious reasons, I prefer not to disclose in advance whether or not we will use it tomorrow night in Amarillo."

Two changes have been made in the offensive backfield and another in the offensive line, with the defensive starting lineup virtually unchanged.

Larry "Shotgun" Gregory has been moved from tailback to fullback, replacing Red Griffith. With the return of Eugene "The Bandit" Madrid to his old form last week, the Harvesters were able to move the hard-running Gregory to fullback, taking advantage of his heavier weight. Ricky Stewart, who has alternated at wingback with Jerry Garrison, gets the starting nod tomorrow night.

Carl Johnson, who has looked good both in game play and practice, moves into a starting line berth, replacing Myron Scribner. If the Harvesters should move into the "lonesome end" formation, Smith will be the man under, as Johnson has suffered a recurrence of an old knee injury and will not see action tonight.

Defensive line starters will be James Williamson, Donnie Rexroad, Billy Quarles and Madrid. Stewart and Smith will be the cornermen, Ricky Goodwin, Garrison and Jim Arthur the linebackers. San Williams and Terry Criss are tabbed as the starting halfbacks.

Lee 8th Racks Austin, 22-8

Lee 8th grade came from behind with a second-half surge to down Austin 8th of Borger yesterday, 22-8.

Making only 68 yards offensively the first half, the Pampans made 167 the second half to take over the game.

Austin scored in the second quarter on passes and passed for the conversion. With 2:30 left in the half, Lee marched 54 yards in five plays, with Mike Brown passing to Mike Burnett down to the three-yard line, where David Schaub went across.

Trailing 8-6, Lee rallied in the second half as Steve Summers sped 43 yards for a touchdown and Schaub ran the two-pointer.

Dickie Henley fled 31 yards for the fourth-quarter score, and ran over his own conversion.

Defensive standouts were Johnny Meeks and Richard Craig, with Bobby Wilson leading the blocking.

10 FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1963 56TH YEAR

Saturday's Sooner-Texas Game Biggest in History

DALLAS (UPI)—Oklahoma and Texas, both undefeated at this stage of the season for the first time since 1958, will be playing for the highest stakes in the 63-year history of their colorful rivalry before more than 75,000 fans in the Cotton Bowl Saturday.

The remainder of the season may bring on changing fortunes, but there is no doubt that the winner of this year's contest will be the kingpin of college football for at least a week.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma Sooners already wear that coveted label as a result of personally dethroning Southern California two weeks ago. And, Texas—touted by one of Wilkinson's former pupils, Darrell Royal—ranks No. 2 nationally.

Wilkinson's "Big Red" team, back in the national spotlight after several years in the football doldrums, rates a three to four-point choice to break the string of five consecutive victories which Royal-coached teams have administered to his old master.

Okies Win in 1957

Oklahoma hasn't won since 1957 when the Sooners also went into this game sporting the No. 1 tag and turned back Texas 21-7.

The Sooners opened the season with a come-from-behind 31-14 victory over Clemson and then polished off Southern California 17-12 before taking a week's rest looking toward Saturday's 58th grudge battle (the series started in 1900, but the teams missed five years).

The Longhorns, who ranked fourth nationally last year and were pre-season favorites to repeat as Southwest Conference champions and do as well again this year, sputtered to a disappointing 21-0 victory over hapless Tulane in their opener.

But, then their offense began to click and they bowled over Texas Tech 49-7 and Oklahoma State 34-7.

The game was sold out months before the season opened, but the high stakes involved has whetted the fans' appetites that asking prices for tickets range from $35 to $100 despite the fact the game is being televised locally and in

Lee Rebels Edge Austin 9th, 20-14

BORGER (SpI) — Gary McCarrell scored three touchdowns yesterday to lead the Lee Rebels to a come-from-behind 20-14 win over Austin 9th grade here yesterday.

Trailing 8-6 at halftime, the Rebels scored two quick ones in the third quarter and held off an Austin aerial attack in the final frame for the win, despite being assessed 135 yards in penalties.

Pampa started the action early in the game when Rick "Schnoz" Foster recovered a fumbled punt on the host 15. McCarrell, behind gang blocking, went sweep right for the touchdown.

In the final minute of the first quarter, Austin went 40 yards on a reverse to tie the game and passed for the extra points to take an 8-6 lead.

The Rebels took over again in the third quarter when they took a punt on their 40 and scored three plays later, with McCarrell going eight yards off tackle behind James Matney and "Doc" Cornutt. "Monk" McDonald followed the same hole for the conversion.

Austin took the kick off and went to the air on the first play, with McCarrell intercepting the pass on the 25 and running it back for the touchdown.

