SHERMAN, May 14. (AP)—Charges of inciting to riot were filed in justice court here today as first "Tuck" Taylor of Sherman, Jess Roper, and Web Purdon of Van Alstyne, and A. P. Godsey and Tom Reeves. The charges against W. M. Nicholson, gray haired Whitewright grocer, and two other men were dismissed.

The maximum penalty on such a charge is two years imprisonment and a $1,000 fine. Bennett Howe, 30, of DeHaven, was at liberty on $500 bond on a charge of posting notices threatening negroes. Howe was charged in COLUMBIA, S. C., May 14. (AP)—A mob had formed at Aiken, S. C. this afternoon and was searching for a negro who this morning attacked a white girl, Sheriff Sanders of Aiken informed Governor John G. Richards' office.

The sheriff requested that state officers be rushed to Aiken.

Justice court after warnings for negroes to leave had been found in several places yesterday.

Meanwhile, Colonel E. S. Davidson, provost marshal, announced that military authorities would meet this afternoon with city and county officials to discuss plans for preserving order after martial law had ceased.

The military rule was established Saturday after a mob had burned the courthouse in its effort to lynch a negro charged with attacking a white woman.

Martial law will be lifted as soon as the military court of inquiry has finished its task unless there is danger of further disturbances, Colonel Davidson said.

He declared he was unable to say when the court would finish its work. It met an hour earlier than usual today.

"We are still working upon the square where the courthouse was burned," the officer said. "We haven't gotten to the negro business districts; were buildings were fired."

The officer asserted the court was inquiring into the origin of a report that Captain Frank Hamer instructed by Governor Moody not to shoot. "We know the rumor was false and we are going to try to find out who started it," he said. He added that a newspaperman would be summoned.

Another arrest was made by state Rangers and held for investigation today. Four brothers and two brothers-in-law from Dorchester, who had been docketed, were told to go home after military authorities were convinced they had nothing to do with the mob violence. A few others of the 33 charged by military officers have been released subject to call.

Colonel Davidson said more, military would be permitted to go home today.

New Movie Actress Makes Her Bow

It was her very first time before the camera, but Baby Dolores Ethel Barrymore didn't lose her stage presence for one minute, even if those bright lights did hurt her tiny eyes. In fact, Dolores Ethel seemed a trifle bored. Mama Dolores Costello Barrymore and Papa John Barrymore tried to appear unconcerned, but they couldn't keep that look of pride out of their eyes. Mrs. Barrymore, who she already shows signs of becoming a famous actress a tradition of both families.

Calls Brady Sane

Austin Men Differ on Mentality of Girl's Slayer

DALLAS, May 14. (AP)—Judge R. L. Batts of Austin, formerly in the same law office with John A. Brady, alleged slayer of Miss LeKilla Highsmith, was called as the first state rebuttal witness in Brady's trial here today.

The witness testified that Brady had occupied a desk in his office in Austin for 18 months up until last August. He said his associations with the defendant had been very legitimate and testified that he had never noticed anything peculiar about Brady's eyes and that Brady always had appeared well dressed to him.

Based on his answer on 35 years acquaintance with Brady, his business and social associations, Judge Batts swore he had never seen or heard anything about Brady that indicated he was of unsound mind. This testimony was given over objections of defense attorneys.

On cross examination, the defense drew an admission from the witness that Henry Brooks, Travis county district attorney who is taking part in the prosecution, is now occupying an office with him.

W. A. Keeling of Austin, former attorney general, testified of his long associations with Brady and stated that, in his opinion, the defendant is of unsound mind.

Class Night to Be Tomorrow

Class night exercises will be held by the 1930 graduates of Central high school tomorrow evening at the gymnasium-auditorium, open to the public.

The class history, class prophecy, and other numbers customary to the occasion will be combined in an original improvisation of the witches scene from "Macbeth," which gives promise of being novel and entertaining.

The girls quartet, composed of Doris Price, Ruth Wakeman, Yvonne Thomas, and Audrey Noel, will sing "The Nightingale," by Kjerulf, with accompaniment by Mrs. Thomas Fannell.

Installation of the members of the National Honor society will be the final number of the program.

Justice Court Cases Number 139 In Last Month

Cases tried before Justice of Peace C. E. Cary in April numbered 139, according to his report which was approved yesterday by the county commissioners in their regular session. Mr. Cary also held three inquests. Forty-three cases were tried and disposed of for which no money was collected by the county. Some of these cases were dismissed. Other persons were not fined, and some laid out their fine in jail.

Mr. Cary's report shows that 83 persons each paid a $1 fine and costs. The "costs" in each case includes a $3 fee for the justice of peace, a $5 fee for the county attorney, and about $3.70 for the county sheriff or the constable. The trial fee is $4. The total amount of the fine and costs in such case is about $13.70.

Although Mr. Cary did not state in his report charges on which the 83 persons were fined, or on what charges they had been arrested, it is known that the charges largely included disturbing the peace, intoxication, vagrancy, gambling and affray.

Ten per cent of the fine and trial fee costs goes to the county attorney, while five per cent is paid to the sheriff or the constable. This month the justice of peace office paid $433 to the county. This amount was, of course, exclusive of the costs and included only the county's share of the fine and trial fees. Three persons were fined $3 and costs and one was fined $2 and costs in justice court.

All but 15 per cent of the $1 fine assessed is placed in the road and bridge fund.

School Play Very Creditable Last Evening

A highly creditable performance of the difficult mystery play, "The Thirteenth Chair," was given last night at Central auditorium by a high school cast under the direction of Miss Velora Reed, and so favorable was the reception by the large audience that a second performance was scheduled for next Tuesday night.

Dorothy Doucette's interpretation of the role of Madame Rosalie LaGrange, the middle-aged mystic, was particularly good. Joe Kahl, a comparatively newcomer in high school dramatics, reflected honor to himself as Wales, one of the heaviest parts. As Donahue, the detective, LeFors Doucette was considered by some to have given the best of his many high school performances. Others carried their parts with nice appreciation for the characters.

The high school orchestra, directed by Thomas Fannell, played before the curtain. Enjoyable interludes included a rose dance by eight pupils of Miss Julia Mae Barnhart's class at Lamar school, selections by the "Harvester Serenaders" and solo dances by Christine Manning.

CHARGE GIVEN BEFORE NOON

Jury to Deliberate at About 5 o'Clock Today

Acquittal or a suspended sentence for the 20-year-old Gilbert Cox on trial for murder was asked this afternoon by defense counsel, Ridgell and Saunders, in 31st district court. State's attorney, C. G. Englewood, district attorney, and special prosecutor, Curtis Douglas, demanded either a death sentence or a life term in the penitentiary.

Cox is charged with the fatal shooting of Ralph Watkins, 20, here April 20. Arguments were scheduled to close about 5 o'clock this afternoon. They began at 1:30 p. m. Judge W. R. Ewing delivered his charge just before noon.

The judge told the jury that the defendant had a right to defend himself against what appeared to him to be an unlawful attack, and said that homicide in such circumstances was justifiable. He urged the jurors to place themselves in the position of the defendant, and charge of them to acquit Cox if they believed the defendant felt certain that Watkins was going to make an attack upon him, whether Watkins was armed or not.

Testimony was introduced by the defense intended to prove that Cox killed Watkins in self-defense. Cox's attorney asked for a suspended sentence on the ground that the defendant had never been convicted of a felony in this or any other state. He granted a suspended sentence "be granted, punishment cannot exceed five years."

