MORTGAGE MORATORIUM LAW IN MINNESOTA IS UPHELD IN CLOSE VOTE BY HIGH COURT

Mustings of the moment: There is much in life that is interesting to the male of the species, yet largely overlooked by him. For instance, a thick, seldom-opened cork book becomes a manual in chemistry and the kitchen becomes a laboratory, if you get the proper point of view...

In connection with the daily search for rent houses, there is arising the cry of 'SOME RENT TOO HIGH' being advanced by some landlords beyond the point of reason. Although houses are scarce, the ability of renters to pay has increased very little during the last year...

Twinkles We presume all the "lame ducks" of politics got home before hitch-hiking came under the ban of Uncle Sam.

Mrs. Gushaway says our plea for physical and mental relaxation as a health measure is all right for some people, but her daughter wants to stay up all night and relax all day except at meal times.

Maybe the Mexican, with his jests, has the right idea. Nobody hunts work very hard down below the border, and you don't read much about unemployment down there, either.

Mrs. Roosevelt has our admiration for putting her time and taste to social, rather than society use.

Library Board Is Re-elected

Officers of the Pampa Public Library board were re-elected for 1934 at a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon. These officers are Mrs. C. P. Buckler, chairman; Mrs. B. E. Finley, vice-chairman; and Mrs. James Todd Jr., librarian and ex-officio secretary.

Bitterly denouncing the current recovery program, Milo Reno, the dynamic Iowan who ran the farmers' strike of last summer, is pictured here during an eloquent moment at New York's historic Cooper Union as he pleaded for the formation of a third major political party.

SCOUT RECORD IN '33 SHOWS TOTAL OF 962

Annual Meeting Of Council To Be On Thursday

BOY Scouting in the Adobe Walls council, having made a fine record in 1933, will be outlined Thursday evening in Berger at the annual council session.

There were 705 Scouts in the council a year ago. During last year, 505 Scouts were added, while 248 were dropped officially because their troops failed to register by December 31.

The Borger meeting will begin at 6:30 o'clock at the Methodist church dining room. Dinner plates will be 50 cents each. Many Pampa Scouters are expected to be present.

AIRMAIL JOBS LET WITHOUT ANY BIDDING

BROWN DENIES STORY TOLD BY CLERK TO OFFICIALS

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON, Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Senate investigators received testimony today that the postmaster general in the Hoover administration, Walter F. Brown of Ohio, had awarded some airmail contracts without competitive bidding although he lacked authority, and that portions of his correspondence had been destroyed just before he left office.

Paul Henderson, assistant postmaster general under Brown, said contracts covering 5,000 miles of air routes were awarded from 1930 to 1932 under a provision of the McNary-Waters act of 1930 permitting the postmaster general to make "extension and considerations" of air lines.

Previously the committee had received evidence from a postoffice employe that Brown's secretary had all his correspondence, official and personal, burned just before March 1, except that taken with him by Brown.

Closely questioned by members of the special investigating committee, Henderson told of the history of the McNary-Waters law. He said it was drawn in Brown's office, giving him the right to award air mail contracts without competitive bidding, but this provision was stricken from the bill by Congress.

Brown declared that no official correspondence from his files had been destroyed prior to his leaving office last March.

James Maher, stenographer to Brown and half a dozen other postmasters general, asserted he had burned the correspondence a day or two before inauguration day at the direction of Brown's secretary.

Correspondence of preceding postmasters general was stored in the department, he said, but all of Brown's was burned except what he took with him.

CHAPEL programs of Pampa high school and the Junior high school will be held in the city auditorium each Wednesday, beginning tomorrow, it was announced this morning.

Permission to use the auditorium of the city hall was granted last night by the city commission after lengthy discussion of how to move the students quickly and safely to and from the city hall and how to safeguard the city hall property.

The main reason for the change was that the gymnasium is inadequate both in comfortable seating capacity, heating, and access. However, athletic programs will continue to be held in the gymnasium as usual.

Attendance of patrons is expected to be larger as a result of the change.

Junior high school will have its chapel from 9 to 10 a. m. and the high school will follow from 10 to 11.

The city commission last night authorized to call in bond maturities of February, March, and September of this year in order, if the plan is acceptable to the bond holders, to save interest.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt today by executive order continued the 15 per cent reduction of pay of federal employees for another six months.

President George W. Rightmire of Ohio State University, Columbus, above, is the storm center in a controversy arousing nation-wide interest, over threatened expulsion of a group of students for refusing to take military training.

Shannon arrived here late last night and went to a hotel. This morning he stepped to the federal building to surrender to Marshal W. C. Geers. But Geers was out of town.

BACKSTAGE IN WASHINGTON

BY GILMORE N. NUNN, Washington Correspondent, THE NEWS. Washington, Jan. 9.—Ho hum! Congress is open, and it's a dull life up there on the hill! The new deal has just about dealt out all of the anticipated excitement.

When something interesting does come up, the government restriction on its news being given out by employes makes it too tough to get to be pleasant, or demands that it be camouflaged to the point of mystery.

It's really not as bad as all that, but some men in relatively high positions can't tell themselves that only those persons who pay their poll taxes or secure exemptions may have a part in selection of public officers and determination of public issues.

Judge W. R. Ewing yesterday expressed concern over the tardiness in payment of poll taxes in this county. Little more than 15 per cent of the expected number—4,000—of poll taxes has been paid.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (AP)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly asked the intervention of Governor Miller today to end the dumping of milk on the public highways.

TELLS PAMPA BROTHER HE HAS 'DONE NO WRONG'

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 9 (AP)—R. G. "Boss" Shannon, 54-year-old Paradise, Texas, farmer who was convicted last week in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping case, presented himself at the United States marshal's office here today. He has been free on bond under a life sentence.

The farmer said he was astounded by the throngs of curious persons who have made trips to his farm in recent weeks. He said visitors had to come "by the hundreds."

Mr. Shannon has made application to have his leave extended and his bond renewed. It was to be acted upon in Oklahoma City today.

BODIES BURNED BEFORE AID IS GIVEN

Pilot Known In City; Stunting Ends In Sideslip

CHILDRESS, Jan. 9 (AP)—Three persons were killed today when a monoplane from Mangum, Oklahoma, crashed from an altitude of about 500 feet and burned on a ranch 14 miles west of Childress.

Paul Powers, young pilot of Dr. G. P. Border Mangum, Okla., physician, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smith, who lived on the ranch and were friends of Powers, lost their lives and their bodies were burned before aid could reach the ship.

Powers had flown the plane to the Smith ranch, as was his habit, frequently from Mangum early this morning and had taken the couple up for another ride. Several persons said Powers started stunting and went into a sideslip. The ship crashed before he could regain control.

Smith and his wife had flown with Powers and other pilots frequently and were believed to have asked him to fly them today. Smith's watch stopped at 10:44 o'clock.

