Huey Long's Brother To Become Governor

Russia Coldly Receives New Pact Proposals

MOSCOW, June 22 (AP)—The Soviet Russian government again has received coldly security pact proposals painstakingly formulated by London and Paris.

A Soviet communique issued after British Ambassador William Seeds, French Ambassador Paul Emile Naggiar and William Strang, special British envoy, visited Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov in Moscow observed that the newest British-French proposals not only fell short of the mark but were not even new.

The impression grew Strang's mission to Moscow had failed. This, however, was not necessarily taken to mean the long-standing negotiations to bring Russia into the French-British front had collapsed entirely.

The latest British-French proposals sought to meet by compromise Soviet insistence the Baltic states of inland, Estonia and Latvia be given direct, triple guarantees of assistance against attack whether they want them or not.

Kelly Field Cadet Killed Today In Crash

SAN ANTONIO, June 22 (AP)—Flying Cadet Loran R. Fairfield, 23 South Portland, Me., student pilot at Kelly Field, today was fatally injured in an accident during a training flight in the vicinity of Helotes, near here.

He and Cadet Robert W. Evans, another student pilot, were flying in a formation led by Lieut. W. W. Aking, instructor, on an acrobatic and accuracy mission.

Worley Says Leo Will Call Session If He Would Tax Special Interests

Representative Eugene Worley of Shamrock, a member of the Texas House of Representatives from this district, in Austin today expressed resentment at the final O'Daniel blast against enemies of the governor's tax plan. Worley had supported the plan.

An Associated Press dispatch quoted Worley as saying that the governor should accord the right to every member of the Legislature to vote his honest convictions. Worley said also that if O'Daniel wanted to tax the special interests "he should call a special session because otherwise they are certain to escape additional taxation for two more years."

The successful battle waged by House enemies of the governor's measure meant no taxation constitutional amendment can be sub-

BATON ROUGE, La., June 22 (AP)—An unheralded attack in governors that will elevate Lieutenant Governor Earl K. Long, brother of the late "Kingfish" Huey P. Long, put the state in a political whirl today.

Governor Richard W. Leche announced last night he would resign next week, with nearly 11 months of his term unexpired. As lieutenant governor, Long will succeed automatically.

Although Leche gave ill health—two severe arthritis attacks—as his immediate reason, observers noted the announcement followed days of almost continuous conferences paralleling a federal investigation of WPA activities in the state.

The fiery, quick-tempered, 43-year-old lieutenant governor, whose career has included staunch and bitter denunciation of the late Senator Long, immediately rushed to New Orleans for political conferences. He issued a statement he would carry on "the fine work done in the past ten years under my brother, Gov. O. K. Allen and Richard W. Leche."

The unexpected developments threw several ambitious former lieutenants of Huey Long and supporters of his still-intact political machine into dismay since they were preparing to run for governor next January. As incumbent, Long would hold distinct advantage.

Two already have announced, one as an outright foe of the administration, and the other as a candidate with or without machine support. The latter, State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell, came out openly two hours before Leche acted.

Leche calls hearing began gathering two weeks ago following publication by the New Orleans States of a story that a Louisiana State university truck, loaded with window shades made at the university, had brought them to a house being built by a close friend of Governor Leche.

Leche promptly called an open hearing in Baton Rouge. The hearing later was indefinitely postponed pending investigation of "other matters." Soon afterward the Shreveport Journal printed a syndicated article from Washington, in which Leche's name again was mentioned until 1941. Statutory tax proposals would be the only ones subject to consideration at a special session.

The session ended on a bitter note as an aftermath of the final communication received by the House from the governor.

"To the small minority of members who failed to settle the matter (social security financing) according to their own personal ideas," O'Daniel said, "and then voted refusal to permit the sovereign voters of this great democracy of Texas to decide this question, I can only refer you to the people of Texas for whatever expressions they may care to make."

The communication was handed to the committee appointed to

Postmortem Legislative Groanings

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—Postmortem paragraphs on the forty-sixth legislature: The session, longest on record, ended on the longest day of the year.

It cost $850,000 or $200,000 more than the previous general session.

Farmer-Member George Moffett of Chillicothe, one of the few non-lawyers in the senate, authored the only constitutional amendment a change in legal procedure, one which would permit direct appeal to the Supreme Court in cases involving only constitutionality of the law.

Appropriations authorized totaled $77,123,508. The deficit in the general fund from which most appropriations are drawn is more than $17,000,000.

Senate members introduced 495 bills of which 205 became law. Representatives dumped 1,146 in the hopper and approximately 400 will become law after completion of clerical formalities.

Clay Cotten of Palestine, a senate vetran, made one of the last speeches of the session—against a regulatory measure.

Consistent opponent of such proposals, he concluded with this remark: "I suppose at the next session we'll regulate the time we go to bed and get up and the kinds of cigars and coffee we can use."

Senator Stone's election as president pro tempore was unanimous, leading Lieut. Gov. Stevenson to remark: "He evidently is a splendid machine politician."

Speaker of the House R. Emmett Moore chose five of the leading opponents of the sales-natural resources tax constitutional amendment for a committee to notify the governor the house had completed its work and was prepared to adjourn. They were Joe Keith of Sherman, G. C. Orris of Greenville, S. J. Isaacs of El Paso, Albert Derden of Marlin and Matt Davis of Gilmer.

Lord Halifax pledged the government would make "every effort to protect their interests and terminate the present crisis as soon as possible."

FDR Urges Giant Sum To Revive Business

American And British Ships Standing Pat

SHANGHAI, June 22 (AP)—Two American and two British destroyers stood by in Swatow harbor late today despite a Japanese order or suggestion that foreign warships and nationals withdraw from that newly-captured South China port.

Foreign naval forces were doubled during the day and except for departure of 29 British women and children the American and British communities stood pat.

Japanese and Occidental accounts differed as to nature of the Japanese communication. British navy quarters said foreign ships had been "ordered" to leave Swatow harbor by 1 p. m. (11 p. m. Wednesday, CST).

A Japanese naval spokesman in Shanghai said only "the usual warning" had been given foreigners to leave a zone of possible hostilities.

Reliable informants agreed Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, and British naval authorities had rejected the Japanese communication, whatever its exact nature. Yarnell on his flagship, the cruiser Augusta, was at Chinwangtao, North China.

The United States destroyer, Pillsbury, which remained during yesterday's Japanese occupation to protect 40 Americans at Swatow, still was in the inner harbor and was joined today by the destroyer, Pope.

The British destroyer, Scout, also arrived and anchored in the outer harbor, supporting another British destroyer, the Thanet, which shared yesterday's watch with the Pillsbury.

The Pope brought Captain John T. G. Stapler, commander of the U. S. navy's South China patrol, who had been watching the situation at another Japanese-Occidental friction point, Amoy, where the Japanese navy is blockading the International Settlement of Kulanzai.

The Japanese spokesman denied any time limit had been attached to the Swatow "warning" which was distributed yesterday to foreign consulates here. However, foreign officials said, it was not received until two hours after the Japanese had announced complete occupation of Swatow and cessation of hostilities there.

British Marines Halt Ransacking Of Jap Soldiers

TIENTSIN, June 22 (AP)—Sudden appearance of British bluejackets today halted Japanese examination of cargo being discharged by British lighters while blockaded British further were heartened by a message of sympathy and hope from the London government and the ending of the milk shortage.

These developments occurred on the fifth day of the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions.

A Japanese military patrol withdrew at the sight of the bluejackets after the soldiers had begun inspecting the cargo being discharged at the British bund.

The message, from Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax to Consul-General E. G. Jamieson, expressed the government's sympathy to the blockaded British "for the difficulties and indignities they are being made to suffer."

Lord Halifax pledged the government would make "every effort to protect their interests and terminate the present crisis as soon as possible."

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt proposed to Congress today a $3,860,000,000 program for stimulating business through self-liquidating projects and low cost housing developments.

The President estimated at least $70,000,000 would be disbursed in federal loans during the year starting July 1. The remainder of the program, split into six types of self-liquidating projects, would continue for from two to seven years.

The President said in the long run the program would not cost taxpayers a cent so far as self-liquidating projects were concerned.

He outlined his proposals in a letter to Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) of the Senate unemployment committee, and sent copies to other Senate and House leaders.

Mr. Roosevelt explained there would be a limit on the self-liquidating projects of $3,000,000,000 over the two to seven years period which their construction would embrace and that as money came in from loans it would be put out again as needed to stimulate business and employment.

Another $800,000,000 would be added to the borrowing capacity of the United States Housing Authority, under the President's plan.

Mr. Roosevelt said he could not state how much of this would be used in the next fiscal year but that the money would be applied to providing low cost homes for persons with incomes in the $1,250 to $2,000 class. These are not covered by either the present slum clearance program or the FHA operations.

Water In Lake 8 Feet From Top Of Big 65-Foot Dam

The long-awaited big push of spring flood waters down McClellan creek came with unexpected fury last night in the wake of a four-inch rain, washed out three McClellan creek bridges and almost filled Lake McClellan.

Although the News was unable to complete telephone communications today with Lake McClellan, the lake watchman early this morning told Mrs. H. E. Guill, News correspondent at Alanreed, that the lake lacked eight feet of being full at the dam, and that dam officials expected it to be full by night.

She quoted the watchman as saying dam officials believed that flood waters would continue to pour into the huge basin all day.

When full the lake is expected to cover 700 acres. A rain totaling between three and four inches in the vicinity of Jericho shortly after 2 o'clock this morning poured around 20 more feet of water into the new lake. Tuesday night's rain raised the level at the dam proper from a depth of 17 to 24 feet.

Commissioner Tom Kirby reported this morning when he came into Pampa that the south end of the McClellan creek bridge on the Pampa-McClellan road eight miles north of McClellan had been washed away. Mrs. Guill and Mrs. L. L. Palmer who lives on McClellan creek below the dam reported that the bridge across the creek at Beaver Dam had also gone out. It was also reported that the bridge across South McClellan creek had washed out.

Definite News Lacking. Telephone connections between Pampa and the Soil Conservation Service offices at the lake were apparently broken today and a definite statement on the condition of the lake could not be obtained up to an early hour this afternoon.

Electrocution became the legal method of execution in New York state in 1889.

Lake Superior is the deepest of the Great Lakes, its maximum depth being 1,908 feet.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By ALICIA HART An unbalanced, too heavy diet often is the cause of that let-down, worn-out feeling any woman is likely to have after a few weeks of humid, hot summer weather. If you haven't had much energy lately, it might be an excellent idea to change your eating habits, substituting light, more refreshing foods for heavy ones.

Crisp, green salads are wonderful on hot days, of course. But, no matter how much you may like cold foods, resolve that you will have one hot thing for every meal. It may be a bowl of consommé or a beverage or one vegetable. Whatever it is, health experts agree that it is very important.

If you have been gaining weight or if you think that you'd feel as well as look neat, cooler, trimmer if you lost a few pounds, you might decide to go on a liquid diet for twenty-four hours, then simply cut down on everything for several weeks until you are more slender.

EAT LIGHTLY AT BREAKFAST Unless your doctor advises otherwise, drink fruit juices, clear soups and vegetable juices for one solid day. From then on, have only fruit, a hot beverage, and one thin slice of lightly-battered toast for breakfast each day. Luncheon may consist of clear soup, a huge green salad, two or three small slices of meat, the soust, fruit for dessert and a beverage.

If you eat lightly at breakfast and lunch, there's no reason why you cannot have one portion of everything on the dinner menu. No second helpings, however—and no dessert until you have eaten your salad, like a good little girl.

It's a mistake, of course, to go on any fast or starvation diet. The best way to lose a few pounds is simply to eat tiny portions of foods which you know to be fattening.

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES Opal Isn't Hopeful By EDGAR MARTIN

O'Daniel On Spot Any Way You Take It

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—The longest legislative session on record was history today but in its wake new storms were brewing.

They probably will break within the next few months regardless of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's action. If he calls a special session, there will be much wrangling on a means of extracting more money from the pockets of the taxpayers. If he stands firm in his decision not to do so, controversy will develop on whether he has done his part toward financing the big old age pensions he promised last summer.

Lawmakers reached the end of the 183-day regular session last night with slightly more than the required one-third of the house membership holding out against the constitutional sales tax urged by the governor.

O'Daniel and the senate state affairs committee successfully opposed the statutory tax measures passed overwhelmingly by the house.

Taxation for larger pensions, inauguration of other social security programs and assistance to the depleted general fund was the principal issue throughout the session. O'Daniel contended the two house bills, neither of which embodied a general sales levy, would not get the job done. Foes of his program argued the house omnibus tax bill would provide almost as much revenue for social security as the constitutional amendment and the general fund overdraft did not require immediate attention.

Liberalization Bill.
The legislature passed and the governor signed a pension liberalization bill, which already is in effect. The extent of which the new law will enlarge the rolls, however, is not yet known. The question of whether the federal government will continue pension participation under the new law also is an unanswered question.

Desperate efforts to bring about submission to the people of a sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment in line with O'Daniel's views continued until the session's closing hours. An attempt even was made to revive house joint resolution 16, which had been killed months ago by a majority vote.

