Fiesta Parade To Feature Dinosaur, Old Vets, Historical Costumes

TRANSACTIONS TAX DEFEATED

50 Cowgirls On Horses To Carry Flags

Floats Will Depict Various Events In History Of Texas

All the pageantry of the Plains, from the time of dinosaurs right up to the streamlined present, will be featured in the two parades that will be held here during the eighth Top O' Texas Fiesta, June 13-14.

There'll be more costumes, more bands, more riders, more flags than have ever been seen in any fiesta procession held here before, according to the plans of this year's parade committee.

Old Denny, a model of a dinosaur, will walk again on Pampa streets, just as the real dinosaurs probably did aeons ago, and will vie with present century criterions for the interest of the crowds.

Keynoting the present will be a model of an up-to-the-minute streamline train, and a line of the racing "cars" of entrants in the soap box derby.

Veterans To Ride
An innovation in fiesta floats will be the two on which will ride Confederate and Union veterans. On the Confederate float will ride W. H. Turbo of Eldorado, Okla., and E. J. Lovelace of McLean, said to be the oldest living Confederate veterans in the United States.

Mr. Turbo attended the Gettysburg convention last summer. Two episodes in the history of the Top O' Texas never before seen in a fiesta parade are tentatively planned. One of these will show the arrival of the first white hunters near Canadian in 1867; the other will represent Captain Randolph B. Marcy, the man who made the first survey of record in this area in 1832.

Near the head of the parade will ride 50 cowgirls, each carrying an American flag. In all it is planned to have a thousand riders, cowboys and cowgirls, in the parade. J. D. Holland and J. G. Teeters are in charge of the parade procession. The riders and members of the 25 bands from all over the Top O' Texas area that will be invited to participate, will be spaced at intervals among the dozen floats. Joe Key and Winston Savage will be in charge of bands marching in the parade.

Decorated bicycles, and an exhibition of children's pets and hobbies will be on hand.

Landing Field Here Will Be Licensed
The Pampa Airport corporation has again taken over operation of the Pampa airport east of the city and will operate it as a licensed landing field.

The corporation is composed of R. C. Allen, president; Dr. H. H. Hicks, vice president; and J. S. Smith, secretary-treasurer, with C. P. Buckler and Bus Hoover other members of the board of directors.

Moving of the government boundary lights, now circling the old landing field, and the Pampa Airport, having been approved by the Department of Commerce and soon they will bound both the old emergency field and the Pampa Airport, giving the city one of the largest landing fields in this section of the country.

A complete set of simple but adequate field rules will be released soon, Mr. Allen said today.

The corporation after taking over announced a reduction in the price of aviation gasoline. Texaco Aviation gas of 73 and 80 octane will be available at 26¢ and 28¢ a gallon, respectively, while 87 octane gasoline will be available in drums at 28¢ a gallon, all including government tax which is refunded.

55,000-Acre Ranch Near Canadian Sold
KANSAS CITY, May 4 (AP)—Sale of a 55,000-acre ranch in the Texas Panhandle near Canadian, Texas, to C. S. Lips, Ennio, Texas, was completed here today. The consideration, which Lips declined to disclose, was reported to have been nearly $400,000.

The ranch was purchased from the Whitel estate through Ray D. Jones of Kansas City. Raymond Bell, who leased the estate last year, will continue occupancy for three years under terms of a new lease.

WHEREAS, the weather has become suitable and Pampa merchants report complete stocks adequate to the occasion, and

Britain Would Barter Cotton Byrnes Advises

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Senator Byrnes (D-SC) said today London had advised the United States that Great Britain was interested in negotiating a barter agreement for American cotton.

Byrnes recently outlined a plan by which this country would barter surplus cotton for rubber and tin held by Great Britain and other countries. Preliminary negotiations have been under way in London.

In South Carolina Senator Byrnes told reporters today his barter proposal was "meeting a favorable reception in London."

"The first effort was to see whether Great Britain would be interested in the barter proposal," Byrnes said. "I think it is justified to say that Great Britain has expressed an interest in the plan and in negotiating an agreement."

Today's information, Byrnes said, was the first definite word Great Britain was interested. Previously he said it merely was known talks were under way.

Thus far, Byrnes said, the London conversations have centered on the See BRITAIN, Page 4

Did Halliburton Meet Death On Chinese Junk In Pacific Storm?
By NEA Service

The Royal Road to Romance appears to have come to an end somewhere in the Pacific, and the Glorious Adventure would seem now to have brought Richard Halliburton to the common adventure of death.

It was the end of March that the Chinese junk, Sea Dragon, en route from Hong Kong to Midway Island, lost touch with its radio contacts in San Francisco. Severe typhoons were known to have swept the area.

Panhandle's Library Established By Mrs. Hill--First Teacher

Late F. H. Hill Arrived On First Train, Later Founded Hill's Store; Big Mansion Near Town Built By Pioneer Couple

By ARCHER FULLINGIM
PANHANDLE, May 4—This is the story of a house and of a woman—a house that is now empty and weather-beaten in spots, and a woman who still holds her head just as high as in the days when she lived in the house.

You have seen the house. It is the big house on the south side of the highway just after you make the last turn before you reach Panhandle. Everybody has noticed that house; everybody who doesn't know about it, wonders about it.

It is a huge two-story house with great windows and high ceilings. Until the last year or so it looked just as it did when the woman was mistress of it; it always looked new and its white paint glistened. Now the heavy expensive draperies are gone from the windows; gone are the marble statues at the foot of the stairs.

And gone is the man who was master of that house in days gone by, and inevitably after a few years, his widow, Mrs. Murry Hill, sold the house. What did she want with a house that big? She couldn't live in it by herself—she wouldn't even want to.

The master of that house was F. H. Hill, long-time mayor of Panhandle, pioneer merchant, the first telegraph operator, later Santa Fe agent. His story is largely the story of Mrs. Hill, just as the story of the average man is usually also the story of some woman, and you can't tell one's history without telling the other.

"The first time I saw the Hills was back in 1928 when Al Smith was running for President of the United States. At that time they lived in the big house on the highway at the edge of town. At that time, Mrs. Hill surprised one with the cleverness and brilliance with which she discussed the latest books, poetry, the latest trend in sculpture and painting. At that time you admired the way she held her head and chose her words. I saw her again the other day when I went to Panhandle and I admired the same qualities in her. We talked about books for a while, and she had read Rebecca, and any number of books

350 Students To Sing In Concert Tonight

More than 350 school children will sing in unison at the high school auditorium tonight when the No. 1 concert of the school term will be given. Members of all ensembles, chorales, quartets, and choruses will be massed on the stage for several numbers in a duplication of the amazing massed concert given here last spring.

Notable numbers on the program will be songs by the high school and senior high school choruses, the sextets, quartets. The concert will be in charge of Miss Helen Martin, supervisor of music in the school system.

Nazi Ready To Fight If Beck Bristles
By LOUIS P. LOCHNER.
BERLIN, May 4 (AP)—A diplomat with intimate knowledge of the German situation expressed the conviction today that the tone of Polish Foreign Minister Joseph Beck's speech tomorrow would decide whether war fears again would be lifted from Europe for the time being or whether Adolf Hitler would take almost immediate action against the free city of Danzig and Pomorze (the Polish corridor).

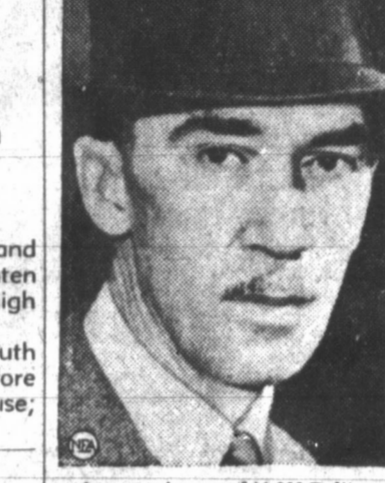

If Beck is moderate and leaves the door open for negotiations between Germany and Poland, this source predicted, the specter of war once more will have been banished.

British and Italian diplomacy, it was believed in reliable quarters, were urging the Polish statesman to make every concession compatible with national dignity.

The diplomat, however, gave his opinion that if Beck should disregard those warnings and deliver an uncompromising speech, then German troops may be expected to march against Danzig and Pomorze almost immediately.

These cars do not have a motor. No car entered in the race shall cost more than $10; and it must be built by the boy who plans to race it in the derby.

Leo Disowned 'Child,' Claims Rep. Abe Mays

Message Sent To House By Governor Urging Rejection

AUSTIN, May 4 (AP)—The House once more turned "thumbs down" on Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's transactions today, then squared away for final arguments on the sales-natural resources tax constitutional amendment favored by the Senate.

The transactions tax was offered as a substitute for the Senate proposal. While House members were debating it, the chief executive sent them a message urging rejection. It now is so late in the session, he reasoned, the transactions levy has no chance of passage.

Notwithstanding arguments of Rep. Abe Mays of Atlanta that the governor was repudiating his own plan, the house rejected the substitute, 102 to 39.