Smith, about 25, was one of three sons of B. P. Smith, pioneer cattleman of this sector, who died three years ago, and owned considerable ranch property.

Although the ship was fitted out as a flying ambulance and had carried hundreds of patients of the Oklahoma physician, it was not being used in that capacity at the time of the crash.

Dr. Border was notified of the accident at Oklahoma City, and planned to leave momentarily for Childress by plane. A. M. Alcorn, department of commerce aeronautical investigator for the southwestern district, and Bennett Griffin, government supervisor, also planned to come from Oklahoma City for an inquiry.

The physician, who had named the "Crites" because he was particularly interested in that type of medical practice, said he did not know that the plane was in Texas. He added that Powell used it frequently but did not have permission to make the Texas trip.

A four-place Stinson, Jr. the ship had traveled thousands of miles in many parts of the country and Powell had been the pilot since it was converted into a flying ambulance several years ago.

He was 26 years old.

Mr. Powers was well-known here among aviation enthusiasts. He had flown Dr. Fowler Border's ambulance plane from Mangum to Pampa several times. Numerous local people have been up in the ship. Dr. Border numbers several Pampans among his close friends.

A long time ago Mrs. Rubea McConnell over whose house the Border plane pilot usually circled low every time he flew to Pampa.

PLANES LEAVE ON TOMORROW FOR HONOLULU

SIX NAVY SHIPS WILL BEGIN LONGEST MASS FLIGHT

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 9 (AP)—Off for a hop to San Francisco and then a non-stop mass flight to Honolulu, six giant navy sea planes leave here today with the commander-in-chief of the United States fleet as a passenger.

Admiral David F. Sellers will accompany the squadron only to San Francisco, aboard the plane of Lieut. Commander Kneffler McChinnis in charge of the flight. The start of the hop north was set for 8 a. m. (P. S. T.).

Commander McChinnis said the 2,400-mile flight from San Francisco to Honolulu, the first by any aircraft in winter and the longest hop attempted by a seaplane squadron, may start Thursday.

At San Francisco, Lieut. E. W. Stephens, navy meteorologist, declared that, considering present observations, "the sooner they get off the better." He said observations indicated favorable flying conditions for the next three days.

Six navy vessels, spaced at 300-mile intervals have been ordered to position along the route. Each plane will carry a food supply sufficient for several days and will be equipped with a collapsible rubber boat.

Navy officers insist the flight, the first by any craft in more than five years over the route, is not a "stunt" but a routine movement of air forces from San Diego to Pearl Harbor.

Such "routine movement" is something entirely new.

Three planes have carried seven airmen to their deaths in attempts to make the journey while five other craft have negotiated the perilous flight.

Canned Beef Is Shipped To City For Needy Class

Notice of shipment of 1816 cans of beef for local distribution was received today by Mrs. W. H. Davis, county CWA administrator.

The cans, weighing 1 pound and 4 ounces each, will be distributed to needy families, which will get four or five cans each according to requirements. The beef will include roast cuts, hamburger fine ground, hamburger course ground, stew, and soup stock.

Mrs. Davis also received a ruling from Lawrence Westbrook, state administrator, as follows: "Numerous complaints have been received that persons are being employed on CWA jobs when such person already has another member of the same family working. Some very bitter complaints have also been registered and that some persons being given CWA jobs thru the National Reemployment Service are already in easy circumstances and are not really in need of employment while other persons in destitute circumstances are unable to secure CWA jobs.

"The Public Works Act, under, and by virtue of which the CWA functions, will not permit a test of need or destitution to be applied as a condition precedent to CWA employment (except in designated Emergency, Drought, and Flood areas.) However, we have been advised by Washington that it is possible under such act for us to make investigation of any such complaint made. Where investigation proves that any such complaint is well founded, it is suggested that such persons be dropped from employment and their places filled with a person from N. R. S. who is qualified for the work to be performed and who is in destitute circumstances."

I SAW-- A new copy of an old-time picture in the Johnson hotel. It is "Custer's Last Fight" in colors. Distribution of the picture by a large brewing company was common when beer became illegal. Now the pictures are being sent out again.

Clem Followell, late of Denver, wondering, after he had been asked, if he is related to people with the same name, living here.

Mrs. Hugh Konner and baby will leave Pampa hospital this afternoon for their home.

Is "Fan Dance" Vulgar—Opinion Differs Widely

Some people who have seen the fan dance at the Chicago world's fair pronounce it vulgar. In fact, Miss Sally Rand, the most famous exponent of the fan dance, says the dance is art and is patterned to resemble the movements of a bird. Miss Bobby Young, who will perform the sensational world fair fan dance in Pampa, says, "I certainly agree with Miss Rand in that the fan dance is art and not vulgarly. A similar form of dance was performed by the ancients."

The world's fair fan dance is presented in the stage attraction, "A Century of Progress Revue" in which appear Louise Karel, torch singer; the dancing demons, Carl and Bob; Norman Hart, crooning songs you love to hear, and Don Pablo's Victor recording rumba orchestra. A Century of Progress Revue comes to the La Mora on Wednesday and Thursday.

CHICAGO GRAIN. CHICAGO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Grains worked moderately higher today, prompted largely by unfavorable weather and crop reports.

Intimations were received that the final draft of the grain exchange code to be announced soon would be less drastic than had recently been expected. Forecasts pointed to continued drought conditions over important parts of the United States winter wheat belt.

Wheat closed firm, 1/2 cent above yesterday's finish, corn 1/2 cent up, oats 1/2 cent advanced, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

FALLS TO DEATH. BEAUMONT, Jan. 9. (AP)—Mrs. Fred B. Hills, 56, was fatally injured when she accidentally plunged eight floors down the elevator shaft of the county courthouse here today.

Dr. Ellsworth Is At Bay Of Whales

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Jan. 9. (AP)—Dr. Lincoln Ellsworth, leader of a proposed trans-Antarctic flight expedition, has arrived at the Bay of Whales, Antarctic, to find the Richard E. Byrd expedition headquarters established in 1930 intact.

The report of his find was received here in a wireless message to the Bear, supply ship of the present Byrd expedition to the Antarctic.

Dr. Ellsworth believes that all things come to those who wait. A hankering for redfish led him to the Gulf of Mexico. After hours of angling, he gave it up and returned home, still thinking, however, about redfish.

Finally, he cast his line into the fresh water lake near his home and today he displayed a five-pound redfish of the salt water variety which had gotten into the fresh water. And he has witnesses.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Stocks felt better today and, despite the exceptional slowness of trading, leading issues held gains of 1 or more points. The quiet rally followed a revival in the tobacco group coincident with an advance in cigarette prices.

LET THINGS BE DONE, WHO CARES HOW!