The last direct vote on senate joint resolution 12, the measure which the governor had endorsed specifically, showed 93 ayes and 56 noes whereas a two-thirds majority was needed. The largest vote proponents of the sales-natural resource tax plan were able to muster in nine house trials was 95. Speaker R. Emmett Morse would have voted with them to make the required 100 if they had ever soared to 99.

Ickes Advocates

Public Works Fund

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—New lending-aiding program embracing increased federal credit and $500,000,000 for public works were taking shape today in administration quarters and on Capitol Hill.

Secretary Ickes advocated the public works fund yesterday as an amendment to the relief bill. President Roosevelt's views on it were not disclosed, but officials said he might announce before leaving Hyde Park tomorrow a new plan for easing the flow of credit to business.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the democratic leader, believed the proposal would provide new uses of revolving funds of existing lending agencies and that it might be added to the relief bill.

Some administration fiscal advisers have proposed a lowering of interest rates, particularly on housing loans; removal of other limitations on various lending agencies, grants for self-liquidating projects, and creation of a federal corporation to building and lease equipment to railroads.

Opposition to liberalizing existing federal credit to stimulate business and industry has come not only from bankers, but some RPC officials who have expressed doubt of its need.

Panhandle Lions Hold Barbecue At 6666 Ranch

Special To The NEWS
PANHANDLE, June 22.—Panhandle Lions, ladies, and guests were served 60 barbecued chickens at the annual barbecue held Tuesday at the 6666 ranch.

Rain caused the barbecue to be held indoors in the ranch kitchen. Cooks were Ross Glikerson, W. L. Boyles, Lloyd Waldron, R. M. Best, George Graves, 6666 ranch manager, Jack Adkins, Jack Griffith, Zane Smith, and Ralph Hastings.

Attendance at the barbecue was 65, including out-of-town visitors: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Preen, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Vaughn of Phillips, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bradshaw of Borger.

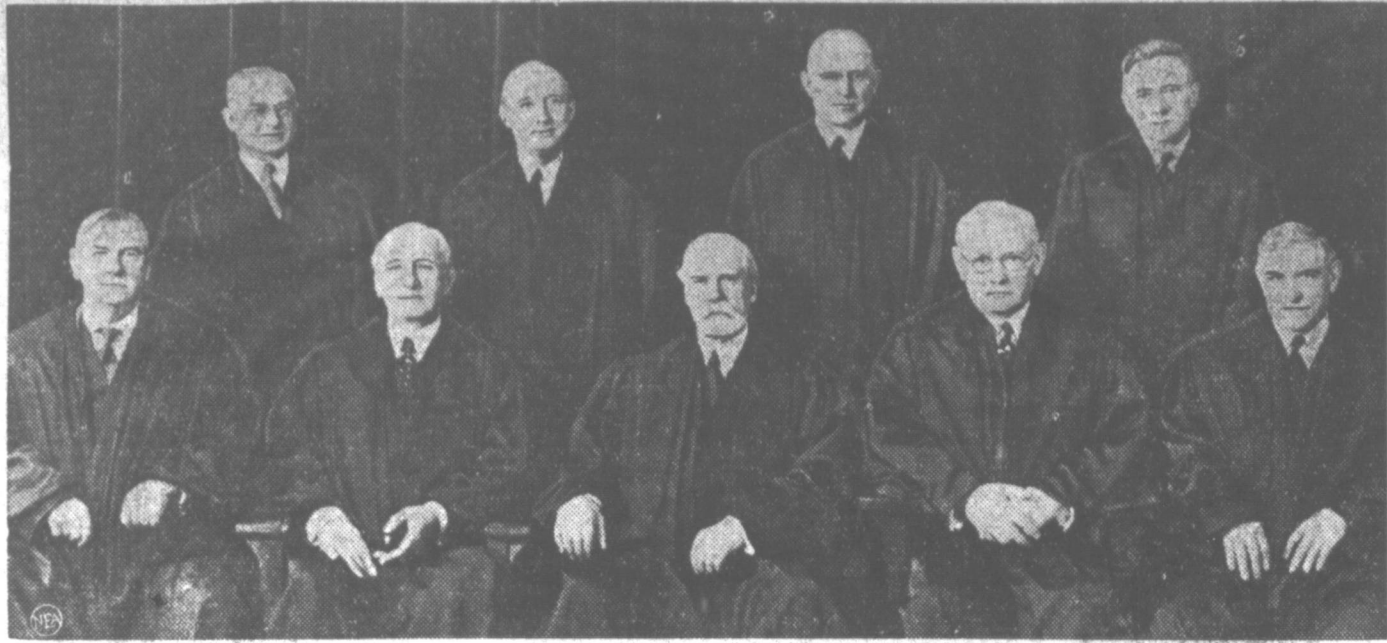

Rain Again Delays Cutting Of Wheat
A 29-inch rainfall in the Pampa area last night, following the 15-inch shower of the preceding day, halted the flow of wheat to Pampa elevators today.

One local grain man said he didn't expect farmers to start cutting wheat again until Saturday, at the earliest.

The local price at noon was 60 cents, but was expected to be somewhat lower at the market closing today.

SHASTA DAM WORLD'S SECOND LARGEST

By JOHN RICE
NEA Special Correspondent
SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Shasta dam, second largest in the world, will hold back enough water to flood the entire city of Chicago to a depth of 35 feet.

But that is not the purpose of the tremendous barrier being erected in northern California. When completed, in five years, the project will solve five great problems. It will:

- 1—Provide a vast new supply of power for irrigation and industry.
- 2—Decrease Sacramento river floods which annually inundate rich valley farmlands.
- 3—Furnish unlimited fresh water to regions where the original supply either is exhausted or rapidly decreasing.
- 4—Regulate flow of the Sacramento river, thus preventing salt water from seeping into fertile delta regions.
- 5—Stabilize and facilitate navigation on the Sacramento river which already ranks sixth in America in volume of traffic.

Highest Waterfall
The cost of the mighty structure is estimated at $170,000,000. The sum of $35,939,450 has been allotted to Pacific Constructors, Inc., a 12-company syndicate which underbid competitors. Another $65,000,000 will purchase materials, clear the reservoir site, re-route telegraph wires and main line railroad tracks, and install hydro-electric generators. The rest of the money will be spent on the smaller Friant dam, on far flung canals and irrigation pumping systems.

Enormous as this sum sounds, the Bureau of Reclamation of the United States Department of Interior which is building the dam, estimates the entire investment will be returned in less than 40 years by water sales alone.

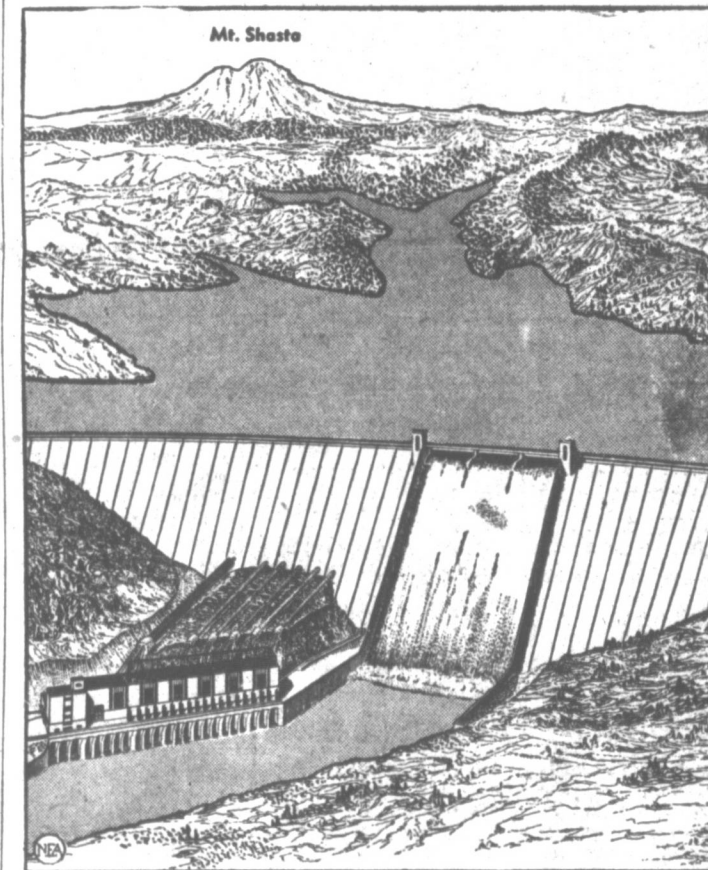

When completed Shasta dam will be 560 feet high, 3,500 feet long and will contain 5,600,000 cubic yards of concrete. Though not as high as Boulder dam nor as long as Grand Coulee dam, Shasta will be the greatest overflow-type dam ever built, and will control the water supply of an area large as England.

Water roaring over its spillway will form the highest man-made waterfall in the world as it tumbles a sheer 490 feet to triple Niagara's mighty fall, and to develop 615,000 horsepower from huge generators.

This enormous power output—about a billion and a half kilowatt hours annually—will be transmitted 200 miles to Antioch, Calif., the power load center. The greater part will be used for pumping water through both Sacramento and San Joaquin valley irrigation systems, while the surplus will be sold in central and northern California.

Flood Control
Second function of the dam is to control annual floods. Chief cause of these floods is melted snow from the slopes of the Sierra mountains swelling the Pitt, McCloud and Sacramento rivers. Shasta dam will lie just below the confluence rivers, nine miles north of Redding, Calif.

When spring sun melts the snow, waters of the Shasta reservoir will back up 35 miles in rugged Sacramento canyon. Enough winter flood waters will thus be stored to insure a steady flow in the Sacramento river during the dry season, and irrigate lands where original water supplies are no longer adequate.

Artist's conception of Shasta Dam and power plant when completed.

FOREIGN CONCESSIONS IN CHINA ARE TRADE VALVES

By NEA Service
The struggle for the foreign "concessions" in China is a struggle for the valves through which flow in normal times the bulk of Chinese trade with the outside world.

The beginnings of the foreign concession system go back almost 100 years. China was then, and has continued, turbulent in its interior administration. After the Opium War of 1842, the British hit on a plan for protecting their trade and traders.

By treaty with China, Britain established in Shanghai a part of the city which should be practically British. Here British merchants, exporters, bankers, manufacturers, importers, shippers were to live, protected by British guns and soldiers from hostility of the Chinese people of the rest of the city. Here they administered their own justice, carried on public and health services, forming a little "British island" in the sea of the Chinese population of teeming Shanghai. The French secured a similar concession a few years later.

CHINA SOUGHT TO RECOVER
In 1861, the British, French, Italians, and Japanese were similarly entrenched at Tientsin, soon the French were at Hankow, and the Japanese followed. German, Russian, Austrian and Belgian concessions bloomed among the rest in the "treaty ports."

Agitation was continued in China to regain these concessions, which were a continual reproach to Chinese sovereignty. But the World War offered a big chance. The German, Austrian and Russian concessions dropped back into Chinese hands. The Belgians moved out in 1928.

U. S. HAS NO CONCESSION

The United States never has had a concession in China. It has shared the administration of several of them in cities where there was a large amount of American business, like Shanghai and Amoy. Americans doing business in China, however, usually live in and accept the protection of one or another of the foreign concessions. Garrisons of American troops have been stationed in Shanghai, Tientsin and Peiping, along side British, French, Italian and Japanese forces to help guard their nationals.

The United States, however, has always taken the position that so far as her own rights were concerned in the concessions where she is represented (Shanghai and Amoy), she would always listen to reasonable and orderly proposals to change the status.

The theory behind all the foreign concessions, usually held under treaty and lease, has been that they were simply being administered as an expedient until a Chinese government should arise which could guarantee the safety and rights of the foreign colonies.

Now the Japanese appear to be engaged in a desperate effort to abolish all these foreign concessions in China. If this were done, and the concessions turned over to China, it would be at least open to argument. But the present prospect is that the concessions will either all simply become Japanese, or they will be turned over to a Chinese government (if the Japanese win) which would be like that of Manchoukuo, simply a stooge for Japan.

Then, with the power to control the valves, Japan could shut any country off from Chinese trade at will. The Japanese argument is that the foreign settlements are being used as bases for shipment of war supplies to China for centers of agitation and plotting against the Japanese occupation, safe from preventive police action.

Flood Crests Sweep Down Texas Rivers

(By The Associated Press)
Flood crests fed by drought-breaking West Texas rains moved down two major rivers today, menacing additional bottom land farms and bridges.
A 12 to 14-foot rise swept down the Red river below where the Pease and North Fork rivers emptied their overflow into the larger stream. Some farms were overflowed in Tillman county, Okla., and Wilbarger county Texas. Livestock was moved to higher ground and a temporary bridge over Red river at Davidson, Okla., was destroyed. Tool houses and material assembled for construction of a new free bridge were swept away.

A crew was dispatched by the M-K-T railroad to Burk Burnett to attempt to save its bridge there and a Fort Worth and Denver railway crew watched its branch line bridge near Waurika, Okla.

