Campaign To Reduce Wheat Acreage To Be Re-Opened

By OTHER WRITERS
J. C. PHILLIPS in Berger Herald—It is well for a community of any kind, or group of communities, to take stock occasionally. What is needed is a body of fair-minded, progressive men, determined to put where they belong, and to view with fair perspective all disruptive issues. What is needed is constructive effort. Only a group of men highly intelligent and broadminded is competent to tackle the job. There was such a group at the junior chamber breakfast. Those men are interested. They may go a long way for the benefit of Berger.

C. G. MILLER in Wheeler Times—Waste no time in worry which gets nowhere, but confesses everything in gray hairs and wrinkles. And don't mortgage present happiness to pay for a future which may never happen. Don't work so hard that you forget how to play, nor play so hard that you aren't fit to work. Don't blow off all your steam before fifty and be burned out for twenty years after. Invest wisely in amusement, as you would in stocks and bonds. Don't die too soon, nor live too long.

J. M. NOBLE in Canadian Record—Honor, integrity, truthfulness, diligence, thrift, sobriety, modesty, may be old fashioned virtues, but they are still the only rules of life which can lead to real greatness.

T. A. LANDERS in McLean News—The Young Democrats, in their convention at Lubbock a few weeks ago, are to be commended upon their efforts to have the state and local governments reorganized along modern lines. Our president has cut away lots of useless things in the national government and more reforms are promised. We could do with some improvements nearer home, bringing things down to automobile days and getting away from stagecoach methods.

R. B. HAYNES in Miami Chief—People who have an idea that the Panhandle of Texas is shy on birds should visit the basement of Panhandle Plains Historical society at Canyon and see the collection of 99 different kinds of birds. This collection was made last year by Kenneth Carlander, then a graduate of Canyon high school and now a freshman at the University of Minnesota.

SAM BRASWELL in Clarendon News—What The News would like to see, however, is a determination on the part of working members of all conventions to weed out of official connection every man who doesn't think enough of himself, his profession or vocation, or his organization to keep himself in trim for business and to refrain from acting the hog and the boor under any condition. Happily these hogs are not in the majority—the better element holds the balance of power—and they ought to use it for decency and for the good of whatever order they belong to.

W. MAX WADE in Groom News—Scientific study of the habits of wasps resulted in the production of most of our paper. They learned that the light and tough fiber of the wasp nest was made by the wasp chewing up pieces of wood. After this discovery, paper was produced.

FARMERS WHO SIGN TO GET ALL PAYMENTS

13 MILLION ACRES OF WHEAT LAND TO BE AFFECTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—C. C. Davis, farm administrator, said today the campaign of last fall to sign up wheat growers in a compact to reduce production would be reopened.

The action was taken, Davis said, in response to a widespread demand of farmers who did not sign last year. "The reopening, which applies to approximately 13,000,000 acres of uncontracted normal wheat land, follows many requests for such action from growers in practically all of the wheat growing states," Davis explained.

He added that the move was not taken because the 1933 campaign had not accomplished the 15 per cent reduction agreed to in the international wheat agreement. Only after the new campaign closes, the percentage of abandonment is determined, and acreage of spring wheat seeded is known can the exact reduction be determined, Davis said.

Farmers who sign up during the coming campaign will receive the second benefit payment of eight cents a bushel scheduled to go to 1933 signers, and the 1934 and 1935 adjustment payments.

Davis described the wheat reduction plan as "a measure of crop insurance and price insurance." He said it would protect farmers to the extent of their allotment payment against possible crop failure this year and if the prices of things farmers buy increase faster than the price of wheat, benefit payments also will advance.

The parity price achieved by making the benefit payments applies to the farmer's allotment, which is 54 per cent of the average production for the base period.

Troop 14, of which W. F. G. Stein, scoutmaster, has made the best record to date in the Boy Scout canvass for clothing and house furnishings for the needy families of the community.

The troop, affiliated with the Sam Houston school, worked hard Saturday morning to remind citizens of articles it obtained were 85 pairs of shoes. There also were many utensils and some dishes, in addition to clothing.

All troops are urged by Executive C. A. Clark to continue their work until every Pampa resident has an opportunity to contribute to the drive urged by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Many of the Scouts were to work after school today.

Troop 14 knocked on doors Saturday morning to remind citizens of the canvass, then called in the afternoon to get the articles selected. The troop arranged for a truck and planned its work carefully in advance.

Need for clothing for school children is especially felt at this time, although all articles are welcomed.

GERALD PECK IS SLAIN IN SOUTH TEXAS

SEGUIN, Texas, Feb. 26 (AP)—A disgruntled 67-year-old farmer today shot and killed Gerald W. Peck of Chicago, president of the Texas Hydro-Electric company, and wounded A. J. Wirtz, former Texas state senator, at a directors meeting here.

Tom Holloman, who owned considerable property near Seguin, walked up to the room where the directors met, fired a blank at Peck and tried to shoot Wirtz, H. S. Hunt of Jackson, Mich., and S. G. Chamberlain of San Antonio, other members of the board, but was overpowered.

Holloman struck Wirtz over the head during the scuffle, inflicting a severe gash. Hunt and Chamberlain aided in subduing the assailant and turned him over to the sheriff's office. Holloman was charged with murder. He was a former United States marshal.

The shooting arose over a five-year-old argument over monetary settlement of construction of a dam on the Gaudaluppe river. The company had flooded Holloman's land and he went to court for retribution. A temporary settlement for about $3,000 was made two years ago.

Holloman had again broached the subject of the water damage while talking to Peck in Wirtz's office this morning. He described the layout of the property, owned the dam, and contended that he should be paid.

"I thought it was all over and the conversation was ended," Wirtz said. "I thought Mr. Holloman had decided to leave the office."

"He turned toward the door, then wheeled around and began shooting."

Peck is survived by his widow, a daughter about 11 years old and two sons, one about three and the other about a year old.

The body will be sent to Chicago for burial.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (AP)—Gerald W. Peck, Chicago financier and investment banker who was slain in Seguin, Tex., today was the grandson of George W. Peck, Sr., once the governor of Wisconsin and the author of "Peck's Bad Boy."

ADMINISTRATION SENATOR WOULD RESTORE SPANISH WAR VETERANS TO BENEFIT ROLLS IN PROPOSAL

Cotton Bill Changed To Provide Sale of More Bales

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The senate administration forces today further liberalized their compromise proposal on veterans' benefits by broadening it to include Spanish war veterans.

The revised proposal was offered by Senator Byrnes (D. S. C.) in charge of the independent offices bill for the administration forces, as a counter proposition to a more liberal one by Senators Steiwer (R. Ore.) and McCarran (D. Nev.).

Under certain conditions, the Byrnes proposal would restore to the rolls Spanish war veterans eliminated by the economy act, with a grant of 75 per cent of their former pay.

