Deaf Students In Louisiana Strike

BATON ROUGE, La., May 11 (AP)—A strike among boy students at the state school for the deaf today brought State Superintendent of Education T. H. Harris to the school from his capitol office to seek a settlement.

Between 40 and 50 boys stayed up all night and this morning refused to attend classes. A teacher said the youths went on strike in protest against the deaf school's superintendent, L. R. Divine, because he insisted the graduation edition of the school's paper be dedicated to him instead of one of the teachers selected by the pupils. A teacher said he boys during the night mutilated Divine's enlarged photograph hanging on a school wall.

Automobile Pulls Driver Burns Up

NEW ORLEANS, May 11 (AP)—Merton Oxford thought he heard a horn blowing and shouts when he drove his automobile from the curb. A back glance revealed nothing. He drove on, but the vexing horn blasts continued.

Six blocks further, Oxford drew up to the curb, exasperated with his ears. "When he got out he could hardly believe his eyes. A midget automobile's bumper was hooked into the rear bumper of his machine. The midget car's owner was inside. He, too, was exasperated.

I Heard--

That Bill Garbe and Art Verrongia of the Pampa Oilers were found in their room huddled over a fire and wearing sweaters this morning. The pair came here from California and they can't get used to the Panhandle weather. And Verrongia is doped to pitch against Lamesa tonight.

Public Asked To Pass On Plans For Play House

Civic-minded Pampans will gather in the city commission room in the city hall at 8 o'clock tonight to look over plans for a recreation building for Pampa.

A set of plans prepared by Townes & Pank of Amarillo were approved at a meeting of the project building committee last week. Tonight the public is invited to attend a mass meeting, study the plans and then suggest ways and means of raising Pampa's share of the project. Tonight's meeting will not be for the purpose of raising money but for the public to approve the plans and discuss the finances.

The proposed building would have a full size gymnasium with more than 1,000 seating capacity and more than twice that many for center floor events, play rooms, locker rooms, club rooms, dining rooms, and kitchen. "It is a big undertaking but I believe we can put it over if everyone will help," Dr. H. L. Wilder, general chairman, said today. "Instead of having just a dozen or so at tonight's important meeting, let's have a couple of hundred so that we'll have to move to the auditorium."

Daladier Tells Of Military Alliances To Check Violence

PARIS, May 11 (AP)—Premier Daladier told the chamber of deputies today that France "in accord with all other states which wish to live honorably" had concluded specific military alliances to prevent "violence and threats from leading Europe into catastrophe."

"The true problem," he said, "is to know if the different interests which can divide peoples will be regulated by methods of peaceful collaboration or by violence and force." He asked if it were necessary to recall "violated promises, torn-up accords, nations which have disappeared or been subjugated despite the most solemn promises made at the same hour when contrary decisions were being taken."

Daladier declared "love of peace is so profound for all peoples of the world that no one must call on it to cover all forcible undertakings."

Derby Entrants Asked To Attend Meetings

Sanity Trial Ends 22 Days Of Hunger

ENID, Okla., May 11 (AP)—Strengthened by a glucose injection, a 40-year-old accused slayer who went on a hunger strike 22 days ago was carried into district court on a stretcher today for a sanity hearing, called to precede his trial.

The defendant, Roy Murphy, who started his fast "because I'd rather die than go to trial," appeared somewhat revived by the glucose forced into his veins as he was brought before the same jury selected to try him on a murder charge.

Accused of killing his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Murphy, last Jan. 13, the defendant was carried into court yesterday, his eyes staring from their sockets and his cheek bones prominent in his emaciated face.

District Judge J. W. Bird refused to grant a continuance. He instructed jurors that should Murphy be found insane he would be confined in a hospital until he could stand trial.

Murphy refused to answer questions of his attorney, James Mathers, or give a sign he understood. A county jail trusty told the jury Murphy curtly ordered him away.

Eight Believed Dead In Chicago Elevator Blast

CHICAGO, May 11 (AP)—An explosion and fire tore a rambling grain elevator asunder with such suddenness today firemen feared at least eight workmen were killed.

The flames spread to four neighboring elevators and enveloped a quarter square mile in searing heat.

Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan said it was the largest fire in Chicago since the $8,000,000 conflagration at the stockyards May 19, 1934. Five city firemen and four other men, two seriously hurt, were taken to hospitals.

Preliminary estimates placed the loss to grain and properties at well above $1,000,000.

Reports that casualties might reach a score could not be confirmed because the heat kept firemen some 100 feet from the ruins. W. H. Gassler, superintendent in charge of operations for the company, said eight men were believed to have been trapped in "A" elevator.

Because of the size of the structure and intensity of the flames, firemen said it was impossible immediately to determine the casualties.

350 County Families On WPA Relief Rolls

An estimated 350 families are on Gray county WPA relief rolls today compared with approximately 175 families at the same time one year ago.

Alvira Williams, social worker for the division of employment, Amarillo, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Pampa interviewing persons who left the relief rolls, returned to private employment and now are again seeking relief employment.

All WPA assignment quotas in Gray county are filled, Mrs. Willie Baines county relief agent, said today, and there is an excess of persons who cannot be placed on WPA jobs.

Recent reductions in WPA financial allotments to counties caused a lay-off of several relief workers here within the past week, it was stated.

Principal WPA projects now in operation throughout the county include the Gray county dam, housekeeping aid, grasshopper control, fairgrounds, indexing of county records, paving in Pampa and McLean, and the summer recreation project.

"No assignments can be made to any of these projects," Mrs. Baines said, "with the exception of the McClellan dam project, and there is no need for men there at this time."

Soap Box Derby officials announced today that it will be highly beneficial to every boy entered in the Pampa News Derby to attend one of the three "shop-talk" meetings to be held tonight.

Beginning at 7 o'clock tonight, the boys, or any boy who plans to enter, is urged to go to one of these three places:

The agricultural shop rooms on the High school campus, the Seior-Junior High school workshop in the basement of the High school, or the band room at B. M. Baker school.

Boys who now have coaster-cars under construction are asked to bring them to one of the shops where suggestions and constructive criticisms will be made by attendants who will be in charge.

It will provide an opportunity for boys planning to build a car for entry to see how it's done. Fundamentals of getting off to a good start in construction will be explained.

The derby is open to boys in towns and communities in the Pampa trading area. The age limit is ten to 15 years inclusive. All coaster cars must be built according to certain specifications.

Boys who wish to enter the Soap Box Derby will be run here in mid-July may register by calling in person, accompanied by a parent or guardian, at the Culbertson-Smalling Chevrolet Bldg., in Pampa where Luther Wagon, official registrar will give them an entry blank and an official rule book which tells everything about the construction of a racer.

Above all, if it is at all possible—every boy entered in the Derby and every boy who plans to enter should attend one of the three shop meetings tonight. Remember, the time is 7 p. m.

Three day meetings will be held each Thursday night for the next few weeks. Several cars now nearing completion soon will take to the practice course which will be announced within the next day or so. This will provide a place for boys to put their cars in safety from traffic.

Merchant-sponsors still are urged to list their names with Harry Kelley at the High school. A merchant who wishes to sponsor a boy and car will be called on May 14 and get his name on the list. Mr. Kelley will get the racer and sponsor together so that they may work out their own arrangements. Cars appearing in the Soap Box Derby will carry the name of the sponsoring merchants on their sides.

He refused to reveal his next scheduled stop. Colonel Lindbergh, who has been making an official inspection of West Coast army air facilities, landed here late yesterday and spent the night with Dr. R. H. Goddard, Clark University scientist whose experiments with rockets are carried on near here.

