TEXAS DEATH LIST IN TORNADOES MOUNTS TO 65 TODAY

ENEMIES OF HOME ARE ASSAILED BY METHODIST BISHOPS

MOVIES AND NOVEL HIT BY LONG REPORT

Promised Reform Is Declared to Be Missing

CLAS MEETING UNDER WAY

Probe of Bishop Cannon May Be Asked

DALLAS, May 7. (AP)—Presided over by the pious geniality of Bishop Warren Aspin, confeder of Atlanta, Georgia, whose salutes sent the several hundred delegates into frequent laughing, the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, got under way today.

DALLAS, May 7. (AP)—Voicing condemnation of the modern morning picture and novel and "the enemies of the home," and recommending a course for the church to follow during the coming four years, the address of the bishops was read today before the general conference.

DALLAS, May 7. (AP)—The quadrennial bishop's address was the opening event on the conference program today, and probably the most important of the conference. It represented the collective recommendations of the thirteen bishops of the church for the spiritual and practical welfare of the church for the next four years.

Without designating any number of bishops, the message pointed out that none had been elected for eight years, during which time three active bishops have died.

"In view of this fact," said the address, "we suggest that the episcopacy be strengthened to such extent as seems wise to the general conference."

Strike Home's Enemies
Church directors were bitter in their arraignment of what they termed enemies of the home, listing under this heading, companionate marriage as well as fiction and the movies.

"At no time," Bishop Mouzon read, "have popular fiction and popular plays been such a menace to good morals as in these recent years. Popular fiction, appealing to what is lowest in human nature and attacking the very basis of Christian morals would be bad enough. But this evil influence has been outdistanced by the motion picture theatre—the greatest menace to morals and religion—the church has had to face in many years."

All promised reform has ended in growing degradation," Methodist.

Well Near City Will Be Brought in on Thursday

Preparations to bring in Cockrell-McClroy Oil company's No. 1 Castberry, section 128 block 3, tomorrow are being completed today.

There are now about 900 feet of oil in the hole but not enough gas to flow the well. The well may be shot.

Work on Fire Station Is Begun

Yesterday workmen began excavating for the foundations of the new city fire station which will be erected just west of the present city hall.

The new station will be 50 feet wide and 66 feet long. It will contain two stories. The first floor will house the fire-fighting equipment and offices of the department, while the second floor will be used as a dormitory for the firemen.

Damage Suit Is Before 114th Court

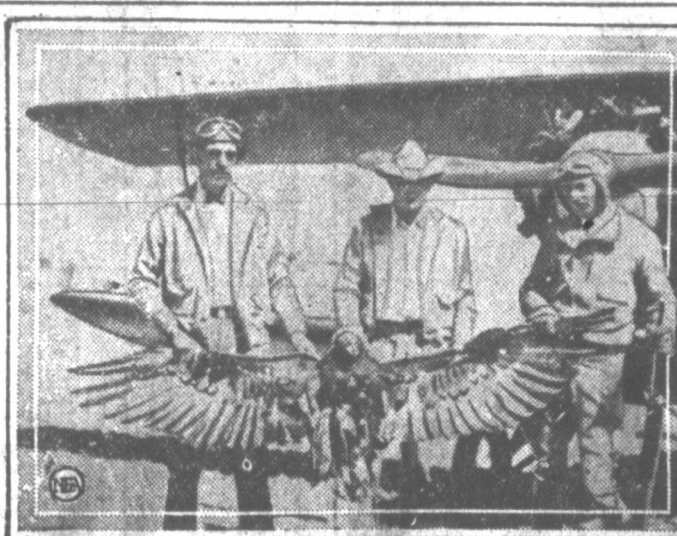

A case in which James E. Parker of Wichita Falls is suing W. B. Sealsbury for damages alleged to have been sustained in the drilling of two oil wells is being tried in 114th district court.

The tests are located in the south half of section 9, E. N. Lynch survey.

THE WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Generally fair, warmer tonight; Thursday partly cloudy. —AND A SMILE NEW YORK. (AP)—A sagacious endurance flyer has vanished from Mitchell field. He volplaned and landed outside the supply department. After partaking of a slice of bread and half a glass of water he took to the air again. The flyer who picked an aviation field when he wanted service was a blue carrier pigeon.

Flyers Bag Sheep-Killing Eagles

Man-made birds have proved themselves superior to the eagle. When huge Mexican eagles began carrying off 25 to 30 lambs daily from the ranch of Leroy Cleveland near Marfa, Texas, he hired an airplane and, by flying at high altitude, outmaneuvered the birds and brought them into range of an automatic shotgun.

WORTH OF ROTARY TO MEMBERS CITIES, AND NATIONS TOLD BY AMARILLO SPEAKERS AT NOON

How Rotary activities leave to members a rich heritage of friendship and fellowship, benefit communities, and contribute greatly to the cause of international peace was described by Amarillo speakers today at an inter-city luncheon here.

President Allen Early of the Amarillo club headed a delegation of more than 30, and after receiving the chairmanship from President M. K. Brown of the Pampa club turned the meeting over to Jim Williams, chairman of the inter-city relations committee of the visiting group.

The first speaker was J. E. Hill, who spoke briefly, first pointing out the remarkable growth of Pampa as he had watched it for twenty years. Concluding, he said that Rotary clubs in their communities should "leave a mark of helpfulness in every civic enterprise."

An eloquent talk on the work of Rotary was given by James Farwell, young Amarillo banker. He declared Rotary helps to make the Christmas spirit last 12 months instead of two weeks. He pointed out the work for crippled children. He told of the clean meetings which are held, in which no suggestive stories are allowed. He declared Rotary exalts womanhood. It breaks down selfishness, and its spirit is acquired by active services, he added, creating in its members the desire to be better citizens.

While raking his newly-ploughed garden, W. J. Brooks of Washington, Iowa, found $80 in gold coins. Dates ranged from 1842 to 1899.

Pageant Operetta Participated in by 500 Persons Exceptional Event

Among the programs given in Central auditorium since its opening nearly two years ago, the pageant operetta presented last night by the public school music department was outstanding by reason of the performance of the students taking part, the quality of its directorship, and the smoothness with which it was staged.