Southbound trains were held up north of the river last night when the Frisco bridge north of Vernon was considered in danger.

The mighty Colorado river carried its heavy load toward Central Texas after sweeping away bridges and isolating Colorado City with an overflow that drove 200 persons from their homes.

Colorado City went about the business of reconstruction with the river and a tributary back within their banks and relief officials assisted those whose homes were washed away or damaged.

The Colorado stood at 22 feet at Robert Lee late last night, the highest recorded there since 1922. Traffic to Robert Lee from San Angelo was blocked by water.

Relief agencies aided residents of a 26-mile twister-torn area in Lubbock and Hockley counties in repairing damages. H. W. Jackson of Opatka community was the only fatality of Tuesday's storm.

Missions Beat Cals In Ninth

(By The Associated Press)
Johnny Lucadello's perfect record at the plate last night helped the Texas league-leading San Antonio Missions to a 5-4 victory over the Port Worth Cals.

Lucadello's fourth single, in the ninth inning, scored Joe Bilgere to break a tie.

The Dallas Rebels took undisputed possession of second place when Jelly Sorfelle, strapping right-hander, held the Beaumont Exporters to six hits and a 6-2 win.

Houston's Buffs fell from a second-place tie with Dallas into third position when the Oklahoma City Indians hit a dozen safeties for a 6-2 win. Bill Prince hurled steadily for the Indians and recorded his tenth victory of the season.

Lou Stefan's relief pitching and a sixth-inning home run by Stan Schino enabled the Tulsa Oilers to defeat the Shreveport Sports, 6-5.

Law Does Not Stop Sale Of Firecrackers

The city ordinance regulating the use of fireworks does not forbid their use entirely within the city and does not, by any means, prohibit their sale. City Attorney Walter E. Rogers explained in answer to questions asked him today concerning the law.

Under the ordinance, citizens of Pampa are forbidden to ignite firecrackers on any public street or alley or within 100 feet of any business or public building, but this does not mean that person cannot shoot firecrackers in his own backyard if he desires, and the property is outside the specified zone.

Any ordinance forbidding the sale of firecrackers would be contrary to the Constitution and would, of course, be null and void, the city attorney said.

A copy of the local ordinance reads:

ORDINANCE NO. 13 THE USE OF FIRECRACKERS OR TORPEDOS AND OTHER FIREWORKS WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF THE TOWN OF PAMPA.

SECTION I: It shall be unlawful for any person to fire, discharge or explode any firecrackers, Roman candles, torpedos or other fireworks of any kind whatsoever, either for display or for producing noise, on any street or alley, or within one hundred feet of any business house or public building within the corporate limits of the town of Pampa.

SECTION II: Any person who shall violate section one of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than one and not more than ten dollars.

This ordinance shall be in effect from and after its publication, according to law.

Passed and approved this 1st day of December, 1938.

Forker was present at the hearing but did not make any statement. "Talk to my lawyer," he said.

The altercation Monday night was witnessed by several hundred fans at the wrestling arena just before Belcastro entered the ring for his match with Dale Haddock.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The stock market responded rather heartily today to a fair batch of "good" news items which tended to offset renewed tension over far eastern affairs.

A slow decline in the foreign part leders down fractions to around a point.

A mild comeback got under way near the final hour when the hourrooms learned of the President's long-range lending program involving $5,000,000,000 under various classifications of self-liquidating non-federal projects.

Brokers gave as the reason for the lack of any real walking steam the fact reports of administration lending-pledging plan as a means of cutting unemployment have been somewhat out of Washington for several weeks and may have been discounted to some extent.

Postponement of the Senate silver bill filibuster, in favor of quick consideration of the tax revision bill, was a bolstering influence. Business news was on the optimistic side, if anything.

Around the scattered firm stocks were Spitzer Mfg. and L. & W. both of which hit new 1939 highs.

Railway equipments, expected to benefit from the government's lending scheme, did better. These included Pullman, American Car & Foundry and American Steel Foundries.

Aircraft such as Douglas, United and Glenn Martin moved up at the close when the House had restored a $87,000,000 cut in a supplemental war department appropriation for fiscal 1940.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Wheat futures advanced another cent a bushel today to the lowest level in two months.

Feasible for next lower for the season at Liverpool and Winnipeg, movement of new crop wheat to terminals in the south-western in corn and rice prices and prospects of better harvest weather were factors that encouraged continuation of the selling that has caused a sharp wheat market break of the last few weeks.

Wheat closed 1/4 lower than yesterday, July 68 1/2, September 69 1/2; corn 1/4 down, July 47 1/2, September 48 1/2; oats 1/2 down.

Sulfanilamide Preventive Of Blindness

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor

MILWAUKEE, June 22.—A milestone in preventing blindness, by giving sulfanilamide to newborn babies, was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today.

This new drug, given in milk, is a like magic in clearing eyes of all signs of gonorrheal inflammation, the "ophthalmia neonatorum" which has been the largest cause of blindness.

Within two or three days after the sulfanilamide, the babies eyes are to all appearances well, and on the face of the records in a short time since this new remedy became available, the cures are complete.

This new treatment has been tried, it was stated, in all parts of the country, with good reports everywhere. The sulfanilamide, product of the synthetic dye industry, promises the final chapter in a medical battle to save babies' eyes which began with the start of this century.

Thirty per cent of the blind children then in schools had lost their sight due to gonorrheal infections, spreading the final chapter in the writing into laws of state after state that all newborn be protected by drops in the eyes. These drops usually were silver nitrate.

With this protection the child blind from gonococcal infections dropped to 10 per cent or less.

That time in the last few hours of spreading gonorrhea carriers among the adults treated with sulfanilamide was given by Assistant Surgeon General R. A. Vonderlehr, of Washington.

"The newer chemotherapeutic remedies," he said, "are admitted by all to clear up the subjective symptoms and many of the objective signs. Of great public health importance, however, is the demonstration by workers in this field that the newer preparations are not to retard rather than hasten the disappearance of the gonococcus from the infected individual, producing a symptomless carrier."

mentioned, which resulted in prompt announcement by State WPA Administrator J. H. Crutcher that an investigation had been begun on orders from Washington.

Crutcher said at that time "If the evidence warrants, the charges will be prosecuted without delay in the United States courts." Paul Hansen, chief of the WPA investigating unit for the southern states, launched the inquiry yesterday.

Governor In Bed

Leche had been unavailable to newspapermen who vainly sought him all week. The announcement was his first public comment following the WPA administrator's action.

The 41-year-old governor, who took office in 1936 as a compromise selection when former ambitious Louis lieutenant threatened to quarrel among themselves over their candidacies, remained in his sickbed.

The incoming governor, two years younger than his brother now buried on the terraced lawn of the state capitol, lacks some of the colorful personality but none of Huey's spirit and vindictiveness.

He is noted as a rough-and-tumble fighter, with more gifts for the direct attack and less ability in oratorical debate than Huey Long, against whom he once turned in a public denunciation. Memories of his tirade still stir "Kingfish" followers, who regarded Earl as a turncoat.

An ex-traveling salesman like Huey, Earl Long finished law school and held minor political jobs for several years after his brother became governor in 1928. Embittered at Huey's failure to support him for lieutenant governor in 1931 he ran on an opposition ticket, finished last.

Later the brothers were reconciled, and at the time Huey Long was killed in the capitol in September, 1935, Earl said he was "one of the leaders in the organization."

He sat in on the anxious parleys following the killing, emerged as candidate for lieutenant governor, and was easily elected.

notify the governor the House was ready for sine die adjournment.

While all of the legislators' work except the final typing and checking of bills was completed by mid-afternoon yesterday, the session did not end officially until 6:54 p. m. Only a few members stayed for wangling of gavel bringing the five-and-one-half month meeting to a close. Speaker Morse declared the House adjourned at 6:42 and Lt. Gov. Coke Stevenson adjourned the Senate at 6:54.

Rep. E. H. Thornton of Galveston, chief House sponsor of the sales-tax constitutional amendment, voiced opinion the Legislature eventually would provide some sort of a broad base tax such as a sales levy to support social security.

"The people are going to have to realize," he said, "that if they want services from their government they must pay for such services."

Boys In House Do Barbershop Song Around Piano At Last Day's Session

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—"Legislation brings me gladness, That words cannot imply; And my heart is filled with sadness, This is the reason why."

A little knot of men and women, boys and girls, is gathered about a piano in the big hall of the House of Representatives; a fine tenor voice is singing.

Members of the House loiter in their seats.

"I've loved them every one, And now the session is o'er And all is said and done, I'll never regret, I'll never forget The joys I have shared with you."

Another male voice joins the refrain, and at the conclusion, a storm of applause sweeps the huge chamber.

The leading singer is Rep. Henry Hull of Fort Worth—the boys call him "Salty"; his partner in the act that representatives are enjoying so much is Rep. L. E. Alsop of Carthage, who is blind.

"Lonnie" not only sings, the high tenor part, but also plays the piano—and does both well.

The House isn't satisfied with merely applauding, but wants to do more. So a motion is quickly made and adopted whereby the words of the song—Alsop's own composition—are to be printed in the House Journal.

Texas' House of Representatives doesn't often lay aside its serious duties, but there's one time it does. That time is the last few hours of the last day of a long general session.

The final day of the longest session in Texas legislative history was yesterday.

Someone shouts for Ernest Boyett, the House sergeant-at-arms, who specializes in persuading members to go to their seats when they are milling over the floor and order has to be restored.

Boyett appears.

"Speech! Speech!" are the cries. The sergeant-at-arms ambles over to the speaker's stand and takes a dramatic stance.

"Okeh," he says. "I'll give you the only speech I know: All those not entitled to privileges of the floor please retire."

It is his line made at the start of every session. He sends the floor wives, visitors and whatnot who are not entitled to be on the floor during House working periods.

The representatives know, however, Boyett has more than that routine in mind. He is going to give a speech.

"Give us Jim Ferguson's speech," Boyett grins, launches into a story of how he was in a Deep East Texas town one day and ran across James E. Ferguson campaigning. Then he "delivers" Ferguson's speech.

The members laugh and cheer.

Someone sends up a poem for old age pensions, a parody on "Beautiful Texas." It is read by the reading clerk.

A Representative rises to suggest to Rep. Leonard of Mexican acting speaker in the temporary absence of Morse, that a monument be erected to the memory of "S. J. R. 12," which was killed by the House as a final act before adjournment.

"Don't need a monument," cracked Leonard. "We'll just put down an 'X' to mark the spot!"

A committee sent to notify the Senate the House had completed its labors and was ready to adjourn since its return to the House to report. The committee included the only women members of the legislature, Reps. Margaret Harris Gordon of Waco and Beville H. Colson of Navasota.

Mrs. Gordon makes the formal report on her visit to the Senate and Acting Speaker Leonard listens respectfully. When she has finished, he speaks:

"Now let us hear from the other woman member of the committee," he says, rapping for order. "Two women never agree. Let's hear her story."

A messenger appears with a document which is handed to the reading clerk. The clerk solemnly bears it to the speaker's stand, where Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel.

"I hereby call a special session," the clerk reads. Some members rush to the rostrum to look at the document. Press correspondents also go up but not in a great rush; they have heard that one before.

One points out that the seal is that of the clerk of the House, not of the governor of Texas. There is a laugh all around.

BANQUET

41 association in Oklahoma will send a good delegation to Pampa.

Entertainment at the banquet will include orchestral music by Henrick's Rhythm Clowds and Ken Wilhelm, world's champion archer, who will be a feature of the Sportsman's show at Amarillo next week.

The banquet is scheduled for 7 p. m.

The honored guests will include Brady P. Gentry, Tyler, chairman of the State Highway commission, commission members Harry Hines, of Dallas, and Robert Lee Bobbitt, of San Antonio, and State Highway Engineer Julian Montgomery, of Austin.

Just Phone 284

Visitors also will include persons interested in highways along the Oilfield Highway route from Oklahoma City to Denver, and in the proposed North-South highway from Perryton through Pampa and Clarendon, and on to Del Rio, Texas.

County officials from three states, newspaper editors, and Chamber of Commerce officials are expected.

If you do not already have tickets for the banquet, phone 384, the Pampa BOD office, and make your reservations.

A delegation of Pampans also will go to Burger for the luncheon in honor of the highway commission at noon tomorrow.

Cox To Take Band

The local delegation will be headed by the Harvester-Reaper All-American band, directed by A. C. Cox. The band will leave by bus at 10 a. m. tomorrow from the red brick school building on the High school campus.

Mr. Cox today urged members of the band to report for rehearsal at the red brick school at 8 o'clock tonight.

The band will return from Burger at 4 p. m. tomorrow and then will play a concert at 6:30 p. m. in the school gymnasium immediately preceding the highway banquet.

Burger Chamber of Commerce officials have arranged a rousing reception and program for the highway commission visitors from the band to report for rehearsal at the red brick school at 8 o'clock tonight.

The new Pampa-Burger road, opened only four weeks ago, will be officially dedicated by members of the commission at a ceremony on highway immediately following the Burger luncheon.

