Look at Your Feet

*They Show
Where You Stand!*

Shabby shoes, scuffed and worn, go tramping up and down our roads and streets, in an out of our homes and offices and factories and stores. Or—

Neat new shoes, trim and shapely, go dancing along to work or play, expressing the spirit of these step-ahead times.

There's nothing like new shoes to turn a heavy tread into a happy, confident forward march! Ask yourself if it ever really pays to be shabby. All too often, pinched pennies buy nothing but a broken spirit. Can you afford to be ashamed before the family, to walk down the street, to go to work?

There's something else to think about, too, and that is health. It is a fact that shoes that are run down at the heel and worn out of their proper shape affect you physically in ways most people never suspect. They can cause aches and pains, not merely in the feet and legs, but even in the back!

Every once in awhile a case of apparent rheumatism is cured by new shoes, properly fitted!

Don't let old shoes drag you down as well as around—buy new ones, NOW! Put your foot down on and not in old shoes. Organizations such as the Salvation Army are eager for cast-offs—turn your feet into helping hands!

And here a tip on long wear:

You'll get much longer wear out of your new shoes if you buy not one, but two pairs, and wear them alternately. Gives the leather time to rest and recover its shape. Shoe trees cost little and last forever; put them in shoes that are not being worn and you'll get still more miles and months per pair, plus better appearance and continued correct fit and comfort. And remember the bootblacks—they have to live, and frequent polishing preserves the leather.

UNDER SHOD AMERICA

In 1929 there were 362 million pairs of shoes made, and nobody has more than two feet or can wear more than one pair of shoes at a time.

In 1930, 300 million pairs were made. Old shoes were worn, instead of being thrown at the bride.

In 1932, 317 million pairs. We began to discover that new shoes were essential, after all.

1933 and 1934 must be and will be still better shod.

FEET, DO YOUR PART!

Already shoe prices have been increased slightly in some places. Further rises are inevitable. The cost of everything that goes into a shoe has gone up, and retail prices must go up, too, to pay the labor and materials that make the shoes on which America is marching swiftly forward.

These increases are an essential part of the great constructive effort of the nation. Each one means just that much further progress toward the time when every effort shall be properly rewarded and everything touched by human hands shall be fairly valued, when the day's needs shall be plentifully supplied by the day's work.

Shoes now in the stocks of the stores cannot be replaced at today's prices; you have for only a little while the opportunity to show where you stand by buying the bargain that may never come again.

FROM THE GROUND UP

The cost of labor in the making of shoes has increased 23 per cent since February, also the cost of materials has gone up proportionately. A few examples: Sole Leather, 67 per cent; Tacks, 10 per cent; Linen Thread 7 per cent; Wax, 53 per cent.
