Tornado Kills 10 In Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS, June 19 (AP)—A tornado, jumping along 25 miles of countryside like a giant, destructive grasshopper, killed 10 persons about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, injured upwards of 60 and caused property damage of possibly $500,000.

Sections of seven-towns—Corcoran, Maple Grove, Champlain, Anoka, Cedar, St. Francis and Bethel—lying from 15 to 30 miles west and northwest of here were damaged with Anoka, a town of some 5,000, suffering most seriously. There were 40 to 50 buildings demolished and five persons were killed.

An automobile in which Mrs. Freeman, her daughter, Ellen, and the Bradleys, her son-in-law and daughter, were riding near Corcoran was whirled several hundred feet and demolished. Bodies of the occupants were scattered in a field. All the others were killed in the collapse of homes except Zimmerman. He was working in his garden when the tornado lifted him up, carried him several hundred feet and dashed him to death against a bridge.

An uncounted number of farmhouses, barns and outbuildings were laid waste. Adjutant General Eldard Walsh and his guardsmen took command of Anoka.

18 Arabs Killed In Haifa Explosion

JERUSALEM, June 19 (AP)—Eighteen Arabs were killed at dawn today and 24 were wounded by explosion of a bomb in the Haifa marketplace near the city's 230,000 port.

The Haifa Telephone exchange and street telephone booths were damaged.

The establishment of strict lines of police and troops about the scene of the explosion prevented details of the damage being given out until the task of taking the dead and injured to hospitals was completed.

This was the second large bombing within a week. Six bombs exploded last Tuesday at Tel Aviv, damaging a railroad station and wounding a considerable number.

A wave of terrorism in the long-standing Arab-Jewish conflict started up on the publication of a British government white paper May 17 announcing establishment of a Palestine state with Arab dominance. Immediately bombings and shootings were resumed.

Three-Man WPA Board To Be Nub Of Senate Fight

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—A desire to share with Republicans the responsibility for administering relief, and thus trim down Republican criticism of WPA operations, helped put the plan for a three-man WPA board into the House-approved relief bill.

The proposed board, substituting for a single administrator, is one of the three sections of the measure which will be at the center of the coming fight in the Senate.

The major argument presented against it is that a board is better adapted to policy making, where ideas need to be rubbed against each other, than to an administrative job—such as WPA—demanding quick judgment and prompt action.

Opponents are citing the internal disputes which have raged inside TVA and the bituminous coal commission, and the complaints raised against the labor relations board as examples of the troubles that can beset commissions and boards.

On the other side, a behind-scenes argument that helped put the board plan in the bill was the political view of the problem.

The merits of WPA were argued back and forth in the last campaign. Many Republicans said they were opposed more to the way WPA was being run than to the principle of WPA itself. Democrats, weary with responsibility, began to mutter:

"If that's the way they feel about it, we'll give them a share in running WPA."

This frame of mind helped produce the suggestion for a bi-partisan board. The House bill, which was passed in the House on June 16, took that section out of the bill.

Officer Absolves Crew Of Squalus

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 19 (AP)—A full-dress naval board investigating the sinking of the submarine Squalus, which still is the tomb of 26 men, produced testimony today that a faulty air induction valve may have allowed tons of water to pour into the vessel.

A dramatic scene marked the opening of the court, with Lieut. Oliver F. Naquin, commander of the Squalus, both absolving and praising the surviving members of the crew. In turn, the 32 others who were rescued stood silent when asked if anyone cared to make a complaint against Naquin's conduct during the accident and the ensuing hours on the ocean floor.

Commander A. I. McKee, planning officer at the Portsmouth navy yard, told the board of inquiry that it was "possible for the indicator (a flashing light on the control board in the submarine) to show 'closed' while the valve (air induction) still was open."

McKee was the first witness called before the board which began a probe to determine the cause of the sinking of the Squalus last May 23. Soon after the tragedy and the dramatic rescue of the 33 survivors, a seaman who was in charge of the control board told interviewers his lights showed the induction valve had been closed. Previously high naval officers said they believed an opened air induction valve had caused the submarine to sink.

Senate Committee Approves Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—The senate agriculture committee approved today a bill under which the federal government could underwrite $350,000,000 of private loans for purchase of farms.

The bill, by Senator Lee, democrat, Okla., would apply to farm purchases loans a principle similar to the federal housing administration. Aides of Lee said 92 senators, a majority, had signed the measure as co-authors, and that Chairman Jones, democrat, Texas, of the house agriculture committee would press for a similar bill in the house.

The bill would be administered by the Farm Security administration, which directs the government's existing program of financial assistance for farm tenants desiring to become land owners.

TIENTSIN, China, June 19 (AP)—Japanese military authorities tonight erected a 1,000-volt electric wire barricade around the British and French concessions here, further strengthening their blockade of the foreign area.

A Japanese engineer pulled a switch sending the current surging through high tension wires strung around the concessions, the aim being to prevent anyone trying to steal through the blockade under cover of darkness or pass fresh food across the barriers behind the backs of Japanese sentries.

British authorities considered evacuating their besieged women and children as the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions here continued its sixth day without a sign of either side weakening.

Spokesmen for the Britons, who are virtually imprisoned in the concessions by the blockade, said they were resigned "to fight it out."

If the British decide to remove the women and children they probably will sail aboard a passenger ship Wednesday for Chinwangtao and Peitaiho, a nearby beach resort.

Water shortage looms. A British destroyer returned to Chinwangtao today from Peitaiho, about 135 miles northeast of Tientsin, after apparently finding conditions normal there.

With delivery of fresh food supplies seriously curtailed although not entirely stopped, a new menace in the form of a possible water shortage appeared to be causing authorities to adopt measure to conserve the supply.

The chairman of the British municipal council issued a statement charging that while Japanese were accusing the British of hoarding flour and rice they were passing a definite policy of preventing sampans on the Hai river from delivering fresh food to the concession.

He declared the British never had withheld shipments of flour or other supplies.

Asked why sampans were not allowed to deliver food, a Japanese army spokesman said the army had no official knowledge but the measure probably was instituted "to prevent profiteering."

Japs Open Customs. Japanese took a further step today toward breaking down the regular Chinese customs service, by the blockade otherwise was little changed.

What was described as a temporary branch office of the Chinese maritime customs service was opened in Japanese-occupied territory of this North China port under direction of Japanese and Chinese obedient to them to facilitate clearance of vessels outside the concessions.

The regular customs house is located in the French zone. Britons, with business at a standstill, food supplies running dangerously low, prices climbing and the barricades at the concessions' borders difficult to pass, waited anxiously for London, Washington and Paris to act as signs grew Japanese pressure would increase.

Mystery Prisoner Visits U. S. Embassy

MOSCOW, June 19 (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Maria Rubens, for 18 months Soviet Russia's mystery prisoner, visited the United States embassy today "on business."

Mrs. Rubens, apparently at liberty, did not disclose her plans and the embassy declined further information.

She was convicted June 9 on a charge of entering the country on a false passport. A Moscow court pronounced an 18-month sentence and ordered her release the next day, holding that with the extra day she already had completed her term.

The whereabouts of Mrs. Rubens had been a mystery until today following the brief court appearance at which she acknowledged using a fraudulent United States passport to enter the country.

FDR Vetoes Special Retirement Benefit

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt vetoed today a Senate bill to grant special retirement benefits to civilian officers and employees who helped build the Panama Canal.

In a message returning the measure to the Senate, the President said he turned down the legislation with regret, adding that the Civil Service commission did not feel justified in recommending any further special recognition for such workers.

MURDER CHARGE TO BE FILED AGAINST BABY-SLAYER

FREMONT, Ohio, June 19 (AP)—Prosecutor A. L. Hyzer announced he would file today a first degree murder charge against Mrs. Velma Baker Pink, above left, confessed slayer of her 10-weeks-old baby, Haldon Pink, center, whom she first reported "kidnaped," and whose body was found in a creek.

Sheriff H. L. Myers, to whom she made an oral confession late Saturday night, said Mrs. Pink was too upset for further questioning last night, and that because of her condition two women were sworn as special jail matrons to watch her.

The 22-year-old divorcee admitted, the sheriff said, that she took her son from her parents' home in nearby Clyde, Ohio, last Tuesday night, drove about four miles out of town, and threw the blanket-wrapped child from a bridge into Green creek.

Myers quoted her as saying she determined to "get rid of" the baby after she quarreled with her mother over care of the child.

The child's father, Ervin Pink, right, who she divorced June 6 on grounds of gross neglect, said he would visit Mrs. Pink in jail today. "I still think a lot of her, and I forgive her," he said.

Doctor Says Cooper Slightly Improved

Ed Cooper, Wilcox Oil & Gas company pumper, burned in a fire resulting from a gas explosion that destroyed his house on a lease nine miles south of Pampa, Saturday, was slightly improved at Worley hospital, his physician said this afternoon.

Cooper suffered burns on back, arms, neck, and face. His wife, who was in the house with him at the time of the accident, was not hurt.

Little further explanation of how the blast occurred was known today. Cecil Gant, Wilcox superintendent, confirmed a report that Cooper heard a bubbling sound in the toilet, flared the commode, and the gas came out, igniting at once.

It was along this line, Mr. Gant said, that the investigation was proceeding. The house, a four-room building, was owned by the Wilcox Oil & Gas company, and the house and all furniture was totally destroyed in the fire. The fire also resulted in the death of the Cooper's dog.