Another effort to kill the sales-natural resources tax measure was beaten, 84 to 42. Advocates need 100 votes in order to submit it to the people August 12.

Betting Issue Next
Pending when the House went to lunch was a proposed amendment to legalize horse race betting under local option. Advocates admitted it probably would be defeated. A proposal to legalize skill

AUSTIN, May 4 (AP)—Clint Small of Amarillo, bald senate dean, spoke gloomily today on possibilities the legislature rapidly nearing the end of its 120-day session, would pass a tax bill to provide bigger old age pensions. "We're in the waning days of this session and it's apparent nothing will be done in the way of passing a tax plan," he said.

marble machines under local option was killed, 92 to 40.

The transactions tax substitute was offered by Rep. Abe Mays of Atlanta, one-time close friend of the governor but who several weeks ago assailed certain of his actions.

The proposal under consideration in the House was a revised version of the Senate plan for a 2 percent sales tax and 25 percent boost in natural resources levies. The most important change thus far made by the lower branch was exemption of food, clothes costing less than $5 and medicines from the sales levy.

Mays contended the sales-natural resource tax proposal was "not for the purpose of helping the old folks but to protect the special interests by putting a ceiling on natural resources taxes."

"If we adopt it," he continued, "we not only will be selling out the old people but also future legislators because they will be powerless to boost natural resources levies to finance social security services."

Governor Sends Message
While the House was considering the Mays substitute, O'Daniel sent in a message urging its rejection.

"It is unreasonable to believe," he said, "that you could substitute this plan or any other new and different plan, regardless of how meritorious the plan might be, and secure for it the approval of both the House and the Senate in the short time remaining of this regular scheduled 120-day session."

"On January 18th, almost four months ago, I recommended a general increase in the state income tax as a means of financing old age pensions and other social security services. I thought then and I think now this is a good plan."

"But regardless of my opinion of the plan, committees of both the House and the Senate rejected same and the Senate has, after careful and serious consideration, See TAX, Page 4

Tree Rings No Proof Of Age, Claim Profs

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
ALPINE, May 4 (AP)—Discovery that telling the age of a tree by the number of its rings is like trying to tell a woman's age by her looks was announced today to the Southwestern Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The discovery upsets one of man's oldest beliefs that trees put on one ring each year. They are visible when the trunk of a tree is sawed in two.

Three Men And Woman Killed In Highway Crash

WACO, May 4 (AP)—Only survivor of a head-on highway crash that killed three men and a woman two miles south of here at dawn today, Delwin Drummond of Paducah, Tex., was charged with murder by Justice Wayne Lee's court shortly after noon.

Drummond, his skull fractured and suffering from internal injuries, was in a Waco hospital, physicians said he would recover.

Drummond was unable to give a coherent account of the accident. Killed instantly were Louise Tillery, 25, of Dallas; Kenneth Jensen, 24; J. F. Hamill, 38, and Talley B. Hill, 37, all of Temple.

Hill was driving the machine headed north.

Woman To Sing Duet With Herself In Ward School Programs Monday

On Monday, May 8, the Baker Choral club is sponsoring an educational music program to be presented to all four ward schools. Since next week is National Music Week, this type of program is believed to be a very fitting opening for such an occasion. Miss Lily Larsen, organist for the Symphony orchestra in Amarillo, has consented to come and put on a "magic carpet" program at each of the ward schools. The numbers will not only be educational, but very entertaining as well, it was said. Miss Larsen is an outstanding musician and teacher of piano, voice, pipe organ, marimba and vibraphone for a number of years.

She has planned a well-rounded hour of music, in which the listeners are taken on an imaginary tour of several nations to listen to their music. Miss Oehea Ellis, her assistant, will give a short talk on the music of each country, and then Miss Larsen will give an example of its music, either vocally, on piano

Importance Of Program Cited By District Chairman

By MRS. T. V. REEVES, Chairman of Convention Program.

Making the convention program for the Seventh District is a task which involves the interests of the club women of 49 northwest Texas counties.

The program maker must keep in mind the objectives of the General Federation of Women's club, the adaptation of these to Texas conditions as interpreted by the Texas Federation, and the local conditions which prevail in a territory as large as the state of Illinois.

Two hundred clubs, with memberships totalling well over 2,000 women, are represented in the annual district convention and every woman who comes wants at least three things from the convention: First, she wants to take home information in the shape of up-to-the-minute, attractively dressed ideas which will help her club to be a going concern; second, she wants to receive inspiration which will make her feel that being a club woman is an adventure, and third, she wants pleasant and clever social events and time for informal visits.

The convention at Pampa has just planned to take care of all these needs.

Before the actual program making began, the program chairman invited many club women to express their desires as to program numbers; she sought talent all over the district. If red pins were placed on a map to show the places represented in some way on the district program, those pins would give color to almost every county from Dallam on the north to Scurry on the south—a distance of 259 miles. New clubs, old clubs, small clubs, large clubs have all furnished their parts.

State officers will be present to add their rich experience to the sessions, and it is likely that a delegation of women from clubs of Kentucky will drop in to give a sense of the widespread interest of women in organization work, and to share their successes and problems with the Texas group.

According to the district program chairman, Mrs. T. V. Reeves of Canyon, much responsibility for the success of the convention program always falls upon the hostess city. From it usually come the song leaders, the incidental music numbers, which relieve tension and keep business sessions from being boring, and the decorations which make the convention hall a place of beauty. To the hostess city falls also the difficult task of filling in when emergencies occur. The planning of the program at Pampa has been facilitated by the excellent co-operation which the local program chairman, Mrs. Garnet Reeves, has given the district chairman. Pampa's large number of excellent music organizations has put at the convention's disposal delightful treats.

The success of a convention program does not depend entirely upon the district president and the program chairman, but upon the way the women who attend take part in the proceedings. The convention is alert or lethargic, depending upon the attitude of the delegates and officers and visitors. The Seventh District of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs is a democratic body, and general participation in its proceedings has become a habit through the years. It is expected that the 1939 convention program will be a success because of this fact.

Federation Home Features Work Of Texas Artists

Women of Seventh district though far away in miles from Austin and Federation Headquarters, may justly be proud of the beautiful building. An especially rich tribute was paid Texas Federation of Women's clubs by the president of the Georgia Federation, after attending a convention in 1935 in the then new building. In an article in Texas Federation News, she wrote:

All business sessions of the convention were held in the new and truly magnificent headquarters of the state federation. A beautiful Georgian colonial building, costing $250,000, envisioned as far back as 1915, and recently opened for the carrying out of its purpose, "the promotion of cultural, educational, social and welfare interests of our great state" it stands a monument to the splendid vision, the deep faith, and the sense of importance of the tasks and the sense of importance of the tasks ahead which these forward-looking Texas women have known as they consider the work of the organization to which they have so unselfishly dedicated their efforts. No other states, not even the General Federation itself, has such a home and this edifice must remain for many years the last word in clubhouse structure with its auditorium seating more than a thousand, its library, its committee rooms, its beautifully furnished guest rooms, its tea room. It is really a dream realized and in becoming a reality the dream has lost nothing of dignity, of beauty and perfection. Other states may well envy Texas—not the building which could be much more early obtained than the most important possession—but the bigness of her dreams, the resourcefulness of her efforts and the unyielding purpose of the women of her federation who have given her this and many other things which are beyond price.

One feature of especial interest to all visitors to the Headquarters building is the art gallery of paintings by Texas' foremost artists, with the portrait of the late Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker in the place of honor.

Another point of interest is the library of autographed first editions of books by Texas authors, which is being built from contributions and collections from all of the districts of the state. It is the wish of Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins that all districts add their share to this splendid library.

Consumer Values Important In Life Of Club Women

By MRS. C. W. BRISCOE, JR.

Consumer Education is one of the most vital and timely subjects now before organized club women. It affects virtually every phase of the present economic structure and intimately touches the home and family life. It certainly behooves every woman to inform herself on consumer values in order that she may secure for her home and her family the greatest value for every dollar of the family budget.

Club women, therefore, should seek to study plans for consumer groups. These can be secured, with lists of references, from Consumers' Council Division of the A. A. A., Washington, D. C., and from the Institute for Consumer Education, of Stephens college, Columbia, Missouri. Also recommended is "Consumption Economics," Henry Harap, a study in curriculum material.

During the present administration, the following five items are suggested for study, with emphasis on preparation for intelligent follow-through on legislation: Consumer and values; consumer and co-operatives; consumer and taxes; consumer and government services; and consumer and legislation.

There are many references to which one may turn for material in gaining knowledge on these programs: pamphlets, research bulletins, and hand-books prepared by recognized authorities. Club women, however, have the opportunity to read the United States Daily, to watch and follow purposed and drug legislation by their city and county tax offices for information, and to study legislation relating to sanitation in the production of consumer goods. They must be alert for quick, get-rich-quick schemes and questionable telephone sales-solicitation.

Women of the rural areas of the Panhandle have cleaned enough lamp chimneys, washed enough clothes, swept enough floors, and carried on all their heavy work long enough by elbow grease alone, and through Urban-Rural Co-operation, the club women of the towns are going to help them have electric power.