On the witness stand last night the youth clung to the declaration that he killed Watkins because he thought the latter was going to kill him. He denied that he shot Watkins because the latter had "broke in on his home," but admitted that just before the shooting he had been thinking how Watkins had "wrecked his home."

"I was in my car behind the steering wheel," Cox said in describing the shooting. "Watkins was standing by the front door leaning on it with his hips touching the rear door. I asked him two questions which he would not answer at once. Finally, he jumped back a little and said, 'I'm going to have her if I have to kill you and the whole family.' He then threw his hand behind him and I shot him. It looked to me at the time as if he had a gun in his belt. When he made that quick movement with his hand I became nervous."

Had Been Warned

Cox said that he bought the gun on the morning of the homicide at a second-hand store on South Cuyler street after his father-in-law, B. B. Altman, had warned him not to go to Watkins' house without a gun. Mr. Altman testified that he had gone to Watkins' house on the morning of the killing and told Ralph that he would "shoot him like a dog" if he didn't leave his daughter alone. Altman quoted Ralph as saying at that time, "I'll kill Gilbert Cox like I would a snake if he tries to keep her from getting a divorce."

Cox was preceded on the witness stand by all the state and defense witnesses. He began his testimony in a loud but faltering tone and he swallowed sobs with difficulty as he related the events that led up to the shooting. He said that he came to Pampa with his parents a year ago last April, and that the first time he ever saw Watkins was on the morning of the shooting.

BRIGGS AT WORK ON RAILROAD PROJECT

George Briggs, manager of the Pampa Board of City Development, and Jerry Debenport, secretary of the Childrens Chamber of Commerce, are in Fort Worth today in connection with the move to obtain a new I. C. C. hearing on the Pampa-Childress railroad proposal. Application for the re-hearing by the two cities and the Fort Worth & Denver railroad has been filed in Washington.

Last month division 4 of the commission approved the construction program of the Rock Island, Frisco and Santa Fe in that section of Texas, involving more than 500 miles of new construction and trackage leases, but denied the application of the Denver. The Rock Island-Frisco program also involved purchase of the Gulf, Texas & Western.

The Denver's petition set out that the present and future development of the Pampa area and traffic that should and would move from that area southerly makes construction of a north and south line necessary. "This new construction would meet an urgent and pressing need in that area to give it commercial relation with other parts of the state of Texas and markets thereof, which, with existing rail lines, it is denied. This area in this way should be afforded competitive service to the leading markets and gateways of Texas and the southwest generally. It would likewise fulfill a need for additional rail service in Collingsworth and Childress counties."

The petition lays stress upon the dissenting opinion by Commissioner Eastman, whose judgment was that the Burlington should be permitted to build between Childress and Pampa, and that the application of the Santa Fe to extend the Clinton & Oklahoma Western from Heaton to a point nine miles southeast near LeFors should have been denied.

Members of the Texas Railroad Commission supported the Burlington's petition in a statement addressed to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Texas commission said that the Rock Island and Frisco proposals will result in great convenience to a large part of Texas but would wholly disregard the important situation presented by the area proposed to be served by the Burlington. In the opinion of the Texas commission this goes farther than one of mere convenience and as applied to the Pampa territory, is one of necessity.

In its reported the commission refused to approve sale of the Gulf, Texas & Western for $2,300,000 to the Frisco as proposed, but reduced the price to $1,800,000. It is understood that the commission's figures will be accepted by the Jeremyn heirs of Scranton, Pa., who own the Gulf, and that negotiations are under way at Dallas for discharge of the Gulf's receivership, preliminary to carrying out the transfer.

DALLAS, May 14. (AP)—After being in receivership since Jan. 24, 1921, the Gulf, Texas & Western railroad will return to its owners at midnight, tomorrow, according to an order entered here by Federal Judge E. R. Meek.

The court order revealed that all debts of the road had been paid excepting amounts owed to the Jeremyn estate of Pennsylvania and that estate owns the stocks and bonds of the railroad.

Miss Myrtle Miller, county home demonstration agent, is in Alameda today attending an all-day meeting of the club there.

W. R. Webster of McLean was in Pampa yesterday, serving as a juror in the district court.

Harry Overton of McLean was in Pampa yesterday serving on the district court jury.

Wheeler Foster of McLean was here yesterday.

McGLOTHLIN IS NEW PRESIDENT BAPTIST CHURCH

NEW ORLEANS, May 14. (AP)—Dr. W. J. McGlothlin, president of Furman university, Greenville, S. C., today was elected president of the Southern Baptist convention after spirited balloting. He was nominated by the Rev. Bryan Simmons, of Learned, Miss.

NEW ORLEANS, May 14. (AP)—For Baptists to become a greater force in world evangelism they must sacrifice their pleasing doctrines and easy living and take a stand against those who through scholarly attainments place a made-made interpretation on the Bible, Dr. Robert G. Lee of Memphis declared here today in the annual sermon before the Southern Baptist Convention.

Present day Christianity, Dr. Lee said, is suffering from self indulgence, love of pleasure and popularity, pride in numbers and organization and has lost much of its potency because Baptists are unwilling to pay the price of sacrifice. Baptists, he said, "must go back to preaching the fundamental doctrines of sin, eternal punishment in hell, and faith in sacrificial death of a miraculously conceived Christ as the only remedy for sin."

Legion to Give Several Awards for Scholarship

Commander Paul Hill of the American Legion will award his organization's silver cup at the class night exercises Thursday at Central auditorium to some student selected by the faculty.

The awards will be based on scholarship, leadership, character and citizenship. The purpose of the award, according to P. E. Boyd, chairman of the Legion Americanization committee, is to stimulate interest in good citizenship among the students.

Scholarship medals will be given to a Junior high school student Monday night at the Methodist church exercises by the Legion. Similar awards will be made at the ward schools.

The Legion has announced that the scholarship recognition will be made each year.

Ralph B. Thomas, county agent, made a business trip to McLean yesterday.

STORY DENIED SECOND HEARING

Arson Trial Remanded Though Plot Is Noted

Finding a reversible error in the argument of the district attorney, and holding evidence insufficient, the Court of Civil Appeals today reversed and remanded the case of H. H. Davis, former Wheeler county officer, convicted in 31st district court of criminal assault and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment.

Davis was defended by Ben Allred. Judge W. R. Ewing presided at the trial, although C. G. Englewood was on the bench when Tom Johnson of Shamrock was tried for the same offense. Johnson's case will come up for a hearing in the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin next Wednesday, according to Judge Newton F. Willis, who with Clayton Heare and Ben Allred defended Johnson. Judge Willis believes that his client will be given a new trial, since the same evidence was submitted in both cases.

AUSTIN, May 14. (AP)—Holding there was insufficient corroborative evidence to show a criminal connection, the Court of Criminal Appeals today reversed and remanded the case of C. N. B. Baker, Metarral county, convicted on a charge of arson in connection with the burning of a store at Fort McKavitt. The court held that while the evidence pointed to Baker's having been connected with the plot to burn the store of L. H. Lehne, a competitor, the testimony was insufficient to show a criminal connection.

Motion of Yancey Story for a rehearing of his appeal from conviction on a charge of robbery in Falls county was overruled by the court. The opinion stated that no new facts or reasons had been introduced by Story to justify a rehearing. Story had been sentenced to serve five years on the charge.

Conviction of T. J. Robinson, Jefferson county, on a charge of murdering Ernest Nichols was affirmed, the court holding no reversible error in the trial. Robinson was sentenced to 18 years in the penitentiary.

Holding that the evidence was insufficient and that argument of the state's attorney was injurious and prejudicial, the court reversed and remanded the case of H. H. Davis, former officer, convicted in Gray county on a statutory charge. Davis with another officer, according to the testimony, arrested the escorts of Ellen and Mildred Brock and then criminally attacked the two girls.

