Grand Jury Called To Investigate Rumpus HOUSE UPHOLDS FDR POWERS

Sheriff Faces Assault Count In Altercation

C. E. Cary, Ex-Judge Files Charges In County Court

Investigation of a Tuesday afternoon rumpus in the courtroom between Sheriff Cal Rose and C. E. Cary, local attorney, that caused the latter to take to bed and summon a physician, was ordered today by Foreman J. D. Frye of the Gray county grand jury.

Mr. Frye issued a call for members of the grand jury to convene tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of investigating an alleged assault on Judge Cary, who has served terms as county judge, county attorney and justice of the peace of Gray county. Mr. Frye said that his action in reconvening the grand jury was based on suggestions made by officials and members of the grand jury.

The grand jury probe immediately preceded lodging of an aggravated assault charge in county court, signed by C. E. Cary before Chas. I. Hughes. The complaint alleges that on June 27, Cal Rose, a "person of robust health," made an aggravated assault upon C. E. Cary, a "deceitful person." Mr. Cary has only one leg. A warrant for an arrest will not be made until either the county attorney, Joe Gordon, who is absent from the city on a vacation trip, or District Attorney Clifford Braly, who was also absent today but will return tonight, complies necessary information regarding details of the alleged assault, it was stated.

The complaint was first taken to the justice of the peace court of Charles I. Hughes, who took the papers to the county clerk's office for filing in county court. Such a charge comes within the jurisdiction of the county court.

Indicted Slayer Drowned In Brazos

WACO, June 28 (AP)—Officers continued today their search for clues in the death of Douglas T. Fuller, 29, whose body was found in the Brazos river today when apparently he had been thrown alive.

District Attorney Holvey Williams said Fuller had been under indictment for shooting to death Charles Osborn, 42-year-old Waco farmer, April 2 last year but that his trial had been postponed several times.

The prosecutor recalled Fuller made a statement after Osborn's death indicating the killing was the aftermath of an attack on him by three men and a woman in a park here. Police found Fuller bound, gagged and his body cut. Williams said Fuller was attacked after the killing.

Fuller's body was roped and pulled from the river near Marlin yesterday after highway workmen noticed it floating downstream. The victim's ankles, wrist and neck were bound with rope. Officers believed the body had been in the water two or three days.

A brother, John Fuller, identified clothing of the victim. Other survivors include a brother of Corsicana.

Heaviest Rainfall In Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 28 (AP)—The heaviest 24-hour rainfall in nearly five years, 3.70 inches, caused the North Canadian river to flow out of its banks east of Oklahoma City today and threatened the shanty homes of 200 squatters in lowlands. South of Okemah, where 3.28 inches of rain had fallen, the North Canadian flooded lowlands. Additional damage was expected when drainage was received from a number of small creeks.

TO BE HONORED

Lou J. Roberts of Borger, above, a member of the board of trustees of the American Legion department of Texas, past commander of the 18th district, past commander of Hutchinson county post 412, will be honored by American Legion members of the 18th district and their friends at an appreciation stag party to be held at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night at the American Legion hut in Borger. The Borger man is the choice of all posts in the 18th district for the office of department commander, nominations for which will be made at the department convention to be held in Waco, August 26-29.

Eckerd Honored For First Aid Work In Pampa

Thomas T. Eckerd, Pampa assistant fire chief, couldn't make an answer to the city commission Tuesday for two reasons.

First of all, he didn't know why he had been asked to appear before the city commission, and when he did learn the reason, it was entirely a surprise to him.

Mayor E. S. Carr said, "Stand up, Tom." Tom stood up, wondering what was going to happen next. Then the mayor on behalf of the city commission presented the assistant fire chief with a framed American National Red Cross certificate of appreciation.

The certificate was awarded for the Pampa man's satisfactory service for a period of more than three years in first aid and life saving. Mr. Eckerd is an expert instructor of the Red Cross courses in life saving and fire aid and has been active in teaching these courses here.

The document, presented to the assistant fire chief, was signed by Franklin D. Roosevelt and three other National Red Cross officials.

DETROIT, June 28 (AP)—Indignant members of the Detroit Turners today refused today to heed a "proclamation" ordering German citizens born in 1920 to register for compulsory military and labor service under the reich.

Proceeds Of 'Tom Sawyer' Will Aid Underprivileged Children

There's a big cast in the four-act play "Tom Sawyer" to be presented at 8 o'clock Friday night in the Pampa High school auditorium.

The cast, headed by Leo Stockton, who plays the title role, has 35 characters in all. Dramatization, arrangement and direction of the play is by Doris Landers Hess, the same director who presented "Snow White and Seven Dwarfs" in Pampa on September 30 last year.

Mrs. Hess wrote the script as an adaptation from Mark Twain's classic, and her work retains the high-lights of the original in the stage production.

The play is being given for the benefit of the Pampa Kiwanis club fund for underprivileged children.

The four acts of the play are entitled: act 1, white-washing the fence; act 2, at the grave-yard at midnight; act 3, Aunt Polly's home; scene 2, three days later, boys still missing; act 4, lost in the cave.

Bombers Fly From U. S. To Honolulu

HONOLULU, June 28 (AP)—Fifteen navy bombers en route from San Diego to Honolulu appeared over Pearl harbor about 10:50 a. m. (CST) today. The weather was clear.

The first plane in the mass flight which started yesterday afternoon alighted at 10:51 a. m. The others descended in quick succession.

Injunction To Bar Houston Film Asked

Son Claims Famed General Was Called 'Vagrant'

HOUSTON, June 28 (AP)—Sam Houston was pictured as a common vagrant by the movies in the picture "Man of Conquest," an attorney for General Andrew Jackson Houston claimed today as testimony began in a suit against four movie distributing and producing companies.

Kirby Fitzpatrick, the attorney, started Judge Roy Campbell with the statement in an injunction suit asking that the picture be barred from the screen.

"The picture shows that Stephen F. Austin called Sam Houston a freebooter, a troublemaker and they ran him out of Texas," Fitzpatrick said in explaining some of the complaints of General Houston, last surviving son of Sam Houston.

"Ran him out of Texas?" the judge gasped.

"Yes, sir," Fitzpatrick continued, "they vagged him."

General Houston, who has had several legal, literary and verbal controversies with historians and biographers over their accounts of his famed father, gulped at the statement but remained silent.

Four corporations are defendants in the suit. They are Republic Pictures Inc., producers of the picture; Interstate Circuit Inc., operators of numerous Texas theaters; Republic Pictures Corporation of Texas, distributor of the picture, and Horwitz-Texas Theater Company, a local theater company.

General A. J. Houston claims the picture defamed his father and mother and is asking that he and his two daughters be awarded $1,000,000 damages. This suit is to be heard later.

Mason Reports On Townsend Meeting

Pampa Townsend clubs 1 and 2 and some visitors from LeFors heard reports on the fourth national Townsend convention, held June 22-25 at Indianapolis, when a picnic was held at Central park Tuesday night.

The report was made by Charles Mason, local delegate, who started speaking at 9 o'clock, following the picnic held an hour earlier.

Mr. Mason said attendance at the national convention was 12,000. Texas was represented by 56 delegates.

A complete report of the convention will be made by the local delegate when a Townsend meeting of Pampa clubs 1 and 2 is held at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the district courtroom.

Attendance at the program held in Central park last night was 60.

Fresh Foods Arrive In British, French Markets

TIENTSIN, June 28 (AP)—British and French concession markets had fresh food supplies today after two lean, high-priced weeks since the Japanese blockade of the two foreign zones.

MRS. THACKER

Johnnie Louis Blankenship, above, has the role of Mrs. Thacker in the four-act play, "Tom Sawyer," to be presented at 8 o'clock Friday night in the Pampa High school auditorium. The play, sponsored by the Pampa Kiwanis club, is for the benefit of the club fund for underprivileged children. Miss Blankenship has the record of the longest period of training of any in the cast of the play—she has studied dramatics for 15 years.

British And Japs To Negotiate Dispute

TOKYO, June 28 (AP)—The Japanese government announced formally today that at the request of the British government it would negotiate with Britain at Tokyo an arbitration of the two-week-old Tientsin dispute.

Britons hoped negotiations would be limited to the Tientsin controversy, but Japanese were determined to include the question of British support of Japanese currency.

Neither the foreign office nor the British embassy were informed as to when the Tientsin representatives would arrive, but they were expected within a few days.

Domestically (Japanese news agency) reported the Japanese army's minimum demands for ending their blockade of the British and French concessions in Tientsin were:

1. Joint British-Japanese control of terrorism.
2. Suppression of anti-Japanese activities within the concession.
3. Full cooperation on economic development in North China.
4. Surrender of 40,000,000 Chinese dollars (currently about $5,664,000) held in British banks in the concessions to the Japanese-sponsored Peiping government. This money belonged to the Chinese Nationalist government, deposited before the war.