Gramps of Projects

President Roosevelt directed his proposed self-liquidating projects into these six groups:

First, under the new Federal Works Agency, loans would be made for self-liquidating projects as water works, sewage disposal plants, bridges and hospitals.

The ceiling for this program, Mr. Roosevelt said, is $250,000,000 and the government would put out $150,000,000 in the first year—starting July 1. The program would last two years.

Second, under the Bureau of Public Roads would be construction projects for post roads, toll roads, bridges, high speed highways, and city by-passes—a four-year ceiling of $750,000,000 and an outlay of $150,000,000 in the 1940 fiscal year.

Third, railroad equipment projects. The President said he believed it would be better for the government to buy an authority to lease the equipment to the carriers, with the government retaining title to it. He proposed a $500,000,000 ceiling and the use of $100,000,000 in 1940.

Fourth, under the Agriculture Department, rural electrification would be expanded to reach at least 1,200,000 rural families, about 5,000,000 people, not now receiving electricity and not likely to in the near future. A seven years program with a $400,000,000 ceiling was suggested with an outlay of only $200,000,000 in 1940.

Fifth, under the Farm Security Administration, expansion of the purchase of farms for tenant farmers with a $500,000,000 limit and loans of $250,000,000 in 1940.

Sixth, foreign loans to promote American foreign trade were put down for $500,000,000 for two years with $200,000,000 going out in 1940.

Lions Receive Two New Members

Two new members were welcomed into the local Lions club at the club's regular weekly luncheon at noon today at the First Methodist church.

The new members are Frank V. Smith, former president of the Hutchinson, Kans. club, who has moved to Pampa to become manager of the Jones-Roberts Shoe store, and Joe Tolley, of the Harvester Drug store, a transfer from Panhandle.

Attendance at the luncheon today was 65, including J. E. Massa, Pampa Kiwanian, and W. Noel Evans of Amarillo, guests.

Texas Freight Scale Higher Says Witness

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—Comparison of intrastate first class freight rates in Texas with rates in neighboring states, purporting to show the Texas scale to be higher, was made before the state railroad commission today by Wallace Green, traffic manager for a Dallas manufacturing concern.

The testimony was offered by the Texas Industrial Traffic League in the rail board's investigation of intrastate class and differential rates, which has been in progress since Monday.

Green testified from an exhibit showing the Texas present scale, which the Arkansas and Missouri scales and the present scale in central freight association territory which is under attack by the league, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Freight Rate Equality Federation in the respect these groups are asking Texas rates be scaled down to CFA levels.

Green's summary showed the Texas rate for a 50-mile haul to be 62 cents per hundred pounds; the CFA rate 40 cents. At 100 miles the difference in CFA territory's favor was given at 17 cents and at 500 miles, 33 cents. On a 90-mile haul—the maximum distance across Texas and into differential territory—the Texas intrastate rate was shown at $1.43, the CFA rate at $1.44 cents.

Another Dallas traffic man, J. M. Cody, testified from an exhibit showing from 1937 a per capita income for Texans of $203 on sales of farm crops, livestock and minerals, against $180 average of 14 Southwestern States including Texas. But on sales of manufactured products the Texas per capita was $184 against $197 in the 14 states. Cody drew the conclusion "excessive transportation charges have been largely responsible for this difference, in denying or restricting out-of-state markets for Texas manufacturers, such as," he said, "in our own business."

Carriers Protest

Comed for the carriers, who are opposing a downward revision of rates, challenging Cody's qualifications to draw such a conclusion, and demanded it be stricken from the record or that the witness produce the sources of his research. Commissioner Len A. Smith, presiding, said he would allow the testimony to stand for the time being. He will give a written opinion later.

An originally predicted ten-day hearing may go two full weeks, it was indicated today. The Industrial Traffic League, which made its appearance in the case yesterday, has six or eight more witnesses. Its counsel said. Principal petitioner for downward rate adjustment is the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which has put on 17 witnesses and has eight more. To expedite dian, 20-inch; Shamrock, one inch, and Berger and Sonnet, each an inch and a half. A check by the Southwestern Bell Telephone company shortly before noon today showed that there was little rainfall north of Stinnett.

Traffic south of Shamrock was being detoured today by way of Jericho and Clarendon on account of damage to the temporary bridge on the Salt Lake Fork of Red River, 14 miles south of Shamrock on state highway No. 4.

The permanent bridge over Salt Fork at this point was washed out by the river just a few days over a year ago at the same time the Fort Worth & Denver bridge went out, killing three railway employees. The temporary bridge that has been in use pending the rebuilding of the permanent bridge was reported to have been moved several feet by water from head rises caused by Wednesday's rain in the basin of the upper part of the river. Approaches to the temporary bridge were washed out about 10:30 yesterday morning and maintenance officials estimated that traffic would have to be detoured for two or three days.

Harvey Dellis Of Panhandle Dies

Special To The News.

PANHANDLE, June 22.—Harvey Dellis, 40, operator of the Gulf Refining company filling station at the intersection of U. S. highway 60 and Texas highway 117 here, died at 8:30 o'clock this morning, after he had been struck in the face by a tire tool that slipped from his hands while changing a tire.

Dellis, according to County Judge J. C. Jackson, was not knocked unconscious

Be Alive On Fifth' Pampa People Urged

Police Chief J. I. Downs today called on Pampans to join citizens of other American towns and cities in the National Safety Council campaign to cut down the annual July accident toll.

"Be alive on the Fifth" is the slogan of the campaign, inspired by the increase in the accident toll as Americans celebrate Independence day. Ironically, a big part of the July death toll (8,720 killed in July 1938) comes from the celebration of the independence gained in the American Revolution.

The number of Americans killed in accidents in July last year was twice that of those who died in the American Revolution.

Nation-Wide Drive

The National Safety Council has enlisted the support of the governments of the 48 states, motor vehicle administrators, state highway patrol heads, and mayors and police chiefs of every city with more than 10,000 population for its July campaign.

Over the past five years, July's accident tolls have been 27 per cent higher than that of the average month. In July, 1938, 12 people were killed every hour in the United States.

"If history repeats itself," said the Council, "the Fourth of July this year will bring a national catastrophe to the United States. Thousands will be killed or injured. Children will be maimed for life."

Jamboree of Carelessness

"Why? Because each year America chooses Independence Day to stage a jamboree of carelessness. On the highways, in the homes, on the beach and picnic grounds men, women and children are killed off by the score, even as they celebrate."

Traffic crashes, drowning and fireworks are the chief instruments of death on this occasion.

"There is no rhyme or reason to this wholesale slaughter. It must be stopped."

Would Ban Crackers

The Council especially appealed to parents, educators and clergy to lead the campaign.

"We urge every pastor in the country to include in his next sermon an appeal for sanity and temperance in all activities relating to the Independence Day holiday and the summer vacation season," said the Council.

British General Visits Finland

Visit of Gen. Sir Walter Kirke, above, inspector general of British home forces, to Finland, is viewed as highly important in light of the general's known friendship for Finland and Finland's apprehension that western powers may support Soviet demands in the Baltic.

D. D. Fennell, president of the council.

"We urge parents to caution their children not to use fireworks or explosives in celebrating the Fourth of July.

"We urge public officials to arrange for public fireworks displays, manned by experienced workmen, to take the place of private use of fireworks.

"Especially, we ask every community and state which has not done so to pass laws prohibiting sale of fireworks.

"Let's not turn a happy holiday season into a period of wholesale tragedy. Let's be alive on the Fifth."

Royal Couple Land Today in England

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., June 22 (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth returned to British shores today from their glittering North American tour amid the cheers of thousands of proud subjects.

Their transatlantic liner, Empress of Britain, tied up at her pier at 2:30 p. m. (7:30 a. m. CST).

Beneath a drab and misty sky the king and queen gazed from the bridge of the Empress on a brilliant panorama of color beneath-waving flags and the pennants of smaller craft in the harbor and flower-bedecked welcoming arches.

Their two children, 13-year-old Princess Elizabeth and 8-year-old Margaret Rose, who had joined their parents at sea a few hours earlier, were on the bridge tugging with excitement at their father's arm.

Cheers and strains made a terrific din as the king and queen waved again and again.

Plans For Ladies Night To Be Made By City Rotarians

A Rotary club committee composed of Odus Mitchell, Charlie Burton, Walter Rogers and Hel Wagner, are to meet tonight to make plans for a ladies' night program to be given by the club at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night at the First Methodist church.

Attendance at the club's regular weekly luncheon yesterday at the First Methodist church was 40. The program included three violin solos by Margaret Ellen Burton, daughter of Roarian Charlie Burton, accompanied by Ernestine Holmes, pianist. Miss Holmes also played three accordion solos.

Mark Bratton, son of W. A. Bratton, made a talk on model airplanes. A model airplane contest is to be held in Pampa on July 21 and 22, in connection with the Pampa Lions-Pampa News Soap Box Derby.

New Changes In Labor Act Appear Likely

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Revision of labor board regulations failed today to satisfy some critics of the Wagner act, and as a result further changes appeared imminent.

The board's decision to permit employers, like unions, to ask for collective bargaining elections in certain instances brought these developments:

1. Senator Ellender, democrat, La., predicted further revision of the board's rules, including a proposal to assure both employers and workers at least 10 months of freedom each year from disputes between unions.

2. Two house members who declined use of their names said the house would be asked to authorize an investigation of the labor board, despite the procedural change, with a report next January on proposals for altering the Wagner act.

3. The AFL renewed its demands for changes in the act. Joseph A. Padway, its general counsel, hailed yesterday's revision as "an AFL victory" but said the federation wanted all its proposed amendments written into law.

4. CIO leaders made no formal comment, but let it be known they were opposed to the revision.

Ellender Proposal.

Senator Ellender, an administration supporter on the senate labor committee, said among proposals he had submitted to the board was the following one which its members regarded favorably:

That after a union has established its right to represent a company's employees and obtained a year's contract with the company, the board should entertain no petitions from a rival union until a short time before the contract expired.

"This would assure at least 10 months of non-intervention by the union which test in the original election conducted to determine proper representatives for collective bargaining," Ellender said.

He predicted the board also would announce shortly rules of evidence which attorneys for many business men have advocated.

Besides permitting employers to petition for bargaining elections when two unions in a plant refuse to ask certification as bargaining representatives, the board agreed yesterday to:

Increase from five to ten days the mandatory interim between the issuance of a court complaint and the holding of a hearing;

Require that bonafide unions which are a party to any contract held to violate the Wagner act must be made parties to any labor board proceedings designed to nullify that contract.

PAMPA "Leading Jewelers of the Panhandle Since 1926" BORGER

O'Daniel Finds His Pension Promises Mass Of Wreckage

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—Radio-orator W. Lee O'Daniel, flour salesman who rode to the Texas governorship on hillbilly music and a promise of $30-a-month pensions to all Texans over 65 years of age, today found his legislative program a mass of wreckage.

Adjournment of the longest session of the legislature in state history yesterday, after an intransigent minority crushed efforts finally to pass an O'Daniel-blessed constitutional amendment to finance bigger pensions, revealed the lawmakers ignored virtually all of their governor's desires.

The heaviest blow to the O'Daniel chief executive was burial of his revenue plans to support expanded pensions. The legislature quiet without voting a cent of new taxes despite previous action opening the doors to 50,000 or more additional pensioners.

After the legislators abandoned O'Daniel's drastic 1.6 per cent transactions tax recommendation, the business man-governor, on his regular Sunday radio broadcasts, advocated the senate-spawned amendment which would have submitted to the people a 2 per cent sales and service tax plus a 25 per cent increase in levies on oil, gas, and sulphur.

Abandons Pledges.
Despite his caustic criticism of the plan's opponents and sentimentality interspersed argument all hammered out via radio—the proposal repeatedly failed to reach the necessary two-thirds majority in the house of representatives. On one test, however, it lacked but five votes.

In his initial address to the legislature, the governor deviated from his campaign pledge and asked pensioners be provided only to those over 65 who did not have an income of $30 a month, in amounts to make up the difference.

The plan eventually adopted fell short of that roll-swelling suggestion but did loosen eligibility requirements, the extent of which is being discussed by pension administrators.

State Park Granted.
About the only O'Daniel request the lawmakers granted was his plea for acquisition of a huge amount of acreage in mountainous West Texas bordering the Rio Grande, for state park purposes. A method of purchasing the land through public subscription was provided.

His policy of economy was observed only in that departmental appropriations were slashed, although growing school enrollments boosted over-all tax money spending.

Beyond that, the governor's recommendations were rejected.

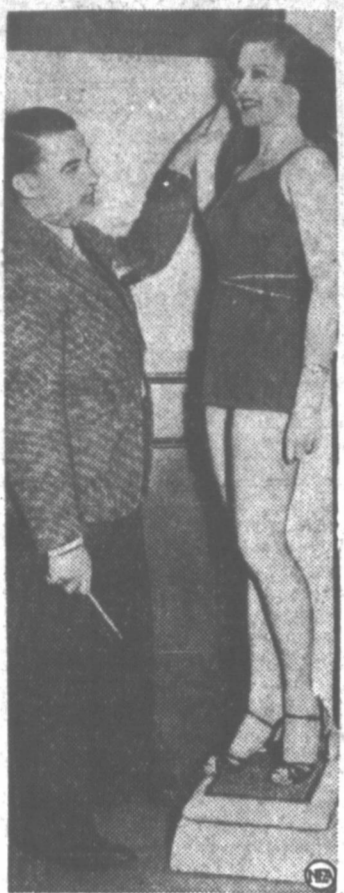

His request to abolish state ad valorem taxes fell on deaf ears. However, many counties were granted tax remissions.