Danzig Seizure Will Cause War, Claims Premier

LONDON, May 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain said in an Albert hall address today any attempt "to change the (Danzig) situation by force" so as to "threaten Polish independence would inevitably start a world war."

Chamberlain said: "In many minds the danger spot in Europe today is Danzig where our assurances to Poland are clear and concise. Although we would be glad to see the differences between Poland and Germany amicably settled by discussion, although we think that they could and should be so settled, if an attempt were made to change the situation by force in such a way as to threaten Polish independence, why then that would inevitably start a general conflagration in which this country would be involved."

Indian Scare Didn't Keep Alanreed Hunter From Eating Breakfast

Pioneer Surrounded By 50 Indians Near Present Site Of McLean But All They Took Was Seven Antelopes He Had Just Killed

Third in the series of special stories on Alanreed, this article reveals incidents in the life of R. F. McCracken, who settled south of Alanreed in 1888, the first settler in the Alanreed area. Mr. McCracken had much to do with influencing laws to be passed that enabled settlers to come into the country; that made it possible for any settlement to be made at all as is explained in this article.

By BROWNWOOD EMERSON

ALANREED, May 11—If a rider dashed up to the place where you and two friends were cooking breakfast and told you a war party of Indians was headed your way, what would you do?

With the philosophy born of years on the frontier, R. F. McCracken decided it was just as well to eat breakfast, then worry about the redskins.

It all happened back in 1891, when the famous fake Indian "raid" occurred. It seemed real enough at the time, however, to keep every hamlet between Salisbury and Fort Worth in an uproar.

Amarillo, Childress, Quanah, Clarendon, and Tulla heard reports of the raid and were ready to repel the savages. The threat was apparently authentic enough to warrant preparedness in those days, for it had been only 17 years since a howling pack of Comanches and Kiowas had besieged white hunters at Adobe Walls.

Mr. McCracken's first intimation that something alarming was occurring was when he and his friends glanced up from where they were cooking breakfast, at a spot near the present site of McLean, and saw a man on a horse riding like "something" was after him.

In a flurry of pounding hoofs, the rider reined up his horse, when he approached the three hunters (McCracken and

Benefiel Trying To Sign Stars For Fiesta Here

Carl Benefiel, Top O' Texas Fiesta chairman, was in Hollywood today negotiating with several movie stars in an effort to sign one or two of them on the dotted line to make personal appearances here on Fiesta days, June 13 and 14.

Mr. Benefiel took a plane from Amarillo yesterday afternoon and arrived in Hollywood last night.

A last effort for a blanket Appalachian agreement will be made in a meeting at 2 p. m., C. S. T. today. Unless agreement is reached, individual contracts also will be sought with Appalachian operators.

The government's proposal of individual contracts was presented by Dr. John R. Steelman, ace federal mediator, after expiration of the 24-hour deadline for settlement set Tuesday by President Roosevelt.

Steelman advanced the plan when the deadlocked committee seeking to reach a new agreement for the Appalachian area adjourned at 12:30 a. m. (CST) after the UMW had rejected a last-minute compromise offer by the operators. The operators' offer did not provide the "union" shop demanded by the miners.

$558 Found Under Pillow At Denison

Statement Made To Newspapermen And Assistant Chief

DENISON, May 11 (AP)—A young man giving his name as Burton Franks, 21, Benham, was arrested in a hotel here today as a suspect in the robbery of the First State Bank of Maypearl in which W. D. Wilmon, 44, president, was fatally wounded.

Assistant Chief of Police Paul Borun said the suspect made a statement in which he admitted he was alone in the bank robbery. The oral statement was witnessed by a newspaperman. Borun said the suspect told him he threw the pistol used in the Red river.

Borun said $558 was found under a pillow in the hotel room where the youth was arrested.

Officers began a systematic search of the city when a maroon sedan (Mercury) was found on a street here last night. The machine answered the description of the automobile used in the bank robbery.

Wilmon died last night in a Wash-shackle hospital. He had been strangled and shot in the back during the noonday robbery by a slender, well-dressed bandit who ordered him into the bank's vault.

Borun said the suspect told him he did not know the banker had died. He was arrested by City Patrolman Grady O' Shields and Louis Winchester about 9:30 a. m.

Lawrence Wilmon, brother of the slain banker, said the loot probably amounted to $1,000.

Sheriff Henry Chesney of Bonham said the suspect had formerly attended Bonham High school and had been convicted of automobile theft in Hunt county.

Morgenthau To Ask Revision Of Tax Laws

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau asserted today the treasury intends to ask Congress to remove business deterrents from the tax laws.

A reporter asked whether President Roosevelt had virtually forbidden the treasury to make a tax revision program to Congress.

Morgenthau replied: "That's ridiculous. We're living under a democracy. I ask God."

Although declining to discuss any details of his tax views, Morgenthau said specifically he stood by a press conference statement of a few months ago that he hoped Congress would clear the tax laws of business deterrents and thus encourage business to take normal investment risks.

He also asserted he stood by his March 3 letter to Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the Senate finance committee and Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House ways and means committee promising to present certain unspecified tax studies which the committee wanted them. Morgenthau expects the House committee to summon him in about a week.

Morgenthau took time out from fiscal problems on his 48th birthday anniversary to order red roses for a new treasury garden.

Model Airplane Contest Rules Announced Here

Rules and regulations for the model airplane contest which will be staged in conjunction with the Pampa News Soap Box Derby here in mid-July were announced today by H. D. Balthorpe, chairman of the Lions club committee in charge of the plane competition.

The present setup is for four events for three classes of model planes. In the gas-powered plane contest requirements call for an eight-ounce wing loading. Ships with one-to-seven-horsepower motor may have a wing of from three to five feet, planes with one-sixth to one-fifth horsepower motors may have a wingspread of from five feet up, and planes with one-fourth to one-third horsepower motors may have a wingspread of eight feet up. All models must be equipped with a timer and the rules call for a 45 second motor run.

Each plane will be numbered for call, test flights will be unlimited, all models must be entered by the owner or builder with no restrictions as to age. Entries in the gas model contest will be graded on take-off, climb, behavior under power, recovery from powered flights, glide, and landing.

In the rubber-powered model contest, planes must have at least a 24-inch wing span and not over 54 inches. There is no restriction on the power, models must be built by contestant, and there likewise is no age limit in this contest.

Glider event, model ships must have a wing span of not less than nine inches nor more than 18 inches. There is no restriction on added or subtracted, the model must be entered by the builder, and there is no age limit.

The fourth event has been set up as an originality contest in which judging would be made of entries in all three of the foregoing classes. Points in this contest will be counted for originality in design, construction, finish and general appearance of the models.

Joe Neal and Mark Bratton, model airplane builders, are assisting the Lions club committee in staging the model plane contest.

AFL Proposes To Scrap Labor Board

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—An AFL proposal to scrap the National Labor Board and substitute a new five-man agency shaped up today as one of the biggest obstacles to any agreement on revising the Wagner labor act.

The proposal was described by President William Green of the federation as one of six fundamental amendments to which AFL leaders had given no thought of com-the antelope. The white man pointed to his rifle. "Heap good hunter," the Indian chief complimented.

Ask One Antelope—Take All.

"After a bit more of verbal 'beating around the bush,'" the Indian came to the point and asked him if the band could have one of the seven antelope killed. The hunter agreed. Then the chief distracted the hunter with more talk and when the white man glanced at the Indians he found they had already taken not one antelope but all of the others he had killed.