These points are to be placed before the negotiators in Tokyo, the Domei dispatch said.

Pampans Invited To Fourth Rodeos By Delegations

Two goodwill delegations—one from Clarendon and the other from Canadian—came to Pampa late yesterday afternoon to broadcast the interesting angles of their respective July Fourth celebrations.

Headed by Miss Sydna Yokley and her horse, Cinnamon, the Canadian delegation came in shortly after 6 o'clock last night and staged an entertainment in front of the LaNora theater.

Carl Studer, secretary-manager of the Anvil Park Rodeo Ass'n., welcomed Pampans to come to Canadian July 2, 3, and 4 when the 17th annual Anvil Park rodeo will be staged.

Miss Yokley, recently acclaimed in the American Magazine as the All-American Cowgirl, gave a roping and riding demonstration in front of the theater.

Earlier in the afternoon, Pampa had greeted a delegation from Clarendon where a big July Fourth celebration will be held next Tuesday. Clarendon will have two rodeo performances, a band parade, fireworks, old fiddlers' contest, and a street dance.

Both delegations were greeted by a Pampa group headed by Farris Oden, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. C. H. Schalkley, C. of C. goodwill committee chairman, and members of his committee.

Austin Attorney Injured In Wreck

COLEMAN, June 28 (AP)—Gay Sheppard, Austin attorney injured in an automobile mishap here yesterday, remained in a critical condition at a hospital today.

Physicians said the son-in-law of State Comptroller George H. Sheppard had a fracture at the base of the skull and give him slight chance to recover.

The injured man's wife and baby arrived from Austin last night. He is a brother of Charles Sheppard of Brownwood and Mrs. D. E. Mathes of Houston.

He was en route to Amarillo to try a case at the time of the accident.

Late News

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—The price of the Mexican peso dropped to a nominal range of 18.70-19.25 cents in foreign exchange markets today following the sharp break in domestic and world silver prices.

NEWARK, N. J., June 28 (AP)—The Newark Star-Eagle said Tony Galento, heavyweight boxing challenger, was "badly shaken up" today in an auto accident in New York City, but an examination revealed no serious injury.

A CANDID CAMERA SHOT OF Six Men At Work!

Here is an unusual photo of six prominent Pampans—taken when a photographer climbed above them at the highway banquet in the high school gym last Friday night, yelled at them and then popped his flash bulb when they looked up—that is, when all of them looked up but one. The busy fellow in the top center of the picture (the one with his fork diving into an extra plate) is B. M. Behrman. Seated at Mr. Behrman's right is Jimmy Weir, who has just bitten a roll in two, and then reading on around the table from left to right we have smiling D. L. Parker, M. C. Johnson (with a mouthful of chicken a la king), Clarence Kennedy (with a mouthful of ditto), and Harold Wright, who was surprised no end. The six were members of the Chamber of Commerce reception committee, and when this picture was taken they were being served late and all by themselves in the foyer in front of the banquet room.

He told the House of Commons in view of Japan's agreement to begin discussions the British government assumed Japanese soldier's treatment of British subjects which last week Chamberlain called "intolerable insults" would cease.

Earlier the cabinet had received news of Japan's readiness to open negotiations and had approved Chamberlain's statement to Commons.

Probes Spread In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La., June 28 (AP)—A spreading series of investigations, centered today on Louisiana State University, kept this state in turmoil while police of the nation hunted the school's former president, who is accused of issuing invalid notes totaling half a million dollars.

As the new governor, Earl K. Long, promised a complete investigation of LSU and other state institutions, police lost the trail of the missing university head, Dr. James Monroe Smith, at Memphis, Tenn.

The grand jury here, under guidance of Attorney General David M. Ellison, settled down to a "thorough investigation" of LSU but the federal grand jury in New Orleans for an inquiry into alleged WPA irregularities in the state and the PWA began a check-up of its own.

Observers, meanwhile, anticipated a fight between three large banks and the state administration—the university—to determine who should stand the loss of the $500,000 which Ellison said Dr. Smith obtained.

The attorney general said Smith obtained $300,000 from one New Orleans bank, $100,000 from another in the same city, and $100,000 from a Baton Rouge bank.

Ellison said the banks would have to stand the loss because the notes were accepted by the banks without authority of the state bond and tax board as required by law.

Woman Wounded By Indiana Officers

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., June 28 (AP)—Indiana officials, delving into life in state prison here, sought today the circumstances that enabled three convicts to launch a weird plot to trade a woman's life for their freedom.

The three seized Mrs. Ruth Joiner, 28, Crawfordville, Ind., welfare worker, as she toured the institution yesterday and held her captive nearly two hours, butcher knives at her throat, while they parlayed with Warden Alfred F. Dowd for guns, an automobile and safe conduct to the outside world.

Prison guards and state police finally quelled the outbreak by firing through broken windows into the office of Dr. Patrick H. Weeks, prison physician, where the men were entrenched.

Mrs. Joiner, the three had men a fourth prisoner and two prison attendes were wounded.

She was wounded so badly surgeons feared they might have to amputate her right arm. The others were wounded less severely.

Dollar Bloc Defeats GOP Opposition

New Public Works Proponents To Cut Demand In Half

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—Administration leaders beat down Republican opposition in the House today to keep the way open for possible compromise of the Senate's drastic curtailment of President Roosevelt's monetary powers.

Rallying overwhelmingly Democratic support, they won a vote to send to a conference with the Senate conflicting versions of a bill to extend those powers beyond the Friday midnight expiration date.

The House previously had approved continuation of all of them. The Senate, however, rewrote the House measure to provide extension of the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund but to end the President's power to devalue the dollar further and buy foreign silver. It also voted to fix the treasury price for domestically-mined silver at 77.57 cents an ounce.

The principal task before the conference committee, therefore, will be to decide whether the Senate, House or a compromise version of dollar devaluation authority shall prevail.

Shortly before the vote on sending the measure to conference, the leadership knocked down 318 to 184, a Republican move to win immediate House concurrence with the Senate limitations.

Republicans strongly opposed the move to send the measure to conference, their strategy being to delay action on it so all the President's monetary powers would expire with the end of the present fiscal year at midnight Friday.

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—Senate appropriation of a new public works program decided today to cut in half their demand for $500,000,000 if they were unable

U. S. Treasury Cuts Price Of Foreign Silver

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—The treasury cut its foreign silver price today from 40 to 38 1/2 cents per ounce.

The second reduction in as many days followed the new policy of the treasury inaugurated within 24 hours after the senate voted to forbid further purchasing of foreign silver by the treasury.

On Monday the fore price had stood at 43 cents.

By coincidence, today's price was almost exactly half of 77.57 cents per ounce price also voted by the senate for silver mined in this country.

Although officials declined to give any formal reasons for the cuts, they indicated that they were intended to prevent the dumping of large amounts of foreign silver in this country before congress finally determines the future silver policy.

Yesterday when the price dropped from 43 to 40 cents per ounce, it was the first time since March, 1936, that the price had been maintained on a day to day basis.

Man Sealed In Box Car For Two Days

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 28 (AP)—A man who said he had been sealed for two days in a railway box car was identified today as John Stell, Paris, Texas, Assistant County Attorney B. W. Brown disclosed.

Brown said the man, found when the car was unsealed at the stockyards, first was believed to be an amnesia victim but by communicating with pencil and paper Brown learned he had lost his voice five years ago.

Weak from hunger, the man told Brown he had boarded the train at Mountain Park Sunday and the car later was sealed.

Nazi Ship Reported Fired On By Poles

WARSAW, June 28 (AP)—Reliable reports from Gdynia, Poland's port close to the free city of Danzig, said today a German military plane had been fired on by Polish coast artillery.

The incident was said to have occurred Monday, not yesterday, as other reports had said.

In Berlin, the air ministry today said a German military plane had been "shot down" but rumors persisted a German plane had been fired on near the Polish naval station of Puck at the extreme end of of the Polish corridor, Pomerania.

The Gdynia sources said it was not known whether the supposed German plane, allegedly flying over prohibited territory at the northern tip of the corridor, had been hit.

Polish circles here charged there had been numerous violations of Polish frontiers by German planes in recent weeks.

Mann Claims Fair Trade Bill Invalid

AUSTIN, June 28 (AP)—Stamped by Attorney General Gerald C. Mann as invalid, the fair trade bill passed recently by the legislature after bitter dispute remained on the desk of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel today, awaiting his action.