After he appointed a new tax commissioner, the legislature abolished that office. O'Daniel said later he wanted the office eliminated anyway.

The senate rejected two of his appointees to the important highway commission chairmanship, one of them Carr Collins of Dallas, possibly his closest friend, and failed to act on a third. The fourth was confirmed. His first choice for life insurance commissioner likewise was turned down.

O'Daniel proposed consolidation of a number of state agricultural agencies and combining of 33 treasury

Besides having a discerning eye for a shapely torso, Hollywood dance master LeRoy Prinz, shown sizing up a cinema chorine, possesses a strong right arm which he has used on enough occasions that no one disputes he is Talkietown's No. 1 tough guy.

Both suggestions were forgotten.

Suggestions Forgotten.
Buried with his request to let him appoint a budget director with the legislature, instead of himself, naming the state auditor.

Abolition of the death penalty, one of his pet proposals, was introduced but got no further.

The governor asked for a part-business man committee to investigate the prison system but received, instead, an all-legislative group—which plan he vetoed. The house then decided to conduct the inquiry on its own, a move he was powerless to nullify.

Politics-minded Texans eagerly await O'Daniel's next radio address.

Connally Oil Act Assailed

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Representative Moser (D-Pa.), calling the Connally "hot oil" act monopolistic, told the House today the Sun Oil company in Pennsylvania had openly threatened to close up independent dealers and "made good their threat within 30 days" after the act was passed.

"In 1935," said Moser, "gasoline was selling at the independent stations in my area as low as 12 cents a gallon. Immediately upon word being passed out about enactment of the Connally hot-oil bill, John Pew, of the Sun Oil company, sent his agents out to the independent stations threatening them and telling them, 'we have you licked, and we are going to clean you out in a year; and if you do not take out your independent gas we are going to pull your pumps.'"

"They proceeded to pull their pumps and the American Oil company in that locality took their place."

The House approved legislation yesterday extending for three years the act which prohibits interstate shipment of oil produced in violation of state conservation laws. The Senate previously had voted to make the act permanent.

Oilers Get New Players In Team Shakeup

Pampa Looks Like Champs In 3-1 Win

Added and abetted by the New York Yankees-owned Harry Schmidt, a new outfielder by the name of Hillin, a home run and two-bagger by First Baseman Bob Bailey plus two hours and five minutes of errorless ball—the Pampa Oilers looked like champions again last night as they whacked the Lamesa Lobos into submission to the tune of 3 to 1.

The brand of ball the Oilers were playing last night had the Lamesa stands applauding the visiting team. Milbert Vannoy was in good form on the mound, chucking up nine strikeouts and allowing only one base on balls. On top of that he had the Lobos popping up and whizzing the bats in the clutches. Red Hay, pitching for the Lobos, had five strikeouts and gave two free trips to first.

Hayley jammed out his homer in the first inning with nobody out. Tony Swift having been retired just ahead of him. Big Spring's win over Lubbock, 3 to 6, kept the Springers in a half-game lead over Pampa for third place.

The Lubbock and Lamesa losses last night narrowed the margin between first and fourth places to only four games. Abilene continued its win streak last night and clipped Clovis, 1-0. Amarillo's Cold Sox had an easy time winning from Midland, 9-1.

It was Sam Snead's fan mail that caused him to pass up the British Open for the P. G. A. Sam received hundreds of letters telling him not to let that big eight at Philly get him down... Coast Thinclads Swamp Big Ten's

BERKELEY, Calif., June 22 (AP)—Twelve thousand fans who saw an hour and 25 minutes of track and field competition before dinner yesterday were convinced of the superiority of Pacific Coast athletes over those of the middle west.
 They saw an all-star team of Pacific Coast conference performers run up 94 1/3 to 36 2/3 victory over the Big Ten conference.
 It was the third straight win for the Coast boys. Times and distances were not out of the ordinary, with best performances turned in on the three long running races.
 Bill Dale of Washington State college was clocked in 1:51.5 winning the 80-yard run, while Louis Zamperini of Southern California took the one-mile in 4:11.9 and Ralph Schwartzkopf of Michigan the two-mile in 9:12.8.
 Roy Cochran of Indiana scored the Big Ten's only other victory, winning the 220-yard low hurdles in 23.3 seconds, a bare yard ahead of Southern California's Earl Vickery.

English Track Star Eclipsed

When the field jammed up like this on the heels of Sydney Wooderson, British track ace, it eventually cost him his chance for victory after he had led from the start in the climatic mile race at the annual Princeton track meet. Blaine Rideout (second from left above), of North Texas State, accidentally bumped Wooderson in an effort to pass him, with the result that the Englishman finished last. Chuck Fenske (running second, above) won, Glenn Cunningham (third above) took second place, Archie San Romani (fifth above) was third, and Rideout came fourth.

Lou Gehrig's Retirement May Have Saved His Life

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—It is evident now that Lou Gehrig made the smartest decision of his life when he voluntarily removed himself from the Yankee lineup May 2 and broke his amazing endurance record.
 If he had stayed in there and fought it out with his falling faculties, the great first baseman might have by this time been seriously injured or so far have undermined his health that recovery would have been hopeless.
 As it is, there seems reason to believe that treatment prescribed by Mayo Clinic specialists will arrest the infantile paralysis that has afflicted Lou and enable him to enjoy a moderately active life on the

Camilli Beats Reds With Home Run In Ninth Inning

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
 There are a lot of persons who think Adolph Camilli, a squat, stubborn truckhorse with delusions of being a racer, is the best first baseman in the National League and possibly in all baseball. There are others who do not—but this group suddenly has lost a lot of members.
 Camilli (and eight other Brooklyn Dumps) beat the Cincinnati Reds last night, 2-1, and the deciding blow was a home run by Camilli in the ninth. Furthermore he capped his fine fielding game with a spectacular one-handed stab of a liner in the same inning.

The Dodgers' other run was also a homer, by Tuck Stainback, and gave Whitlow Wyatt his seventh victory without defeat.
 Camilli's circuit clout was his 13th of the season, and brought his total of runs batted in to 44, although his batting average is a modest .276. Therein lies the paradox of Camilli. In five full seasons in the National League with Chicago, Philadelphia and Brooklyn his percentage has fluctuated anywhere from .185 to .339, but his consistency as a power hitter has never wavered.

He has two failings. He is good for 80 to 100 or more strikeouts a season and he gives Brooklyn his weirdest base running since Babe Herman.
 But anyway, he's a handy man to have in a ball game.
 All the other first division clubs on close decisions now and then.

 His salary, believed still to be the largest of any player not also a manager, will continue through this season.
 Outwardly, Lou shows no signs of the disease. In fact, he looks exceptionally healthy. His spirits are high. He looked glum only once. That was when Manager Joe McCarthy, who just had heard the news, went over and sat beside his former great star. They didn't say anything to each other. They just sat and looked out on the diamond.

advanced against Cincinnati yesterday. Curt Davis, with some steady pitching and his own big bat which accounted for a homer and two other hits, led the St. Louis Cardinals to a 14-2 victory over the Phillies.
 The New York Giants pinched the Pirates, 6-4, with Carl Hubbell doing an excellent relief chore to save the game for Cliff Melton, and Earl Whitehill of the Cubs shut out the Boston Bees 3-0 on seven hits.

The world champion Yankees cuffed Chicago's White Sox badly in the middle innings for a 9-8 victory. The clincher was a home run by Bill Dickey with one on in the seventh.
 Jack Kramer got himself and the St. Louis Browns back in the win column with a 6-0 shutout of the Boston Red Sox.
 The Cleveland Indians snatched a wild meleé at Washington, 9-8, when Joe Kraskauskas showed some of the traits for which southpaws are notorious, throwing to the wrong base once and committing a balk in a pinch.

Detroit and the Philadelphia Athletics were idle.

Pampans Will See New Faces In Lineup Friday

Baseball fans who turn out at Roadrunner Park tomorrow night to greet the Pampa Oilers when they return from their current road trip are going to see several new faces in the home-town lineup.

Business Agent Harold Miller and Manager Grover Selts have been burning up phone and telegraph wires all week trying to do something about the slump the Oilers were unable to break up until last night.

The Pampa team lost five games in a row before they toppled the second place Lamesa Lobos 3 to 1 at Lamesa last night. And that happened only after new players were hooked into the lineup.

What Miller and Selts are trying to do is to tighten up the infield where there has been a lot of loose ball playing in the past eight or ten nights.

At Lamesa last night a new left-fielder, named Hillin, and Harry Schmidt, a player owned by the New York Yankees, stepped into the Pampa lineup and apparently did something to give the Oilers a new lease on life. No errors were committed.

Miller said today that Harry Moss will come from Ada, Okla., to join the Oilers for a five-day tryout at three bases and that he and Selts are looking for Eddie Guynes, the classy shortstop Lamesa recently traded to Midland in exchange for Miltica.

Pampa fans will remember the classy work of Guynes in the recent Pampa-Midland series here. Miller said Guynes is expected to be in the Pampa lineup tomorrow night when the team returns to open a three-game engagement with Clovis.

Hillin, the new Pampa outfielder, has been playing with Lamesa and comes to Pampa in exchange for Reeves who left the Pampa club and returned to Lamesa yesterday.

Gordon Nell, Pampa's home run hitting outfielder, was not in the lineup at Lamesa last night. He's still having trouble with the ankle he injured in the game with Lamesa here last Friday night.

Pampa ends its present road trip with two games at Lamesa—one this afternoon and another tonight. The afternoon game today is the play-off of the game that had to be called in the third inning Tuesday night because of high wind and dust at Lamesa.

Victories last night by Pampa and Big Spring and losses by the league-leading Lubbock and Lamesa teams narrowed the distance between Pampa and Lubbock to only four games.

Beginning tomorrow night, Pampa will play three games with Clovis and then open a three-game home series with Big Spring before taking to the road again.

Austin Enters Golf Tourney At Fort Worth

Grover Austin, Jr. of Pampa, was to be one of the visiting golfers qualifying today at the River Crest Country club at Fort Worth, for the fifteenth championship tourney of the West Texas Golf Association.

Entry list in the tournament totaled 211 Wednesday night and it seemed certain that predictions of 300 swingers would be carried out.

Only Fort Worth players made the test round Wednesday and 140 of them turned in cards. Two courses will be used for the tourney. All will qualify at River Crest but several flights will be sent to Ridgela for match play.

Billy Coffey of Fort Worth was around the links yesterday in 34-45—70, three blows under par. Coffey has already won the Mineral Wells and River Crest invitations as well as the Texas Open at Wichita Falls.

Amarillo Beats Midland 9 To 1

MIDLAND, June 22.—The Midland Cowboys infield blew up in the fourth and fifth innings last night to give the Amarillo Gold Sox six runs and their second game in a row by a 9 to 1 count.

While mid Parma hit home runs for Amarillo with Parma getting hits in the ninth with one man on base. The ball hit by Parma rolled part way under the fence and he circled the bases before it could be recovered.

Mickey, Sox catcher, led the visitors with three doubles in five times at bat.

The two teams close out their current series here Thursday night.

All-Star Boxing Card Scheduled

LOS ANGELES, June 22 (P)—Principals in an all-star boxing card at Gilmore stadium Monday night went through further training paces today.

Even Maxie Rosenbloom, actor and night club operator who boxes Al Attore of Philadelphia, took an extra turn around the Hollywood baseball park grandstand. In Rosenbloom's program of conditioning that amounts to five rounds of ordinary shadow boxing.

Gunnar Barund, rugged Finn who meets Jack Roper in another heavyweight match at 10 rounds, scheduled a hard workout. He has been taking it easy since halting the winning streak of Chicago's newest prospect, Tony Musto.

Tony Chavez, Mexican lightweight, and dusky George Crouch meet in another 10-rounder, and Eric Seelig, German middleweight, and Cliff Lee of Nebraska wind up the card.

Dizzy Will Pitch Against Bees Today

CHICAGO, June 22 (P)—Dizzy Dean, the Chicago Cubs' Sunday pitcher, is back on week-day assignments.

He goes against the Boston Bees today.

His recent diagnosis of the Cubs' ills—"two thirds of us are trying, the rest ain't"—brought the comment from Owner P. K. Wrigley that "he's probably right at that."

"Starting Dean today may be manager Gabby Hartnett's answer to the Dizzy One's suggestions."

He suggested in his recent association of commerce talk "just let me pitch more often and everything will be okay."

Today's start marks Dean's sixth of the year and the only one he has not made on a Sunday.

5 Champions Will Perform At Amarillo

The most extensive collection of outdoor sports exhibits and championships ever assembled anywhere will be presented all next week at Amarillo's Tri-State fair grounds, at the first Southwest Sportsman's Show.