James E. Schow, Dallas, was a visitor here Tuesday.

MORE ABOUT NAMING OUR WARD SCHOOLS

In Public Forum today Mrs. Joe Smith offers a good suggestion in connection with the naming of the east and west ward schools and the north ward to be erected this summer. Texas has many heroes whose names would grace any school in the land.

It is true that Pampa has residents from all parts of the nation, and that many of these do not know Texas history very well, but naming of our schools after Texas' illustrious pioneers would help to make our history known. As a student of Texas history, we were thrilled many times by the recital of exploits. These made our sixth grade year the most interesting of our grammar school days.

Were the schools named for Texas heroes and large portraits of these placed in the buildings, the pupils and patrons would know more Texas history and more fully appreciate the great men than they now do. Once each year it would be a good plan, furthermore, to have essay writing contests on the lives of these heroes. The writer would like very much to offer prizes for the best essays and to print the winning articles.

DEAN OF GIRLS IN HIGH SCHOOLS

Many pedagogical experiments are failures because theories do not fit into actual conditions. But one experiment is having such decided success that it is being accepted as highly desirable. We speak of the position of dean of girls in high schools.

Colleges find deans of women vital in guiding young women through their complex student lives and in answering questions which perplex them. High schools have similar problems because the high school girls of today are trying to imitate their college sisters and, if possible, go the latter "one better". The result is often disastrous to the student and vexing to the school.

School executives, usually men, find it essential to have assistance of trusted women teachers, whether the latter are recognized as performing the functions of dean of girls or not. The office of women or girls is not primarily although inevitably concerned with juvenile delinquency in its various phases. The work in its essence is preventive, for its scope includes lectures and private interviews on subjects relating to student conduct, manners, and general knowledge.

Although it is not possible in small schools to separate the office entirely from teaching, designation of a woman teacher as dean of girls is essential. The dean invites confidences, and girls will ask her questions that they would not ask their own mothers.

The male executives and coaches are advisers to the boys, but there are no comparable advisers of girls. Routine teaching does not lend itself to confidences of the desirable type. Pampa has problems of student conduct just as do other cities of this size. The school board in the opinion of The News would be entirely justified in creating the office of dean of girls next year. It would be a step in advance that would enhance the reputation of the school in every way.

Women fought for emancipation; now men are fighting to keep from having too many rights. For instance, shorts for males, and even gaudy colored suits are the vogue in select circles. Man's right to wear uncomfortable garb is worth fighting for.

Experiments often take the wrong trend. For instance, there's our golf. They are making the ball bigger, so it will be easier to hit. But they are overlooking the fact that the cup will seem even smaller. What we need are larger cups and larger greens. To merely manufacture larger balls is to miss the part of the question.

England ranks first in the ball manufacturing industry, but if it's good ringing you want come to America.

Mexico is a great country, but they let married men vote at 18 and single men at 21. In our opinion worries of matrimony do not contribute to information about affairs of state. . . . And to change the subject slightly, this new-fangled matrimonial insurance has us stumped. We may be dense, but we cannot see how the plan will work on the present basis of operation.

Evidently even brethren of the clergy can be wrong—the Methodist bishops are rapidly being exonerated. As long as churches are composed of humans, there will be rumors and charges, real or fancied. The fact is a reflection upon churchmen, not the church.

TALKS WITH PARENTS

Preventing Quarrels

BY ALICE JUDDSON PEALE

That brothers and sisters are not always as loving and peaceful as we would like them to be, is something that every mother knows.

A certain amount of friction is perhaps inevitable between even the most companionable children but there are many homes in which this friction is aggravated to a point where there is active ill feeling, and frequently quarrelling.

Here are a few suggestions which should be helpful in preventing quarrels between brothers and sisters, and in establishing decent friendly relations between them.

Distribute favors, gifts and privileges impartially, according to the children's needs,—not according to your impulse to favor one child or another.

Give each child abundant opportunities to win your approval. See that each has his share of the limelight, and the chance to shine through achievement.

See that each child has, if not a room of his own, at least a cupboard or a particular shelf where his possessions may be inviolate.

Never give one child authority over another.

Interfere in their differences as little as possible. Avoid taking sides. When a quarrel has occurred separate the children, sending each to his own room, as an impartial punishment for disturbing the peace of the home.

See that each child has abundant play materials of his own. If they are near together in age and interests, see that they own in common such things as blocks, and large outdoor equipment which encourage cooperative play.

Teach them to take turns. Make it a rule that any plaything, which is owned in common, belongs to the child who is using it, until he is through with it.

DALLAS WANTS MORE PITCHERS FOR THE LUCKLESS STEERS

TEAM NEARS THE BOTTOM IN STANDING

By The Associated Press
For the second day in a row, first division teams of the Texas league took it on the chin from the weather man who continued to bat 1,000 against them in the weather league. Wichita Falls at Beaumont and Shreveport at Houston were rained out again yesterday as they had been the day before.

The luckless Dallas Steers, pushing San Antonio hard for last place in the league, were unable to gain on the Indians, who dropped a game to the Fort Worth Panthers after winning two in a row. Waco took the Steers into camp 13 to 7, and the Cats clawed the Indians 7 scratches to 5.

The Dallas News this morning carried a headline "wanted, pitchers" over the box score of the Dallas Waco game of yesterday. It was the second day the Steers used four hurlers in one game in a futile effort to halt the Cubs.

The news of the day included a Dallas announcement that Larry Crosson, young right-handed hurler obtained from Louisville of the American Association, would be returned.

The San Antonio Indians, not to be outdone in any way by the Steers, hooded Oddie Strain, outfielder, down to Augusta club of the Sally league.

Fort Worth was outbit by the Indians in their tangle at Tamalesville yesterday, but the Redkins were unable to connect when hits meant something worth while chalked up in the official scorer's "R" column.

CLOSE RACE BY NATIONALS IN PROSPECT

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer
The National league apparently is headed for one of the closest races in its long history, if the results of the first month of play can be taken as an indication of what will happen during the next four.

The New York Giants still hold the lead with an average of .636 although they were defeated yesterday by the St. Louis Cardinals, but the Chicago Cubs are close behind and five other clubs are within striking distance of them. Pittsburgh, the seventh team in today's standings, has an average of .500, the same mark as held by the New York Yankees, who are fourth in the American league.

While the Giants were losing a tough struggle to St. Louis yesterday by a 6 to 4 score, the Cubs lasted through a big rally to beat the Boston Braves, 9 to 8. Similar results today would leave Chicago only two points behind. The Brooklyn Robins and Cincinnati Reds kept idle by rain, remained tied for third place with 12 victories and eleven defeats apiece and led the Phillies and St. Louis only by a few percentage points.

Philadelphia pushed Pittsburgh's Pirates down into the second division with a steady hitting attack that brought a 14 to 8 victory. The Pirates did not get started until the ninth, when they scored four runs.

Cleveland and Washington furnished the fireworks in the American league as the Indians opened a drive to take second place. The first three innings saw all the scoring as Cleveland won, 11 to 6. The Indians made five runs in the first and six in the third while Wash-

Rawls Is Called Tunney of Mat Game—Mitchell Breaks an Arm

What Gene Tunney is to the boxing game, Rooster Rawls, who will wrestle Otis Clingman here Thursday night, says he is to the grappling art. Rawls lives in Ohio. Rooster has never wrestled a man whom he hasn't seen in action. He has the greatest contempt for the carnival type of wrestler. He believes that Clingman is a fit person on whom to exercise his skill. He is said to be the cleanest of clean wrestlers.