Between five and six hundred pupils of the four ward schools of the city and Junior high school appeared in the pageant, "Achievements," under the direction of Miss Iva June Willis, public school music supervisor; music instructors, of the several schools, and other grade school teachers. Presentation of the elaborate program without the almost inevitable delays was a notable accomplishment.

RUNGE, KARNES COUNTY, IS HARDEST HIT, 26 PERSONS BEING KILLED, MANY HURT

Only One Less Death Taken at Frost, Which Is Almost Demolished by Twister

DALLAS, May 7.—Tornadoes that swept various parts of Texas yesterday took a known death toll of 65, practically destroyed one town and did great damage in other scattered sections, reports here revealed today.

The greatest death toll was reported in and near Runge, Karnes county, where only meager details of the storm had trickled in over crippled communication facilities.

Twenty-six persons were reported to have lost their lives in that area.

Frost, in Navarro county, was the next hardest hit. The storm, which almost obliterated the town, took the lives of 25 residents.

At Runge: Ferdinand McGhost, 72; Mrs. Pauline McGhost, 68; Mrs. Francisco Serrano Vilareal; Miss Celestina Vilareal; Domingo Vilareal; Mrs. Maria Herrera, 20; Lucia Salas Garcia, 40; Pancho Garcia, Santos Garcia; Juan Garcia; Manuel Garcia; Augustina Garcia; Caidus Garcia; Manuela Gomez Salas; Silvero Salas.

Bowman, 60; Prentice Fiew, 21; Mary Currie, negro, 50, and son Jones, 35; child of Jesse Satchel, negro; four unidentified negroes.

Kennedy, 10 miles from Runge, reported 12 deaths, but it was believed some, at least, of the fatalities were accounted for in the Runge list.

Striking yesterday afternoon, the tornado took the greatest toll of life at Frost, in East Central Texas and at Runge in South Central Texas. The force of the storm was felt in practically all sections of the state.

Former Storm Recalled DALLAS, May 7. (AP)—Three years ago almost to a day, a tornado, similar to yesterday's twister, struck Texas, took a toll of about 200 lives, injured 1,000 and caused $4,000,000 damage to property.

His Honor Is Defender of Old Art of "Chewing"

The practice said, to have been started by Abraham Lincoln in the courtroom, namely chewing tobacco, is the favorite pastime of jurors in Judge Clifford Braly's 114th district court, despite the high-powered propaganda to remove ancient prejudices against cigar smoking.

Judge Braly, once a prolific consumer himself, not only defends the practice but encourages it. In the old days before the World war many men did not learn to chew tobacco until they got on the jury, his honor said. "It is a thoroughly masculine habit and concerns only the men themselves. It's the only thing a man can do nowadays without being aped by some woman."

"Tiny, I expect we ought to have a few more spittoons for this jury," he remarked shortly after the first jury of the new court here took their seats in the box. The jurors must have taken the remark as a suggestion for they straightaway began biting off "chews" from the two plugs in the box.

And another thing, the judge prefers the word "spittoon" to "cupidator." Lincoln, he reminds you, favored the former noun. While Mr. Braly smokes cigars himself, he regards tobacco chewing as a thoroughly masculine habit. Moreover, he can remember the days when he chewed many a plug in courtroom.

SCOUT DRIVE IS GOING WELL WORKERS SAY

First reports of workers in the Boy Scout drive for funds indicate that the $2,000 quota will be raised today, according to George Briggs, B. C. D. manager, who is tabulating the donations.

Only a few of the workers had made partial reports at noon today but their results pointed to a successful drive. The campaign started this morning following a breakfast attended by about 20 workers at the Schneider hotel.

Some of the supporters of the scout movement were out of town but these will be called upon as soon as they return.

Part of the proceeds of the wrestling match at the Pla-Mor Thursday night will be donated to the quota.

President Hill Is Speaker Here

President J. A. Hill of West Texas Teachers college spoke this morning at Central high school chapel, outlining to the students their probable courses of life in the next ten years and urging them to make thorough preparation.

Through recital of careers of students at the college he heads, Mr. Hill showed that financial handicaps need not prevent a young man or woman from getting an education. He said that students of West Texas Teachers college may obtain degrees in many subjects other than teaching, and added that the instruction is recognized everywhere as being of A-1 calibre.

COURTESY TO OUT-OF-TOWN FOLK

William Feenberg, local business men, provides the theme of today's editorial.

For twenty years, he tells the writer, he drove a car without being arrested for any traffic violation. But that was before he went to Borger this week.

Mr. Feenberg stopped in front of a cafe and parked. His car was the only one for many feet along the curb. Not noting any special parking directions, he stopped as he is accustomed to do in Pampa and other Panhandle cities. He ate his lunch, and on returning to his car he found a ticket.

The ticket was for violation of a traffic ordinance, and directed him to report to the police station. By-standers advised him to go about his business and ignore the summons, but this he declined to do. At the police station he was told he had crossed parked; that is, he had the wheels of his car somewhat over the lines, or "stalls" painted on the pavement. When he parked he did not notice these lines, partly because they were obscured by mud from cross streets nearby, and partly because he was not aware of the ordinance pertaining.

To say that he was angered by the attitude of the Borger police would be putting it very, very mildly. That he was fined only one dollar did not alter matters—the principle of fining a stranger for a first offense under such circumstances was the vexing part of the matter.

Mr. Feenberg's reactions and remarks concerning such a practice are uncomplimentary to Borger as a natural consequence. When Borger is mentioned in the future he will think of that arrest and fine. He will not boost Borger. His comments will not be in line with the program and claims of the Borger Chamber of Commerce.

This instance is presented for two reasons: 1. That the people of Borger may know how lack of courtesy to visitors is hurting that city; and 2. that citizens and officers of Pampa may keep in mind that visitors, unfamiliar with local statutes and with their eyes perhaps more upon brick buildings and construction jobs than on the pavement, often are guilty of minor violations which should be overlooked.