Austin scored again in mid-fourth quarter, again via the air, and David Smith and William Noblitt broke through to stop the conversion pass attempt.

Other outstanding players for Lee were Jack Williamson blocking and Bruce Raines on defense.

Dumas Defeats Reapers, 24-12

The Dumas Gremlins scored two touchdowns in the second half to break open a tie game and take a 24-12 win over the Pampa Reapers yesterday.

Pampa opened the scoring when Lane Hooten took a pichout from Larry Stevens and raced 15 yards in the first quarter.

Dumas came back in the same frame and tied the score, only to have Pampa go back ahead in the second quarter when Stevens connected with David Martindale on a 50-yard pass-run play.

The stubborn Gremlins tied the score once more and it was 12-12 at the halfway mark.

Pampa fumbled the kickoff opening the third quarter and Dumas recovered on the 20, moving across for the score.

Late in the game, Martindale hit Larry Keyser with a pass and Larry ran 40 yards deep into Dumasland, only to fumble, with Dumas recovering.

The Gremlins got the last tally with three minutes to go on a 60-yard reverse.

Gar: Hyatt and Billy Scribner were blocking standouts for the Reapers, and Little Jimmy Baker was all over the field on defense.

Pampa 8th Loses

Dumas 8th grade overran Pampa 8th grade yesterday, 40-8. Johnny Carlos scored the lone Pampa TD on a 20-yard run and Al Gomez ran the conversion.

Wheeler Hosts Tigers Tonight

The only undefeated team in the Top O' Texas hosts a powerful higher-classification team that has lost only one game in tonight's area game of the week when the McLean Tigers invade Wheeler.

The Class B Mustangs have rolled up five straight wins, allowing only one touchdown in the process. The Class A Tigers have won three of four tilts, losing to AA White Deer, 14-0.

Both coaches expressed grave doubts as to their abilities to win over the other powerhouse. Wheeler coach Grady Burnett said "They're tough, the toughest team we've played so far. I'm afraid they're too tough."

"There is a lot of difference between a good Class B team and a good Class A team. Their only loss was to a Double-A team. White Deer has been improving rapidly since the season began, and McLean had a lot of injuries that week. They had an open date and they're at full strength now. They had a close one with Groom (7-6) when Bob Patton, their great tackle was out, and they lost to White Deer when Dickie Crockett, their fine fullback, was hurt. With both of them in shape, they're too tough for us."

McLean skipper Derral Davis had precisely the same sentiments, with opposite indications. "That's one of the finest clubs I've seen for their size. They're big and they are tremendously fast. They could beat us 40-0 if we don't play football. One mistake and... boom."

"They want this one real bad too. They've been aiming at McLean for a long time. They're rough and rugged and this game will be a humdinger. Frankly, I wish we could play them earlier in the season, so we could have time to recuperate before district starts."

"Our boys are up for this one and we're real pleased with workouts. They know what kind of opponent they are facing and they will be prepared for a tough go. Physically our starters are back."

but we're hurting for depth. David Seaney and Mike McCall are still out, and after our first team, there isn't much left.

"We have a good starting backfield, but no reserves. They have some of the finest and fastest backs around. Hunter, Porter and Snelgroves for starters and those two fast Vanpools and Burks for reserves... that's what I call loaded. That's a fine line there too, especially Rogers and Sims."

The two coaches reviewed their last games. Burnett, of course, had little to report as Wheeler had a "breather" against weak Esteline. The first team scored four times in the first quarter and then left the game, with the B team playing the Bearcubs to a standstill.

"Outside of a few colds, we're in good shape," said the bald Mustang mentor. "The varsity didn't get to play much, Esteline just wasn't in our caliber. Our freshmen and B teamers did real well and promise for the future, especially Gary Hardcastle, Johnny Hutchison, Villard Hunter and soph quarterback Mike Goad."

Davis was proud of McLean despite their defeat by White Deer. "Remember, Crockett got caught by that Charlie Crockett in the first quarter and couldn't run. When you take away a boy that has gained over 100 yards a game from the offense, it hurts, to put it mildly. Johnny McCarty did a fine job running, but we needed those vital short yards Dickie could go get."

"Our defense did a great job, especially Patton and Eddie Windom. They moved the ball real well, but Patton was tough where it counted. One touchdown hurt, it was set up by a pass interference call, but there wasn't much we could do about the other. Patton and Windom both had a shot at the boy and slid off. When your two best tacklers can't hold a boy, what can you do?"

Burnett closed with "This will be a rough one." Echoed Davis, "It's going to be tough and rugged."

Upsets Loom for Unbeaten Schools

By United Press International
At least a fourth of the state's 96 undefeated school football teams figure in potential upsets on this week-end's schedule.