Jack Mitchell suffered a broken arm in a match at Dallas last week-end and will not be able to wrestle Young Sampson of Borger Thursday night. Jack Rogers was unable to find an opponent for Sampson, and announced that Goffin will appear in the 30-minute event. His opponent has not been announced.

Junior High to Have Exercises on Two Occasions

A baccalaureate chapel and a combined class night and commencement program will mark the promotion of the seventh grade students from Junior high school to high school. The public is cordially invited to attend both programs, according to R. A. Selby, principal of Junior high school.

The chapel will be held next Friday afternoon at Central auditorium, with the Rev. F. W. O'Malley, pastor of the First Christian church, delivering the message. The commencement exercises will be held on the following Monday evening at the First Methodist church.

Following is the program of the baccalaureate chapel, which will open at 2:50 o'clock:

Processional.
Invocation, by the Rev. Tom W. Brabham.
Song, "Junior High Song," by the sixth and seventh grades.
Piano solo, by Juliet Jane Caufield.
Saxophone duet, by Smith Wise and Paul Kelm.
Song, "America," by the assembly.
Address by the Rev. O'Malley.
Recessional.

Class exercises and the awarding of certificates of promotion and special awards will be outstanding features of the commencement program at the church Monday evening. The program will begin at 8 o'clock with the processional, after which the numbers will be as follows:

Invocation, by the Rev. A. A. Hyde.
Salutatory, by Mary Catherine

Clark.
Selection by girls' chorus.
Class history, by Wayne Kinnison.
Violin duet, by Dorothy Mae Meers and Grace Dwyer.
Mixed chorus, by the seventh grade.
Class will, by Ernest McDuffie.
Piano duet, by Josephine Lane and Florence Sue Dodson.
Valedictory, by Earl Bradford.
Awarding of American Legion medal, by P. E. Boyd.
Awarding of medal of Sons of the American Revolution, by T. D. Hobart.

Awarding of certificates of honor, by R. A. Selby.
Awarding of certificates of promotion, by R. A. Selby.

HOWELL TO BE GIVEN TRIP TO AUTO RACES

Recognition of the achievement of B. A. Howell of Pampa, in finishing among the leading Frigidaire salesman of 1929 will be given May 30 when he will attend the Indianapolis speedway races as a factory guest. He is one of a group of more than 500 star salesmen who are receiving this trip as partial reward for selling more than 125 per cent of their last year's quota.

The Indianapolis holiday will follow a one day meeting in Dayton, where the salesmen will visit the factories and hear a number of General Motors officials speak at a banquet in the evening. Special trains taking them to Indianapolis that night will be parked at the speedway.

A block of grandstand seats close to the wire was reserved for the delegation more than three months ago as attendance at the speedway classic is unusually large. E. G. Biechler, president and general manager and a group of factory officials will accompany the party.

Besides the trip to Dayton and the Indianapolis races the star salesmen and dealers were awarded $150 in gold at regional conventions held earlier in the year. Purses of $50 and $100 were presented other salesmen who accomplished lesser feats of selling.

Eaglerock Bullet Coming Tomorrow

An Eaglerock Bullet, latest type monoplane, is due to land at the local airport tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, according to I. Van Nattan who returned this morning from Colorado Springs, where he made arrangements to have the ship visit Pampa. The plane will be piloted by C. O. Durrett, veteran pilot of the Eaglerock company, of Colorado Springs.

Built along the lines of the Junker plane, the new Bullet is a low-winged monoplane, closed job, with a capacity of three passengers, pilot and baggage. It is powered with a Wright J-6 motor and capable of attaining a high rate of speed.

The plane will be at the field most of the day. Mr. VanNattan is contemplating taking the agency for the new Bullet in this territory.

Among visitors in Pampa Tuesday was R. C. Pitts of Amarillo.

Popular Athlete Says "Konjola Best Medicine"

Wrestler Endorses New Medicine for Ailments of Stomach and Liver—"Use it Regularly", He Says

ALFRED (DUTCH) MANTELL "Of all the different medicines I have used, I believe Konjola to be the best," said Alfred (Dutch) Mantell, popular welterweight wrestler, residing at 505 Prospect avenue, Amarillo.

Like most athletes I am forced to diet during training and after a match I need something to rid myself of gas accumulation and disorders of the digestive system. I have found Konjola to be the best of all medicines for a sluggish liver and it is without an equal in ridding the blood of accumulated impurities.

"I take Konjola because it is free from alcohol and from habit forming drugs. It has many times served me as a tonic and body builder. I find that, although I am naturally very hungry after training for a match, I can take this great medicine and avoid the discomfort that follows overeating. I take it regularly and am glad to recommend it to everyone who needs something to keep their system in first class condition."

The records of Konjola are filled with such endorsements. Thousands of men and women have found Konjola to be the ideal tonic for a system which has become run down and generally out of order.

Konjola is sold in Pampa at the City Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section. Adv.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Natalie Converse tries to conquer the jealousy which consumes her when other women admire her husband, Alan. When he receives a phone call to the home of Bernadine Lamont, a popular night club hostess who has outraged the smug respectability of Westchester aristocrats by purchasing a home among them, Natalie demands that Alan refuse to go and that he give up the brokerage business of "that Lamont woman."

Alan tells her that Bernadine is the widow of a war buddy who had saved his life, and that she is doing the only work she was able to secure in order to support herself and her fatherless boy, Bobby.

Alan leaves, after a bitter quarrel in which he taunted her for her refusal to bear him the children he had hoped for, and Natalie spends a miserable evening trying to fight down her suspicions—never dreaming that Alan has just been admitted to a room where a grave-faced doctor is bending over a beautiful Bernadine.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER II

At the head of the daybed, on a painted stand, there was a globe that shed a golden light over the scene the doctor watched. By its soft radiance he saw something come into Bernadine's eyes as she welcomed Alan Converse—that he could not understand.

"He knew his patient had not ceased to mourn Jack Lamont. He felt uneasy, undesirable of witnessing a scene that would reveal her heart more intimately to him, Bernadine saw him turn away.

"Don't go, doctor," she said, and caught a firmer hold on the hand Alan had outstretched to her in greeting. "I want you to tell Mr. Converse about . . . about me, Alan, this is Dr. Wagnall."

The two men shook hands, with a gravity that neither could hide.

"I'll wait downstairs and have a talk with Mr. Converse before he leaves," Dr. Wagnall said to Bernadine. "You mustn't keep him long, you know."

"No, please," Bernadine pleaded. "I want you to tell him what you have just told me. Then you can go."

"Well," Dr. Wagnall said, "I don't like to repeat it, and don't forget that I've said your recovery depends almost entirely upon you, Mrs. Lamont."

"I know," Bernadine said, "but it's my condition that I want Mr. Converse to know about."

Dr. Wagnall turned back to Alan. "Her condition is serious," he said. "I've told her that she must lead a quieter life if—"

"If I am to live at all," Bernadine broke in to spare him the repetition to which he objected. "Thank you, doctor. Now you may leave us alone if you like."

The doctor glanced at his watch. "I'm afraid I must," he said gravely. "I'm due at the hospital in a few minutes."

"But I should like to talk with you, doctor," Alan protested quickly.

Bernadine read the thought in his mind that prompted the words. "I'll tell you everything," she said, before the doctor spoke. "I want you to know; that's why I sent for you."

Dr. Wagnall hesitated. He wanted to say to Alan that he should use whatever influence he had with Bernadine to impress her with the need for changing her mode of life to one less exciting. But he had overstayed as it was.