Urban and rural women are joining hands through the department to bring libraries to rural communities, to establish clipping libraries for the rural schools, and to sponsor safety programs in the schools, both urban and rural.

We will continue to study soil conservation, a subject vital to us all; we will study the agricultural and industrial possibilities of our section of the country; and we will continue our efforts to inform ourselves and others of the necessity of establishing agriculture as a sound, profitable factor in the modern economic scheme.

Above all, we will continue our program of study and efforts to increase knowledge of our great Democracy and an appreciation of its blessings, both among our club women and the youth of the land.

Chairman Cites Objectives For Urban-Rural Life

By MAE MURFEE

Objectives of the Department on Urban-Rural Co-operation are to promote a better understanding between women of the rural sections and women of the towns and cities, in order that they may better appreciate their economic and moral interdependence, one upon the other, to bring rural and urban women together, that they may together study means of aiding one another and achieving a common good; and to direct the attention of both urban and rural women to those problems which are of common concern to all of the people of the country.

The very first attempt at a project of this sort was made, not only in Texas, but on the high plains of the Panhandle, where the first County Federation was formed in Armstrong county in 1915. Through the efforts of this and other County Federations which followed it, the Panhandle led the state, just as the state led the nation, in seeking and acquiring instruction for its rural people on better farming and livestock methods, better soil conservation methods, better household management, and more profitable marketing means.

It was in recognition of the same need that brought about the organization of the first County Federation that the Department of Rural and Urban Co-operation was founded. Through this department, the work that began by pointing out to rural women how they could make life in their homes easier by such means as lengthening table legs and similar small improvements, is extending itself to advocate and actively support greater improvements such as rural electrification.

Women of the rural areas of the Panhandle have cleaned enough lamp chimneys, washed enough clothes, swept enough floors, and carried on all their heavy work long enough by elbow grease alone, and through Urban-Rural Co-operation, the club women of the towns are going to help them have electric power.

Urban and rural women are joining hands through the department to bring libraries to rural communities, to establish clipping libraries for the rural schools, and to sponsor safety programs in the schools, both urban and rural.

bles will have a section in the procession.

Six Flags Keynote

"Top O' Texas Under Six Flags" will be the theme of both the parade and the fiesta.

1541-1685-Coronado and his soldiers being led across the Plains by the "Turk."

1685-1900-LaSalle and his men in Texas. This unit will be similar to the preceding, with the French flag carried in the group.

1690-1821-Two floats in this unit will show the Mexican revolution, with the last float carrying the Mexican flag.

1821-1836-The battle of the Alamo will be shown on one of the two floats in this unit.

1836-1845-The Republic of Texas. On one large float will be impersonated Sam Houston and a group of soldiers.

1845-1861-Texas annexed to the United States. While the Texas flag is lowered, the American flag will be hoisted as the band plays the national anthem.

Following this float will come in order: the units symbolizing Captain Marcy, 1822; 1861-1865, War Between the States period; old timers, wheat, building, and oil.

Three Pampa organizations have already offered their aid to the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce in presenting the 1939 fiesta.

Started as Pioneer Days

Starting as a "Pioneer Days" in this year, the celebration was limited in 1938, but was resumed in 1939 and 1940 as the Pre-Centennial celebration.

The 1934 Pre-Centennial was the first celebration in the entire state that commemorated the hundredth anniversary of the founding of Texas.

At the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce convention in Fort Worth Saturday, the Top O' Texas Fiesta was judged the best celebration in the state.

The 1939 Pre-Centennial was the first celebration in the entire state that commemorated the hundredth anniversary of the founding of Texas.

Parade Map To Be Published

For the 1939 fiesta parades, there may be other new attractions in addition to the ones already described.

Wayne Phelps, chairman of the parade committee, said the committee at its meeting last night was considering two other spectacular units, something entirely different from anything ever seen in Pampa before.

Both the parade of June 13 and of June 14 will start at 10:30

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—The stock market today experienced difficulty following through on Wednesday's rally and trends pointed in varying directions.

NEW moves on the European exchange combined with the threatened spread of the domestic soft coal tie-up, tended to discourage the market.

There were rather lively in the foreign activity, lessened at intervals thereafter. Transfers for the five hours approximated $90,000,000.

There were a number of notable movements here following the untold resignation of Russia's Foreign Minister Litvinoff, which was announced by the British Embassy in London.

In the home sector stocks came back to a level of moderate activity. Prices advanced in a number of fairly strong spots in evidence.

Some buying was believed to have been done by the Federal Reserve bank. Industrial activity may be near bottom.

Up part of the time were U. S. Rubber, Consolidated Edison, Great Northern, Consolidated Gas, and Industrial Union Carbide.

Inclined to give ground were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, and Anaconda. Philip Morris, Lofts, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont and Phelps Dodge.

NAZIS

East Prussia were ready for action at any moment.

Germany's ambassadors to Paris and London, Count Johannes von Welzeck and Dr. Herbert von Dirksen, will return to their posts this week-end since the French and British ambassadors to Berlin have returned here.

British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson and French Ambassador Robert Coulondre were called to their home capitals March 18 to report after Germany's dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

The retirement of Maxim Litvinoff as Soviet Russia's commissar of foreign affairs meanwhile was interpreted in diplomatic quarters as an attempt to expand the Anglo-French front.

Foreign office officials were more cautious, however, saying final judgment must be withheld until it was clear whether Litvinoff's departure from the post would be followed by ending of negotiations for inclusion of Russia in the front.

Nazis generally were enthusiastic. They also pointed significantly to the plans of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop to visit in Italy with Italian Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano to measure the results of axis efforts against the Anglo-French front.

In Danzig itself indications that Ribbentrop was in his speech domain were seen in an address delivered by Vice Marshal Pulawski of the Polish senate to the Polish assembly.

Referring to the issues between Poland and Germany, he said "a compromise is not excluded."

Mr. Neville was a prime factor in a three-day trip to Memphis, where she will visit relatives and friends and transact business.

slim Princeton did just the things that he had always wanted to do.

The present expedition on the junk, Sea Dragon, had precedent. Junks have several times crossed the Pacific from China.

The Hummel-Amundsen did it a few years later.

With five other young college men such as Halliburton himself had 10 years earlier, and a crew of nine, Halliburton set forth from Hong Kong on yet another adventure.

The war in China, the winter season, did not deter him.

The ill-7, President Coolidge, picked up March 23 what may have been the last message from the Sea Dragon. It was then 1,300 miles west of Midway Island.

That message said that the Sea Dragon was last seen in the Pacific. The thousands who found vicarious romance in Halliburton's adventures still hope.

There were practically no roads in those days, and the detours with the backboard were numerous.

Nothing has come since from the Sea Dragon. It is still possible that the stout junk, blown far off her course perhaps by typhoons or gales, may come limping into some port or cross the course of some other ship in the far Pacific.

Man Released In Train Death Here

J. M. "Whitey" Love, one of two men questioned in connection with the death of W. E. Power, who is believed to have walked into the side of a Santa Fe passenger engine last Tuesday night, was released by city officers today and told to leave the city.

Power's body still lies at rest at Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home.

Adjournment Could Kill Bureau Bill

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Un-expected adjournment of congress-is now the only factor which could stop the establishment June 24 of three new federal agencies for public works, welfare and lending activities.

Opponents of the President's first reorganization plan lost their last direct chance to block it yesterday when the house killed, 204 to 128, a resolution of rejection by Rep. Taber, republican, N. Y.

The law provides changes become effective 60 days after the President submits them to congress, unless both houses disapprove.

Administration leaders, however, are certain neutrality, railroad, social security and other legislation will keep the lawmakers in session long after the 60-day period for this particular plan expires.

Twenty-eight republicans were among the house members opposing Taber's resolution, but not a single democrat crossed party lines to fight the President's plan.

In fact, the democrats were so sure of victory that throughout a long debate they let republican opponents do all the talking.

Senator Vandenberg, republican, Mich., who led an unsuccessful fight against the canal bill in the commerce committee, said he believed the measure would have no chance of passage if what he called "general public opinion" could be recorded in congress.

On the other hand, Senator Pepper, democrat, Fla., chief proponent of the measure, claimed 40 senate votes for the bill, introduced by Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas.

Consideration of the measure was scheduled in the senate this afternoon, but debate was expected to be postponed until Monday.

Musical Play To Be Presented At Houston School

A musical play for children, "Mother Goose Island," will be presented at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the high school auditorium by the third grade pupils of Mrs. Sam Irwin and the fourth grade pupils of Miss Florence Jones, of Sam Houston school.

These two teachers, with Mrs. John I. Bradley, as accompanist, will have charge of the program.

There are two scenes in the story and 13 numbers listed on the program. There are 98 children in the cast. The curtain rises on a group of school children.

Some two represents the home of Mother Goose. The visitors arrive and are greeted by the historical personages for whom the island was named.