It has been interesting to watch the diagnosticians getting to work on President Roosevelt's address to Congress, trying to figure out whether in the main it was a "liberal" or a "conservative" document.

Even more interesting is the fact that there seems to be no unanimity of opinion on the issue. Some commentators find it one thing, some find it another, and some find it a carefully balanced middle-of-the-road affair.

But while this discussion may be interesting, it is not of any very great importance. For this distinction between liberalism and conservatism seems to be one thing that the ordinary American has stopped caring about of late.

The ordinary American, one may guess, read Mr. Roosevelt's speech without once stopping to figure out whether the gentleman in the White House was inclining to the left or to the right. This business of labels has become—for the time being, at any rate—unimportant.

After all, there is a pretty general agreement in the land on the things which the administration ought to accomplish. People want to see prosperity restored; that is, they want to see stores and factories and railroads busy once more, they want to see the bread-lines dwindling and the "help wanted" signs going up again.

They want to see a return of that era in which farmer and laboring man and business man and professional man could face both present and future with a decent sort of confidence.

And it is very much to be doubted if the mass of people care very greatly how all this is accomplished.

That certain reforms must come with this revival is taken largely for granted. Revival must not carry with it the seeds of a new collapse. Human values must be given a wider place in the general scheme of things. In so far as we can discover the causes of the last collapse, we must eradicate them.

But as for labels that are attached to the acts of recovery—does the ordinary man actually care two hoots about them? It is very doubtful.

So long as we are moving toward recovery and trying to avoid the mistakes of the past, it makes little difference to him whether our policies are liberal, conservative, a little of both—or neither.

of rental property know when they are right, and when they are wrong. Renters know when they are being fair. Both groups should demand fairness and should be fair. But to act solely on the so-called economic law of supply and demand is not in keeping with the new deal in America.

Drastic steps are being taken to relieve suffering in this country. You may call it "relief" if you like. You may call it "spending." But to us and to many deal spokesmen the program is not "spending." It is, very frankly, a re-distribution of the wealth that is in a state to be reached by taxation in this country. The president's assumption that in times of great national depression there is still ample wealth to prevent starvation. In the absence of any organized way to let the state handle this problem, Uncle Sam has stepped in with the CWA. That the tax plan falls heavily on many who can hardly pay the cost of helping the jobless is merely proof that it is a temporary and not too equitable way of forcing those who have food and shelter to divide with those who have not. For more radical plans of helping the needy, consult your Bible.

Mr. Roosevelt has certainly shown no tendency to cover up the state of the nation. He has logically exhibited two separate balance sheets. One is of the costs of operating the normal, customary branches of the government. The other is the expense of preventing suffering and of trying to bring the country out of the depression. Critics may cry to high heaven about the CWA costs and those of farm relief, but would they, with the same responsibilities, do nothing and risk a revolution? We think not. The American people wanted action, and they got it. They could not expect it to come nothing. Neighborly help neighbor. Uncle Sam's way is the orderly way and, when all is considered, perhaps the cheapest. If the nation comes out of the depression, the cost of the "new deal" will quickly be erased. But we are not unmindful of the fact that as soon as possible the government must begin the task of tearing down the vast bureaucracy it has been compelled to build up to administer the recovery program.

CAGERS WORKING HARD FOR WEEK-END GAMES WITH HEDLEY AND AMARILLO

HEDLEY TEAMS TO PLAY HERE ON SATURDAY

QUINTET FEELS LOSS OF CAPTAIN MILES MARBAUGH

Coach Odus Mitchell's basketball players thought it was football season again after they finished a practice session last night. The boys have been playing games rather than practicing since the football season ended, but this week will be devoted to organization work and practice sessions will be long and hard.

With Captain Miles Marbaugh out of the lineup for some time, Coach Mitchell will have a big job filling his shoes. The work won't be any easier with Elmer Irving unable to play because of an attack of pneumonia. Handling the ball and accurate passing are getting much attacked. The Harveters met with Athens Hornets Saturday night convinced the Harveters that "there is a lot in handling the ball."

Saturday night two Hedley teams will come to Pampa for return games. The Harveters will go to Amarillo Friday night for their first game with a Class A school. The Sandies have a strong aggregation this season. They swamped Lubbock and defeated Plainview over the week-end. The Hornets of Athens defeated the Sandies only 36 to 26. Hedley's Owls have two wins over the Harveters, while the girls teams have divided games. The Harveters hope to break into the win column over Hedley Saturday night. The girls' game will start at 7:15 o'clock.

Terry Adds Al Smith To Giant Pitching Staff

'Little Bill' Johnson, His Old Rival, He Places 5th and Lacoste Third.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Watch out, you National Leaguers who thought the New York Giants' pitching was pretty tough last summer. Bill Terry's firing squad will be augmented in 1934 by Al Smith.

Not the big derby man from the streets of New York but young Al Smith, a left hander, carried as coach by the Giants last year. Jim Tierney, secretary of the Giants, is one who believes Smith is destined to cut a wide swath through league batsmen next campaign. And the giants who were forced to hit against him in batting practice day after day are inclined to agree. They missed too many of young Mr. Smith's wide-breaking curves to feel otherwise.

Smith was tagged as a great prospect last spring but Terry had so many experienced moundmen to bank upon that there was no place for the young portsideer. Rather than farm him out where he might have been grabbed by some rival club, the Giants elected to carry him as a coach. But this coming season, Tierney says, Smith will be added to what in 1933 was the most effective array of pitchers in the majors. Sealing 185 pounds, Smith is an inch under six feet tall. He makes his home in St. Louis.

MAJOR LEAGUE MANAGERS CAN CONSOLE FOOTBALL COACHES!

Seven Baseball Pilots Have Lost Jobs in 7 Months And Still Jobless.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (AP)—If misery loves company, the haunted college football coaches should form a mutual consolation society with the big league managers of baseball. There, mates, is a bunch of fellows who really take it. They know what the "hot seat," the "blue slip," and the "ga'e" mean. They don't have any alumni to make life miserable for them like the college football wizards, but to a man they'd probably swap one section of bleachers for any set of alumni in the country.

Maybe, the habit of hiring and firing has spread from the college gridirons and field houses, but since 1928 a total of 48 big league managers have gone and come to make that profession one of the most transient occupations in sport. Since last June, when Cleveland gave Roger Penske the coach for Walker Johnson, the "mortal ty rate" within the pilots' ranks has been so heavy that seven changes—four of them in the American League—have been made. Only one, Bucky Harris, was able to get another managerial job in the majors, transferring from Detroit to the Boston Red Sox.

Except for Connie Mack, who has been running the Philadelphia Athletics on the field ever since the American League was organized 33 years ago, every manager in 1928 has departed from the scene. Miller Huggins of the Yankees died and John McGraw retired, but except for them, it generally has been the case of "make room."