Not a bit abashed by this double-dealing, the Indian chief then asked the hunter where his camp was located. He told them. Then the chief told him to come to their camp, but the white man declined.

So ended the episode of the "Indian raid" for Mr. McCracken, an episode, he said that had its origin in a cowboy seeing some Indians killing a cow. "These Indians were in a part of the country where Indians had not been seen before, and the band was the same one that had surrounded Mr. McCracken, the Alareed resident said.

Came To Plains in '86.

Adventure, as well as economic reasons, caused Mr. McCracken to come to the Top O' Texas. In the same year that Old Oklahoma was opened to white settlement, Mr. McCracken located along White Fish creek in Donley county, after he had lived for three years in the Rocking Chair pasture in Collingsworth county.

Mr. McCracken drove a hundred head of cattle into Collingsworth county from Montague where he had been a merchant. A succession of droughts forced him out of business but he managed to save enough to keep the cattle and drive them out west. That was in 1886.

Yet he did not worry too much about his misfortune, for the frontier had its appeal for him, and he's always been a cattleman. "I guess it was just wildness in me as much as anything else that caused me to come out here," he said.

Alareed 'Rattlin' Good Town.

How did Alareed look back in 1887? "It was a rattlin' good town," Mr. McCracken said. He didn't expand on the topic much, except to call attention to the bountiful crops raised in southern Gray county and the big shipments from Alareed. Although he lived on his place south of Alareed for several years after Alareed was developing into a "rattlin' good town" it was not until 1907, five years after Gray county had been organized, that he made his home there.

Mr. McCracken was a commissioner of Donley county for eight years and a president of a bank at Alareed for 15 years.

Briton Seeks To Settle Differences With Soviet Envoy

LONDON, May 11 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax sought again today in a conference with Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador to London, to smooth out the British-Russian security negotiations.

This development came as Izvestia, Russian government newspaper in Moscow, indicated Russia would reject Britain's latest proposal for cooperation in eastern European guarantees.

It was believed the envoy laid before Lord Halifax the precise Russian objections to the British proposals along the lines expressed by Izvestia in an editorial.

Izvestia said the British proposals were utterly unacceptable in their present form and said Soviet Russia insisted on formation of "a united front of mutual assistance" by Britain, France, Russia and Poland—or at least by the first three.)

Uncertainty prevailed whether the British yet was ready to meet the apparent Russian position on all points, including extension of guarantees to other Baltic neighbors of Russia.

Meanwhile, in Geneva, League of Nations circles reported possibility of a Russian request to postpone the opening of the league council session from next Monday to May 22.

DATE WITH DANGER

DUKE MARTIN'S apartment, like himself, possessed the insidious charm of easy spending, of good living. Yet few knew how well the Duke lived. Only a handful of the people who swarmed into the Dove, the night club he owned with Nick Hart, on E. 53d street, had ever been to Martin's hide-away on the 45th floor of a New York skyscraper.

Illustration by E. H. Gauder. All three men faced the door. Bill and Nick put their hands on their hip pockets.

With it came the gushing tones of a woman, the tinkle of bracelets and the rustle of silk. "That's what I got you for, Tuckie," said the Duke, "to tell you and my night club where to get off." His mouth twisted into a smile, but his eyes were cold and hard. "Sit down."

"Say," he objected backing away, "I don't like this." "That's just going to steam you," explained Tuckie, "to remove that new look. Don't be a silly. Turn on the hot water, Bill. We'll shut Mr. Martin up a moment. It takes drastic measures to get those sharp creases out of his suit."

New Tax Bill Comes Before House Tonight

AUSTIN, May 11 (P)—Another pension financing proposal—this time a statutory omnibus tax bill— took shape in the legislature today. The first move came yesterday when the House suspended rules to permit vote on a motion to sit as a committee of the whole to reconsider an omnibus tax bill by Rep. G. Morris of Greenville which was killed by the revenue and taxation committee. The meeting was scheduled for tonight.

Meanwhile a group of representatives worked far into last night on a substitute to be offered for the Morris bill which would raise an estimated $16,000,000, $10,000,000 of which would be earmarked for pensions with the remainder going to other social security purposes.

The new tax move followed a crushing blow dealt to the sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment resolution in the House earlier when it failed by 16 votes to get the necessary 100 for submission to the people in August. It was the fourth triumph for those opposed to writing taxes in the constitution.

Set for special order in the House today was the departmental appropriations bill allotting $29,213,740 for the 1939-41 biennium. This is the last of the six major money bills to receive floor consideration in the House. The Senate may reach floor consideration of the rural aid appropriation bill.

As soon as these two bills are out of the way the legislature may be ready to set a date for sine die adjournment.

The departmental bill may cause considerable controversy. Rep. E. J. Thornton, Jr., of Galveston, appropriations committee chairman, said the bill represents a saving of at least $3,500,000 from the current appropriation.

Developments in the capitol yesterday included: The House defeated a Senate bill to allow the legislature instead of the governor to appoint the state auditor. Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel has recommended the proposal.

Tex. Easy Texas counties whose taxable valuations have been reduced by heavy federal reforestation purchases won remission of state ad valorem taxes in the House. Already approved in the Senate, House backers anticipated little opposition in the Senate to amendments.

Reported favorably by the Senate highways and motor traffic committee was a House bill distributing among counties for retirement of outstanding bonds or construction of new lateral roads a surplus in the county and district road bond indebtedness fund.

For the second successive Wednesday a filibuster blocked consideration of the fair trade act bill in the Senate.

The Morris tax bill would hike the cigarette tax a cent, increase the levy on sulphur from $1.03 to $1.50, raise the oil tax on a graduated scale up to 5 per cent and increase the tax on gas up to 5 per cent.

Leaders were reluctant to discuss what form the new proposal would take but said it would raise the needed revenues for pensions and they "hoped to give the House something it can pass."

Governor O'Daniel had nothing to say when advised of defeat of the sales tax. He said he had not considered a message advocating the statutory route to solve the four-month-old pension problem.

After defeating the sales tax the House refused by a crushing vote of 101 to 16 to recess from May 12 to May 29 to allow members to go home and sound out constituents on pension financing.

Sales Tax Not Dead Also smothered was a sine die adjournment resolution setting the date at May 13.

The sales tax plan is not definitely dead since it can come up again by two-thirds vote of members present, but even supporters considered revival unlikely. Aside from the new tax move, the only other plan to finance pensions was a gross receipts tax bill which lay buried in a Senate sub-committee.

Working speedily last night the Senate passed 55 bills of local and uncontested nature. One of these sets up a voluntary state council to supervise apprenticeship of young people. Its author, Senator J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, said it would create more skilled labor in Texas. The plan encountered considerable objection but squeezed thru 13 to 11.

Another bill passed amends the penal code by inserting recent use of narcotics as a mitigating factor rather than a defense in a crime. Senator Allan Shivers of Fort Arthur said the present law permits a defendant to plead recent use of narcotics as a defense.

Pampans Urged To Ride Horses In Amarillo Parade Horses and riders, dozens of them, are needed to represent Pampa in a huge horse parade in Amarillo next Wednesday morning honoring Postmaster James A. Farley who will visit in Amarillo between 8 a. m. and 1 p. m. on that day.

Any Pampans who can go to Amarillo, wearing western regalia, is urged to contact Postmaster C. H. Walker, member of the steering committee. The parade will be at 9 a. m.