Mother Goose introduces her celebrated family. King Cole, his father, Jack Spratt, Molly Spratt, Jack Spratt Jr., Jill Spratt, Bo-Peep, Boy Blue, Miss Muffet, and the Spider, are among the nursery rhyme characters.

There are 28 roles in this part of the program, with 16 of these being Miss Bright's pupils.

Twenty-six pupils are cast in "the alphabet," 23 in "children of the mulberry bush," and eight in "little sir otto."

The program: overture; opening chorus; "We're All Excited," Miss Bright's pupils; "Naughty Miss Beetle," Patsy Ann Pierson; "I Want to See the Wheels Go Round," Sammie Haynes; "Go to Sleep My Little Deer," Charles Snow; finale.

Interlude, "Little Sir Otto," from Miss Snodgrass' second grade; "The Mulberry Bush," Mrs. Bradley's first grade; "We Are Like the Flowers," by inhabitants of the island; "I'm Mother Goose," Margie Sloan; the alphabet dance and song; medley, the Mother Goose family; grand finale.

Lower Rates Asked By Lufkin Man

ST. LOUIS, May 4 (AP)—Rail rates were labeled "outrageously disproportionate" by Leslie Tatum of Lufkin, Texas, in a plea for reduced rates before representatives of major southwestern railroads at a session here yesterday.

Texas and Pennsylvania oil field machinery firms, vying for the rich Illinois oil basin market, carried their fight before the body.

Tatum asked that the rail rate from Lufkin to Centralia, Ill., now at $1.05 per 100 pounds, be slashed to 75 cents. He said rates on the same type equipment from Oil City, Pa., to Centralia was 46 cents per hundred pounds, with only 19 miles distance advantage.

Representatives of the Oil Well Supply company and International casing company of Oil City proposed the change, contending the present rate was set by the Interstate Commerce Commission as fair and equitable.

Brakeman Held In Slaying Of Frome Women

AUSTIN, May 4 (AP)—State police announced today an itinerant railroad brakeman arrested in Denver for questioning in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Weston G. Frome and her daughter, Nancy, in West Texas a year ago had been released.

Homer Garrison Jr., police director, said Texas Rangers were convinced the man had an air-tight alibi.

Winslow, Ariz., police said a Texas Ranger was there yesterday with the suspect to check an alibi. The suspect told officers he was working on a railroad at Winslow the day of the killings, April 3, 1938.

Railroad officials said the man had been laid off work in December, 1937, went to Texas and returned to Winslow on March 24, 1938. He was not re-employed and was not working with the rail line on the day of the killings.

He was seen in Winslow later in April, 1938, railroad officials said.

Denver police said the man had been convicted on white slavery charges at Houston for transporting a woman to Los Angeles. He was arrested at Denver by federal officers at the request of Texas Rangers.

Agreement In Coal Strike Not Reached

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—W. L. Robison, chairman of the bituminous miners and operators negotiating committee, announced today the conferees had failed to reach agreement on a new contract for the soft coal industry and that such disagreement would be reported to the joint wage conference tomorrow.

The disagreement, following eight weeks of negotiations which have left 338,000 miners idle a month, will be reported to the Appalachian conference composed of 300 representatives of operators and U. M. W. miners at 2 p. m. tomorrow, Robison said.

The announcement by the chairman indicated the union had refused to accept the last compromise offered by the operators, which called for exclusive bargaining rights for the U. M. W. A., and an agreement by the union for a checkoff system under which non-union employees would pay the same dues to the labor organization as those paid by the union members.

Miners' lawyers have been investigating the question of legality of such a checkoff system, which was proposed; apparently, to modify the closed shop demands of CIO Chief John L. Lewis.

Ickes 'Hopes' To Become A Father

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Secretary Ickes told reporters today he had "hopes" of becoming a father.

The secretary, who was 65 years old in March, was asked by reporters to comment on congratulations at a United States Chamber of Commerce dinner by Senator Clark (D., Mo.) on his forthcoming fatherhood.

Ickes, who usually is quick at repartee, hesitated, blushed and then said: "I have hopes."

Regarding his composure, he commented: "It's great to be in public life. I would say what we need is more liberty for the press."

The secretary and Mrs. Ickes, who is 26, were married secretly in Dublin, Ireland, on May 24, 1938.

Britons Lose Jitters As Nazi Aviation Bogey Is Debunked

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, May 4—If Col. Charles Lindbergh has been able to give American authorities an accurate word-picture of Germany's military air force and aviation industry, he has disposed of something that the statesmen and military leaders of England and France would give their back teeth to know.

has a strong army, plus a magnificent line. They are not worrying about the German navy. England could tackle that with comparative ease, except for the ever-present submarine puzzle. But the German air force is the bogey that is causing gray hairs in France and England.

Last September, when war seemed such a near thing, people in this eight million town of London conjured up a horrid Nazi-inspired vision of wave after wave of German-bombers, dropping their fatal loads on the metropolis.

Miami Seniors Enjoy Varied Experiences On Carlsbad Trip

By OSIE BLACKWELL WILSON

MIAMI, May 4.—In keeping with a custom that has grown up in the southwest seniors of Miami high school visited Carlsbad cavern. In keeping with this custom they also had a joyful time. They were welcomed at Portales, New Mex., a stop-off enroute, by Floyd Golden, former Miamian. Golden helped New Mexico Junior college celebrate its annual rodeo and barbecue by inviting the Miami caravan in as his guests.

thousand year old man, a couple of petrified mothers, some decayed infants, fossils et cetera. And J. P. Murray said the lecturer needed a course in high school English. Frances Dean Carmichael said the ten-cent admission charge was a gyp on account of Judge Mead of Miami showed a hundred times as many fossils in his Court House collection back home for nothing.

When the Miamians reached the cave of the King's Palace, Bessie Finch asked a ranger: "Where's the king?" The ranger replied: "He abdicated." Bessie looked mournfully at a melted dome: "Dilapidated, ah?" Bessie said. No wonder I couldn't find him! By noon Bessie had the words straightened out. And the shy but amused ranger was calling her his Daisy Mae. Now Bessie has a Lt Abner.

Mrs. C. C. Wilson said she hoped Laibock's underworld would treat her more kindly on her next trip. They broke out her car window when they found it locked. Several empty purses were rifled, but nothing was taken.

Gloves Champions To Box Tomorrow Night

Pampa Will Have Strong Team Ready

Delmer Koch, one of the greatest amateur boxers in the country, will be in Pampa Friday night representing the Pampa Golden Gloves boxing team in the light heavyweight division when Pampa champs and a team of top amateurs from the Eastern New Mexico Junior college meet.

The bouts will begin at 8:15 o'clock in the Pampa Athletic arena with admission 40 cents general and 50 cents ringside reserve.

Trainer Cliff Chambers of the Pampa team has secured Koch to meet Sherman Creek because of the inability of Steve Thomas to be here. Koch won the light heavyweight Golden Gloves title in Fort Worth and made a great showing in the national tournament in Chicago. He also won the state AAU title in Dallas last month. Koch is one of the most finished boxers outside professional ranks. He is a student at Amarillo college.

Frankie Bills, the 118-pound flash from Shamrock, has assured Trainer Chambers he will be here. Denver Hubert, Pampa's ace 135-pounder, is ready after being denied the right to box at the last tournament because of failure of his opponent to arrive. Canadian's Joe Hornbeck has trained down to a welterweight where he has been going great guns lately. His place in the middleweight bracket will be taken by Mickey Simpson of Canadian.

With Champion Robby Robertson in Wyoming, Pampa's own Frank Brown will be the local representative in the featherweight division. Brown is a great boxer who packs a punch.

With no flyweight and no heavyweight on the Portales team, Trainer Sam Sharp will bring another 135-

Third man in the ring will be Toby Waggoner of Canadian, who has refereed all local amateur tournaments this year. Three judges will render decisions.

Each bout will go three two-minute rounds.

Jim Brillheart Opens Spree As Sports Lose 11-5

(By The Associated Press)

Jim Brillheart got right provoked at himself yesterday when his wild pitching allowed the Shreveport Sports to score two runs in the first inning—but he made up for it.

The Oklahoma Indians' hurler came up in the third inning and smashed a two-bagger that started a seven-run scoring spree. The Redskins moved on to an 11 to 5 victory.

In other Texas league games Houston's Buffs lost to the Tulsa Oilers, 7 to 4; the Dallas Rebels defeated the San Antonio Missions, 6 to 3.

Beryl Richmond of Dallas pitched near-perfect ball, setting the Missions back on their heels with only three hits. Only two Padres got past first base, and none farther than second. The Rebel outfield had a holiday, making only three putouts.

Irv Stein was nipped for 14 safeties by the Buffs, but he staggered through to a win with fine fielding support.

The Shippers plucked on three Panther hurlers and scored one run in each inning except the third, eighth, and unneeded ninth. The Cats' 11 safeties were widely scattered. The Exporters punched out 10 hits, including doubles by Franklin and Howell.

Special attractions for the week will not end on Tuesday night because Soldier Caruso, the singing World War veteran who pleased a large crowd here two years ago, is returning Wednesday night when Abilene will open a two-game series here.