The Boston Red Sox have had the greatest turnover in managers since 1928 with five pilots while Cincinnati, the White Sox and the St. Louis Cards and Boston Braves have had four each. The average has been three managers for each club

SMITH TAKES GOLF PRIZE

Scot Wins $1,450 in Money And Los Angeles Open For Fourth Time SPTS—SMITH TAKES 30

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (AP)—MacDonald Smith, a great golfer before some of his present day competitors were born, held the 1934 Los Angeles open championship today as evidence that at 43 years he still stands high among the game's leaders.

The slender Scot kept pace with par and outdistanced youth yesterday by shooting a 280 on the rugged Los Angeles Country club course for his fourth Los Angeles open title in the 9 years of the tournament. He won $1,450 in prize money.

Smith was so far in front of an impressive field he could not be overcome by two of his closest rivals, who finished today. Darkness stopped George von Elm and Willie Hunter on the seventeenth tee. If von Elm shoots part on the last two holes he will finish in second place with a 287. Hunter had a potential 288 and a tie for third coming up.

LEAPING LENA PEEVED OVER LOSS OF BOUT

ROW OVER DIVISION OF PURSE BREAKS UP CONFERENCE

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (AP)—The black eyes of Leaping Lena Levy, sister manager of her big brother, King Levisky, snapped fire today as she bemoaned the loss of a fight with Max Schmeling, slated for the Chicago stadium, February 16.

The proposed bout fell through last night after a row over the division of the purse. Joe Jacobs, manager of the German, had demanded 37 1/2 per cent, with the expectation that Levisky would accept 22 1/2 per cent, but Jacobs didn't figure Leaping Lena in his expectation. She yelled and screamed that the Kingfish, her big brother, the conqueror of Jack Sharkey, was entitled to just as much money as Schmeling. Unless she had Jacobs' fight, she said, there will be no fight.

"Why, the idea," she yelled, "why should that big Dutchman get more money than the King? Ain't he just as much of an attraction? Didn't he fight 30 rounds with Max Baer and never get knocked off his feet? And didn't Baer knock that Schmeling out? I'm telling the cockeyed world, he did. And didn't Jack Sharkey beat Schmeling? And didn't the Kingfish give Sharkey the pasting of his life? I'm telling you he did."

"That's right, Lena, you tell 'em," chimed in the Kingfish, raising his 206 pounds out of the chair. "That guy don't want to fight me, that's all."

With the Levisky-Schmeling bout off, at least temporarily, Jacobs was preparing to sign for a 15-round battle with Steve Hamas, former Penn State football star, at Philadelphia February 15. Schmeling is slated to sail from Germany Friday and is ready to go into immediate training.

McLean Cagers Win Two Games At White Deer

McLean boys basketball team won two games from the White Deer Bucks, while the McLean girls lost two games to the White Deer girls, over the week-end.

McLEAN, Jan. 8.—The McLean boys basketball team won two games from the White Deer Bucks, while the McLean girls lost two games to the White Deer girls, over the week-end. The Tigers of Coach Garrison Rush, nosed out the Bucks 21 to 19 in White Deer Friday night, and then defeated the same team 29 to 18 in McLean Saturday night.

The White Deer girls won Friday night 30 to 29 and then came back Saturday night in McLean to overwhelm the Tigerettes 48 to 23. Coach Rush has a well balanced, fighting team this season. His boys are doped to give strong teams in the conference plenty of trouble. Seats and new lights have been installed in the McLean gymnasium, which now ranks with the best in this section.

Giant Contracts Sent To Champs

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Salary contracts for 1934 are travelling through the mails to 35 members of the world champion New York Giants.

The news they carry will, in the main, be good, says Secretary Jim Tierney.

"Those who contributed most to our success last year have been remembered," Tierney explained. "We probably will have a few differences of opinion but on the whole I think the Giants will appreciate they are not participating in a downward revision."

Manager Bill Terry signed a five-year contract shortly after he had led the Giants to world series victory over the Washington Senators.

Longhorns Beat Mustangs 27-22

DALLAS, Jan. 9 (AP)—Taking an early lead and holding it in spite of a driving finish by their opponents, the University of Texas Longhorns won a Southwest conference basketball game last night from Southern Methodist, 27 to 22.

It was the Longhorns' first conference win in two starts. The defending champions opened their season by losing to Texas Christian. Southern Methodist opened the season last week by beating Baylor but could do nothing with the Longhorns.

Francis, center, led the Longhorns with 4 field goals and two gratis shots for 10 points. Lovorn, pivot, scored 10 points. Lovern, pivot, was second with 4 field goals and one free shot for 9 points.

Horace Smith of Miami visited in Pampa last night. Morris Levine, president of Levine Brothers, spent yesterday and today in Pampa.

Chapter One
VULTURE FACE

With an odd alertness Grahame arose from the deeply cushioned chair. Some jangle of music stirred within him. His unease was curiously at variance with the formal surroundings of this studio anteroom.

The ornamental stenographer-secretary paused with her typing and looked up with polite inquiry. "I am sure Mr. Myberg will see you in just a few minutes, Mr. Grahame," she murmured as if placating his impatience.

Grahame shook his head slightly and looked slowly about the huge low-ceilinged room. It was paneled at both ends in silvered birch. The sides were solid with French windows done in frosted, angular, leaded glass. Shadows of palm fronds from the adjoining patio made queer modern patterns upon the glass. His gaze examined each object within the room with a studied care. There were but three other chairs like the one in which he had been seated. Except for the girl at the desk, he was alone.

His sense of unease persisted but not so strongly now. The typist's inquiring gaze still held his own. He smiled slightly at his thought that it was like Myberg. Hollywood's greatest executive, to have this platinum blond seated behind an ebony desk in his celebrated ebony and silver offices. He wondered if she were as efficient as she—was undoubtedly decorative, and concluded that she was. He recalled something of Myberg's requirements.

The door to the inner offices swung open. A haze of tobacco smoke eddied outward. Voices blended in a mild confusion of sound; then one voice predominated—no better man for the jungle. He's outside now. Shall we have him in? Our picture—

Another voice rumbled an interruption, whereupon a third voice said, "But Ortega, you can't do everything, understand." The rumbling voice made some reply. Whereupon, as clear and deeply rich as a 'cello, a feminine voice said: "Goodness, but it's getting dark. I must be going. Gentlemen, can't we discuss this tomorrow? Thank you, Mr. Ortega. I'm so awkward... forever losing gloves."

The door swung slowly shut, cutting off the sounds of the break-up of the meeting. Grahame picked up his light camel's hair coat and put it over his arm. He took up his hat and stood with a slight uncertainty. The door to Myberg's office clicked. Abruptly that former sense of disquiet took hold of him. He faced the glassed side-wall. The shadows of palms lay against the frosted surfaces as if they had been stained in the glass. Whereupon his glance focused upon the one inconspicuous shadow.