The courtesy card, advising visitors of city laws they have violated and kindly asking them to refrain from further infractions, is commonly given by most police departments. What is $1, compared to loss of good will? The question of punishment and revenue is entirely foreign to the issue. A visitor found guilty of something for which $1 is assessed is either not guilty at all or he is so much to blame that he should pay at least $5.

When one goes to another town or city he is usually unfamiliar with the traffic laws in force. American cities are noted for their lack of uniformity. When one is stopped by an officer or given a tag he usually has varied emotions, ranging from anger to a sinking sensation in the pit of the stomach. The police can act kindly and make warm friends of the visitors, or they can act hard-boiled and bring down criticism upon their whole community.

Borger has many fine people, and it is unfortunate that lack of official courtesy should cause ill will.

Dutch Mantell, with the enthusiastic support of his Chamber of Commerce, is advertising Amarillo to the wrestling fans of the country as "The Oil Capital of the World." As far as accuracy is concerned, that is typical mat ballyhoo. Amarillo is the capital of the Potter county oil field, which consists of one well, producing 30 barrels daily some days and often nothing at all. Amarillo's claim rests on that lone well, and it looks as if she is going to have to pour oil into it to get anything out.

The dandelions are with us in great number this spring. In some spots they look as if someone had sowed them—at least there is a good "stand". The lions may look pretty to some people, but it's no fun to dig them out of the lawns. They should be summarily executed with any garden variety of weapon. Those who do not do so are guilty of contributing to the delinquency of our lawns. In this the city is not going to be innocent unless it cuts at once the dandelions in its boulevards. Let's eat more dandelion salad before the plant becomes king of our lawns.

All the seniors of the land are hoping for calm weather on commencement week. You cannot, you know, look very dignified with both hands clinging to a "mortar board" and your gown standing out and whipping in the wind. This state of things contributes much to the enjoyment of underclassmen and nothing to senior traditions.

Ditch digging is still an honored and necessary profession, to judge by the construction jobs about town. Competition for the jobs, moreover, seems about as keen as for any other kind of human toil or "position."

Mr. Vollva, of Zion City, who has been around the world but still believes it is flat, says that all business needs is mind, money, and music. Well, that, at least, is on the level.

A democracy is a form of government in which the candidates use their terms paying back money they borrowed to get elected in the first place. And while we think of it, Mrs. McCormick did not set a very economical example for her sisters in politics in connection with that Illinois primary.

Heard: Local youth congratulating himself that his pastor was broad-minded enough to permit some of the current pleasures of living.

Several housewives of our acquaintance down in Canyon where we occasionally visit, tell us that they are going to do spring house-cleaning only after the wind quits. Our problem is to furnish the information about the wind. And we are an oldtimer in these parts, and dare not prophesy.

Considering some of the qualifications sought in certain juries, it is unfortunate that some of our institutions for the weak-minded are so far away. We need more truth in the old saying, "jury of his peers".

Most whales have throats that could not swallow an orange. They evidently have decided not to try any more Jonahs. A few whales, however, still seem optimistic, and have ample gullets. This paragraph is naturalistic, not theological.

McMaster Beats Hoover Enemy In Dakota Race

SIoux FALLS, S. D., May 7. (AP)—Senator W. H. McMaster, Republican independent, and Governor W. J. Bulow, Democrat, were nominated for United States senator from South Dakota, a post now held by McMaster, according to unofficial returns today on Tuesday's state primary.

Miss Gladys Pyle, secretary of state, was leading a field of five in the Republican gubernatorial race. Miss Pyle held a plurality of more than 1,000 over former Governor Carl Gunderson, who was running second.

Senator McMaster's victory was conceded by George J. Danforth of Sioux Falls, who opposed him as a "Hoover Republican." Danforth led in early returns, but western counties gave McMaster a majority of 7,000 when the 90,000 votes had been tabulated.

Creager Suit Will Be Long

COURTHOUSE, Brownsville, May 7. (AP)—The jury had the prospect of a long and arduous stay in the box as it returned to its job in federal district court today in the $500,000 libel suit of R. B. Creager of Brownsville, Republican national committeeman from Texas, against Collier's Weekly.

Collier's general demurrer, which if upheld virtually would have thrown the case out of court, was denied yesterday. The magazine's attorneys announced they would call a large number of witnesses in an effort to prove the truth of assertions about the Republican national committeeman, written by Owen P. White and printed last June in Collier's under the title, "High Handed and Hell Bent."

That decision meant, of course, that the Creager forces had scored first and meant likewise, Charles E. Kelly of defense said, that much time would be required.

Special demurrers brought by the magazine as companions to the general demurrer—which was a denial that the committeeman had been libeled—will be passed upon by the court as they develop.

Judge W. Lee Estes, refusing the demurrer, said the article came "clearly within the definition of the libel laws" and added that "high handed and hell bent" made charges, involving particularly Hidalgo county Democratic leaders, "as serious as could be brought against the integrity of men."

Collier's attorneys contended yesterday that while Creager was mentioned in White's story as having "helped perpetuate the A. Y. Baker Democratic machine in Hidalgo county," he was not defamed, in that he was acting for the good of his entire party. The theory, the attorneys added, was that as national committeeman he was discouraging local Republican candidates to avoid local prejudices against the party as a whole.

J. C. Keller, Lubbock, was among Tuesday's visitors in Pampa.

Elmer Green, Coleman, was among Tuesday's visitors in Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hargis and Earl Hags, all of Borger, were in Pampa Tuesday night to hear Jimmy Rodgers.

L. H. Bussey, Amarillo, Fisk Tire company salesman, was a business visitor here yesterday, exhibiting the Fisk Air Flight tires in a demonstration at Culberson-Smalling Chevrolet company.

RED SOX TO CLAIM HARD LUCK RATING

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox already have made a long way toward taking the role of "hard luck" team of the major leagues for the current season. The exact distance they have traveled is seven games out of the total of 15 they have played.