Asked if the house was covered by insurance, Mr. Gant said he was not sure, but believed it was, as the house is owned by the company.

Former Hardeman Judge Faces Charge In Highway Deaths

BENJAMIN, June 19 (AP)—A grand jury may consider today charges filed against Joe McGee, former Hardeman county judge, after an automobile struck and killed two men Saturday night.

Sheriff Louis Cartwright said McGee slashed his throat as he was being taken to jail after he was found unharmed in the wreckage of a car, but that Deputy Sheriff Orvel Capehart of Knox county prevented McGee from injuring himself back there.

He was released under $2,500 bond on a murder charge and relatives took him to a Quannah hospital, Cartwright said.

The men, Floyd Anthony, 25, and Ray Young, 35, were hit on the highway near their homes at Truscott, Tex. The car crashed into a culvert, where it was found by a resident of the section.

King And Queen On Way Across Ocean

ABOARD THE EMPRESS OF BRITAIN, June 19 (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth sped homeward today, catching up on the rest and sleep they lost in their ceremonial visit to Canada and the United States.

At 6 a. m., CST, this big liner bearing the royal party was more than 800 miles east of Newfoundland. A warm south wind swept the decks.

10,000 Attend Lake Marvin Dedication

More than 10,000 persons frolicked at Lake Marvin, one of the Panhandle's new watering places near Canadian, Sunday afternoon.

In the crowd at the dedicatory exercises were hundreds from Pampa who joined in the program which paid a high tribute to Rep. Marvin Jones, of Amarillo, for whom the 65-acre lake was named.

Mr. Jones was unable to attend, but he was given a great ovation by throngs that lined the lake banks when a telegram from him was read. Every visitor at the lake opening Sunday went away with a good word for the fine hospitality shown by the Canadian hosts and by Jack Lawrence, official host and concessionaire at the lake.

Walker Heads Group. Pampa's delegation was headed by Postmaster C. H. Walker, a director of the Panhandle Water Conservation Authority and chairman of the Gray county lake committee; County Judge Sherman White, and Captain Reeves, secretary-manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The two-day dedicatory program was opened Saturday night with an Invitational Commogee's Ball held in the new recreational building. A second ball for the public was held Sunday night.

Sunday's program consisted of barbecue at noon and 5 p. m., official dedication in the early afternoon, motorboat races, swimming, and dancing.

In the bathing beauty contest to select Miss Lake Marvin, Queen of the Canadian, top honors went to Miss Wilda Dixon, pretty Canadian girl, and when the judges' choice was announced the thousands of spectators cheered their approval. The boldest and beautiful Miss Dixon was awarded the huge gold loving cup by Capt. Jim Line of the State Highway Patrol.

Beautiful and stately Miss Jean Tomberlin of Amarillo who only two weeks ago was awarded the title of Miss Tierra Blanca at the opening of Buffalo Lake near Amarillo was awarded second honors in the contest. Miss Laura Louise Studer of Canadian was third, and Miss Mary Sue Spiller, of Canadian, was fourth.

Judges in the bathing beauty contest, in addition to Captain Line, were Postmaster C. H. Walker, Pampa; Judge Sherman White, Pampa, and Judge H. E. Hoover of Canadian.

Flannel Speaks. Hundreds of families took picnic lunches and spent much of the day under the beautiful shade trees of Lake Marvin.

The dedicatory address was given by H. H. Flannel, regional director of the Soil Conservation Service, and his message was a powerful argument for full water utilization in the plains area.

He stated that when properly utilized the storage of all surface water available in the High Plains area will be worth $160,000,000 annually in increased production of wheat and farm lands plus a value which cannot be measured in dollars—derived from wildlife, health, sport, and recreation, as a by-product of the surplus water.

Pampans at the opening of the new lake yesterday were given some idea just what the new Lake McClellan—a much larger lake than Lake Marvin—will mean to Gray county and its surrounding territory when it is opened.

Work now is progressing on Lake McClellan. Only last week word was received that construction of cabins, recreational facilities and other needed projects at the lake soon will go forward.

It is highly probable that Lake McClellan will not have its official opening until next spring, because of the fact that much construction work remains to be done.

A number of Pampans attended Sunday morning the church services conducted at the Adobe Walls Boy Scout camp at Lake Marvin.

Solon Claims Five Heard Leo's Remark

Piner Says Texas Should Decide Who Has Lied

AUSTIN, June 19 (AP)—Rep. E. G. Piner Jr., chiropractor from Greenville, today challenged Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to come before the house of representatives tomorrow to back up certain charges against house members which Piner said the governor made in his radio broadcast yesterday.

"Yesterday the governor accused certain members of the house of being liars and traitors to this state," Dr. Piner said. "The people should know who's telling the truth. Therefore I challenge the governor to appear before the house tomorrow in order that this body may hear both sides and decide who is the liar in this case."

Piner asserted "Daniel's accusation resulted from an affidavit signed by five members stating that the governor had told members he knew the special interests ruled the state but was not going to fight them and would accept for the old people the crumbs that fall from their laps."

"Called 'Judas Iscariots,'" O'Daniel yesterday had said: "Some Judas Iscariots who are trying to kill S. J. R. 12 (the sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment) have even falsely quoted the governor, as having said certain things about S. J. R. 12 as ridiculous as saying the world is flat, instead of round. But their effort was too ridiculous for any intelligent persons to believe. I do not know of any special interests who are in favor of S. J. R. 12."

The affidavit to which Piner referred was signed by four other house members and himself. "Either five house members lied," Piner told his colleagues, "or the governor lied. I want the people of Texas to know which it was."

Many house members had grown weary of personal privilege speeches and there were cries of "no" when Piner strode to the microphone. He promised to be brief, however, and was.

After Piner had concluded, Rep. Major N. Westbrook of Fairdale delivered a personal privilege talk in support of the taxation constitutional amendment advocated by the governor.

The talks were a prelude to a final test on the constitutional containing a two per cent retail tax. Sponsors apparently intended to postpone that test until tomorrow. The legislative session will end Wednesday.

Rep. W. J. Galbreath of Wharton followed Westbrook to the microphone. Governor O'Daniel, he said, had indicated his feelings were hurt by the "stubborn 56."

"Well," Galbreath shouted, "Ours have been hurt by the stubborn 91 crew. A fractional part of the wealth of Texas has been taxed and the drive for the S. J. R. 12 representative."

Spencer Claims He Sold Estate For Economic Reasons

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., June 19 (AP)—Howard Spencer, still irked over a brush with customs officials, said today the real reason he sold his Krum Elbow estate across the Hudson from President Roosevelt's Hyde Park home was the New Deal's relief program made it impossible for him to hire workers to pick apples.

Spencer charged "retaliation" was responsible for customs officials halting the yacht, Maja, on which he was returning from a Brahman cruise, and seeing that the Pompano Friday after it had cleared customs inspection at Port Lauderdale.

"President Roosevelt is mistaken," Spencer, outspoken New Deal critic, declared. "He thinks I sold Krum Elbow to Father Divine (Negro religious leader) to spite him. But I didn't. I sold it for economic reasons."

Spencer quoted customs officials as saying they were seeking valuable church robes believed to be aboard the Maja. After seizure of merchandise Spencer estimated as worth $50 from members of the crew, the customs officers permitted the yacht to continue.

A new "peacock mode" is being discussed in New York as a possible important trend in fall fashions.

Modified bustle effects and back skirt fullness have been labelled "something to watch" by the fashion world.

Among these designers is Sally Milgrim, couturiere to a number of Manhattan sophisticates, who has designed her new evening dresses with hip drapings and bustle bows and her midseason day dresses with back skirt fullness. Such frocks, concentrating interest at the back of the skirt and giving the effect of careful design and fit, will produce a new mode of elegance, she believes—"a peacock mode in which women my strut a bit."

Though it is too early for definite fall predictions either as to line or color, more evidence of the peacock trend may appear, she thinks, in a greened blue (softened and muted version of the color of the peacock's plumage) as a dress hue to contrast with brown furs.

Among summer dresses which the designer has created with the new back influence, is a street-length black chiffon cocktail-dinner dress fashioned with a knife-plated skirt and a tunic top rounding upward like an apron at the back where it is caught with a big black chiffon bow. It was worn at a recent luncheon fashion show with a toque covered with rich red roses.

The back influence appears again in an evening gown, whose skirt, alternating narrow rows of black and white Valenciennes lace, is fashioned to fall on "easy" lines in front but sweep into quaint gathered fullness in the back. Its black faille top extending to the hipbones, ends in a bustle bow.

Bustle bows are the effects most often used by designers at present to indicate the new interest in the backs of dresses, but other effects appear. Fitted jackets of silk silks are designed with brief papium tails that flare smartly behind.

Use bluing with care in the laundering of clothes; too much will give your garments a grayish cast. Add a little bluing to two cups of water, blend completely and then pour in the last rinsing water. Put in a few clothes at a time and keep them moving to avoid streaking. If clothes stand too long they will absorb too much bluing.

MODERN MENUS

Make the most of the declining strawberry season. Give the ruddy little fellows a big hand. This is how:

Strawberry Delight
(Serves 10 to 12)

Ripe bananas, 2 egg whites, 1 cup strawberry preserves, 1-4 teaspoon salt, angel food cake, fresh strawberries.