At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a meeting of all postal workers of the 18th congressional district, in the Crystal ball room of the Herring Hotel. Postal employees of the entire territory have been invited to attend the reception for the postmaster general in the morning and the workers meeting in the afternoon.

The idea of filling out the blank is to help out the Fiesta people who want to honor drillers and tooldressers and roughnecks at the Fiesta, and who want to give them the recognition they deserve for their part in building the new Pampa. It is not necessary to have been a driller 15 years. A man may have started out in the oil fields 15 years ago and graduated to driller. If so he is eligible to fill out the following blank.

League Leaders Will Play Here Tonight

Lobos Have Been Beaten Only Thrice

With Milbert Vannoy hurling four-hit ball and his teammates jumping on three pitchers for a total of 14 hits, the Pampa Oilers last night made it a clean sweep of their series with the Abilene Apaches, winning 11 to 2.

Tonight at 8:15 o'clock, under the lights at Road Runner park, the Oilers will entertain the Lamesa Lobos, proud possessors of top place in the West Texas-New Mexico league race. The Lobos will also be here tomorrow night after which the Oilers will leave on a road trip, their first stop being in Big Spring.

The Lobos, managed by Jodie Tate, who tried to put a team in Pampa, have lost only three games to date. Tate sent word to Pampa friends yesterday that he would feel sorry to take two games from the Oilers but it would have to be so. Tate has a bunch of wild swinging boys, mostly from the South Plains, who never know when to quit. He has a potent pitching staff as well.

Singer Ned Here. Pampa fans were disappointed last night at the non-arrival of Soldier Caruso, well known singer, who for some unknown reason failed to put in an appearance. He failed to let the local management know of any change in plans and they were sorry to have disappointed fans.

Art Verengia is scheduled to take the mound for the Oilers tonight. However, Verengia is a Californian and he can't get used to the changeable weather in the Panhandle. As a result, Manager Grover Selts may decide to send someone else to the mound.

Opening with a three-run spree in the first inning, the Oilers were never in danger last night as Vannoy mowed down the opposition for his third straight win of the season to tie Grabek. Fred Pietras, popular Oiler third baseman, got his eye on the ball last night as a triple, double, and single while Tony Swift, little second sacker, followed suit with three singles.

Oilers Bunch Runs. Abilene jumped into a first-inning lead when Potocar walked and scored on Morris' single after advancing on a putout. The Oilers didn't let the lead stand after their half when Swift singled, Bailey walked and Selts scored one with a single. Nell fanned and Garbe went out to first but Pietras came thru with a double to send two more across the plate.

The Oilers walked until the third inning to make three more runs on a walk to Cross and singles by Garbe, Pietras and Gyrcusan, clusters of three were popular with the Oilers, two walks and an error and two wild pitches accounting for three more in the sixth. They ended the scoring with a brace in the ninth. Heavy hitting behind good pitching, handy base running and a hustle and chatter that is infectious has made the Oilers one of the most popular teams in the circuit. They certainly have made a hit with Pampa fans who like to see a hustling ball club.

Hustling Ball Club. When Manager Selts would contact a player, one of his first questions would be "can you hustle?" The Oilers have a real example of hustle in their manager who hits the field on a run and leaves on a run. He's fiery and when he believes he's been robbed or any of his players have been given a raw deal he's ready to argue. Like all good managers, Selts has told his boys to let him do the arguing.

Pampa fans are mighty proud of their ball team, and justly so. Today fans were also singing the praises of Odus Mitchell, high school football coach, who changes his final spring football game from night to this afternoon because Lamesa will

11 Junior High Boys To Enter Amarillo Meet

Eleven young athletes from Pampa Junior high school will go to Amarillo tomorrow to compete in a Panhandle Junior High track and field meet. They will be accompanied by Coach Oscar Hinger.

Although the boys have been devoting most of their time to spring football training, the thinclads took time out to practice for the school track and field meet last week and to polish up for tomorrow's events.

Making the trip with Coach Hinger will be Dehnert, Wright, Ward, Clemmons, Quam, Allen, James, Stroud, Fallock, Arthur and Proper.

The competition will begin at 3:30 o'clock. Contestants will be entered from two Pampa schools, three Amarillo schools, and from Borger.

Representing Amarillo will be Central, Sam Houston, and Buchanan junior schools.

Events on the program include: 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 120-yard hurdles, 230-yard dash, 440-yard relay, 880-yard relay, shot put, broad jump, and high jump.

Pampa will meet last year when it was held there. Borger was second, and Sam Houston was third.

Central and Buchanan are figured to have the strongest teams.

Stagg Will Be Named Champion Football Coach

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11 (AP)—Amid the somewhat solemn surroundings of a church basement here tonight, a stubby little man will be presented with a full-sized football trophy describing him as "world champion coach."

A broad statement that, but the honor will rest lightly and deservedly on the white head of Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Fifty years ago, Stagg called out his first football squad at Springfield (Mass.) university. He was just out of college, a brilliant athlete who had made his mark on the gridiron and diamond at Yale.

Today at 76 years, which makes him the country's oldest football coach in both age and point of service, Stagg is the same forceful personality, clean living ideal of the same.

In his eyes, gleams the light of the eternal freshman. His hand is steady and his voice clear. Stagg attained coaching prominence when Diamond Jim Brady was in his heyday and Barnum was exploiting the freaks of nature. Leland Stanford had just turned over his great gift to mankind, Stanford university.

Indians Beat Houston 8-7 In Eleventh

(By The Associated Press)
The Oklahoma City Indians rallied late, but in two late-inning rallies to an 8 to 7 victory over the Texas league leading Houston Buffs in an 11-inning battle at Oklahoma City last night.

Redskin fans headed for the exits when the Indians had two outs against them in the ninth and trailed 5 to 3. They sat down to watch again when George Meyer singled and Paul Esterling tripled him in. Manager Mule Hass singled Esterling home to tie the game.

After a scoreless tenth the Buffs regained the lead with a two-run spree. The Indians were on their way again when Esterling and Pitcher Jack Brillheart each singled. Esterling went to third on Brillheart's hit and scored on Clary Hack's fly. Tom Corbett was hit by a pitched ball and Joe Bilgere singled in the tying run. Catcher Neil Andrews' double brought Bilbere home with the winner.

Port Worth's Cats scored nine unearned runs for a 12 to 10 win over the San Antonio Missions, in a loose game played in rain and wind. Even the winning pitcher, Stan Corbett, gave up 17 hits in eight innings.

In another give-away game the Beaumont Exporters scored five unearned runs for a 9 to 5 victory over the Dallas Rebels.

The Tulsa Oilers won an 8 to 4 slugging battle from the Shreveport Sports. The contest was halted twice by wind, dust and rain.

Merv Conners, Shreveport's first baseman recently injured, celebrated his return to the lineup by hitting a home run in the third.

Taylor of the clothing store team rolled high game of 309 pins, one more than Ward of the Legion and three more than Beavis of the Barbers. Taylor's high three games score of 549 pins was high.

Class C teams will roll tonight. A Pampa team, led by Irvin Gore who is now connected with the local alleys, will play a match game on Louie alleys in Amarillo tonight.

Starting tomorrow morning, Gore will give one hour free instructions to women bowlers of the city. The entire alleys will be reserved for the fair sex between 9 and 10 o'clock each morning. Gore is also planning a series of lessons for men.

Steady, America We Don't Need Hysteria

A self-constituted committee has dug up a series of proposals pending in Congress which are hard to believe. This committee is going to meet in Washington to try to prevent passage of any such laws.