The Red Sox, with some fine pitching and often with good playing behind it, have lost these seven encounters by the margin of one run each. And there have been a few more games in which they have lost after seemingly having the victory sewed up as a result of late

The Chicago White Sox combined the two variety of trouble yesterday to nose out a 4 to 3 victory. Boston had a three run lead with Ed Morris doing a fine pitching job, then came the fifth inning, and a Chicago rally that drove Morris from the mound and produced four tallies.

In an effort to prevent such defeats, Manager Heinie Wagner engineered a player trade with the New York Yankees that sent Charlie Ruffing to New York in exchange for outfielder Cedric Durst.

The Yankees gave a good imitation of the Red Sox yesterday in losing a 7 to 6 decision to Cleveland. They lost a three run lead in the sixth inning, and then just kept pace with the Runsha pair of homers produced for the Indians.

The Philadelphia Athletics won their sixth successive game, defeating the St. Louis Browns 4 to 1 behind the fine pitching of Rube Walberg. Washington held second place a half game behind by scoring three runs off Vic Sorrell in the first inning to beat Detroit 5 to 4.

The abrupt end of Brooklyn's seven game winning streak was the feature of the National League's afternoon. The Robins could not score against Fred Blake while the Chicago Cubs did a little better against Vance to win by a 3 to 1 score.

The New York Giants went to an avenue of long distance hitting to win their second successive game from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11 to 8. Four home runs in the first inning gave them a lead long enough to withstand Pittsburgh's six run rally in the eighth.

A pitching battle of veterans at Cincinnati saw Harry Seibold of the Boston Braves get the decision over Pete Donohue by a 4 to 3 count. Philadelphia and St. Louis were kept idle by rain.

Mitchell Calls Clingman Many Cutting Names

Evidently, Jack Mitchell, who will meet Otis Clingman here Thursday night at the Pla-Mor, is a young wrestler with old-fashioned ballyhoo. For instance this morning his line of blasphemy and threats sounded worse than Joe Kopecky's. Also he got personal. He referred to Clingman as "Squeaky" and "baby face."

"I've heard about how the fans keep the high sheriff at the ringside so the baby face won't get stretched out of shape. Well a half-dozen deputies will not prevent me from doing what I'm going to do to Squeaky Thursday night," Jack threatened.

Clingman says that the match is going to be much better than the one last Thursday night. "Mitchell is the kind of a fellow that makes good his threats. He beat Joe Kopecky and Yaqui Kid with rough stuff," Otis said.

The prelims will see in action for the first time in Pampa, Buck Bailey of Austen and Goltino, widely-known wrestler from "all over."

Ringside seats are going fast at the Diamond Shop, Jack Rogers, promoter, said.

Schmeling and Commission Are Friendly Again

NEW YORK, May 7. (P)—Max Schmeling, Teuton heavyweight, finally has made his peace with the New York state athletic commission.

The sons of swat announce they are ready to grant Schmeling the license he needs to fight Jack Sharkey for the heavyweight championship in the Yankee stadium June 12 if the German will agree to three conditions:

- 1—that he defend his title in New York within a year if he defeats Sharkey.
- 2—that he meet an opponent approved by the commission.
- 3—that the match be staged by a promoter acceptable to the commission.

To all three of these conditions, Schmeling readily agreed during the progress of a three-hour session with the commission yesterday.

The Consumers Association was issued a $1,500 permit to build an oil supply station just across the street from the Santa Fe depot. The association will also erect a number of tanks.

EXPORTERS IN 1 TO 1 TIE AS NIGHT FALLS

The Beaumont Exporters and Houston Buffs battled to a 1 to 1 tie yesterday in a game called in the tenth because of darkness, but the fates of schedules today sent them their respective routes without being able to settle the difference.

Dallas' Steers, who went down 6 after a pitching duel between Dave Danforth and Verne Underhill, were chalked up today for a tilt at Houston with the Buffs.

The Exporters were due to take on the Fort Worth Cats at Beaumont, and the Sports journeyed to Waco for a duel. The Spudds, quieted Wichita Falls for a foray into the Indian camp at San Antonio.

Games scheduled yesterday for the Cats at Wichita Falls and for the Indians at Waco were postponed because of rain.

Murder Backstairs

by ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF 'THE AVENGING PARROT' 'THE BLACK PIGEON', ETC. ©1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

From the moment Detective Dundee lifts the body of Doris Matthews, murdered lady's maid, from the lake and lays her in the summerhouse, he knows that the heavy perfume flask, the queer murder weapon, is the chief clue. He knows Seymour Crosby, engaged to Clorinda Berkeley, has given the flask to Mrs. Berkeley; that for some unaccountable reason Gigi Berkeley, 15, was horrified at the gift and wasted as much of the perfume as possible by sprinkling it over everyone in the drawing room Friday evening.

But not until Mrs. Berkeley, Dick Berkeley, Clorinda, Eugene Arnold, (Doris's fiancé) Seymour Crosby, and finally, Harvey Johnson, missing valet who had robbed the house, have all been suspected in turn, does Dundee hit upon a startling new angle: that Mrs. Berkeley, and not Doris, was the intended murder victim. For Dundee discovers Mrs. Berkeley is a perfume addict. There is evidence that Crosby hoped for his intended mother-in-law's early death; abundant suspicion against Crosby in connection with the death of his wife, Phyllis, 14 months before, when Doris was her trusted maid and friend.

This case against Crosby is shattered, however, when the city chemist reports no traces of poison found in Gigi Berkeley's perfume-scented handkerchief. Dundee has also learned that wood alcohol is used to fill cigaret lighter fountains.

"Who complained of the odor?" he asked quickly. Seeing that she had his interest in spite of his anger, Gigi rushed on eagerly: "Abbie, she said it positively made her sick, and Mrs. Lambert said it did her, too, and she'd be glad when Monday came and the perfume-sprinkled things could be sent to the cleaners. And Dad said, 'If the police will let you send them!'"