The scheduled game between the Pampa Oilers and the Abilene entry in the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league yesterday afternoon had to be postponed because of wet grounds. The two teams are scheduled to meet again this afternoon in the last of the short series. Lamesa beat Amarillo 4 to 1 in the only game played.

Tomorrow the Oilers will move to Midland for games Friday and Saturday. The two teams will return to Pampa for games Sunday afternoon and Monday night.

The Monday night game, the first of the season, has been designated "All-Panhandle" night. Every city in this section is invited to send fans to the big opening night game.

On Tuesday night, with Abilene providing the opposition, all women fans will be admitted free. Women won't have to be accompanied by a paid admission to see the game free. "Just tell the women to come on down and see the ball game as our guests," said Manager Grover Seitz of the Oilers in a telephone conversation with his business manager last night.

Smallest Field Since War Likely In Derby Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4 (AP)—The family jewels were riding right on Johnstown's white-marked nose today, so strong was the conviction the big boy would be the horse to beat Saturday in what shapes up now as the smallest Kentucky Derby field since the World war.

He worked a sparkling 1:37 3/5 mile yesterday in his first crack at the Down's cuppy-footing, and chances are he will be less than even money at post-time.

Only rain—and there was a slight chance old man weather might try that trick—could make him anything but the top-heavy choice against a field that figures to contain no more than eight other horses.

With Joe W. Brown's T. M. Dorsett suffering from a slight fever and a very doubtful starter, W. E. Boies's Porter's Mite showing no inclination for the mile and a quarter distance and several other lightweights lacking Derby class, the 15 earlier possibilities were falling off in bunches.

Six only are definite: Johnstown; Herbert M. Woolf's Technolion; W. L. Brann's Challeon; William Ziegler Jr.'s El Chico; Valdis Farm's Derby trial winner, Viscounty; and Heister Broom, the chestnut colt Earl Sande brought to Derbytown for J. H. Whitney.

Mrs. Bessie Frankheim's Clown may go if it comes up mud and if there's nothing wrong with his condition, a factor about which you hear rumors here and there.

Only the oldest Derby-goers remember as small a field. That was the great Exterminator's year, 1938, when only eight answered the bugle.

ERRORS OF TECHNOCRATS

Before it is possible to point out the errors of technocrats, it will be necessary to define a technocrat. Webster says, under the heading of technocracy, 1. Government or management of the whole of society by technical experts, or in accordance with principles established by technicians; 2. an organization of technicians that studies the possibilities of such management.

Probably there are as many conceptions of technocracy as there are individuals. There are in our midst many people who believe that we can produce more than we can consume; that our trouble is in distribution. Probably these people might be, to a degree, regarded as technocrats. Many of the people who advocate the Townsend Plan and many of the reformers are tinged with technocracy. They believe that there is equipment enough to produce plenty of everything for everybody.

Undoubtedly, there could be produced a great deal more than is produced, but only a small fraction of our desires can be satisfied with the present capital or machinery that we have.

The technocrats fail to realize that under the free competitive system, machines have to be operated and worn out in order to be of any value at all to the owner; that every owner of machines is constantly striving and planning as to how he can make that machine of any value to him. He finds that he has to produce a service or a commodity that benefits the users of the products of the machine before it can be of value to its owner.

So, all the machines that we have are constantly being managed so as to distribute the output from the machines. If the machine is not used to benefit the customers, it is of no value. This inability to hoard wealth without gradually losing it, is something that the technocrats and the socialists fail to understand. Probably this inability to hoard wealth was what Jesus meant, when he said, "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth; where moth and rust doth corrupt and where thieves break through and steal."

There is no possible way ever devised by the mind of man that enables a man to hoard and conserve wealth without using it and benefiting society.

So all this discussion and commotion and confusion on the distribution of production is of no avail if we keep a comparative free market. The problem before us is to learn how to produce better machines, discard inefficient machines so that there will be more of the comforts of life to go around. It is a question of balanced and greater production—production of things that people desire and want and need. And under a free enterprise system, prices are the best guide ever devised by the mind of man to tell people what to produce like that other people want.

There is no possible way of electing technocrats, dictators, bureaus, boards that will more wisely distribute what is produced than giving each individual the right to produce anything for what he thinks the public is paying a high price.

No, there is no over-production as a whole. There is no possible chance of our ever being able to produce as much beauty, cleanliness, health, understanding, leisure and the finer things of life than human beings want, need and can enjoy.

A SECOND BRAIN

What causes human actions has always been a controversial subject. Dr. George W. Crile, famous surgeon, has the following to say:

"Recent advances have shown that there is another center, a second brain, in the nerve center in the region of the heart. This center is even more powerful than the head brain because it controls the many miles of circulatory system as well as respiration and digestion."

As Benjamin De Casseres has well said, "And Dr. Crile might have added, it also controls our thoughts in the head brain, for, as I've pointed out in this column from time to time, the brain in the head is only a converter into consciousness of our wishes, our instincts and our secret prejudices."

"Thus all our thoughts are wish-thoughts, and I salute Dr. Crile in having the courage to put the origin and center of our thought-life into the heart-region, for the proverb that says 'as he thinks in his heart, so is he' is actually and scientifically true."

POWER TO FAVOR SPECIAL GROUPS

Just think of the power the Administration has in having the right to staple commodities, like cotton and wheat, to foreigners at any price he sees fit. It means that the Administration can, in reality, make great donations and presents to those to whom it sells commodities at special, low prices. The President, through his administrators, can show the grossest kind of favoritism between different nations and different people by this very absurd act of selling the necessities of life to foreigners for less than our own workmen have to pay for them.

This means that the workers abroad, being endowed by the United States, can produce things for less than our workers can add, thus undersell them in our own market. It is certainly an absurdity.

berg shook the morale of his followers by marrying a woman out of his station in life. Then he retired, and Hitler shuffled army leadership enough to bring the army more nearly under his own wing.

The understanding is that Hitler's real dependence for internal support as well as for troops in war lies in his various shock troops and divisions built up within the past six years. Within that structure is seen a real weakness—six years is not long enough to train a corps of officers capable of conducting a war against first rank opposition.

REHEARSALS DON'T COUNT

Marching two million men about the countryside in dress parade mobilization is one thing. It is another to feed them, command them in war and keep them efficiently fighting. That is a job for officers trained for longer than six years.

The officers with lengthy training lie within the staff of the regular army. In event of war these army leaders would have to take command to avert disaster and that would give them the whip hand.

Thus Hitler would appear to have two solid sources of pressure from within driving him toward a more cautious course abroad. The British-French "encirclement" increases his danger of war, and in war his power might slip into the hands of the old line army

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Streamlined Jane Withers was one of the week's best ideas—and her own. Last time I saw her she was a chubby child, apple-cheeked, freckled, comes Jane's big resolution to "exercise, cut down on potatoes and candy—and here she is, entering her 18th year, a slim and pretty young lady ready to be "graduated" into roles to fit her new "maturity."

"Ann Sheridan is going to be a lady in 'Winter Carnival'—playing an American-born countess, but with plenty of oomph as usual." "Tragic bulletin from 30th: 'Marjorie Weaver, whose great physical beauty has abetted her career as an actress, will be without this useful prop when she appears in 'Young Mr. Lincoln.' In the interests of realism, Director John Ford forbade Marjorie to wear any make-up."

"Are your tears dry yet? Stu Erwin ought to help. Stu says he's going to enter politics—to campaign for a railroad station in Beverly Hills, where there isn't one."

"We're a city of more than 600 station wagons—and not a single station." "Stu crated. 'Where do we drive them? To the beach to the mountains—I drive mine to work. We need a station, though. Don't need any trains, just a station where we can park our wagons and have publicity pictures taken."

Stu sees station wagons as a real gauge of player popularity, to wit: "If you drive your wagon the length of Hollywood boulevard and still aren't asked for autographs, you ought to realize you're washed up."

STORIES IN STAMPS

Madison—America's Constitution Maker
The current year brings back the story of James Madison with particular significance. 1939 marks the 150th anniversary of the setting up of the United States government and it was Madison who framed the Constitution which provided that government.

No colorful figure was this dry little man, son of a Virginia planter. He led no armies in the Revolution, he was no public idol. Yet he carried a tremendous influence. He hated war but he served the cause well in Congress and when the struggle was all over he served the country well again, warning it against the flood of useless paper money that was threatening.

"Madison came the day of reckoning—the day to establish the new government on a lasting basis. Madison was appointed to a committee to draft a national constitution. It was a staggering assignment because at that hour the condition of the colonies was little short of anarchical. Only the most intelligent statesmanship could weld the colonies together."

Madison provided that statesmanship. With rare legal skill he drafted the outline of the Constitution which has lasted 150 years and still stands as one of the great documents of all time. With equal brilliance, Madison fought for its adoption and won. So the Constitution remains Madison's greatest monument.

The Family Doctor

With the coming of summer more people begin to travel the seas and the lakes. Again many of them will become victims of seasickness. Recently, the assistant surgeon on the Aquitania has made a record of some of his experiences with people who suffer with nausea and distress that accompany a voyage on rough waters.