That some of these things are being seriously advocated is hard to understand. Here are some of the proposals which the committee has unearthed:

- 1. A bill providing deportation of all aliens who may advocate any change in our government, no matter how peaceful.
2. A bill providing concentration camps for aliens who are non-deportable because no other government will accept them.
3. A bill providing registration of all aliens and their children, arrest without a warrant and deportation of all who are on relief more than a year.
4. A bill providing for deportation of all aliens and prohibition of all immigration.
5. Several bills for deportation of large numbers of aliens because of loosely-defined adherence to "isms," and various other bills for registration, fingerprinting, and other oppressive regulation of aliens who do not file intention to become citizens.

These are only the more drastic of many proposals being studied by this committee.

It is true that the rights of aliens in the United States are probably dependent on the will of Congress rather than being specifically guaranteed by the Constitution, as are those of citizens.

Throughout that document, however, the terms "citizen" and "person" are used more or less interchangeably. For instance, Article XIV, Section 1 says, "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Here the terms seem to be used more or less interchangeably, but in general, it is the rights of citizens which are protected by the Constitution, leaving aliens to the mercy of changing laws.

Nevertheless, Congress ought to go very slow with any proposals to regiment or otherwise harass aliens who are without personal fault or who have violated no law now existing. Generosity and toleration are too rare in the world today to be light flung away in a moment of panic or hysteria. Nothing less than a definite and imminent threat to the national welfare justifies the sort of restrictions being proposed.

As we are strong, we should be generous, and as we are confident of the rightness of our American way, we should be tolerant and human.

HITLER'S SPEECH

The speech of Adolf Hitler in reply to President Roosevelt's appeal for a 10-year peace guarantee, although it contained two distinct threats, did not differ essentially from previous addresses given by the German leader in the past few months.

It seemed to follow a definite technique which has been observable in his other public utterances, consisting of a long harangue filled with veiled allusions, but concluding with a mildness that gives real hope for the avoidance of war.

This speech, however, had more of a logical structure, and took up items one by one for expression of the Nazi point of view. As a logical presentation, it was probably the best address the German Chancellor has made, even though disagreement with the argument itself will be widespread.

The announcement of the junking of the naval treaty with Great Britain held an ominous note, but Germany was not giving that treaty much consideration lately, anyway, and simply formalized a fact. References to Poland's rejection of the German proposals may cause a shiver in Europe, but the door was left open for peaceful discussion on that point, too.

Of most interest to America was the definite assurance that Germany has no thought of assailing any country on the American continent.

On this question, it appears that the German leader took a leaf from President Roosevelt's book, and had in mind an appeal to the American people over the head of the President.

That technique, in the German view, was used by President Roosevelt when he made his appeal for the peace guarantee, and it is readily taken up by Hitler in his reference to fears of an invasion of South American countries.

Aware, no doubt, of a considerable feeling in the United States against involvement in European disputes, Hitler gives "an assurance regarding those territories which would give President Roosevelt most cause for apprehension, namely, the United States itself and the other states of the American continent."

It is as much as if Hitler had said, "We assure you definitely that we had no idea of bothering you and it is manifestly impossible from a military standpoint to invade your continent, so why don't you let us alone?"

A large part of the speech was a discussion of the injustices of the Versailles treaty, which provides Germany with its strongest case. Throughout the world it is agreed by thinking people that much of the present turmoil in Europe can be traced directly to the injustices of the Versailles treaty.

Unfortunately, Hitler has gone more than one step beyond his program for repairing the damage caused to Germany by that treaty, in his absorption of other racial groups. And it is also unfortunate that his actions do not always correspond to his words.

Yet, despite everything of aggressiveness and

PARENTS TO THE POORHOUSE

A contributor thinks he has me over a barrel when he asks if I would send my parents to the poorhouse. Certainly, I would be glad to have the government permit my parents to enter the poorhouse, if they were not able to support themselves and if I, or any of their descendants, were unable to support them. I, of course, would make every effort possible to support them myself rather than have them enter the poorhouse. But, in case I were not able to do this, then I would be glad to have a poorhouse for them to go to. And when the government so mismanages the things that it should do, it is very difficult for people to adjust themselves to do what society wants done so they can support themselves and their parents if they become destitute.

I believe it is to public interest for people to be venturesome and take great risks with the understanding that if misfortune overtakes them they will not be permitted to physically suffer; when they know this they are inclined to have creative initiative which as a whole greatly benefits society.

On the other hand, if the public believes that they can live about as well and have as much freedom of choice, whether they work hard and are frugal, or whether they are slipshod and are spendthrifts, they will be very much inclined to take the "give me" course. This pension theory that men in their declining years should live as well as if they saved and abstained in their earlier years regards the accumulation of capital, and thus lowers the standard of living and wages. For this reason it is necessary there be some penalty to shiftlessness and some reward and honor to the man who puts more into the world than he takes out.

Increase Like Wildfire

This is the reason I have frankly expressed myself on the pension problem. I can see the great suffering and misery that is bound to follow the sentimental theory that people do not need to be penalized for their mistakes. I, therefore, prefer the poorhouse method of relief that I believe will reduce to the minimum the total suffering against the pension route that I believe will eventually greatly increase suffering and reduce happiness and initiative.

Just look how rapidly it has increased in Orange County, Calif. In 1930-1931 the pensions in the county cost $28,816. In the present year the cost has soared to $1,097,688. The cost is 38 times as great now as it was eight years ago.

Is any pension advocate theoretical enough to think that this can continue without pulling the whole structure down on top of all of us.

PEACE CONTEST

This is to reiterate the offer previously made in this column that, for the best articles on "What National Policy Will Best Promote Peace?", $100 in prizes will be given.

Any party not employed by the newspapers running this column, whether they take the paper or not, is eligible.

With the present war situation so tense, it is a subject that should be thought about whether the individual intends to write an article or not. There is not much hope for peace, unless the public begins to more generally understand the causes that bring on war. The purpose of the contest is to direct thought along this line. With the unfeeling amount of money spent in war, we are not spending enough of our energy, enough of our income, on trying to get people to understand the causes of war. It is for this reason, this subject has been selected.

The articles should be limited to 500 words and should be in the office of any newspaper running this column on or before May 17.

To the winner of the first prize will be given $50; second, $20; third, $10; fourth, $8; fifth, $7; sixth, $5.

TARIFFS ON GOLD

I wonder why the tariff advocates do not advocate a tariff on gold and silver. Why do they permit gold, which we cannot eat or wear to protect our health, to be imported into the United States without a tariff? The things that we can eat and wear and use to promote our general welfare, we try to keep out of the country by putting a tariff on them so that they cannot be imported freely. In fact, we even put a subsidy on gold by establishing a price so high that people prefer to ship us gold rather than things that we can use.

We do the same thing with silver. We pay about 74 cents an ounce for silver, when the world price is 40 cents. In other words, we encourage gold and silver to come into our nation by paying artificial prices, and having a free entry, but we penalize, by tariffs, having things shipped into our country which we can use to add to the comforts of life.

Behind The News Of The Day

By Bruce Catton

WASHINGTON, May 11—Don't be surprised if administration forces in Congress suddenly swing their support to a move for a constitutional amendment providing that a nation-wide referendum must be held before any American can be drafted for armed service overseas.

A resolution calling for such an amendment was introduced in the House in January by Congressman Warren G. Magnuson, Washington Democrat.