The Steiwer-McCarran proposal would provide a 90 per cent payment.

The house agriculture committee amended the Bankhead bill for compulsory cotton control to provide for sale of 10,000,000 bales instead of 9,500,000 tax free this year.

The committee also changed the tax from 75 to 50 per cent of market value.

Solons Decide To Issue 5 Millions In Relief Bonds

PERSONNEL OF RELIEF GROUP IS UNCHANGED

BOTH HOUSES ARE DUE TO AGREE TUESDAY ON AMOUNT

AUSTIN, Feb. 26 (AP)—Issuance of $5,000,000 additional state securities for relief of the destitute was agreed upon today by the conference committee appointed to adjust differences between the house and senate. The house voted issuance of $4,000,000 in additional bonds and the senate had proposed $4,500,000.

All other disagreements between the houses were adjusted by the committee. It planned to meet tonight to adopt its formal report, which cannot be submitted to the legislature for action until tomorrow.

Unable to agree on a modified plan for altering the set-up of the state relief commission, the committee decided not to change its personnel. A proposal was discussed to permit the appointive powers to remove members with unanimous agreement.

The committee declined to discuss reinstatement of the proposed ten per cent tax on horse race wagering.

A provision inserted by the senate, which would have required the commission to budget expenditures of the funds so they would last until February 1, 1935, was modified to express only a legislative intent to that effect.

John D. McCall, Dallas bond attorney, was invited to come to Austin to examine the bill before it is submitted to the houses for adoption.

URGES SOLONS TO FORM NEW FEDERAL BODY

WIRES, CABLES, RADIO WOULD BE UNDER COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt, in a special message to congress today, recommended creation of a federal communications commission to take authority over wires, cables and radio.

"It is my thought," said the president, "that a new commission such as I suggest might well be organized this year by transferring the present authority of controlling communications of the radio commission and the interstate commerce commission."

"The senate and house interstate commerce committees have been studying this problem for several weeks and early action is expected by leaders.

The message of the president follows: "To the congress: "I have long felt that for the sake of clarity and effectiveness the relationship of the federal government to certain services known as utilities should be divided into three fields—transportation, power, and communication."

"The problems of transportation are vested in the interstate commerce commission, and the problems of power, its development, transmission, and distribution, in the federal power commission.

"In the field of communication, however, there is today no single government agency charged with broad authority.

"The congress has vested certain authority over certain parts of communication in the interstate commerce commission and there is, in addition, the agency known as the federal radio commission.

"I recommend that the congress create a new agency to be known as the federal communications commission, such agency to be vested with authority now lying in the federal radio commission and with such authority over communications as now lies with the interstate commerce commission—the services affected to be all of those which rely on wires, cables or radio as a means of transmission.

"It was my thought that a new commission such as I suggest might well be organized this year by transferring the present authority for the control of communications of the radio commission and the interstate commerce commission.

PANHANDLE HAS COLDEST SPELL OF '34 SEASON

Borger and Amarillo Report Mercury Is Six Above

By The Associated Press
MOST Texans awoke today in the coldest weather of the year and the weatherman's charts forecast no relief until tomorrow.

The north wind rolled across the broad expanses of Texas most of the week-end and laid siege to every portion of the state except the Gulf coast. Temperatures in many cities were the lowest since Feb. 2, 1933, when near-zero temperatures were recorded.

Borger and Amarillo reported minimums of six degrees last night but with the dawn they began to rise slowly. The mercury dropped to 8 at Pampa. Vernon had a temperature of ten, the coldest of the winter. It was 4 above at Texline.

The coldest weather in nearly 13 months visited Wichita Falls, where the lowest was 16. Skies were clearing after the dreary week-end and the mercury was rising. Tyler also had 16 degrees.

The strong north wind forced Abilene thermometers down to 17 overnight and snow fell early today. The minimum overnight temperature at Dallas was 22 but in an hour from 7 a. m. to 8 a. m., the weather bureau said there was a 2-degree drop.

Other minimum temperatures: San Angelo 18, Paris 17, Denton 18, Fort Worth 22, Corsicana 24, Longview 25, Palestine and Austin 26, San Antonio 28, Houston 29, Port Arthur 32, Galveston 34, Corpus Christi 40, El Paso 42, Brownsville 52.

President Ernest Martin Hopkins asked the grief-stricken undergraduates to "carry on" their activities in order not to heighten the effect of the accident.

RETAIL CODE TO BE TALKED HERE TONIGHT

Local Council Is Required as Managing Unit of Federal Merchandizing Authority.

Merchants will be expected to give closer attention to the national retail code after a general meeting tonight in the city auditorium at 7:30 o'clock.

All business men who handle clothing, furniture, dry goods, hardware, variety goods, mail orders, music, shoes, and such lines are expected to be present.

The session will be that of the Local Retail Trade council, which is required under the federal code. Compliance with the code will entitle a merchant to the new blue eagle which will be substituted for the old.

Reports of the state directors meeting in Fort Worth and the regional conference in Tulsa last week will be made at the noon luncheon of the Junior chamber of commerce tomorrow. A musical program will be in charge of Bob Knox of the Civic committee.

President Clarence Kennedy, William T. Fraser, Bob Knox and Jack Dunn, accompanied by Mont Wolford of Borger, attend the state meeting Wednesday and Thursday. They drove to Tulsa where they were joined by Dr. R. M. Johnson and Frank Hill.

Gas Resolution Ruled Out

Several representatives from the Panhandle area asserted it was the first move in a plan to repeal the "sour gas" passed at a previous session of this legislature. They said most of the gas being blown into the air was sour gas and unfit for use for light and fuel purposes. The resolution called on all branches of the industry to organize to stop "the wanton wastage of millions of cubic feet of gas."

Van Zandt said the resolution was offered as a "warning to the gas industry to put its house in order."

Condemnation of Wastage Cited as Warning to Gas Industry to Clean up.

AUSTIN, Feb. 26 (AP)—Appointment of a committee to investigate reported wastage of gas in the Panhandle and other gas fields was proposed in a resolution offered today in the Texas house by Representative Olin Van Zandt of Tloga.

It was ruled out on a point of order that time for consideration of resolutions had expired.

New City Map Is Being Prepared

A new city map, with corrections, additions of new street names, location of highway 33 through south Pampa, and other data to bring it up to date is being prepared by City Manager C. L. Stine.

Because of duplications of street names, the city commission recently changed Malone to Osborne, Davis to Rose, and Talley to McCullough, in the town proper. Bringing in of additions resulted in confusion of names. The streets between Russell and Frost, one block north of the high school, was named Aft, and that between Somerville and Gray, south from Brown avenue, was named Ash.