Rub bananas through a sieve and measure 2-3 cup banana puree into bowl. Add egg whites, strawberry preserves and salt. Then beat vigorously until mixture is thick and creamy and has lost all its spongy texture. This will take about 10 minutes of beating. Remove center from round flat angel food to 1-1/2 inches of bottom and sides. If you use a cake baked in tube pan, make a bottom to the hole made by tube with a small disc of cake removed from center. Pile the banana strawberry mixture into the hole in the center. Garnish with whole fresh berries.

Raspberry Whip
(Serves 4 to 6)

One cup raspberries, 2 tablespoons confectioner's sugar, 2 egg whites, 1 tablespoon sherry or lemon juice.

Wash raspberries and add sherry or lemon juice. Beat whites very stiff, adding a little sugar at a time. Fold berries into egg whites. Chill. Place small pieces sponge cake in bottom of tall glass. Fill with this chilled berry mixture. Top with whipped cream.

A leftover hint—cover a casserole of savory macaroni and cheese, or spaghetti and tomato sauce, with chopped cooked ham blended with a dash of onion. Bake until hot clear through and serve.

Expert Urges Broiling By Electricity

What food is more delicious than tender, broiled meat or chicken? We all love to eat broiled meats, but we don't always enjoy cooking them. When planning company meals, don't you sometimes hesitate about broiled foods, for fear they will heat up the kitchen, or fill the house with objectionable smoke? Then, too, broiling must be done just before serving time and damage to hairdress and make-up must go unrepaired to the dinner table.

This problem of broiling was mentioned today by Miss Bonnie Duke, nationally known home economist of the Edison General Electric Appliance Company, Inc., makers of the famous Hotpoint line of home appliances, when she arrived to conduct the electric cookery demonstration program, to be held at Southwestern Public Service company tomorrow and Wednesday. The Gunn-Hinerman Tire company, local Hotpoint appliance dealers, have arranged for Miss Duke's visit here.

Miss Duke continued: "Much of the bother is eliminated from broiled meats when they are done electrically. It's the pecking, smoking, and flame adjustment that have made broiling difficult in the past. Electric broiling is accomplished with glowing, measured heat. With Hotpoint's duo-speed broiler, you set the switch at speed broil or broil, depending on the food to be cooked, and the degree of rareness you wish.

slide in the meat previously arranged on the broiler pan, and broil it until time to turn. You needn't stand over the broiler, filling your eyes with heat and smoke, because you know there can be neither too much nor too little heat.

"Many women who believe they could never achieve at home that special flavor obtained by charcoal broiling, have found an entire new cooking vista open to them by the electric range broiling method. "Hotpoint's duo-speed broiler, in addition to providing a heat suitable for charcoal type broiling, and for rare steaks and chops, offers a second broiling heat, suitable for bacon, toast, liver, chicken, or pork chops. With this new electric broiling heat, "barbecue" type meats can be prepared at home. A chicken, for instance, which is too small for roasting, but too large for frying, is perfectly delicious when cooked under Hotpoint's new broil heat, with the oven door closed."

Army Will Try To Tie Sand Dune Down

LAS ANIMAS, Colo., June 19 (AP)—The U. S. Army is about to wager $2,000,000 that the Federal Soil Conservation Service can tie down a dancing sand dune.

It's a tough job, the Soil Conservation Service admits, but it is convinced that its experience in the southwestern dust bowl virtually makes it certain the dune will be strapped in place.

The sand is one side of the Arkansas River, near here. On the other side of the stream is the site of the proposed $14,800,000 Caddo dam that will water dry lands of Southwestern Colorado and Western Kansas.

Along the river are the tracks of the Santa Fe railroad and the dam will inundate the right-of-way. Army engineers were assigned the task of moving the railroad out of the way.

They figured if the 20 miles of new road were built north of the river the cost would be more than $5,000,000 for a right-of-way thru 100 an acre farm land and for the construction work.

On the south side of the river is the giant sand dune. The new road must be acceptable to the Santa Fe, and it won't risk taking title to a line that will be in constant danger of being covered with sand. The dune is treacherous, shifts constantly with the wind.

So the army, knowing the Soil Conservation Service had lots of good luck anchoring sand dunes to Texas Panhandle lands, called in experts from that branch of the government.

They estimated the dune could be "stabilized" and the railroad built for $2,000,000, half of what it would cost north of the river. If they fail, that much will have been spent in vain.

Nabors Given Nine More Years in Pen

DALLAS, June 19 (AP)—Nine more years were tacked onto Guy Irby Nabors' prison life Saturday for the pistol slaying of Eddie Roark, his 43-year-old attorney.

The young Dallas desperado, under 12 year sentence as an habitual criminal, stoically accepted the new punishment.

Found guilty of murder with malice by a jury that pondered the case 20 hours, Nabors had pleaded self-defense. Roark was shot four times in the hallway of Nabors' home on May 12.

Prosecutors tried to prove Roark's slaying was a "hit" job and "put on the spot." Testimony revealed Roark had been keeping company with blonde Scherrie Nabors, wife of the defendant, for many months. She admitted illicit relations with the attorney, not because she loved him, but to keep him at the task of defending her husband.

Nabors said he fired at Roark in defense of his life and home after the attorney had attempted to force his (Nabors') wife to accompany him to a ball game.

Telephone Teamwork in Texas

Some people are surprised to learn that there are 396 telephone companies serving Texas. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is the largest, it is true. But there are others—395 of them—which have the important job of providing telephone service in about 830 Texas towns and cities.

The Southwestern Bell is glad its lines connect with the lines of these other Texas telephone companies, blanketing the state with a vast network of wires—so that boundaries between companies are not barriers to quick, state-wide telephone service.

Through teamwork and friendly co-operation, 396 Texas telephone companies work together to furnish Texas with telephone service that is fast, accurate, and dependable.

Long Distance in Texas is cheap. You can telephone 100 miles for 60 cents (3 minutes conversation, day rate, station-to-station).

Man Or Machine

New Jersey voters go to the polls June 20 to ballot on an amendment to the state constitution which raises a moral issue of wide interest and which may influence the future of horse racing throughout the United States.

The question is whether the state shall legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse races. Some of the biggest figures in the turf world are taking part behind the scenes.

Leading the fight for pari-mutuel betting is Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City. Head of the opposition is former state Senator Lester H. Cleo, the Newark minister.

At present New Jersey has no legalized betting. As in almost every state, unlicensed bookies operate from cigar stores and poolrooms in the large cities. But the wealthy race track followers of New Jersey now must cross the Hudson to New York, the capital of American racing, to wager legally at the tracks.

New York has legal bookmakers at the race courses who pay the track a daily license fee. The state in turn taxes the track on its admissions of $2.50 a head. If New Jersey adopts pari-mutuels, New York will be forced to follow suit when the question comes up in November.

Pari-mutuel forces contend that their system will turn into the state treasury as taxes money which now goes into the pockets of unlicensed bookmakers. They also argue that pari-mutuel wagering permits the man with $2 to place a bet legally at a race track, whereas at tracks where legalized bookmakers operate the price of admission is prohibitive.

With a pari-mutuel system would come a state racing commission of probably three $5000-a-year jobs and several hundred minor positions which politicians could dish out as patronage. New York might stand to gain $10,000,000 in taxes, New Jersey somewhat less.

But would either state gain? Pari-mutuel opponents answer that with a resounding "no" and then tell you why: pari-mutuels would increase the state's tax burden by turning plenty of dollar bills from the cash registers of stores to the betting windows at race tracks; the system would force evasion of the law because unlicensed bookmakers would continue to operate; pari-mutuels take 10 per cent from all wagers placed whereas legal bookmakers return 100 per cent; pari-mutuels would open betting to a large group which cannot afford to gamble.

Whatever the decision of New York and New Jersey voters, it is highly important to racing throughout the country. And the stewardship of those into whose control betting on races is entrusted may well kill or preserve the sport of kings.

The Nation's Press

AN INCOMPARABLE RECORD (Knoxville, Ia., Journal)

The Young Democrats at Des Moines made much of the "incomparable record of the Roosevelt administration" and indorsed him for a third term "if he makes himself available." The Journal hastens to accord Mr. Roosevelt all the honors (?) so justly due him on this incomparable record. For instance:

- 1. He is the greatest spender in recorded history.
2. He has the greatest record of unredeemed political and economic promises.
3. He has fooled more people more times than any demagog in history.
4. He is the most expensive and persistent fisherman in all the world.
5. He and his family have commercialized the White House to a greater extent than any President in history.
6. He has created the greatest national debt in American history.
7. His policies have been responsible for the most politically corrupt period of American history.
8. He has sought and acquired more political and economic power than any peacetime President.
9. He has done more to destroy the confidence of Americans in themselves and their form of government than any 10 Presidents.
10. He has created more business uncertainty, class hatred, visionary Utopias, and popular unrest than all his predecessors combined.
11. To cap the climax of his "incomparable record" he is the only American President to receive the unqualified indorsement and support of the communist party of America.

Yes, it is without question an "incomparable record"—incomparably bad.

TWO STEEL CASES

One week ago the C.I.O. filed claims with the National Labor Relations Board against the Republic Steel Corporation for $7,500,000, asserting that this amount was due to some 5000 employees discharged at the time of the strike in "Little Steel" two years ago. On Tuesday the Republic Corporation retaliated by filing suit in the Federal District Court in Cleveland against the C.I.O. for an identical sum, alleging violation of the Clayton act through a conspiracy to curtail its trade by means of acts of violence, intimidation and coercion.

