THE CENTENNIAL BILL

At last the legislature is beginning to show signs that it believes the people of Texas were not indulging in an idle gesture when they overwhelmingly approved an amendment to the constitution asking that the state finance a centennial celebration. Governor Ferguson Wednesday submitted the subject to the legislature, and Thursday recommended that an appropriation be made to finance the event.

The legislators should have passed the bill at the last session, but using economy as an alibi they ignored the people's mandate, despite protests from newspapers, civic organizations, and the population at large. The indifference of the legislature was all the more irksome when it is recalled that neither taxes nor economy were in the Texans' vocabulary back in 1834 when Stephen F. Austin, the father of Texas was languishing in a Mexico City prison cell, and the empire-builders of this state were preparing to carve the Republic of Texas out of a wilderness which knew no law except the perverse will of the self-styled Napoleon of the West, General Santa Anna.

Undoubtedly, the issue of taxation and economy will arise again during consideration of the present bill. But let the solons reflect upon the certitude that nothing great, nothing commendable, nothing beautiful, nothing worthy, ever sprang from ideal conditions. There is a certain crucible, a definite Gettysburg, which, it seems, must prevail before great personalities and great events can exist.

Let the legislature give the people of Texas a chance to prove they can fulfill the vision they had when they voted for the centennial amendment. It is the will of the people. As to a comprehensive plan for celebration of the Centennial, that can be formed later. The state now needs assurance that the legislature will lead its financial aid and moral support. Then every town, every city, every person will be looking forward to 1936.

THE PEOPLES COLUMN

To the Editor: Follows a bit of original doggerel from my son, George Maguire, now in California. He was formerly a student in Pampa high school and Texas Tech.

O come to the land of the western sun,
Where every business is overdone,
Where the stores charge freight on goods made here,
Ask them the reason they think you queer.
They serve you climate with all your meals;
It's so blamed hot your back just peels.
The "Ananias club" includes the state from San Diego to the golden gate.
The movie stars marry twice a year;
Would marry again if the way were clear.
The grapefruit here is something fine—
Cross between lemon and pumpkin rind.
Where cows eat barley instead of hay
And the cream gets lost in the Milky Way.
They sell you lots that are made by hand,
And make you believe it is really land.
The view of the ocean is very nice—
That is included with the price.
They weigh the sack and then the truth,
Then weigh them again and the fingers to boot.
They claim it is wet if it rains once a year;
You get so dry you can't shed a hair.
The chickens have mites, the dogs have fleas;
The desert wind blows and oranges freeze.
We shovel sand, you shovel snow—
Just about a stand-off far as I know.
So, tune up your fivver and start for the west,
Where jobs are scarce and pay is less.
Bring all your cash and plenty of clothes;
When you'll get more the Lord only knows.
I am telling this story, which I know is true,
As seen by me through eyes of blue.
If the Boosters' club ever gets this end,
They will change my eyes from blue to black.
They ask us to write the truth to a friend,
Now I have done so and this is the end.
—Mrs. Clara Maguire.

Poem to Buster, Dog, Is Written

One-but not forgotten is Buster, the black and white Shepherd owned by Mrs. Alex Schneider Sr. Buster died Tuesday afternoon and Mrs. N. A. Heiland sends the following tribute to Buster:

I wonder, oh Buster, do they give a bone,
In that land out there where you have gone?
Does anybody give you a fond caress?
Does anyone care for your happiness?
Is somebody glad when you come to meet
Him, with head held proudly and and flying feet?
Is somebody glad when you bring him a prize,
With all your heart shining out of your eyes?
Is there a shoulder where your paws may rest,
While your shaggy head leans on somebody's breast?
It would not be heaven, oh Buster, I fear,
Without somebody there to scratch your ear.
It would not be heaven, oh Buster, to you,
Without somebody kind to look up to.
With gaze so worshipful, tender, and wise,
And all your heart shining out of your eyes.
—LOU M. ELY.