Most of them probably will escape since there are only three games on the entire program matching undefeated teams, but the element of upset will be riding on 27 games in which the caliber of opposition appears strong enough to stogie the unexpected.

The only contest pairing undefeated-untied teams sends Goliad to Karnes City in a crucial District 29-AA game. But, in 13-AA perfect record Liberty-Eylau hosts unbeaten but twice-tied Clarksville in an important battle.

Wink vs. Crane
And, in West Texas, Class AA's undefeated-untied Wink hosts unbeaten but once-tied Crane of AA.

Defending state champion San Antonio Brackenridge is one of eight AAAA teams in such a spot. The Eagles play at Kingsville. Others include Big Spring at Odessa High, Midland High at Abilene High, Dallas South Oak Cliff vs. Dallas Wilson, Richardson at Grand Prairie, Tyler Lee at Cleburne, Galena Park at Houston S. F. Austin.

Tascosa Tops Plainsmen

AMARILLO (SpI) — The Tascosa Rebels rolled to their fifth straight victory last night as they blanked the Monterey Plainsmen, 19-0, in a District 3-4A game.

The Rebs had the game completely in hand as Danny Abbott went two yards in the opening minutes of the game, with the score set up by a 33-yard punt return by Mike Turner.

The Rebs scored again in the opening minute of the fourth quarter, Abbott going six yards for his second tally, and finishing with Pat Harkins hitting Billy Hobbs in the end zone in the closing minutes for the final score.

Tascosa completely dominated the game, with a 73-yard touchdown by Harkins wiped out by clipping, and three more drives stopped inside the Monterey 15. Monterey's only threat came in the fourth quarter, when they drove to the Rebs 13 before fumbling.

Shockers Outlast Lubbock, 42-28

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor

In a wild and woolly scoring fest that saw Little Butch Crossland and Joey Roden score five touchdowns between them, the Pampa Shockers pulled out a 42-28 victory yesterday over the Lubbock Cowhands, with Teddy Bird clinching the win as he intercepted a pass and returned it for a TD in the final minute of the game.

The game was a rugged battle which saw half-a-dozen players from each side carried off the field, with Lolan Ellis and Wayne Hill both going out in the first half.

The Cowhands pulled a switch, as quarterback Bobby Layne Jr. moved to flankerback, where he was the target for Darrell Hurst's left-handed passes. Outstanding for Lubbock was fullback Joe Mack Tillson, whose smashing running and pass receiving kept Lubbock in the game until the final minute.

Pampa opened the scoring in a hurry as Joey Roden went 60 yards on the second play behind the blocking of Lolan Ellis, and two plays later, Crossland went 21 yards for the score, again behind Lolan. Roden went up the middle for an 8-0 lead with 1:04 gone in the game.

With Tillson driving, and Layne snaring a pair of passes, Lubbock moved back to tie the game, with Tillson going a yard up the middle for the touchdown and through the right side for the conversion with 5:24 left in the opening frame.

Pampa came right back again as The Bird brought the kick back to the Lubbock 45. Roden smashed through six tacklers to the 20, and Larry Daniels and Crossland chopped to the seven, where Roden went wide left behind Gary Parish and Lolan for the score with 2:59 left.

Lolan went out as the first quarter ended, and Sammy North replaced him, driving and blocking for Crossland and Daniels as they moved the ball from their 41 to the 10 and 25. Roden went for the score, but the Shockers were penalized to the 22 and Roden went on a quick opener up the middle to the 18, with Crossland going the rest of the way behind North for a 20-8 lead with 10:21 left in the half.

Minutes later, Billy Stokes recovered a fumble on the Lubbock 30. On fourth and five, Roden went

Whitey Ford Named AL Pitcher of Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whitey Ford, a 24-game winner in his 12th season, with the New York Yankees, today was named the American League pitcher of the year by the United Press International.

The 34-year-old left-hander, whose .713 won-lost percentage makes him the most successful pitcher in baseball history, received 18 of the 24 votes cast by the UPI's board of baseball experts representing every city in the major leagues.

Relief ace Dick Radatz of the Boston Red Sox, 21-game winner Camilo Pascual of the Minnesota Twins and 19-game-winning rookie Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox rounded out the voting with two votes each.

Heading a staff that helped to keep the Yankees out front in the American League race from virtually the first pitch of the season, Ford compiled a 24-7 record and a .774 percentage. He pitched three shutouts and struck out 189 batters in 269 innings.

Radatz, a 6-foot, 5-inch, 245-pound right-hander nicknamed "The Monster" and "The Beast" because of his overpowering

SWC Round-up

By United Press International

When Southern Methodist University meets sixth-ranked Navy tonight in the Cotton Bowl it will kick off Dallas' biggest football weekend in 13 years.