"Another time?" he said to Alan. "Good night, Mrs. Lamont. I'll be in tomorrow. Don't talk too much tonight." He patted her hand encouragingly, nodded to Alan, and hurried out.

"Now," Bernadine began, as though the doctor's going had lifted a restraint. "Sit down here."

She indicated a chair near at hand. Alan noticed that her fingers were ringless. They seemed denuded. He was aware of a sense of intrusion, as if he glimpsed a phase of Bernadine's life that should be hidden from the public.

"It was splendid of you to come," Bernadine told him, her voice warm with gratitude.

"I hope I can be of service," Alan said. He knew the words sounded awkward, and stiffly uttered. He wished he hadn't the habit of analyzing himself, his acts and his words, at the most serious moments of his life. He hated trite phrases. And he always made commonplace remarks when he was emotionalized.

"You can," Bernadine assured him earnestly, "be of great service to me, Alan. I wouldn't have bothered you for anything trivial. Did my call inconvenience you?" she added suddenly, disturbed by his manner.

"Not at all, not in the least," Alan replied with suspicious emphasis.

Bernadine let it pass. She was too serious to be more than politely concerned about having trespassed upon his time. "I'm sorry if I brought you away from anything interesting," she added, "but there was no one else I could send for. You see, you're the only one of Jack's old friends that I know."

Her voice trailed away in a wistful undertone, and for a moment she lay back on her pillows and shut out the present pain and fear that faced her. Shut it out to cross the borderline in thought that brought her close to a cherished memory. She seemed almost to be with Jack. And since Dr. Wagnall's visit he had been very close indeed.

Alan wondered about the smile that flickered over her lips. But he said nothing, and soon she opened her eyes again, and looked at him with the shadow of her great love lingering in their velvety depths.

"I couldn't ask of anyone who hadn't known Jack what I'm going to ask of you, Alan," she said haltingly.

Alan regarded her with a troubled gaze. "It wouldn't have been fair for you to send for anyone else if there's anything I can do for you," he said slowly. "Remember that I owe my life to Jack's heroism."

"I am not forgetting," Bernadine admitted. "But it is only partly for my own sake that I remember. You see, it's a part of my job to carry on what Jack left for me to do—looking after Bobby, I mean. Duty's not the word to use. But it's more than that. It's part of my promise to Jack to do everything I could for Sonny. And it's part of my love. And part of my selfishness." She paused, and Alan's gaze alone questioned her further.

"I'll be relieved of a great burden if you help me," she went on. "That's why it's selfish of me to ask your aid. I'll explain, or do I need to?"

Her voice seemed to press the whole of her being upon him in a flash of understanding. Dr. Wagnall's warning—of course!

"You are worried about Bobby's future?" he asked.

Bernadine nodded her small head. The light caught in her mass of auburn hair, and flamed there like a danger signal. Alan saw tragedy in the mask-like whiteness of the face it framed.

"Don't worry," he said impulsively. "Jack's kid—why, I'd do anything for him!"

Bernadine smiled. "I think you would," she said slowly, "but you mustn't be impressed by the drama in this, Alan." She smiled again. "They—whoever they are—say that men lose their heads over me."

That's press agent bunk. Still I want to be sure you aren't promising this just because your sympathy is stirred up and—"

"The doctor said you weren't to talk too much," Alan interrupted to remind her. "Tell me what you want me to do for Bobby. Don't waste yourself speculating about me."

"Jack always said you were as regular as your birthday," Bernadine exclaimed. "Well, it's a lot to ask—but Bobby's a sweet kid—you'd love him, I know. You see what it is? If anything happens to me, I want you to take him. He'd be all alone if you didn't. He hasn't a relative in the world except me. I considered everyone I knew before I sent for you, Alan, but none of them were . . . well . . ."

Alan reached out and laid a hand on hers.

"Consider that all settled," he urged, "but don't make up your mind to check out just yet—Don't you think it would be better for Bobby if you stayed on? It's up to you. I heard Dr. Wagnall say so."

Bernadine's lips formed a ghost of a smile. "I know," she said dreamily, "but I'm afraid I'm not above taking advantage of you, Alan. You're decent. You can do as much as I can for Bobby. It would be different if he were a girl. And I've got a feeling that Jack wants me out there. Besides, it wouldn't be easy for me to follow the doctor's orders. I can't just sit around and drag it out. Not when it would only be harder for Bobby when he's older."

To answer her Alan had to speak above a lump in his throat.

"Don't misunderstand me," he said. "I'm not hedging, but you've got to put up a better fight than me, I want you to take him. He'd be all alone if you didn't. He hasn't a relative in the world except me. I considered everyone I knew before I sent for you, Alan, but none of them were . . . well . . ."

COX TRIAL—

In January of this year and lived happily until one day his wife got a letter from Watkins, who was then serving a sentence in the penitentiary at San Quentin, Calif., he testified. "She promised to write him asking him not to write her any more. She did and we then decided to go ahead and live together," he said. "They were living at Boise City, Okla.

Return to Pampa
In the week of April 20, her father wrote her to come to Pampa to serve as secretary at a rabbit show and she came with the agreement that her husband would come after her in a week, according to testimony. On the day he was to come after her, she telegraphed him not to come, saying she was going to stay another week, "but I was lonesome so I came on to Pampa anyway," he said.

"When I got to Pampa about midnight I went to her father's and she was gone. Mr. Altman and I searched for her at the homes of her friends and couldn't find her. Then Mr. Altman told me about some letters from Ralph to her that he had intercepted. He said Watkins was due to return from prison any day. Then we found out where Ralph lived and went to his house. Mrs. Helen Watkins told us that neither Ralph nor my wife had been there.

"We then drove back to Mr. Altman's house and my wife was there. That was about 3 o'clock. I told her she'd been unfaithful to me, but after we'd talked a little while she agreed to go to Boise City with me. She kissed her brothers goodbye and said she wanted to go by Watkins' house to tell him she loved me and was going to live with me."

Cox then testified that he and his wife drove to Watkins' house, where the three had a conversation. Mrs. Cox then changed her mind, the defendant testified, and decided to remain in Pampa. Cox left the two together, drove to a filling station for gas and oil, and then returned to the home of his father-in-law. There his wife had just arrived in a taxi.

Cox said he talked with his wife, and that she denied having had any improper relations with Watkins. As the result of this conversation, however, Cox learned that Watkins had given her a dose of some kind of medicine. When he then went back to Watkins' house alone, after buying a pistol for alleged self protection, he said it was to find out what kind of medicine it was. He said he feared for his wife's health and wished to take her to a doctor. The shooting occurred after he had talked to Watkins for a few minutes.

Said Home Broken
Mrs. Watkins, the first state witness, testified that Ralph arrived at her home at 8 o'clock on the night before the shooting. Shortly after he came, she said, she and Ralph drove up town, and that he got into a car with Mrs. Cox and that she didn't see him any more until he returned home the next morning at 3 o'clock. She quoted Cox as saying the next morning when he and his wife came to the Watkins house, "My wife tells me that she loves you better than she loves me. Well, here she is. It looks like you've broken up my home."

"No. You just stole my girl while I was away," Mrs. Watkins said Ralph answered him. The defendant came back to the house about 9 o'clock, she said. Ralph walked in front and was laughing as they went out to the car, she said. They talked about 20 minutes when she heard but did not see three shots. When she saw Ralph he was falling backward with his hands in the air. She testified that as Cox drove away the wheels of his car passed over Watkins' feet. The state and defense did not interrogate Cox on this point. Mrs. Watkins said she knew Ralph did not have a gun.