Bronchial Irritations Need Creosote

For many years our best doctors have prescribed creosote in some form for coughs, colds and bronchitis, a remedy long known to be other highly important medicinal elements, quickly and effectively stops coughs and colds that otherwise might lead to serious trouble.

Creosolium is powerful in the treatment of colds and coughs, yet it is absolutely harmless and is pleasant and easy to take.

Your own druggist guarantees Creosolium by refunding your money if you are not relieved after taking Creosolium, as directed. Beware the cheap or fake brand names. Always keep Creosolium on hand for instant use. (Adv.)

THRILL

BAITMORE (AP)—The elevator in the new Baltimore postoffice and court house was a great novelty to H. B. Eckenrode, 56-year-old Carroll county farmer, on his first trip to the city in 50 years to answer to liquor law violation charge.

"I thought you were taking me to court," he said as the elevator door opened on the main floor. "You're putting me back in a cell."

"Whoops," he shouted as the elevator whizzed upward, "she sure does climb."

The charge was dismissed.

AIR MAIL ROUTE FROM WICHITA WEST TO BE DISCONTINUED

ARMY TO CUT AIR DISTANCE 52,340 MILES

AMARILLO SERVICE TO BE DISRUPTED BY GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The government will sharply tighten its air mail belt when the army takes over the job, and the public may feel the pinch. The mile-fare will be reduced more than half.

Post office officials, busy with arrangements for the Monday night transfer, expressed a belief, however, that there won't be a serious reduction in service.

At present, however, commercial companies are flying about 95,000 miles daily. Routes so far announced for the army total only 42,570.

The general daily mileage will be reduced both by curtailing frequency of trips and by abandoning for the present many routes. About 125 army planes will be used as compared to a larger commercial fleet.

One transcontinental route, as now announced, will go no farther west than Wichita, Kansas, instead of continuing to Los Angeles by Amarillo, Texas, and Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Jimmie Allred Apologizes To Old Classmate

AUSTIN, Feb. 16. (AP)—Attorney General James V. Allred remembered recently that when he was attending grammar school in Bowie some 25 years ago he told a fib. He had recently heard of the whereabouts of that victim of that little "white lie." He sought out the man to apologize. It was the first time they had met since the incident that caused Allred to hedge.

Allred walked into the Associated press office in Dallas and asked for Howard C. Marshall, a member of the staff. Marshall went to school at Bowie with Allred. Marshall's father was superintendent of schools there at the time Howard Marshall and Allred were studying their first arithmetics and advanced readers.

Allred recalled that one day on his way home from school he flung a slipper, weighted with a small rock, into the air. He watched it sail, saw it hit another lad on the back of the head. Blood flowed from the wound. Allred knew there might be trouble since the boy struck was the superintendent's son. He wondered what excuse he could make. Finally he decided he would say that Marshall had called him a "bad name."

Hearing of Marshall's whereabouts Allred hunted him up to beg his pardon. They had a peace-making session and Allred learned that Marshall never had until this day uttered a "bad word."

Incidentally, T. P. Walker, who is chief clerk in the attorney general's office, was superintendent of

Father Admits Killing Son And Hiding His Body

ROCKFORD, Ill., Feb. 16. (AP)—Charles Backus, a middle-aged vegetable peddler, stood near the ice-covered river here, pointed to a hole in the ice, and told police: "I put it there. I was scared."

The "it" was the body of his eight-year-old son, Charles, Jr., missing eight days. The father had persisted in denying knowledge of his son's whereabouts. Last night, after long questioning, he said to Joseph Rank of the state highway patrol:

"All right, I'll show you where it is." Then followed the trip to the river where the peddler pointed out the air hole into which, he told police, he had stuffed the boy's body.

There was no trace of the body, however, and the river was to be dynamited in an effort to bring it to the surface.

A verbal confession which Rank of the highway patrol attributed to Backus, still left details of the manner in which the boy died vague.

Backus told police he had reprimanded his son when the boy came home from school a week ago Wednesday. The boy appeared ill, the peddler said.