Pioneer Lawyer Dies Quickly In Amarillo Court

AMARILLO, Feb. 26 (AP)—E. E. Diggs, 77, pioneer Chidress attorney and republican leader, collapsed while pleading a case before the seventh court of civil appeals here today, and died before he could be removed from the county court room.

The aged attorney had been addressing the court about 10 minutes when he collapsed and sank into a chair. He died a moment later from what physicians described as cerebral hemorrhage. Friends said he only recently had recovered from an attack of influenza.

Diggs had lived in Chidress more than 40 years, and formerly was associated with District Judge A. J. Fires for more than 30 years in the practice of law. He was once the republican candidate for congress from the eighteenth district. The body will be sent to Chidress late today.

CWA NEED STILL VERY OBVIOUS: The CWA program was intended to prevent repetition of "another hard winter." This it has done. But an unemployed man can be mighty hungry in summer.

Pampa has hundreds of men who can look to no industries to give them immediate employment. Pampa has, in fact, many men this community likely will never need under prorated oil development.

And the plain fact that this enormously expensive CWA program can't go on forever isn't much comfort.

Putting men to work by the public works route costs a lot of money. But it at least gives us something definite in return—solid and lasting things, like buildings, roads, canals, airports and the like—to make the expenditure productive.

It does not seek to overcome a shortage of goods by calling on people to produce less and less of everything. It does not seek to invent a lot of nearly useless jobs.

It does not raise grave questions about the modification of our traditional system of industry and capital. It simply is a scheme whereby a lot of badly needed work can be done, a lot of jobless men be put to work, and a lot of idle capital can be put in motion.

After all, when you stop to think about it, there is enough to keep us all busy for generations to come. We talk of our idle men and our idle money—and all the while there are miserable slums to be replaced with decent homes, uncounted miles of roadway to be built, rivers to be harnessed and controlled, canals to be dug, power plants to be erected, public buildings to be put up...

...you could make out an almost endless list. We live in an enormous country which is blessed with every natural resource, we have an industrious and capable army of citizens eager to work, and the job of supplying ourselves with an abundance of the necessities and luxuries of life hardly has begun.

The greatest stumbling block under our republican form of government is that our wealth is so inequitably taxed that we cannot afford to do the things that nearly everyone would like to accomplish.

Millions are ready to work. Jobs that needs to be done are legion. We have such a productive soil and industry that we have to cut down our productivity so that everyone may have enough, if you can see through such a thing. The trouble is, not with the people but with the system—not of government, but of economics.

But it sometimes appears that if we ever abandon our stupidity in production and distribution, Uncle Sam will have to make it possible. And that's something that, in good democratic theory, he should not have to worry about.

ART STUDENTS AT LAST ARE TO HAVE LEAGUE COMPETITION: CANYON, Feb. 26.—For the first time in its history, the Texas Intercollegiate League is giving students of art a chance in the regional contests, and such students from 45 colleges will compete against each other at Canyon on April 20 and 21.

Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the art department of the State Teachers' college, will direct the art contest. She announces to contestants that any member school may enter one contestant in each of three events which are to draw in charcoal a group of still life objects, to paint in color with any medium, a group of still life objects, and to model in clay, wax, soap, or other material an animal or figure, the nature of which will be given out only at the hour of the contest.

Schools entering contestants should notify Miss Robinson, giving names of its contestants and event to be entered by April 14. Students will furnish their own materials, except easels and drawing boards.

The winners in the regional contests will be entitled to enter the state meet at Austin, May 3, 4, 5.

AUSTRIAN THRONE CLAIMANT TO BE CROWNED BY ARMY IS RUMOR

BY WADE WERNER, Associated Press Foreign Staff. (Copyright, 1934, By The Associated Press.) VIENNA, Feb. 26 (AP)—Troops of the fascist heimehr were marching to all sections of Austria today, and the increase of rumors was tremendous. The most sensational of these rumors was that they were preparing to meet Archduke Otto, claimant to the Austrian throne, at the Swiss border and escort him triumphantly to Vienna. Another, equally unsubstantiated, said 40,000 members of the heimehr were concentrating along the Austro-German border.

Both the foreign office and heimehr headquarters vigorously and indignantly denied these tales. The foreign office stated there was no concentration of armed men on either side of the Austro-German border.

A government spokesman said all these troop movements of the heimehr were really propaganda marches. The socialists have been crushed, he explained, and now the heimehr is following up its victory by parading its force in all provinces. He said it was hoped that in this way the heimehr may win popular support, especially among elements which previously were sympathetic to the nazis.

At the same time, from heimehr sources, came the private explanation that the fascist militia were being shifted away from their homes "for psychological reasons." It was said that troops from other provinces would command more respect than troops in which each member was known to the townspeople by his first name.

Roosevelt's Pup Eats Breakfast Of His Servants

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt has learned to his amusement that his newest dog—Winks—is a real go-getter. The Setter pup got into the breakfast room of the servants' quarters this morning and cleaned up every plate before he was discovered. Taking it with a laugh, the president remarked that the only reason the dog didn't drink the coffee was because it hadn't been poured. Winks was brought here by the president from Warm Springs, Ga., last fall. Mr. Roosevelt is considering what punishment to mete out. Two other Roosevelt dogs have been banished from the White House for biting visitors.

Pinchot To Run For Senator On Roosevelt Plank

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania today announced his candidacy for the United States senate on a republican "support Roosevelt" platform. The governor, a patient in the Leroy sanitarium, issued the following statement: "I am a candidate against David A. Reed for the United States senate. Reed as senator has run the errands and taken the orders of Mellon, the international bankers, and the steel interests long enough. He should be replaced by a man who will take his orders only from the people. "In this crisis republican Pennsylvania requires and deserves a Reed's place a republican senator who will work with the president to restore prosperity instead of snapping and snarling at his heels. DEATH IS INSTANTANEOUS TO EIGHT PERSONS IN AIR LINER

PLANE FOUND IN SNOW PASS AFTER SEARCH

VICTIMS RECOGNIZED BY JEWELRY AND CLOTHING

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 26. (AP)—The wreckage of a giant United Airline transport last Friday was so swift and sudden, line officials said today, that the eight persons who died never knew what happened.

The plane fell vertically, like a great ball of steel, and struck the ground with such force that the engine was imbedded in the ground up to the cabin.

"All the bodies were pushed forward," said Leon Cuddeback, assistant to Chief Pilot H. T. Lewis of United Air Lines. "The ship did not move after it struck the ground. There was no evidence of a crash. Death must have been instantaneous to all."

The dead:

Miss Mary Carter, stewardess, formerly of Omaha and Chattanooga, Tenn.

Lloyd Anderson, Cheyenne, pilot.

Eric G. Danielson, Cheyenne, copilot.

J. J. Sterling, mayor of Benton Harbor, Mich.

Marcellus Zinsmaster, Des Moines, Iowa.