It lay quietly in the bin, gathering dust, all winter, and nobody paid much attention to it. Now, however, Congressman Magnuson has requested that the Judiciary committee hold hearings on it; and, simultaneously, the idea that this might be a timely, popular boastfulness in the speech, the one fact that stands out saliently and significantly is the suggestion that Germany is willing to make agreements with the other nations in an effort to reach a peaceful solution of the pressing problems that confront them.

There will be those who read dire things into the speech and who will adopt a pessimistic attitude as a result of it. But so long as there is a possibility of reaching a common ground between nations, even by individual agreements, there is considerable hope for avoidance of a conflict, which would wreck the world.

WHO SAYS THE NAZIS AREN'T PEACEFUL?

Around Hollywood

As Hollywood correspondent of the AP Feature Service and Pampa News, Robbin Coons herewith names another Movie-of-the-month—with reasons.

By ROBBIN COONS

AP Feature Service Writer HOLLYWOOD — Little Republic studios, on the far edge of Hollywood geographically and still farther in financial prestige from the so-called "major studios," bet its bank-roll and its future on "Man of Conquest."

Little Republic, happily, seems to have won the bet. "Man of Conquest" is a darn-good movie, both as a study of Sam Houston's fascinating career and as a thriller-chockful of flag-waving, gun smoke, heroism and excitement.

Richard Dix (more or less submerged in the Hollywood deck since his great days in "Cimarron") comes out on top as the pioneer spirit who lived among the Indians as their brother, fought with Andrew Jackson at Horseshoe Bend, became governor of Tennessee — and subsequently dreamed of wresting the Mexican territory of Texas from its rulers and founding an independent kingdom.

Love Disappointment Houston's early life is briefly suggested, and the story really gets under way with the unhappy romance with Eliza Allen (Joan Fontaine). When Eliza leaves him after the wedding, Houston withdraws from the race for re-election, retires to life among his Cherokee brothers — and is recalled from his primitive existence only by Jackson.

The scene swings to Texas, where Stephen Austin (Ralph Morgan) is crediting the promises of the Mexican general Santa Anna (C. Henry Gordon) against warfare. Houston, still intent on a "gab," is dissuaded by a visit from Jackson, who visualizes Texas as an American state, appeals to the fighting man's patriotism in the film's finest scenes. Capitulating, Houston joins the Austin forces in resisting Mexican aggression, spurred on by news of the heroic defense of the Alamo. As commander-in-chief of the little Texas army, Houston retreats from Santa Anna's invasion until the stage is set — at San Jacinto — for a surprise attack. Santa Anna is routed (in spectacular scenes) and Texas is free.

The final sequence shows Texas entering the Union, with Houston and wife (Gail Patrick) and child visiting Jackson on his deathbed. Ellis Takes Honors Edward Ellis ("A Man to Remember") creates an absorbing portrait of the fighting President, and takes the acting honors away from Dix. Miss Patrick, as the girl who loved Houston in spite of his divorce and who later married him, and Miss Fontaine both give creditable performances. Comedy bit is George Hays, as Lannie Upchurch, the loyal Houston follower from the backwoods.

Texas, who know their history will complain — as some have — that certain aspects of the Alamo siege have been omitted. They want various incidents revealing the heroism of the defenders incorporated in the film. Republic's answer is that many of these incidents actually were filmed, had to be omitted in the final cutting in order to bring the picture to reasonable length.

As it stands, however, "Man of Conquest" represents a convincing summary of a life that had, in its many phases, enough excitement for two or three feature pictures. Others in the cast: Robert Barrat, Victor Jory, Robert Armstrong, Janet Beecher, Pedro de Cordoba, Max Terhune, Kathleen Lockhart, Ferrie Taylor, Leon Ames. Directed by George Nicholls Jr., from screenplay by Wells Root, E. E. Farnore Jr., and Jan Fortune.

and useful measure is beginning to take hold in several quarters.

The bill itself is simple enough. It would amend the Constitution to provide that no person who is drafted into military service could be required to serve outside the territorial borders of the United States unless the people by referendum vote approved such service.

One reason why the administration people are beginning to look on it with a kindly eye is the argument that it might provide a useful counter-irritant for the Ludlow anti-war amendment.

That bill would amend the Constitution to make a declaration of war (except in case of new world invasion) impossible unless approved by a referendum vote. The administration is dead set against it, fears that it will presently come to a vote in the House, and hates to think of the amount of support it is apt to get.

So now it is beginning to occur to divers administration leaders that the conscription referendum proposition might be a good thing to plug, on the theory that it would win the support of all the elements that are backing the Ludlow amendment and would take some of the sting out of the administration's opposition to that amendment.

Clamps Down on Conscription There is also the thought that this conscription-referendum idea might make the administration's foreign policy more palatable to the citizenry as a whole. That argument runs like this: If every citizen knew that no matter what happens he can't be forced to go overseas and fight without first having a chance to vote on it, he will be less likely to be

The Family Doctor

Morris Fishbein

It's the night of a championship prize fight. Two fine specimens of physical fitness attack each other with their fists for 15 grueling rounds. Next day you read that rounds. Next day you read that three-month rest before resuming even light training.

But do you know why they were ordered to the sidelines? Were they worn out? Yes, but the answer can be found in an examination of what happened to their blood during the battle.

With each jab, each blow absorbed, each round, each knockdown, those fighters used up an abnormally large number of the red blood cells in their bodies.

If you are an average man or woman, during your average day you destroy in work and play, according to one expert, 450,000,000,000 red blood cells, about one-sixteenth of the total number. But you are constantly building new ones and are exercising yourself no where near as much as the fighters. It would take about two months to replace all of the red blood cells in the body of a person performing just an average day's work.

Men have an average of 5,000,000 red blood cells for every cubic millimeter of blood, women 4,500,000. Anywhere between 4,700,000 and 6,300,000 is normal for a man; between 3,600,000 and 5,000,000 for a woman. You need plenty of red blood cells, because they carry the oxygen which is absolutely necessary for muscular activity. The red blood cells have within them a substance called hemoglobin and is released to the cells of the body.

Also in the blood are white cells, varying in number from 5,000 to 7,000 for each cubic millimeter of blood. They protect the body against germs and assist in various other functions as the protective agency of the body. They increase slightly in number during exercise, digestion, and cold baths.

The volume of blood in your body is largely responsible for your resistance. If you are fat, one-third of your body weight may be blood. If you are thin, the percentage may be one-twentieth. The short-whinedness of fat persons is attributed to this fact.

When you exercise, the number of red blood cells in the blood near the surface of the body definitely increases. The amount of red material in the red blood cells may also be increased, perhaps as a result of the concentration of the blood that occurs in association with exercise. If you sweat, the blood becomes more concentrated and thereby more efficient within certain limits.

The efficiency of the flow of blood through blood vessels is dependent largely on the size and efficiency of your heart. Unless the heart is functioning well, the blood will not flow through your blood vessels as it should, and there will not be available to the tissues or cells the oxygen that is required.