Police quoted Backus as saying: "I struck him and he became unconscious. We (presumably meaning members of the family) carried him onto a bed, and rubbed him, and I thought he died of poison candy. I took his body and loaded it on a truck and went to the foot of Clifford street and found an ice air hole. I stuffed the body into that."

Earth Breaks Out With Four New Sun Spots

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 16. (AP)—The sun has broken out with four new spots, which is good news for nudists.

There is good evidence, say scientists, that more sun spots mean more ultra violet radiation. That, in turn, speeds better health for the folk who loiter around letting Sol's rays impinge on naked epidermis.

The new spots indicate, Dr. Seth B. Nicholson, astronomer of the Carnegie Institution's Mount Wilson observatory, said today, that the minimum of a 10 1/2 year cycle has passed.

From now on old Sol will be watched as closely as a rich child with a strange mania.

Scientists have learned that increasing sun spots also presage more frequent magnetic disturbances on the earth, with occasional interruption of telegraph and telephone transmission.

The Aurora Borealis, or Northern Lights, will become visible farther south. There is a tentative indication that possibly cooler weather may be expected the year round.

A few scientists claim that wireless reception will be poorer at times.

Mail Plane Is Bombaraded By Flaming Meteor

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 16. (AP)—The strange experience of being bombarded from space by a meteor was described by Pilot Hiram Sheridan on his arrival here with the eastbound night American Airways mail plane from Fort Worth.

Sheridan said just before he reached Texarkana last night he saw the meteor break into flame as it struck the earth's atmosphere and described a huge arc, coming directly at the plane.

"I watched it for a minute or two," the pilot said, "and realized that it was coming straight at me. I changed my course and put on speed, but it looked like it would strike the plane in spite of all I could do."

"When it appeared something was sure to happen, I banked sharply to the right and at about the same moment the meteor burned out and disappeared."

Sheridan said he was unable to say just how far the meteor missed the plane, but said he thought it "barely missed."

"When I first noticed the meteor, it apparently was just entering the stratosphere and it gave off a dazzling blue-white light that blinded me," Sheridan said. "As it came closer, it lost its brilliance until at the time it reached the altitude at which I was flying, it was just a glowing red ball. It went out completely just after it passed me."

Granger Man Is Closely Guarded After Killing 2

GEORGETOWN, Feb. 16. (AP)—Lou's Cernok, 38, farm hand, was closely guarded in the jail here today after a double shooting at Granger late yesterday in which costly City Marshal Henry Lindsey, 48, and Constable Sam M. Moore, 45, were wounded fatally.

Lindsey fell from a wound in the heart and Moore died last night in a hospital at Taylor.

Constable Moore had arrested Cernok on a capias warrant and had taken him to the court of Justice of the Peace John Nunn to explain why he had not paid a fine when the shooting began. Cernok had been convicted of using abusive language to a woman.

Moore had not searched Cernok, who suddenly drew an automatic pistol, and Lindsey was killed as he stood in front of the office of Justice Nunn. Moore fired several futile shots before he fell wounded himself.

Nunn and B. Colbert, assistant county attorney, crouched in a corner as Cernok fired several wild shots in their direction. Onlookers said he stood calmly in the middle of the room, reloading the pistol, lighted his pipe, then walked off down the street.

Oil Situation In East Texas Is Perplexing

TYLER, Feb. 16. (AP)—Rapid moves and counter moves by the federal court in the injunction tangle between federal and state oil production enforcement agencies and a group of operators attacking production regulation left many oil men perplexed today as to the true status of affairs.

Federal Judge Randolph Bryant of Sherman granted an injunction yesterday restraining interior department agents from trying to ascertain whether operators in interstate commerce who had not signed the federal oil code were abiding by production rules. Shortly thereafter, Charles I. Francis, special assistant U. S. attorney general, was quoted from Wichita Falls as saying Judge Bryant had told him in a telephone conversation from Sherman that he was immediately setting aside the injunction decree.