He felt a faint tingling at the base of his scalp. There was a shadow of a face between the leaves. It was an old face—a vulture outline with a predatory nose that seemed by a prolongation of an excessively slanting forehead. It was as if a man stood behind a palm trunk, waiting.

Grahame walked toward the outer door. A buzzer hummed softly. The girl at the desk said, in a slightly startled voice, "Mr. Myberg will see you now. The others are leaving."

Half turning, Grahame replied, "Tomorrow. It's late now." The closing door blanketed the girl's confused protest.

Outside the building he strode along the cement walk toward the palms which threw shadowy patterns about his feet. Beams from street lamps sprouted. A thin, diaphanous drizzle began to fall and glisten upon the surrounding shrubbery.

One swift glance assured him that there was no human figure among the palms. He stepped up on the lawn, and moved toward a central tree that might have betrayed the shadowed figure he'd seen from within the office. He glanced at the grass at his feet. Behind the smooth trunk it seemed compressed as if a man had recently been standing upon it.

Grahame paused, frowning. The fact that someone had stood in this place was not especially significant. It was important, however, that he had experienced that sense of unease within the office and had localized it as a strange shadow upon a frosted window.

His years in remote places had taught him not to disregard his faint and statistic sensibilities however baseless they seemed. He pushed the tips of his fingers upward over his forehead and glanced twice after the small man in the hat and tilted back his helmet the better to survey the upper branches.

Hearing voices from the far side of the wing that jutted into the patio, he walked over the cushiony lawn toward the sidewalk. While it was not yet dark enough to obscure a view of the street, nevertheless details were hazed. As he stepped onto the cement, a black limousine of expensive make drew up to the curb a few yards beyond him.

A man made a remark in a deep voice. A woman replied and laughed. They were the voices he had heard through the open door—the owners of the voices. He guessed—moved toward the curb from a doorway. The man helped the woman into the car. A door clicked and the vehicle moved forward.

For an instant the man remained bareheaded facing the vanishing automobile; then crushing his hat upon his head he moved swiftly across the street.

Grahame watched, and began to feel a slight discomfort. He put on his light overcoat. At which point he became conscious of the tan car at the other curb. His mind noted and registered several facts in one instant.

The tan car faced in the wrong direction. Moreover, it was parked in a street in which he remembered that parking was prohibited by police regulation—or Mr. Myberg's influence. Although it was raining, the tonneau was open.

The man who had crossed the street reached the car. He opened a rear door and climbed within. Grahame had a brief glimpse of his outlined figure before he seated himself. He was a huge man with heavy shoulders and short, thick neck.

Two men approached the car from opposite ends of the street. One got into the car and behind the wheel. The other—a small man—seated himself beside the large man in the tonneau. Their combined actions were all very regular and conventional—but very precise. Grahame had a peculiar sense that this little scene had been rehearsed.

There was no lost motion. The starter growled, and the car moved down the street without perceptible hesitation—almost as if timed with the sounding of the door shut after the small man in the hat had stepped.

Grahame stepped onto the pavement. Several blocks ahead he saw the tail light of the first car held stationary by the red signal of the next arterial crossing. The rear light of the second car dimmed toward it. He heard the sound of a motor behind him, and turned toward the curb. A taxicab hesitated, slowed, and stopped.

"Cab, sir?" Grahame entered. The driver asked him where he wanted to be driven. Grahame's lips parted to give the man his address; whereupon with sudden decision he said, "Follow that tan car. You see two blocks ahead."

As the gears meshed, Grahame chuckled to himself. He had acted entirely upon impulse since he stood up from his chair in Myberg's anteroom. There was nothing reasonable or excusable about his performance except that instinctive unease that had been the mainspring of his almost automatic actions thereafter.

He lay back in his seat, and considered. He had broken an appointment with a man he hoped would employ him. He had noted a spot in the grass where someone had stood. A woman had entered a car and he had watched her be driven off. Another car, which contained three men, had gone in the same direction as the other. Certainly they were not a very significant combination of unrelated facts.

Yet, he told himself, he was now engaged in the somewhat idiotic business of following an automobile containing three men who were engaged on an errand of their own doubtless no more serious than that of getting to a place where they could enjoy their cocktails and dinners, which he should be doing. Almost he rapped upon the window before him, to redirect the driver.

They entered the stream of traffic that flows out Sunset. Recalling that they were going in the general direction of his apartment house, Grahame decided to wait a little before telling his driver his destination. He became mildly interested to see if his chauffeur could keep his cab within the same traffic group as the tan car. It was dark now. It seemed a difficult job to avoid being blocked at one of the many intersections.

A few blocks west of Gower, the driver lost the tan car. He slowed to the curb, and turned a chagrined face toward his passenger, Grahame smiled.

"It's all right... really, it isn't important. Just drive me—"

"I think I know where they went. You see, there's a job at—"

"I tell you, it doesn't—"

"The party's on me, boss," the driver interrupted him. He pushed up the flag on his meter. The gears growled. Over his shoulder he called, "It takes up Laurel Canyon way and down into the Boulevard. It cut out a lot of traffic."

Tomorrow, Grahame finds himself knocking out an antagonist.

Four out of five persons answering a questionnaire on adult education courses desired at Springfield, Mo., wanted homemaking instruction.

NEW PLAN OF ENROLLMENT NEXT SEMESTER WILL REQUIRE ONLY ONE DAY; CLASSES BEGIN JAN. 22

Students To Enroll With Home Room Teachers

A new plan of enrollment is being carried out in the high school for next semester, which, according to Principal Stone, will affect a great saving of time and will also reduce to a minimum changes in schedules.

The biggest part of the planning of schedules will be done through the home rooms. It will then be necessary to spend only one day, Friday, January 19, in formal enrollment.

Copies of the program for next semester were distributed yesterday, and students will be given this week during which to work out with their home room teachers a tentative schedule. When grades are turned in January 18, the home room teacher will check the schedule to see that students are entitled to take the courses for which they are enrolled. The following day will then be used for balancing sections, working out conflicts, and making a final check of all schedules. Second semester classes will begin January 22.

Quite a few independent half credits are being offered next semester, including public speaking, dramatics, debate, trigonometry, advanced arithmetic, mechanical drawing, civics, economics, commercial geography, and commercial law. There will be repeat sections of nearly all required courses. For the first time class credit will be given for work in orchestra and band, which will each meet an hour daily.

Seniors especially are urged to take care in arranging schedules so that they can complete all work.

required for graduating. Normally 4 units of English are required, though a diploma will be granted on 3 1/2 units, provided a student has taken English all the time he was enrolled in high school. Other credits, requiring are 8 units in mathematics, 2 in history, and 1 in plus enough electives to make 16 units. If a foreign language is included, at least 2 units must be offered. After those who have already started the second-year of algebra have completed it, only one year in algebra and one in geometry will be required for graduation. Students are required also to have two years of participation in outside activities.