Outside of a few little minor things like unemployment, no business and a slightly demoralized economic system, they ain't nothing wrong with this country but the music. No other country has got such a bum music as we got, and the reason for that is on account of us getting mixed up in our music. Music is a skillful arrangement of a combination of tones that pleases our ears, and it's spoiled by the Muses; and that's probably where our whole trouble is; Some Nuts' gone and picked the wrong Muse, and that's how Swing was born, on account of there's a Muse that means "Absence of the mind" and "that's exactly the state a feller'd have to be in to compose an arrangement of a combination of squeaky hinges, boiler factories and pig squeals like that. When the radio was in its early stages most everybody used to think static was a ungodly racket; but it was a soft, soothing lullaby compared to the stuff that comes out of em now. I can remember when us kids use to do better with a comb and piece of tissue paper, and what in the world anybody wants to pay $100.00 and up for a gold horn to make that kind of a noise with is more'n I kin understand, specially when they could skin it a mile with a spout off'n a old tea-kettle and some dishpans tied to a unrolled wind mill in a breeze. Chamberlain Again Puzzles Observers With Apparent Return To 'Appeasement'

By MILTON BRONNER, NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, May 11.—Britain's sudden and unexpected decision to send its ambassador back to Berlin whence he was dramatically called home after Hitler's lightning seizure of Czechoslovakia, only throws another spotlight on the tortuous, often contradictory role Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain has played on the stage of recent European diplomacy.

Last fall he scrapped Europe's system of common security via mutual assistance pacts in favor of "appeasement" of the dictators. Then he scrapped "appeasement" in favor of a "Stop-Hitler" movement. Now he has apparently resurrected "appeasement," the first step being the return of Britain's ambassador to Germany.

History alone will decide whether, by doing all this, Chamberlain has been a clear-sighted, super-wise statesman or, as his critics declare, a doddering, frightened old Tory.

In America many think he ought to give way to a younger, braver and more vigorous man. They think he should never have gone to Munich last September to palaver with Hitler and Mussolini. Or, if he went, that he should have talked turkey to the dictators at the very grave risk of war. They think he rather went hat in hand—a new pose for a representative of the hitherto proud British lion. They believe he is so weak that things have gone from bad to worse in Europe since last fall. They are convinced that all the dictators have a good snicker every time his name is mentioned.

The other day this writer discussed this subject with a very famous foreigner, who knows Chamberlain well, has had many occasions to probe his mind and to see him in action. His considered, objective picture of him was:

"That man has as much good iron backbone as the whole plucky British public put together."

Now that is a different portrait than the one the cartoonists draw of the old umbrella man. The way my informant saw it was: "His position and actions are very

There are those who see Chamberlain's mustache as a barometer of his aggressiveness. Mustache up—as at left—the "apeasement" smilingly hopeful of success. Mustache down—as at right—the grim, determined "Stop Hitler" Chamberlain.

Confronted with the war in Europe, Wilson tried to keep out of it. When American ships were sunk, he wrote notes to Germany, to the disgust of many "patriots." Words he spoke were torn out of their context and his famous "too proud to fight" made many people at home and abroad say he was a coward. But Wilson knew his countrymen. They were not ready to send their sons to battle in Europe. When that memorable April day in 1917 came and when Wilson said at last that patience and forbearance were at an end and the country must fight Germany, he had the whole United States back of him. The feeling was that when this patient man said so, it must be so.

Chamberlain is confronted with a menacing situation in Europe. Like Wilson he loathes the very idea of a horrible destructive world war. Just as Wilson wrote notes to Germany, Chamberlain conveyed oral "notes" by journeying to Godesburg and Munich to talk to Hitler. Moreover he knew Britain was not in a mood to fight for the Czechs and also that it was not prepared to fight. It would have been like Chamberlain himself tackling Joe Louis. Chamberlain saved the peace then.

He has gone on trying to save the peace. He has won the trust of his people just as Wilson did.

The result was that when he announced England would defend Poland, if it were attacked, all Britain applauded. If he has to take Britain into the dreadful ordeal of war,

SERIAL STORY BORDER ADVENTURE

BY OREN ARNOLD

Yesterday, Barro's allies start to cross the river when the Border Patrol sees, calls halt. But from positions in the rear of Barro...

CHAPTER XXX

BARRO'S cavalcade of aliens passed within 20 feet of Sheridan Starr, who was crouched against a boulder.

It was Sherry who fired the rifle signal five minutes later and shouted the first command to halt. "ALTO!" His men in the border force repeated it. First duty always is to inform the enemy that he is under arrest, then take him peacefully if possible.

On the other hand, Luis Barro was too dumfounded for a few seconds to understand what had happened. The shot and the commands had come from the rear. But they had come unmistakably from the U. S. Border Patrol. All at once he was indignant. The damned Americans had dared to cross into Mexico itself!

"Who are you?" he shouted back, insolently. "We are Mexicans, on Mexican soil. You know the law. You dare not be here!"

"I know your voice, Barro!" Sheridan called, clearly and loud. "But there's something you do not know. You are not on Mexican soil. I command you to surrender, or be killed!"

"But—this is Mexico! The Rio Grande is not the international line at this point. The old channel is, not the new one. The river has changed, but the two countries have not changed the line survey. You and your aliens are all on American soil and you are under legal arrest. Manos arriba!"

An almost electric tenseness had gripped both groups during this brief exchange, then suddenly it broke. A woman screamed; somebody groaned in sheer terror.

Horses sensed the excitement and began pitching. Luis Barro cursed. Then he jerked out his pistol and fired in the direction of Sheridan's voice.

His shot released a ragged volley from 20 or 30 rifles and pistols around him, but the officers held their fire until they could speak one more warning command. "HALT! . . . ALTO!" The shooting only increased. Sheridan saw a fellow officer fall and writhe in agony.

"OKAY, LET 'EM HAVE IT!" Sheridan yelled then. Luis Barro spurred his horse in that instant, guiding back westward toward the first opening he could see in the night shadows.

But another horseman had spurred with him and came now to his side, half stood on his own running horse and dived. Barro was grasped around the neck. Both men tumbled hard to the ground.

Border Patrol rifles barked rapidly now. Crack! Crack! Crack! Sheridan saw the aliens and smugglers break in a wild stampede. Those who had entered the water ran foolishly back into the fight. Most of the riders, having no saddles, jumped or fell off their mounts. All of them were hemmed in by a long arc of officers strung out toward the west, and by the river itself toward the east. Yelling, shooting, screaming, shouting, crying men and women lunged about in confusion everywhere. A tall bearded fellow loomed in the night and shot seemingly point blank at Sheridan Starr, but missed.

"Don't shoot any women!" he yelled in command to the officers. "Just pick off the men. All right, Barro—had enough?"

Barro didn't answer, but in a few minutes more the shooting subsided. An officer had thrown a bright flare into the midst of the aliens and it lighted the scene theatrically. Its startling brightness, although harmless, seemed to have the effect of a huge bomb. Foreigners were thrown in terror, stoop now with their hands in the air. Five minutes more of this and Sheridan again took verbal command.

"MOVE up together, men!" he shouted, "and disarm 'em one by one. Bunch them together. Be careful, but don't shoot any more if you don't have to!"

From his left then he heard a woman calling. "And, strangely, calling him by name!"

"Sheridan! Are you all right, Sheridan?"

"I'm sure of that," he said then. "The officers are rounding them up now. Closing in. Barro's in there somewhere sure as fate, Betty Mary! We've got him—thanks to you! There won't likely be any more shooting now. Stay behind me and come on!"

It was a battlefield, after the battle. A dozen or more horses were down, dead or wounded. And the bright white light of the flare revealed several human bodies as well.

"First thing for you and me now, little girl, is to help the wounded men," Sheridan was saying as he walked. He turned to address her direct—"We can save lives by prompt—" He halted. She wasn't there! She hadn't followed at his heels, as ordered.

But all at once she called to him again. Almost screamed. "Sherry! Here's Hope . . . Hope . . . Oh Sherry!"