Francis said Judge Bryant told him that revocation would be only a matter of telegraphing instructions to the court clerk at Tyler. The federal attorney said further that no notice had been given by anyone to government counsel that a form of decree in the case involving the Amazon Petroleum corporation and others was being presented to Judge Bryant at Sherman before the injunction was granted.

FIFTY-FOUR PILFERER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dr. Henry S. Bath is worried about the stuff stolen from his automobile, but he is more worried about the thief. Dr. Bath reported to police that the man seen taking a container of cyclopropane may be blown to bits. The gas is explosive, but the thief may not be able to dispose of it, said the doctor, and, he added, it is both highly explosive and poisonous.

IF husband and wife should each have a net income in excess of $4,000, but neither a net income in excess of $6,000, it is to their interest, in filing separate income-tax returns for the year 1933, to divide the personal exemption of $2,500 between them, as shown by the following illustration, in which the husband claims $2,000 and the wife $500:

Table showing net income, personal exemption, taxable income, and tax for husband and wife. Husband's net income is $6,000, wife's is $500. Husband's taxable income is $4,000, wife's is $500. Husband's tax is $160, wife's is $4.50.

Total tax, husband and wife 320. The normal tax rate being 4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income in excess of the personal exemption and other credits and 8 per cent on the balance, any other division of the personal exemption would have subjected part of the husband's or wife's income to the 8 per cent rate.

(Continued from page 1.) are horrible. To think that you sell that vicious stuff to those countries, believing it to be used in war! How can you be so mercenary? "For the simple reason, my dear," he blandly replied, smiling at her sudden outburst of rage, "if my company didn't sell the stuff, our American competitors would. And for your information, as un sentimental as it may seem to you," he went on, "until the whole world is ruled by one great nation of four or five subdivisions, there will always be war, regardless of propaganda. In spite of the terrible scenes of war, or the horrible memories it may bring to mind, wherever and whenever the safety and well-being of a man's home and family is threatened, man will fight."

And maybe that's just as noble a thought as the one to do away with war, knowing human nature as we do! Last Wednesday was Chinese New Year's day, according to the Chinese lunar calendar. Though there's much I don't understand about their tradition of "surrounding the furnaces" in keeping with ancient customs, I do know there to be highly commended for one of their basic beliefs in regard to this day. If they want to start the New Year right, all debts must be paid!

Come to think of it, did you ever know of a father of the ancient race to be a creditor, or to be lying by a creditor that his financial position could justify? Anybody else wouldn't have mated--but Lindbergh! To think that a national hero, an idol, if you please, should have to make such a tactical error, such a downright blunder, makes you wonder if any "institution" will weather the scrupulous of the modern analyst.--the trials and temptations of "Americanism." While I'm no hero worshipper, especially not a Lindbergh worshipper, and never have been--I think Americans can well enough come into the mature realizations about the impossibility of our great men being "perfect" without having some of the modern writers take such great pains to crush under foot, even the tiniest ideal we may have about "our fore-bearers." What if George Washington did tell a few lies, and serve a little wine? He withdrew the damnation of his contemporaries, and THAT'S SOMETHING!

Just for the sake of seeing SOMEBODY beat the game today, I had hoped Lindbergh would go through unscathed--but he certainly misused the other hand when he wrote Roosevelt about the airmail scandal, and gave it to the press for publicity before it ever got to Washington. Boy, what a howl the Washington press boys put up--one of joy! It must be admitted that Lindbergh didn't ingratiate himself any too much with the correspondents here when he purposefully drenched them, so they say, with muddy water at the airport, but even the newest press men, as a whole, seem to be of the same opinion--that Lindbergh is the "smother" publicity gainer in the racket." The other afternoon at Farley's conference, the air was full of such remarks as "I hope you'll put the screws to that lug Lindbergh!" "It looks like the Humpty Dumpty act, for that guy this time, thank goodness!" and "For once it's a pleasure to give him all the publicity he wants!"