Mrs. Letha Simms, defense witness, corroborated Mrs. Watkins' testimony, except she said the shots were fired in quick succession instead of a pause between the second and third shots. Charles O. Duenkel of G. C. Malone funeral home testified as to the location of the bullets and said that Watkins' feet did not show any signs which would indicate they had been run over by a car.

Tells of Letters
W. W. Shore of Houston and H. E. Gandy of Pampa testified as to the good character of the defendant.

Mr. Altman stated that letters from Watkins to his daughter had been sent him at his address and that he had kept them. He said he begged his daughter not to write to Watkins. When he got the last letters directed by Watkins to his daughter, he told her to come to Pampa.

Altman said that when he visited in Watkins' bedroom, he saw a gun sticking out from under the pillow. Answering a question directed by Curtis Douglas, special prosecutor, he denied that he had urged Cox to kill Watkins.

W. J. Turpin, former city policeman, said that he had known Watkins two years, and that he believed Watkins would carry out a threat. He stated that he caught Watkins stealing pipe and started to arrest him but he escaped. He said he shot the rear end of Watkins' car full of holes as he drove away. Indictments charging Watkins with theft of pipe were read to the jury by the defense.

"Jake" Dance to Be Held Later

The benefit ball for "jake" paralysis victims, scheduled to be held at the Pla-Mor Friday night, was postponed until Friday night, May 23, according to Jack C. Rogers, manager of the Pla-Mor and sponsor of the dance. The dance was postponed in order to allow the sponsors time to sell more tickets, Rogers said. Proceeds of the ball will be used to provide for poverty-stricken victims of "jake" paralysis now living here. It was decided to hold the dance when the Salvation Army officers announced they could not care for all the cripples. County officials also approved the fundraising scheme. They stated that sooner or later the county would have to provide for them if other arrangements were not made.

C. & O. W. Service Continues Though Washouts Occur

Washouts at several points on the C. & O. W. line caused by the recent heavy rains, has not resulted in any suspension of service, according to L. W. Klein. Some bridges are unsafe, but extra gangs are at work and material has been sent

Why Hunt for MATTRESS VALUE in a Wilderness of Prices?

Ask to see Beautyrest, the standard for comfort, beauty and value.

MATTRESSES as low as five dollars! As high as a hundred dollars! Dozens of prices in between! So confusing... until you have seen the Beautyrest.

Feel its springy buoyancy yield gently to every change of position. Compare with others! You will discover why Beautyrest is America's standard... why it has been the choice of a million homes.

And this advantage too! Beautyrest is sold at one unvaried price wherever and whenever you buy. No need to wait for sales. No tiresome seeking for a lower price. And volume production makes the steadfast price economical for you!

Surpassing comfort! Reliable price! You, too, will extol Beautyrest as the most extraordinary value! Simmons Beautyrest Mattress, $39.50.

Beautyrest's supreme comfort results from small springy inner coils... deep restful layers of high-grade felt upholstery. This scientific construction, duplicated in no other mattress, explains why Beautyrest serves you better.

Beautyrest means wonderfully restful sleep. Its standard price, which volume production makes low for you, assures you utmost value. In dainty colors to blend with your other bedroom fittings.

A Stunt Worthwhile

Come and see it. A Ford car which has been loaned us through the courtesy of the Rose Motor Co. placed on top of a Simmons Ace Spring and a Beautyrest Mattress and left there for five days and nights then see the mattress and spring afterwards.

Beautyrest Mattresses have over eight hundred coil springs. Visit our store and see the test with your own eyes.

The famous Deep Sleep Simmons spring filled mattresses will also be on display together with a complete line of Simmons Steel Beds, day beds and baby beds.

Pampa Man Gets Patent on Elevator

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14.—Among the patents issued this week by the United States patent office is one granted to William A. Hughes of Pampa, Texas, on an improved fluid elevator. A total of 1,020 patents comprised this week's issue, one of the heaviest on record.

The invention, according to Clarence A. O'Brien, local patent attorney, is for use in conjunction with oil and water wells. Fluid under pressure is utilized to lift the liquid column in the eduction pipe.

Hughes has devised a packing about the inner well casing which prevents the fluid in the eduction pipe from coming into contact with the liquid below the packer, thus preventing the disturbance of the sand and causing back pressure.

Mrs. W. E. Coffee visited in Amarillo yesterday.

A. Denebeim of Kansas City is visiting his daughter, Mrs. August A. Gordon, his son, J. J. Denebeim, and their families.

H. G. Twiford is improving, after a week's serious illness at his home.

Spring Opening of Fountain to Be Held by City Drug Store

The City Drug Store will hold the formal spring opening of its fountain tomorrow. Free ice cream will be given to all children when accompanied by parents. Plans have been completed to care for a large number of people during the day.

As a special fountain treat they are featuring a Jumbo Soda, introduced in Pampa last year by the City Drug Store.

W. F. Cretney, druggist and manager, in speaking of the opening Thursday, said, "We want to have the opportunity to show the results of the emphasis we have always placed on courteous service at our store." Mr. Cretney has been with the store here since January first this year.

Other employees of the store are V. E. Keahey, druggist; Clyde Oswald, in charge of decorations; I. Draper, head soda man; and Miss Vela Chaffin, cashier.

All ice cream sold by the City Drug Store is manufactured by the Gray County Creamery in its new plant. From time to time special delicious new kinds of cream are offered by this creamery through the City Drug Store and at other fountains.

Milk for the fountain drinks is furnished by the Taylor Farm Dairy, who are now supplying the public both pasteurized and raw milk. A formal opening of their new plant will be announced soon.

BY ROBBINS COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The microphone has effected a noticeable change in the movie-hero market by placing a premium on brains. Or maybe it's the type of story the screen is favoring at present.

Anyway, the masculine movie idol who once could palpitate a thousand feminine hearts with one flashing-tooth-paste smile as he paused for a moment of romance in his brashly physical progress toward conquest of the girl, now finds the old weapon only a side-issue, desirable of course, but not essential. Nor is it absolutely necessary, as it seemed of yore, that he expose his sinewy torso, through the remnants of a shirt, after his valiant and victorious struggle with the villain in the last reel.

Juveniles like Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Charlie Farrell continue to attract staggering fan mail by the appeal of their youth and enthusiasm, but the leading men who have come to the fore most decisively in talkies are of another school—clever, forceful, mature shrewd and intellectual.

They are men like William Powell, Clive Brook, embodiments of savvy and savior-faire, human characters who attack their problems through mental rather than physical processes; like Fredric March and Edmund Lowe and Warner Baxter; like Ronald Colman, whose dashing deeds are tempered with the spice of sophistication.

Uncanned Dramas

Alone in a dark studio projection room sits a nervously expectant group—a girl, her elderly parents, a young man.

They talk little, and that little nervously. They watch the screen. They hear suddenly the low hum of a motor behind them. Instantly the image of the girl is on the screen, before it momentarily a sign labeled: "Sound test, Miss X."

The image sings, not badly, certainly not well. Flashes "Silent test, Miss X." The image smiles uncertainly, looks this way, that way, straight ahead. The screen goes dark again.

Awkwardly she four file out. The parents, the young man, are deeply optimistic. The girl, white-faced, choking back tears, is trying to force a smile.

Russell Ready for Blindfolded Auto Drive and Shopping Tour to Be Made Tomorrow at 4 o'Clock

A large crowd is expected to gather at the Pampa Drug company No. 1 tomorrow at 4 p. m., where Billy Russell, youthful exponent of second sight vision, will be blindfolded in full view of the public with a 10-ply carefully inspected bandage. Without violating traffic regulations and cautious of every oncoming vehicle, Russell will drive to several local stores where he will further mystify the skeptical by going shopping.