There is one particularly interesting and instructive aspect of the situation thus created. This is the fact that though the two cases arise from the same strike, they will go past each other on parallel lines of litigation, to be adjudicated before two separate tribunals. There will be no single agency to consider the situation as a whole and to weigh the merits of the two rival sets of claims as they should be weighed, in relation to each other. This is because the National Labor Relations Act intervenes in the problem of industrial relations only on one side of the question. It lists, and provides punishment for, various "unfair labor practices" on the part of employers. From first to last it has nothing to say of unfair labor practices on the part of employees.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

THE CHICAGO NEWS RENDERERS A PATRIOTIC SERVICE

The Chicago Daily News rendered a very patriotic service when it ran a front page, double column editorial on the subject, "The Way Back to Prosperity." The writer of the editorial understands the fundamental principles of the laws of production and prosperity.

Inasmuch as education is largely repetition, I want to quote briefly some of the statements made in this editorial:

"Wealth is the offspring of production. What we call trade or exchange is the distribution of wealth. When these two things—production and exchange—work smoothly, in balance, we enjoy prosperity."

"If exchange—that is trade—breaks down, production stops. It is of no use to produce goods if they cannot be sold. The regulator of exchange (that is the sale of goods) is PRICE. When prices are in balance exchange runs smoothly. When there is a great spread in prices (some too high, others too low) there comes depression. And hard times last until prices are once more brought into balance. Then exchange (trade) revivifies to be followed by increased production, greater volume, restored employment, increased purchasing power."

The editorial goes on to say that "In all previous depressions, recovery has come about by the fall of HIGHER prices to the level of LOWER prices, thus restoring the balance in prices essential to recovery."

Then the editorial briefly explains why this policy was not followed under the present depression. While the editorial does not so state, the present policy was started under the Hoover administration.

The editorial states that one reason that high prices were not permitted to go down was that people who owned high priced stocks and bonds, labor leaders, manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, all insisted on their prices being maintained. The only group that did not object to prices coming down was the farm group. These had already been liquidated. So Hoover and the New Dealers raised borrowing and taxing and spending to raise all prices in line with prices that had never come down.

The editorial continues: "But to raise prices in a depression is to go contrary to nature. It can be done only by fixing prices artificially."

"In a free economy prices find their own level. To fix prices, artificially, requires a planned economy, an economy of rigid rules and restrictions administered by a bureaucracy."

It is my opinion that if the government would follow the policy expressed in the Col. Knox's paper, we would soon have a much greater prosperity than we have ever enjoyed in the past and I know of no Republican better qualified to carry these principles into execution than Publisher Frank Knox. On the Democratic side, I know of no man who would better carry these principles than Senator Josiah Bailey of North Carolina.

However, it is a question of education and if the wisest man who ever lived and the most moral and conscientious man were President, he could do little, or nothing, without the public permitting the government to function in a manner that would permit an approach to free enterprise. Colonel Knox is rendering a great service in the field he is now in.

SCHOOLS CRITICIZED FOR LACK OF TEACHING DEMOCRACY

In a new book, "Democracy by Thomas Jefferson," edited by Dr. Saul K. Padover, the author very emphatically expresses his opinion as to the failure of schools to properly instruct what democracy means. Dr. Padover was born in Austria, educated in the United States, professor of history in West Virginia, Research Associate of History at the University of California, received a Guggenheim Fellowship for research work in Europe. So his experience should give him a good insight as to what democracy means. Especially is this true, since he has so thoroughly studied the writings of Jefferson.

In the introduction of the book, Dr. Padover says that he has been impressed with "the unfortunate ignorance of the meaning and function of democracy that prevails in many sections of our population. This is notably true among so-called intellectuals. Our schools cannot be too severely condemned for this situation; they—particularly the historians and political scientists—have failed in their primary function, that of educating our citizens in the history and significance of American democracy."

And if one reads the text books in the public schools and state colleges, one cannot help but be convinced that we have miseducated the youth of the land and that this miseducation is largely the cause of the catastrophe in which we find ourselves.

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON

Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 19—More than a thousand families which used to live in slums will celebrate Independence Day this year by moving into brand-new homes which are clean, airy, modern—and which they can afford to live in.

Although the New Deal has been tangling with the rehousing problem ever since its early days, this is the first time that any really large-scale movement of actual slum dwellers into new homes has taken place.

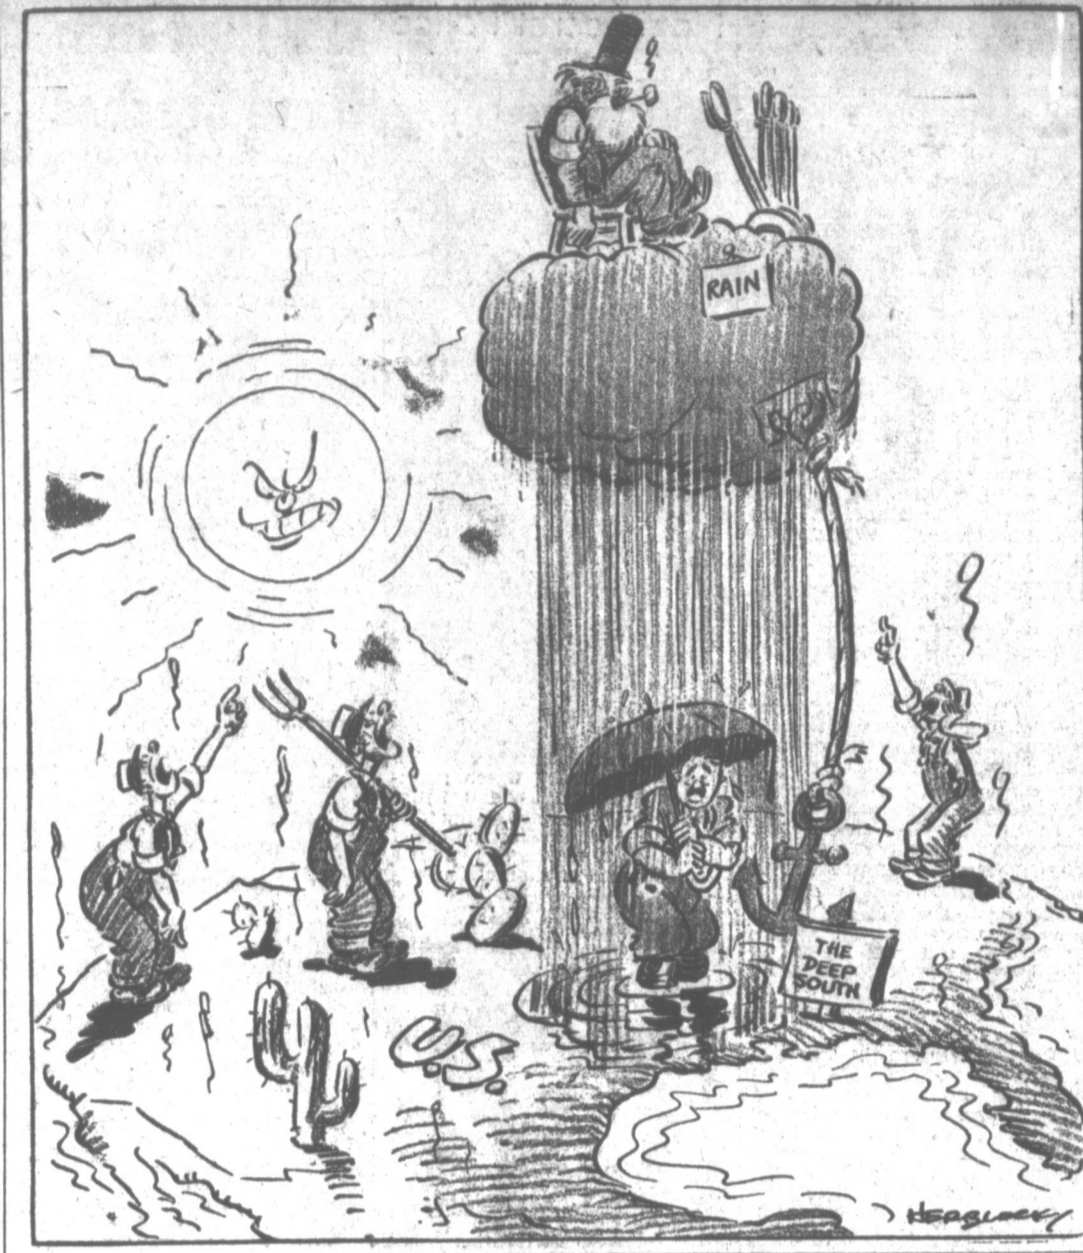

Many slums have been cleared before, to be sure, and many new homes have been built with federal money—but, in practically all cases, the new homes have just naturally been too expensive for the slum dwellers.

Now it is going to be different.

Five Open on the Fourth. Five housing projects, being built under the program of the U. S. Housing Authority, are now getting their finishing touches and will begin providing homes for their new tenants on July 4. These projects are:

Brentwood Park at Jacksonville, Fla., where 60 families will move in and 240 will ultimately be housed; Santa Rita at Austin, Tex., which will open for its full capacity of 40 families; Lakeview at Buffalo, N. Y., which will take in 100 families of its ultimate capacity of 608; Wilbert Park, also in Buffalo, which will eventually house 173 families and will take in 30 on Independence Day; and Red Hook, in New York City, where 800 families will move in and where 2541 will finally be housed.