"Did anybody suggest this stunt?" Dundee interrupted harshly. "No. I thought of it all by myself," she retorted proudly. "I told you over the phone they wouldn't let me play bridge, so I finally got tired of nothing to do, and sneaked upstairs and collected all the clothes that had perfume on them, shot them down the laundry chute in the bathrooms, and—there they are! I did the evening dresses first, then doused all the tuxedos, even Wickett's—Oh, don't look so peeved!" she protested. "I didn't take yours. I was afraid you wouldn't like it; besides, I know you are not so squeamish about smelling it as the rest of us are. Abbie was right for once; she said the smell of Fleur d'Amour would always be the odor of death to her, and I didn't see why all of us should be reminded every time we open a closet door—"

"Just a minute, Gigi!" Dundee interrupted sternly. "At exactly what time did this Good Samaritan complex overtake you? Before or after you found from telephoning me that Johnson did not kill Doris Matthews?" Her eyes grew very wide and innocent and injured as she answered: "Why, it was after, but—" "Gigi, you can't fool me! You have deliberately destroyed evidence, which is a crime punishable by imprisonment!" Gigi laughed, a little shakily. "Which brings to light still another advantage of being only 15! They'll only send me to the reformatory—" "You made a clean sweep of it, I suppose?" he cut in disgustfully, gingerly lifting a soaked coat by a lapel.

"I'm afraid I did," Gigi confessed with an air of deep humility, but Dundee saw a glint of triumph in her eyes before she lowered them. "Every single thing but the shoes we were wearing Friday night. I'd have doused them, too, but there wasn't any perfume on anybody's but Clorinda's. There they are under the tub. I'm afraid benzine isn't awfully good for gold slippers," she added ruefully.

"Clorinda's slippers, cape and evening dress were in my room," he reminded her. "You at least knew that they had been confiscated by the police, as exhibits for the grand jury. And since the odor of perfume from them could not possibly annoy your sister or anyone but me—" "Why hadn't you taken them to the police station, then?" she challenged him.

"Because I was a fool!" he retorted bitterly. "There was a bare chance that Johnson was guilty of the murder, and would confess, and that your sister need not be dragged into the case. I see now that chivalry doesn't pay in this case—Come clean, Gigi!" he commanded harshly. "Why did you do this? Why did you destroy evidence?" she cried angrily. "Clorinda told you she'd been in the summerhouse after the murder was committed. You didn't need a cape with a streak of blood on it and a pair of slippers to prove it! As for the rest of the things, the only evidence I destroyed was that I sprinkled perfume on all of you Friday night, and you've still got your own Tuxedo to prove that!"

"You knew my coat was harmless," he accused her. "As harmless as that handkerchief you gave me to have analyzed for poison. . . . Quit stalling, Gigi! When did you come to the conclusion that that flask of Fleur d'Amour was diluted with wood alcohol, after Wickett took it to your mother's room Friday night?" "You're crazy! I don't know what you're talking about!" she denied furiously.

"Oh, yes you do, Gigi!" He was grimly implacable. "This stunt of yours proves that! You were eavesdropping this morning when I was talking with Dr. Jennings, the city chemist. You heard me mention wood alcohol repeatedly. You knew wood alcohol was available in half a dozen of those patented fountains of your father's. . . . New tell me whom you were trying to protect by this mad stunt of yours?" "Not so mad!" Gigi retorted impudently and turned back to the reeking laundry tub. "If anybody did put wood alcohol in Abbie's perfume, you're going to have a hard time proving it, darling!"

Spring Suits in Silk

"Is that so?" he retorted savagely, and turned to stamp out of the basement.

"Where are you going?" Gigi panted, flying after him. "Go back to your washing!" he commanded.

"I shan't!" she sobbed, and followed him as stubbornly as a dog ignoring stones flung by his master; followed him as he strode across the lawn to the summerhouse. In grim silence the thoroughly angry young detective knelt on the floor of the little arbor where to help me. Certainly you owe me a great deal for the damage you've done today. Whom are you trying to protect?"

"I refuse to answer!" she said steadily, but her face was very pale beneath the tan.

"You realize, of course, that you are shielding a person who plotted to murder your mother? Some person who knew your mother to be a perfume addict, and who confidently expected her death to follow the drinking of Fleur d'Amour?"

Gigi did not answer, but her eyes were wide with horror and misery. "Then I am to conclude that you are shielding yourself?" Dundee went on brutally.

"Myself!" she echoed incredulously.

"You confessed to me Friday night before the murder that you had done something dreadful," he reminded her. "You were very angry with your mother, for having slapped and humiliated you before guests. You knew your mother was a perfume addict. Her habit disgusted you. You have told me that she makes life miserable for you. You—"

"Oh, don't be an idiot!" she cried, stamping her foot. "I didn't put wood alcohol in her perfume, and I don't know who did!"

"But you know who hated her enough to plot her death," Dundee said almost gently. "And you love that person enough to wish to ruin—or her—to go free of a horrible murder that grew out of a crime which poor Doris Matthews committed by discovering the poison at work! Isn't that true?"

Gigi's horror-filled eyes stared at him for a long minute, then the girl turned and fled from the summerhouse.

It was past four o'clock that Sunday afternoon when Bonnie Dundee returned to Hillcrest after his visit to the home of Dr. Abel Jennings. The chemist had promised to forego a bridge game and rush the analysis, predicting a report by nine o'clock that evening.

Two sedans, which he recognized as belonging to District Attorney Sberwood and Captain Strawn, of the homicide squad warned Dundee that his superiors were again in charge of the case.

"Hello, boy!" Captain Strawn greeted him ruefully as soon as Wickett had admitted him. "Old Wind-Bag's at it—hammer and tongs. Says you and she have been barking up a whole forest of wrong

Dallas Man Is Slain by Father

DALLAS, May 7. (AP)—His forehead battered in with a handaxe last night, while he slept at his home, A. Vaughn Little, 45, died in a hospital.

His father, G. W. Little, 79, was found wandering in a hallway outside their room, his throat slashed by a knife. He was a retired grocer.

Alben J. Swanson, who lived in the same house, heard a man groaning. Opening his door into a hallway, he saw G. W. Little staggering along with blood streaming from wound in his neck.

will be false to herself and to the future should she fail to say to her membership that, undiscriminating attendance upon motion pictures is perilous not only to Christian character but to common decency."