Wald W. Berglund, Boone, Iowa.

Bert McLaughlin, Perry, Iowa.

E. L. Walker, Rock Springs, Wyo.

Missing since last Friday, shortly after it had taken off here for Cheyenne with five passengers and a crew of three, the transport was found wrecked in a snow-covered pass 20 miles east of here. The wreckage was sighted at dusk yesterday by a searching plane.

A rescue party of company officials which reached the scene through deep snow two hours later found the mangled bodies of the two pilots and the five passengers thrust into the forward end of the plane and prisoned by wreckage.

Only the body of the stewardess, Miss Carter, was intact. It lay on top of those of the others. Identification was possible only by jewelry and clothing.

Except for the wings, which were cracked, virtually every part of the craft was smashed. The tail hung like a boy's broken kite.

Several hours were required to extricate the bodies from the wreckage. They were carried two miles to the Lincoln highway, where ambulances brought them to this city.

The giant low-wing twin-engine liner, one of the latest developments in aircraft, went to its end within a mile of the airway beacon that shows the way through Parley's canyon, main air and land artery from Salt Lake valley to the east. But the beacon was obscured by a heavy snowstorm which swept the Wasatch mountains shortly before the approach and by heavy clouds that trailed for a mile below.

The plane had cleared the summit of the pass, and wrecked itself about three quarters of a mile below on the eastward slope.

BLOND GODDESS

A New Serial by HERBERT JENSEN

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame, Bill Langton, Janice Kent, and their worst enemy, the high priest of the savage Yucatan jungle tribe that has tried to kill all of them, are trapped in a jungle valley. The high priest is badly injured and helpless. But the rainy season is beginning, and soon the valley will be filled with water. Frank plans to float in a balsawood jacket down an underground river to the sea, and bring aid—if he is not drowned.

Chapter 22 THE START

"With luck," repeated Langton, "I can be back here and get you out. With a ship I could fly from the coast to here in twenty minutes."

He brought out the balsawood jacket, and for the time being, set it aside. He brought out two coconut shells, split and put together again and sealed with pitch.

Within them was a quantity of dried meat, matches, and — he smiled at the apparent incongruity of it—the matted pad of his book of traveler's checks. They could be used at the coast—if ever he got there.

The two coconut shells he slipped into a bit of fabric netting he had made for them. This arrangement could be tied to the jacket float.

He put on the crude device that was to keep him afloat—with luck—for the eight or ten hours he would be swept through the unknown cavern. Although the morning was not warm beads of perspiration gathered upon his face.

It was with a straining effort of will that he banished thoughts of the accidents that might happen to him in the darkness.

Would the river be like the waterfalls, rapids, or jagged submerged rocks to tear at him as he passed? Might not eddies sweep him into blind pockets where he would thrash his way about until exhaustion claimed him?

He walked down the trail to the stream's edge. Langton, straining at the tying of the last timbers of the raft, looked up startled. Janice, coils of fiber in her hands, approached from upstream. Puzzled, she looked at the crude girth of the balsawood jacket.

She said in a curious voice, "Frank, what is that? What do you intend?"

"Nothing doing, Frank — that's my job," said Langton quietly.

Frank's voice as he replied was level and brittle.

"Nothing you can say—or do, for that matter—will alter the plan, Billy. This is just a job I can do better than you can under the circumstances. We'll say no more about it!"

Janice made a gesture of appeal to Langton. Her face was pale beneath its tanned silkiness. "What is it, Billy? What is he going to do?"

"He's going to float down the cavern to the sea and get help. If a pop bottle made it, so can he, he thinks."

The girl put the palm of her hand to her mouth. Her eyes widened. The coils of fiber over her slim shoulder fell to the ground.

"No!" she whispered. "Oh, no . . . please!"

Frank stepped into the water. His face was set. "Billy," he began, turning to his friend, "before I start, I have a few suggestions—"

Janice splashed into the water beside him. Her hands caught him by the shoulders and she pulled at him until he faced her.

"You're not going!" she exclaimed breathlessly. "You can't! You shouldn't!" She tugged at him with little desperate jerks.

"Either Billy or I must. Please, Janice. Billy will explain. We haven't much time now, since the rain, I've—"

"You mustn't . . . either you or Billy. What do you think I am? What do you think I'd be if I let you go?" Her voice broke on a little note of hysteria. "The raft is nearly ready. We'll all go together. Why should one of us take risks for the others? The raft will support us all—"

COLORADO, TEXAS PREPARES TO ENTERTAIN LIONS CONVENTION

COLORADO, Feb. 26. —Annual convention of Lions International, district 2-T of Texas, to open here Monday, April 23, for a session of two days, will attract several hundred members of the service organization. Clubs at Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Pampa, Clarendon, El Paso, Hamlin and other cities in the district have already announced that representative delegations would attend.

Message received here today from Del W. Harrington of El Paso, district governor, expressed keen optimism in prospect for a successful convention. Harrington is to arrive in Colorado in advance of the convention opening for final conferences with committees from the best club as to plans for entertaining visitors.

An active membership of not less than 100 by time for the convention to open is goal announced by officials of the host club. Already there are 86 Colorado business and professional men listed on member ro-

455 Fishermen Drifting On Ice Floes in Caspian

MOSCOW, Feb. 26. (AP)—Facing death from drowning or exposure, 455 fishermen and 330 horses were drifting helpless on two separate ice floes in the Caspian sea today while an airplane from Moscow sped to their assistance.

A sudden rise in temperature yesterday caused the ice to break up, catching 400 men and 190 horses in the vicinity of Dolgiy island and 145 men and 140 horses near Kulai island on ice packs which rapidly were swept out to open sea.

Their plight was described as extremely perilous, because of a lack of food supplies and the fact that the ice upon which they were marooned was soft.

An airplane which left Moscow with food and medicines yesterday was due today in Astrakhan, a city at the mouth of the Volga river of the Caspian sea. From that point it was planned to conduct rescue operations.

Meanwhile, a government rescue commission was continuing efforts to find a way of saving 101 persons—including two little children and a number of women—who took

TEXAS TECH SCIENTISTS WILL LEAVE FOR MEXICO THURSDAY

LUBBOCK, Feb. 26. (AP)—Dr. Carl Seltzer, physical anthropologist on the staff of Harvard university, will be attached by the Cambridge Mass. institution to Texas Technological college's forthcoming scientific expedition into the Rio Yaqui sector of Sonora, Mexico. It was announced here by Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech.

Selected by Harvard's famed anthropologist, Dr. Ernest A. Hooten, Dr. Seltzer will leave Cambridge tomorrow and will arrive in Lubbock in time to join the party when it leaves Thursday morning. His addition to the expedition raises the total personnel to its maximum of seven.