When asked what he was going to do with Lindbergh's communication, Farley pointed to a stack of mail. "It's there with the rest of today's publicity, and MIGHT be acknowledged if we ever get to it!" The conservative Washington Star even said "As times change so do men. In his EARLY career 'publicity' seemed the one thing that Charles A. Lindbergh was most anxious to avoid!" That's one trouble with being an idol--just like a diamond--the slightest flaw makes both worthless, while a chip doesn't hurt a chunk of coal.

(Continued From Page 1) Of slightly less than medium height, and slender, the 54-year-old minister is anything but formidable in appearance. He called Deputy Scott a "good old boy" and thanked him for courtesies extended on the trip from Missouri. He shook hands with officers and The NEWS representative on arrival and was ready with extended comments on everything from the icy Missouri weather to the most serious aspects of the indictment which accuses him of poisoning his father-in-law, W. T. Hudgins of McLean, in 1930. He is not accused of other deaths which have come to relatives in recent years. Practically "broke," Rev. Shockley carried only a large suitcase and a coat. His only weapon was a .22 caliber rifle carried in the suitcase. He wore dark clothing, a grey flannel shirt, and heavy shoes. He spoke lengthily of his recent meetings, which he described as successful although he received little money for his services in the rural communities. He speaks in a low tone, accompanied by keen observations from behind spectacles, and makes brief gestures to emphasize his earnestness. Rev. Shockley was indicted by the present grand jury on the basis of the most complete information gathered about the poisoning deaths. Several other grand juries heard accusations but did not find the evidence strong enough to warrant returning a true bill.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY 901 North Frost Street. "Soul" is the subject of the lesson-lesson which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 18. Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And I will set my tabernacle among you; and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people" (Leviticus 26:11-12).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Human thought has adulterated the meaning of the word soul through the hypothesis that soul is both an evil and a good intelligence, resident in matter. The proper use of the word soul can always be gained by substituting the word God, where the definite meaning is required. In other cases, use the word sense, and you will have the scientific signification. As used in Christian Science, soul is properly the synonym of Spirit, or God; but out of Science, soul is identical with sense, with material sensation" (page 482).

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Jesus' Power to Help.

Scripture Lesson: Matt. 9: 1-13.

1. And he entered into a boat, and crossed over, and came into his own city.

2. And behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed; and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy, Son, be of good cheer; thy sins are forgiven.

3. And behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth.

4. And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts?

5. For which is easier, to say, Thy sins are forgiven; or to say, Arise and walk?

6. But that ye may know that the Son of man hath authority on earth to forgive sins (then saith he to the sick of the palsy), Arise, and take up thy bed, and go unto thy house.

7. And he arose, and departed to his house.

8. But when the multitudes saw it, they were afraid, and glorified God, who had given such authority unto men.

9. And as Jesus passed by from thence, he saw a man, called Mattithias, sitting at the place of toll; and he saith unto him, Follow me, and he arose, and followed him.

10. And it came to pass, as he sat at meat in the house, behold, many publicans and sinners came and sat down with Jesus and his disciples.

11. And when the Pharisees saw it, they said unto his disciples, Why eateth your Teacher with the publicans and sinners?

12. But when he heard it, he said, They that are whole have no need of a physician, but they that are sick.

13. But go ye and learn what this meaneth, I desire mercy, and not sacrifice: for I came not to call the righteous, but sinners.—Matt. 9:13.

Time: Midsummer and autumn of A. D. 28, the second year of Christ's ministry.

Place: Capernaum.

Introduction

In three chapters, Matthew 5, 6, and 7—the Sermon on the Mount—which we have studied the last three Sunday, we have a setting forth of the principles and laws of the kingdom. There follows a section (chapters 8, 9) devoted to certain illustrative miracles of Jesus. It is unlikely that they all occurred at this particular time, but they are grouped here for a purpose:

- (1) To show Jesus' divine power over the forces of nature and of evil.
- (2) To picture him as a helper of the unfortunate.
- (3) To set us an example.
- (4) To suggest to us ways of meeting human need.