Saturday will be the big day. Oklahoma and Texas, rated Nos. 1 and 2 in the nation will play before a "sell out-for-a-year" crowd of 75,504.

Bishop College of Dallas meets Texas Southern University of Houston Saturday at its own stadium.

To climax the weekend, the Dallas Cowboys play the Detroit Lions in a National Football League pro game Sunday afternoon.

But all the Southwest Conference action doesn't take place in Dallas.

In Waco, the Arkansas Razorbacks will try to stay undefeated in conference play against the home town Baylor Bears. Arkansas is a six-point favorite to do just that.

SMU Guns for 2nd Consecutive Upset

By SANDY PADWE
UPI Sports Writer

Southern Methodist can make it two upsets in a row over the military tonight when the Mustangs meet Navy in Dallas, Tex. — the nation's football capital this weekend.

Last week SMU defeated favored Air Force and its excellent quarterback Terry Isaacson. This week they'll be dealing with Roger Staubach, an even tougher assignment.

The SMU-Navy game is one of four contests scheduled Friday night. Others find Syracuse at UCLA, LSU at Miami, Fla., and Virginia Tech at George Washington.

That's a pretty attractive Friday list and Saturday's is no different with the feature again in Dallas between top-ranked Oklahoma and its arch rival Texas, ranked second.

Navy is Choice

Sixth ranked Navy has been installed as a 13-point favorite against SMU mainly on the merits of Midshipman Staubach, whose sensational play has made him the top contender for All-America quarterback honors.

Saturday's big one could eventually bring a national championship to the winner. Oklahoma is 2-0, including a 17-12 win over defending national champion Southern California. Texas is 3-0 but goes into the game, a 3½ point

Rookie Top Pick In Baseball Draft

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Bill Haas, a 20-year-old rookie with no major league experience, proved to be the plum in the national league's special draft and the general reaction today was "who's he?"

Haas is a left-handed first baseman-outfielder whom the New York Mets picked from the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers as their first choice.

The Houston Colts said they would have selected Haas, too, but were beaten to the punch by the Mets, who won first choice on the flip of a coin.

As it was, the special draft session to help the National League's two tail-enders consumed only three minutes and 50 seconds.

The Mets chose right-handed relief pitcher Jack Fisher from the San Francisco Giants in addition to Haas while the Colts picked right-handed reliever Claude Raymond from the Milwaukee Braves.

Those were the only three players chosen, at a cost of $30,000 apiece, from a list of 33 players put up by the eight other clubs in the league. Each club made four of its players available with the exception of the Cincinnati Reds, who offered five.

The bee-line for the six-foot-three, 190-pound Haas was caused by his minor league batting marks for the last two seasons.

'Mr. Moneybags' Ryder Favorite

ATLANTA (UPI) — A confident United States team, led by "Mr. Moneybags" Arnold Palmer, went forth to repel a British invasion today in the opening play of the 15th biennial Ryder Cup matches and was an odds-on favorite to post this country's 12th victory.

The Yanks modestly refrained from making any public victory claims and the British, with traditional stiff upper lip, insisted they had a chance to win.

But it was easy in observing and talking to the two teams to conclude that the biggest threat facing the U. S. team might be over-confidence.

Palmer, golf's top money winner and captain of this year's U. S. Ryder Cup team, paired himself for today's opening match with Johnny Pott, youngest team member at 27. They met Welchman Brian Huggett and Scotsman George Will, youngest members of the British team.

Today's activity consists of a total of eight Scotch foursomes — four this morning and four more this afternoon. Each match pits two-man teams with each team using only one ball and taking alternate shots.

After Palmer and Pott teed off against Huggett and Will, three more foursomes went out at 15 minutes intervals. The rest of the morning lineup:

Billy Casper and Dave Ragan vs. British ace Peter Alliss and Irishman Christy O'Connor; Gene Littler and Dow Finsterwald vs. Welshman Dave Thomas and veteran British Ryder Cupper Harry Weetman; and U. S. Open champ Julius Boros and Tony Lema vs. Neil Coles and Bernard Hunt, Britain's top tournament winner this year.

Saturday there will be eight more foursomes but then each player will use his own ball with best ball winning each hole. Sunday, final day of the three-day, 32-match event, 16 singles matches will be played.

Sponsors for Swim Team Organized

A sponsoring group to support the Pampa Dolphins swimming team was organized last night at the Youth and Community Center.

B. J. Stephens was elected president, C. F. Crowson vice-president, Mrs. Sid Harrison secretary and Mrs. J. T. Winborne treasurer.

Other officers named were Mrs. J. W. Kee, historian, Mrs. D. J. George and Mrs. R. W. Low, telephone committee, and R. W. Low reporter.