Headed by Dr. William Curry Holden, Texas Tech's director of archaeological research, the college expedition will spend six weeks in an investigation of the life and habits of the Yaqui Indians, most interesting of aborigines of the North American continent and who have not yet been conquered by Spanish and Mexican governments in what today is the Republic of Mexico.

With the exception of a brief entry into the edge of the Yaqui territory in 1902 by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, curator of Smithsonian Institution,

Washington, no scientific expeditions have yet penetrated the eight Yaqui villages, which, independent of the rest of the world, are tucked away in the wild reaches of the lower Sonora country.

Research to be made by the expedition will include anthropological, medical, ethnobotanical, ornithological, archaeological, herpetological, and historical studies. Members also will delve into the religious, social, and economic phases of Yaqui existence.

Dr. Holden will do the archaeological and ethnological work, assisted by Bennie McWilliams, a senior in his college department; Dr. Chas. J. Wagner, Lubbock surgeon; the medical research; Dr. R. A. Suddhalter, Tech botanologist, the botanical work and Dr. Seltzer the physical anthropology. W. G. McMillan, Lubbock cardiologist and herpetologist, will study the bird and reptile life of the region and Chas. A. Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, will act as historian.

The party, traveling in one car and a truck loaded with supplies, will leave on March 1 and will return about April 15.

George Eiler of White Deer was in Pampa yesterday.

Three persons were killed and four injured, one seriously, today when the Pennsylvania flyer, the Dearborn, crashed into a truck at the main street crossing here. The locomotive was overturned and seven cars derailed.

CHURCH 'TRIAL' FOCUSES INTEREST ON CHILD WELFARE NEEDS

CHURCHES ARE TO FILL WEEK WITH MEETINGS

LENTEN SERVICES AT TWO CHURCHES CONTINUE

WEEK-DAY activities of several churches were announced at services yesterday, when cold weather again curtailed Sunday school attendance.

A timely program at the Methodist church last evening was heard by a crowd that filled the auditorium and gallery. In a trial conducted in district court, a couple was charged with contributing to the delinquency of their son by lack of religious training in the home.

District Judge W. R. Ewing presided, swearing the audience in as jurors. The Rev. Gaston Foote, pastor, acted as prosecuting attorney and Joe Gann as defense attorney. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Roberts played the defendants, and Henry Jordan was the bailiff.

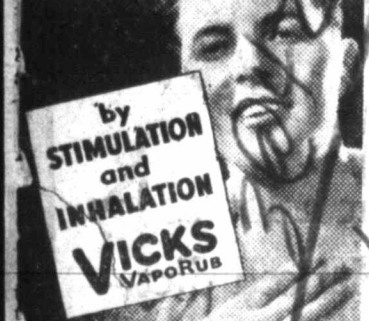

Teachers Witnesses State witnesses were A. L. Patrick and Ben Guill, as principal and teacher, Herman Jones and Philip Wolfe, as Sunday school teacher and superintendent, who testified that the boy's conduct was a problem and that cooperation was not given by the parents.

For the defense, Mrs. Philip Wolfe testified that the parents were prominent in clubs and societies. Jean Ragsdale, as the maid, told of material advantages given the boy; and Lawrence Myers, as church secretary, said that the defendants paid church dues promptly.

After attorneys' pleas, the judge charged the "jury" to render a just verdict, even though it implicated themselves, but to keep the verdict sealed in their own minds. Training course planned tonight at the monthly Bible training school conference, plans are to be made for a study course to start next Monday and continue all week. All officers and members of the group are asked to be present at 7:30 this evening to complete arrangements for the course.

Tomorrow evening the annual father and son banquet will be served at the Presbyterian church annex. Boy Scouts of troops 14 and 15 will be honor guests. All boys of Scout age in the church, with their fathers, are invited. The dinner will be served at 7:30. A regular mid-week program, the hymn sing-song, was announced for Wednesday at the Presbyterian church. On that evening Methodists will conduct their weekly "faith, food, and fun" program starting with a covered dish luncheon and continuing a study of St. Paul's life directed by the pastor. Special Lenten services were continued at both the Catholic and

New 1934 Club Meet Was Among Recent Events

McLEAN, Feb. 26.—After a brief business session, a short candle lighting service was conducted by Mrs. Jim Back, honoring founders day, at the P-T-A. program Friday evening in high school auditorium. These assisting in the tribute to the founders were Mrs. W. E. Bogan, Mrs. McMahan, Mrs. C. A. Cryer, Mrs. G. O. Green, Mrs. B. L. Apple, Mrs. O. E. Locheridge, Mrs. T. J. Coffey, and Jesse Mae Lynch.

An interesting program was rendered by the Study club on "Alaska," Mrs. Mary Sligar having charge. Mrs. C. A. Cryer spoke effectively on "The Klondike Region." Mrs. G. O. Green gave an interesting talk on "The Beauties of Alaska." Mrs. J. W. Butler vividly described "A Salmon Run." Mrs. Jim Back read "Son" by Robert W. Service. A vocal duet by Mrs. O. E. Locheridge and Mrs. Sligar, a piano duet by Mrs. Willis Boyett and Mrs. S. D. Shelburn, a vocal trio by Mrs. W. E. Bogan, Mrs. C. O. Greene, and Mrs. Mary Sligar were the musical numbers that brought spice to the program.

Mrs. McMahan's room was presented a $1.50 check for having most parents present.

Christian Endeavor Party

All-Sew Club
Mrs. Paul Merten was hostess to the All-Sew club at her home Wednesday afternoon. Her guests were Mrs. Harris D'Spaig, Mrs. Clarence Tedder, Mrs. Ben Page, Mrs. Claud Williams, Mrs. Eugene Wolrdume, Mrs. N. E. Poage, Mrs. Walter Cash, Mrs. Andrew Watkins, Mrs. Marvin Marshall, Mrs. Jerry Morrow, Mrs. Ben Chilton, and Miss Marjorie Harlan.

Mrs. Biggers Hostess
Mrs. Billie Biggers proved a lovely hostess to the Culture club Thursday afternoon. A brief business session was presided over by the newly elected president, Mrs. Clint Doolin.

An interesting program was given, Mrs. Hembree read a paper on "How to Build a Club." Mrs. Harris King pleased with a reading, "Daisy's Music Practice Hour." Mrs. O. E. Locheridge discussed the requirements of club officers and members. Mrs. A. F. McHaney and Mrs. Robt. C. Davidson played a piano duet, "Melody in F" by Rubenstein. Mrs. J. S. McLaughlin spoke on "Club Life and Its Interest in the Home."