HOLLYWOOD, June 19.—Although working in quite a hilarious comedy for the first time in her life, Greta Garbo continues in her austere and solitary existence. Even while producing belly-laughs (she hopes) for millions of customers, the Spirit of Sweden still does her emoting with black screens to hide her from the stacks of carpenters and electricians on the set.

During most of the picture, "Ninotchka," Miss Garbo will be something less than glamorous. Again she's a Russian, but not a bejeweled beauty of czarist or czarlet days. You'll see her as a hard-boiled, plain-looking, shabby-clad Soviet commissar who is sent to Paris to straighten out a mess involving the sale of an ex-grand duchess's confiscated jewels.

But Paris gets her. You'd know, of course, that sometime during the picture she'd have to be glamorized and put into a lot of slick clothes. During her first encounter with champagne, she gets as tight as a snare drum. In another sequence she takes an inelegant prat-fall. She also is conquered, but of course honorably, by the smooth Mr. Melvyn Douglas.

Russian Protest Will Help Film. Douglas seems to be a French count. The grand duchess is in love with him and she uses him in persuading the French government to restrain the sale of her jewels.

But the cause is lost when the count begins to go around with the lady commissar and sees her bloom. Pygmalion fashion, under the influence of orchids and night clubs. Three other commissars, male comies, also are involved, and they are sure to steal many a scene. They also are a certain continuation for future pictures.

The big, bearded one, Sig Ruman, is a German whom you have seen many times in inadequate roles. The other two are real Russians except that Felix Bressart, the tall, skinny one, is a refugee from Germany, where he did most of his stage work. Alexander Granach was snatched from a local play.

There isn't a chance that this picture ever will be released in Russia, which buys very few American pictures anyway. "Ninotchka" pokes a lot of god-natured fun at the Soviets' system. For example, Miss Garbo's roommates in Moscow are a woman street car conductor and a lady cellist in an orchestra, and the latter expresses alarm that she may be accused of sabotage because she played a sour note that day in rehearsal. And one of Douglas' cracks is, "I've admired your Five Year Plan for 15 years."

An official Russian protest probably will be made against this film. Metro hopes so, anyway. Every yelp will sell a lot of tickets in the United States, and the studio is especially anxious to re-sell Garbo to this country because

Our 14-year-old friend, Linder Phillips, has turned out to be quite a pedaler. Remember several weeks ago we announced that he was going to pedal a bicycle to Kansas. Well, he did, and in good time, too. He left here Monday morning at 6:30 o'clock, and arrived in Liberal, Kans., that night. He spent the night in Liberal and next day pumped his way to Scott City State park, arriving there at 7 p. m. He stayed in the park that night, and pedaled on to Menlo, Kans. the next day, arriving there at 10 a. m., at the home of his father. He traveled the 350 miles between here and Menlo in a total of 28 hours, which is pretty good pedaling, isn't it? Besides that, he spent $3 on the long trip.

We'll put up Art Swanson against anybody as the hairiest man in town. His chest, and even his back, looks like a wig. Incidentally, he is and always has been one of the best swimmers in town. These boys need to have something to keep them busy, and they need money to help their families. So do all you can to help these boys out this summer.

WE DON'T HAVE any trouble like this in Pampa, but over in St. Louis grandmotherly Mary E. L. Philadelphia pastor, is out to smash vice, but she isn't using the smashing methods once employed by Carrie Nation. She's more subtle. She takes her pious show crusade, for instance:

She announced that "the strip tease must go." But when the show management and officials paid no attention, she didn't rave. She just went to the show nightly—seven times in a row—and sat there. After the seventh night she announced triumphantly:

"NOW EACH GIRL is wearing a new white, little brassiere all the time. The show closed for the season shortly thereafter months ahead of time. Mrs. Ellis and her volunteer vigilante committee have set up other vice targets, including the liquor tavern, obscene literature, marijuana smoking and jitterbug dancing.

The 65-year-old, white-haired leader of the drive went to St. Louis a year ago and looked over book stores. She had the proprietor of one arrested on charges of obtaining obscene literature. Others voluntarily cleaned out their book stalls. She went on from there and says the clean-up job looks so big now that she can't say when she'll be through to strike at vice in other parts of the nation.

THERE'S NO MORE pitiful sight than to sit on the sidelines and watch somebody trying to be a big shot. A lot of fellows with splendid opportunities, let them go to pot because they get an idea that they have a corner on the world's ideas. This reminds us that it's nice not to be important enough to have to wear a coat when it's 109 in the shade. Just remember that if success goes to your head then it went to the wrong guy.

For self-protection we must first report that this comes second-hand—but, if what they say is true, the "fired show" with the carnival that folded its tents here on the week-end made Sally Rand's nude ranchers appear well dressed. We didn't make mention of it while the show was in town because we didn't want to pack the place.

EVERYBODY FROM PAMPA and there were many of them, who went to Canadian Saturday night and Sunday for the Commodore's Ball and the official opening of Lake Marvin, report that the new water resort is a honey. If Lake McClellan is half as nice, they say we'll have a pleasure resort paradise right here in Gray county. Well, it will be just as nice and three times as big.

The office bachelor says one of the grandest persons he ever saw was driving (on Saturday afternoon) a coupe bearing Texas license 459-677. Yeah, that's what he's angry about, too—he missed the last two numerals in the license number. You may as well stop anticipating that vacation—only a few weeks, and you will have to go back to work again.

THE BOY WONDER took his first swim the other day at the tender age of three years, five months and 24 days. It was quite an event—one which nearly was beclouded by the fact that he wanted red tights and search as we did, the best we could do in his size was blue. But, once in the water he soon forgot the color of his trunks, and then the next difficulty was getting him out of the water. Now, he spends odd moments blowing up a pair of water wings and diving in the family bath-tub. We're thinking about putting on a full-time life-guard out at the house.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

Is my child a genius, average, or dull?

Motherhood would like that question answered the day the baby is born. But an accurate answer is not possible in some instances until some years have passed.

More important is the question: Has this child the capacity to adapt himself to the conditions under which human beings live?

The mastery of subjects studied in school rarely indicates adaptability to the conditions of life. The reticent child with a good mind may be underestimated; the aggressive child, with characteristics that will certainly interfere with success, may be overestimated.

The earliest signs of the development of intelligence in the young infant are closely integrated with the acquisition of control of the muscles and emotional behavior. Behavior, in a large part, is learned. The types of behavior present at birth will be modified and changed by the infant's experiences.

The human infant at birth is helpless and able to perform only those functions which necessary to maintain life. She can suck, swallow, and cry to gain attention. New abilities are rapidly acquired. He learns to seize the nipple with less help. If it slips from his mouth, he moves his head and lips and later employs his hands in order to find it again. During the first few months of life, ability to use the eyes develops rapidly. The baby will stare intently for a long time at bright objects, such as lamps, sunlight on the wall, or windows. During the second month, the eyes follow moving objects. Movements of the head accompany the eye movements after the first few weeks of life.

At about the end of the second month, the ability to manipulate objects begins to develop. There may be a jerky waving motion of objects placed in the hand.

After another month, the infant uses the hands and fingers for making brief explanatory movements, but the association of eye and hand movement does not develop until a little later. Without looking at the objects, the child moves them with his hands. He gazes with interest but makes no attempt to reach for things he wants. By three or four months of age, the child has learned to connect his hand with his mouth, to coordinate his eyes, to pull or push his feet and hands, and to hold up his head without support. If he is lying prone he can lift the upper part of his body.

By the time he is 6 months old, he should have learned to turn himself over and should be making efforts to sit erect.

NEXT: The second six months.

Roy Ray And Greenhaw in City Golf Finals

Young Caddy Shoots 69 In Semi-Finals

Roy Ray, caddy, "owned" by G. Allen in the Calcutta pool, will meet Reginald Greenhaw in the finals of the 36-hole city golf championship to be played on the links of the Pampa Country club next Sunday.

Ray and Greenhaw were the winners of the semi-finals played yesterday at the club. Ray defeated Elmer Watkins 3-1. Watkins played a good game, shooting one over par, but Ray shot a snappy 69 to win.

In the championship flight yesterday, Greenhaw shot a 70 to defeat Health 1 up. Greenhaw sank a putt for a duce on the 17th hole. On the next hole, Greenhaw pushed his drive to the right, giving Health a chance to tie the match. Health pulled to the left getting out of a bad lie, and the two players halved the hole.

Race Distance May Be Cut By Crew Coaches

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—"Drown the Golden Bears; muzzle the Huskies."

These two cryptic commands, painted on the rafters of the Wisconsin boathouse—and endorsed by Columbia, Cornell, Navy, and Syracuse—seem to be about the only solution for ending the Far West's dominance of the Poughkeepsie regatta, the "world's series" of crew racing.

The records reveal either California's Bears or Washington's Huskies have won the event 10 times since Washington first crashed thru back in 1923. And since 1932 only Navy (last year) has been able to break that strange hold.

What the records fail to show, however, is the unanimity of opinion among the eastern coaches who want to see that record wrecked, not only for the good of the sport, but for the good of their own reputations.

Most potent suggestion made during the forty-second annual Hudson river frolic was to cut the varsity distance from four miles to three. The Eastern boats, ice-locked in practice houses while the Coast kids are getting the year's first coat of tan, cannot get ready for the long haul in the short space of time available.