He is convinced that seasickness, when not complicated by a hangover from too much celebration before getting on the boat, is due to unusual reactions that occur in the nervous system because of stimulation reaching those parts of the body that are concerned with balance.

The ordinary case of seasickness begins with a constant and severe headache, a feeling of fatigue and lassitude, and then general depression. The body temperature falls, the pulse rate goes low, and the blood pressure declines.

Dr. Zorab, gives some good advice on the prevention of seasickness. He says fresh air is most important, as is bodily activity.

News Clearing House

Editor Register: The suggested program which endeavors to get employers to hire an unemployed man over 40 years of age is worthy of consideration. It is a step in the right direction and promises to bring a measure of relief.

The ideal of the movement, however, can be easily shipwrecked by coercion, either by the government or by the labor organizations. If either of these groups begin to dictate to the employer the terms under which such men may be employed, then the program will fail. The employer ought to be free to discuss terms of wages with the man about to be employed, and arrive at a mutual understanding without coercion. If the government demands are too severe the employer will balk.

It is time we attained a measure of intelligence and realized we are not living in a mechanistic world. Men cannot be regimented, nor can business be coerced into prosperity. Man is an individual, not a mere automatic unit.

When man ceased to crawl on all fours, and stood upright, he made a step in the right direction. He ceased to be a mere animal, living and breeding automatically. The recent discovery of fossilized human remains and the imprints of human footprints, recorded in the rocks, prove man's pre-historic ancestry.

He is today a human being, whose chief defect or handicap is his ignorance and stupidity; but never again can he be regressed into automatic animal existence or standardized. Hence, the sooner we realize that man is an intelligent individual, who possesses the inherent right of self-determination, the nearer we shall come to solving our social problems.

Colt Substitutes For O'Leary Cow In Japan

TOKYO, May 4 (AP)—A colt substituted for Mrs. O'Leary's cow of the Chicago fire, Domei Japanese news agency, reported today in an account of a disastrous fire in a village near Aomori. The colt kicked over a candle and fired a stable, high winds spread the flames and 110 houses out of a total of 126 in the town were destroyed. There were no casualties.

Russian Hated Most By Der Fuehrer Quits

By WADE WERNER
MOSCOW, May 4 (AP)—Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet Russia's 40-year-old premier and Joseph Stalin's right-hand man, took over the direction of Soviet foreign affairs today, replacing the veteran Maxim Litvinov, who had been an important figure at international conferences for nearly 20 years.

Litvinov, father of the Soviet policy of collective security and the man against whom some of the heaviest artillery of Nazi propaganda has thundered for years—partly because his Jewishness was "released" last night from his duties as commissar of foreign affairs.

The appointment of Molotov was front-page in Moscow morning newspapers, without comment, while a four-line item on back pages reported Litvinov had asked to be relieved of the post.

The radio announcement yesterday said he had been "released" from his duties at his own request.

Many foreign observers believed a policy turn in Russian foreign affairs had taken place.

But what effect it would have was not clear and there were many conjectures.

(The change in supervision of Soviet foreign affairs came at a crucial time in European diplomacy. Only yesterday authoritative sources in London said Litvinov would meet foreign ministers of Britain and France at Geneva May 15 to break the deadlock in negotiations for a triple alliance.)

The fact Litvinov for years had been one of the chief targets of Nazi attacks on what the German propaganda minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels, and his colleagues described as "Jewish bolshevism" was no proof of relations with Germany must now become friendlier.

Those looking for signs of such a development emphasized, however, that Litvinov's disappearance from office was not likely to cause displeasure in Berlin.

Hitler Also Watched
Some observers were quick to pick up such a rapprochement in a recent speech in which Stalin declared capitalist powers of western Europe sought to involve Germany in an unnecessary war with the Soviet, and in the fact Adolf Hitler in his reichstag speech of April 24 failed to make his usual strong attack on Russia.

Book A Day

From "Soldiers of the Republic," Spanish War tale and one of the 24 superb stories in "Heroic Lies," a Dorothy Parker collection (Viking; $2.50). witty, tender, these stories represent almost half of Dorothy Parker's literary product. The incident "Belva" takes place in a valet's restaurant.

They were at the end of 40 hours' leave from the trenches, and for their holiday, they had all pocketed a few packs of cigarettes, and something had gone wrong, and the cigarettes had never come through to them. In Spain tobacco is as nothing to them, and I brought them out, and by noon and midday and a lot of them had smoked. I understood that I was offering it to those six men yearning for tobacco. When they saw what I meant, each one of them rose and shook my hand. Darling of me to share my cigarettes with the men on the way back to the trenches.

They had all the six of them, been in the war for over a year, and most of that time they had been in the trenches. Four of them were married. One had a child, two had three children. They had five. They had not heard from their families since they had left for the front.

There had been no communication; two of them had learned to write from men fighting next to them in the trenches, but they had not dared to write home. They belonged to a union, and union men, of course, are put to death if taken. The village where their families lived had been captured, and if your wife gets a letter from a union man, who knows but they'll shoot her for the connection.

Suddenly one of them looked at the clock. . . then they fled out of the café, tired and dusty and little, as men of a mighty battle are.

Morino And Durano Will Wrestle Monday Night

Count Antonio Morino, who made such a great showing against Wildman Frankie Hill last Monday night has been matched with Mickey Durano in the main event of Promoter Cliff Chambers' wrestling card at the Pampa Athletic arena on next Monday night.

It's a match with great possibilities. It can be one of the prettiest wrestling matches of the year or it can be as rough and tough as has been witnessed here in many a moon. Both Durano and Morino are top wrestlers but like most foreigners they are hot tempered and if either thinks he has been fouled the going is likely to get plenty wild.

The two maulers are about the same weight and are masters at securing holds as well as breaking them. Durano will wrestle as long as he is allowed to do so. Morino is a question mark.

By popular request Promoter Chambers has matched Sugi Hayamaka and Ernie Peterson in the 30-minute semi-final. They are a pair of classy grapplers and there is a chance that the two will be matched with jackets, favorite form of Japanese wrestling, soon.

Opening the card at 8:15 o'clock will be Willard Walker and Art Belcher. Belcher has just returned from a year in the east where it is reported he has learned a lot about wrestling. In fact Belcher thinks he should have had a main event. Women will be admitted again for 10 cents.

Varsity Girl

Southpaw Alice Abbott of Philadelphia smashes across a serve as she works out with the Dickinson College men's varsity tennis team at Carlisle, Pa. Miss Abbott, who won the Philadelphia city girls' playground title three years in a row, has gained the No. 6 position and is regarded as a great prospect by Coach Gardner Hays.

Cleveland's third baseman, Ken Keltner, who batted .276 and fielded well in his first full season. In 10 games this season he has a batting mark of .294, driving in five runs. Ernie Koy, Brooklyn outfielder, finished his first full season with a .299 mark. Through 10 games to date he's batted .292, although he hasn't driven in any runs. John Rizzo, of Pittsburgh, boasting a .301 average in his freshman year, was going along at a .293 clip in 11 games.

A livestock census for 1938 shows Nova Scotia's horse population at June 1 was 42,540 compared to 42,470 at the same time in 1937.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

Shorty Hoffman and his Humble Oilers tumbled giant killers in Class B bowling circles last night when they took two out of three games from E. & M. Cafe, the team that set three new records last week.

The cafenews topped more pins than the Oilers but Sehon and McWright has enough on the ball to come through with big scores. McWright shot a game of 214.

Cumy-Hinerman swept their series with the Texas Company. Prince rolling high game of the night to 219, and high series, 568.

Wolcott Will Run Despite Bad Ankle

HOUSTON, May 4 (AP)—Gameday determined despite an ailing leg, Fred Wolcott, Rice Institute star hurdler, today faced his strongest Southwest conference track foe, Boyce Gatewood of the University of Texas, in a triangular meet with Texas A. & M. as the third team.

Wolcott, Coach Emmett Brunson of Rice said, has run and won his last three races with a leg that pains him at times. Many times he has faced Gatewood and always Wolcott has emerged the victor, but in their last few races Gatewood has been gaining on the blond flash.

Brunson said he felt Texas would win because of superior strength in field events. Gilliam Graham, Texas javelin thrower, and Beufus Bryan, Texas pole vaulter, are two of the stars the university hoped would bring victory.

The 100-yard dash between Red Cecil of the Aggies, Gatewood of the Longhorns, and Wolcott of Rice, may result in a new meet record. Gatewood and Wolcott also will clash in the high and low hurdles.

LIGONIER, Pa., May 4 (AP)—Fisherman Robert Martin tells this one: He cast a fly with a double hook into a creek and got a strike. When he reeled in the line he had a 10-inch trout on one hook—an 11-inch on the other.

British See War Certain Says Journalist

By GEORGE ROSS
NEW YORK, May 4.—G. E. R. Gedye, the foreign correspondent, is looking around the town for the first time, and he rapidly is learning the penalties of being lionized.

Gedye was on the scene during the Austrian Anschluss until Nazi officials expelled him from that country. Then he transferred his journalistic activities to Prague—until the Nazi army moved in there, too.