Chooses New Chevrolet
Russell states that it is due to the unusual braking system and ease of handling of the new Chevrolet that he selected a new Chevrolet coach for his unique demonstration.

After being blindfolded at Pampa Drug at 4 p. m., Russell will make his way, driving alone, to the Pampa Furniture company at 4:10, where he will inquire regarding a special test and display of Simmons' springs, beds and mattresses in their windows. After leaving the Pampa Furniture company, the blindfolded driver will stop at the Rex theatre at 4:15. Of course he will not be blindfolded when he attends the showing of Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee" with Conrad Nagel and Chester Morris. Russell states that this is an exceptional picture and that due to large crowds he was unable to gain admittance to the world premier of this picture while in Hollywood. To the amazement of many, Russell will then drive to Fisher Body shop at 4:20 where he will congratulate them on their work, especially painting, top repairing, and auto reconstruction. He will later make his way from the Fisher Body shop to the Empire Cafe.

To Visit Chiropractor
Arriving at the Empire Cafe at 4:25, the blindfolded driver will enter to order a meal from the Empire's menu. As Russell will be unable to eat at that time due to his entire head being sealed with bandages, he will do so later. He will next be greeted by Drs. Higginbotham and Binion, chiropractors in the Wynne building, at 4:30, who will make an appointment with Russell to give him a chiropractic treatment at the completion of his demonstration. After making an appointment with Drs. Higginbotham and Binion, the blindfolded driver will make his way several blocks to Montgomery and Ward.

To Give Groceries Away
At the Montgomery and Ward store at 4:35, Russell will go in to make a purchase from among their well known values. The blindfolded driver will inquire regarding Ward's Midweek surprise special on display Thursday, before going to the Oil Belt grocery, 115 West Kingsmill, at 4:40. At the Oil Belt grocery, Russell will purchase groceries which he will present to some spectator. After leaving this grocery, the blindfolded driver will visit the Crystal Palace confectionery. When he arrives there at 4:45, he will be presented some of their candy and chocolates, which he will present some representative of the younger generation.

Carries Insurance
Russell has driven through many cities of the west and states that he has never had an accident. However, Russell is a great believer in insurance and carries coverage which protects his "blind drives." He will visit the Panhandle Insurance Agency at 4:50, and will inquire regarding another special policy on his demonstration. After leaving the Panhandle Insurance Agency the "blind driver" will make his way to his final stop, the new location of the Taylor Farm Dairy at 5 p. m. He will remain there a few minutes to break his tiresome strain and to drink a glass of their pasteurized milk.

Will Explain Ability
At the completion of his demonstration at the Culbertson-Small Chevrolet company at 5:10, Russell will explain his ability in a talk, will again present the bandage for examination by the public, and will answer questions.

Stage Cast in Picture Starring Norma Shearer

Perhaps the only 100 per cent stage supporting cast assembled for a motion picture appears with Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talking picture, which will be shown Thursday and Friday at the Rex theatre.

In this adaptation of a story by Ursula Parrott, which Robert Z. Leonard directed for the screen, Chester Morris, one of the most stage before coming into pictures, plays opposite the star, Morris, who crashed into film fame in "Alibi" was last seen on the stage in "Whispering Friends" and "Past Life."

Robert Montgomery, who plays the role of the lover, was brought from the stage, where he was a favorite juvenile, to make his movie debut in "So This Is College" and recently played opposite Miss Shearer in "Their Own Desire." Conrad Nagel, while identified with the screen for some time, has an extensive stage background, this experience equipping him for his brilliant talkie career.

Zelda Sears, who plays the part of the housekeeper, is one of the stage's best-known playwrights and actresses, having written such plays as "The Clinging Vine" and "Undertow." Tyler Brooke is noted as a stage comedian and Florence Eldridge, Mary Moran, Helene Millard, George Irving, Helen Johnson, and Robert Elliott all are well-known to theatre audiences.

Miss Shearer, contrary to general belief because of her splendid reading of dialogue lines, never was on the stage, having gone directly into motion pictures after finishing her education in schools of Montreal, Canada.

PUBLIC FORUM

Editor, The News:
Noticed your editorial in The News several days ago regarding the naming of our ward schools. I am heartily in favor of it, but may I suggest that in doing this we keep in mind our own Texas heroes such as Sam Houston, David Crockett, Burnett, Fannin, Travis, Stephen Austin, Bowie or Milam, and then there is Mrs. Kirby, who is called the Mother and founder of our Texas University.

The late Mr. Foster of New York gave Pampa the plot of ground for the first school house, (best we forget).

Our national heroes have many, many schools named for them, especially throughout the North, so let us keep in mind the men who helped to make our beloved state what it is today.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Joe M. Smith

Rhymed Report of Recent Meeting Here Is Written by Tulia Woman

The following rhymed report of the annual convention of the Seventh district of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs in Pampa, Texas, was written by Mrs. T. J. Brown of Tulia, chairman of the literary department extension of the district, and sent to Mrs. Tom Clayton a few days ago:

The invitation read thus and so, "Mr. and Mrs. Pampa and Miss Pampa also."

And all the little Pampas shouted in glee, "Come to Pampa, you'll happy be, 'Our welcome around you we'll extend; 'Come to Pampa, the City of Flowing Gold."

In 1930, apple blossom time We reached the city in a sunny clime. Flags were waving bright and new, Giving a welcome, royal and true, A welcome again made manifold, In Pampa, the City of Flowing Gold.

Wednesday, board luncheon so fine We made to describe, no way to define. Beautiful flowers made a lovely theme, And the ice course, a fairy-like dream. The beauty of it can never be told, In Pampa, the City of Flowing Gold.

Business called and away we went; We soon found out what it all meant. All had a chance to talk about their work; Each did her share, no one did shrink. Many things were talked about and in Pampa, the City of Flowing Gold.

The ride to the oil fields was taken by many, But no one invested, no, not any. So back we hied to the Oriental tea; There the receiving line was wonderful to see; Here lovely gowns, lovely to behold, All in Pampa, the City of Flowing Gold.

Here softened lights and music rare, Here spring blossoms were seen everywhere. Pampas flowers in a huge block of red, Where pale green sherbet shone in the bowl. O, this was most beautiful to behold, In Pampa, the City of Flowing Gold.

Fine arts evening ended the perfect day. The beauty of this words will not convey. Music, readings, pageantry, portrayal of the past, "Under Six Flags" was given at last; This pageant was most beautiful to behold, All in Pampa, the City of Flowing Gold.

Thursday was a day among all days. Programs were filled without delays. A welcome to the city where no days were found, A welcoming atmosphere circles around. Of many nice things we were so often told, In Pampa, the City of Flowing Gold.

Educational reports were given by and by, For a dean in high school we must say. High schools and colleges have a jazzy atmosphere, And a dean on the scene must now appear.

On and on the speaker talked 'till now we know. That for this a sentiment will grow. Higher education in a woman's sphere Was proven to be without limit here. We talk of woman's sphere as if it had limit;

There's no birth or death without a woman in it. So filing to the winds the idea of the past. That woman needn't know—that is gone at last.

"Law Observance" by Senator Small— But we all knew this; yes, knew it all. Politicians have ideas lofty and high;

They are never known to cheat or lie. Their platform is broad and on the square; They seek your vote, men and ladies fair.

Apple blossom time in pink and green. Midst this wonderful beauty everywhere seen. The president's table in this bower was found.