California, this year's record shattering victor (chased in by Washington, also in record time) won the frolic race in 1938, yet none of those sweepstakes made the varsity boat this year. Five of them got into the jayve shell and will be ready for next year's "lang rache" as the Dutch, who started the "on to Poughkeepsie" boom years ago, used to call it.

Washington, winner of Saturday's frolic race, was a powerful second in the varsity jaunt—with five sophomores in the boat.

So it's either drown the Bears, muzzle the Huskies, or pray that Syracuse, surprise winner of the three-mile race, will be as good a varsity.

British Not So Mad After Syd Clears Texan

LONDON, June 19 (AP)—A clamor for staging a "mile of the century" on Sydney Wooderson's own track and with his own officials arose in London today as sports writers cooled off somewhat and began to admit Blaine Rideout of Texas did not really knock his Sydney down and sit on him at Princeton Saturday.

Wooderson himself did a lot to clear the air. Writing in the News-Chronicle, he said, "I lost several yards and there was no opening for me to get through. I would not say it was intentional. I do not think it was.

"I am certain I could have won if 'I incident had not happened."

This is bound to help the situation. Americans have not been as unpopular in London as they were late Saturday night since the disturbance at Bunker Hill 163 years before to the day.

Newspapers took up the cry for a return match. Wooderson himself said, "I am very much hoping that Chuck Fenske will come over to England for the international meeting at White City between the United States and Great Britain on the August 7 Bank Holiday, when we could meet again in the mile. I am still confident I can beat him."

Writers who were proclaiming yesterday Wooderson was robbed, now think he was well below his usual form.

Chicken Shoot To Be Held Sunday

Members of the Pampa Gun club are planning a chicken shoot to be held at their field north of the airport at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Tommy Templeton of Amarillo is to help conduct the match. Plans have not yet been fully completed but are expected to be announced soon.

In the match, chickens will be given as prizes to the best marksmen.

In the skeet shoot held yesterday afternoon, Jerry Rogers scored 91 out of a possible 100 points. Dr. Adrian Owens, 83 out of 125. Tom Perkins, 88 out of 100, and Jess Ross, 61 out of 75.

Woman Threatens To Dent Gil's Head With Bottle

Gil LaCross, the "dirty" wrestler from Canada, is more scared of a large, hefty woman who usually sits in the east stands at the wrestling arena than he is of Sugi Haymaka.

This woman, a rabid wrestling fan who usually pulls off her shoes and eats peanuts and pop while she hurls insults at the Canadian, has promised to invade the ring and clean up on Gil with a pop bottle if he gets as "mangey mean," as she described it, as he did last week.

And Gil's afraid she's going to do it.

"I'll not stop her if she does," Promoter Cliff Chambers said. "I can understand why she or anybody else would want to dent Gil's head with a pop bottle—or a hammer!"

"I've taken all I'm going to do off'n that lousy cheat," said the woman who was hoarse from screaming epithets at the Canadian. "He can get rough with all the others, but not that little Jap."

The woman has always been one of the Jap's biggest "lung supporters."

Gil said this morning that not anything the woman does will deter him from slapping the Jap's face, gouging his nose and eyes, choking him, and finally socking him until he's out. "I hope she does come in that ring," he declared. "There might be another woman there to meet her. Like there was over at Amarillo last winter when two wrestlers' wives fought it out after their husbands had gone for three falls."

The semi-final bout will see Dale Haddock who is also a villain try to obliterate Pete Belcastro, the Portland lumber jack.

In the opening bout, Otto Ludwig and Sailor Jack Adams will stage a mean exhibition. One is just as tough as the other—and just as dirty.

Texas League Race Tied In Three Ways

(By The Associated Press)

The Texas League race, of complexion as changeable as a timid school marm, was a hefty question mark today, and it was up to Houston, Shreveport, Dallas or San Antonio to do something about it before frantic bleacherites claw out of hair and fingernails.

Houston's Buifs beat Dallas' Rebels 3-2, then lost the second game of a doubleheader 5-1 yesterday and the ambitious Shreveport Sports took Fort Worth 9-3 and 6-3 to tie three ways for the leadership.

Just a half game behind them through victory over Tulsa's Oilers 6-3, were San Antonio's Padres.

clines to stay in second place if they convert the Oklahoma City Indians to their use tonight.

But the Indians, who lost to Beaumont 5-4, then beat the Exporters 7-5, in a nightcap, may be hard core. They may remember that recently by losing a doubleheader to the Padres, they boosted the latter into first place, then slapped them down again the next night.

The Rebels and Buifs clash again tonight in a double game and the losers could find themselves in third place if the Padres and Sports win. Otherwise "the race may string out again."

The Exporters-Indian bill was envisioned in the first game when Manager Al Vincent of Beaumont was knocked off his feet by Oklahoma City shortstop George Meyer in a fast play at second. Vincent raised his leg and appeared to push his spikes at Meyer.

The Indians rushed from their dugout and Manager Willy Moore threw a punch or two at Vincent. The police got things under control but fans hurled threats and pop bottles at Vincent for the rest of the afternoon and he was escorted thru a gesticulating crowd when the last out was made.

Where they play tonight: Houston at Dallas. Shreveport at Fort Worth. Beaumont at Tulsa. San Antonio at Oklahoma City.

Red Horses Beat Texians 5-4 In Twice-Tied Battle

Magnolia Flying Red Horses need out the Amarillo Texians 5 to 4 in a twice-tied baseball game at Road Runner park here Sunday afternoon.

The visitors began registering in the third when they scored two runs. The Red Horses came back in the same inning to tie the score. Again in the eighth inning the score was tied, after the Red Horses had forged to the lead in the fourth with one run, added another tally in the sixth, and the Texians added a run in the seventh, then tied the score in the next inning.

In the last half of the ninth, White, Red Horse, flew out to shortstop, J. Simmons hit a two-bagger and Doneleon, with a sharp single to left field, brought in the winning run.

Howard, Red Horse pitcher, struck out nine Texian batters and walked two, while the opposing hurler, Bowling had four strikeouts and three walks to his credit. Callahan, Texian second baseman, scored a homer in the seventh, knocking the ball over the left field fence.

Wooderson Given Blame By Runners

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—For a little fellow, Sydney Wooderson, the 136-pound Briton who holds the world outdoor mile record, has managed to stir up a great big fuss so far as track fans and writers are concerned, the outcome of his appearance in the Princeton Invitational mile last Saturday is threatening to wipe out all international good will created by the recent visit of England's king and queen.

Far from winning that "mile of the century," as he and most British foot-racing fanatics had expected Sydney came in last while Chuck Fenske, former University of Wisconsin star, took first place in the rather ordinary time of 4:11.

And when the time came for the final dash to the tape, Wooderson was involved in a collision or near-collision with Blaine Rideout, the Texan, lost his stride and never recovered. Glenn Cunningham took second some five yards behind Fenske. Archie San Roman was third and Rideout outlasted Wooderson by a step or two for fourth.

Far West Dominates Collegiate Track

LOS ANGELES, June 19 (AP)—Western collegiate track stars, their honors in Saturday's national championships neatly tucked away, lurched their eyes toward Berkeley today where Pacific Coast conference stars will settle their annual dispute with the best from the Big Ten this week.

Southern California's N. G. A. victory, the second-place ranking of Stanford and Washington and State's fourth behind Michigan indicated the Far West would have the stronger team in the Big Ten struggle at the University of California field.

Nazi Goebbels Gives Pep Talk In Free Danzig

BERLIN, June 19 (AP)—Nazi newspapers today described as a "plebiscite" the pro-German demonstrations conducted by residents of the free city of Danzig after Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels had told them they would "return to the Reich" and that Adolf Hitler was "watching over" them.

In two addresses closing culture week in Nazi-dominated Danzig, which was German before the World War, Dr. Goebbels failed, however, to state when and how Danzig would return but said "no amount of diplomacy or power politics can change this fact" that Danzig is German.

Headlines in Berlin newspapers maintained that "Danzig's people have spoken" and Nazi circles here described the speeches as another "hand" of warning to international intriguers.

Polish circles in Warsaw showed little concern over Dr. Goebbels' remarks which the Warsaw press called "theatrical" and "the light-minded speech of Minister Goebbels." Danzig is now within the Polish customs administration.

In an impromptu speech Saturday night Goebbels ridiculed "talk in Warsaw and London as mere nonsense" and called on his hearers to "remain strong and straightforward." Yesterday he spoke of culture as an ally of "critical times like these" and declared "culture must raise its voice loudly; it must rise to be a witness before the entire world against lies and lack of judgment."

All-Blind Casts Will Give Play

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—Members of a small band of actors—all of them blind—are rehearsing intensely these warm spring nights, hoping eventually to take their histrionic vehicles "The Torch-Bearers" to clubs in adjacent towns to aid the sightless.

All are members of the Chicago Braille Theater Guild, described by Lawrence Buroker, one of the actors, as unique in that its presentations are given by all-blind casts.

"These players study their parts by Braille and the words of the script for the most part furnish their action cues, but the almost insidious thicket of a bracelet or the tapping of a chair may be their guide."

"The group," Buroker said, "was organized eight years ago because of the dramatic inclinations of its members and to educate the public to realize blind persons are no different from others—except they cannot see."

"Acting for the blind has several distinct values. It gives an opportunity for self-expression and a sense of freedom. We know that if we keep our heads we will get around on the stage all right and this gives us self-confidence which helps relieve tensions in other situations. It also helps in business for it teaches the use of the same facial expressions other people have—a gift sightless persons accept as a matter of course."