In view of the attorney general's opinion the measure conflicted with Texas' anti-trust laws, it was generally believed O'Daniel would veto it. The governor could, however, approve or file the bill without his signature.

An opinion by the attorney general—in this instance it was requested by the governor—has no legal effect, but merely advisory. The governor may follow it or disregard it.

It was recalled, nevertheless, that Gov. O'Daniel vetoed a bill allowing barbers to fix minimum prices after the attorney general held that act unconstitutional.

The fair trade act permitted manufacturers to set minimum prices on trade-marked articles by contracts with retailers.

Advocates argued it would end unfair trade practices and protect the manufacturer, the retailer and the consumer. Opponents said it would boost prices and stifle competition.

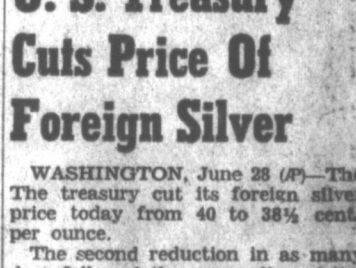

The bill passed both houses by large majorities although in the senate it was blocked for weeks by a filibuster.

Mann based his opinion on a peculiar provision of the act that if the act conflicted with the anti-trust laws that act and not the anti-trust laws should prevail.

He asserted the bill "is in contravention of and conflicts with the anti-trust laws of the State of Texas, and therefore, by virtue of the provisions of section 7 of the bill, is a nullity and of no force or effect whatsoever."

Medicine Chest For Traveling And Home Suggested

For the home—in every home there should be certain first-aid materials and medicines, carefully selected, carefully labeled, and kept in a cabinet made for the purpose. This cabinet should be placed well out of the reach of children. Medicines prescribed by a doctor should be kept here and not left standing around the house. When the special need for which they are prescribed is past, such medicines should be thrown away. The following articles should be always kept on hand:

A clinical thermometer—For taking temperature.

First-aid dressing—including sterilized gauze for wound dressings, gauze bandages to hold dressings in place, and a roll of adhesive plaster. A number of individual first-aid dressings will be found very useful. These can be purchased in any drug store.

Alcohol (for rubbing)—Six ounces. Use externally to relieve the pains of sprains, strains, bruises, and to refresh the skin during an illness.

Aromatic spirits of ammonia—Two ounces. One-half teaspoon in some water for faintness.

Boric acid—Four ounces. Dissolve one teaspoonful in a glass of water and use as an eyewash.

Phenol ointment (Carbonated Castor)—One tube. For external use, in treatment of small burns.

Castor oil—Eight ounces. Dose—one to two tablespoonfuls.

Tincture of iodine—3 1/2 per cent or individual ampoules.

Syrup of Ipecac—Dose, one teaspoonful, followed by a drink of warm water, to cause vomiting.

For traveling—Small first-aid packets, which can be purchased from many druggists or hospital supply companies, will be found useful and occupy but little space in a traveling bag. These packets should be part of an automobile equipment. On camping trips, the equipment could be more elaborate and contain remedies for burns, ivy poisoning, and snake bites.

New Under-arm Cream Deodorant safely Stops Perspiration

1. Does not irritate—does not irritate skin.

2. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.

3. Instantly stops perspiration for 1 to 3 days. Removes odor from perspiration.

4. A pure white, greaseless, stainless vanishing cream.

MODERN MENUS

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Service Staff Writer

Finns are a serious and intelligent people. They are the same way about their cooking. It is surprisingly delicious and fits well into the American housewife's scheme of things. Their meat rolls are an interesting variation on the age-old meat ball theme.

Finland Meat Rolls
(Serves 4 to 6)

Two pounds round steak sliced to 1-2 inch thickness, salt and pepper, 1-8 pound salt pork, flour boiling water, 1 cup cream.

Cut the thin slices of meat into 4-inch lengths and about 3 inches wide. Then beat the meat well with a potato masher or other hard instrument. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cut salt pork into small pieces or put a piece on each slice of beef. Roll and secure. Fry the rolls in butter or other fat until well browned on all sides. Then strew with flour. Brown the flour, and pour boiling water over the rolls. Simmer until tender. Remove to hot platter. Mix cream with pan liquid, bring to boil, then pour over hot rolls. Serve with vegetables.

Finland Salmon Casserole
(Serves 4 to 6)

Here's a specialty the Finns are serving at the Finland at the Finland Pavilion at the New York World's Fair. Women from all over the United States have asked for the recipe.

One pound salmon, 1-2 onion, 1 1-2 teaspoons salt, (if fresh salmon is used), 5 tablespoonfuls butter, 2-3 pint milk, bacon, 1 1-2 quart potatoes, 1-2 teaspoon white pepper, 2 tomatoes, 2 eggs (lightly beaten), 1 1-2 tablespoonfuls crackers or rusk crumbs.

Peel potatoes, slice thin and dry between towels. Cut salmon into small cubes. Butter casserole and fill with alternating layers of potatoes and salmon, having potatoes on bottom and top. Sprinkle each layer of salmon with salt and pepper, sliced onion, tomato slices and pieces of butter. Over the top layer of potatoes place strips of bacon. Mix beaten eggs and milk and pour over casserole. Cover with cracker or rusk crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until done, about 3-4 hour.

Saving Of Oil Twice As Fast As Production

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Scientific exploration and increasing knowledge in methods of producing petroleum are building up this country's underground reserves of crude oil at nearly twice the rate at which it is being produced.

Proved reserves on Jan. 1, 1939, the recent report of a committee of the American Petroleum Institute says, "indicate that from 1934 through 1936, new discoveries of petroleum totaled more than 29,500,000,000 barrels." Discoveries, which include changes in previous estimates of older fields based on better knowledge of underground oil sands, averaged more than 1,900,000,000 barrels annually. Average crude oil production in the same period was less than 1,100,000,000 barrels a year.

As a result, more than 800,000,000 barrels of petroleum, on the average, have been added to the nation's proved reserves each year since 1934. Total known reserves on Jan. 1 were 17,348,146,000 barrels, according to the committee, the highest point in the industry's 80-year history.

As late as 1925, proved reserves were estimated only at 5,000,000,000 barrels. Since then more than 13,000,000,000 barrels have been produced, and now at least 17,000,000,000 more barrels are known still to be in the ground. This inventory covers only reserves proved by drilling. It takes no account of possible discoveries in the more than one billion acres of potentially oil-bearing land not completely explored and tested. Nor does it include any estimate of probable increases in reserves in some fields now producing but incompletely tested.

The widespread use of scientific methods of locating oil far below the earth's surface, and ever-greater knowledge of how to get the maximum amount of oil from the ground once a pool is discovered, account for the steady increases in petroleum reserves. Wells more than 10,000 feet deep are becoming commonplace, and one, the deepest hole in the world was drilled nearly three miles in the earth. Better spacing of wells, more intelligent utilization of underground and induced pressures, and chemical treatment of oil sands, and other modern engineering knowledge, also are increasing the reserves because they make it possible to squeeze a greater proportion of the oil from the known pools. New methods developed in recent years are extending the life of pools believed near exhaustion, and even making it feasible to re-open wells that were shut down.

El Paso Gas Rates To Be Lower July 1

EL PASO, June 28 (P)—New domestic gas rates assuring a saving of $100,000 a year will go into effect in El Paso July 1.

The new rates were offered yesterday by the Texas Cities Gas company, a subsidiary of the Lone Star Gas company, and were accepted by the city council after being approved by Public Commissioners Jerry Sadler and Ernest O. Thompson.

Acceptance of the new schedule of rates halted a hearing before the city council to determine a fair rate for El Paso. The hearing was scheduled to start yesterday with the railroad commissioners sitting in.

Acceptance of the new rates will end litigation in federal court in which the gas company obtained an injunction halting enforcement of a 55-cent rate ordinance. The injunction was quashed by higher courts and remanded to the district court here on technicalities.

In addition to the $100,000 annual saving on rates, El Paso domestic users will get a $25,000 cash rebate representing a reduction granted the Texas Cities Gas company by the El Paso Public Gas company, the pipe line firm, in the gas rate last September.

"Shanghai-ing" Charged U. S. Sea Captain

NEW YORK, June 28 (P)—Charges that an American sea captain had revived the old-time practice of "shanghai-ing" some of his crew led to a recommendation today by a federal marine investigation board that his license be suspended six months.

The action against Capt. Alexander Zafiro, master of the Standard Oil tanker, Walter Jennings, was described by federal officials as the first of its kind ever taken against a captain on the basis of charges by his crew.

Some crew members protested that, after sailing from New York for Corpus Christi, Texas, the captain diverted the ship's course to the South American port, contrary to his articles, to prevent crew members from joining a strike in progress at Corpus Christi.