The address brought out the church's stand on behalf of world peace, improvement of industrial conditions in the south, better opportunities for negroes, and prohibition enforcement.

Regarding the latter subject, the report said:

"As Christians and Methodists we should let it be known that we stand for enforcement of the prohibition law. Renewed attention should be given to the education of our people and of the public at large touching the evils of drink and concerning the Christian duty of observing the laws of the land."

DALLAS, May 7. (AP)—A contemplated attack on Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Virginia lent a controversial hue today to the opening of the quadrennial conference, Methodist Episcopal church, South, here.

The charges, expected to be brought by a member of the Georgia delegation, will deal specifically with Bishop Cannon's participation in politics, according to reports current among delegates. The bishop has refused to discuss the charges, or to comment on the testimony given in Washington yesterday before the congressional lobby committee.

In this testimony, E. C. Jameson of New York, prominent in Republican affairs, testified as to an alleged discrepancy in a fund he gave Bishop Cannon for the fight against Alfred E. Smith in the last presidential race.

morning of May 10, 1927, roared into Garland, Dallas county, and killed 11 persons in a minute. It passed on and caused greater damage in Nevada, northeast of here.

Continuing east and northeast the storm was felt in Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Iowa and other states. At Hoxie, Ark., it swept a passenger train off the tracks.

TORNADO SIDELIGHTS

By The Associated Press—

Eight members of a Mexican family of nine were killed when the tornado that struck the Runge-Nordheim community swooped down suddenly on their little hut.

A negro baby was wrenched from its mother's arms at Frost by the winds, and the pickaninny had not been found by searchers. The mother held on for dear life, she told rescuers, and could not account for the prank of the wind in releasing her hold. She had hoped that her baby could be found alive, she said.

Fire drill practiced by children in the Frost school under training of their teachers probably saved them their lives. Seventy-five little boys and girls marched from their school building when the storm cloud was seen approaching. They went a short distance away, and at the command of their teachers got down flat along the plowed rows. The building was splintered by the hurricane.

The wind picked out the new "West Point of the Air" near San Antonio as a likely target, and the life of a workman was snuffed out. A score of men working on the barracks there were injured. Seven buildings were damaged. Captain A. W. Parker, construction quartermaster at the field, said the material damage was negligible.

CHURCHES

Revival Interest Strong

All who are not attending the services at the Central Baptist church are missing a great blessing. We are having good interest. Pastor B. N. Shepherd of Clarendon is bringing very inspiring messages at every morning and evening service.

We wish to stress that Singer J. D. Carroll of Fort Worth who is one of our leading singing evangelists, is here with us, conducting the singing and leading in the personal work.

Brother Carroll has been with the Starnes evangelistic party for the last year. He has also sung for Evangelist W. Y. Pond in a great number of meetings.

Everyone is welcome and especially invited to attend.—Contributed.

Plainview Given Credit Convention

AMARILLO, May 7. (AP)—Delegates to the Panhandle-Plains Retail Secretaries' association convention were en route home today having selected Plainview as the next meeting place and adopted a constitution and by-laws. The association voted to support Lubbock for city as the next state convention city.

Carson Loftis, secretary of the Pampa Business Men's association, and a member of the board of directors of the Retail Secretaries' association, was particularly enthusiastic over the organization's plans for improvement of intercommunication and reporting service among the individual associations in the Texas, Eastern New Mexico and Western Oklahoma counties that form the district group. The personal touch gained through the regular meeting of the group would be of great value, he believed.

Moose Lodge Elects Officers

New officers of the local lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, were installed at their regular meeting last evening. Those installed were: E. B. Stephenson, dictator; John Clark, vice dictator; J. T. Jones, prelate; M. A. Jones, treasurer. A. P. Gray, sergeant-at-arms; H. B. Holland, inner guard; H. M. Barnes, outer guard. Robert Followell directed the installation of the new officers after which J. G. Lunsford was initiated into the order.

Within the next two weeks, the local lodge expects to move into the new home, the hall of the Locust Grove club on West Francis street, and a celebration of the opening will be held.

A committee from the Moose Ladies Legion reported that the $74.50 made from sale of tickets at the Rex to the picture "Such Men Are Dangerous," would be donated by the committee for the decoration of the hall.

Amnesty Bill Under Attack

AUSTIN, May 7. (AP)—Claiming that the amnesty bill, enacted by the legislature in 1925, was void and unconstitutional, the state Democratic committee today filed a motion in supreme court to dismiss the mandamus action of former Governor James E. Ferguson. The motion to dismiss was filed by D. W. Wilcox, chairman of the state Democratic committee.

Ferguson filed mandamus proceedings in the supreme court to compel the committee to certify his name for a place on the Democratic ballot in the coming primary election, claiming that his rights, removed when he was impeached by the legislature, had been restored by the amnesty bill.

Wheat Unsteady

CHICAGO, May 7. (AP)—With general rains reported throughout winter and spring wheat sections, wheat here underwent setbacks today after upturns at the start.

Opening unchanged to 1 3-8 up, Chicago wheat afterward receded to well below yesterday's finish except for May which continued to hold relatively tight. Corn, oats and provisions were firm, with corn starting 1-4 to 3-4 up, and subsequently keeping near to the initial range.

... Yeah, says it's plain as the nose on your face that the chauffeur killed the girl in a lovers' quarrel over Dick Berkeley, and that if he'd taken hold when the murder was first discovered he'd have had a confession by now.

"That so?" Dundee grinned. "It seem to remember that our Mr. Jerome Sherwood is up for reelection in November. One can quite sympathize with his determination not to antagonize so influential a vote controller as Multimillionaire Berkeley, by insulting him, his family or his guests with horrid old suspicions. . . . Well, I wish him luck!"

"Want to watch the show?" Strawn suggested, with malicious amusement. "It's being staged in the servants' sitting room. The chances that Arnold will knock him cold looked pretty good five minutes ago."

"No thanks. I might pitch in and held Arnold. . . . Yes, Wicklett?"

"Telephone for you sir. Will you take it in the library."