They stooped to touch him. Apparently a Mexican, really an American in disguise. The odd stooping position of his body stumped over another had first attracted Betty Mary, and even under extraordinary circumstance she had seen something familiar about the man. She and Sherry moved to lift him.

"There's Barro under Hope!" Sherry suddenly cried. "He's tied, hand and foot! With bridle reins! My god, Betty Mary! . . . Oh my god! . . . then a wild bullet—! Don't you see?"

Sherry's own youthful voice had broken into a sob as full realization came to him. A full quarter hour later other officers came to take charge; quietly, efficiently doing what had to be done. They found big Sheridan sitting on the ground beside his teammate, head and arm on bent knees, crying in full abandon as only a strong man can.

"Who is that?" he barked. His mind refused to verify what he thought he knew. It didn't make sense. "Sherry? Is it over? Are you hurt any? I'm coming!"

She came rushing to him then and he couldn't say a thing. He just put an arm around her and squeezed her and stared down at the top of her head, and felt her trembling and patting his back and murmuring, "Sherry . . . Sherry!" in little broken sobs.

"I told you to stay home!" he muttered at last. "Honey girl!"

"I couldn't."

"No."

He said it matter-of-factly, as if he hadn't expected her to; as if he could understand.

"Nobody has slipped through."

Washington Asked To Speed Cotton Checks

DICKENS, May 11 (AP)—Washington officials were asked today to speed the release of soil conservation checks due farmers who placed cotton in warehouses in 1937 at Jayton and certain other West Texas towns.

Joe M. Rose, chairman of a committee appointed last fall, and Marshall Formby, Dickens county judge, said they telephoned C. E. Rathell, treasurer of the Commodity Credit Corporation, and Texas Congressmen George H. Mahon and Clyde Garret.

Cotton placed in the warehouses was overgraded, the government contended, and farmers were told to pay the difference they drew and the actual worth of the cotton, plus storage and interest.

Formby said that in a meeting at Lubbock last fall, Rathell promised farmers that all who signed certain forms which entitled the government to take from future government checks the amount due, would be considered complying with federal requests and there would be no delay in receiving their checks.

The judge said checks for the 1938 crop, already more than two months overdue, still were being held and that each check would have to be cleared through Washington offices before reaching West Texas farmers. This would delay the checks from 30 to 90 days, it was felt.

Rose expressed hope Washington officials would arrange to allow the deductions to be made at College Station, instead of sending the checks to Washington.

Rep. Rayburn Hits Red River Critics

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Rep. Rayburn's opinion that it was "passing strange" critics of the proposed Red river dam had not objected to dams involving electric power generation came before the house today.

His statement was in the published hearing record of a house appropriations subcommittee considering the multi-purpose project between Oklahoma and Texas.

Observing that representatives of Gov. Leon C. Phillips of Oklahoma had testified before the committee that construction of the $54,000,000 flood control-power project would inundate fertile land in Oklahoma, Rayburn said:

Rodeo Horses Have Colorful Monickers

When it comes to names, those chosen for rodeo horses show as much imagination if not more than the names selected for racing horses. Take a list of the names of some of the horses that will be seen in Pampa during the Top O' Texas Fiesta, June 13-14, for example. Among the broncs Lynn Beutler is bringing here are Gold Dust, Cock Screw, Sky High, New Deal, all new to the rodeo arenas here.

Veteran rodeo horses are Strawberry, 1,150 pounds; Red Snapper, 1,300 pounds; from Anvil Park, Book Hill, a grey, well-bred, polo type weighing 1,150 pounds; Rasputin, a high kicking horse from the northern ranges, 1,400 pounds; Technicolor, a brown horse, 1,300; Powder River, from Kansas, 1,100; and Cheyenne, the lightest one in the Beutler string, 900 pounds.

Austin Smallest American City To Show Alien Films

AUSTIN, May 11.—In this nation's smallest city to show foreign motion pictures, University of Texas students were today credited with sufficient knowledge of foreign languages to continue running imported films.

An Austin theater manager, consulting attendance at French, German and Czechoslovakian films, reported that approximately one-tenth of the student body apparently knew enough foreign language to enjoy the pictures.

Loving cups will go to the organization—sorority, dormitory or independent team—winning first, second, and third places in points in a four-quarter season of competition. Cups will also reward individual winners in fifteen intramural sports events: tennis doubles and singles, archery, golf, badminton singles and doubles, table tennis singles and doubles, basketball, volleyball, shuffleboard, and baseball.

A joint intramural-University of Texas Sports Association banquet, "T-Nite" will also see awards presented by six sports clubs—Carter, Orchestrists (dancing), Turtle, Bow and Arrow, Tee, and Raquet—to their most valuable members.

University of Texas co-eds will be installed as new president of UTSA, replacing Elizabeth Baker of San Antonio.

New Deal Causes New Text On Bookkeeping

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
AUSTIN, May 11.—To be an expert accountant these days, you must know the "ins and outs" of the S. E. C. and other New Deal agencies, University of Texas business professors believe.

Three accounting professors at that institution, Dr. George H. Newlove, Dr. C. Aubrey Smith, and John Arch White, have just written a new textbook delving into hitherto untouched phases of the theory and technique of auditing.

In it they emphasize the new types of accounting which have arisen out of operations of the Securities and Exchange Commission, and its effects on the basis income tax laws and accounting.

Volume two of a three-volume series, this book deals with "Intermediate Accounting." Their first volume treated fundamentals of accounting, while the third, uncompleted, will stress accounting for large corporations, legal auditing and other advanced fields.

One of the most important Japanese holidays is March 21, officially the first day of spring.

65 Per Cent Of Nation's Syphilis Centered In South

SAN ANTONIO, May 11 (AP)—Dr. J. R. Heller, Jr., of New Orleans, a member of the United States public health staff, told doctors today 65 per cent of the nation's syphilis is centered in the south.

"In the south, in 30 per cent of this country's population, we have the unenviable distinction of playing host to 65 per cent of the spirochetes of syphilis," Dr. Heller said.

New England, he said, is showing a decrease in the number of cases. He urged physicians to tackle the problem of eradicating the disease and said if syphilis were correctly ascribed as a cause of death it is likely the disease would rank as the nation's No. 1 killer.

Dr. Heller said more than 100,000 persons die annually in the United States of syphilis. Twenty-five thousand of those who die are babies, he said.

"Surgeon General Parran's famous statement that 'syphilis strikes one out of every ten adults' is more easily understood perhaps when clarified by the statement the probability of acquiring syphilis between birth and the age of 50 is one out of ten," he said.

Syphilis control programs have been retarded generally through the lack of trained workers, he said. He suggested public health officers should not direct clinics for cure of the disease and recommended placing them in the hands of private physicians wherever possible.

To every Top O' Texas town this week will be mailed a letter to one individual in each town asking him to become chairman for his locality in obtaining exhibits to be shown in Pampa during the Top O' Texas Fiesta here on June 13-14.

Al Gilliland, chairman of the Fiesta exhibits committee, said today that ample window space would be available for displays in the stores of Pampa merchants.

Mr. Gilliland explained that if any exhibitor was not contacted by mail or personally he would be just as welcome to display his collection, by volunteering notice to the committee. The committee chairman is Al Gilliland, 525 North Cuyler, Pampa, telephone 1467.

All exhibits will be insured so that valuable collections may be entered in the fiesta without any danger of loss to collectors, Mr. Gilliland assured.

Awards for exhibits will be: first, $25; second, $15, and third, $10.