The swim team will meet with new coach Harold Thrasher tomorrow morning at the YCC. Anyone interested in joining the team is asked to be present.

A rummage sale will be held by the group Oct. 18 and 19.

Mantle To Be Operated On

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mickey Mantle has agreed to undergo another knee operation — one that could cost him a cool $100,000.

The New York Yankees' star center fielder will check into Lenox Hill Hospital here in approximately two weeks for the removal of loose outside cartilage in his left knee.

A New York newspaper reported Thursday that Mantle had been guaranteed $100,000 to participate in a 26-show, all-sports television series during the off-season, an undertaking now jeopardized by the planned surgery.

Mantle, reached at his home in Dallas, declined to discuss the television series but did admit the operation "sure will ruin my winter."

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, the Yankees' team physician, will perform the operation on Mickey's knee.

Private Debts Increase

We've talked on occasion about the burden of government debt which we carry because we are taxpayers. It may come as a surprise to you to learn that the American government, which placed its current debt ceiling at $308 billion, now owes more money than all the other nations of the world put together. Thus, we are in a WORSE position financially than the other nations which continue to receive grants in aid from us.

Our debt picture is catastrophic, but our federal policies are worse than that, for we are continuing to aid those who are in better shape than we are.

But financial problems can be set as individuals quite as realistically as they can be set for the government. And with the government setting the example, most people in the U.S.A. are in debt.

If you are a member of an average family, about 20 per cent, one fifth, of all you earn, is being taken to service and retire the debts you owe. Through the years, as government debts have increased, so have the private debts of the American people.

In 1946, the people in this nation had a total disposable income (after taxes) of $160.6 billion. They spent $10.1 billion in servicing their debts. The $10.1 billion figure represents interest as well as payments on principle. This meant that at that time we were paying about 6.3 per cent of our disposable incomes in servicing debt obligations.

By 1955 we had increased our disposable incomes, partly through inflation and partly through increased real earnings. In that year we earned (after taxes) some $274.4 billion. But the amount we paid to keep our debts in order and to retire them came to $45.2 billion or constituted about 16.3 per cent of all we earned.

In 1962, the last year for which figures are available, our total disposable income (after taxes) came to $382.9 billion. But we were paying $75 billion annually to meet our interest demands and repayments on principle. This amounts to 19.6 per cent of all we are earning.

Thus, although our income figures look better and better, our debt position, even as private persons, looks worse and worse.

An economic view of debt could be presented this way. It may be justified to go into debt for purposes of production. If there is a way wherein you can improve your income position by borrowing money, such borrowing is probably justified. Such borrowing of course is risky for the device whereby you anticipate earnings may turn out to constitute a loss for you. Also, borrowing for the payment of things which will turn out to be future assets for you, may very well be justified. For example, if you borrow on your anticipated income to buy a house or some other piece of property which has a re-sale value, the borrowing can provide a discipline to assist in savings.

But running into debt for purposes of self-indulgence, pleasure seeking, and so on, can hardly be justified, and more and more of this kind of borrowing is being countenanced.

Also one should remember that even in the purchase of things you believe you want and need, when they are purchased thru a debt procedure the cost of those things to you is increased perceptibly by the payment of interest.

To live economically, one should temper his desires for immediate rewards by saving so that cash can be paid for most items you wish to purchase.

The person who is financially wise will recall that personal savings arise not so much thru increased earnings as thru decreased spending.

Problems

Real solutions to problems come thru hard work. Politics arises from our hope that someone else will solve our problems for us. But politicians make us work all the harder providing their salaries, and in the meantime our own problems are not solved.

Promoting Self-Reliance

A report released by the National Grange and The Sears-Roebuck Foundation since 1948, "Success Unlimited" states that, "The value of physical community improvements resulting from this program is about three-quarters of a billion dollars." However, National Grange Master, Herschel D. Newsum points out that the real value of the program can not be measured in dollars and cents, adding, "We believe benefits resulting from a rebirth of self-reliance and community spirit greatly exceed the monetary value of the projects physically completed."

Tea, a drink that picks you up and never lets you down, is used by more people throughout the world than any other beverage except water. It is made from the leaves of a shrub that grows in East Asia. The culture of the plant requires a light rich soil, a warm climate, moist air, and much rainfall. The tea shrub, grown from seed, is ready for picking in three years, and will yield for 50 years. The leaves are withered, rolled, and heated. The flavor of tea comes from volatile oils; the stimulant is caffeine and the astringency from tannin. The dried blossoms of jasmine or other fragrant plants are added to the fancy teas. Tea was used by the Chinese in the 3rd century as a substitute for strong drink. Tea came to Europe in 1600 and to England 60 years later. It reached the American colonies in 1680. On the night of December 16, 1773, tea got the old heave ho at the celebrated Boston Tea Party. Maybe that's why we have the coffee break today.