P. H. S. SPORTS

During the holidays the Harvesters began their basketball season and have since played several games. Three days after they began practice they opened the season with a win over White Deer. Since then they have played eight games, losing only three. For the benefit of those who have not yet gotten into the swing of the basketball season, our record to date is as follows:

- Pampa 31; White Deer 8.
 - Pampa 16; Hedley 25.
 - Pampa 28; Canyon 20.
 - Pampa 43; Happy 22.

 - Pampa 39; Panhandle 15.
 - Pampa 24; Panhandle 16.
 - Pampa 30; Hedley 28.
 - Pampa 20; Athens 41.
- Coach Mitchell has two games scheduled for this week. Friday the Harvesters will go to Amarillo, and Saturday Hedley will play here.

COYOTES CAN TALK AND REASON, SAYS EXTRAORDINARY TRAPPER

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Jan. 9 (AP)—President of the Adirondacks where the federal government has been called on to combat a "wolf invasion," could use the services of J. P. "Uncle Munn" Montgomery to a good advantage.

"Uncle Munn" is a trapper extraordinary, especially of coyotes and prairie wolves. He describes the coyote as the "smartest, predatory animal in the western states," but he recently trapped 165 of them in one month on a ranch near Tucumcari. He believes it is a record.

Montgomery, a former well-to-do Georgia cotton planter, who came to Tucumcari 25 years ago "on a stretcher" and took to the outdoors for his health, lays down four

"don'ts" for wolf and coyote trappers: "Don't think you are unobserved for one minute during the day while on your trap lines."

"Don't ever shoot a gun on your trap line."

"Don't think the wild folk can't talk to each other."

"Don't think coyotes and wolves can't reason things out, because they do."

For two weeks before he runs his traps, Montgomery kills no pork. "No man can catch coyotes and eat pork while he is trapping," he explained. "You can't catch them and leave human scent around the traps. They can see a man quickly. It is nature's way of preserving wild life."

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 9 (AP)—Inauguration of sniffing as a business is promised with a new mechanical nose invented at Harvard university.

It is a small meter, made to connect with the nose, and rejuvenate the lost art of keen scent.

It is called the osmoscope and was developed by Gordon M. Fair, associate professor of sanitary engineering at Harvard, for the Hackensack, N. J., water company. Its immediate use is to analyze impurities in water.

It also opens many commercial possibilities of using the sense of smell for chemical analysis. The superiority of the olfactory sense as a detector of substances too minute even for ready spectroscopic analysis has been known to scientists. But only unusual individuals could use it, men so rare that they usually have been nicknamed "golden nose."

The mechanical nose furnished the sniffer with precisely measured amounts of any smell that is worth investigating. The sniffs begin at his "threshold," the least he can detect and ascend by easy steps which are not too fatiguing.

This figure, Professor Fair explained, is popularly known as "getting used to an odor." It arises from the fact that protracted smelling of an odor exhausts the power to recognize it.

Showing marked improvement, the Harvestettes swamped the LeFors Pirate Lassies on the local gymnasium floor yesterday afternoon 33 to 17. Facing with greater accuracy than at any time this season and shooting with a better eye, the Harvestettes took a commanding lead in the first half and held it throughout the game.

Two weeks ago LeFors downed the locals 29 to 23 in LeFors. The LeFors girls were handicapped on the smooth floor yesterday. They have been playing on an unpolished surface and the smooth floor hurt their game considerably.

The Harvestettes go to Miami for an exhibition game tonight. Coaches McDonald and Gull are pleased with the improvement shown and hope to down the Hedley girls here Saturday night.

Leaman Smith of Berger was a visitor over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Culverhouse in the Taley addition.

THE damage will start about 10 o'clock, or after the last appearance on the stage, and will continue until 7. Don Pablo and his band have made many records and Pampans are familiar with his music.

RUSSELL ALSO WANTED MACON, Ga., Jan. 9 (AP)—The Evening News says today that it has learned authoritatively that Lake Russell, Mercer football coach, has received two messages from University of Texas officials inviting him to Austin to confer with them relative to the head coach's job at that school. Russell will not go to Texas for the conference until next week, if then, the paper said.

Child Welfare Is Larger Problem Since Depression

BY R. W. BARRY.
AUSTIN, Jan. 9 (AP)—Welfare agencies which have been created to look after the care of dependent and neglected children are finding their labors and problems intensified by the depression which has placed the families of children that were needing assistance on the direct relief rolls.

Mrs. Violet S. Greenhill in charge of the Texas State Child Welfare department, has returned from Washington, where she attended a conference with reference to the situation.

It was recommended that federal, state, and local emergency relief organizations assume as their primary responsibility the protection of the health and welfare of 6,000,000 children in families now on relief rolls.

Mrs. Greenhill said a survey had determined that there were many instances where emergency relief given to families was insufficient to protect the health and welfare of the children and prevent their removal from their own homes.

The state welfare work in Texas is new, the department having been inaugurated only about three years ago. The legislature was not entirely "sold" on the proposition and the work has been somewhat "cramped," but Mrs. Greenhill said it was making good progress in spite of handicaps.

She recognizes the new problems that have arisen on account of the depression. The food provided for families is not of sufficient quantity or quality to keep children of such affected families in good health, she said.

EMERSON BAND TO PLAY HERE ON WEDNESDAY

WEDNESDAY night will see the return to Pampa of Ralph Emerson and his eleven-piece orchestra to play for a dance at the Pla-Mor auditorium. This band so pleased the crowds here two weeks ago that the management is bringing it back by popular request.

Emerson is well known in this part of the country having pleased audiences wherever he has appeared. He came to Texas from Kansas City where dancers and music lovers were thrilled with the performances.

This orchestra is said by many to be the best playing in this part of the country at the present time. You will enjoy every minute of the dance. Make plans now to attend. Admission will be 25 cents and 5 cents per dance. (Adv.)

ROOSEVELT TO GIVE MESSAGE ON WEDNESDAY

PRESIDENT'S PROGRAM IS AWAITED BY DEMOCRATS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Democratic congressional chiefs today relaxed after winning their majority to shut off further debate critical of the administration pending the early delivery by President Roosevelt of fresh instructions on major legislation.

The senate was held in recess following the session's first attack from the floor upon the administration. The house was centered upon a liquor control bill to extend repeal to the national capital.

Leaders were informed the chief executive would transmit tomorrow special messages giving his views upon the debate-provoking St. Lawrence waterway treaty and proposing a new federal corporation, capitalizing at $200,000,000 and with power to issue $2,000,000,000 in bonds. Designed to provide a government guarantee for farm credit bonds, these new agricultural refinancing issues would replace existing bonds.