When the German Gestapo hunted him down in Prague—for his anti-German dispatches—he took refuge in the British Legation with his wife and secretary. How they fled Czechoslovakia is a secret he, apparently, is keeping to himself.

A bitter anti-Chamberlainite, Gedye wrote a book, "Betrayal in Central Europe," in which he played the appeasement policy of the British prime minister. To the inevitable question, Gedye replies: "War surely will come." When? He does not dare say—but in the British foreign office, he reports, there are two guesses: war in June—or just before the autumn.

Sophs May Rout Jinx This Year

CHICAGO, May 4 (AP)—This season's major league sophomores apparently are out to wallop the jinx which has plagued so many young players of promise.

The years have strung a long list of star rookies who ran into disheartening slumps in their second season. This season's bumper crop of sophomores, however, is battling so gamely it rates a chance of routing the jinx.

Frank McCormick, first baseman for the Cincinnati Reds, hit .326 last season. Many fans said he would not do it again, but in his first 10 games this season he has hit .390. George McQuinn, St. Louis Browns first sacker, had a batting average of .324 last season and through 10 games this year was batting .357.

Also among the jinx-busters was Cleveland's third baseman, Ken Keltner, who batted .276 and fielded well in his first full season. In 10 games this season he has a batting mark of .294, driving in five runs.

Ernie Koy, Brooklyn outfielder, finished his first full season with a .299 mark. Through 10 games to date he's batted .292, although he hasn't driven in any runs. John Rizzo, of Pittsburgh, boasting a .301 average in his freshman year, was going along at a .293 clip in 11 games.

CHINESE BRIDE DIES IN WEDDING DISASTER
SHANGHAI, May 4 (AP)—A jealous suitor was blamed today by Nantao police for a wedding day disaster two days ago in which a 17-year-old Chinese bride and 17 other persons were killed and 44 others, including the bridegroom, were injured.

Two houses collapsed under roofs laden with spectators while the wedding was in progress. Police said the rebuffed suitor learned in advance where the wedding would take place and sawed away several wooden pillars supporting the buildings.

A 1938 check by the Biological Survey indicated there was approximately 5,000,000 "big game animals" in the United States.

Soil Studied In Order To Improve Beer

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE. Associated Press Science Editor. ALPINE, May 4.—Texas scientists disclosed today they are seeking to make better beer by studying the soil in which the barley grows.

This beer, from "the ground up" is sought in the great open, slightly dry areas of West Texas, where the brew has been favored since the days long ago when Roy Bean's sign at Pecos read: "Cool beer and all of the law west of the Pecos."

The beer project was reported at the opening scientific sessions of the Southwestern Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science by D. D. Moore and A. W. Young of Texas Technological College, Lubbock.

Tests, they said, are being made in West Texas to determine possibilities of growing barley for use in malting, brewing and distilling. In West Texas soil, it appears, favors Wisconsin rather than California barleys.

Much better at coaxing the malt extra from the Great Plains soils were two other barley varieties, Wisconsin 38 and velvet. Although their yields were not as luxuriant as the California crop, this year built up malt extract in a big way.

Cattle Seek Minerals. "Because of the 'diastatic' power, the report concluded these varieties would make excellent distillers' malts."

Garner and Elliott Roosevelt Ballyhooed At Gridiron Banquet

Texans, especially Vice-President Garner, attracted unusual attention at the recent fifty-fourth annual dinner of the famous Gridiron club in Washington.

The Garner presidential boomlet furnished material for skits and songs. To the tune of "Old Man River" and the words of "Old Man Garner keeps runnin' along," the Vice President was pictured as heading toward the White House in 1940.

Such was the closing "skit" at the dinner given to a distinguished group which included the President, Vice President, members of the cabinet, six justices of the Supreme Court, representatives of the diplomatic corps, members of Congress and leaders in all walks of American life.

SERIAL STORY BORDER ADVENTURE

BY OREN ARNOLD COPY RIGHT, 1939. NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, cleverly disguising themselves, Hope and Sherry took the burro ranch and returned to the border. The border is now a no-man's-land. No one knows where.

CHAPTER XXIV

WHEN Luis Barro learned that Betty Mary had escaped from his ranch stronghold, he cursed in a manner that could have been called classic. One reason was uppermost in his mind: she knew that he was a smuggler, and probably knew most of his plans for bringing over the 100 or more aliens Sunday night.

Naturally, Barro turned on his heel to vent his anger, his head cocked, all of his servants, and his guards. These latter he especially frightened, for on them rested the burden of keeping all prisoners. He threatened them with severe punishment and they knew Barro's words were seldom idle threats. But none of them, the guards, servants, cook, alien customers, could even suggest how the young American senorita had gotten away. She had been at the rancho just before noon they said. She had not run past the guards. She had not hidden, for the premises had twice been thoroughly searched. She had just vanished in broad daylight.

In the end, Barro cooled down and took the affair more philosophically.

"It no matter," he said to his aides. "What if she does know our plans? What is one spy now? Are we not strong? The gringo federals have bluffed and been very lucky. We shall have more than 100 men armed, no es verdad?"

"Seguro si, Don Luis," one of them nodded.

"But that girl—maybe yet she can be found! I had promised her she would travel with me if she has slipped back to El Paso—I have the idea to get her again for my guest. We shall see if people can make foot of Luis Barro!"

HE might have conducted a search or pursuit of Betty Mary on an intensified scale, if the press of business affairs had not interfered. Aliens of several nationalities were now at his ranch, waiting shipment to the United States. They had paid high prices, some as much as $1000 each, American coin. He realized that he had to deliver the services he promised or they would not only expose him to Mexican authorities, they doubtless would all his own throat too. Moreover, he held a definite pride in his efficiency and bravado, especially now when he expected to put over a grand coup on the United States Border Patrol.

Normally he would have taken a half dozen or even two dozen aliens in cars to some point near the border, then walked them over at night. But this time it was not feasible to move 100 people in cars at once, without exciting suspicion. Nor could he move them a few at a time down state to the New Chancell crossing where he expected to ford the Rio Grande, because there was the problem of feeding them even through their last night meal in Mexico.

He would, therefore, transport them on horses. He had even bought a herd of horses for just that purpose, decrepit stock at an average of $10 per head. Thus mounted, his armed aliens could wade right across the shallow Rio, constituting in reality a troop of cavalry too big for any Border Patrol force within the whole district. If the aliens couldn't slip through unscathed, they could easily fight their way through, he felt. This thought gave him added daring.

His only concession to the fact that Betty Mary knew his plans, was to change the date of the crossing. Arbitrarily he advanced it from Sunday to Saturday night, "a wise arrangement, eh Fanchito?" he demanded of a young cutthroat lieutenant in his force. "Luis Barro is clever man, no es verdad?" He chuckled in high self-satisfaction.

TO crouch on her hands and knees under a mass of corrugated pasteboard boxes, burlap sacks, fruit and vegetable peelings, and sweepings from a large kitchen floor, constituted a distinctly novel experience for dainty Miss Betty Mary Jordan of Washington, D. C.

The burro cart in which she rode, furthermore, had never known springs. Her knees soon were aching, her hands were almost raw. One leg was half asleep and tingling from strain. An hour passed. Two hours. Three.

She could hardly bear it at first. At the end of perhaps two hours she thought she should surely die. But she scarcely dared make a noise or move. Then, suddenly, the "Mexican woodcutter" called his burros to a halt. He spoke through the trash to his passenger underneath.

"Are you all right?" Sheridan Starr demanded, in low but firm tone. "We have come far away. I am quite sure nobody is following, or even in sight. We are in a group of mesquite trees and other scrubby growth."

"I am exhausted," Betty Mary answered. "May I come out now?"

"No! No, Betty Mary. Not until after nightfall. I shall unhitch the burros and pretend to cut more wood. I must keep up the act. No telling who's likely to happen along, or watch us from a distance. In desperation Hope and I disguised ourselves, and bought the cart and truck from Mexicans. We had to find you!"

"All right, Sheridan. I am grateful to you. I'll do just as you say."

"I'll unload some of the upper boxes, stirring around in the wagon. While I do that, shift your position to lie down, getting as comfortable as you can. But do not move the trash unless I am apparently moving it."

When that was accomplished she felt blessed relief. The cramped position had been well nigh unbearable. Now she could relax. There were enough cracks to give her sufficient fresh air.

"All right now?" he queried again.

"Yes, thank you. Thank you a million times, Sheridan."

"That's all right, Betty Mary. I was just about crazy, before we found you. Hope and I both. We finally got your signal."

"Sherry?"

"Yes?"

"Were you—Sherry, were you really concerned for me, yourself?"

"Oh my God, Betty Mary!" It was almost a prayer, the way Sherry answered her, in low tone.

"Thank you, Sheridan. Again I am honored."

"Betty Mary, I—we—Hope and I—well listen, there's no use dodging about it. We're both just about crazy over you!"

Betty didn't reply to that for a long moment.