WRITES ABOUT THRILLING EXPERIENCE

By SYDNA YOKLEY.

At the Anvil Park rodeo in 1938, my steer was standing in the chute ready. Some cowboy "beited" me (held my belt as I got on in order to lift me off in case of something happening), and I mounted and nodded my head that I was ready.

The gate swung open, and with a sudden spurt of bucks and twisting, my steer catapulted into the arena. About a half a dozen jumps from the chute, I felt my right foot slipping. A flash of silver soared above my head. My spur. It was not a regular-wide-stock-riding spur, and the leather had stretched, allowing my spur to slip, hurting through space.

I managed to stick for that eight-second ride, but it seemed like eight hours. The whistle blew, I reached for the fence, but the steer turned outward again. I missed the fence, and suddenly I knew exactly how a would-be diver feels when he hits the water flat.

So ended a memorable ride and my most thrilling one.

Sydna Yokley Hates Cooking And Can't Sew But Loves A Horse

Special to THE NEWS.

CANADIAN, June 28.—She dislikes swimming; abhors cooking, can't sew, likes dancing a little but loves a horse.

That is a one-sentence description of Miss Sydna Yokley, Queen of the Anvil Park Rodeo that will be presented here July 2, 3, and 4 for the seventeenth consecutive time.

Sydna, as she is known to every ranchman and rodeo contestant in America, can not remember her first appearance in rodeo competition but thinks it was when she was 12 years of age that she entered an amateur roping contest in Canadian "just for the fun of it." Since that day she has appeared in the top rodeos of America gaining new honors and friends with each appearance until she was spotted in Fort Worth at the last Fat Stock Exposition by a representative of the Crowell Publishing Company, who nominated her for a spot in Interesting Professions, a featured section of the American Magazine.

That publishing company, appreciating the unusual occupation Miss Yokley enjoys, of ranching in her own right, immediately booked her for a tour of the Eastern cities where she appeared before thousands of the leading executives of the nation. "I got as much pleasure out of them as they did me," was Miss Yokley's only comment regarding the trip through thirteen of the nation's largest cities and being feted as the queen she is.

Eleanor Saw Act. Incidentally, the performance in Fort Worth that attracted the magazine's attention, was her roping act that was performed immediately in front of the box occupied by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Hardly had she returned to her ranch near this city than Paramount film company had photographers on hand to make a short subject of Unusual Occupations, taken in technicolor.

Entering contests and winning them is a matter of course to this young ranch lady who although not 18 years of age owns her own spread of horses and her private herd of cattle. Only last week she won first prize at the Spur, Texas, roundup over a group of the best girl riders in the west.

She doesn't believe it fair to compete in the cowgirl sponsor contest here this year and has invited her friends from all over the country to enter this event in her hometown contest.

"Of the eight horses she owns outright she is the herd boss. Two more horses, Cimamon and Sonny Boy, are show horses and she and her father own them together."

Here's What Devaluation Means To You

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—What is behind all the talk about further "devaluation of the dollar" and extending the administration's monetary powers?

Experts have been trying for years to explain it to inquisitive students and the "average man." No two experts give exactly the same outline.

All of them, however, carry you back to the banking crisis and unstable foreign currency situation of 1933 as a starting point.

In that period, some 30 countries went off the gold standard and lowered the value of their currencies in relation to the dollar. America's foreign trade slumped, and prices of farm products and other commodities sagged.

The President asked and was given power to devalue the dollar from 40 to 50 per cent. It is that power, expiring Friday, which he wants extended—and which the Senate refused to extend.

Just cheaply the dollar was devalued 41 per cent, making its gold content 59 per cent of its former weight—or 15 and 5/21 grains of gold 9/10 fine compared with its old weight of 23.8 grains. To put it another way, that meant gold became $35 an ounce compared with the old price of $20.67.

Made No Difference. The revalued dollar made no physical difference. There were still 100 cents in a dollar. But the "managed currency" idea was to make the dollar buy less; that is, it would take more dollars to buy a bushel of wheat or a bale of cotton.

Higher commodity prices was the first goal of the plan. Wheat at times went beyond $1 a bushel but some argued it was the drought that caused this.

The 1934 dollar devaluation put the United States on what treasury experts called an international gold bullion standard. No citizen could demand gold at the treasury, as he could under the old gold standard by presenting a gold certificate. But the government could buy and sell gold.

In depreciating the value of the dollar in terms of foreign currencies, federal economists argued it would benefit this country by enabling foreign merchants to buy cheaply in the United States than in their own countries. In other words, they contended the English and French could buy more dollars with their pounds and francs, with which to pay for goods purchased here.

Weapon in Reserve. Secretary Morgenthau said recently the devaluation power was a "weapon in reserve needed for protection of American interests. In the monetary field it is as important as a powerful navy in the field of defense against armed attack."

In the monetary bill now before Congress, both houses have approved continuation of the treasury's "stabilization fund." It consists of $2,000,000,000 of the $2,750,000,000 "profit" which the treasury made through devaluation.

Whenever foreign exchange markets become speculative or panicky and abnormal fluctuations occur, the treasury uses the stabilization fund to buy and sell gold and foreign exchange to minimize these variations and prevent injury to foreign trade.

The silver phases of the pending legislation had their inception in 1933 and 1934 when Congress authorized the unlimited coinage of silver and its purchase by the treasury at higher than the world price.

The House has approved continued purchases of domestically-mined silver at prices above world levels. The present treasury price is 64.64 cents an ounce, fixed by a proclamation expiring June 30.

The Senate directed this be raised to 77.57 cents. The Senate also voted to discontinue purchase of foreign silver, originally designed to stimulate trade with silver-producing countries.

Proponents of the silver legislation hoped it would raise the value of silver as a monetary metal. Opponents claim the silver program has cost millions without helping anyone but the silver producers.

Indigent Family Of Nine Divided

LOS ANGELES, June 28. (AP)—Poverty, immigration laws and a desire to remain in the United States divided a family of nine three ways today.

The indigent parents, John McNeil, 39, Canadian World War veteran; his wife, Ann, 38, and a son, Jack, 6, were aboard a deportation train bound for Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Two other Canadian-born children, Mildred, 18, and Mrs. Dorothy Lofton, 19, were to have been deported also. But Mrs. Lofton, an expectant mother, fainted as they were being taken to the station and was permitted to remain with her American husband for the time being.

Mildred, her sister Colleen, 8, said, ran away because she wanted to stay in this country. Edna, 16, who could have stayed anyway, was missing with her; Mildred still faces deportation when found.

The Canadian government refused to accept Edna, Colleen, Marjorie, 14, and Shirley, 10, because they were born in the United States and their father was on relief. They will be placed in an institution.

The parting scene was tragic. Mrs. Lofton crumpled to the floor. Mrs. McNeil first prayed before a statue, "Oh, sainted mother, don't let them take my children." Then she screamed to officers, "I'll kill my children rather than see them taken away."

McNeil was hopeful to the last he could keep his family together. Finally he put his arms about his weeping wife.

"We've lost," he said. "Let's get it over with."

One by one he kissed the children to be left behind, then led his wife and son to the automobile which whisked them away to the deportation train. There McNeil was told to ride with the men. His wife and son were taken to a car for women and children.

McNeil's illegal entry, government agents charged, was the reason for deportation.

Complaints Of Pampanos Now Top Problem

Business concerns must satisfy their customers and cities must satisfy the voters. Sometimes it gets to be quite a problem to please some of the 13,800 persons who call Pampana their home town.

This was revealed in a discussion held at the city commission meeting yesterday, when it was suggested that the city government needed a central place to handle complaints. A member of the commission said he did not blame the citizens entirely when they made some complaints, perhaps concerning streets, to another departments, for often city employees were not sure of the property authority in such cases.

He suggested that one person be assigned to handle complaints as they are made, then route them to the proper department. This could be done, he said, in addition to the employee's other duties.

While no action was taken on the suggestion at the meeting yesterday, the discussion resulting brought interesting sidelights on the attitude of some Pampanos toward their city government.

Among these were the following: the person who has a grudge against some neighbor and makes a complaint against them, with little or no basis.

The citizen who is certain he has basis for a complaint when he has none.

Complaints prefaced by statements as to how long a person has lived in Pampana and how much taxes they pay.

The person who wants to make a complaint against a neighbor, but adopts an "ax-grinding" method stipulating he doesn't want his own name mentioned in the matter.

Persons who telephone at all hours of the day or night, city officials' homes, with total disregard of the ordinary rules of common politeness, and won't give their name.

Captain John Smith, who founded the colony of Virginia at Jamestown in 1607 is believed to have introduced coffee in the United States.

Who wants to live in the city?