Two minutes later Dundee hung up the receiver and faced his chief, with a resigned shrug.

Overnight Hike Will Be Taken by Scout Class

Camp Warner, in the Palo Duro canyon, was chosen as the site of an overnight hike, Friday, May 23, by the scoutmasters training class which held its regular meeting at the First Methodist church.

On May 29, the Thursday following the hike, a Boy Scout program will be rendered over station KGRS, Amarillo, at the invitation of A. D. Porter. Program will be given by scouts of the Adobe Walls council area only.

Due to a night session of court, Judge Clifford Bray was unable to appear on the program at the Methodist church. Mr. Meeks substituted for him speaking on the theme of the opportunities offered by scoutmasters to train boys in good citizenship.

Walter Hardin addressed the meeting on the subject of courtesy to the flag.

Scout Executive C. A. Clark announced that he would appreciate having the names of all men in Pampa and vicinity who have had as many as six or ten hours training in scouting, as he would like to secure certificates for them, for their work. Those interested are requested to call the leader of last night's meeting, John Bradley, of the American Legion.

Monday night's meeting was the concluding one of a series of indoor meetings held during the past twelve weeks.

Forest Fires in Eastern States Are Defying Fighters

NEW YORK, May 7. (AP)—Despite a three-day battle waged by thousands, forest and brush fires were still burning today on many fronts throughout the drought-parched eastern states.

In New Jersey, where all but two of the worst fires were out or under control, state authorities and Red Cross agencies turned their attention to supplying food and shelter for families in the fire-swept areas.

No official checkup of the number left destitute by the flames has been made and estimates vary from 700 persons to 100 families.

Governor Morgan F. Larson directed adjutant General Frederick G. Mason to turn over to the fire department tents, cots and other equipment from National Guard stores that can be utilized in caring for refugees.

Petrusill of South Bend, to make the race against Andrew J. Hickey, Republican, approved by the Indiana Anti-Saloon league. Thomas P. Riddle of Ray, another wet, had a lead over three opponents for the Democratic nomination in the twelfth district. If he is nominated he will oppose David Hog of Fort Wayne, Republican whose candidacy was also approved by the Anti-Saloon league.

At 119, This Ozark Vet Can Still Split Rails

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., May 7. (AP)—A census taker had just finished questioning Mrs. Amanda Rudicle, on her farm five miles north of here. As he prepared to leave, he casually asked her: "And there aren't any other members of your family living?" "Oh, yes," said Mrs. Rudicle. "There's father."

"And how old is he?" asked the enumerator. "He'll be 119 in September," said Mrs. Rudicle.

So it happened that the existence here of one of the oldest citizens of the United States, if not the very oldest, was disclosed. Mrs. Rudicle's father, Thomas Kemp, was born Sept. 10, 1811, in Tennessee. He is still strong and active, walking the five miles to town and five miles back every day or so. He splits a good deal of wood and does various other farm chores to keep fit. He drinks "a little liquor" when he is assured that he is getting "good stuff," chews tobacco and eats what he pleases.

"I just live a normal life," he explains. "I walk plenty, sleep late and eat and drink what I please. I see no harm in coffee, tobacco and good liquor. I never have used

Renee Adores was a dancer in her father's troupe, and by the time she was 10 years old she had traveled all over Europe with him. Now she is one of Hollywood's most famous actresses.

Mr. Kemp uses a cane when he walks—not because of old age, but because a buggy overturned with him 98 years ago, when he was calling on a girl, and broke his hip. The 98-year-old fracture stiffens up now and then, and makes a cane necessary. He owns a small farm near here and until three years ago lived there alone. Recently, however, his daughter prevailed on him to come and live with her. "I still have my axe and chopping blocks here," he says, "and that let's me do some rail splitting and wood chopping almost every day. Without that exercise I'd be old and stiff. Between times I make up by walking to town and back when Amanda wants something from the store."

UNUSUAL LOVE ANGLE IN 'SHE COULDN'T SAY NO'

It always hopeless when a girl loves all her love on one man and receives none in return? Custom deems that a woman shall be the pursued one. In view of this should she retire and suffer in silence or fight with all her feminine wiles for the possession of the one she feels to be her man?

This situation forms the basis of the story of "She Couldn't Say No," the Warner Bros., and Vitaphone production starring Winnie Lightner and Chester Morris, which is coming to the Rex theatre today.

The famous Winnie is shown as an entertainer in a night club, desperately in love with Jerry, the former racketeer who has become her manager. But Jerry (played by Chester Morris) is decidedly not interested.

Winnie tells Jerry of her great love for him and begs him to give up the racketeer life. Winnie feels interested in him because he is entirely different from the men she has been accustomed to meeting.

He insists upon proclaiming his love for the other girl, and Winnie, after a futile fight leaves the city broken-hearted. Months later Jerry's eyes are opened but it is too late.

"She Couldn't Say No," is not just a song and dance film. It is filled with absorbing drama. The supporting cast includes Sally Eilers, Johnny Arthur, and Tully Marshall. Lloyd Bacon directed and the screen play was written by Robert Lord and Arthur Caesar. It is an adaptation of Benjamin M. Kye's play of the same name.

Rodgers Sings For Those Like Himself in Taste

"The people like my songs because they touch the heart, and when you sing to the heart of the people there is no such thing as standards in music," Jimmie Rodgers "America's blue yodelist," said yesterday afternoon as he sat amid the luxuries of his private car on the Santa Fe tracks. In a few minutes he declared that he made no pretension to cater to the taste of so-called "highbrows."

"I sing to the people like myself," he explained. "I have no quarrel to pick with highbrows and they have none to pick with me, my songs, or my audience because I like their kind and they like my kind; in fact we're of the same kind. My songs satisfy me as well as my audience. The people who like to hear Gigg sing don't get a great deal of kick out of my songs, and the people who like to hear me sing wouldn't go to hear Gigg, but my following is one hundred times larger than Gigg's."