"Are you saying that you love me, Sherry?" she finally murmured. Then it was Sherry's turn to hesitate.

"I can't take unfair advantage. Not here. If Hope were here, we—I can't say anything more yet. When we get you safely back home, then Hope and I—"

"Sheridan Starr, you are an extraordinary gentleman!"

"Thanks, but—"

"You do not know that Hope proposed to me, made love to me, after the little episode in Sar Felipe Canyon?"

"No!"

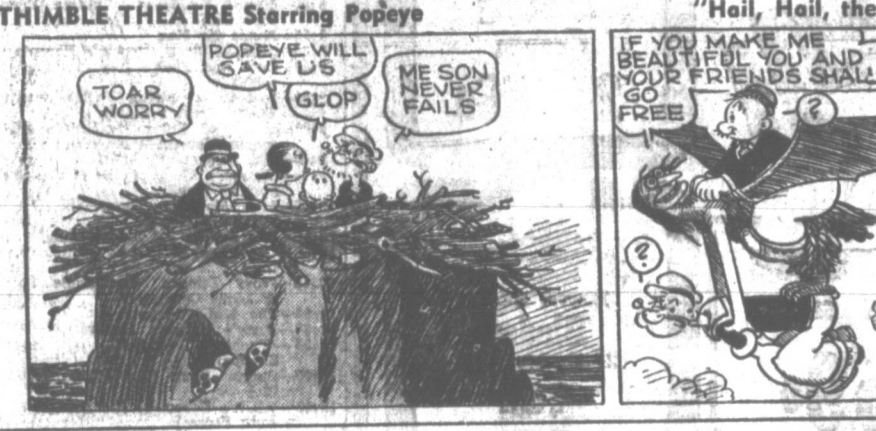

"Yes. He—he didn't mince matters. But he was very earnest, Sherry."

"Hope is—Hope's a square guy! We're friends!"

"To be sure! He is one of the finest, most lovable characters I have ever known!" declared Betty Mary.

Sherry picked up his axe. He had to maintain his act as a woodcutter until after dark at least.

But, thought he, what's did she mean by that last statement? (To Be Continued)

Archeologists Digging Up Secrets Of Aborigines Of Texas Woodlands

By RAY NEUMANN Associated Press Staff

On the Red river near Texarkana, University of Texas archeologists literally are digging out secrets of home life among aborigines who dwelt in the Texas woodlands possibly centuries ago.

The excavation, carried on with WPA labor, is one of four, costing altogether $181,000, which the university has undertaken. Other projects are located near Victoria and Graham and another will be launched in Central Texas.

The Red river "domiciliary mound," 190 feet long, 145 feet wide and 30 feet high, has yielded considerable valuable information.

The diggers have found that the mound was used by generations of Indians—Caddo or possibly prehistoric tribes.

This is evident from the types of pottery and other artifacts imbedded in successively lower levels. Each level—seven distinct "floors" have been found—reveals cruder and less finished arrowheads and implements.

In contrast to the burial mound of Kitchen Midden mound prevalent in Central Texas, the Texarkana "dig" is akin to those found along the Mississippi.

A. T. Jackson, university field archeologist in charge of the program, says excavations have not progressed far enough for experts to determine the probable age of the mound or the various strata.

He said the mound was approximately one-fourth explored.

The excavations reveal the aborigines piled up dirt and clay to facilitate drainage of the home site, indicating a rudimentary knowledge of sanitary engineering.

As one house, built of oak, juniper or cedar posts and thatched with reeds, grass or willows, burned for unknown reasons, the Indians would pile up another level of dirt a foot high before constructing a new home.

The mound contains house sites at either end and the in-between area, archeologists believe, was used, among other things, as a place to erect an irregular shaped structure on which, possibly, skins were dried.

In digging through the floor levels, the field crew found each had its own pattern of post holes—about one foot deep and each about six inches in diameter—outlining the shape of the houses built on that level.

Jackson said an extensive Indian village has been located adjacent to the mound and seven other smaller mounds were found in a radius of three miles.

In an Indian cemetery nearby have been found 15 skeletons but only one has been found in the mound.

About a mile were located 45 Indian graves.

The Texarkana mound was discovered many years ago, but no digging had been done except by occasional school boy parties until the University-WPA excavations were started last fall.

Some five or six years ago the university received permission to excavate, but lack of funds halted the program.

Excavations are going forward with a field crew of 60 men under the direction of W. C. Beatty Jr., archeologist of the project, and Glenn Martin, assistant project supervisor.

While the work of determining who the inhabitants of this area were in the dim past is going on in one direction, the university has joined hands with Louisiana State University in another undertaking attempting to relate what happened after Europeans brought civilization to this country.

The joint effort—America's first extensive history devoted entirely to the South—will mark the University of Texas' first major venture into the historical publishing field.

Donald Coney, university librarian and secretary of the board of trustees of the Littlefield fund for southern history, says the history is planned as a 10-volume series, covering the period from 1607 to 1940.

Editors of the work will be Dr. Charles W. Ramsdell and Wendell H. Stephenson, LSU professors, and each of the volumes will be written by one of America's best known historians.

Manuscript contracts, already signed, call for "immediate work" and first volumes are expected within two years.

The series is to be financed by the Littlefield fund, from which $125,000 can be taken, and by Louisiana state funds.

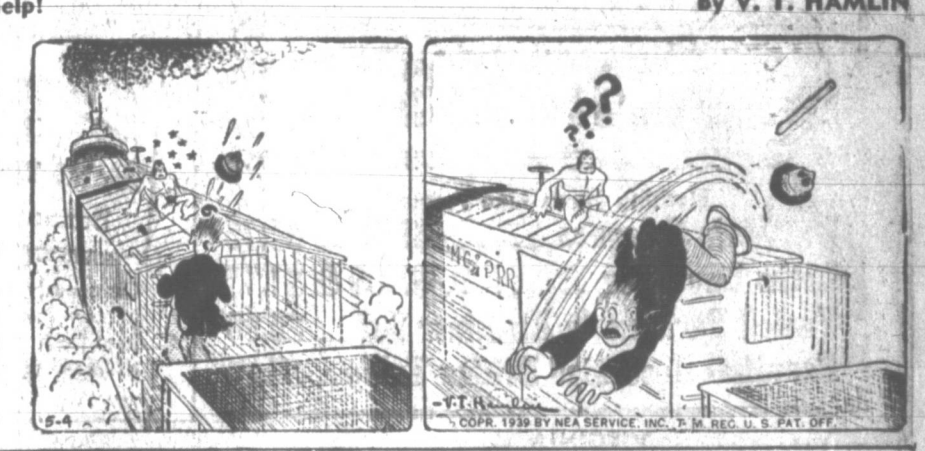

"The series will furnish the only complete and authoritative picture of southern history in existence," Dr. Ramsdell, who will prepare one of the volumes said, "I believe it will be one of the most important historical works ever compiled in America."

WTSC To Start Conservation Course June 7

Special To The NEWS

Admission will be free to the public, school groups, civic clubs, industrial groups, Scout organizations, business men, and many other groups are expected to attend at least a part of the lectures. Students eligible for credit may earn three semester hours by paying the regular fees.

Lectures will be held from 2 to 3:30 p. m. daily in the auditorium of the education building. The opening lectures will be from the State Health Department. Those will be followed by speakers from the extension service, State Game, Fish, and Oyster commission, Soil Conservation Service, State Board of Water Engineers, Railroad commission, state and national forest services, U. S. Department of Interior, and the college.

Lantern slides, motion pictures, and other visual aids will be used by the speakers. The list of speakers and lecture subjects may be obtained from Dean R. F. Jarrett, who is in charge of the conservation course.

FDR Will Not Answer Hitler

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Administration recommendations for a new "cash and carry" neutrality law will constitute President Roosevelt's only reply to Adolf Hitler's reichstag speech, authoritative quarters said today.

After some discussion among federal officials, it was learned, the President gave up the idea of making a "fireside chat" or issuing a statement in rebuttal.

Secretary Hull, however, is preparing an outline of administration views on American neutrality to be made before the senate foreign relations committee Monday or Tuesday. It is the result of a long meeting between Hull and his principal advisers at the state department Monday evening.

Reliable sources said Hull would support the basis of the Pittman neutrality bill, which would extend the "cash and carry" principle so as to cover sale of arms and munitions to warring nations.

This would be in the nature of a reply to Hitler, officials explained, because it would make American arms available to Great Britain and France, who presumably would control the seas in a European war and who would have the necessary cash to pay for supplies. At present arms shipments are automatically forbidden the moment the President invokes the neutrality law.

The "cash and carry" provision,

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized the Kansas City Southern Railway company today to acquire control of the Louisiana & Arkansas Railway company.

Under the unification plan, the Kansas City Southern will exchange its stock for stock of the Louisiana & Arkansas.

In support of its proposal to acquire control of the Louisiana & Arkansas, the Kansas City Southern said it would aid in the internal development of the southwest, result in improvement in service, promote efficiency and economy in operation, tend to preserve and promote competition and enable the unified system to compete with other systems on more nearly equal terms.