A bill in senate activities yesterday, when no major measures were ready for consideration, provided opportunity for a series of republican moves and leaders acted quickly to prevent another session of mere debate today.

The agriculture department was active also in gathering material to answer two senate requests, introduced by republican members. Data was called for on a "sharp decline" in hog prices and for the operation of agricultural processing taxes.

When the senate resumes tomorrow, the house-approved bill for a $2 million liquor tax will be ready for consideration. It was reported late yesterday by the senate finance committee after repeated efforts to alter it had failed.

Chairman Harriett predicted senate passage by tomorrow night.

The house is expected to make quick work of the District of Columbia liquor control bill, and probably will turn before the week is out to the $270,000,000 revenue bill.

Pair Executed In Pennsylvania For Killing Girl

BELLEFONT, Pa., Jan. 9 (AP)—Frank Stabinski, 22, and Anthony P. Tetrowski, 21, were electrocuted today for the slaying of 16-year-old Mary Malinowski during a robbery in her home near Wilkes-Barre more than a year ago.

Two holdup murders within three days were charged against the young men.

Within five days they are alleged to have engaged in, besides the two killings, the holdup of two Hazleton policemen who pursued them, a running pistol battle with Allentown officers, the wounding of a woman holdup victim, and a robbery in which they obtained $9,000 in jewelry after torturing a Philadelphia family.

The first slaying charged to Stabinski and Tetrowski was that of Miss Malinowski, daughter of Emil Malinowski, Luzerne county assessor.

Thieves broke into the Malinowski home the night of December 11, 1932, and, surprised by the family, held its members at bay with pistols. When the girl screamed for help they beat her over the head with a blackjack and fled. She died the next day.

Two nights later Peter Cutler was shot and killed in his hardware store in Wilkes-Barre.

Carnera Manager Pleads Guilty In Tax Evasion Case

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—William J. Duffy, trainer-manager of the American manager, today pleaded guilty before Federal Judge John S. Knox to an indictment charging him with failure to file an income tax return for 1930.

The government claimed he received a net income of $34,000 for that year.

Sentence was deferred until February 6.

President And Douglas At Odds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, made clear today he intends to remain in his present office despite rumors that budgetary differences with President Roosevelt and a recent curtailment of his authorities might cause him to resign.

The budget director told newsmen he plans to "remain on the job as long as I can render service."

The president yesterday trimmed powers only recently handed to Douglas for checking on emergency expenditures. He modified a previous order, making budget estimates a prerequisite for emergency spending, to require in the future only weekly reports to the budget director.

Both Secretary Ickes and Harry Hopkins, the civil works administrator, were said to have objected at the White House that the original ruling might slow down public works and CWA disbursements.

WIFE CHARGES INFIDELITY IN MARITAL SUIT

ALICE FAYE NAMED AS LOVER OF RADIO CROONER

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (AP)—An array of startling charges embracing infidelity, vicious temper, vile language, character assassination plots and bigamy financial settlements were heaped upon Rudy Vallee today by his actress-wife, the former Fay Webb, in a suit for separate maintenance.

The brewing marital storm between the young entertainer and the daughter of the police chief of Santa Monica, Calif., about which warning signals have been flying, broke in the form of a 21-page complaint, which was filed by court order for a time after being filed in the superior court here yesterday.

At Vallee's own insistence the seals were broken and the charges became public. After he had read them, the curly-headed singer, actor and orchestra leader, a recent arrival in Hollywood to make a motion picture, dropped a hint that an anti-climax to this initial sensation was in the offing.

"I will be very happy to classify the answer to certain paragraphs technically," he said. "I hope I never have to do this. I have no particular desire to blast the girl. But certainly I will have to defend myself and bring out the charges. I hope do not have to do it but if I do, we will let Mrs. Vallee's own voice speak for itself and her letters also."

The dark-haired actress, who returned to her home in suburban Santa Monica several weeks ago in an effort to regain her health, accused Vallee of indiscretions with three women. She named only one, Alice Faye, actress and member of his troupe. The others were designated as Jane Does.

Mrs. Vallee alleged the singer's association with Miss Faye dated from January, 1933, and became so prominent the New York Press referred to it. She said she confronted her husband, and Vallee and his New York attorney both told her the charges were untrue. Mrs. Vallee said she believed her husband,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT'S FRIENDS GATHER AT GRAVE TO PAY HONOR ON 15TH ANNIVERSARY OF DEATH

Speech Made in 1912 Seems Forerunner Of F. D. R.'s

BY JAMES H. STREET, Associated Press Staff Writer. OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP)—Pilgrims came Saturday with roses and kind words to hallow the memory of Theodore Roosevelt.

Up they went to the furrowed brow of old Sagamore Hill—it looks a bit like San Juan—and there they met his widow, bowed a gesture, then trooped to the modest grave for a ceremony as simple as the stark hills that fall away into the mist of the bay.

It was the annual pilgrimage to the burial grounds of the former president—cowboy—rough rider—trust buster. Today was the fifteenth anniversary of his death and each year his friends gather here for a tribute. Perhaps a hundred men and women were here who remembered "T. R." when his star shone among the galaxy.

There was Henry L. Stimson, a cabinet member under two presidents, and James A. Garfield, whose father was a president. Governor Pincho of Pennsylvania, usually a pilgrim, was unable to make the trip because of illness.

Each year they go to the grave, lean bouquets against its headstone. There was something poignant in this year's pilgrimage. The small and bundled in overcoats, left the trail for the long trek to the estate while newsmen shouted blatant headlines about the "Roosevelt program"—a cousin several times removed.

The drifts of snow lingered on the rocky hillsides as his friends waded up the path to the big red house on the hill. His widow was

—OIL— JUDGE INFERS U. S. CONTROL IS TEMPORARY

HINTS DECISION JAN. 18 WILL FAVOR PLAINTIFFS

TYLER, Jan. 9 (AP)—A possible hint from Randolph Bryant, federal judge, that federal regulation of oil production in Texas might not last much longer cheers certain oil interests today which have not been satisfied with allowable figures limiting their production.

In the course of an informal discussion on two injunctions he granted the federal government, against the McMurrey corporation and Anderson and Foster, restraining them from violating the state railroad commission order of a month ago, Judge Bryant told counsel he did not think the defendants would "be troubled with this sort of thing very long."

He referred to a decision due Jan. 18 or shortly thereafter in the case of the Amazon Refining company and six other East Texas plaintiffs against the state railroad commission, alleging that the commission was not following its own processes and figures in arriving at a state allowable figure but was permitting Secretary Ickes at Washington to dictate it. The suit also attacked the interior to go on an operator's right of agents of the department of the interior to go on an operator's lease to make inspections.