BY DON HELOD

This kerosene-operating refrigerator completely licks the city folks. No same person now has a single reason left to live in the big towns.

Here's a proven automatic refrigerator that doesn't need electricity or running water or gas or a chauffeur. You simply pour in five gallons of ordinary kerosene, light a safe little flame... and forget it for days. The name is SERVEL ELECTROLUX.

It's not a new thing. Thousands of farmers everywhere have tried it for years... and loved it. It's fool-proof and trouble-proof 'cause there's no machinery inside it to growl or wear out. The little kerosene flame simply keeps a special, harmless refrigerant moving 'round and 'round in constant circulation—that's the whole yarn.

You get perfect, unceasing, inexpensive refrigeration—you save money by avoidance of food spoilage and preservation of left-overs—you reap frequent crops of ice cubes—you get an endless variety of delicious cold desserts.

Ask us what other farmers say.

Mother Carey's Chickens Come Home To Roost

Sometimes it takes chickens a long time to come home to roost. But eventually they come. Belatedly, 20 years afterward, some chickens now come home to roost in the rigging of the British maritime power.

British merchant ships have been halted off the China coast by Japanese war vessels, boarded, and made to give an account of themselves. The British don't like it at all. They have lodged a strong protest with the Japanese government.

It is just 24 years ago that American ships were being halted off the European coast, boarded, and made to give an account of themselves. The United States didn't like it at all. It lodged a strong protest with the British government.

That wasn't all. The United States had to sit and watch the rights of neutrals whittled away. Contraband, before 1914, had meant supplies and munitions definitely and directly useful to the armed forces. The British expanded the term to mean anything at all except hair tonic and billiard balls.

The doctrine of "continuous voyage" was devised, by which it was assumed that goods shipped to neutral countries were really destined for the German army. American ships were not only halted, but forcibly taken into neutral or allied ports for examination. The U. S. mails were broken into and searched.

The United States didn't like it. It protested. At one time the country was measurably close to war with Britain over British denial of what had been thought as "freedom of the seas."

The British justified all on grounds fairly stated like this: "After all, we are fighting for our lives in a righteous cause. We cannot respect 'rights of neutrals' which conflict. We must make new rules to fit the present game."

And now Britain is confronted with a Japan which, desperately involved in her Chinese venture, sits blandly. "It is not a question of having the right to search these ships. It is necessary, and we are doing it. So what?"

It is not enough to grin at this particular dilemma of the British, confronted by the absence of rights of neutrals which they themselves helped to abolish. The United States may be confronted with the same problem at any moment. The liner President Coolidge is now in the Japanese "search zone." It, too, may be halted.

But if it is, the United States government may well choose to consider the incident, not in terms of what one used to think "international law" guaranteed as the rights of neutrals, but in terms of what 1914-1917 taught that the desperation of necessity may allow to neutrals.

There is reason to believe that the Chinese adventure is not going too well for the Japanese. They are getting desperate. Though there is little American sympathy for the Japanese cause, to the Japanese it is becoming a life and death matter.

And what warring countries will do to the theoretical "rights of neutrals" when they are desperate has already been learned in a grim school whose term was between 1914 and 1917, and one of whose best teachers was none other than Britain herself.

Sharper, Perhaps, Than Swords

Hitler's long-predicted troubles in occupied Czechoslovakia seem to have begun. Despite a few violent outbreaks in which policemen have been killed, most of this developing Czech resistance seems to be of the passive kind.

And that is very interesting, because it is barely possible that this is the most effective kind of resistance. The Czechs were persuaded by British-French arguments and by circumstances, not to fight for their country's independence. Whether that was a wise decision or not is hard to decide finally at this time. But the fact that military resistance was not made does not mean, apparently that the Czechs will not resist at all the Germanization for which Hitler believes them destined.

Here are some of the little things that are happening in Czechoslovakia, gathered together from many dispatches from that area: In cafes and shops, clerks and waiters stand blankly when German soldiers or Brownshirts order anything. They pretend not to understand.

Many German patrons of such places have been victims of a sudden clumsiness of waiters who spilled hot soup over their uniforms. If the soup is not spilled, it may come to the table so loaded with pepper that the Nazis choke, or perhaps a bent pin is found at the bottom of the bowl—all a regrettable accident, of course, but irritating none the less.

A Czech mayor, receiving a bill from the German authorities for food furnished the poor in the early days of the occupation, sent back a prompt bill for iron railings removed from barrack walls. In Pilsen, acid was thrown on a detachment of passing German troops, injuring no one, but staining the uniforms and causing embarrassment to the Germans. More than 100 were arrested.

On Eduard Benes' birthday, buttonhole rosettes flowered throughout the Czech territory, mute evidence that the republic is not forgotten. Statues of Czech heroes have been prominently decked with flowers.

All these things can be very irritating indeed to an army of occupation. The evident intention is to goad the Germans into frankly taking over Czechoslovakia as part of the Reich. This, or harsh measures of suppression, would further alienate foreign opinion. Many Czechs probably figure that, having lost their independence anyway, they might as well go all the way, since Czechoslovakia as an integral part of Germany will be a greater handicap than Czechoslovakia as a "protectorate."

This sort of silent, stubborn, non-violent but exceedingly irritating attitude may in the long run prove a more effective defense of the Czech republic than its army could have been.

Not Too Good A Neighbor

In its efforts to be a "good neighbor" to the nations of South America, the United States is extending financial credits to some of them through the Export-Import Bank.

First Brazil, then Haiti, then Nicaragua sent their emissaries to Washington and returned with funds to support their currency in dealing with American business men and to assist in public works.

The most recent agreement it with Paraguay and one with Chile is in prospect. Advocates of these financial pacts claim many benefits for them, but three important effects which the Paraguay deal is expected to have are:

- 1. Blocking commercial development treaty which Germany had hoped to conclude with Paraguay.
- 2. Increasing business of U. S. road building equipment manufacturers who will furnish machines for highway construction which credits will finance.
- 3. Reduction of U. S. price of several non-competitive Paraguayan products by bringing them closer to market via the new roads.

American citizens want to be good neighbors with South America. They also expect to see some benefits from these agreements start flowing northward soon. They all hope that our statesmen are not pouring good money into a rat-hole.

Exempting Homes

Exemption of homes from all taxation up to $5000 is being advocated by Senator Sheppard of Texas.

Thirteen states have already experimented with this proposal, which is aimed at stimulating home ownership, creating a market for idle land, for idle labor, for building materials and household equipment.

How far the federal government can go in fostering on a national scale any such exemptions would seem problematical. This field of taxation is traditionally one for the states and localities. It has been in the past their staff of tax revenue. Obviously any such wide tax exemption, regardless of its benefits, would leave a gaping hole in tax revenues, to be filled from some other source.

There is a real field for someone's study. How has this worked in the 13 states which have attempted it? Has the expected boom in home building and ownership resulted? How has the tax gap been plugged? Have the net results been good? So far as we know this has not been determined. The objective is certainly laudable. The only question is: Does it work? Somebody ought to find out without delay. Plans like this, if demonstrably workable, are what the country badly needs today.

Behind The News Of The Day

By MILTON BRONNER, NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 24—The Protestant churches of Germany are reeling after a long campaign of attrition by Nazi authorities.

From petty interference all the way to persecution and internment like that of the famous Pastor Martin Niemöller, the Protestant church in Germany has been subjected to a long and bitter campaign of harassment. Most recent were orders from Secret Police Head Himmler that the Confessional church tax, surrender its status as a corporation of public right, and turn over certain of its cathedrals to the Hitler Elite Guard for its neo-pagan ceremonies.

In March, 1933, at about the time he took power, Hitler told the Reichstag: "The Nazi government thinks the two Christian churches are most important elements for the preservation of our national individuality. Their rights shall not be touched."

Four years later, Church Minister Hans Kerrl said: "The primacy of the State over the Church must be recognized. . . . The Nazi party represents a positive Christianity. The question of the divinity of Christ is ridiculous and inessential. A new authority has arisen as to what Christ and Christianity really are—Adolf Hitler."

After Hitler took control, the German Protestant churches made an effort to unite their 28 regional state churches into one strong denomination. This was complicated by the Nazi organization of a sect which it called "German Christians" or the Storm Troopers of Jesus Christ, a device for security Hitler control of the church.

Hitler named his friend Ludwig Mueller, a former army chaplain, as his agent in the work of unifying the Protestant churches. The German Christians insisted on election of Mueller as Reich Bishop of the combined Protestant churches. But the churches chose instead Dr. Friedrich von Bodelschwingh.