To date the group has produced 15 one-act plays.

Hammer Slayer Escapes Prison

MARYSVILLE, Ohio, June 19 (AP)—Mrs. Velma West, 33, of Painesville, serving a life sentence for the hammer slaying of her husband, and three other prisoners escaped today from the state reformatory for women.

The other fugitives, and the charges on which they were sentenced, were: Virginia Brawley, 19, of Akron, incorrigible; Florence Shelton, 23, of Gallipolis, breaking and entering, and Mary Ellen Richards, 23, of Cincinnati, robbery.

Mrs. West was convicted of killing her husband, Thomas Edward West, in December, 1927. West, 26, was a son of T. B. West, nationally known nurseryman of Perry, Ohio, near Cleveland.

Young West was found dead, bound hand and feet, with his head smashed by a claw hammer and a table leg in his wife, then 29, was said by officials to have gaily attended a bridge party in Cleveland following the slaying.

Muskeleers Beat Borgans 10 To 6
The Muskeleers, Pampa girls softball team, beat the Borgers All-Stars 10 to 6 at Borgers yesterday afternoon.

Smart pitcher and Hetschell, catcher, were the batteries for the girls who came from behind in the fifth when they were trailing 3 to 1. In the sixth inning they ran in three more scores.

All-Star batters were Rhoda Plantmons, pitcher, and Clark, catcher. The Muskeleers completed one play—from Bennett to Musgrave to White. The Pampans scored three runs in the sixth.

Wooderson Denies Making Statements

PRINCETON, N. J., June 19 (AP)—Sydney Wooderson, saying he sought to clear the atmosphere of many false statements attributed to him, issued a statement today describing his being crowded in the Princeton invitation mile run Saturday as "an unfortunate accident."

He called it an "accident" occurring in the heat of the race which is best forgotten.

Wooderson, holder of the world's outdoor mile record, finished fifth in a field of five here. Chuck Fenske, former Wisconsin star, was first in 4:11, with Wooderson's potential place clouded in dispute over how much he was set back when he lost his stride as Blaine Ridout, the Texan, sprinted past him.

Wooderson's statement expressed "regret" that he could not run in this country again because of other plans, but in answer to a question he denied he had said he would never race in the U. S. again.

"I shall have a chance of meeting Fenske and the others again at the international meet in August at London," he said.

British Win First Polo Game Since 14

WESTBURY, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—The widely advertised "perfect" polo team which the United States did not use to defend the Westchester International cup last year, yesterday falls a bit short of perfection.

Lacking an experienced defensive back, the 40-goal polo team turned out to be just four ten-goal players when it suffered a 16-14 setback at the hand of Great Britain's internationalists yesterday.

Of course, the Americans did give away a 10-goal handicap, but that's just what they should have been able to do, according to the ratings.

The win gave the British team the better of a chilly satisfaction of winning their first game in history, national play against the United States since 1914.

SERIAL STORY

BRIDE ON A BUDGET

BY JANET DORAN

Yesterday, Bart and Iris go on their honeymoon, spending lavishly. But Iris, a miser and like him, but Iris favors an old-fashioned, old-fashioned life.

CHAPTER X

THE third week of their honeymoon vacation, Bart received a long telegraphic night letter from Britton, the new man managing the shop during his absence. It was the thing he had dreaded all along, fully expected. The budget customers were defaulting payments. During his absence, they were neglecting their contract obligations.

They went home at once, though Iris protested tearfully. They were having such fun, they never had such fun before, had they? And they might not have any vacation at all next year! Why did they have to go home a whole week early?

"It's only four days early, dear. Business. I have to get back at once." And he thought, "If I default that bank payment, there'll be fines. I can't even make the interest, if they don't make up the back payments." And his disgust over credit, its abuses and misuses mounted.

It was beautifully cool for September, and Iris decided to give a dinner party to celebrate their home-coming. She didn't have to report back for work until Monday morning, and it was only Friday. They had been home ever since late the afternoon before. And Bart had stayed at the shop going over things with Britton and Stevens until after midnight. He was going to work every night this week. He was, that is, until Iris sprung the dinner party without warning, Saturday night.

Bart turned to the bathroom, rebellion warring all over his serious young face. He had ten days overtime on the books and accounts, a week of hard work getting out special letters and correspondence on the delinquent accounts. He was tired, irritable, nervous. And of all people he knew, he cared least to see that night, the Negleys, Hammonds, and Trents.

"IRIS, have you any money at all saved?" Bart asked, coming in to tie his white tie, completed last minute touches to her toilet. She had on a new powder blue chiffon gown purchased that very afternoon, and he grinned a little, watching her preen.

"Where would I get two dimes to save, Bart? You know I haven't. Why?"

"I'm in a bad jam: need some ready cash in a hurry, dear, that's all." He looked at the new dress then, realized he hadn't seen it before.

"New dress, Iris?" She shook her head quickly. Put her mirror down hastily, but not in time to cover the little shop tag his quick eye detected.

"Not new," Bart said slowly. Picking up the mirror, staring at the price-tag; $19.50, marked down from $25.

"Of course it's new, Bart. I didn't want to tell you because you make such a scene every time I buy so much as a pair of stockings."

"I see." He looked at the long rod running the length of the closet, packed with her lovely clothes.

"They're all new, Iris," he said heavily. "I . . . I should have known." Then suspicion laid cruel fingers at the throat of his reason. "Are they all paid for, Iris?"

Frightened, she shook her head. "Not . . . quit . . . all paid for, Bart!" And when he was still, letting the awful import of that sink in, "Bart don't you understand? I haven't done anything wrong; I've done no different than I've always done. I buy all my things this way. I always have. Since long before I met you. It . . . it's the only way girls who work like I do can have nice things."

"Nice things. You had to have clothes fit for a society girl, on wages that were capable of buying only a working girl's wardrobe, Iris. You . . . never told me. You didn't want me to know. All this time, you kept me from finding out."

"Bart, it isn't wrong! Just because it isn't your way, doesn't make it wrong! There can be more than one right way of doing things—there is."

"Debts, time payments, budget books. Living beyond our means—so far beyond we're paying for living three months ago in installments, now. Running with a crowd of shallow, extravagant, spendthrift morons because you think it's smart, because you think they're smart."

"Bart, hush! They're . . . coming. Bart, you can't spoil my dinner like this! With an awful, stupid scene."

HE turned and walked out. Not tying his tie. Not taking hat, coat or anything. He walked past the Negleys coming in, and the Hammonds coming down the hall and he didn't speak to any of them. Just nodded and kept on going. Like a man in a trance, Ho said. Like a drunk, simply glazed, Yolanda shrieked.

"Bart's furious with me," Iris explained brightly, her color a bit high, and her voice shrill, "but we'll go right ahead."

They did. They went through the perfect dinner Iris had assembled with the aid of Martha Levitt, a little colored girl who cooked and cleaned by the hour. They laughed and joked and wisecracked their way through $12 worth of wonderful dinner. Then nothing would do but Iris must come along with them to the club dance.

AT 12, when she said goodbye to Yolanda and Ho, outside her door Bart had not yet returned. At 12:30, she stopped trying to stay awake any longer. She did not hear him come in, quietly, shoes in one hand lest he disturb her. Or hear him undress carefully and slip into his own bed without turning on the light.

When she awoke in the morning, he was gone, but the coffee kept hot over the low flame on the gas plate, and the remains of his hasty breakfast proved he had been home.

At noon, when she telephoned the shop, Bart wasn't in. So with Ellen Kent, Iris lynched at the Chocolate Shop, having an exciting time after all, despite their lack of husbandly escort.

"I'm simply jittery with nerves, Ellen," Iris confided over her peach ice cream, "you know that fur coat sale down at Beldin's? Well there was a mink coat there, a perfect treasure of a coat . . ."

"Was?" Ellen asked, laughing. Because she knew Iris so thoroughly.

"Was is right. It's mine now, Ellen. When I get it all paid for. But what's driving me into nerves is the fear Bart will find out. He'd be simply fit to be tied if he knew."

"Then why take the coat, Iris? If you know he'll be so furious."

"You don't understand, Ellen. This is a bargain—one to a lifetime kind of bargain. I simply had to have it. My winter coat is all worn out, and I'd be silly to pass up an opportunity like that. Only Bart thinks business is so bad. That is, it's good but he hates having his business all in time payments, and he thinks it's terrible."

"Maybe he's right, Iris." Wait till you see it. Only he'll know, now, because he found out about the other things I got on budget payments."

"Well if the coat is worth the worry and trouble, why bother?"

"In that coat," Iris breathed softly. "I feel like a princess of a queen. I feel—precious. Ellen, I feel rich, secure, sheltered. I feel—I wanted."

Oil Company Taken Over In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, June 18 (AP)—Officially well informed circles said today that the Mexican government had taken over the properties of Petroleros Imperia, an oil equipment salvage company operating in Tampico where it has loading, warehouse and terminal facilities.

It was reported the company was taken under a labor claim from 700,000 pesos, ($140,000).

Last February Imperial's 18 employees filed a claim against the company, charging it actually was an oil company and therefore obligated to pay wage increases ordered by the Supreme Court. This court order preceded expropriation of various British and American companies March 16, 1938, including an affiliate of Imperial.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Light buying put further drops under the stock market today and, at the best, leading issues set up fractions to around 2 points.