Members present were Mrs. A. F. McHaney, Mrs. J. B. Hembree, Mrs. Raymond Glass, Mrs. B. F. Gray, Mrs. Billie Biggers, Mrs. H. King, Mrs. W. W. Boyd, Mrs. Dwight Uppham, Mrs. Robt. C. Davidson, Mrs. J. S. McLaughlin, Mrs. C. S. Doolin, Mrs. O. E. Locheridge, and Miss Margaret Glass. Special visitors for the afternoon were Mrs. Murray Boston and Mrs. N. E. Poage.

Band to Give Concert
With Robt. C. Davidson in charge, a band concert will be given in the high school auditorium, Monday evening, everyone invited. The rhythm and high school bands will both be on program. There will be no admission charge.

Birthday Party
Complimenting Mrs. Dewey Woods and Mrs. Everett on their birthdays, a number of friends surprised them at the home of Mrs. Harry Mandy and Mrs. Carl Sturgeon will be hostesses and all members are invited.

The club is practicing now on a vesper program to be presented Sunday evening, March 25, at the Methodist church. The Treble Clef chorus and soloists will be assisted on this public program by members of all church choirs and other choruses of the city, and are planning an hour of unusual musical interest.

Social Meet of Club Announced

Indian music will be the program theme for Wednesday's meeting of the Treble Clef club, the regular monthly social hour at the city hall club rooms. Mrs. Harry Mandy and Mrs. Carl Sturgeon will be hostesses and all members are invited.

ELABORATE PLANS OF STYLE SHOW TO BE REVIEWED

A 20-minute concert by Woodrow Wilson's noted Kid band will open the program of the Business and Professional Women's club at the city hall club rooms tomorrow evening. Mrs. Annie Daniels, principal, and Winston Savage, director, will bring the band to the club.

Publicity committee members will be in charge of the program, which will feature a talk on club publicity by Olin E. Hinkle. A business session will follow, when final arrangements of the club's annual spring style show will be discussed. Plans are more elaborate than ever for the show that will be presented at La Nora theater March 8 and 9, committees headed by Mrs. H. H. Hicks and Mrs. Payne Woolley announce.

The venue promises to be one of the most colorful events of its kind ever held in Pampa. Several out-of-town models have been selected in addition to the local women who are this week being assigned to the cooperating stores.

A musical program is being arranged to augment the parade of styles. Cooperating merchants are enthusiastic over the attractive garments they promise for the show. Firms which will show frocks and accessories for every occasion are Murfee's, Mitchell's, L. T. Hill Co., J. C. Penney Co., Montgomery Ward, Jarrett's, Levine's, Violet Shoppe, Dock's, Kees and Thomas, and Carter's.

Daughter Surprises Father on Birthday

One of Recent McLean Brides Has Lived Here

McLEAN, Feb. 26.—Two weddings of interest were solemnized this week.

Miss Edna Wilson, daughter of Mrs. L. W. Wilson, sister of Lee Wilson of Piggly Wiggly and of Douglas Wilson of the tax office, Pampa, was married to Bill Carter of Oklahoma City on Feb. 20 in Sayer, Okla.

The bride is a graduate of McLean high school, and for the last year has been employed as part time clerk in the tax office at Pampa. The newly weds will make their home in Oklahoma City.

The wedding of Mrs. Vera Stranberg to H. E. Franks of Ramsdell came as a surprise to their many friends in McLean and Ramsdell. They were married Thursday morning, Rev. M. E. Erwin officiating, and left immediately for a honeymoon trip to Fort Worth.

The bride is a special favorite among young matrons in McLean, taking an active part in club, church and charity work at all times. She is the daughter of J. S. Howard, president of the school board.

Mr. Franks is a prosperous ranchman of the Ramsdell community where it is supposed the couple will make their home.

Will pay 10c on light and 10c on heavy hens Tuesday and Wednesday, Balm's Food Store.

BY FOSTER HALEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—John Joseph McGraw is dead after 61 full years of living and today wherever baseball is loved and its heroes known his passing is mourned.

Critically ill for seven days with uremia poisoning and a cancer of the prostate gland, the fiery former leader of the New York Giants died in a New Rochelle hospital yesterday at 11:50 a. m. while a group of friends prayed in the corridor outside.

By his side, holding his hand, was his wife, and Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. from St. Patrick's Cathedral, the great, gray stone church on Fifth avenue. Final plans for the services have not been completed. The body will be taken to Baltimore immediately following the services and placed in a vault of Cathedral cemetery for later interment.

Intestinal hemorrhage Saturday night, which came when it appeared he was fighting his way back to health, was the immediate cause of death. He never regained consciousness although he rallied for a time a few hours before his death.

The body was taken to the big 16-room brick and stucco house in suburban Pelham Manor where he had hoped to spend many more happy years while expressions of regret and condolences came from the ends of the earth, from cabinet members and Polo grounds workers, associates of the days with the Baltimore Orioles, and baseball players, from high and low, rich and poor—baseball fans, all.

There it will remain until just before the services, pending final decision by Mrs. McGraw who, near collapse, was given a sedative and put to bed. There will be no public viewing of the body.

His associates of the Giants—Stoneham, Leo Bondy, treasurer; Eddie Brannick, assistant secretary—took charge of arrangements, and received friends who fought their way through a blinding snow storm to pay their respects in person.

A police guard was placed on the house and a snow plow struggled through the icy streets nearby to keep them clear of drifts.

After a life devoted to baseball—he played his first professional game on his seventeenth birthday, April 7, 1890, with Olean, N. Y., of the New York-Penn League—McGraw retired June 3, 1932, as manager of the New York Giants because of failing health.

When taken me 42 years to find out how pleasant it is to live," he said.

He was a great third baseman with Baltimore, St. Louis, and then Baltimore again before taking charge of the Maryland team in 1901. The next year, in midseason, he left to become manager of the Giants and lived out his baseball days with that team.

During his 30 years as the roaring, lightning leader of the most consistently great teams in baseball—the National League champions and three world champions, from 1920-24 when he won the pennant four times in a row and the world title twice. The 1924 team was his last leader, last place in midseason, he left to become manager of the Giants and lived out his baseball days with that team.

He retained his interest in the Giants, remaining a vice president, went regularly to his office and to the less conspicuous moment of his life looked forward to his annual trip to the Giants' training camp.

Will pay 7c on light and 10c on heavy hens Tuesday and Wednesday. Baum's Food Store. (Adv.)

DAWSON BEATS GUS MORELAND IN GOLF MEET

TEXAN'S THREE-YEAR REIGN ENDS AT HOUSTON.

HOUSTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Gus Moreland's three-year reign as champion of the Houston Country club has passed into the shadows. Johnny Dawson, distance hitting amateur from Chicago, regained the crown he held in 1931 by beating Moreland, 5 and 3, yesterday. The match was played over a heavy course and in a cold, strong wind.