The fight between the opposing elements has gone on ever since. Bodelschwingh had to resign. Mueller was put up to succeed him. The whole party machine was mobilized to put over Mueller. Threats were posted against any who might vote against him, and pastors were kidnaped to prevent their speaking in their pulpits against Mueller. Hitler himself broadcast for his friend. Under those circumstances, Mueller polled a two-thirds majority. The Nazis were nominally now at the head of the Protestant church.

But opposition to Mueller reached such a point that he has now been virtually shoved aside, Minister Kerrl assuming his powers.

The Mueller play was not a complete success. All over Germany independent Protestant pastors met and declared themselves against Mueller and his tenets. The German Confessional Church was organized, which did not recognize Mueller or the Nazification of Christianity. Lutherans and Calvinists laid aside their long-standing differences to unite in opposition. Pastor Niemöller is one of those independent pastors. The former war-time submarine commander in his Dahlem church issued a manifesto containing a direct slap at the Nazis:

"I testify that in the employment of the Aryan paragraph within the precincts of the Church of Christ, a violation of the Confession is perpetrated." Systematic persecution of such independent pastors followed. Dr. Jacobi of a Berlin church was attacked by Nazis. A bomb was thrown in the neighborhood of Dr. Niemöller's church in Dahlem.

Of 18,000 Protestant ministers in Germany, it is estimated that 1300 have been in prison or under arrest since 1934. Dr. Niemöller, after a stretch in Moabit prison in Berlin, was sent to the Sachsenhausen concentration camp, where he remains.

Police at Butte, Mont., have been ordered to grow beards for a civic festival. When they're stalking a criminal, they can hide behind their whiskers.

THE HAUNTED HOUSE

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON, NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 27.—Short takes: With her flaming red wig and pasty complexion as the queen in "Elizabeth and Essex," Bette Davis would win no "umph-girl" prizes, and these sacrifices to realism bother Director Michael Curtiz. "Soch acting!" he mourned. "Bette is magnificent. She is perfect! But she has no Essex appeal!"

Later he was telling a wardrobe man what he expected in the way of a certain royal costume. "Rich silks it has to be, and rich furs also. I want it trimmed in real stables and vermin!"

Directing 4-year-old Carolyn Lee in a difficult scene, Edward Grifflith said, "If you get it right this time, darling, I'll buy you an ice cream cone." She replied, "No thanks—it's too fattening."

In the nearly completed "Winter Carnival" Walter Wagner has made a college picture which is not based on a last-minute touch-down; has no absent-minded professor; contains no blue-jowled actors pretending to be underclassmen; and doesn't even use a guppy-gulping sequence. . . . Right in the old groove, though, is "1,000 a Touchdown," with Joe E. Brown and Martha Raye. In this one, the ball is swallowed by Miss Royce, who in turn is swallowed by Mr. Brown, who then gallops over for the winning score. Or something like that.

Television Gets Plugs The movies may be alarmed about television, but they're plugging it with four pictures now in production. . . . You'll have a hard time recognizing Paul Muni in "We Are Not Alone." He'll play it without trick makeup. . . . Metro people who have seen some of the 16 reels of "Gone With the Wind" say Clark Gable dominates the picture. Warners confide that Olivia de Havilland steals it. Selznick employees claim it's a triumph for Vivien Leigh, who is in almost every scene.

But everybody says it's magnificent. Russia, by the way, may buy "Nazi Spy" for exhibition there. And he's considering "Young Mr. Lincoln." Only other recent American picture considered suitable for the Soviets is "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," which has been definitely accepted.

Low Ayres can't dance, but with Lana Turner in "These Glamour Girls," he wins a dance contest. . . . In a Universal western Smiley Burnette, who can't swim, saves Buster Crabbe (an ex-champion) from drowning. . . . And in "Disputed Passage," John Howard, who can't stand the sight of blood, plays a surgeon.

Crochery And Kisses Movie business has got so bad in Kansas City that one theater tried to lure customers at dull hours by offering free dishes to women and free kisses "from a beautiful blond" to men. At this writing I have no statistics on how many dishes were hurled at the "blond."

In "Hotel for Women," Newcomer Linda Darnell chewed her fingernails until makeup men had to glue on a set of false ones. Now

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

There's not a more polite, more active and more handsome child in town than blonde, sturdy Charles Swanson, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Swanson, and you could say the same for active, dark-eyed Robert Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hamilton, but you couldn't blame them for what they did Monday, especially if you had wandered away from home and were playing in the sand pile near the Catholic church. Well, if you were three and it was as hot as it was you too probably would have pulled off all your clothes so you could enjoy it better, even if you knew you were going to get the spanking that they did. This one didn't get to see Robert but he did interview Charles about it later in the evening, and Charles was pushing his bicycle up and down the driveway of the Swanson home. (You just ought to see the muscles in that boy's legs and arms, and you can tell by the look in his light blue eyes that here is really an extraordinary child—)

Bert Isbell his next-door neighbor who Charles rides in, many a game of horsey, thinks Charles is quite super-super. However, parents are forever concerned about their children, and just now Mr. and Mrs. Swanson who were born and raised in Maryland wonder at the ease with which Charles picks up Texas expressions such as "Well, I think I'll go back in yonder." Well, Mr. and Mrs. Swanson you needn't start worrying until he begins saying "yonner," as most of us lazy drawers do.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

When Lou Gehrig returned to the Yankee baseball team after having been examined for a week in a great medical clinic, he carried with him a letter indicating a diagnosis of "amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, a type of illness involving the motor pathways and cells of the central nervous system, and, in lay terms, what seems to be known as a form of chronic poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis."

Now, in the first place, it is necessary to emphasize that infantile paralysis is a disease, chiefly affecting children, known to be caused by a specific virus or infectious agent, appearing chiefly in warm weather, causing acute inflammation of the anterior portion of the spinal cord, and resulting in paralysis.

To understand exactly the nature of Gehrig's condition, it is important to understand something about the anatomy and function of the spinal cord. Our nervous systems are composed chiefly of the brain and the spinal cord, together with what is called the sympathetic nervous system, and the nerves which pass from the spinal cord to the utmost points of the body.

The spinal cord is only 18 inches long in a full-grown man, and weighs less than one ounce. It is, therefore, much shorter than the spinal or vertebral column in which it lies. The tissue of the spinal cord is divided into parts which are anterior, meaning the front; lateral, meaning on the side, and posterior, meaning the back.

Obviously whenever there is a change of any kind in these tissues the effects on the human body are far-reaching and serious. When something happens to the nervous tissues; the muscles which are controlled by this nervous tissue are likewise affected.

In the condition called amyotrophic lateral sclerosis there is a disturbance causing degeneration and hardening of portions of the spinal cord, which is promptly reflected in the muscles of the body. The cause of the condition is unknown. It is apparently not due to any well-established condition affecting the blood, and certainly there has been shown to be no infectious cause. It has been suggested that there are conditions within the body at birth which ultimately reveal themselves in this disease. The condition is seen mostly in mature age, usually between 45 and 60 years of age, and affects men more often than it does women.

The chief symptoms are a progressive twitching of the muscles with increasing weakness and wasting away. The symptoms of the condition seem to be occasionally foreshadowed by vague feelings of exhaustion, occasional cramps, numbness and a burning sensation.

Usually, however, the patient comes to the doctor because he has noticed a gradual wasting of the muscles of one or both hands with twitching. From this point on progressive weakness and wasting are the most important symptoms.

The condition is seldom painful, although in some instances there may be severe pains. Unfortunately the condition does not tend to improve; the progressive wasting of the muscles and, associated therewith, inability of motion or action continue. Treatment helps to maintain the tone of the muscles and to alleviate worry.

Tex's Topics

By Tex DeWeese

ONE OF THE first things we wish to do today is to call attention to that candid camera shot on Page One of today's News. . . . It has a particular interest to the Skipper of this space. . . . For nearly two years now—at all public banquets and especially at the regular weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club, there has been a feud between the Skipper and B. M. (Bunny) Behrman about respective eating capacities.

Mr. Behrman never has overlooked an opportunity to embarrass me in public by claiming that he doesn't even like to sit beside me at a banquet because he never gets anything to eat, the inference being that I eat everything in sight. . . . This has been a gross libel on my retiring technique at the dining table. . . . For many months I have been endeavoring to get proof that Mr. Behrman has been talking about me in order to cover up his own dinner table acrobatics.

IF EVERYBODY WHO is reading this will turn now to Page One and take a look at that camera shot, Mr. Behrman will be convicted of not only eating his own meal and looking for more, but of actually eating an extra meal—being so busy about it that he is the only one of six men around the table who didn't take time out from eating to look up at the camera. . . . Mr. Behrman is the gentleman in the top background of the photo. . . . It's easy to identify him because he is the only one who has his nose pointed to the table and his right hand out spearing another helping from somebody else's plate in the middle of the table.