Volume was small either way. The morning push was attributed partly to some loosening of tension over far eastern affairs as Prime Minister Chamberlain announced talks were now going on in London and Tokyo looking toward settlement of the threatening Tientsin dispute.

On the side of rising trends was a more than look-for jump in this week's estimated steel mill operations.

Cheering also, marketwide, were: business failures last week fell to 212, a bottom mark for any far week this year; the Pennsylvania Supreme Court declared unconstitutional the state's graduated tax on chain stores and theaters; hopes for a quick passage of the tax revision bill by Congress continued strong, and general business prospects were believed brightening.

While rails dragged along with the red-carrier stockholders derived from mounting traffic earnings, Southern Pacific, for instance, disclosed net operating income for May nearly five times that of the same 1938 month.

Shares well ahead the greater part of the day included U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, American Telephone, Union Carbide, Great Northern and Standard Oil of N. J.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—Continuing the wheat market decline under way since the first of the month, prices today sagged more than a cent a bushel at one time to a level about 9 cents under the recent seasonal high.

Liquidation of July contracts, heading of new grain and weakness in foreign markets were factors in the trade.

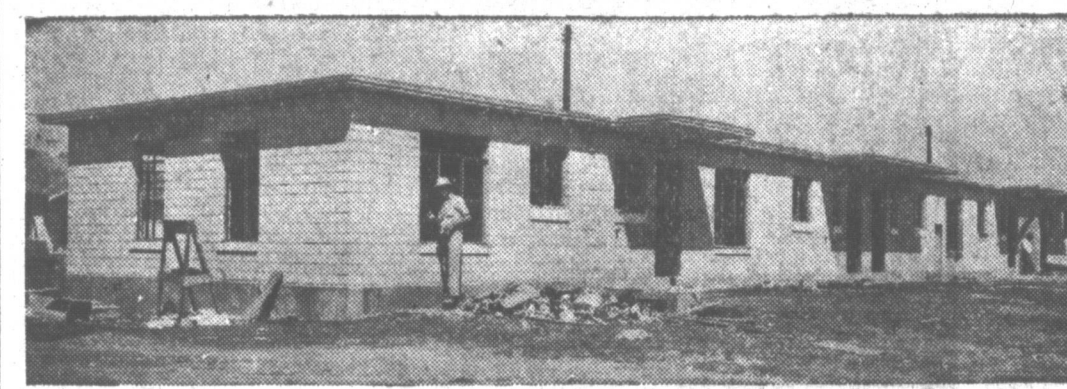

The price slump attracted short covering and there were a few crop complaints. This buying caused a partial recovery from the lowest level in seven weeks but wheat closed 1/4-1/2 lower than Saturday, July 7 1/2-7 3/4, September 7 1/4-7 1/2, Corn was 1/2-1/4 lower, July 49 1/2, September 51 1/2-1/4 and oats 1/4 down.

Rent will be only $6.00 per month. At right, is home-made shack, adjacent to project, where Vignes family now resides. Government is opening four other such projects on Independence Day—Lakeview and Willert Park, at Buffalo, N. Y.; Brentwood Park at Jacksonville, Fla.; Red Hook, at New York City. Ultimately, the five projects will provide new residences for 3,662 families who now live in slums.

Planes To Be Named For Five State Heroes

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 19 (AP)—Braniff Airways, Inc. announced today it would celebrate its 11th anniversary this week with ceremonies in each of the cities it serves between Chicago and Brownsville, Texas.

As a feature, President Tom E. Braniff said six of the company's Douglas B-liners would be dedicated to heroes of the five states the line serves and Mexico. Special dedicatory exercises will be held in Chicago, Kansas City, Wichita, Oklahoma City, Houston and San Antonio.

Oklahoma's ship will be named "The Sequoyah" after the Indian who invented the Cherokee alphabet. The name will be carried on the plane's nose and a plaque on the cabin door.

Chicago will dedicate the liner "Abraham Lincoln," after Illinois' famous son; Kansas City the "Mark Twain" after Missouri's revered sage; Wichita the "General Frederick Funston" after the Kansas soldier who led American forces in the Philippines and Mexico, and Houston the "Sam Houston" after the former president of the Texas republic.

In San Antonio, a high-ranking Mexican official will dedicate the liner "Benito Juarez" after the Mexican leader.

The first Braniff plane was flown 11 years ago tomorrow between Oklahoma City and Tulsa. Today, Braniff operates a fleet over 10,000 miles daily.

Screen Notables Will Testify In Buckner Trial

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—An early-morning airplane trip to Washington by William P. Buckner Jr., and an unidentified woman was paid for, a banker testified in federal court today, with a $43.80 check drawn on a bank where Buckner had no account.

Buckner, promoter and man-about-town, is on trial charged with conspiracy and using the mails to defraud in connection with alleged manipulation of Philippine railway bonds.

George H. Phillips, of the bank of the Manhattan company legal department, testified Buckner had no personal account at the bank although the Philippine railway bondholders protective committee, of which Buckner was chairman had an account.

Phillips' appearance on the stand was a prelude to calling several Hollywood notables to testify to the morieland activities of Buckner.

Among them were Everett Crosby, Bing Crosby's brother and busness manager, who was subpoenaed as he stepped off the Queen Mary today, home from a European honeymoon. He was expected to tell how he advised his brother against purchase of the Philippine railway bonds.

Judge Rules Out Wage-Hour Law In Citrus Industry

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 19 (AP)—Federal District Judge Alexander Akerman issued a temporary order today restraining the government from enforcing provisions of the wage-hour law against citrus processors.

A hearing on a motion for an injunction was set for next Monday at Asheville, N. C., where Judge Akerman is vacationing. He came here today to hear the citrus case.

The order was granted to the Lake Wales Citrus Growers Association and five other concerns which contended Wage-Hour Administrator Eimer Andrews did not properly construe intent of the act in defining its applications to citrus processing.

O'DANIEL

Galbreath went on to say the people had not been "sold down the river." He added never before in American history had 56 men been subjected to more pressure as had been placed on the opponents of the S. J. R. 12.

"Remember the Alamo, Goliad and San Jacinto," he cried in conclusion, "and defeat S. J. R. 12 for all times."

Rep. S. J. Isaacks of El Paso, in another speech on personal privilege, observed Governor O'Daniel had referred to the 56 opponents of S. J. R. 12 as "Judas Iscariots."

He also said the governor also had spoken of "the sickening picture of debauchery" in the capitol and read Webster's definition of "debauchery."

"Just why are we thus held up to the people of Texas as traitors to our country and corruptly disloyal to our constituents?" Isaacks asked.

"Only because we exercise our constitutional duty in doing what we considered to be right for Texas."

He, too, asserted the pressure for S. J. R. 12 had been without precedent.

"We have been threatened with political oblivion," he declared. "It has been intimated to members whose bills have passed both houses that such bills might meet executive disapproval if they opposed the re-education now being considered."

It said he had been informed lobbyists representing the special interests had been more numerous and more insistent at this session than ever before.

"It has been stated that the special interests are back of the opposition to S. J. R. 12," he continued. "I do not believe that one member of this House endorses this statement as being true."

"It is a well-known fact that the larger corporations, especially those interested in exploiting our natural resources, if, in fact, they are not original sponsors thereof, are, and have been all along, supporting H. R. 16 and S. J. R. 12."

He declared major oil companies had been active in support of S. J. R. 12 and their large lobby had

"brought all kinds of unfair and reprehensible pressure to bear on some members to coerce them into voting for this amendment."

Isaacks then charged some oil companies had a scheme to force the daily press of Texas into bringing editorials and publicity pressure on members.

"Put Up Or Shut Up!" These companies, he said, had planned a big advertising program, and had passed word along to some daily papers that if S. J. R. 12 was not approved the companies would not be able to buy the advertising space contemplated.

He said he knew of at least one advertising agency which had requested daily papers to bring pressure on representatives of the House minority.

"The editorial columns and the news columns of the daily papers are not for sale," Isaacks concluded. "The free and uncontrolled press is the salvation of constitutional government. It is the greatest foe of dictators and the only insurance of democracies of their continued existence."

Meanwhile, in the upper chamber Senator Joe Hill of Henderson called upon the governor to "put up or shut up" regarding his statements about the House minority.

"He made charges in his radio broadcast yesterday which, if true, should call for impeachment," Hill shouted.

"If they were merely idle statements by a man overzealous in carrying out his purposes, then he owes an apology to the members of the House whom he has libeled."

"If his statements regarding lobbying are not true they amount to nothing more than utterances of a man who casts reflections upon public officials and representatives of business."

Hill asserted similar statements made by a private citizen would have brought on an investigation.

"As far as I am concerned personally I want W. Lee O'Daniel as a man or as the governor to put up or shut up," Hill snapped.

Reading from what he said was a copy of the governor's radio manuscript, Hill said the governor referred to the "little handful of designing leaders of the minority of 56 members."

The East Texas senator labelled the minority bloc the "most courageous and noble" group in the legislature.

He also mentioned the governor's charge special interests purposely had organized two groups, one pretending to support the sales tax amendment and another actually fighting it, and asserted:

"I call upon the governor to produce what facts, if any, he has to lead to such accusations. I call upon him to prove his allegations or eat his words."

Hill recalled the chief executive said several weeks ago the doors of certain departments had been slammed in his face when he sought information about him.

"Until this good day he has not named these departments," Hill declared.