The event will open Monday morning and continue through the following Saturday.

Admission will be 40 cents for adults and 20 cents for children, the one ticket admitting the visitor to all exhibitions and displays in the show.

Five champions in outdoor sports will give twice daily exhibitions. They are Ken Wilhelm of Hollywood, world's champion archer; Ted Allen of Denver, world's champion horseshoe pitcher; David Duglah of Memphis, Tenn., world's champion sling-shot expert; L. L. Cline of San Antonio, holder of scores of records for small arms firing, and Jack Lamb of Houston, champion bass caster.

In the elaborately decorated exhibits hall will be the famous San Antonio Zoological Gardens collection of 200 upland game birds and more than 100 waterfowl; 15 different species of native Texas game animals; an aquarium housing every type of game fish known to Texas; a score of champion hunting dogs; elaborate mounted game exhibits

Ruchnok Hangs Up 12th Victory For Henderson Oilers

(By The Associated Press)

Steve Ruchnok hung up his twelfth victory for the league-leading Henderson Oilers last night, 5-1, as he limited Texarkana to five hits Lee Shapiro allowed six safeties.

First Baseman Sidlow's homer in the eighth gave Tyler a 3-2 win over Palestine.

Marshall overcame a three-run lead by scoring four unearned runs in the sixth inning to defeat Jacksonville 4 to 3.

Longview's Ernest Terry allowed Kilgore only one hit and won his seventh game of the season, 7-0.

Tonight's schedule: Marshall at Texarkana. Henderson at Kilgore. Longview at Tyler. Palestine at Jacksonville.

Musketees To Play Borger At Skelly

Edmondson's Musketees, Pampa girls softball team, will be striving to keep their winning record clear when they play the Borger All-Stars in a game at Skelly-Schafer diamond Friday night.

In Borger last Sunday the Pampa team whipped the All-Stars 10 to 6, for the Musketees fifth consecutive victory. The locals have not lost a single game since the season opened on May 1, taking three games from White Deer and two from Borger.

The game Friday night will follow a game between girls teams representing Phillips and Skellytown.

Flying Red Horses Will Meet Tonight

Today's practice of the Magnolia Flying Red Horses at their diamond was postponed due to wet grounds, according to an announcement made this morning. However, there will be a business meeting of all players tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the safety hut. All players are requested to be present at that time.

Firms To Supply Uniforms For Four Baseball Players

Baseball uniforms for four of the 14 players on the Pampa Junior Oilers, boys' baseball team sponsored by the Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion, will be provided by four Pampa firms, T. J. Huval, commander of the local post said today.

Those who have offered to supply the uniforms are F. E. Hoffman Service Station, Ward's Cabinet Shop, Schneider hotel and Paul D. Hill Clothing Store. On the back of the uniform shirts will be the name of the donor.

Commander Huval asked Pampans to respond to the need of the remaining uniforms for the 10 other players on the team. Those who wish to offer uniforms should call Paul Hill, Clyde Winchester, or Mr. Huval.

The Pampa Junior Oilers have been practicing for the past month, three or four afternoons a week, using the Magnolia Petroleum Co.'s diamond in East Pampa, whenever the diamond was available.

Commander Huval said he had not yet received information as to where the state, district, and national junior baseball championship would be played. Texas, Arkansas, and Louisiana will likely compete the district with the championship to be played in New Orleans, he said.

Economics, 1900 And 1939

On the front page of a metropolitan newspaper recently appeared two articles whose contrast serves better than all the tones of experts to accentuate the clash between economic thought of today and that of yesteryear.

The first was an interview with a white-haired, spirited widow of 89, whose husband had been an early associate of John D. Rockefeller in the grain and oil business. When the husband died at the turn of the century, he left his widow stocks in the city's privately owned traction company, which had regularly paid 6% dividends.

"I lived on the dividend for a long time," she said. "But now there has been no dividend for two years. The city and the company are deadlocked over a new franchise. People complain about the street car service when there's a car every three minutes. We used to think ourselves lucky to have a car every 20 minutes.

"It used to be that I could get an able-bodied man to do my gardening. Now I have to take old men of 70. The young men don't want to work. Manual work is not good enough any more. People all want to take it easy."

Almost within hearing distance of this widow's home, a young and vigorous Catholic priest whose parish and problems lie in a great industrial community, lashed out from a convention rostrum in an attack on the "cupidity of wealth."

"Accustomed to respond only to self-interest and profit," he declared, "ignorant and contemptuous of all notions of stewardship and social function, and yet living under hallucinations of moral grandeur, wealth daily perpetrates a horror of mass starvation and exposure.

"The poor who have no purchasing power can make no appeal to the cupidity of wealth. There is nothing for it to do except change the system of control. America must erect a system in which wealth will not have the only way."

Neither of these persons is important in the political fight which is raging over attempted reformation of our economic system. It is a struggle which Americans of this generation probably will see settled in their lifetime.

The millions of citizens who are identified with neither camp, but who seek only the right to live in peace, happiness and reasonable security, hope that in between these two contracting points of view a solution can be found without resort to violent political upheaval.

A Happy Appointment

The choice of the President of Archibald MacLeish to be the Librarian of Congress is a particularly good one.

MacLeish is not only a poet and a darned good one, but as well as being one of the country's outstanding men of letters, he has been an artillery captain, a lawyer, and a magazine editor.

The Red Scare, which has become standard procedure in Congress in regard to almost all appointments, has been dredged up, it being charged that MacLeish has been a "fellow-traveler" with Communists in various causes. Congressmen would do well to catch up to the fact that MacLeish's most recent literary product was a slashing indictment in the Survey-Graphic of the whole "united anti-Fascist front" tactic, and as powerful an exposition as we've ever read of the growing feeling that the best defense against both Fascism and Communism is to get behind democracy and push like-well, like all get-out. This earned MacLeish a most bitter condemnation in a recent number of the New Masses, Communist organ.

MacLeish has a forward-looking, mentally-keen and searching mind which should do much to make the 10,000,000 items in the Library of Congress of service to Congress and to the people. That is what they are for.

He is, as the President said, "a scholar and a gentleman," as well as an able executive. It would be shameful to see his confirmation delayed because of uninformed opposition.

The Nation's Press

AMERICAN WAY BEST (San Jose, Calif., Mercury Herald)

Speaking at the annual meeting of the National Board of Five Underwriters in New York recently, President Paul B. Sommers made a plea to his hearers to "lead in the fight to uphold and justify the American system of individual initiative and private enterprise under which . . . the greatest number of people have been given the most material comforts and in liberty of action."

There isn't a job that wasn't born of individualism and created by enterprise, he pointed out. There isn't a home that isn't maintained and made possible by earnings and savings from those earnings. There isn't a church building or a hospital, a college or a school, that wasn't made possible by saved earnings. The very security of the home and nation is reliant upon earnings.

"America hasn't 'just grown,'" as Topsy did in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "America was made; made by the force of men's muscles, by the sweat of men's brows; by the driving force of energy and ambition and faith; and last, but by no means least, by the courage and the hope of earnings that made men willing to risk their hard-earned savings in productive enterprises.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

KNOWLEDGE OF GOD NOW NEEDED

Inasmuch as there is such confusion and there is a very definite cause for this confusion, an explanation of a starting point, by which to guide ourselves out of this confusion, should now be of interest. And if we are to again proceed in the line in which God intended us to proceed, it will be necessary for us to recognize the anchor, or the starting point. With this in mind, I want to quote from one of the greatest books I have ever read. The book is an old one and known as "Christianity as Old as the Creation, or the Gospel and Revelation of the Religion of Nature," by Mathew Tindal. It seems to me that Tindal expresses what God is as rationally as anyone I have read. I quote:

"If there were not some propositions which need not to be prov'd, it would be in vain for Men to argue with one another, because they then could bring no proofs but what needed to be prov'd.—Those propositions which need no proof, we call self-evident; because by comparing the ideas signifi'd by the terms of such propositions, we immediately discern their agreement, or disagreement: This is, as I said before, what we call intuitive knowledge, & is the knowledge of God himself, who sees all things by intuition; and may, I think, be call'd divine inspiration, as being immediately from God, and not acquir'd by any human deduction, or drawing of consequences. This, certainly, is that divine, that uniform light, which shines in the minds of all men, and enables them to discern whatever they do discern; since without it there could be no Demonstration, no Knowledge, but invincible obscurity, & universal uncertainty.

"Where a proposition can't be made evident, by comparing the two ideas, or terms of it with each other, it is render'd so by intermediate ideas or terms, whereby the agreement, or disagreement of the ideas under examination, or the truth of that proposition is perceiv'd; and when there is an intuitive perception of the agreement or disagreement of the intermediate ideas in each step of the progression, then, and not till then, it becomes demonstrative knowledge; otherwise it can rise no higher than probability, which consists not in a certain, but a likely connexion between the terms of a proposition, & the intermediate proofs of it: So that every proposition that's only probable, must have a proportionable degree of uncertainty, otherwise it would amount to demonstration; & consequently, Probability, as well as Certainty, is founded on the relation it has to self-evident truths; because where no relation to them of any sort can be discover'd, there is no room for Certainty, or Probability.

"Hence we see that all wrong reasoning is the effect of rashness, and consists either in taking propositions to have a certain connexion with self-evident truths, when they have but a probable one, or imagining there's a probable connexion, when there's no connexion at all, or else mistaking the degrees of probability."

"Would that every Christian could read this book! It is hard to conceive how any man could read this book and not believe in the philosophy that Jesus Christ taught. It is because we have so far digressed from the real, true teachings of Jesus Christ in our organized religion that many true Christians are classified as not being Christians because they cannot acquiesce in what is popularly called Christianity.

DEBT AND REVOLUTIONS

As we see our national debt mounting, it is well to recall what Thomas Jefferson wrote to Samuel Smith in 1821. He said, "debt and revolutions are inseparable as cause and effect."

He also wrote, "I place economy among the first and most important of Republican virtues and public debt as the greatest of dangers to be feared."

Anyone who has ever read history knows that if our debt continues to mount, we will eventually have a revolution with all the misery and suffering that accompany revolutions. An unlimited debt means that labor will be burdened to such an extent that it will revolt and throw off the shackles of the debts created by lazy, scheming, inefficient politicians for them to pay.

War will never yield but to the principles of universal justice and love, and these have no sure root but in the religion of Jesus Christ.—William Killers Channing

Behind The News Of The Day

BY BRUCE COTTON

Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, June 22—The food-stamp experiment is slowly picking up speed.

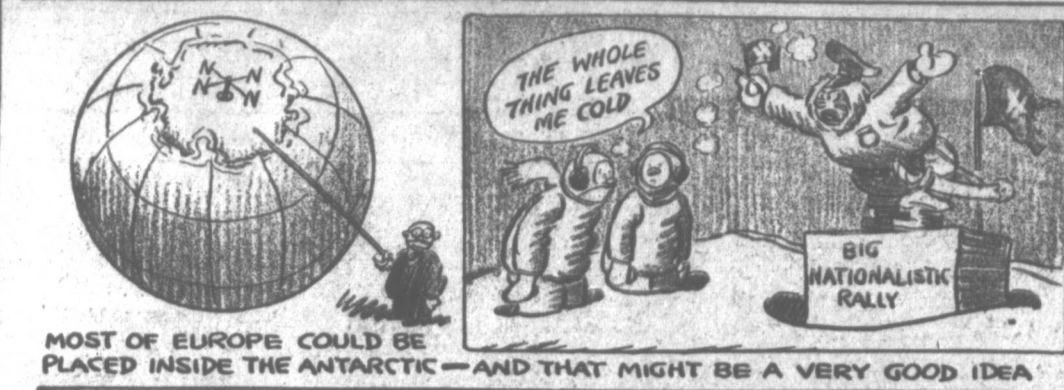

Originally it was to be a six-city experiment. Now, with the plan in operation in Rochester and Dayton and due to open next in Seattle, the Department of Agriculture people have stopped talking about six cities. Instead they're saying "several" cities; probably will keep on going from one city to another without stopping at six.

Significance of this is that it could foreshadow quite a change in approach. Under the first plan, results in the six "guinea pig" cities were to have been carefully weighed and tested before the thing was carried any farther. Officially, the weighing and testing are still in the cards; but by proceeding gradually, without any limitation on the number of experimental cities, the line between purely experimental work and full-speed-ahead might be awfully hard to see.

Incidentally, you can look for a new wrinkle in the game soon. The orange stamps (which clients must pay cash for) may be dropped entirely in one or more cities, and only the free blue ones used. Theory has been that orange stamps were needed to make sure that the relief clients didn't simply fill up on the free "surplus" commodities, and divert their ordinary food expenditures into other channels. By doing without the orange stamps in certain cities, results there could be checked against the results where the orange stamps are being used—and thus the department could get a pretty good line on the extent to which the whole scheme actually does increase food consumption.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

This is the third of four articles by Dr. Fishbein on how to gauge the development of your baby.