If you take another look, you'll find, too, that the plate in front of Mr. Behrman has been licked clean. . . . There are six large plates on the table, and he is eating off the seventh in the center. . . . This photographic evidence we hope, will allow for all time any doubt in the mind of anyone about who is the better eater, Mr. Behrman or the Skipper of this space. If the other five men in that picture only knew what a chance they were taking by looking up—they'd never take their eyes off their plates, especially with Mr. Behrman in the same building. . . . The plate was snapped at the highway banquet in the high school gym last Friday night. . . . These six men, on the reception committee, were served late at a special table in the foyer.

IF IT'S GRAND entertainment you're looking for, you'll not want to miss the Kiwanis club benefit show, "Tom Sawyer," to be staged in the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Friday. . . . The Kiwanis club will use the proceeds of the show for the benefit of Pampa's underprivileged children. . . . Adult tickets sell for 40 cents and children's tickets for 25 cents. . . . The show will be presented by the same cast that brought a rave from critics in Amarillo two weeks ago. . . . "Tom Sawyer" has a particular appeal for children.

REAL SOURDOUGH IS DEFINED

If your vacation calls you northward this year, you can do no better than dip into Harry A. Franck's colorful and inclusive story of America's "arctic" empire, "The Lure of Alaska" (Stokes; $3.50). Here is a lively combination of history, travel and good reporting. When Franck learned about the Sourdoughs, for instance, is given briefly below:

Among the old-timers themselves a man is a real Sourdough only if he has been in Alaska continuously since 1899. Or there is the more facetious definition:

Tourist: "Say, what's a Sourdough, Mister?" "Well, son, to be a Sourdough a man must have done three things: shot the Whitehorse Rapids, killed a moose, and lived with a squaw." "Are you a Sourdough, Mister?" "Naw, I never did shoot me a moose."

Far from being the profane rough-neck one pictures old-timers to be, many of them talk more like college professors; even those with a Scandinavian accent have surprisingly large vocabularies. They have a gentle way about them, too, an easy-going manner rare in the States, or at least in the east. There is much less striving to be tough, to show the hard-boiled attitude, than among the flabby clerks and scornful ticket-sellers along Broadway.

The real prospector in his declining years scorns mere work; refuses to shovel snow even at a dollar an hour; buy each other drinks if there is anything to buy them with. Hard-bitten old birds, quite indifferent to personal appearance—or rather wearing what looks manly and outdoors to them, seeming to follow the fashion. Firm-jawed; cheerful in adversity; ready gamblers; good losers; haters of confined spaces; men who say, "Oh, Switzerland is okeh but it is too much cleaned up," or "that place is too crowded now (it has nine houses). I'm pulling out for the north."

This sense of needing unlimited elbow room may in some cases be put on, in some mere habit. . . . Alaska laughs at Admiral Byrd's lone vigil in the Antarctic; there are thousands of men in Alaska who live like that, and worse—and like it.

Wildcat Opens New Oil Pool In Kansas

WINFIELD, Kas., June 28 (AP)—Filling 2,000 feet with oil from an undetermined pay level, the wildcat No. 1 Brown of Arthur Brewer, Winfield, and Hartman & Blair, Wichita, opened a new pool in Cowley county, operators reported today. Field reports said the well, in section NW of 33-30-4E, topped the producing horizon at 3,278 feet and after drilling two feet deeper filled 2,000 feet with crude in two hours. Casing is being run for a test. The well is two miles west of the David pool and four miles north of the prolific Hittle pool.

There, say six scientists of the Los Angeles museum who have made a field survey of the island's animal life.

Pampa Wins Story-Book Game 6-3 In 9th

Pampa Again On Heels Of Lamesa Club

You would have to travel far and hunt long for a more interesting baseball game than the one with the story-book ending out of Roadrunner Park last night when the Pampa Oilers whipped up a ninth-inning rally that defeated Big Spring 6 to 3.

It was the second night in a row that Pampa dealt a rough hand to the Oilers. The two teams met here again tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the closing game of their series.

Pampa takes off for Clovis tomorrow morning for three games there—a set of games that will close the first half season for the Oilers on Saturday night. Sunday the new half starts for the Oilers back on the home lot with a doubleheader against the Amarillo Gold Sox, who finally won a couple of games in a row from lowly Abilene last night.

Lamesa dropped a doubleheader to Clovis last night, 3-2 and 6-4, which puts Pampa only a game and a half out of second place today. The Oilers stepped into third ahead of Big Spring by virtue of their win last night. Pampa, however, is only a half-game ahead of Big Spring and must win again tonight to hold the position.

Last night's results clinched the first half title for Lubbock. The Hubbers won a doubleheader from Midland while their only threat, Lamesa, was dropping a pair of games at the same time.

But lets get back to that point in the Pampa-Big Spring game here last night when Big Spring was leading by the comfortable margin of 5 to 3 as the Oilers went to bat in the final half of the ninth.

Safe On Error. Pitcher Ray Hutton was the first man up, and he struck out. Pietras was next and was safe at first on a second base error. Bailey got a walk. Grover Seitz doubled down the right field foul line, scoring Pietras.

Gordon (Big Dynamite) Nell came up next and the signal went out to Pitcher Bahr to walk him. Pietras needed a hit, so Nell didn't like it, when Bahr began to lob 'em over, so he leaned over and whopped one of the easy ones for a two-bagger, scoring Bailey and Seitz to even the score at 5-3.

Nell advanced to third on a passed ball. Summers singled, scoring Nell with the winning run.

Barons' Boss Howis. The game was featured by a large assortment of arguments. One of them came in the fourth when Big Spring's Tony Rego put up a howl over Nell's steal home. That was the timing when Pampa scored its other two runs. Bailey had walked, and Seitz forced him at second. Nell singled and went to third on a centerfield error. Summers grounded out, short to first, and Nell was held on third. Guyones walked, and then came the steal. The catcher had the ball when Nell came sliding in on the steal, but the umpire ruled the catcher didn't touch the runner. Rego was very unhappy about it all. Then, too, Grover Seitz argued with everybody on the field after Bahr made third following Pietras' sliding catch of Loyd's pop fly in the seventh.

Flatbush Funsters Play 2-2 Tie In 23 Innings

By BILL WHITE, Associated Press Sports Writer.

The Brooklyn Dodgers may not play better baseball than the other teams in the National league, but it's a cinch they play a lot more!

Yesterday, for the seventh time this year, the Flatbush Funsters went extra innings. They played a 2-2 tie with the Boston Bees in a 23-inning marathon, the third longest game ever staged in the majors.

When darkness ended what was beginning to be a big bore to everyone concerned, the Dodgers overtime record stood at three ties, two wins and two losses—a total of 37 extra innings played this year.

When darkness ended what was beginning to be a big bore to everyone concerned, the Dodgers overtime record stood at three ties, two wins and two losses—a total of 37 extra innings played this year.

Whitlow Wyatt, the freshman sensation who has won seven for the Dodgers, stayed in the longest, toiling 16 innings before he limped off the field. Three other hurlers finished what he had started and what proved to be within three innings of the longest game every played in the majors—a 1-1 tie between the Dodgers and the Bees of 1920, the forerunners of these two teams.

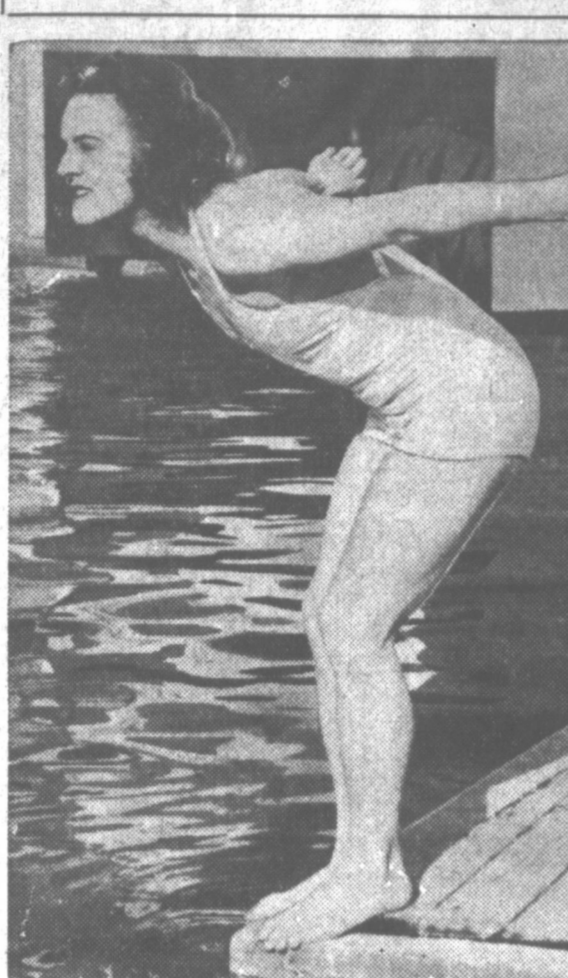

In the other National league games the Giants won their fourteenth in sixteen starts and the fourth in a row by walloping the Phillies 13-5; the Reds snapped out of a four-game losing streak with a 6-0 win over the Pirates as Paul Derringer, who failed to finish in his last three starts, hurled a four-hitter; and the Chicago Cubs bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 as Lon Warneke won his ninth of the season.