Judge Bryant indicated last night that he would continue the injunctions in force when the cases come up for action again today because of the commission's new order which became effective just before the turn of the year.

His hearing arguments by Chas. J. Francis, special assistant to the United States attorney general, and F. W. Fischer, defense counsel, the judge said that in view of the imminence of the statutory decision he did not feel like disturbing the quiet, and setting up "guideposts" for the three-judge court to follow in deciding in the Amazon case.

Shortly afterward she came to California and Vallee took his orchestra to Miami, Fla., where his wife claimed he engaged in "open and notorious" association with Miss Faye.

Mrs. Vallee said that after she returned to New York in the spring of 1933 her husband, with a "sinister motive," placed a device in her apartment, by which all telephone conversations were recorded. She said he was unable to obtain any evidence of infidelity on her part and so "in his haste and impatience" he threatened to obtain a divorce in Mexico.

Flying her with liquor, sending her gifts and writing affectionate notes, she claimed he sought to "lull" her into a false sense of security, meantime continuing his association with Miss Faye. He also, she said, undertook of systematically force her into a "shockingly and grossly inadequate" property settlement, which, through "complete ignorance" she signed and received but $100 a week.

Guy McTaggart returned to the city this morning after spending several days in Wichita, Kan.

Elliott Flays CWA Management In California

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (AP)—John E. Elliott, first vice chairman of the democratic state central committee, in a statement which termed management of the CWA here for the past four weeks nothing less than a public scandal, said today that "I, for one, shall not remain silent about it any longer."

Elliott, who was one of the leaders in the Roosevelt campaign in California, said he was in possession of statements by persons within the CWA organization to substantiate his assertions and that he intended to put the entire question before the federal grand jury, if possible.

"As high as 18,000 to 17,000 unemployed have been assigned daily to various projects without any tools or any kind of materials with which to work," the statement said. "This army of men has stood about day after day in many cases for more than 10 consecutive days with nothing to do while they were on the federal pay roll at 50 cents an hour."

Attendance At Houston Meet Totals 145,000

HOUSTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Figures compiled by the Houston Chronicle disclosed that the "breaks" at the Epsom Downs track during the 27-day horse racing meet ended a week ago aggregated $54,681.

The "breaks" consisted of the odd pennies, nickels and dimes left in the pools after holders of winning tickets were paid off in multiples of 20 cents on $2 bets.

For example, if the pool contained enough money to pay each winning bettor $1.79 for each $1 bet, the bettor was given only $1.70 on each $1 or a total of $3.40 on $2 tickets, with the track retaining the other 18 cents. This was virtually the maximum break, since the bettor would have been given $3.80 if the pool had been sufficiently large.

Of the $54,681, the state received eight per cent in tax with the remainder $50,306 going to the track to swell the purses at subsequent meets.

The Chronicle, in a signed story by R. J. Watts, estimated that the attendance for the 27 days totaled 145,000.

CLAIM POLICE KILLED OWNER OF PAWNSHOP

CABINET MINISTER IS FORCED TO RESIGN HIS OFFICE

PARIS, Jan. 9 (AP)—Huge forces of mounted police were rushed to the Place Bourbon today to surround the chamber of deputies and guard it against a demonstration resulting from reports that police had killed Serge Stavisky, alleged swindler, to keep him from talking.

All streets leading to the chamber were blocked off by massed patrol wagons.

Open charges that Serge Stavisky, founder of the fallen Bayonne municipal pawnshop, was slain by secret service agents because he knew too much involving high police officials, were published in the Socialist Populaire and the Communist Humanite.

Other opposition papers questioned the truth of the statement by authorities that Stavisky shot himself in the head when surrounded late yesterday near Chamoux.

The newspaper Action Francaise, calling for a huge demonstration before the chamber of deputies tonight, said: "Down with thieves—down with assassins."

Premier Chaumets lost no time in revamping his endangered cabinet as a result of the midnight resignation of Colonial Minister Albert Dalimier, accused by police of indirect implication in the Bayonne scandal.

He named Lucien Lamoureux, minister of labor, to replace Dalimier. Merchant Marine Minister Eugene Frot going to labor and Undersecretary William Bertrand of the ministry of the interior moving into Frot's position.

Thus, with Stavisky dead and Dalimier out of the cabinet with a "certificate of good conduct," Chaumets hoped parliamentary and public indignation would subside.

CANYON BOY, BYRD'S AIDE, SEES HIS FIRST PENGUINS

CANYON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Joe Hill of Canyon has seen his first penguins—those strange birds of the antarctic which look like ridiculous little men in dress suits. Men on the Byrd ship immediately gave names to the birds they saw as the Jacob Ruppert made its way between great icebergs containing enough ice to supply hundreds of pounds to every person on the globe.

Joe's recent letters home tell that he is still personal aide of Admiral Byrd and that he feels himself most fortunate to be associated daily with a man "who is watched by the whole world and worshipped by many." His long hours of labor are occupied in making snow sleds, skis, and "feet" for the airplanes.

Unless he is changed, his duties "on the ice" will be in the tractor service which is a part of the airplane division. He states that one of the problems to be solved is how to make the tractors usable on the ice by finding a lubricant which will not freeze and by devising some means of keeping the engines warm.

In this work Joe will be associated with Pete Demas, who has served the Lindbergh planes.

For diversion the men enjoy motion pictures, having 80 different shows with them. Joe is reading a great deal, finding books of philosophy especially to his liking at this time.

He finds himself at the same time homesick and happy, and says, "I have at my finger tips all the things I have ever wished for."

Dr. and Mrs. Hill and their household hear from the Byrd expedition almost daily by means of a short wave radio.

Former Senator Chases Burglar

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 9 (AP)—White-haired J. W. Harrel, former United States senator from Oklahoma, snatched up a pistol early today and chased a burglar from his home.

Feeling slightly indisposed, the former senator arose about 2 a. m. and flashed on an upstairs hall light, apparently just after the burglar had entered the house through a downstairs window.

"He must have been more surprised than I," said Harrel. "His gun ran from the dining room, stumbled over a chair and jumped out the window."

A log cabin built at Glen Martin, Cal., in the San Bernardino mountains by '49-ers now houses a gasoline filling station.

J. E. Powell of Allison visited in the city yesterday afternoon.

The Center Leaves have the finest Tobacco Quality

that's why only center leaves are used in Luckies

The first thing people see and like about Luckies is how round and firm they are. The tobacco doesn't spill out and there are no loose ends to cling to lips. That's because we pack each and every Lucky full to the brim with long, even strands of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos—only the center leaves. Not the top leaves—because those are under-developed.

Not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality. We use only the center leaves—because they are the mildest and fully ripe for perfect smoking. That's why Luckies always draw easily, burn evenly—and are always mild and smooth. So smoke a Lucky, a fully packed cigarette. And remember, "It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.