Country Editor speaking: "Most persons waste time, their most precious possession." Air travel is increasing; an airline official says more than 2 1/2 million persons will cross the Atlantic to and from the U.S. in 1963, double the number who made the trip five years ago. The next time you read about your Uncle Sam spending a billion dollars, stop and think how much money that really is. It would take the average guy 28 years to spend a billion if he shelled it out at the rate of $100,000 a day, seven days a week. But your Uncle Sam found ways to spend it faster.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn. On this day in history: In 1811, the first steam-driven ferry in the world started its run between New York City and Hoboken, N. J. In 1868, Thomas Edison filed papers for his first invention, an electrical vote recorder. In 1945, Chiang Kai-shek and Communist leader Mao Tse-tung issued a joint statement pledging their mutual desires for peace and unity. Doubt That Rockefeller Will Stick to End of Campaign Hurting His Appeal to Party Leaders

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Governor Nelson Rockefeller is having a hard time convincing Republican leaders throughout the country that he is in the presidential race to stay. Everywhere he is encountering outspoken doubt and skepticism.

Almost invariably local and state party chiefs pointedly recall his sudden flip-flop in December 1959, when Rockefeller started out to challenge Vice President Nixon for the GOP nomination and then abruptly quit when he ran into a show of determined opposition.

Among Republican leaders, the belief is general the same thing will happen this year. Significantly illustrative of this backstage view is the attitude of New York State Chairman Fred Young — Rockefeller's hand-picked choice for this job. He is known to have advised Rockefeller to pull out of the presidential battle if he loses in next year's first two primaries — New Hampshire on March 10, Wisconsin on April 7.

Young is telling intimates he is the only one of Rockefeller's lieutenants urging that. The others are advocating an all-out fight down to the wire. But it's Young's contention this strategy would be a serious mistake. He holds the New York Governor could gain more by withdrawing and throwing his weight behind one of the other possibilities — Nixon, Michigan's Governor George Romney, Pennsylvania's Governor William Scranton, Oregon's Governor Mark Hatfield or Senator Thurston Morton, Ky.

This widespread party misgiving about Rockefeller is the most urgent immediate problem facing his candidacy. It is admittedly a major pitfall that could prove fatal unless overcome. He and his lieutenants are concentrating strenuously on countering the strong undercurrent of uncertainty and wariness.

Politics dread being left out on a limb. That's what happened to many of them in 1959, and they haven't forgotten or forgiven. WHAT ROCKEFELLER IS DOING — Top lieutenants of the New Yorker are busily spreading the word that he now is "irrevocably in the presidential race to the end."

Public announcement of this will be made by Thanksgiving. As evidence of Rockefeller's unshakable determination, he has decided to wage a "saturation" campaign in the New Hampshire primary, although fully aware that Senator Barry Goldwater is far out in front there and the odds heavily favor his winning decisively.

Also being stressed is that Rockefeller has positively made up his mind to enter the Wisconsin, Oregon and California primaries — the latter two on May 15 and June 2.

Of these four primaries, Rockefeller strategists consider Wisconsin the most promising. This hope is based on the state's wide-open primary in which voters can cross party lines. Rockefeller Lieutenants are convinced many Democrats and independents will give him their ballots in this primary.

However, some advisers are not so optimistic. They are counseling caution. They are warning Rockefeller may run into unexpected powerful resistance from Representative John Byrnes, senior Republican member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, who is seriously considering seeking the Wisconsin delegation as a favorite-son candidate.

Byrnes leans toward Goldwater, and could expect important backing from the Arizona's partisans. As explained by lieutenants, Rockefeller is credited with two basic views regarding the Republican presidential contest: (1) That his divorce and remarriage are not an "insuperable" barrier to his winning the nomination. The New York Governor is described as knowing full well this factor has greatly impaired his once-predominant position. But he still feels much ground can be regained, and he is determined to leave nothing undone to try to do so.

(2) That an alliance of groups and forces can be welded to control the San Francisco convention for two purposes — to write a liberal and broad-gauged platform, and to name a ticket to fit such a platform. This aim is directed squarely against Senator Goldwater.

The Rockefeller camp is hopeful President Eisenhower can be persuaded to support such a plan. He has given no indication of his thinking. Apparently he is watching and waiting to see what happens.