Our Lesson's Picture of Jesus

The New Testament has many different representations of our Lord; depicts him in various attitudes, surroundings and aspects. The Gospels are a wonderful picture-book of him. Next to the Christ upon the cross, the most outstanding, appalling figure that we distinguish and remember in this word-painted gallery is the Christ "who went about doing good." Him evermore we behold touching sickness into health, suffering into joy, and despair into confidence. This lesson on "Jesus meeting human need" is well summarized in the closing verses of the section: 9:35, 36. "And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people."

The Healing Miracles

The four disease conditions that Jesus oftentimes faced were leprosy, paralysis, blindness and mental sickness. The first and last of these were the most dreaded because they involved social outcasting. Blindness was terribly common. Paralysis is ever a rebuke to man's proud bodily strength. Notice how remarkably illustrative these diseases are of moral and spiritual truth. To name any one of them is to preach a whole sermon. This is why Jesus' miracles of mercy become teaching miracles or parables. By teaching a new lease of life and happiness to those unfortunate, but at the same time vividly and impressively imparted great truths of his gospel.

Two Demoniae Healed By Jesus 8:24-34

Crossing to the southeast shore of the Sea of Galilee, Christ and his disciples landed in Decapolis (meaning "Ten Cities"); in the region called from Gadara, its chief city, "the country of the Gadarenes." There they were met by two men, probably the most horrible of all the demoniae encountered by Jesus. They were possessed by a legion of demons, and were very fierce, terrorizing the whole countryside. They lived in the cave-tombs on the hillside. They were armed, and were so powerful that they burst asunder the chains used to confine them. The recognized Jesus at once as the Son of God and begged him, if he should drive them out of their human habitations, to allow them to enter a drove of swine, kept in defiance of the Jewish law, within sight of their home. This the Lord allowed, and at once the swine rushed over a cliff and perished in the sea, leaving the former demoniae in their right minds. Jesus Heals the Paralytic, vs. 2-7. to Mark 2:1-15; Luke 5:17-20, where we learn that our Lord was preaching in the courtyard of a house and that the crowd was so dense that the bearers of the sick man could not get through; but they carried the poor sick man up the steep outer stairs and laid him on the roof while they made a hole in the loose covering of sticks and mud or tiling, and lowered the paralytic by the four corners of his bed through the hole and laid him at the feet of the Master.

"Be of Good Cheer." v. 2

"Jesus said unto the sick of the palsy, Son, be of good cheer; thy sins are forgiven." This seems to have been a favorite greeting with Christ. In the storm at sea he called to his disciples, "Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid." When his disciples were discouraged and downcast, he said to them, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." He said to the woman with a sickness of twelve years, "Daughter, be of good cheer." There is always good cheer where Christ has his way. It is never sin, but a lack of willingness to forsake sin and accept the forgiveness and good cheer which Jesus brings, that keeps the sinner from Christ.—Rev. Louis Albert Banks, D. D. "Thy sins are forgiven." Christ sees not only the paralysis of the man's body, but also the sin in the man's soul. He sees the beginning and the ending of the patient's ailment." All sickness comes from sin—not always from the sin of the sick man, but always from some one's sin and folly.

Matthew Becomes a Disciple, v. 9

All sickness comes from sin—not always from the sin of the sick man, but always from some one's sin and folly.

"The Great Physician now is near. The sympathizing Jesus; He speaks the drooping heart to cheer, Oh, hear the voice of Jesus." —Rev. William Hunter.

NOT SAFE FOR POLICE

OAK LAWN, Ill. (AP)—This village may be in the market for a good lock to put on the jail to keep out bank robbers.

Six men invaded the jail, stole the police force—one policeman named Arthur Eichler—and used him as a shield in an unsuccessful attempt to hold up the Oak Lawn Trust & Savings bank, which was frustrated when the cashier set off some tear gas bombs.

The policeman was overcome by gas.