The development of speech is a valuable measure of intellectual progress. A baby four months old has, as a rule, mastered control of the vowel sounds. At six months, he can combine certain vowel and consonant sounds, such as "da" or "ma." He makes random babbling sounds. By nine months, rhythmic, similar to the rhythm of speech.

The child, six to nine months of age, is beginning to recognize his own name. At nine months, he can usually understand the word "no" or the tone in which it is spoken, when it is used to forbid something.

At two years, the majority of children can use complete sentences. The progress in knowledge from then on continues steadily. From three to five years of age, children learn to use prepositions and to employ descriptive words.

A University of Iowa specialist showed that at two years of age the average vocabulary is 272 words; at three years, 896 words; at four years, 1,540 words; at five years, 2,072 words, and at six years, 2,562 words.

The rapidity with which language development occurs depends on the efforts to teach the child. If a child spends but little time in the company of adults and hears but limited amounts of speech, his language development will be slower than in the case of the child surrounded by talkative adults who really make an effort to teach him to articulate properly.

Mental retardation is, in many cases, the cause of slowness in the development of language ability. The exact degree of the association between mental retardation and the acquisition of speech has not been determined.

Studies of feeble-minded children showed language retardation in all instances. Studies of superior children showed acceleration in the development of speaking ability. Children who talk unusually early are probably superior mentally. Feeble-minded children are always late in talking.

It cannot be assumed that all children who are late in talking are feeble-minded, for their are other causes for the delay. Defective speech apparatus may be responsible.

There is a disorder known as word deafness in which the child, although he hears sounds, cannot form the associations necessary for giving meaning to the word sounds. Deafness is also a common cause for retardation in speech. Inability to talk should call for an immediate examination of the hearing.

Youngsters who live in institutions for dependent children are slow to acquire language, no matter what their intelligence may be because they do not have opportunity for that the loss of the British submarine Thetis may be another sacrifice to traditional British conservatism.

No one offers any criticism of British naval personnel or performance; but the U. S. tars do say the British subs are far behind Americans in the matter of safety appliances. British subs, they say, use a water-tight door, which may require five minutes to close tightly, lack up-to-date apparatus for "bleeding" oxygen or compressed air into a tightly flooded compartment. Much British submarine gadgetry, they add, is of a type the U. S. navy discarded before the World War.

They point to British experience at the battle of Jutland as a parallel case. British ships then had continuous powder passages from turrets to handling rooms, a direct hit on a turret could send a flash into the magazine and blow the whole ship up. That sank three British ships at Jutland. After the battle, Britain hastily reconstructed the system—making changes the U. S. had made as far back as 1906.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Only once before was Mrs. J. F. Vicars, old-timer of the pampas, up in an airplane. Then for 15 minutes. It gave her a thrill so one was not greatly surprised yesterday morning when she went to Amarillo and took the plane for San Francisco. She lives 40 miles from Mills field there at San Jose. Mrs. Vicars, aunt of Edwin and DeLea, had been here for about two months visiting relatives and friends. She was looking forward to riding the plane back to California. "If something happens I hope I end up with wings," she joked, "and if I get through all right it'll be on wings anyway." Mrs. Vicars took back with her an airplane view of her farm and its 16 oil wells, located west of town. Also pictures of the pump house on it. A long time ago, Mrs. Vicars and her late husband used to live in Pampa. They built the house in which Lee Banks lives now on North West street.

Three other women who have their share of good luck are Daisy Jim Daugherty, Helen Martin and Zenobia McFarlin. On June 24, Daisy Jim and Helen sailed for Alaska, after enjoying the cool atmosphere atop such places as Pikes Peak. Not so long ago you read about Daisy Jim going to Cuba, Corpus Christi. What she's getting out of life she'll be able to take it with her. . . . Now take the case of "Z." During the last week of school, what would some nice man give to her? One perfect rose? No. A perfect Packard. The man? Her uncle down at Wichita Falls, and this summer "Z" is down at the University of Texas finishing up her Master's degree, and breeding around in the Packard.

hearing speech of the right sort often enough.

Children of superior inheritance and intelligence may be slow in learning to talk because they are cared for by nurses who do not understand the need for talking to the children under their care. Perhaps the nurse may be limited in expression and may be slow in her speech. Naturally, the youngster will develop the same faulty habits of talking.

Occasionally a child is slow in learning to talk because he does not need to learn. He receives such constant attention that his wants are anticipated. By merely making a grunting sound and pointing to an object, he secures what he desires. Parents who are over-anxious may develop a spirit of resistance

Inland waterway transportation people here are pulling hard for passage of the Bland bill, which would put them under jurisdiction of the Maritime Commission. Not that they're in love with the Maritime Commission . . . but the Wheeler-Lea bill (which stands a good chance of passage) would put them under the Interstate Commerce Commission, and their rate advantage over the railroads would probably vanish. They hope that if the Bland bill gets through first, the ICB menace may disappear around the bend.

Ex-Fascists Have Tight Lips

Difference between investigating Communists and investigating Fascists is explained by a member of the Dies committee: It's easy to find plenty of ex-Communists who will come in and tell all the dirt—but so far the committee hasn't been able to dig up one ex-member of one of the shirt organizations who will volunteer to give away secrets. The committee has no idea why this is so but does know it works out that way.

Yesteryear In The News

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

The Santa Fe railroad made application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a permit to give Pampa express delivery service. L. W. Klein stated.

Gray county continued to show the line in daily oil production, the home area passing the 55,000-barrel mark to gain 4,700 barrels daily over the previous total.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY.

Good progress was being made in laying caliche on the Pampa-McLean road about four miles this side of McLean.

Gray county was to be allowed to send 20 youths to Civilian Conservation Corps camps, it was learned here.

Just as the future of the Protestant pulpit is dependent upon the civil liberties of democracy, so also is democracy dependent upon the pulpit for those great ideals which insure that men give freedom will not abuse it. —G. BROMLEY OXNAM, youngest Methodist bishop in U. S.

Tex's Topics

THERE'S A STRIKING resemblance between Tess, the beauty in The Pampa News' Red Ryder comic page strip, and Miss Sydney Yorkley, of Canadian, recently pictured in American magazine as "the typical Western girl." . . . It was amazing to learn yesterday that Lake McClellan already has twice as much water in it as the new Lake Marvin which was opened last Sunday near Canadian. . . . When filled, it will have five times as much water area as it has today!

One learns that a "squeeze-out" is being worked in Pampa as one method of averting an imaginary wrong. . . . If it is successful—and it won't be—it would affect quite a number of persons. . . . Our informant refused to supply further details, so please do not ask for them. . . . I'm just as curious about it as anybody. Wednesday's rains caused temporary delay in Pampa street improvements.

IT'S STILL NOT too late to make your reservations for that highway commission banquet in the High school gym tomorrow night. . . . It begins at 7 o'clock, and every Pampa—men and women—interested in the city's growth should be there to attend the highway commission Pampa wants a North-South road from Perryton through Pampa. . . . Phone your reservation to the Chamber of Commerce at Phone 384. . . . Let's pack the place!

Occasionally, I get befuddled. . . . One of the times was yesterday when I messed up dates for the Anvil Park Rodeo at Canadian. . . . It will be held for three days—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, July 2, 3, and 4. . . . It probably isn't necessary to remind you that the Anvil Park show is one of the outstanding events of the summer season in the Panhandle.

NOW THAT MCLELLAN Lake is beginning to fill up, some of the "yacht club boys" already are beginning to talk about fitting out power and sail craft. . . . If you don't wish to be bothered with housing troubles at the lake, just get yourself a cabin cruiser and you can live on the water as long as you wish. . . . Sail and power boats are lots of fun but there's nothing like a cabin boat for solid comfort.

Actress Bette Davis is wearing heavy make-up in a picture to hide her YOUTH. Movies accomplish miracles. . . . Railroads are reducing upper berth fares to induce more passengers to use them. They might do still better by giving with each ticket, a booklet of instructions on how to undress in one.

A NEW VACCINE for smallpox leaves no scar. What's the fun of getting vaccinated if you can't show the result to your friends? . . . A graduate, seeking a job, sent out 81 applications in bottles. The firm which hired him replied in nautical terms. If he's ever fired, he'll probably just get a note: "Man overboard."

Just to keep the records straight, attention is called to the fact that the Pampa Oilers won their game from Lamesa last night just as we said they would in this space yesterday afternoon. . . . When they come through again and win that postponed game this afternoon, the skeptics will be entirely routed. . . . The crystal ball rarely fails.

300 Entered In West Texas Golf Tourney

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT. PORT WORTH, June 22 (AP)—Plainsmen moved in on the cattle capital today to have fun for four days in the fifteenth annual West Texas Golf Association tournament...

Many of the West Texans were playing grass greens for the first time this year, a handicap that gave some of the Fort Worth par-breakers an advantage.

Out in front of the favorites was Billy 'Bub' Coffey, a squat, blond youngster on his home course. He trimmed the par 37-38-73 course only last week in winning the annual River Crest invitation affair.

Coffey, never able to advance to the finals of the West Texas event on plains courses, faced a bold crew in Morris Norton of Wichita Falls, twice winner of the event; Jodie Bill of Lubbock, defending champion; Iveron Martin of Fort Worth, runner-up for the state title in '38; Norman Rowland of Fort Worth, runner-up to him last week, and scores of others.

Local players qualified yesterday, Coffey establishing himself as a favorite to cop medalist honors by whipping around the long layout—despite a high wind—in 34-36-70, three under par. Pete Donahue, former big league pitcher star, was second low with a fine 73. Fewer than a score of the 140 Fort Worth players broke 80.

The visitors will qualify today. Match play opens Friday and lasts through Sunday.

Clarendon's 54th Fourth Of July Celebration Will Feature Rodeo

Special To The NEWS. CLARENDON, June 22—Arrangements for the Panhandle's oldest celebration are complete and a special invitation is issued to citizens of Pampa to participate in Clarendon's fifty-fourth Fourth of July spectacle.

The feature for the celebration will be a rodeo with two performances. Held on the soft turf of Broncho Park, the rodeo will open at 3 o'clock and the night show at 8:30. There will be cowboys and cowgirls competing in calf roping, ribbon roping, bronc riding, wild cow milking and all events of a full rodeo program.

Officially the celebration will open at 10 a. m. with band music and parades. Bands are expected here from Pampa, Amarillo, Memphis, Canyon, Childress, Shamrock, and Borger.

As an incentive to family reunions and picnic outings, free coffee, tea and ice water will be served on the court house lawn during the noon hour.

Fiddlers of this section will be given a chance to prove their skill by entering in the contest which will be held at 6 o'clock. Prizes of $5, $3, and $2 will be awarded.

A grand display of fireworks will be touched off following the rodeo at the Broncho Park and a free street dance will culminate the program at 11 o'clock.

Kissing Bag-Snatcher Hunted By Police. SOMERVILLE, Mass., June 22 (AP)—A kissing bag-snatcher was the object today of a police search. Mrs. Eugene O'Brien reported to police that the thief jumped from an automobile, alarmed her with a kiss on the cheek, and then snatched her handbag. It contained only a small sum.

After that when a battle would start all Americans would be taken aboard the battleships which lay in the Gulf. When the fight would cease we would be transferred back to Tampico, but in 1914 when the Americans fleet bombarded the naval school at Vera Cruz, Mexico, we had our worst trouble.

The Mexicans were out to get the American flag which flew a German flag which probably saved the day for us, but they threw bricks and every other thing they could find through the windows. We crawled upstairs on our hands and knees to keep from getting shot. Captain Hamer, Texas Ranger, was also at the hotel at that time. We stayed on the roof of the hotel until almost morning. Nearly every American in the city was taken out that night by the German boat, Dresden, and placed on our battleship that lay in the Gulf.

The next morning the battleship taken out and placed aboard the Dixie ship, the supply boat to the fleet. Well they did not take us back to Tampico that time, but instead took us to Galveston, Texas, under orders from President Wilson.

So in about a week the general manager of the company we were with, my husband and the rest of the men, chartered a boat, and went back to resume work, but no women were allowed to go back.

We all women stayed in Galveston six weeks. We tried to get passage on every boat, but they would not let us go. So finally we decided to go on back on the train. We left Galveston, and went to Brownsville, and when we got to Matamoros there wasn't anything but a freight train. We boarded that and went to Monterrey. There we got a passenger train from Tampico. There were five of us women, and imagine the men's surprise when we walked in there that night, as we were coming. We... I was not back there long until I took yellow fever along with hundreds of others. While a great many died I pulled through, but I could not live there any longer.

I came to Sanatorium, Texas, in December, 1914. O. E. came in May, 1915, and from there we went back to Oklahoma. Markham was our first stop—then Drumwright, Shamrock, Hominy, Yale. Then in 1919 and 1920 we made the Ranger boom, and paid $18 a week for a room. It was impossible to rent a house. Well, we pooled our money with some more associated and drilled a hole at Leroy, Texas. After pioneering out there for a year in a tent which was visited by snakes and lizards, with what we had left we made our way back to Oklahoma. We lived in Apperson, better known as the Whisking field. We lived there two years.