When Moreland congratulated Dawson at the thirty-third hole, the hand-shake made history. It was Moreland's first defeat in 29 championship matches over the Houston Country club course in four years. The match belongs to Dawson from the seventh hole on. The Chicago star, recently ranked the fifth outstanding amateur in the United States, was four strokes over par for the 36 holes.

Moreland left for Dallas to rest. Yesterday closed three consecutive tournament weeks for him. He was low amateur and tied for third place in the Texas open with 285. He was second low amateur in the Galveston open with 302, losing to Johnny Dawson by a single stroke.

Dawson is to remain here until Wednesday when he will go to Dallas for a few days rest before going to Pinehurst. Moreland's next tournament probably will be Bobby Jones' $500 August open. Following this, Moreland will go to New York to join the United States Walker cup team for matches at St. Andrews.

JOHN MCGRAW NEVER 'DODGED' FIGHT AND NEVER WON ONE'

Had No Patience With Ball-Player Who Would Not Fight Everyting.

BY ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Writer.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Old-timers in baseball say of John Joseph McGraw that "he never dodged a fight and never won one."

From the days when he won a name for himself as one of the scrappiest of the famous old Baltimore, Orioles—"Mugsy" McGraw—and on through the fiery years of his leadership of the New York Giants, he was the stormy petrel of the sport. In later times, especially when ill health first beset him, McGraw's temper changed and softened but he never relaxed his aggressive tactics and he never did any patiences with a ball-player who would not fight for everything he could get on the field.

McGraw once chased an umpire, Jim Johnson, right out of the old Polo Grounds as the aftermath of a furious argument but the arbiter got in the last word by forfeiting the game.

McGraw always liked to win, whether it was only a spring exhibition game or a contest which had no bearing on the pennant race. It was big sport news when George Foster, later a star pitcher with the Boston Red Sox, succeeded in beating the Giants one spring down in Texas.

Some 20 years ago, when the Detroit Tigers were paired with the Giants in the spring, Ty Cobb was forced to quit the trip because of a litter run-in with the Giants. The Georgia Peach spiked Buck Herzog, infielder of the Giants, was threatened with bodily harm by the rest of the club, and was given a public tongue-lashing in the hotel that night by McGraw.

On at least two other occasions in his combative career McGraw was knocked flat without being able to retaliate. Once, during a series with the Phillies, he was "riding" the opposition hard, especially Ad Brennan, big pitcher. Between innings, Brennan walked over toward the Giants' bench, caught McGraw a terrific blow from the side and cut the Giant leader's face.

Another time, during spring training play at Houston, Texas, McGraw got into a hot argument with a veteran first baseman, Pat Newman. They parted that day without coming to blows but the story goes that Newman nursed his groggy, waited for McGraw at the entrance to the field the next afternoon and caught the manager a terrific uppercut as he stuck his head through the opening. McGraw took the long count.

TO MARK OLD SITE

CLARENDON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A permanent marker will be erected on the site of "Old Clarendon," one of the first white settlements in the Panhandle. It was four miles north of the present town. N. D. Nored, president of the Clarendon Lion's club, sponsor of the movement to mark the site, said only an unkept cemetery remained of the frontier community.

Believe Schmidt Is First Choice For Buckeye Job

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26 (AP)—Francis Schmidt, coach of Texas Christian University, was believed here today to be Ohio State university's newest "first choice" to succeed Sam Willman as head football coach at Ohio state.

Willman's official completed only but the list had not been narrowed down to one man.

Many felt, however, that the Fort Worth man was Ohio State's latest nominee for the post. Clark Salsburgh of Chicago and Noble Killeb of Purdue previously had turned down Buckeye offers.

Schmidt was quoted at Fort Worth as saying he was negotiating with Ohio State officials.

CAGE TITLE IN SOUTHWEST IS WON BY FROGS

TEXAS FORWARD LEADS SCORING RACE OF CONFERENCE

BY FELIX R. MCKNIGHT, Associated Press Staff Writer.

The runaway Frog of Texas Christian university hopped into port last week with the Southwest conference cage championship, leaving only a lively fight for second place and individual scoring honors to attract the fans during the last roundup this week.

Either Texas A. & M. or Rice institute may slip into the "also ran" position, with Arkansas clinging to the bare chance of a triple tie, while Jack Gray, University of Texas, and Dick Allison, Texas Christian, still have their little point-scoring argument to settle.

Gray, leading loser of the conference last season, looks like a repeater. Six points ahead of Allison, Gray has two games in which to fatten his total. While Allison has an important game two days ago, but the Owl defeat at the hands of Southern Methodist Saturday night at Dallas makes it just another basketball game.

Just a weary tug at the outset of the race, but suddenly transformed into a spirited Mustang during the past several days, Southern Methodist moves into Austin to play Texas in the other Monday night game.

The big rival game of the season—Texas vs. Texas Aggies—is billed for Saturday night at College Station, while Baylor winds up a poor season against Rice at Houston.

Whiley Dacus, one of the smoothest floormen ever to weave around a conference court, led his S. M. U. club to a great 36-30 victory over Rice Saturday night at Dallas to wind up the race. Rice had a bare, outside chance of tying T. C. U. until that thumping.

The Texas Aggies passed out of the titular picture Monday night at College Station when they dropped a 23-22 verdict to Arkansas. The farmers came back Tuesday to win 35-23. Rice pounced on Texas for a 45-34 decision at Houston Tuesday night, while T. C. U. bumped Baylor, 39-34. The Frogs asserted themselves of no worse than a tie by licking Texas, 29-25, Friday night. The Aggies took a 34-32 battle from Baylor Saturday night when Captain Joe Merka netted 20 points.

Finishes of notable horse races are being broadcast by (Continued in England, where there are said to be 5,000 home receiving sets in use.

Gets $20 Tip

Picture above is Eleanor Hanson, pretty Sonora (Texas) waitress who received a $20 tip from John J. Raskob, New York financier, when he ate in the cafe where she is employed. The story was published in many newspapers. E. L. Gaines, reading about it, learned where his step-daughter was living and effected a reconciliation with his wife, Eleanor's mother, after five years' separation.

Six Men Burn To Death When Fire Destroys Hotel

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—Six men and possibly a seventh burned to death this morning in a fire that destroyed the 25-year-old Marone hotel, a four-story structure.

Only four of the six bodies taken out of the smoldering ruins were immediately identified. They were:

- Salvatore Troja, 40, marble worker.
- Dominick Bellacqua, a CWA worker.
- Joseph Paladino, salesman.
- Peter Gillis.
- Peter Gillis.

Several other persons, taken to hospitals, were reported as not seriously injured with the exception of Steve Salvone, who jumped from a second story window. The flames had gained a great headway before the fire was discovered by C. J. Marrone, who operated the business.