POLITICALS — Republican National Chairman William Miller comes from New York but he is increasingly making no bones that he favors Senator Goldwater. Miller is telling party leaders he is convinced Goldwater will win the nomination "hands down," and that no one can stop him. Denison Kitchel, Phoenix, Ariz., attorney, has quietly taken over organizing Goldwater's nomination campaign. A graduate of Yale and Harvard Law School, Kitchel, 55 and a self-styled "amateur" in politics, has opened offices in the Carroll Arms Hotel across the street from the Senate Office Building, virtually within hailing distance of Goldwater's senatorial office. The late Pat Hurley, Secretary of War in the Hoover cabinet, left an estate of several million dollars, but no will. That was not an oversight. It was done deliberately, as, under a 1958 New Mexico law, in the absence of a will the entire estate goes to the widow without a state tax.

The American Way

TURN AROUND AND MEET A HERO
By Harry Browne
Editor, Freedom Magazine

Future generations may someday laugh at the way we have revered political leaders. We name bridges, dams, and battleships after them — gasp at the magnitude of their programs for our welfare — and label them "great humanitarians."

Yet these men have performed their deeds with other people's money. They see no need to persuade us to voluntarily pay for their schemes; they simply invoke the power of government to force us to support their ideas.

And long after their programs are proven worthless, we still have the bills to pay. Remember . . . But while all this is going on, the real benefactors are at work — using their own resources and efforts to uplift mankind. They create thousands of jobs, bring us new labor-saving devices to raise our standard of living, and help us to stand on our own feet. Aren't these the men who deserve our praise?

They are, of course, the leaders of industry. With no powers of taxation at their command, they have created a better society through their own efforts. And they have done more than just work hard; they have saved part of the fruits of their labor to make it possible to hire others.

Test These men have reached success by providing products and services that satisfy human desires. Each effort has passed the supreme test: "Is this product important enough that people will voluntarily pay for it?"

No man can be a success in a free economy unless he offers a product or service that people truly want. The man who has accumulated great profits or wealth is the man who has best satisfied human wants. Even after acquiring wealth, he must continue to invest his wealth in new products and jobs — or else his money will be of no value to him.

It is the man who finds ways to satisfy needs who deserves our respect — not the politician who takes one to give to another. And while you may never personally meet the generals of this humanitarian army — the Fords or Edisons — there are many important captains and lieutenants at work in your own community.

To whom do you owe your job? Obviously not to the politician who inflicts an unbearable tax upon your labors. Nor to the union leader who uses the power of government to extract a commission from your labor.

Result: Your high standard of living — the envy of billions of people — is largely the result of the man who created the company where you work. It was his judgment — and that of the men who operate it today — that correctly gauged how best your fellow man can be served.

And they must continue to serve others to keep your company in business. The more you help them in that task, the greater will be your reward and security.

Yes, let's quit looking to faraway Washington for our humanitarians. Turn around, take a good look at your employer, and meet a real hero!

Between the Bookends

UNDERSTANDING LABOR RELATIONS

The relationship of an employee to his employer is a simple one. The employee has time, talent and energy to sell to a prospective employer. If the two can agree on the value of these three elements, a sale is made—and the employee goes to work. Even those who have no talent can usually find work somewhere, but a lower wage than would be received by those with talents to offer.

Why is it then that the subject of labor relations has become so involved, so complex and so dangerous to our national economy? The answer obviously lies with governmental intervention into the employer - employee relationship. Government, through its laws and National Labor Relations Board, has imposed rules, regulations and prohibitions upon the once-simple employer-employee relationship.

Editor:

Today as I returned to my car from a quick shopping trip, I was concerned to hear the high, piercing cry of a baby. A downtown saleswoman heard the sound at the same time as I, and together we followed the sound to a '59 blue and white Oldsmobile parked at the curb in the hot noon sun. We quickly looked in the car, but could see no baby.

There was a small boy, probably three years old, in the front seat, and we asked him where the baby was.

He pointed at the floor. There, lodged between the front seat and the right door, was the baby, not more than three months old. The saleswoman reached in the window, held the baby by the arm, while I opened the door. I don't know how long the baby had been there. It was covered with perspiration and dirt, had wet diapers on, and its little feet was bloody from a cut. I took a soiled white blanket from the front seat and wiped the baby as best I could. I laid the blanket on the back seat, and the saleswoman laid the still screaming baby on it. She asked the boy if the baby had a bottle. He found one among the mail and rubbish in the front seat. She gave it to the baby which immediately was quieted. And then the two women, Good Samaritans as we tried to be, closed the door, only to close it on the small boy's fingers.

We soothed and comforted him, but could not bring ourselves to kiss the little grimy fingers to help alleviate the pain. He was quickly calmed so we felt that his injury was not severe. The saleswoman was on her lunch hour and had to leave. She remarked that she'd like to stay just to see the mother that would leave her babies like this. She said the baby could have died.