In 1924 we went to Tenkawa, Okla. There C. E. was tool-pusher for the Amarado Petroleum corporation. They sent us to Stroud, Okla., then

CHAPTER I

ROYALTON AUGUSTUS HERRING brought his car to a stop beside the wall. Having done this, he got out and regarded the apple tree. The trunk was not in his line of vision, for it grew directly behind the wall. But certain branches of nomadic disposition had seen fit to venture over and, weighted down with luscious fruit, were brooding over the territory by the roadside.

"Well," thought Royalton Augustus, "it may be a felony, but here goes." And he reached for the lowest bough, feeling like Adam.

As he did so a slight spind startled him. A girl, a black-haired girl, suddenly popped up from the other side of the wall. The fingers of Royalton Augustus Herring closed on empty air. His hand came down with guilty swiftness and for lack of anything better to do with it, he put it in his pocket.

"Oh," he said. "Oh—er—er—um... I beg your pardon."

More of the girl appeared. He perceived that she had great iridescent eyes that put him in mind of the sea at sundown, and a wide mouth which looked as if it wanted to laugh.

"Go on," she said regarding him slyly. "Don't let me stop you."

"Well, I really—you know, I wasn't. That is, if you'll let me explain..." Royalton stopped, aware that he was jittering.

"I see," said the girl. "You didn't want an apple. You were just measuring something! Making a calculation, perhaps?"

"Why, how did you know?" asked Royalton, deciding upon a course of action. "As a matter of fact, that's just what I was doing. I was trying to figure out where I'd dropped my watch."

"Oh, I get it. You dropped your watch and it stuck in the tree. Well, it ought to be easy to find. I suggest this: Begin at the top of the tree and work down. You're bound to run it to earth that way."

"No," said Royalton slowly. "I think it's on the ground."

"How convenient!" The girl swung a leg over the wall. It was a silk-stocking leg and offhandedly Royalton Augustus couldn't recall when he'd seen a prettier one.

"Tell me, was it a good watch?"

"Nothing wonderful! But it—well, it had sentimental value. You see, it was my grandfather's."

"You ought to throw your grandfather's watch around like this," said the girl severely.

"Here, I'm coming down to look for it. Help me down."

ROYALTON AUGUSTUS was enraptured to obey. He did so with fervor. She landed heavily on her feet and then stood, tall, slim and smiling, at his side.

"You're not a baggage man by chance, are you?" she inquired.

"No. Why?"

"Oh, nothing. Just a passing thought."

"As a matter of fact," said Royalton Augustus, "I'm in the advertising business."

"Well then, what are you doing here?" the girl demanded. "There's nothing to advertise in this vicinity."

Royalton wasn't so sure. He wouldn't have minded at that moment roughing out a bit of copy about his-colored eyes and hair close-cropped and smoky black.

He said nothing to this effect, however. Ordinarily he was a fast worker, but this girl rather took the wind out of him. She was so direct and—well, disconcerting.

"I'm on my vacation," he explained.

"Oh, well, let's look for the watch." Her eyes were grave, but somehow he distrusted the gravity.

"Where do you think you dropped it?"

A golf ball floated lazily over their heads, missing them by inches. "That one had backspin on it," she said.

At this point a golf ball floated lazily over their heads, missing them by inches. "That one had backspin on it," she said.

Royalton puffed in silence for a minute. "It ought to be easy," he said at last. "Why don't you grab the first one you see and call it a day? No use racking your brain. One pin's the same as another."

"The iris eyes seemed to take on a sober look. 'But if you're not sure whether you want a pin...'"

"Ah," said Royalton, wondering why the sun should appear so bright. "That's another story."

The next instant the clouds blew up.

"But I guess I've got to want one," said the girl. "That explains the golf ball."

"Not to me, it doesn't."

"Well, I don't know why I'm telling you all this," she said. "But it's like this: I'm going to marry either Ronald or Wilfrid. By that I mean, only one of them will be the bridegroom. You understand that, of course."

Royalton nodded. "It's all right so far."

"But I can't decide which. So we're settling it on Saturday—with a golf match."

"Ronald against Wilfrid, eh? So they're golfers?"

"They are not," said the girl disdainfully. "They're the world's worst, both of them. You should see the lawn. Father's nearly crazy."

"I begin to see. Ronald and Wilfrid are here, practicing."

"That's right. You're smart to get it."

"Oh, I catch on to things quickly. Why don't they use the golf course?"

"Father has never let them use it. He's a life member of the club. He says he'd never live down the disgrace if they were seen there."

"But the match?"

"Oh, that's to be in the early morning. Before anyone else is up."

Suddenly Royalton looked at her. A wisp of dark hair was chivving her left earlobe. Her profile was straight and fine, ending in an I'll-take-care-of-myself chin. And all at once, he knew. This was the girl. To end girls.

"Look," he said boldly. "Is this a private twosome? Or can anybody get in?"

"Oh, that's to be in the early morning. Before anyone else is up."

"Well, now, as I get it the position is this: There's Ronald and Wilfrid and there's both your fiancés. But, being old-fashioned, you're only going to marry one of them. Well, somebody's going to get the thin end, aren't they?"

"Not necessarily!" The girl shrugged. "You see, if I marry Ronald I'm practically marrying Wilfrid. And if I marry Wilfrid... well, to all intents and purposes, I've married Ronald. Get it?"

Royalton Augustus shook his head. "After all, I'm just an ordinary guy. And this thing is sort of complicated."

"Well, you see, Ronald and Wilfrid look exactly alike."

"You mean they're twins?"

She nodded. "Even worse. They're dead ringers for each other. Not only that, they dress alike, think alike, act alike. That's why I say that if I marry one, it's the same as marrying the other."

Perryon's Boyer Favors Sales Tax

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—In the wake of final rejection of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment, opponents voiced opinion the people had been saved from a burdensome tax while supporters said they believed the people had been denied a democratic right.

Said Rep. Harvey Rivers of Fort Worth, member of the victorious opposition:

"I believe the people of Texas in the future will appreciate the action of the 56 in blocking a sales tax in the constitution. I believe they will realize after this political upheaval has died down that we were sincere

Squalus Reported Ready For Diving. Witness Testifies

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 22 (AP)—Executive Officer William T. Doyle Jr. of Baltimore, supported today the testimony of Lieut. Oliver F. Naquin, commanding officer of the sunken submarine, Squalus, that officers in charge of fore and after compartments had reported the craft "rigged for diving" immediately prior to its fateful plunge, May 23. Doyle, who also was diving officer of the Squalus, said Lieut. (J. G.) John S. Nochois of Chicago, in charge of the forward compartment, and Ensign Joseph W. Patterson of Oklahoma City, in the after section, reported the craft ready for the plunge just before the signal was given that sent 26 members of the crew to their deaths in 240 feet of water, 15 miles off Portsmouth.

Doyle, first witness in the third day of the naval inquiry, said he joined the Squalus as executive officer Jan. 16.

Lieut. Naquin testified yesterday he believed a recommendation made after another underwater disaster 19 years ago might have prevented the Squalus tragedy, providing it was the failure of an air induction valve that was responsible.

In response to a question from Capt. William R. Mumroe, assistant director of naval intelligence, as to whether the accident could have been avoided if there had been a device to prevent filling of ballast

Treasure Island--Loaded Down With Wealth Of Golden West And Far East--That's San Francisco Fair

Man-made Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay and the two magnificent bridge structures, costing $77,000,000, which connect San Francisco, Oakland and the fair site.

By PHIL SINNOTT
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, June 22—Four hundred acres were dredged up from the bottom of San Francisco Bay to form Treasure Island where the Golden Gate International Exposition opened.

Two great bridges, the world's largest, connect the exposition grounds with Oakland and San Francisco. Squared in the center of the bay, Treasure Island was brought up from the bottom as an airport to accommodate Pan-American Airways' trans-Pacific Clipper fleet, but gets its first use as the site of the exposition.

Eleven states of the far west, 28 foreign countries, 10 of them South American, are actively co-operating in this "Pageant of the Pacific." The Association of American Railroads has announced a joint tour of the San Francisco and New York fairs for a day coach rate of $90.

The Golden Gate Exposition site is extremely compact and accessible by automobile and ferry. Three huge airport buildings are being used for exposition purposes; all other structures are temporary, and later will be razed to make room for airplane runways. Right now, Treasure Island is a welter of trucks, lumber, carpenters and artisans, with day and night shifts. Most pessimistic estimates had it 70 per cent complete for opening day. A good guess was that exhibits would be 90 per cent complete and the "Gayway" 70 per cent complete when they rung up the curtain.

CANT BE WRONG
This world's fair is figured a $50-000,000 show. The principal construction budget was $17,500,000. Since Treasure Island was created as a permanent airport and seaplane base, the government investment is $7,200,000. Uncle Sam is also putting $1,500,000 into a federal building and exhibits. California is spending $5,000,000. Other western states, foreign nations and exhibitors' appropriations are figured at $2,000,000. Receipts from exhibit space and building site fees and advance ticket sales are figured at $8,500,000. Western business and industry subscribed an additional $7,500,000. Any surplus will be prorated. The fair looks certain to pay its way.
"See the whole west" is the theme song and the west will be replete with special attractions in every state.
Four hundred feet into the air on Treasure Island rises the slender Tower of the Sun. It is topped by a golden Phoenix, houses 44-bell carillon. It is the central figure in the Court of Honor, whence radiate the myriad of palaces, courts, fountains, statues, and so on that are the exposition.

It's quite an order to mix traditional Oriental, early Spanish, Maya and Inca motifs, give these a modernistic treatment—and still preserve a basic harmony. Yet this was done in the architecture of the main buildings—Court of the Seven Seas, Pacific Basin, Court of Pacific Shores—these and others were each assigned to a different architect. "A Pageant of the Pacific—not like anything heretofore built" was the unifying admonition. Each developed his theme even to lighting fixtures, statuary and landscaping.
Pastel Colors
Color is washed, rather than sprayed, into the scheme. Nearly 20 colors are used, all in pastel. New materials applied in the stucco make the walls glisten. Effect of this treatment and the colors are heightened at night by a complete new departure in indirect illumination.
Typical structures of various nations will house exhibits in special settings. Hawaii, East Indies, China, Japan and the Philippines will be massed in the Pacific Basin area. Japan will present native girls wearing silk. California has several buildings. Other states and British Columbia will use the Hall of Western States. Missouri, Illinois and Texas have their own buildings.
Statues, murals, bas-reliefs, medallions—these are here in profusion. Ralph Stackpole's "Pacific" is 80 feet high. Cadorna's "Evening Star" is another noteworthy sculpture.
Nearly 300 industrial firms are exhibiting in the palaces or their own buildings. The petroleum group, the "Treasure Mountain" of western mining interests and the world life displays of Oregon and New Zealand are notable among institutional displays.
The fun area is the Gayway. Eddie Cantor will have a night club there. Mae West is to have a Palace of Education. Jake Schubert of Broadway fame will have a club, and there will be a French Folies Bergere. An open air spectacle, Cavalcade of the Golden West, portrays Custer's Last Stand.
All For 50 Cents
Sally Rand is there—this time with a "Nude Ranch" where her lassies will wear sombreros and boots. A diving bell will lower patrons 40 feet in the shark and octopus-infested sea water—and a rocket ship will simulate a journey through the heavens. The Scottish Village is going on a realistic bent—even to importing a million bottles of Scotch beer. The bucolic touch will be the 3200-pound horse from Iowa. The other "whopper" will be a 36-foot snake, while to the other extreme go the midget village and Julie Charbeau's minute machinery.
Assuming you are in San Francisco or Oakland, it will cost you a dime to go to the Exposition by ferry. Or if you would go by auto, 50 cents will carry you and four other persons on the Bay Bridge to and from the Exposition. The admission is 50 cents—and thereafter, the costs are your tastes for amusements, your fancies for art goods, your fondness for souvenirs.
San Francisco has been called a gourmet's paradise. It is one of the few cities in the world where you can dine on shark's fin soup and Beking duck, escargot and crepes

Celebration Will Mark Opening Of St. Joseph Stadium

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 22 (AP)—A dual celebration—the Western Association party for baseball's one-hundredth birthday and dedication of St. Joseph's new city stadium—brings Judge W. G. Bramham, czar of minor league baseball, here tomorrow for an all-day sports jamboree.

Bramham, whose home is in Durham, N. C., and Tom Fairweather of Des Moines, president of the Western Association, will arrive late today for the festivities which begin with a formal reception for the two.

At a banquet Judge Bramham will present a silver bat to Cyril Moran, Muskogee first baseman, as the nation's outstanding rookie hitter in 1938. Moran hit .392 last year with Rogers, Ark., of the Arkansas-Missouri league.

Fairweather will name the Western Association player to participate in the minor leagues' centennial game at Cooperstown, N. Y., later this summer.

Policeman Shocked

VALDESE, N.C., June 22 (AP)—Policeman J. P. Stilwell would be the last man to ride herd too hard on the proprietries of dress these hot days, but he thinks a garbage collector here carried the thing too far. Stilwell said he came upon him, making his rounds, attired only in a straw hat. The collector was charged with indecent exposure and driving while under the influence of liquor.