Bobby Feller headed the American league parade with a masterful pitching job as 55,305 saw the Indians win the first American league night game in Cleveland. Bobby mowed down the Tigers by 5-0 and Earl Averill got the hit that spoiled a perfect game.

The Washington Senators were shut out for the second straight time by the Red Sox, this time by 8-0 and Ted Lyons won, 11-2, for the White Sox by limiting the Browns to six hits for his eighth of the season.

The Yankees and Athletics were idle.

MY SECRETS OF SWIMMING NO. 5 Breaststroke Is So Easy To Learn It Should Be Part Of Swim Routine

Elsie Petri... ready for a racing start.

By ELSIE PETRI, Former National 50, 100 and 440-Yard Breaststroke Champion

The breaststroke must be learned carefully and practiced continually. More often than not, swimmers do this stroke incorrectly.

Concentrate on timing, especially at the start of a race.

I learned to count the time that elapsed between the starter's warning of "set" and the firing of the gun. Because of this training I invariably was off with the crack of the gun and had a two or three-foot lead on my competitors.

Determination is especially important when a race is nip and tuck all the way.

Often you can pull away in the final yards on sheer will to win.

Dizzy Dean To Pitch Against Cardinals Today

ST. LOUIS, June 28 (AP)—Dizzy Dean, Chicago pitcher and chamber of commerce speaker, was called upon today to try his hand at bouncing his old teammates out of second place in the National league.

Scheduled to be thrown against the surprising Cardinals this afternoon, it will be Dizzy's first start in St. Louis since the spectacular trade that sent him to the Cubs last April.

His ex-mates have been pointing to this game ever since word leaked out several days ago he would hurt in the current series.

Like old times, advance ticket sales indicated hundreds of Dean's old followers would be present. Whether they paid to cheer or boo remains to be seen.

But to Sam Braden, president of the Cardinals, the main thing they paid. The prospect of the biggest week-day crowd of the season helped him forget some of the mighty slim days the Cards have had this year.

Diz, who recently squawked at being used only on Sunday and lamplighted club players for not hustling, is seeking his fifth straight victory this year and his twelfth against one loss since he left the Cards.

Technical Knockout In Fight Tonight Predicted

By GAYLE TALBOT, NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—It seems almost like a dream that Tony Galento, the blowsy New Jersey barkeep, and Joe Louis, one of the fastest, most destructive big men in ring history, will climb thru the ropes at Yankee stadium about 8 o'clock (CST) tonight to fight it out for the heavyweight championship of the world.

A year ago the mere suggestion of such a match was considered ludicrous. Last winter, when Tony signed the paper in Miami, it still was good for a laugh. The idea of fat Tony facing the Louis blasts seemed about as sensible as a barge assing a battleship. And now, to tonight, we actually are going to watch it happen.

For Louis, the "defendist" champion there has been the occasion which will mark the seventh time he has laid his title on the line since he won it from Jim Braddock two years ago. The Negro regards Galento very lightly, expects to knock him out inside three rounds of a fight scheduled for 15.

He has trained almost casually and, as usual, has said next to nothing. He looks razor-sharp and unruffled. The gamblers, while fond of pointing out that "any man with a punch like Galento's has a chance," still were offering unlimited money at 5 to 1 Louis retains his crown.

Never a top-notch, scarred and marked by a hundred hard battles, the 230-pound Galento finds himself fighting for the championship at the age-end of his career. Joe Jacobs, the smartest little schemer who ever managed a fighter, is responsible.

The experts have agreed almost to a man that Louis should make a shambles of his stocky, wide-open opponent within a few rounds. Most of them, like the writer, figure it will end in a technical knockout. They also figure Galento can put Tony on the floor for Tony is supported by stanchions. Also, he has a lightning spirit.

Depends On Left. Galento, with all to gain, is almost certain to call into his tall, sharp-shooting opponent, pluming his hopes on his mighty left hook. He has knocked out a long string of hand-picked opponents with this weapon. But hitting Louis with it is something else.

Maybe Tony, if he pines in hard enough and isn't discouraged by the whip-lash of the champion's fists, will land on Joe at the outset. Then there could be a wild scene. Louis is not hard to daze. He still doesn't take a stiff one on the jaw very well. That, though, must be considered an outside possibility. Tony walks a long time to swing his left. While it's hurt, the champion's fists, will land on Joe at the outset. Then there could be a wild scene. Louis is not hard to daze. He still doesn't take a stiff one on the jaw very well. SERIAL STORY

PAR IS LOVE

BY EDWIN RUTT

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday Royaton meets the... and decides to give Wilfrid... lessons in anticipation of his... match for Barbara's hand, on one... condition.

CHAPTER VI

WILFRID did a little dance of... joy. "Boy, oh boy!" he cried... "This is great. Name the condition. Just name... it." "Well," said Roy, "it's simply... this: You will have to do just as... I tell you."

ROY stood for a moment deep in... thought. He was not exactly... sure how this alliance with Wilfrid... would benefit him. But at all... events, it was a means of getting... rid of at least one of the twigs... for the evening. The thing now... was to seek the garage and do... some constructive thinking. He... turned and almost trod on a small... boy who had appeared like a genii... from the other side of the hyacinth... bush.

Wilfrid retreating into the... distance. "That guy," he said... disdainfully, "can't play golf for nuts. And I've... got 10 bucks on him." "You've got what?" "When they first started,"... explained the boy, "Wilfrid looked... better to me. But now—he shook... his head sadly—he's gone rotten."

ROY took out a cigaret. "There's one way you could... win sure," he said, surprised at... the depravity of his own brain. "That is, if Ron didn't show up... for the match. If he forfeited, you... know. Didn't play?" "How do you mean?" asked... Billy.

garage. But for the second time... he was marked for interruption. The... figure of Mr. J. Pemberton... Ganning was advancing toward... him across the lawn. Mr. Gan-... ning had exchanged the gray... blanket for a blue flannel coat and... dark trousers. He walked spring-... tily, purposefully.

A GOOD general will pause be-... times and review the situation... before plunging blindly ahead. A... good general sees that his plans... are sound, airtight, foolproof. And... much after the manner of a gen-... eral pausing to consider the posi-... tion of things, Royton Augustus... Herring sat on the grass near the... swimming pool reviewing the ac-... complishments of the morning.

Barbara? He straightened up... amazed at the thought of how... much devastation a pair of big... violet eyes had accomplished. Gosh... it had been quick work. Only... yesterday he had been a gay... footloose young blade. And today... well, he was down for the... count. That first glimpse of her... had realized, had affected him... much as a stiff sock in the solar... plexus. Subsequent sights had... rendered him punch-drunk. Now... every time she looked his way he... felt like a deflated balloon. He... gazed across the great lawn and... his heart began the first move-... ment of a loop-the-loop. Barbara... was approaching with one of the... twins. Roy got to his feet and... prepared himself for defeat.

Princess Poisoned Declares Physician

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia, June 28 (P)—The conviction that Princess Sophie, whose assassination with her Austrian arch-duke husband 25 years ago today led to the World War, was poisoned to make sure of her death was voiced today by Dr. Leo Pfeffer, the examining magistrate. A quarter century after Archduke Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary and his Morganatic wife were shot in this former Bosnian capital by a Serbian student, Dr. Pfeffer discussed for the first time intimate details of his investigation. Pfeffer said his investigations at the time convinced him Princess Sophie could have been saved "except for carelessness and an injection which must have been some kind of poison."

I was fully convinced at the time that the two deaths came in very handy for the Austro-Hungarian monarchy, which wanted to start action against Serbia," he said. A month after the killings, Austria-Hungary declared war on Serbia, charging the Serbian government was behind the plot. Soon all Europe entered the conflict which spread over the world. Pfeffer said he had demanded an autopsy be performed on the princess to satisfy his suspicion but it was refused by "higher ups."

Pfeffer said through the subsequent investigation he felt "pressure" on him from Vienna court circles and "suggestions" were made the must find the Serbian government guilty.