I left to go to one of the stores to get to buy a drink and a piece of gum. As I opened the door of the store, I saw a young woman of probably 21, with long blonde hair, come around the corner of the block. She had a large package and was casually shopping the store windows. She was the mother of the two small boys. She was returning from a shopping trip which could have ended in a catastrophe.

So I ask myself, Why must these things happen. Why does our loving Father bless couples with precious blessings, only to have these same blessings receive this kind of love and care. Why must so many dear children be reared in dirt and filth, and never know the true, deep warmth of parental love and protection. I have no consolation. I do not understand. I can only thank God for my blessings, and pray for those who are not as fortunate as me and mine.

As a result, a matter of simple economics has become a subject so complicated that only specialized labor attorneys can fully understand it. Terms such as "secondary boycotts", "hot cargo", "injunctions", etc. have become the jargon.

A new book — "Understanding Labor Relations" by George Rose — does a good job of untangling the government-imposed web of unnatural laws and terminology. The author attacks the problem in its present state, rather than trying to build a correct labor theory from the ground up. So his concern is with making present-day problems understandable to the lay reader.

In so doing, he points out the obvious inequities and their resultant costs to society. He shows that present-day labor laws are nothing more than government intervention in behalf of unions, and that this intervention is costly to our whole economy—to employers, consumers and union members.

Comments While most of his book is in textbook style, merely reporting devotes the introduction and conclusion to his personal comments on the mistakes made and their potential solutions.

If any criticism of the book is warranted, it is that the reader is not shown the benefits to be derived from a withdrawal of government interference from this field. Other than that, however, "Understanding Labor Relations" is recommended for the student who would like to unravel some of the mysteries of present-day labor problems. MATHIS BANGED HEAD

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Singer Johnny Mathis today was nursing a cut over his right eye that he received last Friday night when his head hit an awning in harding a hotel lawn table.

The entertainer's manager, John Nova, disclosed Monday that the cut—which required three stitches—caused Mathis to feel faint Sunday night and cut short his final show at the Circle Arts Theater here.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
 United Press International

It must be assumed that the search is on for a bright, new political figure around whom to rally a stop - Goldwater movement.

It must be assumed, also, that the liberal or Eisenhower eastern Republicans who hope to stop Goldwater have a timetable to which their search must be adjusted.

And it must further be assumed that these Eisenhower Republicans will promote the candidacy of a bright old star if they cannot find a bright new one.

And, since bright new Republican stars are scarce or even nonexistent, it would appear that the first choice of the stop-Goldwater legions will lie between Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, late of California but now also of New York.

Odds Favor Nixon

Between them, the odds would seem now to favor Nixon over Rockefeller as the eastern Eisenhower Republican entry against Sen. Barry Goldwater in the Republican National Convention.

The governor's political and family affairs have not been going well. He has been losing ground to Goldwater and the polls show it. So, also, do the estimates and hunches of many of the political pros who consult experience and tea leaves rather than people in arriving at political prophecies.

The latest Louis Harris poll in the Washington Post showed Republicans and Independents preferring Goldwater over Rockefeller nationally and in every sectional accounting. Harris estimated that in a national presidential preferential primary, Goldwater would swamp Rocky by better than 3-to-2.

Poll returns such as those are ample to cause stop-Goldwater operators to look elsewhere. They scarcely can overlook Richard Nixon. Nixon denies, belittles suggestions that he might be nominated again for President. Medical science and political history combine to support the belief that Nixon will seek the 1964 nomination if there is the remotest chance to win it.

Bite Hard To Shake

Whereas the bite of the presidential bug need not be and rarely is fatal, that bite is absolutely and unqualifiedly incurable. Once bitten, you stay bit. There being no cure for the presidential vapors, a defeated presidential nominee tries and tries again if his party will permit. So get your bets down that Nixon will try again unless Rocky shortly gets back in stride.

Nixon certainly is not disqualified. He emerged from the 1960 campaign a bigger man than when he entered. He ran ahead of his party. His first move toward renomination was to run for Governor of California. He was clobbered there and it hurt. But in 1960 he had been licked by an attractive, new political figure who somehow (remember?) reminded a great many persons of the late FDR.

It is reasonable to believe that the I-hate-Nixon brigade has lost some members. To cap it all, nearly 33.5 million Americans voted to put Nixon in the white house. Kennedy had only a whisker margin. Nixon's proper role is to attack. He's the prosecutor type. His 1964 campaign against John F. Kennedy's record would be very rough indeed. All of these factors will recommend Nixon to the stop-Goldwater commanders who must be getting a bit panicky now, what with all of these stories that the Goldwater boom is booming everywhere.