Marrone's frantic calls brought to his side his wife and five young children, whom he led to safety down a fire escape. They lived on an upper floor. It was on the same floor that firemen later found the body of one of the unidentified, huddled in a corner near a stairway.

The origin of fire was not determined immediately.

Mrs. Mary Porterfield of LeFors is receiving medical attention at Pampa hospital.

MUELLER AND DETTON MEET HERE TONIGHT

YOUTH IS PLANNING TO MAKE FAMED HOLD INEFFECTIVE

"Go to sleep my ba-a-a-by-y-y" yodels Doc Mueller of San Antonio, famous chiropractic headlock wrestler, who will appear in the main event at the Pla-Mor auditorium tonight. Dorry Detton, his youthful opponent, has been working on a system to block the famous hold, and in the spare time has been learning "Who's afraid of the big, bad stranger."

Detton has been learning the Panhandle type of wrestling fast and should be ready for the doctor. Speed and strength will compete with experience and trickiness when the two maulers take the mat. Mueller is known for his sty methods. Fans are wondering, too, if Detton can take a little jiu-jitsu along with the rest of Mueller's list of tricks.

A little fight will appear on the semi-final when Lou Koderek makes his first appearance here as a wrestler. Koderek acted as referee last week but fans asked to see him in action. Pat Garrison, local boy will prove the opposition. He will have about a foot height advantage on Koderek, but at that Garrison is worried. He wonders how he is going to protect his feet and legs and how he is going to get anything but a headlock on Koderek.

The two speedsters are scheduled to go 30 minutes. Garrison has announced to the world at large that he is going to stick to wrestling and become manager of the Giants and lived out his baseball days with that team.

Wayne Kelley Is Leading Scorer On Badger Five

Wayne Kelley, a star football and basketball player on the Pampa Harvester team for three years, is one of the big reasons why Coach Frank Kinbrough and his Amarillo College Badgers won the junior college athletic association football title and also why the team stands a good chance to win the basketball title in the same conference.

The former Pampa star is playing guard position on the Badger basketball team, but is such a good offensive player that many plays have been perfected whereby Kelley goes in to score. He looped 14 points against the Canyon freshmen Saturday night to lead Peitche, scoring 12 on the team.

"Kelley is taking a real interest in his school work and athletics and I see a great future for the boy," Coach Kinbrough recently told this writer.

Harvesterettes Lose To Canyon

The Harvesterettes closed the basketball season Friday night with a loss to Canyon. The final score was 26 to 19. The local sextet had the last quarter, when two forwards and two guards left the game on personal fouls.

Canyon, with a full team, forced to the front and finally nosed out the Harvesterettes. The Pampa reserves played good basketball but were unable to hold the lead and sign the rampaging Ezzellets.

It was his wife's diamond.

Sanity Of Vet Who Slew Four Is Questioned

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 26 (AP)—A jury may decide whether John A. Cane, a psychopathic patient and confessed slayer of his wife and three children, is sane.

County Attorney Lewis R. Morris said he would file murder charges today against Cane, former world war veteran, who has been adjudged insane at the Little Rock, Ark., veterans' hospital.

After repeating his story of killing his wife and children on a picnic outing last June 6, Cane went with officers and pointed out the unmarked grave.

"Stop! My God, there's the spot!" He screamed as he pointed to the roadside, bleak and snow dusted, where he had dug two graves with a borrowed shovel and laid the battered bodies down, sweating in the heat of a summer night.

In the graves, dug again where Cane pointed, officers found the remains of four bodies, a piece of a shovel and a woman's purse. In the purse was a key to the hotel room where the Cane family had lived just prior to the tragedy.

The victims were Mrs. Gracia Cane, 25, and her children, Edna Merle, 6, Leroy, 4, and Johnnie May, 2. Mrs. Cane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stanton, Wichita Falls, Texas, moved from Mountain Home, Idaho, with her parents 3 years ago. Two years later, she married Cane, a telegraph lineman.

Cane was guarded closely in solitary confinement in the county jail overnight after he had remarked "tomorrow I'll be dead."

A combined oil supply indicator and ammeter has been invented to be placed in the opening for the summer on the dashboard of an automobile.

Red Cross Emergency Aid to Injured Given as Part of Government Safety Program

WHEN Uncle Sam put four million unemployed workers upon his payroll under the Federal Civil Works Administration, many thousands were assigned to unfamiliar tasks and a heavy toll of minor accidents was immediately apparent.

Men who had been out of work for two or more years had become soft physically, others who had been indoor workers were given pick and shovel in the open and skilled workmen through long unemployment had lost familiarity with their tools.

A safety program was immediately inaugurated by Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Administrator, who obtained the services, lent by the National Safety Council, of Sidney J. Williams, Public Safety Director of the council and long known nationwide as an expert "safety man." Mr. Williams as national director of safety for the C. W. A. immediately organized a broad safety program of protecting men from hazards of their work and also in reassigning them to tasks to which they were better fitted.

As first aid is a vital part of any safety program, Mr. Williams invited the cooperation of the American Red Cross, which for more than twenty years has taught first aid methods in industry, public utilities, police and fire departments and to civilian groups.

Harold F. Enlow, national director of first aid and first aid training of the Red Cross, began using long distance and telegraphic communications and within 48 hours had his first classes organized in Virginia and within three weeks had 673 classes of first aid for C.W.A. workers under way in thirteen states. In all, more than 2,000 C.W.A. workers were enrolled in these classes conducted by chapters of the Red Cross, and as fast as the plan could be extended other states were falling in line.

Mr. Enlow planned to train 75,000 C.W.A. workers, who in turn would safeguard the four million or more workmen on the civil works projects all over the nation.

The method of training called for the assignment of one worker for each 50 men on a project to the chapter first aid training sites. Instruction was in 15 to 20 hour courses, with volunteer trained Red Cross first aiders as teachers, and using the Red Cross first aid textbook. Upon completion of the course the worker passed his examination and was given a Red Cross certificate and returned to his project armed with a first aid kit furnished by the C.W.A. organization.

"We learned that the most frequent accidents were incurred by men working at unaccustomed jobs with unfamiliar tools, and through care-lessness," Mr. Williams said. "The types of injury most common on the projects were strains, cuts, falls and accidents from blasts."

Our purpose is to prevent needless accident and death. We teach our C.W.A. workmen to be alert to prevent accidents as well as to be prepared should they occur to use the proper remedies and bandages until the injured can be seen by a doctor."

The opportunity to reach workmen in rural districts through first aid and safety education through this C.W.A. program was highly pleasing to Mr. Williams and M. Enlow, as safety programs have largely been directed at industrial centers. The Red Cross in twenty years has given certificates in first aid to a half million persons.

"We welcome the opportunity to train these 75,000 men right at this time," Mr. Enlow said, "because the Red Cross knows that when they go back into industry they will carry this valuable first aid knowledge with them."