A NICE ALIBI BUT

MILWAUKER (AP)—Nathan Gorstein, stopped by a traffic officer, offered the following excuse: "Sorry, officer, I didn't intend to jump the stop sign, but you see, I'm in a hurry to get home for supper. I've got my father's false teeth in my pocket and if he does not get them he'll starve." He paid $5 in district court.

BLOND GODDESS

A New Serial by HERBERT JENSEN

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame, the explorer, with the movie star, Janice Kent, and her press agent, Horatio Greene, are bound to be sacrificed to this savage tribe in the interior of Yucatan. Janice looks as fresh as if she were in Hollywood.

Juan's jet eyes brightened. He still smiled, although a thin line of blood welled at the corner of his mouth and spread downward over his chin. "Good!" The boy's eyes burled into those of the guard. The man's glance fell, and he attempted no repetition of the blow.

"Senor," he continued in his liquid Spanish, as if there had been no interruption. "I have made you happier. I told them, when I was taken, of the sympathetic assistance that Don Raoul Ortega gave us. How he helped me hide, and made it possible for you to effect the escape of—"

"He lies!"

From the entrance of the temple-house, Ortega came. His hands were bound behind him, and two guards held him by the elbows. His, apparently was a pitiful plight.

The man's lips were flaccid with panic; coherence was lost in the jumbled sentences that tumbled from them.

"He lies! The boy lies! I tell you I am your friend. There is a mistake. I brought these people here for you. I have been your friend for years. . . ."

One of his guards struck him across the face.

A drum began a flat, sullen thumping from within the temple.

A figure suddenly appeared at the temple entrance. Grahame recognized the stark face of the ahkin although the figure was strangely changed.

The ahkin left the sacrificial stone, and approached Ortega. He held his hand above the Mexican's head, and released a small shower of feathers upon him. The big man winced as the downy particles touched him—quite as if they burned his skin.

The priest drew his knife and held it over the stone.

It happened suddenly. There were no preliminaries. Fresh smoke billowed from the temple door. Grahame heard a scuffling, and an agonized cry that broke in a squeal.

He saw the bulk of Ortega stretched across the altar stone. The white tunic had been ripped from his breast, which gleamed upward.

Tomorrow, the knife descends.

Farms' Profits Keep Cardinals Out of the Red

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals "farms" have come to the financial aid of the parent club, reversing the usual procedure. Our big minor league teams certainly helped the family along last year. President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals said today. "The Cardinals did most of the providing a few years ago, but the family has grown, and some of the children are big enough to take care of themselves, but to help out the father of them all."

When the Cardinals in 1933 played to fewer than 300,000 cash customers at home, Rochester of the International League, Columbus of the American association and Houston of the Texas league had successful seasons.

Rochester and Columbus not only enjoyed big "games," but produced players who brought fancy prices in the baseball market.

Don't give colds a chance!

Here's way to feel "tip-top" all winter
When you catch cold easily, can't sleep, don't eat right, are "all in" most of the time, it is usually because you are run down.

Get more vitamins and minerals, you'll be told. "Vitamin starvation" is all too common. Children aren't the only ones who suffer. Grown-ups need vitamins and minerals, too.

Why don't you try the new vitamin way to health? Thanks to recent discoveries, vitamins are now easy to take. McKESSON'S separates the vitamins from cod liver oil and brings them to you in chocolate-coated tablets. No fishy taste! Three McKESSON'S VITAMIN CONCENTRATE TABLETS OF COD LIVER OIL have all the vitamins of two teaspoons high-grade cod liver oil! Not only that, but McKESSON'S bring you important minerals—too (calcium and phosphorus).

Start at once taking McKESSON'S after meals. Give them to the children. They're food; not a medicine. Note how much better you feel: fewer colds, better appetite, more pep and vigor. "We all eat like hungry wolves now," says a mother, "and feel lots better."

Ask your druggist today. Be sure to get McKESSON'S VITAMIN CONCENTRATE TABLETS OF COD LIVER OIL. These are the ONLY vitamin concentrate tablets containing minerals as well as vitamins. Look on the package; it says: "Dicalcium phosphate—1 Grain." That's important! ADV.