There is no acting or affectation about Jimmie, who has made his million and more in the last few years, singing heart-throb songs to the accompaniment of his guitar. He does not smack of Broadway or of Hollywood or yet of cabarets or night clubs. He is sophisticated in the manner of a railroad brakeman, a job which he held for 14 years on the Southern railroad. Even his clothes and ornaments, despite a diamond as big as a dime on his left ring finger, give the impression that he will always be as common as he says he is.

Everything about Jimmie is a heart-throb. There is something wistfully old-fashioned about him—just like his songs. He is reminiscent of the 1880's, of wistaria-clad cottages. In talking with him, for no reason at all one thinks of the old song, "After The Ball," and the play "Ten Nights In A Bar Room." A stick-pin set with a half-dollar sized cameo looks natural and appropriate in his blue tie. Jimmie said it was all "monkey business about him having had tuberculosis and being an ex-convict."

During the 14 years that Jimmie was a brakeman, one can easily believe, he was just as happy earning and spending his meager salary as he is now with his millions.

"If I like the whistle of an engine I often sit in the engineer's cab as we go from place to place. You know I write my own songs, well the whistle of an engine is the only inspiration I want. These Santa Fe whistles are as soulless as an automobile horn. You ought to hear the whistles on the Southern route."

One day before Jimmie became the song-idol of millions throughout the nation, the manager of a broadcasting station at Ashville, N. C., asked him to sing some of his songs over the radio. Hundreds of fan letters poured in and from that time on his future was assured.

The first thing Jimmie did when he came to Pampa was to look up the local engineers and brakemen to see if he knew any of them. Soon he ran on to Bill. "Gooh, I was glad to see him! I hadn't seen him in 10 years. I promised to sing him a song, too. It's that way everywhere I go—I'm always meeting old friends of the road and I always sing their request numbers first."

Jimmie was born in Meridian, Miss., about 35 years ago, but he has been living in Texas since his rise to fame. He is married and has one child, a 14-year-old girl who is in school at Kerrville, where Jimmie's $50,000 residence is located. His wife travels with him.

He was curious to know "why there are so many people here." He said

Woman Shoots Seven Children

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 7. (AP)—Their hearts pierced by bullets from a revolver fired by their mother, seven children of Mrs. Ethel Geller, 44, lay dead today.

Friends of Mrs. Geller, twice married and the mother of 11 children, believed she despaired of her struggle to support them by selling newspapers, or was distraught by the belief that her second husband, a negro, would soon be released from the state penitentiary where he is serving a sentence on a statutory charge.

Mrs. Geller shot the children late yesterday and then turned the gun upon herself. Physicians said she might recover.

Before the shooting, Mrs. Geller took her family to a photographer and had a group picture taken. Then she took them home, bathed and tucked them in bed. One by one, she shot them through the heart.

The victims were: Alice and Alad Yeldem, twins, three years old; Wayne Yeldem, 7; Byron Yeldem, 8; Eleanor Yeldem, 9; Elaine Yeldem, 10; Eldon Geller, 19.

H. L. Tomblin of White Deer was a business visitor in Pampa yesterday.

Crews of workmen began construction of additional yard tracks Monday. Pile drivers, steam trolleys, and work trains are being used to speed work, which includes areas in additional block signals for C. & G. W. trains, new locking plant from which the switches will be operated, and making fills and bridges. A signal gang will be at work all this week installing the new signal devices.

Construction of the new station started to begin before June 1. Present plans will place the white ladies' waiting room in the west end of the building, ticket office and white men's waiting room in the center and waiting room for negroes and baggage room in the east end of the station.

Ill 12 Years Konjola Wins Real Victory

Stubborn Case Soon Yields to Power of New Medicine—Grateful Lady Eager to Tell Others.

MRS. LILLIAN LORANE

"I suffered for twelve years from kidney trouble and nervousness," said Mrs. Lillian Lorane, Mablevale, Ark., near Little Rock. "My kidneys were in a very bad state and I was forced to rise many times each night. This naturally made sleep difficult. My nerves were in very bad condition and this seemed to affect my eye sight. I would scarcely go about my work and I was worried and discouraged. I seemed to have no energy for anything."

"I tried a great many medicines and treatments but nothing seemed to do me the least bit of good. I finally decided to give Konjola a trial and the benefit which I received from this medicine is almost unbelievable. Konjola built up my health until I am in better condition than I have been in years. My kidneys are normal and I can sleep without interruption. My entire system seemed to respond to this modern medicine and my friends all remark upon the improvement in my appearance."

Konjola has become the most talked of medicine in America because it makes good. Taken after meals over a period of from six to eight weeks this great medicine has made a remarkable record in the most stubborn cases.

Konjola is sold in Pampa at City Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section. Ad.

28 Pilots To Race For Curtis Trophy

BY OSCAR LEIDING
Associated Press Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Naval fliers will speed over a 100-mile course here May 24 in the service's premier sporting event, the Curtiss marine trophy race.

Twenty-eight pilots, the largest number ever entered in the classic, will compete in training, torpedo, amphibian, observation, and fighting planes.

Crack fliers, selected from the scouting and battle fleets, naval air stations, and the marine corps, will include Lieut. James Dyer, 1929 winner of the Schiff trophy for safe flying, and Capt. Arthur Page, Jr., marine officer, who has done more blind flying than any other service man.

Lieut. William G. Tomlinson will defend the service and race record of 175 miles an hour he set last year in winning the trophy.

The fliers will whirl five times around a 20-mile track marked by buoys in the Potomac river, starting and ending the race at the Annapolis naval air station.

Entries have been limited to service ships, stripped only of fighting equipment and not groomed for additional speed with devices not regularly used.

Naval aviation will turn out its full forces for the event in an aerial review over Washington of more than 100 planes massed from the aircraft carriers Lexington, Saratoga and Langley.

Either the "High Hats" or the "Red Rippers," two famous battle fleet squadrons, will stage special maneuvers in formation flying and mimic combat.

If the weather is favorable, Lieut. Apollo Soucek, holder of the world's altitude record for seaplanes, may attempt to wrest from Germany the airplane altitude mark.

Parachute jumping will be demonstrated and Lieut. Matthias B. Gardner will give an exhibition of stunt flying.