Music, song of birds, laughter, beautiful sound— Such a glorious atmosphere was in the air. It was the president's honor everywhere.

President's evening was quite an affair. Again, flowers, music, and speeches rare. "An Awakened Public Sentiment" was president's theme, "Better Homes" was the plea. Too busy it does seem, Too busy to see that home is all in all— "Home, rainbow of hopes, is not beyond recall.

To our state and district presidents all honor is due; We bow to you in the passing review. You forget all shadows with a smile,

You help to make our work more worth while. Your work will live through endless ages. A golden light on T. F. W. C.'s pages.

The memorial services were beautiful but sad. Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Taylor are with angels glad. Some day we'll meet with you to part never more. Some day we'll meet and then we'll understand The joy of the touch of the vanished hand.

To Pampa! You met us with a smile, 'Twas pleasing to the one from many a mile. You did the honors in a whole-hearted way; We'll remember it forever and a day.

There are no keys to your city, we are told.

Thank you, Pampa, the City of Flowing Gold.

To Memphis we'll go in 1931. They promised us joy and a little fun. They won our hearts and there we'll go. In the spring time, when all hearts are aglow.

But we'll not forget the things we were told, In Pampa, the City of Flowing Gold.

Texas Census Reports Corpus Christi, 27,569, increase 17.9%, or 182 per cent.

Tyler, 17,089, increase 5,004, increase 18, or 41.4 per cent. South Carolina led the nation in active spindle hours during March, with a total of 1,779,906,877.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dyer and Miss Mollie LeFors have returned from a visit of several days in Tonkawa and Oklahoma City.

About New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK
NEW YORK—New York's police headquarters is a proving ground for big executives.

The latest to emerge a seasoned commander of men is Grover Aloysius Whalen, the iron-jawed beau d'etat, who was borrowed from a department store to be police commissioner.

When, and if, the immaculate Mr. Whalen returns to his post as general manager of that store, he will give up a $10,000 a year job supposedly to earn again his reputed salary of $100,000 a year.

And he will join the list of those who have stepped out of the commissioner's office to bigger things, a list that includes nine men still living.

COMMANDANTS

These are:
George C. McLaughlin, who resigned to head a telegraph company and who now is a Brooklyn banker.
Arthur Woods, who was a rough rider with Theodore Roosevelt, the only police commissioner to become president; Woods is in charge of the Rockefeller's Manhattan real estate developments.

William McAdoo, chief magistrate of New York City.
James C. Crosey, local supreme court judge.

William F. Baker, who operated his own trucking business before he retired to own the Philadelphia National League baseball club.

Richard Enright, head of a private detective agency.

And John R. Voorhis, the grand old man of Tammany, who at the age of 100 years antedates them all and is president of the powerful board of elections.

The other two—Theodore A. Bingham and Douglas I. McKay—already had distinguished themselves as army officers before they headed the police army and both now are retired.

POLITENESS PERSONIFIED

Grover Whalen has risen on his quiet. He gave up his small ash-trucking business to steer Mayor John F. Hylan's first campaign. Hylan appointed him his secretary and then commissioner of plant and structures.

It was typical of Whalen that he promptly issued a courtesy decree that men were not to be seated in the women's cabins of municipal ferryboats while women were standing. He reorganized the municipal bus lines and established the city radio station, WNYC.

From these duties he resigned in 1924 to become assistant to Rodman Wanamaker, the merchant, but to remain, as chairman of the mayor's committee for the reception of distinguished guests, the door to the American continent.

He greeted Lindbergh, Queen Marie, Gertrude Ederle and more than a dozen other guests of rank or achievement. He personified the epitome of gallantry, dress and correct usage.

Then, December 27, 1928, he was sworn in as police commissioner.

Immediately he took up the Broadway traffic tangle with a combination of showmanship and executive enterprise. He raided speakeasies in a gust of whirlwind activity. He formed a citizens' committee on crime prevention. He ordered uniform caps and dusters for all taxi drivers. He shook up the police department until the older veterans had been retired.

The New York police force is an army of 18,599 men, including 1,788 officers, and at its head, as when Whalen himself directed the force that dispersed the communists in Union square, rides a general in the person of its commissioner.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—Random notes in a Washington Day Book:

A glance at Ruth Hanna McCormick's record as a member of congress will reveal that she relied more on other methods to strengthen her political fences than her office as representative-at-large from Illinois.

Since the slim, dynamic daughter of Mark Hanna took her seat in the house of representatives in the 71st congress, beginning with the convening of the special session to consider farm relief and tariff revision on April 15, 1929, the Congressional Record credits her with having:

Introduced a total of 20 pension and claims bills.

Presented seven petitions and memorials to the house from constituents.

Insertion in the appendix of the Congressional Record of one speech delivered by her in Illinois on the subject of farm relief.

And no speeches on the floor of the house.

Elegant

Now that the pink-whiskered, sartorially elegant J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois has been chosen by the Democrats of that state to oppose Mrs. McCormick, Washington is talking of the days when "Ham" was a senator before.

Great is the revival of stories on the hill that concern the resplendent Lewis.

There is the one, for example, of how he was mistaken for the headwaiter in one of Washington's most popular restaurants by a woman.

"Ham," with great pomp and formality, conducted the woman to a table and handed her a menu.

"What would you suggest for dinner?" she asked.

"Madam," "Ham" replied in most gallant fashion and bowing gracefully, "If I were not a married man I would suggest we dine together."

Whereupon he turned and walked to his own table.

Elevation to a seat in the senate from the house of representatives has had little effect on tall Johnny Robison of Kentucky.

At 8 o'clock the other evening, unaccompanied, he was observed in a "one-arm" lunch room on Pennsylvania avenue within the shadow of the treasury.

The senator stood at the buffet counter, rubbing elbows with a messenger boy and a taxi driver until his order was filled. And he was eating, by the way, boiled halibut and mashed potatoes.

A "Who's Who in the National Capital," recently issued, failed to include the name of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, and purposely.

Only those people in Washington who have well-defined business or political connections were named. The editors of the volume could find neither for the wife of the president.

The job of being First Lady of the Land, then, must be a mythical title after all.

GAMBLERS WANTED

You who are of a speculative turn of mind have often wished that you had money enough to spare to speculate in OIL ROYALTIES but your finances were too limited to allow you to do so.

Today that opportunity is offered you through the resale of a limited number of units in the

"Talley Trust"

The "TALLEY TRUST" owns a one-half royalty under the one hundred sixty acres covered by TALLEY ADDITION. Each unit participates in a full one-half royalty of all proceeds of oil or gas produced and saved from this tract.

A limited number of these units have been assigned to us for resale at fifty ($50) dollars each from the fortunate buyers of lots in Talley Addition.

Latest reports from the Cockerell-McIlroy Oil Company's Castleberry well number ten, which is a direct offset at the south west corner of Talley Addition show two thousand feet of oil in the hole and barely scratched the pay. This well looks good for at least 500 barrels. An offset well will be drilled shortly on Talley Addition.

With sixteen such wells producing in Talley Addition, these units could easily pay $1.00 per day to each unit holder. Values on royalties are estimated on a cash value basis on what they will earn in three years. This estimate would establish a value of $1,095 per unit, estimated on the above figures.

We honestly believe that the above figures are distinctly within the range of possibilities, and while we believe the above to be true, and are quoting from the best obtainable sources, yet we do not make the above statements as facts and assume no liability in making the above statements.

If interested, see us at once as the supply is limited and we believe that after this allotment is exhausted, that they will at once go to at least one hundred dollars each or higher. Terms may be arranged. Watch the paper for further reports on well.
